Big Three Presents European Security Proposals To Soviet

HE'S A LONG WAY FROM HOME—Police officer Kenneth Beck leads 12-year-old Billy Davis from a Trans-World Airlines plane at the International Airport at Los Angeles, Calif., an hour or so after his parents reported him missing for dinner at their home near St. Louis, Mo. Billy told the officers he had "just decided to go for a plane ride." The boy boarded the 81-passenger plane at St. Louis and remained undetected until the plane was well on its way. Billy, who left home without shoes or shirt, spent the night in Juvenile Hall.

Water-Laden Clouds Spill Rain On State

By The Associated Press

Water-laden clouds that spilled up to 6 inches of rain on Central Texas over the weekend kept rolling in from the Gulf Monday. Welcome showers continued over great stretches of the state.

The Weather Bureau predicted heat-cracking July rains would continue at least through Tuesday. Forecasters saw no immediate end to an inflow of Gulf winds bringing in the moisture.

Thunder growled and lightning flashed as widespread shower activity occurred Monday in an area bounded by Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Abilene, San Angelo and Junction.

Low clouds grayed most of the state. Fog settled over parts of East Texas before dawn, cutting visibility to ¼-mile at Lufkin and 2 miles at Tyler and Longview.

Cloudbursts ranging to 6 inches hit the Hill Country of Central Texas Saturday night. Kerrville received 4.85 inches. Six inches was reported in the surrounding area. They sorely needed the rain.

Runoff swelled the Guadalupe River to 18 feet at Comfort, near Kerrville, but there was no immediate flood danger.

Rains of ½-2½ inches were general around Llano Saturday night. Llano itself received .66 inch.

Hard rains pounded the South Plains Sunday. Lamesa reported area rains of as much as 1½ inches. Lamesa received more than .85 inch.

The rain fell just before it became too late to plant grain sorghum. Some called it a "godsend" to farmers. The Lamesa area has been dry, and high winds and hail have ruined up to 30 per cent of previous crops.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. included: Junction 2.66 inches, Mineral Wells 1.04, Sherman .73, Dallas .39, San Angelo .31, Fort Worth .30, Laredo .37 and Del Rio .26.

Smaller amounts fell in dozens of other points.

Overnight minimum temperatures ranged from Dalhart's 59 to 81 degrees at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

SHOWER TOTALS 1.02 IN SNYDER

A hard shower which hit Snyder shortly before noon today had produced 1.02 inches of moisture by 1 p.m., David Strayhorn, weather observer, reported.

Showers apparently were falling on a good portion of Scurry County, although the amounts probably varied as the localized rains moved over the area.

The rainfall came at a particularly opportune time for the area cotton crop, which was nearing a crucial stage. Some Snyder streets were running "curb high" during the noon hour, and traffic in the city was slowed considerably.

WEATHER

NORTH CENTRAL and WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday with scattered thundershowers. Not much change in temperature.

EAST and SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy with scattered mostly daytime thundershowers this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday. Not much change in temperature. Moderate southerly winds on the coast.

Wilson Looks For Big Air Power, Small Ground Forces

By ELTON C. FAY

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Despite protests from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and some congressmen, Secretary of Defense Wilson plans continued emphasis on big atomic-air power and smaller ground forces.

"Obviously I think the program is about right or I'd be advocating a different one," he told a news conference yesterday at the conclusion of the annual secretaries' conference.

He said also that President Eisenhower had approved his impounding of 46 million dollars which Congress added to Eisenhower's Marine Corps budget to offset a planned cut in Marine strength. Wilson disclosed Thursday he had ordered the money held up "while we take another look."

His comments on the over-all defense program came in response to questions about a farewell letter Ridgway addressed to him before retiring June 30 as Army chief of staff. The general, long an oponent of ground force cuts, restated his arguments against what he described as the administration's overemphasis on air - nuclear weapons.

Wilson, who permitted release of the letter Friday only after some of its contents had appeared in the press, said he had first put a "confidential" label on it because of the imminent Geneva summit conference which opens today.

He made it clear he thought Ridgway should have avoided discussion of a possible war with Russia involving nuclear weapons.

"I don't think the timing was good," he said. "The President and (Secretary of State) John Foster Dulles have sufficient problems without any of us adding to them."

He added:

"I feel strongly that the peoples of the world are looking toward peace, not war."

Wilson said he had cleared with the President his decision to hold up the added appropriations for the Marine Corps — an action which some Congress members have criticized.

When asked what the President said, Wilson replied, "He said there was a precedent for it and he thought it was the right thing to do."

Wilson said one division—apparently an Army one—will be withdrawn, sometime before next July 1, from the Far East but not necessarily from Korea. There are four divisions—three Army, one Marine—in Korea or Japan.

Wilson said there are no plans for reduction of air power in the Far East.

Latin-American Held On Two Charges As Result Of Affray

Two charges were filed against Ambrosio Gracia Guagardo this morning, 26-year-old Latin-American, after he was involved in a street fight and knifing here last night.

Two men were injured in the fight, which arose officers said from an argument when the car Guagardo was driving stalled in the street, somewhere on Avenue R.

Raul Villanueva of Snyder was reported to be doing "fine" this morning, after receiving severe knife wounds in his back.

The other injured man, Ramon Cadea, 19, 4500 block Twenty-fourth Street, was reportedly doing well after receiving a cut on his upper lip.

District Attorney Renal Rosson filed a felony charge against Guagardo of assault with intent to murder in connection with Villanueva's injury. County Attorney Wayland Holt filed an aggravated assault charge arising from the relatively minor injury of Cadea.

Guagardo was visiting his parents at Hermleigh, officers said, while home on leave from Anchorage, Alaska, where he is stationed with the Air Force.

Humidity Puts Edge On Heat In Snyder

Unusually high humidity put an edge on the heat in Snyder yesterday. The maximum temperature was 90 degrees, six degrees less than on the previous day. A low of 67 degrees was recorded overnight, with 71 degrees at 7:30 this morning, David Strayhorn, weather observer, said.

Scattered showers which have fallen over the county for the last several days brought too little moisture to measure here yesterday and last night. Saturday's rain, the first measureable amount to fall in July, totaled .18 of an inch.

Collier Only Rider Taking Two Events

Joe Collier, cowboy from Wichita Falls, was the only two-event show winner in the 19th annual Scurry County Rodeo, which ended Saturday night.

Collier had best averages in both steer riding and saddle bronc riding. He was awarded buckles for the best averages in each event. He had won the second go-round in each, taking $75 in the bronc riding and $60 in steer riding, in addition to his third place money in steer riding in the first round.

One of the closest contests in the four-night show was in senior calf roping. Winner of the saddle for best average in the show was Clifton Smith of Childress, who won the first go-round with a time of 13.0. That time was matched in the second go-round by that round's winner, Joe Rollins of Snyder. Smith's time in his other round, 14.4, however, bettered Rollins' time of 15.0 in the other round. Each man won $100 for first place in his go-round. Smith's average for the two rounds was 13.7, while Rollins' average was 14.0.

Two of the best times ever seen here were posted in the wild cow milking contest, at 17.0 by L. C. Hopper, of Fort, winner of the first round, and 18.0 by Clifton Smith, who won the second round. Neither of those men, however, had good enough times in their other rounds to win the saddle for best average. That was won by Doug McGraw of Abilene, whose times averaged out to 23.25 seconds. The two go-round winners got $100 each when they won their first places.

Four saddles were awarded in the show. Besides those in the calf roping and wild cow milking, there was one in the cutting horse contest and one in the senior sponsor contest. L. E. Shawnes of Mineral Wells, riding Booger Bay, won the cutting horse event, while Billy Holley of Gail, riding Scat Man, was second; J. H. Mitchell of Monahans on Smokey Miller third, and Bob Beal of Gail on Smokey C fourth. Winner of the saddle in the senior sponsor contest was Sherry Price of Addington, Okla., who was second go-round winner with a time of 17.6 and tied with a time of 18.0 for first in the first round with Melinda Bartlett of Stamford and Becky Summerlin of Roby.

David Rushing of Stamford took the buckle for the best average in the bareback bronc riding, as well as $50 each time for winning both go-rounds. Although Collier was show winner of the saddle bronc contest, he won only one go-round. Winner of the other round was Bill Barton of Abilene. Sidney Johnson of Snyder was winner of one go-round in steer riding, while Collier, who won the show's average for steer riding, won the other round.

In junior ribbon roping, Eddie James had the best average for the show. He had won the second go-round, while Sonny Harrell won the first. There was no prize for best average. In junior steer riding, go-round winners were Billy Robison and Sonny Harrell.

Each Victim Of Airline Crash Had His Own Special Mission

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—The crash of a Braniff airliner here yesterday took the lives of at least three Texans and injured three others.

The flight originated in Texas. Crew members listed Dallas as home. Twenty - seven of those aboard other than crew members boarded the plane in Texas.

Many of the flight were college students returning home after Air Reserve training at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin.

