SETTING UP BANK DISPLAY — Trulie and Dar Elder arrange beachcomber display in First National Bank lobby.

C of C Holds Meeting

Chamber of Commerce board of directors met September 2 at Key Allegro Restaurant for their regular monthly luncheon meeting.

Dusty Smith reported that T-shirts with the "Toast of the Coast" logo could be obtained from Carl Crickenberger and sold on consignment basis during the SeaFair Festival.

The Chamber is in the process of having a booklet of "Things to See and Do in Aransas County" printed. This booklet will be useful to the visitor and will be distributed in motels and trailer parks. A rough draft of the booklet was shown to the directors.

Under other new business it was voted to purchase 100 books of "Texas Coastal Bend" by Alpha Kennedy Wood. Profit from the sale of this book will go to the hospital foundation fund.

Dr. Jerry Shaw announced the ceremony declaring Aransas County an official Bicentennial community will be held the morning of October 11, the first day of the SeaFair festival.

Attending the meeting were Rev. Paul Bohot, Bill Christian, David Connery, Curtis Goodman, Joe Hugenberg, Dennis Jenkins, Joe Lister, Mick Lader, Joe Randow, Eddie Ratliff, Shaw, Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., Smith, Bill Janacek, Dr. Ron Levy and Loyce Landrum.

Bank Display Shows Objects From Seashore

Beachcombing is the art of throwing much of the stuff you collect on the beach instead of carrying it home to throw away later, according to Trulie and Dar Elder who have a display of objects salvaged from the sea in the lobby of First National Bank.

Included in the display, which will remain in the bank throughout September, are driftwood, bottles, rope, glass and styrofoam floats, shells and even a few man-made straw hats, apparently lost at sea. Some of the items remain just as they were when picked up on Gulf beaches from Rockport to the Yucatan. Others have been fashioned into masks, shell jewelry and wall decorations.

For several years, especially since they moved to Rockport two years ago, the Elders have made a hobby of beachcombing. They have even led expeditions of beachcombers into Mexico to search for treasures in more remote sections of the Gulf coast.

Although they have been permanent residents of Key Allegro for only two years, they are not strangers to South Texas, having visited this area for the past 20 years, although principally on South Padre Island near Port Isabel.

Elder, who was a land developer and owner of a country club near Colorado Springs, says he and Mrs. Elder finally decided that Colorado winters were too rugged for them and they retired in 1961. They decided on Rockport as a permanent retirement home when they stopped here on their way back to Colorado after a visit to Florida.

County Seeks Public Help To Stop Highway Littering

Dumping of garbage and trash along county roads came under fire September 3 at a meeting of the Aransas County commissioners.

One rural resident said there is more junk thrown out along the roads than at the county dump. The residents said the problem is getting worse and asked what could be done.

The commissioners and Sheriff Bob Hewes said the most effective way would be to make sure swift charges are filed against the dumpers.

"There were signs that held down the dumping but someone stole the signs apparently for the wood," one resident said.

Residents in the area have been taking down license plate numbers and turning them over to the sheriff's department.

Hewes said he only has five men to work the county. "We are currently working on 26 felony cases and have 287 active civil warrants to be served. We are working 70 hours a week."

"We can't spend a lot of time on trash," he said.

Hewes said he and his men, aided by the public, have had some success in getting license numbers of cars from which trash was thrown. He asked the public to help and said names of callers will be kept in confidence. One was from Austin. Another alleged violator was due in Hewes' office to discuss the matter.

"We spent eight hours looking for him. We found he was out fishing, so apparently it was his wife. I don't know how much she will clean up," Hewes said in referring to the dumped trash.

Judge John Wendell said persons might stop dumping if they know how high fines can run. He said in one recent case a dumper was fined $247 in county court. "Most of the cases are filed in justice of the peace court. Fines in justice court have been ranging from

Art Ass'n Seeks O.K. for Bldg. on Navigation Land

The Board of Navigation and Canal Commissioners met in regular session at the District's office September 2 with chairman David Maguglin presiding. Present were Commissioners Hal B. McKnight, R.W. Landrum, Richard J. Fox and Jimmy Anders; Attorney David Connery and Harbormaster B. C. DeForest.

Guests attending were Mary Albert, Estelle Starr, Charlotte Plummer and James Frazier.

Mary Albert, representing the Rockport Art Association, discussed with the Board the Association's plans for a permanent building to house an art gallery, classrooms and possible museum and their need for an appropriate site. Navigation District property would be, in their opinion, ideal as it is extensive enough to accommodate their plans, is centrally located and would provide adequate parking. The Commissioners requested that they be provided with architectural plans and a metes and bounds survey to determine the amount of property that would be involved.

Charlotte Plummer sought to have corrected a five foot encroachment at Fulton Harbor. The Board asked that a survey of the property be given to Attorney David Connery.

Youth Clinics For Tennis

Tentative plans to sponsor youth clinics designed to help local young people develop an interest and a degree of skill in tennis were discussed at the second meeting of the board of directors of the recently organized Rockport Tennis Association last Sunday.

It was emphasized that the most important objective of the new association will be to provide healthful recreational opportunities for the youth of the community, especially among those who are interested in playing tennis or in improving the skill of those who already play.

For such youth clinics equipment would be loaned to those who do not have racquets, and adult players would be on hand to coach them. It was suggested that courts throughout the city be used for the one-day clinics and refreshments served to participants.

In discussing the new tennis association's operating plan, the board of directors emphasized that the association is not affiliated with any local tennis club or other organization, but is designed to promote tennis in this area and to encourage wider participation with special emphasis on the involvement of young people.

Another objective is to establish a working relationship with Texas Tennis Association and U.S. Tennis Association through membership in these two organizations, according to Dewey Lingo, local association president. He added that this is necessary to obtain official sanction for tournaments staged here as well as state ranking for local players.

Suggestions for various types of membership in the Rockport Tennis Association were discussed and it was tentatively agreed that there probably should be three categories - family memberships to include all members of a family, individual memberships restricted to single persons 18 and older, and patron memberships for individuals or business firms.

A proposed schedule of fees was discussed but decision was deferred pending further study, including exploration of possible added membership benefits such as membership cards, a newsletter, and an association windshield identification sticker among other possibilities.

The fee schedule will depend in part on financial requirements of the new association, and director Roy Hicks was named chairman of a budget committee. Directors Joe Hugenberg and Leon Bateman were appointed to the membership committee. The tournament committee includes Dr. Jim Wideman and Jim Allen, both directors. Allen also was named chairman of junior development, and Polly Bracht was appointed to the entertainment committee.

