Plane to Replace Wrecked Globe Circling Ship Beaten Back By Storm

NINE LIVES LOST IN COLORADO TORNADO

RAIN AND FOG SENDS BOSTON TO SEEK LAND

Effort is Made to Take Relief Machine to Lieutenant Wade

WILL FINISH FLIGHT

Officials Declare Circle of Globe Will Come to Successful End

By The Associated Press.

EASTPORT, Maine, Aug. 10.—Unable to penetrate dense fog over the Bay of Fundy, and further retarded by rain squall, the relief plane Boston II, enroute from Bar Harbor to Pictou, N. S., was forced to turn back and moor in the harbor here for the night.

By The Associated Press.

BAR HARBOR, Maine, Aug. 10.—Hopping off into a fog, the airplane Boston II, left here just before noon today for Pictou, N. S., on its trip to meet the American round-the-world fliers. The plane is to replace the wrecked Boston, thus enabling Lieutenant Leigh Wade to complete the flight with his companions.

It was indicated that Lieutenant D. C. McDonald and his mechanician would encounter heavy banks of fogs from here to the bay of Fundy.

Plane Inspected.

The aviators passed two hours in the morning going over the plane and after pronouncing her in perfect condition set out for Novia Scotia at 11:45. They were soon out of sight, in the fog that hung over the harbor.

In yesterday's flight here from Boston the aviators flew almost continuously over high, heavy banks of fog.

Just before taking to the air Lieutenant McDonald said that he would go as far as seemed advisable under the weather conditions, expressing the hope that he would have clear weather. Although confident of perfect performance on the part of the Boston II, neither of the fliers expected fast time on the Pictou owing to atmospheric conditions.

MAGRUDER PREDICTS SUCCESS OF FLIGHT

By The Associated Press.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 10.—The next leg of the American world flight will not be attempted until all courses of action have been considered from every point of view, and the best possible decision under the circumstance is reached.

This announcement is contained in an official statement issued on board the cruiser Richmond, flagship of the squadron of American war vessels, which are patrolling the course of the fliers.

Will End Successfully.

"There is no question of calling off the flight because of the ice conditions, the statement says, and in the opinion of Admiral Magruder, in command of the naval squadron, the flight will be completed successfully, barring possible accident to the planes or unforseen adverse weather.

"The possibility that the weather may change suddenly after the next leg of the flight is started," Admiral Magruder says, "is a factor that may cause failure, but by watching the weather carefully and using the best judgment our army world fliers will succeed in reaching Labrador. After that the less are short and easy."

The cruiser Raleigh, which left Reykjavik yesterday morning to search for a safe landing place for the planes on the east coast of Greenland, reported today that no ice had been sighted. The water is described as fairly warm and there is a dense fog with visibility of 450 yards.

WANTS TO GIVE WALSH CLEAR FIELD

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK Aug. 10.—A suggestion that the republican party place no candidate in the field to oppose Senator Thomas Walsh of Montana, who conducted the oil investigation, was made in a letter to Senator Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the republican senatorial committee, written by George Henry Payne, who was eastern manager of Senator Hiram Johnston's pre-convention campaign and made public today.

"The republican party can not say that it intends to punish Fall, Doheny and Sinclair and at the same time say that it intends to defeat the man who, single handed exposed the corruption of these men," said he letter.

Democrats Swarm Into Clarksburg W. Va., For Notification of Davis

Ceremony for Presidential Nominee to be Held at His Old Homestead Today

By The Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 10. The hosts of democracy poured in Clarksburg today for the formal notification tomorrow night of John W. Davis, that he has been selected to carry their standard in the presidential campaign.

Each incoming train added its quota to the crowds that had thronged this town even before the home-coming yesterday of the candidate.

Attends Church.

While the town was bustle with its welcome, Mr. Davis had a comparatively quiet day. In the morning he attended the Central Presbyterian church of which he is a trustee and which his father was instrumental in founding. In the afternoon he visited Goff Plaza, to try out the radio and voice amplifying equipment on the stand where tomorrow night, he will deliver his acceptance address.

"I should be a candidate for Hollywood," the nominee said with a smile as he posed for the photographers.

After he had tested the radio arrangements, Mr. Davis held an informal reception, shaking hands with a number of his neighbors.

Meeting on Plaza.

Goff Plaza was selected as the place of the notification in preference to the Davis home on Lee avenue because it can accommodate many more thousands than could find places upon the lawn of the family homestead.

After returning home Mr. Davis had a conference with a number of party leaders, including George E. Brennan, of Illinois, and Edmond H. Moore of Ohio. Besides these leaders, the day's arrivals included Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, chairman of the New York convention and the man who will formally confirm to Mr. Davis the rumors that have come to him that he is the presidential nominee.

DIDN'T WANT IT But It Helped

A LITTLE newsboy with a frown of dyspeptic misery on his face leaned against the side of a downtown office building yesterday afternoon and closed his eyes for a moment's rest before resuming his incessant advertising of his wares. His hand rubbed his abdomen and the passer-by had but to glance at the kid and see the expression on his face and the attitude he had assumed in his moment's rest to know that he was sick.

Someone laughed and bought a paper of him. He made the change and, looking around for something he did not find, the little chap leaned up against the wall again and tried to go to sleep, so it seemed.

HE stayed there for several minutes. Ten or twelve men and women passed him by, and there was not one who saw him but knew he was sick and could readily stand a little assistance. It remained for a soda dispenser in a nearby drug store to catch sight of the urchin, and to realize that something must be done. He called his fellow worker and they picked the boy up and carried him inside.

They forced the wares of the pharmacy upon him; he didn't want any medicine, he informed them, but with a precocious parental wisdom they made him take it. Medicine they fed him, and he didn't like it. When he left the drug store he must have had the feeling that he was more abused and maltreated than assisted.

THE courtesy reporter saw and knew better. A letter in his pocket was handed to the dispenser who had been a prime mover in the ordeal, the letter entitling the bearer to a Record News courtesy dollar and enrolling him in the Record News courtesy club.

Sure enough a little afterward the boy came around and thanked the fellows who had fed him the medicine.

"It sure tasted bad, but my stomach didn't ache no more," he said.

LA FOLLETTE AND WHEELER MARK TIME

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Aside from routine organization little will be done, it was indicated, toward advancing the La Follette-Wheeler candidacies for another 10 days.

Senator La Follette, it was said, feels he should refrain from discussing campaign issues this week, leaving the field open for an expression of views to John W. Davis, the democratic nominee, and President Coolidge, both of whom will deliver addresses in connection with ceremonies arranged to formally notify them of their nomination.

Particular attention will be paid in the discussion to the speaking itinerary of the two candidates.

FRENCH LEADERS ARE SUPPORTED BY CABINET

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Premier Herriot, Minister of Finance Clementel and General Nollet, minister of war, left Paris today for London with the unanimous backing of the French cabinet for the program which M. Herriot outlined to his colleagues Saturday evening with regard to the endeavors to put the Dawes plan into effect.

The program will be further disclosed only in the course of the negotiations with the Germans.

The impression in French political circles is that the program involves the immediate evacuation of the Ruhr in order to enable the German government to put through the reichstag the laws necessary to make the Dawes plan operative.

REPUBLICANS IN GERMANY LOSING

Demonstration Sunday Falls Flat; Old Nationalist Supporters in Control

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—"Constitution day" as it was outwardly observed in greater Berlin today once more suggested that in Berlin Germany is "a republic without republicans."

The sturdy efforts of the champions of democracy to turn the fifth anniversary of the adoption of the Weimar constitution into a rousing demonstration for the young republic and a militant challenge to the nationalists and the Bavarian fascisti met with only a sluggish response in Berlin where the republican colors were only sparsely displayed and a scant five thousand men, women and children joined in a public parade. Numerous private premises flew the old monarchial colors, seemingly in definite challenge to the republican standard.

No Sale of Flags

Efforts to stimulate the production and sale of the new republican colors during the past fortnight apparently met with indifferent response. There was no demand for them in the shops and this condition suggested to the promoters of today's celebration a unique recipe for converting the old black, white and red imperial colors into a republican flag. The formula read: "Get 10 cents worth of ochre and apply it to the white stripe in the old flag and behold you have the black, red and gold colors of the republic."

ORATORY FLOOD TO END FRANKS MURDER TRIAL

"Unlimited Argument" to be Allowed After Evidence is All Introduced

CLOSE THIS WEEK

Crowe Believes That All Testimony Will be Complete Soon

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—All evidence in the hearing to determine the punishment to be meted out to Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks, will be completed by Thursday or Friday of this week, it was intimated today by Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney.

Unlimited argument is expected to follow the state's rebuttal testimony, which will be started when the defense rests tomorrow or Tuesday. Closing pleas it was said probably will not be made until the middle of next week.

Hulburt On Again.

Dr. Herbert S. Hulburt, Chicago alienist, who testified Saturday that abnormal activities of certain of Leopold's glands had advanced his intellectual powers while at the same time retarding his emotional faculties, will take the stand again tomorrow to be cross examined. Defense counsel has suggested that Dr. Hulburt will be the last witness they will present to give direct testimony. Foreman Leopold and Ernest and Allan Loeb, brothers of the two defendants, and Jacob M. Loeb, uncle of Richard, are expected to be called merely to identify exhibits.

The first rebuttal witness for the state may be Miss Susan Lurie, for whom Leopold has expressed affection. Miss Lurie was found after a day's search in Milwaukee where she was visiting friends. Although at first refusing to return to Chicago in compliance with a subpoena, she later agreed to do so.

Valet to Testify.

Another rebuttal witness whom the state deems important is Thomas Gregory, valet to Loeb for several years. He is expected to testify as to Loeb's most intimate personal life and habits. Others on the state's list of prospective witnesses include Drs William C. Krohn, H. Douglas Singer and Hugh Patrick, alienists, several instructors and students at the University of Chicago and a number of prominent men and women who attended Leopold's classes in bird life.

In his testimony Saturday, Dr. Hulburt stressed the point that, according to his diagnosis, Leopold's endocrine glands were responsible for his condition. He said that biological factors had driven "Babe" into a childhood compact with "Dickie," whereas Loeb was attracted to his companion by criminalistic tendencies.

She Hated Son, Wanted To Hang For His Murder

By The Associated Press.

WATERLOO, Ia., Aug. 10.—The criminal annals of Iowa today failed to reveal a parallel for the crime by which six-year-old Nicholas Maharies was thrown into the Cedar river to drown by his step-mother, Mrs. Marie Maharies, because, according to her signed confession, she "hated the boy and wished to hang for murder rather than commit an often-contemplated suicide."

Refused to Believe Her.

The authorities refused to believe Mrs. Maharies when she told them Thursday she had killed her step-son, but with the finding of Nicholas' body today the theory that Mrs. Maharies was demented was brought against her.

In custody in the county jail, Mrs. Maharies maintained a stolid indifference since she made her confession.

LOCATELLI SAFE ON SCOTCH SOIL

By The Associated Press.

KIRKWALL, Scotland, Aug. 10.—Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian airman who is flying in the wake of the American world fliers, arrived at Houton Bay, Kirkwall, from Brough, England, at 6:30 o'clock tonight. He remained here an hour and a half, and then took off for Stromness, about 15 miles west of Kirkwall.

CHECK AND DRUG FRAUDS CHARGED

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Aug. 10.—Forgeries of both checks and narcotic prescriptions, together with several thefts of morphine and cocaine from Houston drug stores was charged against a young physician, who gave his name as "J. Arnold Leverton, 26, of Bryan, Texas." Dr. Leverton was arrested by federal narcotic agents who filed the charges against him.

