HAPPY FAMILY IN NEWLY-FOUND 'LOST WORLD'

These five people constitute a perfectly happy family in the opinion of Dr. Paul A. Zahl, scientist from Union college, Schenectady, N. Y. They are Indian residents of a "lost world" which he discovered in British Guiana. There, Dr. Zahl reported, everybody lives harmoniously without warfare or strife.

1,600-FOOT WATERFALL IN UTOPIA

Deep in the jungles of the Mount Roraima region of British Guiana, Dr. Paul Zahl of Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., discovered a "new world." Dr. Zahl suggests the community, inhabited by Indians living in Utopian harmony, as possible haven for European refugees. Ten times as high as Niagara, waterfall on the Uitshi river, above, falls 1,600 feet, and were about 200 feet wide at the brink when discovered in January, the dry season.

Officials To Be Guests At C-C Luncheon

Magician Will Show His Tricks At 2 Tuesday Meetings

Aviation and weather reporting will be the theme at the regular monthly luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Board of City Development next Thursday at the First Methodist church basement.

Officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau and of the Civil Aeronautics Authority who are here to open the weather reporting station at the Pampa Airport will be special guests and will explain the service to be offered at the local port.

The program will be in charge of the BCD aviation committee composed of R. G. Allen, chairman, Fred Thompson, C. H. Walker, Bert Howell, and M. A. Graham.

A special entertainment feature has been assured through the cooperation of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute. Bob Clark, of Erick, Oklahoma, popular magician, who has appeared on luncheon and dinner programs in this territory before, will be here for the API meeting in the evening. Through arrangement with Walter Biery, chairman of the API chapter, Clark will give a program showing his latest trick at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

The weather station will be complete and ready to begin giving service the day following the luncheon, according to A. R. Lowery, of Kansas City, with the weather bureau, who has been here since last Saturday installing equipment and getting ready for the opening. Others of the weather bureau expected at the luncheon will be James R. Moreland of Gainesville, who is moving to Pampa to be in charge of the station here; John E. Harrison, J. Early Douglas and John C. Litten, who will likewise be stationed here.

R. W. Beisel of the communications division of the Civil Aeronautics Authority of Fort Worth, who has been here the past several days installing teletype and other equipment will tell of the work of the CCA and the service to be rendered in connection with the local station.

Party-Dance To Be Held Here Tonight

Chinese checkers, dominoes, puzzles, card games and dancing will be the amusements at a sport-tog party-dance to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the American Legion hut. Although sponsored by the WPA recreation project, the party-dance will be open to the public.

The dance is the second in a series of dances sponsored by Pampa's recreation project of which Mrs. Rosemary Roach is superintendent. The dance will be chaperoned by project workers and members of the Pampa Kiwanis club.

Use of the building for the young folks has been donated by the local American Legion post and dances are to be held from 7:30 o'clock to midnight on the second and fourth Friday nights of each month.

"Singin' Sam," pianist, and a combination phonograph-radio will provide the music for tonight's party.

Hostesses will be Helen Harris, Mildred Davis and Matty Sue Cook.

Four Petitions For Divorces Dismissed

A variation in the usual run of divorce cases in 31st district court here was executed Thursday, when four divorce actions were dismissed on motion of the plaintiffs "who did not wish to further prosecute the case."

Thursday marked the conclusion of the 10-week January term. As the last week is non-jury, divorce cases predominate.

Five divorce decrees were granted Thursday, the cases being Malcolm Ray Albertson vs. Beatrice Albertson, Barbara Harvey vs. Elbert Hershel Harvey, W. W. Gregory vs. Elizabeth Gregory, and Goldie Ash vs. Edgar Ash. In the latter case, custody of the six children of the couple was awarded the defendant.

All WPA Projects Must Have Safety Posters Up At Site

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10 (AP)—The WPA has some rules that apply to all projects alike, whether they require blasting or fiddling.

One of these rules requires that safety posters be put up at the site of all projects.

So the Oklahoma Federal Symphony orchestra tottles in its rehearsal room under a large sign which warns:

"If you take a chance, you may take a life."

Careful how you hit that note!

FDR Refuses To Back Down On Relief Stand

Pampa News Has Birthday--12 Years Old

Twelve years ago today a new baby was born in Pampa. It was christened The Pampa Daily News. Now, 12 years later, The Pampa News still is a daily paper, giving thorough service to Pampa and its vast trading area.

The first Pampa Daily News was published by a staff of 11 men. Today there are 40 persons, not including the newsboys, employed in giving Pampa and surrounding territory its daily newspaper.

In the first issue of the Pampa Daily News was carried a story about Pampa being host to a large delegation of officials from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Accompanying the group was R. E. Sheperd, the singing mayor of Wichita Falls, who was also a speaker on the program.

Another story revealed that Postmaster Bill Crawford predicted that Pampa would soon have a first class post office and that Pampa needed mail delivery. Both came to pass the next year. A Pampa delegation composed of Neil McCullough, M. W. Jones and P. E. Boyd went to Roxana to discuss building a road between the two cities.

Pampa Man Released In Skelly Accident

A 23-year-old Pampan, representative of a local supply firm in Borger, Skellytown, and adjacent territory, was released by Carson county officers Thursday without bond, after he had been held for investigation in connection with an automobile accident one mile east of Skellytown at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. No charges were filed against the man.

Two Pampans, A. L. Davis and W. C. Griffin, were injured when a 1939 Chevrolet coupe, driven by the supply house representative, struck them while the two men were adjusting a left rear wheel of the 1929 Chevrolet sedan in which Davis and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Griffin were riding.

L. D. Wall, constable at Skellytown, said the opinion of Carson county officers was that the accident was unavoidable. A preliminary hearing was held yesterday before Justice of the Peace J. A. J. McBee in Skellytown, and later the investigation was continued at Panhandle, after which it was decided that no charges were to be filed in the case, Constable Wall said.

Driver Dazed

Constable Wall said that the man had been dazed at the time of the crash, when he was thrown against the windshield of his coupe and the windsield knocked out by the impact. He said the man had driven more than a mile with a flat tire before he came into Pampa where he received medical attention.

Constable Wall said the driver of the coupe had reported to Sheriff

Health Laws Need Revision, Speaker Says

Explaining that the crying need in the interest of better health conditions in Texas is a revision of existing health laws so that they may be brought up to date, Dr. John M. Hooper, of Floydada, state health director of District No. 1, told Pampa Kiwanians in luncheon session at the Schneider Hotel this afternoon that the state health department has as one of its main objectives the establishing among the people of a more positive attitude toward public health.

"Many of our ills and much of the laxity in public health," Dr. Hooper said, "is due to a badly informed public which neglects to attack disease at its inception.

"If the people only will be immunized against those diseases which can be prevented by immunization, the health problem easily can be brought under control. The early reporting of communicable diseases is highly essential in their prevention."

All through the state, the public health director stated, the department of health is doing its utmost to bring all health days up to date. Many out-moded health laws and regulations still in existence are responsible for a great deal of the unsanitary and unhealthy conditions to be found in the state, he added.

