Nazi Capture Of Leningrad Is Said Near

Soviet Resistance In That Section Said Collapsing

(By The Associated Press)

The Germans declared late today that Russia's hold on Leningrad, second biggest Soviet city, was jeopardized by twin drives from the north and south, and Adolf Hitler's newspaper asserted that Nazi troops had lunged 100 miles beyond Smolensk to within 130 miles of Moscow.

Private advices received by the Associated Press in New York indicated the German high command expected the fall of Leningrad at any time. Russian resistance there appeared nearly at an end.

Nazi quarters in Berlin expressed complete satisfaction with the progress of allied Finnish columns pushing toward Leningrad from the north, while German troops striking from the south and southwest were said to be applying a "squeeze" to seal the city's fate.

Say Nazis Driven Back

The Russians, however, reported that the Red army tide was surging west and that Nazi tank spearheads had been driven back 100 miles from their deepest penetrations—presumably on the central front guarding Moscow.

A war bulletin from "the fuehrer's headquarters" conceded Soviet troops were pressing "relief attacks" to rescue tripped forces east of Smolensk, but it asserted that the Red counter-offensive was being crushed with severe losses.

Fighting Is Close

Elsewhere on the bloody 2,000-mile battlefront, the German communique said, "operations continued according to plan."

Other Nazi reports said that on

Secretary Wickard Throws Weight Behind Strict Program

Farm Penalties Are Supported

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today asked Congress to defeat a bill which would ease the penalty on wheat growers who exceeded their 1941 agricultural adjustment administration acreage allotment.

He suggested in a letter to Chairman H. P. Fulmer (D-SC) of the House agriculture committee, that the bill already passed by both the Senate and House, but in different forms, "should be abandoned."

The House bill would allow growers who exceeded their allotments to market up to normal production of their allotted acreage. The Senate attached a rider permitting allotment violators to feed their excess wheat to livestock.

The House version was intended to aid farmers who suffered a partial crop failure. A farmer who had an allotment of 100 acres upon which the normal yield was 10 bushels an acre would be permitted to market 1,000 bushels free of penalty regardless of the number of acres from which it was harvested.

The Senate bill would, in addition, permit farmers having wheat grown on acreage in excess of their AAA allotment to use it for seed or livestock feed and thus escape the AAA quota penalty of 49 cents a bushel. The bill has been sent to conference.

The agriculture department already has offered growers three means of escaping it. They could store the excess

Pipe Cemented On Wildcat Oil Test

Harrison Says Drilling Will Be Resumed Saturday; Scouts Are Converging Here

With pipe run and cemented at 4,860 feet, drilling on the L. C. Harrison No. 1 Nairn wildcat oil test will be resumed on Saturday morning, Lee C. Harrison, Lubbock oil man who is chief of operations, said this morning.

The crew completed the piping and cementing at 6 a. m. today and the customary 72-hour interim between those operations and resumption of drilling will end at 6 a. m. on Saturday. Pipe used was brought here by truck from Houston and is of the 26-pound, 7-inch o. d. variety.

In Tubbs Lime

Harrison says he expects to drill in late Sunday afternoon, using cable tools. The structure is the Tubbs (Clearfork) lime which has produced at greater depths in Crane and Yoakum counties.

Should the wildcat come in a good producer, Harrison and the T&P Oil company will each drill eight more tests in the general area within the next 13 or 14 months, in keeping with lease agreements. Such activity on the part of Harrison and the T&P would undoubtedly result in similar operations by others with leases sprawled over a 10,000-acre area adjacent to the No. 1 Nairn, located 3½ miles northeast of the city.

Trend Is Outlined

General trend in royalty trading in the vicinity of the test is to the northeast and southwest, Harrison said, with numerous deals having been consummated, or "set to cooking," in the past several days.

Visiting scouts representing both major and independent oil companies, and independent operators from other parts of Texas and Tulsa, have brought smiles to faces of hotel operators. Business in rooms and in the coffee shops of both Hilton and Lubbock hotels is running about 30 per cent over normal, managements of those hostelries report.

Nazi Air Ace Believed Dead

(By The United Press)

LONDON, July 30.—The Daily Sketch claimed today that Gen. Ernst Udet, Nazi air ace, had committed suicide while under "protective arrest" as a result of protesting against Germany's invasion of Russia.

The Sketch attributed the report to "documents received in New York to which the greatest importance and credence is attached by Allied official circles."

Gave Full Support

"Udet," said the Sketch, "is known to have given the fullest support to Reichs Marshal Hermann Goering during the fateful conferences held in the German chancellory during the month preceding the attack on Russia.

"He shared the marshal's disgrace when Hitler decided to override the warnings of his soundest military advisers."

LINER MAY DOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30 (AP)—The Japanese liner Tatuta Maru was granted special permission to discharge its passengers today, and officers of the NYK line said they believed the vessel would put in here within a few hours. It was understood to be about 30 miles offshore at 10 a. m. Around 100 American citizens are aboard.

FDR Message Causes Break

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, July 30—Cotton futures broke more than $5 a bale in late trading today, following President Roosevelt's price control message to Congress.

The market was forced down $5.15 a bale at the extreme lows on the president's request for legislation authorizing the government to buy and sell commodities as may be required to stabilize prices.

Some Losses Recovered

At the lows some replacement buying was attracted and the market had advanced as much as $1 a bale from the previous close on belief that certain farm products would be exempted from any general commodity price bill.

Another bearish factor in late trading was the indication from Washington that both the White House and House of Representatives are opposed to the Senate proposal to "freeze" loan stocks of cotton for the duration of the emergency.

During the day the CCC announced that the parity price of cotton had been fixed at 16.49 cents per pound, up 37 cents from the June 15 level, which assured a loan price of 14.0165 cents per pound on the basis of 85 per cent of parity.

At 2 p. m., the October futures contract was selling at 16.50 cents a pound: May, 1942, at 16.63, and July, 1942, at 16.80.

Liaison Officer For Air School Chosen

Major Herbert M. Newstrom of the army air corps at Randolph field will be transferred to Lubbock shortly to act as a liaison officer during construction of the $4,675,000 army advanced twin-engine flying school 10 miles west of Lubbock, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington revealed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Major Newstrom's duties will consist of making preparations for installation of the army air corps into the new school and as a relations official to coordinate activities during construction of the school, local officials said.

City Manager At Big Spring Resigns Post

BIG SPRING, July 30 (U.P.) — The resignation of City Manager E. V. Spence was accepted today by the city commission.

Spence, who has been city manager here for 10 years and formerly held the same position at San Angelo, has accepted a special duty assignment with the army.

He will be succeeded by Boyd McDaniel, city engineer.

Debate Opened On Draft Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Senator Thomas (D-Utah), opening debate on legislation to retain citizen soldiers in uniform beyond the present limit of one year, told the Senate today that the whole theory of American democracies was being challenged by "the greatest—the most successful—army the world has ever known."

As crowded galleries listened, the Utah senator urged speedy approval of a measure which would authorize the president to extend the service tenure of selectees, national guardsmen and reserves, as well as enlisted men in the regular army.

Committee Okays Bill

A short while before Senate debate began, the House military committee approved, 15 to 7, a similar bill. The only difference in the two measures is that the House committee reworded the provision to retain guardsmen and provided that individual guardsmen or guard units released from service could be called back to

Hosiery Buying Spree Spreads As Women Fear Silk Shortage

(By The United Press)

Women shoppers joined in a hosiery buying spree today to keep wardrobes supplied in the face of economic warfare between Japan and the United States.

Department stores across the nation reported a sharp upswing in hosiery sales had reflected feminine fears that silk imports from Japan would be curtailed. They estimated sales increases ranging between "barely noticeable" and 300 per cent since the United States froze Japanese asset holdings last week.

Store executives in large cities said their stocks were adequate to meet demands through the autumn months. They said they had attempted to allay fears of a shortage by advising patrons that existing supplies would meet all demands until next winter.

In smaller cities, stores reported their stocks were shrinking rapidly. Hosiery shops at Salem, Ore., said stocks were depleted by a 100

U. S. Protests Jap Bombing Of American Ship In China

Crew Is Safe; Embassy Just Barely Missed

New "Incident" In Far East Fanning Fears Of Conflict

(By The Associated Press)

The United States lodged immediate representations with the Japanese government today over the bombing of the American gunboat Tutuila at Chungking.

The gunboat, a member of the Yangtze river patrol, was damaged—with no injuries to her crew—and the United States embassy narrowly missed by the air raiders this morning.

Announcement Made

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, made announcement of the representations after a brief conference with the Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisabura Nomura.

Welles declined to indicate the nature of the representations.

It was believed, however, that Welles, after conferring with President Roosevelt by telephone, had called in the Japanese ambassador.

In announcing that representations had been made, Welles said the government had received a report that 26 Japanese bombers flew over the Chinese capital dropping bombs near the Tutuila and other American property.

Were Across River

He said that both the gunboat and the property were across the Yangtze river from Chungking proper, thus indicating the United States would contend there was no justification for a mistake by the Japanese bombers.

Several bombs were loosed by the raiders over the river patrol gunboat, a navy spokesman said, and the stern superstructure of the small vessel was damaged slightly.

The navy source stated his belief that the damage to the United States ship was incidental to the general raid on the Chinese capi-

Crosby Man Is Death Victim

(Special To The Journal)

CROSBYTON, July 30—Ross Guy Manly, 19, young Crosby county farmer, was accidentally shot in a freak accident as he drove a tractor on a farm a quarter-mile west of Crosbyton about 9:30 o'clock this morning and died 30 minutes later.

Young Manly was holding a short-barreled .22 rifle on his lap with which he had been shooting rabbits as he drove along and in making a turn with the tractor the gun fell from his lap and discharged as it struck the ground. The bullet struck him at the apex of the heart.

Carried To Crosbyton

His father-in-law, J. R. Williams, was riding on a cultivator behind the tractor and immediately carried Manly to Crosbyton where he lived only briefly.

Funeral services were pending the arrival of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Manly of Lamesa this afternoon. Other survivors include his wife, an eight-months-old daughter, Bonnie; and a three-year-old stepdaughter, Bobbie Estelle Hancock; and two sisters, Misses Imogene and Laverne Manly of Key.

Manly had lived in Crosby county practically all of his life. He was working a farm belonging to Mrs. B. W. Mitchell.

FDR Names Tugwell Puerto Rican Head

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell of New York, one of the original New Deal advisers in the agriculture administration, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be governor of Puerto Rico.

Tugwell will succeed Guy J. Swope, of Harrisburg, Pa., who resigned today to become director of the division of territories and island possessions in the interior department.

Rep. Hugh Peterson (D-Ga.) accompanied her.

American Properties Under Japs' Guard

Troops Occupy U. S. Firms; Oil, Tobacco Interests Receiving Tokyo "Protection"

(By The United Press)

SHANGHAI, July 30—American consular officials said today that the Japanese have placed "protective guards" around certain American-owned properties in North China.

(A Tokyo dispatch confirmed that Japanese troops had occupied American owned properties but said that the American firms were evacuated when the Japanese army was advised that it has "misunderstood" Japanese action freezing American assets.)

Oil Companies Guarded

Among the American properties listed by the U. S. consul here as placed under Japanese protective guard were the Standard Oil Co., and Texas Oil Co., installations at Swatow, Chefoo and Tsingtao, the American-owned Universal Leaf Tobacco Co., plants at Tsingtao, and the National City bank of New York branch at Darien.

However, National City authorities said the Japanese had not occupied their branches. The bank added that it is closing its branches at Canton and Peiping tomorrow, leaving only the branch at Tientsin open in Japanese-occupied territory.

Japs' Plans Unknown

Officials were uncertain whether the Japanese intended to close the businesses or exert control of them.

Informants report that American properties at Tsinan and Mukden also had been seized.

Reports here said specifically that the Japanese had stationed Chinese gendarmes about all American and British properties at Tsingtao.

Peiping reported the foreign communities in northern China to be anxious because of the new situations. Withdrawals from foreign banks are heavy, a United

Administration Gains Point In Tax Battle

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — Administration forces, after suffering an initial reverse, won an early point for the $3,529,200,000 tax bill today when the House agreed to debate it under procedure strictly limiting amendments.

Speaker Rayburn announced as 204 to 168 the roll-call vote on adoption of the special rule, which would bar all amendments but those approved by the ways and means committee and permit a separate vote on the controverted provision requiring all married couples to file joint income tax returns.

Heat Wave Broken In Northern Areas

(By The Associated Press)

Cooling northerly breezes and thundershowers blew the season's most severe heat and humidity wave out of the northern tier of states from the Dakotas to New England today.

Reports to the Chicago weather bureau showed it was still warm in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, most of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia but Forecaster G. L. Canaday said most of those areas would get relief during the day or tonight.

Mid-morning temperatures included 95 at Cincinnati, 93 at Dayton, O., 89 at Indianapolis, 88 at Cleveland, 87 at Fort Wayne, Ind., 86 at Chicago, 85 at Detroit, but it was only 78 at Milwaukee, 80 at Washington, D. C., 76 at Philadelphia, 67 at New York City, Baltimore, Md., had an overnight minimum of 71 and showers kept New England temperatures in the 60s and low 70s.

Fascist Editor Proposes That Axis Craft Fire On U. S. Ships

(By The United Press)

ROME, July 30 — Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor, proposed in the Giornale D'Italia today that the Axis regard American warships as belligerent vessels and fire upon them accordingly.

Gayda made his proposal in commenting upon the revelation by Secretary of Navy Knox that a U. S. destroyer dropped depth bombs when the presence of a submarine was suspected.

Gayda said this action creates a precedent for Axis warships which would justify any eventual attack on American ships.

He said that it has been demonstrated that American ships consider themselves authorized to attack Axis ships merely "because they suspect the latter might attack."

Therefore, Gayda reasoned, "an Axis ship has the right to consider an American warship an enemy belligerent and act accordingly."

FDR Asks Curb On 'Boom' To Stop Inflation

Ceilings On Costs Of Living Sought; Bitter Fight Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30. —President Roosevelt, asserting inflationary price increases were threatening to "undermine our defense efforts" asked Congress today to authorize him to establish ceilings for prices and rents. "We face inflation, unless we act decisively and without delay," he said.

The president also requested in a special message authority to purchase materials and commodities when necessary to assure price stability and to "deal more extensively with excesses in the field of installment credit."

Labor To Benefit

While refraining from seeking authority to put a limit on wages, he said he expected the voluntary cooperation of labor to prevent labor costs from rising abnormally.

"Labor," Mr. Roosevelt said, "has far more to gain from price stability than from abnormal wage increases. For these are likely to be illusory, and quickly overtaken by sharp rises in living costs which fall with particular hardship on the least fortunate of our workers and our old people."

Speaker Rayburn said that a bill to achieve the aims sought by the president had been under study by Chairman Steagall (D-Ala) of the House banking committee since Friday and that Steagall's committee would handle the legislation.

Legislation Said Broad

Rayburn would not discuss details but other informed legislators said it was one of the broadest pieces of economic legislation ever submitted.

"The first and most fundamental decision it will require members of Congress to make," one said, "is whether they are willing to risk the hardships and vicissitudes of inflation and then deflation rather than accept a controlled economy."

