SERUMS RUSHED BY AIRPLANE TO STORM SECTION

THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES LEAVING COAST REGION FOR OTHER STATES

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 24.—Florida's hurricane stricken lower east coast today bent its efforts to prevention of disease and removal of homeless refugees to cities to the northward for shelter and care.

Thousands yesterday bared their arms to the anti-typhoid needle and stores of incoming serums were being exhausted as fast as received. Reports were that airplanes with thousands of units of anti-tetanus and typhoid serums were speeding from northern points, and that a coast guard destroyer was rushing to Miami from Charleston, S. C., with an additional supply. An airplane with 50,000 units of serum was forced down near Miami, Ga., but its supplies still intact.

Refugees Leave Stricken Zone

Measurable thousands of refugees were leaving for their former homes to the north and for northern Florida cities, where food, clothing and shelter awaits them. Several thousand passed through Jacksonville yesterday, while other cities north of West Palm Beach sheltered thousands in city buildings and tourist camps.

All women and children are being removed from Hollywood, where the greatest fury of the storm was felt. All men have been conscripted for the work of clearing away the mass of tangled wreckage. Several car loads of food supplies received by the Miami American Legion posts have been distributed through the Miami, Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale areas. Ten per cent of building and roofing materials received during the last few days is being reserved for repair of homes whose owners are unable to finance the work.

As Red Cross units, public health service details and other relief workers went about their tasks of burying the dead and relieving the injured, large forces of city workers continued search for bodies in the mass of wreckage of buildings and marine debris.

349 Known Dead

Additional surveys of the sixty mile coastal areas between West Palm Beach and Miami and Lake Okechobee region, where the hurricane spent its fury, showed 349 known dead, 1,189 injured, and a property loss of approximately $10,000,000.

Kiwanis Party Is Huge Success And Attended By Many

One hundred ninety Kiwanians, Kiwanis queens and guests made merry at the annual ladies' night program of the organization at the Lubbock hotel last night and gaiety reigned from the opening number of the program until the close of the big event. Following a sumptuous banquet, invocation for which was pronounced by Rev. J. M. M. Portant, presiding officer of this district of the Methodist church, E. L. Klett, gave a short address of welcome for the club to the guests. W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, widely known humorist, then presented the club gift to Past President W. C. Rylander.

Mrs. Frederick Cameron, Church formerly Miss Margaret Vandevort, has returned after a long stay in California, and has been seen in some lovely attire. She looked very girlish the last time I saw her, in a white wood coat, very flaring in cut, trimmed with borders of bright colored embroidery and an embroidered patch pocket. Her scarf and huge hat matched her coat in color.

It is a moot question these days whether the hat shall match the costume or contrast with it. At the Belmont races I noticed most of the hats and frocks were of the identical shade.

Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt, 2nd, wore a red hat with her red coat. Mrs. Allen Corey's hat and frock were of jade green, and Mrs. William Ross Proctor had matched perfectly the difficult shade of her crimson frock in her felt hat.

And speaking of hats, the draped crown is simply imperative this season, though there is some slight latitude allowed in the trimming.

Furs Return

I saw Mrs. James Curtis in a tiny draped felt hat with a saucy ribbon bow right in front. On an almost identical shape Mrs. J. Henry Alexander wore a large jeweled pin, and coque feathers fell from the side of a similar shape worn by Mrs. J. F. Byers.

Epworth Leaguers To Sponsor Music

The league will sponsor an orchestra and two quartets throughout the fall, winter and spring. Any young people interested in music are invited to get in touch with league officials and are invited to join in the movement, Mr. Richardson stated.

Jerseys, Kashas, Hats That Match, Rule in Society

By BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—These are the days when fashion writers become hectic and excited talking about the new fashions—and when you see people wearing the clothes they have worn all summer.

New York's smart set rarely rushes the season. They are the last to don and last to lay aside their fur coats. Naturally, being perfectly secure in their positions, they can dress as they please and according to the dictates of the weather.

So, since I record what I see rather than what I hear about, I'm bound to talk about rather sumptuous costumes—for they are still in evidence.

Jerseys Popular

At the Westbury dog show, I found light jerseys and kashas enjoying the spotlight. Mrs. Edward L. Gereroth was in beige jersey, with a beige hat and a fur of fox several shades darker. Beige was also the shade of Mrs. Lawrence Smith's jersey jumper dress with a vest of white crepe de chine, and kick pleats in the skirt. Dorothy Kamp was in nasturtium-colored moire.