Broad Fluctuations and Wide Price Range Rule In Past Week's Cotton

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10.—Cotton experienced broad fluctuation during the past week's trading. Despite the wide range of fluctuations, however, the net result for the week was a decline compared with the close of the previous week, of only 97 points on October, the most active trading month.

The first part of the week, the market was influenced toward lower levels by reports of rains in north Texas and also in the western part of that state as well as in Oklahoma. These reports lacked official confirmation, however, and advices of increasing deterioration of the crop in the western states as well as in Louisiana and parts of Mississippi, induced enough speculative buying, as well short covering to advance the October position to 27.97 on Wednesday.

Uncertainty as to what the government condition report and crop forecast might be served to counteract in some measure the tendency of prices to improve on drought reports and on the more favorable prospect for a satisfactory outcome of the London conference on the Dawes plan to settle the German reparations problem. When the government report Friday showed a condition average of 67.4 per cent of normal on August 1, or deterioration of 1.1 points from the previous report of July 16, the price of October immediately jumped to 28.12, a gain of 75 points from the figure ruling just before the report was issued. When the indicated crop was announced as 12,351,000, bales of linters, however, there was a revulsion of sentiment.

While the market had a good rally from the low point before the close Saturday trade sentiment appeared to have become more bearish than it was on the theory that the small damage done by the hail weevil this season, ensures a fairly good crop.

Woman's Husband Clears Houston Murder Mystery

Wife Plays In Dual Role And One Man Slays

Robert Carlos Confesses Killing of R. O. Wilson After Argument

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Aug. 10.— Robert Don Carlos, husband of the woman who for six years lived as the common-law wife of R. O. Wilson picture salesman, Sunday confessed to the murder of Wilson, whose decomposed body was found August 6, at Harrisburg, a suburb of Houston.

Confesses Killing

The killing took place on the afternoon of June 21, according to the confession. Carlos and Wilson spent the day together, delivering pictures in Carlos' car.

Coming through the business section of the city about 2:30 p. m. the pair stopped and Wilson went to a drug store for some "medicine." Then they drove out toward south Houston, the direction in which the body was found, to deliver more pictures.

Wilson bought a bottle of soda water on the way out of the city and produced a bottle of Jamaica ginger, Carlos stated. He mixed the soda water and the Jamaica ginger in the car and began to drink. Soon after Wilson began to criticise Carlos' driving and cursed him.

Shoots Twice

Just past the log cabin inn, on the Galveston-Houston road, near where the body was discovered, Carlos declared that Wilson attacked him. He pushed him back, reached in the pocket of the car and shot Wilson twice he stated. He then drove on out to the lonely wooded ravine where the body was found and attempted to conceal it.

Carlos and the young woman who had been living with Wilson were married here July 7 and left for San Antonio where they were arrested Thursday and returned to Houston by Sheriff T. A. Binford.

Two young children of Wilson and his common law wife were left in a Houston institution.

WEEKS BACKING DEFENSE PLANS

Says Endorsement of Army Idea by Organizations Assures Movement

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—Decision of 27 patriotic and veterans organizations to endorse the army defense test plans for September 12, places the project "above politics and prevents its exploitation for political purposes," Secretary Weeks today wrote Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Misunderstanding Caused It.

In a letter replying to Mrs. Cooke's notification of the attitude of the organization referred to, the secretary said opposition to the test plans was based very largely upon "honest misunderstanding" not only of the war department's plans, "but even of our defense organization."

"The very nature of the opposition proven conclusively," he said, "the need for the test."

Referring to the endorsement of the test by the 27 societies Mr. Weeks said:

"Such action definitely places the 'defense test' above politics and prevents its exploitation for political expediency."

By The Associated Press.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge were accompanied to church by their son, John; Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston and William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, guests at the White House.

Shenandoah In Hangar Again; Moors To Ship

Rides Out Night Tied to Mast of Ship Anchored in Narragansett Bay

By The Associated Press.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 10. Following the successful test of a mooring mast on the U. S. S. Patoka in Narragansett Bay, which proved, according to Commander Zachary Landsdowne, that the dirigible has an "unlimited cruising range," the Shenandoah returned to the naval air station here at 5:36 a. m. today after an all night cruise.

The Shenandoah flew to Newport Friday and rode at the Patoka's mast until the middle of Saturday afternoon, she then cast free and although it first was believed she would spend another night [illegible] to the mother ship, the dirigible started back to its base. On its return the ship went a hundred miles to sea to escape a storm, flying most of the distance at an altitude of 600 feet, according to Commander Lansdowne.

Floating Base O. K.

He said there had been no mishap in connection with the test and that the trial had been prolonged sufficiently to prove the feasibility of using a floating base. When the dirigible left here Friday it was understood she would remain three days for the test.

The Shenandoah arrived over the air station at 3:30 a. m., four hours after casting loose from the Patoka and hovered above the field until 5:10 a. m., when a perfect landing was effected.

45 Million Pounds Of Powder Burns as Fire Hits Tennessee Plant

By The Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 10.—Forty-five million pounds of powder was destroyed by fire at the Old Hickory Powder plant, near here today. The loss, on the basis of present prices, is estimated at more than $2,600,000.

The powder was manufactured for the federal government during the war at a cost of approximately $22,500,000 for the 45,000,000 pounds destroyed.

Buildings Destroyed.

Machinery and building erected by the government during the war at a cost of more than $5,000,000 were destroyed by the flames, which swept over an area of forty acres in the heart of the plant. The total war time cost of the property and powder destroyed was estimated today to be more than $28,000,000.

The powder had been stored here by the government as a war reserve. One-half of it was to have been used in road building under the direction of the department of agriculture.

WANT FORD'S NAME ON KANSAS TICKET

By The Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 10.—Roy M. Harrop, vice-presidential nominee of the people's progressive party, announced here today that he would demand that the name of Henry Ford be placed on the ballot in Nebraska as the presidential candidate of the progressive party. He declared he would protest against the placing of Senator LaFollette's name on the ballot as the party's presidential candidate and would also object to the certification of Dan C. Butler as the progressive party's candidate for governor.

Mr. Harrop declared Henry Ford had received the presidential endorsement in the Nebraska primaries. His objection to Senator LaFollette, he said, was based on the senator's stand against the ku klux klan.

GOMPERS STILL DEFIES DAVIS

By The Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 10. Samuel Gompers has amplified, in reply to a second letter from William M. Wilson, of the democratic campaign committee, at Washington, the reasons why the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, considered John W. Davis undeserving of labor's endorsement, as a presidential candidate.

The Gompers letter to Wilson of today reiterates Mr. Gompers' assertion that Mr. Davis was not responsible for the draft or enactment of the Clayton law. "Your letter makes reference to the eight-hour law for government employees," said Mr. Gompers. "Let me remind you that the law was first passed by a republican congress."

FEW TEXANS SEEK BONUS

One Out of Five Make Application for Compensation

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.
Record News Staff.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Approximately one out of five of the 774,061 Texans who are entitled to a bonus have made application, it was learned at the War Department today.

Of the Texans entitled to a bonus 117,395 served in the national army, 37,704 in National Guard or regular units, 16,809 in the Navy and 2,073 in the Marine Corps.

Funds for the administration of the Adjusted Compensation law were made available to the War Department on June 14th. The distribution of 12,000,000 blanks began on June 18th, and was completed on June 26th. This first task was accomplished due to the cooperation of the Government Printing Office, which placed all its available printing presses at the disposal of the War Department. A force of clerks was placed in the Printing Office to wrap bundles, address and mail the blanks as they were taken from the presses. About 75,000 packages of blanks were sent all over the United States and abroad. Between the time of the availability of funds and the completion of the distribution there was a lapse of only 12 days. An additional 1,000,000 blanks have been distributed to replenish exhausted supplies.

Big Clerk Force.

Since the time that funds became available, June 14th, and while the application blanks were being distributed, a clerical force of over 2,000 individuals was obtained. With the exception of a few hundred clerks obtained from the Treasury Department who were being dropped from the rolls of that Department due to reduction in its forces, all clerks were obtained from the Civil Service list of eligibles. A considerable number of them are veterans of the World War. The clerks came from all over the United States, and since few of them had had any experience in the Adjutant General's office or with the records of veterans, it was necessary to instruct them thoroughly with regard to this new work.

Touch System.

The preliminary instruction consisted in teaching the clerks the filing system of the office and the essential papers of record regarding veterans. It is included the performance of the important work of further perfecting the individual's records with that data which is necessary to the administration of the Act, but which had not been filed with the veteran's personal record. For instance, during this instruction period, some 10,000,000 items of record and the information from some 80,000 muster rolls, have been filed with the individual records.

SCHOOL TO BUY TEXTS OUTRIGHT

Frederick Trustees Refuse to Sign Bonds for Purchase of Needed Books

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 10.—Following refusal of the school trustees of consolidated No. 3 district to sign the bonds for the free text books for that school, patrons at a meeting Friday night agreed to purchase the books outright. It is thought by such action they will be enabled to start their school much earlier than other schools, as the state books will be delayed until after October in delivery and it is probable that it may be late December before the books are on hand. It is likewise predicted that there will be a shortage in the number of books allotted this county, as in others, as the appropriation by the legislature falls far short of the amount needed to supply the schools and the state board of education has refused to stand behind a larger order than it has funds to pay for.

New Undertaking Firm Opens Here

Wichita Falls' third undertaking company will open in the near future, according to information made known Saturday. The new company's headquarters will be at 1210 Ninth street and will be known as the Burrie-Dawson Undertaking company.

NO TRACE YET OF SAFE THIEVES

After another day of search, officers stated last night that they had found no more clues which might lead to a solution of the Nu Grape Bottling company robbery Friday night. Thieves who cracked the safe in the plant's office at 1505 Lamar escaped with several hundred dollars in cash.

Later investigations have strengthened the belief that the work was that of thugs from out of the city.

They Dance To Death After Drinking Smoke

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Two men danced to death off an east river pier today and two others were saved from drowning after drinking from a bottle of "smoke," a mixture of alcohol and water popular on the water front.

While their companions were struggling in the water, six other men who had partaken of the "smoke," continued to dance about the dock.

"Betty and Billy!" called Roger. "Come on out. My sister and I are going after blackberries. Hurry up, lazybones!" Betty and Billy were just having breakfast, but they swallowed the last bites and ran out.

There stood their new friend Roger, and his pretty, curly-headed sister. Her name was Rose.

"Let's make it a picnic," suggested Betty. "We'll get mother to help up pack up a lunch and we'll not come back until this afternoon. Won't that be fun?"

In a minute the four of them were swinging down the road with their blackberry pails and a basket full of ham and lettuce sandwiches, bananas, cookies, and pickles.

Rose has yellow hair and pink cheeks. She wears a pale green and a pink apron, with hose to match the apron.

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 10.—The program of the Burkburnett Rotary club this week was unusually good, being featured by a number of specialities in expression and song by Mrs. J. E. Pittman of Wichita Falls, accompanied by her husband; and by Mamie Dale Brown of Iowa Park, who gave a humorous address in her own able characteristic manner. She also favored the boys with a little whistling concert imitating the bird notes of every kind.

The attendance contest gave a good report and the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Pittman of Wichita Falls; W. E. Wilson and W. J. McNameron, and Mrs. Brown of Iowa Park.