Inaugural For Stevenson Set

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 30—Lieut.-Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will be inaugurated governor August 8 if nothing occurs to prevent, a joint legislative committee announced today.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel plans to leave Texas late Saturday for Washington and take the oath as United States senator at noon Monday.

He has said he will not resign his present office but will automatically vacate it by assuming another.

To Be Acting Governor

Stevenson will become acting governor, under the law, the moment that O'Dahiel crosses the Louisiana-Texas state line.

A statement by Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin, chairman of the legislative committee said:

"Provided that nothing occurs which will prevent Governor O'Daniel from carrying out his schedule, the joint inauguration committee has tentatively set the date for the installation and inauguration of Governor Coke Stevenson for Friday, August 8.

"Arrangements and details will be announced later."

U. S. Moves Helping To Blockade Axis

LONDON, July 30 (AP) — The United States government's measures for economic defense have "greatly strengthened" Britain's blockade of the Axis, ministry of economic warfare officials declared today.

They said, however, that they could give "no definite answer" to questions whether the economic blockade of Japan would be enforced 100 per cent or whether some products would still be exchanged between the British and Japanese empires

Churchill's Warning Is Sharp Alert Against Relaxing Vigilance

Reds' Defense Boosts Hopes

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Journal War Analyst

British Premier Churchill's warning to his people to be on their toes for a possible Nazi invasion in September strikes me as being not so much in the line of prophecy as calculated to prevent any relaxation in national vigilance.

Before the fuehrer can undertake the difficult and dangerous operation of invading England, he must finish up the man-size job he cut out for himself on the plains of Muscovy. He will need every warplane, and every drop of his rapidly disappearing gas and oil he can put his hands on, to support any expedition across the churning waters of the English channel in the face of a hurricane defense.

Hitler Needs Luck Now

It's still possible—and Churchill is too canny to overlook the fact—that the Nazi chief may make a quick killing. Each passing day of fierce Bolshevist resistance, however, lessens his chances of overrunning the vastness of western Russia before fall rains turn the countryside into a morass.

They call the fuehrer "lucky Hitler" in Germany, because so many of his colossal gambles have come off. He will need all his luck to smash the Reds. Even if he succeeds, there is great doubt whether he would have time to reorganize his forces for an invasion of England before winter.

Tension Is Eased

Quite naturally these facts, coupled with the pronounced lull in the Nazi bombing of England and John Bull's growing strength, has eased the tension under which the people of the British isles have labored so long. There is a danger that the reaction of taut nerves may be too extreme—that the pendulum may swing too far the other way—and result in a slackening of the night-and-day vigilance which has been maintained ever since the beginning of the war.

That, I should say, is the real meaning of Churchill's warning. At the same time we need not overlook that he was defending his government's conduct of war production, and may have injected the warning to confound his opposition.

Russian Command Mystery

It is quite clear that thus far the Bolshevists have made a really great defense. Not only have the Red troops fought with magnificent courage, but their direction appears to have been good. This matter of command brings us up against a typical Russian mystery. That is the question of how the command is coordinated.

So far as outward indications go, there is no central command for that 1,100-mile front. It is divided into three main sections, presided over by Marshals Voroshilov, Timoshenko and Budenny, all of whom appear to be working independently, but who obviously cannot be doing any such thing.

Stalin Possibly Chief

Who then is the commander in chief and coordinator? It strikes me that there can be only one answer to that—Stalin.

That isn't so strange when you stop to analyze the position. The Communist chief is the guiding force for all Soviet activities. It is he who not only built the Red army to its present strength, but had the vision to create vast industrial enterprises to support this war machine.

Whatever criticism there may be of this plan of operating, it seems to have worked up to this point. Possibly a great crisis on the battle front might show the need of a high command on the ground.

Veteran English Coxswain, Who Has Saved 515 Lives, Even Hates For Nazis To Die

BY PAUL MANNING
NEA Service Staff Writer

SPURN HEAD, England, July 30—This peninsula is important for two reasons. It's the bleakest strip of sand this side of Fire Island, New York. It is also the home of Robert Cross, England's No. 1 lifesaver.

Robert Cross

The less said about the peninsula the better. But about a 67-year-old man who looks 50 and handles a boat as if he were 30, you can't say enough. Particularly when he merely says "It's me job" when asked about the 515 men he has saved from death in the dangerous waters off this point.

Two hundred and thirty of those 515 have been rescued during the past two years, which automatically makes him the foremost saver of lives in this war. Which is precisely why he has been awarded, since war began back in September, 1939, the George Medal, the Bar to go with that George Medal and the Gold Medal of the Life Boat Association—which is the same as getting the Victoria Cross in the army or navy or air force.

Is Life's Work

And, as coxswain and head man of the boat which always remains ready on the sands alongside his small five-room brick house, other rescues, made during the years which stretch back to before the last war and which total 285, have brought him in half a dozen other bronze and silver medals too.

These, plus the scrolls and testimonials which line his little study overlooking the cold, murky waters of the North sea, give you the idea that nothing interests Robert Cross more than saving somebody from a watery death.

The other six men who man the boat when there is a vessel sinking fast off Spurn Head don't, however, have this same reverence for the job of saving lives that Robert Cross does. "It is," they say, "lousy—this here going to sea off Spurn Head in a boat."

For not only is the water made treacherous by hundreds of sandbars which have a habit of rising and falling and shifting with the tides, but the mines which German airplanes have a habit of sowing up and down this coast make the task doubly dangerous. Many the time has the lifeboat of Robert Cross and his crew of six put to sea but arrived too late because the raft on which a fishing crew were sitting happened to strike a floating mine.

Tried To Save Nazis

Last week, though, the men they tried to save were German airmen. A bomber had been shot down by a Hurricane, as it winged homeward out over the channel after taking part in a Midlands raid. Landing just off Spurn Head, the crew of five took to their rubber life raft and began sending up location signals with their colored SOS flares.

Cross saw the signals and began telephoning around the peninsula to his men. They all met at the boat in less than 10 minutes.

Met Quick Doom

After five minutes of easy going through a sea which that morning was as smooth as the lake in New York's Central Park, they spotted the five-man crew of that German bomber. They were about one mile away and Cross could see the young German boys bobbing around, keeping with the tide by gentle pulls on the two short but very strong and light metal oars which is the equipment of every Nazi life raft.

It was probably those metal oars which did it, says Cross. The metal attracted a magnetic mine which had been dropped the night before. There was a terrific explosion—and then it was no longer of any use for Robert Cross and his crew of six to continue on. So, after one last look, they just swung around and headed back to that boat house on stilts.

He told this regretfully. He doesn't like to see anybody die off Spurn Head.

Judge Weds Speeder, Dismisses Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30. (U.P.)—Municipal Judge Kaufman told George Washington Wynne his excuse for speeding 40 miles an hour—going to the courthouse to get a marriage license—was an old one. At that Wynne produced the marriage license, beckoned to his fiancee, among the courtroom spectators—and was married by the judge.

The speeding charge was dropped.

NEW OIL WINS
Certified Death-Test
IN "LAND AFIRE"
5-Quart crankcase fill—none added—lasted 13,398 miles, outlasting 5 rivals by 74% to 161%... Certified

Big new oil Economy forecast for your car

"LAND AFIRE," the redmen named red-hot Death Valley. It tops the U.S.A. for extreme high heat. It's slain men by drying them up. But only after 13,398 miles at 57 miles an hour—in a car with crankcase under lock—could all the heat of Death Valley dry up a 5-quart fill of the new oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
—Outlasted the others in Strictly Fair Test by 5,683 miles or more!

Conoco Nth actually outlasted one big brand by 8,268 miles. Yet all 6 oils tested had exactly the same chance... in 6 identical new stock cars. All faced the same fate. For no oil could be added to the strict 5-quart fill locked in each car. And all were to run till wrecked. So it ended in the death of 5 cars, with the 5 "also rans" averaging not even half the mileage delivered by new Conoco Nth oil... Certified. What could make such a difference?

IMPARTIAL
5 prominent rival oils bought retail by Official Referee—allotted to cars by chance.
All cars the same as you might own. All handled alike.

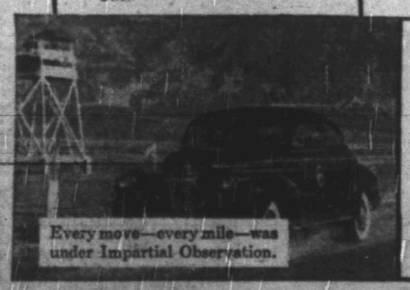

New man-made Economy aid in Conoco Nth oil

Conoco Nth is preserved by a life-giving new synthetic—man-made under Conoco Patent 2,218,132. You know that vitamin synthetics, for instance, are making up for Nature's life-givers sacrificed in some modern food processing. Similarly, the latest refining methods steal some of Nature's best life-givers from motor oils. But more than making that up today—in popular-priced Conoco Nth oil—is a new synthetic, called Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—checks—the "festering" of foul leftovers that come from the normal firing of every car engine. Check this "festering" and you can check quick spoilage and loss of oil, as Conoco Nth oil plainly proved for you in Death Valley.

You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil nor repeat other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But you get the same great Summer protection that made Conoco Nth sustain engine life as much as 161% longer in overheated Death Valley. And your direct cash returns from this impartial certified test will show up every time the gauge-stick says, "Nope, no quart to add yet." That's the test for you! Start it now. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station to new Conoco Nth oil. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic... man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts. It can't all quickly drain down—not while you're using Conoco Nth oil. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance!... and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

Every move—every mile—was under Impartial Observation.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

Flynn Sees Public, Money In Hand, Faced With Shortage Of Goods

"Dollar Cycle" Is Described

(Following is the second in a series of three articles appearing in the Evening Journal regarding inflation and high prices. These articles were written by John T. Flynn, noted author-economist, for the NEA Service).

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
Noted Author-Economist

NEW YORK, July 30 — For eight years we have been in an inflationary process — the expansion of money incomes by government borrowings at the banks. But in the last year it has speeded up greatly. The government has been borrowing three billion a year. Last year it borrowed six billions. And in this year, and next year, the borrowings promise to be enormous — no man can say exactly how much — twelve billion, maybe twenty billion in a year. It is a staggering fact. The only thing that can prevent it may be the government's inability to spend that much.

It is this money which is flowing into the pockets of the people. The government borrows it and spends it in an airplane or gun factory or a ship yard. The defense plant pays it out to workers. The workers spend it in the stores for food, clothes, luxuries. The stores spend it in the peace-time factories which make shoes, hats, dresses, cosmetics, luxuries, food, etc.

In the first five months of this year the income of the people of this country was $4,073,000,000 greater than in the first five months of last year. And the big point to remember is that the dollar that starts its career as a government loan at the bank makes its first trip to the arms plant and its second trip to the retail store, its third to the producers of non-defense goods. In other words, the production of non-defense factories and enterprises gets speeded up as much as the production of armament factories and enterprises.

If that is clear, then we see what happens. Just as the armament factories must put more people to work and buy more raw materials, the non-defense factories increase their staffs and buy more raw materials. The airplane plant increases payrolls, and the shoe plant increases payrolls to make more shoes for the men in the plane plant who are now at work. Since the war started, factory employment here has gone up from 99 to 124. Industrial production has increased from 104 to 157. Department store sales have gone up from 87 to 102.

The second force that causes the trouble, therefore, is the competition between defense industries and non-defense industries for labor and raw materials. And this brings about the second phase of the price disturbance. The first phase occurs when the people get more dollars with which to buy goods. But in this phase the production of goods increases with the demand, too. But in the second phase the government has to curtail the production of peace goods in order to enable the arms factories to get these goods and to get labor.

So, in this second phase, while the dollars in the pockets of the people who buy are increasing, the amount of non-defense goods must decrease.

But this is not the end of the trouble. The more prices rise the more costly will be the production of defense goods and the more the government will have to borrow to pay for them. Thus the vicious circle is completed, since the more the government borrows the more dollars will be flooding around in workmen's and other hands to buy food and clothes and luxuries. The end of this is disaster unless means are found to manage it, control it, hold it within bounds. How can that be done?

TOMORROW: Price Control as Check on Inflation.

(By The Associated Press)

ICELAND, America's newest eastern frontier, is a land of stony soil, tough people, simmering volcanoes and frigid glaciers, but it has a moderate climate, the oldest parliament in the world, universal education, an advanced program of social benefits and practically no crime. These exclusive pictures were taken by officers of Swedish-American Line ships.

REYKJAVIK, the capital, has 28,000 of Iceland's 118,000 population. The Althing, or parliament, was founded in 930. When the Germans occupied Denmark, with which Iceland was a sister kingdom, Iceland decided to handle its own foreign affairs.

THE TWO-WHEELED CART, drawn by a sinewy native pony, is the taxicab of Reykjavik. There are only about 2,000 automobiles in Iceland and no railroads. The island has good telephone connections and is linked to Europe by submarine cables.

BOILING SPRINGS are found everywhere in Iceland, an outcropping of volcanic rock about the area of Kentucky. There are 107 volcanoes and the land is 13% covered with glaciers. Women wash their clothes in the springs. The bars are to keep them from falling in.

THE FISHING INDUSTRY is the most important in Iceland's commercial life, although only 18,000 persons work at it compared to 50,000 in farming. Hay is the chief farm crop; it is fed to sheep and cattle. These women split fish open and spread them on the rocks to dry.

Earnings More For Companies

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 30 — The United States Steel corp. today reported net income for the June quarter of $24,814,751. Directors voted a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. In each of the previous two quarters $1 was paid.

The earnings were equal to $2.12 a share on the common stock.

Panhandle Producing & Refining Co. reported net income of $67,936, equal to 7 cents a share for the quarter ended June 30, compared with a net loss of $29,918 in the June, 1940, period.

Lone Star Gas corp. showed net income for the first six months of 1941 of $5,333,437, equal to 96 cents a common share, against $4,973,231 or 90 cents a common share in the first half of 1940.

Contract Is Let For Shell-Loading Plant

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — The War department announced today the award of a $78,940,000 contract to the Lone Star Defense corporation, Akron, Ohio, for management and operation of the Lone Star ordnance plant at Texarkana, Texas. The corporation is a subsidiary of the B. F. Goodrich company.

Of the total amount of the contract, $33,500,000 was for construction and equipment on the plant, and $45,440,000 for training of personnel for one year's operation and for one year's capacity output.

The department said a contract for designing and constructing the plant would be sublet by the corporation at a later date.

The plant is a shell-loading factory and will load artillery and howitzer shells, bombs, detonators and artillery primers.

It will cover approximately 24,300 acres. Construction will be started as soon as subcontracts are negotiated.

The plant will be government-owned and operated by the Lone Star Defense corporation as a government agent.

