WHO SAID 13 IS UNLUCKY?—Here's proof that the old "13" superstition is strictly bugaboo. In the Great Seal of the United States, emblem of American heritage, the number 13 appears in six different symbols, as noted on this sketch. Despite this multiple "jinx," Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews seem to have done all right since the seal was designed for the Continental Congress in 1782.

Russia Claims Allies Evading Blockade End

Soviet Protest Is Voiced; Charges Called Nonsense

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 13.—The Russians accused the Western Allies today of "torpedoing" the agreement to lift the Berlin blockade.

A western spokesman promptly labelled the accusation "a lot of nonsense." The spokesman was Lawrence Wilkinson, economics adviser to the U. S. military governor. "We were told by our governments to remove all restrictions put into effect since March 1, 1948," he said. "We've done that and more."

The Soviet protest was voiced informally, through the mouthpiece of the Soviet army newspaper in Germany, Taegliche Rundschau.

Implied Threat Seen

"The western powers are evading the lifting of their restrictions under invalid pretexts," it charged.

"The agrement cannot be fulfilled by the Soviet side alone," it added.

Some observers saw in those words an implied threat to reimpose the blockade—but such a step would be a matter of policy for higher authorities than the Russians in Germany to decide.

But the Rundschau statements did lend emphasis to the Russian need for getting supplies from western Germany for her nearly bankrupt occupation zone.

Wilkinson said that at a four-power meeting of economic chiefs here yesterday the Russian representative insisted on a formal order reinstating the East-West trade agreement of 1948. The Allies contend it is no longer applicable, he said. Wilkinson said another meeting may be held today.

Free To Buy, Sell

"We told him East Germans were welcome to buy or sell anything they wanted with the West Germans and that the western powers would not restrict interzonal trade," Wilkinson said. "All individual contracts made by German firms under the 1948 agreement could be revived if the firms so wished. But he kept quibbling that the 1948 agreement had to be officially reinstated as of March 1 last year."

However, one source of friction, a dispute over exports from Berlin to the western zones—seemed to have been removed.

The Soviets had incurred western wrath yesterday by refusing to allow trucks from West Berlin to travel to the western occupation

Water Supply Gone, Liquor Substituted

DAWSON, Yukon, May 13 (U.P.) — Muddy flood water seeping into the city's water supply system forced residents today to turn to liquor as the only substitute for drinking water.

Melting snow from the surrounding hills has flooded the city's wells, causing the water which flows from water taps to be a dirty, chocolate brown.

Outboards Are Taken At Lake

Looters who took advantage of deep mud and silt left by the recent floodtide at Buffalo lakes to make off with two expensive outboard engines were being sought today by the sheriff's department and other officials of law enforcement.

J. M. Kennedy of the lake boathouse informed sheriff's deputies that a 16 and a 10-horsepower engine, owned respectively by Tom Crawford and a Mr. Owen, both of Brownfield, had been taken there Wednesday night or Thursday.

Tracks Of No Value

Tracks were of no value in official efforts to identify culprits; the mud around the boathouse was too soft and deep.

The 10 hp engine was identified as a Mercury, the 16 hp engine as a Johnson.

Nothing Reported Taken

The tool room of the E. W. McFarling farm on Lubbock route 2 was broken and entered but nothing was reported taken. McFarling's car was stripped, however. Missing were gloves, a cigaret lighter and a mirror.

In county court, it was announced that Dal Sam Bennett, 31, of Enid, Okla., had pleaded guilty of drunk driving and had been fined $75 and court costs. His operator's license was suspended for six months.

A 21-year-old Snyder negro was arrested by police Thursday night for investigation of a charge of theft over $50—a ladies wrist watch valued at $69.50 from Mrs.

Court Recognizes In-Law Troubles

STOCKHOLM, May 13. (AP)—Mothers-in-law may have a bad influence. A harassed husband in Joenkoeping, in southern Sweden, has a court verdict to prove it.

The husband had lived happily with his wife for three years when his mother-in law moved in on the couple.

The man changed completely. He burgled cellar stores, forged a bank document, embezzled $400 from a brewery, and finally landed in court.

The husband pleaded guilty and was sentenced to eight months hard labor. However, the sentence was suspended after the man's attorney told the bitter truth: the mother-in-law had moved into the same room with the couple.

F. P. Matthews, Omaha Lawyer, Named By HST

Nomination Likely To Go To Senate This Afternoon

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 13. — Francis Patrick Matthews, Omaha lawyer, was named secretary of the Navy today.

The White House announced that Matthews, 62, widely known Catholic layman, has been picked to succeed John L. Sullivan.

Sullivan quit recently with a blast at Secretary of Defense Johnson for halting work on the Navy's super aircraft carrier.

Kimball Is Promoted

President Truman also announced he is promoting Dan A. Kimball to undersecrtary of the Navy. Kimball is now assistant secretary. He is a Californian.

Kimball succeeds former Undersecretary W. John Kenney whose resignation was announced last week.

Army Post In Doubt

Matthews is a Democrat and was a member of the President's committee on civil rights in 1948. He is a graduate of Creighton university and a native of Albion, Nebr.

Ross said that the President is not yet ready to name a new secretary of the Army to succeed Kenneth C. Royall, who also resigned.

The President told a recent news conference he still hoped Curtis E. Calder, New York utilities executive, would accept the Army post.

Selection of Matthews followed the refusal of Jonathan Daniels, North Carolina editor, to accept the Navy job.

During the war, Matthews served as an official of the National War Fund, the United Service Organizations and the board on war prisoners' aid. He received the medal for merit in 1946.

He has been active for years in civic and educational affairs.

PARIS, May 13 (U.P.)—Dr. Philip Jessup, U. S. ambassador at large, and Charles Bohlen, State department counsellor, arrived by plane today to begin laying the groundwork for the big four meeting on Germany starting May 23.

Jessup and Bohlen were expected to meet soon with British and French officials for preliminary talks. Jessup said those talks would be a "normal continuation" of those which had been going on among representatives of the three countries.

Former Marine Will Return To His Home

Appeal Of French War Bride Is Answered By Ill Husband

MRS. GEORGE HIGGINS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, May 13 — George E. Higgins will return to his French war bride whom he left for fear of exposing her to tuberculosis.

The 39-year-old former Marine radio operator had left their New Orleans home, after writing a note saying he did not expect to live more than another year.

He Has Started Back

Mrs. Higgins, 25-year-old native of Lyons, France, pleaded for him to return. He heard of her appeal in Philadelphia and started back.

Higgins telephoned her today from Savannah, Ga., the overjoyed bride said. She arranged to fly there to meet him and accompany him back to New Orleans.

"Now that I know George will be back we can plan what to do to get him well," she said. "I'll do anything to help him."

HOLLAND TUBE TRAFFIC HALTED

Fumes From Tunnel Blast Overcome 30

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 13 — Thirty persons were overcome when drums of chemicals exploded on a truck in the Holland tunnel today, filling the two-mile long underwater highway with carbon disulphide fumes.

The series of explosions, touched off when the big trailer truck caught fire, halted all traffic in the heavily traveled tunnel under the Hudson river.

Vital communication lines were disrupted. Other vehicles, stalled behind the truck, caught fire. Walls and ceiling of the tunnel were damaged badly.

Trucks Still Smouldering

Manhattan Borough President Hugo E. Rogers said at noon after returning from a trip in the tunnel that 10 or 12 trucks still were smouldering there. Rogers said the damage was so heavy that the tube might have to be closed down for "the better part" of a month.

The heavily travelled highway, connecting New York and New Jersey, is main link in transcontinental traffic.

The accident occurred in the east-bound tube at 7:48 a. m. (EST), at the height of the early-morning rush hour.

The blast knocked out telephone service to New England and the west. The American Telephone and Telegraph company said five of its long lines cable and one cable of the New York Telephone company were affected.

The Jersey Bell telephone said hundreds of its circuits were dis-

Boy Scout Trick Used To Revive Man From Dead

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (U.P.) An old Boy Scout trick revived a man who lay "dead" on an operating table for about 15 minutes, his doctor revealed today.

The physician, who would not allow his name to be used, said he revived the man by breaking one of his bones.

He Promptly "Died"

The physician said Reid C. Lewis, 46-year-old aircraft worker, went to his office for minor surgery last Friday. He was injected with sodium pentathol anesthetic and promptly "died."

"By every medical criterion he was dead," said the doctor. "There was cessation of breathing, no audible heart beat, no discernible blood pressure and loss of superficial and deep reflexes."

The physician and his assistant injected coramine into Lewis' heart and applied artificial respiration with oxygen pumped directly into the lungs, but nothing worked.

Snapped His Rib

Then the doctor remembered his Boy Scout handbook instruction that breaking a bone will sometimes revive a seemingly drowned person. He snapped Lewis' 10th left rib with hands and the patient revived.

Doctor said that in cases where such violent treatment works, it apparently "shocks" the heart into action.

"I decided to wait a week for the operation, but I didn't tell the patient what happened," said the physician. "He might have refused to have it done, and it was an operation he needed."

But he did tell Reid's wife, and she kept the secret, the doctor said.

Water-Logged Plains Sector Again Soaked

Muleshoe Houses Damaged; Railway Tracks Inundated

BY BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Rain squalls that halted abruptly just southeast of Lubbock left a water-logged South Plains even more soggy today after greatly varied falls were reported over a wide area north and west of Lubbock.

Hardest hit was Muleshoe, where a fall this morning officially measured at 3.66 inches by R. J. Klump, city secretary, left lakes standing in low parts of the town and covered the floors of some houses to a depth of two feet.

Tracks Under Water

Although the measurement in Muleshoe was 3.66 inches, the Santa Fe railroad received reports of five-inch fall in the near vicinity and reported that its tracks were under water on a section between Muleshoe and Sudan.

A low section of the Muleshoe-Sudan highway also was under water and two trucks were reported to have struck the water and become stalled, without injury to occupants.

Bailey County Judge Cecil H. Tate of Muleshoe said he had heard of no severe damage in Bailey county. Like Mr. Klump, Judge Tate remarked that Muleshoe is well drained and except for scattered low places, the water soon dissipated. However, some city mail routes discontinued delivery temporarily this morning.

Still Generally Dry

A pilot flying over the Post area late this morning reported he ran into light rains, but the area southeast of Lubbock was still generally dry at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Slaton received a light shower this morning. Rains from one-fourth to one-half inch were reported falling this morning from west of Post to Lamesa and west of Lamesa.

At Sudan, a three-inch rain fell this morning, but no damage was reported.

Measurements Varied

At other points in the area, the moisture ranged from light showers to two and one-half inches, and most of the heavy fall, while scattered generally, occurred in localized areas.

Lubbock received .29 inch of rain between 2:50 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. today, official measurement at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport showed.

German Basic Laws Approved

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 13 (AP)—The Western allies approved with reservations Thursday night the new West German federal republic's draft constitution.

Thus they gave themselves a high trump card for use in the May 23 Paris peace talks with Russia seeking a solution to the entire German problem.

They are shooting for an ultimate agreement uniting the Soviet zone of Germany with the republic and hope the constitution, which guarantees a free government of the people, will be the basis for settlement.

The Americans, British and French also ordered an "occupation statute" or interim peace treaty for the Western occupation zones' 45,000,000 Germans, to come into force the day the West German government takes office.

Awaits Ratification

The draft constitution now goes to the 11 state parliaments in western Germany for ratification which may be completed before the end of May.

The military governors signed with reservations designed to make sure that no "jokers" in the constitution's wording would permit the Germans to do these things:

1. Violate the occupation statute which limits German government activity in the fields of armament, the industrial ruhr val-

"OVERWORKED AND UNDER STRAIN"

Carrier Skipper Is Victim In Shooting

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13 — Cmdr. Everett O. Rigsbee, jr., skipper of the aircraft carrier Antietam, was found shot to death yesterday in his quarters aboard ship at Hunter's Point naval shipyard. His widow said he had been "terribly overworked and under great strain."

The Navy immediately summoned a board of investigation to the ship and declined to make a detailed statement until the board makes public its findings.

Death Weapon Near

Unofficial Navy sources, however, said there appeared to be no foul play. The death weapon was reported found near the body.

Homicide inspectors from the San Francisco police department said a bullet from a civilian .38 caliber revolver, fired at a distance of about eight inches, had passed through Rigsbee's head.

Rigsbee, 41, had assumed command of the vessel only ten days ago. He had been executive officer of the 888-foot Essex class carrier since last July.

His widow, Mrs. Helen Rigsbee, told newsmen her husband had left home in good spirits in the morning.

But, she added, he had been terribly overworked and under great strain recently.

Hadn't Had Leave

"He hadn't had a leave of any length for several years," she said. "We both knew he needed a rest, but he could not see any prospect of leave until the ship was decommissioned."

The carrier is in the process of joining the mothball, or reserve, fleet.

Rigsbee was a native of Fort Stockton, Tex. He attended Texas A. & M. and was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1930.

He took flight training at Pensacola, Fla., and from December, 1944, to December, 1945, he commanded the seaplane tender Orca.

During the recent war he commanded patrol bombing squadron 117 and won many decorations with it in the Pacific.

He was public information officer at Corpus Christi two years before leaving last June to become executive officer of the Antietam.

New Order To Keep Up Firemen's Pants

MERCED, Calif., May 13 (AP) —There was a new order in the Merced fire department today.

The new chief, George Collures, is tired of seeing firemen fight fires one-handed.

"When a man rolls into a big fire," he said, "he needs all the air he can get. He takes off his belt. Then he has to fight the fire with one hand and try to hold up his pants with the other."

The new order: suspenders as standard equipment.

Military Pay Bill Advances

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—The House armed services committee unanimously approved today a bill to boost the pay of members of the armed force.

The vote was 28 to 0 after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) read a letter from Defense Secretary Louis Johnson approving the measure and stating that the Budget Bureau, speaking for the President, has no objection.

The bill, estimated to cost $406,000,000 a year, probably will go before the House for debate late this month.

It is expected to run into a barrage of opposition from members urging economy on all federal spending fronts.

The bill would boost pay for the next to lowest enlisted grade by about three per cent, and zoom up to almost a 50 per cent raise for generals and admirals.

The raises would average approximately 14 per cent, with everybody but the bottom enlisted grade getting an increase.

In explanation, Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) chairman of the subcommittee which held public hearings on the bill, told the full committee:

"It is no exaggeration to state that the recruit, comparatively speaking, is the highest paid man in the uniformed services if we are willing to accept the theory of pay for rank and responsibility."

He declared the armed services are losing out in competition with private industry for competent high-ranking officers. Resignations are increasing, he said, and officers who stay in the military services now do so at "financial sacrifices."

Los Angeles Shaken By Earth Tremors

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP) — Los Angeles was shaken early today by an earthquake that startled residents out of bed but apparently caused no damage.

The tremor was a distinct one, being felt the hardest in cities throughout the San Gabriel and San Fernando alleys such as Altadena, Pasadena, Burbank and Glendale. Long Beach, scene of a disastrous quake in 1933, said there was a gentle rumbling there.

It shook buildings in downtown and eastern Los Angeles. Police switchboards were swamped with calls but all of them were anxious queries. The sheriff's office said that it had no reports of damage.

Apparently, the quake was local. San Bernardino, Lancaster, Indio and other cities in Southern California reported that it was unfelt.

Reds Take Hankow Without Opposition

SHANGHAI, May 13 (U.P.) — American reports reaching here today said that Hankow, the most important industrial city in central China, has fallen to the Communists.

The reports, relayed here via Canton, indicated that the Reds walked in without opposition. They said Hankow was quiet today and all Nationalist troops had evacuated southward.

City Nuisance Law Favored

A far-reaching "nuisance ordinance" was approved on first reading at a recessed meeting of the city commission this morning.

One of its more drastic provisions would forbid the flow of water and other waste from air conditioners, garages and auto washing establishments into streets, alleys and gutters.

Another would require owners to keep vacant property clear of weeds, trash and stagnating pools of water between June 1 and Oct. 1 of each year. If the owner did not attend to such work, the director of public health would be empowered to order it done and assess the cost against the property.

Final Hearing Set

Other provisions of the lengthy ordinance would place the responsibility upon owners to prevent overflows and to control odors from sewers and cesspools; tighten regulations governing the keeping of poultry within the city limits, and regulate the movement and parking of livestock trucks within the city.

Violations would be punishable by a fine up to $200.

The ordinance was recommended by Gerald E. Jarvis, director of the city-county public health and welfare program.

It is scheduled for consideration on second and final reading by the commission at the semi-monthly meeting May 26 if approved then,

Woman Says Boy Suspected She Cared More For Daughter

Self-Styled Child Psychologist Is Jailed In Fatal Beating Of Her "Jealous" Infant Son

(By The Associated Press)

HAZLETON, Pa., May 13 —A 26-year-old woman who described herself as a child psychologist, was held on a murder charge today in the fatal beating of her infant son.

Jailed is Mrs. Martha Woodson Kalwaic, an expectant mother.

Police Chief Steve Havrilla said she told him she beat her 15-month-old son, Henry, on the head because she thought he was developing "a Freudian jealousy of Karen (his sister), suspecting I cared more for Karen."

Havrilla said the young woman added she suspected "the boy was going into temper tantrums to annoy the little girl" and so she decided to punish him by repeated slapping.

The police chief said the baby's abdomen was purple from beating, both lips were discolored and his head injured from banging on a floor.

While Mrs. Kalwaic remained in jail, her husband, Dr. Henry J. Kalwaic, 30, a dentist, was in seclusion with Karen, who is two and one-half years old.

The woman was arrested yesterday two hours after the child died at Hazleton hospital. Havrilla said she was coherent and calm except for two wild outbursts of tears.

Mrs. Kalwaic said she studied psychology at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., and taught school at Richmond before she was married.

She said, Havrilla related, that when she first began to suspect her son of "Freudian jealousy," she decided to send

Deep Gaines County Wildcat Develops Devonian Prospects

Devonian prospects have developed at Pacific Western Oil Corporation No 1 Oil Development company fee, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields in northwest Gaines county.

The venture cored from 11,535 feet to 11,443 feet and recovered chunks of lime showing fluorescence and porosity. Soft coring was reported, but no soft material was recovered. It was believed lost from the core. Total recovery was estimated at eight feet.

On last report, the wildcat was cutting another core below 11,553 feet in lime. No results of that procedure are available.

Unofficial sources say that if the core now being cut makes promising shows, pipe will be run for production tests.

New Drilling Planned

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Drilling will be started immediately at a one-location stepout from a recently completed Canyon-Pennsylvanian lime discovery in central Scurry county.

The new exploration is to be H. J. Shipley of Lubbock, et al, No. 1 Ida Maxwell. The drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 191, block 97, H&TC survey.

That makes it a diagonal southwest outpost to Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 H. G. Moore. That development, located in the southwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 207, block 97, H&TC survey, was finished for a flowing potential of 161 barrels of 41.2 gravity oil, plus 25 barrels of basic sediment and water, through a 5/32th inch choke. The production came from perforated section at 6,845-65 feet.

Shipley Plans 7,000 Feet

The Shipley, et al No. 1 Maxwell is slated to dig to 7,000 feet unless it finds and tests the Canyon before reaching that point. Rotary tools will be used.

H. J. Shipley, et al, No. 2 Ida Maxwell also has been staked. It is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 191, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it one-quarter of a mile south of the same operators No. 1 Maxwell. It is also slated to go to 7,000 feet. Drilling on that project likely will not be started until after No. 1 Maxwell is completed.

Both explorations are to be on a lease secured by Shipley in a farmout from Magnolia Petroleum company.

Magnolia No. 1 Eicke, prospective Canyon lime discovery in central Scurry county, four miles west of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 209, block 97, H&TC survey, had flowed 28 barrels of new oil in six hours, and was still flowing at last report.

Production At 6,710

The production was coming from perforated section in the casing at 6,710-78 feet. That interval had been washed with 200 gallons of mud acid prior to the latest flow.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Cunningham-Shell, southwest Gaines county discovery for flowing oil from a Pennsylvanian lime, between 8,800 feet and 9,000 feet, had reached 9,506 feet in lime and chert, and was drilling ahead.

No recently indications of production have been reported from this exploration. It is on the west side of the Doss field, which produces from a Permian lime above 7,200 feet, and is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey.

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Deep Rock Oil Corporation were drilling ahead toward the west-central Andrews county Ellenburger with their No. 1 A. L. Mayhew, et al, wildcat 30 miles west of the town of Andrews.