Identified dead from Texas included:

Allan Tobin, 43, Dallas, the pilot.

Mary Teel, 23, Dallas, the stewardess.

George Hoffman Jr., 29, San Antonio.

Injured from Texas:

Orvin Hanks, 36, Dallas, Co-pilot, compound fracture of the right arm, condition critical.

Mrs. Lottie Clark Thomas, 62, Dallas, internal injuries, serious.

Pfc. Gary Glen Goodner, 21, Dallas, shoulder injuries.

Mrs. Blanche Rogers, 56, Austin, scalp cut.

Had there been room on two other planes, Hoffman would have missed the fatal flight. He was trying to get passage directly to Philadelphia for his annual two-week tour of duty as a Naval Reserve lieutenant. He was forced to take the roundabout route when he couldn't get passage on other planes. Hoffman was a grain company assistant manager and is survived by his parents, wife and two sons.

Tobin, the pilot, was a veteran of 15,000 hours flying. He joined Braniff in November, 1940, and was made a flight captain in 1942. "He was a cheerful man, who loved a good joke," one fellow employes said. Survivors include his wife and three children.

Miss Teel, the hostess, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Teel, Camden, Ark. Her father is Camden County Clerk. She joined Braniff in 1954.

Seconds before the crash, she had handed passengers their hats and coats and wished them a "happy future voyage." Her body was thrown from the plane and badly burned.

Co-Pilot Hanks, who was injured, served with the Army Air Corps during World War II and was discharged as a major. His wife, who is expecting another child in five months flew to Chicago to be with him. They have three children. Hanks has logged 10,000 flight hours.

Another injured, Mrs. Thomas, saleswoman and receptionist. She was on a vacation trip to visit her daughter and family in Detroit.

Goodner had enlisted in the Army and was en route to Chicago for assignment.

Mrs. George Borneman, 38, one of those killed, was returning with her two children from a visit to Austin. The children, Janet, 11, and Nancy, 6, were injured. They lived at LaGrange Park, Ill.

The father found the body of his wife at the crash scene. He feared his daughters also were dead, but after hours of searching the wreckage, was notified they had been taken to hospitals.

"Someone said, 'The plane has crashed'," Borneman related. "I ran out of the terminal and grabbed a taxi to go to the corner of 55th St. and Central Ave. There was a big hole in the airport fence and I walked through.

"I was looking for my wife. I found her body some distance from the cabin. She was dead. An ambulance came along in a minute or two and took her away. Then I began looking for my daughters.

"I tried to get close to the cabin but police kept me back. I never did see the girls brought out. Later someone told me to go to Holy Cross Hospital to see them and I found them both, hurt but alive."

Ike Offers Six Points

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — The summit conference opened today with the Big Three Western powers laying before Soviet Russia a series of new proposals for European security, built around a unified Germany.

In quick succession President Eisenhower, French Premier Edgar Faure and British Prime Minister Eden advanced separate ideas as to how Russia could be safeguarded against a united and rearmed Germany.

Eden also put forward a proposal that the Big Four seek agreement on arms ceilings for Germany and neighboring countries, with the four powers joining in a system of control to prevent violations.

Despite the appearance of a coordinated program by the West, it was understood the leaders of the U. S. delegation were concerned about some of the proposals in Faure's speech. Informed quarters said the United States would not be bound by points it had not approved.

These included a proposal that arms reductions be controlled in the national budgets and Faure's call for inclusion of Germany in a general European security organization.

Eisenhower disclosed the West would agree to consider new guarantees for the Soviets if Russia would go along on German reunification.

He called for an end of the "Dreary exercises" of the cold war and urged East-West negotiations on a unified Germany.

Eisenhower laid down a six-point program of action aimed at ending the dangers of atomic war, ushering in a period of atomic plenty and ringing down iron curtains all over the world.

He called for a reduction of the world's "burden of costly armament" and at the same time urged cessation of the subversive activities of international communism.

A cut in the arms burden he said, "would and should insure that part of the savings would flow into the less developed areas of the world to assist their economic development."

Top Priority

Unification of Germany should be given top priority by the summit meeting, Eisenhower said, but the problem should be solved with proper safeguards for Russia's "legitimate security interests."

Eisenhower did not make specific proposals on European security, but stated simply that the United States would be willing to consider additional safeguards if Russia thought she would be threatened by a united Germany.

Faure suggested the general European pact, along with a series of Western guarantees, and Eden proposed still other steps. Eden suggested:

1. That Britain would be prepared to become party to a security pact including the United States, Russia, France and a united Germany.

2. That Britain would be ready to negotiate with the others on limits of forces on each side in Germany and the neighboring countries. He did not mention which countries would be included, but it was assumed the limitations would apply to both the Soviet satellites on one side of Germany and the Western Allies which border on the other side.

3. If the proposed control system, including the Big Four and Germany, is successful, efforts could then be made to extend the control system to other parts of the world.

4. That Britain would be ready to "examine the possibility of a demilitarized area between East and West."

While the problem of German unification and European security formed the heart of the Western program for the summit talks, the Western leaders called for a settlement of other problems which might lead to an end of the cold war.

Eisenhower urged particularly that the iron curtain be lifted, that the satellite countries be given more freedom and that international communism call a halt to subversion in non-Communist countries.

The three basic policy declarations laid the foundation for the coming discussions and set the tone, so far as the West was concerned. Soviet Premier Bulganin was scheduled to outline his views later in the day.

Plunging immediately into what the West called the central problem of the Big Four summit talks, Eisenhower disclosed that the West would agree to consider new guarantees for the Soviets if Russia would go along on German reunification.

French Premier Faure quickly backed him up and went further with a proposal that a unified Germany be permitted to join a general European security organization, open to all European countries which want to join.

The morning Big Four session recessed at 12:41 p.m. (6:41 a.m. EST).

The President addressed the summit meeting of the Big Four immediately after the leaders began their first meeting in the council chamber of the Palace of Nations, former home of the League of Nations and now European headquarters of the U.N.

Speaking directly to Soviet Premier Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure, Eisenhower laid down a six-point program of action aimed at ending the dangers of atomic war, ushering in a period of atomic plenty and eliminating iron curtains all over the world.

He called for a reduction of the world's "burden of costly armament" and at the same time urged a cessation of the subversive activities of international communism.

A cut in the arms burden he said, "would and should insure that part of the savings would flow into the less developed areas of the world to assist their economic development."

In the first face-to-face meeting in 10 years between an American President and the leaders of Russia, Eisenhower also challenged the Soviets to give greater freedom to the satellite peoples of Eastern Europe.

He thus raised an issue on which

Disneyland Opens Gates To Public

By JAMES BACON

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Disneyland, a 17-million-dollar southern California playground dedicated to children, young and old, opens its gates to the public today.

Unfortunately, the opening is about one week too early as 30,000 invited guests learned yesterday at a special preview.

The fabulous amusement park is the brainchild of Walt Disney, the best friend a kid ever had. But, probably for the first time in his career, Disney disappointed thousands of youngsters.

The park, which hopes to handle 60,000 persons a day in peak operations, wasn't able to handle half that number.

As a result, many parents and children skipped long, seemingly endless lines in front of such Disney creations as Snow White's castle, a Mississippi River showboat and jungle steamer.

The park's three restaurants were unable to care for all who wanted to eat but there was an ample reason. Most of the guests had free meal tickets. And the many rides were free for those who got on.

"Lines will not be so long when Disney is not picking up the tab for everyone," a park official said.

Traffic jams, described as the worst ever on certain segments of the Santa Ana Freeway, developed as automobiles moved bumper to bumper. The California highway patrol assigned 25 extra officers to duty along a five-mile section near the park and will keep them there for at least a month.

When the opening day jitters are quieted and the park slows down to a routine operation, it will be quite a show. The 160 acres—100 of them for parking—have everything to thrill a kid and his parents too.

A nostalgic main street, complete with horse - drawn trolley, will help many a grownup relive his childhood.

There's a stockade, pirate ship and replicas of Mickey Mouse and fellow cartoon characters of Disney fame.

Much of the opening day confusion was due to a 90-minute telecast which complicated normal operation. Many of the rides and attractions were closed to visitors while cameramen moved cables and lights. Some people, wandering into sections such as Tomorrowland or Fantasyland, often found themselves trapped inside with ropes barring their exit until the telecast was over.

All was not disappointment for the children. Davy (Fess Parker) Crockett, the hero of the nation's young, made sure that the kids got a look at him. He climbed on a horse and rode through the park several times.

Park officials said that they hope to gross 10 million dollars a year with an average per head expenditure of $2 per visit.

BIG THREE

Bulgamin's government has shown great touchiness.

Ike's Six Points

Here are the six points of the U.S. President's program:

1. German Unification — disunity "creates a basic source of instability in Europe." Ways should be found to solve the problem "promptly and justly" and at the same time "take account of the legitimate security interests of the Soviet Union."