Ed Woodward, superintendent of Burkburnets public schools, was welcomed home from his summer stay in Chicago.

Grasshopper Scourge Cuts Foard County Cotton Crop 3,000 Bales

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Aug. 10.—The Foard county cotton crop has decreased from a probable 12,000 bales of cotton to an approximate yield of only 9,000 bales, owing to the devastation of the grasshoppers scourge. The crop of 9,000 bales, however, forms a larger crop than has been the normal yield in former years. An unusual amount of acreage was planted in this county this year, owing to the fact that last year's failure in wheat convinced local farmers that the cotton would produce more money to the acre than the wheat. According to old-timers in this section this is the first time in the history of the county when grasshoppers have damaged the crops in the least.

33,000 Acres Planted.

The season witnessed the planting of 33,000 acres of cotton in this county. Grasshoppers have damaged enough of the crop, that only 26,000 acres remain of this planting. Not until the season was well advanced did the farmers here find successful ways to combat the grasshoppers, and most of the cotton is late stuff.

Of this acreage, however, an extraordinarily good yield is expected. It is said by prominent local cotton dealers that the average for the county will be between one-third and one-half bale to the acre, averaging probably about 200 pounds to the acre, over the entire county.

BARRY MILLER ATTACKS KLAN

Lieutenant Governor Candidate Scores Opponent in Speech at Gainesville

Special to the Record News.

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Aug. 10.—Vigorous denunciation of the ku klux klan as well as "any and all candidates who evade the greatest single issue Texas has had in seventy years" featured the address of Judge Barry Miller of Dallas here today when he spoke in behalf of his candidacy for lieutenant governor.

"There is just now one dominant issue in this campaign, overshadowing all others," said Mr. Miller. "It has swept Texas like a forest fire, from the Red River to the Rio Grande, from Beaumont to Amarillo. And that issue, my countrymen, is whether it will be the sunbonnet or the hood."

Secret or Open Rule?

In short, Mr. Miller went on, the question now demanding an answer at the polls is whether "there shall be government by consent of the governed or government by conspiracy and control of the ku klux klan."

"And I propose to fight that menace as Texas, rising now like a land invaded, is beginning to fight it. The country is aroused, the state is aflame with resentment and resistance to the attempted capture by the klan of the government at Austin.

"There will be no stopping it. Mrs. Ferguson will be swept into office. Dan Moody, that red-headed young whirlwind from Travis and Williamson counties will repeat his recent triumph. And on down the line those candidates who boldly challenge the klan will win the victorious ballots of an aroused people."

Mr. Miller then dramatically called upon Mr. Edwards to state his preference of candidates now making the run off campaign.

Did You Know—

that there were approximately about 200 votes cast in the first Primary by Wichita Citizens who were out of town at election time?

This fact is confirmed by data furnished by the County Clerk's Office.

Now, considering that a conservative estimate, places the ratio of out-of-town qualified voters who used their right of suffrage, at about ONE in evety TEN—you will see that there are about TWO THOUSAND Wichitans who are vacationing away from home.

Practically every one of these people have rented or sub-rented their homes and apartments to other families while they are away.

NOW IT WON'T BE VERY LONG BEFORE THEY WILL ALL BE RETURNING and the people who are living in their places of abode will be out HOUSE HUNTING OR APARTMENT SEEKING.

This will be about September 1st or Middle of August. The Junior College will be opening about the same time — hundreds of famlies will be moving to Wichita to enter their boys and girls in this Institution.

THE NATURAL RESULT IS that there is BOUND TO BE A GREAT DEMAND FOR Homes.

THEREFORE THE THING FOR YOU TO DO (If you do not own your own home or mayhap are considering a change before fall) is to get out now and select your home NOW and buy it or lease it.

In the Real Estate Columns of the Record News you will find advertised almost daily—

Many pretty homes that are listed for sale, by Wichita's Reliable Realty Firms. You'll save time and money by consulting these Firms because they are thoroughly conversant with the merits of Wichita Falls Real Estate and know what the different properties are worth.

WHERE DO YOU SOW?

IF YOU were sowing for a crop, would you sow in your own field, or in someone's else? Sounds like foolish question doesn't it? But there are a great many people who do sow in the other fellow's field when it comes to buying. Instead of buying from home dealers, or having home folks render them service, they send their money away to firms that they have never seen and folks they never will see.

THE MONEY spent at home yields a crop in building up home business—making it possible for home folks to buy what you have to sell. The money sent elsewhere doesn't do that. It can't, for it never comes back. Patronize the firms represented on this page and you'll be sowing in your own field—and reaping a twofold harvest. Spend your money where it will have a chance to return to you.

I. C. C. UPHOLDS SANTA FE CLAIM

Rules Against Chamber at El Paso in Freight Rate Controversy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10.—The interstate commerce commission in a decision handed down in the case of the El Paso chamber of commerce vs. the A. T. & S. F. railroads held that the record justifies neither the establishment of joint rates nor a finding that the combination rates assailed by the El Paso trade body are unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory or unduly prejudicial.

The complaint of the El Paso trade body assailed the combination rates applying by way of Pecos, Texas, on class traffic between El Paso and various points in New Mexico, and on certain commodities from such New Mexico points to El Paso. These points are stations on the Pecos Valley branch of the Santa Fe, which leave the main line of that carrier at Clovis, New Mexico, and extend thence south through the southeastern part of New Mexico to Pecos.

The Amarillo board of city development and the Fort Worth freight bureau intervened in the case opposing any change that might adversely affect their interests. The commission said that most of the rates to which El Paso objected was on less than carload lots, and that El Paso had failed to make a case for lowering the rates.

In another decision the commission held that rates on fruit, vegetable and crop packages in carloads from Marshall and Rusk, Texas, to destinations on the Oregon short line in Idaho and eastern Oregon are unreasonable.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS JOIN WICHITA CLUB

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 10.—On Thursday night the Burkburnett branch of the Camp Fire Girls organization with their guardians, Miss Mary McGinnis and Miss Hallie Moody, joined the Wichita camp at Prescott Magnolia pump station and enjoyed a splendid evening outing and council fire. Good talks, plans for the work of the girls' organization, a camp lunch, games and frolics furnished a jolly program and general good time.

A week-end camping is being planned for the near future in this ideal picnic park, it is reported.

Dr. Frank D. Shepherd of Electra was a business visitor in Burkburnett this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Logan who have been living in the southwest fields near Electra, have returned to their home here where they will spend the remainder of the summer season.

Mrs. Frank Howard and children of St. Joe, Texas, are summer guests in the home of Mrs. H. G. Gilbert on East Fifth street.

Miss Jewell Kenner is spending a while in Crowell, Texas, visiting relatives and friends.

HOT WEATHER KILLS BRIDGEPORT COTTON

Special to The Record News.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 10.—W. D. Powitt, a farmer living seven miles south of Bridgeport, says that a turkey hen was found near his dwelling on 14 eggs. When three of the eggs hatched, she left the nest, and upon investigation, he found the ants had disturbed her.

He left the eggs in the nest and in a few days she came up with 14 young turkeys. He found that all the 11 eggs hatched after she quit the nest; and 12 of the turkeys are now living. The warm weather hatched the eggs.

3 CHANGES IN STATE OFFICES

Other Department Heads are Named as Terrell Takes Splawn's Place

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 10.—Three state officers were changed Saturday, in the selection of Dr. Walter Splawn's successor on the railroad commission.

C. V. Terrell, state treasurer, was placed on the railroad commission, filling the place made vacant by Splawn's resignation, and to serve out the term which ends next January.

Secretary of State S. L. Staples was made treasurer.

Johnson Is Secretary.

Finis K. Johnson of Cleburne, who has been chief of the blue sky division, state department, for the past year, was named secretary of state.

Mr. Terrell has been nominated by the voters as treasurer for another term.

In case the democratic state committee does not put him on the general election ballot for railroad commissioner, for the term beginning next January, and to which Dr. Splawn was nominated, thus causing him to resign the treasurer nomination, he will be elected treasurer. In case he resigns, the committee will have the choice of a treasurer for the two-year term.

Dr. Splawn retired from the railroad commission August 1 to become president of the University of Texas. He was appointed on the railroad commission by the governor sixteen months ago. Treasurer Terrell was also appointed by the governor, as was Secretary Staples.

Senator Staples came here from Smithville three years ago. He selected Finis K. Johnson as chief of the blue sky division last year, when the bureau was organized.

HIGHWAY WORKERS WARNED BY HEADS

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 10.—A statement censuring "a few persons connected with the highway department," for taking an active interest in political campaigns, was issued Saturday by R. M. Hubbard and D. K. Martin, members of the commission.

The commissioners called attention to a notice to employees last February, that any person taking a partisan interest in any state or local campaign would be discharged.

"We very much deplore the fact that anyone should have had the interest of the highway department so little at heart as to even remotely connect it with any political campaign," the members said.

HOT WEATHER HATCHES EGGS

Special to The Record News.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 10.—The hot winds were killing the cotton when the rain came. The cotton stalks are loaded with bolls and blooms. The bolls are small on account of the hot dry weather. Farmers think they will make a small crop, but it will be much shorter than was thought a few weeks ago. The corn is burned up with small ears in some places.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

AUGUST 11, 1924

GOD'S PLEASANT SURPRISES:—Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.—I Corinthians 2:9.

PRAYER:—We thank Thee, Lord, that every morning mercies new fall as fresh as evening dew.

DOG DAYS ARE COMING.

Dog days are coming and in the very near future the nation will be ablaze from Sandy Hook to Golden Gate and from the Red River to the Rio Grande. John W. Davis is to let loose his 7,000 word acceptance and his friends hope that every line will contain a punch. Then Calvin Coolidge will make known his personal and political platform of principles and Hell and Maria Dawes counted upon to say something startling.

Robert M. LaFollette has spoken. He wrote his own platform and a speech of acceptance from him will not be necessary. He has behind him the leaders of a dozen minor parties with Samuel Gompers and his lieutenants doing their best to swing the American federation of labor into the LaFollette camp.

August is here and dog-day politics came in with August. There will be many run off campaigns in many states and early in September the big guns bearing the national band will begin to shoot at the heads of offending or unoffending multitudes. Four years ago a democratic clump came and millions of so-called radical voters swung into line for Warren G. Harding.

All the blocs foreign and otherwise for this reason or that deserted the democratic party and landed in the republican camp. All the dissatisfied ones landed in the republican camp. This is what gave Warren G. Harding his 7,000,000 majority in the popular vote. These hordes of voters who are collarless may desert the republican party this year and land in another camp.

There are more blocs than there were four ago and the issues which are not made paramount are the issues which will control and direct the ballots of millions of voters on November election day. This republic has endured for almost 150 years.

This republic is the most civilized, the most progressive, the most humane, the most advanced, the richest and the most patriotic that has existed since the beginning of time.

Founded by Washington the safe and the sane who loved constitutional liberty and justice and the principle which underlie the government have ever dictated its policies and its laws.

Unless the signs are misleading the safe and the sane are going to handle and direct the ship of state for many years to come.

Men are mere accidents. They come and go as the flea or the fly come and go. Principles never die. Democracy cannot die. A republican form of government was not planted on these shores to perish at the hands of the mad or the misguided or the harmless philosophers whose vagaries and theories are as perishable as their creators.

FRIENDS AND ENEMIES.