Below 3,000 Feet

Last report had it below 3,631 feet in lime and anhydrite. Unofficial top of the anhydrite was picked at 1,580 feet, on an elevation of 3,279 feet. The Yates sand was entered on an unofficial top of 3,020 feet. The Ellenburger is expected to come in above 12,000 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 20, block A-51, psl survey.

Actress Went On Safari To See Big Game, But Startled At Lions Outside Her Tent

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Actress Janet Gaynor said today she went to darkest Africa to see wild and dangerous game but was a little startled to be greeted by roaring lions just outside her tent in the dark of 2 a. m.

The petite film star paused briefly in New York with her husband, the noted Hollywood designer, Adrian, on their way to Hollywood from a six weeks safari through the heart of equatorial Africa.

The hair on my head felt like it was literally standing on end," she said, "the first time I heard those lions roar. It was just as I had been told it would be—they seem like they are right in the room with you. And these almost were!"

Experience Related

It was the Adrian's first night on safari when the designer awakened his wife. She retold the experience:

"'Do you hear what I hear?' Adrian asked me. I did. It was at least two lions just outside our tent.

"When our white hunter came over from his tent and told Adrian to get a flashlight and come with him they offered to take me. I decided to trust to the safety of my mosquito netting.

"Sure enough when they got outside they turned on their beams and there directly in front of them were two pairs of enormous yellow eyes. The lions growled but after a while went off.

"The next morning we discovered a leopard had been prowling outside our tent."

The Adrians went to Libya, the Sudan, Kenya, Uganda and the Belgian Congo.

PLANE WRECKS MARKED

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass. (U.P.)—Bright yellow X's have been painted on the wreckage of four planes which crashed in New York's Catskills during the past few years. The action was taken so that rescue pilots from this air base won't be confused by the old wreckage when searching for missing planes.

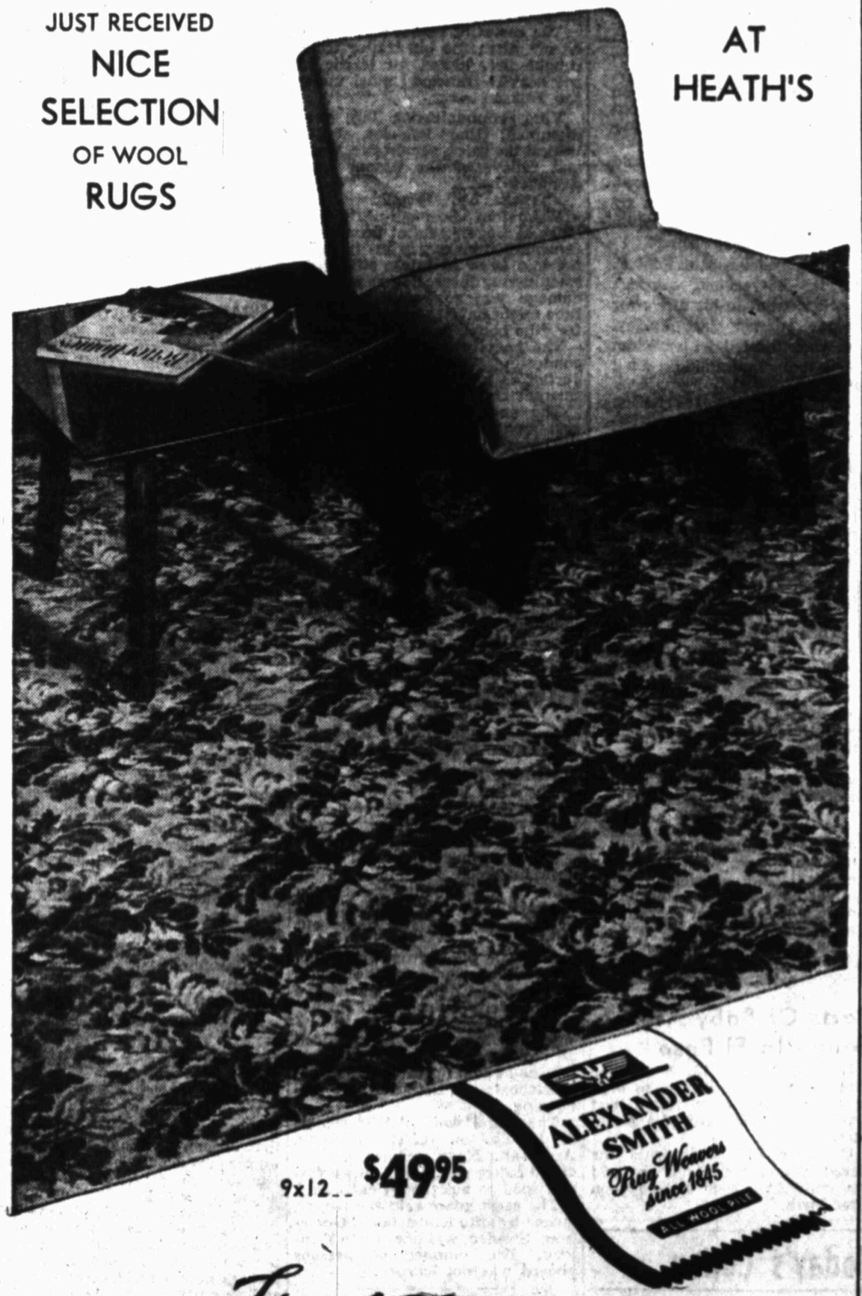

Giant Lizard Loses Battle Of Barnyard

SYDNEY, Australia, May 13 (AP) The animal and bird population of an Australian farmyard at Wallumbille, Queensland, recently turned on a large monitor lizard which had been raiding the farmyard's eggs. Hearing a clamor, the farmer's wife found the monitor cornered by a 10-months-old colt, three cats, 15 hens, two roosters, a Pomeranian dog and a cattle dog.

They were supported by two kittens and several fowls which had taken to nearby trees. The woman killed the monitor with a shot gun. It was nearly five feet long from snout to tail tip.

Advice From Mary Haworth

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband went to college in my home town, made many good friends here, and decided to settle here after the war. We have been married five years and have a daughter nine months old.

I liked Jim's college chums and he liked my friends—office associates, former schoolmates, etc.,—so all became our mutual friends. Everything was dandy until our cronies started having babies. Then suddenly everybody wanted to stay home; that is, all except Jim and me. Or if they come to see us they drag their progeny along.

I could scream with boredom as we sit in a circle, watching, nodding and smiling at little Mary Sue; or discussing Junior's teeth, food habits, etc One couple has become so obsessed with the subject of their child that they can talk of nothing else.

SAYS HER HUSBAND IS DEPRESSED, TOO

MOST of these couples have parents or can afford baby-sitters, but it's almost impossible to pry them out. They are so "centered" on their children that the have no interest in sports, world affairs, etc., and I just can't see it.

Jim and I adore our daughter, but we don't bore our friends with her latest antics, nor do we think it necessary to spend every evening sitting home with her. She has a devoted grannie and two aunts who love to take over, and Jim and I enjoy people and activities and want to go out—as my parents did when I was a child—and have our share of fun before it's too late.

Jim and I love each other but we are getting discouraged with life. Tell me, am I wrong and the others right? I am slowly turning away from them; and do you know of any clubs we might join? If only we could find some happy intelligent young couples who feel as we do, with whom we could go out one or two nights a week! Please give us your views and maybe my friends will read them and wake up.

(Signed) C. D.

SHE'S LIKE JOHNNIE IN HIS FIRST PARADE

DEAR C D.: As Johnnie marched by in his first parade, his mother leaned proudly to a neighbor and wheezed "Did you notice that everybody was out of step but Johnnie." Get the idea? It mirrors your slant on your situation.

Thank heaven this is still a free country. If any fond parents are happier staying home, that's their privilege. And if you feel differently, that can't be reckoned a reproach to them. It's not incumbent on them to play your way if they don't care to.

Thus your gripe-thinking is wrong, if you hold your friends guilty of "souring" your fun; and I believe you are out of step with them since babies came because they are more mature in their "living" than you are. They respond comfortably to new situations, not clutching at the past: whereas you balk at change which seems to diminish the importance of "me."

It is a rare experience, of course, to meet a person whose "living" is consciously intelligently addressed to the purpose of achieving some release from bondage to self, and who has made real progress in this respect. But when you do you are struck by an illuminated quality of personality—a simplicity, serenity, happiness of being that is free of "demanding" attitudes, disgruntlement, etc.

You say you are "turning away" from old friends, but I rather think that is face-saving misconception of the truth. More likely they are "moving away" from you, moving on to a new plateau of shared experience: namely, real enjoyment of progeny and deep acceptance of the parent-child relationship.

Your boredom and discouragement and craving for new playmates, now that old friends are placidly home-centered, is an immature plaint. It spells conflict with responsibility and an "escapist" state of mind. Your husband finds this hard to take and he is getting downcast too; yet the antidote isn't another whirl on the merry-go-round of youth, but relaxed acceptance of the "long voyage" you're on.

Applications Taken For LAFB Positions

Applications for civilian jobs at the reactivated Lubbock Air Force base will be received until further notice at the Texas Employment Commission office, 1114 Tenth stret, Lt Col. N. F. Stradleigh, LAFB project officer, announced today.

He emphasized, however, that no one is being employed now and that no information can be supplied as to when and whether jobs will be available.

Colonel Stradleigh said he has been "swamped" with applicants since his announcement at a chamber of commerce "town meeting" Wednesday that he is receiving applications.

He said persons who already have applied to him should make new applications with the employment commission. His files will be referred to that agency. But a direction application will be additional insurance that eligible persons will not be overlooked, if and when job openings occur.

For the present he said, names of applicants merely will be kept on file so applicants can be notified readily of any future development.

Russian Radio Plugs Idea Of Soviet Cooperation With U. S.

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Moscow radio — which of course speaks with the voice of the Kremlin — broadcasts that collaboration between the American and the Russian economic systems is both possible and desirable.

That's a highly important statement, whether you regard it with suspicion or with hope. It's particularly interesting, coming as it does almost on the eve of the Big Four conference set for May 23.

I see no quarrel with the thesis that American and Russian economic systems might collaborate, despite the ideological clash between the two nations.

Needs Are Similar

Communistic and democratic nations have similar economic needs. They must be fed, clothed and housed, and life otherwise must be made worth while. Surely they should be able to engage in economic operations to meet these requirements.

This fact in no way conflicts with the truism that democracy and communism cannot mix ideologically. They are oil and water.

However, when we say that these two differing economic systems might collaborate we must add a proviso. Such collaboration calls for a spirit of amity. And it calls for non-intereference in each other's internal affairs.

This touches a difficulty which frequently has put a strain on Russo-American relations ever since the establishment of the Soviet government. Washington refused to recognize the new Russian state until 1933 because of Moscow's persistent efforts to spread Communism in the United States by means of propaganda and the employment of Red agents.

Relations Broken

Britain, who recognized the Soviet in 1924, encountered similar Communist activities and made frequent raids on the Russian trade company's headquarters in London. Finally London broke off relations in 1927 and didn't resume them again until 1929.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized the Soviet union it was with the specific understanding that all Russian Communist propaganda should cease in America. However, activities of the Comintern (general staff for world revolution) continued to cause so much heat in foreign countries that in 1943 Russia "Abolished" that body, as a gesture towards her allies.

Since the war the "Cominform" has taken the place of the Comintern, and the world revolution goes on. Canada has uncovered her big spy ring with ramifications reaching into the Unted States and Britain, and convicted a number of agents. The United States has had a constant procession of investigations and prosecutions involving foreign agents. Some of the testimony brought out is enough to curl your hair.

Well now, it doesn't take much imagination to see that these harrowing conditions would have to be altered before there could be hearty collaboration, economic or other wise, between Russia and America.

Mind you, we are talking about foreign propaganda and foreign agents whose business it is to organize trouble. It would be silly to think that any great country wouldn't have secret agents prodding about abroad to see what they could find. All the powers have such agents, but their business is to gather information and not to create revolutions or spread propaganda.

If Russia and the United States could in some way iron out this question of interference (and Russia claims to have her own grievances), then it might be possible to implement the Moscow radio's suggestion that economic collaboration is both possible and desirable.

Hubbers Shade Lamesa, 6-5

Mills' Single Scores Winning Tally; Oilers Defeat Abilene

Abilene's 12-game winning streak was stopped last night by, of all teams, the seventh-place Pampa Oilers, who broke the longest winning streak of the year in the West Texas-New Mexico League 2-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Paul Cooke.

Cooke, who bought his release from the Lamesa Loboes only a trio of days ago, was in command all the way and gave up one damaging hit, a home run by Manager Hayden "Stubby" Greer.

Albuquerque went into the league lead by tripping Amarillo 9 to 8 in a 12-inning game. And the Lubbock Hubbers put a stop to their four-game losing streak by upsetting Lamesa 6 to 5 win 10 innings.

Double Play Helps

Cooke's twirling was the high point of the Pampa victory. The slender hurler, with the Oilers on a five-day look, was in trouble often, but never in such deep trouble that he couldn't escape successfully. One double play helped him.

Rena Vega, a good hurler in his own right, allowed only seven hits also, but a run in the third tied the score and Ken Peacock's single in the fifth scored the winning run.

Amarillo got off to a losing start, then scored four runs in the fourth to tie the score. The Gold Sox took a lead in the eighth, increased it in the ninth and then saw the Dukes tie it up in their half of the final canto.

Sox Load Bases

The Sox loaded the sacks in both the 10th and 11th frames, but couldn't squeeze a run across the plate. And the Dukes won in the 12th when Cliff McClain bunted, Allen Maul walked and Manager Hershel Martin singled.

Royce "Rooster" Mills brought the Hubbers to the end of a drought with as timely a single to left centerfield as the 674 paid customers could hope to see. Al Duarte had doubled with one down and after Joe Wisniewski filed out, just missing a home run, Mills ended the game.

The victory went to Cotton Russell, who relieved Don Hensiek in the seventh. Russell gave up an unearned run in the eighth that allowed the Loboes to go ahead, but Mike Dooley slammed his fourth homer of the year to knot the count again in the bottom of the night.

Haskins To Hurl

Tonight the Hubbers and Loboes conclude their two-game sedies and the Hubbers conclude the current home stand. Chris Haskins, former Lobo, will attempt to win his first game of the year. And the fans probably will be wishing him more success than that which didn't come Euiis Rosson's way last night.

Rosson, making his first start of the year, fanned eight and walked only two. But of the 11 hits he gave up, seven were doubles, one was a tripple and one was a homer. Combined with three Lamesa errors, that was enough for the Hubbers.

Abilene Nine Will Test San Angeloans

LAMESA, May 13 (Special) — Lamesa High school's baseball team will be interested sideline watchers today while Abilene and San Angelo teams meet in a crucial District 3-AA baseball game.

They'll literally be onlookers, for the game is in Abilene. And if Abilene wins, Lamesa will be tied for the district title. Abilene beat the Golden Tornadoes Wednesday 5-3 to throw the race into a jumble.

It was announced earlier that the Tornadoes had clinched the district crown by beating San Angelo Tuesday, but a re-check of the standings showed Abilene with an identical record.

Lamesa now has won eight games and lost four and a victory for Abilene Friday would tie the two nines. San Angelo, the defending champion, is out of the race already, along with all other teams.

The play-off game, which will be held if Abilene wins its final game, will be held in Abilene Saturday. The site was selected by coin flip. But if San Angelo wins Friday, Lamesa automatically wins the title.

Odessa Nine Moves Up With 2-1 Win

(By The Associated Press)

Odessa moved into the first division and San Angelo fell out of it in the Longhorn league last night.

Odessa was responsible for San Angelo's tumble, beating the Colts, 2-1.

Ballinger edged Midland, 3-2, scoring the winning run in the sixth on a single by Jones and a sacrifice.

Big Spring downed Sweetwater, 9-3, as Gumbo Helba pitched an eight-hitter while Big Spring pounded 11.

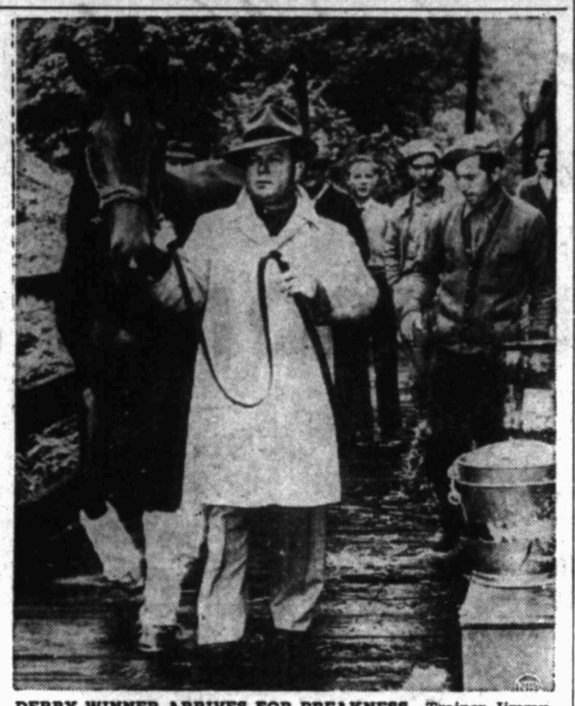

Vernon got 14 hits and Roswell made seven errors—and it added up to a 14-4 Vernon victory.

George Bean Teams Win Softball Tilts

George R. Bean school's softball teams, both boys and girls, took games from the Chris Harwell boys and girls teams yesterday afternoon, the boys winning 3-0 and the girls taking an 11-6 victory.

Darlene Rhoten and Patricia Finger were the battery for the winning girls, while Latrel Thompson and Claudette Waite formed the losing battery.

Donnie Brown pitched the victory for the boys with Bobby Finley catching. Archer Thompson was the losing pitcher. Jerry Shipp and Finley hit home runs for George R. Bean.

Officials Expected To Grant Request

Morris Submits Resignation As Westerners' Cage Mentor

In a request presented to Supt. R. W. Matthews Thursday, Coach Roy Morris, Westerner basketball mentor, asked to be relieved of his coaching duties. Morris coached the Westerners to the District 1-AA championship and the state tourney the past season in his only year as head basketball coach.

Matthews issued a statement later which follows:

"Mr. Roy Morris submitted his request to be relieved of his coaching duties this afternoon. I will recommend to the board that his request be granted. I want to compliment Mr. Morris for the fine work he has done with the athletic department. I am requesting Mr. Morris to remain with us as a full time teacher."

Meeting Set Monday

G. C. Dowell, chairman of the athletic council of the Lubbock Board of Trustees, said Thursday night that he understood the resignation would be brought before a full meeting of the board Monday night.

Rumors to the effect that Morris was stepping out of his post as head cage coach at the high school have been heard for two or three days. However, no one in an official capacity would confirm them until Thursday.

It was understood from authoritative sources that Morris' "resignation" was the result of a disagreement over basic policies of athletics at Lubbock High school.

Disagreement Reported

Morris, it was understood, favored a plan whereby extreme emphasis would be placed upon basketball preparation in advance of the cage season, to the point that regular cagers would spend more time practicing basketball during the football season. Coach Pat Pattison, head mentor and athletic director at Lubbock High, was understood to have opposed this proposal on the grounds that several high school cagers also were needed and could participate full time in football and other sports without hurting their chances on the cage team.

Neither Morris nor Pattison would confirm or deny the above information. Morris said he pledged 100 percent co-operation with school officials.

Team Record Impressive

As head cage coach, Morris saw the Westerners win the District 1-AA and Bi-District honors and then enter the state tournament at Austin The team took third place in the Class AA race.

While accomplishing this, several records were compiled. Amarillo was beaten in Amarillo; the team was the second in the history of the school to go to the state meet and the first to win a game at that tourney; and a Lubbock High school athlete was an all-state basketball choice for the first time in the history of the school (Charles Galey, forward, and Jim Wilson, center, both were chosen for the first team). Galey and Wilson were also all-district candidates.

Over the full season, including tournament play, the Westerners won 31 games and lost only seven for an exceptional record.

Johnny Palmer Cops Lead In Tournament

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 13. (AP)—Fifteen other pro stars take up pursuit of a high-flying Johnny Palmer in the second round of golf's annual mathematical spree, the Goodall tournament, at the Wykagyl Country club today.