Dr. Hooper was introduced to the members and guests by Joe Gordon, program chairman. Frank Harris presided in the absence of President W. B. Weatherred who is attending a school conference in Canyon.

Visitors at the club luncheon today included Dr. J. B. Johnson, Dr. C. E. Schulkey, and Atty. Arthur M. Teed, of Pampa, and Sim Kelley and J. W. Barr, club members from Amarillo.

66 Highway Meeting Opens Next Monday

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 10 (AP)—Albuquerque's citizenry donned boots, chaps and ten-gallon hats and generally went wild west today to greet the vanguard of incoming delegates to the National Convention of the U. S. Highway 66 convention. The convention will run from Monday through Wednesday.

Other out-of-state visitors who convention officials said had accepted invitations to attend included Capt. Jim Line of the Texas State Department of Public Safety, personal representative of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Carl Hinton of Amarillo, Tex., the association's first secretary, now is national president.

Message Will Be Delivered To Congress

President Insists Persons On Relief Have Increased

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Representative Woodrum (D., Va.) said today he thought President Roosevelt would renew either Monday or Tuesday his request for an additional $150,000,000 for relief.

Woodrum, chairman Taylor (D., Colo.) and other Democratic members of the deficiency appropriations sub-committee of the House conferred with Mr. Roosevelt today. A little earlier, the President had told his press conference his original relief estimates of early January still held good.

After his group had seen Mr. Roosevelt, Woodrum said:

"I think the President will send up a regular, formal budget estimate for the $150,000,000."

At his press conference, the President said current estimates of relief needs were the same now as on January 3, when he decided to ask congress for $875,000,000 for relief up to July 1.

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that his original relief estimates of early January still held good.

The Chief Executive would not state, however, whether this meant that in a special relief message to be sent to Congress either Monday or Tuesday he would insist upon a supplemental WPA appropriation of $150,000,000.

About 850,000 needy persons are now on WPA waiting lists over the

Liberals Favor Net Income Tax Over Sales Levy

AUSTIN, March 10 (AP)—Mid-way in its rocky road toward some of the state's most historic legislation, the legislature today started on its final 60 days with old folks still the big problem—and far from being settled.

Out of the House arose a bloc of Liberals, near the required number of 51 that would halt action, to oppose the amendment that would provide a 2½ per cent sales tax and increased natural resources levies to pay all over 65 years a net income of $30 monthly.

Thirty seven representatives caucused again last night and came up with a belief a net income tax was the remedy for the situation. Not all opposed the sales tax, but the majority shied away.

The plan advocated and reported favorably by the House constitutional amendments committee—the 2½ per cent sales tax and increased natural resources taxes — stands a chance of being defeated at the polls, they argued.

Floor argument on the pension problem is expected to start within a few days.

Hill Defends Average Child

Special To The NEWS

CANYON, March 10—Welcoming Northwest Texas Conference for Education here today, President J. A. Hill of West Texas State College attacked what he said was growing philosophy that only the gifted few should be picked from the masses and given every educational opportunity. He declared chief responsibility of the nation is to the average boys and girls.

Dr. Hill said there was danger of attaching undue individual intelligent tests which he said point the direction of individual education but do not determinne who should be educated. President R. A. Selby of the conference opened the first session in the crowded auditorium and set up a second program in another auditorium where use of motion picture films in teaching was demonstrated. About 2,000 teachers were present.

Pony Express Heads For Deming, N. M.

DEMING, N. M., March 10 (AP)—The horseman riding the "pony express" from Nocona, Tex., to San Francisco's Golden Gate Exposition headed today toward Deming, appropriate mid-way point between El Paso, Tex., and the Arizona line.

When none of the leaders had covered the 105 miles from El Paso to Deming last night, local men interested in the race said the riders probably had stopped at any one of a number of hamlets east of here.

When the first contigent left El Paso yesterday, Shannon Davidson, 20, of Matador, Tex., was in the van. T. J. Sykes, Devol, Okla., farmer, who has been racing Davidson neck and neck on his plow horses, was second and Chris Usselton of Nocona was third.

Next were Slim Mathis of Dalhart, and George Cates of Crowell, Tex. A few stragglers were behind them.

Kidnaping Suspects Arrested In Ranger

FORT WORTH, March 10 (AP)—Three kidnappings and robberies in Fort Worth, two committed last night by two youths believed to have been attempting to escape arrest for the previous crimes, were thought solved today with the arrest of one youthful pair in Ranger and another pair here.

Capture of the escaping pair at Ranger came at 2:45 a. m., when they wrecked the stolen machine they were driving 90 miles an hour in an attempt to elude pursuing officers. One of the two, just 16, suffered a broken back and the other, 17, received minor injuries. A .25 calibre pistol was found in their possession.

Communists Holding Out In Madrid Revolt

MADRID, March 10 (AP)—Mechanized army units summoned to the aid of General Jose Miaja's government today smashed their way with tanks into Plaza Manuel Becerra, strategic square on the east side of Madrid, crushing Communist revolters in their path.

There was no indication immediately of the number of casualties but it was announced officially 14,000 rebellious soldiers had surrendered since yesterday.

General Miaja's supporters asesrted they had uprooted "most" of the Communist nests which had been holding out, including the hiding places of Communist snipers who had been firing at the approaching loyal troops.

(Dispatches from Burgos, the Spanish Nationalist capital, said the Madrid radio had broadcast a "mobile army" marching to Miaja's aid had entered Madrid and occupied Plaza Manuel Becerra, a strategic square on the east side of the city.

(Calle Alcala, Madrid's main street, several other thoroughfares and outer boulevards join in the square, mention of which indicated that reinforcements had come either from the Valencia area, to the east, or the Guadalajara area, to the northeast.

Mabel Garrison Posts $2,500 Slaying Bond

Bond of $2,500 was posted this morning by Mabel Garrison, who was indicted by a 31st grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder with malice aforethought in connection with the shooting of T. J. Garrison on December 1.

The indictment charges that Mabel Garrison, on or about December 1, 1938, did voluntarily and with malice aforethought kill T. J. Garrison by shooting him with a gun.

Mrs. Garrison (Mabel Garrison) was released from county jail on the afternoon of December 2, after she had posted $1,500 bond on a complaint filed in justice of the peace court charging her with the murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, T. J. (Pat) Garrison at the Big Gray Phillips camp, 10 miles south of Pampa, on the night of December 1.

The schooting occurred, according to officers who investigated the case, after Garrison came into the house carrying an armful of groceries. He was shot three times and ran 37 steps before he dropped dead on a neighbor's lawn.

In an inquest held that night at the Phillips camp, Justice of the Peace E. F. Young announced a verdict of death from gunshot wounds.

Garrison was a professional wrestler and wrestling promoter before his employment as a pumper at the Phillips plant water station. He came to Pampa 10 years ago from Harrison, Ark.

