MANY FIGHTING PLANES WILL BE BUILT FOR NATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—A $24,000,000 allotment for national defense, to include several hundred additional fighting planes and a $10,000,000 army motorization program, was approved today by the public works administration.

In addition, $6,412,690 was set aside for other federal projects in the effort to increase employment. These were scattered widely throughout the nation.

The $15,000,000 for aviation construction is to be apportioned between the war and navy departments on a basis as yet undetermined. If evenly divided, experts said each branch would obtain approximately 200 planes.

This would be roughly half the number the navy is seeking. More than 100 will be needed for the new aircraft carrier Ranger when it is launched and nearly 300 for the vessel to be constructed in the $238,000,000 building program, navy officials say.

With its $10,000,000 allotment, the army will substitute motor power for horse and mule power in the non-combat branches of the service. Officials said they did not know how the money would be spent, since it was considerably less than the amount sought and they would have to shift their plans.

Gray County Oil Flow For Week Over Allotment

Even though the Panhandle allowable has been reduced to 44,500 barrels, production in the field last week soared to 47,063 barrels or an increase of 1,957 barrels over the previous week when the allowable was nearly 43,727 barrels under a previous order reducing production 25 per cent to meet federal allotment.

Wheeler county showed the only decrease in production last week. Gray and Hutchinson county showed large increases. Hutchinson's increase being largely due to a big producer while Gray county's increase was largely because of testing of producers of the last two weeks.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Geraldine Arnold, the girl who told officers where to find George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife when they were in hiding here after the Chas. F. Urschel kidnaping, pointed out Langford Ramsey and John Tichenor today as the men who provided the hangout.

Ramsey and Tichenor were placed on trial in federal court on charges of harboring a fugitive. "Langford Ramsey," Geraldine said, "called George Kelly by that name when he came to see him at Mr. Tichenor's home." Later, she testified that Tichenor was present when the Urschel kidnaping was discussed and she added that he participated in the discussions. It was at Tichenor's home that the Kellys were captured September 26.

She related that she and Ramsey went to the Cass Coleman farm in Texas at Kelly's request to arrange for Coleman to meet Kelly and deliver part of the ransom money and that Coleman, frightened, sent Ramsey and her away. "I made Langford Ramsey put me on a train for Oklahoma City at Fort Worth," she said, "for I was tired of riding in the automobile."

Geraldine said she first met Kathryn Kelly while she and her mother and father, Mrs. and Mrs. Luther Arnold, were hitch-hiking in Texas. She had planned to reveal the Kellys' whereabouts at the first opportunity, she said.

Waggoner Horse Loses In Race

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Tex., Oct. 21 (AP)—Breezing ahead in a field of seven, T. C. Worden's Trinchera, 4-year-old Gelding, today won the Fort Worth handicap of six furlongs far ahead of W. T. Waggoner's Liberty limited and J. A. Nik Gay World, recent winner of the Chicago derby. The race was the feature of the days program.

The race was for a $2,000 added purse. Trinchera rewarded the owner $1,660, paid $750 to win, $4 to place and $3 to show. Time 1:10 3-5.

Huey P. Long In Socialist Plea

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 21 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long came to Shreveport today in the private railroad coach of the Couch brothers, railroad and utility magnate, and at a bridge dedication urged the redistribution of wealth.

When the senator reached the city, he posed for a picture beside the car, which he said belonged to "my friend, Harvey Couch."

Railroad officials in New Orleans said it was the official car of the L. and A. Railroad, used principally by C. P. Couch, the president.

Long came here on a continuation of his stump tour of the state in behalf of seven new taxes with the proceeds of which he has promised additional support for state public schools and roey tax relief for small home-owners. His references to the Roosevelt program and the NRA were less harsh than on previous occasions earlier in the week when sarcastic descriptions of the Blue Eagle campaign drew boos and heckling from his audience.

FATHER'S POSTOFFICE BURGLARIZED IN AUGUST

LUBBOCK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Andrew H. Nelson, 24-year-old ex-convict and son of the Meadow postmaster, today was charged before United States Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey with burglary of the Meadow post office August 22.

Nelson, arrested in Abilene, was returned to Terry county a week ago by Sheriff Jess Smith of Brownfield. Sheriff Tom Abel, who said Nelson was wanted for automobile theft in Lubbock county and in Roswell, N. M., said Nelson possibly would be brought here Sunday.

Loot estimated at more than $200 was taken from the post office. A Meadow drug store and a service station were robbed the same night.

Arguments Are Heard In Greek Insult Hearing

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 21 (AP)—Arguments on whether Samuel Insull was guilty of acts punishable under Greek law occupied a large part of a hearing today in which the United States government is making its second attempt to extradite the former Chicago utility operator.

The public prosecutor restated the accusation against Insull, fraudulent bankruptcy and transfer of property in anticipation of bankruptcy, and then declared that certain offenses considered crimes in other countries were not so considered here.

Leniz Lazarimos, Insull's attorney, praised a previous verdict in the case as typical of Greek justice and then spent 4 hours quoting various figures from balance sheets of Insull firms, which, he said, proved their solvency.

Today's hearing continued most of the day with brief intermissions, and then was adjourned until 10 a. m. Sunday.

Farley Makes Big 'Hit' With Houston Demos

HOUSTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—"Jim" Farley, postmaster general in President Roosevelt's cabinet, and often referred to during his stay in Texas as the chief executive's "right hand man," left the Lone Star state tonight a very popular person with Vice President John N. Garner's "home boys."

Minus Garner who decided he had done all the visiting he should do at this time, the smiling, genial New Yorker, landed here about noon with his party of Roosevelt administration heads for his last stop in Texas after a 4-day swing around the circles, through the air, of this expansive state.

Houston was disappointed that the native-son vice president did not come along, but the plain-spoken citizen of Uvalde decided he could come to this metropolis later, when he was in better fettle than at a time when he had been breaking his 9 o'clock-to-bed rule so consistently since "Jim" came to see him.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL AGAIN EXPLAIN POLICIES TO PEOPLE OF COUNTRY TODAY

NRA PROGRAM ASSAILED ON ONE HAND BY THE FARMERS WHO WANT HIGHER PRICES AND ON OTHER BY PROTESTING CONSUMERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—His NRA program assailed on one side by urban consumers protesting higher prices and on the other by farmers demanding more for their products, President Roosevelt tomorrow will again take an explanation of his policies to the country.

Mr. Roosevelt today was in the old colonial town of Chestertown, Md., receiving an honorary degree from historic Washington college, but between times he was patterning the address which may also deal with the Russian question.

However, the farm situation, precipitated by the strike in the wheat belt and the denunciation of the recovery program by Governor Bryan of Nebraska, was claiming the most serious thought of the entire administration for the present.

Senator Norris, the Nebraska republican independent who supported President Roosevelt in the last campaign, reiterated today his belief that currency expansion was the peg upon which an immediate uplift in farm prices must be hung.

Meanwhile, a definite statement on what he intends to do with respect to money was asked of Mr. Roosevelt by Senator Hastings (R., Del.). He asserted business was "disturbed and distressed" at its lack of knowledge of the president's intention regarding monetary inflation and expressed vigorous opposition to inflation.

The possibility of arranging loans to wheat farmers similar to those already decided upon for cotton farmers was being studied carefully by the farm administration, with indications of an early announcement. Reports were reviewed that President Roosevelt would act soon to bring his three major recovery units—the industrial, farm and public works administration more into harmony.

MAN ACQUITTED IN SLAYING OF FLOYDADA BOY

Jury Returns Verdict In Honor Killing In 2 Hours

LUBBOCK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Vert A. Readhimer, 27-year-old Deaf Smith farmer, was found not guilty of the slaying of Stokes Campbell, 19-year-old Floydada high school youth, on a street in Floydada last April 6, by a jury in 99th district court tonight. Reaching a verdict after less than two hours' deliberation, the jury reported its decision to Judge Clark M. Mullican at 8:25 p. m.

The defendant, his father, J. R. Readhimer, who is also to be tried for the youth's slaying, the defendant's wife and other members of his family were present when the verdict was read. The father immediately went to the jury box after the jurors had been excused by the court and shook their hands, followed by the defendant and other relatives.