Rotarians See Slide Film

A slide film picturing and describing activities of Rotary Clubs on a local and worldwide basis was presented by Tom Ryan, information chairman of the Corpus Christi Downtown Rotary Club, at a luncheon meeting of the Rockport club September 3 at Sandollar restaurant.

The film was designed as an indoctrination tool for new members but it also is used to keep older members posted on the history and progress of Rotary, according to Ryan. The film story tells of the club's founding in Chicago as a semi-commercial organization designed to bring together business and professional men from various fields, largely to discuss business.

Gradually the club evolved into a civic service organization. The film reported that the Chicago club's first act of public service was to buy a horse for local doctor in 1910. The same year the club expanded to Canada and in 1911 its first overseas unit was founded in Great Britain. From this start it grew into a worldwide organization which now has clubs in 150 countries with a total membership of more than 700,000.

Following its brief review of Rotary history, the film went on to describe opportunities for Rotary Clubs to be of service in their own communities, especially with young people.

In describing Rotary International's worldwide service, the importance of the club's efforts to promote international understanding and world peace was stressed, including club projects in developing countries. Rotary's student exchange program at the college and graduate levels was cited as a major contribution to understanding among nations.

High School Football News

Last Friday's scrimmage with West Oso Wildcats resulted in two wins and a tie. The Freshmen won 1-0, the J.V. tied 0-0, and the Varsity won 1-0.

Scrimmages are merely work sessions, coach Vellie Williams explains. Each team will have the ball on offense for twenty plays then be on defense for twenty plays. The coaches are on the field, there is no set time between plays, there are no paid officials, strictly a work session. After the scrimmage, each team will have had about fifty to sixty offensive plays, and the same number of defensive plays.

The Varsity session of the scrimmage was sparked by the running of sophomore Daryl Green who rushed for 95 yards and the winning touchdown in 11 carries. Ricky Herron was the next Pirate rusher with 76 yards in 16 carries. The first downs were 12-12, total yardage gained - West Oso, 295 to 268 for the Pirates.

The Pirate offensive attack was much improved over the last two scrimmages. When there are changes in terminology, blocking rules, and backfield maneuvers, as in the case of the '75 Pirates, there must be time allowed for the players to learn and execute. It is hoped that the Pirates will improve each week.

The defense was led by line-backer John Picton, who had seven unassisted tackles. Senior tackle Ray Gause and senior line-backer Jerry Hutson executed very good defense in keeping the Wildcats from the goal line.

The highlight of the defensive efforts was when the Pirate defense held West Oso out of the end zone for four downs, inside the Pirate 10-yard line. The entire Pirate defensive units were highly praised by the coaching staff for their aggressiveness.

The Pirates will open their 1975 season this Friday night against the Mathis Pirates, in Pirate stadium in Rockport. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The Rockport-Fulton Freshmen football team showed much improvement last Friday evening. They scored one TD to none for West Oso and refused to let West Oso cross their 40-yard line on defense.

Offensive linemen that showed improved effort were: Louis Solis, Doug Schutz, Tony Smyrson, Gabriel Bena-

ROCKPORT NAMED BICENTENNIAL CITY

Official designation of Rockport as a Bicentennial city has been received by the Rockport Bicentennial Commission, it was reported this week by Dr. Jerry Shaw, chairman of the local group which is in charge of plans for celebrating the nation's 200th anniversary.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Washington telephoned and then confirmed by letter to Dr. Shaw, the city's designation as a participating city. The letter also stated that an official Bicentennial flag and Bicentennial certificate would be forwarded to this city shortly.

Several weeks ago the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas informed the local Bicentennial Commission that the state group had approved Rockport as a Bicentennial city and that approval from the national commission was expected soon.

Dr. Shaw reported a public ceremony at the city hall is planned when the certificate will be presented to the city and the flag raised on the municipal flagpole.

If the flag and certificate arrive in time, it is hoped to stage the ceremony Oct. 11, the opening day of the Rockport SeaFair.

Senator John Tower wired congratulations, and Congressman John Young wrote thanking Dr. Shaw for informing him of Bicentennial activities in this community and for inviting him to the Rockport SeaFair which is to be one of the more ambitious community Bicentennial events.

Dr. Shaw explained that while Rockport has been officially designated as a Bicentennial city, actually the whole of Aransas County is being recognized as a Bicentennial community, especially in view of the fact that several Aransas County communities, including Fulton and Lamar, have developed and presented detailed plans for their participation in the birthday celebration.

videz, Ken Matlock and Jim Cruser. Lawrence Miculka, in his first start at the QB position, completed two passes during the offensive scrimmage. Fullback Algie Simmons, tailbacks Rudy Samora and Charles McLead turned in a good game in the running department. McLead completed a 40-yard pass to Joe Brooks, who then fumbled on the opponent's 10-yard line. Benny Flores scooped up the loose ball and scampered into the end zone for the lone touchdown of the scrimmage.

The defense was led by: Raymond Bauer, Steve Naler, Joe Brooks and Gilbert Flores. The Freshmen play Thursday in Mathis at 5:30 p.m.

The J.V. scrimmage resulted in a 0-0 deadlock. Neither team could move the ball with any sustained drive. The Pirates made five first downs in twenty plays to only three for West Oso in the same number of offensive plays.

Fullback Bobby Lewis ran with authority against the tough West Oso defense. Charlie Edler and Steve Flanagan connected on some passes for good gains.

The defense was reinforced by good plays from Danny Brooks, linebacker Bobby Lewis and linebacker Bill Adams. Newlin Parker recovered a West Oso fumble to stop one drive. The defensive unit was very aggressive and allowed only three first downs. West Oso never threatened the Piral goal line.

Wednesday morning, Bonnie Fletcher came out to instruct our folks in painting on cloth, with liquid paints.

Wednesday afternoon, Alfred Zabel and Pat Baker, two of our residents, gave us a nice musical program on the guitar and accordion. We all enjoyed this very much.

Thursday morning, the Pentecostal Ladies of Aransas Pass came out for their weekly program. This group of ladies along with their pastor, Rev. Alton Pruitt, have been coming every week almost since we opened our doors, but they thought they had not done enough by just coming out and singing and reading the scriptures, so when they came last week, they brought us a beautiful, (or at least it is to us at the Center), brand new wheelchair, which we are always in need of. We thank you with all our hearts for the great gesture of love and faith which you show for our "little people."

