Q. — Last year, someone sponsored a hunter's safety course here. Is this planned again this year?

A. — The Canyon Gun Club membership sponsored the course and member Bill Robbins said they will have other classes as hunting season nears. He said these will likely be in September. He can be contacted at 573-2729.

Soviet Union...

A. Gromyko picked leader

MOSCOW (AP) — Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet Union's foreign minister for the past 28 years, was elected president today at a national Parliament session after being nominated by Communist Party chief Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Georgia party chief Eduard A. Shevardnadze, 57, a new full member of the Politburo who has a reputation for being tough on corruption, was named to replace Gromyko, 75, in the Foreign Ministry post.

Gromyko's election was a major departure from the recent Kremlin practice of having the party leader also hold the title of chief of state.

There had been rumors in Moscow that Gromyko might be named president, but most Western observers discounted them.

There was speculation after the announcement that the naming of Gromyko amounted to a graceful exit of a well-respected member of the Kremlin "old guard" as the Moscow leadership swings to a new generation.

However, it also showed that Gorbachev, who has made domestic economic issues his prime concern, is now ready to take control of the field of foreign policy, although Gromyko as president is still expected to be a major figure on the international scene.

Gorbachev, 54, nominated Gromyko at a session which capped two days of major leadership changes, including the ouster of one-time power [illegible] Grigory V. Romanov from the ruling Politburo.

The official report of Monday's session of the party Central Committee said the Politburo removed Romanov, 62, for "health reasons" at his own request, but it was clear that he had been ousted.

Shevardnadze, 57, was elevated from alternate to voting status on the Politburo at the Monday session.

Beating prompts charges

The Sunday evening beating of a Snyder woman resulted in the indictment and subsequent arrest Monday morning of a 35-year-old man on charges of aggravated assault.

Don Odell Williams of 1007 29th St. was jailed at 11:45 a.m. after grand jurors returned the indictment against him.

Scurry County sheriff's officers were called to the Davis Cafe in the 3500 Block of Ave. M late Sunday evening where they found 44-year-old Mary Elizabeth Davis of 2900 Ave. H suffering from serious head injuries.

She was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital and later transferred to Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

She was scheduled to undergo surgery there Tuesday for the repair of injuries to facial bones.

Williams remained in Scurry County Jail Tuesday morning in lieu of bond set at $10,000.

His indictment was part of the regular July meeting of grand jurors Monday.

In addition, Monday's grand jury returned an indictment for felony DWI against a 28-year-old Snyder man.

Jose Antonio Tabullo of 1911 Coleman Ave. was indicted for that offense in connection with his June 16 arrest by police.

Bond for Tabullo was set at $1,500.

Entities 'pitch in' with July 4 help

The Towle Park National Guard Armory — traditionally a focal point for July 4th activities here — is still undergoing exterior renovation work, and with Thursday's celebration fast approaching, local taxing entities have "pitched in" to help cordon-off the front and side areas still under repair.

Work to the armory's center assembly hall is complete. As a result, the traditional arts and craft fair will go on as scheduled.

But paving work to the outside of the building has been held up due to recent rainy conditions here.

The result is a sizable height between curb and dirt areas — creating a potential hazard to persons walking in the park.

As a result, at the request of chamber officials, Scurry County commissioners have donated some 700 ft. of chain-link fence which is being temporarily erected at the site.

To install this, City Councilman David Hines has donated the time of a work crew from Hines Construction. The work began Monday with the assistance of National Guard Staff Sgt. Charles Cromwell and his men and Parks Superintendent Jimmy Ward.

As a result, persons attending the arts and craft fair in the armory will be left one entrance into the building with the remainder of the facility expected to be temporarily "fenced off" by Thursday.

FENCE FOR SAFETY — The paved areas surrounding Towle Park's National Guard Armory are still undergoing renovation, and for the safety of July 4th celebrants, the outside areas will be temporarily fenced off Thursday. To complete the work, local taxing entities have "pitched in" to help cordon-off the front and side areas. This work crew's time was donated by City Councilman David Hines, owner of Hines Construction. Workers shown include Joe Thamez (left) and Jim Fernandez. (SDN Staff Photo)

Tops 56 helps dieters

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

In the lonely battle to lose unwanted pounds, local dieters have at least three self-help organizations which can aid them.

With this issue, the SDN profiles Tops 56, organized here in 1962.

"At one time we were the only weight loss organization in town," said Peggy Vernon who is in charge of the local chapter.

National dues are $12 a year and local dues are $2 a month.

TOPS means "take off pounds sensibly," and KOPS means "keep off pounds sensibly."

Members meet on Tuesdays at the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Weigh-ins begin at 6:30 p.m. and the meeting gets underway at 7

'Rights' violation claimed

A prisoner being held in Scurry County Jail awaiting extradition back to Tennessee has filed suit against local district court and law officials claiming his imprisonment is a violation of his civil rights.

The legal document was written and filed by the suspect, Phillip Andre Harrison, 33, who lists a San Antonio address. Local authorities say he mailed his writ of habeus corpus — a legal document claiming he is being held illegally — to the U.S. District Court in Lubbock.

Harrison faces no charges in Scurry County but is being held here as part of an agreement with Midland County Jail authorities.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The distance men go is not nearly as important as the direction in which they go."

We need to change the direction in this country, and folks like you and me can make the difference. We talking about the large number of liability suits being filed.

In the past, insurance companies have decided it was less costly to pay a claim than to defend the claim in court. Because insurance companies have been so free with our money (money comes from premiums paid by folks like us), companies are no longer eager to write liability coverage.

The situation is putting the American way of life in jepodary. Just a couple of months ago, the parents of a Little Leaguer in another state sued the Little League organization and officials because the youngster had received permanent injury when a fly ball hit him in the eye.

The parents claimed that the coaches were negligent in failing to teach the youngster how to shade his eyes in order to catch a fly ball. The result was that no one wanted to volunteer to become a Little League coach.

There are plenty of ridiculous claims, but the one that takes the cake is the woman in Minneapolis who filed a $25,000 claim because her lover was negligent in transmitting herpes to her.

She spent the night with her boyfriend at his home, and filed the claim under his homeowners policy. Under the liability portion of the policy, the company will pay up to the limit if a claim is made against the homeowner for bodily injury and bodily injury is defined as bodily harm, sickness or disease.

Even though they both agreed to spending the night, she says she didn't consent to catching a disease.