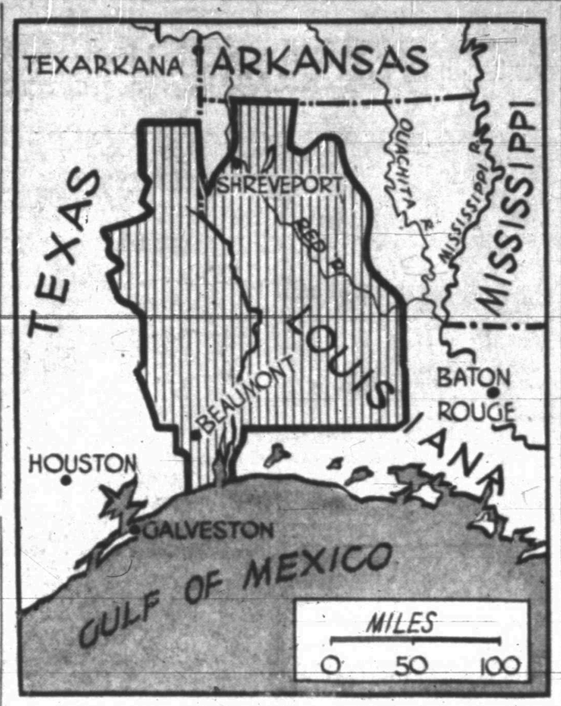

Federal Accountants Start Lone Star Case

DALLAS, July 30 (AP)—Investigation of wholesale gas rates charged by the Lone Star Gas company to 280 Texas cities was started today, when four of the Federal Power commission accountants arrived to examine the Lone Star's books.

The four federal experts were Edward H. Lange, H. Zinder, Ernest Blease and Harry Littman.

Their first act was to call upon Frank R. Schneider, supervisor of public utilities, who initiated the state-wide movement to obtain aid of the federal agency in reducing the wholesale gas rate, now 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

They explained that they would make an extensive investigation, which would be followed by a public hearing; and that they would be joined by other experts from Washington during the next few weeks.

Where U.S. Will Hold Army Games

(By NEA Service)

The greatest military maneuvers in history will be held this September in the areas of Louisiana and eastern Texas mapped above.

Nearly one-third of the U. S. land forces — 472,000 men, 60,000 trucks — will take part in war games covering 15,000,000 acres of ground and costing close to $1,000,000.

Opponents in this tremendous make-believe battle will be the Seventh Corps of the Second Army and the Fourth, Fifth and Eighth corps of the Third army. Headquarters of the Second army will be at Shreveport, La., of the Third army at Lake Charles, La.

The "exercises" will be directed by the Army's G. H. Q., assisted by the headquarters staffs of the First and Fourth armies. The maneuvers will show the degree of efficiency attained by the regulars, national guard and trainees.

Divisions of the Second army which will take part include: the 5th, 6th, 27th, 33rd, 35th — all infantry—and the 2nd cavalry division. Third army divisions taking part are: the 2nd, 4th, 31st, 32nd, 34th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 43rd, 45th—all infantry—and the 1st cavalry division.

In addition, the following will take part and will be assigned to the conflicting armies by G. H. Q.: the 1st and 2nd armored divisions, the 1st tank group, the 191st, 192nd and 193rd tank battalions, one squadron each of the 3rd bomber group, 22nd bomber group, 8th pursuit group, 31st pursuit group, and the 501st parachute battalion.

About 15,000 man-hours go into production of an average pursuit plane, about 100,000 into production of a heavy bomber.

Brakeman Dies After Mishap Near Dalhart

DALHART, July 30 (AP) — BBert L. Reaksecker, Rock Island railroad brakeman, was injured fatally last night at Exit switch, 38 miles southwest of here. He was about 45 years old.

Reaksecker was on a westbound freight train that stopped at Exit to set out a car. How he fell under the car was unexplained. Both legs were torn from his body. A doctor and ambulance was rushed to Exit from Dalhart in a vain attempt to save his life. He died ten miles from the Dalhart hospital.

Demo Committee To Present Silver To Gov. And Mrs. O'Daniel

DALLAS, July 30 (AP)—Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel will be presented with a set of flat silver by members of the state Democratic executive committee, which will meet in Austin Thursday, Chairman E. B. Germany said today.

Germany said the committeemen planned to be in Austin on that date to attend the wedding of Molly O'Daniel, daughter of Mrs. O'Daniel and the governor-senator elect.

The meeting will be unofficial and no business will be transacted, Germany declared.

Pilot Killed When Hit By Propellor

SAN ANTONIO, July 30 (AP)—Second Lieut. J. S. Rosenthal, 21, 22nd observation squadron, Brooks field, was instantly killed Tuesday morning when he accidentally backed into a whirling propellor.

The accident occurred on the Fort Sam Houston polo field, where Lieut. Rosenthal and Second Lieut. J. H. Soules were practicing landings.

Brooks field officials said that the two officers had landed and shouted back and forth at each other. Unable to make themselves understood, they got out of their planes.

Lieut. Rosenthal then backed into the propellor of his plane. The blade struck the back of his head.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Defense Bond Quiz

Q. Will personal checks be accepted for bond purchases when I buy direct by mail from the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.?

A. Yes, subject to collection. Your bond will be mailed to you shortly thereafter.

Q. Does a defense savings bond increase in value from the date of purchase?

A. A defense savings bond is dated the first day of the month in which remittance is received by an authorized issuing agent. In other words, you get a full month's credit on your investment regardless of what day of the month you buy your bond.

(Note. — To purchase defense bonds and stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.)

Can't Pull The Wool Over Customer's Eyes Since New Label Law Passed

Products Are "Telling All"

WASHINGTON, July 30—Want to invest in an Autumn Preview tweed? Or stock up on sale blankets, socks, or any kind of woollies? If so, you'll run smack into the new Wool Labeling Act, which recently became effective.

You'll find that any wool product is stamped, tagged or labeled to show what kind of fibers it contains and how much of each type. Did you know that the term "wool" isn't by any means a monopoly of the familiar sheep, but often is used to describe fleece of Angora or Cashmere goats as well as hair of the camel and his long-necked South American cousins, the alpaca, vicuna and Llama?

Well, any product made up of any portion of these varied "wools" now has to "tell all" so consumers won't have anything put over on 'em.

It sounds quite simple until you get to the label. There you are apt to find these mysterious designations:

FIFTY P. C. WOOL.
THIRTY P. C. REPROCESSED WOOL.
TEN P. C. REUSED WOOL.
TEN P. C. OTHER FIBERS.

The "fifty p. c. wool" part seems simple enough, and so does the "other fibers" classification—which might mean cotton, rayon, or silk. Oh yes—there may be an "ornamentation excepted" clause tacked on, too. But the business of "reprocessed" and "reused" is tougher.

When woolen products are not used—go out of style or dye badly, or something—they are often bought up by a reprocessing concern. Here they are put through a "garnetting machine," which chews them up, pulls them apart, and reduces them to fiber again. Then the fiber is respun, woven, dyed, and made into new clothes, felts, or blankets.

All right. So what?

REPROCESSED, REUSED WOOLS ARE WEAKER

So the new goods made of this "reprocessed wool" aren't quite as strong or soft or full of life as goods made from the same grade of virgin, new wool—although they might be better than goods made from a lower grade virgin wool.

It stands to reason that breaking up the fiber, heating and soaking the wool again weakens it in some way. The Federal Trade Commission definitely supports this contention.

Now as to the "reused" part of the label. This means the wool has been salvaged after actual sale and use—maybe from a ragman or junk dealer, maybe from rummage sale or second-hand clothes stores. It is "garnetted" just like the reprocessed stuff, but, of course, it has to be sterilized and cleaned besides.

Hearings before Congress on the Labeling Act, as well as Trade Commission findings, prove without doubt that "reused" wool is inferior to both the other classifications in wearing capacity.

Have you ever heard the term "shoddy"? That is what textile men call "reused" wool. One of the greatest scandals of the Civil War was the fortunes made by selling "shoddy" to the Union Army for its uniforms. The Men of the Blue poked elbows and knees through the cloth in no time.

"ALL WOOL" FABRICS ARE NOT NECESSARILY BEST

As to the inclusion of fibers other than wool in a piece of goods, Madam Consumer will have to judge for herself whether that hurts the product or whether it enhances it. It all depends on the product. A light fall ensemble might be better with some cotton to lighten it. Or a woolen sheer might be far more glamorous with a touch of rayon to give it a sheen. Socks, too, often wear better if cotton or rayon are included in the woolen yarn. It's up to you.

The Act, although backed by the wool growers, doesn't presume to say that "all wool" is always best. It merely clears up the matter of different kinds of wool used, and gives the buyer the benefit of at least knowing what he or she is getting. For fifteen years the act has been kicking around Congress, and it took the defense situation, with consumer demands for quality safeguards, and the army-induced wool shortage, to finally push it through.

For a while you may find a few merchants with left-over wool stocks who don't have to label those items as long as they don't ship them across state lines. But since the act allowed nine months between its passage, October, 1940, and its effectiveness, July 15, 1941, for merchants to get rid of unlabeled, questionable goods, you ought to find a label on pretty nearly everything now.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

Dear June brides-of-a-month: No other six months of your married life will ever be as important as the first six. For it is then that you set the pattern of your marriage.

Remember that and you can do a lot toward getting the pattern started the way you want it to go.

For instance, the first time your husband mentions that he has to drive to a nearby city on a business trip, say, "That's fine. There's some shopping I want to do"—and set the pattern of going with him. That is, if you want to go with him on future trips—and you probably will.

The first time your husband misplaces an important paper, get busy in the kitchen and let him look for it alone. Otherwise you'll spend your life looking for the things he carelessly misplaces.

The first time you find yourself anxious to get a heavy piece of work done and your husband isn't around or is busy—watch out. If you don't you'll be doing it yourself—and from then on it will be your job. And your husband will be willing to let you do it.

GET STARTED ON RIGHT PATTERN

The first time your husband says, "Honey, how about writing a letter to the folks and telling them everything is okay," find a tactful way of saying, "Do it yourself"—or you'll wake up one day to the fact that you are writing all your husband's thank-you letters and keeping up with all his relatives.

The first time your husband asks you to pack his bag tell him you're afraid he'll never be able to find things if he doesn't pack them himself—or you'll pack for him every time he takes a trip, and be to blame when his razor or his pet necktie is left out.

These are just little things, you are probably thinking. But they won't seem little in another year or two if you get started on the wrong pattern. So start out right in the beginning.

Any wife of five or 50 years standing will tell you it pays big dividends.

Colleges Will Help In Cotton Research

Existing facilities in colleges of the state will be utilized to the extent possible in the state cotton research program to be financed with $250,000 appropriated in the last session of the Texas legislature, President Clifford B. Jones said after returning this morning from a meeting of the cotton research committee held at Texas A. & M. college Monday and Tuesday.

President Jones, President T. O. Walton of Texas A. & M. college and President Homer P. Rainey of the University of Texas, designated by the bill as members of the committee, decided to employ a director of the program who will be responsible to the committee and who will coordinate efforts under the economic aspects of the bill, as well as the research field.

They also decided to appoint an advisory committee who will confer with the research committee in matters of policy. The committee elected President Walton as chairman.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to further develop plans for the program. The director and advisory committee have not been appointed.

Feeding Of Lambs To Be Discussed Here

Feeding and management of lambs will be the subject of speeches at the livestock feeding short course at Texas Technological college Thursday, final day of the four-day course.

The program follows: 8-9 a. m. "Commercial Lamb Feeding," W. H. Glimp, who has charge of a wool storage warehouse in Lubbock and is a lamb feeder; 9-10, "Production of Spring Lambs," Jack Barton, Hale Center; 10:15-11:30, "Feeding and Management of Farm and Ranch Flocks," Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Tech; 11:30-12, discussion and questions; 1:30-4, roundtable discussion.

Speakers today are W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry; Robert Holloway, college dairy cattle herdsman; R. L. Burdette of near Shallowater, and Mowery.

Credit Association School Ends Today

Closing sessions of a three-day school for employes of five Production Credit associations in Northwest Texas who have been working for the groups for less than two years, were being held today in Lubbock hotel, with O. G. Tumlinson, secretary of the Houston Production Credit corporation and L. Roy Prescott, treasurer, as instructors.

Lee York, manager of Lubbock Production Credit association, is in charge of the meetings. Approximately 30 persons are in attendance, half of whom are fieldmen. Amarillo, Canadian Valley, Memphis and Plainview associations are represented.

Prowler Turns Out To Be Only A Dog

The "prowler" that disturbed residents in 3100-block Twentieth street turned out to be a dog that was dragging a garbage can around in search of food.

Two squad cars of police dashed to the aroused address to investigate, in dead hours of early morning.

In 2100-block Avenue M more "prowlers" were reported, and two boys, "just out late," were chased home.

Other Boys Sought

A third disturbance sent squad cars in search of eight or 10 youths in an automobile that had been seen in vicinity of 2500-block Twenty-second street. But the boys had gone somewhere else.

A negro was "vagged" after he returned to an address in the Flats a few minutes after he had leaped from his car, over a fence and away in flight when intercepted by a squad car. He was suspected of bootlegging activities.

Police said a wreck at Eighth street and Avenue W, at 8:12 o'clock this morning, caused no injuries and only slight property damage.

WASH FOOD COVERS

The oil silk or fabric food covers for the refrigerator should be kept as clean as the bowls used for the foods. Give the covers a thorough soapy bath in warm water and rinse in warm water and then in cold. Wipe as dry as possible and hang out until perfectly dry. Do this weekly.

Parties Held For Molly O

AUSTIN, July 30 (AP)—Friends from several Texas cities were here today for parties preceding the wedding Thursday night of Molly O'Daniel and Jack D. Wrather, jr.

The daughter of Gov. and Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel and the young Tyler oil man will be married at 8 p. m. Thursday night in the gold room of the Texas Governor's mansion, in the presence of relatives and close friends. The public has been invited to share the wedding cake, which will be served in the state dining room.

Rehearsal Dinner Tonight

Mr. and Mrs. Maco Stewart of Galveston entertained the wedding party with a breakfast this morning at the Austin Yacht club, and tonight the rehearsal dinner will be given at the Austin Country club by Governor and Mrs. O'Daniel.

Parties for the bride and her friends Tuesday included a luncheon at a downtown hotel, at which Mrs. Roger Huffman of San Diego, Tex., was hostess, and a steak barbecue at the home of Mrs. Reuben Williams, wife of a Texas highway commissioner.

Out-of-town guests who attended one or more of the parties include Mary Katherine Elliott of Dallas, Mrs. Newton Crain of Houston, Betty Lou Foster and Ruth Collins of Fort Worth, and Mrs. J. D. Wrather of Tyler.

Gold production in the Canadian Northwest Territories amounted 21,399 ounces for the first four months of 1941 compared with 16,808 ounces in the same 1940 period.

WRONG DIET CAN CAUSE DIARRHEA
Mother, be very careful when your child is running off his bowels. Watch his feeding and be particular with your own diet, too, because improper feeding is a frequent cause of diarrhea, or loose bowels. TEETHINA has been successfully used for many years to relieve diarrhea caused by wrong diet. It gently moves waste from the little bowels without irritation. TEETHINA is also recommended for temporary constipation and colic due to gas or sour stomach. It is sold by druggists, contains no opiates, and costs but 25 cents for 12 pleasant-tasting powders. Give TEETHINA according to the directions in each package and write Teethina, Columbus, Ga., for a free baby booklet.

Southwest Business Maintains Prosperous Note During June, July

Farm Income Said Higher

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, July 30 — Petroleum refining reached the second highest peak of the year during July, employment and payrolls increased substantially over last year and department store sales were steady, the monthly business review of the 11th district Federal Reserve Bank showed today.

