Mr. Hank O'Neil, a long-time resident of Burkburnett, was found dead at his home early Thursday morning.

Rev. L. F. Jones To Preach On 85th Birthday

October 8th Rev. L. F. Jones, a resident of Burkburnett for the past eighteen years will preach at the First Methodist Church at 3 P. M. This will be his eighty-fifth birthday and will climax fifty years of active ministry and fifty-seven years of work in the licensed ministry of Methodism.

A native of Parker County, just North of Fort Worth, Rev. Jones spent most of his life in Parker, Jack, Wise, Montague and Wichita Counties. He has held many brush arbor revivals and enjoys a shouting experience meeting such as were prevalent throughout the history of Methodism.

From 1896 until 1940 Brother Jones worked in the Methodist Protestant church, which is a branch of the uniting groups that formed the Methodist Church in 1940. He pastored the Paradise circuit four different times and has had a large influence over that entire section of Texas.

This service is being held at 3 P. M. in order that his many friends from the other denominations may come to hear him preach without missing services in their own churches.

8th Grade News

Mr. Lawrence of the Curtis Publishing Company, gave our class a very interesting talk Tuesday morning. He told stories about our fighting men, and explained why it is so important to save paper and tin.

Mr. Lawrence also told us of a plan to earn money for our 8th grade banquet by selling magazine subscriptions.

Two new students have enrolled since school opened. They are Robert Lawson and Wayne Gee. We know there is a shortage of chewing gum, but that does not worry John, does it? For he seems to have found a very satisfactory substitute. John what did Mr. Lawrence say about saving paper?

We hope all of us 8th graders get to attend the County Fair at Iowa Park. It is sure to be interesting and educational, also fun.

Until next week, your reporter, Wanda Lee Hicks.

J. K. Matthews of Gainesville, Texas was a business visitor here Monday and Tuesday.

P. A. Wiggins got short of breath Monday and was taken to a local hospital for treatment. Tuesday he was moved to a Wichita Falls hospital to have a card-o-graph made and for observation. It is expected that he will soon be at home again.

U. S. O. Hall To Hold Religious Services Sunday

The U. S. O. Hall has made plans to hold Religious services each Sunday evening at five o'clock. This is a new addition to the activities scheduled for the boys, and is expected to bring new interests to the hall.

The standing preacher for the hall is Bill Munson, however, visiting preachers are expected to carry on the work with Rev. Munson. Mrs. M. E. Lewallen has been selected as the musical director for the services.

Sunday, October 1, Pvt. Oren L. Sutter, of Sheppard Field will lead the singing, and give several piano numbers. He is expected to bring the Sheppard Field Glee Club consisting of 30 members, which will be something inspirational to all who attend.

The management of the religious organization has asked that any one with talent who would be interested in helping with the programs, please contact Mrs. M. E. Lewallen.

The public as well as each boy in uniform is cordially invited to attend the services each Sunday evening.

O. D. Wortham To Lead Community Prayer Service

The Community Prayer Service which has been meeting at the First Methodist Church for the past six months has been moved to the First Baptist Church because of a redecoration program. Community Prayer services will be led by O. D. Wortham Tuesday night at 8:30 at the First Baptist Church. These services are in behalf of these in the Armed Services and the public is invited to attend.

Sam Nixon led one of the best services we have had last Tuesday night and had a number of special songs including a solo by Mrs. Boyd I. DeVore.

Dr. C. J. Morrison, left a Wichita Falls hospital Tuesday morning to return home and recuperate. He was in the hospital a week and is much improved.

Mrs. Sam Cope has been confined to her bed for a week following a severe attack of hay fever and other complications. It is hoped that she will be up in a few more days.

Owens & Brumley announce the purchase of the Phillips Funeral Home in Fort Worth, located at 425 South Henderson St. This brings to five the number of homes now owned and operated by Owens & Brumley. The Phillips Home is the third largest Funeral Home in Ft. Worth.

The firm of Owens & Brumley was founded in Burkburnett 25 years ago by R. D. Owens and the late J. H. Brumley. Since Mr. Brumley's death, Harold Van-Loh has been active in the conduct of the business with Mr. Owens.