An insurance spokesman called it a sign of the times. Frankly, in this age of enlightment, there are a few things we'd just as soon have put back in the dark part of the closet.

Former U.S. Congressman Kent Hance spoke to a meeting of the Texas Press Association last weekend, and we're confident that Hance will be in the race for governor.

Gov. Mark White was scheduled to speak. His cancellation delighted most in attendance, and gave Hance the opportunity to remark:

"I've had several opportunities to fill in for Mark White recently. I get to be a substitute so often that I may just move into the starting lineup."

Vietnam vets asked to parade

As a new addition to Snyder's annual July 4th parade, local veterans of the Vietnam War are asked to participate for the first time.

The march of local veterans is being organized by Terry Rumpff, who served in Vietnam from 1968-69 with the U.S. Marines.

He noted approximately 14 vets have already contacted him about a parade appearance. Those interested should gather at 8:30 a.m. beside the high school field house.

"If they'd like to wear a part of their uniform, that's fine," Rumpff said, "whatever they feel comfortable in."

He encouraged Vietnam veterans to contact him if they have questions. His number is 573-9049.

In Brief

Launch craft

KOUROU, French Guyana (AP) — The European Space Agency today launched its Giotto spacecraft, Europe's first interplanetary probe, which is to sail to a 1986 rendezvous with the famed Halley's Comet.

The launch from Kourou Space Center on the north coast of South America, scheduled for 8:13 a.m. (7:13 a.m. EDT,) was delayed by several minutes, but appeared to go off without a hitch.

Testimony

AUSTIN (AP) — An elderly Austin man told a Public Utility Commission judge today that Southwestern Bell could be "more resourceful" in looking for ways to increase revenues.

In lieu of annual rate hike requests, Roy Irwin suggested that the phone company cut costs.

"I can go an extra month without a haircut," to save money, Irwin said.

The Austin man, who has appeared at previous Bell rate cases, was the only consumer to testify before the rate case got under way today.

Homeport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's coveted homeport for the USS Wisconsin will be placed in Corpus Christi, Texas, U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen announced today.

The other cities were Pensacola, Fla.; Houston-Galveston; Lake Charles, La.; Pasagoula, Miss.; and Mobile, Ala.

Twin budgets

Directors for the Scurry County Appraisal District will consider the entity's twin budgets for 1986 Tuesday.

This includes budget estimates for carrying out the district's appraisal work in addition to its 1986 collection budget. During the year, the district will collect taxes for each of the county's three school districts.

The budget session will be part of the regular July meeting of the board. It will begin at 8 p.m. in the appraisal district office located at 2612 College Avenue.

Drug is used illegally in feed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chloramphenicol, an antibiotic forbidden in food-producing animals, is being used illegally in cattle and swine production despite serious health risks to humans consuming the meat, the Food and Drug Administration says.

The FDA, in a Federal Register notice published Monday, proposed to ban the oral solution of the animal drug, which if consumed by humans increases by 13 times the risk of developing a blood disease called aplastic anemia, which has a 70 percent fatality rate.

In humans, chloramphenicol is a dangerous "last resort" drug for people who do not respond to other antibiotics and who are hospitalized and carefully monitored for complications.

The veterinary version of the drug is supposed to be limited to treating infection in dogs, the FDA said, and warning labels on the drug forbid its use in food-producing animals such as cattle and pigs.

However, the agency said, "available data and information establish that most of the chloramphenicol oral solution distributed in recent years has been used to treat food-producing animals" for a wide range of infections.

Residues have been found in slaughtered cattle carcasses, the agency said. While the number of contaminated animals was tiny — 11 of 3,889 inspected at random between 1981 and 1983 — actual contamination likely is higher, the FDA said, and the risk of exposure to the substance is severe enough that a ban is justified.

"Residues of the drug, which have been found in food products, can cause serious human blood disorders including aplastic anemia," the agency said. "Unless the (drug license) approvals are withdrawn, the misuse in food-producing animals is likely to continue."

Both the National Cattlemen's Association and the National Pork Producers Council disassociated themselves from the drug, saying they were unaware of widespread illegal use of the substance.

The FDA said consumption of the chloramphenicol has escalated out of proportion to its proper use. While the substance is supposed to be restricted to infections in dogs, sales of the substance went from 4,300 kilograms in 1978 to 28,400 kilograms in 1982.

Nearly 100 on-site inspections found chloramphenicol being used, or about to be used, to treat dairy and beef cattle and calves and young and mature swine, the FDA said.

Fines against oil surpass $4 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a new $2 billion decision against the Exxon Corp., the government has collected or received judgments totaling more than $4 billion for overpricing by the oil industry during the energy shortages of the 1970s.

A special federal court ruled Monday that the world's largest company overcharged its customers by $895.5 million for crude oil from its Hawkins Field in east Texas from 1975 until 1981.

But the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals agreed with the Reagan administration that "it would be impossible to identify the ultimate victims of Exxon's overcharges due to the pervasive system of price controls in the petroleum industry."

The court, therefore, ordered Exxon to pay the $895.5 million plus more than $1 billion in accrued interest to a special Treasury escrow account. Money from that account should be distributed to the 50 states for energy conservation programs, the court said, upholding a lower court ruling.

Rep. John Dingell of Michigan, chairman of the House Energy Committee, and other Democrats in Congress have opposed the administration's attempts to use the refunds rather than tax revenues for energy conservation programs.

Both attorneys for Exxon and the government said they believe the judgment is the largest ever against a single defendant.

"I've never heard of a larger one," said Larry P. Ellsworth, deputy chief counsel for the Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration and the chief government attorney in the case.

Exxon officials said the company will likely appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Based on our understanding of the decision, we are extremely disappointed," said S.J. Reso, executive vice preisdent for the multinationl corporation's Exxon Co., USA subsidiary.

Attorneys for Exxon said the company also will likely be suing some of its minority partners, which owned one-third of the production from Hawkins Fields, to recover some of the judgment.

Those minority partners include other oil giants such as Texaco, Amoco, Sun, Mobil and Conoco plus about 2,200 royalty owners.

The Energy Department contended in its case against Exxon that the company wrongly interpreted regulations under the 1973 Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act to price an excessive share of the production from its 10,000-acre Hawkins Field near Tyler, Texas, as "new" rather than "old" oil.