Friday afternoon, Father James Hamilton, assisted by Bro. Tom came out for mass and then had a special service for the "blessing of the sick." I believe this is the first time this type of service has ever been held in a Nursing Center.

Saturday and Sunday were left open for those receiving visitors or going out on passes. Sunday Morning Church Services were held and then the rest of the day was free for our people who like to play dominoes, read, watch television, or just sit and visit with one another.

All in all we had a nice week and were very glad to see some rain.

With two pledges, the amount not disclosed, the goal was met and Corpus Christi met its goal of $21,000.

Park Visitors Reminded Of Increased Use Fees

Austin -- Despite the increase of facility use fees in Texas state parks effective September 1, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department parks officials say that all reservations confirmed before that date for cabins, lodge rooms, screened shelters or group facilities will be honored at the old rates through Dec. 31, 1975.

September 1 is the date when some 15 facility use fees are increased to keep pace with the rising cost of operating and maintaining the state park system.

They include:

- Cabins: present fee of $6 for one or two persons, increased to $10.
- Screened shelters: increased from $3.50 to $5 for the first motor vehicle.
- Regular campsite: from $1 to $2 per vehicle.
- Campsites with electricity:

raised from $1.50 to $3 for the first vehicle.

--Campsites with electricity and water: from $1.75 to $3.50 for the first vehicle.

Individual lodge rooms and other facility use fees such as golf green fees and group camp fees vary according to each park. Local park superintendents should be contacted for rate increases specific to their park.

Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind parkgoers that only facility use fees are being increased and entrance fees remain unchanged at $1 per vehicle per day at most parks, with the option of a $12 annual permit or a $5 restricted annual permit.

Park entrance is free for persons 65 years of age and older through the State Parks and Passports. The new user fees are the first increases in 20 years.

Sheriff Spearheads Program To Protect Home Property

Sheriff Robert Hewes of Aransas County announced today that he has received an invitation from Ferris E. Lucas, Executive Director of the National Sheriffs' Association, to participate in the National Neighborhood Watch Crime Prevention Program. This program is designed to provide citizens with many self-help educational steps they can take to protect their property and the property of their neighbors from theft.

"The 1974 Uniform Crime Report, recently released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has indicated that burglaries are now occurring at the rate of one every twelve seconds in the U.S. This growing number of crimes affects each of us as individuals, and we must begin to take steps in order to protect our communities against this rising tide of crime," said Executive Director Lucas.

Sheriff Hewes has been advised that many neighboring communities have been participating in this program. Reports of program success has been received from many participants indicating that citizens who begin to act as individuals can collectively raise the threshold of security in their entire community.

The National Neighborhood Watch Program will provide materials free under the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U.S. Department of Justice grant. The National Sheriffs' Association has produced and developed these tools that will aid in providing you with the information you need to understand and protect your property against theft.

Reports from communities throughout the U.S. have indicated that where National Neighborhood Watch has been implemented, success has been achieved. This success can aid us here in our community to reduce such crimes against our citizens," said Sheriff Hewes.

Suggestions on better locks and common sense helps on what you can do are offered in the material. This material is available through your local law enforcement agency, and you may contact Sheriff Hewes at his office located at the County Jail or by calling 729-2222.

Sheriff Hewes emphasizes that his department stands ready to provide assistance in the area of crime prevention that will be helpful to citizens of our community. Please feel free to contact the Sheriff at your convenience, and request your free information.

High School Photography Club Meets

The first club meeting of the new school year was held on Sept. 5 for approximately 25 members of the Rockport-Fulton High School Photography Club, reports Harvey Hamilton who is sponsor of the club.

The members met to elect officers and plan activities for the year. Officers elected were: Scott Hiller - President, Beverly Barnard - Vice President, Barbara King - Secretary, Annette Boney - Treasurer, and Kerry Mosier - Reporter.

The club's first full meeting will be held this Thursday night at which time the basic skills of camera operation, film development and printing will be demonstrated.

Members are urged to bring their cameras so that they might share their individual skills and operation of their many varied types of cameras and accessories with others in the club. Many of the students possess cameras of high quality and are capable of performing very professional quality work.

The club is also fortunate in that it has had many fine pieces of equipment and materials donated to it by Mrs. Tom Jessee and other members of the community.

Activities planned for the year include photographing sports events, club pictures, and any other student activities for the school year book and newspaper.

The club also intends to sponsor a photograph contest for all high school students with prizes awarded. Members are optimistic that the photography club will serve as a source of enjoyment and enrichment for its participants and a valuable asset to the high school.

Economists differ on outlook for upturn.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

The "flu" may be of little concern to most people, but the state's aging population and those with chronic diseases should give protection against influenza a high priority, advises the Texas Department of Health Resources.

The end of summer signals the approach of fall and winter and their many threats to the health of the individual. The Department of Health Re-sources (formerly the Texas State Department of Health) warns that influenza is a distinct possibility during the cold, blustery, wet months ahead--even to those in the prime of life.

Dr. M. S. Dickerson, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases Control, says the aging--those over 65 years--and the chronically ill have lowered resistance to respiratory in-fectious. And, with this lowered resistance is the threat of complications, such as pneu-monia, he said. Influenza out-breaks are frequently associ-ated with excess mortality in older age groups.

Annual vaccination is strongly recommended for persons at any age who have such chronic conditions as:

1. Any type of heart disease;
2. Chronic bronchopul-monary diseases, such as asthma, chronic bronchitis, cystic fibrosis, emphysema and advanced tuberculosis;
3. Chronic renal diseases; and
4. Diabetes mellitus and other chronic metabolic dis-orders.

Persons who provide essen-tial community services--such as firemen and policemen--may also be considered for immu-nizations.

Persons falling into the risk categories may want to contact their physicians now about setting up their vaccination schedules. Influenza vaccine should be administered by mid-November.

A word of caution is put forth by the Bureau of Biologies, Food and Drug Administration, concerning the vaccine. Since influenza virus vaccine is pre-pared from viruses grown in embryonated eggs, it should not be administered to persons clearly hypersensitive to egg protein, ingested or injected. Physicians are asked to thor-oughly read the manufacturer's package insert before admin-istering the vaccine.

Vaccine released by the FDA will contain the type A and type B influenza virus.

Dr. Dickerson says there's virtually no way that a mobile person can keep from being exposed to influenza, and that the vaccine in most people produces an immunization level which affords some protection. "For maximum protection, the vaccine is recommended," he said.

