Lubbock Total For Year Far Over Average

Flood Conditions Are Reported In Southern Texas

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

South Plains farmers this afternoon envisioned — with reservations—a bumper cotton crop as patches of blue sky punctured a heavy overcast that brought intermittent showers.

Precipitation since Tuesday morning was measured this afternoon at .43 inch, the Weather bureau at Municipal airport said. At the Lubbock experiment station east of the city rainfall for the same period was .8 inch.

Year's Total At 6.96

According to official Weather bureau records, the current moisture has brought the year's total to 6.97 inches so far, or more than twice the normal rainfall of 3.39 inches for the same period.

The probable effect, agricultural authorities agreed, will be unusually favorable growing conditions this summer.

"It appears that we will go into the planting season with soils wet to capacity," commented Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station. "By that I mean that the soil will have all the moisture it can effectively hold, and any further moisture would be inclined to run off or be wasted."

Huge Acreage Possible

He expressed belief that a good planting season will result in actual planting of the estimated cotton acreage of 3,031,000 acres on the South Plains this year.

However, if weather conditions compel replanting in June, he predicted that many farmers would turn to grain sorghums instead of cotton.

Rain was general in Texas, the Associated Press said today. Hail and hard rains hit some parts last night and the swollen Guadalupe river surged toward the 28-foot mark—seven feet out of the banks—at Guadalupe.

The only threat of damage was to young corn and cotton crops in the Guadalupe bottom lands at Victoria. The town was in no danger.

Damage In Thousands

Kermit and Big Lake counted damage in the thousands of dollars after the worst hail, rain and wind storm in either town's history.

The storm struck Kermit late

China Escape Gates Closing

Last Ships Carrying Foreigners Ready To Leave Shanghai; Reds Draw Nearer

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, April 28.—The escape gate from Communist threatened Shanghai began closing slowly today.

For foreigners, the last ships were preparing to get underway. For the Chinese, land routes were coming under Red troop domination. Airplanes still took out refugees over land and sea.

The American liner President Wilson, likely to be the last liner to call here for some time, sailed down the Whangpoo this afternoon. Abroad were 300 evacuees, 150 of them American.

Those Americans who elected to stay in Shanghai—some 1,500 of them—are now here come what may.

One small U. S. Navy craft during the afternoon took a few straggler refugees down the river to the hospital ship Refuge. Navy sources hinted that may be the last boat out.

Big naval craft moored down the river, out of range of Communist shore guns, may depart tonight or tomorrow, one naval officer said.

British warships still are in the Yangtze and Whangpoo but the British are not undertaking emergency evacuations.

People who leave Shanghai from now on will move mostly by air. Both the American Northwest Airlines and Pan-American still are running regular flights and some special planes to the United States, Manila and Hong Kong. British flying boats are go-

GOP SUPPORT IS PREDICTED

HST Welfare Plan Gains New Backing

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The administration plan for a vast expansion of social security has picked up strong support on the House ways and means committee, a spot survey showed today.

As the committee started writing a new bill after two months of hearings, a check of members indicated that the measure they have in mind would give President Truman a large part—although not all—of the broadened social security program he proposed to Congress.

No Boost In Tax

It may include a boost in old age insurance benefits, with coverage extended to perhaps another 20,000,000 Americans, but it probably will not call for any increase in the present payroll tax, other than the boost scheduled for January under the present law.

Rep. Kean (R-NJ), a committee member, told a reporter he expects "considerable support from Republicans" for broadening the program. He said the GOP platform called for social security expansion, and added:

"I think we must agree to perfect the program we have or later run into something like the Townsend pension plan."

Proposes New Tax Plan

Rep. Mills (D-Ark), another committee member, proposed a new tax plan to enable farm hands and household workers to get old age and survivors insurance coverage.

Mills said he will suggest that such workers get full coverage by paying the tax as any other employe—but without any payment being required of their employer.

Moreover, Mills said that under his plan farm operators would be fully covered by paying the same tax rate that an employe in industry pays. Other self-employed may be required to ante-up a slightly higher tax rate because of their status as both employe and employer.

The poll of members indicated the committee might produce legislation about like this:

1. Old age and survivors insurance would be available to virtually all the 20,000,000 employed

Jester Signs, Basic Science Bill Now Law

AUSTIN, April 28. (U.P.)—The "basic science" bill was signed into law today by Gov. Beauford Jester, ending a legislative controversy extending over a 10-year period.

The measure cleared the legislature Monday after a compromise worked out as a result of a 31-hour filibuster last week in the Senate.

Out of that compromise a bill licensing chiropractors was enacted into law, and was signed Wednesday by the governor.

Weary Postman Took Mail Home

LOS ANGELES, April 28 (AP)—Postman William E. Lilley, jr., is recovering today from the mailman's traditional sore feet—but in jail.

Postal inspectors said they found nearly 5,000 unopened—and undelivered—letters in Lilley's apartment.

Arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Howard V. Calverley on a charge of delaying and detention of mail, Lilley, 46, explained he suffered from aching arches and added:

"I would just get tired and take some of the letters home. I never opened any and I fully intended to deliver them in the due course of time."

Lilley said he started taking mail home in December, 1947. He has been in the postal service 20 years.

Gilmer-Aikin Bill Approved

AUSTIN, April 28. (AP)—The House today finally passed the minimum foundation school bill, second of the Gilmer-Aikin measures, 111-22.

Passage of the bill was accomplished at a whirlwind rate compared with the time it took G-A forces to push through the number one bill reorganizing administration of the public schools at the state level.

The third Gilmer-Aikin bill, setting up a minimum school foundation fund from which to pay schools extra state aid on a basis of need, was laid out for immediate debate. Endorsement of the number two G-A bill sent the measure back to the Senate, for acceptance or rejection of amendments.

A final attempt by Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City to knock out the economic index formula for determining counties' financial ability to support their school programs was defeated overwhelmingly, 98 to 26.

Horany wanted to keep the present system of financing with counties levying a minimum school tax of 50 cents on the $100 valuation.

Another major piece of legislation was sent to the calendar by the House appropriations committee. It was a bill appropriating 50 million dollars for State departments during the next two years.

Debate of the third and final school reorganization bill was expected to begin later in the day.

"You hear a great deal these days about big business, big corporations, cooperatives and so forth," the speaker said. "Great numbers of men and women are engaged in these huge business enterprises. However, few people stop to consider that one of the earliest and most widespread of cooperative efforts as well as one of the biggest businesses in the whole world is the education of children," she added.

Progress Is Outlined

She outlined progress in education from the time when a child was educated almost exclusively by his parents, to the time when parents paid teachers fees to educate their children, to the desire on part of pioneers of this country "for education for the children of all the people." Soon education became a community enterprise," she said. "Today, our great public school system stands as a monument to cooperative enterprise. "However, there is another and even greater sense in which the education of children is a great cooperative enterprise. That is the parent-teacher association, an organization devoted to promoting

Mrs. Quezon, Son-In-Law, Daughter Die

Victim Was Widow Of Island's First Chief Executive

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, April 28.—Mrs. Aurora Quezon, widow of the Philippines' first president, her daughter and son-in-law were killed today in a bloody machine gun ambuscade that brought death to 10 persons.

Ten others were wounded.

President Elpidio Quirino, notified of the ambush in the mountains of northern Luzon, ordered an immediate campaign against the killers, whom he identified as bandits.

Had Armed Escort

The Quezon party, with an armed constabulary escort, left Manila shortly after 5 a. m. local time for Baler on the northeast coast of Luzon. The 60-year-old widow was to have unveiled a marker in memory of her husband, Manuel Quezon.

Maj. Gen. Rafael Jalandoni, former Philippine army chief of staff, who was in the first automobile of a caravan with Mrs. Quezon, described the ambush tonight.

"Shots in rapid succession were fired at our car," he said. "We stopped at once. The attack was so sudden that the first thing I knew Mrs. Quezon was slumped over me.

Was Knocked Unconscious

"I pulled my gun and was about to use it when someone suddenly appeared by the side of the car and hit me on the right side of the face with the butt of a rifle. I was knocked unconscious and that was the last I remember. I can not imagine how I escaped."

The general said when he regained consciousness he was buried under the bodies of Mrs. Quezon, her daughter and others.

Constabulary troopers guarding the party returned the fire of the attackers but were forced to retreat.

Later at the scene of the ambush the constabulary found the bodies of Mrs. Quezon, her daughter, Maria Aurora (Baby) Quezon and the mortally wounded Filipe Buencamio, III, 28 husband of Mrs. Quezon's youngest daughter, Zenaida.

Also dead were Mayor Ponciano Bernardo of Quezon City (outside Manila), Maj. Primitivo San Augustin and his brother Maj. Antonio San Augustin, both noted guerrilla fighters during the war with Japan, a Lieutenant Lizzam

Wichita Seeks To End Strike

WICHITA FALLS, April 28 (U.P.)—Wichita Falls residents were hopeful today that an end to the five-day-old strike of the Wichita Transit company might be just around the corner.

The city council was scheduled to meet at 10:30 a. m. to approve transfer of the bus company to a firm headed by J. S. Perusse, president of the Biloxi-Gulfport city lines in Mississippi. Negotiations were completed yesterday for the new purchaser to take over the strikebound company.

Offer Is Approved

Perusse said he believed the buses might be back on the street within 24 hours after the negotiations were completed.

Tuesday night union drivers approved the new firm's offer of a $1 an hour wage scale, the salary they were seeking from the Wichita Transit company.

Under the new ownership, bus fares will be hiked. The rate for adults will be 10 cents or 11 tokens for $1, but this will not be effective for 45 days.

Perusse conferred yesterday with officials of Continental Trailways, parent company of Wichita Transit, apparently to complete arrangements for a day-to-day lease until the new company can be incorporated under the laws of Texas.

Uranium Sale Ring In Germany Smashed

FRANKFURT, April 28. (U.P.)—The Army reported that American agents had smashed a ring which was trying to peddle $3,000,000 worth of uranium from prewar German stockpiles on the black market.

Nine Germans were arrested at Darmstadt last Friday while trying to sell the uranium, Army officials said.

Maj. H. S. Hart, public relations officer for local Army headquarters, said the uranium was believed to have been hidden from stockpiles used by Germany for atom bomb research.

Final Decision On Lifting Of Blockade Is Up To Russians

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—East-West negotiations over lifting the Berlin blockade reached the state of final decision today with Russia controlling the next move.

The Soviets were expected to reply soon to the questions raised by the western powers on whether their only condition for ending the blockade is western agreement to a meeting of the council of foreign ministers.

Allies Are Willing

The western powers already have made known their willingness to join such a meeting, once Berlin conditions are restored to normal.

What they are trying to nail down now is the point that Russia does not insist on suspending the organization of non-Communist western Germany pending the session.

The British-American-French inquiry was presented to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik in New York yesterday by American Ambassador Phillip Jessup. Jessup read a memorandum on the policy of the three powers to Malik and gave him a note to forward to Moscow. They met in a conference which lasted 90 minutes.

Late in the day Jessup returned to Washington to report to Secretary of State Acheson and other American policy makers and await the next Soviet move. That could be a long time coming. But many authorities here believed the Soviets would respond promptly.

Want Official Word

The three power note is reported to have asked the Soviet government to declare officially whether it stands firmly on the blockade lifting proposal released by the Tass news agency in a Moscow dispatch Tuesday.

This proposal represented Russia as being willing to abolish the restrictions on service transportation between Berlin and the western zones of Germany. In exchange, the Russians were said to want a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers council to discuss all outstanding German issues

REBUTTAL WITNESSES ARE HEARD

Arguments In McGee Trial To Open Friday; Case Is Closed

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The case for and against Richard W. McGee, charged with the murder of R. L. Allston, July 7, 1948, was closed this morning at 11:20 o'clock.

The announcement came after the prosecution, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and special assistant George Dupree, called the last of 31 rebuttal witnesses. The defense did not call any.

Final Moves Swiftly

The trial moved swiftly after Dr. W. L. Baugh, for 42 years Lubbock county health officer, left the stand. Called by the state to testify as to the sanity of the defendant, Dr. Baugh said that after studying all of the evidence so far admitted in the case and based on his personal contacts with the boy, "McGee was sane at the time of the crime and is sane at the present time."

Upon being cross-examined by Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, and Burton S. Burks, defense attorneys, Dr. Baugh said that medically speaking and according to psychiatrists and mental authorities, "McGee was insane at the time of the crime and is insane now."

Dr. Baugh was very direct in answering his questions but conflicting testimony caused considerable confusion. Dr. Baugh tried to state that for one answer he was using the "legal interpretation."

Objection Is Sustained

This was objected to by Col. Simpson and was sustained on the grounds that Dr. Baugh was not a legal authority. His remark that his beliefs that "McGee was sane based on the legal understanding of the term" was stricken from the record and the jury was instructed not to consider the remark.

After District Attorney Croslin brought out that in medical terminology "any deviation from the norm is a form of insanity," Col. Simpson asked Dr. Baugh:

"Then every man of every race and of every color on this earth is insane, is that right Doctor?"

"Medically speaking that is right," Dr. Baugh said.

"Then there is no such thing as a norm, is there?" Col Simpson asked..

"That is right," Dr. Baugh answered.

"Older People Sit Idly By, Accept It With Hardly A Struggle"

Philosophy Of Getting Something For Nothing Takes Hold Of American Youth, Speaker Says

BY C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

America's youth is being brought up under a philosophy of getting something for nothing and older people are sitting idly by and accepting it without hardly a struggle, Dr. F. L. McDonald of Denton, governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis clubs, declared in a thought-provoking talk at the Kiwanis luncheon at Hotel Lubbock today noon.

"The crying need in America today is for individuals who will think," declared Mr. McDonald, who is director of journalism and public relations at Texas State College for Women. "We don't do any serious thinking about serious subjects.

"This is a time when we should be giving thought to public affairs, because we are in the process of changing our mind .. . About 15 years ago in this nation, we began to change our philosophy of life we began to veer to the east. Mind you, I said east not left, for this is a non-political talk."

Dr. McDonald then cited how Hitler had changed the philosophy of the German people in seven short years and how the British people have a new philosophy of life.

"We Americans have had the philosophy of individual initiative. But about 15 years ago we began to forsake the road of individual initiative for a new philosophy. . .

"Under our old philosohy, we believed the head of the family should provide for

India Stays In Commonwealth But Will Elect Own Officials

LONDON, April 28. (AP)—India has decided to remain in a revamped commonwealth of eight free nations headed by Britain's King George VI.

She will do so, a commonwealth announcement said today, even after she becomes an independent sovereign republic under a constitution expected to take effect next August.

India will continue as a full member of the 62-year-old commonwealth. She accepts the king as the "symbol of the free association" it embodies and as its head, but George VI will not be monarch of India. An elected president will take the place of the king's governor-general in that Asiatic sub-continent of 300,000,000 people.

Others Stay Same

The other members—Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Pakistan and Ceylon—continue as constitutional monarchies owing allegiance to the king.

All are defined as "free and equal members of the commonwealth of nations freely cooperating in pursuit of peace, liberty and progress," in the declaration.

It drops the word "dominion" for "independent member nations."

This new definition of the commonwealth was drawn up at a conference here of prime ministers of all member nations except Canada, who sent her minister of external affairs.

Meanwhile, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru is scheduled to fly to Dublin to visit Prime Minister John A. Costello of the Republic of Ireland which pulled out of the commonwealth Easter Monday.

No Comment

Costello would not comment on the commonwealth declaration, but a London newspaper said the declaration left the way open for Ireland to apply for re-entry.

The liberal News-Chronicle said "something of this nature" may lie behind Costello's invitation to commonwealth prime ministers to visit Dublin.

However, it noted that the commonwealth could scarcely be expected to take the Irish republic back so long as she maintans her claim to Northern Ireland. Northern Ireland is part of the British United Kingdom—a commonwealth member.

India, although a republic, will still be entitled to preferential empire tariffs. Her citizens will enjoy full rights in Britain—even to vote if they register as residents.

West Germany Life Better Than Russian

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 28. (AP) — Defeated western Germany has a higher standard of living than victorious Soviet Russia.

Neither the Soviet worker nor the west German worker has regained his prewar standard. But a comparison of the labor that each must do to buy certain necessities shows that the German has come back faster than the Russian. For clothing and food the average west German works fewer hours than the average Russian.

Take clothing, for instance. The U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics says that a Moscow laborer must work from 483 to 571 hours to buy a man's wool, single-breasted suit. The price cuts recently proclaimed by the Soviets may have pulled down the price to from 425 to 502 hours. The West German worker pays for a wool, medium-quality suit with 130 hours of work.

A Russian worker can get a woman's woolen dress for 162 hours of work. A West German worker labors 100 hours to buy a dress. The average cost of a pound of rye bread in Russia is 25 minutes work. The West German worker buys it for 15 minutes work. A pound of wheat bread costs the Russian 55 minutes work. The West German gets it for 30 minutes work.

A Russian works about 10 hours to get a pound of butter. A West German works about 2½ hours. The worker in Russia can get a pound of beef for 4½ hours of work. In Western Germany a little over two hours of work yield a pound of beef. The cost in labor for soap is less in Russia than in Western Germany: 1½ hours for a bar in Russia and 2½ hours in Western Germany.

JAP LOSS HEAVY

TOKYO, April 28 (AP)—The government's Economic Stabilization Board estimates Japan's war losses cost her one-fourth of her national wealth, exclusive of the vast overseas holdings that went down the drain. The board says Japan's national wealth is about that of 1935. Heavy losses in shipping and from air raids and naval bombardment wiped out the wealth gained since that year.

'Detective' Arrests Girl Friend For Date

HAMGURG, Germany, April 28. (AP)—A nineteen year old German boy "arrested" his girl-friend, also 19, so that he could take her round the night spots. He told the girl's uncle that he was a detective and wanted to question the girl. After keeping her out all night he returned her home, but uncle was suspicious.

The Hamburg police report said the boy will be charged with impersonating a detective.

Rudy Vallee Gets Delivery Boy Job

LOS ANGELES, April 28. (AP)—The "Casserole" caterers opened a new branch on the upbeat—with a willing lad named Rudy Vallee as delivery boy.

The crooner had eaten many meals prepared by proprietor Bob Leberman and promised he would deliver the first order when the new shop opened in suburban Westwood.

The place opened for business Wednesday night and Rudy kept his promise. Attired in white coat, he delivered a fried chicken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas was startled, to say the least, when she opened the door to be confronted with a husky delivery boy who immediately started singing "I Am A Vagabond Lover."

Rudy insisted on entering the home and serving Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and their daughter, Edith, 3. The chicken—and a bottle of champagne—were on the caterers.

FBI Girl Spy Tells How Reds Taught Overthrow Of U.S.

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—The academic life of Communists has come up for detailed scrutiny in the conspiracy trial of 11 party leaders.

Miss Angela Calmoris, slender, brunette photographer who spent seven years as an FBI informant in Communist ranks, gave this picture Wednesday of the party:

1. Writings by Stalin and Lenin—calling for armed revolution against capitalism and imperialism—are used as guideposts of Communist teachings here.

2. Party members meet regularly for study in private apartments and homes. Some are assigned to attend special leadership schools, after which they lecture to small groups.

3. In March, 1948, the party launched a special educational drive to teach members the principles of Leninism. The slogan for the drive was:

Two Hours Study

"Two hours of study a week for every Communist."

Miss Calomiris, on the stand for the second day as a prosecution witness, said "We studied 'The Fundamentals of Leninism' by Stalin from cover to cover, page by page, paragraph by paragraph."

At one gathering, she said, the following paragraph in the book was stressed:

"The United States is no exception to the law that socialism can only be established by the revolutionary method—by the overthrow of the existing capitalistic government."

The young woman said another book, "The History of The Communist Party of te Soviet Union," was described by an instructor, Ben Siminovsky, as the "Bible of Communism."

A section of the book, read in court, called on workers to "convert an imperialist war into a civil war, in which workers and peasants in uniform were to turn their guns against their own bourgeoise."

Book "Most Important"

Miss Calomiris said Siminovsky called the book "the most important and basic book" of the party.

As a branch organizer for the party, she said, she was urged in 1948 to push sales of 2,000 copies of the textbook, "one for every six members" in Manhattan.

She said she was told last year that a nationwide campaign was underway to sell Communism to the American people, and that—"special writers were being trained to write in the language of the people, because there had been complaints that the party writers had been too highbrow."

Miss Calomiris said she attended party schools here where she was taught that the Communists should cooperate with liberal reformers who favored peaceful changes only if the Communists could use the others to promote an eventual Communist revolution and "link legal with illegal work."

Jury Pay Roosted

Communists also were taught, the witness said, to use liberal intellectuals to sell the idea to the masses that eventual breakdown of capitalism and establishment of Communism were inevitable.