Samuel Gompers and his lieutenants as drafters of political manifestos have sounded a warning to candidates for office. Read it:

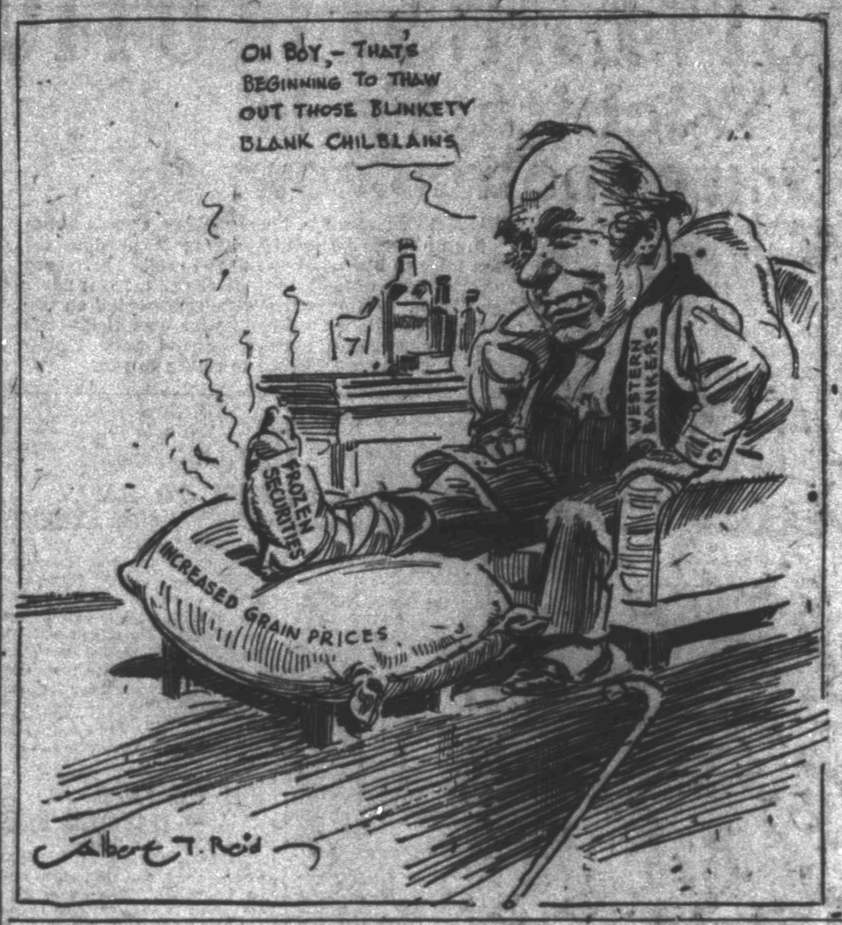

"Organized labor owes allegiance to no political party or group. It is not partisan to any political party or group. It is partisan to principles—the principles of freedom, of justice, of democracy. We shall analyze the record and attitude of every aspirant to public office and shall give our findings the widest possible publicity. Labor's enemies and frends must be clearly known and be definitely indicated."

Labor's friends are the senators and representatives who bow to the demands of labor regardless. Labor's enemies are senators and representatives who refuse to bow to the demands or dictate of the spokesmen of organized labor. A lawmaker is going to have what the parrot called a helluvatime. He is a friend if he votes for every bill or measure organized labor demands; he is an enemy if he doesn't. There appears to be a hot time coming.

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

THE NEW HEAT PAD. By Albert T. Reid.

Their Name Was Legion

Not that he did not intend to try. Bart Rogers was bitter with the bitterness of enmity and of indignation. In the week which had passed, he had earned many things, the first of which was that Leon Barrows, thin, damp-clothed, lean-faced Leon Barrows was far more interested in the oil rights of the Rogers farm than "Bull" Frannison. To Bart Rogers this could mean but one thing—that it had not been "Bull" who had profited by the will of a dead man, but the lawyer who had drawn that will, who perhaps had suggested the bargain to Franklin Rogers, and who had seen to it that the whole tricky arrangement had gone through to the finish.

Twice had Bart Rogers seen Old Jim and Anita Frannison during the week that had passed. Both times the girl had appeared frightened, excited, nervous. As for Old Jim, his lips were white, his features haggard, while in his eyes was the look of a haunted man about to gaze upon a ghost he had feared for years. What fore in the hallway outside Frannison's office, Bart it all meant, other than what he had heard a week before could not tell. But this he knew—tragedy was stalking in the footsteps of a girl and a prematurely aged man.

Frannison himself? Bart had seen him often, making his way from one dance hall to another, from the soft drink emporiums and along the snack stands. He seemed to be known everywhere—it was as though an army had gathered and then waited for the appearance of its general. That army, Bart knew, he must fight, now that he had taken office. More, he felt sure that the moment he began his battle, he also would be forced into active campaign with the man who possessed power sufficient to make him the leader of them all—"Bull" Frannison.

But Bart Rogers had given himself plenty of time in which to think it over. He had made his determination, and now that the time had come, he was ready to see it through. A moment of hesitation, and then, deliberately he started up the street to the fulfillment of the first duty he had set for himself, the throwing down of the gauge of battle. But at the corner he stopped, as Bud Tarko approached.

CHAPTER XIII.
Frannison Again

Tarko wanted to know where Bart got the marshal's badge. Then the latter told him of his new job.

"Well, that's fine," said Bud. "But say, now, do you need an assistant?"

"Listen!" Bart caught him by the shoulders and drew him down to speaking distance, "are you joking or are you serious?"

"Never more serious in my life, but will there be excitement? I crave action, you know."

"You'll get plenty of action, but the pay is only $75 a month."

"That's O. K. with me," answered Bud genially. "Well, I guess I'll breeze and get my discharge papers and prove I'm all right.

Whereupon he hurried down the street, while Bart Rogers, with a new confidence, went on toward his self-appointed duty. Soon he was on the main street, and at the first "emporium" he turned in.

"I want the proprietor," he announced to the be-aproned person behind the bar.

"I'm him. What'll you have?"

"What are you selling here? Hard stuff?" Bart had hidden his badge.

The bartender grinned and nodded.

"Sorry, old man," Bart answered, "but the town closes up tomorrow night—and closes tight. That gives you 24 hours to get out."

Bart departed. At a dance hall next door he made the same announcement, received in staring silence. Then he went on, finally to stop in front of a small tent, in which a lean, check-suited man bent over a small counter, manipulating as he did so three plaster-filled halves of English walnuts.

Money was being piled on the counter. Bart swept it aside.

"Nix on that butt-in stuff!" came sharply. "Who let you in here?"

"The same person who's going to let you out," came with equal asperity from the marshal. "Rogers is my name. I'm marshal here. Now close up this joint and get out of town in 24 hours. Understand?"

"Nix!" the gambler had become suddenly serious. "You're on the wrong guy, honest. I'm fixed, see? Everything's all right with me—I'm a right guy. I've put in my ante. Don't crab the party on me here. I'm—"

"Fixed? Oh, are you? Well, you fixed with the wrong person—that stuff doesn't go! Step fast or—"

"Pete!" The man's voice had a new note in it, one of sudden excitement, and a hanger-on hurried to his side. "There's something wrong here. This guy needs showin' where to get off at. Gowgt Frannison—quick!"

"Frannison is it?" A thin smile appeared on the lips of Bart Rogers. "Well, in the mean while, you'll come along with me."

A lurching push and shoving the gambler a step or two ahead of him, he started toward the jail. Ten minutes later he had turned the heavy key and was looking through the bars at the prisoner. Whereupon Bart went to the front entrance, to await the arrival of the enemy. Nor was the wait a long one.

Five minutes passed. Then the sound of steps from around the corner. Bart squared his shoulders for the conflict, and pulled his holster into a position in which it could be reached with ease. A moment more—

"Bull" Frannison faced him, a slight appearance of surprise on his countenance.

"Oh, it's you, huh?" he announced. "I'd heard there was a new marshal down here." Then sidling closer, he adopted a paternal air of almost friendship. "You've got one of my boys in there."

"So?" Bart Rogers expressed neither interest nor the lack of it. "I think you're mistaken. The only person I've got in there is a tin-horn three-shell worker. He's not the boy you mean, is he?"

"Bull" Frannisten's face blackened and his heavy arms swung slowly. He started to move a step closer—then stopped. Bart's hand had gone quietly to his holster.

"You don't, eh?" The blank, thick eyebrows raised in question. "Going to get real rough, eh?"

"I'm going to clean up this town."

"You—and who else?"

"Oh, a deputy or two. Now, listen, Mr. Frannisten—"and Bart lost his bantering manner—"I've heard your name mentioned a good deal in connection with the gambling and bootlegging that's going on here. They seem to look on you as a sort of a boss. If that's so, a little talk between us may save a little trouble. I'm giving the rough-neck element just 24 hours to get out of town, and the same thing goes for that tented camp of women that's sprung up just east of the town." If you've taken any money on the pretense that you can protect these persons—I'd advise you to give it back."

"All right, boy," came the answer. "Go to it—and see how far you get!"

Then whirling swiftly, "Bull" Frannisten turned again toward town, while Bart watched him wonderingly. The man had threatened, yet he practically had acknowledged defeat. He had come to the jail building determined, apparently, to release the man he sought, yet departed, almost after his first unsuccessful effort. Until he was lost in the surging mob of the main street did Rogers follow him with his eyes, half expecting him to return with a fresh demand, or a new threat. But an hour passed—without sight of him.

What did the absence and the silence mean? Could it be that he was closeted up there in the cold office of Leon Barrows—with that damp appearing man whom Old Jim had accused of traveling under an assumed name—perhaps arranging some intricate legal method for the defeating of Bart's purposes? Rogers knew only one line of action, the straightforward attack, and with a sudden resolve, he swung down the steps and headed toward the office of the attorney.

But no one was there. In vain Bart knocked on the door and tried the knob. It did not yield. Listening brought no sound of voices from within. It was more than evident that Leon Barrows still was dallying with his new hobby, the superintending of the work of erecting rigs and machinery out at the land which Bart Rogers once had called his own—and that the law business was suffering as a result.

He turned down the steps again and into the main street. Then, shifting his belt in preparation for a resumption of his task, he started again upon his interrupted mission. A yelping, squawking "cootch" show was his first objective. At the ticket stand a collarless man, talking in a low, yet penetrating voice, was telling in confidential manner of the lecherous performances to be seen beyond the canvas sidewalling. Bart approached him, interrupting: "You'll have to close this show and get out of here in 24 hours—savey?"

CHAPTER XIV.
Trouble.

"Just as you please," the man answered quickly. Bart, still surprised at the quiet manner in which his ultimatum had been received, walked on.

A gambling tent was next, the roulette wheel clicking in the rear. Bart sought the ruddy-faced man in charge.

"Are you paying any one in town who is supposed to be giving you protection?" he queried.

"Me? I should say not!"

"Thanks. I just wanted to know—and to give you warning not to. You'll have to close up this place by tomorrow night."

"Just as you say."

More surprised than ever, Bart went on—and to even more surprises.

Everywhere it was the same. Politeness greeted his announcement. Perfect harmony was accorded his order that the town must be rid of its bootleggers, its dance halls, its women and its gambling by the next night.

What could it mean? What could it portend? "Bull" Frannisten had threatened him, in a quiet, determined manner, then strode away as to the carrying out of a purpose. Yet nowhere that Bart turned had he met opposition.

At last he went back to the city hall and found Bud Tarko waiting for him with his honorable discharge papers and other references in his hands.

