Court-Fearing Night Guard Reveals Second Story Office Visit

COP GETS WITNESS

Warned to Keep Silent, Man Has to Be Fetched to Scene of Probe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 20. (AP)—A nocturnal visit to the governor's office by way of a second story window was charged today to Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, erstwhile confidential secretary to Henry S. Johnston, in testimony before a house investigating committee gathering evidence for Governor Johnston's impeachment trial.

Mrs. Hammonds held the spotlight both in the committee testimony and the senate court trial, where was told a story of another unsuccessful attempt to dislodge her from the governor's office.

Watchman Tells Story

The alleged window episode was told by C. A. Wallace, former watchman that encircles the structure at the second floor, pry open a window screen and enter the office.

The next day, Wallace said, Mrs. Hammonds attempted to have him discharged, telling J. R. Edwards, capitol chief of police, that the watchman was not vigilant and had permitted someone to enter the governor's office and take valuable papers. Wallace confided what he had seen to Edwards, he said, and was warned to be silent if he wished to retain his job.

Officer Gets Guard

Wallace said the incident occurred in the spring of 1927. He declared that since the present investigation and impeachment proceedings against Johnston have started, he was approached by a man who asked him if he was not afraid of perjury proceedings in case he testified. It was necessary to send a committee officer after Wallace today and he was brought before the committee from his home at Bethany, a suburban town.

Nemesis of 'The Fox' Sentenced

Asa Keyes, former Los Angeles district attorney, who sent William Edward Hickman to the gallows, was sentenced yesterday to a term in San Quentin for accepting a bribe in the Julian oil case. Keyes is shown in jail wearing regulation blue denim.

Man Who Sent Hickman to His Death Given Prison Sentence for Bribery

Asa Keyes and Cohort in Julian Oil Conspiracy Hear Judge Pronounce Terms; Case Appealed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20, (UP)—In the courtroom where his plea sent William Edward Hickman to the gallows, former District Attorney Asa Keyes late today was sentenced to serve from one to 14 years in San Quentin prison for bribery conspiracy in office.

Ed Rosenberg, charged with paying the former prosecutor $125,000 to obtain his dismissal in the Julian Petroleum corporation trials, also received a one to 14 year term.

Sentencing of Ben Getzoff, their asserted go-between, was postponed to permit him to file an application for probation.

Getzoff's Health Broken

Getzoff, broken in health, has been confined to the county jail hospital since his conviction two weeks ago. Physicians believe that he would not survive prison confinement.

Before passing sentence, Superior Judge Edward L. Butler, denied motion for a new trial.

Keyes and Rosenberg took their sentence calmly, but Keyes' wife and their daughter, Elizabeth, wept silently.

Getzoff was so weak he had to be supported by two deputy sheriffs as he stood before the court.

The defense motion for release of the men pending decision on their appeal was denied and they were returned to the county jail.

Judge Butler spoke quietly:

"Asa Keyes, you have been accused of conspiracy to bribe and a jury has found you guilty. Your motion for new trial has been denied. This is the time for pronouncing sentence. Is there any legal reason why sentence should not be pronounced?"

Keyes Comforts Family

"There is not, your honor." Attorney William Biere, who stood beside Keyes throughout the sentencing said.

"Asa Keyes, I sentence you to serve in San Quentin prison the sentence required by law. You are remanded to the sheriff of Los Angeles county to be transported to prison."

Keyes then left his counsel's side and joined his wife and daughter. He spoke to them comfortingly in a low tone.

Funeral services for Rev. William Lewis Nelms, 70, who died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. S. McKenney, 1812 Tenth street, will be conducted from the First Methodist church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. E. R. Barcus, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, and Rev. W. J. 50 Years in Service

Rev. Nelms was found dead in his room Wednesday morning by members of the McKenney family when they called him to breakfast. Physicians who examined the body declared that they believed the death due to heart failure.

He was head of the Texas delegates to the Southern Methodist conference which meets every four years four times during his ministry, and a member in 1901 of the ecumenical conference, a world gathering of the church which meets at London every 10 years.

Shreveport and Tulsa Millionaires Open Radio Battle of the Century

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (US)—With two important witnesses in a Birmingham, Ala., hospital as the result of an airplane crash while en route to Washington with 20,000 affidavits, the most colorful case in the history of the federal radio commission got under way Wednesday. W. K. Hendreson, Louisiana Crossus, and W. G. Skelly, Tulsa oil millionaire, met to fight out their radio differences, before the commission.

Steadman Gunning, announcer for Henderson's Shreveport, La., station KWKH, and Van Leer Leary, pilot of the plane, were seriously injured in the crash. The plane was taking off from Birmingham when the motor stalled, sending the ship through the roof of a house.

Technically, the case involves the petition of Skelly that his station KVOO at Tulsa be given the more desirable wavelength of 850 kilocycles, now being divided between

Republicans Invited to Give Patronage Testimony; Wichitan to Go

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Charges involving the measure of protection enjoyed by the manufacturers and sellers of illict liquor in Texas and buttressed by a sheaf of affidavits will be laid before Commissioner James M. Doran Thursday morning by Lee Shannon, former federal prohibition officer at Houston.

The exact nature of these charges and the details on which they are based have not been revealed. In fact, strenuous efforts have been made to prevent publicity of the fact that Shannon is here or that he has an appointment Thursday morning with Commissioner Doran. However, it is known that an appointment was made for him and that he is to be accompanied to the prohibition office by Senator Morris Sheppard and Senator-elect Tom Connally.

Shannon Silent

Shannon himself refused to make any statement, declaring publicity of the fact that he is to confer with Commissioner Doran, would be highly undesirable. While there was no confirmation obtained it is understood the affidavits which Shannon has for presentation to Commissioner Doran deal with alleged "protection" in Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth.

Allegations were made before the Brookhart committee that certain interests in Dallas and Fort Worth had enjoyed "protection" from interference by prohibition officers. This, however, was in the nature of hearsay and was not followed up by the senatorial committee on the ground that its authority was limited to an investigation regarding postmaster patronage.

Texas Air Enthusiast Has Chat With Italian Dictator On Flight To Rome

ROME, Feb. 20. (AP)—Col. W. B. Easterwood Jr., who is promoting a $25,000 flight from Rome to Dallas, Texas, was received in private audience today by Premier Mussolini. He reported afterwards that the premier believed the projected flight would be a great thing for aviation as well as for Italy and the United States.

The colonel was enthusiastic over his meeting with the Italian leader. He said Mussolini met him half way across the room with outstretched hand in American fashion and showed his recently acquired knowledge of colloquial English by saying:

"Sit down and make yourself at home."

Patrick Keelan, of the American embassy staff, accompanied Colonel Easterwood to the Chigi palace but did not go into the premier's office.

"I am considerably interested in flying on my own account," Mussolini said to his guest. "I have had several flights such as from Rome to Naples, but would like to fly more."

Colonel Easterwood complimented Il Duce on the flight of the Italian aviator Ferrarin to South America last year. The statesman smiled and said:

"That was a great flight."

In response to an invitation to visit America he replied:

Mussolini wound up the 15 minute interview by predicting that within 20 years a large part of trans-Atlantic traveling would be done in either airplanes or airships.

Publisher Says County Put Up 3 to 1 Odds

AUSTIN, Feb. 20. (AP)—Allotments of aid to Harris county and a difference of opinion as to location of a highway in Karnes county were testified today before the legislative committee investigating the highway commission.

R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the highway commission, told the committee that Harris county has put up $3 to $1 furnished in state and federal aid for constructing highways.

Too Many Counties

His testimony was on the charge that the commission had allotted $6,300,000 for construction work in "Harris and 17 adjoining counties."

Replying to interrogations by Representative Gerron, author of the investigation resolution, Sterling said there were not 17 counties adjoining Harris county.

"It would take a pretty big county to have 17 counties adjoining it," Sterling said.

"I mean in the neighborhood of Harris county," Gerron explained.

"The 17 counties in question are in the neighborhood of several other counties, too," Sterling said.

Sterling said the counties refer-

Hardy Must Face Trial for "Gift" Aimee Gave Him

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—The assembly late today voted to impeach Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles for alleged misdemeanors in office. The vote was 57 to 18.

The claim of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, that her payment of $2,500 to Hardy was merely a "gift," "insults the intelligence," Assemblyman Walter J. Little, had told the lower house of the legislature when he asked that body to adopt the report recommending impeachment of the jurist.

Introduction of the report was followed by a detailed account of evidence gathered by the committee during its investigation of Judge Hardy's activities.

F. C. Clowdsley, member of the special investigating committee, did not concur with the other four in recommending impeachment. Although admitting "Judge Hardy has acted most foolishly in a manner unbecoming a member of the judiciary," Clowdsley expressed conviction "that he has not violated the constitutional provision against practicing law in any court of this state."

BOWIE, Texas, Feb. 20—Dr. Rue Parcells of Amarillo, district governor of the 41st district of Rotary International, and Mrs. Parcells were injured early today when their automobile skidded from the highway into a ditch about five miles northeast of Montague, between Montague and St. Jo.

The couple were thrown into the windshield of the car as it plunged into the ditch and Dr. Parcells suffered a painful cut across his nose and injury to his leg, while Mrs. Parcells received a gash on her chin. Both were bruised.

Although suffering from his injuries, the Rotary official summoned help and had his damaged car pulled out of the ditch. He then drove into Bowie without help. He and his wife were taken to a hospital and received first aid treatment.

JUDGE STOPS TRIAL TO PUSH PERJURY CASES

Father and Two Friends Of Accused Bandit Face Stiff Charges

DAD ALTERS STORIES

Pruitt Sr. Gives Two Versions of Whereabouts Of His Son

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Judge C. A. Pippen tossed a bomb-shell into the robbery trial of William (Dagger) Pruitt Jr., today when he halted the hearing to order perjury charges filed against three defense witnesses and ordered Pruitt to go to trial for murder March 11.

The three "alibi" witnesses, W. P. Pruitt, father of the defendant, Jasper Smith and Herschel Wright, had testified Pruitt was on the Wright farm the night of Jan. 3, when the drug store robbery for which Pruitt is accused occurred.

Jury Retires

Retiring the jury, Judge Pippen ordered the sheriff to arrest the three men. "The district attorney will file charges of perjury against them," he said.

The complaints were filed in justice court and bond of $10,000 set in each case. Wright made bond and was released. The complaints charged that the three witnesses did "willfully and deliberately testify that William Pruitt was at the home of Herschel Wright the night of Jan. 3 and knew the statement to be false when they made it."

Adams' Trial Postponed

In order to set Pruitt's trial for the murder of William Mann, high school student, March 11, Judge Pippen ordered the trial of Vi Ray Adams, charged with murder of Orvile L. Mathews, Dallas banker, postponed until March 25. Pruitt, attending court in a wheel chair from wounds received when resisting arrest, faces five other charges of robbery with firearms.

Both sides closed testimony today except for one minor defense witness who did not answer when called. Argument was expected to consume all of tomorrow.

Perjury charges were filed against the three witnesses after Pruitt's father had repudiated a statement alleged to have been made by him after his son's arrest. In the statement, sworn to before a notary, the elder Pruitt said he had not seen his son for several months until he saw him Jan. 4, the day after the robbery was committed, at Wright's farm. Before the document was produced, Pruitt Sr. testified his son had participated in a "hog killing" at the farm Jan. 3 and spent the night there.

Asked About Oath

Jasper Smith, farmer living near the Wright place, said he saw the defendant at the farm Jan. 2, 3 and 4 and that Pruitt went to bed about 10 p. m. the night of the robbery.

"You understand what an oath means?" he was asked by the district attorney. He said he did.

Herschel Wright, farmer, testified Pruitt had slept with him the night of Jan. 3 after having helped him with his "hog killing."

"What makes you squirm in your seat? Is there something wrong with that chair?" District Attorney McCraw asked.

"No, there isn't anything wrong with the chair," Wright answered. "Are you of sound mind? You know the punishment for perjury?"

"I do," Wright replied, coloring.

"That's all," snapped the prosecutor.

A moment later Judge Pippin ordered the arrest of the three witnesses. He gave instructions that the jury should not learn of his summary action.

McCloskey Fraud Trial Rent With Bitterness as Testimony Starts

AUSTIN, Feb. 20. (AP)—The jury in the criminal trial of Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey of San Antonio was completed late today after three days of effort and the case immediately was turned into a bitter court battle.

Facing trial on one of five indictments alleging general election vote frauds in the 14th congressional district from which returns indicated a victory over Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only Republican congressman, Mr. McCloskey pleaded not guilty.

Henry H. Brooks, 23-year-old district attorney for Travis county, to which the trial was brought on a change of venue from Bexar county, launched into his opening statement to the jury with the assertion that not only would ballot frauds be proved concerning the 20th precinct, but also others.

The indictment mentions only the 20th precinct, and the McCloskey chief of counsel, Dave Watson, immediately objected.

Harbaugh and J. M. Taylor, Perry banker, fellow townsmen of Johnston, went to the governor's office with several members of the legislature. Harbaugh told the senate court, to inform the governor they thought Mrs. Hammonds' threatened the success of his administration. At Johnston's insistence Mrs. Hammonds remained in the room during the conference, Harbaugh said, and "talked 95 per cent of the time."

Taylor, who followed Harbaugh to the stand, said Mrs. Hammonds appealed to the delegation as members of the Ku Klux Klan, the principles of which she extolled. Johnston remembered that Taylor was not a member of the klan, the banker said, and urged him to preserve secrecy. The suspended governor is reputed to be a former klan officer.

R. L. Seaman, former secretary of the state highway commission, told the senate court he believed the cause of his dismissal from the department was to prevent his completion of an audit of automobile tag agents. Seaman previously had testified that about three-fourths of the county tag agents in the state had been selected by Mrs. Hammonds.

City Pays $33,000 On Old Warrant Debts

Wichita Falls' warrant indebtedness was reduced to $167,600 Wednesday when a draft for the retirement of warrants totaling $33,000 was forwarded to the National Bank of Commerce at New York by W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

The warrants which were paid Wednesday represented both the principal and interest of the loans, Mr. McBroom said. Of the amount retired, $27,000 represents warrants floated in 1922 when the city's income was insufficient to meet the operating expenses because of the rapid increase in population.

Five thousand dollars of the amount paid was for warrants made in 1924 for the pavement of the downtown streets and $1,000 of the amount was for warrants issued for widening the paved roadway through Weeks park.

Indigestion Gone, Has a Fine Appetite Since Taking Orgatone —Feels Splendid

"I am certainly glad to say a good word for Orgatone," said Mr. J. L. Towell, retired business man, who was formerly in the real estate and oil business, who resides at 1500 Burnett.

"I am enjoying better health than I have in years, since I have taken two bottles of Orgatone," he continued.

"For about the last 10 or 20 years I have suffered dreadfully from stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. I've had a severe pain in my right side. I had no appetite at all and I would bloat up and gas formed on my stomach after eating. Gas crowded my heart and caused me to have smothering spells and I thought I had heart trouble. My nerves were so badly upset and for months and months I couldn't get any rest and wouldn't go to sleep until about 3 o'clock in the morning.

"When I saw Orgatone advertised, I began taking it. I had not finished my first bottle when I noticed I was getting better. My appetite is simply enormous and I eat anything I want without being troubled afterward. I never have a headache and the gas that used to crowd my heart has left me and I know now that it wasn't heart trouble. My nerves are in good condition and I sleep like a log every night. In fact, my whole system has been relieved and Orgatone has done wonders for me and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly upon receipt of price, one bottle for $1.25 or six bottles for $6.25.—Adv.

nial of charges that federal office holders in Texas had been "assessed" for money in return for support for their appointments to jobs.