Your Birthday

July 3, 1985

Measures will be taken in the year ahead that will help you build a materially secure future. Wasteful habits will be replaced by prudent ones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be extremely careful today where investments are concerned. Don't take foolish gambles based upon hearsay information from people you know socially. Major changes are ahead for Cancers in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't force your mate to deal with people he or she finds distasteful or boring today. No one will have a good time, including yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your critical faculties will be sharply attuned today. This is all well and good, provided you use this quality constructively instead of being merely a nitpicker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A pleasant luncheon or dinner could turn sour today if the person with whom you're sharing the good time fails to pick up his or her fair portion of the tab.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Domestic rumbles can be avoided today if you're not too insistent that everyone in the family marches to the tune you toot. Let them play their own music.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Under most circumstances, you are rather easy-going, but today you might step out of character and find fault with everything your companions do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Make it a point to be extra prudent in the management of your resources today. If you lack financial discipline, money will slip through your fingers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People important to your career will closely scrutinize your behavior today. Do nothing that could cause them to lose respect for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A negative attitude will prove self-defeating today. Instead of worrying about all the reasons why you can't do something, start thinking of the reasons why you can.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your friends will love you for what you are today, although this could be a trifle difficult for you to accept. You may think you'll have to buy their good will with favors.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In important career matters today, keep non-aligned parties out of the act. It will prove best to go it alone, rather than depending upon lukewarm supporters.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your day will not be productive if you fail to follow an organized schedule. Don't let non-essential activities override priority events.

Teen-Agers Owe the World Their Talents and Energy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: When I read your column about whether the parents were guilty of child abuse for making their sons, 9 and 11 years old, walk to school and back after they were kicked off the school bus for bad conduct, I was reminded of this column [illegible]. I've had it for many years and still think it hits the spot.

I raised eight children, and they all walked to and from school every day. It never hurt any of them.

Please run it again. It's as good now as it was when I first read it at least 15 years ago.

MRS. J. GALLAGHER, PHOENIX

DEAR MRS. GALLAGHER: So do I. And here it is:

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager: What can we do? Where can we go? The answer is, Go home!

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors. Repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And then when you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

"In plain, simple words, grow up; quit being a crybaby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like an adult.

"You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. This they have done gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because selfish ego, instead of common sense, dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

"In heaven's name, grow up and go home!"

DORIS BURVILLE,
OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: You frequently tell a correspondent, "Your letter made my day!"

Well, Abby, listen to this. After miles of avoiding tailgating trucks and speeders hurrying to resort areas, I slowed down as I drove through the small town of Shafter, Calif., where apparently some kind of doings was in progress.

Crossing with the green light were about 25 teen-agers pushing wheelchairs containing senior citizens, apparently from some nursing home.

I called out, "You young people are doing a marvelous job!" Abby, they answered me in sign language!

Believe me, that made my day!

DR. VELMA RITTER,
TAFT, CALIF.

DEAR DR. RITTER: Thanks for two important messages: (1) There are plenty of terrific teen-agers around; (2) regardless of our limitations, everybody can do something for somebody.

DEAR ABBY: Spruce gum is scarcer than hen's teeth. Please let your readers know that we are trying to get someone interested in spruce gum production because our supplier has retired.

I hope that the College of Forest Resources at the University of Maine at Orono will take up the challenge and become the world's only spruce gum producer. (Maine has about 7 million acres of spruce trees.)

Sorry we can't supply your readers now.

D. KILTON ANDREW JR.,
L.L. BEAN INC.,
FREEPORT, MAINE

DEAR MR. ANDREW: I am also sorry—sorry I was misinformed when I personally telephoned your company three times to verify the availability of spruce gum.

Many readers—especially professional athletes—want spruce gum. They say it keeps the mouth moist and has none of the drawbacks of chewing tobacco.

Teresa Crossland feted with shower

Teresa Crossland, bride-elect of Jeffrey Pylant, was honored with a bridal shower Sunday, June 30 in the Fellowship Hall of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

The serving table was covered with a peach linen cloth and highlighted with an ecru lace overlay. The centerpiece was fashioned of peach and ecru silk flowers standing regally in a bronze vase. A crystal punch bowl and appointments completed the setting.

Kristi Crossland, sister of the honoree, assisted the guests at the table.

The registration table was covered with a peach colored silk cloth and accented with an ecru lace cloth. A silk flower ring featuring peach and white flowers was centered with a lighted peach candle. A white feather pen and the bride's book flanked the centerpiece.

Janetta Pylant, sister of the prospective groom, assisted the guests at the registration table as they arrived.

Individual tables were covered with matching peach colored linen cloths and centered with miniature silk flower rings and peach colored tapers.

Jaqueline Pylant, sister of the prospective groom, provided mood music at the piano.

The hostesses, Polly Autry, Lyndal Burgess, Shirley Burrus, Carolyn Cox, Wanda Falls, La Vonda Foreman, Doris Greenfield, Shirley Fritz, Rosie Floyd, June Greenway, Faye Layne, Anita Payne, Nona Williams, Barbara McGee and Gayle Wittie, presented the honoree with a vaccum cleaner.

Mini-treats use season's fruits

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

If you are watching your weight but want to treat yourself to fresh fruit pie occasionally, why not make mini-pastry shells and freeze them individually? Then, you may fill as many as needed when you want a special dessert. Here the treat is fresh peaches in season with a homemade cream filling. Try other fresh fruits in season, or variations on the fillings.

BUTTER-PASTRY SHELLS

- 2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 tablespoons cold water

Stir together flour, sugar and salt. Add shortening and cut into consistency of fine meal. Add butter and cut in until particles are size of peas.

Beat egg yolks lightly with a fork and add lemon juice and cold water. Sprinkle over dry mixture, mixing to a stiff dough. Add a few more drops cold water if needed, to make dough hold together. Cover and chill.

Divide into 10 to 12 small balls. Roll one at a time to about 1/8-inch thickness and fit into tart pans about 4 inches in diameter, 1 1/8-inches deep. (Any type of individual pan may be used; simply roll dough to fit pan.)

Trim pastry edge even with edge of pan. Prick bottom and sides with a fork. Bake in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes or until nicely browned. Cool before filling.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 to 12 mini-pie shells. Freeze extra shells.

CREAM FILLING

- 1 (3 1/8 ounce) package regular vanilla pudding mix (not instant)
- 1 1/3 cups milk
- 1/2 cup cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Few drops almond extract

Combine pudding with milk in small saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches a full boil. Cover and cool.