Pay of the jurors hearing the case, in which the defendants are accused of conspiring to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government, was hiked Wednesday from $5 to $10 a day.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina ordered the fee boost under a law passed by the Eightieth Congress which provides that a judge may grant such an increase to jurors who have sat in the same case for 30 days or more. Wednesday was the 31st trial day.

Minister Held As Wife Killer

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 28. (AP)—The Rev. George P. Hetenyi, 40-year-old clergyman, was held today as the alleged slayer of his wife.

The suburban Buffalo minister was charged with first degre murder late Wednesday.

His arraignment was deferred until next Wednesday to permit him to obtain counsel.

District Attorney Anthony Miceli accused Hetenyi of having fatally shot his attractive, 25-year-old wife, the former Jean Gareis of Oakland, Calif., "on or about April 22."

Body In River

The woman's body was found the following day in the Genesee river. Two .25 caliber slugs were taken from the body and an autopsy determined that she had been shot to death. Hetenyi was taken into custody Tuesday as a material witness.

In court, Hetenyi said Bishop Lauriston I. Scaife of the western New York Episcopal diocese had assured him that funds for his defense would be provided. He said the bishop told him he had engaged counsel for him.

However, this was denied by a diocesan spokesman in Buffalo. He said the bishop did not discuss Hetenyi's defense when he visited the clergyman Wednesday.

Witness Is Found

The charge against the clerkyman climaxed a day of accumulating clues.

Hetenyi was confronted by a man whose name has not been disclosed but who is reported to have seen "a principal" in the slaying in this city on the night of April 22.

A bullet taken from the door of the Hetenyi automobile at the Clyergyman's home near Buffalo was said by Assistant District Attorney Clarence Henry to match slugs taken from Mrs. Hetenyi's body.

Police said two dry cleaners and a garageman had reported that a man they identified as Hetenyi had asked them to clean clothing and remove spots from the Hetenyi car.

Tourists Go To Italy

Farm Plots On Drive To Innsbruck Are Very Small

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A series of articles is being written by Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor of The Avalanche and Journal publications, from Europe where she is spending a two month's vacation. One of the stories appears below.)

SALZBURG, Austria — Here is a city whose landscape, architecture and history inspired founding of the now world-famed festivals that exploit the richness and variety of higher German theater, opera and drama.

The Oesterreichischer Hof, where we stayed after coming back from Munich, was requisitioned by the American Army and the voices of American children are heard on its sun porch and couples from our country who have not yet found housing facilities live here. In its day it was a favorite hotel for many Americans who attended the festivals, including the late Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt.

Our room was as large as two ordinary hotel rooms and was furnished with a comfortable bed, an immense chest, two bedside tables, a gigantic wardrobe, a dressing table and a number of chairs. The large casement windows overlooked the river. After seeing a sign, "Water not potable," we rang for a pitcher of chlorinated water, which was not bad when diluted with ice, which we hope was potable.

ON OUR drive to Innsbruck, en route to Italy, we passed through a rich farming country. As seen from the highway, the plots of ground appear not much larger than the plots our boys play sandlot baseball on and certainly they could not be compared with what we think of as a farm. The day was beautiful and everyone was working—men, women and children—spreading fertilizer on the land that will mean sustenance in the summer, fall and winter.

Because Innsbruck is a great railway center, it received a terrific shelling during the war. The railroad station has been rebuilt and buildings damaged when the bombardiers were aiming for the railroad and missed are being repaired.

We spent the night at Iglshof or Golf hotel, near Innsbruck, a place recommended by the French liason officer in Linz. On the walls of the spacious lobby are hung water colors by two noted Austrian artists, Edor Handel Mazzetti and Mahler Werfel. Master grand pianos are placed in three corners and one entire side is given over to windows which looked out on high Alps, their jagged peaks snow-wreathed. We arrived in late afternoon. Sitting on the second floor porch, we watched farmers leaving their fields; watched children at play; looked far down in the valley to a wayside shrine and saw two women kneel in prayer. That evening we walked down to the small town of Igls; bought some post cards and went in a church yard, reading the inscriptions on the headstones. One marked the grave of an Austrian pilot and his porcelain portrait was near the top, bearing under it the name Grenadier Edward Goff, 1944.

IN GOING to Italy we passed through the Brenner Pass which made the headlines day after day during World War II. Crocus and violets dotted the hillsides. We met men behind oxen-pulled carts; saw women picking up stones in the fields. At the check point near Brenner, the Austrians raised the pole across the highway as soon as Lt. Smiley showed his travel orders and we showed our passports, but the Italians were more deliberate and an hour passed before we were once more on our way. For one thing, there were a number of others wanting to get through and then we've discovered no one in Europe is in as big a hurry as the first American you might meet.

Sunlight and shade played on the distant Alps, the warm Italian sun shone on the gray-green olive trees; plum, apple and cherry trees were blooming in profusion everywhere in the lower regions and wistaria trailed its feathery lavender plumes, creating majestic beauty against the ancient ruins and vari-hued houses.

WE HAVE been told that Easter in 1949 meant more to the people of Austria than Easter in many years. Thanks to the ERP they are better off. The city of Linz was practically at a standstill during the hclidays which began with Good Friday and continued through Easter Monday.

Easter means much to these people, both in a religious and a secular way. They buy and make gifts and children believe in the Easter bunny as much as our children do Santa Claus, perhaps more so.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Family, Friends Exhort In Vain Against Girl's Pursuit Of Unsettled Gambler

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Sally is a very pretty girl, 22, and could be popular if she would accept the many invitations that various admiring young men offer. But she is in love with Walter, who is 10 years her senior and a professional gambler. He follows the races — north in summer, south in winter.

After much persuasion from family and friends, Sally will occasionally go out with some nice lad her age; but after a few dates she refuses to see him again, and her usual excuse is, "He is just a kid." She prefers to concentrate on Walter.

Walter tells Sally that when he makes good at the races he will settle down, invest his winnings in a business and they will be married. This has been going on for three years, but there is no "formal" engagement for Sally to count on. She has lost her pride and quite openly chases Walter.

GIRL IS LAVISH IN HER DEVOTION

WHEN WALTER is south, away from home, she writes him faithfully, several letters to his one, and visits his family. She sends him lovely gifts on gift-occasions, but when he should reciprocate he sends her an apology for lacking funds to buy her anything. And when Walter is here at home, their dates usually consist of a day at the races.

Walter thinks nothing of spending Saturday nights at the movies with his men friends, while Sally sits at home wondering where he is and why he doesn't call her. The following morning she calls him to ask for an explanation; and despite his negligence she candidly says she can be happy only with him.

Is she right to wait year after year for Walter to set a wedding date? Or should she break all ties with him, even if it means breaking her own heart? Ehe ignores the worried advice of family and friends, and our final hope is that she will heed your unbiased opinion. Please answer soon.—Signed F. T.

GIRL IS EXAMPLE OF SELF HYPNOSIS

DEAR F. T.: Help for a slavishly infatuated person comes from within the self, if at all; and usually it begins to germinate, in an appeal for some outsider's guidance and support in finding a "cure," only when the unhappy captive-soul can't bear any more hidden suspense and suffering.

Sally's slavish attachment to Walter isn't love. It is self hypnosis achieved by self deception, about one's self and the other party; a state in which no love exists, either given or received. It is a pitiful expression of psychological immaturity, untaught ignorance of "reality" values in human character and human interchange, and avid infantile hunger for physical gratification.

What seems to be "love-giving" in Sally's behavior is really an aggressive bait-offering to Walter, a campaign of bribery and tacit reproach which aims to undermine or override his defensive, equally self centered, self serving preference to roam at large without restraining ties.

TRAINED AWARENESS MIGHT BREAK SPELL

POOR SALLY is totally insensitive to "What Makes Walter Run" — if I may paraphrase Budd Schulberg's famous book title; — but she is also thoroughly confused and on the wrong track, concerning herself and what adjustments to make, and actions to take, to arrive at real love and contentment in life.

You write from a large city, where a wealth of good psychological counsel is available at first-hand; and it is this type of teaching that Sally needs, to help her get free of her fixated trance-like "concentration" on Walter. And he, incidentally, needs similar aid, to achieve deliverance from his compulsive addiction to gambling.—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

Convention Is Reported

A report from Mrs. Sam Jones, who is representing the Col. John Elder chapter, Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century, at the national convention in Washington, D. C., was read at a chapter meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. W. A. Miller, 2603 Thirtieth. Mrs. J. A. Laney was hostess.

Mrs. Jones wrote that she was among guests attending a tea, given by Mrs. Harry S. Truman in Blair house. Miss Dorothy Rylander was Mrs. Jones' guest for the afternoon. The letter was read at the meeting by Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, chapter president.

Mrs. Leroy T. Patton presented a program on the history of weaving, discussing various phases of the art from ancient times to the present. The business and program were followed by a social hour. Nine members attended.

rest, Nat Heaton and J. H. Brewer.

Robert Howard, Lubbock attorney, is chairman of a straight ticket sales committee and will name approximately 20 members to his group.

Preparations for the barbecue are going forward at a rapid clip, Davison said today. He reported an enthusiastic response for tickets from out-of-town circles and said greater effort must be made on local sales.

"We certainly wouldn't want to have more out-of-town people than home folks at the barbecue," Davison said. "For that reason we must concentrate on sale of tickets locally during the next week, for at the present time we have more tickets purchased and larger contributions for people over the state."

The barbecue is the third fund-raising event to be staged by the Democratic party in Texas, $25-a-plate dinners having been previously held at Austin and Corpus Christi.

Soviet Move To End Blockade Of Berlin Called Red Defeat

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russia's offer to call off the Berlin blockade continues to hold the lime-light in international speculation. The reason is of course that such a move might tend towards (whisper) an ending of the "cold war."

Diplomatic sources in Moscow said yesterday that the reopening of the Berlin question, if handled correctly, could lead to that happy goal. An American quarter remarked:

"Something is cooking. At this point it doesn't smell bad."

That non-committal summary reflects both hope and suspicion—a feeling which is mutual. Both sides are proceeding with the utmost caution.

Positive Move Made

The United States did make a positive move yesterday. This was deliverey of a note by Philip C. Jessup, American ambassador-at-large, to Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik, in New York, asking the Russians for a formal statement as to when and on what conditions they would lift the blockade.

Back of this note is the real hope that the Muscovites mean business. There also is the suspicion that some ulterior purpose may be hidden in the offer—for instance the scuttling of the new German republic comprising the three western zones of occupation. Moscow has opposed this project hotly.

Obviously it isn't love of the hated capitalistic democracies which has impelled Moscow to make this offer. As I pointed out in yesterday's column, it could be that the Russian bear is feeling the chill of the "cold war" in his own bones. He may really want easement of the struggle. Wes Gallagher, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin, writes:

"Soviet overtures to lift the Berlin blockade represent a diplomatic defeat for the Kremlin—perhaps the most crushing it has suffered since the end of World War II. Soviet bid to control all of Europe has failed. Communism and the Soviet Union are on the defensive in Europe."

Certainly the indications are that the Communist drive to sweep across western Europe to the English channel reached a dead end some time ago. The signing of the Atlantic pact put the finishing touches on a barrier that Moscow couldn't hope to breach. The time had come for consolidation of their gains and a bringing up of their communications.

New Factor Seen

There is, it seems to me, another new factor which may have had something to do with Moscow's move. That is the sweeping success of the Chinese Communist armies against the Nationalists.

The Red offensive in China has created a new crisis which is causing the western allies deep concern. Communism has established a new major front in Asia which might distract some of the attention of the western powers from the European theater and so make easier the task of consolidating its position there.

In any event, whatever may be the exact motive behind the Russian move regarding the blockade, there is one immutable fact which we shouldn't overlook:

While the tactics of the Communist world revolution are bound to vary according to circumstances, and strong-arm methods may be abandoned in certain cases, the global drive will continue.

The Communist crusade will continue in all countries until it either succeeds or is broken. That is written in the book of fate.

Union Studies Strike Action

DETROIT, April 28. (AP)—The CIO United Auto workers executive board stepped into the "speed-up" dispute at the Fort Motor Co., today.

The board met to act on requests for strike sanction for 65,000 workers at the key Ford Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants.

It was one of two major undertakings in the NAW's high councils today.

Campaign Is Planned

At another site the NAW's 100-man national Ford council was putting finishing touches to a campaign that will spearhead the union's industry-wide 1949 drive for $100-a month pension along with medical care plans and wage increases.

The council represents some 110,000 Ford workers in nearly 50 plants across the nation.

Local union leaders at Rouge and Lincoln, backed by membership votes, have asked the board for permission to call a walkout at the two plants.

But since such a shutdown would affect virtually every Ford factory, it was felt that the board would do something at least to delay a strike until the big bargaining drive gets underway at Ford May 16.

Meeting Is Failure

To accomplish this without refusing the local leaders strike permission, some observers thought this could be done.

Kenneth Bannon, the union's national Ford director, could be given power to call a strike at the two plants at his discreetion. At the same time he could be instructed to seek further conferences with the company to settle the dispute peacefully.

Such a meeting proved fruitless yesterday.

Ford denied the union charges that assembly lines in the two plants move so fast that the health and safety of workers is endangered. Until the union proves its charges, said the company, Ford would regard any strike as a "direct violation" of the contract.

New Type Of Bonnet With Kitchen Gadgets On It Livens Up Town In Post-Easter Parade

By EDWARD H. HOFFMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LIBERTY, Mo., April 28—In her Easter bonnet, with all the hardware on it, Mrs. Helen Ballenger continues to dazzle the folks of Liberty.

Mrs. Ballenger fashions chic chapeaux from such items as a sprig of garden tools, a snip of shower hose, and a nosegay of fishing plugs, topped off by a fetching meat grinder. The creations are displayed in the window of the Ballenger's hardware store, with automobile jacks and oil cans serving as hat racks.

Take the bulgy little number she calls a "fireman's helmet." The base is an overturned tan plastic baby training seat which tips daringly down over the eyes and races over madam's locks to the clear plastic guard at the back. The only ornament is a full-size Boy Scout hand axe.

Kitchen Press Used

Then, something really dashing for the tall, svelte female is an unnamed deal based on an inverted aluminum rotary kitchen press, more commonly used for juicing vegetables. Corded around the brimless bonnet is a pastel green shower hose, both end attachments included.

A colorful, two-piece fishing plug, usually called a "wiggler," adds ornamentation. Two black iron harness rings, suspended over the ears, contribute balance.

The "cook's special" is an all-metal business built around a subverted sink strainer. Two wire egg beaters are crossed at the back. The wearer's eyes are veiled enticingly with the fine net which once formed a ball used to scour pans.

"That one almost makes sense," commented Roy Ballenger—while his wife was taking care of a customer.

Mrs. Ballenger worked several types of fishing equipment into her ten different creations. She says that models incorporating fishing flies, bobbers and plug lures were distinctly designed to induce the sportsman-husband to go to church, at least on Easter.

"I would suggest that the lures be removed from the tackle box after sundown on Saturday before the hat is to be worn. Most husbands wouldn't think of looking in their wives' closets for their prized possessions," she said, evidently from experience.

Mrs. Ballenger looks out of place among the shiny ashcans, garden hose and farm machinery parts offered in the store she owns and manages just off the town square of Liberty while her husband works at a photo engraving plant in Kansas City, Kan., some 20 miles away.

Brown-haired and slim, she can weigh up 20 pounds of nails or snip off 100 yards of barbed wire without damaging herself or her tasteful clothes.

Worked During War

"I worked in a Kansas City millinery shop while Roy, my husband, was overseas during the war. I've always wanted to continue in that work," she says wistfully.

Coeds from nearby William Jewell College go out of their way to view the unusual display. Their comment are as typically feminine as the stoic remarks of male viewers are masculine. "What next!" say the men.

HARD HATS like these blossomed out in (of all places) a Liberty, Mo., hardware store, where they're being modeled by Mary McGinty (left) and Patricia Polly.

Lubbock Road Work Included In Bids

Work on more than nine miles of highway in Lubbock county was included in low bids totaling $2,999,597 on 21 road construction projects over the state announced by the Texas Highway commission Wednesday, according to the Associated Press.

The Lubbock county project was for work on 9.492 miles of U. S. Highway 84, from Lubbock to Shallowater. Low bid of $31,249 was by Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth.

The Fort Worth man also was low bidder on 11.77 miles of work on State Highway 86, from the Parmer county line to Dimmitt. The low bid was $114,263.

India Reds, Officers Tangle; Seven Killed

CALCUTTA, India, April 28. (AP) Seven persons, four of them women, were killed in a clash between Communists and police here Wednesday.

Tension still was marked today, but the city was relatively quiet. Strong police patrols were posted at known potential trouble spots.

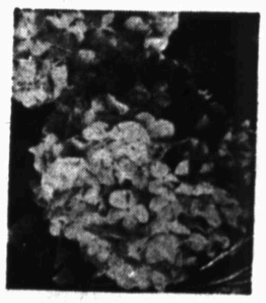

Wednesday's riot flared when women Communists, defying a ban on parades, started a procession to express sympathy for fellow Reds held in jail. A mob hurled bombs, bottles and brickbats when the police moved in to break up the line of march. Several trams and busses were dumped over by rioters.

The police finally opened fire, inflicting the casualties.

Pirates Trample Cards, 7 To 1

Injuries Mar Major Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Injuries to Stan Rojek, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau, all key men in the major league pennant races, overshadowed the scores in today's baseball news.

Rojek's injury may be the most important. If the Pittsburgh shortstop, the "hustle guy" of Bill Meyer's infield, is lost for any appreciable time, the Pirates' pennant hopes go a-glimmering.

A pitched ball by Ken Johnson, fifth St. Louis pitcher, struck Rojek near the left eye in the ninth inning last night at Sporteman's park. He walked a short distance and collapsed just as teammates reached him.

Dickson Gets Win

Early reports from the hospital indicated that no fracture was found.

The incident took most of the zing out of the Pirates' 7-1 victory over the Cardinals. It should have been a big night for the Pirates because Murry Dickson, the ex-Cardinal who was purchased for $125,000 last winter, faced his old mates for the first time.

Dickson, pitching like a man with a mission, was given a nice cushion in the first inning when the Pirates greeted Howie Pollet with five straight singles. Pollet was replaced by Ted Wilks before he got anybody out in the four-run inning. After that it was duck soup for Dickson who threw a seven-hitter. The win put the Buccos in a first place tie with the New York Giants for the National league lead.

The Boston Braves' hopes of repeating as National league champs took a sharp drop when Third Baseman Elliott was hit on the knee and carried off the field at Shike park on a stretcher. The big power man of the Boston attack was felled by a line drive off the bat of Puddin' Head Jones, the Phillies sensational rookie. Later it developed that Elliott's injury was not considered serious.

Braves Blank Phils

Despite Elliott's accident, the Braves shut out the Phils, 2-0, on a fine three-hit effort by Warren Spahn. The Braves' southpaw ace, below par in two previous starts, was back in his old 1947 form last night. Only one man, Richie Ashburn in the eighth, reached second base. Pete Reiser drove in both runs off Robin Roberts with a second inning single.

Boudreau was forced to leave the Cleveland-Chicago White Sox afternoon game when hit on the left elbow by Pitcher Arval Grove. X-ray pictures showed the injury apparently was only a bruise. Absence of Boudreau, even for a few games, would have been a vital blow at the world champion Indians' chances of winning another American league flag.

Cleveland went on a batting spree to ruin the Chicago Sox, 11-3 with Mickey Vernon, the ex-Washington first sacker, and Ken Keltner hitting home runs.

The New York Yankees' march was rudely interrupted at Washington when the win-starved Senators came from behind to break a seven-game losing streak, 4-3 in 10 innings. The Nats scored three in the ninth after Allie Reynolds pitched shutout ball for 8 2/3 innings. Clyde Vollmer's triple was the big blow. In the extra frame, Washington hung the loss on fireman Joe Page. Pitcher Forest Thompson doubled, took third on Ralph Houk's error and scored on Sam Dente's single.

Another seven-game losing streak was broken when the St. Louis Browns shaded the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 in 12 innings with Karl Drews, the Yankee castoff, outpitching Hal Newhouser.

Vern (Junior) Stephens had a big batting day for the Boston Red Sox in a 10-6 romp over the Philadelphia A's. Stephens hit two homers and a single, driving in five runs.

National league day action was featured by the New York Giants' 11-8 win over Brooklyn in a wild contest at the Polo grounds. Rookie Pete Milne's pinch homer with the bases loaded helped the Giants come from behind after blowing a 6-0 lead.