In its early beginning, the firm was housed in a small frame building. By carefully considering the need of its patrons, and fulfilling those needs with an honest and understanding service, the partnership of Owens & Brumley enjoyed a steady growth from the beginning. The policy of fair-dealing, courteous treatment and improved service was accepted by the public with full faith and confidence, and that basic policy has guided the firm in its growth to the present time.

In 1937 Owens & Brumley built a modern Funeral Home in Burkburnett that compares with any in the State of Texas. It was carefully planned and arranged and thoughtfully furnished to patrons. A modern chapel is provided for those who desire its use. A service may be conducted without disturbance, and dignity and understanding rule.

The acquisition of the Home in Fort Worth brings to five the total homes now owned and operated by Owens & Brumley. Besides the Homes in Fort Worth and Burkburnett, there is one in Wichita Falls, located at 106 Ninth Street. The home office of the company is located in Wichita Falls at 822 Scott Street. They also have Homes in Archer City and Bowie.

In 1933 the Owens & Brumley Benefit Association was organized to provide low-cost insurance to defray and help defray expenses incurred by the burial of deceased members of the Association. In ten years after its organization, the Owens & Brumley Benefit Association had grown to be one of the largest organizations of its kind in the State. Over 50,000 policies have been written. Reason for the rapid growth was realization on part of the public of the worth of such protection and faith in the firm offering it. This low-cost insurance has given thousands the opportunity to have services that would not have been within their means had they not had this protection.

Each of the five modern homes is equipped with the finest ambulances, hearses and emergency cars available. Each has a nice chapel and other conveniences for the use of its patrons.

The Homes are staffed by efficient personnel, trained in the conduct of funerals. An understanding and personal interest is shown each client.

Cecil Todd underwent a major operation in a Wichita Falls hospital ten days ago and is making satisfactory improvement. He will not plan to go back to work for several weeks, but hopes to be home from the hospital next week.

Last Sunday morning was promotion day in all departments of the Church School at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Clyde Boggs had led in working out a program in the Children's Division and Mrs. J. P. Kurtzweil led the Children's Choir in singing four numbers. Each Junior led a sentence prayer and the Primary Division read a litany and had a prayer. The Beginners, who are all pre-school children had their part well prepared. Mother Majors' work was commended with the Nursery for the past thirty-seven years. She has several helpers who also keep the Nursery during the morning worship service.

More than two hundred and sixty were present to worship with the Children's Division, and the fifty-five white robes given the children's choir by Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Theatres To Show On Day Of Germany's Defeat

David Perdue, manager of the local theatres, wishes to state that the theatres will observe their regular opening and closing hours as usual on the day that the defeat of Germany is announced. The war will not be over then. It is just another step to complete victory, according to Mr. Perdue.

There will be a city-wide program following the announcement that Germany has been defeated. After this program, there may be those who wish to attend the theatre. Hence this explanation.

Prayers by night—Bonds by day.

Dr. Sullivan To Receive Special Training In Chicago

Dr. H. C. Sullivan is reported to be planning to leave for Chicago on Friday of this week to take special training in order that he can better serve our community. He came here directly from Medical School and has given increasing service to the welfare of this community. Everyone is glad to let him go for a month in order that he may keep abreast of the very latest developments in his field.

This is a policy pursued by many doctors. They take brief refresher courses frequently instead of taking six months or a year for special study once or twice during their life-time. We hope this will give Dr. Sullivan at least a change and some of the well-earned rest he has coming.

It is good to see Mr. S. S. Regier back at work after several months in bed. He is not fully recovered, but all are glad he can carry on at least a part of his former work.