Eisenhower said Western treaties limiting West German armament provide some safeguard but made this offer:

"We are quite ready to consider further reciprocal safeguards which are reasonable and practical and compatible with the security of all concerned."

2. Satellites — The American people "feel strongly that certain peoples of Eastern Europe, many with a long and proud record of national existence, have not yet been given the benefit of this pledge of our United Nations wartime declaration, reinforced by other wartime agreements." Presumably Eisenhower had in mind the Yalta agreements, which guaranteed free elections and democratic governments to Eastern Europe.

3. Iron Curtains — The American people "want to be friends with the Soviet people" and there are no "natural" rivalries or conflicts between them, but "artificial barriers" block friendships. Eisenhower said, "It is time that all curtains, whether of guns or laws or regulations, should begin to come down. But this can only be done in an atmosphere of mutual respect and confidence."

4. International Communism — This has disturbed relations between Russia and other nations for 38 years. Eisenhower said, "We cannot ignore the distrust created by the support of such activities," and added, "In my nation and elsewhere it adds to distrust and therefore to international tension."

5. Disarmament — The President suggested a step-by-step approach, concentrated primarily on "the challenging and central problem of effective mutual inspection." He declared that "armament reduction would and should insure that part of the savings would flow into the less developed areas of the world to assist their economic development."

Eisenhower spoke not in terms of total disarmament but of limitation of armament. He said that surprise attack in this atomic age has a "capacity for destruction far beyond" anything known before. Therefore each power, he continued, "deems it vital that there should be means to deter such attack."

6. Atoms for Peace — Leading nations must "press forward" with development of peaceful uses of the atom. "We believe that if the Soviet Union would according to its ability contribute to this great project, that act would improve the international climate."

The President began by warning that "we cannot expect here, in the few hours of a few days, to solve all the problems of all the world that need to be solved."

"Nevertheless," he went on, "we can, perhaps, create a new spirit that will make possible future solutions of problems which are within our responsibilities. And equally important we can try to take here and now at Geneva the first steps on a new road to a just and durable peace."

The leaders of the Big Four powers began their historic summit talks in search of an end to the cold war at 10:13 a.m.

At that moment the doors of the council chamber closed to outsiders and the delegations gathered around a hollow-square table to hear Eisenhower's opening address.

The American President was to be followed in turn by Faure, Eden and Bulganin.

Eden was the first of the government heads to arrive at the Palace of Nations, followed in quick session by Faure, Bulganin and Eisenhower.

They let news photographers in the council chamber for a brief session of picture taking.

Bulganin and Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev took the spotlight outside the palace by arriving in an open car. Dressed in neatly pressed gray suits, they smiled and waved at an applauding crowd of some 500 tourists and Swiss.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov followed Bulganin and Khruschev in a second open car.

Eisenhower Cheered

Eisenhower arrived in a four-car cavalcade an, open car of Secret Service men in front, then the President in a closed sedan bearing the U.S. flag and the presidential standard, and two open cars full of Secret Service men behind. Applause and cheers also greeted the President.

The conference scheduled an afternoon session to conclude any unfinished speaking and to hear replies.

It appeared likely that by nightfall the general lines would be drawn and the four government chiefs would be able to judge to some extent what were the chances for a successful outcome.

NAAWP Head Resigns For Lack Of Interest

MILFORD, Del. (AP) — Bryant Bowles resigned as president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People yesterday, citing lack of interest in the prosegregation organization he helped found.

"I am resigning because of lack of interest," he told a crowd estimated at betwen 250 and 300 at the nearby Harrington Airport. "I don't feel like helpnig people who don't try to help themselves."

Bowles' organization received national attention last fall when he led a successful fight to prevent integration of Negro pupils at all white schools here.

Bowles indicated he would return to his home in Florida.

The Delaware Board of Education has been ordered to submit plans for integration of students by Aug. 15, following U.S. Supreme Court rulings against school segregation.

Liver is so nutritious, it's wise to serve it to a family once a week or so. Cook the liver lightly in a little butter or margarine, then put though the food chopper. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with mayonnaise; use as a sandwich spread. For picking up flavor, put a little raw onion through the food chopper with the liver. Finely diced green pepper or celery also make a good addition to the liver because they provide crunchy texture.

Bids For Oil, Gas Leases Received

WASHINGTON (AP)—High bids of almost 110 million dollars have been received for oil and gas leases on the outer continental shelf off Louisiana and Texas, the Interior Department said yesterday. The area is beyond that owned by the two states.

An announcement is expected shortly on which high bids are accepted.

The July 12 sale was held at New Orleans. Orme Lewis, assistant secretary of interior, said high bids of $100,091,362 were received for 94 tracts totaling 252,807 acres off Louisiana.

High bids of $8,437,462 were made on 27 tracts totaling 149,760 acres off Texas.

Lewis said another million dollars would be received for first year rentals. This would amount to $758,420 for Louisiana acreage and $449,280 for rentals off Texas.

Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. (Heb. 4:15).

EDITORIALS

Population 2.5 Billion

If you feel a little lonesome now and then, as though the earth were so much stone, water and dirt, cheerup—things aren't as bad as they seem.

There is comfort in the thought that you are one of 2,528,000,000 people who inhabit this terrestial ball.

Two billion five hundred twenty-eight million is a lot of people—far more than the earth ever held before, and steadily growing more numerous. Statisticians of the United Nations arrived at that figure after checking with all its members and with Nationalist China, which gave the figure for the Chinese mainland.

North America was rated at 233 million, South America at 121 million and Africa at 216 million. Excluding the Soviet Union, which overlaps both, Europe counted 406 million noses and Asia 1.3 billion, while the Soviet Union counted 214 million. Oceania had 14.2 million.

This was an increase of 36 million since the mid-1953 estimate, which indicates how fast the world's population is growing. For 1950 the World Almanac gave the figure 2.4 billion.

In the hundred years of comparative peace that followed Napoleon's downfall the world more than doubled its population. In the first decade of the Nineteenth Century—that is, 1800-1810—world population was figured at 700 million, whereas in 1920 it stood at 1.73 billion. Thus up to 1955 or in only 35 years it has increased by numbers equal to the total population just 145 years ago.

Students of population drifts are forever predicting the dire consequences of over-population. They forsee the time when the earth will be unable to provide sustenance for so many hungry mouths. But advances in the agricultural sciences would indicate nothing to fear along that line; the real problem is production and distribution. Granting that all the factors are kept in balance and in proper proportions, there is no sound reason to doubt that the earth's ability to support people is illimitable.

Mr. Wilson Says No

It was the will of the 84th Congress, soon to adjourn, that $46 million be added to the Defense Department appropriations and that this money should be spent (1) to maintain the Marine Corps at its present strength of 205,000 men or (2) to increase that strength still more. The administration budget called for its reduction to 193,000.

It was a clear-cut and emphatic congressional pronouncement, but as it turns out it didn't mean a thing. Defense Secretary Wilson has announced that this money has been impoounded and no part of it will be spent, at least until "we take another look." He said there was precedent for thus thwarting the will of Congress, and though he did not cite the case in point, it is recalled that President Truman had refused some years ago to spent extra funds voted by Congress for aircraft procurement. We do not recall the circumstances of that incident, but it might have been when Congress, under the leadership of Lyndon Johnson, then a member of the House, authorized an air strength of 70 wings as against the administration's proposed 58 wings.

Incidentally, the Korean War quickly demonstrated how short-sighted the administration had been, and how long-headed Congress has been in insisting on a build up of air strength.

If in the next few weeks or months the world situation degenerates, Secretary Wilson will be the foreordained scapegoat of public reprobation, not merely for impounding of the Marine Corps funds, but for his almost incessant activities in behalf of military cutbacks.

He is, of course, taking a calculated risk, but unfortunately it all adds up to a calculated risk for the country; and in this atomic age the calculated risk a nation may take with impunity are getting scarce to the point of extinction.

Just what Congress can or will do about Mr. Wilson's obstinacy regarding the Marine Corps fund remains to be seen. It might decide to do some impounding of its own at a time and place that would leave Mr. Wilson looking foolish.

Laborious Theft

DETROIT (AP)—Burglars broke into the Borin Transit Mixed Concrete Co. to get a heavy safe. They dragged it through an office, across a yard, into a garage, and hoisted it into a company truck with a company crane. They used a crowbar to pry a chain off a gate and drove off. That took at least half the night. In the safe was an old, outdated deed to a house. That was all.

Citizens Of Advancing Years, But Youthful Hearts, Transform 'Doomed' Logging Town

By LEROY HITTLE

RYDERWOOD, Wash., July 18 (AP)—This former logging town, once apparently destined to die in its youth, has been saved by the aged.

Citizens of advancing years but youthful hearts have transformed it into a haven for retired persons with low incomes. With few exceptions, everyone in town is over 60.

"But don't call us oldsters," a 61-year-old resident pleaded. "We are as active as any teen-agers."

Mrs. Ben Forsythe's remark was typical of some "dean-age" residents who say they are busier in retirement than before, and love every minute of it.