'COOPERATION SPIRIT' ASKED BY ROOSEVELT

NATIONAL FARM STRIKE STARTS AT NOON SATURDAY

DES MOINES, Oct. 21 (AP)—Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday association, tonight carried his pig for support of a national farm strike, which started at noon today, to the doors of industrial labor.

Announcing his departure to Chicago for a conference on Monday with A. F. Whitney of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Reno said that "every effort would be made to enlist the moral support of all other groups of society."

To the cause of the non-buying, non-selling strike, the fiery holiday leader summoned the nation's 30,000,000 farm population from New York to California and Gulf to Canada.

Meanwhile, president Roosevelt called for the "spirit cooperation" of colonial days in accepting an honorary degree from Washington college at Chestertown, Md. Cognizant of the strike movement, the president indicated he might have an important statement in an address tomorrow night.

In what farmers would join in the holiday movement or stick by the federal government's relief program, was not known tonight.

Appealing for support from members and non-members of the holiday association alike, Reno asserted that the strike was a battle to determine "whether the farmer shall become a peasant, the menial slave of the usurers and the industrialists, or retain the independence 'inherited from his fathers.'"

In a letter to state association presidents, Reno advised that "civilian institutions, schools, churches, labor groups can be formed, not only as to the justness of the farmer's cause, but also that every business will suffer if the farmers' purchasing power is not restored, and that the life of the republic is, at this time, hanging in the balance."

Heart Attack Is Fatal to 'Herod' At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Funeral arrangements for Joseph La Valliere, about 70, member of the Dr. Alfred Wolff European Passion Play cast which completed a two-day run here last night, remained in his room in a local hotel Friday afternoon of a heart attack. Robert Skinner took his part of King Herod in the final presentation of the play.

A daughter, Miss Josephine La Valliere, who resides at the Grand Hotel, Denver, Colo., and the Masonic lodge in Albany, Wis., were expected to complete funeral details Sunday.

The Passion play cast is to appear at Cisco Monday. Members remained here last night awaiting decision on the funeral.

L. F. Chapman of Borger is visiting in the home of his son, Frank Chapman during the week-end.

Magdalene

BROWN shirts of the Nazi regime have replaced the patriarchal robes of Oberammergau, scene of the Passion Play, and the Hitler salute is the greeting to visitors in the far-famed Bavarian town. But the "new day" means little to Klare Mayr, above, for her thoughts are centered on her portrayal of the role of Mary Magdalene in the next Passion Play. In the recent election, she was chosen again for the part which she played in 1930.

MELODRAMA IS NOW READY FOR PRESENTATION

City Shows Interest In Burlesque On Old-Time Play

THE full flower of melodrama as it was spoken on the stage in the 1890's will be the Little Theater's offering of the season Monday and Tuesday nights. Price of admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

With many a melodramatic gesture, many an oratorical tone, a cast of 35 players, including many who have pleased former audiences in the past, will present "Gold in the Hills, or The Dead Sister's Secret." The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock at the city auditorium. Then too, the cast includes new talent—actors who rehearse attendants say, will make "hits" with the audience.

That Pampans are taking an unusual interest in the play was indicated during the last two days when many tickets were sold. School children of the various wards in the city submitted scores of posters in a contest in which 20 pupils were given free tickets. These posters were placed on display in stores and business places throughout the city yesterday.

Dress rehearsals will be held this afternoon, but no spectators, not even members of the Little Theater will be admitted—For fear they will divulge the surprising ending of the play. "Gold in the Hills" is essentially a burlesque on the old-time melodrama. The audience in giving vent to its reaction, will be expected to take its cue from Little Theater members "planted" in the crowd who will cheer the hero and heroine and who will hiss the villain when they appear. Old time songs, popular favorites in their day will be sung in all of the three acts.

Pampa's most popular "clown," Bean has a highly amusing role in the melodrama as Big Mike Slatatory, bartender and dance hall proprietor. Miss Peggy Arnold who as Mae West won second in a recent movie star impersonation contest here, will interpret the role of Old Kate, old hag. Dick Hughes who has mastered the fine points of villainy will sneer, leer and in general make himself a "bold, bad man." Among the players who have never before appeared in a Little Theater play are John Kettler, who is Hughes' shadow; Miss Virginia Rose, Miss Beth Blythe and Chas. Barrett.

J. W. Simpson of Clovis, N. M., is spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Chandler.

RUSSIANS TO ARRIVE HERE IN TWO WEEKS

NATIONAL COMMANDER OF LEGION SPEAKS AT DALLAS FAIR

DALLAS, Oct. 21 (AP)—Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, expressed strong opposition to any sort of recognition of Soviet Russia, either diplomatic or commercial, in an address here tonight at fair park before a state-wide mass meeting of Texas Legionnaires.

"Thank God it is the expression of officially any sort of communication we served to give them (the Russians) any sort of recognition," he declared.

"No one can come into my home and say or do things which are insulting to my wife or my youngsters and still ask me to carry on officially any sort of communication or activity of any kind with that individual. Yet, we have representatives of that particular country over here, admittedly by their own statements, teaching and disseminating things which have to do with the tearing down of the very government in which we live.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Washington government was disclosed tonight to have marshalled a bulging sheaf of Russo-American facts and figures, including claims running past the half billion mark, in expectation of opening recognition negotiations with Soviet Russia during the first week in November.

Although definite word from Moscow was lacking at the state department, there was an official expectation that Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign affairs commissar, would reach Washington in about two weeks.

News of impending Russo-American negotiations looking to the re-establishment of formal relations and Germany's formal resignation from the league dominated the European scene Saturday.

In Russia, as in other countries, President Roosevelt's overture to Moscow was hailed as a significant peace move and as the forerunner of a changed economic setup.

MOSCOW, Oct. 21 (AP)—This Russian capital, busy normally with myriad details reaching into the everyday lives of the most remote Soviet peasant, found today in preparation for recognition negotiations with the United States another reason for bustling activity.

These conditions involved who would go to Washington with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to talk with President Roosevelt, the Soviet platform in the conversations and a review of industrial and financial details.

When Mr. Litvinoff will leave and whom he will take with him have not been announced for the overshadowing fact was the enthusiastically-hailed statement that President Roosevelt asked that negotiations looking to recognition be undertaken.

Relief Work on Roads Continues

One hundred forty-two men and 18 women received work through the local relief office last week. The payroll for the week amounted to $1,077.48. Most of the work was done on grading of highway 33 through South Pampa. A few men worked for John Haggard, county commissioner.

Mr. Haggard has been given permission to use ten men for 30 days in highway work.

R. F. Ewing, who has operated an independent oil and gas station at Laketon, has leased his place to Sam Arnet there and is now in charge of the Phillips wholesale business in Shamrock.

BEAUTY

Round love's elysian bow's The softest prospects rise, There bloom the sweetest flow'rs, There shine the purest skies.

And joy and rapture gild awhile, The cloudless haven of beauty's smile.

Round love's deserted bow's Tremendous rocks arise, Cold mildews blight the flow'rs, Tornadoes rend the skies.

And pleasure's waning moon goes down, Amid the night of beauty's frown.

Then Youth, thou fond believer, The wily syren shun, Who trusts the fair deceiver Will surely be undone.

When beauty triumphs—ah, beware! Her smile is hope, her frown despair.

A DISEASE TO WATCH

The state department of health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grow people may catch scarlet fever, but children under 15 years are most likely to have it, if exposed.

If your child is going to have scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chill, vomiting, or convulsion.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you.

GOLD STOCKS "PRESSURED"

Last year, a local broker reminds his friends, the high pressure stock salesman pushed dry ice and television. This year they are offering "ground floor" propositions on brewery and gold mining shares.

"But the gold mine salesmen have struck a bonanza," he adds. "World-wide discussion has led to an immense public interest in gold. The smooth-talking boys, always on the alert for such opportunities, last no time in starting gold mines all over our sister state of New Mexico, photographing them and starting a campaign through every available means of publicity.

