School Probably Won't Need Tax Rate Increase

Wellington school district officials expect no tax rate increase this year as a result of increased state funding for poor school districts mandated by House Bill 72, the education reform package passed by the Texas Legislature this summer.

The school administration is still working on state funding formulas and on the district's budget and there could be some surprises when the final figures are worked out, but for now the administration thinks that no tax hike will be necessary.

If there is no local property tax rate increase, it will be the first time in several years that the school district has not had to ask taxpayers for more money.

The increased state aid is a result of two basic items: low total valuations in the district, and a high tax rate. The state's "help those who help themselves" formula means that districts which have been taxing whatever valuations were in their district at a high rate will receive more state aid. Districts which have low tax rates will receive less state aid.

In other action the board directed the administration to set up guidelines regarding cheerleading and other extra-curricular activities in compliance with the new education reform package. Under the new state rules, a student may not be excused from regular classroom activity to participate in extracurricular activities. This will be a big change for Wellington High School where cheerleaders and other students involved in extracurricular activities have traditionally been allowed to take time off from regular classes. The school also will be implementing new, tougher state rules during the coming school year on academic eligibility to participate in extracurricular activities.

The board accepted the resignations of Ronny Williams from a coaching position and Wanda Cardwell from a resource teacher position in junior high school. Williams has joined the McKinney school district coaching staff and Cardwell has joined the Eastern Panhandle Cooperative staff as a resource teacher for visually handicapped students.

The board hired Don Lacy as girls basketball coach and high school science teacher, Freda Allen as junior high resource teacher and Arthur B. Smith, Jr, as math teacher and 7th grade coach.

The board accepted a bid of $6,500 by Davis Welding and Construction to repair the ceiling of the P.E. gym, approved the Central Appraisal District's budget of $57,260 for the coming year, and hired Brown Graham and Co. as auditors.

The board appointed a career ladder committee in compliance with the new education reform bill. The committee will determine which teachers are eligible for career ladder pay increases. The committee will be composed of the school superintendent and the three principals. In addition, one teacher from each school will serve on that school's evaluation group. They are Rubye Hodges, high school, Beth Lennon, junior high

Hospital Gets Good Check-up

Collingsworth General Hospital received the best check-up report it has had in a long time from the annual Medicare Survey completed this year on July 12.

"All of our deficiencies were minor," hospital administrator Perry Foster told hospital board members ar regular meeting Tuesday, July 17. "Most were corrected on the spot."

"I think we need to give credit where it's due," chief of staff Dr. Carter Holcomb said. "Perry Foster has worked diligently and he's able to work with everyone at the hospital, and the result is a good Medicare review."

Foster also told the board that the hospital had been surveyed for certification of its "swing bed" skilled nursing program and that the program had already admitted two patients.

The board approved a new respiratory technician training program to be operated by Associated Respiratory Rehabilitation Management Services, Inc. at the hospital. And the board approved Laurine Gragson and Anita Day for the hospital's registered nurse training program and raised the monthly stipend for this program from $200 to $300 per month.

The board approved purchase of a new defibrillator and approved a previous purchase of new X-ray cassettes that will allow the hospital to take X-rays with lower radiation levels to the patient.

The board also discussed the hospital's computer needs in meeting new Medicare requirements and decided to begin a series of interviews with computer service companies to determine what computer and software will fit the hospital's needs. The first such meeting was a special board meeting held Tuesday, July 24.

The board also voted to turn over $20,124 in bad debts to a collection agency.

Present were board members Corky Bowen, Emory Ewing, Dr. J.M. Orr and Robert Owens. Absent were board members Loretta Wright, Yates Parker and Bill Patrick.

Dr. Carter Holcomb Announces Plans to Retire Next Year

Dr. Carter Holcomb told Collingsworth General Hospital board last week that he plans to retire next year and has set a tentative date of February 1, 1985 to close his practice in Wellington.