The statement by a former dry agent and recent witness before committee that a negro told him Creager had given protection to Dallas hotels against dry raids also has been denied vehemently by Mr. Creager.

Wichitan to Go

The telegram from Brookhart to Creager follows: "Your telegram of Feb. 18, stating that you and T. P. Lee of Houston; Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; Eugene Nolte, Seguin, and F. L. Thomson of San Antonio, Texas, expect to be heard before our committee, received. Have made arrangements for committee to hear you and other gentlemen named, Thursday morning, Feb. 28, at 10 o'clock. Come to room 329, senate office building. Wire reply."

Mr. Creager said that he and a number of Texans will leave Sunday night to arrive in Washington Wednesday morning. Others will arrive there March 1. Among those named by Creager were: Robert Maverick, San Antonio; J. A. Myers, Bryan; Randolph Bryant, Sherman; W. H. Holmes, Amarillo; S. C. White, assistant United States marshal; H. C. Kramp, postmaster; H. L. McCune, assistant attorney general; U. S. Goen, member of the state Republican committee, these four from El Paso; T. P. Lee, Houston; Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; Eugene Nolte, Seguin, and F. L. Thomson, San Antonio.

Texans Deny Charges

More than 50 letters have been sent Brookhart in the past week by federal office holders of Texas saying they never have been assessed 10 per cent of their salaries and that they never had been told to contribute in order to get support for their jobs, Creager said. He explained that he has received carbon copies of these letters, written by postmasters and other federal employes after he had asked them to advise Brookhart whether they ever had been forced to contribute to the Republican fund, whether they ever had been assessed 10 per cent of their salaries or if they had made any contributions to the fund, either under threat or promise.

Prominent Texas Democrats and leaders in that part for years also received letters from Creager asking them to advise the probe chairman if they, with their long acquaintance with Texas political conditions, had ever heard or knew of any forced assessment.

Their replies, according to Creager, have been in the negative.

Pendergraft Slaying To Come Before Body

Results of two weeks investigation of the circumstances surrounding the shooting of Arthur Pendergraft, wealthy Oklahoma farmer, near Wichita Falls on Jan. 27, will be laid before the 78th district grand jury to be charged here by Judge W. W. Cook Friday morning.

D. J. Hoobler, former employe of Mr. Pendergraft, is in the Wichita county jail charged with murder in a complaint filed after he had led Oklahoma and Wichita county officials to a spot near the head of Lake Wichita, where the body was found.

C. O. Hooper, sheriff of Cotton county, Oklahoma, to whom Hoobler's first oral statement was made, will be among the witnesses called before the grand jury. He said Wednesday night that his testimony would probably not implicate any other persons in the slaying.

Although the district attorney's office here was silent Wednesday, it was understood that a signed statement from Hoobler, describing a fight on the Henrietta road just before the shooting, would be laid before the investigators. The accused man, it was learned, would not be questioned.

The grand jury, made up of the members of the 30th district grand jury, discharged here on Feb. 1 and recalled after the discovery of Mr. Pendergraft's body, will also investigate several other matters arising since their discharge.

Burglary, forgery and whisky complaints are among those which will be brought to the attention of the investigating body, it was learned. Officials expect the special session to be completed within one day.

Good Reputation Saves Wichitan From Prison

Because the check he forged was for only $2 and because he has established a good reputation as a working man, a defendant in the county court at law Wednesday afternoon was allowed to plead guilty to swindling instead of forgery and to take a 60-day jail sentence. The minimum penalty for forgery calls for a two-year penitentiary sentence.

Unintentional Suicide

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizzy spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, insomnia, no appetite, bilious attacks or pains in the back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The surest and pleasantest relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Miller Drug Store.

$5,000 Loss When Fire Destroys Home

Damage estimated at $5,000 was caused by flames which wrecked the home of A. W. Von Struve, about seven miles from Wichita Falls on the Iowa Park road Wednesday morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Members of the family were not at home at the time of the fire and the origin of the blaze had not been ascertained Wednesday night.

HOBO RANKS GAIN RECRUITS

Welfare Agencies Here Note Increase in Demands

A heavy increase in the number of men wandering from one section of the country to another hunting work has been polled here during the recent periods of cold weather and blizzards, according to welfare workers.

Numbers of men have asked for lodging during the last few days at the Salvation Army headquarters while many have come to the Family Relief association during the last few days in quest of clothing and shoes, according to Mrs. Effie McHam, executive secretary.

Dozens of men have been begging money on the streets for food and lodging during the last few weeks, according to reports received by Miss Merle Neely, executive secretary of the Community chest.

Citizens were urged by Miss Neely to refer persons asking money of them to the Salvation Army and Family Relief association instead of giving them small pieces of change on the streets.

Free beds are furnished for transient men by the Salvation Army at the city hall annex at Ninth street and Ohio avenue while beds for women are furnished at the Salvation Army citadel. The Salvation Army also has agreements with certain local cafes at which transients can obtain meals at a minimum cost, Miss Neely said.

Man Freed on Check Charge Two Years Old

Brought back here for trial more than two years after the offense of which he was accused was committed, a man who has since that time been crippled for life in a fall from an oil derrick was acquitted of passing a $20 bad check by Judge Irwin J. Vogel in the county court at law Wednesday.

More than two years ago a check which proved of no value was given in return for a family grocery supply, according to the evidence. But the accused man, now injured, denied that he had written the worthless document, and the state was unable to produce contradictory evidence.

Sterling Explains Funds Given Houston

red to ran back as far as Orange county on the Louisiana border and down to Victoria county.

He said Harris county had received $1,400,000 in allotments and that $1,050,000 of this amount was voted to it by a former highway commission, reading from the minutes in this connection.

Car Purchase Explained

He stated Harris county had voted $6,000,000 worth of highway bonds, 50 per cent of which was spent on state highways.

Asked by Gerron about the purchase of a "costly," seven-passenger automobile obtained for use of the commission, Sterling said something over $5,000 had been paid for it.

"We traded in three old cars on it and actually paid out about $4,300 in cash," Sterling stated.

He said the automobile had been driven over 25,000 miles by members of the commission on inspection trips and asserted it had never been off a state highway.

"I understand it has been used lately to transport committees from the legislature, and those fellows who rode in it will tell you that it is a pretty good car," Sterling said.

Asked if any advertisements asking for bids on highway projects had been placed in the Houston Post-Dispatch, he said "I hope so, because I do not believe we ought to discriminate against the Post-Dispatch." He said he was one of the owners of the Post-Dispatch.

Negro Escapes Officers In Second Story Jump

Heedless of a 12-foot drop into a muddy alley, a dusky gambler in a servant house on Eleventh street Wednesday afternoon jumped from a second story window and disappeared in the distance when the house was raided by members of the constable's department.

Frank Morgan, constable, working with John W. Faye and Dan Ellis, deputies, Wednesday afternoon conducted a series of raids which brought 20 gamers, drunks and vags into the justice courts.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By RUTH WAITE

Every woman with gray, faded or streaked hair is entitled to do something about it, for it is every woman's birthright to retain her youthfulness and charm as long as she can. When a woman mentions gray hair to me, I don't hesitate to advise the use of a restorer and I recommend sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage, when properly combined with sulphur, restores gray hair to its original color, luster and beauty. So perfectly does it do the work that its use is undetectable. You may either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the prepared article and it costs only 75c a bottle at druggists. Hence there's no need of your bothering to prepare the mixture yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. The very first application banishes the gray and one or two more sees the hair beautifully restored to its original life and color. One would be surprised if she or he knew of the thousands who use this preparation.—Adv.

Thousands Suffer Needlessly From Stomach Trouble

Antiseptic Remedy Goes Righ to Seat of the Trouble

G. M. GORDON Discoverer of Gordon's

No longer need sufferers from stomach troubles lead lives of misery. There is a remedy that is bringing thousands back to health. That remedy is Gordon's (formerly Gordon's Antiseptic), an internal antiseptic so effective that it has brought voluntary expressions of praise from hundreds of people who unhesitatingly commend it to others.

Gordon's goes right to the seat of the trouble because it stops fermentation (souring of food matter), which is the greatest obstacle to the successful treatment of stomach disorders.

Gordon's will bring quick relief in cases of indigestion, sour stomach, gas, bloating constipation, heartburn, dyspepsia, excess acid, that "tired feeling," bad breath, sick headache, and nervousness, when caused by faulty digestion. It will soon one up the digestive organs and stimulate the stomach and bowels to their normal functions. The first dose will convince you.

Gordon's is made in liquid form. A large 8-ounce bottle price $1.50 —less than 3 cents a dose at druggists.

Elsie de Wolfe

Elsie de Wolfe Noted Interior Decorator

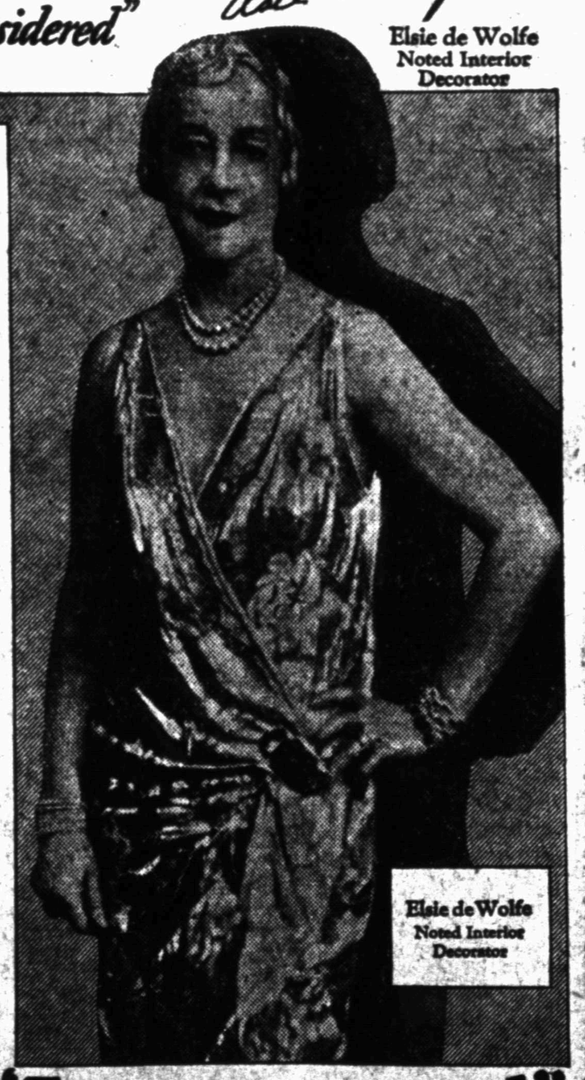

"I recommend a Lucky in place of a sweet. Toasting has taken out every bit of harshness in the Lucky Strike tobacco. All that remains is the splendid Lucky flavor—an excellent substitute when your appetite craves a sweet but your figure must be considered."

ELSIE DE WOLFE

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

SHULER FACES ANOTHER SUIT

Deputy Sheriff Calls Hand Of 'Fighting Bob'

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20. (UP)—The Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, the radio-broadcasting pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, was named defendant in another slander suit today when he was charged with libeling the deputy sheriff who killed John Hawkins, Folsom convict, in a jail break.

The action was brought by attorneys for Deputy A. R. "Casey" Jones, who claimed the Rev. Shuler had bradcast that the shooting of Hawkins was "deliberate" murder. The church and radio station KFEF were named as co-defendants with Shuler in the $190,000 suit.

Hawkins was wounded fatally in the county jail elevator a month ago when he and Robert "Zeke" Hayes, another life termer brought here for testimony, attempted to escape.

The Rev. Shuler also faces trial in municipal court on a charge of libeling the Knights of Columbus through publication of an alleged fourth degree oath in pre-election pamphlets.

The pastor flayed Aimee Semple McPherson after her "kidnaping" and the police during the William Edward Hickman hunt.

Athiests Object To Chaplains' Pay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (UP)—Appeals to the president, the secretary of treasury and the secretary of war to stop the salaries of army and navy chaplains and the chaplains of the two houses of congress were made by Charles Smith, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, in letters addressed to the officials today.

The atheists whom Smith represents object as taxpayers to bearing part of the cost of prayers to a Deity which they believe does not exist. A suit previously brought by the association for the same purpose was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff did not, as a taxpayer, have a sufficient interest to maintain the suit.

Men's Frozen Bodies Found Under Auto

OSAGE CITY, Mo., Feb. 20. (UP) Pinned underneath their automobile and seriously injured, John Kennedy, 50, and Anton Thoenen, 55, were believed to have frozen to death. Their bodies were found on a seldom used highway near here early today.

It was believed their car overturned, trapping the men. Injured and weak from the loss of blood, the men were unable to extricate themselves and slowly froze to death. Signs of a terrific struggle to free themselves from their position were seen.

The men had been dead more than 24 hours, examining physicians said. They were last seen Monday night.

Three Slightly Hurt as Car Hurdles Embankment

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20. (UP)—Three persons suffered only minor injures today when their automobile plunged over a 250-foot embankment near here. The machine skidded and rolled over the bank as George T. Childs, the driver, attempted to pass a truck. With him were his wife, Mrs. Alice Childs, and a friend, Mrs. Frank Welsh.

The largest suspension bridge in the world is now being built over the Hudson river.

Mexican Presidential Candidate To Fight With 'Words, Not Bullets'

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20. (UP)—The supporters of Gilberto Valuenzuela, independent candidate for constitutional president, will fight with words, not bullets, said Deputy Zincunegui Tercero tonight in denying that Valuenzuela was planning any revolutionary movement.

"Rumors were started by our enemies, who knew that 10 truths are more effective than 20,000 shots," said Tercero. "They hope to push us into a stupid adventure. It would be stupid because the government has not given the least reason to justify such a course, which at this time, would be disloyal to the nation."

Senator Lauro Caloca, member of the permanent congressional committee, who is expected to defend Valuenzuela's attacks on former President Calles at tomorrow's session ,also denied rumors of plans for a revolt.

The war department announced that Sonora, reported as the center of a revolutionary movement, remained calm tonight. President Portes Gil announced that amnesty had been granted Gen. Manuel Cells, leader in the rebellion of October, 1927.

Seventy-one priests had listed their addresses with the government today, folowing the president's orders to register or admit participation in the religious fanatic revolt.

The president made public two telegrams tonight, one from General Manzo and one from Gov. Fausto Topete. Both denied reports that they had planned to rebel.

"I energetically and categorically refute such rumors and relterate my loyalty to the government," said Manzo.

37,500 Expected to Attend Training Camps

(UP)—Protective duties for hides, cotton, bananas, copra, broom corn, palm oil, various oil bearing seeds and minor agricultural products now on the free list were requested by Chester Gray, representing the American farm bureau federation at the house ways and means committee tariff hearings today.

POPE CHANGES ROTARY RULE

Vatican Will Now Permit Priests to Join

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 20. (AP)—International Rotary is about to be given a clean bill of health by the authorities of the Holy See. Reliably informed circles of the vatican tonight said this reversal of a former ruling was due largely to the favorable impression created by I. D. Sutton of Tampico, Mexico, who is president of the international organization.

Mr. Sutton came here in the face of a ruling against Rotary by the consistorial congregation that members of the priesthood would not be allowed to join Rotary clubs. This ruling came shortly after Osservatore Romano, the newspaper used by the vatican for its public announcements, had condemned the organization for its alleged practice of inculcating a religion "without God."