Outrageous Fortune

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Caroline Leigh has left Jim Randall, her cousin, hiding at Hais Place, where he was reared, while she goes to London to look up Nesta Riddell's marriage record. Nesta says that Jim is her husband, and that he not only stole the Van Berg jewels, but shot Elmer Van Berg. Jim's memory is gone, although he recalls drinking with Van Berg the night of the train remarks that the police are taking finger prints from glasses found at the Van Bergs; Caroline follows her, learns that a page is missing from the book in which Van Berg kept the finger prints of his friends—and that the missing page bore the initials "J. R." She finds nothing conclusive in London, excepting the former addresses of Nesta and her husband.

Chapter 28 ON THE TRAIL

Caroline turned to the left, and she turned to the right; then she turned to the left again and at last found at Saracen Row. It was a narrow street for prim, decent houses. No. 14 was about half way down to the right hand side.

She rang the bell, and presently the door was opened by a thin middle-aged woman in a lilac overall. Her dark hair was curled across her forehead and a net. She looked as if she had been interrupted in the middle of her cooking. For her face was flushed and damp, and there was a dab of flour on her sleeve.

"I'm sorry to trouble you," said Caroline, "but was a Mr. James Riddell living here in July?"

"You've made a mistake," said the thin woman, and moved to shut the door. The smell of cabbage came up behind her.

Caroline took a quick step forward. With one part of her mind she wondered why people who lived in small houses nearly always had cabbage for lunch; with another part she was thinking, "I mustn't let her shut the door."

"Oh please," she said—"won't you try to help me?" "I don't take gentleman lodgers," she had a tight voice and a polite accent.

"He gave this address," said Caroline. "You don't know the name at all?"

"Sorry I don't," said the thin woman, and made such a decided movement to shut the door that Caroline decided to step back and next moment found herself looking at the shabby letter-box. The cabbage was shut in, and she was shut out.

Whenever Jim Riddell might be, it seemed pretty clear that he had given a false address. She wondered what had made him pitch on this one. Perhaps the name had stuck in his mind. Saracen Row—it was the sort of name that might stick. And as for the number, 14 was as good as any other.

She went back to Grove Road and rang the bell of No. 3.

Here was quite a different type of landlady—a stout rolling person with a bibulous eye and an easy, jolly tongue. Of course she remembered Miss Williams—

"Why, she was married from here and a pity she couldn't have a proper wedding. After all, you can not get married that way only once with a wreath and a veil, and white satin slippers."

"Oh yes," said Caroline. "And about Miss Williams."

"Ah! She's in the handsome, same haughty style. I was more clinging—a way with me, if you understand what I mean—a bit on the playful side. It goes down with the gentlemen—especially if they're in the strong silent way themselves. It's the little fellows that fall for the big upstanding girls."

Caroline's heart jumped; she said quickly and breathlessly.

"The man Miss Williams married—was he small?"

"Never set eyes on him. Yes, you may well look surprised. The mystery man, I called him, and fine and angry he was—And what do you mean by that, Mrs. Hawkins?"

"Why," said, what a young lady keeps her young gentlemen as dark as you do yours—and meeting him round the corner and not so much as letting him see you home—well, she must expect remarks to be passed, and whether she expects it or not, passed they will be."

"Really, you know, she'd a violent temper, for I'd hardly got the words out of my lips, when she was through the door and banged it so hard that my first floor front came out on the landing to know what was up. 'Temper,' I said, 'and mystery or no mystery, I'm sorry for the man that marries her, for she's one of those that's have the upper hand or bust erasit.'"

"Was she here long?" said Caroline.

"Took the room for three weeks and came and went. You've got to live three weeks in a district before you can get married there, so she left a bag, and she'd be here for a day and gone for a week—and I'm not saying I wasn't just pleased because the opinion I got of her was that if she'd been here the whole three weeks, she'd have been running the place and me doing odd jobs and cleaning the boots and knives."

Caroline felt an affection for the bibulous lady. She felt that way about Nesta herself. She was a little cheered; but at the same time she didn't really seem to be making any progress.

"And you never saw the man she married?"

"No one in this house so much as set eyes on him," said the fat woman regretfully.

It was after six when Caroline got back into the cottage. She found Patsy Ann sitting pensively on the hearth-rug. She had a thimble on the middle finger of her right hand, and some blue velvet, a needle-case, a spool of silk, and two pairs of scissors in her lap.

But she was not sewing; she did not seem even to have got as far as threading one of the needles. When the door opened, she was gazing into the fire, which was on Caroline stood rigid. What had Robert Arbuthnot wanted to find out? She made an effort and said.

"About Jim?"

"Yes, someone has told him about that broadcast, but they'd forgotten the name of the hospital. He wanted to know whether we had any reason to suppose that Jim was on the Alice Arden."

"And you said?"

"I said you thought he might have been. I told him it was the Elston cottage hospital, and that you had been over and found the man wasn't Jim. I told him the name wasn't Randall at all—it was a man called Riddell, and his wife had taken him away."

"He was quite satisfied?"

"He went on asking questions. He's so thorough. I think it's wonderful to be so thorough and conscientious."

Caroline leaned on the old oak balustrade. The cottage had been there for three hundred years, and for three hundred years the hands of men, and women, and little children had been rubbing the baluster smooth. Caroline's hands slipped on it now. She came down a step and stood against the newel. What sort of questions had Robert been asking, and what sort of answers had Patsy given him?

"What did he want to know?" she said.

"When you heard from Jim last—" and what his plans were—and whether we'd seen him since he landed. . . . Oh, and most particularly, whether we'd heard from him, or about him, since the wreck of the Alice Arden. And of course I said so, we hadn't. And then he said a most awfully curious thing."

"What did he say?"

"It wasn't so much what he said as the way he said it. He coughed and cleared his throat, and poked the fire, and then he asked me whether we'd heard any rumors. What do you suppose he meant?"

"What did you say?"

"Well I hadn't heard anything really so I said I never listened to gossip. And he said, 'Quite right—quite right, anything more except vague things like not getting drawn into any scandal, and remembering that we were two women living alone.'"

"And of course, after saying that about not listening to gossip, I didn't like to ask what he meant—"

"You know, he thinks women ought to be protected from contact with the sordid side of life. He said so at lunch. He said their place was the home, and that a really nice woman asked for no higher or wider sphere." He said—

"Why?"

"That's the sort of woman he admires."

"I don't mean that. Why did he say all that about a scandal?"

"I don't know. It sounded—well, it sounded as if Jim—"

Caroline stamped her foot. "Patsy Ann!"

"Well, it did sound like that—and of course when Mrs. Smith was scrubbing up the kitchen yesterday she did say—you know her sister-in-law's eldest girl is kitchen-maid at Packham Hall—she did tell me—"

"Well?" said Caroline.

"You know how she talks—I wouldn't ask her anything, but you can't help listening—well, she says there used to be a photograph of Jim in Mrs. Van Berg's sitting-room—a big one like yours—"

Caroline did not speak; she looked instead—proudly and a little contemptuously.

Patsy's color rose.

"It's no use of your looking at me like that! And you didn't let me finish, Mrs. Van Berg might have fifty photographs of Jim if she liked, and if her husband didn't mind. Even Mrs. Smith didn't mind her having the photograph."

"What did she mind?" said Caroline in a deep, angry voice.

"Well, it isn't there now," said Patsy.

"Why should it be?"

"It isn't. But it was—it was there the very day Mr. Van Berg was shot, and it's never been there since—and, as Mrs. Smith says, things like that are bound to make people talk."

Caroline turned round and went up the stair. Her door shut sharply. (Copyright, 1933, J. B. Lippincott Company)

A shape lunges at Caroline, to-morrow, out of the dark.

125 HEAR DR COOK OF CANYON SPEAK IN AUTUMNAL BANQUET SETTING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

YOUNG PEOPLE FROM CHURCH ARE GIVEN BANQUET

Autumn woods were suggested in decorations for the banquet at which young people of First Baptist church were entertained Friday evening in the church dining room.

Leaves in rich fall colorings made the background, with baskets of fruit at intervals. Places were laid for 125 at tables lighted with yellow candles and centered with miniature pumpkins and feed shovels.

Nut cups were in the form of fluffy yellow chrysanthemums, and the table covers were strewn with autumn leaves.

Mrs. Nolan Harris played the march as guests entered the dining room. W. O. Workman, superintendent of the young people's department, introduced Fred Thompson, toastmaster.