"I won't leave Dr. Kumar by himself, though," Holcomb said. "I was the only practicing doctor in town at one time, and I don't want to do that to anybody." Holcomb said he would assist Dr. K.N. Kumar and the hospital board in

Volunteer Ambulance Service A Model Throughout Area

On January 1, 1972, Collingsworth County received a brand new volunteer organization that would move into an unknown area of service--Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service.

Most people here could not imagine themselves being taken to the hospital or back home any way other than in Jimmie Kelso's ambulance, a 1967 Oldsmobile station wagon.

At that time funeral homes usually provided ambulance service in small towns. But Kelso and other funeral directors could feel a new wind blowing. They would have to buy new ambulances, operate under state and federal regulations that called for installation of expensive equipment and trained personnel for 24-hour service, even if they did not have all that many patients. They would, as self protection, carry expensive liability insurance. Kelso himself had been threatened with a law suite over an accident in which he and his ambulance had no part whatever and were some distance from the site of impact.

Judge Bob Watson, then juvenile probation officer who earlier had helped organize the Claude Volunteer Ambulance Service, was the only certified Emergency Medical Technician in town. He understood the funeral home's dilemma. So did some of the business men.

An ambulance service on a volunteer basis was proposed and during the latter part of 1971, public meetings were held to explain the operation of such a service and what it would cost and who would pay-the city, county and ambulance itself.

Oppostion and problems were worked out and the organization was put together with Don Welch as president and Bob McAlister vice-president. Board members were Buster Hughs, Kelso, Melvin Seale, Margaret Vines and C.T. Hubbard.

Kelso donated his ambulance, Watson brought along his expertise and experience. The city and county each donated $1,000 each and the ambulance service was in operation.

Mrs. Vines is the only secretary-treasurer the service has had, with the unenviable job of collecting the bills and completing Medicare forms.

Besides Welch, there have been only three presidents, McAlister, Watson and Marshall Peters.

There are now approximately 30

volunteers, including ambulance drivers and attendants. Most are emergency medical technicians and the others are emergency care attendants.

During the first year, members agreed their one ambulance needed a home, and the ambulance barn was built on the only logical site, Collingsworth General Hospital grounds. The city and county each gave $1,500 and labor was donated by clubs, other organizations and "just volunteers."

That year also, ambulance service members received their first training. A Red Cross first aid instructor taught the course. The second year, 1973, the Texas Department of Health sent instructors. The third year there was an Emergency Medical Technician's course (EMT), including the required in-hospital training at Amarillo.

From that time on the service has had an EMT class whenever there is a need for certification or recertification (every three years) of members, and for a number of years, it has had its own training instructors.

The 1967 ambulance that Kelso Funeral Home donated lasted several more years, then a 1968 Pontiac Army Surplus ambulance was found at Corpus Christi. Cudd Bros. brought it back in a truck they had coming home empty.

The third ambulance, a 1974 Chevrolet, was almost new when the city and county purchased it. It is still in the fleet of three ambulances in constant use.

In 1976, another ambulance was purchased through a matching fund government grant, with the city, county and hospital all helping.

Next came a four-wheel drive government surplus jeep found at Red river Arsenal, Texarkana. Because it had been in storage for along period it had to be driven home at 25 miles an hour. It is still available to the service any time it is needed.

Newest ambulance is the 1983 Ford purchased by the city, county and ambulance service, which had a reserve fund built up. One baby was delivered in the ambulance enroute to the hospital. Bowen, a registered nurse, was on board to take charge. Several lives have been saved.

Not every time is it possible to reach a hospital in time to save a life, and then there is always a feeling of sadness by the attendants on that run. They ask if they could have done more.

Youngest member of the service is Barry Bowen, 18, who will leave in a few weeks to attend college. He became an EMT while still in high school.

Six members have belonged to the service during its entire operation: David Peters, John Brown, Margaret Vines, Dennis Cudd, Jim Sikes and Marshall Peters.

Other present members are Luwana Needham, Sharon Bowen, Jimmy Barber, Tessie Burba, Perry Foster, Denise Wilbur, Trudie Peters, Kenneth Patterson, Mayor Ralph Owens, Rev. Howard McCann, R.L. Hunnicutt, Morene Childers, N.E. Childers, Jeff Langford, Fraya Hammons, Larry Hammons, Jerry Don Hamby and Lisa Hamby.