The indictment against Mrs. Garrison was the only one made by the 31st district court grand jury as it adjourned for the January term at 2:50 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Another Bureau Killed By Senate

AUSTIN, March 10 (AP)—The senate's economy axe fell on the state reclamation engineer's department today, effecting a savings, proponents said, of $25,690 annually.

The upper chamber unanimously approved and sent to the house a measure by Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus which transferred the office to that of the general land commissioner.

Morris said 80 per cent of the reclamation engineer's work concerned surveying which largely duplicated that done by employes of the land office and the elimination of duplication would effect the savings. The bill had the approval of R. J. McMahon, state reclamation engineer.

The legislature already has abolished the office of state tax commissioner and additional economy measures, including abolishing some 40 special funds whose revenue would go into the deficit laden general fund, are pending.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

STRAPLESS BRA.

The present vogue for strapless evening dresses creates a demand for new types of foundation garments. A new bra, designed for versatility, has removable straps which are also adjustable to conform with a halter neckline, thus being suitable to wear with three utterly different types of gowns.

FELT EVENING SWAGGERS.

A short boxy coat of felt, cut slightly full in the back, with wide three-quarter length sleeves and a tie neckband, is a smart new evening accessory. An exclusive New York shop prefers it in brilliant scarlet over a Chanel printed evening frock in black and white, with matching red chiffon kerchief and anemones for the hair.

How to Ease CHEST COLD MISERY

FIRST—massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress.

THEN—to make its long-continued action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

LONG AFTER sleep comes, VapoRub keeps working—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—clears air-passages—eases coughing—relieves local congestion.

ORGANDY EVENING BLOUSE.

For informal dining at home, select a knife pleated sheer black dinner-length skirt and a crisp, white, hand embroidered organdy blouse. Then twist a vivid chiffon cummerbund about your waist—and you'll feel (and look) as fresh as the proverbial daisy, even after a tiresome shopping session or a hard day at the office.

FINER TEA—that was Sir Thomas Lipton's gift to the tea-lovers of seven nations. Today—no other tea is as popular as Lipton's. Here are the reasons:

1. WORLD-FAMOUS FLAVOR—smooth, full, rich, delicious.
2. TENDER YOUNG LEAVES—and luscious flavorful buds give extra fragrance and bouquet.
3. SUPERB BLEND—that doesn't vary—praised by professional tea experts.
4. ECONOMICAL—so rich in flavor takes less tea per cup.

U. S. Aims To Grab Nazis' Brazil Trade

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Through its new credit pact with Brazil, the United States government began today a broad offensive to capture Germany's citadel of Latin American trade.

Three federal agencies—the state and treasury departments and the export-import bank—were ready to carry out the program of economic cooperation agreed upon yesterday between Secretary Hull and Foreign Minister Arnha of Brazil.

Diplomaticc circles here viewed their exchange of notes as a reply to Hitler's last speech, when he said Germany's commercial relations with Latin America were no concern of the United States. The pact calls for:

1. A credit of $19,200,000 from the export-import bank to free Brazil's foreign exchange.

2. Long-Term credits from the export-import bank to American manfacturers and exporters of goods to Brazil.

3. $50,000,000 gold from the United States treasury to back a new Brazilian central reserve bank and assist in stabilizing Brazil's currency.

Brazil, on her part, agreed:

1. To resume payments on her dollar indebtedness, amounting to $357,000,000, beginning July 1.

2. To develop products such as rubber, quinine, vegetable oils and hardwoods, which the United States now buys from other parts of the world.

Materials such as rubber are strategic war goods, and the ability to get them in Brazil would strengthen United States defense. The administration will lend Brazil technical experts for this purpose.

A state department official said Aranha outlined Brazil's ideas for rearmament, but no agreements on that point were entered into. This may form the subject for future exchanges of views.

Officials look to the credit agreements to bolster United States trade with Brazil at the expense of Germany. The credit of $19,200,000 to free Brazil's exchange will render her less dependent on barter and artificial currency arrangements under which trade with Germany has been conducted.

World's Favorite Bull Story Brings Author Half A Million

By GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK, March 10.—Linn Yutang, the genteel Oriental philosopher, who now resides in Manhattan, who reflects upon the American way of life in books and poetry and who gave us his accumulated wisdom in the book, "The Importance of Living," is the most ardent visitor at the Central Park Zoo. Attendants in the park menagerie meet the Chinese philosopher there almost daily.

He claims to unhampered thought, free from distraction, while he is in the company of the assorted inmates. His intimate confidant there is a squirrel who enjoys the freedom of the grounds but who hovers about the zoo cages on his rounds.

Linn Yutang says that he has learned many a fact about life from his furry friend and inspirations aplenty for his meditative essays. Nor does the squirrel go without his share of the royalties, for the Chinese philosopher never fails to bring a pocketful of nuts along.

Big Pay

Which reminds me of that publishing phenomenon of the decade—"Ferdinand"—that brief fable of the peace-loving bull which has horned in on the American heart. The saga of "Ferdinand's" creation is not new. Munro Leaf wrote it in less than forty-five minutes one day for his own amusement. He wrote it in less than 100 words and was about to toss the effort into the waste basket when it was retrieved by a friend of his who happened to be standing around.

Ferdinand's career from then on has been spectacular. More than a half million copies of the slim volume were sold in the United States, Walt Disney screen-tested Ferdinand with huge success and the various toy, doll, cartoon, and other sundry royalties from the botanical bull have catapulted him into the realm of Big Business.

I couldn't get even approximate figures on Munro Leaf's proceeds from his happy bull, but one reliable computer said he wouldn't be surprised were his personal profits to exceed a half million dollars. Not a puny sum for forty-five minutes of relaxing scribbling.

Dice Roll Back

Having toyed with all other table-sports in the town's pubs, the folk-with-time-on-their-hands have reverted to the great National Pastime. They are playing craps. But they are playing it for run, rolling the polka-dotted cubes around the table-cloth with stakes no higher than a round of drinks or a handful of match-sticks or, occasionally, loose change.

It would be against the rules to contest the cubes for real money stakes. It is about time, too, for the games that the zanies were thinking up around the clubs for the killing-of-time, were beginning to pass reason. Games fatiguing the brain, and not the brawn, have multiplied by the hundreds and along with a tall drink, the waiter usually brought a tray resembling the ouija board and a set of 1,020 questions. But the customers balked. They were getting away from the most popular of all American indoor sports. And out came the dice to replace the brain-twisters.

Fort Worth Stock Show Opens Today

Gates to the exposition grounds, the rodeo and horse show, will open at 7 p. m.

The rodeo events have attracted 167 contestants.

The first musical program for the 10-day exposition will be given tonight at the rodeo and horse show.

Thieves Siphon Gas

RACINE, Wis., March 10 (AP) — Gustino Aiello figured the safest place he could park his car was in the municipal lot behind the police station. But later when he tried to drive away the car wouldn't start. Thieves had siphoned 10 gallons of gasoline from the tank.