Johnny Vander Meer fell victim of an old ailment—wildness—which Chicago's Cubs turned into a six-run rally and an 8-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Tech Workouts Hampered By Wet Track

Red Raider Trackmen Slated To Compete In Meet Saturday

Over a month ago Track Coach Maxey McKnight declared that there was nothing wrong with the Texas Tech squad that warm weather couldn't cure.

That was over a month ago and the red haired track coach still hasn't seen his pleas answered. After looking at the gray clouds yesterday, Coach McKnight declared that another day's rest wouldn't and couldn't hurt the squad any more than it already had been hurt.

The Raiders lost all last week because of water on the track, water that had to be pumped off before the Region One meet could be held here. It's been anything but a good spring for the Raider trackmen.

Monday and Tuesday were the only days in over a week that the Raider trackmen could work and even those workouts were curtailed. As a result, there has been no improvement in the squad since the dual meet with New Mexico at Albuquerque two weeks ago.

Saturday the Raider trackmen are scheduled to be hosts to New Mexico, Texas Mines, West Texas State Teachers college and Hardin-Simmons. The meet is slated for 2 p. m., but indications Wednesday were that New Mexico might not appear and Hardin-Simmons probably would not.

Should only WTSTC, which is bringing only five men, and Texas Mines, not apparently a strong squad, come to Lubbock, the Raiders would have little more than an intra-squad meet. But if the weather is good, Coach McKnight will welcome even that much competition.

Mines is an unknown quantity and the Raider mentor doesn't know who they will bring. The Miners might bring a full squad, or they might bring a few men, probably most of them in the weights. The Buffs will concentrate on the middle distances, as well as the distance events, with possibly one broad jumper and maybe a discus thrower.

Texas Tech easily trimmed New Mexico two weeks ago and there is little possibility that they have improved enough to shade the Raiders on the home track. Tech grabbed all but one first place against the Lobos and should repeat here.

The Raider squad is in good condition, rested and ready to go again, although Charley Reynolds, ace dash man, still has not rounded into shape. Otherwise, the Techsans appear ready.

Clovis Golf Tourney Is Scheduled In May

CLOVIS, N. M., April 28 (INS)—The Clovis country club will revive its pre-war amateur golf tourney next month when it sponsors the annual New Mexico-West Texas invitational amateur golf tourney.

J. D. Taylor, pro at the club, will handle all arrangements for the meet set for May 28 through 30.

Prior to the war, the Invitational at Clovis was one of the leading non-professional events in the country.

On the definite entry list are four of the top amateurs of the southwest section. They are Jack Williams of Plainview, Tex.; Clyde Blackwell, Tommy Roberts and Maurice Green, all of Roswell, N. M.

Blackwell won several tourneys last year. Roberts is an 18-year-old high school golfer who went to the National Junior quarter-finals in the midwest last year.

Maurice Green is a top flighter from eastern New Mexico.

K. Carter Diamond Teams Win Tussles

Boys and girls baseball teams of K. Carter Junior High school won victories over corresponding teams from Guadalupe school yesterday afternoon by scores of 12-11 and 19-18.

A. Coronado and R. Coronado, brothers, worked on the mound and behind the plate for the Carter school, with Salazar the losing pitcher. Rodriguez was his catcher.

Mrs. H. W. Schroeder Cops Low Net Score

Mrs. H. W. Schroeder captured low net score in the 18 hole flight of the Ladies Weekly Golf association play at Lubbock Country club today. Mrs. T. E. Hunley was low on putts.

In the nine hole flight, Mrs. O. D. McCoy carded low net honors and Mrs. George Soash was low on putts.

HOUSTON, April 28. (AP)—Texas Aggie linksmen defeated the University of Houston golf team, 4-3, here yesterday.

Dallas Edges Tulsa Oilers

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of pitchers stood out in the Texas league last night—in the role of batters.

Pinchhitting Pitcher Roy Sanner doubled home two runs to give Dallas a 4-3 decision over Tulsa and Pitcher Gale Pringle broke San Antonio's seven game winning streak with a single that gave Beaumont a 1-0 win over the Missions.

Missions Win First

San Antonio had stretched its string to seven by downing the Exporters, 6-4, in the first game of the twin bill. In the nightcap, Pringle went all the way, gave up only eight hits and in the tenth inning singled Harold Danielson home with the only run of the game.

Shreveport won again last night defeating Houston, 5-2.

Fort Worth and Oklahoma City were rained out.

The same teams meet again tonight, with Fort Worth and Oklahoma City playing a doubleheader.

Dukes Batter Oilers

Hubs' Protest Is Rejected

Albuquerque was the only dry spot in the entire West Texas-New Mexico League last night and they made the most of it, trimming the supposedly potent Pampa Oilers 9 to 2 to move into second place.

The defeat dropped the Oilers from the first division and sent the Lamesa Loboes into fourth place in the loop. Abilene at Amarillo was postponed because of threatening weather, but Lamesa at Borger and Lubbock at Clovis were washed out by a genuine storm in each city. Borger played as far as the bottom half of the fourth before the elements entered into the picture.

Protest Not Allowed

So far as Lubbock fans are concerned, the biggest news of the night broke at the last minute, when League President Milton E. Price flatly turned down the protest entered by the Lubbock Baseball club on the Albuquerque game here last Monday.

Price, in a telephone conversation with The Evening Journal, said that it was strictly a judgement play and that there could be no protest on the umpire's decision. He declared that there was absolutely no ground for the protest.

The play in question involved Bubba Kaine, rightfielder, who was hit in the forehead by a thrown ball. Kaine was on first base when the batter, Pitcher Bill Grafton, grounded to Second Baseman Babe Fuhrmann. Fuhrmann tossed to Shortston Frank Okire to force Kaine and Okrie's throw to first to complete a double play struck Kaine in the forehead.

All Umpires Agree

Umpire Kermit S. Cran, a first-year man without experience, did not make a decision until after 10 minutes had elapsed following the calling of time. Then he ruled interference on the play. It retired the Hubbers without the run that had crossed the plate.

Price said that all four umpires had agreed that the decision had been accurate, but that Cran had been wrong in not making the decision immediately. Two of the umpires testified that Kaine had waved his arms in an effort to break up the play and had done all he could to interfere.

Umpire Cran rapidly is making a name for himself in the league. He was the object of considerable criticism at Lamesa and ejected Lobo Manager Jay Haney from one game. He drew wrath from Abilene fans. And he was a storm center in Lubbock.

The Hubbers, meanwhile, took advantage of the day off in Clovis to get rest before heading for Albuquerque, where tonight they open a two-game stand. They leave Clovis with a record of 14 hits in their last two games good for only four runs, while committing 11 errors.

They also go on with the record of having had only Bill Grafton go the route in their first seven games, although Cotton Russell went eight innings before blowing up. In addition, they gain a day of rest for sore-armed hurlers Don Hensiek and Royce Mills. It also gives Charley Willis deserved rest, along with Herby Pitts.

After seven full games, Chick Fowler is the leading Hubber hitter with 13 hits in 32 times at bat for an average of .406. Fowler has hit two doubles, a triple and three home runs to drive in 10 tallies. He's the only Hubber with a triple, leads in home runs and runs batted in. He also has posted the top average.

Other regulars have not fared so well. Pedro Dunabeitia and Al Duarte each are hitting .400, Dunabeitia with four hits in 10 appearances, Duarte with two hits in five trips. Only two other regulars are over the .300 mark, Nelson Davis and Jim Prince. Davis has had eight hits in 26 trips for a .307 mark, while Prince has had nine hits in 30 appearances for an even .300.

Other Hub Averages

Other Hubber averages are Mills, .285 (two for seven); Buddy McCallum, .267 (eight for 30); Russell, .250 (two in eight); Sullivan .241 (seven in 29); Willis, .217 (five in 23); and Mike Dooley, .148 (four in 27).

Hubbers hitting doubles so far have been Prince 3, Sullivan 2 and Davis, Russell, Willis, Mills, Dooley, Dunabeitia and Grafton one each.

Home run hitters besides Fowler have been Davis 2, Dunabeitia 2, and Prince and Dooley one each.

Locals Close Slate Against Plainview

Lubbock Westerners Trounce Brownfield Cub Nine, 10 To 1

Only Plainview stands in the way of a south half baseball championship for Lubbock High school in District 1-AA after the 10-1 shellacking of Brownfield by the Westerners yesterday in Brownfield.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the local nine, and games with the Bulldogs April 30 and May 3 round out the schedule. Then the winner of the north half will play the south half victor in a series of games to decide the final 1-AA champion.

Righthander Jimmy Hamilton started for the Westerners, notching his second district victory and giving up three hits and one run to the Cubs. Jimmy Richards took over in the fifth and allowed no hits in a three inning stint on the mound, allowing only one batter to reach first, that on an error, but the runner was thrown out attempting to steal second base by Catcher Morris Turner on a throw to Neil Sikes. Bill Tankersley was the losing hurler.

Errors Aid Lubbock

Brownfield errors and wildness on the part of the pitchers allowed Lubbock to score their runs on only four hits. There were four wild pitches, split evenly between Tankersley and Glenn Gorby, one balk by Tankersley, and four passed balls by Ray Carter.

The Westerners scored three runs in the initial frame, and from that point they were never threatened. Except for the third inning when the Brownfield run was scored on a one base hit by Third Baseman Sam Richey, a double by Tankersley, and an error by Charles Galey on a wide throw to first no Brownfield runner got to second base. Two base-runners were thrown out attempting to steal by Turner. Only five Cubs reached first safely, and no walks were given by Lubbock pitchers.

In the first inning Dan Adkisson, second base, led off with a walk, stole second, and went to third on a single by Powell Hinson, third base, into short left field. Adkisson was thrown out at home on ground ball hit by Turner, Turner reaching first safely on a fielder's choice and went to second without a play being made to put him out.

Relaxation Needed For Good Putting

By BEN HOGAN
CHAPTER VII

PUTTING

From every observation I have ever made of putting there is no reason why the average player cannot putt reasonably well since putting is merely rolling the ball over the surface of the green by striking it a gentle but firm blow. Yet, in spite of its apparent simplicity, many golfers who are capable of playing excellent golf from tee to green have difficulty when faced with the problem of getting the ball into the hole with the putter.

Putting, it sems to me, is a matter of concentration, relaxation and confidence. Thus the mental phase of this department of the game looms at least as important as the physical phase, the actual stroking of the ball into the hole, because mental strain while putting is probably responsible for more missed strokes than any mistake in the physical mechanics of putting.

Par, on most courses, allows 36 putting strokes per round, two each hole. Therefore, it is worth your while to improve your putting because putting is one department of the game in which most of us can cut down on the number of our strokes by constant effort and practice.

Green Stroke Lost

You can lose a stroke on the fairway and have a chance to make it up before you are down, but a stroke lost on the green is lost forever. That is why putting, while apparently simple, assumes such importance in the game.

In order to be a successful putter you must adopt a sound approach and routine to that phase of the game. Putting is the most individual department of golf. Once you have a smooth putting stroke a higher percentage of sinkable putts will start dropping for you regardless of whatever other individual idiosyncrasies you may have as a putter.

Putting has been the subject of a great deal of experimentation because of the possibility of reducing the number of putts to a round, but I shall concentrate here on the method of putting.

In my opinion the best grip to putt with is the reverse overlap grip. By that I mean that the index finger of the left hand overlaps the little finger of the right hand.

The reason I favor this grip in putting is that it permits you to have all of the fingers of the right hand on the shaft. That is because most of my putting is done with the right hand.

The left hand is under or to the left considerably in order that you may hinge your left wrist in comfort. It is the only way you can keep the clubface square to the line of the ball both going back and following through.

As I have said before, styles in putting vary and so do styles in stances and weight distribution. Most of the touring professionals, including myself, putt from a slightly opened stance. By that I mean that my right foot is ahead of the left foot. Almost all of my weight is on my left boot, but my feet are not too far part.

How To Address Ball

In addressing the ball let your body take up the position I have described in the chapter on stances. The tripod position I have called it. It will assure you of perfect balance.

While putting I make sure not to move my shoulders, head or hips. I putt with my arms, hands and wrists.

Naturally, in addressing the ball your putter must be at right angles to the line you have picked out for the ball to travel. The putter blade must remain at right angles during the stroke.

In stroking the ball take your putter straight back from the ball and straight through. Make sure that you hit through the ball on the finish.

Don't try to hit up on the ball to give it overspin. Concentrate on hitting it square, taking your putter straight back from the ball and straight through on the return stroke.

Concentration Essential

Once you have developed a sound putting stroke and can step up to putt relaxed and confident and with the ability to concentrate on the putting problem at hand, you are ready for a little advanced work in this department. The ability to concentrate carries with it the capacity to shut everything out of the mind except the golfing problem before you and how you are going to solve it.

This includes, of course, the selection of the proper line to the hole, the proper stance and grip and the correct estimate of how much power should be imparted to the stroke. Your ability to do all of those things in the proper sequence will give you confidence. It will permit you to relax and will leave you free of any tension or inner worry.

Most good putters have the ability to make their ball start rolling the moment it leaves contact with the clubhead. This is imparted by the follow-through of the club and is something you feel when you stroke the ball perfectly. Let me say that it should be felt and not consciously thought about during the process of stroking the ball. The more roll you give the ball, the farther it will travel in response to a stroke of given force. The distance you get depends upon power and roll.

You can develop this ability to impart roll to your putts by taking your putter home and practicing on the carpet. I've bee ntaking a putter back to my hotel room with me evenings during tournaments for years and have found it worthwhile.

In getting ready to putt survey the overall layout of the green in order to determine the amount of slope from side to side. Then survey the immediate area around the hole in order to have some knowledge of the amount of slope you will have to contend with when the ball is coming up on the hole. At the same time give some thought as to how fast you will have to make the ball travel in order to reach the hole.

Now stand behind the ball and view the line between the ball and the hole. Whenever practical, size your putt up from the opposite direction.

This surveying and sizing up is all part of what is called "reading the greens." Much to my surprise while talking with a friend recently I discovered that most duffers are amazed by the ability of the tournament professionals to "read the greens" on strange courses so quickly. By "reading the greens," of course, I mean the ability to look over the undulations, slopes and the grass on the putting greens and then decide how the ball is going to travel after you stroke it.

Locke Greatest Putter

Bobby Locke, the South African, is the greatest putter I have ever seen. Bobby has a great putting stroke, but more than that he has an uncanny ability to read greens. I have never been to South Africa, but people who are familiar with the greens there tell me that they are very grainy. The reason that our greens held no terrors for Locke was his ability to read any kind of a green.

Naturally, this ability is developed only by experience, but there are centain little hints which I will give you which will help you to become proficient at it. If the tournament playing professionals are more proficient at reading the greens than the ordinary player it is only because they have to play on so many different types of greens in the course of a year.

While it has never given me too much trouble I have been told that the greens are hard to read at Riviera in Los Angeles, site of the 1948 U. S. Open championship. I won the 1947 and 1948 Los Angeles Opens there and the secret to putting well at Riviera is to locate the ocean in relation to the greens.

I am using Riviera as an example because it is a well known course and because it offers a situation which is true at almost all oceanside courses. You can't always see the ocean at Riviera, but it is there nevertheless and has its effect on the roll of your putts on the greens. Everything break on the Riviera greens, and almost all oceanside course greens for that matter, toward the ocean.

When playing mountain courses, remember that putts will always break away from the mountains. This is true even if in "reading the greens" it doesn't look that way to you. Putting greens always slop away from the mountain on mountain courses because of the weather and erosion. What you will have to guard against in reading greens on mountain courses, however, is little things which your knowledge of golf will tell you can't be true, although they appear to be so to the naked eye. You'll learn what these things are only by experience and so I won't confuse you by trying to outline them here.

If you can locate the direction the grain of the green runs, you have won half the battle in your effort to get your putt down. One way of doing it is to look for the shine on the greens as you read them.

Shine Means Grain

If you can see a shine on the green when you are lining up your putt it means that you are putting down the grain of the green. The ball is going to travel very fast. You will have to make allowances for the speed of the ball down the grain. Otherwise, if you make a mistake you will be sure to run by the hole several feet and will have another and even more difficult putt coming back against it.

When I see a shine on the grass on the right side in lining up a putt I play to the right even if I don't see a break in the green in that direction because I know the grain is running from right to left. The reverse is true if you see the hine on the left and you must then make your allowances accordingly.

If you are on the other side of the hole looking back toward your ball while trying to line it up and you see the shine, you will have to putt against the grain. When you putt against the grain it stands to reason you have to hit the ball a little harder to reach the hole.

Trial And Error Advised

Sometimes on a green you will find that the grain of the green breaks to the right while the roll and undulation of the green is to the left. When that happens you will have to decide whether you are going to play the grain or the roll.

Occasionally in this situation it is a good idea to play the ball straight in the hope that one will offset the other. But that is something you must learn for yourself via the trial and error method.

You should also develop your ability to tell the kinds of grasses on the greens and their consistency through the feel of your feet on them as you walk around. Get so that you know the feel of the various grasses used on the greens and their relation to the speed of the ball, and that knowledge will be very helpful to you in learning how to putt.

Remember in putting that the stroke can't do it all. You have to know how hard to hit the ball and where to aim it.

Tomorrow: Chap. 8.—Bunker Shots Are Easy.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

One of the finest exhibitions we've ever had the pleasure of watching was unreeled yesterday at South Plains Air Force Base by Herb Parsons. Clyde Tatum, who occasionally visits the skeet range there for some shooting, invited us to go along with him, promising us an interesting hour or two. It was an understatement. Parsons staged one of the finest exhibitions of shooting you'll ever see. And it was dohe in spite of a misty rain that blew in his face, making difficult shooting even harder.

Parsons, of course, came here to sell Winchester rifles and shotguns, as well as Western ammunition. If those two articles could make us as proficient as Parsons, we'd load up to the gill. In fact, this paper probably would be looking for a new sports editor within no time. On second thought, if we were that good, we'd have the job Parsons has and that wouldn't be bad. What it pays we don't know, but Furman Williamson, local Winchester dealer, figures it as between five and ten thousand a year. We could exist on that.

At any rate, if Parsons returns in two weeks, as he said he would, no gun lover should miss his show. It's worth standing in the rain to see and if the day is clear and nice, it will be even better. There wasn't much that can be done with a gun that Parsons didn't do. He called his shots with the assurance of a billiard expert and he seldom failed to do exactly what he said he would. He did so many fine feats that it would be hard to single out any particular one. But a few are worth mentioning.

For instance, he threw five clay pigeons into the air and broke them all before they reached the ground—and he did it with a pump action shotgun. He says that he prefers the pump, that it will do everything the automatic will do and can be handled as easily. In his hands it is. Parsons also astounded us by throwing variecolored marbles into the air and shattering them before they reached the ground. He did the same thing with empty .22 cartridge shells. He also threw metal discs about the size of a half dollar into the air, calling out on which side he'd hit them and where they would land. They did. Moreover, he threw everything from dimes on up into the air and neatly drilled holes with various Cal. .30 rifles.

Parsons was as good with a .22 as he was with the bigger rifles. He opened his exhibit with the smaller piece and then graduated to the bigger ones. He gave a startling demonstration of what happens to game being hit by various caliber rifles by shooting cans filled with water. We can just imagine what would happen to a human being hit that way. For that matter, we've seen first hand what it does. That's one of the reasons it should make a profound impression on anyone who intends to shoot a high caliber rifle.

The Winchester expert pointed out, during his demonstration, that a gun should never he aimed at anything unless you intend to shoot it. The Army taught the same thing, except that you shot to kill. Parsons made a plea for safety in shooting by giving a demonstration of what could happen along the lines of carelessness on the range. Coming from a man who handled guns as though he were born with them in his arms, it made an impression. He also emphasized that the people of this nation should be thankful that they lived in a democracy and that we were at peace. He also remarked that "there are 86,400 seconds in a day, but how many of you have taken as much as five seconds to pray for continued peace in the world?"

In demonstrating tracer bullets, Parsons had Tatum set off a rocket that exploded in the air releasing a parachute. Parsons sent a number of tracers through the parachute, which was a silhouette of a man. He paid tribute to the paratroopers of World War II, who had faced such action to keep peace in the United States, to make it possible for the people of this nation to have peace. It was a great demonstration of shooting and the moral it carried with it was just as fine. We endorse the program for the general public.

Even if you don't know much about shooting, you don't have to: Parsons makes his rifles and shotguns talk for him.

TEXAS AGS WIN

WACO, April 28. (AP)—The Texas Aggie frosh dropped the Baylor greshmen baseball team out of the undefeated ranks here last night, beating the Cubs 5 to 3.

George Curtis Upsets Fenton

George Curtis lived up to the expectations of the promoter as he handed Rod Fenton an upset defeat in the main wrestling event at Sled Allen's arena last night before a large crowd.