Diners Sing
Songs were led by Miss Loma Groom, with Miss Frances McCue at the piano. Roy Wallrabenstein and Miss Willie Reetz Taylor played violin numbers, and selections by trio, Emmitt Smith, Bob Snelage, and Howard Kelly, completed the musical program.

Dr. Harris M. Cook, head of the education department at West Texas State teachers college, Canyon, was the speaker. He presented an Old Testament parable, and compared the present day work of the church with the storied conquest of a den of lions.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the church, spoke briefly, welcoming members and visitors to the banquet.

Committees responsible for the entertainment were: Program, W. O. Workman, Fred Thompson, Miss Groom, Mrs. J. A. Arwood; decoration, Misses Ruth Henry and Geneva Groom; menu, Mesdames B. L. Edmonson, T. F. Morton; invitations, R. E. Gatlin, Mesdames O. E. Lancaster, Morton, J. D. Benton, Edmonson.

Place at State Fair Won by 4-H Club Girl Here

Gwendolyn Coups, 4-H club girl who received a trip to the Dallas fair for her work in gardening last year, returned from Dallas Friday, accompanied by Miss Ruby Adams, county agent.

Miss Adams accompanied 20 girls from the Panhandle at the state girls' encampment last week.

Miss Coups won second place at the fair on her canning entry, pepper relish. Gray county had only three entries in the fair, and Miss Adams was pleased that a high place was awarded to one, in wide competition.

Girls in the encampment were entertained by the state fair association, saw all the exhibits and two of the amusement features, "Nina Ross" and "Florodora." Miss Bes Edwards, assistant home demonstration agent, was in charge of the 300 girls present.

In Miss Adams' charge were girls from Polk, Carson, Hemphill, Wheeler, Childress, Hardeman, Archer, and Gray counties.

New Members of Club Welcomed

Two new members were received when Mrs. Clifford Jones entered the recently organized Stitch and Chatter club at her home Friday afternoon. They were Mrs. LeRoy Nelson and Mrs. J. M. Hatchfield.

Sandwiches and coffee were served at a pleasantly informal hour to Mesdames Farris Oden, Homer Sprinkle, Tex Berry, A. C. Midkiff, Ralph Jones, Marvin Harris, and L. N. Atchison.

Movies Shown at School Programs

Movies were shown to pupils of two schools recently by County Superintendent John B. Hesse, demonstrating a machine and films of a type adapted to school use.

Educational films and a comedy were shown to Woodrow Wilson pupils Thursday afternoon, and to Sam Houston pupils Friday morning.

At Woodrow Wilson school, Principal J. A. Meek of B. M. Baker school, Mrs. Meek and son, Roscoe, were guests for the showing, when Roscoe saw his first movie.

Miss Lella Clifford's room was in charge of the chapel hour at Horace Mann, and entertained with songs before the movie.

LOCAL WOMAN HAS NOTABLE AND ENJOYABLE LETTER FROM MARTIN JOHNSON, FAMOUS AS EXPLORER

The old adage, "man cannot be great until he knows he is not great," is illustrated in a simple, humble but highly interesting letter received by a sister of Mrs. J. W. Minnis, local woman, from Martin Johnson, famous explorer. The letter was written to Miss Jappa Mason, employe in the state capitol, Oklahoma City, from Nairobi, Kenya Colony, British East Africa. Miss Mason sent the letter to her sister.

Both women knew Mr. Johnson when he was a boy at Independence, Kan. As a boy, Johnson was a pupil of Miss Mason in the fifth grade.

Martin Johnson and his wife are world-famous explorers. They have written best-selling books and have been in the movies and have made numerous lecture tours. They have visited and photographed practically every civilized and uncivilized portion of the world.

The letter follows:
Dear Teacher: Gosh! It was good to receive your letter a few days ago on returning from safari . . . although at first I had to think back and concentrate quite a bit when I skipped through your letter and came to your signature, "Jappa Mason" . . . then I read it over carefully and it all came back to me . . . the old days in the Fourth Ward school . . . when I would rush home from school, jump on old "Socks," my horse, gallop up to the watering trough at the feed store on Main street . . . rush home and eat, then if I had time fool'round with my camera until time to rush back to school . . . and when Mary Salathiel (don't think I spelled that right) and Ruth (Mrs. Minnis) arranged a surprise party for me, I found out about it and with a couple of negro kids went fishing and did not come home until midnight when the party was over . . . and got a sound licking . . . I was afraid of girls then (and still am) and knew they would play posstoffice.

Back In Kansas.
I go back to Independence for a day or two each time I return to America, but everything is different . . . very few of the people left that we knew . . . those that are left have become sophisticated . . . belong to smart sets, country clubs, etc. . . not the honey people they used to be. This don't apply to all, but to most of them.

Osa and I have been wandering over the surface of the world for 24 years . . . Gee, how time flies . . . we have been married nearly 25 years and I am 49 . . . before I get through with this letter I will be feeling sorry for myself when I think back and then ahead to my present age. However, I have no complaints as I doubt if anyone in the world has a better time than Osa and me . . . we are among the few people in the world who have been able to do just what we wanted to do in life.

Fly Over Jun les.
Right now we are flying over and into the unknown parts of the world . . . we have two fine Sikorsky planes, one that carries 12 people and 3,000 pounds of cameras and camping equipment, the other five people and 500 pounds of equipment. We have been exploring unknown country in and around Abyssinia. It sure is lots of fun to fly over the wonderful big game country and see the elephants scurry with their tails in the air, rhino rush to cover, buffalo gather in solid formation ready to fight . . . savages who have never seen white people before and their astonishment at people coming down out of the air . . . it is just like the old Frank Merrill dime novel that I used to hide in the hay loft and read because the folks thought they were so improbably that they were bad for a good boy to read.

SERVICE FOR MEN
A service for men will be conducted at Calvary Baptist church at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Johnston, who has preached in all men there last week.

Members of the city are invited to hear him, the Rev. J. L. Ratcliff, pastor, announces. Good attendance and interest have been in evidence at the revival services, the pastor reports.

Jack Singletary of Amarillo was a visitor here yesterday afternoon.

Members will have new uniforms for the trip. Pupils in the senior band who are to go to Austin, were measured for the red and white suits last week, and will receive them within 10 days, Mrs. Daniels said yesterday.

"Modern Parents," will be the subject of the Child Study club program Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Roger McConnell as leader.

P-T. A. BOARD ADVOCATES STUDY OF SCHOOL FINANCE AND FEDERAL AID

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN, Claude.

State Publicity Director of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers. Two measures looking toward relief for America's crippled school systems were recently adopted by the board of managers of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at its semi-annual meeting in Washington, D. C.

First, support of emergency legislation providing aid to schools was incorporated in the year's legislative program of the congress. Second, a modern program of financing public schools, a course of study designed to familiarize parents with the problems of school finance, was adopted. Based upon the report of the national conference on financing of education, held in New York this summer, under the auspices of the joint commission on the emergency in education, the study program will be promoted on a nation-wide basis through parent-teacher associations. Presidents of the state congresses of parents and teachers were consultants on this conference.

Finance Report Is Basis. The study plan was prepared by Miss Charl O. Williams, fifth vice-president and director of the department of education of the national congress. In proposing the study for consideration of the board, Miss Williams said: "This report, represents the very latest thing on the subject of school finance by experts in the field of education. Because parent-teacher associations are more closely related to the emergency than any other group, they need to understand the problems of school finance. It is hoped that laymen, particularly members of parent-teacher associations, will join with educators in a study of this report."

Recommendations Studied. Recommendations of the joint commission on which the study program is based include the following: Better methods of taxation must be effected to continue existing educational offerings and to develop school programs to meet modern social needs. State responsibility for the foundation program of education must be assumed in the future in order to ease the burden of taxation on local communities. Federal aid for education must be extended beyond its present scope if educational opportunity is to be maintained in the states. Reorganization of local school units in some states must be effected before a genuinely economical administration of the schools is possible. Public education in our modern complex society must be broad in scope.