Construction contracts were considerably smaller for July in comparison with the same month last year because of a decrease in the awards of publicly-financed projects. Last year's $25,000,000 construction contracts for the building of the Corpus Christi air training base, now near completion, have not been matched.

Cotton Price Rise

Lumber production was well sustained for June and July by increased orders for defense and unfilled shipments.

Business conditions for June and July, according to the business report, were as follows:

Agriculture: The price of cotton in July was the highest in 11 years.

Considerable damage was reported to crops, mostly grains, which rotted in the fields because of excessive rains during the early summer months.

Sales Maintain High

Ranges and livestock continued in excellent condition, and because of higher cash prices for livestock and produce, farmers had a larger cash income than last year.

Retail sales: Department store sales were steady during June and July, maintaining the high record set during May of this year. On the whole, sales for this period were 23 per cent higher than the corresponding period last year. This high scale retail buying was attributed to an increase in consumer income and extensive use of installment credit.

Oil Shortage Still Possible

Business: During June, failures were at the lowest point for the year. Dun and Bradstreet reported 21 insolvencies for the month, with indebtedness of $144,000.

Oil: During the past two months, the petroleum industry made considerable progress in relieving the shortage of oil and by-products in the eastern markets by utilizing all available pipelines, tankers, barges and railway services.

In spite of southwestern oil producers and refiners efforts to supply the great demand in the east, there was still a possibility of severe shortage of oil on the Atlantic seaboard.

Textile Business Boosted

Several proposals, the biggest of which is the plan to construct pipe lifeline from the southwestern oil fields to the Atlantic coast, have been offered and are under consideration for relieving the shortage.

Textiles: Cotton mills expect to maintain a high level of production during the summer months by filling their large back-log orders and supplying defense and civilian needs for the season. During June of this year over 875,000 bales of cotton were consumed by the mills and cotton consumption since January was 50 per cent higher than the corresponding period a year ago.

More Traveling, "War Jitters" Boosting Traffic Fatalities

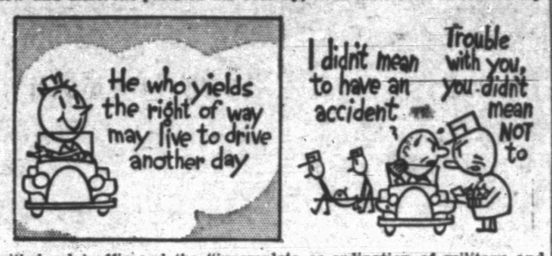

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic fatalities in the United States have increased during the past 18 months. Yet increased traffic attributed to defense activity alone does not provide a satisfactory explanation, says Sidney J. on car mileage had been reduced from 1934 to 1939 by nearly 35 Williams of the National Safety council, because the death rate based per cent.

Safety efforts which brought the decline have not ceased, Williams writes in the magazine "Public Safety," but apparently they have been balanced by other forces.

Without evaluating them, Williams lists the forces as these:

1. Construction and operation of huge defense industries, without provision for resultant passenger and truck traffic.
2. Migration of hundreds of thousands of military personnel to new and different parts of the country, with their lack of familiarity with local traffic and the "incomplete co-ordination of military and civilian control of these men when they drive and walk on the public highway."

3. Political changes—weakened traffic departments, inexperienced new men.
4. "War jitters"—more money to spend "and some of it spent on liquor"; preoccupation, a general "here today, gone tomorrow" attitude.

In the same tenor, "Twelve common driving faults" are listed by the Automotive Safety Foundation in a magazine, "Priority For Trafic Safety." They are:

1. Driving too fast for traffic conditions.
2. Poor judgment in passing or following.
3. Failure to signal change in course.
4. Inattention to traffic.
5. Improper turning—left turns from right lane, and vice versa.

6. Poor use of headlights in illuminated areas and in meeting cars.
7. Discourtesy, failing to yield right-of-way, particular to pedestrians.
8. Poor maintenance—improperly adjusted brakes lights, etc.
9. Weaving in traffic, driving in wrong lanes.
10. Driving "below par" because of fatigue, illness, alcohol.
11. False confidence—belief in the ability to "stop on a dime."
12. Horn driving—too much noise and too little skill.

THIRD LIBRARY

The library at Cambridge University, England, is the third largest in the world. It contains 1,500,000 volumes in addition to vast numbers of manuscripts, pamphlets and maps.

Italy expects to produce over 10,000 tons of oil from grape seeds this year.

Man Rings Door Bell And House Explodes

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—An insurance salesman pressed the door bell of a two-story dwelling in Flushing, Queens, today, and instead of the bell ringing the house exploded.

Staggering back, William Bowman surveyed the blown-out door and windows and saw flames eating at curtains and furniture. He smelled gas.

In the kitchen, dead of gas that still poured from four opened jets on the stove and which was believed to have been exploded by a tiny spark from the bell-ringing machinery, lay Bela Hauser, 65, and his wife, Mary, 61.

The couple left two notes.

DETOUR

LONDON (AP) — A Free French volunteer left Paris to come to London. He arrived after travelling 7,000 miles — via Marseilles, Casablanca, Martinique, Miami, New York and Montreal.

Tracks made by a dinosaur millions of years ago, discovered in Texas in 1939, measured more than a yard in length.

Junked Automobiles May Go For Defense

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — The Office of Production Management announced today a campaign to convert millions of junked automobiles into scrap iron and steel for defense production.

Officials said that one car contains enough scrap for a light cannon, and that 20 contain enough for a tank.

About 2,500,000 cars are scrapped annually and millions are parked now in auto "grave yards," officials said.

The campaign will open tomorrow with a meeting of auto wreckers and scrap dealers in Columbus, Ohio. The meeting is expected to be followed by similar conferences in other parts of the country.

FIRST AIR WOMAN

Madame Tibie, a Frenchwoman, was a passenger in a Montgolfier balloon at Lyons in 1784. This is the first recorded aircraft ascent by a woman.

Canada's imports of iron and steel rose from a valuation of $162,554,000 in 1938 to $183,160,000 in 1939.

Cadet Units Recruited In North Texas Towns

DALLAS, July 30 (AP)—Air cadet units of 20 members each were being recruited in the northern half of Texas, Col. J. A. Moss in charge of recruiting in the Dallas district, said today.

The units would be sent intact to flying fields for training, he declared.

Twenty-member groups were being organized at Texarkana, Fort Worth, Abilene, Paris, Wichita Falls and Longview.

U. S. Seizure Of 19 Japanese Fishing Boats In Hawaii Disclosed

Espionage Is Said Feared

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30—The seizure of 19 Japanese fishing boats in Hawaiian waters this spring was disclosed today by the treasury department.

Although the vessels were seized by customs agents on charges of false registry, several authoritative officials here alleged that the ships had been employed in espionage work.

Customs officers reported that, at the time of the seizures, no suspicious equipment was found on the craft. Other informed sources, however, asserted that during the period the ships were under investigation, it was established that they had carried expensive radio and photographing equipment, together with navigational charts of a type unconnected with fishermen's work.

Jap Naval Reserves Aboard

These sources further alleged that most of the ships involved had at least one member of the Japanese naval reserve in its crew.

The seizures took place between Feb. 28 and March 3, and were apparently unrelated to any of the more recent developments in relations between the United States and Japan.

Six of the seized vessels already have been declared forfeited to the U. S. government. Seventy-one Japanese fishermen and three Honolulu fishing companies were indicted on the false registry charges.

Climaxed Big Drive

Vague reports of Japanese naval officers posing as fishermen have been recurrent along the Pacific coast for many years, and it was learned that the seizures this spring culminated several years of work by agents investigating such reports.

The investigation was under direction of William Jennings Bryan, jr., son of the great political figure of bygone years. Bryan is now collector of customs at Los Angeles.

The disclosure of the seizures was made in the annual report by Elmer L. Irey, coordinator of treasury law enforcement activities.

Some Lived In Japan

He explained that a 1793 law prohibits anyone but an American from owning an American flag ship. Investigation, he said, showed that the real owners of the boats were Japanese citizens.

The indictments charged conspiracy to violate U. S. navigation laws by the use of false bills of sale and false managing owners' oaths in registering the vessels, Irey's report stated.

"Many of the Japanese involved in this conspiracy," it continued, "had American-born Japanese wives and American-born Japanese children and other relatives. Placing the registry of their boats under the names of such relatives, they sought to evade the U. S. navigation laws. In some instances these Japanese lived in Japan, in others they made regular trips to Japan, ostensibly to get medical treatment or to take the baths."

Lubbock Law Authorities Will Wage War On Gamblers Here

Notice went out Tuesday night and this morning that Lubbock law-enforcement agencies propose "vagging" every known gambler who "lights" in Lubbock.

A list of such persons who live in West Texas and eastern New Mexico has been made and officials this morning were busy checking into property owned by them.

Fines Are Threatened

"Unless they have a visible means of support they will be paying vagrancy fines every time we find them," the announcement summarily ended.

Two persons known to be gamblers paid fines Tuesday and another posted bail in such cases, as aftermath of a hijacking attempt by two or three masked gunmen a few hours earlier at 1908 Avenue S and a pitched gun battle with police.

Released On Bond

Tommy Gilbert, who was struck with a pistol at the Avenue S address, was freed on $250 bond after Neal Arthur, Texas ranger, signed a vagrancy complaint against him in county court.

Gilbert, 33, was fined $100 in city court Sept. 11, 1940, and paid another corporation court fine Nov. 11, 1938, records show.

Lawrence Herron, 33, and Adam Beaty, both of whom were described by authorities as newcomers to Lubbock, pleaded guilty to vagrancy before B. P. Millsap, city recorder, and paid fines of $15 each.

The roundup of gamblers hit a snag, however, late Tuesday. Known gamblers were not to be seen anywhere downtown then or this morning.

In addition to Arthur, J. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, and Police Chief Don Reeder and Aubrey Fawver, police identification officer, were cooperating in the investigation.

Neither of the hijackers had been reported arrested. Authorities indicated several gamblers would be called upon to testify before a September grand jury.

News Briefs

Club Assembly Meets — Directors and committee chairmen of Lubbock Rotary club met Tuesday night at the home of President Roy Furr, 3120 Twentieth street, for an assembly. Plans for the year's work were discussed and also for the ladies program and official visit next Wednesday of District Governor Cal Farley of Amarillo.

Jennings At Rotary — Morley Jennings, director of athletics at Texas Technological college, gave a resume of the development of football in the United States, in a talk at a Rotary club luncheon at noon in Lubbock hotel. George Pratas and Rev. H. I. Robinson were co-program chairmen, the former presiding. Paul M. Mead of Honolulu, spoke briefly.

Honolulu Man Here — Paul M. Mead, of Honolulu, T. H., was in Lubbock today en route east on a vacation. He is a retired sugar beet man and makes his home in Hawaii. Before moving to the islands, he was 10 years in California with a sugar beet firm and before that had been in Colorado with the extension service and the beet industry, he said. Mead is a member of the Waikiki Rotary club and attended Wednesday's club luncheon here.

Not Seriously Injured — Walter Bowen, 17, of 1714 Nineteenth street, a Western Union messenger boy, was not seriously injured at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon when struck by an automobile when riding his bicycle in an alley between Texas avenue and Avenue J, in 1000-block. A man driving the car offered to take the boy to a hospital but, being informed there was no necessity, drove away without waiting for police investigators to arrive, officials said.

Son Born—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Procter of Seagraves, former Lubbock residents, are parents of an 8-pound son born in Seagraves hospital Monday. Procter is with the Seagraves Drug company.

Back From Vacation—Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Payne and daughter Betty Ruth, 11, all of 2306 Twentieth street, have returned from a week's vacation at Stovall well, in Young county. A freak of oil drilling activities, the artesian flow of 130-degree mineral water comes from a test hole that briefly spouted 8,000 barrels of oil and 12,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily then settled down to producing eight barrels of oil a day and a rush of publicized curative water. Payne is deputy district clerk.

Aluminum En Route — The office of County Judge G. V. Pardue announced this afternoon a load of defense drive aluminum from Terry county was en route to Lubbock, headquarters of a 23-county district. There was possibly a ton and a half of the metal, it was estimated.

Debate Opened

duty again.

In the Senate, Thomas solemnly said "this very day or tomorrow an incident may occur that will change the aspects and feelings of those responsible for our government."

Quick Action Sought

On the House side, Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee announced that he would ask the rules committee Friday to give the legislation a preferred status for House consideration.

May said he hoped to start floor debate on the measure next week and predicted that "unquestionably it will pass the House."

"The reason I think so," May added, "is that Congress hasn't got to the point yet where it is willing to wreck the United States army in the face of impending peril."

Opposition Voiced

Rep. Short (R-Mo), an opponent of the measure, disagreed with the chairman.

"It will be a pretty hard fight," Short said. "We will make it as tough as possible."

This afternoon committee Republicans will confer on strategy and plans. They tried, and failed, to substitute for the bill which the committee finally approved legislation which would authorize retention of guardsmen, reserve officers and enlisted men, but which would not include selectees.

Connally Is Chosen To Head Committee

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — The Democratic steering committee named Senator Connally (D-Tex) today to be chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee. He will succeed Senator George (D-Ga), who will transfer to the chairmanship of the finance committee, which handles tax matters.

Senator Hatch (D-NM), author of the Hatch act to curb pernicious political activities, was named chairman of the privileges and elections committee, succeeding Connally in that post.

Judge Learns About Dice; Halves Fine

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 30 (AP)—Police Judge Bernard Lawler picked up the dice and announced boldly: "I shall throw a seven."

"Not with them dice, judge," put in a bailiff. "They're missouts."

"Sure, judge, them dice are engineered so you couldn't seven with 'em if you tried all day."

"H-m-m-m," h-m-m-med his honor, turning to three men charged with gambling.

"You are fined $50 each, but I'll suspend half of it. Education is worth something."

per cent increase in purchases and a 50 per cent spurt in sales of nylon hose.

Other cities announced little change in nylon sales. It was believed nylon production was too limited to fill gaps left by a possible silk shortage.

Eastern wholesale and manufacturing centers felt the increased demand. Spokesmen for the hosiery industry said their general policy was to fill orders received before last week's developments and to hold new orders until the outlook for future supplies is determined.

Industry spokesmen indicated they expected Japan would suspend all silk exports to the United States but most of them doubted that such action would be taken immediately.

At Chicago, three stores reported a 30 per cent increase in sales and large orders from wealthy customers. San Francisco reported a "tremendous increase" and Seattle one of 300 per cent. A Buffalo, N. Y., store said purchases were four times greater than at the corresponding time last year. At Pittsburgh, one store reported an "amazing" increase despite a price jump of 20 cents a pair.

Fashion experts predicted autumn styles would show longer skirts and anticipated a shift to cotton stockings containing rayon and wool. They also expected that silk shortage would encourage women to exhibit bare legs in warm months.

AUTOMOTIVE HINT

A driver who forms the habit of bringing his automobile to a gradual stop will get longer wear from his tires than one who stops abruptly.

Slight Hopes Held For Tech Gridder

Slight hopes were held that Leroy Meley of Dallas would live through today. Berl Huffman told the athletic department of Texas Technological college in a telephone call from Amarillo this morning.