NO SIT DOWN FOR GERMANS

It is hoped that when the unconditional surrender comes from Germany, it will be with an authorized command doing the surrendering. We can even now remember the surrender of Badoglio and how he could only concede parts of the army since the Italians didn't give up. It consequently took us practically a year to take a country that had presumably surrendered. So when Germany is defeated we must have proof that it is an over-all surrender. Those who will act as representative of all the government, must willingly arrest the leaders of the Nazi party, the Gestapo and all of those criminals that the Allied Nations feel should be delivered into their hands for just punishment. It is also necessary that Germans, after the war, shall not be allowed to passively sit by while the invasion forces feed them, work to clean up their political mess, wipe out the Nazi party power, police the territory for order. Germans should do part of this job themselves, since it means that if the majority of them are inclined to rebuild the nation, to restore homes, their right to freedom by proving they want liberty, they then can convince the world that Nazism is at an end, terrorism repelled. To make them want to do it is one thing, to see that they do it another. They are going to be hard to convince, but it is up to the Germans to show us.

LOOKING AHEAD

Food administration officials mention that the future outlook for beef for Burk Burnett households, is to point to a poorer grade and fewer cuts. The WFA had previously asked for 50 per cent of beef of Army grade. Now slaughterers, operating under the Federal inspection, are asked to set aside 60 per cent. The quality of beef reaching the market is of such poor grade that the armed forces can't get enough to supply them under the 50 per cent order. This gives you an idea of next winter's supply chance. In many parts of the country sugar supplies are at an all-time low. It is predicted that the Cuban sugar supply will be less. They will take a large tonnage of raw sugar for alcohol for synthetic rubber. We see sweetness curtailed a bit, but we still will be a long ways off of a hardship standard.

SOUNDS GOOD HERE!

A local lad overseas writes home that one of the friendliest sights and smells he has encountered since he went away, the recent aroma and taste of home-made bread. Far as most of us are concerned there couldn't be anything that would make one long for home much more than that item. They still use the old tried recipes of long ago, which still aren't excelled by modern cooks. Some folks started in the night before to mix and set the bread for the next day's baking. You recall the appearance of that heap of dough that had grown to double its size, puffed to overflowing its container. Remember the snow white towel that covered it from drafts and that yeast aroma that foretold of buttered slices of deliciousness to come. Some of the dough went into breakfast rolls with a sugary goo that was augmented by a sprinkling of cinnamon. Heaven help the hip line on a day like that. Let's stop at the store on the way home and take Mother a yeast cake for remembrance—and who knows what might happen.

Rotary Club Had Perfect Attendance 16 Present

Last Tuesday the Rotary Club had a perfect attendance with a total of thirty-six in attendance. The program was given by Fred Boden dealing with Russia. Thos. Boyd has the program for next week.

George McClarty and Boyd I. DeVore have been publishing The Rotary Boomer which is sent to each member to be received on Monday announcing the program for the Tuesday meeting. It has done much to stimulate interest and attendance in the meetings. The good meals provided by Mrs. Jackson and the Burk Burnett water do their part to draw visitors from Wichita Falls also.

The Club has been buying glasses, medicine, clothes and other things needed by certain school children for whom other provisions have not been made. The club is in every sense a Service Club and holds Service as its first object.

Burn Alexander was elected Rotary Club representative on the Teen Canteen Executive Committee.

Albert Cecil underwent an operation in the Wichita General Hospital, Monday, Sept. 18. He is reported doing fine.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS ...

"That's really a great editorial you just read to us, Judge. Where did you say it appeared?"
"In 'The Stars and Stripes'...the newspaper of the U.S. Armed Forces in Europe. Kind of gives us folks back home something to think about, doesn't it, Bill?"
"It certainly does, Judge. Particularly the last paragraph. Would you mind reading that again?"
"Glad to, Bill. It says, 'We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers, crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result, we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those at home should wait until we return before initiating further legislation on liquor control.'"

"Out of fairness to our boys over there fighting, Judge, how could we disobey such a wish?"

T-B Association Studying Seal Sale Methodist This Week

Mrs. Irene Ligon, Executive Secretary of the Wichita County T-B. Association, went with Mrs. Jewel Terrell Butler, President, and H. S. Gray, County Seal Sale Chairman to a meeting in Fort Worth this week to lay plans for the State and Nation-Wide T-B. Seal sale campaign to be conducted just before Christmas.

Rev. Boyd I. DeVore, local seal sale chairman, was to have gone, but was sick and unable to attend.