The national board further adopted a resolution deploring the trend in some states to put high school education on a tuition basis and thus to destroy equality of educational opportunity at the crucial time when such opportunity is most vitally necessary to both individual and social well-being. The board urges officers and members of the national congress and other citizens to take an active part in defending the rights of all American youth to free and equal educational opportunity until it shall become possible and desirable for them to have suitable employment.

Dempsey Brings In Oil Gusher At Gladewater

GLADEWATER, Oct. 21 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, "Old Manassa Mauler" of fistiana, was in a fair way of becoming an oil king to-night after the Dempsey-Manziel No. 1 well, owned jointly by Dempsey and Bobby Manziel, his former sparring partner and lifelong friend, blew in for an estimated potential production of 35,000 barrels daily. The well is located on city block 29 of Gladewater. The oil blew in over the top of the derrick and was controlled into pits, to be turned into refinery storage. It tested 41.5 gravity. From an elevation of 372, the top of the sand was reached at 3,640 feet and was penetrated 35 feet for a total depth of 3,875. Oil was flowing through a one-inch choke under a pressure of 200 pounds.

Manziel, formerly a bantam weight fighter and sparring partner of the ex-champion of the world's heavyweights, joined Dempsey recently in acquiring oil holdings in the Gladewater area—Dempsey's first venture into the oil business. Dempsey was expected to visit as new gusher next week.

Clay Moved To Border Town of Texola in 1901

One of the first residents of Texola died at his home in Shamrock Friday morning when death suddenly claimed L. R. Clay, 67, father of E. Bass Clay and M. H. Clay of this city. Mr. Clay moved to Texola in 1901 and his daughter, Mrs. Texola Carricker, was the first white child born in that town. Mr. Clay passed away after an illness of only a few hours. He had been in good health until the day prior to his death, when he said he did not feel well. His two sons from Pampa were summoned but their father died before they arrived in Shamrock.

Mr. Clay was a successful farmer in the Shamrock territory but for a number of years made his home in Shamrock. He moved from Texola to Shamrock in 1903 and started farming. He was a member of the Baptist church and the Masonic lodge. Mr. Clay is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Texola Carricker and Mrs. John Munn, both of Shamrock, and five sons, E. E. and M. H., both of Pampa, A. R. of Wheeler, Jess of Borger and L. E. of Shamrock. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. J. D. Williams of Shamrock and Mrs. W. W. Gardner of Terrell, and one brother, C. H. Clay of Wheeler, also 17 grandchildren.

VERDICT FOR COUNTY A jury yesterday decided for the defendant in the suit of Alex Smith against Gray county. The jury found, after deliberating about half an hour, that highway work by the county did not result in an increased flow of water across land owned by Mr. Smith. It was the third trial of the suit. Hung juries resulted in the other two hearings.

L. B. Aury returned Friday afternoon from a visit to the Dallas fair.

Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich. Do you trade your Rouse every January? Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich. The golden days of the glib salesman and the tricky trader and the careless buyer of cars, are over and gone. It will be long before we see their like again. Every family in America knows that buying a car today represents about double the investment it did several years ago. Not that car prices have gone up, but family incomes have gone down. The national income which was 84 billions in 1929 is less than 40 billions in 1933. This means that everybody is striving to make every outgoing dollar bring back an equal value in quality. And that is right. No country ever comes to economic trouble where values are kept equal. It is only when a man gives honest labor for the dollar which he receives, and is given dishonest value for the dollar which he spends, that the nation's life becomes unbalanced and broken. This is an old lesson in Bible economics that we ought to have learned. Buying a car and buying a house are on nearly the same level of importance in the mind of the American family just now. They are both major investments. Both are considered from the point of long-term use and value. We do not buy houses to trade them for new models every January. When we buy a house we expect to make it a home that will give us long, comfortable and economical use. More than that, we expect that the money price will be so evenly matched with the real value of the house that we may reasonably hope to get back the unused part of our investment should we dispose of it. Cars are now being considered in exactly the same way. People are not buying the sales talk invented by sellers. They are buying the quality created by manufacturers. And quality is doing the talking. Our experience is that the real talk about a car comes after the car is bought and is in use. That is the talk we rely on. Intelligent buying is going on in this country. Many families are making a solid investment in a new car. We know this because of the way people have bought the Ford V-8 in the last few months. It has been the choice of every class of car user, both those who can afford to pay more, and those who must carefully economize. This car is the logical answer to the careful buyer's search for value. October 20, 1933 Henry Ford

CADETS BEAT ILLINOIS 6-0

Army Attack Features Work Of Brilliant Texas Jack. Buckler From Waco.

BY ALAN GOULD. Associated Press Sports Editor. CLEVELAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Army carried the opposing trenches with a savage early drive, resisted a sensational counter attack from the air and emerged triumphant over Illinois, 6-0, in a football battle waged before 35,000 spectators in the cavernous municipal stadium.

The Cadets struck a decisive blow for the eastern football colors on the neutral shores of Lake Erie by a decisive, brilliantly executed attack featured by the all-around work of Texas Jack Buckler.

But for a technicality and a fumble within scoring range the Army would have doubled its margin, at least. Three points, on a beautiful place kick through the uprights by Travis Brown in the second period, were wiped off the scoreboard when the officials decided after a lengthy huddle that it was null and void, due to the fact that the ball had been kicked from the ground as he held the ball for Brown's boot from the 15-yard line.

FUMBLE IN THE FIRST MINUTE OF PLAY WNS GAME

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21 (AP)—In one swift, rapier-like scoring thrust in the first minute of play, Carnegie Tech today knifed out a 7-0 victory over a big, rumbly Notre Dame team that just couldn't get going.

It was "Harpster football"—the gridiron art as taught by Tech's 26-year-old coach—that brought the Tartans their astonishing triumph.

GORILLAS LOSE TO YANNIGANS IN DULL GAME

AMARILLO BOYS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF BREAKS

Amarillo's Yannigans had little trouble defeating the Pampa Gorillas 13 to 0 at Harvester park Friday afternoon as the locals gave their only disappointing exhibition of the year.

The Yannigans opened the scoring in the first quarter when Webb dropped a punt after the Gorilla line held and it was recovered by an Amarillo player as Webb tried to run with the ball instead of falling on it.

The Gorillas produced several thrills when Drake and Brown made long runs and Fanning hit the line, but it was little Skeet Wise, center, who played the one-man football team stunt for the Gorillas.

McLEAN OUTPLAYS CLARENDON BOYS BUT BRONCHOS WIN 7-0

Tigers Weakened by Illness Of Four Players; Fumbles At Goal-Line Lost Game.

BY A STAFF WRITER. CLARENDON, Oct. 21.—Clarendon fans were surprised as anybody here Friday when the local Bronchos emerged with a 7-0 victory in a game with McLean Tigers, which were topheavy favorites to win the Class B sectional title.

The statistics were McLean, 13 first downs to 6 and a heavy percentage of the midfield yardage. The lone touchdown came late in the last period.

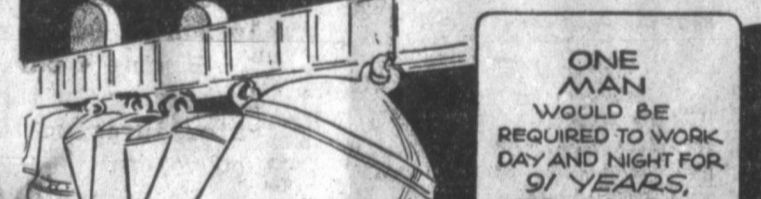

The locals' offensive broke suddenly from their 40-yard line, with Whitlock, quarterback, tossing high passes to Martin and Wilson, his elongated ends. Whitlock pushed through the line, and he delivered McLean line between passes.

The second quarter was a punting and passing duel near midfield, with a 35-yard run by Tiger Dowell as the one sensation. The ball was on Clarendon's 40-yard line at the half.

PLAINVIEW TO PLAY IN CITY ON SATURDAY

TEAM HAS UNDERGONE AN ASTOUNDING REJUVENATION

Coach Odus Mitchell came a-trotting around the corner of the city hall yesterday noon with a glad smile on his face, and he said, he had a good reason for feeling fine.

Now back to Coach Mitchell's happiness. The Harvester head man saw the gigantic Plainview Bulldogs obliterate Wayland college Friday afternoon 45 to 0, and he said he had to look twice to convince himself that the team was the same one that was routed 60 to 0 by Amarillo in the Bulldogs' first game of the season.