Meley, who played football under Huffman as a Tech freshman last year and was a prospective sophomore student and varsity football tackle, was injured in a tractor-combine accident near Conway, 20 miles east of Amarillo, Tuesday afternoon. He was rushed to an Amarillo hospital. He suffered concussion and skull fracture and internal injuries. Huffman, who went to Amarillo late Tuesday, said Meley's head was crushed.

Meley, 20-year-old, 205-pound candidate for a regular right tackle position on the 1941 Texas Tech Red Raider football team, was thrown from a tractor he was driving and over-run by a combine attached to the tractor, the Associated Press reported.

Meley, employed for the summer as a farm worker by R. C. Daniels, also of Dallas, was steering a tractor which, along with the combine, was being towed by a truck driven by Daniels. The accident occurred when Meley attempted to swerve back on the highway after the tractor had slipped off the highway shoulder.

Meley formerly played football at Sunset High school, in Dallas.

Hopkins Pays Moscow Visit

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, July 30. — Harry Hopkins, coordinator of the United States lend-lease program, arrived by plane on a surprise visit to the Soviet capital from London today, presumably to discuss with Russian officials the needs of the Red army in its fight with Nazi Germany.

With him came two officers of the United States army, Brig. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney and Lieut. John R. Alison of the air corps.

Russians In Washington

Presumably their discussions were designed to proceed concurrently with those in Washington between United States officials and Lieut. Gen. Filip Golikov and Engineer General Repin of the Soviet army who are there on a special mission.

(In London last Sunday, Hopkins in a radio speech said "we in America are determined to give all possible aid to China and Russia—and immediately."

Leningrad Menaced

the north front, on the route to Leningrad, two Russian divisions (about 30,000 troops) had been wiped out east of Lake Peipus, in Estonia.

These reports, describing the Russians in Estonia, said fierce, close-quarter fighting with grenades and automatic pistols was raging.

Russian dispatchers reported "particularly heavy fighting" and heavy German losses in the Smolensk salient, where Red troops were declared to have blasted German infantry from their trenches in a series of counter-attacks.

Soviet officials said the big German drives toward Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev were stalled, with Soviet armies swinging more and more strongly to the offensive.

DNB, the official German news agency, apparently describing the same Moscow-bound thrust as Hitler's newspaper, said advance German tank units east of Smolensk had cleared the surrounding countryside of Russian soldiers last night.

The tank sweep was made possible, DNB said, by the arrival of a Nazi supply column which beat off violent assaults by Soviet infantry and tanks to reach its goal.

Mighty Battle Raging

Previous Russian dispatches had pictured German tanks which lunged beyond Smolensk, on the Minsk-to-Moscow highway, as having been cut off.

The Berlin Voelkischer Beobachter, owned by Hitler, said a mighty battle was raging on a 190-mile front pivoting on Smolensk, extending from Mogilev, southwest of Smolensk, to Vyazma, 100 miles east of Smolensk and only 130 miles from Moscow.

Russia's high command again reported "stubborn" all-night fighting in the familiar sectors of Nevel-Smolensk, on the central front, and Zhitomir, on the Ukraine front in the south.

The Red army was pictured by Russians generally, however, as swinging steadily more strongly to the offensive. A Moscow communique reported the Germans pushed back 10 miles in the Ukraine, and a town identified only as "N" was said to have been recaptured in a fierce, two-day battle.

Services Set Friday For Dickens Youth

DICKENS, July 30 (Special) — Funeral services for Corp. Frank L. Littlefield, Dickens county boy, who was killed in a train-car crash in California Saturday, will be conducted in Dickens Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services will be at the Dickens Methodist church and burial will be in the Dickens cemetery.

Campbell Funeral home will have charge of the funeral arrangements and will bring the body from Lubbock where it is scheduled to arrive Thursday afternoon by train from California. The body will be accompanied by Sgt. Cordwood Miles of Glendale.

Littlefield is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Littlefield, and a sister, Mrs. John Harris of Levelland.

U. S. Patrol Is Aiding British

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30 — Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate foreign relations committee said today that the United States naval patrol of sea lanes to Iceland appeared to have been of such assistance that Great Britain was "slowly gaining the upper hand" in the battle of the Atlantic.

The senator also spoke with guarded optimism of the Russian stand against the German blitzkrieg into the Soviet. He referred to reports from the eastern front as "heartening."

Shipping Losses Declining

Emphasizing that he based his observations only on unofficial reports that had come to him, George told reporters there were indications that the American defense patrol of the sea lanes had been of "great value" to the British in efforts to move supplies to beleaguered Britain.

"It seems apparent," George said, "that the British are slowly gaining the upper hand in the Atlantic. There is a gradual, but nevertheless marked, decline in shipping losses."

Turning to Russia, he said reports of terrific Nazi losses in manpower and mechanized equipment in the Russian campaign made it appear to experts with whom he had talked that the Germans would be occupied in Russia for at least the next six weeks, even if they brought up strong reinforcements and succeeded in breaking through the Soviet defense lines.

Jap Bombing Is Protested

tal city, although the vessel was in the so-called safety area across the river.

Narrowly Escaped Before

The Tutuila narrowly escaped bombs which fell in the American safety zone in Chungking on June 15, leading to a strong United States protest to Japan.

At that time several bombs fell in the vicinity of the American embassy at Chungking and near the Tutuila.

Japanese naval officials said the June bombing in the American zone was unintentional.

Reports to the naval operations bureau on the new incident did not state whether the gunboat, which accommodates a normal crew of 58 officers and men, returned fire upon the Japanese aircraft.

The Tutuila is a sister vessel of the Panay, which on Dec. 12, 1937, was sunk by Japanese action, with the loss of two lives, on the Yangtze river above Nanking.

Tokyo newspapers bluntly accused the United States of "meddling" in the Orient and blamed this country for the action of the Dutch East Indies in cutting off big supplies of oil to Japan.

Tokyo stock prices wavered, mostly off, although munitions were strong.

In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament that it was a matter of regret to the British government that relations with Japan had become strained and that only the future could tell if Japan would keep her pledge to respect the territorial integrity of French Indo-China, now overrun by Japanese troops.

Still Time To Reflect

Then, solemnly, Eden declared: "I sincerely trust that those responsible for the destinies of the Japanese empire will reflect while there is still time whither their present policy is leading them.

"I cannot believe that statesmanship in Japan is entirely dead or blind . . ."

In Tokyo, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was quoted as warning Japan that it must be "prepared to meet the worst" amid rapidly changing world conditions and that the Russo-German conflict was already "bringing serious effects to Japan."

Speedy Action Needed

Konoye declared that Japan needed "swift, determined execution of her national policies" and that the government was "determined to proceed on an historic renovation in policies from an entirely new standpoint."

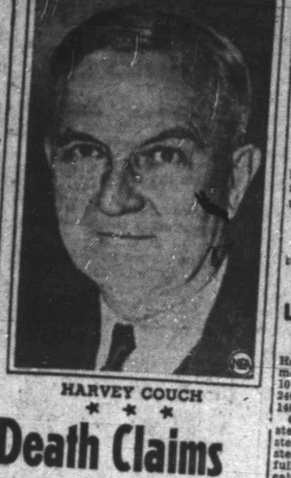

Perhaps significantly, he added that it would be difficult to predict where the flames of the European conflict might spread and that the government was "doing everything within its power to mobilize all resources and manpower for any eventuality."

As he spoke, Japanese troops moved steadily into southern Indo-China bases, within striking distance of Singapore, the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines.

Services Pending For Mrs. J. B. McCrory

Arrangements for funeral services for Mrs. J. B. McCrory, 54, of 2119 Seventeenth street were pending arrival of relatives, Plains Funeral home announced at noon today.

Mrs. McCrory died of a heart ailment Tuesday at her residence. Survivors include the husband, a carpenter and building contractor; four sons, Dr. James L. McCrory of St. Louis, Mo., Roy McCrory of Amherst, Lieut. John P. McCrory of Fort Stockton, Calif., and E. L. McCrory of Lubbock; a daughter, Miss Martha Frances McCrory of Lubbock and a brother, Sam Lynn of Waynesboro, Tenn.

Death Claims Harvey Couch

(By The Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 30.—Harvey Crowley Couch, 63, southern utility and rail magnate, died at Couchwood, his summer home on Lake Catherine near here today.

Couch, head of the Arkansas Power and Light company and Kansas City Southern-Louisiana and Arkansas railway lines, had been in ill health for more than a year and critically ill since Sunday.

Family At Bedside

An aide said all members of his family were at his bedside when the industrialist seemed to fall asleep, dying quietly.

The body will remain here today, the family and intimate friends staying in seclusion. Funeral services will be held at his home city of Pine Bluff about 10 a. m. tomorrow and the body will be sent to Magnolia, near where Couch was born, for burial about 5 p. m. tomorrow. Tentative arrangements are for Bishop H. A. Boaz of the Methodist church to officiate.

Became Empire Builder

A farm boy who became an empire builder in the traditional American way, Couch at the time of his death headed two huge utility and railroad networks in the south and southwest.

During the last 10 years he had relinquished many of the titles acquired during his busy career, concentrating his attention on further development of the Arkansas Power and Light company, keystone of his far-flung business interests, and the combined KCS-L.&A. railroad system.

He also retained membership on the boards of trustees of Edison Electric institute; Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., Southern Methodist university, Dallas; Hendrix college, Conway, Ark.; the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; and his home-town church at Pine Bluff. He likewise was a national councillor for the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Properties Guarded

Press Peiping dispatch said, as all American and British funds in Japanese and Chinese banks have been tied up by Japanese army authorities.

Nanking Regime Watched

American and British consular and business representatives here watched closely for signs of activity by the Nanking regime, which Japan set up in occupied territory in China in an attempt to undermine the influence of the Chinese government.

It was believed that the Nanking regime would take the initiative in "protectively seizing" American and British properties in territory which Japan controls, acting at the instigation of the Japanese army.

If the American and British governments chose to believe that the Nanking regime was actually responsible, it was pointed out, they could do nothing to retaliate because the Nanking regime has no foreign credits to be frozen. Japan could disavow responsibility for the action, it was said.

Rape Charge Is Filed On Levelland Youth

LEVELLAND, July 30, (Special) —In lieu of $5,000 bail, a 21-year-old Levelland man, son of a prominent Levelland farmer, was held for the Sept. 1 grand jury on a rape complaint, said A. D. Forehand, justice of peace, this morning.

At a preliminary hearing on charges he had criminally assaulted a 15-year-old drive-in stand waitress on a lonely derrick-shadowed road, the young oil field worker, Earl Cunningham, and the girl were witnesses.

Complaint in the case was lodged by the mother of the girl, said Carl Rogers, chief deputy sheriff, who telephoned Burton S. Burks, 72nd district attorney of Lubbock, to assist in the hearing. Claude Herron, constable, said the girl was treated by a Levelland physician after getting home at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Women Stage Strike For Parking Place

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 30 (AP)—Two women autoists, bidding for a single parking place staged a "I-won't-move-until-you-do" strike here while onlookers offered advice, brought refreshments and collected enough money to pay the fine of one of the contenders.

The argument lasted two hours. They got tickets — but somebody else got the parking place.

Stock Market

STOCKS ERRATIC

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP) — Selling was the dominant force in leading financial markets today and chief coloring came from a near-collapse in cotton futures.

Prices for the staple plunged down about $8 a bale from early levels after publication of President Roosevelt's message to Congress requesting broad authority to establish price ceilings to head off inflation.

Other speculative staples weakened with cotton, but stocks, lower in the early proceedings inclined toward an irregular recovery after the president's recommendations were disclosed. Steels came back after a fairly sharp dip. Rubbers showed independent firmness and rails were in forward momentum at the close. The trading pace was slow throughout, transfers amounting to about 650,000 shares.

Grain Market

wheat under bond to be sold in a year when no quota penalty is in effect; give it to the government for relief distribution; or plant below their 1942 acreage allotment by an equal amount.

Wickard told Fulmer that the proposed legislation would "make non-compliance (with AAA acreage control measures) attractive." He said that the abandonment of the bill was urgent in view of the present wheat situation.

He pointed out that the 1941 wheat crop of between 925,000,000 and 950,000,000 bushels, fifth largest on record, would give the United States an all-time record supply of about 1,350,000,000 bushels. The supply will be 660,000,000 bushels in excess of needs for the next year, he said.

U. S. Workers Reach Ireland

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 30—A corps of 460 trained United States construction men arrived today at a port in Northern Ireland and were greeted aboard ship by Captain H. D. R. Margesson, British war secretary.

The port was not identified.

E. A. V. MacPherson of New York, second in command of the group, told Margesson he understood their work was to be in connection with certain harbor facilities and the war secretary answered that "we are mighty glad to see you fellows here."

Crossing Uneventful

The American technicians, an addition to United States workers already in Northern Ireland, are headed by E. R. Holland of Williamsburg, Va.

One of them said their trans-Atlantic crossing was uneventful.

The Americans will form a self-contained colony with their own police and medical services. They brought their own food and clothing.

They were guaranteed three months work and will work double shifts throughout the summer, earning $60 to $120 a week.

Drastic Price Control Urged

said that agricultural prices would not be regulated under its terms unless they went above parity.

Gives Power To President

(Parity prices generally are defined as those giving the farmer purchasing power in the non-farm field equal to what he had in 1909-14.)

The bill would vest the price control power in the president and give him authority to designate whatever administrative agency he deemed advisable. Legislators said there might be controversy on that point because many members of Congress felt that such broad powers should be granted only to agencies of Congress.

Also, some members have objected to Price Administrator Leon Henderson's conduct of his present office.

Sharp Dispute Foreseen

The message went to a Congress sharply divided on the question of price fixing. Already a Senate farm bloc has served notice it would oppose limits on agricultural prices and only yesterday won Senate approval of a bill preventing the marketing during the emergency of government-owned stocks on wheat and cotton.

Another group in Congress has advocated control of wages on the ground that wage increases have put up manufacturing costs and forced higher prices.

Limited To Emergency

A bill to carry out the president's request is expected to be introduced in both houses shortly. Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, has been working on the legislation for weeks with bill-framing experts.

Mr. Roosevelt recommended that the price-limiting authority "be flexible and subject to exercise through license or regulations under expeditious and workable administrative procedures."

"Like other defense legislation," he added, "it should expire with the passing of the need, within a limited time after the end of the emergency."

Must Curb Rent Boosts

The concept of a price ceiling, the president said, is "already familiar to us as a result of our World war experinece. Prices are not fixed or frozen; an upper limit alone is set. Prices may fluctuate below this limit, but they cannot go above it." He added:

"To make ceiling prices effective it will often be necessary, among other things, for the government to increase the available supply of a commodity by purchases in this country or abroad. In other cases it will be essential to stabilize the market by buying and selling as the exigencies of price may require."

Regarding rent control, the chief executive said despite steps taken to assure adequate housing for defense the nation was already confronted with rent increases reminiscent of those prevailing in World war days.

"This is a development that must be arrested," he said, "before rent profiteering can develop to increase the cost of living and to damage the civilian morale."

Tragic Coincidence Ends Ambulance Ride

WICHITA FALLS, July 30 (U.P.)—Boyd Whitney was visiting in a funeral home when a call came in for an ambulance.

He decided to go along "just for the ride."

The ambulance sped to an irrigation ditch at nearby Kamay. There highway patrolmen were applying artificial respiration to a 13-year-old boy whose body had been dragged from the ditch.