Curtis won the two out of three fall decision, pinning the Canadian in the first and third setto. After 10 minutes of the first fall Curtis caught Fenton with a series of dropkicks, and then ended it with a shoulder pin. But Fenton came back strong after a breather to get a hammerlock on the younger wrestler and finished him off with an arm stomp.

The third fall lasted 17 minutes, and an elbow smash and a body smother by Curtis won him the fall and the match The bout was a good one. Fenton is an old hand in the ring and hard to beat.

The preliminary match between Alex Kasaboski and George Dusette went to a draw after each of the grapplers had taken one fall. Time ran out in the third canto, and the match was declared a draw.

Kasabcski took the first fall in 23 minutes with a toehold, and Dusette won the second with a full Nelson after 17 minutes. Both boys are rugged and use any type wrestling to gain victory. In his first appearance here Dusette showed up very well.

Two old heads appeared in the preliminary match but Jack Papenheim had too much skill for Hy Sharman last night as he won the match after 14 minutes with a spinning toehold.

Tech Netters Will Battle New Mexico

A pair of tennis matches will occupy the Texas Tech netmen's time this week end, University of New Mexico coming here for team play Friday afternoon and being followed Saturday by the strong Texas Mines court squad.

The Miners are expected to extend the Red Raider netters the most, the El Paso college having a veteran team. Many of the same players who defeated the Techsans 5-4 in match play last year are back again.

As for the Lobos, Tech should not be extended too much to score a victory. The Raider second team made the trip to Albuquerque recently and won easily. Meanwhile Tech's top four netmen were competing in the River Oaks tourney at Houston.

The Raider netters have shown consisten! improvement this season and, as a result of valuable experience gained on the recent journey to Texas university, University of Houston and River Oaks, are expected to make a strong bid for Border conference honors next month. For the last two seasons Jake Broyles, Tech's top net star, has been eliminated in the Border loop meet by the final winner. This year, with added age and experience, he should be even more dangerous.

The Tech team which will compete this weekend will probably include, in order of their team positions, Broyles, Carl Schmidt of Mexico City, Glenn Ivy of Lubbock, Eddie Scudday of Lubbock, David Hester of Lubbock and Jack Prentiss.

NEW MEXICO TENNIS TEAM TO BE HERE ON FRIDAY

ALBUQUERQUE, April 28 (Special) — After dropping two games on their Arizona trip, the University of New Mexico tennis team is set to journey to Lubbock Thursday for a dual match at Texas Tech Friday.

Coach Joe Palaia said David Ong has recovered from a recent illness and will be the fourth member of the four-man squad Palaia will take to Lubbock.

The Lobo netters lost at the University of Arizona and at Arizona State, Tempe.

Expert Stages Gun Show Here

Birds and other game would have taken an awful beating yesterday if Herb Parsons, gun expert and demonstrator for the Winchester Arms company, had been in the field.

Parsons kept a crowd of approximately 100 persons entertained and fascinated with his sharpshooting ability and a line of chatter that went with it. The rifle and shotgun expert performed at the Lubbock Skeet and Trap club range in a misty rain yesterday afternoon. If the rain bothered him, he failed to show it and he provided the crowd with a fine show.

Applause broke out several times during the exhibition, particularly when Parsons made hard shots appear easy. He worked as easily as he made the shots appear, busting everything from eggs to cabbages, .22 cartridge jackets to one gallon gasoline jugs.

The rifle expert also demonstrated the use of guns ranging from the .22 through the larger .348. Parsons tossed wooden blocks, oranges, cabbages, grapefruit, cartridge shells, little black balls, potatoes, metal discs, eggs and coins into the air. All fell before his accurate eye.

Big Liner President Wilson Is Jammed By War Refugees

By TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, April 28 — Bars, gymnasiums, lounges and the promenade decks of the liner President Wilson were jammed with refugees today.

Last minute decisions to leave Communist-threatened Shanghai scattered foreigners about the vessel. She is likely to be the last ship of her class to call at Shanghai for a long time. There were about 300 foreigners aboard when she sailed.

The evacuees were of all ages and colors. There were Americans, Germans, Russians and Chinese. There were infants in arms, old men, young women and sprightly elderly ladies.

Pets Pass Customs

Some carried worn luggage. Others had new, apparently purchased at the last minute for their hurried departure.

Dogs, cats, goldfish and other pets passed through harassed Chinese customs men.

Many passengers carried their own luggage aboard rather than pay the exhorbitant prices asked by coolie porters for a 100 yard haul onto the ship.

There was considerable confusion on board and a trace of annoyance on the faces of the Wilson's regular passengers. But the evacuees grinned with joy at their good fortune in obtaining space.

Children Not Impressed

Mrs. Helen Kazimiroff, 23, who spent 22 years of her life in Shanghai, bounced her three months old son on her knee and said she was glad to leave the city. She and her husband and son are going to Springfield, Mass.

In a lounge filled with Army cots, Mrs. Alice Singer told of her relief at getting out. She fled Germany 10 years ago as a Jewish refugee and is going to the homes of her daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Summer of Stockton, Calif., and Mrs. Dagmar Pollay of Milwaukee.

Down the promenade deck 18 nuns checked their passports.

The Rev. Jan Jankowski, Catholic missionary, was half pleased and half sorry to leave China after 11 years. He rode a bicycle to Shanghai after the Reds overran northern Hopeh province where he worked.

Evacuee children seemed little impressed. The ship's nurse, Louella Franklin of San Francisco, had trouble getting the youngsters to eat.

"Must be a car load of them aboard," she grinned.

Social Security

persons not now covered, possibly bringing the total number under the program to 50,000,000. Mr. Truman asked for such expansion to include farmers, farm hands, household workers, the self-employed and others not now covered. Farm operators might be given a choice between getting in or staying out, with the same option offered to employes of non-profit organizations, state, municipal and local governments.

Would Raise Benefits

2. Old age benefits would be raised an average of about 50 per cent. Mr. Truman has asked for an increase of almost 100 percent.

3. The administration proposal for new temporary disability or sickness insurance would be turned down. But the bill the committee approved may include a new provision that a person totally and permanently disabled would get the same benefits as if he had reached 65 years of age.

4. There would be no increase in the social security tax rate other than that now required by law. By action of the last Congress the tax is scheduled to jump next Jan. 1 from the present one per cent against employes' pay and employers' payrolls to 1½ percent against each; and to two per cent on each beginning in 1952. Mr. Truman asked Congress to boost the rate to 1½ per cent July 1 and to two per cent next Jan. 1.

Bloody Ambush

and three constabulary privates.

The wounded included Maj. Gen. Rafael Jaladoni, retired army chief of staff, who notified President Quirino and the Philippine Red Cross of the ambush. The general returned to Manila late today.

In Baguio President Quirino ordered the constabulary and army to rush reinforcements to troubled Nueva Ecija province to undertake a general campaign against bandits. The president said he could not believe the attack had been led by Communist directed armed peasants called Hukbalahaps.

He said that Mrs. Quezon was loved too much by these people to be harmed by them.

There were reports that the bodies had been looted of jewelry and valuables. Quirino said this was a further indication that the attackers were bandits and not Huks.

Only last week the president had announced that the Huks had been broken into small, ineffective bands and reduced to marauding for food.

Shocked And Angered

There were evidence of shock and anger from Filipinos.

Maj. Gen. Jonathan Anderson, chief of the U. S. military advisory group in the Philippines, termed the ambush slayings "a terrible occurrance."

State funeral services will be held.

Mrs Quezon was beloved by Filipinos for her charity work with children, for leading the suffrage movement for Filipino women and as chairman of the Philippine Red Cross.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

PRICES PUSHED DOWN

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Mild selling pressure was enough to push stock prices down all along the line in today's market. Closing quotations were just about the lows for the day.

The decline was gentle, with most losses in fractional territory. A handful of issues emerged with small gains.

Turnover was slow throughout, which market technicians rate favorably as an indication no serious selling pressure is hanging over the market. Turnover was at the rate of around 800,000 shares for the full session.

Lower were Follansbee Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, U. S. Steel, Firestone, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Pepsi-Cola, American Telephone, Western Union, American Can, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, International Paper, Southern Pacific, Richfield Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), and Mission Corp.

Steadier spots included Bethlehem Steel, Consolidated Natural Gas, and Maracaibo Oil.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Cotton futures were steady in early dealings today, but later turned reactionary on increased liquidation and hedging.

A sharp decline in grains accounted for the later selling in cotton.

There was some hesitancy, pending the announcement of the mid-April cotton parity on Friday.

Futures closed 85 cents to $1.40 a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—The grain market took a solid pounding today. Heavy selling which swept into May wheat around mid-way in the session spread to other pits. All commodities were marked down for large losses.

At one time May wheat fell more than 7 cents. Other wheat contracts lost more than 3 cents at extreme lows. Losses were reduced shortly before the close, but the market continued highly nervous. Trading was very active.

One factor in the downturn, traders said, was fear that the government would withdraw from the cash wheat market after this week. It will come into possession of large quantities of wheat April 30 when loans on the 1948 crop fall due.

Wheat closed 3 ⅛-6 ¼ lower, May $2.19-2.18 ½, corn was 2 to 3 ½ lower, May $1.33 ¼-1.34, oats were ¾-⅞ lower, May 66 ½-¾, rye was 3 to 3 ½ lower, May $1.24 ½, soybeans were 3 ½-14 ¾ lower, May $2.23-2.22 ¾, and lard was 25 to 38 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $11.82.

Red Blockade

involving the four powers.

American authorities appear to be generally convinced of these points:

1. They believe that the Berlin blockade is now hurting Russia more than it ever harmed the West; that the men in the Kremlin must have realized that the success of the air lift in supplying Berlin has become a symbol of western power all over Germany The Russians therefore are believed to have decided to end the blockade.

2. In thus trying to close out the losing deal the Russians are nevertheless anxious to salvage some advantage for themselves.

Clyde Tatum, chairman of the Lubbock Board of Education, welcomed the group, inviting them to visit Lubbock schools and expressing hope they would return for other meetings here. Mrs. O. M. McGinty of Spur district recreation chairman, responded.

Mrs. E. S. Smith of Lorenzo, district president, and Mrs. Lee Davis of Post, district vice president, presided for portions of the morning program.

Mrs. Smith, presenting the district president's annual report, expressed hope every school in every community in the district would have a Parent-Teacher association "School, church and the home go to make up the community and make it what it is," she said.

Theme Is Presented

Mrs. Smith also presented the conference theme, "On the Highway of Tomorrow." A student, Betty Willis, came forward, followed by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Willis, to tell what parents do toward the child's education; G. E. Dawson, O. L. Slaton Junior High school principal, to tell what the public school does; Miss Martha Graves, member of Texas Tech faculty, what the college does, and Rev. Paul Mason, what the church does. Mrs. Ellis Brown presented a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. McNeil of Crosbyton at the piano.

On one occasion this morning, a speaker asked that those of the audience who held a character building job in their communities, including teaching of Sunday school, counseling Girl Scouts and others, hold up their hands. An estimated one-half of the audience held up hands. That was used to illustrate the part Parent-Teacher association members have in work for children of their communities

The morning session opened with music by O. L. Slaton Junior High school band, directed by Lannes Hope, followed by processional of state representatives, district, state and national board members and guests.

Reports Are Given

Boy Scouts presented the colors and pledge of allegiance and the group sang the national anthem, directed by Mrs. Earl Tinnin of Ralls, district music chairman. Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ gave the invocation. Supt. P. L. Vardy, jr., of Slaton, district historian, introduced platform guests.

Reports from conference committees were presented by Mrs. Lee Davis, Post, conference rules; Mrs. M. E. West, Lubbock, conference program; Mrs. Wendell Green, Plainview, credentials, and Mrs. T. F. Wiesen, Lubbock, general chairman.

Mrs. M. C. Butler of Lubbock, district life membership chairman, presented the life membership calls, in which life membership was presented to persons who have performed outstanding service.

Speaking on "The Pre-School Association," Mrs. W. A. Cawthon of Paris, state chairman of pre-school service, urged the formation of associations of parents of pre-school children. She said time of meetings should be set so that fathers, as well as mothers, might attend.

PTA does not mean "Pa Tags Along," as someone has said, she said. The pre-school Parent-Teacher association meeting should offer a place for parents "to come and share experiences and get help in our problems," she said. "Tomorrow is too late for the pre-school child, because we have today."

Recognition of parent education was given in reports by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, who told of parliamentary procedure courses and substituted for Mrs. A. M. Muldrow of Brownfield in telling of parent-teacher procedure work; Mrs. L. L. Miller who told of home and family life work and substituted for Mrs. Cye Tankersley in telling of visual education Mrs. Hoyt Curry, Plainview, radio, and Mrs. E. M. Pittman, Anson.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP LUNCHEON IS HELD

Eighty of the P-TA life members of Fourteenth district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, attended a Life Membership luncheon at Hilton hotel at noon today. The luncheon was given as a part of the two-day district conference which is in progress here.

Mrs. M. C. Butler, district life merbership chairman, presided and introduced Mrs. H. F. Godeke, a state and national life member, who explained that life memberships are given to P-TA members who have done outstanding work in child welfare. She told the group that every life member is obligated to work for the P-T organization during her entire life.

Urged To cooperate

Mrs. Godeke introduced Mrs. J. H. Moore of Deport, president of the state P-T congress, who stated that children's needs will not wait. She urged all P-TA members to join together in work for better schools, homes and communities in order to hasten the coming of a better future for all children.

A tribute to life members was paid by Mrs. Jack M. Little of Dallas, a past president of the Texas P-T congress and incumbent state chairman of Spanish speaking P-T associations. Mrs. Little said, "A life member is a missionary, and a missionary is one who goes far and wide with an idea and an ideal."

The invocation was by Mrs. W. A. Cawthon of Paris, state chairman of pre-school service. For the benediction, the group repeated the Lord's Prayer directed by Mrs. E. S. Smith of Lorenzo, district president.

There are approximately 4,000 life members in Texas. Thirty-three memberships were presented at the morning session of the conference.

ing to Hong Hong and Tokyo daily. All are booked solid until next week.

The approaching Communists appeared to be at least 30 or 40 miles away in midafternoon although they took Soochow (Wuhsien), about 50 miles west of Shanghai, early yesterday. Their advance may be slowed down because they still have not sufficient forces ferried across the Yangtze to handle the various drives which are developing.

The Reds seemed to be taking their time toward Shanghai possibly because they want an adequate occupying force at hand when they enter the city. Shanghai, the world's fourth largest city, is also big geographically and the Reds will need many men even for a peaceful takeover.

certain necessities of life and prepare for old age," the speaker said. "Under this new philosophy we believe in letting someone else provide some of these necessities."

He then mentioned the rise of the philosophy of old age pensions, and various other benefits of the government such as the medical plan now under consideration in Congress.

"The situation has two very dangerous aspects," Dr. McDonald said. "First the young folk are being led to believe you can get something for nothing. . . You all know, of course, that you're going to have to pay for it in taxes. . .

"Your town wants a new airport, a new hospital? Get federal aid, you say. Well, it looks like to me it's just a matter of transferring money from Lubbock to Washington and back to Lubbock. And somehow along the line there's going to be a little loss.

"The second dangerous aspect is that somewhere down the line we're going to have to give up some of that freedom of which we've bragged for more than 300 years," Dr. McDonald continued. "For you can't have security from Washington without losing some of your local freedom.

"Are we going to give up so easily? We're not doing much thinking about it. . . Less than one-fourth of the people of our nation voted for Pres. Truman in the last election and less than one-half of the people even took the trouble to vote.

"What has happened to the public-spirited citizens of the country?" he asked. "I guess they're just too busy making a dollar to take an active interest in public affairs.

"What has happened to the old philosophy of a day's work for a day's pay? . . . A good bricklayer can easily lay 1,000 bricks a day, but what if the union says he must lay only 400? . . . You can't hire a man for a day's work, no matter what you pay him, for his union won't let him work to his capacity.

"And we're accepting this philosophy without much struggle," Dr. McDonald declared. "Oh, I know a few of you objected a few years ago, but you're not doing much about it now.

"I wouldn't be worried if all of you would devote some of your time to public affairs. . . If more than 47 per cent of you would even vote, but you just don't seem to care. . . Now about all we do is sit around and gripe about it."

Dr. McDonald, who is here to attend the Southwestern Journalism Congress at Texas Tech, was introduced by Carl Williams, lieutenant-governer of Borger.

Maj. John W. Holland of San Antonio presented a whistling number, accompanied by Dr. M. Norvel Young at the piano, as an entertainment feature of the program.

It was announced during the luncheon that the Lubbock club had won the achievement award for being the outstanding club in the district.

Out-of-town guests at the luncheon included: Larry Peckham and J. V. Crews, Plainview; I. K. Higbee, Dallas; Bob Johnson, San Angelo; J. P. Nystel, Abernathy; Dr. J. W. Weir, San Francisco, Mr. Williams and Maj. Holland.

Heroic Teller Foils Holdup

HILMAR, Cal., April 28 (U.P.) — An heroic bank teller was credited today with foiling a $7,000 holdup of a Bank of America branch by twisting loose from ropes that bound him and tackling the would be bank bandit.

Elmer A. Smith, 35, of Hughson, Cal., walked into the bank posing as a last minute loan customer yesterday. He drew a gun forced two employes into a vault and ordered teller Don Davenport, 37, of Turlock, Cal., bound securely. Then he began to scoop up cash from the cages.

Thrown To Floor

Davenport, however, broke loose and threw Smith to the floor with a violent tackle when he turned to leave. Tearing the bandit's gun out of his hands, the teller hit him with it.

"He must have hit his head because his face was all bloody," Davenport said.

State police arrived a few minutes later to find Smith stretched out on the floor. Davenport's only injury was a slight bump on the head.

"It was just one of those things," Davenport said.

Texas Weather

last night. Few houses escaped without broken window panes. Hundreds of house tops were damaged. Some town town plate glass windows were smashed. Streets were flooded by an hour-long cloudburst.

Midland had 1.15 inche sof rain. Midland county has had 6.44 inches of rain so far this year.

Big Lake's new elementary school and gymnasium were severely damaged by water. Broken windows allowed the soaking 3.25 inch rain to pour into the building.

The usually-dry Big Lake, near the town of Big Lake, was full of water for the first time in more than ten years.

Smaller Floods In Making

Smaller floods were reported in the making along the lower Rio Grande.

Hail, variously described as "big as hen eggs" and as "big as golf balls," fell at Odessa last night. At least one man was injured by the hail and power was knocked out by the hail and strong winds.

Electra near Wichita Falls, had a thunderstorm Wednesday morning. Lightning set afire a hardware store, but the blaze was quickly put out. Damage to the building and stock was estimated at $2,000.

Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the Lubbock Weather bureau station, said rain was falling this morning at Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Clarendon, San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth and Waco.

Cause of West Texas rain was a front which lay south of Lubbock and which pulled up warm, moist air over the South Plains.

Heavy Falls Reported

On the South Plains, Plainview, Littlefield Morton, Anton, Lamesa and Hale Center reported heavy downpours and severe displays of thunder and lightning. No high wind or hail was reported.

Mid-morning reports to the chief Santa Fe railroad dispatcher at Slaton indicated general fall over a wide area, with measurements reported as follows during the night:

Plainview, .86; Floyadad, estimated one-fourth inch; other points between Lubbock and Canyon, one-fourth to one-half; Brownfield and Seagraves, light showers; Ropesville - Meadow areas, one-half; Amherst, .75; Muleshoe, .65; other points between Lubbock and Texico, N. M., .33 to .75.

Crosbyton, one-half; Ralls and Idalou, light showers; Levelland and Hockley county, one-half; Post, Snyder and Sweetwater, one-half; Slaton, one-eighth.

Hail Hits Big Lake

West of San Angelo a terrific hailstorm battered Big Lake in Reagan county. Stones as large as baseballs were reported by residents, and the Santa Fe depot windowlights were smashed by the storm, which left measurable precipitation of 3.75 inches, and at one time covered the ground with two inches of hailstones.

South Plains farmers were beginning to look forward to a break in "East Texas-like" weather. Some planting has already begun, but the South Plains major crop, cotton, will begin to go into the ground about May 1, with planting volume increasing heavly up to about the middle of the month. Inclement weather in that period probably would result in heavier planting of grain sorghums.

The weather station saw signs of the break. Frost said a wind shift to the southeast or even the southwest is expected Friday, and that would bring clearing conditions.

At Albuquerque, N. M., the Weather bureau was predicting clearing conditions this afternoon. However, it was considered unlikely that clearing on the South Plains would begin this afternoon.