"It's a good thing you're here," Bart said with a grim smile. "Your first night on duty's liable to be anything but a bed of roses."

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

LEO.

Today's planetary aspects are good, and favor all legitimate enterprise and honest endeavor. They do not, however, counsel any speculative or radical ventures, but rather promise success to undertakings of a conservative character. They also encourage peace and happiness in the home, and, if you have experienced differences and misunderstanding, it is a splendid opportunity to "forgive and forget." The vibrations indicate a successful outcome, if put to the test, of old standing love affairs.

A child born today will enjoy unusualy good health, developing stamina and endurance rather than physical strength. Its character will be resolute; its disposition, affectionate, although reserved; its mentality normal. In early childhood it will display an unwonted degree of shyness, which can be partially overcome by compelling it to associate freely with playmates of an age similar to its own; public and not private schools should be utilized for this child's education in order to better accustom it to the "give and take" of every day life.

If today is your birthday you possess many outstanding virtues, but take a despondent view of life and its conditions, because of the fact that you, apparently have received more blows than caresses at the hands of Dame Fortune. You feel disposed to quit your effort to climb, and to content yourself with running along in the rut in which you, at the present time, find yourself.

If a woman, you are becoming tired of the monotonous daily round of duties either of office or of home, and are longing for "something different." You fail to realise that life is made up of small duties and seemingly unimportant obligations, which, if carried out cheerfully and willingly, help to promote a complete life. The most menial duty only becomes disagreeable when it is performed in an unwilling spirit.

If a man, you are dissatisfied with the meagre results that have attended your efforts; with the disappointments you have experienced; with the insincerity of those whom you considered your friends. If a man—a real red-blooded man—you will rise superior to all those handicaps: you will make a self inventory; you will renew the fight, and your past experiences, heart breaking though they may have been, will but serve as ammunition in the battle to wrest success from failure.

HOW IT STARTED

"TO SLEEP LIKE A TOP."

It has been asserted that this phrase originated in the corruption of the French word "taupe" into "top." "Taupe" is a dormouse and they do say in French "Il dort comme un taupe"—"he sleeps like a dormouse," the allusion being, of course, to the fact that the fieldmouse hibernates in its long winter sleep.

There is no need, however, to go so far for the explanation of the phrase which is to be found right in the words as we usually use them. For it is well known that when a top is at the acme of its spin, the speed of its gyrations steady it so that it seems not to move at all. When in this state, in top-spinning parlance, the top is said to be "asleep!" This is true not only in English but in French also, where the word for "top" is "sabot" and a very commonly used expression is "Dormir comme un sabot"—an exact translation of our "to sleep like a top!"

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

POETRY FOR THE PEOPLE

Don't envy the lot of the rich man next door,
For envy is nothing but greed;
Get a job as a plumber or open a store
And work for the money you need.
Consider the methods of great millionaires,
Who deeply are schooled in financial affairs,
And model your life from the start upon theirs—
For that is the way to succeed.

Don't long for a villa or motor and yacht;
Don't grieve, as the papers you read,
For things that the prosperous people have got,
Or the glorious lives that they lead.
Go start a big bank or a stockbroker's shop;
Get a job as a craftsman, a clerk or a cop,
And soon you are sure to arrive at the top—
For that is the way to succeed.

Don't wait for good fortune to knock at your door;
"Go getting" should be your one creed.
Your brain is a gold mine for you to explore,
And a very rich gold mine indeed,
Keep working and thinking, and 'ere very long,
You will find that your life is just one grand sweet song,
For fortune will favor the brave and the strong,
And those are the men that succeed.

If in these endeavors you haply should fail,
And find that your fate has decreed
That you can't catch the crafty old world by the tail
There still is one lesson to heed:
Tell others the way to be stars in the game,
And gather in riches and glory and fame,
And be hailed by the world with tumultuous acclaim,
For that is the way to succeed!

Club Des Cent

A few years ago a club was founded in France called the Club des Cent which, as its name shows, had a membership strictly limited to one hundred, and was devoted to keeping up the tradition of French cooking and encouraging good hotel keeping.

This organization has since its foundation, undertaken a regular survey of France and it is reckoned that each of its members has already traveled, by motor car, twenty-five thousand miles in search of good and comfortable inns.

In fact the Club des Cent is not only ready to patronize palaces and good class hotels, but also the most modest village inn, provided it is scrupulously clean and provided also that the cooking is good.

Some of the mottoes of the club are worth looking over. They are:

"Hotel keepers, give us good attendance and you will become rich. Give us bad attendance and it will be the worse for you."

"Coffee made in advance is but bad coffee."

"Keep your cheese under a glass cover. Feed your guests, not the flies."

"No chemical extracts in cooking. In the preparation of meals the Club des Cent knows no other factory than the kitchen.

Every year this club awards two gold medals to the chefs and cooks who, after a searching inquiry, have proved worthy of such a distinction.

Some while ago a group of members of this club went on a mission to the United States. They traveled on the French line, or what is known as the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. They found the cooking on these ships admirable, and that French culinary traditions were observed, and that on the two ocats, the Paris and the France, the chefs were real gastronomic artists.

This year the Club des Cent awarded its gold medals to M. Jean Leer chief of the France, and M. Jean Lindauer, chef of the Paris. These medals were presented to their recipients at a breakfast, or luncheon given on board the France, when M. J. dal Piaz, the president of the great French shipping company presided, and when the members of the Club des Cent and their friends gathered in force to do homage to these chefs who had so successfully initiated many travelers into the delights of real old fashioned French cooking.

The French are traditionally the best cooks in the world and it is but right that some organization should get behind this tradition, and give it furtherance.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

THE LAWSON GIRLS

"Children are no longer what they used to be. They have no real love for their parents. They regard us simply as a source of supply, and once independent, become completely absorbed in their own selfish interests, never giving a thought to the mother and father who worked and sacrificed for them."

It is all part of the way the world is going to the bow-wows, we learn.

By the way, have you read of the Lawson girls? No? They are the daughters of Arnold Lawson, who lives in a $35-a-month house beside a New England railroad track. No they weren't always poor. Arnold Lawson himself was reared amid the luxury of a parental estate whose stables housed fast horses and blooded stock; whose palatial home and grounds were cared for by a small army of servants.

But a wrong turn of the wheel, which happens occasionally, brought him to the little house by the railroad track, where the housework is done and his wants cared for only by his two girls.

His wife, who divorced him and married another very rich man, is fighting in court for the custody of the girls. She wants them to share with her the luxuries which they knew in their babyhood, and to which she feels they are entitled. Her new husband went with her to second the invitation.

But the Lawson girls told the court they would rather remain with their father. They admitted that a pair of shoes and some underwear constituted all the clothing he was able to buy them in a year. But if they left him, the older girl asked, who would take care of him? Who would keep clean the little home by the railroad track, who would do his washing and his mending, and have dinner ready for him when he comes home tired from his work? "No, thank you," they said to the offers of all the luxury that money can buy; they would stay with father.

Had this father been a better parent than those who complain of their children's neglect—had he given them a better heritage of character—or, is this talk about the world and children going to the bow-wows just a false alarm after all?

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

Stubby had just told how the car had rolled down hill and turned over in the river.

"What became of you when the car turned over?" asked Button.

"I fell out as it went over and the current of the stream carried me from under it so I was not hurt. And Mr. Noland escaped too as the car caught in such a way on some rocks that it kept the body of the car from crushing him. As I swam out of the stream on the other side of the bridge, I saw him crawling out from under the wreck."

"Well, I should say you had had a very exciting morning," said Billy. "And how did you get home at last? I bet you lost your guinea pot pie though!"

"After Mr. Noland wiped some of the mud and dirt off himself, he sat on the bank a long time and did not say a word. I was beginning to get worried and was afraid he was hurt when he pulled out a memorandum book from his pocket and began to write in it. Presently he tore out a leaf and called me to come to him.

"'Come here, little dog. I want you to do something for me. I know you will if I can only make you understand what I want. Understand only a very smart dog could do what I am going to ask you to do. Here is a note. I want you to take to the store that is a mile from here over the top of this hill. You carry it in your mouth—or no, I'll tie it around your neck in my handkerchief. You take it to the storekeeper and bark. Then pull at the handkerchief with your teeth. He will think it is choking you and when he unloosens it he will find my note. After reading it he will hustle around and come to my rescue, bringing you back with him.'

"'Well, of all clever stunts to think of, this beats them all,' I thought.

"He placed the note carefully in the handkerchief and tied it around my neck. When it was all right, I took a drink of water and started up the hill, while he called after me. 'Good luck, little dog; good luck!'

"In less than half an hour I was at the store, as it was easy to find.

As I ran into the store, I found five or six big farmers loafing about or buying groceries or getting their mail. It was not hard to distinguish the storekeeper, as he was the only man without a hat and, besides he stood behind the counter.

"Gee! It did smell good behind the counter for I was hungry and there were boxes of gingersnaps, crackers, Bologna sausage and all sorts of good things there. But I paid no attention to them as I wished to deliver my message. The storekeeper was a big, good-natured man, and he nearly stepped on me. In fact, he did nip my toe and I barked with a pain. This made him first look down and notice me.

"'Heigho! Here is a strange dog. I am sorry I stepped on you, but don't you know that customers are not allowed behind the counter?'

"Right here I rolled over on my back and began pulling the end of the handkerchief."

(We shall have to wait to see what the grocer does when he finds the note.

Wildcat Well Watched as It Nears 2,700 Foot Level; Expect Oil

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Aug. 10. — Drillers and workers on the Furd Halsell No. 1, located nine miles south of this place are beginning to expect production at any time, since the hole is at present at a depth of 2700 feet with every indication of pay sand at a depth between 2700 and 3000 feet. The well is being drilled by the Landreth Production corporation and has attracted quite a bit of attention from the spudding in of the wildcat. Several times before the development of this section has been begun, causing quite a great deal of excitement for a time, but development has always stopped before obtaining a thorough test.

The Halsell well, however, has caused a large movement in leases at moderate prices, and much interest is being manifested in the possibilities of a strike.

The well is located several miles west of the edge of the proven Vernon field.

A Simple Couching Stich.

One Mother Says:

A simple, yet decorative, couching stitch for children's clothes is made thus: lengthen the stitch on the sewing machine and stitch along the desired lines, then with an ordinary needle and colored thread catch a stitch under each machine stitch. If heavy thread is desired for the horizontal stitching, put it on the bobbin and stitch goods from the wrong side. This stitch makes a charming finish for the kimono sleeve dress worn so much now.

Spudders Split Twin Bill With Shreveport

FUSSELL GOES OUT IN FIRST BUT CAPTURES SECOND TILT

By Blondy Cross.

Spudders and Gassers worked overtime Sabbathday, the Shreveporters grabbing a slug festival, 11-9, and the homelings walking off with the heftier end of a 5-1 enumeration in the after piece of a double header. As result of all this trojan effort the athletes will rest up today, and the Spudders are scheduled to act as hosts to Ats's league leaders Tuesday at Spud park in the first of a duo.

Three of the domestic slabbists came in for rough treatment by the bludgeons of Ira Thomas' and Billy Orr's hirelings. Lefty Kit Carson of the Gassers came to sudden disaster in the Spudder fourth, and gave up the ghost to Gilder, an elongated cuss, who fared no better. But the Gasser moundmen proved worthier gluttons for punishment, while the home crew weakened. Southpaw Frederick Fussell gently passed away in the first round, Big Dick Morgan followed suit in the fifth, and Musser all but expired in the seventh. He was shunted from the limelight in the eighth when Oldfolks Coombs hit in a pinch, and homered over the left field wall.