It was Whitney's brother, Marion Frank.

The boy had gone swimming with several other youths and his foot had caught in a flood gate. The body had remained under water more than an hour before it was released.

"White Russians" Seen Pinning Comeback Hopes On Reds' Defeat

Germans Gain Further Help

(David J. Dallin, writer of the revealing article below, is a well-known Russian writer on politics and economics. A political refugee from the czars, he lived in Germany from 1911 to 1917, when he returned to take an active part in the Russian revolution. He was elected to the Moscow Soviet as a deputy of the Menshevik (minority) party. Eventual domination of Russia by the Bolsheviks forced him to flee the country in 1922. He subsequently lived in Germany until Hitler's rise to power forced him to flee again. He arrived in the United States last year).

BY DAVID J. DALLIN
Written For NEA Service

NEW YORK, July 30.—Over the battlefields of Russia, poised to strike instantly should the Nazi armies prevail, hovers the double-headed eagle of the czars—still the banner of the "White Russians." Into battle with the German tanks and planes and men go the Hitler-approved hopes of the White Russians for a return to power.

Such a return to power is the bait Hitler holds out to his Russian followers. They are to be the puppet rulers of the Muscovite land, its lawgivers, its police heads, and the generals of its armies. Their task will be to transform the whole social structure of the country, to let no vestige of its present social system remain.

Task Is Enormous

But this isn't all. Even if Hitler were to occupy Moscow, there would still remain the enormous areas of the east to conquer. He does not plan, however, to use German troops for the conquest and occupation of the remaining Russian territory — territory stretching to the Urals and Archangel and into even remoter wastes of Siberia. German soldiers are to occupy only the vital arteries of the nation—its railroads, for instance.

The rest would be under the military jurisdiction of a Russian army, organized by Hitler, composed of soldiers from the occupied Russian districts, and led by officers recruited from the ranks of Germany's White Russian followers.

Program Well Planned

As long ago as 1933-34, therefore, Berlin began to organize cadres for the training of these future leaders. Hand-picked groups, selected from Russian emigres residing in Germany, were organized into a "Russian National-Socialist movement." The guiding spirit and lord protector of the movement was the Nazi Alfred Rosenberg. A native of Riga, Herr Rosenberg was well versed in Russian history and had first-hand knowledge of all the tenets of Communism. He has been the mainstay of Germany's anti-Russian orientation.

The organization and financing of a nationalist movement among the White Russians in Germany to carry out to the letter Germany's well-formulated designs for the conquest and future administration of Russia was carefully planned. Schools were organized with courses training the White Russians for their prospective roles as administrators of Russian provinces. In Berlin, a White Russian paper, Novoye Slovo, made its appearance. It soon became the propaganda center for German orientation of all right-wing Russian emigres.

Adopted Nazi Ideals

The platform of the Russian National Socialist group contained all the principles of the National Socialist program: the negation of democracy as a degenerate form of government, ruthless suppression, liquidation of the soviets and all other Communist organizations, restoration of private property, etc. Militant anti-Semitism was, of course, one of its major tenets.

In the formulation of all these points, the Russian National Socialists merely aped the principles of the German Nazi party.

German Superiority Stressed

In one important respect, however, the Russian government differed from that of its German progenitor. The German National Socialist party is predicated on the principle of nationalist pride and German racial superiority. Its Russian underlings, on the other hand, acknowledge the superiority of the German race over that of the German. Though officially proclaiming themselves to be Russian nationalists, they nevertheless admit the inferiority of their race.

It is this philosophy which makes the White Russians such an indispensable weapon in the furtherance of Hitler's political ambitions.

The Russian-Nazi pact of 1939 dealt a heavy blow to this "Russian National-Socialist movement." The rejoicing among the German White Russians is all the greater now.

Posts Probably Filled

Knowing, as we do, how carefully Germany plans every detail of its campaigns before-hand, we may confidently assume that every member of the White Russian organization has already been assigned a post in the future political scheme; some to be governors of Russian provinces, others heads of police, colonels in the army of occupation, editors of newspapers, etc.

Numerically, the German organization of White Russians is not large. But its leaders count on the swelling of its ranks by White Russians residing in other lands. The White Russian papers in Belgrade, Paris, Kharbin, Shanghai, San Francisco, New York, and other cities, have become centers of anti-Bolshevist activities. The numerous White Russian organizations all over the world are as irreconcilably opposed to the Soviet regime as is the German Russian National-Socialist movement. They merely lack German orientation. Their members are, therefore, slated to return to Russia somewhat later than their German brethren, after the best posts have already been doled out to the German "pioneers."

A London bride-to-be, handicapped through clothes rationing regulations from obtaining a trousseau, was saved when her family pooled 76 clothes coupons.

For over 20 years thousands of White Russians, like the group of former commanders and generals of Czar Nicholas' Imperial army pictured above in a gloomy house near Paris, have lived in exile. Hitler plans to recruit the new rulers of Russia, if his armies beat the Reds, from White Russian exiles the world over.

Alfred Rosenberg . . . "guiding spirit and lord protector."

Diamond World Agog Over Cards-Dodgers Series

Sportometer

For Tennis Players, Et Al

By Collier Parris

FOR TENNIS PLAYERS and prospective addicts to the loh and volley game, here's some encouraging and perhaps enlightening sentences, suggested by an intermediary for Mr. K. N. Clapp, chairman of the Lubbock park board, in addition to his regular duties which include judging of Golden Gloves tournaments. (If we had more judges like him, using his system, there would be less argument following the decisions).

The sentences advertised above, with certain editorial and personal comments supplied by the author of Sportometer with, we hope, the permission of Mr. Clapp, are as follows:

Tennis courts have been constructed in Mackenzie Park, on the upper rim, near the Meadowbrook Clubhouse. The courts are in the park, and are available for public play. There is no charge for use of the courts, which are equipped with nets. All you do is go out there and play tennis on the hard-surface courts, bringing along your own racquet and supply of tennis balls, Provided, that is, the "waiting list" is not so great as to preclude your playing at an established time.

The park commission wants you to use the courts—there are two of them, mind you—as much as you will. It costs you nothing for the use of the courts. BUT THERE ARE ONLY TWO!

And there's the rub—or the answer to the questionnaire!

If the tennis courts in the park are crowded, if there is reason to believe that tennis courts on city parks would be crowded, the park commission will build courts in other parks of the city, available to one and all who care to play tennis!

Do you get the idea?

First of all, you tennis men and women, boys and girls, should crowd the two courts in Mackenzie park to the utmost. Make it so crowded that the commission will get the idea that there are a lot of persons hereabouts who would like to play tennis, if they had a decent place to play. And bring in all your friends from here and there.

Go out to the only city-owned tennis courts, the two mentioned above, and if the place is crowded, put your name on the register, or telephone or write Mr. Clapp. The initials are K. N., and his office address is Wilson building; his residence, 1642 Thirteenth Street. If the line is busy or if you don't get a direct reply to your letter or card, give us a ring at the Avalanche-Journal office, or send us your protest by mail, and we'll see that the messages are delivered to Mr. Clapp, a guy who works hand in hand with us when it comes to things of that sort—which is more than the Hubbers do.

Let enough of you tennis players say the word, and tennis courts will spring up all over town. That is a situation this department has asked for during the last dozen years. Credit for realization of the request (the writer is by no means a tennis addict and rarely plays the game but likes to see the sport, as any other legitimate sport, prosper) is herewith tendered to Mr. Clapp and the park board. For what it's worth, our heartiest commendation.

For the benefit of fans and friends who'd like to shoot him a wire, letter or flowers, Leroy Meley is in St. Anthony's Hospital, Amarillo. It was a large relief to learn, late last night, that his injuries were not so severe as first announced by the Amarillo hospital and the Associated Press . . . Meley, former Sunset High gridder of Dallas, star freshman tackle last season, was expected to help relieve the acute tackle situation at Texas Tech this autumn, giving Jack Shanks and Red Ledbetter a little rest.

Joe Hext, former Eldorado High school star who enrolled at Texas Tech in 1935 with prospects of becoming a great quarterback, has been named head coach at Eldorado High. . . . Joe withdrew from Tech and entered Howard Payne college, where he was captain of the Yellow Jackets for two seasons . . . . He served as assistant coach at Munday last year and had been hired for that post at Haskell for this year, until tendered the Eldorado job. . . .

Here's the first vote in favor of buying Umpire Lefty Craig, of the West Texas-New Mexico league, a new automobile, or anyway a new whisk broom—he finally called one in favor of the Hubbers, and it meant victory for Lubbock at Pampa last night. . . . The report we got said that "everybody in the park but Umpire Craig thought the ball (Stan Bartkowski's home run scoring two ahead of him for the victory) was foul when it went over the fence." . . . Not so long ago, an umpire—and we believe it was Craig—ruled a "foul" home run when everybody in the Pampa park thought it was fair, for the Lubbock batsman, and it meant the difference between victory and defeat.

BOUNDARY SETTLED

Both peaks of famous Mount Ararat now are within the boundaries of Turkey as a result of the boundary treaty signed by Turkey and Persia in 1932.

Lubbock Plays Lamesa Next

Borger Maintains Loop-Leading Pace

The Big Spring Bombers and the Borger Gassers continued their ding-dong battle for first place in the West Texas-New Mexico league standings last night, without change in the margin.

The Gassers retained their two-game lead by winning over the Wichita Falls Spudders, 10 to 1, as Udell Moore marked up his tenth consecutive victory without defeat.

Bombers Really Blasting

The Bombers held the pace by defeating the Clovis Pioneers, 7 to 3, with a barrage of 15 base-hits that gave Willard Ramsdell his 17th pitching victory.

Meanwhile the Lubbock Hubbers, resting securely in seventh place, gained a game on Clovis, Pampa and Lamesa by defeating the Oilers, 6 to 3.

The victory left the Hubbers still 3 1-2 games out of fourth place, and only a sustained winning streak can put them back in the running.

Bartkowski's Homer Decisive

Stan Bartkowski's sixth-inning home run with two on provided the winning margin for the Hubbers. Steve Vrablik was touched for 14 hits, and was constantly in trouble.

The Oilers rallied in the ninth to load the bases, but two were out and the Englemen managed to retire the Oilers with only one run.

The Lamesa Loboes, with a chance to pass Pampa, missed it by losing to Amarillo, 7 to 4. Two home runs by Bus Dorman and one by Bill DeCarlo put the Sox over the top.

The Hubbers climax the series in Pampa, invading Lamesa Thursday night for the opener of a three-game engagement, coming home Sunday to tangle with Loboes for an additional two games.

Cobb Takes "Sugar" Match From Ruth

DETROIT, July 30 (AP) — As golfers, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth have proved to be great former baseball players, but the Georgia Peach still had enough of his bunting technique and flaming competitive spirit to take the rubber match of their links series, 3 and 2, yesterday.

Playing before 2,500 spectators at the Grosse Ile golf and Country club, Cobb went 15 strokes over par and Ruth soared 18 over for the 16 holes required to close out the match.

Except for Cobb's well-behaved putter on four greens, the match from a golfing standpoint featured two ruffing, perspiring left-handers who knew not where their next shots were going.

A higher class golfing flavor was provided by the once-mysterious John Montague, who matched par 71, and Walter Hagen, who went four strokes over.

Leahy Thinks Irish In For Great Year

LOS ANGELES, July 30 (AP) — Naming Indiana as the toughest of a hard slate of opponents, Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame believes the 1941 fightin' Irish will prove a strong aggregation as the season progresses.

Leahy slipped quietly into Los Angeles for a brief stay. It was his first visit since he sat as an unsung bench-warmer on the Notre Dame squad the year it defeated Southern California, 27 to 0.

Navy, U.S.C., Northwestern and Indiana loomed as the biggest threats for Notre Dame, Leahy commented. He predicted the Hoosiers would win the Big Ten championship.

Cats' Winning Streak Snapped By Beaumont

(By The Associated Press)

It took youthful Lefty Bumpers, fresh out of Texas A. and M., to break off the Fort Worth Cats' five-game winning streak.

Holding the Cats to three hits, Bumpers enabled the Beaumont Exporters to rack up a 2-0 victory at Fort Worth last night. Earl Caldwell, Fort Worth pitcher, did almost as well, letting Beaumont down with four hits.

In another close Texas league contest, the San Antonio Missions were unable to convert any of their five hits into runs and went down before the Oilers 1-0 at Tulsa. Ray (Peaches) Davis hurled the shutout.

The Dallas Rebels dedicated their new stadium with a 6-3 triumph over Shreveport, increasing their margin over the fourth-place Sports by a game and one-half.

The Houston at Oklahoma City game was postponed and will be played as part of a doubleheader next Sunday.

Salty Parker Has Praise For Star

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, July 30 — Every time big Murrell Jones clouts a homer—and he's doing it often these days — the grin broadens for Bonneau Peters, dapper president of Shreveport's Sports in the Texas league.

Jones is quite a baseball asset for Peters with big league clubs casting longing glances at the handsome young giant upon whom a price tag of $25,000 has been placed.

The 6 feet 4 inch youngster, playing his third season of professional baseball, is fulfilling predictions made about him last season.

He is battering all kinds of pitching, he's leading the league in home runs with 16, he's hit in 15 straight games — a loop mark for the season — and he's a fancy dan fielder who should look like a million on some major league club's first sack

Middleweight Champ Soose Is Facing Jinx In Gotham Tonight

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 30—The tangle at Madison Square Garden tonight never will be listed among "Creasy's Decisive Battles of the World," but it is going to be an interesting demonstration of whether a man can defeat the dark doubts that swarm in his own mind.

A shorter way of saying it would be that Billy Soose, middleweight champion of the world, is going to find out whether he can lick a jinx.

Soose Easy Favorite

Soose is an intelligent, speedy boy. He is a classy boxer and he can throw a knockout punch with his right. He seems to have everything a man needs to lift him above the mob and make him a true champion.

But this evening, for 30 minutes or less, the jinx of his career will stand squarely across his trail. He is fighting Georgie Abrams, a man who defeated him twice before Soose fought his way to recognition by New York state as middleweight title holder. There doesn't seem to be doubt in any one's mind that Soose is the better fighter. And it isn't just sentiment, either, because the betting commissioners, who have all the warm sympathy and sentimentality of a berg in the Antarctic, have made him a 7 to 5 favorite.

Let's leave it to the psychiatrists and philosophers to figure out how one fighter can be a jinx to another. There's no doubt that it's true. Long ago there used to be a roly-poly who was somewhat of

Twelve-Inning Tie Is Reset

Reds, Pirates Win Tilts; Yanks Lose

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a fight to the finish between the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers this week, but they came out of their first meeting with nothing except unfinished business.

With practically the entire country, except possibly St. Louis, agog over their crucial clash for control of the National league pennant race, they fought 12 innings to a 7-7 draw yesterday. This left the Cards still two games in front.

Less than 11,000 customers were in Sportsman's park for the 3½ hour show.

Dodgers Blast Homers

The Dodgers rolled away to a 6-1 lead with Jim Wasdell hitting a two-run homer in the first inning and Dolph Camilli following with his 17th and 18th circuit clouts of the season on successive turns at bat in the fourth and sixth.

In this interim big Johnny Mize, the famed St. Louis slugger, left seven runners stranded.