The official total in Lamesa was recorded as .27 inch, but some sections of the city had as much as .5 inch rainfall

Automobile Stolen From County Woman

An automobile was reported stolen from Mrs. W. W. Payne, five miles south of Lubbock, police said this morning.

The machine was described as a light gray 1941 Ford sedan, license AL 8182.

In county court, H. N. Ted Hayes, 30, guest in a downtown hotel, pleaded guilty to drunk driving. He was fined $75 and court costs. His assessment was deferred one month, however, a judgment of Judge Walter Davies showed.

A window peeper whose tracks were found Wednesday outside a bathroom and bedrooms of four residences in 3300-block Twenty-fifth was prepared for a quick getaway in case of detection, prowler was wearing spiked athletic shoes, detectives said.

Bond of $1,000 was posted late Wednesday by Lewis G. Painter, 34, who was returned here that afternoon from Levelland by Sheriff Grady Harrist to face charge of felony swindling.

Tracks plainly showed that the ice theorized.

son pressed the witness.

"Apparently not."

At one point Col. Simpson pointed to Dr. Baugh and asked:

"Didn't you tell Attorney Burks just this last Tuesday that Richard McGee was suffering from "schizophrenia"?"

"Yes I did," Dr. Baugh said and went on to say that schizophrenia need not always be construed as a form of insanity.

Defendant Sits Quietly

During the examining of the witnesses the defendant sat quietly in his chair at the counsel table and read a magazine. He is still in handcuffs which were placed on him after the wild demonstration he made last Friday afternoon. Although wearing the same suit throughout the trial McGee is well groomed and neat.

Other witnesses called today and examined briefly were, Betty Jane Allston, 18, daughter of the slain man, Sheriff Jack Gary, San Marcos; Mrs. Ethel Allston, the widow, and Sue Allston, 14, sister of Betty Jane. Their testimony was offered in rebuttal to remarks made yesterday by Mrs. H. H. Stull, mother of the defendant.

The Allstons denied that Mrs. Stull had ever told them that Richard was a mental patient and under the case of the Waco Veteran's hospital. They also stated that she had never told them that Richard was drawing a 100 per cent disability from the government.

Sheriff Gary said that he had never contacted Mrs. Stull in 1941 to take her son to a specialist in Kyle, Texas.

Girl Composed Today

Betty Jane, who was in tears when she first took the stand last week, was very composed this morning and answered all the questions in a direct and clear manner.

Betty Jane, Sue and Sheriff Gary were not cross examined.

Judge Dan Blair recessed the 72nd District Court to reconvene Friday morning at 9 o'clock. At that time the charge to the jury will be read and the arguments of the state and the defense made. There has been no indication as to the amount of time the court will allow for the argument. Under Texas law this is left to the discretion of the judge.

Observers believe that the case will go to the jury tomorrow night.

During the ten days of the trial the state has called 45 witnesses and the defense has called 16 in person and five by deposition. A full week has been taken up by the testimony alone. This followed several days of careful selection of the jury that has been hearing the case.

Armed Forces Bill Speeded

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) hopefully set out today to win Senate approval, within a month, of a tighter unification law for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

As chairman, he called the Senate armed services committee into closed session today to iron out final details of the unification legislation.

But Senator Bridges (R-NH), one of the top-ranking GOP members, told a reporter he would ask for a "full discussion" of the sudden halt in Navy plans to construct the world's largest aircraft carrier, and the protest resignation of Secretary of the Navy Sullivan.

Sullivan publicly protested the order of his new boss, Secretary of Defense Johnson, to halt work on the huge $189,000,000 flattop after an estimated $6,000,000 had been spent in preliminaries.

Tydings took this view:

"I'm personally opposed to second guessing the decisions of a majority of the joint chiefs of staff, the secretary of national defense and the President of the United States."

Instead, Tydings said he is anxious to complete committee work on the unification bill.

"I want to get the unification bill out of the way," he said. "I certainly expect to get Senate passage during the month of May."

Tydings said a proposal to give Johnson full control over the spending and budgets of the sometimes rival Army, Navy and Air Force departments now is causing some delay.

Most committeemen appear to favor this tighter check upon budgets and spending, the chairman reported.

Plans Are Complete For Radar Screening

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP) —Plans for a radar screen to protect this country against air attacks have been completed by the armed forces, says Maj. Gen. Francis L. Ankenbrandt, Air Force director of communications.

General Ankenbrandt, disclosing that the Army, Navy and Air Force are conducting actual experiments for development of full integration among themselves, said that approximately half the material needed for construction of the huge screen is available in supplies left over from World war II.

His disclosures were made at a press conference after he and Maj. Gen. Spencer B. Aiken, chief signal officer, U. S. Army, and Rear Adm. Earl E. Stone, chief of naval communications, made an inspection tour of the Radio Corporation of America plant in Camden, N. J.

Air Force Reserve Will Meet Friday

All members of the Air Force Reserve are urged to attend a special meeting at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at building 62, Lubbock Air Force base, Capt. Cecil E. Jennings, assistant operations office for the 707th bomb squadron, announced this afternoon.

The meetings has been called in response to a request from Twelfth Air Force headquarters at Brooks field, San Antonio

The Twelfth Air Force in a telegram to the Lubbock unit said officers and airmen of the Reserve are needed for two weeks' active training duty with full pay and allowances. In order to remain active in the Air Force Reserve all men must spend at least one two-weeks period on active duty every three years.

The Friday night meeting will be for the purpose of compiling a roster of men who will be able to take the training.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 28. (U.P.)— A strike spread paralysis today over 10,000 miles of bus line operated by Northland Greyhound in eight states and part of Canada.

The strike began at midnight last night when about 1,300 members of the AFL motor coach union walked out.

A company spokesman said no attempt would be made to maintain service. Union officials said no picket lines would be set up unless the company tries to operate.

Undercover Agents Watching U.S. Reds

WASHINGTON, April 28. (U.P.)—The FBI has slipped hundreds of undercover agents into Communist party councils and subversive organizations here and abroad, informed sources disclosed today.

It is the same sort of "penetration" campaign the FBI used before and during World War II to keep an eye on Nazi-Fascist sympathizers.

Identify Enemies

Its purpose is to identify enemies of the government, watch their movements, and learn what they are doing behind their screen of fronts and coverup organizations.

FBI infiltration has been spotlighted by the trial of 11 Communist leaders in New York. FBI informants—both men and women—have testified about Red activities in which they took part as trusted members of the party.

FBI spokesmen don't like to talk about the bureau's undercover work. But Director J. Edgar Hoover has described it to congressional committees. He has told congressmen that the Communist party and its fronts are getting uneasy about FBI infiltration.

Screening Is Caused

The undercover testimony at New York particularly worried the party faithful, it was said, and caused a general screening. The FBI is known to believe, however, that most of its undercover informants have survived these hurried "loyalty" checks.

Information from the undercover force is constantly being analyzed at FBI headquarters. Informants are said to include hundreds of volunteers as well as many of the FBI's special agents.

Motives of the volunteers are generally described as "patriotic." Some are said to have offered their services after disillusioning experiences in high sounding front groups and Communist-dominated labor unions.

The FBI had undercover agents planted in one Communist party group in the eastern United States when it tried to burn all of its records on April 13. As a result, many of the "burned" documents are now reported to be in FBI files.

Babies And Drunks Alike In One Thing

CHICAGO, April 28 (U.P.)—Whether a baby walks or crawls and whether an intoxicated person is stubborn or docile depends a lot on the rotation of the earth, according to Dr. Christian A. Volf, founder of the International Hearing Institute.

Explaining that it is a matter of equilibrium, he said:

"To walk, babies must adjust themselves to the rotational speed of the earth eastward in the northern hemisphere, and westward below the equator.

"Children walk in an easterly direction first in the northern hemisphere, but to return westward they resort to crawling on all fours. Usually it takes 60 days longer before a child will walk in both directions, and even then not as well as when going east.

"Often an intoxicated person will refuse to get into a cab or police car if he must enter wastward. But if the vehicle is facing the opposite direction, the same person usually will walk in by himself."

TOE TRAMPING COSTS $4

Lubbock Delegation To Attend Meeting Of Civil Engineers

A sizeable delegation from Lubbock will attend sessions of the semi-annual convention of the Texas section of the American Society of Civil Engineers in San Angelo Friday and Saturday.

First sessions will open late this afternoon.

H. N. Roberts, Lubbock consulting engineer, will present one of four speeches at the convention. His subject will be "Municipal Water Supply in West Texas." His paper will be followed by a discussion of the subject by Marlin R. Smith, jr., of Lubbock.

Red Ambassador Sees Blockade As Soviet Failure, Says Paper

BERLIN, April 28 (AP)—The anti-Communist newspaper Sozialdemokrat quoted Soviet ambassador V. S. Semionov today as saying the Russian blockade of Berlin has failed with "great loss of prestige" to his country and German Communists.

There was no confirmation of the report from any other source. The British-licensed newspaper said it learned from "well informed sources connected with the Socialist Unity (German Communist) Party" that Semionov had made the statements.

"Western powers," the newspaper quoted him as saying, "have succeeded in supplying Berlin with all needed goods despite the blockade. It was a miscalculation to assume the blockade would force the western powers to leave Berlin.

"This means a great loss of prestige for both the Russians and the Socialist Unity party.

The newspaper asserted Semionov has told some German Communists that Russia has "no other choice" than to lift the blockade, and that he expects instructions very soon to lift it.

Suit For $192,000 Is Filed At Lamesa

LAMESA, April 28 (Special)—A suit for $192,000 damages was filed here Wednesday with District Clerk W. W. Petteway by J. D. Kee against George W. Tucker, contractor, and West Texas Gas Co. as result of accidental death of Betty Lee Kee, 12, daughter of the plaintiff, here last Nov. 19.

The girl was fatally injured near her home at 402 South Roosevelt when a "traveling block," a device used to clean gas pipelines, emerged from a pipe and struck her.

Kee's petition charges Tucker, engaged by the gas company to clean lines here, and A. G. Barnard, local agent of the company, with negligence and failure to take proper safety measures.

The petition requests $75,000 for exemplary damages, $90,000 for actual damages, $25,000 for compensation, and $2,000 for hospital and burial expenses.

Attorneys for Kee said compensation was asked because the child lived for several hours after the accident while in severe pain.

Representing the plaintiff are Carl Rountree, Mac Wassell and Bob Huff, all Lamesa attorneys.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

When yours school team—football, basketball or softball—loses a game, do you feel particularly bad about it?

THE ANSWERS

KAREN KERR, 2207 Thirtieth, student in P. F. Brown school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Kerr: "I like for them to win, but I want to be a good loser if possible. I don't want the other schools to think that we're bad losers.."

MARGARET WADE, Denver City, high school student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wade: "Of course, in a way it always hurts down deep inside, but as far as being a bad sport about it, I don't believe in that. They usually say 'the best team wins' and sometimes it's right and sometimes it isn't. Denver City has been winning a long time in a lot of things and if they don't win, they just don't. We always say, 'They'll do better next time.!"

NANCY CAROLYN COCHRAN, 2825 Twenty-second, student in Roscoe Wilson school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cochran: "No, I don't, because if you just lose and you can't help it. You have to be a good sport. The others wouldn't play with me if I couldn't lose."

PETE WALTERS, Monahans, high school student, halfback on Monahans state championship team for 1948. "No I guess I'm just used to our winning at football. I don't think a school should take it to hard. I don't feel too bad if I lose. I'll just try harder next time."

SANDRA DIANE SKIBELL, 7, 2817 Twenty-sixth, student in Mrs. D. D. Jackson's school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Slyvan Skibell: "We don't have teams where I go to school, but I feel awful bad when the Hubbers lose, because I like the Hubbers team so much. They feel bad, too. I always go every night."

FRANK WRIGHT, 1628 Sixteenth, student in O. L. Slaton Junior High school, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright: "Yes, if it's against certain teams. I just like to see our school win. Carroll Thompson Junior High is our biggest rival and it hurts when they beat us and makes us feel good when we beat them. I like to be a good sport, though."

BILL EVERHEART, 2426 Twenty-fourth, Lubbock High school student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Everheart: "It's according to what team we're playing. If we're playing a school that has a better team than we have, I wouldn't feel so bad about them losing. If we expect to win and then lose, I wouldn't feel particularly happy about it."

Tech Students Are To Be Interviewed

Joe W. Luckett, jr., of the Pure Oil company in Midland will be at Texas Tech Friday to interview students who are interested in jobs with his company.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of Tech's Placement service, said Luckett would talk with students who had majored in geology and petroleum engineering with a geology option. There are positions to be filled in the production and exploration departments.

Students who wish to make an appointment for an interview should drop by the Placement office on the second floor of the Administration building.

Rent Control To Be Talked

Should Lubbock rents be decontrolled?

The issue will come up at 8 o'clock tonight for discussion in the auditorium of the second floor of the county courthouse.

T. E. (Chief) May, chairman of a committee recently appointed to arrange the public meeting, will preside.

"We hope that a large crowd of landlords, tenants, and others will be present and state their stand on the issue." he said.

"All who wish to be heard will be heard."

A vote will be taken after the discussions. If it is so desired, recommendation will be made to the city commission that a public hearing be scheduled on the problem.

Should the commission decide, based upon the public hearing's evidence, that rents should be decontroled, that finding would be sent to the governor for approval.

Under the new law, rents will go off if the governor approves action of a city counsel in voting to end controls.

"With the air force base planning to set up permanently here and other evidences of a growing city, the matter of rent control, or lack of it, affects everybody here—directly or indirectly," a spokesman for the committee arranging tonight's meeting said.

Old British Report Cards Are Revealing

LONDON, April 28. (AP)—The old school report cards of many distinguished Englishmen reveal some shocking things.

The school masters of a generation ago regarded Field Marshal Lord Montgomery "rather backward for his age," and he was said to be weak in what an artilleryman needs—mathematics. G. K. Chesterton, who became mighty in the world of letters, couldn't write very well, said the school master shortly before the turn of the century.

Old report cards are posted for the public to read at an exhibition called "The English at School."

Both Montgomery and Chesterton attended St. Paul's school and the report cards displayed cover their senior years, when they were 18 years old.

Following a trip to New York and other cities in the United States and probably into Canada, Miss Joyce Watson of 3003 Nineteenth and Mrs. Betty Leasure of 2430 Thirty-third will sail May 20 for Cuba.

The young women left Lubbock Wednesday afternoon to spend at least two months visiting, sightseeing and attending events of interest.

Their first stop is to be in Chicago. From there they will go to Grand Rapids, Mich., to visit the lakeshore home of Mrs. Leasure's parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leasure, sr.

To Visit New York

They then will go to Buffalo, N. Y., and to Niagara Falls and probably into Canada. They are to arrive in New York May 4 and stay at the Astor hotel in New York.

During their 16-day stay in New York, they will attend Broadway plays and radio shows and will go on sightseeing tours. They will make a trip up the Hudson to Bear Mountain lodge and West Point, will go to Washington, D. C., and will attend horse races at Jamaica, Long Island.

Miss Watson formerly spent a year in New York while studying voice.

They will sail from New York on the SS Jamaica, fruit line cruiser equipped with swimming pool and library. They are to arrive in Havana, Cuba, May 23. In addition to seeing Havana and making an inland tour, they will make cruises to Nassau and other Bahama island points and to Jamaica. They also will go to Central America. The day they will leave Cuba for Miami, Fla., will depend on sightseeing and travel plans they make after arriving there, since three sailings a week are booked from Havana to Miami and they expect to have no difficulty securing accommodations.

After arriving in Florida, Miss Watson will go to Panama City to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Major and Mrs. V. R. Turner. Mrs. Turner is the former Miss Cora Jean Watson, Major and Mrs. Turner have a cottage on the beach 10 miles from Panama City. Mrs. Leasure will leave Florida before Miss Watson, going to Houston to visit Mr. and Mrs. Roney Boon. Mrs. Boon is a cousin of Mrs. Leasure.

Banquet To Be Held Tonight

The annual Southwestern Journalism Congress which will be held at Texas Technological college Friday and Saturday will get under way tonight in the Hilton hotel when the Tech chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, nationwide organization for women in journalism, is host to visiting member delegates at a banquet.

The congress, of which the Tech journalism department is acting host, will attract delegates from seven other member schools in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. It was founded in 1927 at Baylor university. With the exception of a few years during World War II, the congress has been meeting regularly each year.

The congress has established as its purpose a means whereby professional journalists and newspapermen could talk with both faculty and students who are planning to enter the field of journalism.

Tech Students Register

Prof. Cecil Horne, head of Tech's journalism department and president of the congress, announced Wednesday that registration of Tech journalism students for the congress was under way. He said local students were being allowed to register in order that incoming delegates might be taken care of as quickly as possible.

Prof. Horne said around 200 student and faculty members of the schools of journalism in Oklahoma university, Oklahoma A&M, Texas university, Baylor university, Southern Methodist university, Louisiana State university, Texas State college for Women and Texas Tech are expected to attend the two-day meeting.

Banquet Slated Tonight

Miss Malvina Stephenson, nationally known newspaper woman and columnist, will be the principal speaker at the Theta Sig banquet. It will begin at 6:30 p. m. in the main ballroom of the Hilton.

Immediately following the banquet at 8 p.m., on the mezzanine floor of the Hilton, all incoming delegates will register. A buffet supper for the incoming delegates will be held in the Yaqui room of the Hilton at the same time. There will be entertainment in which all delegates will participate.

The congress-proper will begin Friday morning with a registration period for 9 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. in front of the Aggie building on the campus. Earlier Friday at 7 a.m. the Theta Sigma Phi will hold its annual convention rally breakfast at Hectors. Miss Juanita Schlitz of Dallas will be the speaker at the breakfast.

After the registration Horne will call the congress to order in the

FREED FROM LIVING TOMB—Paul Makushak, bearded, tattered and shoeless, sits in a Brooklyn police station following his release from a tomb-like cubicle in a Brooklyn home in which his mother sealed him when World War II broke out. DRAFT STATUS IS PROBED BY FBI

Brooklyn's Bearded Hermit Demands To See His Lawyer

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — Brooklyn's bearded hermit, who sat out World War 2 in a tiny sealed cubbyhole, wants to see a lawyer before he discusses his draft status with federal agents.

U. S. Attorney J. Vincent Keogh said he sent two FBI men to Kings county hospital yesterday to talk to 33-year-old Paul Makushak, who is under mental observation with ten years' voluntary entombment.

The FBI agents sought to question the fugitive from the world about apparent failure to register for military service, Keogh said, but Makushak refused to talk "until I speak to my lawyer."

Still Wants To Go Back

Keogh said no further effort to question the patient would be made until after psychiatrists report on his condition.

Makushak still wants to go back to the tiny cell in his mother's tenement where police found him Tuesday night, filthy, shoeless and in rags.

"If he is ever found sane and released," Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said, "it's a pretty good guess he'll go back in there of his own volition."

The 185-pound recluse says he has no use for the outside world, and the district attorney says it was no crime for him to live in the cell.

Makushak's 58-year-old mother, Anna, who passed food to him and guarded his secret for ten years, was reported in serious condition at Greenpoint hospital. Her illness led to discovery of the son.

Her estranged husband, Peter, 62, who declares he never knew the son was sealed in the cubbyhole upstairs, said the mother "seemed to go all to pieces" after a younger son, George, died of blood poisoning 16 years ago. She doted on Paul, worrying constantly that she might lose him, too, the father said. The father said he had thought Paul was in Canada the past ten years.

A next-door neighbor, Mrs. Elsie Kowalski, 23, related yesterday the circumstances leading to discovery of the hermit. Her story was:

Mrs. Makushak, in great pain,

Congress To Keep Traditional Grip On U. S. Patronage Jobs

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Southerners who rallied pre-election support for President Truman in Dixie ended up today without much ot say about federal patronage jobs.

Democrat chairman J. Howard McGrath told a reporter that members of Congress will continue to have first call in naming prospective appointees to fill jobs as federal judges, marshals, attorneys, postmasters and census takers.

This will leave out in the political cold, as far as major job patronage is concerned, groups formed in some southern states before the election to sponsor Mr. Truman's candidacy when the regular Democrat leaders went off the reservation to back the Thurmond-Wright states' rights ticket.

Sometimes Successful

These groups are reported to have been successful in some instances in stopping the appointment of persons who had been urged for federal jobs in their states by members of the House and Senate and who had been cleared by the Democrat National committee.

That apparently was one person McGrath led a contingent of Democrat leaders to see Mr. Truman at the White House Wednesday.

Out of the conference came an agreement that nobody who openly opposed Mr. Truman's election —or who went around making nasty personal remarks about the president because of his civil rights program—will get a patronage job.