Her husband, a 66-year-old retired high school teacher from Hood River, Ore., said, "I work harder than before, but I do it now because I want to."

The last of the loggers left town two years ago. Then the new citizens moved in, coming from as far away as New York and Florida.

Ryderwood, nestling among the tall firs of southwestern Washington, was founded in 1923 by a lumber company. For nearly 30 years it was a bustling logging community, once claiming a population of 2,000.

By 1952 most of the marketable trees in the area had been cut and the company hung a "for sale" sign on the town.

For several months there were no takers. The population dropped to approximately 100 families. Then a Los Angeles real estate broker, Harry H. Kem, conceived the idea of converting the sleepy little town into a community for the elderly set.

Kem and John H. Ritter, a Seattle real estate broker, organized a corporation known as Senior Estates, Inc., and bought the entire town.

The corporation restricted the town to retired persons, and resold the houses on long-term contracts to those who could qualify.

Applicants were screened by the corporation president, Col. William F. Brandt, 71-year-old retired banker from Beverly Hills, Calif., who runs the town.

In less than two years 199 houses were sold. Brandt said 63 others are left. Those remaining, all four-room dwellings, are priced at $2,500 each—$200 down and $20 a month.

"There is no age requirement," Brandt said, "but a person must be retired and have a definite, fixed income of $125 to $250 a month before we will sell him a house.

"Public assistance payments are not acceptable as income," he added.

The 25-man volunteer fire department keeps active although there has been little business.

"There's never a dull moment around this joint," exclaimed one of the volunteers, 66-year-old Elmer Stroud, a retired railroad switchman from Phoenix, Ariz.

"When I'm not practicing with the fire department, I'm remodeling my home, fixing my yard, raising some flowers, doing a little gardening, or talking to my neighbors over the back fence—telling lies on one another."

Tom Coughlin, 53-year-old retired Detroit policeman who serves on the fire department, said he came to Ryderwood because "I like the fishing and hunting here."

Virtually everyone has a hobby. Albert C. Fitschen, 72-year-old former Beverly Hills, Calif., mortician who retired after 27 years, makes violins and plays with the orchestra for Saturday night dances in the community hall.

The women make hats, produce flowers from wood fiber, weave fancy linens, paint, make rugs and even create lamps out of cactus.

"I can't explain just what it is about Ryderwood," said Mrs. H. R. Hechtner, 65, whose husband is a retired grain buyer from Walla Walla, Wash. "It's just a feeling of contentment, being with a congenial group with common interests, always doing something for each other."

Chisler's Mistake

LYNCHBURG, Va. —An error is graven on stone in Lynchburg's new courthouse. The man who did the chiseling spelled "its" as used possessively "it's." A newspaper proofreader—who else—who knew that "it's" is a contraction of "it is" spotted the error.

Twins Still Live

SATANTA, Kas. — Mrs. Josey Short Shadden, of Montezuma, Kas., and John Henry Short, Nicoma Park, Okla., think they may well be the world's oldest brother-sister twins. They'll be 93 next Nov. 18. They were born near Hopkinsville, Ky.; later homesteaded in the opening of the Cherokee Strip in Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Legislators' Vacations Can Be Hard To Catch

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — For many congressional wives vacation is the brief period between the adjournment of Congress and the time they go home to their districts.

"Once we get back home we're on the move all the time," Mrs. Omar Burleson, wife of the Democratic congressman from Texas, told me. "We try to go so many places and meet all the people. It's just plain campaigning — from six in the morning till midnight. We enjoy it but you can't call it a vacation."

Mrs. Burleson, president of the Congressional Club, made up of most of the wives feel the same way. Some with children leave the capital as soon as school is out and reopen the house back home, or go to the beach, or country, for a few weeks, or put the kids in camp.

"How are you spending your vacation?" I asked in a fleeting encounter with Mrs. Clair Engle, wife of the Democratic congressman from California. "Going home to lobby the voters," she told me.

"While folks are taking vacations, you're making votes in hot locations," is a line in a ditty sung by a group of congressional wives in a dinner party skit "This is Your Life," they put on earlier this spring for their husbands.

Mrs. James Haley, wife of the Democratic congressman from Sarasota, Fla., plans to go to Montana to visit her three children and 10 grandchildren while her husband, chairman of the subcommittee on Indian Affairs, conducts hearings in the West. She says she also expects to be on the lookout for hobnail glass which she makes a hobby of collecting. They expect to get back to Florida in September to tour the district.

"I'm just going to sit and rock," Mrs. Thomas Abernethy, wife of the Congressman from Mississippi, sighed as she took off for Okolona, her home town of 2,800, "where everbody knows one another," where she has "good servants and good neighbors" to help her open her "big, old cool house" and her children have the time of their lives. Son Tommy, 12, pitcher with the Okolona Pee-Wee baseball team is already touring northern Mississippi in the Pee-Wee League series. Gail, 16, and Kay, 9, will accompany their mother South. Since this is an off year when the congressman isn't running for re-election, and since he's "never had an opponent in the general elections in the 13 years he's run for Congress," Mrs. Abernethy says she can rock with an easy conscience this summer.

"WRONG BASKET!"

Nation's Oldest Practicing Physician Has A Simple Formula For Longevity

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. John Hullinger, who is 94 years old, has delivered 3,210 babies—including a second son by his second wife just last May—and worn out 23 automobiles in 63 years of medical practice, is an unusual physician.

For example, he likes to play a cornet.

Dr. Hullinger, who stands a bent 5 feet 9 and weighs a dwindling 150 pounds, has hazel eyes, comes from Clinton, Iowa, and says the American Medical Assn. has designated him as the nation's oldest practicing physician.

He has been a fine ice skater, doesn't take pills himself, hasn't been sick since he was a youth.

The doctor, whose prescription for longevity is based on daily exercise and abstinence from bad habits, is married to a former nurse, age 36.

He came here to appear on an NBC-TV show called "Make the Connection." Here is his life story in his own words:

"I was born Dec. 7, 1860. I lived 62 years with my first wife. She died of the rheumatism of old age the 13th of January, 1952. She was three years younger than I.

"Before I went into medicine I was a principal of schools. She was a teacher under me. She was a good girl and I married her and kept her.

"My father died in operation for gall bladder trouble at 89 years and 6 months, and knowing what we do now I think we could have saved him.

"Mother lived to be 92 years and died of natural causes. What? What did you say? What is a natural cause? I'd say she died of senile arthritis—the rheumatism of old age.

"What really kills most people did you ask? Bad habits. I never used tobacco, liquor, coffee or tea. Mental bad habits? Well, worry—but I'd rather not go into that.

"How can you stay young? Well, exercise. I have a garden and when I come in from it I have an appetite that can take on a dead cat. Never tried to eat a live cat.

"Sleep? I sleep 6 to 8 hours a day. Yes, lately I have been taking a nap.

"I started practicing medicine on foot, then I got a bicycle, then a horse and buggy. I wore out two horses, then in 1904 I got a one-lung Cadillac. Since then I wore out 23 cars. I had 13 Maxwells, Chryslers and Plymouths—oh, yes, and a Chevvie—and now I drive a Ford.

"I set bones and I've given anthesia 300 times but I don't do belly operations. That's where the big money is. You can do three in a morning. But I'm a general practitioner.

"Babies? I delivered 13 babies before I was out of medical school. I delivered a baby just last week. I never lost a mother. I have lost a few babies, out of 3,211.

"I'm a firm believer in the Christian religion. I think God has given me this time to do charitable work.

"The most charitable thing I've done is to tell single girls who came and shook money at me and asked for abortions: 'Go ahead and have your child, regardless of money, and I will place the child in a good home.'

"To me abortion is murder. I have placed 68 of these babies at birth in childless homes. All of them are doing fine. People know I feel this way. Right now I have five applications for babies I can't fill.

"I've got $68,000 on my books that isn't worth the paper it's written on. I treat 3 to 8 patients now a week. Now I don't like to get up at night for nothing. For an office visit I charge $1 to $3, depending on whether they can afford it, and I give them the medicine.

"I'd say if you really want to stay healthy you should exercise regularly, trust in God, wear out your pants in the knees instead of the seat—and make people pay you in cash.

"What am I afraid of? Maybe hellfire. Retire? When I am in a box six feet underground and can't hear anyone asking for help.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

LEAVEN OF MALICE. By Robertson Davies. Scribners.

Solly Bridgetower and Pearl Vambrace are to be married Nov. 31, according to an announcement in The Bellman, the newspaper which, according to this novel, serves the fictitious town of Salterton, in Canada. — The author happens to edit an Ontario newspaper.

But the service, at least in this matter, is of a dubious nature, as Gloster Ridley, the editor, is one of the first to realize. There is no Nov. 31; the notice was inserted on Halloween; the Bridgetowers and Vambraces have been fueding for years; and Solly is known to be lovesick for Griselda, while Pearl has the reputation of being a mousy person settling down in a library job to the life of a spinster.