Mrs. Frederick Cameron, Church formerly Miss Margaret Vandevort, has returned after a long stay in California, and has been seen in some lovely attire. She looked very girlish the last time I saw her, in a white wood coat, very flaring in cut, trimmed with borders of bright colored embroidery and an embroidered patch pocket. ### Parents And Teachers Meet Thursday And Plan Programs For Year In City Schools; Will Sponsor Many Projects

Parents-Teacher associations of Lubbock met Thursday afternoon in the first fall sessions and made plans for work to be accomplished during the year. New officers were elected where the ones elected last spring could not serve, social hours gave the patrons and teachers an opportunity to meet each other and a new organization was formed at the Dupre school, which has just opened in the Southwest portion of the city.

The Central Ward association meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. W. Camp, and a number of new officers were elected. The members decided to take up a study of "The Child," a program sponsored by the National P. T. A. association; to continue to sponsor the cafeteria in the school; and to study the problems of the school in order that they might intelligently assist in directing them. This club is to meet once each month on the fourth Thursday.

Officers of the club are as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. Gus Niblack; second vice-president, Mrs. A. E. Ater; third vice-president, Mrs. A. W. McKee; secretary, Miss Mildred Street; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. B. Scott; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Bowles. Every teacher of this school was present.

With about 70 patrons and teachers present, the K Carter school organization heard a talk from City Superintendent, M. H. Dupcan on the needs of the school in which he adjured the patrons to become acquainted with the machinery of the school systems. Lockers or cabinets are to be installed in the rooms to hold supplies and work of the children. It was decided by the members, the play ground equipment is to be repaired and the membership is to be increased.

In order that each patron and teacher might become acquainted, the social chairman, Mrs. C. J. Wagner, asked each one to wear a ribbon upon which their name is written for the first few meetings of the association. A number of committee chairmen were appointed as follows by the president, Mrs. G. T. Scales: program, Mrs. W. E. Lyle; membership, Mrs. Smith; playground, Mrs. Tubbe; hygiene, Mrs. George Pickle; entertainment, Mrs. C. J. Wagner; finance, Mrs. G. M. Cooby.

Award Pictures
Pictures were awarded to Miss Stella Thurman and Miss Beulah Dixon's rooms for having the largest number of patrons present. This association is to have a rummage sale soon to raise money with which to carry on the work of the organization.

president of the new association at the Dupre school. It was decided to install and conduct a cafeteria this winter with Mrs. Fred Res in charge. A committee was appointed to manage the business of the cafeteria this winter as follows: chairman, Mrs. F. J. McClure, assisted by Mesdames J. F. Hankins and Hub Jones. This association pledged co-operation with the other schools in bringing a bazaar course to the city this year.

Other officers were elected as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. R. S. Williams; second vice-president, Mrs. L. S. Mast; third vice-president, Mrs. Maple Wilson; secretary, Miss Willie Brashar; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Jarrott; treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Miller.

Members of the George M. Hunt School Parent-Teachers association met to discuss the cafeteria and it was decided to continue sponsoring it, opening Monday morning with Mrs. Adams in charge. Mrs. Jackson and Miss High are to plan menus. The next regular meeting is to be held October 14 in the afternoon. There were about sixteen present Thursday.

Menu For Today

LUNCHEON—Stuffed tomatoes, graham bread, grapes, plain cake, tea, milk.

DINNER—Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, string beans, pineapple and cottage cheese salad, graham rolls, Parker House rolls, milk, coffee.

Since the dinner dessert uses graham flour in its composition, rolls made with white flour are suggested. There are innumerable ways of stuffing tomatoes for baking, but the following suggestion is particularly good. Hamkins, custard cups, or muffin rings are a help in baking tomatoes since they prevent falling apart during the cooking.

Stuffed Tomatoes
Four medium sized tomatoes, 1/2 cup cooked macaroni, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, buttered crumbs.

Wash and cut a slice from the stem end of the tomatoes, scoop out seeds and sprinkle inside with salt. Invert on a plate and let stand on ice for 1 hour. The skins will slip off after baking. Strain the pulp to remove the seeds and combine with macaroni, onion and cheese. Fill tomatoes with this mixture and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Place in a buttered baking dish, add a few tablespoons of water and 1 tablespoon butter and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve from baking dish.

Molla is Stylist

Vivienne Segal in a smart new musical comedy, wears a charmingly youthful frock of white chiffon with a full circular skirt, molded bodice, and a sash of robin's eggs blue velvet at her waist. Scattered over the frock are daisies, roses and bachelor's buttons, following no particular plan. Certainly, in the old days, no one would ever have picked Molla Malbury, the tennis player, for a style mannequin, but today, in her smart sports outfits, she is a delight to the eye. She has trained down to a slyphike figure and must have developed a clothes sense that was once decidedly lacking.

Chances in style this season are less radical than usual, and with the exception of an increased femininity, and a tendency to great elaboration on the skirt, there are few decided changes. If you are slim, and have attractive ankles the coming season need have no terror for you.