Make The New Census Really Worth Something

Complicated plans are already under way for the 1940 census. It is probably the most important since the government took the first one, in 1790.

The taking of a census every 10 years is provided by the Constitution. The original purpose was simply to determine the number of representatives each state should have in Congress.

The Constitution, stating first the basis for representation, continues: "The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of 10 years, in such manner as they shall by law direct." The first census was, as a matter of fact, taken only about one year after the first Congress assembled, and has been taken every 10 years since.

The actual field work of taking the 1940 census will not begin for about a year, but already careful plans are being made to make it yield not only population figures necessary to apportioning representation among the states, but a vast amount of further data which Congress believes is necessary to any real understanding of our national problems.

The law of 1930 required the Bureau of the Census to cover population, occupation, unemployment, agriculture, irrigation, drainage, manufactures, mines, and quarries, and business.

Director William L. Austin is already receiving hundreds of suggestions as to what ought to be included.

First, it should be remembered that since the depression, we have never had an accurate count of the unemployed. Estimates by labor organizations and manufacturers' and business associations are all we have.

So one of the primary jobs of the census, after the basic count of all people, is to find out for the first time how many unemployed people there really are in this country. If possible, it should find out how many of these are able to work if work is offered them.

Then we would at last have something basic on which to mount our guns in attacking the problem. If it should be possible for the census bureau to devise some means whereby this data could then be brought up to date, say once a year, in the future, it would be performing a national service.

Major revelations may be expected. How greatly has the population shifted back toward the country from the cities? How many aliens live among us? What have recent drouths done to the population of states affected? How many transients are there? And so on.

First step in solving any problem is to know the facts. We know all too little about our situation today, and a careful and intelligent census should be of utmost value in giving the light whereby we may better find our way.

TOTALITARIAN FLORIDA
(Chicago Tribune)

Florida has gone totalitarian. Some of the citizens don't like it. Three of them served a month in jail at Tallahassee for their temerity in resisting regimentation. They were in the cleaning business and dared to charge less for a job than the price which the political bosses had stipulated as the minimum. The state's Supreme court regarded the sentences as just. An appeal has been taken to the federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

The milk business is another which the politicians are trying to boss. They have ordered the dairy companies to charge 18 cents for a quart of milk, a price which most of the farmers and dairy companies regard as much too high. They know from bitter experience that an artificially high price will so greatly reduce the buying of milk that every one will suffer.

These objections mean nothing to the Florida Fascists. They know what they want and why, and if the people who sell the milk and the people who buy it don't like the arrangements, that's their hard luck. The boss of the dairy business is a Mrs. Alderman, hand-picked for the chairmanship of the milk board by her cousin, Gov. Fred Cone. Mrs. Alderman understands the totalitarian technique. When a representative of the milk producers sought to be heard at a meeting of the board she silenced him by screaming, "Sit down and shut up. I'm running this show." She went on to insult her unruly subjects by calling them racketeers.

Messrs. Hitler and Stalin have much the same idea. Everybody who disagrees with their orders is a crook deserving of no consideration. The exercise of independent judgment is, of course, a crime to be punished as severely as may be necessary.

Fortunately for the people of Florida, they aren't yet without recourse. The cleaners are seeking relief in the courts, a right which even Floridians still possess. The farmers, dairymen, and housewives are demanding relief from the legislature. The milk board will go out of existence in June unless its life is extended by law. Unless the spirit of liberty is dead in Florida the show which Mrs. Alderman says she is running will have concluded its engagement before many months have passed.

Meanwhile, Florida has whatever distinction belongs to the state which is most eagerly aping the European and Asiatic totalitarians.

NEW YORK NAZIS
(Christian Science Monitor)

That American democracy can tolerate such a performance as the Nazi rally in Madison Square Garden is convincing testimony to its strength. The evidence that speech, even speech that incites to superstitious intolerance and hatred, is still free in the United States would have been even stronger had it not been necessary for 1,700 police to protect the meeting.

But the misuse of George Washington's name and picture, the mockery of Americanism, produced by uniformed "storm troopers" and their friends probably was not easy to take. Compared with Norman Thomas's mild effort to speak in behalf of free speech in Jersey City—an effort Mayor Hague's legions couldn't stomach—New York's Nazis put on a show that might have been calculated to evoke violence from the 10,000 who surrounded the mall. That nothing more serious than a few punched heads resulted is a tribute to the New York police and some remaining sense of the self-restraint required to tolerate free speech. Even the traditional freedom to heckle was maintained.

We have a suspicion that more than a few of the 22,000 at the meeting were there to see how silly such a performance might be. We wish the proportion had been large enough to laugh the "Bundites" out of countenance and prove how little need there is to use their own intolerance and hatred against them.

THE BASIC PROBLEM

"The first principle of human society is the guarantee to everyone of a free exercise of his industry and the possession of the fruits acquired by it." —Jefferson.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ---

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN ON A MONARCHY OR A REPUBLIC

When the Constitution was signed, Benjamin Franklin was asked, "Is it a monarchy or a republic?" He replied by saying, "A republic, if we can keep it." George Washington, in writing to La Fayette, said the new government was in no danger of degenerating into a monarchy, aristocracy or any other form of despotism, "so long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people."

It seems that there is very little virtue in the majority at the present time, judging from their willingness to confiscate the fruits of other people's labor.

On another occasion, Franklin said the new government "can only end in despotism as other forms have done before it when people have become so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other."

When the government decides that they can take any fraction of what a man produces and give him nothing in return, when the government passes rules that men who have produced and abstained cannot make their own selection as to the men to develop this property and when the government permits the misuse of bank credit that robs millions of honest, innocent people, then we are in great danger of becoming despotic.

MAJORITY RULE

Nowadays, as we hear so much loose talk about democracy, it might be well to remark that if democracy really meant majority rule it would be a very simple matter to have a democracy. But real democracy does not and never did mean majority rule.

In the United States, when the Constitution was accepted, only one man out of four had the right to vote and at that time the vote was not a secret vote, but a public vote. So people voted then quite often as the leaders told them to vote. It was not until about 50 years ago that we started the secret ballot. Then we came a little nearer to the majority rule. But, even now, it is reported that there are ten million people in the Southern states who do not exercise the right of franchise because of property qualifications or a poll tax.

And the Constitution required three-fourths of the states to pass an amendment so that 12 of these states can prevent a new amendment from going into effect.

And it has been largely due to these Southern states that many of the radical, socialistic, Utopian pleasant illusions in government have been prevented from passing.

No, democracy is not as simple as being majority rule as the demagogues and the educators would have the people believe.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON
Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The House of Representatives may have refused to authorize development of an advanced naval base at Guam, but it put its okay on Puerto Rico—and so the navy is happy.

While it was Guam that caused all the shouting, Puerto Rico was a matter of grave concern to the navy.

The navy wants to spend something like $24,000,000 on Isla Grande, a half-mile-long bit of marsh-land in the mouth of San Juan harbor. It would develop this tiny island into a first-class air base, filling in the swampy ground and generally extending and solidifying it.