Coach Mitchell stated and re-stated that Plainview will be a menace. He believes that Plainview is better than Lubbock.

MUSTANGS AND LONGHORNS IN TIE BATTLES

ARKANSAS ROUTED BY L. S. U. TIGERS 20 TO 0

BY BILL PARKER. Associated Press Sports Writer. FORT WORTH, Oct. 21 (AP)—Texas Christian university's royal purple and flying frogs leaped from out of the air, from chalk lines on the ground and contributed a torrid football exhibition today to smother the battling Texas A. & M. Aggies, 13-7.

It was a crucial Southwest conference championship game with highly favored Aggies a touchdown favorite at the starting whistle.

Coach Mitchell stated and re-stated that Plainview will be a menace. He believes that Plainview is better than Lubbock.

to charge today. Frenchy Domingue, conference leading scorer and ace of the Aggie backs, was thoroughly smothered and did not play over half of the game.

GENTS TIE TEXAS

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Undeclared since 1931, the Centenary College Gentlemen were forced to make two glorious goal line stands against the University of Texas here today to keep their record unblemished.

On the next play Texas was penalized 15 yards and lost the ball on downs. In the final minutes of the last quarter Texas unleashed a vicious passing and running attack featuring passes from Fagan to Hedlock, Jurecka and Sanger that carried it from its own 24-yard marker to the Centenary 1-yard line.

Mustangs Stopped. DALLAS, Oct. 21 (AP)—A trio of plunging fullbacks used in relays, a stellar first-game quarterback and a hard-charging line offset a brilliant aerial offensive and one brilliant backfield today and Oklahoma Aggies tied Southern Methodist university, 7 to 7, in a football game played as feature of the state fair of Texas.

General admission for children will be 25 cents. Coach Mitchell stated and re-stated that Plainview will be a menace. He believes that Plainview is better than Lubbock.

TOP NOTCHERS WILL FIGHT ON FIRST LEGALIZED BOXING CARD

BATTLES WILL BE STAGED ON THURSDAY EVE

DUKE TRAMMEL DUE TO FIGHT DORSEY DUNN

Two of the best known fighters in the southwest will be brought to Pampa Thursday night when promoter B. W. Kelly will stage his first fight show in Pampa under the new boxing law Kelly has secured. The veteran Duke Trammel of Fort Worth will meet the sensational Dorsey Dunn of Springfield, Colo. in the 10-round main event, which will be of three-minute rounds.

The big fight card will be staged in the Fla-Mor auditorium with regulation state prices prevailing. General admission will be 40 cents. The first two rows of ringside seats will be $1 and the other ringside seats 75 cents. The card will start at 8:15 o'clock with a good four-round preliminary.

Trammel, better known as "Old Folks," has been the sensation of the Texas boxing world since the sport became legal a few months ago. The Fort Worth middleweight has won five of his last seven bouts against some of the best boys in his class, by the knockout route. His most sensational battle is believed to be his six-round knockout of Wilson Dunn, Indian clown, two weeks ago.

Trammel's opponent, although not known personally in this section, has a long record in Colorado and other mid-western states. He held the heavyweight championship of the midwest to a draw three weeks ago, and since that time has won two fights by the K. O. route.

The semi-final, eight three-minute rounds, should be of main event interest. Promoter Kelly has matched Charles Ady, 115, of Collinsville, Ill., against Jay Ward, 112, Berger sensation. The two little fellows have records "a mile long" and are noted for their lightning-throwing ability. It will be their first meeting, neither having been anxious to meet the other. Promoter Kelly had considerable difficulty in matching the pair.

Fritz Stanks, local middleweight, may be seen in a six-round special event with Red Graves of Amarillo. Stanks has been training hard and will be ready for a short distance go this week. He is one of the hardest punchers in his class and is also hard to hit. Graves has been coming to the front recently and is ready for a main event.

Eddy Zetela, 137, Collinsville, Ill., will meet John Newberry, 135, Amarillo, in one of the four round preliminaries. Both are fast, hard punching youngsters, who are classed in the up-and-coming list.

The promoter has a little negro working for him that is about the fastest boy that has ever been seen in a local ring. He has been working out here and the rail birds are enthusiastic about him. An effort is being made to bring a good boy from Okla., to meet him in a special event.

Jimmie Marshall and Sam Fenberg will be the official referees, having received their certificates a few weeks ago. R. C. Sturgeon, local commissioner, will bring that each boy fight. Dr. R. A. Webb, appointed boxing medical examiner, will pass on each fighter before he enters the ring.

Alcatraz Swim Is Pie For Babe

Anastasia "Babe" Scott, swimming the mile of cold, tide-swept water between Alcatraz island and the San Francisco shore, spiked the belief that escape by swimming is impossible from the prison side where the country's worst criminals are to be confined. She is shown above at the start and as she landed, 47 minutes later, aided ashore by her coach, Herbert Derham. "Babe" is 17 and weighs 112 pounds. "Easy," she said.

Gregory then fumbled and lost the ball to Cisco's 23 yard line and Cisco punted at the half.

Coming back strong, the Harvesters went for a touchdown without losing the ball. Stevens broke through left tackle for 42 yards without a sign of interference but was run out of bounds on the 7 yard line. Dunaway hurried himself over the line 6 yards, but Marbaugh failed to gain. Hamilton then "dug in" and pushed everything before him to place the nose of the ball on the Cisco goal line. Green failed to kick the point.

Cisco recovered Dunaway's fumble after the kickoff, but failed to gain and booted. Marbaugh gained through the line and then passed into Patton's arms but the captain dropped the ball at the quarter.

Nash Also Sidesteps
Stevens made a beautiful return of a Cisco punt soon after the last quarter started and Cisco was penalized 15 yards for a substitute talking. The penalty placed the ball on Cisco's 10 yard line. Heiskell then carried it across in two plays. Green kicked goal.

Cisco then tried to pass but Owens tipped the ball into Hamilton's arms on Cisco's 43 yard line. Hamilton used his spinner twice and Cisco's 10 yard line. Heiskell then carried it across in two plays. Green kicked the extra point.

Coach Odus Mitchell then sent in the second string and they carried the ball to Cisco's 15 yard line at the end of the half. Heiskell intercepted the ball to Cisco's 1 yard line. Dunaway then crashed over and Green kicked the extra point.

Purdue Defeats Chicago 14 to 0

STAGG FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—Chicago's football hopes, lifted to the highest crest in 10 years, crashed today before a torrent of Purdue backs and football.

Before 15,000 spectators, all of whom were drenched to the skin as rain swept over Stagg field, the blockers solved the Maroon football puzzle as Jim Carter and Duane Purvis dashed over with runs of 32 and 21 yards for touchdowns. The Boilermaker scoring salutes came in the second and third quarter and it was fortunate for them, too, as darkness and the heavy downpour made football almost impossible thereafter.

MUSTANGS

ago an all-Texas high school back was the Methodist Mustangs tower of strength and without him they were not so strong. He registered the first score with a brilliant 78-yard sprint through the Aggie team in the second period after catching a punt on his own 25-yard line. No Aggie had seen him the last 30 yards of his run and he went across the goal line standing up. The Oklahoma lost no time in trying it up, however. They were quick to take advantage of a break that favored them as the third period opened. The Mustangs received the kick-off, tried a line play and then tumbled, the Aggies recovering on the 32-yard line. A line play picked up five yards and then Rossett dumped through left tackle and got away from a 27-yard sprint for a touchdown.

There was no other scoring threat as the teams played see-saw football, with but little to choose between them, until late in the fourth period, when the famed aerial circus of the Methodists clicked with all its pristine vigor. They worked the ball down to the five yard line but there the blight of the last two sessions again cropped up and they could not put the ball over the last strip.

Porkers Whipped

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 21 (AP)—Louisiana State university's flying, battering backs tormented the University of Arkansas for a 20-0 triumph today in a traditional inter-sectional grid clash before a state fair crowd of 15,000.

Using reserves most of the game, Louisiana unleashed a first half varsity power and air attack that drove Arkansas conquerors to the red and Southern Methodist in the South-west conference into the best-of class, and kept their own record clear of defeat.