With a score of plus 14 the stocky youngster from Baden, N. C., led the field at the end of the opening round yesterday, although his medal score of 70 was not the best of the day.

Byron Nelson, the semi-retired Texan who said after a shaking, hooking practice round that "they will murder me in this tournament," and Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis shared that honor. Each turned in a 69, three under par for the rugged, three-hemmed layout. Each also finished with a plus nine score for the first day.

The competition provides that each of the 16 entrants will meet each of the other entrants over 18 holes once during the five rounds of play, with scoring being on a medal basis—plus for the number of strokes lower than any particular opponent and minus for those higher. A man plays three opponents simultaneously in each foursome.

Women Golfers Play Semi-Final Rounds

FORT WORTH, May 13. (AP)—Betsy Rawls of Austin, who upset the favorite, meets Mrs. L. M. Keating today in semifinals of the Texas Women's Golf association state tournament.

Betty MacKinnon of Mount Pleasant and Betty Dodd of San Antonio meet in the other semifinal match.

Miss Rawls defeated favored Polly Riley, 1-up, yesterday. Miss MacKinnon trimmed Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, 1-up. Mrs. Keating, the only former champion now in the running, beat Mrs. Jedd Roe, San Antonio, 3-2, and Miss Dodd was forced to go 20 holes for victory over Mrs. Harold Weilbacher of San Antonio.

Beaumont Tops Dallas Eagles

(By The United Press)

The Dallas Eagles were beginning to understand today how other Texas league teams felt in early season when Dallas smothered them with base hits.

The Eagles absorbed their worst licking of the season when Beaumont crushed them 11 to 6 last night behind an 18-hit barrage.

Once again it was the Eagle pitching staff that failed to measure up to snuff as four twirlers were liberally shelled.

Sterling Gets Win

Kent Sterling was credited with the victory, although his spirts and earned-run average were badly dented when Jerry Witte pounded a grand-slam homer off him in the fifth inning

But Dallas partisans had one thing to be thankful for; the San Antonio Missions also lost.

The Padres were dumped 5 to 4 by Tulsa, with Walker Cress the winning pitcher thanks to great relief work by Bud Byerly.

Loss Drops Padres

The loss dropped the Padres into a second place tie with Shreveport, who downed Fort Worth, 6 to 5.

Shreveport's Fred Baczewski was credited with his fifth victory of the season. But he was forced to take a trip to the showers in the eighth inning after Bobby Bragan homered for the Cats with two on.

The Oklahoma City Indians, currently the "hottest" team in the loop, won another by downing the cellar-dwelling Houston Buffs, 9 to 6.

Homers by Clarence Russell and Grant Dunlap, the latter's with two on board, helped Pitcher Eddie Gilmore to post the victory.

1-AA Tilt Postponed

Clash Slated On Saturday

A scheduled baseball playoff game between the Lubbock High school Westerners and the Amarillo Golden Sandies—winners of the north and south brackets of District 1-AA, which had been slated here this afternoon at Chapman field, will be postponed until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Athletic Director Pat Pattison announced this morning.

Rain which began falling about 10 o'clock this morning, following a light shower during the night, made the field slick and forced the postponement, Pattison reported.

Second and third games of the series will be played Monday afternoon at Amarillo, officials said, if weather permits.

Lubbock High school won the bottom half of the district with six straight wins over Brownfield and Plainview, and Amarillo had a 5-1 record, dropping one tilt to Borger. Pampa was the other team in the top bracket.

Arrangements for the playoff games was made over the telephone Thursday morning between representatives of the two schools. It was agreed to have a playoff of three games if necessary, and the team winning two would be declared the district winner.

At Amarillo Saturday

A flip of the coin decided the place of the first game as Lubbock.

Lubbock High school has won 15 games of 17 played over the full season, the two losses being to Altus, Okla., in three games played at Altus.

The Westerners will be near full strength with the return of shortstop Bob Brown to the lineup. Brown has been on the bench the past few games with an injured ankle. Catcher Morris Turner was a bit under the weather Wednesday but is expected to be near top form.

Choice of a pitcher for the contest had not been decided Thursday by Coach Fred Taylor, but Lefty Bennie Day, Jimmy Richards, or Jimmy Hamilton will be ready to go should either of them get the nod.

Other probable starters will be Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; James Burgess, left field; Garnet Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Sexton, right field.

Excellent batting records have been made by several of the boys in district games this year to date. Topping the list is Galey with a .643 average; Hinson is batting a solid .500; Turner has .412; Sexton is hitting at a .364 clip; Reeves has raised his average to .318; and Brown has .286 in the games in which he has played.

Walton Roberson will probably open on the mound for the Sandies. Bob Braden will hold down second base, E. G. Sanders at shortstop, Warren Spalding at third base, James Le Neveu in centerfield, Max Winberg behind the plate, Darrell La Rue on first, Joe Knight in right field and Fred Hansard will start in left field.

Admission for the game will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults. The game will be played at Chapman field diamond, Twenty-third and Ave. W.

Texas Steers Open Series With Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, May 13. (AP)—The leading hitters and pitchers of the Southwest conference will be in the lineups today when Texas and Texas A. and M. open the showdown series of the season.

Statistics announced by James H. Stewart, conference executive secretary, show Tom Hamilton of Texas is the top hitter with an average of .519 on 27 hits in 52 times at the plate. Kneuper of Texas is second with .404 and Wallace of the Aggies is third with .400.

In pitching Bobby Fretz of A. and M. and Charley Gorin of Texas each has won three and lost none but among the hurlers working the most, Murray [illegible] as has won seven and lost one.

LITTLEFIELD SPRINTER WINS

Texas Loop Finals Are Slated Today

BROWNWOOD, May 13. (AP)—Finals were being run off today in the annual Texas conference spring meet.

Howard Payne of Brownwood dominated the qualifying preliminaries yesterday.

Eugene Carter of Howard Payne, sophomore from Littlefield, topped 100-yard qualifiers with a 9.8 seconds performance. He anchored his team to lead the 440 yard relays in 42.8.

Elvin Sparks of Austin, also of Howard Payne, led the 120 yards high hurdles in 14.9 and the 200 low hurdles in 26 flat.

Leon Lepard of Big Spring, Abilene Christian college freshman, led the 440 yard run in 49.8. Frantz Myatt of McMurry topped the 220 yard dash in 22.5.

Others qualified from Austin college, Texas Arts and Industrial, and Southwestern university. Howard Payne is defending champion.

Austin college golfers won the conference team golf with a total score of 315. The team is composed of Don Millender, Bill Evans, Mike Tropp and John Williams.

ACC was second with 320 turned in by Bob Craig, J. W. Mankin, Bob Rowlett and Joe Marshall. Howard Payne was third with 327 scored by Paul Huntington, Bob Latham, Bud Woodruff and M. Rordiquez. Southwestern was fourth with 328 and McMurry fifth with 337. Millender shot a one under par 71 to take medal honors.

Three New Players Secured By Clovis

CLOVIS, May 13. (AP) — Additional strength has been secured for the Clovis Pioneers, currently wallowing in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Rookie Don Smith, a pitcher, was obtained by outright purchase from the Seminole club of the Class D Sooner State League on a conditional basis. Steve Parque, a catcher, was optioned to Clovis by the Cubs. He hit .301 with two Class C clubs last year.

The third baseman is Harold Sollars, sent here on option from Gainesville of the Big State League. He was with Burlington, Ia., of the Class C Central Association last year.

To make room for the added trio, the Pioneers released Eugene Novotney, shortstop, and returned Pitcher Harrison Thomas and Catcher Les Earl to the Chicago Cubs, from whom they had been obtained.

RACES TO START

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13. (AP)—Fifteen classy race cars and America's hardest drivers will be ready to roll tomorrow for $2,500 in special prizes and the pole position for the 500-mile memorial day race.

Mel Parnell Beats Chicago Sox, 2-1

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mel Parnell's pitching is the only bright spot in the dreary spring showing of the mighty Boston Red Sox.

It took Parnell's brilliant 11-inning victory over Chicago yesterday to pull the Sox up even with last year's sorry opening month.

Down south the wise guys said "Boston can't possibly get off as slowly as last year." They were wrong. As of today Boston has a 9-11 record. Last May 13 their won and lost totals were exactly the same.

Sox Hurlers Fail

Tex Hughson was expected to help Manager Joe McCarthy. So far he hasn't won. Jack Kramer, who copped 11 straight last summer, is still looking for No. 1. So is Joe Dobson, their only consistent winner last spring.

In 21 games, counting one tie, Boston has had only eight complete pitching performances. Parnell threw five of them. He has gone the route every time, losing only once in 12 innings.

Parnell struck out 11 White Sox hitters yesterday but needed an 11th inning homer by Vern Stephens to get off the hook, 2-1. It was his fourth victory. The first two were shutouts and the third an easy 11-2 romp over the New York Yankees with the help of a grand slam homer by Ted Williams.

Washington's nine-game winning streak finally was snapped by Detroit's Virgil Trucks, 2-1. Don Kolloway, who joined the Tigers Sunday in a trade with Chicago, blasted two doubles and a triple off Walt Masterson. He scored the first run in the first inning and drove home the winning run in the eighth with a double down the first base line.

Browns Rout A's

Trucks' five-hitter was his fifth triumph of the season.

The St. Louis Browns blasted three home runs to rout Lou Brissie and the Philadelphia A's, 9-3, for their third straight following a 10-game losing string.

Dick Kokos, Bob Dillinger and Ed Pellagrini hit Brissie's home run ball out of the park. Cliff Fannin, making his first start after being sidelined by a sore arm, was nicked for homer by Sam Chapman in the sixth. He retired in the seventh inning when his arm started to bother him.

The New York Yankees and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Cincinnati, which stopped the New York Giants' winning surge after seven in a row, made it two straight on a 3-0 shutout by Ken Raffensberger.

Raffensberger's second shutout was a brilliant job. He held the power-hitting Giants to four singles, dropping them into a first place tie with the Boston Braves whose scheduled game with St. Louis was postponed because of wet grounds.

Hartung Takes Loss

Clint Hartung, who had won his first four, was clipped for eight hits and all the Cincinnati runs in his eight-inning stretch.

Ralph Branca became the National league's first five-game winner with an 11-6 verdict over Pittsburgh. The unbeaten Brooklyn ace was hit freely throughout the game but outlasted Hal Gregg and four successors.

Carl Furillo led the Dodgers with two doubles and a triple driving in two runs. Roy Campanella hit his fifth homer off Gregg and Wally Westlake accounted for three of the 13 Pirate hits off Branca.

Hank Borowy, traded to the Phillies by Chicago last winter, whipped his old Cub mates the first time he faced them, 4-3. Bob Rush gave up only six hits but was hurt by Hal Jeffcoat's costly error on Del Ennis' fly that set up the winning score in the sixth.

Byron Nelson Has Jitters

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 13.—It was cold but Byron Nelson was sweating.

Standing on the first tee as he came back to the golfing wars for the Goodall invitation, the tall Texan shot a squint-eyed look at the waiting gallery and moaned:

"Man, oh man, am I nervous."

Feels Like Duffer

One of the greatest shot makers in golf history, "Lord Byron" admitted that he felt like the rankest kind of duffer driving from a crowded tee.

"Look at them," he whispered. "Eyes, eyes, eyes. They expect you to burn it up. And here it is, just my luck to be paired off the first day with guys like Bobby Locke, Sam Snead and Herman Barron."

He had a 35-34—69, three strokes under par and best of the entire foursome.

But it must be consoling to Donald the dub to know that even the great Nelson gets the gallery jitters.

That's one of the main reasons why Nelson has abandoned the tournament circuit. The other is money, in itself a fairly plausible excuse.

Has Busy Scheduled

Back in 1945, when Byron was the golfing king pin, he won $52,511. That's an all-time tournament record. That same season, he set a record of 68.33 strokes through 120 rounds and created a 72-hole mark of 259.

"That's a lot of money," Nelson admitted. "But what it does to your nerves!"

So he gave it up to play exhibitions. But don't feel sorry for the man.

He averages five a week—for $300 per week day appearance and $500 on Sundays.

"Yes, I'm contented to play the backwoods circuit," he smiled. "This is my last tournament until the Colonial invitation in June, for I'm skipping the National Open, the P. G. A. and the British Open."

For one thing, he has too many exhibitions booked. They'll take him from Massachusetts to California, through Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

Nelson Has "Shakes"

"And they're so much easier on your nerves," he drawled. "When I make a rare tournament appearance now I always have a kind of fear. I say to myself: 'Am I going to make it, or ain't I.' When you're on the circuit you know you'll make it."

That's the confession of the man they always said had a built-in cooling system; former Nationall Open champion; two-time P. G. A. king; leading money winner; record holder, and victor in just about every tournament in the books.

"Only three more days," he groaned. "I hope I make it."

He will, as that 69 showed. But he'll never be the same. This isn't the cool-eyed killer of old but a man with the spectator shakes who will be wonderfully happy when he's back in the backwoods.

South Africa plans to send minor offenders to farms as laborers.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

The request by Roy Morris, Lubbock High school basketball coach, that he be relieved of his coaching duties, will come as a surprise to many people. Morris compiled an enviable record in his first and only year of high school court activity. His Westerner team won 31 games against seven losses. They won two games from Amarillo—in Amarillo. They won two straight bi-district games from Childress, after beating Pampa in the district playoff game.

• • •

The Westerners went on to take two of three victories at Austin and finish as the third best team in the entire state. It was the first team from Lubbock High school to go to the state tournament since 1928. Two players, Jim Wilson and Charles Galey, were named to the all-state team and his coaching ability was praised without limit. Therefore, it will come as a distinct shock that his request for resignation is being accepted.

• • •

Actually there is more to it than a coach feeling that he is too old to coach successfully any longer. We like Roy. We admire him for his achievements. We think that he has been a good influence on his players and the boys with whom he has come into contact. We also like and admire Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison, who also happened to be the athletic director. In this case, personalities collided and any attempt to pour oil on troubled waters failed. There was a definite clash between the two. And since an athletic director, like any executive in authority, cannot be told uncomprimisingly what to do by an underling, Coach Morris saw fit to withdraw himself.

• • •

It took a good deal of a man to make that move. He could have remained and had a bitter verbal fight. It could have cluttered up the newspaper and radio for days. It would have made friends and enemies on both sides. It wouldn't have done the high school athletic set up any good. Therefore, the resignation smooths over the altercation and clash of personalities. It is a routine action—though startling—and preserves unity. We don't like to see Roy go, but we also know that Pat must have unity on his staff and in his department. If he constantly has to stop to scrap sand out of the oil in the cogs no one will get the job done right.

• • •

Bob Rooker has joined the list of high school athletes who have decided where they are going to college. Bob visited SMU recently and came back deeply impressed by the Dallas institution. He also liked the athletic plant, which isn't surprising, and he was greatly taken with the coaches. So now he has made the decision and will enter SMU in the fall. He will be a candidate for the football team, of course, after playing some fine end for the Westerners. He also will play in the high school all-star game in Beaumont in August.

Sam West, one of the genial proprietors of the Sport Center, came up with one of the best tales about the flood that we've heard so far. One of the more ardent sportsmen, who also owns a plane, flew down to Buffalo Lakes several times after the dams had gone out. He landed at least once and on one of his stops, he picked up a bass that weighed about eight pounds. The pilot flew back to Lubbock airport, planted the fish in a puddle and then called a sportsman friend of his. When the sportsman arrived, his attention was called to the fish. And since the water had come up on the runway even more in the interval, the fish was almost completely submerged. Sam's friend is still trying to figure it out.

Something new in Lubbock sports is being inaugurated here Sunday afternoon, when junk car races are held at Buffalo Lakes. Clark and Johnson Motor company is sponsoring the races and one of the stipulations is that any car taking part in the races can be sold for not over $250. Already 12 drivers from Lubbock and the South Plains have entered this Sunday's races and more are expected. The races are run on an irregular track and there will be obstacles on it. It should be an interesting show and a lot of people probably will drive out to investigate the renewal of a sport that first bloomed here in 1938.

Legion Baseball Is Discussed At Meet

Plans for the American Legion Junior Baseball program this summer were discussed at a meeting of representatives of 12 American Legion posts last night at Allen Bros. Post. Main points covered were registration and certification of teams.

In addition to information given by Richard M. (Bill) Cummins, director of youth activities from Austin, pictures on Legion ball were shown by Zack Brown, district representative of Ford Motors, who help sponsor the summer baseball program.

American Legion baseball has made great strides in the past few years, and in Texas alone last season 160 teams were certified. At least this many midget teams were also organized. Austin, Travis Post 76, won the championship last year, defeating Adamson Leopards of Dallas.

The age limit of Junior Legion teams is 17 or younger, provided the boys did not reach the age of 17 before January 1, 1949. Only amateur players are eligible.

Only 16 players can be carried on a team, and all players must have been enrolled on the team and certified to the state office by June 10.

Posts represented at the meeting were Levelland, Slaton, O'Donnell, Plainview, Ralls, Spur, Idalow, Lamesa, Muleshoe, Brownfield, El Paso, and Lubbock. All but Lamesa and El Paso are in this district.

Sun Bahram Is Strong Threat

BALTIMORE, May 13 (AP) — Trainer Tom Rodrock is hoping to have "beginner's luck" in the Preakness tomorrow.

Tom has been training horses since 1912, but Sun Bahram will be the first starter he will saddle for Pimlico's classic for 3-year-olds.

Tom almost made the 1931 Preakness. He had Sun Meadow ready to go. But the colt got a sore throat the week before and had to be withrawn. Sun Meadow showed later he was one of the better colts of his year by finishing second in the Belmont stakes, third and last of the triple crown fixtures.

Beaten By Nose

Sun Bahram is "going to have to run" against the crack Preakness field but Rodrock feels the colt is ready for it. Sun Bahram got a taste of two of tomorrow's probables at Havre De Grace.

He was beaten a nose by the pincher in the Chesapeake trial in which Noble Impulse, one of the likely Preakness starters, was fifth. In the Chesapeake stakes won by Capot, a probable favorite tomorrow, Sun Bahram wound up fifth but Rodrock blames himself because he took the blinkers off the colt for the first time and he "ran bad."

Sun Bahram is a son of Bahram and Suntica. Mrs. Eban H. Ellison, jr., is the owner.

The Ellison hope went to the post 12 times this year, being out of the money only twice and winning three. He started three times as a 2-year-old, winning once. He's a slow starter and if Calumet farm's Ponder repeats his derby style the two would be close together in the early going. "If he can finish like Ponder I'll be happy," Rodrock said with a grin.

Sun Bahram, Noble Impulse, Ponder and Capot are among nine entries expected to be made today. However, Christiana stable plans to scratch Parliament unless there is an unexpected rain. Noble Impulse would stay in the barn in that event.

The others set to make the parade to the post at 4:15 p. m. (eastern standard time) are King ranch's Curandero, Isidor Bieber's Palestinian, Clifford Mooers' Old Rockport and Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Model Cadet.

Eight starters would make the gross value of the Preakness $109,870. Pimlico chopped its share down this year from $100,000 to $75,000.

Post time is 4:15 p. m., E. S. T., and the weather forecast is partly cloudy and mild.

Sunbeamers, Crane Will Tangle Here

SAN ANGELO, May 13 (Special) First place in the Western division of the Texas Softball League will be decided, temporarily, Saturday night, when the Crane Oilers and the Lubbock Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers softball teams collide in Lubbock.

The game, to be played at Jumbo Webster Field, brings together two unbeaten nines. Sunbeamers have twin victories over Maurice Shop of San Angelo and Fort Stockton, while Crane also holds victories over the same two teams.

Fort Stockton travels to San Angelo in the other Western Division game.

Stamford and Howard Payne of Brownwood divided a twin bill last week in the East Division. This Saturday night Abilene Christian College goes to Stamford for two games.

Out of the first 10 league games, six were shutouts. Red Denham of Crane and Warren (Stringbean) Pope of Lubbock set the hurling pace with a no-hitter each. Pope's was a perfect game. Pope had 29 strikeouts for two games and Denham 24.

Fowler In Lead

Of the men at bat seven times or more in the first two weeks, Wally Fowler of Lubbock leads with five hits in 11 trips for .455. Pitcher Boyd Reece of San Angelo and Willis James of Lubbock have .428 on three hits in seven trips. Roy Butler of Lubbock has four for ten for .400, James Abbott of Lubbock three for eight for .375 and David Williams and Joe Goodwin, both of Crane, with four for 11 for .364. John Reynolds of Crane fills out the .300 hitters with three for 10.