McGrath said he has asked House members and senators to put all of the prospective appointees in their states to this "loyalty test" before they turn over the names to him. Once he has satisfied himself on that point, he said he will pass the names on to the president

Unless the independent Truman groups can prove that the prospective appointee in question was "disloyal" to the president, McGrath indicated he expects the committee's recommendation to be accepted.

Is Congress' Field

In any event, the national chairman made it clear that the independent groups will be asked to stay out of the patronage field that traditionally belongs to Congress. They are likely to be consulted, however, on other political matters affecting their states.

He said reports that House members were being threatened with loss of patronage if they don't support the administration's substitute for the Taft-Hartley act are not true.

There was evidence, meanwhile, that the administration still is dealing in patronage matters with senators who have been in the forefront of opposition to some of Mr. Truman's plans.

For instance, Senator Byrd (D-Va), who helped bottle up the president's appointment of Mon C. Wallgren as chairman of the national security resources board, still is being consulted about patronage matters in Virginia.

British Princess Leaves For Capri

NAPLES, Italy, April 28. (AP)—Princess Margaret leaves this morning for the romantic Isle of Capri where she plans to spend a week. The British princess is on a month's "strictly private" tour of Italy.

She will cross the Bay of Naples to the island in a launch supplied by the Italian Navy.

Residents of Capri—which has been a pleasure resort since the days of the ancient Roman emperors — seemed surprised that Margaret will stay at the Morgano Tiberio hotel. The luxury hostelry is the Quisiana. Some Britons on the island said the reason probably was that the princess wanted to observe some semblance of austerity even while far from England.

Press Meet

Aggie Memorial auditorium in the agriculture building. Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church will give the invocation.

Frank Junell, administrative assistant to Tech's president, will give the welcome address on behalf of the college. Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will welcome the delegates on behalf of the city.

After the welcome addresses, Horne will introduce officers and special guests. Guests who will address the congress proper include some of the best known speakers in the field of journalism.

Bill Johnson, chief photographer of the The Daily Oklahoman, will talk of photo-journalism. At 28 he will be perhaps, the youngest speaker to talk to the group. Miss Stephenson will also speak to the whole group. She has become famous through her daily column, "Mirrors of Washington."

Others Will Speak

Students will learn about editorial writing from Ernest Kirschten, chief editorial writer of The St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The editorial page of the Post-Dispatch won a Pulitizer prize for its campaign to do away with smoke in St. Louis.

Don Hinga, roving editor of The Houston Chronicle, will talk about magazine article writing. Dr. Ralph Casey, director of the school of journalism at the University of Minnesota will speak of the social responsibilities of the press.

Journalism graduates in the field of radio will be touched on by R. B. McAlister, manager of Station KICA in Clovis, N. M. He is former program director for KFYO in Lubbock. Another interesting comparison will be made when John L. Mortimer, public relations director for U. S. Steel in Houston, will tell of public relations work.

Banquet Friday Night

Delegates will be guests at a banquet at the Lubbock Country club Friday night. Main speaker for the banquet will be Dr. Casey and Lynn Landrum, columnist for The Dallas Morning News. Landrum's column, "Thinking Out Loud" is widely read. He says he prefers to be known as simply, "Lynn Landrum, tax payer and newspaper man." A dance will follow the banquet.

Saturday's speakers include Nolan Norgaard, head of Associated Press bureau in Oklahoma City. Norgaard is famous for his coverage as a war correspondent in World War II. He was present when Rudolph Hess parachuted into Scotland in 1943 and when the Allies landed in North Africa.

Ward C. Mayborn, publisher of The Sherman Democrat, and Paul White, editor of The Ford News, will be two more of the top speakers. A highlight of the congress will be a panel discussion during which students may ask questions from the floor.

Members of the panel include: Keen Rafferty, head of the school of journalism at the University of New Mexico; Robert Whipkey, managing editor of the Big Spring Daily Herald; Forrest Weimhold, publisher of The Hockley County Herald; Bill Donnell, city editor of The Wichita Falls Times and N. Dwight Allison, managing editor of the San Antonio Light.

The congress will adjourn after a business meeting Saturday afternoon.

Bearded Hermit

went to her late Saturday night and said: "I'm sick. I've got to go to a hospital soon. Now I need your help to give food to my son."

Was Very Frightened

The mother took the young woman to her home, and up a ladder. And through piles of junk to the hermit's cell. There she showed her how to lower food with a rope through a chimney into the enclosure.

"I was very frightened, but I promised to do it," the young neighbor said.

Mrs. Kowalski did the chore daily until Mrs. Ma[illegible]hak was taken to the hospital in an ambulance Tuesday. Every time Mrs. Kowalski went to the cell she argued with the hermit to come out, but he refused.

After the mother was taken away, Mrs. Kolwalski and her husband notified police.

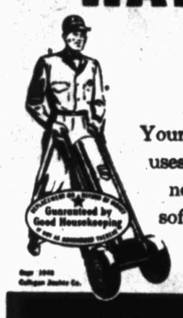

PARTIAL ECLIPSE

LONDON, April 28. (AP)—London was darker than usual this morning.

A partial eclipse of the sun darkened the city. Scientists at Greenwich observatory said they couldn't see the eclipse through the regular fog.

Goes On Easily! Wears Longer!

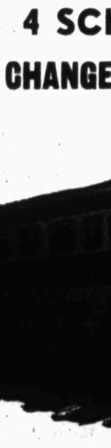

Believe me, the finer materials used in Cook's Paints make a difference . . . when you apply them . . . and the way they wear. Yes, the finest modern pigments and specially refined linseed oil used in Cook's Paints produce a paint that spreads easily, gives you better coverage and real savings through extra seasons of wear.

You Get 3-COAT PROTECTION AT 2-COAT COST WITH COOK'S PAINTS

"One Coat for the Wood."

It's Cook's amazing new primer discovery, SUPERWHITE PRIMER. It sticks as tight as the paint on your car. It seals—doesn't soak in—provides a base that lets the finish coat last much longer.

"One Coat for the Weather."

Cook's HOUSE PAINT, used over Superwhite Primer gives you a surface that laughs at the weather for so many more seasons. Thousands of home owners agree that Cook's 2-coat system actually saves them money.

Controlled penetration makes this difference!

Equal amounts of ordinary paint and Cook's Superwhite Primer were dropped on a test panel. Look at the results!

Ordinary Paint

Note the large amount of oil that is absorbed by the surface. Where this happens, there is not enough oil left in the film to bind the pigment particles of the paint together permanently.

Cook's Superwhite Primer

Here the oil remains in the paint film to bind the pigment particles tightly together. You get paint value of 2 coats—a primer and undercoat—in one coat of Superwhite Primer.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Night Clubs Woo Customers In Hollywood Economy Wave

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (NEA) —All this town needs now is a lower-priced ulcer to go with its new economy.

Johnson

Everything is going down.

It's as obvious in Hollywood's eat, drink and be merry department as in film budgets. No longer do you have to arrange a bank loan before going to a night club.

The giggle water and caviar palaces are coming up with all kinds of tricks to woo back customers lost since the war boom.

Phil Raffin's "No Cover, No Minimum, No Federal Tax" has kept the Somerset House jumping.

A new sign just appeared in Preston Sturges' swank Players Restaurant at a turn on the Sunset Strip. It reads:

"You're probably eating too much anyway. Why don't you try a half portion at half price. This goes for anything on the menu."

What Price Hero

Now it can be told:

When David O. Selznick was casting "Duel in the Sun" (sometimes referred to as "Lust in the Dust") he offered Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd the role played by Charles Bickford. Boyd said: "What's the character like?"

"A no-good who gets shot in a saloon," Selznick explained.

"No, thanks," said Boyd, "my kid fans wouldn't like it."

"Ill pay you as much as you make in five Hopalong pictures," said Selznick.

"No, thanks," said Boyd. "I'd rather be a hero to a lot of kids."

Barbara Stanwyck was frankly discussing her chorus girl days in New York. "I was in the 16th row of the chorus, she said, "but I never say that. Always toss it off by saying, 'I was with Ziegfeld.' That does it."

I also loved Barbara's comment when she was told someone had written a book about television technique.

"Why," said Barbara, "I know a lot of people who don't even know how to work the dials yet."

Mary Pickford is ready with the script of the Mary Baker Eddy film-biography with the possibility that she may produce the picture starring herself . . . Safety First Jane Wyman is telling friends that she's taking only two trunks with her when she sails on the Queen Mary in a few weeks to do "Stage Fright" in England. One trunk will carry dinner dresses which she'll wear at the captain's table every night and the other will carry sea-sickness pills to guarantee her appearance at the captain's table every night.

Jane's children will spend early summer with papa Ronald Reagan, and then join Jane for a tour of Europe.

Anniversary To Be Observed By Firm

In connection with the 50th anniversary of one of the world's most famous trademarks, the "Little Fisk Boy," Shook tire company is opening a 10-day tire sale for the purpose of demonstrating advantages of low-pressure tires, G. V. Fulton, manager, announced Wednesday.

A "three-day free trial" period will be a feature of the sale, Fulton said. The company will equip cars with a set of Fisk Air-Borne tires. And if the owner is not satisfied at the end of three days, the original tires will be returned to the wheels without cost.

Shook Tire company is jobber for Fisk tires from the Fort Worth-Dallas area west through New Mexico and part of Oklahoma. It operates stores here and at San Angelo, Sweetwater and Abilene.

Elmo R. Bourg, of New Orleans, special sales representative for the Fisk tire division of United States Tire and Rubber company, is in Lubbock completing arrangements for the event.

Souvenir Hunters Carry Off Signs

LOS ANGELES, April 28 (INS)—Souvenir hunters were so active in spiriting away "Los Angeles city limit" signs which have cropped up in New Guinea, Saipan, Berlin and the Casbah of Algiers — that the city admitted today that it had none left.

City Councilman Kenneth Hahn asked that bigger signs, firmly embedded in concrete and unremovable be erected on highways leading to the city.

Follies Girl's "Voice From The Grave" Helps Man's Claim He Is A Son Of Late W. C. Fields

LOS ANGELES, April 28 (AP)—A Follies girl's "voice from the grave" today accented a man's claim that he is the son of the late W. C. Fields and entitled to a share of the comedian's $771,428 estate.

On file in Superior court are a deathbed letter written by the showgirl and also letters allegedly written by Fields.

The letters are part of a deposition filed in probate court yesterday in behalf of William Rexford Fields Morris, who claims to be Fields' son. His whereabouts and occupation were not disclosed.

He is represented by a Boston law firm and by Louis Thomsen, Los Angeles attorney.

Not Mentioned In Will

A petition accompanying the deposition said statements in it were made April 16 at Onset, Mass., by Bessie Adelaide Witherell, mother of the Follies girl, Bessie Chatteron Poole.

Morris filed a petition in Superior court here last Feb. 3 to determine heirship in the many-sided contest over the estate of Fields, who died Christmas day, 1946. Morris was not mentioned in Fields' will, dated April 28, 1943.

The comedian's long-estranged wife, Mrs. Harriet V. Fields, who was bequeathed $10,000, is suing for a widow's share in gifts made by Fields.

Appeared With Fields

Mrs. Witherell's deposition said her daughter, who died Oct. 8, 1928, was in the Ziegfeld Follies in 1918 or 1919 and that she was infatuated with Fields, and appeared with him in a vaudeville act.

Mrs. Witherell's deposition said she first learned of the child's existence in a deathbed letter from her daughter which read:

"Darling Mother: Well, I am just going to the hospital for an operation and of course I don't expect to die. But in case anything should happen, why I want you and gram to know I love you. And I have something to tell you.

"I have a son 10 years old who lives with Mrs. Rose Holden, which I want you to take care of and bring up. W. C. Fields is his father. He is named William Rexford Fields Morris. He was born here in New York and I fully believe that Bill will take care of him but in case he does not, why, make him . . ."

If the son was 10 years old when his mother died in 1928, he now would be 31.

Two Letters Filed

Two letters purportedly written by Fields to the Follies girl in 1925 and 1926 and enclosing money, also were filed. The letters made no reference to a son.

Also filed was a postal card said to have been written by Fields to Mrs. Rose Holden on July 20, 1926. It read in part: "Will you please let me know your new address, also how far in arrears she (Bessie) is and I will keep payments up until she returns."

A receipt dated Nov. 14, 1927, was filed. It reads: "I have received from Mrs. W. C. Fields $50 for taking care of William Fields Holden, signed, Rose Holden."

Increase In Building Permits Noted Here

Residence builders apparently took advantage of unfavorable outside weather Wednesday to apply for an unusually heavy number of building permits.

In so doing, they pushed the year's building volume to $3,041,801.

April permits so far total $767,613. Permits issued so far this week total $212,613.

Largest group of permits was issued to Johnie Arnold, for four residences at 2805, 2809, 2820 Forty-first and 2822 Forty-second, with cost estimated at $6,850 each, or a total of $27,400.

Other residence permits were issued to Bill Sams, owner, and David Garrison, contractor, 2407 thirty-sixth, $7,800; L. J. Stokes, 2821 Forty-first, $6,250; D. E. Waters, 2602 Thirty-eighth, $6,550; K. O. Peterson, 3517 Twenty-sixth, $10,000; Aydelotte company, owner, and Aubrey R. Anderson, contractor, 3513 Twenty-fourth, $6,700; Stewart and Saylor, owner, and Aubrey R. Anderson, contractor, 2210 and 2218 Fortieth, $3,500 each; W. E. Young Jap Saves 11 In Orphanage Blaze

TOKYO, April 28 (AP)—Hiroshi Nakamura, 16, a war orphan, today saved 11 small children from death in a fire that destroyed an orphanage.

The tots, ranging in age from four to six, were trapped on the second floor of the orphanage, from which most of the 47 occupants had reached safety.

Nakamura rushed to the second floor and wrapped bed clothing around each child. He dropped nine of them to the ground and jumped with the last two in his arms.

Nakamura suffered a broken leg in the jump. He was burned on the hand.

After he was orphaned by 1945 bombings which killed his parents in Yokahama, Nakamura became a waif until he was placed in the orphanage.

Trees May Be Guide To Storm Approach

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP)—An industrial engineer reported here that scientists at three universities are measuring the electrical impulses given off by trees to aid in weather forecasting. By using a device known as chart the electrical impulses, the scientists have discovered that the trees react to storms days in advance of actual meteorological disturbances, a Brown Instrument Company engineer disclosed.

He said the complete parallel between oncoming storms and the trees' electrical pattern was not yet known, but the electrical impulses are believed to be caused by the reaction of cosmic rays on the growth cells of the trees.

Federal Education Bill Up In Congress Again, Passage Seen

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 28. — Should the government give the states money to help them educate their children?

That problem of federal aid to education has been batted around in Congress more than 10 years.

The Senate is about ready to take it up again, and is expected to pass it. The House may, too. If both approve, it will become law.

(Last year the Senate approved a federal aid to education bill, but the House ignored it. So nothing came of it).

The present bill calls for giving the 48 states a total of $300,000,000 a year to spend on education in the grammar and high schools.

State Money Is Spent

That would include money for teachers' pay, school buildings, transportation, and so on.

This wouldn't mean, of course, that the states would stop spending their own money. The government money would be added to what they've been spending already.

The poorer states would get a bigger share of the $300,000,000 than the rich states, and for an obvious reason:

Because the rich states have a higher income of their own, they can spend more of their own money on education.

No state would get less than $5 per child. Rich New York, for instance would get that much. But a low-income state like Mississippi might get as much as $29.

For years one of the main arguments of those who oppose federal aid to education has been this:

No Federal Control

It would open the door to government control of education. But the present bill clearly says the government cannot interfere with the kind of education given in the states.

Is there need for federal help—and why can't the states do the job by themselves?

A batch of Democrats and Republicans have joined forces in blessing this bill which still must pass the test of the full Senate. They say:

Millions of children between five and 17 attend no school at all of are suffering major damage in education because of poorly prepared teachers, a wide teacher shortage, and a shortage of school room.

Many teachers have gone into other work because of the low pay. And for the same reason fewer college students are taking up teaching.

School Money Low

In 1947-48 it was estimated 43 per cent of the public school teachers were paid less than $2,400 a year; and 12 per cent were promised salaries below $1,600.

Meanwhile, according to the senators, money set aside by the states for school supplies, school buildings and so on have reached a "critically low point."

Because of the wide differences in income among the states, a wide inequality among them on what they can spend on education. That's why the poorer ones need federal help.

States themselves are pretty limited on the amount of taxes they can raise, for these reasons, among others: they can't get big taxes if incomes are low; and taxes raised too high force citizens to move to other states.

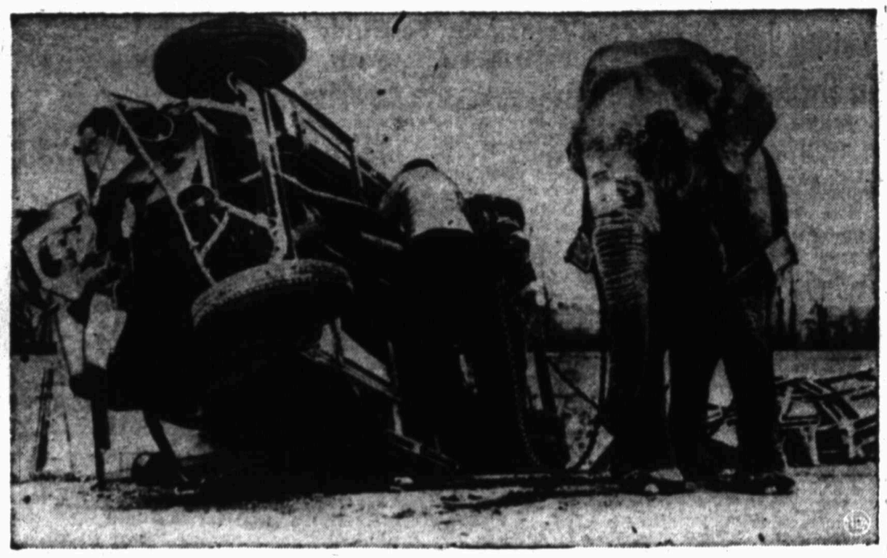

General Welfare

Since the federal aid comes from federal taxes paid by all the people, why should people in a rich state have to help their poorer neighbors?

The constitution says the government can provide for the general welfare, and use tax money to do it. Since people move around, those educated in a poor state today may be citizens of a rich one tomorrow.

Can any of this federal money be used to help out non-public schools? That is, schools run by religious groups?

The bill would let the states decide that for themselves.

School And Church Posts Are Filled

WACO, April 28 (AP)—Four new members were named to the board oftrustees of Texas Christian university today at the convention here of Texas Christian churches.

The new members are: Robert Carr of San Angelo; Carlos Ashley of Llano; W. H. Shereley of Lazbuddie; and A. D. Weatherly of Amarillo.

Eight new members, including one negro, were named on the board of trustees of Jarvis Christian college at Hawkins.

They included: Bonner Frizzell of Palestine; Dr. A. L. Porterfield of Fort Worth; Harry Hines of Dallas; Alonzo Smith, the negro trustee, from Jefferson; Ben F. Gray of Nacogdoches; M. B. Keith of Dallas; Otto H. Eisenlehr of Dallas; and Bayne Driskill of Fort Worth.

The convention recommended appointment of L. H. Lack of Dallas as president of Jarvis Christian college; W. L. Perdue of Waxahachie as vice president; Mrs. Ben Hearne of Jacksonville as secretary; and K. V. Lipscomb of Dallas as treasurer.

Nimmo Goldston of San Angelo was named president of the convention of Texas Christian churches for the coming year to succeed Ewart H. Wyle of Tyler.

Other new officers include James Sandlin, Greenville, first vice president; Mrs. Ray Gay, Beaumont, second vice-president; Chester Gleason of Lubbock, secretary; and Jay Daugherty, Donna, assistant secretary.

Youngster Applies For Post In 1956

HENGOED, Wales, April 28 (AP)—William Johnson, eight, wrote the British Railway administration that ever since his youth he has wanted to be a locomotive engineer. Wants to highball down the line.

He thinks he may still be a little young but asked that his name be put on the list for a job in 1956.

"Then there's my brother, now two, who wants to be a fireman on my train," William said in a postscript.

Fight To Keep Grand Canyon From Being Commercial Venture Declared Tough Job

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., April 28—Dr. Harold C. Bryant fears that man may mar 7,000,000 years work of nature in the formation of the world's wonder, the Grand Canyon.

Dr. Bryant, former college professar, is superintendent of the Grand Canyon National Park. In an interview, he admitted that one of his toughest jobs is "fighting off" those elements who would turn the canyon into a commercial venture.