From the beginning, Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance service has served as a prototype for other services throughout Texas. Especially was this true in its earlier years. Calls still come asking for advice.

Several years ago a doctor from Israel visited the ambulance service to observe its operation. Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service had been recommended to him, recalls Marshall Peters.

The service has remained remarkable free of disagreements. "Don't mistake, we have our differences of opinion, but we work these out," he said.

Many ambulance services are surprised when they learn how the service is financed. On major items, such as a new ambulance, the City-county and hospital district, or the city , county and ambulance service join forces to provide financing.

"The city and county like for us to recommend about what we think we will need (financially) during the year and they include us in their budget. We like to stay under the amount they allocate."

The service seldom calls on the Hospital district. "They help with supplies, linens, also furnish some ambulance help and patient utilities, furnish our oxygen--it is an endless chain of help."

Peters explained that the ambulance service has a working agreement with services in adjoining towns if there is need for an additional ambulance.

"If we need an extra ambulance, we feel free to call on them. Matter of fact, last Saturday night, during the train wreck, (car-train collision) we took an ambulance to Childress. We feel we have a good working relationship with our neighbors," Peters remarked.

It is pointed out that Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service pays no salaries.

Most counties around Collingsworth do not have volunteer services, it was pointed out. What does it cost those taxpayers? "I'd say $50,000 is a conservative figure. From that up," says Peters.

of school athletic teams at one time.

Teachers and trustees of the school who are present will be introduced, and small prizes will be awarded to the one traveling farthest to attend and the oldest person present.

Dalton Pritchard will read a poem and L.C. Sweat will lead the Sing-Along.

During the business meeting, officers for the 1985 reunion will be elected and a collection will be taken to cover expenses.

Then, the visiting and music and picture taking that started at registration will begin again.

A light evening meal will be served at 7 p.m. and all those present are urged to feel welcome to stay and visit as long as they wish.

any way he could in recruiting a new physician to practice in Wellington.

Hospital administrator Perry Foster said "The prospect of Dr. Holcomb leaving isn't pleasant because I've enjoyed working with him and he's an asset to the community that will be very difficult to replace. I do, however, appreciate the advance notice that will allow the time needed to recruit the right physician for our community."

Hospital board members told Dr. Kumar and Foster to begin recruitment plans and that board members would be willing to assist those efforts in any way possible.

Volunteers Needed to Repair Arena

Repair work is under way at the VFW Arena in preparation for the annual Wellington Rodeo Friday and Saturday, August 17 and 18, according to Billy Jackson, chairman.

For the most part, the arena is in good condition, after three seasons of major repairs, Jackson said.

Work is done after 7 p.m., and anyone interested in coming out and helping is invited.

The stairs up to the press box will be moved from the east end to the back of the box, Jackson said. This will give greater separation of the people who have business going up and down the press box stairs, and the rodeo horses and riders, who also gather in that area.

Extended Coverage

By Betsy Lemons

In the last year, more than 51,200 children were killed or seriously injured in auto accidents in the U.S.

Still more were injured in "non-crash" situations--for instance, when a child is thrown against a windshield in a sudden stop.

The use of seat belts and child-safety seats could cut those deaths and injuries by as much as 90 percent, say Traffic Safety Commissions.

Most states have laws calling for child restraints for the under-5 passenger, but some states are boosting the mandatory age so that children will get in the habit of using them.

To widen use of car seats, some municipalities and insurance companies are offering special discounts on their purchase. Insurers offer inducements for their use, such as higher payments in case of injury.

Joe Baumgardner, Melanie Watts Marry in Formal Church Ceremony

Miss Melanie Gaye Watts and Joseph Bailey Baumgardner II, were married Saturday, July 21, at six in the evening in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church. The Reverend Tom Thomson, pastor of First United Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lee Watts of Route Six, Wellington. She is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Ward and Mrs. L.F. Watts and the late Mr. Watts.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. David Maurice Baumgardner of Route One, Wellington, and he is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bailey Baumgardner, and the late Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Price.