The gold-helmeted Louisianians completely outclassed and outplayed the crimson-shirted Razorbacks in a 28th renewal of rivalry.

Louisiana, its offensive apparently really organized for the first time this season, shot over a touchdown in the first two minutes of play with its first stringers and added two more touchdowns in the second period. State substitutes held the Porkers easily in check, and even crossed the Arkansas goal only to have the apparent fourth marker denied because of a holding penalty as the game neared a close.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21 (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Cattle trading this week found lighter weights of fed steers and yearlings selling at steady to 25 lower levels with offerings of strictly good and choice grade scalping 950 pounds and down receiving prices at steady to 25 lower prices. Steers with weight were under pressure all week and near the close, it was extremely difficult to dispose of these consignments except at materially reduced prices.

Western grass steers closed the period at steady to 25 lower prices. Stockers and feeders were considered unevenly 15-40 lower for the week with some sales as much as 50 off on feeders. Receipts at ten markets for the week totaled 263,370 as compared with 261,127 last week and 223,876 a year ago.

The trend in lambs was rather uneven with several markets listing sales as steady to 25 higher. Others were 50 or more lower. Sheep and feeding lambs maintained a generally steady basis. The week's receipts totaled 444,470 against 525,680 last week and 518,253 a year ago.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21, (AP)—Cotton fluctuated freely but without any very definite trend in moderately active trading today. It was a nervous and erratic short session and final prices were net unchanged to four points up.

The opening was steady as Liverpool cables were about as due and trading was steady. First trade here showed gains of 10 to 11 points and the market continued to advance in early trading on trade buying and price fixing and some opening improvement in stocks and wheat. December advanced to 9.33 and March to 9.53 or 13 to 15 points above yesterday's close.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: "Paul in Asia Minor."

Scripture Lesson: Acts 13:1-5, 13-15; 14:19-23.

3:1. Now there were at Antioch in the church that was there, prophets and teachers, Barnabas, and Symeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, the foster-brother of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2. And as they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, "Separate Me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them."

3. Then, when they had fasted and prayed and laid their hands on them, they sent them away.

4. So they, being sent forth by the Holy Spirit, went down to Seleucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5. And when they were at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews; and they had also John as their attendant.

13. Now Paul and his company set sail for Paphos, and came to Paphos in Pamphylia; and John departed from them and returned to Jerusalem.

14. But they, passing through from Paphos, came to Antioch of Pisidia; and they went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and sat down.

15. And after the reading of the law and the prophets the rulers of the synagogue sent unto them, saying, "Brethren, if ye have any word of exhortation for the people, sit on."

Acts 14:19. But there came Jews from Antioch and Iconium; and when they stood Paul, and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead.

20. But as the disciples stood round about him, he rose up, and entered into the city; and on the morrow he went forth with Barnabas to Derbe.

21. And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch.

22. Confirming the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God.

23. And when they had appointed for them elders in every church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they had believed.

Golden Text: And he said unto them, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation."—Mark 16:15.

Time: The first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas, from Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, Derbe, and back to Antioch.

As for Jerusalem, the original light of Christianity shone into "the region round about," so from the new center of Antioch, the light of Syria the same light was transmitted into "the regions beyond."

It was thence at the call of the Holy Spirit and with the benediction of the church that Barnabas and Saul, attended by John Mark about 47 A. D., set out to bear the gospel in their journey to the island of Cyprus and the central provinces of Asia Minor.

A Ready Foreign Field.
Not only did Barnabas and Paul set out from Antioch with the blessing of the church, but they were also sent forth by the Holy Ghost, v. 4, who, after calling them to the new task, now directed their steps. So from Antioch they went down the Orontes Valley 16 miles to the seaport city of Seleucia, whence they sailed to the island of Cyprus 80 or more miles eastward. Reaching the eastern shores of Cyprus, the native country of Barnabas, the two missionaries began work in the city of Salamis.

Sergius Paulus and Elymas.
At Paphos in Cyprus was won the first convert under Paul's ministry whose name is given. He was none other than the Roman procurator, Sergius Paulus, who was the governor of the province at that time.

The governor, as a man of intelligence, wished to hear first of Barnabas and Paul the word of God. But when he summoned the missionaries before him, Elymas opposed them in an effort to prevent the governor from accepting their message.

However, Paul, being filled with the Holy Spirit, and fastening his eyes upon the sorcerer, pronounced upon him a temporary blindness which would lay bare his falsity and authenticate the missionaries. As the pretender, with eyes darkened and turned away, the truth set forth by Barnabas and Paul found way to the heart of the procurator, who believed in Christ and received with glad amazement the doctrines of the gospel.

OREGON HOLDS TROJANS TO A SCORELESS TIE

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—A battling band of Beavers from Oregon State college today achieved a startling upset by holding the University of Southern California football team to a scoreless tie and ending a string of 25 successive victories which had been run up by the Trojans.

A shouting crowd of 20,000 saw the Beavers turn back the best the Trojans could offer in the Pacific Coast conference game without making a single substitution.

The eleven Oreganemen to start were the eleven Oreganemen to finish, each with sixty full minutes of play to his credit.

Although the Trojans were on the offensive most of the time after the first period, the Beaver forward wall was waiting and ready. Its backfield was alert and punishing.

Time after time the respected Warburton, slippery quarterback for the southerners, was stopped for no gain or thrown for a loss.

Because the heavy modern street traffic motorized fire apparatus does not make as fast time as the old horse-drawn fire wagons, according to the report of Salt Lake City's fire chief.

One of those who heard Paul was a man who had never walked, being lame from birth, and who sat in the streets of Lystra, certainly a familiar figure and possibly a well-known beggar. Seeing that he had the faith to be healed, Paul shouted to him in a loud voice, "Stand up!" Instantly he leaped up and walked.

The people who witnessed the miracle said to each other in their local dialect that gods had come to them in the form of men. Barnabas being styled Jupiter, and Paul named Mercury, since he was the chief deity. Soon the local priest of Jupiter with a great following of people came with the bullocks and garlands in order to offer sacrifice to them.

Horried when they heard of it, Paul and Barnabas rent their clothes and ran in among the people and restrained them from the sacrifices they were about to make.

The Stoning of Paul.
And now occurred a remarkable change of the people's opinion. The men who were barely able to keep the people from worshipping them, were now being stoned. The people who had been so full of admiration for the missionaries, were now full of hatred for them.

From the port of Attalia on the Gulf of Pamphylia, Paul and Barnabas sailed direct to Antioch in Syria. "From whence they had been recommended to the grace of God for the work which they fulfilled." The church was immediately called together and the returned missionaries "rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles."

It was a marvelous story which must have thrilled and rejoiced the hearts of the congregation first hearing it from the lips of Paul and Barnabas.

IRENE DUNNE HAS ROLE AS ANNE VICKERS

SLAVE OF AMBITION IS LOVE PRISONER IN FILM

With the eyes of the film world on beautiful Irene Dunne in the role of "Ann Vickers" in the picture of the sensational novel of that title, the triumph which was anticipated when she was so cast has now become a reality. She is at LaNora Theater now.

Reports from all theater sectors are that Miss Dunne has the strongest and most dramatic role of her career. As "Ann Vickers" she is the modern-minded girl who is brilliant enough to win success after love and romance are denied her. She is the woman of the world who becomes the more bewildered by the biological urge with every higher step in her career. She is the slave of ambition and a prisoner of love.

Wooded by men in leading stations in society, disillusioned in her efforts at reforms, she finds satisfying love only as the years crowd in on her and old enemies seek her downfall.

Miss Dunne is rated ideal in this character calling for physical charm and a bit of devilry combined with the culture which will enable her to win laurels in the upper strata of society.

The "Ann Vickers" portrayal incidentally calls for extensive wardrobe, some twenty-two in all, ranging from fashionable creations, to the garb of a penitentiary executive.

Versatility and a keen judgment of dramatic values possessed by Miss Dunne puts her in command of the characterization throughout. Critics have given her the highest niche in her brilliant career for the portrayal of the most discussed heroine in modern fiction.