David Williams of Crane leads in home runs with two. Three men are tied in triples with two each: Curly Hays of Stamford, Roy Butler and Wally Fowler of Lubbock.

POPE AND WARDEN AGAIN ON MOUND FOR SUNBEAMERS

It will be Warren "Stringbean" Pope and G. W. Warden on the mound again Saturday night for the Bluebonnet-Sunbeamer softball team when Crane visits Lubbock.

Manager Blacky Milliard, happy over the return of Willis James, the slugging, wily catcher, is eager to make it six straight with a pair of victories over Crane. A double victory would give the Sunbeamers undisputed possession of first place and would go a long wa ytoward deciding the title.

But the Oilers have one of the outstanding pitchers in softball in Red Denham. Denham last year piled up 229 strikeouts in 18 games and, when he is right, he's almost untouchable. Last year he hurled the longest game in the 1948 record books—23 innings—and won his own game in the last half of that 23rd frame with a home run.

John Reagan To Bid For City Track Win

One guess is John Reagan of Houston.

Soviets Charge U. S., Britain With Plot To Control Colonies

LAKE SUCCESS, May 13. (AP)—Russia accused the United States and Britain today of making a "deal" to keep control of strategic parts of Italy's one-time African empire.

The charge came from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko as the U. N. assembly's political committee neared a showdown vote on disposal of the colonies after six weeks of bitter debate.

Gromyko, in a session running after midnight, said an anti-American riot in Tripoli on May 11 was a protest by the natives against the plan backed by the U. S. and Britain to split up Libya under separate U. N. trusteeships.

Meets This Morning

The committee adjourned after Gromyko's attack and planned to meet again this morning (9:30 EST) to begin voting on a series of conflicting plans for settling the thorny problem. Any plan passed by the committee must get a two-thirds vote in the assembly's plenary session for final approval.

The Soviet delegate directed most of his fire at a plan approved by a 16-nation subcommittee to put Libya under three separate U. N. trusteeships for 10 years. Under the plan Britain would administer Cyrenaica, France would administer the Fezzan and Italy would become administrator of of Tripolitania in 1951 after two-year interim rule by Britain.

The subcommittee proposal also would restore Italian Somaliland to Italian administration under a U. N. trusteeship and would split Eritrea between Ethiopia and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Russia favors a collective U. N. trusteeship over all three former colonies—plan which would give the Soviet union a voice in administering the strategic Mediterranean area.

Riot Story Read

Gromyko read a news report of the Tripoli riot in which the U. S. flag was torn from the American consulate and said more riots will follow if Libya is partitioned.

"We will be told again that this (riot) is Soviet propaganda," Gromyko said.

But, he asked sarcastically, "by what miracle ca nthis have been done in 24 hours after the subcommittee resolution was approved?"

Meanwhile a plenary session of the 59-nation assembly was called at Flushing Meadow for final action on the "freedom of information" convention drafted by the social committee.

The proposed convention, which will have the status of international law governing those countries which sign it, would extend guaranties against censorship of news passing international boundaries except on grounds of security. It sets out a code guaranteeing foreign correspondents free access and transmission of news across state boundaries.

Lubbock Company To Design Road Project

CLOVIS, N. M., May 13 (Special)—Mayor Bob Vineyard of Clovis and the city council have awarded a firm of Lubbock engineers the contract to design a paving project that may run as much as half a million dollars, City Manager Marvin Haas announced today.

Hasie and Green Engineering company of Lubbock was selected to design and supervise the work, Haas said. Partners in the firm are Coleman L. Hasie and George Green.

The project will see the paving of 200 blocks of Clovis streets. Concrete curb and gutter and hot-mix asphalt surface treatment are planned.

The job was the second major New Mexico project snared by the Lubbock company in as many weeks.

Last week the New Mexico State Highway commission awarded a $1,000,000 urban highway system at Las Vegas to Hasie and Green. The project involves six miles of four-lane highway in the city, said Burton Dwyer, state highway engineer.

Plains Rains

The fall at the station brought the year's total to 13.60 inches, more than three times the normal fall for this period of 2.70 inches.

As far north as Amarillo and Clarendon, showers were reported, with Amarillo receiving .63 inch during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 o'clock this morning. New Mexico was receiving general rains of varying intensity.

The maximum temperature in Lubbock Thursday was 76 degrees, followed by a minimum of 55 this morning The expected maximum for today is 79 and tonight's minimum is expected to be 58 degrees

Severe Electrical Storm

A sever electrical storm northeast of Lubbock illuminated the skies early Thursday night, preceding the rainfall.

Clovis, N. M., received a two-inch rain which flooded streets and stalled automobiles, it was reported here. It was the second heavy rain that city has received in the past two weeks, the preceding rain having caused millions of dollarr damage to crops and drowned cattle

Other rain reports received by the Santa Fe railroad dispatcher at Slaton from the communication lines of the railroad included the following:

Canyon, one-fourth; Alley, between Lubbock and Plainview, four inches in a small area; Abernathy, one-half; Muleshoe, five inches; Amherst one-half; Littlefield, three-fourths, Floydada, one-fourth; Lamesa light sprinkle; Morton, one-fourth' Spade, heavy rain; Texico, N M., two inches; Lockney, shower Hale Center, one-half; Cotton Center, two and one-half.

Slaton received no precipitation during the night. Post and Snyder and the Garza-Scurry area failed to receive rain except for possible local showers, it was reported.

The Cotton Center rain fell in just a few minutes' time, the school superintendent there reported.

School Buses Hampered

Merle Walker, superintendent of schools at Idalou, said that approximately half an inch fell there Thursday afternoon, and that an inch or more fell in a narrow section about three miles north of the town. Some school buses were unable to run off paved roads this morning.

Meanwhile, over the rest of the state, temperatures Thursday ranged from 92 at Presidio to 67 at Amarillo and this morning from 52 at Marfa to 67 at Brownsville and Del Rio. Generally, temperatures this morning were in the 50's in North and West Texas and in the 60's elsewhere, the United Press reported.

The outlook was for more scattered thundershowers with little change in temperatures, except warmer in the Panhandle and South Plains this afternoon.

Wind was accelerating in the Panhandle-South Plains area this afternoon and the Weather bureau expected winds with velocity of 25 miles an hour or better until sunset tonight, mostly from a southerly direction.

Big Spring and the Howard county area were reported still dry at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

zones without obtaining permits from the Soviet military or the Russian-backed German economic commission. West Berlin and West Germany are separated by 100 miles of Russian-controlled territory, the geographical fact which made the blockade possible.

Proof Is Awaited

However, early today West Berlin police quoted the officer commanding the Russian highway checkpoint outside Berlin as saying such trucks now need only an order from the West Berlin government.

There was no official announcement of the change, and the proof of it will lie in what happens when there is an actual test.

Yesterday there was some whimsical interpretation of the rule. Numerous empty trucks were forbidden to proceed from West Berlin to West Germany for lack of a Russian permit, but a truck load of radio sets was allowed to pass without the permit. Even East German police said they were confused.

Meanwhile fresh food shipments from the western zone were pouring into West Berlin without interference by the Russians. Trucks loaded with produce were coming through at 10 to 15 minutes intervals, and rail shipments of food and coal were moving smoothly. The Russian-controlled Berlin radio said more than 140,000 tons of foodstuffs and other supplies were moving toward Berlin from the Soviet zone in barges.

When the blockade and counter-blockade ended at midnight Wednesday, restrictions were lifted also on the movement of Germans in Berlin, so all food reaching the city is available to any buyer.

Defendants Apprehended By Slaton Grocer

Mustard Greens Scheduled To Appear Before Federal Judge

Defendants in a criminal action will be hailed into the Northern Texas division of Federal court next Monday without the benefit of counsel. Although this is contrary to the provisions of the sixth amendment to the United States Constitution there is little or nothing that Judge Joseph B. Dooley can do about it.

The defendants in the case will be 600 cans of "Fancy Mustard Greens." They weigh in at one pound two ounces each. They will hear, if they hear at all, charges brought against them with the full power of the government of the United States.

They are each and severally charged with harboring" aphids, larvae and filthy substance." They are further charged with rendering themselves "unfit for consumption as food."

Discovered At Slaton

The "mustard greens" came under the jurisdiction of the Federal court because they were shipped through interstate commerce. Originating somewhere in Arkansas they ran afoul of the law in Slaton.

When an outstanding Slaton grocer suspected the culprits he called on Assistant U. S. District Attorney Cavitt Binion. The defendants could not deny their guilt. The evidence was preponderantly against them. They couldn't dispose of the incriminating facts.

So the "mustard greens" were impounded and have since been listed on the criminal docket as Case Number 725. (There were actually 25 cases). No one has come forward to defend them. No one claims kinship to the mute defendants. They will receive their sentence in silence. Since no answer has been filed, 600 cans of undefended "mustard greens" and their miniature "aquariums" will be condemned and banished forever.

One Slightly Used Church Can Be Someone's For The Asking, With Donation Of $150,000

"For sale: One slightly used church, complete with a quarter-block of downtown property."

The advertisement hasn't appeared in The Evening Journal, but if it did, that's probably about what the Broadway Church of Christ would say.

The present building, construction of which was started in 1922, and the property with 135-foot frontage on Broadway, will be vacated by the church when its $800,000 new building at Broadway and Ave. T is completed.

No Offers Received

The church is reported to be asking $150,000 for the downtown property, building included. The building is approximately 80 feet wide by 100 feet long.

Spokesmen for the church said this afternoon that a number of different businesses have expressed interest in the property, but no definite offers have been received. They pointed out that the building could be used as a clinic or office building with relatively minor alterations.

A city-county library is probably the use for which the building could be adapted with the least possible expense, unofficial spokesmen say

The City of Lubbock voted a $500,000 bond issue several years ago for a library.

Ex-Governor Denies He Hired Newsmen To Further Interests

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., May 13 (AP) — Former Illinois governor Dwight Green labels "untrue and unfair" reports that newspapermen of his state were hired as state employes to further his political interests.

"They earned their money," the ex-governor told a reporter here Thursday. "They were not being paid to write canned editorials in favor of my administration. They were paid to perform certain jobs. I am very proud of what they did."

He singled out Arnold Benson, publisher of the Batavia Herald, who "gave all of his time to the job of director of agriculture." Added Green: "I think the farmers of Illinois are very happy about his regime as agriculture director."

Most of the newsmen, Green said, received from $200 to $250 a month. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News asserted that some 33 editors and publishers had been paid more than $300,000 in state funds.

Green said "it is natural that the Democratic Post - Dispatch would be the leader in trying to discredit the Republican administration."

Conservation Fund Restoration Urged

WASHINGTON, May 13. (Special)—The Senate Appropriations committee has recommended restoration of the cuts in appropriations which the House gave the Soil Conservation service, Sen. Lyndon Johnson announced today.

The Agriculture department's budget officer said this afternoon that this will enable work to proceed next year as originally planned at research stations in Temple, Waco and Brownfield.

Programs in wind and soil erosion will be continued if the Senate upholds the committee's recommendation and the conferees of House and Senate concur.

At the time the House cut the SCS's funds, Jefferson C. Dykes, assistant chief of the service, said decreases would force abandonment of programs presently underway at the three Texas stations. Now they may be continued.

General Ticket Sale For ABC Rodeo Will Start On Wednesday

Progress of the advance sale of tickets for the Boys' Club Rodeo, to be held June 8 to 11, was announced at the American Business Club meeting today.

Although the general ticket sales will not be started until next Wednesday a total of $2,976 has been collected for box seats. Of this amount, Bob Gee was responsible for sales amounting to $1,800.

Money Is Needed

According to President George Hale the ABC hopes to be able to raise sufficient money on the rodeo this year to complete the $100,000 club house and swimming pool project at Twenty-fourth and Avenue K. To date more than $75,000 has been spent on the recreational facilities that cover a city block. Expansion of the club house and the construction of the pool made it necessary to raise additional funds.

The rodeo this year will feature a number of nationally famous acts. Included will be Roman riders, an 18-horse quadrille, bareback jumpers, clowns and "Beeswax Moore and his comedy acts.

Parade Is Slated

The show will get off to a flying start on June 8 with a big parade that begin at 5 p. m. It will form at the fairgrounds and proceed up Broadway to Texas Tech where the rodeo will take place in the stadium.

The Boys' Club rodeo of 1947 and 1948 had Gene Autry as the major attraction. This year, ABC members say, they are not going to concentrate on a single star but instead will have a whole program of stars.

The advertising committee reported that there was still some remaining space to be sold in the printed show program.

Tunnel Blast

The chemical drums began exploding while the truck—a 16-ton trailer vehicle—was near the Jersey side of the tunnel. The flames spread rapidly to a dozen other trucks. Motorists blocked by the barrier of flames and acrid fumes deserted their cars in the tube and fled to safety.

The stranded vehicles hampered efforts of firemen to fight the blaze effectively. Wearing gas masks and communicating with the outside by walkie-talkie, they attacked the fire with flame-extinguishing chemicals.

Walls Are Blasted

Harry Harris, an Associated Press photographer, who hitched a ride on a fire department truck to take pictures in the tunnel, said the concrete and walls for about 100 yards had been blasted away. The debris lay in the roadway.

Harris said he saw three trucks jammed together, disabled, and resting on their axles.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company estimated 2,600 long lines circuits put out of service.

The nation-wide Associated Press wires to radio stations were disrupted for about two hours. The AP wirephoto wire, which carries pictures by wire to its member papers, was out for 45 minutes west of Philadelphia.

Public Joins Police In Probe Of Fort Worth Crime, Payoffs

FORT WORTH, May 13. (U.P.)—A county grand jury, law enforcement agencies, and the public joined today in an effort to clean up rumored gambling payoffs, gaming, prostitution and juvenile delinquency in the Fort Worth vicinity.

Rev. Karl H. Bracker, president of the General Ministers association, declared that "prostitution, slot machines, pin-ball machines and obscene literature can be found in all sections of the city."

He called upon all church people to urge the Fort Worth city council to ask for a special grand jury investigation.

Developments Fast Coming

Developments came fast, meantime, as police announced 16 persons—11 of them women—were jailed in an anti-vice raid Thursday night on a downtown bar and cafe.

Ten complaints were filed by Texas Rangers charging operation of slot machines and other gaming in the Eagle Mountain lake area. Nine slot machines were picked up by the Rangers, while Fort Worth officers seized another in town.

Councilman M. M. McKnight, who instigated the investigation by asking the city council to call for such a probe, said he was besieged with telephone tips offering names of gamblers, gaming places, and information on rumored payoffs.

Sheriff Says He's Ready

"Some of the people have told me they've seen police squad cars at the homes of Fort Worth gamblers," he said.

McKnight said he would divulge his information, much of which has come from anonymous tipsters, to any agency called upon to conduct an investigation.

Sheriff's officers stood by to make raids "anytime complaints are received."

Meanwhile, Criminal District Judge Willis McGregor said he saw no need for convening a special grand jury. "We've got a grand jury now that is trying to find out everything it can," he said.

Roosevelt Is Given Setback

NEW YORK, May 13. (AP) — Wholehearted support of the Democratic national committee has been given to the regular Democratic opponent of Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., in a rip-snorting fight for a Congress seat.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath gave the party's full endorsement yesterday to municipal court Justice Benjamin Shalleck.

And Tammany hall, quick to seize upon the backing, used it to challenge Roosevelt's claim that he is a 100 per cent Democrat. Tammany sound trucks blared the news throughout the 20th congressional district on Manhattan's west side.

Letter Quoted

Roosevelt, who was turned down by Tammany hall for the Democratic nomination, faces Republican and left-wing American Labor party opponents in addition to Shalleck in a special election next Tuesday.

Roosevelt is running as the candidate of the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties.

A letter from Senator McGrath to Shalleck gave new confidence to the regular Democrats, who have been blasting Roosevelt as an anti-Trumanite and a Johnny-come-lately to Manhattan.

The letter to Shalleck said:

"Here at national headquarters we feel that your residence of more than 40 years and your distinguished record of public service in the district during that period qualify you to carry on the high standards of legislative activity set by the distinguished and capable Sol Bloom."

The election is to fill a vacancy created by the death of Bloom, veteran Democratic congressman.

Mrs. Gerhard Eisler Taken Into Custody

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) — Mrs. Gerhard Eisler today was rearrested for deportation while the Justice department laid plans to bring her husband back from his flight across the seas.

The department announced that Mrs. Eisler was taken into custody in New York City this morning. She had been at liberty, without bond, on charges of being illegally in this country.

One reason for her re-arrest was that the government wished to question her about the flight of Eisler, 52-year-old admitted Communist, as a stowaway on a Polish vessel. The Justice department said that immigration service officials in New York had been instructed to detain Mrs. Eisler on Ellis island.

Records Of Hague's Regime Are Guarded

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 13 (AP) Guards were on duty in city hall today to watch over the records of Frank Hague's 32-year reign.

They were ordered out by Hudson county prosecutor Horace K. Roberson after charred papers were pulled, still hot, from the basement incinerator in city hall Thursday.

Roberson, a Republican and foe of Hague's administration, said he couldn't tell whether any official city records were among the burned papers.

In fact, acting city hall custodian Daniel Luzzi said it was the custom of building porters to bring waste paper to the furnace.

Roberson told Luzzi to stop the practice until next Tuesday when the newly-elected city commission headed by John V. Kenny, takes office.

Commenting on the incinerator incident Thursday night, Frank Hague Egger, Hague's nephew who opposed Kenny in the race for mayor, said Kenny was "putting on a show to blemish the reputation of myself and my colleagues."

Eggers said he didn't know what all the excitement concerning the records was about.

"They can have anything they want," Eggers said. "I haven't got a thing to hide."

Baker Hotel Is Not Planned In Lubbock

Persistent and recurring rumors that the Baker Hotel corporation of Dallas plans to build a hotel in Lubbock and has taken option to property apparently are untrue and the result of "wishful thinking," it appeared today.

For some time the rumors persisted that the corporation had taken option to property now owned by A. B. Brown of Lubbock on the southwest corner of Broadway and Ave. N.

Mr. Brown said this morning that he has given no option to the five lots he owns. The property is designated as lots 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, block 128, original town.

In Dallas, Fenton Baker, president of the Baker Hotel corporation, told The Evening Journal by long distance telephone that he had no plans for a hotel in Lubbock. He also said that his cousin, who operates the Baker in Mineral Wells and the Gunter in San Antonio, also has no plans for Lubbock at present.

Well-Baby Clinic Here Seeks To Prevent Sickness, Disease

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" applies to the Junior Welfare League Well-Baby clinic, which is in its 10th year of operation and which works with well babies rather than sick babies.

The purpose is to prevent babies from becoming sick by giving them inoculations and vaccinations and by helping the mothers in proper care and feeding of babies.

258 Patients Listed

The Well Baby clinic was organized in September, 1939, four years after the Junior Welfare league had been organized in Lubbock.

The clinic is held three times each month in different sections of Lubbock. A clinic session for Mexican babies is conducted the second Thursday of each month in the St. Joseph's Catholic church recreation hall; a clinic for white babies, the third Thursday in the Community Center, Sixth and Ave. B, and a clinic for negro babies, the fourth Thursday in the former negro USO building, now used as a recreation hall, at Twenty-first and Ave C.

A total of 258 babies is registered as active patients in the clinc. Of that total, 156 attended the three clinics last month.

Nurse Visits Homes

A part of the Junior Welfare league work is to encourage as many mothers as possible to take their babies to the clinic.

In addition to the clinic sessions, home visits are made frequently by Mrs. L. H. Martin, paid nurse of the clinic. Mrs. Martin's plan calls for a monthly visit to each patient, but sometimes three or four visits are made each month. She teachers mothers how to mix formulas and feed their babies properly.

Mrs. Martin administers inoculations and vaccinations, including those for diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, small pox and measules. If babies are sick, she advises them to see a doctor.

Five Lubbock doctors donate time to help the clinic, each attending a clinic session once a month. They are Dr. Arthur Jenkins, Dr. M. H. Benson, Dr. Pauline Miller, Dr. C. B. Batson and Dr. J. D. Donaldson.

Cost $400 Monthly

Miss Athla Lynne Adams is secretary of the clinic.

Mrs. Cliff Widener, Well Baby clinic chairman, heads the extensive work of League members in clinic activities. Sixteen members of the league help in each clinic.