Mr Sutton, himself a Roman Catholic, interviewed a number of the princes of the church and convinced them his organization respected all creeds.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This dimple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Getting Up Nights Is Nature's Danger Signal

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 524 N. Park St., Columbus, Ohio, says, "I feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell or write how my wife was relieved of a serious case of bladder irritation with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She had to get up 6 to 8 times each night." It acts on bladder as spirits salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 3c each at all drug stores, Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, or locally at Allison's Drug store.—Adv.

MONOTONY IN DIET IS UNDESIRABLE

Eat Wide Variety of Foods Sweetened for Enjoyment

If a diet expert could visit every home in the United States and combine all the diet mistakes into one phrase, he would doubtless say, "too monotonous." Food authorities are complaining that the richest nation of the world is sacrificing both health and enjoyment by eating monotonous, unappetizing foods.

There is a remedy that, with a little thought, can be applied in every home. Make a study of all the varied healthful foods, being sure to include milk, eggs, cereals, vegetables, fruits and meats. Serve varied foods in the regular diet, and learn to use the right amount of sugar to make the various dishes tasteful and delicious.

It is simply impossible to keep well without eating the varied foods that contain all the health elements. It is almost impossible to eat these foods unless they are pleasing to the taste. Sugar, in addition to being a wonderful food, is nature's perfect flavor.

Make delicious milk-shakes with milk, sugar and flavoring. If you want your family to like eggs, learn how quick and easy it is to make healthful egg-nogs. Remember applesauce, stewed dried fruits and cereals for breakfast. Remember the rule of one cooked and one raw fruit and vegetable a day properly sweetened, and cakes, cookies, and ice cream for dessert. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. Women Are People and They Are Also Partners in Marriages

How Women Rank Beside Their Husbands. Dorothy Dix Expresses Contempt for the Married Man Who Has an Affair With a Young Girl—The Sunday Backslider.

Dear Miss Dix—Noting that you say that the source of much domestic trouble is over money, and that you suggest that men teach their wives the use of it, may I inquire:

First. Are women people? If so, are they equal with men?

Second. Are women partners with their husbands, or employes?

Third. If husbands and wives are equals, how can a mere man teach one of them anything?

Fourth. If women knew their husband's lack of income when they marry, why blame husbands for failure of cooperation in money matters?

Fifth. If wives are equal partners, is it not the woman's duty as much as the man's to use common sense and prudence in handling the money, budget their income, etc.?

How answer the above other than to say that if the woman does not fulfill her part of the bargain the man shall notify her that the marrige is a mutual mistake and call it off, when there are no children complicating the situation.

—INQUIRING HUSBAND.

Answer: First. Women are people. That question was officially settled when women were given the franchise. Whether they are equal with men depends on the individual man and woman. Some wives are superior to their husbands. Some greatly their inferiors. It is because few men regard their wives as people; that is, as having the same natural, human, decent reaction toward a subject as they have, that there is so much domestic conflict.

Especially about money. No self-respecting man would be willing to go to somebody else for every cent he spent, yet men cannot understand why their wives object to having to beg them for every nickel, and never have a penny of their own. No man would be willing to work without ever receiving any pay for his labor or handling any of the money he earned, yet that is what the average man expects his wife to do.

Second. Women are partners in the marriage relationship. They put everything they have and are in it, and are entitled to a fair share of the profits of the firm of Husband and Wife.

Third. No two people are absolute equals in the sense of knowledge, and each one can teach the other something. Most men know far more about business and handling money than women do. They have had more experience in trade, in buying and selling, and that is why a man can teach his wife how to save and use money if he will take the trouble to do so. Unless a man picks out a congenital idiot for a wife, he can teach his wife how to budget their income, how to buy in the most economical way and get the best value for the money she spends, and impress upon her the necessity of saving so that they may get along in the world.

Also, much of the women's extravagence would be eliminated if their husbands would tell them frankly about the size of their incomes. No woman can run her end of the household economically if she has no idea of what she has to spend.

Fourth and fifth. Certainly a woman is much to blame if she marries a man on a shoestring and then expects him to give her diamonds. The trouble with both men and women who marry before they are financially able to do so is that they believe that love is enough, and that if they can have each other they will want nothing else. After marriage they find out that they crave the luxuries and indulgences of life just as much as they did before, and when they have not the money to indulge themselves in the things they are used to, they sour on each other. Certainly it is up to the wife to do all she can to help save, and to be thirifty and economical and be a genuine helpmate to her husband.

If, as you say, she weiches on her part of the bargain, and is peevish and fretful because her husband cannot give her everything that a rich man gives his wife; if she is extravagent and wasteful and is not willing to do her part, I think, with you, that the husband is fully justified in breaking up a one-sided partnership, if there are no children to be orphaned by a wrecked marriage. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to a man who weighs my looks: Verdict superior. He weighs my intelligence: Verdict ditto. Disposition: Admirable, etc. But what if he should meet some woman who is better looking, more intelligent and more charming than I? I feel that he should have a love that would prefer me to all women, even if I was as ugly as mud and twice as dumb. Another thing, he gets an enormous kick out of the company of other women and I don't like the way he kisses other girls at parties. He says he is glad I am broad-minded and not jealous, but I am afraid I would be very miserable if he were a flirt after we were married. What do you think of the situation?—WORRIED.

Answer: Not so good. I think it would be rather wearing on a wife's nerves to know that her husband had her continually in the scales, and was watching whether she came up to standard or not.

You would always be afraid that he was thinking that your complexion had gone off a little, or you had taken on a few pounds weight, or that your hair was beginning to get a little gray, or that you had told that story before, and that your line wasn't as peppy as it used to be.

A comfortable husband is one who takes his wife for granted and who thinks that she is the most beautiful and wonderful woman in the world because he picked her out, and who never finds out that she has had another birthday.

Nor would I care to have a man for a husband who was a kissing bug and who fancied himself a devil among the women. That kind of thing grows on a man, and it takes more broad-mindedness than the Lord gives any woman not to get green-eyed when she sees her husband petting a flapper 10 years younger than she is and 20 pounds lighter. Doesn't look to me as if risk.—DOROTHY DIX.

Playwrights' Efforts to Interpret 'Machine Age' Makes Little Progress

By GILBERT W. GABRIEL
Universal Service Dramatic Critic

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Several potent and seriously pondering playwrights have done their best to express the machine age to us. Eugene O'Neill has tried to in "Dynamo," now—and, for all his trying, he has done something below his best. The new Theater Guild play is on a mighty subject, and has forthrightness and unusualness and some compelling force in it, and depths of fresh thought and modern imagery and other such virtues which we all enjoy attributing to a play about which we must be on the defensive. Then, when all else has been said and soft-soaped, it behooves us to admit that "Dynamo" is a bad attempt.

But, good or bad it is a big attempt. It is, I think, the biggest—because the simplest—yet made to express the spiritual turmoil and chagrin of this day of hoarse warfare between fundamentalists and doubters, Bible-mongers and skyscraper-worshippers, God in a surplice and God in greasy overalls.

None of those several other plays on the same subject succeeded any better, or, when I read them over, one-half so well. The subject itself may be the trouble. It may always need a Dante or a Goethe to make a comedy of all heaven and hell, and a tragedy of earth between. The stage, after all, is only a peephole into life, not a panorama of the infinite.

Snyder-Gray Case

We had lately with us a formalized and very decorative drama entitled "Machinal." Mr. Hopkins produced it for all the grace and sympathetic symbolism it contained, and Miss Treadwell, its author, took pains to point out that it was meant to be more than a dramatization of the Snyder-Gray case. We were to take our cue from its title. We were to regard it as a sort of saga of life and love in the machine age, of a woman's winged soul imprisoned and insurgent behind the noisy steel, and shrieking commonplace of modern city life, of weedy crime sprouting inevitably out of the trough of the larger crime of our everyday existence.

Between them, author and producer made an attractive show of it. But, in the last analysis, an utterly non-essential show, sweetly hysterical, no truer than a piece of polished tin. A show which was joined to the theme of the machine age by no more than a name-plate and a few allusive off-stage noises.

By every right of getting there first, two plays of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine" and "The Subway"—deserve first places in the list. In both of them our cruelly mechanical era roars and whizzes and grinds humanity to inconsiderable bits beneath its wheels. In both of them God has become a great, patented contrivance for the convenience and profit—and terror and destruction—of an outworn mankind.

Other Plays

"Pinwheel," "Adam Solitarire," "The Centuries" . . . these and many more such high-blood-pressured plays have sought in recent seasons to find the new Jehovah of the maelstrom. Purposely hasty and undisciplined daubs, the most of them, as if the fury of their execution could give them an immediate appearance of unusual power. Poor plays, quite all of them, and yet plays fiercely meaningful to the present moment of life.

One of them, Lawson's "Nirvana," I remember a sort of pregatory notice which was almost thought for thought a counterpart of O'Neill's credo in "Dynamo." The old God of our fathers was a dead myth. The new God of science and electrical force was here to be hailed by the new drama.

Divination, jubilation and frustration . . . and that's the plot of the whole lot of them.

And "Dynamo," more definitely than any other of its sort and subject, is a drama of frustration. Why did so many of my fellow-reviewers fail to remark that mood in it, that collapse of its religious revolt, that final enslavement of its young hero to a worship more lavish and abject and hysterical than ever his father, the old minister, had used when addressing the orthodox Adonai of Israel?

Modern God

Most critics retailed it to you only as the story of a young mutineer from the church who took electricity for his new master. They did not tell as well the tragedy of how he chanted and gibbered, supplicated and made human sacrifice before this black, squat goddess of a dynamo as superstitiously as a Congo savage before his senseless idol.

That, when all's said, is the essential catastrophe of "Dynamo"—a catastrophe which reduces the hero's death and his girl's death and his mother's death and all the rest of it to insignificance. In vain all these lives and slaughterings, rebellions and sullen rechristenings of man's urge to worship. Under any other name—electricity, for instance—God compells the same exaggerated antics and voodoo-lusts and romantic self-immolation from his creature.

And why? I do not know. "Dynamo" does not really tell me. When I do know, then I shall have at least one reason for thinking "Dynamo" a better play than I can now.

CONGO NATIVES EAT LIVE ANTS

Texas Woman Missionary Describes Jungle Life

Special to The Record News

BORGER, Texas, Feb. 20.—Natives of the Belgian Congo, in Central Africa, eat ants, live ones, plucking them from the air and eating them like one would eat fruit from a tree.

There are but three modes of travel for natives and white people in the Congo, aside from occasional train rides and an automobile belonging to a government official. These are walking, "hammock" rides and bicycles.

The natives have to work the roads, each town or chief furnishing a number of men to build and maintain roads for automobile travel.

Nights are cool, although the mid-day time is almost unbearable for white persons. It is necessary to wear wraps in the early evenings and one has to sleep under blankets.

Told by Missionary

These were some of the statements made by Miss M. Flora Foreman, of Amarillo, the only Texas Panhandle missionary in Africa. Miss Foreman has been a missionary for eight years and is now home on her second furlough. She lives with her parents Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Foreman, at 1006 West Ninth street, Amarillo.

Miss Foreman was born in the Texas Panhandle. When a small girl her parents moved to a ranch six miles west of Plemons, in Hutchinson county. She lived there for a number of years, rode the prairies of the north plains north of Canadian, and attended school.

Later the family moved to Stratford, where they lived until a few years ago when Mr. Foreman retired and moved to Amarillo. Miss Foreman attended the Scarrett Bible Training Institute, founded by W. S. Scarrett of Kansas City, and took special nursing work for missionary work in the foreign field. After graduation she worked in a hospital at Dalhart, Texas before she went abroad in 1920.

No Sprouting Wings

"I couldn't feel angelic wings sprouting before I decided to become a missionary," she explained "but I thought I would afterwards. I never did.

"My station is in the Belgian Congo and it is nearly a month's journey from the hospital to the coast. We can make the trip to the west coast in three weeks or a little more. I have not made the trip to the east coast but I don't think it is much less.

"When I first went out to the Congo in 1920 there were only two ways to travel, walking and a hammock. A hammock is slung on a long pole and one is carried by natives, one at each end of the pole. When we go on a long trip it is customary to take six or eight men and to relieve them regularly.

"An average day's journey is about 20 miles. Now we use bicycles when we can."

Near Equator

The center of the work is four degress or about 275 miles south of the equator, Miss Foreman explained. The altitude is about 1,800 feet above sea level. Between 10 o'clock in the morning and three in the afternoon it is hot, but the rest of the time is cool."

Most of the houses have grass roofs, grassed woven into thick sheets. "Grass roofs are best if we can keep ants from eating them up," she added.

"There are many kinds of ants in the Congo," Miss Foreman continued. "I don't know how many. There is one kind, a large one, that the natives eat. I saw one of my boys one day going along and reaching his hand up and catching something. He was catching and eating ants. I asked him why he did that, why didn't he take them home and cook them.

"He said he liked the ants raw but 'sometimes, mama, the legs get into between my teeth.' The natives always call the white women 'mama.' The men are called "Owansi."

"African hills are the steepest I ever saw. When you start down a hill you think you never will get to the bottom and when you get there and look up at the top of the next hill you think you will never be able to get up to the top. You can't see the top from the little creek below.

"Everything must be carried. Natives do all the work.

"One thing so many white people going out to Africa forget and that is that the people are human beings and not mere beasts of burden. So many whites forget this.

"All of Africa is owned by governments except one small Republic, Liberia, on the west coast," Miss Foreman said. "Most of the people of Liberia were born in the United States and have gone there to live."

Many natives are employed by the government railroad. The officials will order the head men of a village or a tribal chief to furnish so many men to work on the road. They are paid a small amount, she explained. "The chiefs have to furnish so many men to maintain a road for white men to drive an automobile over," she added.

Hate Modern Roads

"Natives do not want to travel the auto roads but they are made to by the government. They hate to leave their native trails, which are short cuts."

"Men, young men and boys in the Congo loaf while the women and girls do the work around the home. All of the men and boys are good swimmers, starting as mere babies.

"The home life in Africa is the most carefree you can possibly picture," Miss Foreman declared. "The men and boys eat and sleep and hunt and fish while the mothers do the work. Girls get married young, very young, and then there are home duties for them and they have no girlhood."

Miss Foreman has a hospital at Mingia with a capacity for about 100 patients. It is full most of the time. Some of the natives walk 50 to 80 or 90 miles to get hospitalization. It takes them often ten days to two weeks when they are sick, she added, and often they are almost beyond care when they arrive.

Miss Foreman was assigned to her present station in July, 1927. She was there, with one couple and the native helpers, until in October when a doctor came. In December of that year another nurse came.

Miss Foreman arrived home shortly before Christmas. She will spend several more months in Amarillo and then do some work until late in the year when she will return to Africa.

ECKENER MAY IGNORE VETO

Graf Zeppelin May Make Flight Despite Snags

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Feb. 20. (UE)—Ignoring the British veto on the one hand, and defying the inexplicable attitude of his own government on the other, Commander Eckener may make his flight to the orient with the Graf Zeppelin anyway. Instead of flying over the Egyptian air routes, which the German foreign office says its legal experts have discovered are not under the control of Egypt but of the British who have let it be understood they will refuse permission, Eckener may take Germany's giant air liner along the Egyptian and Palestine coasts and let his passengers look in where Britain forbids it to go.

Thence he will go along the Turkish coast through the Dardanelles to Constantinople, returning over the entire length of the Danube.

Plans Not Definite

Dr. Eckener would not commit himself definitely today before taking the train for Berlin where he was hastily summoned by the government. Before leaving he said:

"I am amazed at what the German government has communicated to the press indicating that the British government has given them to understand the application for the flight of the commercial airship which I have planned, would not be granted, and that therefore the German government did not make the request officially.