What type of influenza sea-son the state and country will have this year can't be pre-dicted, said Dickerson. "A large number of people will be immunized, and there is a large amount of immunity carried over from one year to the next in the general population," he said.

With fall comes the cold season, and there is confusion in the minds of many as to whether they have a cold or influenza.

"We have to have laboratory confirmation of what we have before stating there is an upsurge in influenza," he said. "In order to isolate viruses causing influenza, we need throat swabs plus blood serum specimens during the acute stage of the illness and in the convalescent stage," he said. "And," he added, "the sooner we get in specimens the better off we are."

To aid in identifying and keeping track of influenza in Texas, a surveillance system has been established by the department of Health Re-sources. The existing Health Resources regional offices and some local Health Departments collect data from various points in their jurisdictions. This allows the state headquarters to have an immediate picture of influenza upswings. Kits are made available for taking spec-imen for submission to the State Laboratories.

When an upswing in in-fluenza appears, educational efforts can be made immedi-ately to zero in on prevention. Among the things stressed are personal hygiene, avoiding unnecessary exposure and confining yourself to bed if you become ill. Advice from a physician is recommended in case of elevated fever.

Past records indicate that January normally is the point at which the number of in-fluenza cases swing upwards, although slight rises may occur later. By late March, the curve usually bottoms out again. Last year the rise started in Decem-ber, hit a peak of more than 12,000 cases at one weekly reported period, and then began flattening out.

The 1973-74 winter curve showed 19,000 cases in late January. The weekly reports showed a decline, and then the cases shot back up to peak again.

In early 1972, influenza peaked at more than 25,000 reported cases in one week and stayed above 20,000 new cases for two more weeks before subsiding.

With early vaccinations this year, in addition to some carry-over immunity and public awareness of the problem, the Department of Health Re-sources is hopeful of a healthy winter for its citizens. But if outbreaks do occur, the De-partment's surveillance teams will be on the job to help identify and limit the out-breaks.

B&PW Club Meeting Held

The Rockport Business & Professional Women's Club met in the District Courtroom in the Courthouse, August 25.

The chairman of the civic participation committee, Mrs. Dean Mackey, introduced the speaker of the evening, W.W. (Bill) Janecsek, manager of CPL. The topic of his talk answered the questions on "Who are the people who become working members of Rockport's civic organiza-tions?"; "Why do they become involved in civic participation activities?"; and, "What are some of the benefits gained by the community from these civic organizations?"

Mrs. Margaret Vogler and Mrs. Thelma Crawford, prospective members of the B&PW, were the guests of the evening. Twenty-four regular members of the club were present.

A.A.R.P. CARD PARTY

There were 7 tables of bridge and 1 of canasta at the Sept. 4 card party at the airport. Hostesses were Louise Zeisler and Loraine King.

Mrs. Leta Posey took first prize in canasta and Sadie Smith second.
First in ladies' bridge was won by Katie Lou Mundine with Nina Puster getting second. In men's bridge Karl Smith took high with Ed Gerchak getting second. Bingo prize was won by Evelyn Horton.

Another party will be held next Thursday, Sept. 11, same place - same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Welsh have recently moved to the area and are now owners of Surfside. Welcome to the community and to the Chamber membership force! Another new member is the Tree House in St. Clair Shopping Center owned by Nita Dixon and Carolyn Hendricks.

The November issue of Texas Highways will carry an article on the large crab which rests in Aransas County Navigation Park. Pictures and informative data were mailed to Travel and Information Division of Texas Highway Department. If you would like to see this article, you may drop by the Chamber around November 1st, as we have a subscription to this monthly magazine depicting the sights and interests of Texas.

A lot of activity goes on at Nancy Cook's house on Tuesday and Thursday. Ladies gather to knit, sew, crochet, make shell crafts and other useful items to be sold in their booth during the SeaFair festival. Proceeds will go to the hospital foundation fund. There have already been some cash donations to this fund as well as much needed materials for the ladies to work with.

Nita Barganski of Marsha's Ceramics has donated a generous number of ceramic novelties which will be hand-painted and decorated. A beautiful hooked rug was donated to the Woman's Committee by Mrs. W.L. Reaser. All of these good people and many more have given of their time, talents and money so that this community might someday have an emergency facility. Many thanks to all who have been so helpful, kind and generous.

PAGE SEVEN

Although I have not done public relations work for the Chamber of Commerce for the past few years, the following expression of a personal opinion would fall in the category of public relations for the local area.

I believe that an occasional trip to other parts of the country will cause anyone living in Rockport, Fulton or Lamar to appreciate more fully "how sweet it is," as Jackie Gleason used to say, to live in this area.

During a recent auto trip my wife and I took, we went through Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Minneapolis, Minn., Salt Lake City, Utah, Reno, Nev., Oakland and San Francisco, Calif., Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., and El Paso, Texas, to mention most of the larger cities.

Each city and each section of the country has certain attractions that appeal to a lot of people, but the more we traveled, the more convinced we became that we were fortunate to have found a fine place to live when we came to Rockport.

A few of the things we like very much are: the fact that it is a small city with no bumper-to-bumper traffic to make you nervous; the weather (although maybe not perfect) suits us fine; the people are friendly; taxes are reasonable; there are numerous things a person can do to relax and have fun (such as fishing, golf, tennis, swimming, etc.).

So, if you find yourself getting bored and thinking maybe you would like to be living in some other area, take a trip and come home with the realization you are lucky to be living here.

MAN WITH TWO HEARTS

Keith and Gilley Wed

Miss Matye Beth Gilley, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Gilley, Rockport, became the bride of Cary Manley Keith, son of Mrs. Ruby Keith and Charles M. Keith, Waco, in an evening ceremony August 30 at First Baptist Church, Rockport.

Rev. Charles Fake performed the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of two standing baskets of white mums and gladioli.

Music was furnished by organist Mrs. Norman McLead, and Rev. Charles Fake sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Alan LeClair, Portland. She chose a long gown of white knit in an empress design with long sleeves accented by rows of tiny buttons at the cuffs. The v-neckline was accented by pearl embroidered alencon lace and gathers fell softly at the back of the skirt. She wore an elbow length veil held in place by a band of small white carnations and baby's-breath.

For her bouquet she carried a cascade of white carnations, baby's-breath and greenery surrounding a white detachable orchid with streamers of ribbons tied in lover's knots.

Mrs. Alan LeClair of Portland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long gown of coral pink knit in an empress design with chiffon butterfly sleeves. She wore white carnations and baby's-breath in her hair. She carried a nosegay of white mums with streamers of ribbons tied in lover's knots.