The costs of operating the clinic is, conservatively, approximately $400 a month, said Mrs. R. S. Prothro, Junior Welfare League president. The money is obtained through league projects and through contributions from individuals and business firms.

The project is one of several in which the Junior Welfare league takes part. The league also sponsors a nursery school at Veterans village. It helps in various civic drives and projects. During the summer, league members help in playground programs of the city parks.

Woman Check Artist Breaks Jail, Caught

CHICAGO, May 13 (INS)—Chicago police today captured a 25-year-old woman who escaped Thursday from a Greencastle, Ind., jail.

The woman, blonde Mrs. Marjorie E. Traylor, had been held in Greencastle on a bad check charge. She was seized in Chicago following an anonymous tip from a woman who met her in a tavern.

Authorities said she first denied her identity, but later admitted she was Mrs. Traylor, daughter of William Gorsline, former Chicago school teacher.

According to police, Mrs. Traylor said she hitchhiked to Chicago after her escape. Her woman tavern companion said Mrs. Traylor told her she had "just broken out of jail."

Gorsline taught for 30 years at Crane and Wright junior colleges and later at Butler university in Indianapolis.

Warning Given On Irrigation

AUSTIN, May 13 (AP)—The state board of water engineers warned the Southern High Plains area today that eventually it must stop using so much underground water for irrigation.

The progress report was the seventh in a series on the area by the state agency in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Interior and the Geological Survey.

From March, 1948, to March, 1949, the underground water table fell an average of 1.9 feet throughout an irrigation region covering 6,700 square miles in 17 counties. In some heavily irrigated areas the water table fell seven to ten feet.

Most For Irrigation

The report estimated that 97 per cent of the underground water pumped in 1948 was used for irrigation.

During the past 11 years the water table has fallen from 45 to 50 feet for about 2,800 acres of the region, the report said. Investigators estimated that about 18 million acre feet of the water bearing sands under the 17 counties have been drained during the 11 years.

"Under the present physical, mechanical and economic conditions, there is little danger of completely exhausting the groundwater supplies," the report said. "However, present trends of the water-level decline indicate a limited life of large-scale pumping in some districts. Improvements in well and pump design and prevention of waste may add considerably to the life expectancy. It is definite, however, that eventually there must be a reduction in the annual rates of withdrawals."

The report recommended that the South High Plains area make every effort to conserve its average annual rainfall of about 20 inches.

"A very small part amounting to only a few hundredths of an inch is lost by stream flow during storm periods," the report said. "A small part amounting to only fraction of an inch recharges the underground reservoir, and the remainder is transpired by vegetation or evaporated before it ever reaches the water table."

Ecuador's 1949 program includes boosting tourist travel, forming farm machinery cooperatives, manufacture of cement and aid for the fishing and canning trades.

Commercial Stock Show Scheduled At Littlefield In '50

LITTLEFIELD, May 13. (Special) — The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce has decided to change its annual 4-H and FFA Fat Stock show to a commercial type show next year, Pat N. Mann, manager, announced Thursday following a meeting of the board of directors.

The show, now in its tenth year of operation, is sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

According to plans revealed by Mann, approximately the same amount of money will be spent on the show as in the past year, but it is anticipated that the boys participating in the show will receive more benefit from the show on a commercial basis.

Stock To Be Marketed

The 4-H and FFA boys in the Lamb county school district will participate in the show, which will be held in April. After a classification show in Littlefield the steers and barrows will be shipped to Fort Worth where they will be sold in the open market.

The boys having a steer in the blue or red ribbon class and the boys having a barrow in the blue ribbon class will be given a free trip to Fort Worth to see their steers or barrows sold on the open market and make a tour of the packing house.

After the tour is completed prizes in merchandise will be given to boys with the highest rating in the categories listed below:

1. Highest average gain per day steers (based on individual animal); 2. highest gain per day barrows (based on individual animal); 3. most efficient use of home grown feeds (based on whole project); 4. highest dressing per cent on steers (based on individual animal); 5. highest dressing per cent on barrows (based on individual animal); 6. cost per pound of gain on steers (based on whole project); 7. cost per pound of gain on barrows (based on whole project); per cent of profit (based on whole project).

About 64,000 former German war prisoners will renew their contract this year as free workers in France, Paris reports.

Civil Rights Group Claims Death Sentence Is A 'Northern Style Attempted Lynching'

By MELVIN J. GRAYSON

TRENTON, N. J., May 13. (AP)—The death sentence conviction of the "Trenton Six" was attacked as a vicious frameup today on the eve of an appeal before New Jersey's highest court.

The Civil Rights Congress, which is spearheading the defense of the six Trenton negroes, issued an 11th-hour statement branding the conviction "an attempted lynching—northern style."

State supreme court argument on the appeal is slated for Monday.

Hurling charges of racial persecution at Mercer county police officials, the congress called the trial "a vicious frameup" and a northern Scottsboro case. Leaflets containing these accusations have been distributed by the organization in a worldwide campaign to "free the Trenton six."

Listed As Subversive

The congress is listed as subversive by the U. S. Justice department.

Controversy over the case started last summer when the six men were sentenced to die in the electric chair for the bludgeon slaying of William Horner, 72-year-old Trenton shopkeeper. Now in the state death house, they face the biggest mass executive in New Jersey's history.

"Conviction of the six negroes by an all-white jury was based solely on so-called 'confessions' which were extorted from the men and later repudiated by all of them," the congress charged.

"They were arrested without warrants, not permitted to consult with counsel and questioned by relays of police officers for five days and nights."

The staff of defense attorneys is headed by former Assistant U. S. Attorney General O. John Rogge and includes Earl B. Dickerson of Chicago, Emanuel H. Bloch of New York and Executive Secretary William L. Patterson of the CRC.

Patterson was a defense lawyer in the Scottsboro case, which aroused national interest in 1931 when nine Alabama negroes were condemned to death on charges of attacking two wihte girls. None of the sentences was carried out.

Rogge said CRC chapters had enlisted support for the Trenton six from the American Civil Liberties union, the National Lawyers guild, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the New Jersey state CIO

"No Red Party Line"

Acknowledging its desire for a new trial, the state CIO insisted it would "not follow the Communist party line and exploit negroes for political purposes."

The following facts about the case were brought out at the nine-week trial—longest in county history.

Horner was beaten to death the morning of Jan. 27, 1948, in the rear of his second-hand furniture store. His wife, Elizabeth, 58, was also beaten but recovered.

Two witnesses said they saw three negroes leave the store at the time of the murder. However, testimony varied as to the height of the men and exact color of their skin.

Convicted were Collis English, 23; Ralph Cooper, 23; McKinley Forrest, 36; John McKenzie, 24; Horace Wilson, 37; and James Thrope, 24. English, Forrest and McKenzie are related. Thorpe had lost an arm in an automobile accident one week before the slaying.

LITTLEFIELD, May 13. (Special) —The Retail Merchants, committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the distributive education program of Texas is conducting a retail training institute in Littlefield for persons in a retail or wholesale business, Pat N. Mann, manager of the chamber, said today.

Miss Lucille Dunn, the instructor of the institute, who is on the staff of the University of Texas, will be in Littlefield approximately one month.

Three courses with a total enrollment of approximately 100 persons are in session now. The courses are variety store selling, department and clothing store selling, and hardware, furniture and auto accessory store selling.

Other courses will be conducted if there are as many as 20 persons who desire the same course. Elmer McKinney, distributive education teacher in the Littlefield public schools, has assisted the committee in securing the institute for Littlefield, and members of the committee have expressed appreciation for his help.

Tories Win In British Voting

LONDON, May 15. (AP)—The Labor party lost heavily today in returns from big city elections previewing the labor government's 1950 general election test.

Press association returns from 381 of the 420 boroughs which voted for councilmen Thursday showed:

Labor won 77 seats but lost 524, a net loss of 437.

The returns continued a trend toward the right begun last month in county council elections.

Both Conservatives and Laborites claimed victories elsewhere in Britain earlier this week in rural and urban district council balloting, but both appeared to be using different sets of figures.

No Figures Given

Neither party issued figures today on borough elections.

In Britain's complex system of local government, larger cities are divided into boroughs, each of which has a council to perform certain municipal functions. Other councils do the same in rural areas and in "urban districts," usually groupings of suburbs.

A Labor party spokesman minimized the Tory victories, declaring "we will have no statement until the entire results are tabulated. The picture may be different then."

The spokesman said the borough elections do not necessarily reflect the national trend "because they are decided largely on local issues and personalities."

A Conservative spokesman, however, said the elections were "the handwriting on the wall. The people of Britain have rejected the Labor program."

Ford Walkout Terms Sought

DETROIT, May 13 (AP)—Negotiators struggled again today with the task of trying to find a peace formula in the Ford strike.

In the ninth day of the walkout the company was on the brink of a complete shutdown of its manufacturing operations across the country.

A total idleness of 106,000 men was imminent—not to mention thousands indirectly affected in supplier plants. The CIO United Auto workers' actual strikers are 65,000 in number

UAW President Walter Reuther planned to return to the negotiators' table today after a 24-hour absence from Detroit for a conference in Pittsburgh with CIO President Phil Murray.

Ford and the union have been seeking settlement terms since Tuesday in the dispute over production rates, the strike's sole issue.

Union Cost Estimated

A union representative estimated it was costing UAW local 600 at Ford Rouge $5,000 a day to finance the strike.

The estimate came from Paul Good, local 600 financial secretary. Most of the outlay, he said, goes for food for 18,000 pickets who march daily at Rouge.

It was evidently soon to be seen whether the strike was going to affect reopening of contract negotiations between Ford and the union.

The UAW, in a recent communication to Ford, said it desired to open the talks no later than Monday, or 60 days prior to expiration of the present pact.

Ford, however, has been reported disinclined to go into contract negotiations with the strike unsettled.

The union has chosen Ford as its first target in a 1949 drive for $100 a month pensions and health and welfare plans, along with a wage boost.

METHODISTS GATHER

Bishop W. C. Martin and about 50 Methodist leaders were to attend the meeting.

Domestic Troubles Drive Boy To Run Away, Sleep With Dog

DENVER, May 13 (INS) — Little George Raspberry told state Humane society officers today in Denver that his domestice difficulties were unbearable, so he left home to live in a dog house and in a neighbor's attic.

The eight-year-old Child's "Huckleberry Finn" existence ended late last night when Lewis Jarman reported to police that someone had broken into his atic.

Broken Window Found

Investigating officers found a broken window in the door at the head of outside steps leading to the attic. They found dusky little George sleeping on the floor.

He tearfully admitted that he had slept in the attic "four or five nights" when it was raining. On Dry nights, he said, he slept in a dog house with "Freckles," a terrier owned by George's aunt, Mrs. Thelma Graves, who lives next door to Jarman.

George said he ran away from home two weeks ago because he couldn't get along with his father, William Raspberry.

Aunt Knew Situation

Mrs. Graves told police she was aware that her nephew had been sleeping in the doghouse, but that she did not invite him to her home, because she didn't want to interfere with his "home life."

George said that some of his boy friends had had him to meals at their homes, and that his six-year-old cousin, David Graves, sometimes brought food to him in the dog house.

The little boy said he didn't mind sleeping in the dog house because Freckles liked him and kept him warm.

House Members Face Roll Call Vote On Boost In Allowances

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—House members today pondered the possibility that they might have to stand up and be counted on a proposal to boost their own expense money in the face of loud demands for economy.

Not a voice was raised in opposition yesterday as a bill to boost members' allowance for clerk hire and communications sailed through the House. But afterward it ran into some storm clouds.

Absent Members Protest

Several House members protested indignantly that they hadn't been told the bill was to be voted on. A single objection would have blocked passage—and they made it very clear that they would have objected. There were fewer than 100 lawmakers on the floor when the bill passed.

It faces no apparent trouble in the Senate, for each body of Congress respects the financial arrangements made for the other. The House didn't object, for instance, when the Senate voted its members $10,000-a-year executive assistants.

The House measure would give each member $500 a year for communications expenses and an extra $3,000 for clerical hire. They now have no fixed communications allotment and a top of $9,500 for clerk hire.

Most incensed of the lawmakers who found out about the bill too late were Reps. Keefe (R-Wis) and Church (R-Ill), both members of the appropriations committee.

Some Need Admitted

Both served notice that they will take some action when a money bill financing the new allowances comes before the House, probably in a month or so. Unless money is provided in such a bill, the measure passed yesterday is almost meaningless.

Keefe intimated that he will offer an amendment to knock out the money in the later bill. He added that there are ways to force a roll-call vote.

"We will stand up and be counted on this," he commented.

Keefe said he does not question the need of some House members for additional clerical help but believes many of the others don't need any. In fact, he commented, some members don't spend enough time in their offices to need any help.

The House took up the bill just after Keefe and Rep. Rich (R-Pa) had made brief speeches demanding greater economy. Both then left the floor to the applause of Democrats and Republicans alike. While they were gone the measure passed without even a record vote.

Israel estimates its housing needs at 40,000 units a year, to care for the 20,000 immigrants a month now arriving.

London Professor Studies Man Apes

JOHANNESBURG, May 13 (AP)—Within the next two months, Professor D. M. Watson, professor of zoology at University College, London, hopes to throw more light on the origin of man by establishing the age of South Africa's man-apes. He has just arrived here by air under a Nuffield Trust grant, and broke his journey at Nairobi, Kenya, to study what he regards as the forefathers of South Africa's man-apes. The East African finds are apes, he says, and not man-apes.

By his study of Dr. Robert Broom's finds in South Africa, Prof. Watson hopes to be able to find out how they fit in with their East African ancestors and with all the other big apes such as chimpanzees and gorillas.

"The world's scientists are very excited about the finds in South Africa," he says. "So far as we know they are the only man-apes in the world, the Peking specimen being more of an ape-man. Man originated somewhere in Africa and I hope to discover the age of your man-apes, in which the whole world is interested."

Dick Powell, Wife May Make Movie As Mr. And Mrs. Team

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 13 (AP) — Dick Powell and June Allyson may join the Mr. and Mrs. teams on the screen.

Powell wasn't able to obtain his wife's services for his own film, "Mrs. Mike." But he reports that her studio has sent him scripts with the idea of a teaming with his wife. So far the deal is still in the script-hunting stage.

The Powells made one film appearance together, a few years before they were married. It was an unhappy wartime musical called "Meet The People." He co-starred with Lucille Ball and June played a bit.

Disney Goes To England

Walt Disney leaves next month for England, where he'll film "Treasure Island." It will be his first picture with no cartooning. Bobby Driscoll will star, backed with an all-English cast. The film will be financed 90 percent by frozen funds accumulated by showings of Disney pictures in England.

Strange guy, that Crosby. Bing remained two and a half hours at a reception for the San Francisco press during "Riding High" locations. But he continues to give the brush-off to the Hollywood Press.

"I Was a Male War Bride" is a strong contender for long-run honors. It started last September and still has three or four weeks to go. It shot three months in Germany and three in England, but was hexed by illness and bad weather.

A week's shooting in Hollywood has accomplished more than any months abroad. Which is another reason why U. S. companies are souring on production abroad.

No Thin Man, Jr.

William Powell's son is working in the financial department at a studio. I asked Powell on the "Bandwagon" set how the lad didn't happen to become an actor. "I guess the same way that a drunkard's son usually doesn't turn out to be a drunkard," he answered.

Change of Pace: Charlie Chaplin's studio has been rented for the production of "Like A Mighty Army," a religious film for the United Lutheran church.

Wonder if Vic Mature and his studio are cooking up a feud. He was sunning at Las Vegas when he was supposed to report for costume fittings for "Wabash Avenue." The picture starts Monday and was pushed ahead so Betty Grable can spend the summer at the Del Mar race track.

Taylor Sheds Mustache

Short Takes . . . Edgar Bergen flies his own plane to Pittsburgh this weekend for an appearance . . . The local civic light opera got off to a good start with a handsome staging of "The Great Waltz." Coming up: "Brigadoon," "Kiss Me Kate," "High Button Shoes."

Uncle Sam Could Save Money By Allowing Eisler To Escape

By JACK ADAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 13.—If it weren't for the principle involved, Uncle Sam could save quite a sum of money by just looking the other way while Communist Gerhard Eisler apparently flees across the seas.

But, said Justice department officials today, they are determined to bring back a stowaway identified as Eisler so they can later ship him overseas officially—assuming he is Eisler. This is their reasonings:

The 52-year-old admitted Communist owes this country time in prison for violating its laws while living here as an alien guest.

And while the department frankly will be delighted to exclude him from the United States forever, it insists upon doing this through the regular procedure: by a deportation action which already is in motion.

Scotland Yard Notified

Hence, elaborate arrangements have been completed for interception of the stowaway aboard the Polish liner Batory—now on the Atlantic—who has identified himself as Eisler. These arrangements call for his prompt return to America.

Meanwhile, an Immigration department spokesman in New York said that Mrs. Eisler also has disappeared from their home there. She has been at liberty, without bond, under charges of being illegally in the United States. She is being sought for questioning about her husband.

The FBI has asked Britain's Scotland Yard to meet the Batory when it docks at Southampton on Saturday and take the stowaway into custory.

And, on the assumption that he is indeed the Eisler under two criminal sentences and described as the one-time No. 1 non-office-holding Communist in the United States, justice officials have asked the State department to obtain a quick extradition authority from the British government.

Refused To Testify

Arrangements have been made for a plane to fly Eisler back at once.

All of this involves new expense, whereas—if he were allowed to go his way—his bondsmen in this country would lose to the treasury the $23,500 they put up to obtain his liberty pending final disposition of the legal cases against him.

Eisler, a German, established residence in New York City in 1941, but is alleged to have been in and out of the country a number of times before and since, as a contact between American and foreign Communists.

Summoned before the House committee on un-American activities in February, 1947, he refused to testify, demanding that he be allowed to read a statement. This resulted in his conviction four months later on a charge of contempt of Congress, for which a one-year sentence and $1,000 fine was imposed. An appeal in this case is pending in the Supreme Court.

Convicted Of Fraud

In August, 1947, Eisler also was convicted in federal district court of passport fraud, based on the charge that he gave false information in applying for a temporary exit visa in 1945. He was sentenced to an additional one to three years on this charge, and this sentence has been upheld by the court of appeals.

Attorney General Clark ordered Eisler's arrest for deportation in February, 1948, and he was held for a time without bail on Ellis island. Later he obtained his freedom through New York habeas corpus proceedings.

Eisler then returned to the local court to obtain a temporary injunction against deportation by challenging the procedure.

His various bonds in these cases, according to the Justice department, were posted by the Civil Rights congress—which is on the attorney general's "subversive list"—and by one George Marshall of New York City.

Identification Made

The Civil Rights congress said in a statement yesterday that the Eisler case "is an alarming example of political persecution by a government operating in an atmosphere of war incitement and witch-hunt hysteria."

The Batory sailed from New York May 6 and subsequently radioed that a stowaway had been discovered aboard, that he gave the name Gerhard Eisler and had paid, after his discovery, for a first class passage to Gdynia, Poland.

Immigration Commissioner Watson B. Miller said the identification was made positive when the stowaway gave his date and place of birth as Feb. 20, 1897, Leipsig, Germany—conforming to official records here.

How he got aboard the ship has not been cleared up. Eisler was without the papers necessary for any foreign sailing.

Officials anticipate no trouble about detention at Southampton. They say that maritime law requires the master of a vessel to turn over a stowaway to local authorities at the first point of call.

Abilene Plans Big Celebration For National Safety Record Tie; Hopes To Be New Champ

ABILENE, May 13 (AP)—Abilene hopes this will be its lucky day for motorists and pedestrians.

This West Texas city already has had 701 lucky days in a row—701 days without a traffic death, enough to tie the record of Schenectady, N. Y. The time became official last midnight.

Congratulations already were pouring in. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of President Truman's highway safety committee, wired:

Big Show Slated

A 100-unit, six-section parade will begin at 4:30 p. m., with the entire police force assisted by boy scouts supervising the marchers.

At 7 p. m., special buses will carry crowds to Blue Sox stadium. There, they'll hear a concert by the Hardin-Simmons university Cowboy band at 7:30 p. m.

Harley Sadler, former showman and state representative, will introduce guests of honor: Homer Garrison, director of the state department of public safety, and Roy Wade, assistant managing director of the Texas Safety association.