"It is almost incredible to me. On the other hand I cannot understand the peculiar feeling of my government, which professes to be afraid to make such a request that is not at all extraordinary in international travel courtesy between nations in aviation."

Dr. Eckener said that Commander Burney, who is building the giant British airship R-101, had visited him only the other day, and also that he had invited and entertained leading members of the British air ministry, and that nothing but the friendliest relations existed.

Egypt Astonished

Dispatches from Cairo today stated that the Egyptian press received the news of the British veto with great astonishment. Official circles declare that no communication regarding the flight had been received and that no application had been made to Cairo for permission to fly over Egypt.

Tough Mexican Troopers Quake With Fear at Sight of Weeping Ghost

By GEORGE A. SCHREINER

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20. (US)—With a widespread belief in ghosts and witchcraft still encountered in many parts of Mexico, it is but natural that there should be no dearth in such "literary" material, by means of which the story teller of old made his living. When a yarn of that sort disturbs the somnambulance of a little settlement nobody beyond its confines pays much attention to it. Ghosts usually are local phenomena, even here. They hover, like that of Hamlet's father, in environments they are familiar with or have an interest in.

But the latest ghost story concerns so prosaic an institution as the federal army. Some time ago there was quartered in an old convent in the city of Orizaba, state of Vera Cruz, a detachment of really hard-boiled troopers. All went well for a time and then the usual trouble began. One night an old woman was seen cowering in a corridor of the old building and weeping as if her heart would break.

She was seen by Lieut. Alberto Castillo, who took it for granted that she was the relative of one of his men. Seeing her again the next evening, he began to take an interest in the case. But as he approached the creature she vanished before his very eyes. She did not walk away, nor rise to the ceiling. The walls did not open and the floor upon examination had no hole in it. Yet a third time the specter was seen and again she proved to be a mere nothing when the attempt was made to seize her.

That same night returning troopers were stoned from out of nothing. The only thing there was real about this were the rocks. The avalanche of missles came thick and fast and the men had to beat a hasty retreat. The affair is puzzling all of Orizaba and is now being rigorously investigated, since it is quite possible that the stones were thrown by some not yet in the spirit world.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

U. S. URGENTLY NEEDS SHIPS

Southwest Trade Conference Hears A. H. Denton

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20. (AP)—One of the most urgent needs of the United States is modern ships in which to carry on its trade with world markets, Albert H. Denton, commissioner of the United States shipping board, told the Southwest Domestic and Foreign Trade conference here today.

Commissioner Denton, whose home is in Arkansas City, Kan., told the delegates that American ships were now carrying about one-third of the country's exports and imports, compared with about 9 per cent in 1914, but that "our vessels are far behind those of our competitors in speed and design." Up-to-date ships instead of the emergency craft built in war time are needed, he said.

M'CLOSKEY JURY IS COMPLETED

Testimony Begins on Fraud Charges

ness, Ed Englehardt, employe of the San Antonio school board, the legal battle was intense.

The first important testimony by Englehardt was that he was positive as presiding officer of the 20th precinct that McCloskey had obtained only 298 against Wurzbach's 261, and that the figures later on had been changed to show that McCloskey, then county judge of Bexar county, had received 328 votes, with no alteration in the Wurzbach figure.

Englehardt testified that two days after the election, Fritz Russi, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the San Antonio school board, came to him with a demand that he turn over the copy of the tally sheet of the 20th precinct, which the law required that Englehardt retain.

While the copy was out of his possession, Englehardt testified, the figures were altered to give McCloskey an additional 30 votes.

Englehardt recited that he objected strenuously to releasing his record, but that Russi upbraided him. Englehardt said he was employed under Russi.

Englehardt testified that he did not know who changed the figures, denying also that he had given McCloskey more and Wurzbach fewer votes than the tally showed they received.

Under cross-examination Englehardt admitted that his testimony previously before a board of inquiry in Bexar county and also before the United States house elections committee had differed materially in some aspects and had not been as full as that of today.

In his numerous objections, Watson, chief defense counsel, frequently referred to District Attorney Brooks as "the young man."

The jury was completed after the interrogation of 43 of the 44 veniremen who responded to a call for a total of 275 met.

Radio Battle Of Age Starts

Henderson's station and station WWL of New Orleans.

The trial is unparalleled in the history of the federal radio commission.

On the one hand is the fabulously wealthy Henderson, iron king of the south, who, like his opponent, had brought with him more attorneys than there are members of the commission, hosts of witnesses, and who chartered a plane, naming it the "Affidavit," in which he hoped to bring the 20,000 statements from his listeners to support his claim of pleasing the public.

On the other is Skelly, Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, who has an array of counsel as large as that of Henderson, and more witnesses.

The legal counsel in the case, indeed, was so extensive that by the time all the attorneys entered the radio commission hearing chamber this morning there was no room for the commission. The hearings were adjourned to the department of interior auditorium.

Skelly charges that Henderson, in nightly speeches broadcast through his station, has "repeatedly maligned, attacked and misrepresented" him and his family, and sought to ruin his business. On the stand this morning he insisted that these attacks against him could not be classed as legitimate entertaining for the radio public.

Skelly's son-in-law, Freeman W. Burford, president of the Crystal Oil Refining company of Shreveport, testified that he had heard Henderson call him a "German spy," and charge his father-in-law with being involved in the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

He also said he heard Henderson call Skelly a "robber and hijacker."

Attorney Turns Sleuth When "Client" Takes to Heels

"Money or the Man" Promise Inspires Lawyer in Chase

A slippery prisoner in the county jail is withodt a lawyer and a once trusting young attorney is bereft of faith as the result of a spirited game of hide and seek led by the prisoner over several blocks of Wichita Falls territory Tuesday night.

It befel ithat the prisoner, a nimble youth, owed the county court at law a fine amounting to some $65. He asked the aid of the lawyer, who in turn sought permission to take his client out of jail to a friend down town who had agreed to pay the fine, with a due and fitting attorney fee besides.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley, knowing the ways of the agile prisoner, said that he would hold the attorney responsible for the money, but not for the man.

"Either the man or the money will be back here tonight," promised the barrister, setting forth with his charge.

While the two waited for the "friend" to return with the promised fees, the attorney, secure in his role of samaritan, looked the other way. Whereupon his prisoner took an abrupt departure, disappearing altogether in the twinkling of an eye.

By means of a shrewd guess and some quiet questioning, the lawyer, now wanting his prisoner in rather than out of jail, located his hiding place.

While an officer of the law asked for the fugitive at the front door, the attorney himself waited at the back, and it was there that his prisoner came running, this time into his very arms.

Triumphantly the young lawyer led the way toward a waiting automobile, when he heard a gasp and glanced around just in time to see his recaptured charge disappearing over a back fence.

The chase lasted several blocks and ended in an exchange of blows, but the agility of the prisoner availed him no longer. He languished Wednesday in the county jail, his fine unpaid and no trace of succor on the horizon.

City Loses Fight Against Whitney Injunction

The temporary injunction granted last August by former Judge E. G. Thornton restraining the city of Wichita Falls from polluting Wichita river and dumping garbage on the river banks was upheld in a ruling from the supreme court Wednesday, dismissing the city's appeal for want of jurisdiction, according to Associated Press dispatches received here.

The injunction was granted upon the petition of D. G. Whitney, land owner, who claimed that the value of his property was being impaired by the city's system of sewage disposal. It was affirmed in an appeal to the court of civil appeals a few months ago, and the action of the supreme court gives it final affirmation.

DEBT 'RABBIT' BEING STALKED

Experts Creep Cautiously On Plan of Procedure

By GEORGE W. HINMAN JR.
Record News Special Cable

PARIS, Feb. 20. (US)—The solution of the reparations problem by the experts committee today became a question of sneaking up on the reparations rabbit and hitting it deftly on the head before it is able to take to long heels and flee far away.

That is why the experts are concentrating their attention on the apparently innocuous matter of procedure. As previously suggested, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the experts feel the necessity of carefully mapping out their course so that the solution itself comes inevitably.

Routes Detailed

Two long sessions of the committee today were devoted to a verbal report of the all-European subcommittee on procedure, as presented by Sir Josiah Stamp of England. The Englishman's report detailed the various routes by which the rabbit may be surreptitiously approached, without the experts being involved in wrangles which might alarm the animal and cause precipitate flight.

The upshot of the day's proceedings was that the full committee accepted certain of the subcommittee's ideas, while others were sent back for further study. So as to allow the fullest possible time for this study, the committee itself took a recess until Friday, when it will receive the subcommittee's next report.

Morgan Takes Out

It was learned today that it was J. P. Morgan himself who brought about the all-European membership of the subcommittee by eliminating American participation. When the question of increasing the membership of the subcommittee arose yesterday, Morgan was suggested as the American member. He at once indicated his belief that the questions before the subcommittee were such as to make his service unnecessary. The Japanese were similarly minded, thus leaving the Europeans to work out their own program.

Recent developments emphasize the soundness of the original belief that difficult concrete questions, such as those now involved, work out better in private conversations of small groups rather than in the full committee. None of the experts are inclined to toss on the table before them all such explosive material as a definite figure on prospective payments.

SHE TRAVELED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS IN SEARCH OF HEALTH

"For 15 years I have done nothing but travel over the United States, Canada and Cuba, in a fruitless search for health. Three weeks ago I began the Sargon treatment and today I am a well and happy woman.

MRS. M. M. LINK

"Even the lightest meals would cause me to suffer tortures from indigestion, gas pains and smothering spells. Sometimes I would just have to gasp for breath. Nervousness made my nights almost sleepless. Rheumatism troubled me a great deal, too, and my liver was so badly out of order I had to take strong purgatives continually.

"I took treatments everywhere without relief, and finally made up my mind to travel with the seasons and live the rest of my days as comfortably as possible. Had anyone told me that any medicine would do what Sargon has done for me I could not have believed them. It put my stomach in perfect condition and drove the rheumatism right out of system. I eat anything, am no longer nervous, and sleep like a healthy child. I feel strong and well all the time. Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely overcame my liver trouble. They act gently yet thoroughly.

"To enjoy such splendid health as Sargon has given me is the greatest blessing in the world."

This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. M. M. Link, wealthy resident of 903 Tuxedo Blvd., Webster Grove, Mo. Mrs. Link is spending the winter at Grande Court, San Antonio.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; and in Electra from Lough's Drug store.—Adv.

Kraft Executive Urges Financing Plan for Dairy Development Here

R. B. Keator, executive officer of the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese company in charge of production, spent Wednesday in Wichita Falls inspecting the local factory unit and investigating the possibilities of early dairying development here.

Following Mr. Keator's visit to the cheese manufacturing plant here, he was entertained at luncheon by chamber of commerce officials at the Wichita club. In a brief talk, Mr. Keator discussed plans of providing adequate financing for the purchase of additional dairy cows by established farmers in this vicinity. He outlined the work as it is being carried on elsewhere, and expressed the belief that a similar organization should be effected here as early as possible.

This matter is now before the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, of which Lake McCrory is chairman, and it is expected that definite action will be taken within the next 10 days.

Besides Mr. Keator, those present at the luncheon were C. L. Teisseir, manager of the local plant; Lake McCrory, J. T. Harrell, J. C. Mytinger, Hubert M. Harrison, O. K. Barnes and J. W. Chatham.

Arkansas Trio Heads Vaudeville

Backwoods Performers On Majestic Bill

The Arkansas backwoods trio of Weaver brothers and Elviry which headlines the interstate vaudeville bill for Thursday and Friday at the Majestic theater has been preceded by recommendation from two sources. First, there is the usual advance notice coming through theatrical channels reporting this act as one of the strongest offered by the interstate circuit this season. Then there is that other form of advance notice which persistently filters through by word of mouth, by way of migratory vaudeville patrons, or by something akin to woman's instinct, which has already assured the local following a program of large entertainment.

The traditionally picturesque and amusing native of Arkansas has been adapted by this versatile trio as the setting for a combination of musical variety and comedy characterization.

An unusual musical offering is included in the bill with the presentation of "That Charm Quartet," four girls who style themselves the "Silver Singers," under the direction of their voice teacher and coach. A combination of classic, semi-classic, ballads, southern songs and Victor Herbert medleys is announced for their program.

A third number on the card for this week wisely omits all information except the title of the act, which is "Home Folks; Some More of the Family." If the foibles of the folks at home are going to be played up, everybody'll be there, without further advance notice.

Burnett and Dye, a duo of banjo pickers in a program of popular and classical selections, and Heras and Wallace, who offer a comedy version of physical culture as a curtain-raiser, complete the bill.

Buddy Rogers in "Red Lips," a comedy, and the weekly news reel comprise the screen entertainment accompanying the five-act vaudeville program.

HOUSE PASSES NOTICE BILL

Legal Printing Rates to Be State Regulated

AUSTIN, Feb. 20. (INS)—The house passed finally today the Woodward senate bill regulating rates for printing legal notices. The bill, as finally passed, would permit legal notices to be printed or posted, but when printed in a newspaper the rate shall be the minimum charged for other commercial printing.

The house adopted the senate resolution providing for the proper preservation and display of the original copy of the Texas declaration of independence. The resolution authorizes the state board of control to frame the old document and place it in a niche in the rotunda of the state house.

The house by a vote of 70 to 37 rejected the report of the free conference committee on the pharmacy bill passed a few days ago in the house. Another conference committee was requested. The senate part of the committee ignored certain amendments that had been placed in the bill by the house. The bill as it now stands would permit only graduates of a recognized college of pharmacy to stand an examination for registered pharmacists.

WORLD GREETS NEW KINGDOM

Sovereignty Defined in Pact With Pope

By HENRY CAVENDISH

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (US)—Swaddled in the regal garments of 20th century ritualism, the Baby Kingdom of the Modern Popes, known as the "City of the Vatican," was given birth only a few days ago at the historic Lateran palace in Rome.

Of such an importance as may not be fully estimated now, the signing of the Accords settling the Roman question was an occasion of world-wide rejoicing. The ever tolling bells of the Italian cathedrals rang out the old, and rang in the new in the same joyous clamor with which they toll the resurrection on Easter morn.

New Kingdom

The Roman question is no more. A kingdom has arisen in its place; a kingdom of God perchance, yet having a prime characterization of a temporal sovereignty.

The world is yet too close—and it will be years to come—to adjudge with a clear eye the exact nature of this new kingdom which has come into being. The realities, clothed in the cold phrases of legalism, are yet too insubstantial to assay until they have met the tests of time, and survived the vicissitudes of practical application.

The one major importance which may be attached to the signatures of Premier Mussolini and Cardinal Gasparri and their respective conferences, however, is the mutual recognition by the papal and Italian states of the temporal sovereignty of each other. Although the exact text of the accords have not yet been made public, enough has been disclosed of the terms of the agreement to make this clear.

Relations Defined

According to an official communique summarizing the agreements signed between Italy and the Holy See, the treaty governing the relations between the two states contains the following declaration:

"The Holy See considers that with the agreements today signed it possesses guarantees necessary to provide with due liberty and independence the spiritual government of the diocese of Rome and of the Catholic church in Italy and the whole world, declares the Roman question definitely and irrevocably settled and therefore eliminated, and recognizes the kingdom of Italy under the dynasty of the House of Savoy, with Rome as the capital of the Italian state. Italy on its side recognizes the state of the Vatican City under the sovereignty of the supreme pontiff."

As if this were not sufficient, the communique states earlier that the treaty recognizes "the full property and exclusive dominion, and sovereign jurisdiction of the Holy See over the vatican as at present constituted." The communique adds that "the boundaries of the Vatican City are indicated on a map annexed to the treaty."