The best man was Jerry Keith, Clearwater, Fla., brother of the groom.

The ushers were Simon Lee Sorenson and M.D. McNorton of Rockport.

The bride's mother wore a beige and white knit dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a turquoise knit dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Zbranek, 1509 Dana Drive, Rockport.

The bride's table was covered with a white net skirt trimmed with green fern. At one end of the table was the three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink and white roses topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bouquet of the bride decorated the table.

Kay Shafer served the wedding cake. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl at the other end of the table by Viola McNorton. The German chocolate groom's cake and coffee were served by Margaret Harris and Deane Steele. Pink champagne was served on the patio throughout the evening by George Zbranek.

Lillian Sorenson presided at the register table. At one end of the table were two silver trays holding pink rice bags tied with pink satin ribbon.

Also in the house party were Ruby Hart, Jane Rossman, Penny Rossman, Ola Dietz and Penny Baldwin.

The bride wore a mint-green knit dress for her going-away ensemble with white orchid corsage and white accessories.

After a wedding trip to Mexico City, the couple will make their home in Portland.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Marvin Butler, Austin, aunt of the groom; Mrs. Ruby Keith, Waco, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hill and Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Smith, Portland; Miss Kay Shafer, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Lynn LeClair, San Antonio; Jerry Keith, Clearwater, Fla., brother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Keith, Waco, father of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Frankie King, Corpus Christi; and Mrs. Kenneth Adkins, Corpus Christi.

Stroot Boat Is Publicized

The following article about Bob Stroot of Rockport and his Chinese junk appeared in the Aug. 14 issue of the Apalachicola Times in Florida:

Visitors to the docks near the rainbow marina were surprised to see a full-fledged Chinese Junk sail in Sunday afternoon. The Junk was built at the Ho Sang Shipyards in Hong Kong and shipped to the States on a freighter.

The ship is made of varnished teak wood and, according to its owner, Bob Stroot of Rockport, Texas, is built "like a piece of furniture." The figurehead is a carved lion's head and carvings of dragons adorn the bow and stern.

Stroot has sailed from Texas and is heading towards the Bahamas and possibly the Virgin Islands.

It's a Girl !!

Mr. and Mrs. John W. "Skibbo" Cooling are the proud parents of an 8 pound 1 1/4 ounce baby girl born September 3 and named Daphne Fay. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.D. King. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Lee Sheive, San Antonio, and Jess King, Rockport. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.V. "Tony" Brown. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Lou Willie Stovall, Rockport, Fabin Stovall, Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Frances Knocke.

Calvary Baptist Ladies Meet

Participating in this and fellowship and refreshments later were Anna Parr, Lucille Langston, Mary Green, Ann Jones, Opal Green, Mayme Hawks, Wanda Whitley, Gladys Branch, Mary Jane Cady, Inez Coleman, Marie Mendez, Betty Robinson and Hazel Molmen.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Mr. Kinsey:

I hope you can publish this letter to give some public recognition to the staff of the Aransas County Public Library.

This summer, our company embarked on a difficult project. We had to write our own Bicentennial play for the 1975-1976 touring season. A manuscript of this type involves a great deal of research in the areas of history and biography.

To say it simply, we could not have finished the script without the untiring help of Librarian Mrs. A.C. Hamon, her Assistant Librarian, Mrs. H.L. Loyd, and the countless number of volunteers who assist them.

These women helped us find books when we didn't even know the titles. All we had to do was call the Aransas County Library and tell them what kind of information we needed. In a short while, they would call back with a list of available books.

Then there were many cases where a book was not in our library. To solve this problem, the librarians arranged for "inter-library loans" from the Corpus Christi library, or even from the State of Texas. Residents of Rockport and Aransas County should be aware that our library has resources that stretch beyond its own shelves.

Most importantly, I would want every resident of this county to realize that our library's greatest resource is its people....people that do an incredible job on a very slim budget.

At their second performance of the Bicentennial show, one of our groups received a standing ovation. Part of that applause belongs to the Aransas County Library.

Sincerely yours,
John R. Hancock

Council on Aging News

Neal Gage, director of the Council on Aging, reported to the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Council on Aging Sept. 8 that the month of August was an unusually busy month.

He stated he had had 272 calls or requests for information and aid during the month, the majority of which he had been able to give definite aid and help as well as to refer them to places where specific aid could be had.

Included in this were 24 trips in which 24 different individuals were transported to doctors in Aransas Pass, Portland and Corpus Christi.

Each of these trips usually requires at least one-half day's time of the volunteer doing this transportation.

Those present at the monthly meeting were: Rev. John Bradshaw, Rev. Tom McClung, Merv Sours, Zolzie Glass, Neal Gage (Director), John L. Leslie, Jim Bibbs (Treasurer) and Evelyn Townsend.

Special guest was Leonard F. Redding, director of the area Agency on Aging for the Coastal Bend Council of Governments.

He presented and discussed the budget which will be in effect through February, 1976.

Betty Lamb, auditor for the Council of Governments who handles all matters concerning the Area Agency on Aging, was also present. It was noted that to date $1460 of local donations had been received for the work.

PUBLIC NOTICE
SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS (S.J.R. NO. 11)
SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1975

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the separation of powers, legislative and executive provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article II, Separation of Powers, is amended to:

Provide that the powers of government of the State of Texas are divided among three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial. Except as otherwise authorized by the constitution, members of one branch may not exercise any power properly attached to either of the others.

Article III, The Legislature, is amended to:

Continue the present structure of the legislature consisting of a senate with 31 members and a house of representatives with 150 members. The present organization and procedure of the legislature are continued except that the provision allowing closed executive sessions of the senate is omitted. Provisions on the conflict of interest of members of the legislature are continued, as is the governor's power to veto bills or line items in appropriation bills. The article provides for single-member senatorial, representative, and congressional districts. A compensation commission is created to recommend the compensation and allowances to be received by members of the legislature. The legislative compensation, set by law, may not exceed this recommendation and does not take effect until after an intervening general election. The article provides for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years and 90 days in even-numbered years, and a veto session of 15 days upon request of three-fifths of the membership of each house. The legislature may meet in organizational sessions prior to the convening of the legislature in regular sessions.