In the untangling of this spicy problem, several complications develop. On that Halloween the cathedral organist, Cobbler, was having a boisterous fling.

Ridley's moss - grown editorial writer, Swithin Shillito, is on the verge of getting the sack, but Ridley can't figure how to do it mercifully. Ridley's publisher is on his side but the publisher's daughter-in-law, who wants to have a finger in public affairs, thinks well of Shillito and ill of Cobbler. Vambrace, up on his high horse, threatens to sue for libel, and Pearl isn't sure whether it is libel, or whether she wants people to think she thinks it is libel, or what.

This is an entertaining comedy of situation. Davies arbitrarily shoves his people this way and that, then justifies his highhanded interference by letting his wit play amiably over their faults and quandaries. It is never hilarious, and never dull; it is light reading with just enough body to it.

President Finds Spot He'd Like To Avoid

RICHMOND, Va. — Nineteen of Richmond's Democrats for Eisenhower were invited to the White House. The Richmond News Leader gives this report of a part of the conversation with the President.

Coleman Wortham Jr., invited the President to Virginia to see "the best duck hunting marsh in the United States."

"Do I have to go through Richmond?" the President asked. On one visit, he recalled, he was hustled past some dignitaries he was supposed to greet. Then of course the speaker's platform collapsed with him on his 1952 campaign stop.

"Mr. President, excuse me," one member of the party cut in, "but Republicans built that platform. They wouldn't let us near it. Democratic platforms don't collapse."

This Type 'Organ Recital' Not Ideal Entertainment

By INEZ ROBB

At one time or another, all of us have known some character who, when asked how he-she feels, begins what Grandma used to call an "organ recital."

Well, sir, the current preoccupation of television and the movies with the surgical branch of medicine forecasts a long and gory stretch of organ recitals in the immediate future. The long knives are already poised and the movie men in white are ready to start the next excavation or amputation.

The minute details of heart surgery, an appendectomy or a tonsillectomy on the home or the wide screen may be educational. But is it entertainment? This deponent casts a noisy vote in the negative.

My idea of a jolly evening is decidedly not 90 minutes spent in the opearting room while Robert Mitchum sharpens the knives and scratches around in some stranger's sawdust.

Yet, when I went to the movies the other evening, I spent 90 minutes (it seemed like 990) in such a room with surgeon Mitchum, and I found the quarters decidedly confining. I was quite willing to take the word of his fellow carvers that Mr. Mitchum was a hot shot with the pruning shears.

But Hollywood, ever dedicated to the 12-year-old mind — or is it 10 — gave us lush close-ups in color of the victim's liver and lights as Dr. Mitchum sawed and sewed.

At the end of the picture they were going to have to bury at least one of Ol' Doc Mitchums's mistakes, and I thought they might even have to bury me, I was feeling to queasy.

You may well inquire at this point why I didn't get up and leave the abattoir. The answer is easy: after the first operation I was a stretcher case.

However, in all fairness to Hollywood and the picture itself, I am informed that "Not As a Stranger" is apt to make millions because there is a vast audience that is fascinated by all the details of the other feller's plumbing.

And although this fact revolts me it doesn't really surprise me. Come to think of it, the women's magazines for almost two decades have devoted more and more space to ever franker and franker articles on "What Ails Anne", which is a caution.

The women's magazines struck it rich when they decided to fill the void left vacant by the disapperance of the old patent medicine literature with its rich, descriptive blurbs of symptoms and remedies equally good for man or beast.

Every women's magazine now has its resident physician and psychiatrist, both writing their busy little heads off describing lovely symptoms for the lay public. And since there is a little hypochondria in us all, everyone (but particularly the cirulation managers of the mags) is happy as an interne at an autopsy.

With both teevee and the movies muscling into this field, it is obvious that the likes of me from now on is going to have to take his amusements with a grain of smelling salt.

Pentagon Building Home For A Divided Household

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The gray-walled Pentagon is a divided military household these days, with the Army—senior member of the armed forces family—feeling like a spanked and rejected stepchild.

An immediate factor in this somber mood is the impending reduction in the Army's manpower, a step which the nation's top generals had sharply opposed.

Cutting even deeper, however, is the Army's concern over the lack of clear agreement within government circles as to the exact role the soldier would be assigned in case of atomic war.

Army men feel their famous five-star comrade in arms President Eisenhower yanked them rather roughly into the woodshed in the course of approving the manpower cutbacks.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, who on June 30 stepped down as Army chief of staff, publicly opposed the reductions before the House Appropriations Committee.

President Eisenhower, questioned on this position at a subsequent news conference, described it as "parochial"—meaning narrow and limited.

In Pentagon circles, however, one hears that the opposition went beyond the views of any single individual, such as Ridgway or his successor Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor. It was the thinking of the men who make up the Army's top command.

The cutbacks emphasize that, despite the opposition of the generals, the administration has decided to base the nation's security and military policy more on nuclear weapons and less on manpower.

It underlines too the historical fact that the Army itself is marching into the shadow of air power. Nuclear weapons and air power have had such an impact on military thinking that some quarters even believe a war would be over before an army could swing into action.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, voiced this viewpoint recently when he said the next war would be over in three or four days—"at the most a week"—and the Army and Navy wouldn't have time to get into full action. Cannon added: "What could we do with three or four more divisions? We wouldn't possibly use them."

But the Army doesn't agree. It questions whether the nuclear weapon would be as decisive a factor as it is being painted. It insists the foot soldier would be needed in atomic war just as he was needed in past wars—and in even greater numbers.

Nobody is speaking out loud at the Pentagon about the situation. The Army appears resigned to seeing its forces cut to 1,027,000 men by June 30, 1956, from the present level of 1,270,000. Gen. Taylor has steered clear—at least in public—of the controversy.

But privately many men say the administration's concern over a balanced budget is overshadowing military requirements. They argue that this is creating an unbalanced military situation in which too much reliance is being placed on machines and nuclear weapons to win a decision in war.

College Students Debate Merit Of Coonskin Beanies

By BRUCE HENDERSON

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A "great debate" echoes across the Trinity University campus: "Should freshmen wear coonskin beanies?

The question was sparked by the Dave Crockett craze. Around these parts Dave looms larger than dim legend.

The Trinity campus is just a rifle's shot northwest of the Alamo, that rustic Spanish mission where the Texas hero of the "King of the Wild Frontier" made his famous last stand in 1836 as Texas fought for independence from Mexico.

Some Trinity upperclassmen think it might be nice for freshmen this fall to pass up the traditional beanies for coonskin caps. They made the suggestion at a planning session for "Fish Week," a period early in the fall when first-year students are taught the facts of college life.

They touched off a word battle in the summer student body, about half the fall campus population.

"Kid stuff," say opponents of the coonskin beanie. Others call the idea, "Silly, Corny." Some have even said: "For the birds." Others ask, "What's wrong with the beanie?"

The pro-coonskin crowd counters by pointing to current efforts by a special Chamber of Commerce committee to promote "Dave Crockett time in San Antonio."

According to Leon Taylor of the Trinity public relations office, the committee has urged businessmen and institutions to whoop it up for Davy.

"We ought to tie into this patriotic theme," says one coonskiner, who adds that requiring Trinity freshmen to wear the Crockett headgear will be "fun," "different," and "in keeping with the pioneer spirit of 87-year-old Trinity."

It wasn't known when the argument will be settled. Classes are continuing.

Highest Gas Prices Reported in Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — The man in charge of a Montana Legislature - ordered investigation of gasoline prices said his preliminary studies show that gasoline prices in Montana are the nation's highest, exclusive of takes. He said Missoula's gas prices, exclusive of taxes, are the highest of any city in the United States.

John Vance, counsel for the Montana Trade Commission, said, "Maybe there is a satisfactory explanation. That's what we are trying to find out." The Legislature appropriated $20,000 for the investigation.

WINNER AND RUNNER-UP in the first annual Snyder Invitational Golf Tourney look over prizes they won in the meet. They are Dr. Dean Strack of Snyder, left, who defeated Dan Winters of Abilene, right, 1 up in 19 holes. Strack was low amateur in the Snyder Pro-Am, held here earlier this season. (Staff photograph)

Dr. Strack Defeats Winters For Title In Snyder Tourney

Playing before a good-sized gallery, Dr. Dean Strack, Snyder dentist, beat Dan Winters, Abilene, to take the championship of the first annual Snyder Invitational Golf Tournament one-up in a 19-hole round.

Strack had just beaten Frank Freer, Lamesa, one-up in 20 holes to gain the berth in the championship finals. His were two of the eight games in the tournament which were so evently matched that the players had to move into extra holes to determine the winner. Four of these extra-hole games were played in the championship flight.

Arch Pardue, Jr., Stamford, Kenneth Cole, Snyder; Kelton Green, Sweetwater; O. K. Fletcher, Snyder; and Alton Wash, Anson, took top honors in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth flights in that order.