Fussell Comes Back

Fussell came back in the second tilt, was nicked for a run in the first inning, and from there on out hurled an immaculate brand of ball. Lefty Louis Vinci, Gassers' wrongsided ace, opposed Fussell but went onto the rocks in the third frame. Vines, a right hander more elongated than Gilder, took Vinci's job and got the remainder of the way with exception of the fifth round when Peter Turgeon slammed his twenty-first homer of the year.

Home runs were quite frequent. In the first game, Brown of the visitors, and Coombs, White, and Smith each poled non-stoppers. Turgeon, White, and Locker circumnavigated the bases in the second game with lusty fourply clouts.

Fussell Jerked In First

Gassers tore into Freddy Fussel in the initial coupjet, cut him up for a double, house run, a single and three markers thereby causing the sudden demise of the Spuds' scintillating southpaw. With one away, Connolly was presented a ticket to first, King shook up the right center boards with a lusty double, and Connolly checked at the platter. Brown followed through with a smack to the home run zone back to the port barrier, tabulating two more. Sperber bounded out to White, Graham singled to starboard, Fussell walked Riley, and then gave way on the hillock to Dick Morgan, husky Spud right hander. Morgan passed Orr, loading the sacks, but Carson forced Orr at second on ground ball to Turgeon.

Fitzgerald made first on error by Riley in the domestic portion of the opening frame, but a two-time killing on grounder by Callaghan, Connolly to Riley to Connolly, squelched the Spudder attempt to score.

Gassers menaced in the second, but a double erasure on the part of the Spud infield staved a score. French busted one at first, a single. Connolly popped to short. King hit to Turgo who threw perfectly to first, but Wano bobbled. French hastened to third, but expired there when Brown hit to Turgeon who threw to White at second in time to cut King away. White lined the pellet to first ahead of Brown.

Shreveporters threatened again in the third but couldn't slip around. Sperber opened up with a double to left, and advanced to the hot corner on sacrificial effort by Graham. Riley popped to short, and Orr belligerently swished at three.

Smith Knocks Homer

Domestics narrowed the Gasser lead to a one-run margin in the third. After White had aviated to left, Spuds' ruddy topped back-stopper, Ezekiel Smith, poled one to port for four bases. Morgan grounded out to second, but Fitzgerald was given a life at first when Connolly dropkicked his bounder. Singles by Callaghan and Locker put Fitz to the pan. Weis aviated to center.

Gassers broke into the run column for an unearned marker in the fourth. Carson rolled at short who overthrew first just enough for Carson to arrive safely. French forced Kit at second. With Connolly at bat, French absconded with the keystone cushion. Connolly then slashed a buzzing onebaser to the mid sector, tabulating French.

Homelings evened the enumeration in the fourth. Wano got on via single to center, and straggled home when Al White, Spud keystoner, whammed the first ball pitched to him to the weedy territory back to the left pasture wall.

Morgan Joins Fussell

Visitors forged right out front again in the fifth, garnering a trio. Sperber led off with a mighty smash against the center boards for three cushions. Graham hoisted out to Fitzgerald, and Sperber checked in after the catch. Riley walked, and rambled on to second while Morgan was holding the ball. Orr slashed a single to left, scoring Riley. Morgan joined Fussell in shower bath row, and Musser struggled onto the hillock. He promptly passed Carson, pitching courtesy. French bringled to starboard, scoring Orr. Connolly went out to Weis in left, a nice catch.

Homelings manufactured a pair in the latter half of the fifth. Callaghan beat out a bobble between the box and third. Carson grabbed up the sphere and in a desperate effort to head off the speeding Spudder heaved to the right field bleachers. Callie gathered in territory between first and third. Carson was succeeded by Gilder. Locker whacked one to left for a brace on cushions, and Callaghan counted. Weis fouled to third, and Turgeon flied out to king. Wano nearly unmaked Gilder from the dome. The ball was deflected toward Connolly who messed it up enough for Locker to flee from second to the plate. Wano had the play beat, clean fielding or not. White hoisted out to left.

Oldfolks Delivers In Pinch

Two errors, a walk, and singles by Graham, French, and Connolly put Shreveport over for a quartet in the seventh.

The Spudders counted one in the seventh. Callaghan singled to right of second, and was forced by Locker. Weis singled to left, and Locker went to third. Turgeon forced Weis, Locker scoring on the play.

Smith led off the Spudder eighth with a single to right, and scored in front of Coombs, who, hitting for Musser, drove the ball over the left field fence. Oldfolks had delivered in the pinch.

Neither club accomplished anything in the ninth round.

Start Second Even Up

Double by Connolly and single by Brown gave the Gassers a run in the initial couplet of the second game.

Spuds garnered a marker in the first, too. Double by Callaghan and single by Weis did it.

White parked another in the second frame, putting the Spudders a counter in the lead.

Lefty Louie bade 'em all au revoir in the third after the Spuds checked a pair. Coombs led off with a slash down third base way for a base, but was forced at second by Weis. Turgeon ballooned to center. Locker then stepped into the gap and blasted one to left for the circuit. The blow brought the count to 4-1. Spudders. Bob Vines succeeded Vinci, and White bounced out to third.

Turgeon Hits Twenty-first

Turgeon, Spud shortstop, whopped his twenty-first homer of the season in the fifth with the paths empty.

Gassers menaced meagerly in the seventh but were cut away by the Spud infield who enacted a speedy double play. French led off with a single to right. Connolly flied out to center. King hit to Turgeon who tossed to White on second, cutting French away. White bulleted the ball to first before King arrived.

DUMB DAN SEEKS ECONOMICAL BOXER

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Dumb Dan Morgan says that he is going to Finland to find a heavyweight he can make over into a world's champion. Dan says he never had the luck to own a fighter who could be kept on a diet of stale bread and dried fish. Dan's fighters have developed a habit of living in the best hotels and as he always kept them traveling around the country, the expenses ate up Dan's bank roll.

Booger Red To Give Wichita Falls Boxing Fandom Another Treat Soon

Booger Red Lewis, Galveston heavy making Wichita Falls his bailiwick at present, has always been a favorite with local ring followers because of his clownish actions in the squared circle and habitual willingness to mix it.

Red hasn't appeared here in several weeks, but next Thursday he's billed to give the fans a treat in one of the legion fight night bouts.

Booger will be pitted with Slou Key, a young Vernon husky who is a boxer, football player, and all-around athlete.

WHITTED STILL PLAYING BALL

He Started Athletics on Down Grade in 1914 Series

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—The man who scored the first of the avalanche of runs that sounded the death knell of the Athletics in the world's series of 1914, is still quite active in baseball, thank you.

He is George Whitted. This veteran is now managing an independent team at Mt. Carmel, Pa., and playing good ball along with his managerial duties.

Whitted drifted out of the big show a while back after a rather colorful career.

Started Batting Spree.

It is history that the Braves licked the long reigning Athletics in four straight games—virtually annihilating them. And it was Whitted who started the first batting spree of the Braves in the first game that sounded the knell of the White Elephants.

The first inning was scoreless. In the second Whitted worked Chief Bender for a pass. Gowdy's double scored him with the first of two runs acquired that inning. Then, in the sixth inning, George helped drive the Indian from the box by slamming out a triple that scored Evers and Connolly. George scored later, accounting for three of the seven runs made that game.

The Brave owners decided that winter that they wanted Sherry Magee so they traded Whitted and Dugey to the Phillies for Sherwood.

Moran Surprised Him.

But George soon found himself riding toward another pennant, thanks to the generalship of the late Pat Moran. The Philadelphia batters found themselves helpless before the Red Sox mound crew that fall, however, so George had to be content with the losers' divvy. But he did establish a permanent residence in the outfield, something he had failed to do in St Louis and Boston.

GRID CONTEST AT T-O FAIR

Southwest Normal Eleven of Oklahoma to Play Here

Followers of football will have an opportunity of seeing a strong college grid team in action in Wichita Falls this fall when Southwestern Normal, of Weatherford, Oklahoma, plays at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. This college team has the reputation of being one of the speediest football machines in the southwest. In the past they have defeated Phillips university which is regarded as among the best in the southwest.

It has not been decided who the Oklahoma team will play here, but it has been proposed that a game be matched between them and the Wichita Falls Junior college eleven. The Junior college did not put a team on the field year before last and last year the team disbanded after a few weeks. Some argue that they could not be able to give the fast Oklahoma eleven enough competition in their first real year of college competition, while others maintain that inasmuch as many of the local high school stars will attend the Junior college that the game will not be a walk over.

No definite arrangements have been made as to whom will play the Oklahoma team, but whatever team opposes them will have a task on their hands to defeat them.

WOMEN'S WESTERN GOLF TITLE AT STAKE TODAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—A struggle between champions will furnish the final rounds of the women's western golf championship tomorrow at Onwentsia Country club. Miriam Burns of Kansas City, Western titleholder, playing against Edith Cummings, of Chicago, national champion.

Miss Cummings is a member of Onwentsia and is not only thoroughly familiar with every nook of the links, but has been shooting fine golf all during the previous rounds. Miss Burns, however, has out-golfed the national champion thus far, having scored an 82 Saturday in the semi-finals in over-come Dorothy Klotz of Chicago.

Wichita Falls Athlete May Letter In Basketball At Varsity In 1925

Raymond Brannan of this city, stands a good chance of being the first Wichita Falls boy to receive a letter from the athletic department of the University of Texas. Brannan, who played basket ball with the local high school several years ago, went out for basket ball at the state university last spring and were it not for the fact that some of the greatest players that the southwestern conference has ever seen, played on the team, would have lettered probably.

Brannan, to letter, had to fight against such men as Casey Ward, Bobby Robertson, Abe Curtis, Bertie Foster, Mannie Pensford, Sandy Esquival and others who blazed the path in the southwestern conference. Last spring state university played 28 conference basket ball games and was credited with 28 victories. With such playing as this it was hard for a combination to be changed no matter how good an individual was showing in practice.

Brannan made a sub letter and with several of the letter men graduating stands a good chance to be the first Wichita Falls boy to letter. Frank Wolf, also of this city, made a sub letter in basket ball last spring, but as he graduates he has no chance to make his letter next year.

Golf

As Champions Play It

What can be done to prevent the hands from blistering when playing golf?

Answered by Bill Stracean, golf professional of Wichita Falls Golf and Country club.

There are several ways in which blisters may be avoided. The best way is to let the hands get toughened gradually by swinging a club a few minutes at a time several days in a row before going out to play—and then playing but a medium number of holes for a few days. Gloves will help keep blisters away, but many golfers do not like them because they destroy the "feel for the club." Soaking the hands in a strong salt water solution or a strong solution of [illegible] and water will also toughen them greatly and minimize the chances of getting some unpleasant blisters.

TAYLOR'S HOMER LICKS GALVESTON

BEAUMONT, Aug. 10.—Taylor's home run into left field gave Beaumont a 7-6 victory over Galveston today. It was the second game in three days the youngster has broken up with a circuit clout. Crumpler pitched a great game, fanning 10 men in the first seven innings, but the Exporters began to slam the ball hard toward the close. Taylor had a single, double, and a triple, accounting for four of the runs before his homer ended the clash. The Exporters leave tomorrow for a 20 day road trip.