WINNINGS WITH PHILLIES MAIL NOTHING AS GAME HALTED WITH TIE

(By the Associated Press)

Struggle of the Cincinnati Reds against the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League for a chance at the world's series next week will now be the spotlight.

Seven innings of thrilling play in Philadelphia gave no help to Cincinnati yesterday. Darkness halted struggle with the score tied six to six. With exception of Pittsburgh, Boston, all other contestants in league retired from the stage as Dempsey and Tunney had concluded their battle. No games were scheduled in the American League.

	W	L	TP	Pct.
St. Louis	38	62	3	.583
Cincinnati	35	65	4	.577

Cincinnati probably will be given an opportunity to play off yesterday's tie game in order to complete the schedule of 154 games. One more loss in the Cincinnati column will leave the Reds only the possibility of a tie with the Cardinals. Another St. Louis victory will have the same effect on the standings. The Cardinals were matched against New York today and the Reds against the Phillies.

After the Quakers had tied the game in the eighth inning and had battered the Reds all the way, Donohue held them to one lone hit for the remainder of the game. Carlson, for the Quakers, was invincible in the pinches. The Braves beat the retiring champions, 2 to 1.

Three defeats for the Yankees in four games while the Indians are winning their four final conflicts would give Cleveland the flag.

The standings:

WAYLAND TO MEET OKLAHOMA AGGIES

Special to Journal

PLAINVIEW, Texas, Sept. 24.—The fall sport will be ushered in here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the Wayland Jackrabbits meet the Panchardo A. and M. College of Goodwell, Oklahoma. According to "Potts" Anderson, mentor of the Baptist eleven the rabbits are in splendid physical condition and true to their characteristics are fast and light although woefully lacking in experience.

Long drill and consistent workouts have been handed to the local college club during the week consisting of defense work and fundamentals with one or two stiff scrimmages to test their ability under fire. No authentic line-up would be issued by Anderson.

Gene Tunney, Pride Of Marines, Now Holds World's Fight Crown Defeating Dempsey In Every Phase Of Fighting

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—The scepter of the world's heavyweight championship kingdom that Jack Dempsey had held since 1919 was whisked today by Gene Tunney, idol of the masses and of New York's Greenwich Village.

Through a steady downpour of rain that drenched the greatest fight spectacle of all time, Tunney who shouldered a buck private's musket in the conflict of the ages, fought his way to the peak of pugilistic heights. In a match that completely reversed general expectations, stunning in its own-siderness, Tunney pounded and flayed the title holder into semi-helplessness. Dempsey was so badly battered that only fighting instinct kept him on his feet to the final bell.

Tunney Won All the Way

Tunney won all the way, he was the conqueror, to all interests and purposes, after beating Dempsey to the ropes in the first round and staggering him with a smashing right to the head. From then to the finish the challenger dominated the fight, out-fighting, out-boxing and out-generalling the title holder with a masterful exhibition.

Tunney failed to bring his foe down, but he battered the heavily favored champion into almost complete submission with such decisiveness that the official announcement of the decision crowning a new king was lost in the uproar that broke loose with the tap of the last gong.

Dempsey was a mere shadow of the fighting machine that has been ranked among the greatest in boxing annals. Against such a cool and calculating opponent as Tunney, it would have taken Dempsey all his best to keep his crown. But such fighting equipment as he could summon for his last stand was inadequate to combat Tunney, whose speed, tactics and powerful fight had execution exceeded even the fondest hopes of his followers.

Dempsey Game In Defeat

Dripping wet and bleeding from a half dozen cuts about his face, his left eye closed tightly and a lump the size of an egg over his right eye, Dempsey was a sorry, even if game, figure in defeat. Three years of illness had taken their toll. Experience and courage alone were unable to withstand Tunney's flaming ambition, youth and ability.

The greatest fight crowd of all time—the largest that ever paid to witness any sporting event anywhere—sat through the downpour to see the passing of the old champion and hail the crowning of the new. Some 125,000 persons filled the vast reaches of the mammoth Sequel-Centennial stadium, and nearly $2,000,000 was paid to see a spectacle that was sensational in its climax, even if not as thrilling as had been expected.

A cross-section of universal fandom saw a man of iron nerves take the place of the "Tigerman." Before the battle, Tunney held the hopes of the vast majority of the crowd, but not its confidence, and when his triumphant march became a certainty, there was a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm that left no doubt of the challenger's popularity.

Complete Seven Year Cycle

It was the completion of a seven year cycle for each of the gladiators. In 1919, the new raw and rugged fighting power of Dempsey lifted him to the world's championship heights which he successfully held for as long as any man in the history of modern glove fighting. Simultaneously, Tunney was laying the foundation of his fighting career overseas with the "Devil Dogs." He was the champion of the American fighting forces and through a struggle that has had its ups and downs, he has reached the main goal. In the final analysis, Tunney's determination, his ability to overcome obstacles and his coolness were the factor that carried him to the top. He gave a spectacular example of his daring when, without warning and over the strenuous protests of his manager, and promoter Tex Rickard, he flew by airplane from his training camp to the scene of battle. The idea that he was running any risk on the day of his great task or that he was imperiling a $2,000,000 spectacle, did not enter into his thought.