When cold, beat cream to soft peaks. With same beater, beat pudding smooth with vanilla and almond extract. Fold cream into pudding.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 2 1/4 cups, enough for 8 mini-pies.

TO SERVE: Fill bottom of mini-pie shells with sliced peaches (skins removed and thinly sliced, allowing 1/2 peach for each mini-pie). Top with Cream Filling.

After-pregnancy

After the baby arrives, review your diet and start counting calories to get rid of excess weight. Ask your doctor when you can safely begin exercises to tighten abdominal muscles.

When he approves, start a daily regime of push-ups and sit-ups. Start with five each, three times a day, and gradually increase to 15 each over six weeks. Jogging does not tone abdominal muscles.

"It's my husband's birthday — would you pick out something personal for him on your lunch hour?"

DENNIS THE MENACE

Upsets continue to plague lower seeds at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - As the seeds continued to crash out of the Wimbledon tennis championships, Chris Evert Lloyd reflected on the pros and cons of her comfortable progress through the tournament.

"I have not struggled yet, which I can look at in a bad way and a good way," she said after a 52-minute, 6-2, 6-1 third-round win over Australian qualifier Jenny Byrne.

"I need a couple of close matches. I'd like to get into a 4-all situation and feel the pressure a little bit," said Lloyd, the co-top seed and the only seed left in the top quarter of the women's draw.

Lloyd, who has dropped only seven games in her first three matches, was due to continue her bid for the Grand Slam today by taking on fellow American Anne Smith in a fourth-round match on Center Court.

Before that, the men's top seed, defending champion John McEnroe, was to have opened with a fourth-round match against Andreas Maurer of West Germany, the second qualifier to face McEnroe.

On Court No. 1, Barbara Potter of the United States was slated to open against Britain's Jo Durie in a match between two unseeded serve-and-volleyers, followed by No. 2 seed Ivan Lendl's match against Henri Leconte of France.

On Court 2, defending women's champion Martina Navratilova, the co-top seed with Lloyd, met South African Rene Uys, with third-seeded Jimmy Connors up next against fellow American Sammy Giammalva.

Seventeen of the 32 seeds have been eliminated with just over half the tournament completed and McEnroe, aiming to become the first American to win the men's singles title three straight years, tried to explain why.

"The upsets to seeded players is because some of them are more slow court players and the conditions are conducive to upsets," he said. "The courts have been slippery and you have guys who just hit the serves and they can win matches because of that."

One of the upsets occurred Monday on Center Court where France's Yannick Noah, the No. 11 seed, went out in four sets to Vijay Amritraj of India, who is playing in his 14th Wimbledon.

Four seeds, two men and two women, were eliminated in Monday's action.

Along with Noah, seventh-seeded Joakim Nystrom of Sweden lost a five-set thriller to West Germany's hard-serving teen-ager Boris Becker.

In the women's event, Elizabeth Smylie of Australia shocked third-seeded Hana Mandlikova 6-1, 7-6 in the biggest upset so far, while French teenager Pascale Paradis upset Wendy Turnbull, the No. 14 seed and a two-time mixed doubles titlist, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

McEnroe had very little problem getting past qualifier Christo Steyn of South Africa 6-3, 7-5, 6-4 while Lendl finally found his game in the final two sets in stopping Shlomo Glickstein of Israel 7-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

SPORTS

Oilers finally sign Rozier to contract

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers are gambling a four-year, $2.25 million contract that running back Mike Rozier will be more successful in his second attempt at playing back-to-back football seasons.

The Oilers ended a year-long pursuit of Rozier Monday by signing the former Nebraska All-American only days after he completed his United States Football League career with the Jacksonville Bulls.

Rozier, the No. 2 rusher in the USFL, now has barely three weeks to prepare for his first National Football League season with the Oilers, who open camp July 19 at San Angelo, Texas.

"It won't be as hard as coming out of college with an ankle injury and besides, I didn't run the ball that much this year," Rozier said. "I didn't get banged up that much."

Rozier moved from Heisman Trophy winner at Nebraska into the camp of the Pittsburgh Maulers but hobbled to only 782 yards rushing in a disappointing rookie year.

He rallied at Jacksonville this season to finish with 1,361 yards, second to New Jersey's Herschel Walker.

Oiler General Manager Ladd Herzeg now can give full attention to signing running back Larry Moriarty, last season's leading rusher, to a contact. Moriarty is represented by Los Angeles agent Howard Slusher.

Nehemiah believes decision will allow him to run again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - World record-holding hurdler Renaldo Nehemiah, who quit track to join the San Francisco 49ers, says a ruling that allows him to run again will usher in a wide-open era for track and field.

Nehemiah isn't sure he'll be part of that era, despite his apparent victory in an expensive three-year legal battle with the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

"I've waited three years for this ruling, and now I've got mixed emotions about what I'll do," Nehemiah said.

"It's a final and binding ruling that allows me to go back to track right now if I want," he said. "The question for me now is whether to play football and run track together or give up one for the other."

Regardless of whether Nehemiah returns to track, he believes the ruling last week by an IAAF arbitration panel opens the door for all football players to compete in track and field. Eventually, he said, pros from many sports may be able to compete in international meets and the Olympics.

The National Football League has several track and field standouts, including Michael Carter and Jeff Stover of the 49ers, Willie Gault of the Chicago Bears, Ron Brown of the Los Angeles Rams, and Mark Duper of the Miami Dolphins.

"This is a landmark decision similar to the historic (Curt) Flood ruling concerning free agency in baseball," said Nehemiah's attorney, Ron Stanko.

However, a spokesman for The Athletics Congress, governing body of track and field in the United States, said he understood the IAAF council must still approve the ruling.

A three-man panel of the IAAF, world sanctioning group for track and field, decided June 25 in Nehemiah's favor on his challenge of IAAF Rule 53 (v), according to Ollan Cassell, TAC's executive director.

The rule states that the IAAF Council can declare eligible an athlete who competes as a professional in one sport, providing the practice of that sport is of no direct help for any track and field event.

The arbitration panel of attorneys from Finland, Jamaica and Senegal concluded that football does not aid a track and field athlete. That ruling now goes before the IAAF Council at its meetings in Athens, Greece, July 12-14.

Nehemiah, 26, lost his track eligibility when he joined the 49ers. He is now entering the option year of an $800,000 four-year contract as a wide receiver for the Super Bowl champions.