SLATTERY DUE TO RUIN CARP

Stribling's Conqueror Is Faster Than Gibbons and Gene

By ROBERT EDGREN.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—If Georges Carpentier is still unsatisfied with his American reception after he meets Young Slattery of Buffalo, he'll establish a reputation for gluttony. Mr. Slattery is the young man who slipped a short circuit into Young Stribling's string of victories just after Stribling had slapped Mike McTigue all over the ring for a second time. He is under the guidance of Charlie Murray of Buffalo, and Charles knows a real fighter by sight and never yet has been connected with a dead one.

Faster Than Moonbeam.

Mr. Slattery has a peculiar style of fighting. He is faster than a moonbeam and four times as elusive. He has those nervous feet that never stop dancing. He is in and out again before the other fellow realizes that he is moving. He fools them at first by jiggling around with both hands hanging loosely at his side. He never raises his hands to the usual boxing position, but hits right from the knee instead of from the shoulder. Fast with it too. He can hit four feet while the other bird is starting a straight punch. Mr. Slattery's style has given several boxers a hearty laugh but only in the first round.

If Gibbons and Tunney can hit Carpentier 20 times a round, this machine gunner from Buffalo is likely to hit him 40.

Carp Persistent.

You have to hand it to Carp for one thing. He surely is persistent. As long as he can pull down a purse for being licked, nobody can hand him a return ticket to France. It always will be interesting to see Carpentier in action. In the absence of any other exciting feature you can try to guess what the next alibi will be.

Gibbons and Tunney ought to be matched. Funny they haven't bumped together before this. It would be a good scrap, and not by any means sure that Gibbons could win. Tunney made a better showing with Carpentier than Gibbons did. Tom played safe, watched Carp's right and outboxed the Frenchman neatly. Tunney took a few rights, accepted whatever risks there were in mixing, and put the French champion down several times before landing the finishing punch.

Get Real Champ.

Fortunately the moving pictures, showing that Tunney's last body blow was quite fair, knocked out Descamps' claim that Georges had been fouled. Tunney is ten years younger than Gibbons, and he has been coming along fast in his recent ring battles.

Let Tunney and Gibbons meet to decide who is the best light heavyweight in America. Then let Stribling lick McTigue again, this time to a decision, take another whirl at Mr. Slattery of Buffalo, and if he gets away with Slattery, meet the Tunney-Gibbons winner. That ought to bring out a real champion in the light heavyweight class, which hasn't had such a thing since Bib Fitzsimmons beat George Gardner in San Francisco 21 years ago.

To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county: Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Katherine Thompson, Karl Thompson, Frederick Thompson, Stanley E. Kerrick and Winnifred Kerrick by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September A. D. 1924 the same being the 1st. day of September, A. D. 1924. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of February, A. D. 1924 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 15331-B wherein, J. F. Nagle, W. W. Murphy, Katherine Thompson, feme sole, Karl Thompson, is plaintiff and Frederick Thompson, Stanley E. Kerrick and Winnifred Kerrick are defendants and said petition alleging: That Nov. 14th., 1923, defendants filed suit against the Sure Pop Oil company, a joint stock Assn., and C. H. Harrison, trustee, in the 78th. district court of Wichita county, Texas, and without personal service on either took judgment against said company and C. H. Harrison on an alleged agreement of C. H. Harrison as trustee of said company to pay Geo. F. Thompson, ancestor of defendants certain money on the sale of property described as being out of the Vogel tract in block 74, northwest extension, Burkburnett, Texas, if sold in one year, said agreement stating it was to be considered a lien. Such agreement was neither acknowledged or placed on record or brought to the attention of the plaintiff Jan. 10th., 1924, defendants caused an order of sale to issue out of this court and had W. W. Murphy, sheriff, to levy same on the following described property: Northwest 5 acres of the south 1-2 of the N. E. 1-4 of block 74 of the Red river valley lands in Wichita county, Texas, and advertised same to be sold Feb. 5th., 1924. That same is not the property of the Sure Pop Oil Co. or C. H. Harrison or either of them, but is the property of the plaintiff. That said Sure Pop Oil Co. by its duly elected and sole trustee C. H. Harrison executed and delivered to J. Hart Willis, trustee, a deed of trust on said above property as well as all the property of said company in Wichita county, Texas to secure plaintiff and others in certain sums of money already secured by a labor's lien against such property, such deed of trust being duly recorded in Wichita county, Texas, Dec. 2nd, 1922. A foreclosure was regularly had thereunder and said property purchased by this plaintiff for value and without notice of the claims of these defendants or either of them, plaintiff's deed being placed of record Oct. 2nd. 1923. Such threated sale is a cloud on plaintiff's title and is injuring him in the use and enjoyment and sale of such property, and same will be sold unless restrained. Plaintiff asks for an injunction enjoining such sale and on due hearing that same be made permanent, and that he have all orders necessary to remove such cloud from his title to the above land and fully clear such title.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 1st. day of August A. D. 1924.

papers about two certain boys in Chicago, who committed one of the most awful crimes on record. Whatever may be the degree of their intellectual status, the one outstanding, glaring defect in the lives of these boys is the absence of the moral direction, the absence of a conscience. Their minds were given every opportunity and they had attained intellectual achievements far beyond many of their years, but by their own confession, they question, if not deny the very existence of God; they question, if not deny the very existence of right in this moral universe and that is the explanation of that crime yonder in Chicago.

Wealth consists not in the number of diamonds we may gather, not in the amount of physical energy we may attain or our great intellectual achievements, but the wealthy man is the man who trains his body properly, educates his intellect to the highest degree, but recognizes his obligation to Almighty God. He may not be able to write his check in more than two figures or he may be able to write it in seven figures, but that is only incidental. His real wealth is in the things he possesses. So allowing me to make my own definition of the term, I would say this, that a man's wealth does consist in the abundance of the things he possesses, but don't be alarmed, I have not contradicted the saying of the Master. The Savior said a man's life consists not in the abundance of the things he possesses and they cannot make a man rich, they are only incidentals, but that other thing that is so real and so genuine and so lasting that other part of us constitutes the real wealth and the source of our happiness.

Atticus Webb's Reply to Graham's Charges Concerning Political Stand

A recent article written by Elmer Graham of Graham, Texas, concerning the stand Rev. Atticus Webb has taken on the state gubernatorial race, has brought a reply from the leader of the Anti-Saloon League in Texas. In a letter to the Record News, Rev. Webb has the following to say in reply to Mr. Graham:

To the Wichita Falls Record News, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Marked copies of your paper containing the denunciation from the old time anti, Elmer Graham, of Graham, Texas, has been received. When such letters as that are received by this office we think they are worthy only of the waste basket. I was surprised to see that you thought it worthy of a place in your columns.

Answering that letter through your columns allow me to say that what Mrs. Ferguson claims concerning her prohibition record, or anything else, cuts very little figure in this election, for her husband has been going over the country saying that when Ma Ferguson was elected, he (Jim) would be governor. I think no intelligent citizen can question that fact. So the vote is for the impeached governor Jim Ferguson or Judge Felix Robertson. Between the two I must choose Judge Robertson.

Ma Always The Boss.

I note that Jim Ferguson says that Ma is always boss. I am wondering if she was boss when Jim Ferguson received $156,500 from the brewers when he was governor, and then swore that he did not get it from them. If she was boss then, I don't want that kind of bossing in the governor's office any more.

I note the reference to Bill Hanger, John Mathis and Sam Sparks, calling them the biggest anti-prohibitionists in Texas. Allow me to say they did fight for the brewers and I fought them with all my might. But when the 18th amendment was adopted, as every loyal American citizen should do, they turned over and I am unable to find since then one iota in their record opposing the 18th amendment or its adequate enforcement. The fact is in my attempt to secure the enforcement of this law I have had material aid from those men. Bill Hanger, since he quit that crowd has joined the Presbyterian church.

Others With Graham.

I note that Mr. Graham as of old has still with him Oscar B. Colquitt, impeached Governor Jim Ferguson, Barry Miller, John Henry Kirby, and possibly the entire line of the old time liquor crowd except a few that have gotten on the water wagon since the adoption of the 18th amendment. He is welcome to this crowd. I can't go with him.

Now concerning J. E. Binkley's candidacy, allow me to say that I advertised in the Home and State for every prohibitionist in Texas running for office to furnish me with information concerning his candidacy so that I could give them an adequate write-up in the Home and State. As Mr. Binkley failed even to let me know that he was in the race, the fault is not mine.

Evidently Elmer Graham is cussing me out because I will not quit my fight for prohibition and join him in fighting the klan. I have pledged the people of Texas to let every partisan question alone except prohibition. I cannot and will not join in fighting for or against the klan. I have a full man's job fighting for prohibition.

(Signed) ATTICUS WEBB.

SMITH FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

Victim of New Mexico Auto Accident to be Buried in Rosemont

Funeral services for H. I. Smith, 56, who died Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Greenville, New Mexico, following an automobile accident near that place Thursday afternoon will be held from the home, 1812 Tenth street Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. A. J. Holt, officiating.

Mr. Smith was born November 14, 1867, at Opelika, Alabama. He married Miss Helen Dunn at Pilot Point, Texas, in 1889. Mr. Smith has been a member of the Baptist church since he was 20 years old and has been a member of the First Baptist church of this city since he came here six years ago. He is well known in Wichita Falls, having been an oil operator here for the past six years.

Leaves Wife and 2 Children.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. John O'Neil and Mrs. Enoree Wilfe, of this city; and two brothers, Herbert Smith of Waco, and John Smith of Alabama; two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Topeka, Kansas, and Mrs. Sophia Phillips of Mangum, Oklahoma.

Burial will be in the Rosemont burial park with the Merkle Undertaking company having charge of the burial.

The following men will serve as pallbearers: W. L. Robertson, H. A. O'Neil, L. O. Brown, Robert Farmer, O. W. Coxs, and W. R. Worley.

Electra Babe Badly Hurt In Fall At Home

James Grey, three years old, son of Mrs. L. C. Grey, of Electra, is in the general hospital in this city in a serious condition as a result of an accident Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The baby was playing on the front porch of his mother's home in Electra when he lost his balance and fell on the front steps. In falling the little fellow struck a shoe cleaner that was attached to the step and crushed his right eye ball. He was rushed to the general hospital immediately where an operation was performed which removed his eyeball.

3 CARS TAKEN, ALL RECOVERED

Machines Removed from City Streets and Stripped

A wave of car thefts swept over the city Saturday night, according to police records which showed that three automobiles and a large number of casings were stolen from the down town streets. All three of the machines taken Saturday night were recovered Sunday morning but not until they had been stripped.

An Essex touring car owned by Frank Haley was the first to be reported missing. A little later an Oldsmobile tool pusher owned by the W. R. B. Tool company was stolen, and still later a Dodge touring, the property of E. E. Bailey, was driven from its parking place.

Country roads revealed all three of the cars Sunday morning, but tires, batteries, coils and other removable parts had been taken from each.

Half a dozen tubes and casing removed from the rear end of cars parked on the streets were still missing yesterday.

Juvenile Thieves In Jail Again Cops Are Puzzled

For the second time in less than a month, two boys aged 8 and 9 are held in the city jail, smiling and unperturbed through their arrest on charges of theft. This time they were caught and have admitted stealing a pocketbook containing $8 in cash; once before they were caught and admitted stealing a pistol, a large assortment of groceries, a small amount of cash and with attempting to make away with an automobile.