Altar decorations were two gold spiral candelabras entwined with foliage, and at the center, a gold arch candelabra that was also decorated with greenery and with dusty rose carnations. The unity candle was lighted by the couple after they repeated their vows, and the side candles were lighted by the mothers of the couple, as each was escorted to her pew. Dusty pink bows were pew markers.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Juliana Baumgardner, sister of the bridegroom, who was the pianist and Mrs. Truman Estes, organist. Miss Susan Neie of Amarillo was the vocalist.

Mr. Watts gave his daughter in marriage.

MRS. JOSEPH BAILEY BAUMGARDNER II

She wore a gown of ivory chiffon and chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was designed with a Queen Anne neckline, edged with lace, and a chantilly lace overlay sprinkled with bridal pearls and sequins. The long full chiffon sleeves were caught at the wrist with wide lace cuffs. Chantilly lace edged the skirt and chapel train. The traditional 'Something Old, Something New, Something Borrowed and Something Blue' was carried out. For 'Something Old' the bride carried a handkerchief that the bridegroom's grandmother carried when she married the first Joseph Bailey Baumgardner 69 years ago.

She carried a bouquet of dusty pink roses, with white daisies and baby's breath, tied with ribbon streamers.

Miss Lisa Draper of Amarillo was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. David Dickey of Canyon and Mrs. Mike Bodey of Amarillo.

They wore rose colored taffeta dresses designed with short puffed sleeves and off shoulder necklines. The gathered skirts were cocktail length. Their bouquets were dusty pink carnations with white azaleas, rose dogwood and baby's breath.

David Baumgardner of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and groomsmen were Pat White and Don Allred. Ushers were Kirk Patterson, cousin of the bride, Danny Carl Wischkaemper, Terry Canada and Danny Morris.

Robert Watts and Mindi Watts lighted the candles, while Misti Watts was the flower girl and Cory Watts the ring bearers. They are the nephews and nieces of the bride.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Watts entertained with a reception in the church parlour.

A white lace cloth with dusty rose underlay covered the reception table, and the bride's bouquet was the floral centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Nicky Watts and Mrs. Danny Watts, the bride's sisters-in-law, served the wedding cake and punch. Others in the house party were Miss Debbie Burks of Amarillo, Miss Jona Daniels of Pampa, Miss Kerri Donahey of Texaco, New Mexico, and Miss Tammie Hernandez of Wellington.

Afterward the couple left on their wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, and upon returning they will be at home at 1609 Graham Street.

The bride graduated from West Texas State University, Canyon, with a Bachelor's degree in Business Education. Her sorority is Chi Omega. She has been elected to teach business courses in Memphis High School this fall. She graduated from Wellington High School in 1980.

The bridegroom graduated from Wellington High School in 1977 and holds a Bachelor's degree in Plant Science from Texas Tech University, Lubbock. He is engaged in farming near Wellington.

REHEARSAL DINNER

On Friday evening, July 20, Mr. and Mrs. Baumgardner were hosts at the rehearsal dinner at their home south of Wellington, honoring their son and his bride to be, Joseph Bailey Baumgardner and Miss Melanie Watts.

The brides colors of dusty pink and white were carried out in table decorations, Miss Watts and Mr. Baumgardner then presented gifts to their attendants.

Present were the parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lee Watts and Mr. and Mrs. David Maurice Baumgardner, and members of the wedding party.

Too Much Sun Causes Skin Cancer

Hours spent working in the sun on farms and ranches, in construction or other outdoor occupations can add up to skin cancer.

Since skin cancer appears to be caused by long-term exposure to the sun, people who work mostly outdoors could be considered at risk, says Dr. Mary Ann Heussner, a health education specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

The death rate from malignant melanoma, the most serious form of skin cancer, is increasing faster than any other cancer in the U.S. except lung cancer in women, she notes.