Then in the sixth the Cards took it all back with a six-run inning.

Cochrane Decisions Zivic To Take World's Welterweight Crown

Comeback For New Champ

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWARK, N. J., July 30—Your new world welterweight champion, ladies and gentlemen, is a fellow who once quit the ring because he couldn't win a fight. But he's red-headed and Irish — so why argue.

He's tabbed Freddie Cochrane, but his pals call him Red. He has been beaten 25 times in his career, but he worshipped Mickey Walker as a kid from the same neighborhood in nearby Elizabeth.

Zivic Over-Trained

He and Fritzie Zivic, who punched a period onto Henry Armstrong's career, battled for 15 of the roughest rounds a barroom brawl ever saw at Ruppert stadium last night. And, while it was as close as your whiskers and your razor, Freddie the Red deserved Referee Joe Mangold's decision for (1) making the fight as the aggressor all the way, (2) taking Fritzie's Sunday shots and charging back for more and (3) poking Fritzie an occasional belt in the breadbasket which did Zivic absolutely no good and which showed up the Pittsburgh joker's staleness from over-training.

They'll probably fight again in September provided Red, who has a 1-A draft classification, hasn't been measured for a rifle and bayonet by then. But until that time, the rugged little 26-year-old is the head man.

He Came Back

There weren't many of the folks on hand to see this surprise package unwrapped — say 10,000 or so. Freddie was a 4 to 1 underdog going in, and not even his father suspected what was going to happen. In fact, when the mob of well-wishers who always climb on a champ's bandwagon turned up at Red's Hillside (N. J.) drinking emporium to help celebrate, "pop" looked 'em over, and chuckled, "who'd 'a' thought this was gonna happen."

The new 147-pound boss has been around the business for seven years. Larry Corbett, the old six-day bike rider, brought him out of the amateurs. He started going pretty good as a lightweight but ran into a succession of tough fellows like Johnny Jadick. He lost close "dukes" to them. So he quit.

This was in '37, but after three months, he was offered $350 to tangle with Pedro Montanez. Pedro stopped him in three rounds. Then Willie Gilsenberg, who's been managing fighters around Newark for years, picked him up and brought him back. And now he's the champ.

Bomber Warns Nova He's Tired Restin'

CLEVELAND, July 30 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis quietly served a warning to Lou Nova today with the simple statement:

"I'm tired of restin'."

Vacationing a month since stopping Billy Conn, the Detroit bomber will make his next title defense against Nova, a Californian, this summer.

Between mashie shots on the Highland Park golf course, Joe admitted "sure feel kind of itchy to put on 'em gloves again."

Race Grows Hotter

Kirby Higbe, who had been wild but lucky, gave three walks and forced in a run. Curt Davis came in and Terry Moore singled for two runs, Johnny Hopp tripled for another, then scored on a wild throw by Durocher and Mize sent the Redbirds ahead with a homer.

Reset For Thursday

In the ninth Joe Medwick, a former Cardinal, made his only hit to single home the tying run for Brooklyn. After three more innings darkness finally forced them to quit. The game was rescheduled immediately for Thursday, previously an open date.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds, in a virtual third-place tie 10 games back of the first-place Cardinals, came through with triumphs.

The Pirates scored four runs in the second inning and coasted to a 5-3 victory over the Boston Braves before rain halted play in the eighth.

Cubs On Winning Streak

The Giants ripped off four runs against Cincinnati's Elmer Riddle in the first three innings and then the Reds fired back with two in the fourth and five in the fifth to win while Gene Thompson held New York scoreless the rest of the way.

In the other skirmish the Chicago Cubs, on a spree that has netted them 10 of their past 12 games, crushed the Phillies, 12-4, with Bill Nicholson hitting his 19th home run with the bases loaded and Babe Dahlgren and Stan Hack also collecting round-trippers.

Tigers Best Yankees

While the National league was tying itself in knots, the New York Yankees gave away a 6-3 decision to the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians advanced to 10½ games from the lead.

Cleveland conquered the Washington Senators, 5-1, with Gee Walker and Ken Keltner accounting for seven of the Indians' 12 hits.

The St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, behind the six-hit hurling of John Niggeling. Both Boston runs came on Ted Williams' 20th homer.

The Chicago White Sox interrupted the Philadelphia Athletics' parade with a 1-0 triumph.

cific coast where prices are always good, they'd be asking $50,000 for him." Peters said.

Shreveport aims to sell him before the major league draft reaches down. He's eligible for the baseball draft this year.

Has Parker's Praise

Jones hit only .258 in his first 46 games this season but since then they haven't been able to get him out. In his stretch of 15 games in which he has gotten at least one hit per game, the big fellow has bounced the ball for a .444 average.

Shreveport finished up a series with Dallas last night and the Rebels were glad to see Jones depart. He socked three homers and two doubles, getting six hits in eleven trips in the three games.

More than a third of his blows this season have been for extra bases, Jones mixing in 16 doubles and four triples with his 16 homers.

"He's a clean young fellow who wants to make good in baseball and is willing to work to do it," said Manager Francis (Salty) Parker. "And he doesn't smoke, drink or have any bad habits."

Soose Faces Jinx

a clown in the ring. He took lots of lickings and he never seemed to be headed anywhere in particular, but there was one thing he could do.

He could baffle Jack Dempsey in the ring.

The fat man's name was Willie Meehan and he built up quite a reputation as Dempsey's jinx. And that was in the days when Dempsey was knocking 'em into the petunias with what lots of people think was the most devastating two-handed attack in the history of boxing.

What Meehan was to Dempsey, Abrams is to Soose.

Soose Bit Puzzle

At the start of both of their previous fights Soose took the most direct possible means of proving he was the better man. On both occasions he walked out in the first round and knocked Abrams down. But jinxes don't stay down like mortal men, so Abrams got up.

Soose, a clean-cut looking youngster who got some book larnin' at Penn state, is none too popular with the fight mob. He occasionally utters a three-syllable word and—most puzzling of all to the fight mob—he disdains phony alibis.

Needs Clear Triumph

Soose says himself that he has to prove that he is champion and the only way he can satisfy his own mind on that score is to come through with a thumping victory over Abrams tonight. After that Billy wants to give Ken Overlin, from whom he won the title, a return bout. There was considerable dissatisfaction with the decision that Soose won over Overlin, and Billy feels it keenly.

If he gets past Abrams tonight and then beats Overlin decisively, you are likely to hear lots about Soose. He has bull shoulders, thin legs and still is growing. He is certain to grow into a light heavyweight and may take on enough poundage to become a heavyweight.

But before that happens there is work to do tonight, and that's why it's likely to be an interesting evening even if the bout is scheduled for only 10 rounds and Soose's title is not at stake.

Two Teachers Being Added For Faculty

Addition of two teachers for the Lubbock public schools was announced Tuesday night after a meeting of the board of trustees in the office of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, board president.

Miss Doris Kolb of Lubbock was assigned to George M. Hunt school and J. L. Lee of Caldwell was named to the Dunbar High school staff.

The board took action to clear up deficits in the fiscal budget resulting from paving near school buildings. The expense had not been included in the present budget and a balance was reached by the action.

Further discussion centered on repair projects at various school buildings and on plans for the 1941-42 school term. Attending were, in addition to Dr. Hutchinson, W. B. Atkins, Maple Wilson, R. F. Bayless and Chas. A. Guy, members, and A. C. Jackson, business manager. Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent, and board members Walter G. Alderson and E. J. Parsons are out of the city on vacations.

WAR AND DUST

Dust storms in America were caused by the World war in Europe, since farmers broke the soil on all available acreage and set the stage for wind erosion, because of high-priced wheat.

That Girl on Broadway says the most effective way to break down the argument of an opponent is to ask him, every time he pauses for breath, "Why do you think so?"

When the average man makes love to a woman, he's afraid she won't believe him.

What the poor boob should fear is that she will believe him!

IN MANY respects, this is a most remarkable country and a lot of the people who live in it are most remarkable people. Remarkable, at least, in that we will put up with almost anything.

For instance:

About a year ago, a fellow named Richard Krebs wrote, under the assumed name of "Jan Valtin," a highly interesting, if somewhat questionable book, called "Out of the Night."

Americans of all forms and descriptions immediately went into hysterics over the volume which, in case you've just returned from a year at the South Pole and therefore haven't heard, was an "expose" of Communist activities in this country and abroad; and also set forth experiences the author allegedly had with the Nazi gestapo in Germany.

In the book, "Valtin" admitted having spent years as a fomenter of trouble under the direction of the Moscow Comintern; as having dabbled in various and sundry criminal practices both here and in Europe; and as having served a California prison term as the result of a little right and left-handed attempt at murder in a San Francisco alley.

But what was even more striking, "Valtin" admitted in his book that he is in this country illegally and, under the law, is subject to swift and sure deportation.

For quite a while, "Valtin" was successful in hiding his true identity from the general public, although not from the G-Men who had him spotted all along.

But eventually he was announced to the world, and especially to the American literati, as Richard Krebs and then someone in official circles mentioned that steps should be taken to send him back to Europe as an illegally entered alien and unwanted guest on our shores.

Then pandemonium broke loose.

The literary intelligentsia, together with numerous parlor pinks in places both high and low, screamed and shouted against application of the law.

"Didn't Krebs say at the tail-end of his book that he isn't a Communist any more?" they yowled. "Didn't he say he loved this country and wanted to become a good citizen here. Certainly, he did! Then why send him back to his beloved Russia in keeping with the law?"

Men and women who know better argued that Krebs' unsupported word that he had quit Communism and loved the United States should be accepted as pure truth — in spite of the fact that the man's own description of himself was that he is a liar, a lawbreaker and an undesirable individual from every standpoint.

As a matter of fact, he reveled in describing himself as an expert saboteur and a master of espionage!

GETTING back to the statement above, that we are a most remarkable people, we offer as its proof the fact that Richard Krebs is still enjoying our wonderful—if somewhat misplaced — hospitality.

Furthermore, he apparently expects to be among us for quite some time, since he is attempting to line up a flock of lecture appearances—at $300 per appearance—for the fall.

Already he has picked up some easy dough in lectures at Vernon and Dallas and one of his admitted friends has written the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Texas Tech, suggesting that Krebs be brought here this fall under the sponsorship of either the college or the Junior C. of C.

All The Plainsman has to say is this:

If any organization sponsors the admitted Communist-conspirator in Lubbock, a great many of our people will be thoroughly ashamed of the fact!

This much already is certain:

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will have none of Saboteur Krebs, says that organization's president, Chas. W. Ratliff. "We'll have no truck with Communist racketeers, either past or present," Mr. Ratliff says.

President Clifford B. Jones, of Texas Tech, grows almost choleric at the thought of the college's sponsoring the professional trouble-maker. "Texas Tech," declares Doctor Jones, who hates all foreign "isms" with a vengeance born of loyalty to his country and of common sense, "will not sully its name or reputation by any such undertaking."

So if Conspirator (either past and/or present) Krebs speaks in Lubbock, he'll have to look further for sponsorship.

WITH the Texas Tech gym closed to Krebs, there are only two auditoriums in the city capable of holding a crowd large enough to assure the man of his $300 house demand. One is the Senior High school auditorium. The other is the auditorium of First Baptist church. And unless the sky falls and the oceans turn to sand between now and fall, Jan Valtin-Richard Krebs hasn't got a chance to perform under either of those roofs.

Dr. Carl E. Hereford, pastor of First Baptist church flatly says the Baptist auditorium will not be made available to the junketeer.

"Regardless of Krebs' claims that he is reformed, and now loves the United States," says Doctor Hereford, "our people wouldn't want to do anything to help him speak here."

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district—which group has control of the high school auditorium — is certain neither Krebs nor any of his backers could secure the use of that place.

"I can only speak for myself," said Doctor Hutchinson, "since the matter has not been referred to the board as a whole. But I know the board members and I think I know what their reaction would be. In short, I think they'd say "No," both loud and quick, to letting Krebs have the auditorium at any rental price."

Thus it appears that Krebs is so far behind the 8-ball here that he'll have to look further for green pastures.

Of course, The Plainsman has no idea that Krebs would come here and attempt to slip over any propaganda—Communistic, or otherwise.

The guy is no dummy. He's smart. And doubtless his speeches are full and running over with expressions of love and affection for the United States and our way of life.

But how do we know what he does with the money he picks up from trusting souls who hear his lectures?

Why should any loyal American citizen contribute to the prosperity of a man who admits his efforts — even if all in the past—to aid in overthrowing our government.

And why should law-abiding Americans help smooth the path for an alien illegally in this country?

If we're going to give a criminal a "break," why not give it to someone like the Tennessean doing "life" for murder who put his last $675 in Defense bonds with the remark, "well, if I can't use it, Uncle Sam can!"?

THAT Man on Avenue Q says "to err is human," and so is getting as mad as the very dickens when somebody catches you erring!

The Sacred Dagger

BY RITA MOHLER HANSON
(Copyright, 1941, for The Journal)

YESTERDAY: Anne Willard has been waiting to see how she and the sacred dagger she has been given can be used to free her parents, who are held prisoners by the Asiatic tribe of the Nagaras because the Willards have seen their hidden city, forbidden to outside eyes. And now, suddenly, the Nagaras have burst into the camp and Anne and her friends are breakfasting in preparation for the hard ride to the Nagara country.

CHAPTER 28
WILD RIDE

"It doesn't make sense to me," remarked Larry, shaking his head. "A bunch of more or less intelligent American college people mixed up with mystic daggers and treasure cities and ancient prophecies. Such things just don't happen."

"Then what is it?" Mackey demanded, "a collective nightmare?"

Sherwood grinned. "These tribesmen look real enough and sound real enough and smell real enough to me. Be sure to take extra clothing along—a duffle bag to tie behind the saddle."

"——and your red flannel underwear," advised Mackey. "We're climbing into altitude."

"Did you get the radio going?" Anne asked him.

"Only for a moment. Blaze had exchanged half a dozen words with Shani Lun when that gorilla and his broadsword burst into the room."

Diana looked at Sherwood. "Then you got a chance to call for help."

"Help! Isn't this the Nagara delegation you've been waiting for?"

Philip answered sourly, "We hardly expected a bunch of bandits."

"Sorry, Diana," said Sherwood ignoring him, "I'm afraid my presence is to blame for the rough stuff."

She smiled at him archly. "You seem to inspire banditry, Blaze, wherever you go."

"It's never my intention," he assured her.

She seemed to detect a double meaning in his words, and sat back and looked around the table.

"Perhaps I ought to tell you people," she said with a smile, "that my husband has left me." The men looked embarrassed except for Dr. Martaine, whose cold, colorless face did not change expression. "I'm a free woman," she finished.

"Lines form on the right," muttered Beth. There followed a distressing little silence broken by the appearance of the Nagara chieftain, and the little lama, who drew up behind Anne's chair and spoke.

"He wishes to know which man is yours."

She rose in confusion. "Why, I haven't—" she began and stopped. Then she pointed to Philip Oliver. "This is the man I came to marry."

Philip flushed brightly. Anne could feel disapproval exuding from Doddap. Her glance stole to Sherwood. He was staring at his plate.

The others had also risen. Larry demanded facetiously: "Ask him if he doesn't want to know which one is Beth's man."

"Are you lisping?" his wife giggled nervously.