Article IV, The Executive, is amended to:

Continue the present status of the governor and all other statewide officers, and include the commissioner of agriculture as an executive department officer. The governor is limited to two consecutive terms. The governor is authorized to designate chairmen of state boards, and to remove gubernatorial appointees to state agencies for cause unless the removal is vetoed by the senate. The article mandates the legislature to provide a new governor-elect an appropriation so the governor-elect may organize an office prior to inauguration, and permits the legislature to grant powers of fiscal control to the governor. All governmental agencies, with several exceptions, have a life of not more than ten years unless extended by the legislature, and, at the regular session held in odd-numbered years, the governor shall submit to the legislature a report on the organization and efficiency of the executive branch.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the SEPARATION OF POWERS, LEGISLATIVE, AND EXECUTIVE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective January 1, 1976, except Article III, Section 5, which becomes effective January 1, 1981.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the judiciary provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article V,

The Judiciary is amended to:

Establish a unified judicial system consisting of the supreme court, court of appeals, district courts, and circuit courts. Existing county courts and county judges are continued until otherwise provided by law. All judges (except municipal judges), district attorneys and district clerks must be elected by the people. The supreme court and the court of criminal appeals are merged into a single court of last resort, and this supreme court is authorized to provide for efficient administration of the judicial system and to balance case loads. Individual rights for a trial by jury and appeal by the accused are continued. The state is granted the right to appeal in criminal cases in limited circumstances, and the legislature is permitted to establish methods of appeal to the courts from decisions of state agencies.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the JUDICIARY PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the voting and election provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VI, Voter Qualifications and Elections, is amended to:

Provide for registration and qualifications for voting including voter residency requirements to be established by law. A citizen of the United States who is at least 18 years of age and who meets the registration and residence requirements provided by law is a qualified voter unless the person has been convicted of a felony and for that felony is incarcerated, on parole, or on probation, or unless the person is mentally incompetent as determined by a court. Voting by the people in all elections must be by secret ballot, and the legislature shall provide by law for residence, registration, and absentee voting requirements, for the administration of elections, and for the protection of the electoral process. The general election for state and county officers is to be held in even-numbered years on a date prescribed by law.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the VOTING AND ELECTION PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the education provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VII, Education, is amended to:

Provide that the Permanent and Available School Funds and the county public school funds are continued for the support of the free public schools. The State Board of Education is retained and the Permanent and Available University Funds are continued for the benefit of The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. A new Higher Education Fund for Texas is established for the benefit of colleges and universities outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. The state ad valorem tax of ten cents on $100 valuation is continued as the source of revenue for the Fund. The ten cent higher education tax may be changed by law within the ten cent maximum. The legislature may allocate by law a portion of the Higher Education Fund to certain state vocational and technical institutes. The article provides that the public education system must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs exceeding the level provided by the state consistent with general law. Authority to issue Permanent University Bonds is continued but the bonds may not exceed 30% of the Permanent University Fund.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the EDUCATION PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976, except Article VII, Section 9, which becomes effective January 1, 1979.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the finance provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VIII, Finance, is amended to:

Provide that state taxes may be levied and collected only by general law and to prohibit any state ad valorem tax on real property or tangible personal property except the ten cent tax provided for in Article VII and a tax of two cents on the $100 assessed valuation to provide funds for the State Building Fund. Provides that all real property and tangible personal property must be taxed equally and uniformly in proportion to market value. Existing exemptions from ad valorem taxation are continued. The present deduction of motor fuel taxes for highway purposes and the Available School Fund is retained. The "pay-as-you-go" principle for the operation of state government is retained. The legislature shall establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of open-space land devoted to farm or ranch purposes and may establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of forest land devoted to timber production. The $3000 exemption from state ad valorem taxation for residential homesteads is continued and the legislature by law may increase this amount. A separate $3000 exemption from ad valorem taxation by political subdivisions is provided for the residential homestead of persons at least 65 years of age and the political subdivision may increase this amount. The legislature by law may exempt from ad valorem taxation certain property owned by veterans' organizations, nonprofit water corporations, and persons in need because of age or disability, and economic circumstance. The legislature may also exempt property to preserve historical, cultural or natural history resources. Taxpayers are provided a new method of correcting inequitable tax assessments by paying ad valorem taxes under protest and suing for a refund in a district court. State debt may be authorized by law only if approved by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the state voting on the question. Public funds and public credit may be used only for public purposes and no public funds or public credit may be used to influence the election of a public officer. The article prohibits a retail sales tax on agricultural machinery or parts, fertilizer, feeds or seeds, prescription drugs or medicine, or food, except food sold by restaurants for immediate consumption. An assessment voted by marine food or agricultural producers on their product sales is not a tax if provision is made for the individual producer to receive a refund of the assessment when the producer does not desire to be assessed.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the FINANCE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective on September 1, 1976, except Article VIII, Section 2, Subsections (b) and (c), which becomes effective January 1, 1978, and Article VIII, Section 6, Subsection (c), which becomes effective January 1, 1979.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the local government provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article IX, Local Government, is amended to:

Provide that the counties of the state are those that exist on the date of adoption of the local government article and that county boundaries may be changed if approved by a majority of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. Counties may be merged or county seats relocated if approved by two-thirds of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. The present elected constitutional county offices are retained and four year terms of office are provided. The voters of a county may create additional offices, eliminate offices, or combine the duties and functions of offices. The voters may also grant ordinance making power to the governing body of the county. Cities and towns having more than 1,500 inhabitants may become home-rule cities. Tax limitations are established for operating purposes for cities and counties, and the legislature is required to fix debt limits for cities, towns, counties, and school and community junior college districts.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the LOCAL GOVERNMENT PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective on September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the general provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article X, General Provisions, is amended to:

Provide the basic requirements relating to public officeholders such as the official oath and residency requirements. The provision defining the separate and community property of spouses is retained, and the protection of a homestead from forced sale is continued. The legislature is required to protect certain personal property from forced sale. Current wages for personal service are not subject to garnishment. A private corporation may not be chartered except under general law, and no bank may engage in business at more than one place in this state. The legislature must provide for the regulation of bank holding companies. The present system of local-option elections for the prohibition or sale of alcoholic beverages is continued. The legislature is required to prohibit lotteries and gift enterprises but may permit certain bingo games and raffles. The presently existing provisions for retirement benefits of teachers and other public employees are modified to allow the state to contribute more than 10%. A policy that the quality of the environment of the State of Texas is to be protected is established, and the legislature is required to implement and enforce this policy. No state funds may be used to remove surface water from the river basin of origin if the surface water is necessary to supply the reasonably foreseeable water requirements of the basin for the ensuing 50 years, unless the removal of water is sufficiently replaced to the point of removal from outside the state or is on a temporary, interim basis. The seaward beaches of the Gulf of Mexico and coastal submerged lands belonging to the state are held by the state in perpetual trust for the people, and subject to reasonable limitations prescribed by law, the public has the free and unrestricted right of use and benefit of the beaches. The provision is continued that, except as otherwise provided by law, a rate of interest in excess of ten percent a year is usurious, and that if a contract does not specify a rate of interest, the rate under the contract may not exceed six percent a year. Discrimination against handicapped persons is prohibited, and a goal of the state is established to provide every resident access to adequate, comprehensive health care.