Beyond this statement of sovereignty, mutually admitted, on the part of king and pope, the ending of the Roman question bids fair to be merely the beginning of a world-wide readjustment as between the church and the governing nations of the earth. That the temporal path of the newly created kingdom will be subject to normal temporal difficulties was indicated at the outset, when Pope Pius felt called upon to defend himself from criticisms which have already been aimed at this new development of the church state.

Pope Defends Treaty

Addressing an audience of the Roman clergy at the vatican on the very afternoon of the Lateran signing, the holy father gave the clergy his own interpretation of the significance of the settlement. He defended himself against criticisms at the smallness of the territorial boundaries of the papal state by asserting he desired no great territorial possessions. Besides, what greater possessions can there be than the treasures of St. Peter's tomb, the dome of Michael Angelo in St. Peter's basilica, or the colonnade by Bernini stretching forth from the mighty cathedral? This, in effect, was the question his holiness asked in answering critics of his temporal territories.

Today in Texas History

FEBRUARY 21

1836—Texas troops take their stand in the Alamo as Mexicans march on Bexar.

1846—Sam Houston and Thomas J. Rusk elected to U. S. senate for the first time.

1860—Authentic accounts of Indian depredations coming in. Governor Houston authorized the citizens of the border counties to raise minute companies of not more than 20 men who should look to the next legislature for payment.

1859—Near Clarksville and Pecan Point plantation and negroes were sold at auction for $106,000.

1862—Battle of Val Verde, N. M., where Sibley's Texas brigade defeated a federal force.

Each of us has $2.69 less than we had a year ago, we are told by the treasury department. One fact that probably will not be ascribed to Republican prosperity.

Edison says he never has known anyone who was really happy. Is it possible he hasn't been reading the cigaret ads?

Colonel Lindbergh chose a quiet, home-loving girl as his life's companion. An aviator, but evidently he doesn't care for the flighty kind.

A Senator's Estate

OSCAR UNDERWOOD, the late senator from Alabama, left an estate of approximately $50,000 when he died recently, letters of administration filed at Birmingham, Ala., revealed.

Once again it is proved that the size of a man's estate bears no relation whatever to the extent of his services to the public. Senator Underwood, for many years, was one of the south's most valuable citizens. Not only his own state—indeed, not only the south as a whole—but the entire nation is better for his having lived and worked.

Yet he leaves an estate of only $50,000—a large sum, to be sure, for the average man, but nothing like what a man of Senator Underwood's talents could have acquired if he had worked for himself and not for the nation.

Some of our public servants, to be sure, are grossly overpaid. But the good ones get far less than they deserve.

Lindbergh in the Cabinet

THESE suggestions that Col. Charles Lindbergh be given a post in Hoover's air cabinet, so-called, are sure to strike a responsive chord. As assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aviation, the young flier would have his opportunity to aid the cause of civilian aviation in the United States greatly increased.

However, in his present capacity as private citizen, Colonel Lindbergh has been doing that job pretty well. There is no way of telling just how much of the present interest in flying is due directly to him, but surely he is largely responsible. He flew the Atlantic and gave us confidence in planes; then he toured the United States, flew down through Mexico and Central America and helped establish a transcontinental train-plane service. Now he has just given the Central American air line a sendoff.

Really, he couldn't do much more if he did have an official position.

Cruisers for the Seven Seas

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE has added to the gaiety of nations. He has approved the naval construction bill under which 15 cruisers and aircraft carrier will be laid down before July 1, 1931. The cost will be $35,000,000 a year until the cruisers and the aircraft carrier are completed.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and 27 Democratic senators put the cruiser bill over with the aid of 26 Republican senators. Reed of Missouri defeated the League of Nations ratification.

Reed of Missouri won the battle for the building of the cruisers in order that the greatest republic time has known shall build a navy on a parity with that of Great Britain, for four centuries the boasted mistress of the seven seas and the carrier of the commerce of the world.

America first, in peace or war, or on land or sea.

When Republicans Cheered

REPUBLICANS in congress cheered when the vote of Texas was announced for Hoover and Curtis. Sen. Thomas B. Love, royal ally of Col. Rene B. Creager, had an opportunity to officiate as cheer leader under the big dome, but he missed it. He would have won a headline position if he had let out a lusty cheer on the floor of the Texas senate and the story would have been printed in every American newspaper. He must have been asleep at the political switch.

It was a grand Republican victory when Texas landed in the Republican column and Senator Love should be given all his share of the glory. He who hesitates at the psychological moment commits grave political error. The bald eagle hesitated. His conscience wasn't working.

Colonel Creager never hesitates. His conscience moves with his hand, his heart and his voice in keeping the Republican home fires burning away down here in Texas.

A Milk Combine the Latest Merger

SAN ANTONIO announces the creation of a million dollar dairy business through the merger of five San Antonio creameries and ice plants with the recently organized Southwest Dairy Products company.

This dairy products company is engaged in the milk, ice cream, butter and ice business in the states of Texas and Louisiana and Arkansas and its promoters say it has grown rapidly since organization and now operates in practically all the larger cities of Texas as well as the other states mentioned.

All the people who read know what happened to the ice bill. It was put to sleep by a majority of two or three votes by the lawmakers.

Now just what was the plan behind the ice bill which declares the making and sale of ice the business of a public nature that should be supervised by the railroad commission of Texas?

He Is Doing Time

SUPT. E. S. SCHUMAKER of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league is doing 60 days time at the state penal farm for contempt of the Hoosier state supreme court. There are many ways to break into the picture and Dr. Schumaker has been in the picture continuously on the banks of the Wabash for many years. Hostile criticism and then contempt of the defiant sort sent the reformer to the penal farm. It is said there is one law for all in Indiana since the passing of Big Ed Jackson as governor of the commonwealth.

LEADING IN BOYS' WORK

Childress is already well in the lead in boys' work, and it is given fine support among the business men and people generally. It is vital, however, that the parents and public keep in touch with just what the boys are doing and what our program for them is meaning to them in actual practice. —Childress (Texas) Daily Index.

BETTER WAYS OF FARMING

"I am going to plant more peanuts this year than I did in 1928," said H. B. Fincher of east of Denton, who was here Monday. "I tried out cotton last year and with a small acreage of peanuts, but this year will drop cotton from the planting and add more feedstuffs, particularly peanuts, as I intend planting about 20 acres. I want to grow the feedstuffs this year for the chickens and cows, also for hogs in sufficient numbers to give me all the cured meat I will need."

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Cordelia has been "straightening up the house" for one New York bachelor for more years than he can remember, but she has never lost that charming "suthen" drawl—her "Lohd sakes alive, you ah-lookin' for Marse John agin"—never failing to win my smile. And an answering one tells me that Cordelia is looking for a bit of banter.

"You Noo-Yawk gem'mem shuah can jolly. What's an yuh min' now?" I wondered what was on her's, so with a delicious chuckle, she replied:

"Ah gotta neo gran' chile."

Good heavens—another?

"Wat yuh mean—by that, big boy? Another—why my Sadie's only got—lemme see—foah yes, foah boys and this new one, a girl. That makes five. Ain't dat grand!"

Why of course it was and by the way, what were they calling the latest arrival? I had hoped she would be named for the proud grandmother. Wrong again. This cute little pickaninny was to be named for her Aunt Pat.

Now Patricia is a favorite name of mine, and I dared say so, when Cordelia's eyes snapped and with a disdainful smile, she said:

"Patricia puthin'—her name's Cleopatra!"

Examination days preparatory to February promotion have just come to a close, as far as public schools are concerned. I happened to be down around Mulberry Bend, a stone's throw from New York's Chinatown, during the noon hour. School children came trooping home to tenement house abodes—meanwhile discussing that day's quiz. Said a grimy little chap:

"We had rithmatic this mornin' and after dinner she's gonna give us writin'." An older lad, equally in need of a tub, broke into the conversation going on among several young boys, and sneered:

"Aw you kids—wads you gotta kick about. Writin'—baby stuff. You oughta get histry like us." History—ears pricked, especially when a foreign-appearing youngster asked:

"Say—wat did you give for the last example—give the date of the Battle of Lexington?" 'Dates—who cared about them—the main thing to be known about this historic event was—"that the British got it in the neck in that battle 1776—that was the year," finally ended the all-important one. Then another request, this time from the latter—"Who said—gimme liberty or gimme death?" Soon the air was filled with the names of many of our country's best-known heroic figures, of early American days. One name—Nathan Hale persisted in being heard again and again, until a tall, lanky fellow, a bit over-grown for to be a student of a grammar grade, said:

"Naw—not him. He's the guy wat's got a statue up in front of the city hall. Remember when he said—"I'm sorry I ain't got only one life wat I kin give to my country?"

'Tis the smart thing to go over to Hoboken these cold winter nights—have dinner at one of the restaurants along River street and then to Christopher Morley's Rialto theater to see "After Dark" or "Neither Maid, Wife nor Widow." And the crowds that go there, including "Who's Who" along Broadway, show that clean drama is still appreciated. To judge from some of the present season's offerings, one would think that the art of the drama was going to the dogs altogether. One particular play contained lines, so thoroughly disgusting that at one professional matinee perfomance, newspaper men turned red to the ears—blushing like school boys. Sparkling wit replaced by disgusting filth, marked more than one theatrical fare. And as for cursing and blasphemy—truck drivers seem like mere infants, when compared to the characters in some of this year's dramatic productions.

So Christopher Morley has done the theatrical world a good turn by reviving the thriller of post-civil war days. To modern eyes, "After Dark" must seem a terribly crude affair with its story of a demure little heroine, a black villain, a long-lost father, two scheming rascals and a hero of manly qualities. The scene where the latter is snatched from beneath the wheels of a D. L. & W. train, rushing through the tunnel or that of the attempted suicide of "Elise," the wronged young wife, as she leaps from the string-piece of a New York dock, on a dark and lonely night are alone worth taking the trip across the Hudson.

Latest news from the Morley forces! They have leased the Lyric theater—a few blocks away from the Rialto, where thrillers of the late nineties are to be re-born. Shades of Theadore Kaemer—his "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl" kept more than one audience glued to chairs from orchestra pit to the last gallery row—at the Lyric, during those mid-Victorian days.

FAVORITE JOKES OF FAMOUS FOLK

As Told by Them to
FRANK E. NICHOLSON

BY M. H. H. JOACHIM

Joachim—who is really Prince Joachim by birth—is known as "The Son of India." He is a widely known author and lecturer and conceded to be one of the foremost authorities on India.

M. H. H. JOACHIM

"My favorite among the American anecdotes," he told me, "concerns your illustrious that the Webster. It seems that the Webster's young daughter ran into the living room where her mother sat, and exclaimed:

"'Mamma, there's a strange man kissing the maid!' Mrs. Webster quickly arose and started for the kitchen. It so happened that the day was April the first, so when her mother was about to open the door the little one cried out:

"'April Fool—it isn't a strange man—it's only daddy!'

"So Mrs. Webster opened the door, and, sure enough, there stood Noah—kissing the maid. But Mrs. Webster was never one to make a scene, so she closed the door and went back into the living room.

"Later she confronted her husband, when they were in the privacy of their bedroom. 'Noah,' she said, sternly, 'when I opened that door this afternoon I was surprised——'

"'Now, my dear,' interrupted Noah, 'you know how much of my time I'm devoting to the compiling of the dictionary so that future generations may know the correct word to use at the right time. At least you should respect my work enough to begin using the right words in your conversation.

"'Now, you weren't SURPRISED—you were AMAZED—I was the one who was SURPRISED!'"

$300,000 Damage In Fire at Nashville

'Jimmy the Fiddler' Victim of Blizzard

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 20. (INS)—One man was frozen to death, three persons were hurt, street traffic was delayed, and air mail to and from Newark airport and Chicago was delayed, in one case four hours, by today's snowstorm.

James Murphy, 35, homeless, who was known to hundreds of children as "Jimmy the Fiddler," was found frozen to death on a bench in the park this morning. His body was covered with snow.

The mail from New Orleans, Atlanta, and Miami, which was due at 4:50 a. m., had not arrived at all at 1 p. m., more than eight hours later. Officials at the airport were not worried, however, believing that the southern pilot landed somewhere in the south and was waiting for clear weather or else that his mail was sent on by train.

Judging Contest Being Planned

Special to The Record News

LUBBOCK, Texas, Feb. 20.—Plans are being made for the fourth annual judging contest for vocational agricultural students in Texas high schools, to be held some time this spring at the Texas Technological college.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the School of Agriculture has put Ray C. Mowery in charge of the contest again this year. The date of the contest has not been set, pending the announcement of other dates of events which the contest will not conflict with.

A greater interest has been manifest in the event this year than ever before. Additional schools have indicated their desire to compete and additional work will likely be added.

In the past contests, live stock, poultry and grain judging have been covered by the contests and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has awarded loving cups to the winning teams. Last year teams from Floydada, Roby, Silverton, and Tulia were winners.

This year farm management, farm shop and other vocational agricultural work will likely be added to the contest, according to Dean Leidigh.

NOOSE'S VICTIM OFFERS FIGHT

Gruesome Disorders Mark Quadruple Hanging

VIENNA, Feb. 20. (INS)—While police armed with rifles and fixed bayonets battled with a crowd, four robbers were hanged in the Zagreb, Crotia, prison today amid gruesome disorders.

The crowd fought with the police in an effort to free the condemned men.

The weather was bitter cold for the arctic-like chill which has gripped this section of Central Europe for nearly a fortnight is unbroken in Croatia.

One of the robbers named Krompotic attacked Executioner Hart and knocked him down twice.

Assistants went to Hart's aid, but the maddened robber attacked them, meanwhile tearing the noose from his neck and screaming to the crowd outside the prison gates to come to his help.

Three times Krompotic tore the noose from his throat before he was overpowered and swung to his doom.

The leader of the robber band, Popich, broke down. He sobbed and shrieked, pleading for mercy.

The robbers were charged with a dozen murders in Jugoslavia.

The executions were to have taken place several days ago but were postponed when the official executioner's train got stuck in a snowdrift.

Art Critics Like To Fight, He Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (INS)—There is nothing that an art critic likes better than to snipe at another critic, the jury was told today in the $500,000 DuVeen libel suit trial.

Capt. H. Langton Douglas, English art expert, was again on the stand under cross-examination.

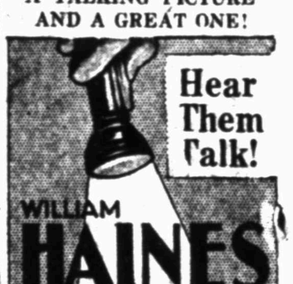

"Do you experts agree on all things?" Attorney General Miller asked the witness.

"We usually fight like cats and dogs," Captain Douglas replied.

He was testifying for Sir Joseph DuVeen in the suit brought against him by Mrs. Andree Lardoux Hahn because he pronounced her painting "La Belle Ferroniere" to be but a poor copy of the original by Leonardo Da Vinci in the Louvre.

As there is no further need of them, four of the industrial schools under the London county council, are being closed down.

JAKE ATZ REBUILDS PANTHERS FOR 1929 PENNANT CAMPAIGN

ONLY 3 VETS OF 1928 LEFT

Cats Pin Hopes on Youngsters; Cobb to Go

By NED C. RECORD
Sports Editor, Record-Telegram

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20. (AP)—The old guard of Fort Worth is all but gone. Only one of the host of stout warriors that battled so bravely and so well on the diamonds of the Texas league for the Panther city is left. He is Paul Wachtel, veteran spitball heaver.

Gone are the rest of the veterans that Jake Atz has led for many years.