"I'd pick Doddap as best man," grinned Mackey. "As interpreter he can tell each side whatever he pleases."

Doddap drew himself up angrily. "I tell what comes," he said. "I do not cheat for anyone."

Mackey apologized hastily. Sherwood gave the little fellow an affectionate look.

Anne caught Sherwood's eye. "You see—being in my camp did not protect you from the Nagaras."

"I'm not dead yet," he said, and turned to Diana, who had put a hand on his arm.

Anne ordered the cooks to prepare a lunch for each one. Then the white people were allowed to go to their tents. Dr. Martaine stopped Anne and asked her to intercede that he might go to Chuka instead. She complied but he was refused.

Soldiers led the required number of saddle horses into the courtyard, long haired ponies with flowing tails and manes. A dapple grey, one of two light colored animals in the bunch was assigned to Anne. Philip got the other. Activity had revived everyone's spirits. When they were mounted the chieftain appeared, followed by the giant of a man on a mule. Doddap was called forward to deliver a message.

Marching Orders

"You're to ride in a group at a pace set by his men and anybody causing disturbance or delay will be tied to the saddle!" Diana had never been subjected to such treatment before in her life. Deliberately, she dismounted from her horse.

"I'm not going."

The others looked at her with startled admiration and dismay. The captain understood the action if not the words. He made a motion. The giant swung to his feet, tossed Diana onto her horse. The man began binding her wrists. Anne sent her pony forward beside them.

"Don't do that," she cried.

The fellow understood but kept on with the task. She lifted her whip and struck him across the shoulders. Natives grabbed Diana's frightened horse and held him quiet. The white men spurred forward, expecting trouble. Anne had struck again, but instead of turning on her the man crouched down in acceptance of her blows. She backed away helplessly, and called to Doddap.

"Tell him to give her another chance."

The captain held up one finger and the giant took himself and his rope back to his mule.

Sherwood leaned forward. "I admire your spunk if not your judgment," he grinned. His hands, Anne noticed now for the first time, had been bound to his saddle horn.

She turned to protest again to the captain.

Oliver intercepted the impulse. "Don't," he advised urgently. "Your position isn't secure enough to befriend him."

"But just common decency —" she protested.

"You'll gain nothing for him and endanger the rest of us."

"Is that right?" she asked Mackey, who had overheard them.

"I'm afraid it is," he agreed heavily. They were interrupted by a commotion outside the courtyard. A Chinese rider was brought in and dragged from his horse before the captain.

"He's a dispatch carrier from Chuka," declared Oliver. Doddap explained to the chieftain. The man had brought a letter. The captain took it and handed it to Anne. She saw the missive was a telegraph message for Diana and gave it to her.

"From father," said Diana, and put the envelope into a pocket unopened.

The chieftain gave the command and they filed off across the plain along the edge of the hills until they came to a river that flowed from the glaciers of the Bekkan Hula mountains. It was low now, as the sun had barely begun to warm the winter snows, and edged on the near side by low encroaching dunes and on the far side by a strip of cottonwood forest.

Native troopers had spurred

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

THERE'S NO "WAR PARTY" THIS TIME!

After World War No. 1 was over, the Republican party in the U.S. dubbed its Democratic rival—and with some logic—as "the war party." GOP stalwarts pointed out that President Wilson was re-elected to a second term on the slogan, "He kept us out of war," and then, five weeks after his second inauguration, we entered the European conflict. The charge apparently drew support at the polls, for the Republicans took over again as a result of the 1920 elections.

But today the picture is entirely changed.

While the current Democratic administration is, without a doubt, pledged to belligerency, it is not alone in its goal. Republicans are siding Democrats in high places and are pledged just as strongly as their rivals are to American participation.

Republicans Wendell Willkie, Frank Knox, Henry Stimson and many others see eye-to-eye with Democrats Franklin Roosevelt, Claude Pepper and Joshua Lee in the matter of the nation's foreign policy. In fact, there is such a mixture of parties that in the campaigns to come following the war it will be impossible for the leaders of either party to dub their political rivals as "war mongers."

Whatever will be our domestic political issues when peace comes again, you can bet your bottom dollar none of them will seek to place blame for whatever extent the U.S. may have engaged in the world conflict.

That sort of argument on either side just won't hold water.

Senator "Happy" Chandler Joins The Rank Of Statesmen

Bluegrass State's Entry Becomes Prominent

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 30 — The Honorable Albert Benjamin Chandler, A. B., LL. B., Hon. LL. D., captain of the judge advocate general's department of the U. S. Army, ex-governor of the sovereign state of Kentucky and by grace of gubernatorial appointment and a special election, now junior senator from that great state in the 77th Congress, has just qualified as a statesman. He has successfully floor-managed a major piece of legislation through the upper house, and won the praises of his party chieftains.

EDSON

It was no piddling little bill, either. It was the horrible "property seizure" bill — the bill that was going to cause such a storm of opposition, the bill that would be argued about for months, the bill that might split the country wide open. Senator Chandler jockeyed it over the congressional steeplechase hurdles in just four hours flat.

If all this form talk of the Senator Albert Benjamin Chandler pedigree confuses you a little, just recall that this entry is none other than the brash young colt who, from 1931 to 1937, was hailed by the hopeful voters as "Happy" Chandler. He is the young racehorse who ran in 1938 race for U. S. senator, but whom Trainer Roosevelt caused to finish in the place spot when the administration pinned its colors on "Dear Alben" Barkley.

Wounds Heal Quickly

BUT the wounds from the barbed wire fences of the political pastures heal rapidly, and here is Happy Chandler now, a full-grown stallion, harnessed with old horse Barkley to pull the administration bandwagon.

Happy — now 43 — has been in the Senate less than two years. He was sworn in Oct. 9, 1939, after the death of Senator Logan. Happy hasn't said a great deal in those first two years. He has done a lot of listening, cornering a number of the older and wiser heads and trying to learn from them just how this Washington game is played.

On the Senate floor, Happy has been his usual grimacing, playboy self. He gave no appearances of taking things seriously. He wandered around aimlessly, whispering and wisecracking, or, seating himself directly in front of some spellbinding orator, he has looked up into the speakers' face, pretending to be awed, or else grinning so broadly that even the most orthodox stuffed shirt would suffer discomposure. Happy was, to outward appearance, the Senate clown, the first since Huey Long.

Happy's committees have been good ones for a freshman senator —Judiciary, Military Affairs, Privileges and Elections, Mines and Mining. He has worked on these jobs.

When the West Virginia senatorial succession case came up a few weeks ago, Happy was put in charge of that fight for the Privileges and Elections committee, and he carried it through. He won his first ribbon there.

New Leaders Needed

THE Senate needs fresh young leaders. Harrison and Sheppard have died. Byrnes has gone to the Supreme court. Barkley and George have both been ill. Committee chairmanships are being shifted around. And so, casting around for new talent, the party fathers have apparently hit on Happy Chandler. He is a good buttonholer. He can talk to the gentlemen. He can out-talk the gentlemen.

His managership of the property seizure bill for the Military Affairs committee was no great victory of logic. One of the page boys might have pushed it through, for the original draft of the measure had been killed in committee, and a new and much less obnoxious version was presented to the Senate.

In managing a bill on the floor, victory often goes to the leader who can talk the loudest and longest. From his position, third seat from the center aisle in the back row of the Democratic side, Chandler could face everyone, including three-fourths of the gallery.

He let the debate get pretty far off the subject. Most of the time he was talking about allowing draftees to go home after their first year. He got into a terrible row with Senator Wheeler on that, and came off second best. Josh Lee of Oklahoma, in the chair, had to rule both Wheeler and Chandler out of order.

Anyway, Chandler's side got the bill through, and it is his first big victory as a bill manager on the floor of the Senate. Now he may go far as a party leader. And Pappy O'Daniel is coming from Texas to relieve him of the title of Senate jester.

forward, bunching the riders and increasing their speed until they were going at a headlong pace that terrified Beth, the poorest rider among the women. With a heavy heart Anne watched Mackey looking back anxiously. Sherwood had been kept behind.

They forded the river time and again rather than use the precarious bridges. The initial exhilaration wore off as the hours passed and the pace continued unabated, a relay race, with the horses changed often. Not until long past noon when the river bed had left the plain and cut up into the hills and canyons where the going became more difficult was there a chance for any exchange of words.

Dog House

Anne had settled down to the dull racking misery.

"Poor Beth," she said, riding up beside the two girls ahead of her, "how goes it?"

Beth managed a feeble grin. "I feel so bad that I feel all right. What a mess I got into when I majored in palaeontology and married Larry Huff."

"What a mess we all got into when we joined this expedition," exclaimed Diana.

Anne wanted to say something angry and cutting. Beth caught her eye and winked. "Save your energy and look at Doddap."

The little man rode not far behind nibbling on his cheese in its goatskin wrapping.

"That's a magic cheese," said Beth admiringly. "He's always gnawing on it and it never seems to decrease in size."

Anne smiled. "He must like it better than the lunch Huie fixed for him."

The Nagaras called a halt for rest.

Sundown had brought them up to the edge of a wide valley, an elevated steppe abundantly watered by running streams and beginning to green in the spring sunshine. Here lay a Nagara border village of stone houses and felt tents inclosed in courtyards surrounded by high walls of rock and mud.

A fresh clean yurt had been set up for the Americans in the courtyard of the headman's house. A little brook ran beside it. Anne and Philip were allowed to roam at will and Doddap had somehow managed the same perquisite.

"Sacred cows of India!" Beth called them as she lay groaning on the felts and furs that floored their yurt. "Not that I care. I wouldn't move if I could."

Philip took the lama off with him to explore the town.

Anne stepped out and watched the last contingent of travelers ride in. Sherwood, his hands still bound, was led stumbling into a tiny stone hut in one corner of the court. A guard was placed at the door.

"Dog house," said Mackey at her shoulder.

She turned and stared at him, biting her lips in distress.

"Pete, is there anything I can do about it?"

"We might go over and see."

She went inside the yurt, and picked up a big bearskin robe to take to him. The young guard bowed to Anne respectfully but refused them admission, his hand on the door bolt. She reached out to draw his hand away. He snatched it off before she could touch him and drew back in fright, verifying what she had begun to suspect.

"These people are afraid for me to touch them. Do they think I'm contaminating?"

"Sacred, likely; it's often the same thing."

She smiled at the young guard. He smiled back shyly.

FACES IN BRITAIN'S WAR NEWS—At left is Gen. Claude Auchinleck who has replaced Gen. Archibald Wavell as commander-in-chief of British forces in middle-east. Wavell will take Auchinleck's post as commander of troops in India. At right is Pilot Officer Gregory Daymond, 19, "Baby of the Eagle Squadron", Britain's new air hero who shot down a German plane over Lille, France as the American unit drew its first blood.

DATE ODDITY
Fatal to rulers of Germany have been the '40 years. In 1440, Emperor Frederick I died; George William in 1640; Frederick William I in 1740, and Frederick III in 1840.

The copyright law provides that two copies of every book published in the United States be placed in the Library of Congress.

THE WOMAN'S VOTE
MANILA (AP)—Filipino women, given the vote in 1937, are increasingly exercising their right. In 1940 about one-third of registered electors were women.

The British home guard is reported to number 1,750,000 men.

Sales Campaign For Defense Is Planned

A systematic purchase of defense stamps and bonds was urged for employes of Lubbock business establishments, when a defense bond committee met Tuesday night in the chamber of commerce.

The committee, headed by George E. Benson, outlined a plan similar to that adopted by other Texas cities and counties. The plan has been approved by the state administration.

Letters will be sent to all employers in the county, enclosing a card to be remitted with the individuals' reply as to willingness to cooperate. Each will be asked to request his employes to allow him to appropriate a certain amount of each pay check to purchase of bonds or stamps.

The committee described the method as systematic savings and investment plan.

Attending were H. L. Allen, W W. Condray, L. C. Ellis, Neil H. Wright and Carl E. Slaton of Lubbock, Henry Mahoney of Shallowater and Kirby Scudder of Slaton, in addition to Benson.

Sales Of Gas Still Climb

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, July 30 — Gasoline sales continued to climb in the east despite the transportation difficulties and oil circles here believe Petroleum Coordinator Ickes may soon sponsor government action to conserve supplies.

Ickes' plea for conservation of gasoline in the eastern states has failed to produce the desired 33 1-3 per cent saving. With defense industry booming and more motorists on the roads on their annual vacation jaunts, seven large eastern companies reported a sales gain of 1,500,000 gallons of gasoline for the week.

Rationing Is Hinted

Unless voluntary conservation begins to produce results, Ickes said it might become necessary to use some system of involuntary rationing. New York oil men expect that such a step would not come until after Labor day, and that the first step would be closing of filling stations 12 hours daily.

Ickes also has indicated that fuel oil supplies might also be limited immediately.

The first move toward constructing a new 1,560-mile pipeline from East Texas to the east got underway this week with the letting of a contract for an aerial survey of the route.

The new line — a $70,000,000 venture — would funnel 250,000 barrels of crude oil daily into the New York-Philadelphia area. Under the most favorable conditions, oil men expect it could be completed in about 10 months.

Completions Rejected

In the field the Oil and Gas Journal reported 647 completions for the week, compared to 687 the previous week and 653 a year ago.

Drilling in eastern fields, Kansas, the Rocky mountain area, eastern Texas and Nebraska is running well ahead of last year, and in Oklahoma, West Texas, north Louisiana and Arkansas drilling operations are slightly ahead.

Wildcatting apparently is being carried on at an accelerated pace, with the mid-continent area being stimulated not only by better crude prices but by improving markets.

Street Dance To Be Staged Here Tonight

You can put on your dancing shoes.

Two or three hundred persons from Post will be here tonight for an 8 o'clock street dance in a roped-off space adjacent to the city hall.

Giles Connell, prominent Post resident and president of Post's rodeo association, in interest of which the trip will be made, said Hop Halsey's string band would play.

A police escort will meet the trippers, and capacity crowds are expected to dance.

The rodeo, Friday and Saturday, will be staged in a $4,000 plant that seats 3,000 persons.

Randolph Fliers To Go To California

SACRAMENTO, July 30 (AP) — Mather field officers said today that "within a few days" Randolph field, Tex., will transfer seven school squadrons totaling 1,400 men to the army's fast-growing advanced flying school here.

A detachment of 350 selectees will precede the main complement into camp. Other supplementary groups expected are company B, 292nd quartermaster regiment, and company P, 34th quartermaster regiment, both from Atlanta, Ga.

A roster check today showed a personnel of 1,088 men at the post, including 134 officers, 830 enlisted men and 124 aviation cadets. Officers said a total of approximately 3,000 men will be stationed at Mather field by Aug. 15.

VARIETY OF FISH

In North Carolina waters, 345 species of fish are to be found: 209 salt water varieties; 125 fresh water, and 11 salt and fresh water species.

NOTHING IMPORTANT

One of the most important advances ever made in the science of computation was the Hindu invention of the zero symbol to represent nothing.

ADVERTISING PLANNED

HOLLYWOOD, July 30 (AP) — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios announced today that their new budget contained a newspaper advertising appropriation of $2,500,000. Howard Dietz, executive in charge of production, estimated the advertising, to be placed in 145 papers, would reach 31,000,000 readers.