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

WOMEN VETERANS INFORMATION

Women veterans who were married and who attended school under the GI Bill between June 1, 1966, and October 24, 1972, may be eligible for a special Veterans Administration payment, according to A.A. Hunter, VA Regional Office Director.

During the period, Hunter explained, female veterans who were married did not receive the increased allowance extended to male veterans who were married. They are now eligible for the additional amount - approximately $30 per month - for each month they were in training under the GI Bill while they had a spouse.

Passage of Public Law 92-540 in October 24, 1972 made male and female veterans eligible for payment of GI Bill money for spouses on the same basis. A recent VA ruling made this eligibility retroactive to June 1, 1966.

Women veterans can file claims for the money at the nearest VA regional office, but there is a cutoff date of July 1, 1976. Claims cannot be accepted after that date.

Proof of marriage while in training must be furnished in connection with the claim. The additional amount for husbands cannot be paid to women who trained under the other World War II and Korean Conflict GI Bills. Those who trained after October 24, 1972, have been paid on the same basis as their male counterparts.

Presbyterian Women Meet

Women of First Presbyterian Church met in Fellowship Hall at 10 a.m. September 4 for their regular meeting. Mrs. Thomas L. Morgan, president, opened the meeting with prayer and conducted the business meeting.

Annual reports were given by committee chairpersons with a brief summary of the year's work by the president. New WOC officers will be installed at morning worship service September 28.

Announcement was made of family night supper to be held September 17. The meeting was concluded with a salad luncheon at noon.

Littleton and Keller Wed

Miss Gail Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Keller of Rockport, and Rexford Littleton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Littleton, Sr., of Fulton, were united in marriage Aug. 30 at the home of the parents of the bride. The Rev. Tom McClung of First United Methodist Church officiated in the outdoor setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of off-white polyester and cotton with an overlace fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. The skirt was flared with a ruffle set under lace. She wore a cameo pin owned by her great-grandmother.

The bride's attendants, Connie Littleton and Susan Keller, wore identical dresses of yellow polyester knit trimmed with white sailor collars. They each carried a long-stemmed yellow rose.

Lance Cooper of Houston served as best man and Ricky Littleton as groomsman.

A reception following the ceremony was also in the outside setting at the home of the bride's parents. Spring flowers graced the tables. Serving in the house party were Rhonda Sparks, Kimberly Sparks and Lisa Sparks of Palacios and Gloria Davis of Rockport.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Houston.

CIRCLE 3 MEETS

Circle 3 of First Presbyterian Church had its regular monthly meeting at the church with Mrs. Katherine McLester as hostess. Meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. McLester and the six members present sang "In My Heart There is a Melody" to open the meeting.

The secretary called the roll and each responded with a Bible verse. Then she read the minutes of the last meeting. She also read the treasurer's report as she was unable to be present.

Since this was the last meeting of the year, new officers were selected. Mrs. Lou Dick is going to be the new circle chairman with Mrs. Queenie Camehl as co-chairman. Katherine McLester will be the new secretary and Mrs. Alice Morrison the treasurer.

There were 10 cards sent by 3 people and 12 visits by 4.

Mrs. Dorothy Leslie gave the report from the W.O.C. meeting. There will be a family night supper on September 17. The October family night supper will be on Oct. 19 and all circles will help on this as it will be on Sunday after church - a finger meal. Our circle will be responsible for serving W.O.C. at the October meeting and serving at the family night supper in November.

The new Sunday school class that started for adults last Sunday was announced and discussed and several members are attending or will.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Alice Morrison on October 13.

--Dorothy Leslie, secretary.

Consumer Food News

College Station -- Poultry products edged into the "bargain" spotlight at supermarkets this week with fryer chickens wearing "reasonable price tags, while chicken hens and turkeys represent good values," one marketing specialist said.

"Also, turkey rolls and roasts in foil pans are gaining favor as convenience items," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, added.

Of beef buys, "chuck cuts are good choices, and boneless rolled roasts, excellent for rotisserie cooking, are featured in some markets," she said.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At fruit counters, cantaloupe and watermelon are in good supply at moderate prices, along with a wide variety of soft fruits - white seedless grapes, nectarines, peaches, bananas, prunes, and several plum varieties, the specialist reported.

"Also, new-crop apples are a bit more plentiful.

In vegetable sections, "fresh corn has moderate prices and good quality. Other good vegetable choices are okra, cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, tomatoes, yellow and zucchini squash."

Consumer Watchwords: No single test will assure that a cantaloupe is ripe and delicious - only a combination of several tests.

There should be no stem - only a smooth symmetrical, shallow basin.

Netting, or veining, should be thick, coarse and corky, standing out in bold relief over some parts of the surface.

The melon should have a heavy, sweet "musk-like" aroma.

Fashion

Vests are coming back with womens suits and the slim line is seen in many of the coats and other garments in the fall showings.

With collarless coats there is usually a shawl scarf. If not a regular wool scarf may be worn.

Twin sweaters, the short sleeve snug one under the long sleeve cardigan, are popular.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—One-fifth of our country's population moves each year, and one-fifth of those who employ a moving company may experience some damage or loss of belongings, according to Interstate Commerce Commission figures.

Summer is the "busy season" for movers, too, because many people move during the break in the school year, or on vacations. Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division already has received complaints from several consumers about movers.

Many complaints are concerned with "low-balling," the practice of giving unreasonably low estimates to get your business, then charging more for the move.

Equally as frequent, though, are complaints about companies that refuse to compensate for loss or breakage to the extent desired by the consumer.

Some of these problems might be avoided if consumers planned a move carefully in advance, and if they familiarized themselves with their own rights and obligations and those of the moving company.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys suggest that consumers pay close attention to the following points before hiring a moving company:

*Get three estimates from different movers, and check with friends or relatives who have moved recently for tips.