Malignant melanoma is common in light-skinner middle-aged or elderly people who have spent most of their lives in the sun. Most of their melanomas develop from moles they have had since childhood, she explains.

According to Heussner, most medical authorities recommend avoiding prolonged exposure to the sun between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., when the rays are strongest.

If you must work in the sun during these hours, wear a hat and a long-sleeve shirt. Also protect the back of the neck and the "V" formed by an open collar, advises the specialist.

A sunscreen containing para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA), benzophenone or titanium dioxide will be most effective in protecting exposed skin from harmful rays.

Common sense precautions can reduce the risk of skin cancer, and early detection can result in successful treatment, she notes.

Consult a physician at the first sign of a new mole, or if old ones change in size, shape or color, Heussner cautions. The moles may not be cancerous, but if they are, immediate treatment can eliminate the melanoma.

We offer a variety of caskets and outer enclosures designed to fit the need of every family. The type of funeral, casket or outer enclosure you choose is strictly your decision. You select the funeral arrangements you desire.

We are proud to be in Wellington. We think we are able to serve the families of the community with the very best in service and merchandise available.

Scoopin'

Last week's copy of The Wellington Leader had something new. It appeared last week for the first time and will appear throughout the year. Here's an offer of a free year's subscription to the first person who calls me and tells me what that new element is, and more importantly, why it's in the paper. The subscription can be for you or for anybody you choose in the world, so look over the paper and give me a call.

(And here's a hint: it's not our new 6-column format.)

The drouth in central and coastal Texas points up the fact that Texans should be planning for water resources for the future. Wellington's City Council has been studying during the past year the feasibility of several small dam sites that might be water sources for the community in the future. That's a local step in the right direction. But the State of Texas needs to put more thought and money into water resources now. Even though we hate to admit it, our neighboring Oklahomans have done a far superior job of making the most of their water resources. Oklahoma is dotted with lakes and reservoirs of all types and sizes and purposes that offer water for irrigation, drinking, industry and recreation. Texas should take a lesson from Oklahoma and begin a comprehensive statewide water development plan. This summer's drouth in some parts of the state reminds us that the availability of water is not just a problem for dry West Texas, but for the future growth of the entire state.

---Henry Wells

I Saw...

by Virginia Robey

Interest in finding one's family roots continues to grow, spurred by the 1986 Texas Susquicentennial.

Johnny Orr of Borger, who spends some time at Dodson, said his wife, a member of the Lewis-Patterson families at Dodson, has received a geneological book that reveals she is a member of the Meriwether Lewis family (of the Lewis and Clark expedition into the Northwest). Not everyone can have an ancestor who opened such a vast part of the U.S.

Sue and Jim Jones of Altus, Okla., were in Wellington seeking information of a Frank Trimble, who came here in the early years after the county's organization. He was one of the organizers of Altus, then moved to Shamrock and on to Wellington. Do you know of a Frank Trimble.

The Jones talked with two Wellington Trimble families but neither was the right one. The information that this man made an important move to Wellington was found in a two or three line "local" in the Shamrock paper.

John Coleman didn't get out to the Samnorwood School 50th Anniversary Reunion, but he recalls that more than 50 years ago he and the late Richard Wischkaemper went together to visit the various communities, trying to persuade families to support consolidation that resulted in Samnorwood School.

"We nearly got our hair pulled out sometimes," he said. The opposition argument usually went something like this: "Over my dead body will my children ride a school bus from sun up to sundown."

Have you ever wondered how it would feel to get up some morning and Wellington did not have any water? Well, it happened, for a brief period, city manager Tiny Taylor has said.

A pump at the city wells north of town failed to kick on after having been off part of the night. First to report it were the beauty shops, when customer's began arriving for early shampoos. It was just a matter of a few minutes to get the pump started, and most people were never aware of the shortage.

Wellington customer's are now using about a million gallons a day.

Publisher Suggests Time Extension on Histories

The Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, publishers for Collingsworth County Book, has suggested to the Book Committee that there be an extension of a few more weeks to get more book orders, more general history, and more family histories.