It would put up docks, breakwaters, wharves, fuel dumps, and machine shops. And when it finished, it would breathe a sigh of relief and figure that the east coast of the United States—including the all-important Panama Canal—was about as safe as anybody could make it.

COMMANDING THE CARIBBEAN

Plans call for creation of permanent facilities for basing one carrier group of airplanes and two patrol plane squadrons on Isla Grande. Since the harbor mouth is wide enough to let the ocean swells come in, there'll be a big breakwater.

On St. Thomas Island, which isn't so very many miles to the east, there'll be a smaller base for a squadron of marine corps planes. And the great Coco Solo base at Panama will be enlarged and strengthened.

When this is done, American airplanes and surface vessels will have the whole Caribbean Sea under constant surveillance. Nobody will be able to come in or go out without being spotted instantly—and, of course, violently pounced upon if necessary. No European force will be able to get within many hundreds of miles of Panama. Any attack on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States will be flanked. So will any thrust at South America.

All of which takes on added importance in view of the latest scarestory that is going around Washington.

The story—which, incidentally is based on solid fact—deals with the amazing expansion of German commercial air lines in South America, airlines which will soon encircle the continent. The Germans are using, for the most part, big 24-passenger transport planes, and are accumulating big supplies of spare parts, motors, and fuel at different South American airports.

There isn't anything scary about that, of course, except for the fact that the engines and parts for these planes are interchangeable with the engines and parts for Germany's army bombers.

JUST IN CASE—

Theoretically, Germany could, on a few days notice, put a good-sized fleet of bombing planes in the northern part of South America, and have available extra engines, spare parts and plenty of fuel for them.

Someone has figured out that those planes could take off from a point within two thousand miles of such widely-separated American cities as Philadelphia and Fort Worth. And, of course, they would practically be in the back yard of the Panama Canal.

But if there is anything in all of this to worry any Americans, the Puerto Rico base is a pretty complete answer to it. For even if you assume that the Germans did want to make an attack on America, that they could get a sizable fleet of bombers down to South America without being intercepted, and that those bombers could stay there without being promptly bombed off the face of the earth by American planes operating out of Panama—even if you assume all of that, the Puerto Rico base would still remain an almost impassable barrier.

TOUGH JOB FOR DANIEL W. CUPID

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 10.—Few movie sets are what they seem on the screen, but on the sound stage where "Each Dawn I Die" is being filmed there is a real twine mill. Here work Jimmy Cagney and George Raft in prison uniforms, sentenced to 199 years each at hard labor.

The labor is hard enough, all right. Seven massive machines, fiber breakers and spinners, were leased from a California cordage company along with five mechanics to set them up.

First they had to rip out the floor on the stage and pour concrete foundations. Then it was discovered that mere actors couldn't run the machines safey, and it was not thought wise to let Raft get himself shredded and woven into rope. So the five mechanics were put into convicts' clothes and now they're working in the picture. They say that if this is acting they don't want any.

Whether you know it or not, most rope is made from sisal. With the machines clattering away, the air is full of sisal dust, which is troublesome to noses as well as explosive. So nobody smokes; they just sneeze. Three tons of sisal are piled on the set.

Piscatorial Disgrace.

Signor Cabezoni Sculpin, probably the only fish in the world that looks like an actor, has been sent back to San Francisco in disgrace. For a few days he had movie fame right in his fins.

There is an aquarium scene in "Lucky Night" at Metro, and the script says that while Myrna Loy and Bob Taylor are strolling around she spies a fish and exclaims, "Why, he looks like George!"

George is Douglas Fowley, one of the actors. The one line of dialog is illustrative of how much trouble a writer can make for a prop man. For the prop man had to fin a fish that resembled Fowley. A talent scout went to San Francisco's Golden Gate Park acquarium and looked at a lot of fish before he found Cabezoni Sculpin. Sculpin said well, no, he wouldn't mind working in the movies; he might make quite a splash.

So they brought him back, along with a lot of fish for other tanks, and Sculpin had a fine time clowning around during rehearsals. He'd swim right up to the glass and make faces like George. But when the bright lights were turned on he got stage fright. Went back in a far corner and hid his head in some seaweed. You could see him trembling. Miss Loy believes he cried.

Finally they photographed another fish that was mugging all over the place. This one was just an ordinary Sacramento river catfish, and didn't look a bit like George. But it was the best they could do.

Alaska 'Decent' Again

JUNEAU, Alaska, March 10 (AP)—Alaska is back on a respectable conjugal basis. A senate committee discovered in amending the marriage license law four years ago the legislature inadvertantly struck the section requiring licenses. A new law was rushed through to make things right.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

To the school board of the Pampa Independent school district, greetings: There is a petition being circulated by patrons of the school asking you to build another gymnasium in Pampa this year, regardless of whether the government grants the loan for the new high school (Amarillo with a population of 50,000 has seven gyms, and Pampa representing a population of 15,000 has one gym) . . .

Well, Speck and Irene Bonds are leaving Pampa—moving to Hot Springs, New Mexico. Irene had almost become an old-timer here. She's lived here more than ten years. Like many another Pampan, she came here with the discovery of oil, and has always seemed an inseparable part of the New Pampa. However, it'll take Speck and Irene a long time to forget Pampa—why they grew up with the place, and they'll think often of the old home town. They have a lot of friends here who regret to see them leave. It won't seem like the same place for a lot of people with Irene out of the picture. . . Well, here's to old times and new times and better times . . .

Rowe Discusses Rights Of Aliens

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 (AP)—Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director of the Pan American Union, declared today "it must be made clear" to alien groups in American countries that they cannot enjoy the hospitality of these states and at the same time "exercise collective political rights in their homelands."

In an address prepared for a University of Pennsylvania assembly devoted to a review of the recent Lima conference and the future of Pan Americanism, Dr. Rowe said "we are here face to face with one of the most serious problems" confronting American governments.

How's Your Health?

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.

The official reports of the League of Nations on the world traffic in opium indicate that the number of narcotic addicts in the United States has fallen considerably during the last 10 years. Thus it is now estimated that there are between 35,000 and 50,000 addicts in the United States, whereas estimates of ten years ago were from 100,000 to 150,000. In Canada also apparently the number of addicts has decreased from approximately 8,000 to 4,000.

Obviously all such figures are estimates since secrecy is the very life of the opium trade.

Whereas the drug traffic in the United States and in Canada has decreased considerably there is good evidence that it has not been brought under control in other sections of the world, particularly in the east. Today the Far East is the principal center of the illicit manufacture of and traffic in such drugs as opium, morphine, cocaine and their derivatives.

All information now points to the necessity for international control of the production of drugs and the consumption of raw opium if the illicit traffic is to be brought under control.

The experts estimate that 300 tons of raw opium are required annually for the legitimate needs of the world, that about the same amount is required for the present needs of opium smoking monopolies, and that about 500 pounds are required for non-medical consumption.