Tunney Cool Throughout

The coolness with which Tunney stepped from the plane was with him when he climbed through the ropes to fight. It safeguarded him in the few instances when Dempsey, flashing something of his old time power, threatened to turn the tide. Such was Tunney's defense, however, that Dempsey never more than threatened. In only two of the ten rounds—the sixth and seventh—was the champion conceded even an even break by the big majority of critics. It was due then more to Tunney's wary tactics than Dempsey's own effectiveness.

Dempsey displayed none of his famous dash at the start. Whatever aggressiveness he may have intended was thwarted before the first round was over. Tunney was sure of himself after the first few exchanges. From then on, he held the upper hand. He sidestepped, blocked, retreated from the champion's vicious rushes. He moved inside of Dempsey's wild swings with lightning speed to land his own drives to the body and belly that ripped the champion's defenses and weakened his resistance.

Four Punches To One

The challenger punched the champion at least four times for every blow he received. In the fourth, sixth and seventh rounds, Dempsey connected with left swings to the jaw that must have hurt Tunney, but the champion never was able to follow up his advantages. He kept boring in, weaving and bobbing, but his real flashes were short lived and usually ineffective. Never regarded as an ideal defensive boxer, Dempsey was a ready target for Tunney's jabs and hooks.

Sittin' On Top 'O The World!

Heavyweight Champion Gene Tunney, ex-marine and monographer, who Thursday night forcibly removed from the dome of one John Harrison Dempsey the crown of all pugilism, ending the "reign of dollars" which has attended the Dempsey administration. "I'll fight anybody in the world" Tunney said, when the judges at Philadelphia called him king.

PELICANS GET HEAVY ODDS ON CONTEST TODAY

SOUTHERN CHAMPS HOLD ONE GAME MARGIN IN SERIES PLAY

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24 (AP)—With New Orleans Southern Association title holders the odds on favorites in wagering as a result of their 5 to 1 victory here yesterday over the Dallas champions of the Texas League, players of the two clubs prepared today for the second game of the Dixie Series, which starts at 3 p. m. instead of 3:30 p. m.

Luther Roy, who turned back opponents in twenty-six contests and lost eleven times during the 1926 season, tested his strong right arm today. Tennesseean will be opposed by either Shuman, Riviere or Hunter. "Slim" Conley delayed making his pitching choice until the last minute.

Though it was called at the end of the seventh inning because of darkness, yesterday's tilt lasted two hours and thirty-five minutes, or 36 minutes longer than the average 9-inning affair. Joe Martina, Pelican right hander and "Slim" Love, Steer, killed much time by walking 15 men between them, the former basing passes to nine. It was principally because of the wildness of these last ball artists that both Dallas and New Orleans players on the bases in every frame except the first, half of the fifth.

Probable line-up today:
New Orleans: Wheeler, 2b; Hendrick, 1b; Vick, cf; Tucker, rf; Oostergard, lf; Deak, 3b; Ewald, ss; Dougie, c; Roy, p.

Dallas: Morse, 2b; Gross, ss; Heintz, cf; Miller, rf; Riley, 3b; Woehler, lf; Tate, 3b; Billings, c; Riviere, Shuman or Hunter, p.

DEMPSEY WANTS TO TRY COME-BACK

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, 31, wants another fight with his 28 year old conqueror. When he rushed to the center of the ring to congratulate Tunney, he asked for another chance. Dempsey's handlers said that Tunney had agreed.

Delegates from Los Angeles say A. T. Jerrins and D. R. McKinnie, operators, are offering $750,000 for a return fight before January 1. This is what the new and old kings had to say right after the decision.

Dempsey: "I knew I was going to get licked some time and I am glad I lost the championship to an American. The best man won. I have no alibis."

Tunney: "Dempsey is a sportsman and a clean fighter all the way. Don't let anyone tell you that he can't hit. His blows were terrific."

The heavyweight title passed from Dempsey on a judge's decision, for the first time in nearly forty years of glove fighting. Every other champion since the days of John L. Sullivan's reign has passed from the throne by way of a knock out.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Walter Hagen, defending title holder, was two up on Johnny Farrell of Mamaroneck, N. Y., at the end of the first round of their 36 hole semi-final match in the professional golf championship at Salisbury today.

Hagen reeled off a brilliant round of 63 to gain his advantage over Farrell who found himself trailing in spite of a consistently good 71, one stroke under par.

Lee Diegel, former Canadian champion, finished the first eighteen holes of his match against Johnny Golden of Paterson, N. J., five up.