Seal sales over the nation were well above former years last year and the need is still great. Now that the Local Association is buying an X-ray for this use in the county, many new cases will be discovered in the early stages and several lives should be saved in the local county each year from this early diagnosis and treatment. There is a terrible need in our state for more beds for T-B patients. There is urgent need for 9,000 beds for those cases already known to exist and there are only 4,000 beds available in the state. As the early diagnosis campaign progresses there will be need for many other beds and it is the goal of the County Association to procure a sanatorium in our own county as soon as feasible.

Mrs. Hugh Veach, mother, from Marlow, Okla. left Thursday for her home after a few days visit here.

Bill Wood came in last Friday from Galveston where he had been for an examination of his eyes. He has been working at the American Manufacturing Co. of Texas, located at Fort Worth, for the past year and one-half. His job is to inspect the cases for 75m shells, and since experienced inspectors are scarce, Bill has been putting in some long hours. Last week he worked 88 hours. Regardless of the fact that Bill doesn't have his sight, he has been making a good hand. The hours are beginning to tell on Bill. He has lost some fifty pounds of weight. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood of Burk Burnett.

Dr. Carl Morrison is a patient in the Wichita General Hospital where he is receiving medical attention.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.

O. The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for October 1

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

LESSON TEXT—John 9:1-7, 13, 34-41. GOLDEN TEXT—I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in the darkness, but shall have the light of life—John 8:12.

Light is a fascinating subject for study, and especially is that true when we speak of spiritual light. In the lessons of the next three months we are to see the light which Christ sheds on the problems of life today.

How appropriate to begin that study by recognizing Christ as the one true "light of the world." He it is who brought us out of darkness, and it is from His light that we too are lighted and become God's lights in this wicked world (Matt. 5:14-16).

The story which presents our Lord as the light and the light giver is that of the man born blind. Four choices confront us.

I. Guesswork or God's Glory (vv. 1-5).

Men have an inordinate curiosity about those who are handicapped or crippled. Even the disciples of Jesus had fallen into the sad tendency of seeing in one who needed their help, a case for theological speculation rather than one in whom God's glory could be revealed.

Need without power to help is a depressing thing, and may encourage man to a bit of scientific or religious guesswork. Here is a specimen—let us examine it. How did this happen? Who was responsible? But when we know the power of God, guessing and theorizing is gone. Here is help!

Jesus declared a great truth here—suffering is not necessarily the result of sin, nor for the purpose of judgment or punishment. This man was here that God might show His grace and power.

Those who suffer in our day may be the means of declaring God's glory, either by His deliverance from pain and sorrow, or by His grace to bear the burden graciously and for His glory.

II. Impossibility or Obedience (vv. 6-7).

"Clay cannot bring sight to a man's eyes—anyone knows that! All such a covering can do is to make the darkness of sightless eyes even more impenetrable." The blind man might have reasoned that way. He would have been entirely logical in so doing—and he would have gone right on being blind.

It is possible to thrust from you God's richest blessing by insisting that God's work be done in accord with your ability to understand.

But the blind man chose the obedience of faith—"he went . . . and washed, and came seeing." Jesus is the light of the world to those who will believe. The blind man found it so—we may also find it to be true, if we will believe. The impossible becomes possible—with God, for "with God all things are possible." Jesus said it (Matt. 19:26); let us believe it and act on it.

III. Controversy or Confession (vv. 13, 34-38).

This is a great chapter, one in which we see the glory of faith contrasted with the controversial smallness of unbelieving men. The Pharisees were religious men, but they hated Jesus (a combination possible even in our day), so they sought in every possible way to discredit Him, to deny the miracle, and to destroy the one who was healed.

Against that dark background the light of this man's faith shines the more brightly. The more they tried to confuse him, the deeper they entrapped themselves, as he answered in simple faith.

Testimony is a tremendously effective thing, even though it must cling to the elementary and blessed truth "I was blind, now I see" (v. 25). But note that he went on, and under the tender ministry of Jesus, he received his spiritual, as well as his physical, sight. "I believe"—what majestic words, what transforming words, what world-shaking words! Friend, do you believe on Christ? If not, will you do it right now?