This makes a total of 1,100 tons, but the annual production, eliminating Afghanistan, China and Manchoukuo, would seem to be 2,300 tons. Moreover, after the amount of raw opium now available in stocks throughout the world is added, the League of Nations estimates a total of 6,000 tons now available.

Unfortunately, science has not yet developed any substitute for opium or morphine which has their good effects in the control of pain and suffering, and which is yet without their bad effects in the form of addiction.

In the United States the creation of two narcotic farms under government control—one at Lexington, Ky., and the other at Fort Worth, Texas—may lead to still further reduction in the amount of addiction.

Judge Summons Six Men To Testify In Truck Strike Feud

DALLAS, March 10 (AP)—Six Houston men, under orders to Federal Judge W. H. Atwell, are to appear in court here Monday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court in connection with truck-strike activities.

The men were L. O. Mounce, J. A. Davis, A. M. Odom, J. D. Holt, A. A. Spears, and H. B. Kyle.

The Houston and North Texas Motor Freight Lines filed information with the court that James Stansbury, Houston terminal manager, was assaulted and threatened last Sunday.

With the exception of Kyle, the men summoned for the proceeding were under orders restraining certain strikers from interfering with drivers and trucks.

Out of the mail-bag:

Dear Sir:

Your items about "one looking younger with his hat on" provoked quite a nice response and lots of additional reader interest. Quite a few of us do not look younger with or without our hat on. There seems to be little we can do about it, but a lot of us remember some very important ideas of many years ago. Here are some I remember:

* * *

1. Thirty-seven years ago: Old Mose, field hand of small account, huntsman of some accomplishment, and itinerant preacher of no small ability said, "It's not de scan'lous lies dey tells dat hurts de worst, it's the scan'lous truf." He gave us nothing original with him for it was a bit of homely philosophy well known in the backwooks of Tennessee. Just try to pick a flaw in that philosophy.

* * *

2. Twenty-five years ago: R. B. Cousins, now dead, then president of West Texas State Normal College, said, "You ask me to tell you how to raise your boys? I don't know. Nobody can tell you, and if anyone can help you at all about that problem, it will require that he show you; not tell you."

* * *

3. Twenty-three years ago: R. B. Cousins told us that "You owe yourself the obligation to be loyal to the group you are in. So long as you stay in it, be loyal to it. If the time comes when you can't be loyal to your group, be man encugh to get out of it, and then you can fight it all you wish. But no true man can fight his group from the inside." Now if you can pick a flaw in that philosophy, "I will give you a chromo." (Mr. Cousin's own favorite expression).

* * *

Book A Day

Two books just off the presses, written by scientists but directed to the layman, so far to open the secrets of the extarordinary but little understood physical world around us.

The first is "The Story of Astronomy" by Arthur Draper and Marion Lockwood of the Hayden Planetarium (Dial Press: $3, illustrated). Set against the historical background of the science, it appears to cover everything from the first dim gropings for astronomical knowledge of medieval splendor on the loggia of St. Peter's basilica.

The American ambassador to London, Joseph Kennedy, is due in Rome tomorrow as the official American representative at the ceremony which is expected to draw the largest popular crowd ever assembled in the eternal city.

Vatican authorities expect more than 350,000 persons to jam St. Peter's piazza and open spaces beyond. Forty-five thousand may sit or stand inside the vast church throughout the five-hour pontifical mass preceding the coronation.

It will be the first time in nearly 100 years a pope has been crowned outside St. Peter's. The late Pius XI was crowned inside the basilica but, after the lateran accord by which Italy and the church reconciled their differences, he made his first appearance on the balcony in 1929.

Richberg Will See Cardenas Tonight

MEXICO CITY, March 10 (AP)—Donald Richberg, representing expropriated American oil companies, planned to see President Lazaro Cardenas at 8 p. m. tonight to continue the negotiations over the properties taken over by Mexico last March 18.

The government press bureau after yesterday's conference between the two said the discussions were "progressing satisfactorily."

Prior to tonight's meeting, Richberg arranged to confer with Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington, to discuss "more concrete forms" for a settlement of the expropriation controversy.

The results of their talk will be submitted to Cardenas tonight.

The secretary of education meanwhile took steps for celebrations in all public schools in Mexico of the first anniversary of the nationalization of the oil industry.

It was planned that the period from next Monday through March 18 would be observed with contests and festivals in the schools to which workers' and peasants' organizations, as well as parent-teacher associations and members of the Mexican army would be invited.

American Will Be At Pope's Crowning

VATICAN CITY, March 10 (AP)—For the first time a president of the United States will be represented officially at the crowning of a pope when Puis XII on Sunday receives his triple tiara amid scenes of medieval splendor on the loggia of St. Peter's basilica.

The American ambassador to London, Joseph Kennedy, is due in Rome tomorrow as the official American representative at the ceremony which is expected to draw the largest popular crowd ever assembled in the eternal city.

Vatican authorities expect more than 350,000 persons to jam St. Peter's piazza and open spaces beyond. Forty-five thousand may sit or stand inside the vast church throughout the five-hour pontifical mass preceding the coronation.

Governor Asked To Deny Extradition

LOS ANGELES, March 10 (AP)—An appeal to Gov. Culbert L. Olson to refuse his extradition to Texas to face charges of escaping from prison 17 years ago was planned today by Trent D. Bushwar, 40.

Bushwar, authorities charged, fled from Huntsville state prison in 1922, after serving two years of a seven-year term for burglary. Detective L. F. Ennen quoted Bushwar as saying he had been forced to accompany two life-timers in the break.

Known here as Ted Brown, Bushwar said he worked as a mechanic for the Oregon State Highway Patrol for seven years preceding 1934. He was arrested after applying for a position as a civilian clerk in the Los Angeles police department.

"I knew I was taking the chance," he declared to officers, "but I needed the work."

His wife, Clara, whom he met two years ago in Bakersfield, visited him in jail and said she had no knowledge he ever had been in prison. She added:

"Ted has always been a good husband, and I know it will turn out all right."

Mrs. Bushwar is an expectant mother.

Personality Discussed By College Head

CANYON, March 10—In addressing the big Northwest Texas Conference for Education at its opening session today, Dr. George W. Frasier, president of Colorado State College of Education, described personality as what a person IS, with actions and reactions depending in part on functioning of the ductless glands, but definitely something which can be improved by the individual.

"Personality does not detach itself from substance," Dr. Frasier emphasized. "It cannot be folded up and put into a bureau drawer like Peter Pan's shadow. It cannot parade like a ghost. It is not something you find: it is something you create. . . . So far as I am concerned, your personality is what you do to me when we come in contact."

Glands Have Bearing

Factors which affect personality were enumerated by the speaker, who mentioned the glands, the general health, native intelligence, the emotions, and social and environmental conditions.

"But if it were not possible to improve personality, there would be no point to this discussion," the speaker said.