Diegel out stripped even the brilliant Hagen in his morning round, holding out on the eighteenth green with a medal round of sixty-eight, four strokes. SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE Both CHERRY LANE, 18, beautiful, and an unscrupulous flirt, and FAITH LANE, 20, stay-at-home frugal for the Lane family of six, are attracted to BOB HATHAWAY, who, on his first visit to the house, shows plainly that he is immensely intrigued with Cherry's beauty.

That night after Hathaway has left, Cherry slips out for a rendezvous with CHRIS WILEY, to whom her father, JIM LANE, has forbidden the house. He tries to abduct her, she screams, arousing her father and Faith, but tells her father she does not know who her assailant was.

To Faith she confesses, and begs faith not to tell her father and mother. In an effort to make up with Faith, Cherry promises to buy her material for a dress, when she buys herself one. She brings home a pattern that she well knows Faith can not wear, expecting to get it herself.

Faith starts to tell her mother the truth about the adventures of the night before, but Cherry's frightened pleading stops her. Faith gets a telephone call from JUNIOR, 21, who has been arrested for speeding.

She pawns every trinket she has to get him out of trouble without telling her father, and he promises to pay her back. Cherry tells Faith she has invited to pay her back. Cherry... [The text continues with a mix of names and actions, some appearing to be a mix of letters or a specific dialect.]

He, in turn, has invited GEORGE FRUIT to go to a movie with them, and Fruit, when introduced to Faith, remarks, incredulously: "Good Lord! I didn't know they grew them like you any more, Miss Lane!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

"I don't know what you mean, Mr. Pruitt!" Faith blushed with painful confusion.

George Pruitt did not answer immediately. His eyes were traveling with greedy interest over the fine column of her throat, along the splendid sweep of her shoulders, down the rounded, bare forearms, along her perfectly proportioned tall body to her long, slender feet in their Cuban-heeled white canvas shoes.

"Oh, Faith's a corn-fed!" Cherry's tinkling laugh rang out. "I tell her she ought to reduce ten pounds. Why, she weighs a hundred and thirty-five!" She told the amateur artist this in naive horror. "I only weigh ninety-five."

"Reduce! My Lord, would you want to make a flapper out of the Venus de Milo?" George Pruitt demanded. "If you only knew how we fellows have scoured New York for just your type for models, Miss Lane, and he brushed Cherry aside as if she had been a kitten frolicking at his feet, 'you'd be able to imagine my surprise at finding you here.'"

"Oh, George, you old rascal!" Chester Hart slapped his thigh and chuckled with glee. "Some line, that! Gosh, you artist guys can get away with murder! When I want to tell a dame I've fell for her hard, all I can say is, 'Gee, kid, you're some baby!' but old George tells 'em they're the Venus de Milo and he's sittin' pretty! Oh, to be an artist! Faith, you better watch this bird! He's the swift one, all right, all right!"

"Oh, take a tuck in your mouth!" George Pruitt turned on him wrathfully. "I'm going to paint Miss Lane's picture, if she'll let me. I may have to sell wholesale groceries to make a living, but by golly, I'm not going to pass up a chance to get a model like you. Will you pose for me, Miss Lane?"

Faith glanced at Cherry, saw that the lovely little face was white and pinched with anger and jealousy. "I'm afraid," she said slowly, as if the words came hard, "that I won't have time, Mr. Pruitt. But—thank you—just the same."

Cherry's face bloomed again. With a deep curtsy, she presented herself to George Pruitt's admiration.

"How would you like me for a model, Mr. Pruitt?" "Thanks—sometimes, perhaps," George Pruitt turned away from her almost rudely, and addressed himself to Faith. "I suggested to Chester that we all go to the movies. Would you enjoy that?"

"We're regular movie fans, Mr. Pruitt," Cherry cut in before Faith could answer. "Of course we'll be delighted." "You're coming in my car, aren't you, Miss Lane?" George Pruitt took Faith's elbow as they walked toward the two cars parked at the curb.

Chester'll be jealous, Faith," Cherry called out gaily. "I hardly think so, since he came to call on you," Faith answered quietly, as she stepped into George Pruitt's racy looking roadster.

The next morning Cherry was sulking like a bad child. She had not spoken to Faith since George Pruitt and Chester Hart had taken their leave at eleven-thirty the night before. "Hello folks! Here's your old Aunt Hattie, come to spend the day!"

The Lane family, breakfasting, chorused feeble, unenthusiastic greetings to the thin, elderly, tight-mouthed little spinster, Mr. Lane's sister, who lived away over on the south side with "Grandpa and Grandma" Lane.

"How are you, Hattie? How's Ma and Pa?" Mrs. Lane asked in her complaining, sighing voice.