Outsiders claim win in scramble

Brownwood's Richard Davis and Keven Boscamp won the sixth annual Western Texas College Two-Man Scramble, held last weekend at the college course.

The twosome fired a 123, a 62 on Saturday and a 61 Sunday, to win the Championship Flight by five strokes.

Second were Pat Doran and Bob Stangby with a 62-66–128. Eric McGraw of Abilene and Mark Ingebrigtsen of Fort Worth were third with a 63-66–129.

Fourth were Gary Roberts of Coahoma and Kim Nichols with a 132.

Out-of-towners continued to grab most of the top places in the other flights. First place in the First Flight went to Glen Womack and Trey Womack of Colorado City with their 133; a 69 and a 64.

Second place went to Derek Boscamp and Sid Grant of Brownwood with a 134. Third were Barry Fletcher of San Angelo and Bo Kay of Amarillo with a 135.

Two teams tied for fourth place with 136s. They were Steven Baugh and David Baugh of Midland and Jeff Merket and Russel Merket of Midland.

Second Flight winners were Lubbock's Mark Walkrip and Craig Carter with a 74-67–141. Second place also went to a team from Lubbock - Joel Park and Henry Villalobos. They shot a 142.

Third were Snyder's Johnny Powell and Joe Laroux who defeated Ricky Moreno and Cisco Peralez of Midland on the fourth hole of a playoff. Both teams had shot 143s in regulation.

Snyder's Mackey Greene teamed with Bush Jordan of Lubbock to win the Third Flight with a 78-72–148. Second went to the local team of Cliff Woods and A.Z. Thomas with a 150.

Third place in the flight was won by Jack Gorman and Richard Gorman with a 152. Fourth were David Mayes and Buddy Mayes with a 153.

A. Gromyko: glib spokesman

MOSCOW (AP) — Andrei A. Gromyko, who survived Kremlin purges and leadership changes to be elected president of the Soviet Union today, has been a glib spokesman for Soviet foreign policy and a stone-faced negotiator with Western leaders from Winston Churchill to Jimmy Carter.

Gromyko, 75, helped establish the Soviet-American World War II alliance, joined in drafting the U.N. Charter, sat in on superpower meetings that shaped the face of the world, and outlasted Josef Stalin, Nikita S. Khrushchev and Leonid I. Brezhnev, Yuri V. Andropov and Konstantin U. Chernenko.

Last March, Gromyko nominated Mikhail S. Gorbachev as the new Communist Party leader.

Although he had been considered a Brezhnev backer, Gromyko was thought to have switched allegiance in Brezhnev's last year in power to become a backer of Andropov, who succeeded Brezhnev after his death Nov. 10, 1982.

Under Andropov, Gromyko's star rose. In March 1983, he added the title of first deputy premier to his portfolios of foreign minister and member of the Politburo. The move was seen as simultaneously enhancing his prestige and strengthening Andropov's hand.

Gromyko generally took a backseat to the leaders he loyally served during the years that the Soviet Union cemented its grip on Eastern Europe and rose to become a nuclear power.

But Tass once said he took part in "the most important foreign political developments of our time" and former U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance commented that Gromyko had "few peers in the modern world" as a diplomat.

The craggy face, its jaw seemingly permanently set beneath horn-rimmed glasses, became instantly recognizable to the outside world.

Some observers attribute Gromyko's career longevity to his political flexibility, his apparent failure to make a bid for power on his own — he was not admitted to the Politburo inner circle until 1973, the same year as Andropov — and his invaluable diplomatic expertise.

Gromyko has earned a reputation for toughness and endurance that has won him respect in the Kremlin and other seats of power around the world.

Khrushchev, who often heaped insult on Gromyko, once said in his presence, "If I tell him to sit on an iceberg, he'll stay there and freeze, but he won't move."

Gromyko was born July 18, 1909, to Byelorussian peasants.

According to impresario Billy Rose (1899-1966): "Never invest your money in anything that eats or needs repainting."

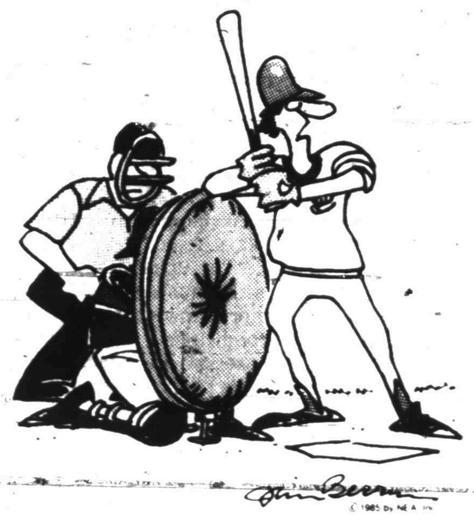

County attorney refuses

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — County Attorney Luther Jones says he won't represent the county in a lawsuit filed over construction of a drug treatment center because he believes the Socorro residents who filed the suit are right.

The suit, filed in U.S. district court against the El Paso County and others, seeks to halt plans to operate the Aliviane drug treatment center now under construction in the Lower Valley community.

Among other things, the suit alleges that Socorro residents were never notified that a site near the community ball park was being considered for the project.

Rats live to old age after taking new drug

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rats given a powerful anti-rejection drug lived to old age with transplanted legs, say researchers who believe the drug will save human burn patients and may someday allow limb transplants in people.

While the rats were unable to walk normally because of problems with nerve-muscle connections, the drug cyclosporine prevented rejection of the transplanted limbs, said Kirby S. Black, a surgery instructor at the University of California at Irvine.

In one of a six-year series of studies involving about 300 rats — each of which received a transplanted hind leg after amputation — seven of nine rats lived to old age without rejecting the limbs, Black said Monday in a telephone interview.

One rat received cyclosporine for only 20 days but lived 735 days with a transplanted hind leg before dying of old age — more than six times the previous longevity record, immunologist Charles W. Hewitt said.

"It's the most significant contribution to homotransplantation of limbs since the early 1960s, when we were trying it in dogs" without success, said Dr. Harry Buncke, a microsurgeon at the University of California at San Francisco. Homotransplantation refers to transplants among members of the same species.

Body may be that of missing teenager

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A body found in a wooded area of north Fort Worth may be that of an Arlington teen-ager who was reported missing Saturday morning, police said early today.

Allen Edward Bolden, 17, a lifeguard at the Fort Worth Boys Club, was last seen Friday night when he left the club for swimming practice at the University of Texas at Arlington, said city police spokesman Doug Clarke.