He urged that the body be kept free from disease, from being over-weight or undernourished, and that posture be studied. Ability to choose clothing wisely was mentioned as helpful to personality. Intelligence, he said, assumes various forms—mathematical, social, artistic. It is important, he added, to choose tasks within the realm of achievement.

"The most important thing so far as mental life is concerned is that you understand your own possibilities and limitations," Dr. Frasier emphasized. "A complete personality can be developed in spite of physical and mental handicaps, if you understand your limitations. . . . There was a time when we believed that it was unwise to talk to people about disabilities. But in the development of personality this is exactly what should be done. . . . It is not the deformities of life that destroy personality, but it is the attitude of the individual toward such deformities.

Control Emotions

"We should keep our emotions under control, but we should color life with emotional experience if we are to have well-balanced personalities. For example, a man goes to a baseball game; he screams until he is hoarse; he slaps the man next to him on the back. And at the end of an hour and a half he goes away exhausted; but from the standpoint of emotional life, it has been excellent experience. . . . Emotional balance is important. If you live in the realm of gloom or an atmosphere of continuous hilarity, there is danger of life becoming one-sided."

In speaking of social and environmental factors, Dr. Frasier said that "every time you build a new ideal, which is an emotionalized idea, you are forming personality. . . . If you would better your personality, look well to your morals and manners. The little niceties of life, demanded by a polite society, are what make for a more satisfactory personality. It pays to be socially acceptable."

Common sense and courage were called essentials in personality development. Regard for the personality of others, especially children, would modify many educational practices today, he concluded.

Edward Fitz Gerald, translator of Omar Khayyam, was born March, 1809.

country, Mr. Roosevelt explained. He said that this was an increase of about 100,000 over the number on the waiting list January 3.

This increase, he said, was predictable and he had expected it because of economic conditions which ordinarily prevail in January and February.

The President said he would work on his relief message over the weekend, adding that there were two factors in the relief situation which stood out as important.

One, he said, is the fact that there are only about five people out of every hundred on the relief rolls who should not be there. He called this a very small percentage in view of the great number of relief recipients and the changing conditions under which WPA is operated and added that it represented pretty good administration.

The other important point to keep in mind, he asserted, is that people who are put on the lists from which WPA workers are selected are put on by the local governments and not by federal representatives.

As of January 3, the President continued, he had expected that about 300,000 persons would be cut off relief rolls by July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Since there are 3,850,000 either on the rolls or on waiting lists, he explained, the total as of July 1 should be around 3,550,000.

Byrd Opposes Plan

Senator Byrd (D-Va) said:

"There is only one place that any money can be saved this year, and that is in the large expenditures not represented in the regular budget, such as relief."

Byrd pointed out most budget estimates already had been presented to Congress and from a practical standpoint this made it more difficult to obtain reductions.

He indicated, nevertheless, economy advocates later might propose a blanket percentage cut.

The difficulty Mr. Roosevelt would encounter in any attempt to reduce relief expenditures was highlighted yesterday by a statement from Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, that unless Congress grants $150,000,000 by April 1 he would be forced to begin drastic reductions in relief rolls.

He said the more than 3,000,000 persons now on the rolls might have to be reduced to 2,000,000.

Attendants at a White House conference yesterday also said Mr. Roosevelt had indicated he planned to cooperate in every way possible to help business.

Sen. Harrison (D-Miss) said revision of business taxes was discussed thoroughly, although no decisions were reached.

He said he doubted that there would be any attempt this year to increase the $45,000,000,000 limitation on the national debt, a proposal which economy advocates expect to make the focal point of their fight to reduce expenditures.

Highlight of the opening day is the initial performance at 8 p. m. of the world championship rodeo and horse show. Crowds tonight will see the famed Five Minutes to Midnight, still the king of bucking outlaw horses, with Earl Stober of Hugo, Okla., a new hand at broncho riding at the Fort Worth show, on board.

John B. Davis, secretary-manager of the show, urged all spectators to be in their seats at least 10 minutes before the grand entry at 8 p. m., in order not to miss the rodeo prelude of typical western music played by Paul Whiteman and his All-American band. The preliminary music, with novel arrangement will be a feature of each performance.

Friday is "Gladewater Day," and a delegation from that East Texas city will swell the opening day crowds.

The Gladewater high school band will be among the 15 in the parade.

Approximately 10,000 Texas Future Farmers of America will throng the exposition grounds tomorrow.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, who arrived in Fort Worth yesterday, will view the Sunday night rodeo performance.

FDR Alone Could Plunge U. S. In War, Solon Says

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Senator Bones (D., Wash.) asserted today that "no force stands between the man in the White House and plunging this country into a bloody war." Because of this, he said, the people should vote on any declaration of war.

Bone, arguing before the Senate naval committee in behalf of a proposed war referendum amendment to the constitution, declared that the legislative branch was "a futile instrument" in preventing war.

Congress has the constitutional right to declare war, but the Washington senator said he did not believe that constituted any barrier, because of the forces of propaganda that could be brought to bear on members of congress.

"The realization and the consciousness of what you have said is giving great impetus to this referendum movement — unfortunately," interposed Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.)

Senator Gillette (D., Iowa), called attention to the fact that the same forces which would exert influence on congress to declare war in a time of international crisis would be operative in any referendum.

sides using tanks and armored cars.

(Miaja's troops, it said, were dispatched from the center of the city along Calle Alcala in an attempt to join forces with the mobile army and trap communists holding out between the two republican forces.)

HENDAYE, France, March 10—(Friday)—(AP)—Reports from Spain that morninf indicated Communist snipers were still holding out at Madrid while the red revolt against the peace government of General Jose Miaja had involved other centers of Republican Spain.

Only a few hours after an official Madrid brodcast the general headquarters of Madrid Communist opposition had surrendered there came advices of fighting at Guadalajara, Murcia and Ciudad Real.

Besides Diehard snipers in Madrid, isolated Communist groups were said to be holding out at Valencia and Cartagena.

The government itself, in censored dispatches from Madrid, acknowledged fighting still was going on in the capital. Troops from other sectors had been called to Madrid to aid in suppression of the revolt.

Dispatches from Burgos, Nationalist capital, said fugitives from war-within-a-war at Madrid still were filtering through the machine-gun cordon Miaja had posted.

Upon reaching Nationalist seige lines just outside Madrid, they reported the Miaja-Communist struggle had taken a heavier toll than Nationalist shellings.

Streetcars had stopped running, parks were deserted. The civilian population believed to number more than 1,000,000 kept under cover while the two factions fought—the Miaja government committed to "worthy peace" as soon as possible to end the civil war, the Communists standing for a bitter end defense.

While the isolated sniping went on, according to Burgos dispatches, Communists from suburban areas made frequent sorties in strength to points well within Madrid proper.

MADRID, March 10 (AP)—The National defense government announced today 14,000 rebellious Communist soldiers had surrendered since yesterday as troops under General Jose Miaja carried out drastic orders for suppression of the revolt.

(The communique on the number who surrendered was one of the first indications from Madrid of the scope of the uprising which started Monday against the peace-seeking policy of the Miaja government.)