"Pretty well, considering," Hattie Lane took the chair which her brother gave up hastily, as if glad to escape. "I declare, Jim, you're lookin' real old. Square up them shoulders o' yours! You ain't dead yet! Martha, you've put on ten pounds for you've put on a ounce since I seen you last. You're scandalous fat. But you look better'n you have in a coon's age. Been taking that Indian herb medicine I brought you?"

"I ain't better, Hattie," Mrs. Lane's face flushed darkly and her brown eyes snapped angrily. "I don't sleep an hour a night, and then the pain in my legs and shoulders is somethin' fierce. Easy for you to talk, Hattie, you strong as a mule. Nobody knows what I go through—"

"Well, if we don't it ain't because you don't tell us!" Hattie Lane brushed her sister-in-law's complaints aside briskly.

"Faith, pour me a cup of coffee! And if you've got weas mite o' toast left, you might pop it in the oven and warm it up for me. But don't go to no trouble for me. I had my breakfast hours ago—Cherry Lane, you march right to the bathroom and scrub that paint off your cheeks and lips! The idee! All smeared up like a Indian! I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself. What you're thinkin' of, Martha Lane, to let her poke her head out o' the house lookin' like a chorus girl, with them short ballet skirts on, showin' her garters—"

"Aunt Hattie, I wish you'd mind your own business!" Cherry scraped her chair back from the table and flung her napkin violently into the center of the table.

"Cherry! Remember your Aunt Hattie's a lot older than you! Don't make Mamma ashamed of you!" Mrs. Lane chided the girl half heartedly.

"If she was a child o' mine—" Hattie Lane began heatedly, but Cherry had fled from the room, her cheeks flaming beneath the light rusting of mandarin rouge.

Hattie turned her steely bright eyes upon Junior, who ducked, shielding his face with an arm, in mock terror. The lively spinster's face softened, as it always did when her eyes rested upon Jim, Junior. "Ain't no call to act as if I was goin' to slap you, Junior," she grinned wryly at him. "Where in the name of tarnation did you get that necktie? Looks like an egg broke up in a bowl o' beet juice!"

"It's a hulk, Aunt Hattie!" Joy giggled. "That Pay Allen that Long's runnin' around with made it for him. You do it with paraffine 'n' paints 'n'—"

"That will do, Joy! her mother reached over and patted the tow head with her thumb and middle finger. "Go to the bathroom and wash your kin's this minute! I wouldn't go to goodness, you always look like you'd been crawling through the alley! And wash the egg off your mouth." "I already washed!" Joy scuffed her brown leather sandals sulkily as she walked slowly out of the room.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Markets

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady showing gains of 2 to 4 points. Prices gained after the start, October trading at 14.50 and December at 15.75 or 4 to 5 points above yesterday's close. The market soon reacted, however on selling based on the beach government report issued yesterday, October trading down to 14.30 and December to 15.45 or 20 to 24 points down from the early high. Towards the end of the first hour, prices rallied 10 to 12 points from the low.

The market improved during the morning owing to the appearance of very cold weather in the far northwest with temperatures well below freezing. Prices advanced to 14.75 for December and 14.81 for January. Around mid-session the market was steady and near the high.

The covering movement slackened during early afternoon trading and after selling up to 14.55 or 20 net high, December eased off to 14.77 under realizing by early buyers and further Southern bidings. At 2 o'clock the market held about 10 to 22 points net higher.

The market ruled quiet and steady after mid-session and prices made a further advance to a new high for the day on all months due to covering by shorts because of fears that the cold wave coming down on the belt, may create a frost there. October traded up to 14.55; December to 14.33 and January to 14.85 or 20 to 25 points above the previous close. The market was quiet and steady in the middle of the afternoon but prices eased off but little from the high.

Receipts 8,990 bales, American 4,500.

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The cotton market's big break yesterday was followed by an opening advance of 7 to 10 points today on covering and buying for a rally, promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables.

The advance to 14.75 for December met heavy southern selling, however, and after initial buying, orders had been supplied, prices weakened under continued hedging, rescheduled liquidation and further selling by local operators or commission houses on yesterday's unexpectedly large crop figures. By the end of the first hour, December was off to 14.55, or 7 points net lower and within 2 points of the lowest price touched on the decline of yesterday.

The reaction from the opening advance carried prices back to about the low level of yesterday but selling tapered off to some extent at 14.54 for December and the far western market was steadier. Covering was active, while there was probably some buying for a rally prompted by apprehensions of a cold wave in the southwest, although the official forecast contained no mention of frosts. December worked up to about 14.75, the market at mid-day ruling about 10 to 14 points net higher.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Stock prices displayed a strong tone at the opening of today's market in reflection of easier call money rates and maintenance of the four per cent rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank for at least another week. Initial gains of a point or more were recorded by Allied Chemical International Telephone and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Pools became active in a number of speculations in which favorable developments are believed to be pending. Amusement shares were the first to show evidence of group strength, the rise in that group being accelerated by active short covering. Warner Pictures "A" was the lead. Despite reports of a seasonal falling off in business, the motors received good support, one block of 7,000 shares of Chrysler changing hands at 35 7/8. Food and farm implement shares also were heavily bought.