Bolden never showed up at UTA.

Clarke said police did not know the cause of death of the man found in a wooded section of Fort Worth Monday night. He said the body was partially decomposed.

Inmate accused of threatening lawyer

DALLAS (AP) — A man serving a 50-year sentence for passing counterfeit checks has been indicted on charges of trying to extort $1,000 from [illegible] torney by threatening him with the Detroit mob.

Irving Sisson, 58, a Texas Department of Corrections inmate in Huntsville, is accused of writing two threatening letters [illegible] Mills, who handled his 1982 theft cases, Assistant U.S. Attorney Chris Milner said Monday.

In the letters, Sisson demanded the return of the $1,000 retainer paid to Mills and said he was "dead serious" and would pursue the matter to its "final conclusion," Milner said.

D & B CONSTRUCTION can install siding on your home which will not only improve the face value but will also reduce energy consumption. (SDN Staff Photo)

D&B Construction largest volume siding dealership

D & B Construction began in July 1978 under the ownership of Dave and Becky Taylor.

Even though the business started with nothing but a hope and a prayer, today D & B Construction is the largest volume siding dealership in West Texas, serving a large area of West Texas from its office at 5230 34th Street in Lubbock.

Dave Taylor believes that the success of his company is largely due to quality products and quality workmanship. D & B Construction sells and installs U.S. steel siding and overhang covering products. In addition the company handles several different windows and doors and other quality materials.

D & B Construction employs six full time installation crews that work only for D & B Construction.

There are several reasons for installing siding on your home, not the least of which is the good looks it provides for years to come. In fact, the materials carried by D & B Constructon have a life time warranty on the finish, as well as a hail warranty on all steel products. In addition many customers cite greatly reduced utility bills after the installation, especally if they install storm windows.

If you would like to forget painting your home, reduce energy consumption, and improve it's face value call D & B Construction. One hundred percent financing is available. Call (806) 793-3173.

Arson blamed for worst residential fire in San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An outbreak of fires that has destroyed or damaged nearly 100 houses crackled today across more than 56,000 acres of Arizona and California, spurred by triple-digit temperatures, tinder-dry brush and erratic winds, authorities said.

Arson was blamed Monday for the worst residential fire in San Diego history and was suspected in a Palo Alto blaze that burned 10 to 15 houses and briefly stranded 50 schoolchildren.

Thousands of people were evacuated Sunday from Normal Heights in San Diego, where a fast-moving fire destroyed 64 houses and damaged 20 others, leaving 150 people homeless and doing $8.5 million damage, authorities said.

"Without a doubt, it's the largest loss of single-family dwellings in the history of San Diego," said fire spokesman Logan Bellows.

Firefighters had to contend with sizzling temperatures — a high of 107 broke a 101-year-old record Monday in Los Angeles, the second day such a mark had fallen — and it was 117 in Palm Springs, the National Weather Service said.

Five new fires broke out across the state Monday, burning 10 to 15 houses in Palo Alto and threatening Ojai, 60 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

About 200 firefighters dodged scorpions Monday battling a blaze that burned more than 6,000 acres near the Baboquivari Mountains, 50 miles southwest of Tucson, Ariz. Lightning was the suspected cause, said Dale Brown, a fire dispatcher for the State Land Department's forestry division.

At least 50 firefighters suffered minor injuries in California.

The state's largest fire — a stubborn 20,000-acre blaze that began Thursday near Palm Springs — and an 8,300-acre blaze east of San Diego near Mount Miguel, were expected to be contained today, firefighters said.

The 100-acre Palo Alto fire, 25 miles southeast of San Francisco, briefly stranded 50 schoolchildren. A man was arrested for investigation of arson but was released after being held briefly, city clerk Ann Tanner said.

Hostages are en route home

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) — Twenty-nine Americans freed after being held hostage for 17 days by Lebanese Shiite Moslem hijackers took off from the U.S. Air Force base near Frankfurt today on the final stage of their long journey home.

About 300 people, many waving small American flags, cheered and applauded as the freed Americans, accompanied by about 40 family members, boarded a TWA L-1011 TriStar.

The plane was headed for Andrews Air Force Base just outside Washington, and the White House said President Reagan was scheduled to welcome the former hostages at about 3 p.m. EDT.

Robert B. Oakley, director of the State Department's Office For combating Terrorism, said 10 of the Americans, who were aboard TWA Flight 847 when it was hijacked June 14, had made "private arrangements."

"Some will stay in Europe a little longer and a couple have already left," Oakley said. He did not identify the 10 and did not say if those who had left were bound for the United States.

U.S. Navy Capt. Jay Coupe, a spokesman for the hostage reception in West Germany, said that one or two of the former hostages might spend tonight at the U.S. military hospital in nearby Wiesbaden for further medical tests. He refused to give their names.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Robert Heath and TWA officials refused to release the names of the 29 hostages whose plane took off at 1:23 p.m. (7:23 a.m. EDT.)

Many of the ex-hostages carried flowers and waved back to the crowd as they boarded the plane. Some were carrying shopping bags after a trip Monday to the U.S. military shopping center near the Wiesbaden hospital.

The 29 former hostages had been driven to the Rhein-Main base with their relatives in three buses.

Dieters turn to Tops 56

p.m.

New members cannot begin the program without the express okay of their doctor. In fact, it is the doctor who sets the goal for the member and prescribes the diet.

"Since everyone has different problems, doctors must set the individual program, including exercise, for each member," she noted.

Tops 56 offers an allegiance of knowing "someone cares," she added, stressing "No one can help you lose weight but you. There is no magic pill to losing weight. You get out of it what you put into it."

"Sometimes people come looking for a magic solution but they find out that they have to do it themselves," Vernon said. "We offer encouragement."

TOPS 56 also offers low calorie recipe books to its members. They are encouraged to lose weight the sensible way: eating three meals a day, exercise and self discipline.

Along the way incentives are offered such as monthly awards and an award every six months for the best "loser."

During meetings members often exchange low calorie recipe ideas, Vernon explained.

TOPS 56 is a national as well as international organization. Texas is hosting the international meeting this year in San Antonio and several local representatives will be present, including two long standing members.

Vernon said three members are still in the organization who have kept their weight off for a number of years: one for 19 years another for 16 and one for 15.

TOPS 56 members are "pals" to each other and if someone needs to talk about the problems they are having in losing weight or maintaining their desired weight then they always have a "pal" they can talk to.