After they've had their say, Betty Case's do-si-do square dance team from Loraine and a team directed by I. H. Witt of Hamlin will stage an exhibition.

The program will end with a gigantic fireworks display—including safety slogans spelled out in 10-foot letters.

Roadshow Romance To Wind Up This Month

Communist Mayor-Laborer To Officiate At Rita's Wedding

VALLAURIS, France, May 13 (AP) — A Communist railway worker who doubles as mayor of this quaint hillside town near Cannes will marry Hollywood movie star Rita Hayworth to her prince charming Aly Khan on or about May 27, it was learned today.

The simple French civil wedding ceremony was expected to be performed by Mayor Paul Derigon in the ancient town hall overlooking the Riviera coastline.

Despite the simplicity of the ceremony, Rita probably will be one of the most heavily bejeweled brides in the western world and the air will be heavily scented with jasmine.

Moslem Rites Planned

Indian jeweler Javel was reported already to have designed the jewelry and measured the diamonds which Rita will wear when she becomes the daughter-in-law of one of the world's wealthiest men, the Aga Khan.

Following the civil ceremony, a Moslem wedding reportedly will be performed at Aly's luxurious Chateau de L'Horizon, with his father officiating as head of the family.

Curious townsfolk and tourists crossed the small sunlit square here today to inspect the town hall door to learn whether the wedding announcement had been posted yet.

They were disappointed, because no word has appeared on the two-story building.

"Roadshow Romance"

Workmen at Aly's chateau overlooking the Bay of Cannes were completing a specially-built bedroom for the lovers. It will be lavishly furnished in oriental style.

It was learned that the wedding ring will be of gold and platinum, with a diamond cluster.

When it circles Rita's finger, it will climax a romance that began last September.

The roadshow romance moved from Cannes to Hollywood and back to Cannes again with a dozen or so stops between.

Last January Rita and Aly became engaged. But Aly was not free to marry until he received a divorce April 7 from his first wife, the British-born former Mrs. Noel Guinness of the brewery family.

Congress Has Completed Only One Big Item On HST Program

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 13—This is a good time to call the roll on Congress.

It's mid May, with this year's regular session of Congress more than half over.

Senate Okays Housing

At this point there seems a better chance for his prediction to come true than for a large part of the Truman program.

Take a look at the score:

Housing—the Senate has passed a bill to provide government housing for low income groups. The House is expected to do the same. So this probably will become law.

Labor—the House trampled the new labor bill which Mr. Truman and organized labor wanted to replace the Taft-Hartley act. Neither house has passed a new bill yet. Maybe neither will. If Congress does act, it almost certainly will produce a new labor law lots different from the one Mr. Truman asked.

Medical Plan Slowed

Medical insurance—in spite of all the hullabaloo about compulsory medical insurance, and Mr. Truman's prodding of Congress, this seems to have no chance of passing.

Minimum wage — Mr. Truman and his lieutenants wanted Congress to raise the minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75, besides making some other changes in the minimum wage law. If Congress acts on this, it probably will raise the wage to less than 75 cents.

(Under the law an employer whose product crosses state lines must not pay his employes less than 40 cents an hour. That minimum was set back in 1940 when living was a lot cheaper than now).

Farm Plan Doubtful

Social security — Mr. Truman wanted social security pay raised and more people given the benefit of social security. This is still buried in the works in Congress. You'll have to guess whether anything will be done about it at all.

Civil rights—this seems like a gone goose. The Senate wrangled over it for weeks early this session and never got further than preliminaries. In effect, the southern Democrats won in their effort to sidetrack it.

Farming—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan came up with a new farm program. This has received praise and criticism. Its chances look chilly.

Taxes — Mr. Truman wanted about a $4,000,000,000 tax raise, mostly on business, to help meet government costs. He still wants this and said so again yesterday. Republicans and some of Mr. Truman's most dependable allies in Congress are against it. They say "cut expenses, this is no time to raise taxes."

After reading this you're probably saying "the President's program is beginning to look raggedy." It sure is.

Indian State Steps Up Campaign On TB

BANGALORE, India, May 13 (AP) —The princely state of Mysore has carried its fight against tuberculosis one step further by equipping one of its hospitals with the apparatus for mass radiography. The state has some of the best-equipped tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoriums in India.

The new installation can take pictures at the rate of 100 per hour. Arrangements have been made for mass radiography and the maintenance of a full record of the patient's name, age and other particulars.

Statistics show that about 80 per cent of India's urban population is infected with tuberculosis in some form or other, though only a few develop the disease.

Mass radiography helps detect the disease in its early stages, the most important thing in the curt of this ailment.

THE QUESTION

THE ANSWERS

DEWITT (JUDGE) LANDIS, 3106 Twenty-third, manager of KFYO: "We do that. We can control that pretty well. We let our children go to see westerns. They don't care for 'those old love movies'. The westerns are swell. The villain gets his and law and order wins."

MRS. R. L. CLINE, 311 Forty-third, housewife: "I certainly think that they should. We choose for our children. Our 11-year-old son is like most boys. He kind of lives what he sees on the screen. What they see on the screen affects the way they act. As long as it's a light comedy without any crime or sex, it's all right for children.

MRS. GEORGE LONG, 806 Forty-eighth, housewife: "I certainly do think they should. I think so many times a child doesn't know the meaning of a show. They are not old enough to know the meaning of some of them. I always select the shows my children see. If I don't think they should see it, I convince them it isn't the suitable show for them to see."

MRS. J. G. WILKERSON, East Thirty-eighth, housewife: "They most definitely should choose the pictures their children see. I think so many pictures are not the sort our children should see."

MRS. GRADIE BOWNDS, 2016 Fifteenth, housewife: "I certainly do think that parents should choose the movies their children see. Some of the movies are not suitable for children. Some of them are likely to affect their character. Some of them and especially the sex pictures are likely to affect the character of children. I never let my children go to see just any movie. I always select it and inquire into it. Some of the pictures are educational and all right for children, but certainly not all of them."

MRS. L. R. ROGERS, southeast of Lubbock, housewife: "I think they should. I know I do. I have four children and there are certainly pictures I don't like for them to see. I don't like for them to see a picture where there is too much killing and fighting."

Search Renewed For Fliers Lost In Lake

CHICAGO, May 13 (INS)—Search was renewed today for the bodies of a missing Iowa couple believed killed in a plane crash in Lake Michigan. The wheel of a small plane was found floating in the lake near suburban Wilmette.

The couple, Jack Russell, 22, and his wife, Marilyn, 21, has been missing since May 1 when they took off during a rainstorm from Chicago's Northerly Island airport for their home in Humboldt, Ia.

A boat from the Wilmette Coast Guard station was sent to the scene after the wheel was found by the crew of the tugboat Milwaukee.

VOTE IS PLANNED

BROWNSVILLE, May 13. (AP)—A proposal to let the city commission annex nearby areas by ordinance will be put to a vote May 28. Annexation must now be by ballot.

Drainage, Lighting Planned Improvements To Be Pushed

Improved drainage as a safeguard against floods like those of last weekend and better street lighting loomed as strongly probable results of the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon

The commission asked R. L. Oldham, director of public works, to prepare plans for additional storm sewers to serve all portions of the city needing them, and particularly for the worst flooded areas last week. Oldham said he would try to have them ready within three weeks.

The commission also directed City Manager Steve Matthews and Electric Superintendent Truman Green to prepare cost estimates of installing blue-tinged mercury vapor lights along major highways and thoroughfares through the city.

During the discussion, Green advised the commission that the installation of 300 lights on residential streets has been started. Two to four of the lights are being installed daily in the areas where "they are most needed and are likely to do the most good," he said.

Joining in urging prompt attention to the drainage problem were members of a committee from Tech Terrace addition in Southwest Lubbock, the hardest hit of the flood districts last week.

"We are urging a comprehensive program to protect the entire city and not our particular area alone," said DeWitt Landis, spokesman for the group. Other members of the committee were Clarence Young, J. C. Kerr, R. W. Tucker, Kenneth Cox, C. L. Cobb and Clem B. Boverie.

They are aware, members of the committee said, that the storm sewers needed would require a bond issue. If a bond election should be called they added, they will do what they can to secure its approval.

Oldham would not speculate, pending his studies, on where new storm sewers should be constructed nor upon their cost, except to say the outlay probably would run "between one and two million dollars."

Members of the commission were unanimous in agreeing that any such projects proposed will include provision for Northwest, South, Southwest and all other sections of the city which now are exposed to flooding

The commission also said that, if a bond election is called, provision will be proposed for many other urgent needs, including sanitary sewer, water, paving and other expansions

Slaughter Gasoline Plant To Be Formally Opened Saturday

(Special To The Journal)

SUNDOWN, May 13. — The Slaughter gasoline plant—a major gas conservation project on the South Plains—will be formally opened Saturday.

More than 1,500 invited guests, including employes and executives of oil companies operating in the Slaughter field, state officials and civic leaders from the area will gather at the gigantic plant, 4½ miles west of this little oil field town to attend dedication ceremonies and a barbecue at the plant site.

William J. Murray, jr., chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, is to be principal speaker at the brief opening ceremonies. Also expected to attend will be Ernest O. Thompson and Olin Culberson, members of the commission.

Eight Firms Own Plant

H. D. Herndon, president of the Saltmount Oil company, one of the owners of the vast plant, will be master of ceremonies.

Owned jointly by eight participating companies, the Slaughter plant will be operated by Stanolind Oil and Gas company. Other owners include the Texas company, Honolulu Oil corporation, Magnolia Petroleum company, the Devonion company, the Atlantic Refining company, Saltmount Oil company and Mid-Continent Petroleum company.

Designed and built at a cost estimated from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 to help conserve the resources of Texas, the plant will process casinghead gas from the Slaughter oil field of the North Permian basin. Formerly this gas was flared because there was no use for it in West Texas.

Over 100 Men Employed

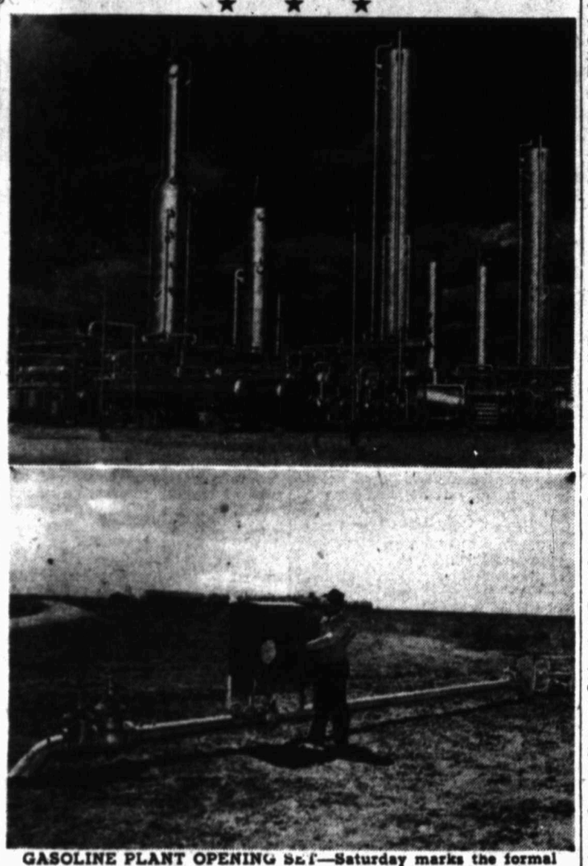

The plant will extract butane, propane and natural gasoline from the gas products and the "dry" gas will then be sold for commercial use.

The plant employs more than 100 men whose annual payroll is well over $350,000.

Saturday's ceremonies will start at 10:30 a. m. A barbecue will be served at noon by members of for inspection and guides will the Lubbock and Sundown Lions club.

The plant will then be opened show visitors around the 80-acre plant site and explain the workings of the huge plant. Guests will

NEW SETUP SAID REQUIRED

Nine Zone Changes Over City Delayed

Members of the City Planning commission, meeting in regular monthly session last night in City hall, recommended approval of five plats and attended to a number of other business items, but tabled wholesale nine zone change requests.

The commission seldom, if ever, shelves zoning requests en masse as it did last night.

The reason for the action stems from a bill which was unanimously passed by the State Senate and House of Representatives, and which went into effect the first of this month. By the provisions of the bill, it is necessary to give written notice at least 10 days in advance of a public hearing to all property owners whose holdings are within 200 feet of property on which a zone change has been proposed and recommended.

New Setup Needed

Understandably, such provision makes necessary the appointment of some city agency or personnel to be responsible for obtaining lists of property owners so affected by a proposed zone change, notification of these persons, and the like.

Thus far, no action has been taken by the City commission in appointing a person or persons in whom the responsibility for such notifications would be vested, nor has it been determined whether the city would assume costs entailed in notifying these property owners or whether cost would be borne by the person or persons seeking the zone change.

Law Is Explained

By way of explanation, the City Planning commission makes recommendations for or against zone changes, but final authority rests with the City commission. Thus, if the Planning commission recommended a particular zone change, after investigation by its members, a public hearing would be held by the City commission before the zone change finally became effective.

At least 10 days prior to this public hearing, affected property owners would have to be determined (probably from city tax lists) and in turn notified. Notice also would be required to be carried a local newspaper at least 10 days prior to the hearing.

Thus, City Planning commission members last night felt it feasible to postpone any action on their part regarding the zone change requests until machinery to handle the necessary steps in following the newly-enacted state law has been set up by the City commission. The Planning commission probably will act on the zone change requests at its June meeting.

Platting requests which were recommended for approval last night were:

Request from Mrs. C. M. Dickinson regarding "Dickinson's Valley View Addition," located on the Amarillo highway just south of the Lubbock Country club.

Request from J. C. Anderson regarding "Rock Haven" addition, located between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets from Taylor to Fillmore Ave.

Request from S. E. McMillan regarding "McMillan Heights, In-

Soviet Diplomats Have Spying Responsibility, Witness Says

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Senators asked a Russian who split with the Kremlin to tell them more today about his charges that all Soviet diplomatic officials have "a spy responsibility."

Closed Meeting Arranged

Yesterday's session at which Alexeev appeared was a public one, with reporters present. Alexeev told the subcommittee that cramped his style some, so the senators arranged for the witness to return today and name names behind closed doors.

He said he quit the Soviet embassy in Mexico City late in 1946 because he does "not approve Soviet policy," and "no longer wants to be a citizen of the U.S.S.R."

Spying Organized

The witness said, too, that "not less than 50 per cent" of those who come to the United States from Russia or her satellite countries have "a spy responsibility."

Alexeev added that "spy activities are developed very highly in the United States by the Soviet embassy" and the satellite country embassies.

McCarran has said the bill is directed mainly at any such agents who work under the protection of diplomatic immunity. He has mentioned representatives to the United Nations and other international groups.

Espionage Simple

Alexeev said he has been in the United States about three years. He said he lives in New York and works as an engineer. He has a degree in mining engineering.

Alexeev told the subcommittee "it is very simple" for the Soviet embassy attaches to carry on espionage here. He said the attaches' sources are: (1) Communist organizations in this country; (2) hired informers; and (3) "the fellow-travellers who surround the Soviet embassy."

He was asked whether Russia regards the United States as an enemy. He replied:

Only five per cent of Soviet espionage activities in the United States is carried on by American Communists, Alexeev testified.

"The rest—95 per cent—is carried on by the U.S.S.R.," he added.

Gasoline Plant

The plant is located in the center of the Slaughter field, in the southwest corner of Hockley county. The field also extends into Cochran and Terry counties. Nearly 2,000 wells—covering an area of 180 square miles—are connected to the plant.

The Salughter plant can process 90 million cubic feet of casinghead gas daily, although the field gathering system is designed for an ultimate volume of 120 million cubic feet per day. Capacity of the plant could readily be boosted to 120 million cubic feet by the installation of additional processing equipment.

When operating at the 90 million rate, Slaughter can produce every day 100,000 gallons of natural gasoline, 92,000 gallons of butane and 50,000 gallons of propane. All of the propane and about half the butane will be sold in West Texas for use as fuels, to provide heat and power for local homes, industries and irrigation projects.

Natural gasoline will be shipped to refineries to be blended into motor fuels. The remaining "dry" gas is being sold to a gas pipeline.

The plant's compressor system has a total horsepower of 25,600—or slightly more than the power of four modern diesel freight locomotives. This is one of the world's largest compressor installations devoted to the processing of casinghead gas. Slaughter's generators can produce power equivalent to that used by the combined populations of nearby Levelland, Sundown and Brownfield, and its four water wells supply enough water every day for a city of 20,000 persons.

Ex-Officer Accused Of Sadism Is Called In War Trials Probe

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—A former Army lieutenant—who has been described by earlier witnesses as a near-genius and sadistic—was called before investigating senators today.

He is William R. Perl, former Vienna attorney and later a refugee and citizen of this country. Perl has figured prominently in an investigation of the Malmedy massacre trials by an armed services sub-committee.

Other wartime Army officers who helped investigate and prosecute 73 Nazi storm troopers for shooting down American soldiers who had surrendered, have described Perl as one of the most intelligent men they have ever met or worked with.

It was Perl who conceived the plan of staging impressive "mock trials" in hopes of forcing German suspects to confess or supply evidence, other officers said.

black cloth and crucifix were placed on a table, two candles were lit, and a prisoner was brought in with a black hood over his face. When this was pulled off he faced what appeared to be a court of uniformed American Army officers.

Tortures Charged

He was warned that he must tell only the truth and then put under a formal oath.

Dwight F. Fanton, former major and law partner of Senator Baldwin (R-Conn), who helped collect evidence against the Malmedy suspects said Perl thought up this "quick procedure."

Other witnesses who have charged that "third degree" methods were used, including beatings, short rations and torture, have pictured Perl as one of the ring leaders in these tactics.

James J. Bailey, a court reporter who quit his job with the war crimes team, testified earlier that Lt. Perl and other investigators appeared to get "sadistic pleasure" out of mistreatment of prisoners.

And yesterday a German-American attorney, Herbert S. Strong, now of New York City, testified that Lieutenant Perl had a "reputation for mistreatment" of the German prisoners.

City Plans

Green said the city can save a substantial sum by assembling its own fixtures for the illumination of heavily traveled thoroughfares, including Nineteenth street, College avenue, Fourth street, Avenue A and probably others.

Even so, he continued, the fixtures will cost about $160 per light installed, with approximately 600 lights needed to complete the entire program. The total cost, on this basis, would approximate $96,000.

An ordinance was passed on second and final reading to require parallel parking on Seventeenth between Avenue H and Texas avenue.

Concessions Awarded

Contract to operate concessions at the city swimming pool in Mackenzie State park was awarded to Luther Faulkner, a Texas Tech student, on a bid of $761.50, subject to the approval of the city recreation council. The bid was the largest of four submitted. The pool will be ready for use about May 20, the commission was advised.

The municipal airport board was asked to continue its investigations of the desirability of leasing a portion of land at the airport near the terminal building now under construction as a site for a tourist court. Ed Colby, airport manager, said the Bishop and Milam Construction co., of Brownwood, has proposed to invest $150,000 to $200,000 in such a project.

Repair Contract Let

A contract to repair a catch basin at the sewage disposal plant was awarded to Kerr & Middleton, of Lubbock, on a bid of $6,400, the lowest of three submitted.

Action was deferred until the next regular meeting, on May 26, on a request to extend the city limits to Pierce avenue between Nineteenth and twenty-sixth streets. Residents of the area were advised that it will be necessary to make alleys and streets conform with those in the city before it can be annexed.

All members of the commission attended the meeting. They are Mayor W H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., and Clarence Whiteside.

Storage Space For Bumper 1949 Crop Asked Of Congress

WACO, May 13. (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau Federation today appealed to Congress to spare wheat farmers heavy losses by granting them more storage space for the 1949 bumper crop.

J. Walter Hammond, president of the federation, sent a telegram of warning last night to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., uring him to expedite action in Congress to authorize Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan to obtain ample storage facilities.

Hammond's telegram said elevators now were bulging with last year's wheat because Brannan had plethora of wheat and the storage for moving grain.

Farmers must have access to government approved storage before they can receive support prices guaranteed by the federal government, he said.

Elevator men already have advised Texas farmers that storage for commodity loans will not be available.

Hammond said he had written to Brannon and the Texas congressional delegation earlier this month informing them the wheat storage situation would be more critical than the grain sorghum storage problem of 1948, because of the plethora of wheat and the sorage bottleneck.