The Book Committee met last week with a publishing company representative who was pleased with the report of 1096 family histories and nearly a thousand book orders.

"However, the publishing company ratio is to sell more books for amount of pages in the book. Price of the book is $35 plus $1.75 state tax and $3.25 mailing fee. This is on a pre-sale basis only; there will absolutely be no more books ordered than the pre-sale figure," said Evelyn King, chairman.

During the extension to cover school and communities reunions, more effort will be made in gathering general history of past and present, as well as family histories who at present are living in the county.

"This includes everyone, whether living in the county a few weeks or for years. It is not just a book on pioneers; it is also a book on who lives in the county today" she continued.

For the extension period, histories and book orders may be left at Corky's on Highway 83, or home of committee chairman, Evelyn King, or mailed to Book Committe, Box 687, Wellington, Texas 79095.

Actively fruiting cotton plants will use up one inch of water from the soil every three days if it is available. When that amount of water is not available, the plant is not producing to its potential.

It's A Fact

by Don Lacy

There are over two dozen brands of video cassette recorders, which are manufactured by one of five different companies, all of which are Japanese.

It is also a fact the Shaklee Corporation is an American Co., founded in 1956 in California and has grown every year since. We are a five hundred million dollar corporation, a fortune 500 co., and we are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

It is also a fact we are the world's largest producer of nutritional products, with the world's largest plant located at Norman, Oklahoma.

For more information about our great corporation, the business opportunities it offers, and our great line of nutritional-health care products and our household and personal care products, come by our warehouse on 8th St, or give Don or Shelba a call at 447-2915 or 447-2255.

shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all they soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.

Luke 10:27

The basis of God's first and greatest commandment is love. God gave man the freedom to choose . . . and therefore will not force his love on anyone. God took the first step and is always ready to receive any who would come to Him.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The present teams and coaches are Players, coached by Elmer Shrubs; Bears, coached by Eddie Blacksher; Bachelors, formerly coached by Craig Darter, now coached by Jeffrey Camp; Old Timers, coached by Richard Sims.

The two new teams are the Sonics from Childress, coached by Tony Martinez and the A-1 Boys of Wellington, coached by Ralph Pyatt.

Sims announced the schedule for the remainder of the second half:

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by DON REEVES

AD CHEMICALS IN GOOD SUPPLY

Farmers should have a good arsenal of agricultural chemicals available for their 1984 crop season.

Supplies of pesticides, fertilizers and fuels are holding steady for the current crop season.

However, pesticide use is expanding as field crop acreage rises. Farmers will use about 44-million pounds of herbicides, 67 million pounds of insecticides and 7 million pounds of fungicides this season, as measured in terms of active ingredient.

Pesticide supplies are sufficient to meet this expected demand in the major crop regions although spot shortages of some newly marketed formulations have been reported in the Corn Belt. However, no shortages have been reported in Texas.

Total fertilizer use on field crops is expected to climb 17 percent this year despite an overall rise in fertilizer prices. Farmers will apply an estimated 10.7 million tons of nitrogen, 4.8 million tons of phosphorus and 5.7 million tons of potash this season. Average farm prices likely will be up 16 percent for nitrogen, 8 percent for phosphorus and 5 percent for potash. Domestic production and imports of the three plant nutrients should meet anticipated demand.

The recent upsurge of the Iran-Iraq conflict in the Persian Gulf has renewed concern over petroleum availability and the outlook for prices of energy such as diesel, gasoline and home heating oil. This volatile situation also could affect petrochemical products such as pesticides and fertilizers. This is of particular interest to farmers who are expected to use 10 percent more energy this year due to increased crop acreage.

Wellington Independent School District takes this opportunity to say "Thank you" to Jerry Duncan Chevy/Olds for furnishing a driver's education to the school this past year. Wel appreciate your support.

Booker T. Washington Exes Raise Money for Scholarship

Ex-students of Booker T. Washington School who live in the Wellington area are holding a series of fund-raisers and money received will go into a local scholarship fund, according to Beulah Powell, one of those helping with the project.