This year the Panthers will be so changed that were not Jake Atz swinging up and down the coaching lines, and Wachtel stolidly chewing his slippery elm, fans might not recognize the team as the Cats from Fort Worth.

Two other regulars of last year, Southpaw Jimmy Walkup and Eddie Moore, fleet center fielder, will be back this year, but these two, though veterans, are not members of the old guard of flag winners.

New Blood Sought

The bosses of the Cats looked over the machinery carefully at the close of the 1928 season and decided that what the team needed was new blood in large quantities. Much of this new blood is young blood, too.

Consider the pitching staff. There is Charles Sullivan, back after a year's absence with Detroit and Seattle, still young and due to hurl consistently. Buzz Phillips was obtained from Beaumont in the Denny Burns trade. Atz thinks he has a winning pitcher in Buzz. The veteran Don Songer, remembered as a Pittsburgh pitcher, comes to the Cats in a deal with Toronto.

The rest of the hurling staff are kids—Vin Devaney, Leo Fitterer, Bill Goff, Ben Weaver, Noel Haynes, Rufus Meadows and Charles Kearney. The last named is a semi-pro product from Columbus, Texas. The others have seen class D experience and all of them but Meadows finished the 1928 season with Fort Worth and looked good.

Old Catchers to Go

The Fort Worth catching staff is likely to be the veteran Del Baker, obtained from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast, and George Rensa, a likely young fellow from the Three-Eye group. There are several other young catchers, but Rensa is doped to be the best. George Bischoff and Joe Cobb, last year receivers, are due to go elsewhere.

Moore is expected to hold down center field, a position he has handled for three years in dazzling style. Larry Cox, who came here late last summer from the Arizona league and showed up well for a lad, and Bryan and Kregel from Fort Smith are other outfielders on the Cat roster. All are youngsters.

The Panther infield problem is far from settled, with quite a flock of candidates. Jim Riley is back for first base, with Jimmy Daugherty, Washington semi-professional, as his only opponent so far. Andy Harrington, after a good winter, expects to return not handicapped by the illness that held him back at second base last summer. Harrington, in case his arm is recovered, may be shifted to his first love, third base. So far, the Cats have no seasoned third base product.

Urban to Play Short

Karl (Nick) Urban, infielder from the Rochester club, has been imported to play short, and in case Andy takes third, can do well at second. There are several other infield prospects—Clarence Freitag, John Smith, Bill Ramage and Fay Pierce.

The Cats, who launch their training season in Mineral Wells on March 4, are not "set" for the season yet. One or two more shifts may be expected before the season gets under way.

For the first time in years, Atz will start a season with a club that has not more than its share of veterans, real ancients of the game. For six years, these old-timers came through, but for three summers couldn't do so well. Hence it was decided to rebuild, placing just enough veterans on the squad to steady the young fellows.

Cage Runnerup May Be Decided Tonight

Occupancy of the runner-up and other places below first in the Commercial Basket Ball league may be decided tonight, when two games are played on the Junior college floor.

Featherston-Hawkins-Vague, tied for second with Hub Clothiers, meets the Junior college Indians, cellar occupants, in the first game. The Hub clashes with the high school Coyotes in the final.

EFFORTS to form a class D baseball league at a meeting here next Sunday will be watched with keen interest by baseball fans of this section. It is believed that the time is ripe for the launching of such a circuit, which, if properly directed, should be a success.

There are dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans in northwestern Texas and southwestern Oklahoma, the territory from which the proposed new circuit is to be drawn. There are a sufficient number of live, prosperous cities in that territory for the organization and support of a thriving class D league in organized baseball.

Such a loop would be compact. Traveling expenses would be at a minimum. By adopting a class rule, which is planned by backers of the circuit, and with the employment of many youngsters on each club, salaries could be held to a low level.

FORMATION of such a league was proposed last winter, but plans were held in abeyance until a better time for its launching approached. Now it seems that F. E. Withers of Tyler and other prime movers of the project have achieved great results in their organization plans. Indeed, a communication from Withers indicates that several cities have formed fans' associations looking toward representation at the meeting here Sunday. He expects 10 to 12 cities to be represented at that conclave.

The most important matter for such a circuit is the adoption of a code of rules and by-laws to assure a nominal salary limit. And then the most important matter is to agree to live up to that playing code. And to elect a president who will enforce the rules. Many a minor baseball circuit has been wrecked by inflated payrolls.

J. ALVIN GARDNER, back from the Texas league schedule meeting at Dallas, views the coming campaign with optimistic eye. That applies both to the Spudders and the circuit as a whole. The Spudder prexy believes his club looms as one of the foremost contenders for the flag. And conditions around the circuit are excellent.

A striking feature at the Dallas meeting was attention paid to Rube Stuart, the owner of the Beaumont Exporters. Stuart has invested in a new and costly baseball plant. He has rebuilt his club and has spared no expense in endeavoring to line up talent that will lift the Exporters from the cellar they have occupied so long.

Stuart's courageous and sportsmanlike stand reflects the attitude of all the Texas league moguls. And indeed, why shouldn't it? Our circuit is one of the fastest in all minor league baseball. Financially and artistically, there is none better.

Baseball fans of the Texas league owe much to the magnates of the circuit, progressive, able men that they are.

Thanks, Mr. McGee, write again. And all you fans, send in your all-star teams.

Injunction Restraining Flier Is Dismissed

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—An injunction restraining Thea Rasche, German flier, from making an Atlantic flight, was dismissed in supreme court today on the ground that the plaintiff had not brought its case to trial within a reasonable time.

The injunction was obtained last summer by the Hollis corporation, as assignee of Harold Harwell, after Miss Rasche announced she would make an ocean flight financed by Mrs. James A. Stillman.

Paolino Confident Of Trouncing K. O.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (UP)—Paolino Uzcudun, who meets K. O. Christner of Akron, Ohio, in the feature 10-round fight at Madison Square garden Friday night, is more interested in the Sharkey-Stribling bout at Miami Beach than in his own engagement.

The big basque is confident he will find nothing more than a good workout awaiting him at the hands of the hard hitting rubber puddler, while he feels that his future lies in the possible success of Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach.

Paolino's greatest ambition, he says, is a bout with Sharkey and he feels that the winner of such a bout would boast an almost indisputable title claim. He signed to meet Sharkey at the garden last November but the fight never materialized.

New Grid Rules Please Coaches

Majority of Mentors Like Changes in Code

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—With only a few dissenting voices, eastern college coaches today raised a loud paen of praise for the changes made in the football rules by the national football rules committee.

Most of the coaches, commenting on the changes, confined themselves to the new rule making a fumbled ball recovered by the defensive side dead at the point of recovery.

Penalty Enough

Coaches favoring the new rule took the position that loss of the ball was penalty enough for the fumbling team and that the change in the code would make for an even more spectacular form of offense.

The dissenters, and they included such figures as Lou Young of the University of Pennsylvania; Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh of Fordham; William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard and Larry Bankart, former Dartmouth and Colgate coach, objected to the rule change on the ground that it removed from the game one of its most thrilling plays—the run for touchdown or long gain after recovery of a fumble.

On the other side of the fence were such coaches as Joe McKenney, Boston college; Ira Rodgers, West Virginia; Bob Waddell, Carnegie Tech; Andy Kerr, Washington and Jefferson; Tad Jones, Yale; Olo O'Donnell, Holy Cross; and Arthur Sampson, Tufts.

Team Not Penalized

Almost all of these expressed their opinion that the rule was good because it did not over-penalize a team for the mistake of one man and because the modification would lead to a more open brand of football particularly when the offensive side is close to a touchdown.

New York newspapers split in their opinions on the change and on the same ground as did the coaches. For example, the New York Evening World felt the modification "reduces the premium on alertness." While the New York Sun felt the defensive side would be just as alert to recover the ball since possession of the ball is no mean advantage in itself.

SHEELY IS NUB OF BUC HOPES

Discarded Sox First Sacker Back With Pirates

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (UP)—The baseball world tosses its puppets up and it tosses them down. Sometimes those who have been tossed back into the minors come back with a vengeance.

The case of Earl Sheely, who spent seven years with the Chicago White Sox, is an interesting one in point. Counted as through when his batting average dropped to .209 in 1927, the big first baseman was waived out of the major leagues.

Now Sheely is back in the majors again after a successful season with the Sacramento Pacific Coast League club and around him hinges to a large extent whether the Pittsburgh Pirates will be dangerous contenders for the National league pennant.

Best Player in Loop

Many observers who watched Sheely in action last season on the coast say he was the best player in the league. He batted .382 and drove in 102 runs. He made 240 hits, including 21 home runs and 28 doubles.

Sheely is not the only former major leaguer who is back for another chance. Prominent among the others are Ed Wells, former Detroit and Washington southpaw, who will be given a trial with the New York Yankees.

Emil Yde, who helped pitch the Pittsburgh Pirates to the National league pennant in 1926, back up with the Detroit Tigers; Horace Lisenbee, a star pitcher with Washington in 1927, who will be with the Boston Red Sox, and Warren (Rip) Collins, who formerly pitched for the Red Sox, Yankees and Tigers, and is now billed for a regular berth on the St. Louis Browns' staff.

Wells May Be Regular

On the basis of his phenomenal record with the Birmingham Southern League club last season, Wells is expected to win a regular place on the world champions' pitching staff. He turned in 25 victories and lost but seven games for the Southern league champions.

With a record of 19 victories and 12 defeats and a batting average of .371 in 64 games last season with the Indianapolis American Association club, Yde has convinced Bucky Harris that he will make a valuable addition to the Tigers. Harris plans to use Yde on the mound, but his batting record may cause Bucky to use him in the outfield if necessary.

Red Sox to Play At Braves Field

Boston Sunday Games Will Be in Nationals' Park

BOSTON, Feb. 20. (UP)—Boston's Sunday baseball tangle was unsnarled today by the announcement that an agreement had been reached so that all games can be played at Braves field this season.

The Red Sox are prohibited from using their field for Sunday games by the provision in the Sunday sports bill which forbids holding of contests within 1,000 feet of a church.

A small Unitarian church is 900 feet away from the field making it necessary for the Sox to get a new Sunday playing field.

President Emil Fuchs of the Boston National league team announced today the acceptance of a contract with the Red Sox providing for the joint use of the Braves field by the two major league clubs.

Brick Eldred Is First Spudder To Arrive at Camp

The first robin hasn't been seen yet. At least not reported. But here's a real harbinger of spring.

Ross "Brick" Eldred has reported for Spudder training.

The heavy-hitting outfielder arrived in Wichita Falls late yesterday, accompanied by his wife and 10-year-old son, Dick. They made the drive from Sacramento, Calif., in four and a half days.

Eldred, who has a lifetime batting average of .325 compiled in the Pacific Coast and Texas leagues, has been playing basket ball in California the past month. He is ready to start light work at once and will be in tiptop shape when all the athletes assemble March 1.

The Eldreds will locate a house for permanent residence here this summer and Dick will resume his studies in school here next Monday. Brick was mighty glad to get back to Wichita Falls and the fans here are mighty pleased at the return of the popular and hard-clouting gardener.

Dawson Medalist In Houston Golf

Chicagoan's 145 Leads Field Over Wintry Course

HOUSTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—John Dawson, of Chicago, stroked his way over a wintry course here today for a 72, to lead the qualifying field in the Houston Country club invitation tournament with an aggregate of 145, four strokes better than his nearest competitor, George Rotan of Houston. Dawson's 72 was one above par.

The rain and wind took a heavy toll among the other entries. Ossie Carlton of Houston, defending champion, shot a 78 for a total of 152, and third place. Other players who qualified for the championship bracket of 16, to start match play tomorrow were:

W. A. Kyle, Houston, 153; Clyde Cunningham, Houston, 154; B. A. Calhoun, Houston, 155; W. C. Hunt, Houston, 156; Lewis Levinson, San Antonio, 156; S. E. Scott and Calmes Step 10 Scintillating Rounds

Two corking 10-round bouts in a double windup were offered boxing enthusiasts last night at Alex Ross' weekly show. The first of the dual features was a slashing go between Bobby Calmes of Duncan, Okla., and Howard Scott of Electra. It was a wow. Veteran ringsters here hailed that go as one of the fastest ever fought in a Wichita Falls ring.

It was action every second. Two corking boxers, cagey and fast, and hard hitters, are those boys. Nice clean youngsters, too. It was a great mill. Like their previous two bouts, last night's scrap was fought on near-even terms. Scott, however, had the shade.

Howard Leads Early

Howard established a lead in the first half of the mill which Calmes' rally almost overcame. Howard took the ninth round, in which he rocked Bobby with a right to the chin, the hardest punch of the mill. That rally gave Scott the edge of the milling, although Calmes came back and won the tenth round by a shade.

A boxer and a slugger met in the final feature. Speedy Sparks of Oklahoma, smart veteran of a decade in the ring, threw punches from every angle all over Cyclone Hall of Childress. Hall kept boring in, boring in, seeking an opening for his k. o. sock. It almost came in the final round when Sparks was rocked with a barrage of punches to the midriff but Speedy weathered the storm.

Capacity House

A capacity house saw the show. Battling Sturdivant scored a technical k. o. over Young Morris when the referee stopped their bout in the sixth round. Harold Oden and Cecil Decker boxed four rounds and a couple of kids stepped three.

Mickey Riley, clever junior lightweight, was introduced. Riley, one of the headliners in the company playing at the Olympic theater, obliged with a song. He probably will box here in the near future.

Express Service In Mexico Is Improved

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20. Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Sickness and Greatness

It is an undisputed fact that good health does not always go along with "greatness." Many men whose names are written high in the Hall of Fame have succeeded in spite of physical disorders and infirmities.

Washington, whose birthday Americans observe tomorrow, probably suffered as much from illness as any other great man of history. Although he was over six feet tall and in some ways a sturdy looking man, he was really flat chested and subject to catching colds. It was one of these colds that brought about his death in his sixty-seventh year. He had formerly barely escaped the fate of his half-brother who finally died of tuberculosis.

Washington's face was pitted all through his life because of an early case of smallpox. Early in life he lost most of his teeth, and frequently suffered from ulcerated teeth. He became partly deaf, and his eyesight was quite bad in his latter years. His duties as a soldier were often interrupted by bad spells of dysentery. Some of these attacks lasted several weeks, coming close to being fatal. He suffered from carbuncles, malaria, and took many trips to mineral springs, being often forced to stay for several weeks at a time.

Washington must be remembered for his indomitable courage, his honesty, and for his sensible judgment in all matters pertaining to the organization and success of the new republic. Like many other great men, he probably ate, smoked and drank what he liked, and consequently suffered from disorders which came from injudicious living.

Health cannot be considered to be accidental, in spite of the fact that some are able to abuse themselves through bad habits without noticing the disastrous results as soon as others who are perhaps born with less natural organic strength.

We are all so apt to ape our superiors or those whom we admire, and great caution must be used or we are liable to copy the great ones' bad habits as well as their good ones.

It is well to study the reasons why a successful man has accomplished good works, but also best to remember that his success has been because of good practices and not because of the harmful ones.

We must take our lessons for good from a combination of the study of the lives of many. We can learn good business rules from the man of wealth, but we can also learn from the soldier, the scientist, the inventor, the artist, the physician, the lawyer and, if we wish for physical perfection, we can surely learn from the man who has achieved perfect physical perfection through such means as we are found in the proper application of correct eating and physical culture exercising.

All of the mental faculties must improve in the one who has built a healthy physical body, but your lessons about health building will be more valuable to you if they come from a study of the lives of healthy men, or from the teachings of physicians, dietitians, and physical culturists who have made the study of health their life work.