IV. Healing or Hardening (vv. 39-41).

The same sun which softens the wax hardens the mud. The light which attracts some out of the dark places causes others to shrink farther into the shadows lest they have to give up their dark deeds and thoughts.

So it was in this case. The blind man who had faith, saw, and that sight was the sight of the soul as well as of the body. But the embittered Pharisees were only hardened in their sin. Because they boasted of their spiritual sight which made the ministry of Jesus unnecessary (as they thought!), there was nothing for Him to do but to leave them in their darkness.

The light of Christ, which is to shine on the problems of life in the lessons of the three months ahead of us, will either bring men to the light in faith, or confirm them in their unbelief. Which is it to be in your case and in that of those to whom you minister?

Hungry Paris Rejoices At Liberation From Nazis

Last Three Weeks of Occupation Prove Decided Hardship on City

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Although Ernie Pyle is now in England and headed home for a much-needed rest after two and one-half years on the fighting front, this column was written before he left France.)

By Ernie Pyle

PARIS.—Eating has been skimpy in Paris through the four years of German occupation, but reports that people were on the verge of starvation apparently were untrue.

The country people of Normandy all seemed so healthy and well fed that we said all along: "Well, country people always fare best, but just wait till we get to Paris. We'll see real suffering there."

Of course the people of Paris have suffered during these four years of darkness. But I don't believe they have suffered as much physically as we had thought.

Certainly they don't look bedraggled and gaunt and pitiful, as the people of Italy did. In fact they look to me just the way you would expect them to look in normal times.

However, the last three weeks before the liberation really were rough. For the Germans, sensing that their withdrawal was inevitable, began taking everything for themselves.

There is very little food in Paris right now. The restaurants either are closed or serve only the barest meals—coffee and sandwiches. And the "national coffee," as they call it, is made from barley and is about the vilest stuff you ever tasted. France has had nothing else for four years.

If you were to take a poll on what the average Parisian most wants in the way of little things, you would probably find that he wants real coffee, soap, gasoline and cigarettes.

Eating is the biggest problem right now for us correspondents. The army hasn't yet set up a mess. We can't even get our rations cooked in our hotel kitchens, on account of the gas shortage.

So we just eat cold K-rations and 10-in-1 rations in our rooms. For two days most of us were so busy we didn't eat at all, and on the morning after the liberation of Paris some of the correspondents were actually so weak from not eating that they could hardly navigate.

But the food situation should be relieved within a few days. The army is bringing in 3,000 tons of food right away for the Parisians. That is only about two pounds per person, but it will help.

In little towns only 10 miles from Paris you can get eggs and wonderful dinners of meat and noodles. Food does exist, and now that transportation is open again Paris should be eating soon.

Autos were almost nonexistent on the streets of Paris when we arrived. That first day we met an English girl who had been here throughout the war, and we drove her for some distance in our jeep. She was as excited as a child, and said that was her first ride in a motorcar in four years. We told her that it wasn't a motorcar, that it was a jeep, but she said it was a motorcar to her.

Outside of war vehicles, a few French civilian cars were running when we arrived but they were all in official use in the fighting. All of these had "FFI" (French Forces of the Interior) painted in rough white letters on the fenders, tops and sides.

Although it appears that the Germans did conduct themselves fairly properly up until the last few weeks, the French really detest them. One woman told me that for the first three weeks of the occupation the Germans were fine but that then they turned arrogant. The people of Paris simply tolerated them and nothing more.

The Germans did perpetrate medieval barbarities against leaders of the resistance movement and their plight became more and more desperate. But what I'm driving at is that the bulk of the population of Paris—the average guy who just gets along no matter who is here—didn't really fare too badly from day to day. It was just the things they heard about and the fact of being under a bullheaded and arrogant thumb, that created the smoldering hatred for the Germans in the average Parisian's heart.

You can get an idea how they feel from a little incident that occurred the first night we were here.

We put up at a little family sort of hotel in Montparnasse. The landlady took us up to show us our rooms. A cute little French maid came along with her.

As we were looking around the room the landlady opened a wardrobe door, and there on a shelf lay a German soldier's cap that he had forgotten to take.

The landlady picked it up with the tips of her fingers, held it out at arm's length, made a face, and dropped it on a chair.