Walter Huston is co-starred with Miss Dunne in the RKO-Radio Pictures scoop of the century, the entire film world having been hot on the trail of the screen rights to Sinclair Lewis' international literary hit. The supporting parts are in the hands of such outstanding favorites as Conrad Nagel, Edna May Oliver, and Bruce Cabot, John Cromwell, consistent creator of hit attractions, directed.

In making "Ann Vickers" one of the leading productions on its 1933-34 program, RKO-Radio spared no efforts nor expense in providing elaborate settings and the finest technical skill.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 21 (AP)—Ohio's bid for Big Ten football honors failed to match the desperate effort of Michigan to remain in the title battle today, and the blue-coated Wolverines sent the Buckeyes home with a crushing 13 to 0 defeat.

The Wolverines started a march toward the Western conference promised land for the fourth consecutive year before a colorful, surging throng of 93,506 persons, the largest gathering that has ever jammed the Michigan bowl since its construction in 1927.

Youthful Harry Kipke, the Wolverine mentor, reached into his master's time-worn bag of tricks and came out with Fielding H. Yost's "Old 82" end around play and others that were throw-backs to the active days of the "grand old man."

It was "Old 82," with a few minor variations to get around the new rules, that led directly to the first touchdown by young Bill Renner in the final minutes of the first half.

And it was an off-kick play, another of Yost's favorites, that accounted for the second and final score by speedy Herman Everhardus in the dying minutes of the game.

GIVE YOUR HEART TO THE HAWKS—By Robinson Jeffers. New York: Random House. 1933. $2.50.

Robinson Jeffers lives in that part of the United States which is so vast to give inspiration to writers as it is a territory that has powerfully stirred the American imagination—California. His theme are in reality derived from a territory of the imagination, a region which lies nearer California than any other mundane state. His poetry cannot definitely be classified—it stands alone, utterly apart from cults and schools. It escapes the intellectualisms of the metaphysics and the perfection of the imagist in its violent contrasts.

Jeffers' poetry is cruel, horrible, melodramatic at times and again lost in sensational narrative. In his poems, the empty canons of California wilderness are peopled with figures of perverted passions and as the emotions and despairs of his characters are unloosened, his rather loose verse takes on an aspect of grandeur with the mountains and the sea lifted to planes of savage imagination.

The title poem in GIVE YOUR HEART TO THE HAWKS differs from the relentless poems of his past in that stoicism wins through at the end after religion, convention, and optimism have been defeated.

A drunken party is in progress on a California beach. The surroundings, wild and beautiful, are instrumental in the release from inhibitions—adultery, murder—a brother kills a brother; a guilty wife endeavors to save her guilty husband from moral disintegration.

The characters are forced to face the stern realities—to awaken from the spell and life drops to horrid depths.

"GIVE YOUR HEART TO THE HAWKS" urges the young wife guilty of adultery to her husband guilty of murdering his brother. "The courts will only free your body, conquer your remorse, trust nature which is beautiful and of which perversions, like you and me, are only a part."

The husband, ever unequal to spiritual emergencies, provoked by his wife, fights literally against the hawks which carry her symbolism. The poem sways between the majesty which is nature and the battle of minds, morbid and bloody under the circumstances. The husband becomes a brute creature in his fight back towards convention, superstition, and self-pity. She loses him, of course; at length, desperate, he kills himself.

"The poem ends," as one critic has said, "unlike Jeffers, in a stoic triumph for those who are free of a world that believe God cared for its pleasure—for those 'more hawk than human'."

A WICKED WOMAN—By Anne Austin. Macmillan. 1933. $2.00. Miss Austin, most successful with murder mysteries, here presents a different sort of murder story. Naomi Trice, maltreated wife of an East Texas poor white, kills her husband under circumstances which would have won her an acquittal from any jury on earth. Frightened, ignorant, she makes a bargain with God that if given ten years in which to bring up her five children—she would confess to the crime any time thereafter should the remains ever be discovered.

She does everything to induce her children to feel no affection for her, refuses the man she passionately desires and who goes on being faithful to her throughout all the years. The story is very improbable. The

BEER RETURN IS THEME OF ROGERS MOVIE

MARION NIXON IS SEEN WITH ORCHESTRA LEADER

Again Fox comes crashing through with a motion picture that is as timely as the daily newspaper and as interesting. The return of beer may have started an avalanche of more or less artistic expression in its favor, but it remained for Fox to control its course within the bounds of a motion picture such as "Best of Enemies," in which Buddy Rogers makes his return to the screen and Marian Nixon scores heavily. It starts today at the Rex Theater and runs through Tuesday.

Buddy Rogers has been away from the screen for too long a stretch, and he proves his mettle as a cinema performer in "Best of Enemies" as the recalcitrant son of a die-hard prohibitionist. He convinces his father that time spent in Germany is just the thing to round out his training for a business career. But he does not reveal the fact that his father's bitterest enemy has left for Germany to open a beer garden or that he has fallen in love with the beer-gardener's daughter. The possibilities of such a story are taken complete advantage of to shape it into a staunchly satisfactory piece of entertainment.

Again Buddy Rogers, fresh from the fact that his father's bitterest enemy has left for Germany to open a beer garden or that he has fallen in love with the beer-gardener's daughter. The possibilities of such a story are taken complete advantage of to shape it into a staunchly satisfactory piece of entertainment.

Bowling Season to Open Tuesday Night

The 1933-34 bowling season will officially open Tuesday night when teams in the Commercial or Class A Bowling league will swing into action. The league will again be composed of four teams, three from last year, and a new team.

The opening night will bring the Country Club and the Schneider Hotel together on alleys 1 and 2, and the Thirty Footers, last year's champions, and the Kiwanis Club new entry, together on alleys 3 and 4. With the exception of the Thirty Footers, several new faces will be seen in the teams. The elongated boys have elected to go through the season with their championship team.

The alleys have been renovated and are in excellent condition. Several big scores have already been registered with two games of 258 pins leading the parade.

MADE YELL LEADER

Chester Dale (Kit) Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Carson of Pampa, was elected head yell leader of the McMurry college student body at a special election this week. Carson is a senior, and is one of the best known students on the McMurry campus. He is a ministerial student, a member of the dramatic club and the Press club. Immediately after election, Carson took charge of a pep rally in which plans for a special train to Brownwood on October 27 when the McMurry Indians meet the Yellowjackets of Howard Payne college were formulated.

and are in excellent condition. Several big scores have already been registered with two games of 258 pins leading the parade.

With Huston

Co-starred with Walter Huston, the beautiful Irene Dunne has probably the most emotional role of her career in "ANN VICKERS" dramatized from Sinclair Lewis' novel.

HALLOWEEN FUN

Let the children enjoy Halloween. A wholesome children's party on this evening does more to destroy an unnatural fear of spooks and darkness and strange sounds than anything else. Acting the spooks themselves gives them a feeling of the absurdity of such fears. Let the children have some place where they can bob for apples in watery comfort—both as to the room and their own clothes.

David E. Ward, 22, is judge of county and juvenile courts of Lee county Florida.

children are all super-brilliant, her plan is unflinchingly successful even to the murder trial in later years which clears Naomi of her sin oppressed conscience and the crime. Not until well on towards the end of the novel does Miss Austin find herself—then succeeds admirably in doing herself justice.

John Selby, in scanning new books, comments: "Susan Ertz has turned to Mormon life in the early days for the material of her latest novel, the tenor of which is very well suggested in the title, THE PROSELYTE."

The book is the story of an English girl who married a Mormon missionary, and followed him to Zion, which is Salt Lake City, of course. Zillah and Joseph made their weary way across country from the end of the railroad in Iowa city as two units in one of those amazing "hand cart" marches."

And in Zion there were some hardships as well, with always some joy and some fulfillment to compensate for them. Zillah loved Joseph more than she loved the church, she would never have become a proselyte or stayed in the church if it had not been for him. So that when public opinion, circumstances and a half-hearted desire on the part of Joseph at last bring Zillah to the point of accepting another woman in her home as Joseph's second wife the reader understands, and remains sympathetic.

Miss Ertz is understanding, too, in her attitude towards the Mormons. So has in addition a happy narrative style that seems to be no s'yle at all, so well does it get down to the business of telling the story. It is a hard book to put down and will probably be a hard book to forget.