I have, so far, not seen the man who is perfect mentally and physically, but when I do, I know he will be one who has learned his lessons from the study of the lives and teachings of many types of successful men.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Phrenology

Question—May W. asks: "Do you consider that the positions given in the phrenological charts are accurate with relation to the functions of the brain, and can one actually determine character by this method?"

Answer—There is controversy concerning the efficacy of the phrenological chart, but modern science tends to refute this theory. The activity of the functions of the brain is not essentially related to the size externally. After the skull has hardened, the development of the brain seems to result in deeper grooves and more numerous convolutions in the gray matter.

Pain Under Liver

Question—A. M. A. writes: "After I eat a meal and stand upright there is a pain just under my liver, but if I lie on my left side this pain disappears. What could be the cause of this?"

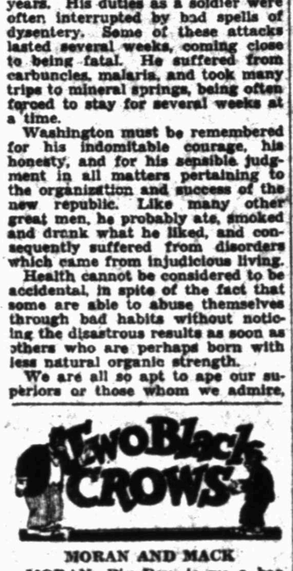

Answer—It is possible that you have some adhesions or an inflammatory condition in the neighborhood of the duodenum which are relieved when you lie on your left side by the weight of the stomach pulling on the duodenum. You should have a careful X-ray examination to determine the condition.

Rings Turn Fingers Black.

Question—Troubled asks: "Can you tell me the reasons why my hands always look dirty, and why my rings always turn my fingers black?"

Answer—Your trouble is caused by the elimination through your skin of some chemical substance, possibly sulphur, which attacks the alloy in the gold rings. Pure gold would not be affected by this, but gold rings are made with a certain degree of hardening substance from alloy and this is acted upon by certain chemicals. You doubtless have a general toxemia which should be removed through using a carefully planned cleansing diet.

Some of England's finest fleeces come from the Orkney and Shetland Islands, where seaweed forms a large part of the sheep's foodstuff.

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN—Big Boy, is we a barbah shop or is we a beauty palor?

MACK—I'm afraid we is.

MORAN—Yo' is afraid we is what?

MACK—Now, I'm afraid we isn't.

MORAN—Make up yo' mind. Isn't we, ain't we, or am we not?

MACK—That lady won her million dollar damages an' it is goin' to take yo' two dollars to settle it.

MORAN—What happened to that woman?

MACK—She tol' th' Judge she come into this beauty parlor with three chins and left with none.

MORAN—How come you' didn't hire a lawyer?

MACK—We had our choice of settlin' th' case out of court or in jail.

MORAN—Does yo' call that a CHOICE?

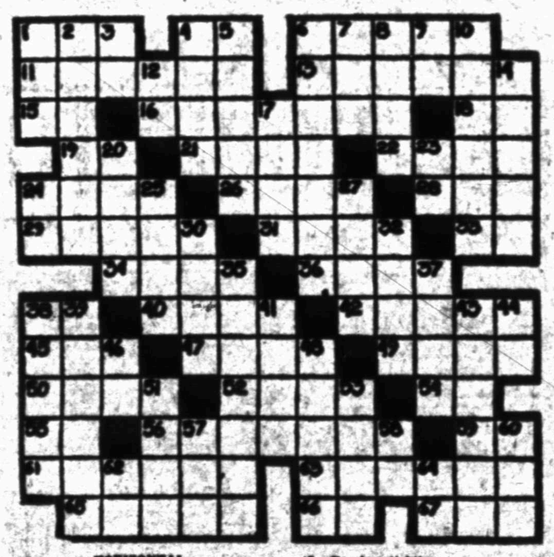

MACK—It's a choice fo' th' Judge.

MORAN—Well' I'm goin' to hold on to my two dollars. I got a good grip on it.

MACK—Yes, yo' hold on to it tight an' th' Judge will give yo' a set of handcuffs to improve yo' grip.

Moran and Mack have now had a lunch wagon, a barber shop and a beauty parlor. All three places have been flops. What business will they go into now? Write in and advise the Two Black Crows.

MARLAND REPORTED BUYING LOUISIANA REFINING CORPORATION

DEAL INVOLVES SUPERIOR, TOO

Tulsa Concern to Pay $3,000,000 for Leases

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 20—It is reported here on semi-official authority that the Marland Oil company of Ponca City is to purchase the Louisiana Refining corporation of Shreveport, La.

The Marland will also buy the Howard county, West Central Texas, leases of the Superior Oil corporation of Tulsa for a figure said to be around $3,000,000.

The Marland will sell to the Superior a quarter interest in the Louisiana's holdings in the Allen field of Pontotoc and Seminole counties, giving the Superior additional production in Oklahoma.

Superior officials here were not ready today to divulge particulars.

Sabbath Shutdown Cures Production Ills

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Feb. 20.—The Sunday shut down program of helping to reduce the present over-production of crude petroleum is gaining favor with Mid-Continent oil companies.

Initial step was taken early Saturday morning by Barnsdall Oil company and that afternoon the Prairie Oil and Gas company adopted it. Both of these firms inaugurated the shut down plan for producing wells in the Greater Seminole field at 7 a. m. Sunday and not starting them up again until 7 a. m. Monday.

Not until Tuesday did the daily output of the two companies show that all of the wells shut down had been "kicked back" into production.

The idea of this voluntary shut down to reduce excessive oil output has prompted Thomas B. Slick, independent producer, and originator of the idea, to adopt it, and his acceptance came too late to put it into effect the same time as the Barnsdall and Prairie.

Midcontinent Gasoline Market Tightens Up

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Feb. 20.—Increased demand for major refiners and the Sunday shut down has tightened materially the natural gasoline market in the Mid-Continent field. Prices are advancing and reports of impending contracts being placed are helping the manufacturers to obtain higher prices for their material.

Grade AA is still very scarce and prices are quoted at 7½ to 8 cents; grade BB and B are held at 6 to 6¾ cents, and grade C is firm at 5¾ cents.

U. S. motor grade of straight run gasoline is still available at 6½ to 7 cents, with the average sales at 6¾ cents.

Kerosene is stronger with the 41-43 grade at 5¼ cents, and fuel oil is also stronger at 65 to 70 cents a barrel for 18-22 grade. Distillates are also stronger.

Pastor Denies Boys Held Here For Theft Are Members of Church

Two young men arrested by police officers Tuesday in connection with the theft of an automobile motor from a residence on Tulsa street and who the officers said professed to be followers of the "holiness" church, are in fact not members of that church.

This was brought out Wednesday by the Rev. W. P. Robinson, pastor of the North Side Assembly of God church and Barney Stout, member of the congregation, who said they had investigated the records of the two youths.

Rev. Mr. Robinson told The Record News that he felt the assertion credited the boys claimed "they could be punished here for their crimes but in the next world would do just as they pleased" is a reflection upon his church. The youths are not members of any holiness church, the pastor said.

Chicago Boxing Promoters War

Rivals Stage Big Fights on Successive Nights

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—The first blast in what is expected to be a war involving Chicago boxing promoters—Paddy Harmon, builder of the new $7,000,000 Chicago stadium, and Jim Mullen, recognized as a leader in the sport—was fired today.

Harmon and Mullen will engage in a showdown when each will stage outstanding attractions on successive nights, March 12 and 13. This situation was precipitated today when the Illinois State Athletic commission, after previously granting Promoter Mullen a date for March 12, issued a permit to Harmon today allowing him to open his new west side arena the next night.

Loughran Meets Walker

Harmon has matched Tommy Loughran, world's light heavyweight titleholder. Harmon expects this match to draw $350,000, a record for indoor matches in America. The arena, now being rushed to completion, will seat 25,000.

On the preceding night, Promoter Mullen will stage a battle in the coliseum between Tom Heeney, the New Zealand heavyweight, and Otto Von Porat, elongated Norwegian.

Fight is Okehed

The state athletic commission, which heretofore had refused to sanction a Loughran-Walker bout, because Walker was under a ban for not defending his middleweight crown, today agreed to the match, contingent on certain stipulations. Walker will be required to post a forfeit of $25,000 with a Chicago bank guaranteeing to go through with a title match with Ace Hudkins in Las Vegas, Nevada, July 4, and also to present certified evidence as to the genuineness of the Las Vegas match.

Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic commission and president of the National Boxing association, said that if Walker failed to go through with the Hudkins match he would lose the $25,000 forfeit, and also surrender his title.

PANHANDLE TO GET DRILLING

Moore and Hartley Counties Have Tests Planned

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Feb. 20.—The Moore and Hartley areas of the Panhandle field of northwest Texas are to receive additional drilling.

Dana Oil & Gas company, headed by Sam Vanderweide, formerly of Tulsa, and owning a block in the two counties, is to drill in section 81, block 44, of H. & T. C. survey, Hartley county, being about five miles from the old Deep Rock Oil company test in section 10. Its test in Moore will be in section 269, block 44.

Barnsdall Oil company is to drill another test in Moore, and its engineers are now checking for the location. It has a 1600 acre block in sections 4, 5 and 7, of block M2, on a trend line from the Skelly Oil company pool in the Armstrong-Byrd ranch, to the A. D. Morton No. 1 Reeder, in section 191, block 3-T, of T. & N. O. survey.

The Panhandle field for the month ended Feb. 15, had 39 completions.

Twenty-nine of the completions were oil wells, with an initial output of 10,795 barrels; five were gas wells, making 217,000,00 cubic feet of gas; two dry holes and three abandoned tests.

At that time a survey showed 23 locations staked; 13 rigs up; 84 wells drilling and 52 tests shutdown, a total of 172.

Gray county was the most active area, having 26 drilling wells; 10 locations; four rigs up; 15 wells shut down and 22 completions.

Hutchinson county was next, with 22 wells drilling; one location; three rigs up; 17 tests shut down and five completions.

Wheeler county had nine drilling, five rigs up, one location, five shut down and four completions.

Carson county had 15 wells drilling; three locations; one rig up and five completions.

Moore county had seven drilling wells, five locations, one shut down and three completions.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Except for liquidation of near months, cotton showed no special trading feature today. Business was again quiet, with fluctuations narrow and irregular. The May contract ranged from 20.02 to 20.06 and closed at 20.04, compared with 20.05 at yesterday's close. The general market closed steady, net 2 points lower to 4 points higher, with new crop positions relatively steady.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 2 points, which was considered about in line with the showing of Liverpool. Near months were relatively easy under renewed March liquidation. New crop positions appeared to be attracting some demand. This may have been promoted by continued complaints of delays to farm work in the South. Opinion was expressed in some quarters that recent low temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma might have killed off some of the boll weevil in hibernation, but that the prospects were for a heavy emergence in other sections of the belt.

At the lowest, March sold at 19.95 and the new October contract at 19:54, or about 1 to 4 points net lower. The close was slightly up from the lowest on old crop positions as result of covering.

Next Tuesday will be the first March notice day in the local market. Evening-up of the position in anticipation of notices has been going on steadily the past several days.

There are about 73,300 bales of certified cotton in the New York stock. Local traders think this may be increased somewhat before the end of the month.

Private cables reported liquidation of near months in Liverpool, and continental buying of later deliveries. They also said there was an increased inquiry for cotton cloths from India and China.

Exports today, 1,914 bales, making 6,082,656 this season. Port receipts, 21,983. United States port stocks, 2,084,907.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (AP)—Extreme quiet characterized today's session of the cotton market and prices fluctuated within a range of only 2 to 4 points, one of the smallest spreads of the season. Such trading as developed was mainly liquidation of the March position in advance of the first notice day. March traded down to 19.24 and closed 1 point above that figure for a net loss of 5 points. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 5 points.

As Liverpool cables were slightly lower than due first trades here showed losses of 1 to 2 points. March liquidation was encountered right after the start and as that month soon traded off to 19.24, or 6 points net down, other positions eased off in sympathy, May trading to 19.42 and July 19.48, or 3 to 6 points below the previous close.

At these levels the market encountered some support probably induced by a report from New York of good buying of new crop positions there. Prices, however, did not reach new highs but kept within the early range, rallying but 2 points from the lows.

Although unfavorable weather was a supporting influence in the market traders were reluctant to enter upon new commitments in advance of the holiday Friday, to be followed by first March notice day.

The spread between March and May in the spot market extended to 19 points compared with an average of 15 yesterday. Liquidation of the near months was limited today with spot interest absorbing contracts.

Easier Money Leads to Advance In Stock Prices on New York Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 20, (US)—Easier money influenced further advance in stock prices today, in extremely quiet trading. Wright and other specialties gained 10 and more points while Steel in advance of 3⅞ points led standard industrials higher.

Packard gained 10 points, Crosley Radio jumped 15, and Lambert moved 7¼ points higher. Bethlehem gained 4⅛, Curtiss 3⅝, Cash Register 3, Advance Rumely 4⅝, Combustion 2 while other active issues closed from one to three points higher.

Railroad shares were helped by presentation of the new Van Sweringen merger plan which was thought to be a reflection of greater confidence that such consolidations will be treated more kindly from now on. Union Pacific gained 3¼ while other transportation stocks closed from one to three points higher.

Easing of the call money rate from renewal of 6½ to 6 per cent and coincident report that an abundance of funds was available helped sentiment, but trading remained almost wholly professional with turnover totaling under 3,000,000 shares for the five hours. Announcement was made after the final gong that the exchange would be closed Saturday.

It can be stated without fear of contradiction that W. C. Durant owns 25 per cent of International Combustion common stock. It is learned also on the best authority that he is buying more. This information resulted from an investigation of the report that the Durant group was unloading. As a result of the report, a short interest has been caught in the stock which is likely to find covering extremely difficult. Durant associated himself with the stock and the company in no uncertain manner when he took a party of 70 to inspect the new plant at New Brunswick recently. That he would do so with the intention of making a quick getaway in the stock is an idea that those who know him regard as ridiculous. His position in Combustion is regarded as similar to the long-pull operations he conducted in Cast Iron Pipe, General Motors, Nickel and others.

Further evidence of unwise short selling was given by the outstanding strength of Advance Rumely Cutten interests were reported actively at work in the stock and it is known that they have felt confident of its outlook for some time. The company is taking a more prominent place in the tractor field and with the new plant fully operating, earnings are expected to show further gain. The mid-week Steel reviews telling of advancing prices for major products helped the Steel stocks. It is known that an important group plan operation in Steel common when the reserve "warning" is forgotten.

Another favorable news feature was the decline in oil production, the first falling off reported for any week in four months. Just at the moment, however, those most interested in oil shares are confining activity to supporting their pets but otherwise obeying the reserve's mandate to refrain from active speculation for a while.

Increased demand for Lambert was in advance of operation similar to that recently witnessed in Andes Copper, Continental Can, etc. The same group is interested and a special analysis on Lambert is to be made public before long. Midwesterners have orders in on a scale down to pick up Loose-Wiles, it is claimed also.

The reserve directors meet tomorrow afternoon. As none knows whether they will take one or five hours to decide to make "no announcement" some uneasiness is to be expected before the close of the market. Of course, everyone realizes that important actions seldom are decided upon at official directors' meetings but such mystery surrounding meetings as last week's always troubles nervous traders. In addition there will be the pre-holiday influences and the brokers' loans report to worry about so that the market should evidence the soundness of its underlying structure during the closing hours. Inquiry of leading stock exchange firms indicates that there has been little change in the brokers' loans figures for the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—Influenced by temperatures 30 below zero in some grain sections, wheat soared today above any price which July delivery had heretofore touched this season. With mills reported buying wheat future deliveries at Kansas City, and exporters purchasing both at Minneapolis and Winnipeg, speculative demand here was on a broad scale, crop uncertainties again were a dominant factor, and there was talk also of expected political aid for the market.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅝c to 1@1⅛c net higher. Corn finished ⅝c to 1c up, oats ⅝c to ⅞@1c advanced, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of a shade.