Whereupon the little maid reached up with her pretty foot and gave it a huge kick that sent it sailing across the room.

In Paris we had slept in beds and walked on carpeted floors for the first time in three months.

It was a beautiful experience, and yet for some perverse reason a great inner feeling of calm and relief came over us when we once again set up our cots in a tent, with apple trees for our draperies and only the green grass for a rug.

Hank Correll of the United Press was with me, and he said:

"This is ironic, that we should have to go back with the armies to get some peace."

The gaiety and charm and big-cityness of Paris somehow had got a little on our nerves after so much of the opposite. I guess it indicates that all of us will have to make our return to normal life gradually and in small doses.

Paris unquestionably is a lovely city. It seems to me to have been but little hurt by the war. You can still buy almost anything imaginable if you have money. Everybody is well-dressed. But prices are terrific, and already they have started zooming higher.

Those of us who expect to be coming home before long have made shopping tours and stocked up with gifts. And with the exception of perfume, which is dirt cheap, we pay about three times what we would at home for the same thing.

I'm sorry the restaurants couldn't open before we left. For although I'm not much of a gourmet I do value the sense of taste, and we've eaten enough meals in private homes and small-town restaurants over here to realize that it's all true about the French culinary genius.

They simply have a knack for making any old thing taste wonderful, just as the British have a knack for making everything taste horrible.

We thought there were a lot of people on the streets those first two days. But you should have seen Paris a few days later, when the whole populace began to come out. By mid-afternoon it is almost impossible to drive in the streets because of the bicycles. They take up the entire street, as far as you can see. The sidewalks are packed. It's like Christmas shopping time at home.

Within three days Paris was transformed from a city cracking and roaring with brief warfare into a city entirely at peace. Within three days Paris was open for business as usual, and its attitude toward the war reminded me of Cairo after its threat of danger had gone.

As usual, those Americans most deserving of seeing Paris will be the last ones to see it, if they ever do. By that I mean the fighting soldiers. Only one infantry regiment and one reconnaissance outfit of Americans actually came into Paris, and they passed on through the city quickly and went on with their war.

The first ones in the city to stay were such non-fighters as the psychological-warfare and civil-affairs people, public-relations men and correspondents.

"All officers and men will advance to kill or be killed"

THIS IS NO DREAMED-UP HEADLINE—no "tone poem" conceived on an inspired typewriter. It's the way the army explains the command "Fix bayonets—charge!" Only the Infantry has it put to them in these words. As one doughboy said:

"I'll remember those eleven words the rest of my life."

Remember? How can he forget them? They describe the climax of the Infantryman's assault—they describe the most cold-blooded action on a battlefield. Yet Infantry officers and men have advanced, countless times, to kill or be killed . . . at Saratoga . . . at New Orleans . . . the Argonne . . . New Guinea . . . Salerno. There's no rescinding of this order—no retreating—no nothing but plain killing.

Right now, the men of the Infantry are closing in for the final kill. They're advancing every day—advancing to the order of "kill or be killed." Remember this the next time you see a doughboy on furlough. Remember this the next time you almost forget to write that letter. Remember it till your dying day. You can't pay the doughboy back—but at least you can be forever mindful of his role in this fight for freedom.

"Keep your eye on the Infantry—THE DOUGHBOY DOES IT!"

Front-Line Medics Deserve Pay Hike

The last time I was with the front-line medics—a battalion detachment in the Fourth division—they showed me a piece in the Stars and Stripes about congress passing the new $10-a-month pay increase for soldiers holding the combat infantrymen's badge.

This combat infantry badge is a proud thing, a mark of great distinction, a sign on a man's chest to show that he has been through the mill. The medical aidmen were feeling badly because the piece said they were not eligible for the badge.

Their captain asked me what I thought, and so did some of the enlisted aidmen. And I could tell them truthfully that my feelings agreed with theirs. They should have it.

Methodist Plan Attendance Campaign

Next Sunday is World-Wide Communion Sunday. The First Methodist Church observes the Lord's Supper each First Sunday and is planning to hold a special service in observance of the World-Wide Communion Sunday.