*Be cautious of especially low estimates, but remember that a mover isn't bound by his estimate. It's only a guide for the consumer. The actual cost is determined by the weight of your shipment, the distance it must travel, and the fixed tariff rate for the two.

*The mover will inventory your belongings before loading, but you must make sure a proper description of the articles and their condition is entered. This could be very important later in filing a claim in the case of breakage or loss.

*If, when weighed, your goods will cost more than 10% or $25 over the estimate to move, you must be notified. You can have them reweighed, but you may have to pay the cost of the reweighing if the weight difference is very slight.

*Find out how you must pay for the move. Some movers extend credit. Others require cash, a certified check, money order, traveler's check, or cashier's check.

*Your goods are insured up to a certain amount by the mover, but this often isn't enough to replace or repair items, according to many consumers. It's often advisable to take out extra insurance.

*Movers generally don't give specific delivery dates, but you should be sure someone is at the destination before the estimated delivery date. If not, your goods will be stored and redelivered, with you paying the cost.

*When your goods are delivered, check everything before signing any papers. Note any missing or damaged items on the papers before you sign. Signing without inspecting can make it more difficult to collect any damages.

*Movers can pay for or repair any damaged item, but action must be taken within 10 days of receipt of the claim.

If you have a problem with a mover, consult the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

SHOPPING WITH PLANNING

Here are some things to remember when you sit down to plan your shopping for this week:

- (1) Larger cuts of meat may actually cost less per pound. These larger cuts can be divided and "programmed" into your shopping list for other days in the week.
- (2) Less tender cuts of meat can be excellent if properly prepared and cooked. For best results, these less tender cuts should be braised (cooked with a liquid), tenderized for broiling, or pressure cooked.
- (3) Meat, fish or poultry can be easily "stretched" by serving in a casserole, or by topping with your family's favorite sauce.

Photographer Edward Weston—Important Forms Seen Importantly

"Kale Head," 1930, Edward Weston. Philadelphia Museum of Art, Photograph by A. J. Wyatt, Staff Photographer.

Edward Weston's hand-to-mouth existence and his magnificent obsession—the camera—are described, at length, in his Daybooks (1922-'34). This journal of his life and work confirm the man's talent as a writer, abstract artist and master photographer.

He was born in Highland Park, Illinois in 1886, but he developed as an artist in Mexico and California where most of his work was done. Weston died in 1958 of Parkinson's disease, contracted in 1944. His approach to photography was original and much misunderstood, even by outstanding artists in the same field. Famed photographer Alfred Stieglitz was very disappointed in Weston's work describing it as lacking in life and fire. Weston felt that Stieglitz' oversized ego was a contributing factor here, since his work showed no Stieglitz' influence (an unpardonable slight).

Weston was not influenced by other photography, but by other more basic inspiration such as music (especially Bach), literature, sculpture, painting. He explains that he was not moved to emulate, compete or imitate, but he was excited to greater efforts—truly inspired to achieve a higher peak of perfection by other creative expressions.

Weston wrote in his

Daybook that "the real artist—genius in any line of creative endeavor—does not interpret anything: he creates a new world in opposition to the thought of his own age. Always ahead and alone, he is the leader who clears the way for revolution. And revolution is but one surface manifestation of evolution; like a boil on the neck, it hastens the cure."

He was encouraged by artist Walt Kuhn who had a high regard for his portraits, to show in New York. Before his first one-man show at Alma Reed's New York Gallery in October of 1930, Jose Rodriguez, in an article for California Arts and Architecture, compared him to Hokusai and said that to these two artists, born in different centuries and of different cultures, the physical thing is immensely significant. Superficially, Rodriguez continued, this would make them both stark realists, but the second thought follows irresistibly that this very preoccupation with shape as a fundamental definition makes them both out-and-out mystics.

Many people find the sensuous forms in Weston's work sexually suggestive. Weston despaired of these comparisons and restated his consuming interest in the life force within the form, explaining in the words of a fellow artist and admirer, that he saw vegetables (a favorite subject of his) and other natural forms, fundamental forms, with such intensity, such direct honesty, that a tremendous force like sex, which enters into, permeates all nature, could not but be revealed.

Like other great people, Weston did not judge his progress by what others were accomplishing. He was concerned with fulfilling his own potential as a person and an artist and particularly admired Mabel Luhan's thoughts on the artist as a transformer. "Man is the transforming animal—unless he gives back to life as much as he takes from it, his acute reception faculty fails him."

Whitewings Disappear From Valley

Edinburg -- Veteran white-winged dove hunters are hoping for a change for the better, but whitewings which arrived in record numbers in the Rio Grande Valley during late spring have all but disappeared.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department white-winged dove project leader Gary Waggoner of Edinburg said that the birds could return in time for the Sept. 1 opening day of hunting season and that plenty of food and water is available for them.

But in the course of making "fall flight counts" of both juvenile and adult birds P&WD biologists in the Valley have reported a drastic drop in the number of birds.

"Frequent rains probably have moved the birds out of our area," said Waggoner. "Reports from Mexico also indicate that few birds are to be found within 50 to 100 miles of the border."

"The situation could change overnight, but as of mid-August, the white-winged dove hunting picture is dismal."

Waggoner said that some whitewing production has been found in the brush of the eastern Valley but nesting in citrus groves is greatly reduced over previous summers.

"If the birds return in substantial numbers," he said, "hunting will be scattered because of abundant grain sorghum. Hunters will have to 'hunt' for their limit of whitewings this year."

Major roosting areas are being surveyed at present. Less-frequently used sites will be counted the week of August 18 with recounts of large production sites the week of August 25.

Spring population counts of adult birds tallied some 696,000 whitewings, the most since 1966.

P&WD Commissioners responded by setting a liberal seven-day whitewing season -- Sept. 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 13 and 14 -- with the usual bag and possession limits of 10 and 20 birds respectively.

Commissioners also acted to open for dove hunting the previously closed area south of a line extending along U.S. Hwy 281 between the city limits of Hidalgo and Brownsville.

P&WD statewide dove program leader Jim Dunks of Austin said that fall hunting seasons are based on spring breeding populations and expected production and geared to the maximum number of birds which could safely be harvested without endangering the brood stock.

"The fact that few birds are available for hunting is bad for the hunter, not the doves," said Dunks. "The whitewings simply have moved out and any hunting pressure this September will not affect the overall population since most of these doves have already left the Rio Grande Valley."

Dunks said that movement of birds out of the Valley started