On the upward swing of the wheat market, July delivery was the leader, but May closely following equaled the season's previous top level. Almost from the outset, prices showed a strong upward trend. Only passing attention was given to downturns in Liverpool quotations or to reported pressure of Argentine wheat abroad.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat price upturns, although Kansas City sold 60,000 bushels of corn today to come to Chicago. On the other hand, country offerings of corn were limited, and some was taken at the Gulf of Mexico by exporters. There were also messages from the Atlantic seaboard telling of renewed foreign inquiry. Some damage to oats in the South by freezing was announced officially.

Packers' selling of lard eased the provisions market, despite firmness of hog values.

Former Constable Gets Sentence for Assault

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (INS)—E. H. Horton, former deputy constable, was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail here today on a charge of aggravated assault on Mrs. Lucy Languinett, and her daughter, Elizabeth.

The woman and her daughter testified that Horton abused them, and forced them to get into his automobile, following a dispute over a basket of tomatoes that Horton is alleged to have run over while the women were shopping in the market district.

HOT DOGS!

For over half an hour a small boy had been persistently whistling outside the butcher's shop. Finally, the butcher could stand it no longer. He rushed out into the street.

"Stop making that confounded noise, you little wretch!" he shouted.

"I've lost me dog," said the boy.

"Well, do you think I've got your dog, then?"

"I dunno," muttered the boy. "But every time I whistle those sausages of yours move."—Answers.

ANSWER THAT!

The Sheik: Dearest, can't you see my heart's on fire?

His Only Hope: Well, do I look like a fire extinguisher?—Answers.

FARM GROUP TO VISIT HERE

Baylor County Residents To Tour Downing Place

A group of farmers living in Baylor county have announced their intention of coming to Wichita Falls next Monday for the purpose of visiting the truck farm of Solon Downing, located just south of the city. The object of their inspection is to gain additional information relative to growing of vegetables, etc., with the use of irrigation, and for that purpose they selected the farm of one who has demonstrated abundantly that truck farming can be done successfully in this section.

Efforts now being made by a committee headed by Mr. Downing toward the establishment of a public market, together with the example furnished by his results with truck growing, will probably result in a considerable increase in this particular industry locally. The fact that Baylor county farmers are attracted to a study of methods on the Downing farm here should point out more clearly to other farmers near this city the possibility of such development, it is believed.

Mid-Western Review

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20 (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Killing classes of cattle worked to higher price levels at most points around the 11-market circuit. Fed steers and yearlings were unevenly steady to 25c higher, the better grades under the influence of a fairly broad shipping demand, showing the most advance. Packers continued bearish on slaughter cows, this class showing little upturn for the week. Stocker and feeder steers ruled steady to strong. The demand for the placement cattle is expected to show considerable expansion with the advent of more open weather. Chicago had a top of $14.50 on choice 1,181-pound steers and obtained $14.00 for mixed yearlings. Several loads of good to choice steers of all representative weights at Kansas City brought $13.00. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 28,700 about the same as a week ago but 5,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Hogs found an uneven outlet at steady to 15c lower prices. Packers at most centers did not enter the trade until late in the session, but they displayed moderate interest at values strong to slightly higher than their purchases on Tuesday. The day's extreme top of $10.70 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 111,900 against 123,688 a week ago and 177,879 a year ago.

The supply of sheep approximated 35,500, a shortage of 13,000 from last Wednesday and 27,000 less than a year ago. Although receipts were comparatively light, no material price changes were registered on killing classes. Choice lambs in Chicago topped at $17.00.

The Death's Head month, now rarely seen, emits squeaks almost as loud as those of a mouse.

MEXICO VOTERS SIGNING UP

More Than 300 Political Parties Registered

By GEORGE A. SCHREINER

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20. (UP)—So far more than 300 political parties have registered with the federal department of the interior, a fact which indicates the great interest taken all over Mexico in the presidential campaign, and at the same time throws light on the political system of the Republic. Registered are the big political coalitions, the national party of the revolution, the anti-re-electionist party and the bloc of workers and peasants. These, however, consist of the other parties that have registered, of which there are more than 400, with about 75 yet to register.

The election law of Mexico requires that all political organizations, no matter how small or large, must notify the department of their existence, before they can put up candidates for any office. What the situation is can best be demonstrated by an example. The Socialist party of Mexico is represented in virtually all of the 28 states, two territories and federal districts of the union. This means that the Socialist party registered 31 times, once from every political division of the country. It cannot have a candidate for deputy or senator for congress in the division which has not registered. The party, however, will not have a presidential candidate this year, because its division groups have decided to go with one of the several pre-conventional presidential candidates, who will finally be nominated by the three big groups named. These are: Aaron Saenz, Pascual Oritz Rubio, Gilberto Valenzuela, Jose Vasconcelos, Antonio I. Villarreal and Pedro V. Rodriguez Triana.

There are three nominating parties in Mexico this year.

Rev. Pat Henry Gives Talks on Washington

George Washington was eulogized for his faith, his idealism, and his generosity by Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, in an address before the Optimist club in its regular weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

"The precedent set by George Washington in refusing to become president of the United States for a third term has been the salvation of America," the speaker declared.

Musical entertainment consisted of a group of solos given by Harry Brady, tenor, with Miss Lorene Tucker as accompanist, and a singsong led by Joel H. MacGregor. Herbert Gray was in charge of the program.

For no matter how much you are told about the wonders of this way of combating catarrhal conditions, or of the thousands who have been given complete freedom by its use—a real test—a chance to actually try it and its reactions—in your particular case is better than all explanations.

This treatment for catarrh—for freedom from that condition, relieves and forestalls many feared and distressing situations. A real test is better even than the real testimonials from those who have been given that wonderful relief. And when the gift-treatment has been tried, you will wonder why this wonderful method was never called to your attention before.

Dr. Coffee won national renown as a noted catarrh and deafness specialist. He, too, suffered with catarrh, deafness and head noises and many of its complications. Innumerable treatments failed to better his condition.

Is This Your Condition?

He experimented until he found a way that gave him real and actual relief in a permanent way. Following this, he treated literally thousands of sufferers in the same manner. Many have written, after completing the treatment, expressing thanks for their recovery; for their absolute freedom from colds, nose, bronchial and throat discharges; from poisoned systems, foul breath, bronchial troubles and even rheumatism and intestinal troubles. All due, as they say, to their catarrhal condition.

Catarrh Is a Handicap

Dirt and dust, from contaminated sections are deposited in the nose and throat with every breath. Much of it finds its way into the mouth, for nasal catarrh causes the disgusting, offensive mouth breathing. The impurities in this filth laden air are deposited in the catarrhal fluid—the mucus. Soon it finds its way into the body—and it is a strong constitution indeed that can withstand the fight, once it is started.

Thousands Recommend Dr. Coffee's Treatment

Don't miss this chance to make the acquaintance of this logical, scientific and purely medical catarrh treatment. A treatment, the worth of which is attested by so many who have written of their relief.

A treatment which has given complete freedom to sufferers everywhere as grateful letters will prove. It is the result of 45 years of active medical preparation and practice. More than four decades devoted to eye, ear, nose and throat work.

Slowly and carefully it was developed—until at last, after many thorough, painstaking tests, Dr. Coffee was convinced that he had the best treatment, the most effective course he had ever found. Its success in the past proves that it accomplishes its purpose. And it is free on trial to you. Just send the coupon.

Deafness Due to Catarrh of Air Passages

Authorities Blame Ear Tubal Catarrh for 90 Per Cent of Deafness Throughout the World

Free Trial Offer to All Sufferers

According to authorities who base their assertions on years of research and actual medical observation and practice, 90 per cent of the deafness in the world today is due to catarrh—ear tubal catarrh.

Not only is ear tubal catarrh which is really a development of nasal catarrh, blamed for deafness, but at its door are laid many other diseases, such as stomach catarrh, poisoned conditions of the body, and a generally diseased condition.

This May Be Relieved

This condition may be relieved. Dr. W. O. Coffee, a widely known specialist in the middle west for many years, developed a home treatment for deafness, head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and catarrh itself. Through his method, it is possible to remedy the catarrhal condition in many cases and make hearing practically normal once more. It has been proved that in many cases this is true.

Great Success

Phenomenal success has attended the Dr. Coffee home treatment. More than 500,000 cases of deafness, head noises due to ear tubal catarrh and ordinary nasal catarrh have used this method in all sections of the country and out of this number a huge number have reported complete satisfaction.

Most of these sufferers have been people whose hearing was bad in one ear and was rapidly getting bad in the other. With every cold, the hearing grew worse. This condition was relieved for many; relieved not only for the time but the catarrhal condition was bettered and in many cases all traces of the disease were gone.

Deafness strikes at all ages—and Dr. Coffee's home treatment has been used by people of all ages. By this method many who were apparently destined to go through life with the handicap of impaired hearing were made normal once more.

Improvement General

Physicians state, authoritatively, too, that in these cases doubtless other diseased conditions were combated and relieved by the defeat of catarrh; for it no longer poured its daily portion of poison into the human system and the body was no longer required to use a great portion of its strength in throwing off this poison. As a result it was better able to combat new disease and the general physical condition was bettered in addition to the relief given for deafness.

Sidelights on this Treatment for Ear Tubal Deafness, Head Noises and Nasal Catarrh

Literally thousands of people from different sections of the United States have used this special, original home treatment. Not only have many found relief from distressing head noises but restoration of good or normal hearing as well.

Contrary to the general belief, deafness and head noises due to ear tubal catarrh often lend themselves to treatment and relief very readily. The peculiar construction of the ear in its relation to the nasal passages both creates a condition which results in deafness and makes possible a ready relief when that is corrected. This was the basis of the Home treatment as perfected by Dr. W. O. Coffee which has resulted in relief to thousands of sufferers from deafness and head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and from nasal catarrh itself.

Those who are just beginning to notice that they are losing their hearing in one ear and with the coming of a cold find the other ear affected are especially urged to try Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment. Many who are now stone deaf may have been made to hear again if their cases had been properly cared for at the first showing of dullness of hearing.

Many cases of deafness are caused by dry catarrh—a type which gives no noticeable discharge or symptom.

Insurance authorities place deafness in the list of those defects which add to the risk of the insured life. Many railway accidents, accidents in the street with automobiles and in practically every walk of life are due to deafness or dullness of hearing. This condition in many cases can be corrected—if the condition is due to ear tubal catarrh. This form of catarrh is responsible for practically 90 per cent of the deafness today, authorities state.

There is no obligation attached to this Home Treatment plan. It is simply a means proving to the world that such a thing as relief for deafness, dullness of hearing and head noises from ear tubal catarrh and nasal catarrh itself, is possible. There is little doubt of what this treatment will do; but the sufferer is not sure unless it is proven, the facts that it is effective and has given relief in thousands of cases will never be known by victims of this terrible affliction.

Deaf Since Childhood; Hearing Greatly Benefited This Way

Mona McBride

Chronic and Acute Deafness Ends

Mrs. Mona McBride of Illinois, says, "This is to certify that since having scarlet fever when a little girl, I have been hard of hearing, and for the past four or five years I have been almost entirely deaf. A few months ago my left ear began to discharge. I found it to be abscessed and discharging a foul fluid. Nothing seemed to stop it and finally I tried Dr. Coffee's treatment. To my surprise and delight the hearing in the ear which was partially deaf for nearly 20 years has returned and the abscess has healed. Now I can hear a conversation six feet away. I didn't believe it possible and I certainly advise anyone suffering with deafness to try this treatment. I obtained relief in a short time."

Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment for Deafness has been used by over 500,000 persons. It will benefit you likewise provided you are not totally deaf from disease of any kind, or from shock, or from any cause where the whole hearing apparatus has been entirely broken down.

Ear Tubal Deafness Successfully Treated by Simple Home Method

25,000 Trial Treatments Given Free for the Next 30 Days to Sufferers from Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrhal Conditions

Dr. W. O. Coffee, for many years an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist in the middle west, developed a treatment for deafness and dullness of hearing from ear tubal catarrh and for catarrh itself which has resulted in the restoration of hearing to hundreds.

Basing his treatment on the fact that in practically 90 per cent of the cases, loss of hearing is due to a catarrhal condition, Dr. Coffee by concentrating his efforts in that field proved that restoration of hearing is not a myth. Literally thousands of people from all sections of the United States have taken this original home treatment and have been benefited. Letters from hundreds of these people attesting to the effectiveness of this method are on file here.

Dr. Coffee never claimed that his original treatment would restore hearing to all cases of deafness, but he said if the deafness or head noises are caused from a catarrhal condition and the tissues of the middle ear are not damaged, the hearing should be restored to real good or normal. Basing his experiments in his office on this practical relief of these conditions, he positively demonstrated that the restoration of hearing to many severe cases is an easy, practical thing for the sufferer to accomplish for himself at home.

Literally thousands of people from different sections of the United States have used this original home treatment and many found relief from distressing head noises and restoration of good or normal hearing.

Tells of Development

Years ago, Dr. Coffee, himself, began to suffer with head noises, dullness of hearing and with catarrh. He was rapidly losing his hearing. It was bad in one ear and with every cold it would get bad in the other. Slowly but surely his hearing appeared to be leaving him. He naturally tried every treatment that he knew of, as deafness in his profession would have been fatal to his success. After a great loss of time and when two operations had failed to give permanent relief he calmed his fears and began to analyze the cause and effect of the trouble.

Basing his treatment on the results of this study he evolved a system which he believed would remove the handicap of deafness if anything would. There was nothing magical about it. It was a logical scientific treatment, and within a short time he began to improve. After some time, he was normal again.

He did nothing spectacular; all he did was to slowly but surely remove the causes of the deafness, and when the causes were removed, he was able to hear again.

Treatment Sent to Thousands

Acquaintances and friends of the doctor's inquired as to the treatment, and soon he was overwhelmed with requests for the method. To treat this number of people in time allotted to office hours would have been impossible; and so, he started to develop a home treatment. After careful consideration he effected a course which he believed to be effective. He allowed a number to try it at home, without the assistance of a physician, and found that they could do the work with almost the efficiency and the good results that a doctor could.

Tells of Home Treatment

Changing the treatment and developing it—adding here and taking away there, after several years, the "home treatment" was perfected. Now it is possible for anyone, anywhere, with just ordinary household surroundings, to treat themselves for relief of deafness, dullness of hearing or head noises from ear tubal catarrh.

500,000 Treated for Ear Tubal Deafness and Catarrh, by Home Method

A remarkable record was established by Dr. W. O. Coffee, for many years an eminent eye, ear, nose and throat specialist at Davenport, Iowa, who originated this treatment for deafness, head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and for ordinary nasal catarrh.

During his 45 years as practising physician, he probably established a record which no other physician in the country can match. The records show that more than 500,000 people suffering from deafness, head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and from nasal catarrh, have used this treatment. These people live in all sections of the country and have been treated, in the majority of cases, at home, using the home treatment for this distressing condition, as developed by Dr. Coffee.

The results of these different cases have been gone over and compiled, and the beneficial effects of this home system of treatment have been proved. When the average physician has treated fifty cases with one definite system of treatment, it is sufficient to demonstrate what it will do. Dr. Coffee treated thousands of such cases. Letters from people who have used this home treatment are on file here as proof of the wonderful results.