This service is to be the beginning of an attendance campaign in an effort to get every resident member of The Methodist Church to attend the services. World-Wide Communion Covenant cards are being sent to the membership to be signed and left during the service next Sunday. The card is a covenant of a complete dedication to Christ and a declaration of purpose to attend at least one service each Sunday for at least the next six weeks.

Those who are sick or cannot attend are to be visited through the Home Department and provided Church School and Devotional Literature. Probably less than ten percent of the entire membership is inactive at the present time, but many do not attend every Sunday.

The attendance campaign climaxes in a Family Sunday when families will be asked to attend and sit together on November 5th.

Mrs. Clara Vernon and daughter, who have previously made their home with Mrs. Vernons parents Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitehead, who reside on the Hardin lease, South-west of the city, are now residing with Mrs. Vernon's sister in law, Mrs. Clinton Oats at 1404 Waugh Drive in Houston, Texas. Mrs. Oats' husband was killed in action some where in France recently. Mrs. Vernon is employed with a Freight line in Houston.

Mrs. Claude Bowman, left Tuesday for California, where she will visit with relatives for a month.

$637,548; Tuskegee Institute, $404,256; Georgia's Warm Springs Foundation, $825,000; total $6,508,475.

From the first four Celebrations of the President's Birthday, which occurred prior to the establishment of the National Foundation, came a total of $3,364,217. Of the sum, $1,655,825 remained in the counties where raised to provide medical care for those afflicted with the disease; $1,467,392 went to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. Celebrations were originally conceived, and $241,000 was given to a commission to be used for scientific research.

Estimating that the National Foundation and its Chapters have expended more than $1,000,000 up to September 1 on the 1944 epidemic alone, Mr. O'Connor declared: "What the full cost of this epidemic will be we do not know, but certainly, in addition to what it totals this year, there will be the necessity of caring for many of its victims in years to come, meanwhile continuing the care for those of former years."

"But we do know that any scientific program, however costly, will be inexpensive and economical in the end for it will some day develop the means that will permit us to cure and prevent this crippling malady. The American people and their National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are determined that day will come."

Christian Science Services

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientists, on Sunday, September 24.

The Golden Text is: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" (Matthew 5:48.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is the creator of man, and the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect" (page 470.)

Know How...

274 Years of It!

Two hundred and seventy-four years in the natural gas business!

Think of it—more than two and one-half centuries of knowledge and experience. That takes us back to more than sixty years before George Washington was born . . . to a century before our nation was established in the name of liberty and freedom.

This extensive span of years represents the combined years of service in the natural gas business of the eleven district managers of our companies.

That's a long, long time! It accounts for the "know how" so necessary in maintaining dependable natural gas service. And now this experience and knowledge, united with that of all our employees, are dedicated to the war effort . . . protecting and making secure the liberty and freedom that are our American heritage.

Helping to win the war is STILL our No. 1 Job!

Haley Took Riding Lessons for Movie

Jack Haley spent quite some time getting on speaking terms with horses for a role in his new picture.

Inasmuch as he not only had to act like a horse but also to perform a difficult riding feat in his starring role in Paramount's Pine Thomas musical, "Take It Big" Haley decided it best to investigate equus caballus. Hence, for a week, the comedian rented a horse and learned how to ride on the Beverly Hills bridal trails.

Boston-born, Haley explained that he had been strictly a city dweller and his previous knowledge of horses was of a theoretical nature.

In the picture he does a comic vaudeville horse act and later does a spectacular riding scene requiring considerable horsemanship.—Palace Theatre, Tuesday only.

Trinity Lutheran Announcements

People everywhere are speaking about the evil, distressing conditions in the world. It is important to know at this time that evil can be cut to a minimum through the power of the Cross. Evil will come into life and history. We are not yet in heaven. However, by going to the cross for strength and for pardon, we make the periods of evil shorter and shorter. The difference between saints and sinners is not that the saints stand and the sinners fall, but that the saints rise again to march on to a life that by the mercy of God becomes more brave and more holy as the years pass.

Come and worship at the Lutheran Church for new strength, new hope, and new joy!