At one time there were 42 members, but the average now is about 15 members.

"We are strictly a non-profit organization," Vernon said. "We encourage our members to do what their doctor has told them to do."

Shoplifting arrest noted

Snyder police, responding to a reported shoplifting incident, arrested a 16-year-old male juvenile on misdemeanor theft charges Monday afternoon.

Officers received the call from employees of Kmart at 4:47 p.m. The suspect was later released to the custody of his mother.

Any further action in the case will proceed through the juvenile court.

In other action, police jailed one man on warrants for failure to pay traffic citations issued by Department of Public Safety officers.

Obituaries

Sanders, Jr.

Graveside services for Tommy Lynn Sanders, Jr., infant son of Tommy and Margaret Sanders of 306 28th, were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Snyder Cemetery with the Rev. David Halladay of Greenhill Baptist Church officiating.

The infant died at 11 a.m. Sunday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

He is survived by a sister, Tina, a brother, Stephen; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Sanders of Gorman; his maternal grandmother, Elizabeth Ann Allen of England.

Barbara Cockrell

Graveside services for Barbara Bedell Cockrell, 71, of Lubbock, formerly of Snyder, will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Rix Funeral Directors of Lubbock.

She died Monday morning at her home after a lengthy illness.

She was born March 13, 1914 in Urbana, Ohio. She was a former member of the First United Methodist Church in Snyder.

She is survived by three daughters and seven grandchildren.

Frances Sorrell

STAMFORD--Services for Frances Foster Sorrell, 68, of Stamford were to be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Trinity Baptist Church. Burial was to be at Bethel Cemetery in Funston, directed by Kinney Funeral Home.

She died Monday morning at Teakwood Manor Nursing Home after a lengthy illness. She was born Feb. 2, 1917 in the Funston community.

Local survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Don (Sandra) West, a granddaughter, Mrs. Don Hicks and a niece, Mrs. Hugh Boren, Jr., all of Snyder.

Prisoner alleges rights violation

Midland is a misdemeanor count of being in possession of gambling paraphernalia. He was serving a 15-day sentence locally when forgery charges against him in Tennessee also surfaced.

Tennessee authorities have now filed formal extradition proceedings seeking to have Harrison returned there for prosecution.

An extradition and bond hearing is set Wednesday morning in 132nd District Court in relation to this attempt.

His suit alleging violation of civil rights names District Judge Gene Dulaney, District Attorney Ernie Armstrong, District Clerk Polly Underwood and County Sheriff Keith Collier.

Judge Dulaney has removed himself as the presiding judge for Wednesday's hearing and in his place Judge Weldon Kirk of Sweetwater will be seated.

Armstrong said Monday afternoon he has not formally been served with papers in connection with the filing.

When this occurs, he said he would file an answer on behalf of himself, Underwood and Collier. He noted Judge Dulaney would likely file his own answer.

U. S. calling for boycott of airport

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the 39 freed American hostages returning home, the Reagan administration is calling for an international boycott of Beirut airport and says it may undertake military strikes against terrorist camps in the Middle East.

The State Department announced Monday it is taking legal steps to prevent American airliners from landing at Beirut International Airport which, it said, has been involved in about 15 percent of all hijackings over the past 15 years, including TWA Flight 847 on June 14.

"We ought to put Beirut International off limits until Beirut puts terrorists off limits," said a senior U.S. official who briefed reporters on the condition that he not be identified.

Elaborating on the action Monday night, Secretary of State George P. Shultz said the number of American carriers with flights to Beirut is negligible but that many Americans are ticketed to Beirut by foreign airlines. He said this practice will be stopped.

Shultz said the purpose of the action is to prevent the Beirut airport from being a "safe haven" for terrorists.

Shultz, interviewed on PBS's MacNeil-Lehrer Newshour, also said the United States knows the identities of the hijackers and hopes to take legal action against them with the cooperation of Lebanese authorities.

Shultz acknowledged, however, the U.S. efforts may not bear fruit because of the unsettled conditions in Lebanon.

Previously, administration officials had said only that they believed the hostages had been taken by members of the Hezbollah Party, an extremist Shiite group.

Robert C. McFarlane, national security adviser to Reagan, said Monday there are "two or three strategic locations in the Middle East" that might be targets of U.S. military action but he did not specify them.

He said the United States must not engage in a "random act of vengeance" but instead should focus its power "on dealing with the root sources of terrorism: where people are trained, where they are housed, fed, sustained over time."

The State Department also said Monday that Syria is still officially listed as a supporter of terrorism despite its role in helping to arrange the release of the hostages.

Downed lines clip SCAT's TV service

Several residences in far east Snyder were without cable television service for at least part of the day Monday following a minor traffic accident at the intersection of 37th St. and Kola Ave.

According to police accident reports, Jerry Wayne Atnip of Rt. 2 Snyder was driving a 1967 Ford winch truck owned by Graham Wire Rope through the intersection when gin poles on the truck struck a SCAT TV cable hanging across the street.

The truck pulled down that cable and broke a SCAT owned utility pole which fell on the roof of a section of the Purple Sage Motel.

Cable company officials say TV service to that part of town was restored in stages through the day with all service restored by late Monday afternoon.

Also damaged in the incident was a utility pole owned by Texas Electric Service Co. No interruption of electric service occurred, however.

As of Tuesday morning, no estimate of damage was available for the motel roof or the utility poles and line.

Prison head worried about overcrowding

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The new director of the Texas Department of Corrections says prison officials already have laid the groundwork for safer and better correctional facilities.

"Now I think we're at the stage we need to start implementing. In the next four or five years, if we build on the base, we can have one of the best prison systems that will be a model for other systems to view," TDC Director Lane McCotter said Monday.

The prison director, in his first lengthy interview since being named two weeks ago to head TDC, said he was shocked at the condition of the state's prisons when he arrived last year.

"The lack of control, how dirty the prisons were, overcrowding. I think that's what led to most of the problems," he said. "Prisons in 1970 that were model prisons with 1,000 or 1,200 inmates now had 2,200 or 2,400 inmates with the same support facilities. What happened is that they increased beds but not support facilities.

"And when you do that you wear out your institution, your equipment, very quickly. It's almost dying of old age," said McCotter, who turns 45 this month.

McCotter spent 22 years in military corrections before coming to Texas a year ago. He succeeded Raymond K. Procunier, who quit last month, saying he was burned out.