Ross Dixon, Colorado City, took the consolation bracket of the championship flight, winning over Jim Haven, Phillips, one-up. John Boren, Snyder; Bob Henderson, Sweetwater; Pat Autry, Sweetwater; and Leon Thurman, Anson, won the honors in the other four consolation frames.

The finals were played Sunday afternoon after two days preliminaries which narrowed the 85-man field down to the 24 quarter-finalist and 10 who were shooting for consolation honors.

Bill Craig of Colorado City who had taken medalist honors in the qualifying rounds by shooting a two-under-par 68 was eliminated in the second round by Hardin-Simmons University's Frank Freer of Lamesa 3 and 2. Freer fell victim to Strack 1 up in a 20-hole match in the quarter-finals.

The tournament matched what Shanty Hogan, local professional who directed the tourney, called "a very fast field." No one made the championship flight with more than a 74 qualifying score. Six men shot 70 or under to gain berths in the big time ranks.

Strack took another Snyder man, Miles Davis, in his first step toward the championship 4 and 3. Then he moved over Freer and Winters to take top place.

Arch Pardue, Jr. first took John Boren, Snyder 3 and 4 then conquered R. C. Carpenter, Sweetwater 2 and one. In the finals he took Max Milam, also of Snyder 1 up.

Cole dominated the second flight, winning first over Russel Yorgesen, Snyder 2 and 1, then moving on to Webb Vaden, Stamford 5 and 4, and finally Doyle Brunson, Sweetwater, whom he beat 2 up for the honors.

In the third flight, Green moved first over Hollis Jones of Snyder Sweetwater, whom he beat 2 up for the honors.

In the third flight, Green moved first over Hollis Jones of Snyder 5 and 4, then took Earl Thurman, Snyder 3 and 1, and George Morey, Stamford 1 up.

Victor Baze, Snyder, fell first victim to Fletcher 3 and 2, in his advance to the head of the fourth flight. Then came Marshall Erwin 3 and 2 and Dan Warren 5 and 4. Both latter opponents were of Snyder.

Wash drew a bye, as did everyone else in the fifth flight, for his first win, then he moved over Jimmie Wadell 2 and 1 of Roby to meet and beat Frank Levens, 6 and 4, Abilene in the finals.

HOLE-IN-ONE shooter of the Snyder Invitational Golf Tournament was Ross Carroll, who fired a hole-in-one on the par-3 No. 9 hole. Carroll is a Snyder man and was one of 85 entered in the tournament. (Staff photograph)

Snyder Leagues Get Ready For Playoffs

Three Snyder baseball leagues are getting set for inter-city playoffs, which will begin next week.

They are the two Little Leagues, which must go to Rotan for an area tournament next week, and the Pony League, which has been seeded in a district tourney to be held here.

Definite time for the Little League playoff has not yet been announced. It must, however, be played sometime next week. In that tourney Colorado City and the Sweetwater National League drew byes in the first round. Snyder's two leagues, National and American, must meet each other, while the Sweetwater American is to play Rotan. The winner of the Snyder leagues' game is to meet Colorado City in the second round, while the winner of the Sweetwater American-Rotan game will be matched with the Sweetwater National in the second round.

Titlist in that tournament will go to Lubbock Aug. 1-3 for the district tournament, and the winner of that meet will go to Midland Aug. 4-6 for the section tourney. Next step is the regional tournament at San Antonio Aug. 8-13, followed by the world series at Williamsport, Pa.

The Pony League district meet will be held here next Monday through Thursday. Winners of subdistrict meets of this area will come here for the tourney. Those playoffs, involving 12 teams, are being held this week.

The Pony all-stars, managed by Jeston Corbell, has as members Dick Hayes, Richard Mahan, Kenneth Drake, Johnny Drake, Barry Walker, Gail Courtney, Terry Lee, Coleman John, Norman Gladson, Jerry Fleming, Mickey McGrew, Neil Boyd, Johnny Griggs, Ronnie Jones, Bo Brown, Tim Roberts, Jackie Peveyhouse, Mike Ridley, and Foy Dennis. This team had an exhibition game scheduled at Hamlin Saturday night, but it was rained out. Workouts are being held daily, and no more practice games are now on schedule.

Buck Logan is manager of the National Little League all-stars, and he is aided by Mutt Herod. Members of that team are Jimmie Don Robinson, Mike Moffett, John Billy Koonsman, Billy Busby, David Kee, Galen Prather, Larry Smith, Bubba Fleming, Franklin Moore, Weldon Ware, Billy Wells, Pat Gibson, Bill Prude, Jesse Crawford, and alternates Jerry Franks and Jerry Tucker. Franks is moving up to replace Maroney, who Friday suffered a broken ankle in a Little League game.

Sonny Tims' Homer Gives Oilers Boost

By The Associated Press

The home run was the big item in the West Texas - New Mexico League Sunday night as Pampa moved to a 1½ game lead.

The Oilers used a grand - slam blast by Sonny Tims in shading El Paso 5-4. The home run was a vital factor in the other games.

Amarillo got past Albuquerque 3-1, Lubbock decisioned Clovis 3-2 and Plainview beat Abilene 12-9.

Tims came in to replace Stan Machinsky with the bases Jammed in the eighth and lifted one out of the park.

Albuquerque slipped a game off the pace when Chuck Thomas lifted a two-run clout for Amarillo. That was all the Gold Six needed behind seven-hit hurling of Dean Higgins.

A two-run homer by Everett Moore brought Lubbock out of a tie and victory over Clovis.

Donovan Top Hurler In American League

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Now that the Chicago White Sox have seven straight victories and are 1½ games behind the New York Yankees, it's time to tip the hat to Dick Donovan.

The 27-year-old "rookie," who flunked so many early tests, leads the American League pitchers in winning percentage with a dazzling 12-1 record.

They used to call Donovan a "spring training wonder." He was a hot shot in Florida but a bust in the North. In the exhibition games he was a new phenom. When the season opened he couldn't get anybody out.

Times have changed for the big Irishman from Quincy, Mass. He hasn't lost since May 27 and owns four shutouts. His latest job yesterday was to nail down the second game decision over Baltimore in relief.

The combination of Chicago's double victory over Baltimore 3-2 and 5-4 and the Yanks' third straight defeat (9 out of 13) by Detroit 6-5 halved New York's lead. As the Sox and Yanks meet Tuesday night at Comiskey Park in the opener of a three-game series, Chicago has a chance to take over first place by Thursday.

Cleveland and Boston each picked up half a game on New York by splitting a pair. Tom Brewer's three-hitter gave the Red Sox the 6-0 opener and the Indians took the second 6-5 despite a three-run rally by Boston in the ninth. Cleveland is three games back and the Red Sox six.

Washington's Spec Shea, making his first start of the year, came up with a three-hit shutout to beat Kansas City's Vic Raschi 4-0.

In the National, the Dodgers, hurting for pitching with a flock of injuries, dipped into the minor league stockpile to come up with a pair of first-time winners in rookies Roger Craig and Don Bessent. Craig, just promoted Montreal with a 10-2 record, curbed Cincinnati's sluggers with three hits 6-2. Bessent, up from St. Paul with an 8-5 mark, failed to survive a rough ninth inning but he also won his first big league start 8-5.

Milwaukee swept a double-header from the New York Giants 8-7 on two homers by Joe Adcock and one by Del Crandall and 3 - 1 on tight defense behind Chet Nichols' pitching. However, they remained 12½ games behind Brooklyn.

The old Pennsylvania Sunday curfew messed up double-headers in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh as usual. The Phillies topped Chicago 12-11 in 10 innings on Bobby Morgan's sacrifice fly but the second game was suspended with Chicago leading 5-4 in the sixth. They'll finish it tonight before their regularly scheduled game. Ernie Banks hit two homers, one with the bases loaded, his third, to boost his season total to 26.

Rip Repulski hit two homers and batted in four runs for St. Louis in a 9-8 first-game victory over Pittsburgh in 12 innings. Luis Arroyo, who lost to Lino Donoso Saturday, was the winner and Donoso the loser, both in relief. St. Louis led the second game 1-0 after 7½ innings when curfew struck.

The White Sox winning streak, their longest of the year, was kept alive by Walt Dropo's 12th home run, breaking a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning of the second game. Lefty Billy Pierce checked the Orioles with four hits in the opener on a two-run single by Nellie Fox.

Earl Torgeson stole home with the "big" run of the Tigers' triumph over the Yanks, dashing in from third while Bob Turley wound up in the 10th inning. Torgy singled and rode home on Ray Boone's homer in the eighth to pull Detroit up even with the Yanks.

Brewer's first-game job for Boston was a real gem. He didn't allow a hit until Ralph Kiner popped a single into short left center in the seventh. In the second game, Bob Lemon finally choked off the Red Sox rally by retiring Billy Klaus on a grounder to second base.

Port Arthur Gives League Leader Fits

By The Associated Press

Port Arthur's Seahawks may be on the bottom of the Big State League but they're poison for the leaders.