Bryant is proud that 618,000 persons came to the canyon national park during last year. The visitors included persons from all parts of the world, and on one day, Albert Einstein, "father of the atomic bomb," sat for hours at the south rim of the canyon, staring at the indescribable beauty and the work of nature at her best.

Bryant is not particularly worried about the Hoover Dam, which is at the end of the canyon, and which harnesses the Colorado River to give power to the southwest. Such a dam doesn't interfere with the flow of the river at it cuts through the great canyon, a mile or more below the rim.

Two Plans Opposed

He said, however, that there is "serious talk" of building an underground aqueduct, or tunnel, to "funnel" out water from the Colorado. Even more serious, he said, is the proposed plan to divert the Colorado even before it enters the canyon.

If the canyon lost its Colorado River, its continuing formation would cease, Dr. Bryant said. Even today, the canyon is a fertile ground for scientists, seeking more information on the makeup of the earth. Numerous new types of plant life have been found in the semi-tropical areas at the bottom of the "big ditch."

"We have only scratched the surface," Dr. Bryant said. He predicted that in years to come science will learn much new knowledge of the earth through studies of the rock structure and specimens in the canyon. In recent years there has been no concerted effort to study the canyon, although it may be classified as the world's best natural laboratory for research into what makes up the earth.

Indians Cherish Legend

Dr. Bryant said there is another angle to consider. The Hopi Indians regard the canyon as their own. In fact, they believe that the canyon was cut by their gods, who they believe live underground. The river, they believe, was started to seal up an opening in the Indian "heaven" where an Indian chief one day was permitted to visit his dead wife.

As of today, Bryant keeps noisy and rough night clubs out of the park. Furthermore, he insists that commercial airline operators keep their airports at a good distance from either the north or south rims.

Bryant believes that if commercial interests are allowed to divert the waters of the Colorado from the great canyon, then may come the day when neon sign advertising may appear on its beautiful walls and that the work of 7,000,000 years of nature may be wiped out.

British Railways may "fire" 25,000 workers in an economy move, London reports.

Rail Agent Takes Job To Her Home

MOROCCO, Ind., April 28. (AP) Every fall, as the weather turns stormy, Mrs. Helen Rasher, New York Central railroad station agent at Morocco, Indiana, sets up her "town apartment." If roads are snowy or icy, Mrs. Rasher stays in town instead of driving home to Kentland a dozen miles away.

Setting up the town apartment is simple. Mrs. Rasher hooks up her 1948 trailer to her 1948 auto and drives to Morocco. There the trailer is parked on a convenient lot near the station. Hooked up to electricity, city water and sewers, the town house then is ready. Most of the time Mrs. Rasher commutes to Kentland to be with her family, but when the weather is stormy or threatening she lives in the trailer, avoiding any danger of being late to work, or snowbound away from the station. The trailer has four rooms. If the family comes to visit there are beds for six; two in the bedroom and four on convertible couches in the living room.

Moscow Car Owners Aided By New Plan

MOSCOW, April 28 (AP) — The Moscow municipal government is taking steps to provide repair and garage facilities for automobiles owned by individuals.

This was recently announced by newspaper "Moscow Bolshevik." The measures taken locally are designed to fit in with a government decree on the same subject which provides that local governments must take steps to provide adequate repair, servicing and garage facilities for individually owned passenger cars.

"Moscow Bolshevik" announced that a service station had been set aside for current repair work on the new postwar Soviet cars, the Moskvitch and the Pobeda, as well as on the prewar Soviet passenger cars. The paper further stated that during the year a second such service station would be provided for this purpose.

The paper simultaneously announced that capital repairs on these same Soviet cars would be undertaken at the request of individual owners at Auto-Repair Factory No.-4 in Moscow (for Moskvitches), and at the VARZ factory for the prewar passenger car M-20.

These recent measures are designed to encourage individual ownership of automobiles which are now on the retail market here in Moscow and elsewhere in increasing quantities.

Foisson, village in the French Alps is deserted, as its last resident died at 63.

Swiss Reject Idea To Change Border

GENEVA, April 28 (AP) — The Swiss are not interested in ironing out any of the wrinkles in their frontier with Germany at the moment.

When a British member of Parliament, John Parker, inquired in the House of Commons recently whether the British planned to support the cession to Switzerland of German enclaves in the Schaffhausen area of Switzerland, the Swiss reaction was as cold as the snow in the Alps

Government sources let it be known immediately that the question did not interest the Swiss. And the Swiss press unanimously rejected the very idea.

"God protect us from our friends," said the National Zeitung" of Basel. "The merger of foreign territory to Switzerland on the basis of a peace treaty between foreign powers is out of the question," the paper said.

One of the German enclaves in question is Buesingen, which is completely surrounded by Swiss territory. There are other points where the frontier leaves German enclaves deep in Swiss soil.

"These are all questions which Switzerland will clear up herself with Germany when she is free and has control of her territory" the paper said. Such negotiations were in progress until Hitler came to power. They were then broken off by the Third Reich.

"If we let ourselves be handed German territory in the peace treaties then we would be actually participating in the business of the victors, with which the neutral should have nothing to do," the "National Zietung" said. "We stay inside our borders, territorially and politically."

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

ELKHART, Ind., April 28 (AP)—Five-year-old Larry Dean Wilson passed one year of unconsciousness today. On April 27, 1948, little Larry was hit by a car as he and his dog ran across a street. He has been unconscious since. His doctors say he likely will never again be alive mentally.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS
The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.
It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you eat plenty.
Here is proof
Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:
"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.
"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a totall of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."
At all druggists
If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back. Adv

Production Tests Started At Well In North-Central Scurry

Production tests have started at Sunray Oil Corporation, et al, No. 1 Brown, discovery from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian in North-Central Scurry county, about six miles north of Snyder.

Flowing from the open hole section at 6,535-6,644 feet, the well made 132 barrels of oil in 32 hours. The flow was through a one-half-inch choke, with gas-oil ratio of 1,000-1. Gravity of the oil was 44.2 degrees.

Operator was continuing to make tests. Whether the well will be completed natural or the formation treated with acid has not been determined.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 8, section 20, J. P. Smith survey. Nearest Canyon production is about three miles to the north in the North Snyder field.

The second well in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of Southwest Scurry county has been completed at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Huddleston, 660 feet from south and 573 feet from east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

The project flowed six hours through a one-quarter-inch choke to make a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,050 barrels of 44.6-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 400-1. There was no water.

Production was natural through perforations at 6,680-6,703 feet, opposite the Canyon-Pennsylvanian pay zone. Total depth is 6,743 feet.

Oil Shows Reported

Slight oil shows developed from the Fusselman on a drillstem test at Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-E Cowden, outpost to the Dollarhide field of Southwest Andrews county.

Top of the Fusselman was picked on 8,655 feet. Several drillstem tests were attempted in the formation but resulted with packer failures.

A satisfactory examination was obtained at 8,675-8,701 feet, with the tool open two hours. Recovery was 1,710 feet of heavily oil cut drilling mud, with no water.

Operator has drilled ahead to 8,736 feet and was attempting another drillstem test on last report.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-42, psl survey.

Operations are starting by April 30 on an 8,500-foot, rotary tool exploration in the Diamond M field of West-Central Scurry county.

It will be Lion Oil Company No. 7 C. T. McLaughlin, spotted 665 feet from north and 610 feet from east lines of section 197, block 97, H&TC survey. Elevation is 8,500 feet.

Drillstem Test Run

A deep, unidentified lime formation made water for Lone Star Producing Company No. 1 Maule, North Scurry county wildcat in the area northwest of the North Snyder field.

A drillstem test was run for one hour at 8,250-8,297 feet, recovering 1,800 feet of salt water. Further procedure of the operator has not been revealed.

The venture is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey.

To Abandon Well

Humble Oil & Refining Company has scheduled abandonment for its No. 1 Edmondson, Ellenburger failure in Northwest Scurry county, eight and one-half miles northwest of Snyder and 330 feet from north and east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

The venture drillstem tested for one hour in the Ellenburger at 8,255-85 feet, showing a slight air blow throughout the period. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud and 100 feet of sulphur water.

This show was followed by a 18-minute drillstem test at 8,285-8,305 feet, recovering five feet of drilling mud. A Schlumberger survey was being run. The wildcat then will be plugged.

Gas Taxes Prompt Day Of Mourning

NEW ORLEANS, April 28. (AP)—Louisiana's service stations plan a day of "mourning" for motorists because they pay the highest gasoline tax in the nation.

This was announced here Wednesday by W. S. Milton, chairman of the Louisiana Petroleum industries committee.

He said the state's entire oil and gasoline industry is backing the New Campaign to bring home to the public the fact it pays a nine-cent state gasoline tax on each gallon.

Milton said efforts will be made to have all gasoline stations draped in black crepe June 7, the first anniversary of the higher gas tax.

Motorists will be handed cards of "sympathy" pointing out that they pay a total tax of $1.05 for every 10 gallons of gas, Milton said. The federal tax is one and half cents a gallon.

United Nations Aids Filipino Children

MANILA, April 28. (AP)—Three thousand needy Filipino children are being fed back to health by the United Nations. When the program begins running full speed 16,000 youngsters will be fed.

The program has been launched throughout the Philippines by the U. N.'s International Children's Emergency Fund. The Philippines government also is contributing. Milk and meat will be served in 189 feeding centers, hospitals, child institutions and schools.

James E. McCall, Freeport, Ill., program manager, says the fund also will provide aid for 1,700 nursing mothers and expectant mothers.

BOMBAY LIMITS LIQUOR

BOMBAY, India, April 28. (AP)—The Bombay provincial government, which is working toward total prohibition, is introducing four "dry days" a week. No liquor may be sold on a dry day.

The government also plans a further cut in the quantity of liquor one may have in his possession. There will be a 75 percent in tapping of palm tres for today, from which country liquor is made. Hours for the sale of liquor will be fixed.

British Police Seize Berlin Canal After Brush With Reds

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
United Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, April 28.—Squadrons of armed British military police seized canal control locks in West Berlin today from Russian troops who had halted barges plying the waterways with supplies brought in by the airlift.

Soviet officers backed down and finally ordered the canals in the British sector of Berlin reopened for traffic after the British military moved in and ordered the Russians to give up control of three key locks or be put out forcibly.

The British, who had taken over the locks, then withdrew. But Brig. E. R. Benson, deputy British commandant here, said they would not submit to Soviet traffic restrictions in the British sector.

Ultimatum Issued

The British military government issued an ultimatum to the Soviets to stop interfering with canal traffic or lose control of the locks which are vital to water transport in the Soviet sector.

G. W. Fletcher, British water transport chief, told Col. Boris Kalinin, Soviet chief of staff, that British troops would take over the locks permanently unless freedom of traffic on the canals was permitted. Kalinin said the Soviets would reply in a few hours.

After a sudden flareup which threatened the use of armed force, Maj. Gen. P. A. Kvashnin, Soviet transport commander, ordered his staff to permit all water traffic to move for the rest of today only.

Kvshnin said a conference would be held at a "higher level" to determine the status of the locks.

Rumors Stir Berlin

The brush came as all Berlin stirred with rumors that the blockade was about to be removed, enabling the eastern and western occupation forces to restore some measure of economic stability to Germany.

Under long standing agreement among the four occupation powers, the Soviets were given administrative control of various transportation systems such as the canals and elevated railways in Berlin.

Today for the second straight day Russians exercising that control at the canal locks stopped barges at the Spandau, Ploetzensee and Charlottenburg locks.

British officials said brusquely that they would not submit to the Russian control of the canals in their zones. They said the agreements in no way gave the Soviets the right to restrict traffic within the western sectors.

Russians File Notice

The British dispatched military police in some force to the locks. The commanders of the details served notice on the Russians that they would have to get out or be putout.

About 40 military policemen sped to the Charlottenburg lock in an armored scout car and other vehicles. The major in charge accompanied a Russian captain and a lieutenant into a stone building next to the lock while armed soldiers guarded the door.

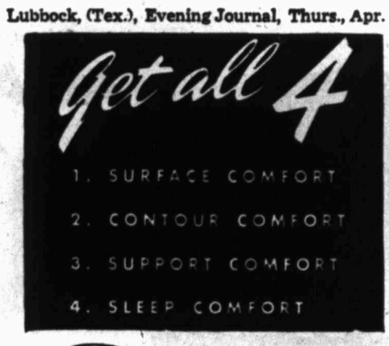

The British took over the Charlottenburg lock at 1:28 p. m. (7:28 a. m., EDT). Twelve minutes later a launch flying the Red flag of the Soviets dashed through the canal toward the lock with the word from the Soviet transportation officer to reopen the traffic.

But the British already had taken over the locks. British officers said they would not submit any longer to Soviet control of waterways in the British sector.

The Soviet pretext for interference with traffic inside west Berlin was that the barges were not registered with Russian transport authorities.

India now has two women sheriffs and one woman magistrate, in Delhi.

Senate Boosts Research Fund

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Senate Wednesday voted sharp increases in funds for heart and cancer research.

It resumed work on its first money bill of the session today with a demand for a 5 per cent cut in the funds for the Labor department and the federal security agency still to be acted on.

The cut was urged by Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Ferguson (R-Mich).

As recommended by the Senate appropriations committee, the bill provided $2,396,337,265 to finance the two government units in the 12 months starting July 1

More For Research

But the Senate added to the total to step up research against cancer and heart disease.

For the two programs the Senate voted a total of $66,267,000, or more than three times the $21,630,000 recommended in the budget estimates submitted by President Truman.

As rewritten on the floor, the bill now carries $21,650,000 in cash and $15,500,000 in contract authority for the National Cancer institute. The budget estimate was $16,100,000 in cash and $900,000 in contract authority.

For the National Heart institute, the bill now contains $16,392,000 in cash and $12,725,000 in contract authority. The budget estimate was $4,000,000 in cash and $630,000 in contract authority.

Senate Adds Money

Funds are used by both institutes to aid in financing research, fellowships, teaching and construction projects throughout the nation.

Even before these additions were made, the Senate bil lwas $185,643,180 higher than the one approved by the House, topping budget estimates by $161,947,980.

The Bridges-Ferguson amendment would require the secretary of labor and the federal security administrator to reduce their spending by a total of 5 per cent, except for grants to the states.

The two Republican senators said their proposal would effect "scientific reductions" designed to assure "the greatest economy in expenditure consistent with the efficiency of the service."

Hunt Abandoned For Two Lost In Canoe

HONOLULU, April 28 (U.P.)—The Coast Guard today abandoned search for a couple believed to have disappeared in a canoe off Waikiki beach.

The missing couple is Miss Jo L. Braselton, 23, a telephone operator at the Royal Hawaiian hotel from Ada, Okla., and Donald Adams, 26, an employe at the Moana hotel. They were last seen paddling toward a coral reef.

The Coast Guard planes and a patrol boat began a search after Miss Braselton's handbag was found on the seawall near Moana Tuesday.

Workers Take Day To Build Vet's Farm

GENE AUTRY, Okla., April 28 (AP)—An Oklahoma World war II veteran, who lost a leg in combat, today had an 80-acre model farm—one that was rebuilt by 450 men in a day.

The men, with 75 pieces of machinery, arrived at James Cross' farm near here Wednesday. That was before daybreak. By nightfall, they had rebuilt his house and barns, fenced the acreage, planted a new orchard, constructed a pond, and made other improvements.

Cross, who is married and the father of three, acquired the farm after selling his automobile the government gave him. He hopes to start a dairy herd.

Veterans groups the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, machinery firms and agricultural companies and agencies cooperated in the work.

Radar Cooking For Farmers Is Urged

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP)—Congress has been asked to do something about making "radar cooking" available to farmers' wives.

The suggestion came from Clark T. McWhorter, president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative association, who testified yesterday before a Senate subcommittee.

Urging a bigger appropriation for farm electrification research, McWhorter said:

"There are many new fields that ought to be explored at once. For instance, there is radar cooking.

"What could be more important to the farm wife than to be able to cook meat in one minute, her beans in less than two minutes, the whole meal in five or 10 minutes?"

McWhorter said the idea is more than just "a possibility." He said "it is being done in some of the hotels and restaurants, but nothing has been done toward adapting it for farm use."

Modern Era's Legless Stoves Denounced By Feline Friends

ATLANTA, April 28. (U.P.) — Cat lovers have put their backs up today in an angry complaint that "modern progress" is ruining the domestic bliss of millions of tabbies and toms from coast to coast.

Specifically, the friends of the felines want kitchen equipment manufacturers to put the kitchen stove back up on four high, sturdy legs.

No Protest Made

When grandma eliminated her fireplace, they said, the family cat did not protest. He walked into the kitchen and curled up under the stove. But stove-makers lately have been encroaching on the cat's domain.

"And what do we get these days?" demanded an angry cat owner. "Stoves that look like boxes, great big things like packing crates and pint-sized things that look like water coolers.

Society Uncertain

The Cat Lovers' Society of South Geneva Street here was uncertain about how to go about getting stoves back off the floor.

"Maybe we'll use wooden blocks," one member said. "It might make cooking awkward, but who could keep her mind on cooking with a neurotic cat walking from a cold fireplace to a solid stove, looking for a place to light?"

RADIATION BADGE — Hospitalman Third Class Gerald Smith, of Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital, wears the Navy's newly-adopted film badge which measures the wearer's exposure to atomic radiation and other forms of radioactivity. Badge will be worn by all Navy personnel who work with X-rays, radio isotopes and industrial radiography. Film is replaced and developed periodically.

NO PROFIT FOR CITY

SAN FRANCISCO. (U.P.)—Municipal Judge Matthew Brady fined Charles Cross $50 for drunken driving but the city ended up $3 in the red. After the fine was paid, $53 was received by a witness, Bert Harris, as his fee, which included traveling expenses.

Chilean women soon may vote.

Printers' Strikes No Longer Force Newspapers To Fold Up

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — Newspapers no longer can be forced to suspend publication by printers' strikes, the American Newspaper Publishers association was told today by its special committee on labor problems.

The committee reported that on March 31 the International Typographical union (AFL) was pursuing 32 strikes against 51 papers but that all of these dailies were going to press regularly with circulations aggregating nearly 5,000,000.

Belief Now A Myth

"A long-accepted belief that a daily newspaper had to suspend publication when ITU composing room workers struck is now a myth," said the report of the committee, headed by George N. Dale of the ANPA staff.

The report said leaders of all the mechanical unions except the ITU had cooperated "in our effort to preserve local bargaining" and to keep struck papers publishing.

Most of the ITU strikes stemmed from the "no-contract" policy adopted by the union after the Taft-Hartley law forbade the closed shop which the union formerly held in most newspaper plants, the committee said.

New Strikes Reported

It reported 27 new strikes against newspapers in 1948, a total of 20 of them called by the ITU. Nine ITU walkouts were settled in the year, leaving 32 still going on. Some of these are four years old.

Among the cities in which ITU strikes remain unsettled are Chicago, Miami, Fla., Springfield, Mass., Allentown, Pa., Trenton, N. J., Huntington and Charleston, W. Va., and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Other ANPA convention proceedings have shown that some of the struck papers are using a photo-engraving process to continue publication. Others are using teletype setters with typists punching a tape which runs the linotype machine, and others employ non-union regular linotype operators.

Some 1,000 publishers are attending the ANPA convention which ends with a dinner tonight.

Earnings At New High

The labor committee said average hourly earnings of mechanical employes on newspapers and periodicals have "soared to a new high."

"Reports of weekly wage adjustments showed that the average increase granted by the printing industry led all industry week after week," it added.

But unions are pressing demands for higher wages and fringe benefits such as pensions, the committee said, despite some drops in living costs which "seemingly went unnoticed by union newspaper scale committees."

"None of the leading economists think the country is headed for a serious depression, and few of them think that the 'disinflation' process should work too great a hardship on labor and management," the report commented.

"But it is fairly well recognized that some belt-tightening is inevitable. Economists and analysts close to the newspaper business suggest that it is time to trim sails, and any one familiar with newspaper cost-price statistics for recent months understands how grave the situation would be if any substantial decline in newspaper revenues should develop during 1949."

Houston Airline May Keep Same Quarters

HOUSTON, April 28. (AP)—Pioneer Airlines will try to remain in its present headquarters at the Municipal airport here.

The board of directors Wednesday voted to negotiate with the Texas State Armory board on a lease.

The board action followed a report from the Adjutant General of Texas, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, that the necessity for the Texas Air National Guard to reoccupy the Houston quarters had been eliminated.

People 6,000 Years Ago Rough Looking

CAIRO, April 28 (AP)—Some of the first civilized people on earth weren't the kind you'd like to meet in the dark.

They had wide bulging jaws like you see in cartoons of prize-fighters. Their teeth were as big as those of primitive Neanderthal cavedwellers. When they chewed, they chewed hard. Eventually they wore their teeth right down to the gums. Then they had decay and abscesses, just as we do.