The next event will be a garage sale to be held Friday and Saturday. July 27 and 28, at the community building and park located at 506 Corsicana Street. Hours of the sale will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Anyone wishing to donate sale items are urged to do so.

The public is also invited to come to the sale.

Money for the scholarship is being raised locally and the scholarship will be awarded to some local student who will be attending college, Mrs. Powell explained. It is hoped that enough money can be raised to award a scholarship this fall, although the project got a late start, she added.

The Booker T. Washington Exes operated the concession stand at the Wellington Invitational softball tournament, with proceeds going to this fund. It is hoped a car wash can be held next month.

County Club to Entertain WHS Ex-Students Friday

Wellington Country Club will be open to all ex-students and their families on Friday evening, August 3, the evening before the annual Wellington ex-students reunion.

Plans were announced by Eddie Orr, Country Club president, who urged country club members to be present whether or not they are WHS ex-students.

Starting time will be 6 p.m. with a hamburger cook-out sponsored by the swimming pool committee. There will be a small charge for the hamburgers.

Free swimming to everyone who comes out will follow the cook-out.

There will be a dance on the patio from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by the Mark White Band from Quanah, one of the popular music groups of this area. The price of tickets will be announced.

Orr pointed out that those who will be attending class reunions with meals served Friday evening will still have time to attend the dance after their reunions.

"We hope that all the ex-students and their families who have come in from out of town, as well as the ex-students still living here, will be our guests," said Orr. "We believe it will be one more opportunity for Wellington High School ex-students to get together for visiting," Orr continued.

C-C Slates Work Evening On US 83 Through Town

A call for a work evening to clean up along Highway US 83 through Wellington has been issued for Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce directors, according to Tommy Hudson.

The date will be Thursday, August 2, starting at 7 p.m.

The purpose is to get Wellington's entrance into town in shipshape condition for several major events: Wellington Ex-Students Association and the Loco-Arlie Reunion on that weekend; the 5 Community Reunion on August 11 and 12 and Wellington Rodeo on Saturday, August 18.

Wellington Kiwanis Club members have been invited to join in the work.

The C-C directors hope to get some vacant lots along the highway mowed and to clean the curbs and gutters along the one-mile stretch of US 83 through town. Papers that have scattered along the road will be picked up.

Anyone else who is interested in cleaning up Wellington for the one-mile highway stretch is invited to come out and help the directors Thursday evening.

Allsup's Accepts Kenneth Tramel as Supervisor Trainee

Kenneth Tramel, manager of Allsup's No. 168, located on Highway US 83 North, Wellington has been accepted as a supervisor trainee by Allsup's.

Allsup's is a growing company and offers many opportunities for advancement as well as employee benefits," according to Tramel, who added that he can supply additional information to those interested.

On Monday, July 23, Tramel celebrated the 1st anniversary of his beginning work as the Allsup's No. 168 manager.

Soccer League for Youth to Be Presented in July 31 Meeting

A meeting has been called of parents and others who are interested in organizing a soccer league for Wellington youngsters, according to Tommy Hudson, who will be in charge.

This will be held Tuesday, July 31, at the Heritage Room, beginning at 8 p.m.

"The league will be organized and we will elect officers if there are enough interested people who would like for their kids to play or who would like to coach a soccer team," said Hudson. Coaches will be trained.

"Initially, it looks like the league would include grades kindergarten through grade 5. We would cut it off there so it would not involve football in junior high," he continued. Games probably would be played on Saturdays.

"If parents in junior high want soccer, we might try two girls teams," he said. The soccer organization would be outside of school.

Hudson gave the advantages of soccer as a sport:

-Both boys and girls can and do play.

-A youth who is too small to play football still may make a fine soccer player.

-The game isn't very expensive to play. "The players can wear cut-off jeans and we'd probably buy colored T-shirts," said Hudson.

"I think a lot of people will be interested in this who are not interested in other sports for children," Hudson declared. Anyone wanting more information before the July 31 meeting should call Hudson at West Texas Utilities Co., 447-5414 days or Hudson's home 447-5197 evenings.