It was up to the seahawks to stop a great winning streak by leading Corpus Christi. The Clippers had taken 11 straight when they moved into Port Arthur Sunday. But the Seahawks, not awed by the Corpus Christi press notices, licked the leaders 4-2.

Chris Nicolosi was the big man for Port Arthur. He pitched a 6-hitter and in the last five innings retired every batter in order. He also furnished the run that made the difference with a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

Second-place Texas City couldn't play at Waco because of rain but gained a half-game anyway. The Texans moved within one game of the Clippers.

Austin beat Harlingen 11-2 to put the Capitols farther behind third-place Waco. The Pioneers rallied for four runs in the fifth to win early. John Goodell with three doubles and Hardie Nettles with a home run paced the Austin attack.

Hurlers Are Holding Hits Low In Loop

By The Associated Press

The opinion so freely enunciated these days that the batter has all the advantage won't make much of an impression on Texas League players. They probably will say that if that's true they shudder to think what might happen to them if the hurlers pulled up on an equal plane.

The league has had more low-hit games this season than anybody can remember and Sunday night is a criterion of what the hitters have been putting up with.

Pete Burnside, the talented Dallast lefty, pitched a 3-hitter in sending the Eagles to a 7-1 victory over Shreveport and boosting their lead over second place San Antonio to 3½ games.

At Houston Hugh Sooter twirled a 6-hitter in beating Oklahoma City 3-0. The Indians probably would say seeing Sooter again any time would be 10 years too soon. He's the fellow who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Oklahoma City in June and Sunday night's skunking was his third shutout of the season against the Indians.

Ivan Abromowitz allowed only six hits in elbowing Beaumont to a 6-0 victory over Fort Worth in the first game of a double-header, and in the nightcap, which the Exporters also won, 9-2, Mike Clarke doled out eight, two of which were solo homers by Dick Williams and Jim Koranda. But that was all the damage the Cats could do.

San Antonio took a 5-3 thumping from Tulsa, giving Dallas breathing room at the top of the league. The Eagles had been showing signs of a slump while San Antonio had taken nine of its last 10 games.

Good pitching in the clutch by Doland Nichols sent Tulsa to victory. He kept nine San Antonio hits scattered.

Houston moved into third place while Shreveport fell to a tie with Tulsa for Fourth.

Burnside's fine job against Shreveport followed the 21st victory of the season for John (Red) Murff, the Dallas ace. Murff again became baseball's winningest pitcher as he whipped the Sports 9-0 on a 5-hitter Saturday night. The pitcher ranking next to him is Rene Vega of Corpus Christi in the Big State League, who has won 20.

San Angelo Holds Onto League Lead

By The Associated Press

San Angelo edged out another game ahead of Artesia and Roswell climbed into a share of third place in the Longhorn League Sunday night.

San Angelo, fighting off a Big Spring rally that shoved in seven runs in the top of the ninth, took a 12-11 victory. Second - place Artesia fell further behind by losing 4-3 to Carlsbad.

Roswell beat Hobbs 6-3. Third-place Midland lost to Odessa 4-2.

That left San Angelo 2½ games in front of Artesia and 8½ in front of Roswell and Midland.

San Angelo led 12-4 going into the last inning, but Big Spring put together three singles, a pair of doubles and two home runs to chase in seven runs and throw the league-leaders into a sweat before Mike Rainey struck out for the second time in the inning to end it.

Roswell burst loose with a pair of runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth to come from behind for its win over Hobbs. Dick Adams had a pair of homers for the winners, and Joe Bauman clouted his 28th of the year for Roswell.

Mike Gazella had a three-hit shutout going into the ninth for Odessa, but weakened and allowed two runs.

Aussies Figure To Get Davis Cup Back

CHICAGO (AP) — Harry Hopman, non - playing captain of the Australian Davis Cup tennis team rates Australia's chances of regaining the cup from the United States "fifty-fifty if we don't get beat along the way."

The Aussies shouldn't get beat if their performance against Mexico was any indication. They swept by the Mexican team, 5-0, losing only one set in four singles and one doubles match.

The sweep sends the Australians against Brazil in the North American Zone semifinals. Brazil moved ahead in the zone competition by winning its first - round series with Cuba at Havana, 4-1.

USGA Can't Keep Its Amateur Champs

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)— It must be grand to have the sublime trust in humankind exhibited by officials of the U.S. Golf Assn. in a letter they are mailing to the boys and girls who plan to play in their respective amateur championships this summer.

The recipients are asked to state at once whether they intend to turn professional within the next year, so that, in the event they do, their entries may be withdrawn from the women's event, scheduled Aug. 22-27 at Charlotte, N.C., and the men's, Sept. 12-17 at Richmond.

In other words, the golf fathers, headed by Isaac B. Grainger, president, are getting good and tired of never having a defending champion to add tone to their prize amateur tournaments. They've had only one in their past five men's events and only two in the past five women's classics.

"If you intend to become a professional within the next year, please inform us immediately so that your entry may be withdrawn," says the letter. "Your help in upholding golf's standards will be most welcome."

Nothing could be more fair than that, surely. Only thing is, we fear that the gentlemen in golf house are due to suffer a grave disappointment. As a sporting proposition, we will bet them a reasonable sum against any warped midiron in their historic collection that they do not flush a single customer.

We do not mean at all to imply that there breathes a dishonest amateur golfer, man or woman. What we do mean is that there cannot be at this time a player who knows that he or she will win the amateur title and then turn professional. There might be players at Charlotte and Richmond who are thinking vaguely of turning pro next year if they win the title, but they cannot "intend" to do both.

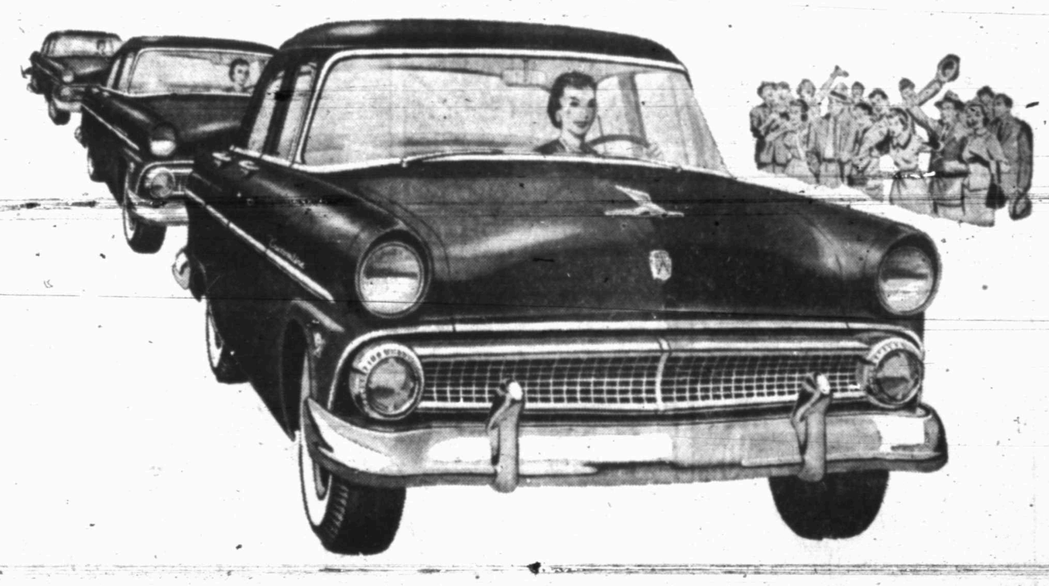

If that ain't clear, let us suggest that the USGA letter is not worded to say what it has in mind. What it means to say is: "Do you promise, providing you win this tournament, to defend your championship next year?" That is a different matter from trying to put every entrant on his honor that he intends "to continue to be an amateur golfer," which is what the letter does say.

Churchill Recalls Another Conference

By JAMES F. KING

WESTERHAM, England (AP)—The old man put aside his easel and went to the window. He looked into the blue sky and then, still wearing slippers, walked outside along a wooded path.

The flowers were in full bloom. Along the way he stopped to feed some goldfish in a pool.

He was in no great hurry, and a quiet summer day at Chartwell in the Kent countryside is a good day for reminiscing — a good day for dreaming too.

For Sir Winston Churchill reminiscences and dreams come easy when stirred by major events like the Big Four conference opening today. His 80 years dictated him a place on the sidelines — but his thoughts are there.

More than two years ago, on May 11, 1953, he said in the House of Commons:

"I believe a conference on the highest level should take place between the leading powers without long delay.

"This conference should not be overhung by a ponderous or rigid agenda, or led into mazes or jungles of technical details, zealously contested by hordes of experts and officials drawn up in vast, cumbrous array.

"It might well be taken no hard-faced agreements would be reached, but there might be a general feeling among those gathered together that they might do something better than tear the human race, including themselves, into bits.

"If there is not at the summit of the nations the will to win the greatest prize and the greatest honor ever offered to mankind, doom-laden responsibility will fall upon those who now possess the power to decide.