Took Purse From Room

The youngsters were arrested in the Hearn hotel Sunday afternoon after a man, a local engineer living at the hotel, enticed them back to be held for the officers. His purse had been taken from his room last Friday and he had suspected the pair whom he had noted running around through the place. Finding them on the streets Sunday, he took them to his room on promises of giving them some circulars to distribute over the city. The officers were called and the pair readily admitted having taken the money.

Officers of the city hall are plainly puzzled as to what to do with the boys. Their parents, it is said, are unable to keep them at home; they have been seen about the streets at all hours and are apparently immune to chastisement, persuasion or exortation.

Bought a Suit

In their cell at the jail yesterday the two laughed gaily and talked freely of their exploits. The elder of the two who, by the way, is considerably the smaller and who does not appear to be over 5 or 6, seems to be the ring leader. Questioned as to what he had done with the money found in the hotel room purse he said they had bought a swimming suit, had bought a lot of "cakes," gone to shows, bought some sandwiches and taken a ride on a street car. He confessed he thought he ought to be spanked and said his mother "sure did whip him when he got out of jail the other time."

Spanking Coming

The larger companion, while less talkative, was equally responsive when questioned. He said he "had done some stealing" after his smaller but older leader had told him what to do. A spanking seemed to be his idea of proper correction and he was evidently laboring under the impression that he had one coming for this latest exploit.

The fact that they were in jail was plainly the least disconcerting factor in their young lives. It was simply a big lark.

Police frankly declared that the case was without parallel in their knowledge and that they didn't know what to do.

HODGINS SAYS KICKS ARE NOT MADE ON CITY

Chief Makes Public Letter Denying Reports of Misconduct

ASKS PUBLIC AID

Wants Reports of "Official" Visits of Officers Made to Him at Once

Complaints that men posing as members of the city police department have visited a number of Wichita Falls homes lately and have deported themselves in a manner unbecoming to an officer have prompted a denial from Chief of Police Hodgins that any of these visitors were connected with the city department.

In a letter addressed to the public and presented to the Record News last night, the chief has asked that any such offenses be reported to him immediately.

His full letter is as follows:

Full Letter.

To The Public:

Owing to the fact that numerous complaints have been received at police headquarters concerning men who claim to be connected with this department, and in a great many instances have acted in a manner unbecoming an officer, I feel it my duty in justice to the public and to the men of the department to write this letter and make the following explanation in order that there will be no occasion in the future for the citizens of Wichita Falls being in doubt as to what department the officer belongs with whom they may have dealings.

Each and every member of the police department is equipped with a badge and commission. The badges worn by the patrolmen, traffic officers and motorcycle officers are numbered, while those of the detective department read "Detective—Wichita Falls".

In this connection I desire to say that any citizen having dealings with an officer is at liberty and has the right to require the officer to show his badge and give his name. Any officer failing or refusing to do this will be promptly dealt with by me.

It is the policy of this department that all officers shall be courteous and gentlemanly in their dealings with the public at all times.

In conclusion, I desire to say that any citizen feeling that he or she has been dealt with unfairly by the members of this department I will deem it a personal favor if you will report the matter direct to me in order that I may make a personal investigation of same.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) Geo. Hodgins,
Chief of Police.

Reformations Mark Teaching Of God, Claim

"The history of God's dealing with his people brings before us one reformation after another from the early days until the present time," declared Pastor C. U. Taylor in his study at the Buchanan street tabernacle last evening. Continuing he said, "Surely man's nature is well described by the Bible where it says, 'The imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth,' for we find the record often saying 'They forgot God' and 'Did that which is evil,' and God sent unto them his servants who led them back to the worship of the true God. Among some of the greater reformations of Bible times are those of Josiah, Hezekiah, Nehemiah and others, wherein great transformations were wrought by calling the people back to the Bible.

"Is it any wonder then," continued the speaker, "that we find the prophecy pointing out the great reformation of these last days. The condition is pointed out by the Prophet Ezekiel, in the following words:

"'Her priests have violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things; they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they showed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my Sabbaths and I am profaned among them.'

"God designed that his priests should 'Teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean . . . and they shall keep my laws and statutes in all mine assemblies; and they shall hallow my Sabbaths.' Then a priest that will do this will be called, 'A repairer of the breach, the restorer of paths to dwell in' and will enjoy the blessings of Isaiah 56."

The subject for Tuesday evening is, "Prophetic Scenes of the Judgment."

BUSY TIME FOR COUNCIL TODAY

New Tax Bids, Streets and Routine Matters Up for Attention

Another busy session is in store tonight for the city council when it meets to dispose of the business piling up during the past week. A number of minor matters are scheduled for disposition, it is said.

Chief of the evening's items, probably, will be consideration of bids for the installation of the city's new tax assessing and equalizing system. One bid has already been received and others are expected this evening. At least one Wichita Falls concern, and possibgly others, are expected to submit a plan. The bid now on hand was received from an eastern firm.

Several paving matters and the usual mass of routine business affairs will come up, it is understood.

Small Crowd Out To Help Charity Fund

Due to the intense warm weather Saturday night a crowd smaller than expected attended the lawn party and dance at the Haven Tea Rooms for the benefit of the milk and ice fund. It was hoped by those in charge that enough money would be raised to discontinue the fund for the remainder of the summer. Plenty of people attended the party, according to Mrs. Marian Wilton who was in charge, but the majority remained in their cars in the street instead of making purchases or dancing. Mrs. Wilton threw open her doors free of charge for the party in hopes that a large sum of money could be raised.

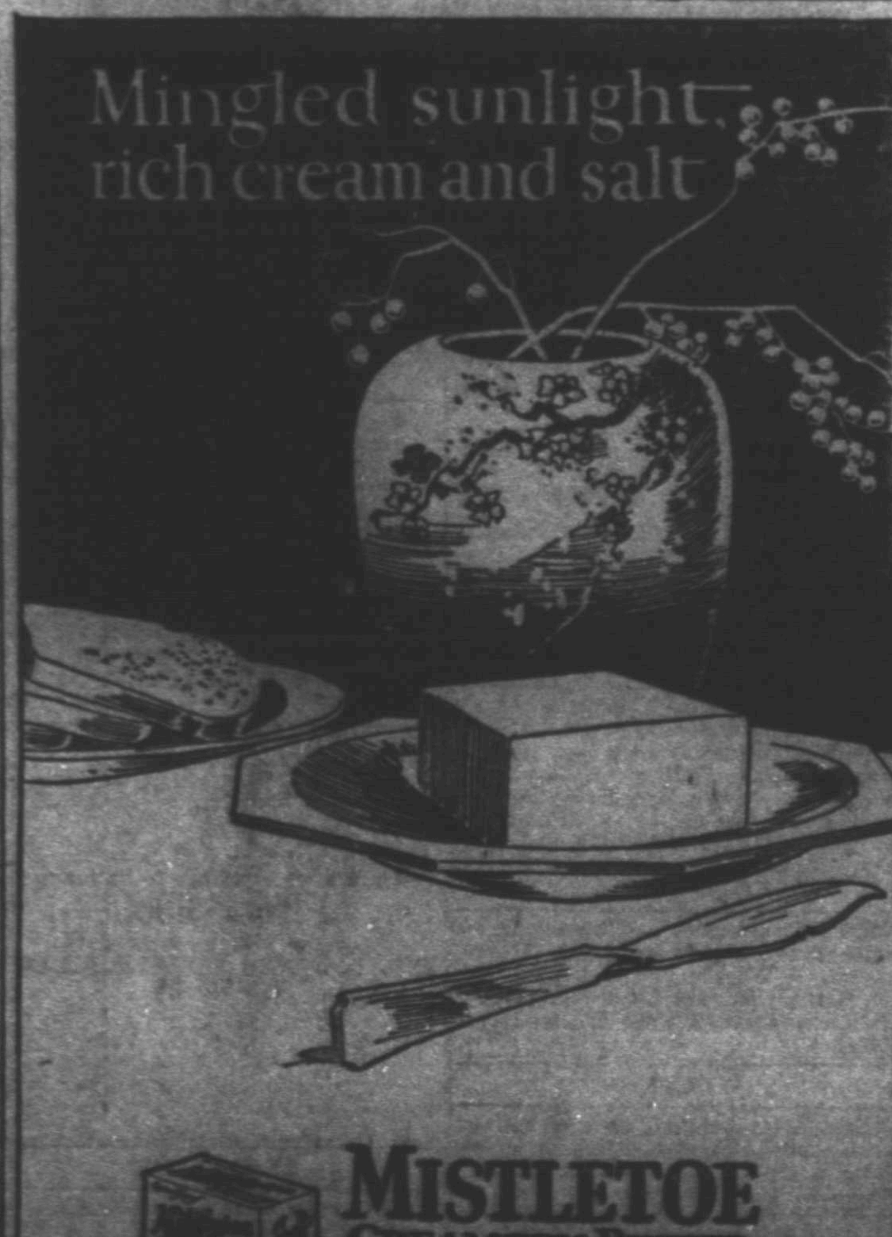

Because of a number of small bills unpaid it was impossible Sunday to estimate just how much money had been cleared.

Due to the small crowd and the limited amount of money received the members of the Original Arkansaser's Orchestra voted after the party not to charge for their services and to donate all the money received to the fund.

FORD COUPE IS STOLEN FROM PARK

A Ford coupe, the property of J. T. Reece of Dallas was stolen Sunday afternoon from the baseball park, according to reports to the police. The machine had been parked near the edge of the park and was gone when the owner looked for it after the games.

No trace of the machine had been found last night.

Ford Has 10 Days In Which to Get Out Of Repub Senate Contest

Next Move in Situation Up to Detroit Man; May Buck Couzens in Senatorial Battles.

By The Associated Press.

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 10—Henry Ford, six months ago a democratic candidate for United States senator and now an involuntary candidate for the republican nomination for the same office, has 10 days in which to eliminate himself from the lists in the state-wide primary September 9.

Charles J. Deland, secretary of state, who accepted nominating petitions for the Detroit manufacturer, made this announcement today after obtaining a ruling from the state attorney general's office. Mr. Ford's name will go on the ballot, the secretary of state declared, unless a letter of telegram asking that his name be withdrawn is received from him before the ballots are printed 10 days hence.

Filed in Last Minute.

The Ford petition, signatures to which were obtained by a Detroit directory solicitor, were filed almost at the last minute yesterday afternoon by Peter Fagan, secretary of the public utilities commission. Mr. Fagan declined to disclose who sponsored the Ford boom and his chief, William W. Peter, chairman of the commission, who is a candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, disclaimed responsibility for the movement. Fagan brought petitions containing approximately 34,000 names, although only slightly more than 7,000 were required.

Will Oppose Couzens.

Unless Mr. Ford withdraws his name from the lists the September primary will find him opposing his former business associate, James Couzens, incumbent, for the republican nomination as well as three other aspirants to the office.

All present republican members of congress from Michigan are seeking renomination and with the exception of Earl C. Michener in the second district, all will have opposition in the primaries. In the first district, now represented by Robert Clancy, nine are seeking the republican nomination, but Clancy is unopposed for the democratic nomination.

$1,000 LOSS WHEN FLAMES SWEEP HOME

Loss estimated at $1,000 was sustained at 3:30 Sunday morning when fire of undetermined origin swept the home of J. H. Byers, 1403 Travis street. The building was not completely destroyed, according to reports of firemen, but probably will have to be rebuilt.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.