He had been Procunier's deputy, but said it would be "impossible to state all the things I learned from him. A lot of things you learn in a subtle way."

However, he said, one thing Procunier taught him was patience.

"He was very astute in the political arena," McCotter said.

He said the legacy of Procunier in Texas would be the classification program under which inmates are grouped.

"I think we have one of the finest in the country. It's designed for Texas and not a copy of anything. It's sort of the foundation of which we built everything else," he said.

McCotter said he did not feel he was under any additional pressure because Gov. Mark White urged prison board members to name him as Procunier's successor.

"I think this system puts all the pressure you can stand," he said. "I'm just a person like everyone else. I must do things my way."

Part of the foundation for a better prison system is an agreement reached in a civil rights suit filed by 13 years ago by inmates contesting prison conditions.

McCotter said the agreement "in essence is our blueprint for the next four years."

The so-called Ruiz agreement — named after inmate David Ruiz who filed the suit alleging civil rights violations in Texas prisons — is to be formally signed later this month.

The major effect of the agreement will be to limit the population of existing prisons at 34,210 inmates — or about 4,000 fewer than the system now holds.

"I am concerned about growth and how we are going to take care of growth at the same time we are depopulating," McCotter said. "Obviously, we're adding beds with new facilities but I'm hoping our growth is not going to outgrow our construction program."

In response to the population cap, prison officials plan to build a series of trustie camps plus a new maximum security prison.

McCotter said some details of the new prison would be formalized at a prison board meeting next week. He hopes the prison is operating by September 1987. No site yet has been chosen.

He also said that over the past year, department officials have been "working extremely hard to lay the foundation and to do those things necessary to provide custody and control and security of our prison system.

Mesa Petroleum to show gains

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — For tax purposes, Mesa Petroleum Co. will show a gain of $83 million in the second quarter as a result of its aborted attempt to win control of Los Angeles-based Unocal Corp.

However, the gain is the result of financial juggling rather than a profit from the sale of its holdings in Unocal, the parent of Union Oil Co. of California.

Mesa, which at one time owned 23.7 million shares or 13.6 percent of Unocal, sold back part of its holdings to the company for high-quality notes earlier this year.

Mesa is counting those notes as dividends rather than profit from the sale of stock, giving Mesa a bigger tax break.

In addition, the notes have risen in value to $589.4 million from $565 at the time Mesa received them.

Mesa also said it expects to sell its remaining 14.6 million Unocal shares at $27 each, or a total of about $394.2 million, next year.

For accounting purposes, Mesa, which had spent about $1.1 billion acquiring Unocal stock, will thus show a loss on the stock transaction of about $700 million for tax purposes, the company said Monday.

Analysts had widely predicted that Mesa would show a loss of between $50 million and $200 million in his failed Unocal takeover attempt. It would have been his first loss in five forays against major oil companies in recent years.

But Mesa Vice President David Batchelder said the analysts overlooked the tax treatment of proceeds Mesa received when it exchanged part of its Unocal common stock for the senior notes issued by the Los Angeles-based oil company.

The $83 million gain was due to that treatment, he said.

The exchange was conceived by Unocal as a defensive strategy and was part of the agreement that ended the takeover attempt by a Mesa unit, Mesa Asset Co.

Batchelder said the tax loss would be used against profits made from Mesa's earlier takeover bids of Gulf Oil Corp. and Phillips Petroleum Co.

Couple lose appeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bernard and Odette Port, the Houston couple jailed and fined for contempt for refusing to testify against their son despite being given immunity, have lost an appeal in federal court.

A three-judge panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Monday rejected the arguments of the Ports, who were jailed in Harris County after they refused to testify to a Harris County grand jury about David I. Port in June 1984.

The younger Port was a primary suspect and was later convicted in the murder of Debra Schatz, a U.S. postal employee.

The elder Ports invoked their privilege against self-incrimination and refused to testify, were found in contempt and were jailed and fined $500 each.

In November, Bernard Port did testify and was freed; his wife was released after the grand jury disbanded in January.

Can blackheads be removed?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is 13 and has been getting blackheads in her ears. What can be done about this?

DEAR READER — I may be run out of town on a rail for telling you this, but it is all right to pick at blackheads. Make sure that your hands and your child's ears are clean, then take an ordinary bobby pin and gently but firmly press the oval end over the blackhead. Usually, the material in the pore will be expressed out and up through the loop. If performed regularly, this ritual should alleviate the pore blockage that causes her blackheads.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is 12 and has hair under her arms. Will it harm her to shave them this summer?

DEAR READER — Probably not, but remember that you are committing her to a regular procedure.

Axillary hair (under the arms) is natural for both men and women. Shaving it is a cultural preference that is as typically American as apple pie. European women didn't worry about this sort of thing until after World War II, when American customs became fashionable.

In a child of 12, silky sparse axillary hair is not a cosmetic problem, except to the extent that your daughter is experiencing peer pressure to appear grown-up. Once she starts shaving her underarms and legs, the new hair will grow in as a coarse stubble — and she will have to continue periodic shaving to get rid of it.

If your daughter is precocious, she may feel more comfortable shaving. Although I can think of no conclusive medical reason why she should not, it would be a shame for her to adopt behavior strictly on the basis that "everyone else does it."

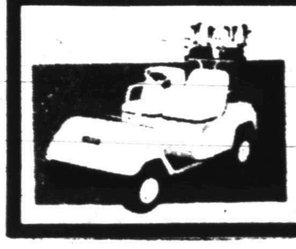

DEAR DR. GOTT — Why do elderly women grow mustaches and beards?

DEAR READER — All women produce male hormone (testosterone) as well as female hormone (estrogen). Before menopause, when the ovaries are in full gear manufacturing estrogen, relatively hairless female characteristics dominate over weaker male features. After menopause, however, the flow of estrogen diminishes and testosterone's effects become more prominent. Hence, as women age, they often experience deepening voices and the appearance of facial and chest hair. This embarrassing hair can be overcome by plucking, wax treatment or shaving; sometimes, estrogen-containing skin cream is effective in combating the effects of male hormone.

It may interest you to know that all men produce estrogen, but its effects are usually overridden by testosterone. As men age, however, testosterone levels fall off and they may begin to show signs of feminization, like reedy voices, loss of facial hair and diminished sex drive. So, as writers have repeatedly pointed out, we all tend, with time, to take on the physical characteristics of prepubescent youngsters.