"Farmers were caught unawares last year, and we want action now so that farmers may secure loans on their grain without suffering loss of millions of dollars."

Request from Gust Kallas regarding "Johnny and Jack" addition. The property lies between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, Tyler to Polk Ave.

At last night's meeting, a number of persons appeared before the commission, on behalf of zone change requests and platting requests. Those who appeared included Gust Kallas and Mrs. Dickinson, both on behalf of requests for approval of their individual plats; and William M. Davis, Mrs. Earl C. Scott, A. C. Kirk, Kallas, and Ignacio Huerta, all on behalf of requested zone changes.

No action was taken last night on a number of requests which have come in from various groups and individuals for permission to erect benches at city bus stops.

City Manager Steve Matthews made a report on the public hearing held in City hall Tuesday afternoon regarding the proposed street name changes within the city, as well as on the outskirts. No action was taken on the matter. The possibility of appointing a citizen's committee to study further the street naming problem was discussed briefly but no definite action was taken. Matthews and R. L. Oldham, director of public works, also reported on action taken by the City commission on the recommendation made by the Planning commission to limit the size of servants' quarters to a maximum of 288 square feet.

Members attending last night's session included Homer D. Grant, chairman pro tem in the absence of K. N. Clapp; W. L. Bradshaw, J. D. Hassell, Matthews, J. H. Murdough, C. J. Griggs, J. T. Krueger, and Oldham. Also present was Vaughn Wilson, city attorney.

Due to recent heavy rains in Lubbock private well owners are urged to Test Water for Contamination!
RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS!
Chlorinate With SURECLOR

RAW WATER is water from any source—surface, streams, lakes, tanks, shallow or deep wells. Any water that has not been tested for purity at least every 30 days, or treated by Health Department approved methods, is not safe for human or farm animal consumption. Many human and animal diseases such as typhoid, dysentary, cholera, hook worm, summer complaint, tuberculosis, anthrax, glanders, and stomach intestinal worms are often caused by contaminated water. Don't take chances—RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS.

INEXPENSIVE: SURECLOR, the automatic water operated hypo-feeder, is especially designed to sterilize contaminated or questionable domestic pressure water supplies, and small community water systems. Lowest Cost. Easy to Install. Simple to Operate.

LOW MAINTENANCE: Fabricated of transparent plastics. Complete operation visible through unit. Resists corrosive action of chlorine and water. With exception of ball check valves, no moving parts to wear out. Chlorinating agents—household bleach (Sodium Hypochlorite 5.25% available chlorine). Available at most any grocery store. Cost less than 1½c per 1000 gallons water sterilized. The amount of chlorine usually required is between a trace and 1 part per million, to make water safe for human or animal consumption without boiling or other treatment.

DEPENDABLE: Operates by water pressure. Fully automatic and on the job 24 hours a day. Positive check on correct chlorine content is quickly and easily determined by a color density test. Built-in test set with each SURECLOR. Many municipal water works install SURECLOR as emergency stand-by unit for gaseous chlorinators.

Solons Slash Appropriations, Schools To Get $60 Million

AUSTIN, May 13 (U.P.)—State institutions of higher learning today stood a chance of gaining a $60,000,000 appropriation, perhaps at the expense of state departments.

In a "rob Peter to pay Paul" fashion, the House added $2,350,000 to the higher institutions proposal for cancer research and dental school construction in Houston.

By swelling the appropriation, the House completely reversed the form it showed Wednesday night when more than $1,000,000 was lopped off the proposed state department spending proposal.

Education Bill Passes

The education bill won final passage, 108-17, but only after the economy forces had gained a major point.

They succeeded in striking out all funds for the cotton research committee, a state agency carrying a proposed appropriation of $348,000 for the next two years.

The amendment was proposed by Rep. Jim T. Lindsey of Boston, Texas, who said the committee's work was a "duplication of other research centers."

The committee is composed of the presidents of the University of Texas, Texas A. & M. college and Texas Technological college, but actual research work has been carried out by a paid staff stationed on the Tech campus in Lubbock.

The House added $2,350,000 to the education bill for cancer research and dental school construction. Of this amount, $1,350,000 was earmarked for the coming biennium to he M. D. Anderson hospital for cancer research, Houston, atomic cancer research and radiology work.

Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock opposed both amendments on the ground of economy. He is chairman of the appropriations subcommittee which studied the bill.

Only one money-saving amendment was accepted. It was proposed by Rep. Bob Casey of Houston and would slice $44,322 off the appropriation for the Texas A. & M. college rodent control service.

The cancer research amendment, sponsored by Rep. Hiram Staton of Waco, was adopted, 65-59.

Staton spoke against what he termed "a disgrace that Texas must go out of the state for adequate cancer treatment."

Rep. Paul Wilson of Geneva urged adoption of the $1,000,000 amendment for dental school building and equipment, after an original request for $1,500,000 was refused.

Also killed was a proposal to increase the appropriation for the Prairie View A. & M. college to more than $2,000,000 for the next biennium. At present $1,575,318 is allotted to the negro school.

Smith claimed the Prairie View amendment would jump the present appropriation by 35 percent, compared to 15 percent for other state colleges.

Big Midland Rodeo Scheduled June 1-5

MIDLAND, May 13. (Special)—"Cowboys, Cowgirls — Come a ridin'" soon will echo throughout West Texas as the 15th Annual World Championship Midland rodeo is staged here. The big event, one of the nation's best-known rodeos, is scheduled June 1-5, with night performances only to be presented.

"Top talent, the roughest livestock, the best novelty acts, and widespread interest should combine to make the 1949 Midland rodeo the best and most colorful ever staged here." Leonard Proctor, chairman of the Rodeo committee of the Midland fair, Inc., said.

"Midland and area citizens demand the best and we are making every effort to give them the best in rodeo entertainment," Proctor stated.

Levelland Drive For Hotel Is Near Goal

LEVELLAND, May 13. (Special)—The "New Hotel" drive Thursday reached a total of $230,000 toward the $255,000 goal set by the hotel sales committee.

The new hotel sales organization expects the quota to be reached today, it was reported.

The hotel is being financed by sales to people of this area and will be controlled by a board of directors to be elected by the stockholders. The total cost of the project is expected to be $425,300.

Kansas Campus In Spring Not Place Or Time For Stag Week

LAWRENCE, Kas., May 13 (AP)—In the spring, on a campus—there's no room for "stag week."

So University of Kansas students decided today.

The campus was settling down although four students remained in the hospital yesterday following a riotous demonstration in which police said 1,000 persons participated.

Dr. L. C. Woodruff, dean of men, was doused with water. He said there were only 40 or 50 active participants in the Wednesday night affray.

The men retaliated by squirting the girls with water pistols and fire hoses. Then leaders of the "no-date" drive cruised the campus, picked up male students infringing the ban and ducked them in a nearby lake.

WELL DOES FORECASTING

GREAT VALLEY, N. Y. (U.P.)—The famous "breathing well" in this Cattaraugus County community is a dry well dug in 1441. It "breathes" when strong currents of air blow outward from it in fair, settled weather and inward if a storm is approaching. Residents watch it as a sort of natural barometer.

Atlantic Pact Okayed By Large Majority In House Of Commons

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—Labor and Conservative members of the House of Commons joined Thursday night to ratify the North Atlantic treaty by the overwhelming vote of 333 to 6.

Only two Communist members and four extreme left wing Laborites said "no."

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, in a speech termed "wise and prudent" by his political foe, Winston Churchill, hailed the pact as a safeguard against war. He said such a treaty probably would have prevented the world wars of 1914 and 1939.

He denied the Atlantic pact is "an aggressive thing" as charged by Russia and her allies.

Signed Last Month

The treaty was signed in Washington last month by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Italy, Portugal and Iceland. Legislatures of Belgium and Canada have already ratified it. The U. S. Senate foreign relations committee is currently holding hearings on the pact.

Conservative leader Churchill, saying he found himself "in very general agreement" with Bevin, praised the role of the United States in formulating the defense alliance and in world affairs generally.

Continuing his thanks to the United State Churchill said, "it is the hope of mankind that their valiant and self-sacrificing program will avert a third world war."

Churchill Cautious

Bevin, speaking for the Labor government, gave credit to the pact as one decisive measure leading to Russia's lifting of the Berlin blockade. The new situation, created by the treaty, may lead to a "final settlement" with the Soviet, he said.

In reply Churchill said, "I am glad the lifting by the Soviet government of the blockade of Berlin was not taken by him (Bevin) as the occasion for proclaiming that an important peace gesture has been made.

"Any deeds by the Soviet government which really make for peace and friendly intercourse of mankind will have an immediate response, but mere maneuvers must be watched with the utmost vigilance."

Both Bevin and Churchill condemned what they called the conversion of Eastern European countries into satelliter of Russia.

Spain Omission Rapped

While applauding the Atlantic Pact as it stands Churchill said the omission of Spain left "a serious gap in the strategic arrangements." He asked the government to return its ambassador to Madrid. The envoy was recalled in keeping with the United Nations assembly resolution of 1946 asking all members to withdraw representatives of ambassadorial or ministerial rank from the Franco government.

The government said May 2 it would oppose any move to include Franco Spain in the Atlantic Pact or any other international organization. It said it would also oppose any U. N. move to return ambassadors to Madrid.

SISTERS FOUND STARVING IN HOUSE STUFFED WITH MONEY—Two elderly sisters were taken to a hospital in a starving condition after being found in their New Orleans, La., cottage. They had not been outside the house in seven years, and police said the house was "stuffed" with money. Despite their money, the sisters lived by the light of kerosene lamps. Miss Ueberschlag, left, had been lying on her bedroom floor since Friday with a broken hip. Mrs. Ann Clark, 79, tells her story to Patrolman Lawrence Vigurie.

What W. C. Fields Thought Of Wife, Son Was 'Unprintable,' Secretary Testifies

LOS ANGELES, May 13. (AP)—Two close friends of W. C. Fields in his last years testify that the late comedian had slight regard for his estranged wife and son.

Mrs. Magda Michael, his secretary and executrix of the $771,429 estate, said on the witness stand Thursday that Fields debated aloud with himself as he included his kin in his will.

"He said, 'I don't know what to do about Harriet. She isn't entitled to a penny. I think I'll give her 10 G's and Claude 10 G's so they won't give us any trouble later on'," Mrs. Michael testified.

The widow, Mrs. Harriet Filds, now seeks a half share instead of $10,000.

Another witness, ex-dancer Carlotta Monti, who became Fields' nurse, declared: "I loved him and I don't want anything he didn't want me to have."

Miss Monti said what the comedian thought of his wife and son was "unprintable." The day Fields died, she testified, he said to her: "Carlotta, when I die, grab everything and run the vultures will soon be here."

Miss Monti and Mrs. Michael each received shares approximating $100,000.

SOAP IS COLLECTED

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, May 13. (AP)—A bar of soap will be the price to admission to a dance to be held at Wittenberg College. The objective is to help relieve the desperate need for soap reported to exist in European hospitals. The goal is a minimum of 1500 bars. All soap collected will be sent to France through American Aid to France, New York City, according to Feland Meadows, campaign chairman.

Crooner's Divorce Settlement Okayed

SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 13. (AP)—The way is a little clearer today for that divorce that Dick Haymes and Joanne Dru have been talking about.

Superior court Thursday approved a settlement whereby the crooner will pay his wife $800 monthly for the support of their three children — Richard, seven; Helen Joanne, five, and Barbara, 1½. Payments will be increased to $14,000 a year if Haymes' income increases.

Miss Dru, who has a divorce suit on file in Los Angeles, did seek a Nevada decree. Haymes is hopeful of the latter so he won't have to wait so long for Nora Eddington Flynn, who plans to divorce husband Errol. Haymes and Mrs. Flynn plan to marry as soon as free.

Sound Of Battle Approaching Great Asian City Of Shanghai

BY FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, May 13—The roar of battle could be heard today at Woosung harbor and Lunghwa airfield, Shanghai's remaining links with the world.

Two Communist prongs crept closer to the city. Government troops stoutly resisted. Red Gen. Chen Yi was driving hard to take Shanghai or close a siege ring around it.

One battle raged southwest of the city some 15 miles from Lunghwa airport. Lunghwa is at the southwest edge some 10 miles from the heart of the city. The scene of this battle was around the village of Sungkiang, on the Shanghai-Hangchew railroad.

Second Drive Develops

Another developed to the northwest around the village of Tainsang, a stones throw from the south bank of the Yangtze and just north of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad. Red lines there appear to be about 20 miles from Shanghai and somewhat less from Woosung.

Woosung is where the narrow Whangpoo river pours its gritty flood into the Yangtze and where ships from Shanghai pass through a narrow channel to the Yangtze and the sea. It is about eight miles north of Shanghai. Woosung harbor and the Whangpoo form the city's main artery. It could not live long if it were cut.

Lunghwa's loss would cut Shanghai's air link. There are three other airfields but they are even more exposed than Lunghwa.

The Shanghai garrison communique today said the Reds have struck on the northwest with three divisions. The Nationalists were reported holding their own in some places and falling back in others. The area has a depth defense and if resistance is resolute it might take the Communists a long time to come through.

Bridges Destroyed

The drive from the southwest seems to be less spread out. It is concentrated in a single spearhead along the railroad to Hangchow. From that direction the railroad commands everything—the airfield, upper reaches of the Whangpoo river and all important entrances to Shanghai.

Both to the northwest and southwest the terrain is flat. Rice paddies abound. Bridge across all small streams have been destroyed or are heavily guarded.

All Communist attacks, according to the communiques, have been the cover of artillery. The Communists used an estimated 20 artillery pieces in the fighting in the northwest this morning.

A communique said, "1,000 Red troops with over 10 horses and mules fell easy prey to the Chinese air force near Kunshan." Kunshan is about 40 miles from Shanghai.

Inside Shanghai there has been no great change in the last few hours. People move about their business in a warm rain. Soldiers pile sandbags at street corners and at building entrances. Traffic, thinned by the evacuation of hundreds of civilian and military vehicles, moves faster.

Pootung, the dock and industrial area across from Shanghai's bund, has been cleared of small rivercraft as a precautionary move against guerrilla operations in that area.

A Central News dispatch from Canton today said government troops withdrawn before the Red capture of Nanking now were deploying against the Communists. Government spokesman Tang Wen-Yi was quoted in the dispatches. He admitted "considerable losses" when the Nationalists withdrew from Nanking.

Central News quoted Tang as saying the main force remains intact.

Tang said 21 Red armies have crossed the Yangtze. Twelve of these, he said, were under Chen Yi and are now concentrated in Nanking, Hangchow and the vicinity of Shanghai. Nine others are under Liu Pu-Cheng in west Chekiang and east Kiangsi provinces.

Central News quoted Tang as saying crack troops were being rushed into Shanghai for "firm defense" of the city. He predicted a long term war of resistance here. The government spokesman said the Reds at Taichang and Kunshan, both near here, suffered more than 20 000 casualties.

Other Central News dispatches from Canton said Premier Ho Ying-Ching would not resign to devote his attention entirely to military matters. Ho is minister of defense as well as premier.

Soldier Heard In Guam Death

GUAM, May 13. (AP)—The prosecution introduced a statement today purportedly made by Herman P. Dennis, jr., that he raped Ruth Farnsworth three times after she had been beaten unconscious.

The negro Air Force private himself took the stand before the statement was introduced at his murder trial. He declared he made it only after he was threatened with hanging.

An Air Force courtimartial admitted the statement as evidence after an argument that ran an hour and a half. The prosecution rested its case shortly thereafter.

Separat Trials Granted

The account named Sgt. Robert W. Burns as the negro who knocked the 27-year-old San Francisco girl unconscious Dec. 11 in the Guam jade shop where she worked.

Burns and Calvin Dennis, a half brother of Herman, have been granted separate trials.

The controversial statement said Herman Dennis picked up Miss Farnsworth after she was beaten to the floor and carried her into the jungle behind the shop.

There, the statement continued, Burns also attacked the dying girl. It added that Herman Dennis, did not know whether his half brother also raped the girl.

The account said Calvin Dennis and Burns rode together in a truck to the jade shop. Then Herman Dennis went in and established that Miss Farnsworth was alone.

Coercion Charged

He went outside, the purported confession went on, and then the three entered the shop. Burns struck the girl and knocked her to the floor, it added, and Herman Dennis perked a wire putting out the lights.

Herman Dennis, in a strong voice, testified:

Lt. Cmdr. James P. Hackett, Guam police chief, and police Inspector Al Riedel repeatedly told him they would set him hanged if he would not talk.

Furthermore, he declared, Hackett told him what to say and showed him a picture of a Filipino being hanged on Guam. Dennis said he was warned the same thing would happen to him if he did not confess.

Hackett and Riedel then denied this testimony. Hackett also denied he had told Dennis he might get off with a 10-year sentence if he would confess.

Dennis was permitted to testify only to the circumstances surrounding the taking of the statements. The prosecution had not then completed its case.

Under cross-examination, Dennis said: "I never would have made any statement like this, but Hackett told me I would hang if I didn't."

Thousands Of Police Hunt Sicily Bandits

PALERMO, Italy, May 13 (AP)—Some 5,000 police were closing in today on the mountain stronghold where Sicily's "Robin Hood" bandit chief is holed up with about 20 of his men.

The police are trying to force bad man Salvatore Guiliano and his band into an open gun fight. They believe this is the only way to end the activities of the gang which has killed an estimated 70 police since the end of the war.

Three policemen were mowed down by machine gun fire today about 15 miles southeast of here, but this was believed to be the work of another gang led by a gunman named Mauro.

Guiliano recently issued a challenge from his hideout about six miles southeast of Palermo to duel any 10 government deputies one at a time. Since his "offer" was spurned half a dozen police have been slain—usually from ambush.

The robber band reportedly has the connivance of many peasants in this area.

Few Farmers In Iowa Still Using Horses

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, May 13 (AP)—Fay Boyer, owner of an implement shop in Council Bluffs, says five per cent of the farmers in southwest Iowa still operate with horse-drawn equipment.

"And you are wasting your breath talking equipment to them," he says. "They have their own system of farming and reason 'why change.'"

He said there are two distinct types still using horses—the young man just starting out and the "old timer."

"Command Decision" is a man's picture, a remarkable, stirring, strongly flavored authoritative tribute to men at war and aerial bombardment. It has an all-male cast—there's no love theme, not even the swish of a WAC's skirt. It's the study of a great man. It's filled with the kind of discussion put on the screen. It should be a command decision of every breadwinner in these parts that his family see this mighty film. We unconditionally recommend it for your "Must" list.

WOMEN! IF YOUR MAN MADE THIS MISTAKE . . . COULD YOU FORGIVE HIM? Dick Powell departs from his detective heroic here to portray with equal earnestness the unheroic role of a husband and father guilty of breach of trust and in consequence, a murder which the law condones but his conscience does not.
Parents: The story dialogue and some scenes in this picture were designed for adults. Children will neither appreciate nor understand it.

ANGOLA, Ind., May 13 (INS)—Two small Angola boys burned to death Thursday when fire swept a straw-filled dog house in which they were playing.

WE would be even more ungrateful than we are unworthy if we did not say something publicly about the kind, although undeserved, honor bestowed upon us by the good people of Laredo.

Our selection by the newspapers, the city officials and the chamber of commerce of Laredo as "Texas' outstanding editor" frankly was as much of a surprise to us as it was to anyone. How the statewide survey happened to turn out as it did is a mystery to us—especially since we are acquainted with only one person in Laredo and acquainted with him so casually that we haven't even seen him since 1926.

However, we are deeply grateful and equally as appreciative of the honor and, along with the Little Woman, are happy to attend Laredo's Founding Fiesta as guest of the City of Laredo. We wish we could stay there throughout the Fiesta week, because we like Laredo and the border country and wish very much we could become better acquainted with the people and area than time will permit. But a Monday night engagement here, accepted a month ago, will force us to limit our Laredo stay to this week-end.

While we are in Laredo, we shall strive, earnestly, to represent not only the newspaper profession of the state, but also Lubbock and this area, in a fashion to which both are entitled.

In all honesty, let us say that our personal pleasure in receiving the honor accorded by the people of Laredo is well tempered by humility arising from full realization that there are many able editors in Texas—and just as many more deserving of the distinction.

GEORGE "Scotchman" Samson, of Post, looking not one day older than he did when we first met him a quarter century ago, bounced into the office the other day.