Publication of additional August earnings reports, several of them of a record-breaking character, infused new strength into the railroad shares, with G. I. common and Pere Marquette moved up to record high levels in the first half hour. Foreign exchanges opened firm, demand sterling ruling just below 4.85 and French franc being quoted above 2.75.

CHICAGO TRADING

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Generally clear weather in Canada led to lower prices for wheat today in early dealings. Cold temperatures prevailing were not regarded as likely to cause damage to wheat at this time. Starting 1/2 to 1 1/4 off, the wheat market soon underwent a further set back. Corn and outs were steady by frost predictions. Corn opening 1-8c lower to 5-8c advance, and later showing slight gains all around. Provisions were firmer.

The Avalanche-Journal was the recipient of much praise by the fans who enjoyed the party almost as much as they had been at the inside in Quaker town. The Avalanche-Journal, with a special imately $165,000,000.

Moore Haven, overwhelmed by flood water when Lake Okrechoe burst its dykes, suffered the greatest death toll, with 110. Miami and the immediate vicinity came next with 109; Hollywood had 54; Hialeah 22; Fort Lauderdale 19; Dania 11; Fullford 8; Seaboard Park 7; Ingleisle 3, and Hallandale, Homestead and Pompano, two each.

Miami officials have estimated that the property loss in the Miami area alone will reach $100,000,000; Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale each suffered damage between $25,000,000 and $35,000,000 and damage to other small cities has been estimated in the millions of dollars.

Divers Search Sunken Ships

While divers searched sunken wrecks in Biscayne Bay at Miami for possible bodies, Colonel R. S. Lowry, in charge of military forces at Moore Haven estimated there were at least 200 more dead there which will not be recovered until flood waters have receded.

From Pensacola comes word that property loss there will reach $1,000,000 to shipping alone, and Mobile and other Gulf coast sections in the path of the gale are counting their damage in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

There was no loss of life in Pensacola and no serious injuries have been reported there.

Several Die On Islands

Reports trickling into Mobile from the Bahamas and from the Innumerable Keys and outlying coral islands off the coast last week killed and six known dead in the islands. Many schooners have been reported sunk, many of them going down with all aboard.

Restoration of Miami's harbor and refloating of the scores of boats beached by the mountainous waves will be a major task of the next few months.

Approximately 300 craft were estimated by the Miami committee of maritime affairs to have been destroyed or sunk in the harbor.

Many were laid high and dry along the bay front, one five masted schooner, resting fifty feet from the water's edge. Two tankers anchored in the inner harbor during the storm, were beached by the gale.

BILL H. HAMES SHOW TO PLAY TO FAIR CROWD

SHOW WELL UP AMONG THE FOREMOST IN COUNTRY ADVANCE AGENT SAYS

The Bill Hames Shows which are to furnish the amusements for the show going public at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, while not the largest carnival on the road today are well up among the foremost and if Mr. Hames' plans are carried out the year and on the swing of the circuit will play most of the present dates that have already been contracted, Lubbock is considered by the show and concessions all over the country as being a "Red" one (meaning one of the best towns payed in Texas as far as business is concerned) it was said.

W. S. Streeter, general agent of the shows has been in the city the past few days contracting teams, trucks, etc., to make sure there will be no delay in unloading the show and placing the heavy circus wagons on the fair grounds, and to give one an idea of the big wagons the whip requires four different wagons each weighing 15 tons. The equipment all built on the same plan as the circus in order to stand the rough usage each week, everything is kept in good repair for the opening.

At the Panhandle-South Plains Fair the above shows will arrive some time Tuesday with 20 different attractions to amuse and entertain those that wish to forget the toils of the day and cast all worries and dull care aside. The whip with its roar and rattle of the cars shooting around the corners of the big platform, the gay young college chap howling on the Thriller as it sends him high up in the air; the little girl crying to its mama to ride the baby swings; the Ladies and Gigg-centlemen of the Daily-Hoo artist who is busily engaged in cutting the little boy's head off to the amusement of the crowd that he is about to tell just how good the show is for the small sum of a dime; the little fellow who is all excited holds a Felix Cat in his hand that he has just won for a few chances; the mother tired out looking for a convenient place in the shade to rest; the baby laid out in the cool breeze taking its nap are all to be seen while on your visit around the Gladway.