"At worst, the participants in the meeting will have established more intimate contacts. At the best, we might have a generation of peace."

Today the godfather of the Geneva conference could think that perhaps, just perhaps, the world was somewhat nearer the enduring peace he once called "the last prize I seek to win."

Billy Graham Leads 25,000 In Prayers For Big 4 Conference

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—Billy Graham led nearly 25,000 worshippers in prayer last night for the summit conference, which he declared "could well decide the fate of the world."

Standing on the shore of Lake Leman, the American evangelist urged the Big Four leaders to put aside national greeds and turn to God.

"The next six days could be the most important days in history," he said, gazing across the lake toward the Palace of Nations, where the historic conference is being held.

"Never before in history," he said, "have so many looked to so few for so much."

Turning to the multitude who listened intently on the grassy banks as his words were translated into French, Graham urged his audience to pray for the four leaders.

"The Bible teaches us to pray for our enemies," he said.

"Whatever your political views, pray for those on the other side."

"A long era of peace is possible if you pray," he declared.

In Geneva's Notre Dame Cathedral, Msgr. Francois Charriere, Roman Catholic bishop on Geneva, celebrated a pontifical mass yesterday and termed the summit meeting a "capital event in the history of modern times."

"All the earth stands silent with a complex feeling of fear and hope at the moment when those whom the press has named the 'Big Four' decide the immediate future of the world," Msgr. Charriere said in his sermon.

French Premier Faure, Foreign Minister Pinay and other Roman Catholic members of the three Western delegations attended the service.

Hot Wires Stay Cold

CAPE MAY COURT HOUSE, N.J. (AP) — Edward Bryk, 36, of Philadelphia, fell asleep at the wheel and crashed into a utility pole at nearby Swainton yesterday. The crash knocked down power lines carrying 22,000 volts. Bryk stepped from the car and, police said, either missed the lines or stepped on them at a time when power was off for a few seconds. He was treated for minor cuts.

Doctors Use Hypnotism To Deliver Baby

DALLAS (AP)—A team of doctors, balked by polio from giving drugs, turned to hypnotism during the weekend to deliver a lusty-lunged son to a pretty, 32-year-old mother.

Mrs. Edward J. Schwartz arrived at Parkland Memorial Hospital last Tuesday with spinal-type polio. Her legs, and breathing muscles were paralyzed. She was expecting a child in less than five weeks.

To complicate her condition, Michael Edward Schwartz—as his name turned out to be—was pressing against his mother's chest area and further hampering her breathing. Doctors decided Michael had better get out of the way.

They couldn't give Mrs. Schwartz a general anesthetic because this would slow her breathing further. The polio germs were in the spine, so they hesitated to give a spinal anesthetic.

They called in a staff psychologist from Southwestern Medical School.

At 2:30 p.m. Saturday they began their dramatic and novel procedure. Mrs. Schwartz already had a slit in her throat for a tube with which to force oxygen to her lungs because the upper breathing passages might become clogged. Drugs to start labor were given and the psychologist hypnotized her to relieve pain.

Six hours later, while doctors and nurses worked anxiously, she gave birth to Michael, six pounds.

The mother's breathing improved "almost amazingly," doctors said. She was returned to an iron lung, however.

Mrs Schwartz told her husband it was her most painless childbirth. They have three other boys.

Physicians said they believed it was the first birth by a polio patient while hypnotized. They said hypnotism "is not applicable to general use in obstetrical cases and was used on her because of the unusual circumstances surrounding the delivery."

Earthquake Recorded

New Subdivision Is Being Considered

A new residential subdivision for the colored citizens of Snyder is in the preliminary planning stages by Snyder realtors, L. A. McClanahan, member of the Snyder Real Estate Board, said.

"It is too early to know if such a housing development here is possible, but it is certainly one of the most needed residential developments," McClanahan said.

The realtor made a report to the other realtors in a meeting last week of a study he has been making of the possibilities for such a development here.

McClanahan said that a housing development to provide adequate and decent housing for Negroes here is a development that has been tentatively approved by the board as a project urgently needed here.

In his report to the real estate board, McClanahan said that a similar development in Lubbock has proved successful and very beneficial for Lubbock.

Such an undertaking, however, is not a thing that can be accomplished by the realtors alone, McClanahan said.

"It will take the cooperation and help of all citizens, house building contractors, realtors, the city, and financial backers," he stated.

McClanahan said that the realtors are continuing to study the feasibility of such a project, and an attempt will be made to find out how many houses would be needed, and how many could be constructed and sold. Possible location for such a development will also be studied, he said.

Police Seek Victims In Train Wreckage

SAN BERNARDO, Chile (AP) — Police combed the wreckage of two smashed passenger coaches today, seeking other victims of a train collision here in which at least 32 persons were reported killed.

Newsmen said last night they had counted 38 bodies in the San Bernardo morgue, but officials said only 32 had been found. Earlier reports had put the toll as high as 60 dead.

At least 100 other persons were reported injured.

The tragedy occurred in dense fog when a passenger train from Santiago plowed into the two rear cars of another crowded passenger train stopped in San Bernardo station to await track repairs ahead.

Some Snake Bite

ASHVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Attendant Kenneth Sexton was bitten three times yesterday by a boa constrictor he was holding at Parkway Zoo. He said the nonpoisonous snake, which usually crushes its victims, was angered when a boy squeezed its tail. The bites were not serious.

Granny Sees New Baby

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Francis O'Connor, 39, is one grandmother who got to see her first grandson in a hurry—she was at the delivery. Patricia O'Connor, 20, was visiting her mother-in-law yesterday when her baby was born, about 20 minutes before a doctor and nurse got to the house.

Mother Begins Fast In Hope Military Will Modify Draft

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Calling military service a "loss of freedom," a mother whose draft-eligible son has entered the U.S. Public Health Service was on a hunger strike today that she said would last "until I die."

Mrs. Martha Blumenbach said she began her fast at 5:30 p.m. Friday and has taken only three quarts of water since. She said she spends most of the time in bed. No doctor has examined her, she said.

Her only son, Dr. Thomas Blumenbach, 26, a dentist, entered the Public Health Service at Savannah, Ga., Friday. He agreed with his mother's action.

But her husband, though opposed to their son's donning a uniform, said he opposes the hunger strike.

The 52-year-old woman said she hoped her fasting would induce military officials to modify draft laws to permit medical doctors and dentists to choose whether they want to enter the military service or not.

She said her religious convictions induced her to begin the fast.

In a letter to President Eisenhower in December she wrote:

"I made a pact between myself and God that if the time ever came when my son would be forced to join the armed forces, I would go on a hunger strike unto death. As a truth student, I do not believe in war or U. M. T. (universal military training). I am a member of Silent Unity here in Miami whose mother church is in Lee Summit, Mo."

Dr. Blumenbach graduated from the University of Maryland last month. He said he volunteered for the Public Health Service after the draft board told him he would have to serve in the armed forces.

Operations Normal In Wyoming Prison

RAWLINS, Wyo., (AP)—Operations at the Wyoming State Penitentiary were back to normal today after a 15-hour riot which ended early yesterday in a face-to-face meeting with convict spokesmen, Gov. Milward L. Simpson pledged a full-scale investigation of the institution and promised no general reprisal.

He also said he would seek to improve prison medical care and food, to increase recreation facilities and time, to cut the maximum for solitary confinement from six months to 30 days and to establish an inmate council.

The riot broke out Saturday when approximately 75 prisoners, armed with butcher knives, seized three guards as hostages and grabbed control of the penitentiary's main cell block and dining hall.

The three hostages were freed early yesterday.

Triple Anniversary

SUDBURY, Ont., July 18 (AP) — Fifty years ago three young couples stood side by side in church to repeat their marriage vows. This year they sat side by side in Memorial Hall to celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries. With Mr. and Mrs. David Henri, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Pharand and Mr. and Mrs. Adelard St. Marseille were 29 children, 141 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

New Gulf No-Nox Gasoline delivers not just the highest octane but full working octane because it's super-refined to burn clean

See what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Gulf takes out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery—to bring you new, clean-burning Gulf NO-NOX.

NO GASOLINE, no matter how high the octane, will let your engine deliver full power performance—mile after mile—unless it burns clean.

That's why it pays to always use new NO-NOX. Gulf NO-NOX is the clean-burning fuel that gives you full working octane day in, day out. In addition, you get . . .

- more complete engine protection
- extra gas mileage in short-trip, stop-and-go driving
- freedom from vapor-lock, engine stumbling and stalling
- no knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines

Now! For the ultimate in working octane performance, always use Gulf's super-refined gas-oil team...New Gulf NoNox Gasoline and New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil

The only motor oil super-refined by the Alchlor Process for modern high-compression engines.
- Controls carbon
- Combats corrosive acids, rust and deposits
- Assures lower oil consumption
- Provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil

Available in 3 grades—SAE 10W, SAE 20/20W, SAE 30.