These individuals were the rougher-looking element of Eridu, reputed oldest city in the world. Their home town is now a mound in the desert of southern Iraq. But nearly 6,000 years ago it set the pace in social progress. Its citizens then were building formal mud brick temples and practicing religious rites.

Excepting the big jaws and teeth of some residents, the people were much like those of present-day Iraq and its neighbors. They were Mediterranean stock. The individuals with big teeth were probably hangovers from an earlier evolutionary state. Although civilized, they lived seventy generations ago. And they weren't far removed in time from extremely coarse diets. Evolution seems a much likelier explanation of their peculiar trait than immigration. Immigrants mixing with the local population would have affected many characteristics, not just jaws and teeth.

These tentative conclusions about some of the people of early Eridu are the work of Dr. Carleton S. Coon of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Coon, a physical anthropologist, recently studied human remains dug up at Eridu in the winter of 1947-48 by the Iraq Department of Antiquities. His preliminary report is in the latest issue of "Sumer," official journal of archaeology in Iraq.

TOP-RANKING South Plains Democrats who secured the speaking services of Charles F. Brannan for their forthcoming barbecue and rally in Lubbock really hit the nail on the head—and in two ways.

In getting the Secretary of Agriculture to come to this area they secured a public official in whom there is widespread interest, due to this being an agricultural section. This means they got a speaker who is likely to bring out a larger crowd—at $10 a head for the party's war chest—than almost anyone else they had a chance to get.

In the second place, the local Demo bigwigs were smart in getting onto the West Texas ground the nation's No. 1 agriculturist, so Secretary Brannan could see for himself just what we have here from a farming standpoint. That won't hurt anything, either, because no man can see this country without increasing his appreciation of it.

There should be at least 1,000 paying guests at the barbecue-rally here on May 7 and most of those 1,000 should be farmers, whose stake in agricultural matters is paramount.

Getting Mr. Brannan for the Lubbock party was a master stroke.

WE'RE still looking for German war brides, so they can get in touch with each other and, if they choose, meet occasionally to talk about their homeland; there problems here and, generally, enjoy each other.

Thus far we've found three. The latest is Mrs. Henry D. Agee, whose husband is an ex-GI now working in the Postoffice. The Agees live on East Broadway and get their mail general delivery.

Mrs. Agee is a very attractive blond of 20. Her German home was in Frankfurt and she worked in American installations there after the war.

Mrs. Agee has a remarkable command of English and very little accent, despite the fact that she "just picked up" her English. She is very happy to be an American. Has wanted to be one for years, she says.

The other two German war brides we've found are Mrs. T. R. Howard, of 1710 Twenty-sixth; and Mrs. Margot Hall, 418 Hub homes. We shall be glad to hear of others, so we can help put them in touch.

R. W. Caruthers, of 1922 Sixteenth street, is very happy with the Lubbock Police department.

Mr. Caruthers had a car stolen the other night. The police were "on the ball" in a big way. They not only got the car back in a prompt and efficient manner, but also caught the thief.

Mr. Caruthers thinks the cops should be commended. So do we.

Nice going, boys!

LIKE most of the ideas dreamed up by Gov. Beauford Jester, his suggestion that Texas elect governors, attorneys - general and lieutenant-governors for four-year terms is full of holes.

Like most of the Jester ideas, this latest one doubtless was trotted out without sufficient thought regarding its practicability.

Theoretically, four-year terms are fine—especially if they are bounded by a law which prohibits the officeholder from running to succeed himself—which Mr. Jester failed to mention.

But practically, they are something else.

It is not often in Texas that second terms are denied the holders of the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor and attorney-general.

Jester's own case proves that almost anybody can be re-elected, no matter how poor an official he may be and especially—as was true in Jester's case—if he is lucky enough to run for re-election in a year when there are no widely known candidates to oppose the incumbent.

But once-in-awhile the people get enough of somebody in one term and have opportunity to turn to a tried opponent for relief—which opportunity they didn't have last Summer when the unpopular, floundering Jester barely won re-election over a field of unknowns.

WITHIN the past quarter century, Texans got Mrs. Miriam Ferguson out of the governor's chair after single terms on two different occasions, and they bounced out the late Ross Sterling after a single term as governor. Mr. Sterling was neither a bad man, nor a bad governor, but was like Herbert Hoover in his inability to get next to the people.

During the same quarter century, the people of this state have seen several hotly contested second-term fights in both the governorship and the attorney-generalship—fights which could have resulted in the incumbent's defeat by hairline changes in public thinking on election day.

It is entirely possible that the next quarter century will see other incumbents of important state offices unhorsed after one term. So, in seeking to deny the people the right of such action, the constantly confused Mr. Jester is also seeking to perform a public disservice.

Mr. Jester's "reasoning" behind his suggestion to give governors, lieutenant-governors and attorneys-general four-year, instead of two-year, terms is that a longer term would give the officeholder more time to plan and place into operation the individual's program of administration.

It should be pointed out in passing that the four-year term also would give the individual official more time to plan and place into operation policies distasteful, if not actually harmful, to the majority of the people.

A governor, a lieutenant-governor, or an attorney-general who halfway pleases the people of Texas can always get a second term. If he's good enough, he can smash tradition and get even a third and fourth term—on his merits and not by law.

That's the way public officials in this country should be perpetuated in office: by their own good works; by the degree of satisfaction with which the people view their service.

Keeping them at the public trough over longer periods by passage of a law is no good.

BY DREW PEARSON: SENATORS COMB ATLANTIC PACT FOR PITFALLS

Cabinet Officers Showered With Hard Questions

WASHINGTON.—Terse, urgent questions affecting our hopes for peace came boiling to the top the other day behind the closed doors of the Senate foreign relations committee. Answering them, the men who must implement the North Atlantic pact were kept under steady fire for 4½ hours.

PEARSON

Big, bull-voiced Senator Vandenberg set the pace, but each senator got a load of questions off his chest. They combed the pact's fine print for pitfalls and loopholes, and searched for hidden meanings between the lines. As a result, many tough problems were plowed up.

The chief targets in this verbal shooting gallery were Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson and ECA Ambassador Harriman. They talked brilliantly, but not quite enough, to please the senators.

"I can't be offhand and free about information that involves other countries," Acheson retorted impatitnetly, when pressed for details.

Johnson also buttoned up during a barrage of questions on atomic energy from Senator McMahon of Connecticut. The queries were based on secret information which McMahon had learned at the Pentagon, and Johnson objected to going into detail in front of committee clerks. This caused McMahon to declare that he wouldn't support the pact if he couldn't get the information he wanted.

"If the price of the senator's vote," bristled Johnson, "is my violation of what I consider the security of the nation, then we may have to forego the senator's vote."

Senate Stairs Too Steep

To add to the turmoil, the meeting was interrupted 13 times by roll-call votes on the Senate floor. This kept the senators straggling up and down stairs to the Senate floor until 71-year-old Senator George of Georgia finally snorted in disgust:

"By God, I can't go up and down those stairs any more!"

And he quit the meeting.

Another problem was how much to tell the press. Vandenberg was against issuing any release until the Secretary of State formally presented the military program to Congress. The Michigan Republican warned, however, that "Drew Pearson has a dictaphone hidden in here."

Later, Chairman Tom Connally stamped angrily into the meeting after a trip upstairs to vote.

"Somebody has already leaked the amount (of the proposed military aid)," he thundered. "Some newspaperman told me the figure and asked if that was correct."

Following this incident, it was agreed to release on outline of the $1,130,000,000 plan to help rearm the North Atlantic treaty nations. Here are other highlights of the meeting.

Senator Vandenburg wanted to clarify the important question of whether the pact was just another old-fashioned military alliance or a genuine instrument of collective security. He pointed out that the U. N. charter recognizes the right of nations to "collective self-defense" in case of attack.

The charter, however, adds in article 51: "Measures taken by members (of the U. N.) in the exercise of this right of self-defense shall be immediately reported to the security council."

Does this mean, Vandenberg asked, that the treaty nations must report their secret defense plans to the security council — where Russia has easy access? This was something none of them wanted to do, but Senator Pepper of Florida warned that the fact, itself, promised to abide by the U. N. charter.

Secretary Acheson explained, however, that the only "measures" we are obliged to report to the security council are, whatever measures may be taken jointly—after an armed attack occurs.

"WHAT I want to know," chimed in Utah's scholarly Senator Elbert Thomas, "is what do you mean by the rearmament of Europe? One thing Europe knows how to do is arm. The idea of supplying arms seems archaic unless we give them our best bombs and techniques. But if we do that, I am against the whole program.

"The aim of the Atlantic pact is to bring about an atmosphere to make arms unnecessary. If we are not going to teach the processes of peace, we may as well quit now, because the world knows all the processes of war."

Thomas also warned against building up a "United States army of Europe." Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, on the other hand, argued that composite army would be more effective than several miniature armies.

Another question, raised by several senators, was whether to furnish Europe with American-made arms or help the treaty nations manufacture their own arms. If the United States tries to produce all the armament needed for the Allied world, the production and logistic problem, it was argued, would be terrific. But, on the other hand, plants built in Europe would be easy prey to the Russians and might be turned against us. No one had a ready answer for this.

Before Senator George walked out, he was in a negative mood toward anything that cost more money and warned that every move we made in Europe only implicated us deeper. Many senators were also angry with the administration for pushing the arms program before the treaty is even ratified.

Acheson's reply was that the arms program was the only logical way of implementing the pact. Averell Harriman reported that the Marshall plan had saved Italy from disintegration and had stiffened the upper lip of other western nations. All they needed now was the arms, he declared, to make a strong stand against any aggressor.

The Kiss Of Judas

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Tension Between Sexes Shows Marked Hike, Writer Reports

NEW YORK, April 28—Ruark's responsible report to the nation — only poll guaranteed free of acid intimidation due to harsh statistic — is back again, staggering under a fresh load of trends. Those familiar with R's RR to the N need not be told that it is brought you gratis, as a public service.

RUARK

It would appear that tension between the sexes has increased somewhat, lately, leading to hard words followed by moused eyes. Our colleague, Dr. Gallup, reports that economic pressure may be the answer, and lists quarrels over money as the No. 1 inciter to riot and Reno.

A Mr. Vincent Spiriti of Miami recently sued for divorce on the grounds Mrs. S only allowed him two bits a week for spending money, alleging that if he received more he would only spend it on wild women. Mrs. Spiriti also clipped all pictures of pretty girls from papers and magazines, the husband charged, and tuned oute female announcers on th radio.

Gets Husband Drunk

A bulletin from Boston tells us that a Cambridge lady deliberately gets her husband drunk, and puts him in jail. Sober, he made $30 a week. Drunk and penned up, he is worth $60, because of welfare checks to wife and children.

In Memphis, a man embezzled nearly 30 grand in order to keep two wives in the style they most enjoyed, and commuted from Memphis to Los Angeles in order to divide his affections equally. He also spent his loose change entertaining basketball teams, a pastime probably regarded by both wives as a type of infidelity.

A special correspondent in Morocco writes that monogamy is gradually returning to the Mohammedan because of the hight cost of wife purchase and the soaring costs of wife maintenance. The average romantic Arab does not have the average American's opportunity to embezzle to make ends meet.

HERE in New York, a college counselor on marriage problems confessed a 10-year failure as a husband and abandoned his bride. Another husband confunded his wife by running home to mother (his mother) every time they had a quarrel. Only a slight increase was shown in re-marriages by widows and divorcees in the 65-to-70 year age group. Things seem to be tightening up all around.

A new twist in daily threat of doom might have something to do with the tensions between mama and papa. The animals, for instance, seem to be threatening to take over again, as a gesture of scorn for man's incompetence. Washington is girding its loins for a great summer battle against grasshoppers. A whole task force of planes and poison stands ready to strike when the first hopper whets his legs and sounds his battlecry.

It is noted that in New Hampshire a fleet of beavers is threatening to drown the town of Pelham by damming up various tributaries. Already their activity has caused a flood that washed out a road, and now they've got their eye on the town. The town is helpless; it's agin the law to kill the beavers.

Quake Is Predicted

An earthquake that may level New York City has been predicted by a scientist, who says that there's a very weak spot in the earth's crust right under Madison Square Garden. He thinks we are in for a new rash of quakes, and he may be right.

We are pleased, however, to see some effort to adjust to the frenzied times. A Richmond, Va., judge recently ruled that ladies who frequent wrestling matches should expect to be struck on the sconce by hurled whisky bottles. He said rasslin' wasn't a tea party and carried certain risks to the onlooker.

It is customary to end the report on a note of cheer: In Rochester, a gunman stuck up a store. He took the owner's billfold, selected two fives, and returned the remainder—$59—to its owner. The Bureau of Internal Revenue might do well to pattern its future collections on such a striking example of lack of greed in our time.

Today's Thought

Let both grow together until the harvest; and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them; but gather the wheat into my barn.—Matthew 13:20.

Truly at the day of judgment we shall not be examined as to what we have read, but as to what we have done; not as to how well we have spoken, but as to how we have lived. — Thomas a Kempis.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"YOU SEEM to think a woman hasn't any right to complain to her husband about haw hard she works. But how can she make him understand and appreciate how hard she works if she doesn't keep telling him?"

This quotation from the letter of a Michigan housewife expresses a point of view shared by a good many wives, if the remarks they make in letters to me are an indication.

MILLETT

I don't say a woman hasn't any right to complain to her husband about how hard she works. I just say such complaining never gets her what she wants — more understanding and appreciation from her husband.

Let's take Marge for an example. Marge is going through the hard years now. She has several small children and no household help because there's no money for it. Marge often gets fed up with the hard work, the monotony, and going without things she would like to have.

She doesn't think Bill realizes what she is going through. And so she keeps telling him. When he comes home at night he hears in detail all the things that went wrong with Marge's day.

He is told over and over how dull her life is, how hard she works, how she envies his being able to go to an office every day.

Well, Bill is made to see how hard Marge works, all right. But he also sees that she is unhappy and a complainer. He sees that it isn't much fun to get home at night, with Marge always having something to complain about. And he sometimes wonders why it is that a lot of other women seem to be able to do all that Marge does without making it seem like such a hardship.

LOOK AT THE OTHER SIDE

THEN there's Martha. Martha is going through the hard years, too.

Her children are small; her budget limited. She works hard and she sometimes becomes discouraged.

But she doesn't bother him with her troubles. No matter how hard the day has been, she's cheerful when Jim gets home. She doesn't look or act or talk like a frustrated, overworked housewife.

Well, maybe Jim doesn't realize just how hard Martha works.

But he does realize that she's a happy, companionable person. He's in a hurry to get home at night. And he sometimes wonders why other women complain so much about staying home and taking care of kids and doing housework—when Martha seems to manage everything so easily. Isn't it smarter to be a Martha than a Marge?

'Try And Stop Me"

IN "You Bet Your Life," Leo Guild, publicist for Warner Brothers, tells about the day a writer studied the rushes of some scenes he had written. They were terrible. When the lights went on in the projection room, Jack Warner asked the writer to see him in his inner sanctum.

A violent electric storm was raging outside. The writer, dejected, walked down the hall with two friends. Suddenly all the lights flickered and faded. "What's that?" asked one of them. "That's Warner testing the chair," said the writer grimly.

O. HENRY'S great ambition, according to Vincent Starrett, was to write a full-length novel, and many of his stories were begun with that purpose in mind. Inevitably, however, he had to tack a hurried ending to them in order to fulfill some particularly pressing obligation. One editor got angry because of late copy and sent O. Henry a message reading: "If your copy is not delivered today, I promise to arrive in person and kick you downstairs. P. S. I always keep my promises." O. Henry replied: "If I worked with my feet, I would keep mine, too."

JUST SOUND ADVICE

The increasing number of thefts from parked cars reported to Lubbock authorities during recent months has been typical of most cities. Economists and crime authorities say the increase has been an inevitable result of the subsiding wartime boom, and that the problem is likely to grow worse as time passes.

Many car owners may be wise, therefore, to take note of the observation upon which all authorities seem to agree: That most such thefts would be prevented if the driver would take the precaution of locking his car doors before leaving it. The same precaution also would prevent most auto thefts.

Authorities also suggest that all such thefts should be promptly reported to police. The theory is that, the more stolen property officers know to look for, the more likely they are to find some of it, possibly with clues to the identity of the thief or thieves.

All the advice is sound on the face of it, and almost certainty would avert many losses if more drivers would followed it

Stolen FBI Reports Found On Red Spy Suspect, Says Agent

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP) — The FBI agent who arrested Judith Coplon and Valentine A. Gubitchev says her purse yielded:

1. A statement telling of efforts to obtain a top secret FBI report.
2. Background statements concerning three potential recruits for espionage service.
3. More than 30 sheets of paper known as data slips containing extracts from FBI reports on internal security matters and suspected espionage agents in this country.

The agent, Robert R. Granville, filed a sworn statement Wednesday in justification of the arrest of Miss Coplon and Gubitchev without a warrant.

Part Of Reply

It was part of the government's reply to a defense motion to bar the prosecution from using the seized papers in Miss Coplon's trial here on espionage charges. She and Gubitchev, a suspended Russian employe of the United Nations, also are under indictment in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

Judge Albert L. Reeves of Kansas City, Mo., who is presiding at Miss Coplon's trial, may rule today on the defense motion.

Archibald Palmer of New York, Miss Coplon's attorney, contends the FBI agents seized only Miss Coplon's "private papers." He wants them returned to her, thus preventing their use in her trial. He further contends that Miss Coplon's arrest was illegal because the agents had no warrant.

Granville told in minute detail how agents working under his supervision "shadowed" Miss Coplon, 27, a suspended justice department employe, prior to the arrests in New York March 4.

Tells Contents

Granville said this is the "exact language" of a statement found in Miss Coplon's purse:

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist intelligence activities in the U. S. . . . When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length; summarized first Soviet 'intelligence' activities, including Martens, Lore, Poynts, Altschuler, Silvermaster, et al. It had heading on Soviet UN delegation but that was all I remember. The rest of the report I think was on Polish, Yugo, etc., activities."

"On a date prior to March 4, 1949," Granville said, he was informed in his official capacity that an examination of Miss Coplon's office in the Justice department "disclosed the presence of several hundred FBI reports located in defendant's desk and file drawers in her office."

Related To Security

"These reports related to espionage and counter-espionage activities in the United States, and therefore relating to national security," Granville said. "Defendant Coplon was employed in the foreign agents registration section of the justice department.

"I was further informed in my official capacity that the defendant had made a request to a fellow employe to see all reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation relating to internal security-R (Russia) and to any reports in which there was mention made of embassies, consulates, and embassy personnel.

"This information last herein referred to was of special significance in that I also know that Coplon had been relieved of her assignment of reviewing internal security matters."

RAILROADED — Bill Marrs, jr., 13, of Owinnemucca, Nev., pets his dog Queenie after saving her and himself from death. Trapped on a trestle by an oncoming fast freight, Bill grabbed the dog and lay prone between the tracks as 11 cars of the 80-car train passed over them and groaned to a stop. Scrambling out from under, Bill fell 15 feet into a river bed, breaking his right arm. His head was grazed by the engine pilot.

Gettysburg Address Copy Sold To Cuban

NEW YORK, April 28. (AP)— Abraham Lincoln's final copy of his Gettysburg address was sold Wednesday night for $54,000 to Oscar B. Cintas, a retired Havana, Cuba, business man.

The manuscript, on three sheets of ordinary blue-lined paper, was penned by Lincoln some time after he made the address in November, 1863.

It was sold at auction at the Parke-Bernet galleries which called the manuscript "the most important American historical document ever offered for public sale in this country."

The galleries said four other copies of the famous address are in existence, but the one sold Wednesday is the only one signed, dated and titled by Lincoln.

The manuscript was sold from the estate of the late Dr. William J. A. Bliss, of Baltimore, who received it from his father, Col. William A. Bliss, for whom Lincoln wrote it.

Cintas said he may give the manuscript to some American institution in the future.

Margaret Whiting To Divorce Hubby

HOLLYWOOD, April 28. (AP)— Margaret Whiting, radio singer and daughter of Richard Whiting, popular song writer of a generation ago, plans to divorce Hubbell Robinson, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Whiting's press representative, Robert Weiss, said last night the couple have amicably agreed to part. Their careers conflict with domestic life, Weiss explained.

He added that Miss Whiting, 24, has recording contracts here, while Robinson, 45, has offices in New York.

Weiss said the singer will file for divorce either here or at Las Vegas, Nev., depending on her booking schedule.

The couple married in Las Vegas last Dec. 29. It was her first marriage and Robinson's second.