"The 1949 Panhandle - South Plains fair is going to have a big grass exhibit. It's going to be a good one. I'm gathering different grasses already; so are the county agents. We're going to do everything we can to teach the younger generation of ranchers about grasses—which are good, which are better. Tell the folks about it in the paper!"

Whether you realize it, or not, grass is still the most important thing in this world. It's more important than cotton: more important than wheat, oats, corn. More important a natural resource than oil.

The reason for grass' importance, aside from the fact that it nurtures livestock, is that it is the agricultural trail-blazer.

If grass won't grow, neither will anything else—and the world will starve.

Our rural people need to know grass. They need to develop it for certain uses.

It's good to see hard-fact, down-to-earth people like Post's "Scotchman" taking interest in grass and in telling the story of grass to others.

Mr. Samson said things sure are humming down at Post, with oil popping out everywhere.

He says there's a lot of talk down there about drilling on the town section, but some difference of opinion about whether it should be permitted.

The "Scotchman" didn't venture an opinion about whether town-section drilling should, or shouldn't, be permitted. But there are, of course, two sides to consider.

Some people would make money, but there would be a big fire hazard, as well as other disagreeable features.

But it will be interesting to watch first, how the question is decided; and, secondly, if town-section drilling is permitted, what the final outcome will be.

THE "Scotchman" really dropped in to fenagle us into coming to Post before the big rodeo, May 18-21.

They've got a "Law West Of Sand Creek" hoosegow on the main drag, into which the boys are tossing unsuspecting citizens who appear on the streets without some form of Western garb.

"Giles Connell, Doc Surman, Clint Herring, John Herd, O. D. Cardwell, Ira Lee Duckworth, Doc Williams and some of the boys sure want you down," the "Scotchman" said. "They think you'd look good in that jail. I'll promise you won't have to stay longer than an hour—unless Eddie Warren finds out you're there and runs offs with the key!"

Well, we might surprise those boys down at Post and show up down there.

We'll, be at the rodeo, anyhow, because there's never a better one

BY DREW PEARSON: BRANNAN OFFERED TO LEAVE CABINET TO MAKE ROOM FOR FRIEND

Secretary Of Agriculture Fights For Principles

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to secretary of agriculture, Charles Brannan.)

* * *

WASHINGTON—Bald, bespectacled Charles Brannan, author of the much-debated farm program, is the most unusual member of the cabinet. He is the only cabineteer who has offered to drop out of the offical family if it would help Oscar Chapman's chances of becoming secretary of the interior. Both come from Denver, and there's a semi-precedent against two cabinet members coming from the same town.

PEARSON

This gesture was not grandstanding by Brannan. He really works at doing unto others as he would have them do unto him. Meeting Brannan, you would never know that he is secretary of agriculture and head of the most far-flung agencies of government. He keeps his nose on a level with other men and lives down to earth.

Riding to and from his office, he stops his government limousine to give a lift to friends, and, unlike other Washington officials, he seldom keeps his chauffeur waiting outside a party, but gives him the night off and catches a cab home.

* * *

Night Life With Scrubwomen

Courted by Washington society, Brannan is much more familiar to the night watchmen at the Agriculture department. Almost any evening, you can catch the secretary of agriculture sidestepping water pails and scrubwomen on his way out of the office. As part of this ritual, he stops at a scale near the entrance, drops a penny in the slot, and checks on how much weight he's gained. Then he drops in a penny for his secretary, Miss Louise Nylander. (Brannan's weight is 195 pounds. Miss Nylander's is confidential.)

The secretary and his wife share a modest, one-bedroom suite at Washington's fashionable Westchester apartments. But it took him a long time to get it. Even though secretary of agriculture, he waited like anyone else, and his application wasn't acted upon until a few weeks after the election—though he had been waiting seven months.

Shortly after they moved into the Westchester, Mrs. Brannan startled the maids in the laundry room by going down to wash the secretary of agriculture's shirts. This she does herself. A maid tidies up the apartment twice a month, but otherwise, the Brannans have no servant other than the chauffeur supplied by the government.

"If people want to call me up," he told a friend, "I guess I can answer the telephone."

To make matters worse, Brannan's number is similar to that of a busy apartment house, and he is always getting wrong numbers.

One of Brannan's secret sorrows is that he has no children. But he takes a special interest in the three youngsters of his close friend, Duane Wilson, a farm-machinery representative from Denver.

Steady as a plow horse, Brannan endeared himself to President Truman by stumping the hinterlands and winning the farm vote for the Democrats. Though a youngster in the cabinet, Brannan was rewarded with the job of coordinating the President's economic stabilization program on Capitol hill. This meant that other cabinet members had to submit their speeches for Brannan's approval and sit under him in committee meetings. Anyone but this gentle, friendly fellow from Denver might have antagonized those with more seniority, but he didn't.

Brannan's mellow manner, however, hasn't kept him from clashing with other cabinet officers over policy. He has battled with Secretary of Commerce Sawyer over export controls, with Secretary of Interior Krug over jurisdiction, and with ECA administrator Hoffman about turning grain shipments over to private companies.

Though belonging to an offshoot of the Mormon church, Brannan was reared in a Quaker family. After his early schooling, he attended Denver's Regis college and later the University of Denver.

* * *

Cleaned Locomotives

Brannan worked at odd jobs while going to school, patrolled a canal for ice jams to keep water flowing to an electric generating substation, cleaned locomotive boilers at the roundhouse, worked as a garage mechanic and as a lumberyard clerk.

After graduating from law school, Brannan served a $50-per-month apprenticeship in Albert Craig's law firm, while Mrs. Brannan balanced the budget by teaching school.

It was as campaign manager for Craig, who ran for Congress, that Brannan got his first taste of politics. In 1935, he was in the Agriculture department. During the war, he headed the Farm Security administration in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, then came to Washington in 1944. This was just before Roosevelt's campaign for a fourth term, and Brannan was warned he would be out of a job after the election. He came anyhow—and stayed.

It was Secretary Brannan's poignant memory of the farm poverty that followed World War I which caused him to work out his current farm program. That program sounds complicated, though actually it is reasonably simple arithmetic. Here's how it works:

Under the present program, the government computes how much a farmer should receive for a dozen eggs. But if hens increase production and prices sag, the government then rushes in and buys up the surplus eggs. This keeps the price of eggs up—which pleases the farmer but not the housewife — and leaves the taxpayer with a stockpile of rotten eggs, plus handling and storage costs.

Under the Brannan plan, however, the government would keep hands off the market and let the price of eggs slump. Then the farmer would receive a government check for the difference. This would please both the farmer and the housewife, would also save the taxpayers the storage of rotten eggs, plus handling costs.

That, in brief, is the farm program devised by the balding, self-effacing gentleman from Denver.

Broadway Chorus Girls Have Slim Chance For Movie Role

TO THE LADIES OF THE CHORUS: The Greeks were the first to devise the idea of girls displaying their legs. That was about 3,000 years ago . . . The government passed a law making it mandatory for all girls to wear slit dresses. (To induce more bachelors to marry) . . . Then, one of the stage productions of the time incorporated the idea, but it wasn't until the 19th Century (when the play was revived in London) that anything more than a feminine ankle was viewed in the theatre. The year was 1860 and the show was "The Mask of Comus."

WINCHELL

* * *

The salary of a chorus girl ranges from $50 to $100 per week. Few make more than $75. (And are broke by Monday.) The career of a chorine is hardly more than 5 years . . . Many started in show business by heading for the ballet, but got too tall . . . The average chorine will tell you the best way to keep your figure is to stay away from poor food and poor boy friends.

* * *

THE AVERAGE girl (despite her eternal hope of becoming a star) stands a 3,000 to 1 shot of going on to Hollywood fame . . . Joan Crawford, Barbara Stanwyck, Alice Faye, Celeste Holm, Myrna Loy, Lucille Bremer, Adele Jergens, Joan McCracken and June Allyson are rare exceptions.

* * *

THE COTTON CLUB in Harlem (during the Gangster Era) had some of the most famous chorus gels. The top name in show biz today is Lena Horne. She quit high school at 16 to join that line . . . The fast aid furious dancing routines were so "perfect" that during its dozen years the Cotton Club employed only about 150. The job was that steady.

* * *

A COLLEGE graduate in the chorus is rare. College girls, they tell you, get bored with the one-two-three-kick routine—which most other girls consider excitin¼ . . . When they call you "honey" and "dear" the terms are more impersonal than Sir or Madam . . . "He's a nice guy" is probably the worst thing a chorine can say about another girl's fella. Makes him totally unimportant.

* * *

WHENEVER A BACKER of a Ziegfeld show threw a party for the girls, Ziegfeld would brief them thus: "Don't talk too much. Look beautiful, but keep your ignorance to yourself. Wait till the host gets drunk and then let the pins drop out of your hair one by one."

* * *

MANY OF THE GIRLS have clicked in other lines besides show business. One made a fortune wisely investing in real estate from her meager earnings. Today she has considerable holdings in New York City . . . A present-day girl owns and operates a string of race-horses! . . . Then there's Mrs. W. Rockefeller (Bobo), the most recent coryphee to make good.

* * *

WILL ROGERS once kidded his boss Ziegfeld about the way he examined the legs of chorus applicants. "Y'know," chuckled Rogers, "I guess I'm the only person you ever hired who had bow legs!"

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL created the title role in George Bernard Shaw's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." The play, which was not a conspicuous success, required a large cast. Mrs. Campbell was appraising the house from a peephole in the curtain on the third night when Mr. Shaw inquired: "How are we doing?" "Better than last night," she answered, "but we are still in the majority."

* * *

IN this early driving days, Moss Hart was giving Robert Sherwood a lift home. He drove headon into two mildly astonished motorcycle cops who were passing the time of day in the middle of the empty road. Moss had been cannily proceeding at eight miles an hour so the only injury the cops suffered was to their dignity. One of the cops approached Moss with ominous restraint and asked: "Would you mind telling me your name?" "Moss Hart." "And wour occupation?" "I am a writer." "And the gentleman with you?" "That is Robert Sherwood." "And his occupation?" "He's a writer, too."

The cop turned triumphantly to his sidekick. "I told you," he said, "they were a couple of nuts!" Then he added wearily to Hart, "Drive on, young fellow, but try to remember that motorcycle cops aren't in season this month."

Attaboy, Harry!

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"WHY don't these working girls leave our husbands alone?" wives frequently ask indignantly in their letters to me. Then they go on to complain about how the girls in offices are always after the married men, and how the men, come home from office parties with lipstick on their shirt collars.

MILLETT

What I've got to say isn't very comforting, ladies. But I'm willing to bet most wives who worked in offices before marriage will agree with me.

Never underestimate the part of the husband in these little office romances.

The husband who minds his own business—who treats the girls in his office with gentlemanly courtesy that hasn't a trace of romantic interest in it isn't bothered by girls chasing him.

His very aloofness may make them smile their prettiest for him or put themselves out to be helpful. But the girls will keep their distance with such a husband if he continues to keep his.

But the husband who has a little (or a lot) of the wolf in him is a different propostion.

* * *

HUSBAND TO BLAME

HE starts the office flirtations He is the life of the office party. He's after the girls — they aren't after him.

If he's attractive enough and smooth enough, they may play the game of office flirtation. They may even play it in self-defense, if they think he's important enough to their jobs.

But if he's neither, he is nothing more than a pest to the girls who have to keep out of reach of his pats, tolerate his personal comments or find excuses for not having lunch with him.

So it's pretty foolish of a wife who will seeth with indignation, while she imagines her faithful husband is being pursued by girls in his office.

If he lets the girls alone, they may play up to him in subtle ways—but they won't chase him.

He'll be safe enough — if he wants to be safe. And if he doesn't want to be, there's no point in blaming the girls in his office for his susceptibility.

Air Force Leader Lashes Out Against Texas Rent Decontrol

SHREVEPORT, La., May 13. (AP)—The deputy commander of the Air Force training command is sticking to his guns on the question of statewide rent decontrol in Texas.

Major General Robert W. Burns thinks statewide decontrol would be a bad thing for the Air Force. He set out his reasons in a letter to Texas governor Beauford Jester on May 6 and repeated them Thursday.

But the general added:

"Above all, I wish to reiterate that we of the Air Force are not attempting to tell the people of Texas how to run their business."

The author of Texas' decontrol bill, Rep. Carlton Moore, charged in Austin Wednesday that the general was forced by Washington officials to oppose the bill. General Burns called the charges "unheard of."

Pay Is Limited

He said Air Force personnel need to find living quarters reasonably in line with their pay, if they are to have their families with them.

If they can't do that, the general said Thursday, airmen have "no alternative but to sever their enlistments in the Air Force on the grounds of hardship or to await the expiration of their current terms of enlistment and retire from Air Force service."

In his letter to Governor Jester, the general urged that municipal or district decontrol be considered. If that were the setup, he said, "each area might be considered on its merits and our people could state their case to those most directly concerned in each action."

New Comic Book Designed For Adults Shows Reading Trend

NEW YORK, May 13—There must have been a day, in the glory that was Greece, when the boys polished their hands briskly and announced they could fly no higher in the arts. We have just achieved that here, citizens. We now have a comic book designed strictly for adult trade.

RUARK

Spurred by the suspicion that the grownups were sneaking fascinated peeks at that opiate of the tot, the comic, a publisher has just plunged about 100 grand into a project to give the adult his own monthly magazine of graphic gore. Mr. Leverett Gleason, the publisher, who earlier had put out quantities of kids' comics, now seems striving for a cartoonized approximation of the racier slicks. With undertones of the Reader's Digest and a small smitch of the Atlantic Monthly.

No critic, I, but I'd say it's every bit as readable as the stirring fables contained in the shills for cigarettes and razor blades, shampoos and toothpaste. That is high praise indeedy, for no man lives more daringly than the hero of the Gillette ads.

* * *

Full Coverage Given

We have, in the first issue of Tops, which is what they call this thing, a full coverage of the vital subjects. That crime is unprofitable, that unwed motherhood is frowned on in the better circles, and that people who run over children with automobiles are not nice is lined in violent pen strokes.

The man who runs this book says, in a preface, that "this new means of entertainment, for which we have coined the discriptive word, 'illustories,' now takes its place in full maturity alongside the theater, movies, radio and television . . . this new visual journalism is as American as hot-dogs and chewing gum." As Tiny Tim once remarked, God bless us every one!

Man says it took nine years of planning and lord only knows how many thousand hungry artists to fetch this literary coup d'etat to full flower. It comes upon the scene suitably embellished by the cartoonists, and hence must represent a milestone in culture.

* * *

I MAY be inclined to scoff, since I am a fellow who takes his words straight, without a pigmented chaser, but we have been pointing in this direction for a long, long time. The fanaticism with which children feed on the gaudy doings of comicbook characters should have warned us; the potency of the advertising "comic" strip, as a molder of opinion should have cinched the argument.

"Comics" is a misnomer all the way. We get the doings of Saul of Tarsus, Tarzan of the Apes, King Arthur, Christopher Columbus and Gyp the Blood fed us now in the new literary medium, which saves the reader effort. Where he read pages once, he now reads a single paragraph—a caption. We will give him Shakespeare, Kant, and even Adolf Hitler in the new, easy-to-swallow form—six pictures with a thin ledge of explanation under it.

* * *

Fear Is Revealed

I suppose this narcotic cannot help but catch on, and that perchance the written word will finally fall into disrepute save as a signpost to the overblown photo or the flamboyant illustration. No Shakespeare can hope to compete with a hungry Greenwich Villager who can compress all of "Hamlet" into a line-drawing with an agate cast of characters underneath.

But I dread the day when the complexities of daily living are all sugar-pilled into a catchy picture. The bold doings of our leaders are frightening enough in ordinary 8-point print, and when the ravings of the prophets are presented in a four-color spread, with words like "sock!" and "zowie!"—well, you can oversimplify anything.

NO IMPROVEMENT AT ALL

The so-called "secret ballot" bill as approved by the State Senate a few days ago would mean little improvement in the present Texas election system, which guarantees no secrecy at all.

Under the present system, anyone with access to the election records can ascertain how any person voted. Under the Senate bill, that still could be done. The checking merely would be a little more complicated.

As approved by the House and sent to the Senate, the measure would have insured a secret ballot. But the Senate promptly tacked on an amendment which makes the "secret ballot" label a fraud. Such a law would not be worth the time and expense involved in its enactment.

It is to be hoped the House will refuse to connive in such business. If its refusal to accept the amendment should block passage of a secret ballot law worthy of the name, the responsibility for the failure will rest squarely upon the Senate.

Black Cats And Leaning Ladder No Bother

Congressman With History In 13's Unworried By Jinx Days

BY HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 13 — This is the day the superstitious folks dread.

They fear to walk under ladders and kick black cats around to keep 'em from crossing their trails. It's Friday the 13th.

That led me up Pennsylvania Avenue to Capitol hill and to the office of the only member of Congress (that I know of) who was born on such a Friday.

There in his rather modest office with few frills about sat Rep. Isidore Dollinger, D., of the Bronx, N. Y. The personable gent from New York didn't seem to be worrying about a thing.

History In 13's

Dollinger was born on Nov. 13, 1905. The figure 13 has followed him through life but he's never let that bother him.

He gave me his history in a capsule:

He was born at 130 Brome street in Manhattan. Later he and his family moved to 175 Rivington street — which adds up to 13. His father had a business at number 148 on another street. That also totals 13. At another time he lived at 1660 Crotona Park East, in the Bronx, and you can add that up too.

When Dollinger was elected to the state assembly in Albany his first seat number was 113 and his hotel room during that first session was 1013.

Solons Born On 13th

He's a freshman representative in the 81st Congress here and his district shield on his car is 418. Four plus one equal five, plus eight equal—13.

Dollinger, who had a couple of minutes between roll calls in the House of Representatives, asked me if I would like to thumb through the congressional record with him. Some of the members of Congress do not list the date of their births, but we found that the following were born on the 13th of some month or other:

Blackcat Fooled

As I said, Dollinger takes his accident of birth, meaning Friday the 13th, in stride.

He doesn't carry a rabbit foot, and he has no fear of a ladder, whether it's standing up or on the ground. Neither does he do much to defy the superstitious — except when challenged.

To kid his less cautious friends, he has been known to doublecross a black cat by crossing its tracks after the pussy has crossed his.

Once, he said, he and a pal were walking down a sidestreet in the Bronx and the other gave a ladder a wide berth.

Friday Lucky Day

"I deliberately started to walk under," he said, "just to irk him. He grabbed my arm and we started a struggle, bumping the ladder as we did. The guy up there washing a second story window had a few anxious moments. I gave in."

Dollinger suggested that I go to the library of Congress and look up some of the background on superstitions. I did and found a lot of interesting things. Charles Dickens considered Friday a lucky day.

In some states, according to legend, mothers thought the hangman would get any kid born on Friday — the 13th or no. And the hoodoo people considered a cross-eyed man had little chance to become a baseball umpire "because both sides might consider him a jinx."

CHATEAU NEEDS REPAIRS

PARIS, May 13. (AP)—The famous chateau of Versailles, which was restored with Rockefeller millions after World War I, again needs repairs, according to the Paris newspaper "Figaro." Many of the rooms are said to have suffered from damp because they were insufficiently heated during the occupation years and a part of the ceiling moulding has collapsed in the famous Hall of Mirrors, where the Treaty of Versailles was signed.

Chinese Chief Says He Would Welcome Foreign Help In War

CANTON, May 13. (AP)—Marshal Yen Hsi-Shan, the old north China war-lord, said today he would welcome Japanese or any other foreign troops willing to fight the Chinese Communists.

"There is no reason," Yen said in an interview, "why foreign countries — including Japan — should not come here and aid us in this international war against Communism."

Yen's secretary scoffed, however, at a report published in Hong Kong that 30,000 Japanese troops from Formosa had landed in South China to take part in the civil war. The secretary termed the report "ridiculous."

Lost Jap Helpers

Yen, who may be the next premier of what is left of Nationalist China, conferred Thursday with Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, commander in central China.

He said Pai expressed fears that his Hankow garrison would be enveloped by Communist troops from the east. He quoted Pai as saying his forces were badly outnumbered.

The old marshall reiterated a previous prediction that Pai would fall back to Kwangsi province, his old stamping ground, leaving this south China city undefended.

Yen insisted, however, that no plans had been made to remove the government from Canton. If that becoms necessary, he added, the move will be "to some city west of Canton."