City Takes Gas Company Forfeit After Guarantee Bond Not Posted But Contract With Firm Unchanged

Failure to post a $7,500 bond guaranteeing the piping of natural gas into the city of Lubbock by January 1, 1927, within ten days after the granting of the gas franchise by the municipality, cost the Texas Gas company, A. J. Mahan, president, $1,000 yesterday officials of the city of Lubbock announced.

Although the $1,000 forfeit money, which was posted to assure the putting up of the $7,500 bond, was appropriated by the city, that does not mean that the gas franchise granted to Mahan and associates becomes null and void. The company continues to hold the franchise until January first, and then if the gas is piped in or before that date will serve the city with its product in accordance with the signed contract.

Transaction Explained

City officials today explained the transaction as follows:

At the time of the granting of the franchise to the Texas Gas company Mr. Mahan posted with Lubbock city officials a cashier's check for $1,000 with the understanding that when the city ordinance, calling for the issuance of the franchise, came into effect his concern, within the next ten days following, would post a bond of $7,500 assuring the gas service by January 1, 1927. According to the terms of the contract if the $7,500 was not posted during the ten day period following the placing into effect of the law the original $1,000 cashier's check would be appropriated by the city; it was the terms of this contract under which the city appropriated the $1,000 cashier's check yesterday.

Dates Are Fixed

The city ordinance, making legal the turning over of the franchise to the Texas Gas company, became a law on August 3, giving the company until August 13, in which to file the $7,500 bond. This bond was never filed so the city felt free to take the $1,000 check.

According to action of the commission yesterday the $1,000 will be placed into the city park fund, which now has in it $4,125. Officials believe that a $10,000 fund will be necessary to purchase and equip the right sort of a park and as soon as the balance of the money is available will take steps to assure the project.

According to reports issued here by members of the gas company organization, recently, work on the project is going along at a rapid clip and gas service will be available here for commercial use by December 15. It is understood that the engineering work on the line has all been completed and that ditchers are already busy making the trenches for the pipeline, which is to run from the gas fields in the Texas Panhandle south as far as Hinton.

Large spotted Chas dogs are being carried by women at present.

Garza Co. Planning Big Exhibit At Fair

Garza county with Post City as county seat is making extensive preparations for their agricultural display they will show here during the fair. Garza county won first place last year in the agricultural exhibits, and they are the first community to arrive in the city and begin preparing their booth for the display. Their exhibit will be in charge of George Sampson, secretary of a committee of commerce at Post. Big crowds are reported as coming to the fair, and especially on Garza county day which will be Friday, October 1st, according to D. F. Eaton, superintendent of the Agricultural Department. A game of football between the high schools of Post and Lubbock is also scheduled to be played on this date.

School Day At Fair Set For Wednesday

Directors of the Fair Association met this morning at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and decided Wednesday, September 29, first day of the fair, as School Children's Day. All school children twelve years of age and under will be admitted free to the fair. This includes all school children in the central and South Plains sections. They will be admitted up until 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, September 29. Tahoka has already arranged to close their schools on this day. Every town in this section is being notified by phone this afternoon notifying them of this action by the directors of the fair and inviting them to close their schools and come in a body to the fair on this date. Tahoka is planning to close all their places of business on this date and come strong several hundred automobiles in the parade.

Fair Ticket Sales Contest Is Warm

According to reports, the season ticket contest for the fair is warming up and a great deal of enthusiasm is being manifested by all the contestants. Sam Lightfoot of the City Drug Store, winner of last year's contest, is out to win again this year. Floyd Bowen of the Bowen Drug Store says, "the only reason he did not win last year was because he could not get the tickets." The fair management has promised him all he may be able to handle this year and invites him to go home, J. O. Smith of the Hotel Drug company, who opened simultaneously with the hotel, is out with blood in his eye and says he is going to beat them all. There are a number of good contestants who have been in the fore front every year, including Miss Stella Jackson and Earl Hunt of Barrier Bros. and Ernest Conley of the A. B. Conley Dry Goods Store, members of the Lubbock Drug company, Sherrod Brothers Hardware forces together with many others who are out to win this year.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Snow and frost that nipped fields of unripe seed corn in Iowa and Minnesota rain of two to four inches in Illinois, a tornado in northern Ohio and real winter in Montana, North Dakota, Wyoming and the Pacific Northwest added today to September's sorry record of weather vagaries.

At Helena, Montana, the temperature was but six degrees above zero, and the whole Northern Rocky Mountain region suffered under temperatures lower than any ever recorded there at this season. Snow blanketed most of the area, extending most heavily into Canada from Winnipeg to British Columbia, and bringing six inches of snow to Northern North Dakota.

At Pierre, South Dakota, snow began falling heavily at 5 a. m. today. The lowest temperature last night was 24. At Ottawa, Illinois, more than four inches of rain fell yesterday and last night and flood conditions returned at Peru and Bloomington, Illinois, with railroad traffic harassed.