The Pampa News is the descendant of Pampa's first newspaper, The Crony, established on April 6, 1907, by L. L. Ladd, who still lives in Pampa. He is the owner of the Artcraft Printshop. Mr. Ladd's only employe was the late Joe M. Smith Sr., who was editor and "everything else" on the paper, which was printed on an ancient Washington press, hand operated, one page at a time.

Mr. Ladd moved to Miami where he edited the Miami Chief, selling the Crony to Mr. Smith in 1908. Mr. Smith renamed the paper The Pampa News, and this name was kept by the paper until March 10, 1927, when it became the Pampa Daily News.

The Pampa News was first published in a room at the rear of the First National bank building, then at the rear of the old Pampa National bank.

A typesetting machine was purchased in 1917 and was operated by Joe Smith, still a resident of Pampa, who was associated with his father in the paper's operation.

On March 1, 1926, the paper was purchased by the Nunn-Warren Publishing company. With the issue of Nov. 16, 1926, the paper became a bi-weekly and four months later the Pampa Daily News was born, on March 10, 1927.

On June 1, 1936, ownership of the Pampa Daily News passed to R. C. Hoiles and associates. On October 8, 1938, the paper was renamed its original name, The Pampa News, and a new style of type and make up adopted.

Clerk Opens New Bookkeeping System

County Clerk Charlie Thut Thursday began use of a system of daily reports, titled "Daily Collection Report of County Clerk," recommended by R. K. Waite of Amarillo, head of the group of auditors who made a report on an audit of Gray county offices, filed on February 13.

The auditors had recommended that more attention be given by county officials to their reports.

The form now being used by the county clerk has 10 headings: date, received from, folio, total amount collected, certified copies, chattel mortgages, marriage licenses, notaries, others, and totals.

Each of the sheets of the form are numbered and punched and attached to a clip board at a counter in the county clerk's department.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Renewed strength in utilities and specialties gave the stock market picture a brighter look today although many issues in other departments failed to make much of a showing.

The list tilted slightly upward at the start, htne backed away on light selling. There was a comeback later and many shares went into new high ground for the year or longer. While minus signs were fairly well distributed at the close, gains of fractions to around 2 points were plentiful.

With market hopes centered on the government's business bolstering aims and trade news generally to the liking of bullish forces, liquidation in most stock departments was timid from the start.

After an active forenoon, volume inclined to dwindle. Transfers for the five hours approximated 1,200,000 shares.

Steels and motors were narrow.

Heavy buying of textiles in New York's Worth Street—the turnover was the largest for any day this year—was seen as a highly optimistic indicator.

Bonds were still in demand, with South American loans putting on a burst of strength. Commodities were quiet. Foreign markets were able to retain most of their recent gains.

Mrs. Davis Discusses Youth Problem At Meeting Of Holy Souls P-TA Unit

"For the past ten years, there have been various recreational programs in Pampa. Delinquency has shown a steady increase and will continue to increase unless we adopt methods that have been tried and proved successful in other places," Mrs. W. H. Davis stated in discussing "Recreational Responsibilities" at a meeting of the Holy Souls parochial Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

After tracing the leisure of the youth in 1900, in 1920 following the war, and the youth of today which is interested only in 1939, Mrs. Davis stated that in some 200 of the cities of the United States, the shortcomings of the various tried experiments have been realized and unique movements are gaining widespread publicity. Statistics are given to show that the experiments are workable. The movement that appeals to me is that of a Boy's Brotherhood Republic. This type organization is in evidence in New York and Chicago and could be worked in any community. It differs from the Boy Scout movement in that it takes care of the "southside" boy as well as the boy who lives on the pavement.

"In these republics, the entire organization is run by the boys—much on the lines of Father Flanagan's home that has attracted such wide spread publicity through the work he has done. The Chicago club was started first with seven boys, then 30 and now 1,100 with 8,000 former members having graduated from the school.

"It would seem that a community hall or meeting place would be the first project necessary for our local youth. I do not specify that this hall be equipped as a gymnasium for it is companionship that youth seeks. After the hall is assured, a program should be such that the boys would become familiar with the fundamentals of the government. Along with this program would be games of all kinds, handicraft, drama, tournaments, athletics, and sports.

"I do not believe that we will do away with delinquency, but we should make every effort to keep it at a minimum. Delinquency leads to crime and crime is a major problem for we must remember that the United States spends seven times as much on criminals as it does on educating its children. Just think if we could reduce the crime bill one seventh, we could double our educational facilities. In discussing our local youth problem with Superintendent L. L. Sone, he stated that in his opinion 90 per cent of the delinquent cases originated in the homes of the needy or in the so called "broken" homes. This seems to be the concensus of all authorities on child welfare."

Included on the program were musical numbers by Zita Ann Kennedy, Helen Ann Kiser, and Joan Sawyer.

In the business session the nominating committee was named.

The other girl, Ina Titsworth, 14, was described as being 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighing 115 pounds, blue eyes, dark brown wavy hair, wearing black pleated dress, and long dark blue spring coat.

"My Work Is Easy"

We're glad when we can hear a stenographer or office girl say this, for we know that she has good equipment to work with and that there is a good system.

We like to feel that in our work we are not only doing a good job of offering quality merchandise at prices people in business want to pay, but we like to know we are doing a good job on the "human side."

That we have bettered someone's job, made it hold a greater aspect for them, caused them to enjoy their work. There's a real sense of satisfaction from doing this kind of a job.

If you have any problems in your office, let us help with them.

Interest Of Fans Will Be Gauged Tonight

Mass Meeting To Be Held In City Hall

Attendance at tonight's mass meeting to decide whether Pampa is ripe for Class D baseball will be an important factor, the committee in charge announced today.

"We've got to know whether or not fans are interested," declared Sam Fenberg, who will preside, "and the only way we have of finding out is to see whether or not they are interested enough to attend tonight's meeting."

Fans of Pampa and surrounding oilfield territories and nearby towns are invited to attend the mass meeting at 8 o'clock in the Pampa city hall auditorium and express their opinions on baseball. They will not be asked for donations or to underwrite anything.

"Tonight's meeting is just to see whether the fans, the men and women who will back the team by attending the games, and a plan can be worked out for park and franchise, then we will go after the necessary money to put in a sinking fund in case the team has difficulties the first few weeks."

Pampa has been invited to put a team in the Texas-New Mexico league along with Amarillo, Lubbock, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene and New Mexico. If Pampa enters, Lamesa will make an eight-team league.

Class D baseball teams must carry six rookies who have never played any professional baseball. A team must also use five two-year men—players who have not had more than two years of Class D experience—and may carry three class men—professionals. The salary limit is $1,100 a month, including manager.

Harold Miller and Grover Seitz, local men, have a proposition for placing a team in Pampa. Joe Tate, former professional who operated at Hobbs last year, has a franchise open and wants to bring it to Pampa.

Major League Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Manager Leo Durocher, talking about Van Lingle Mungo, the Brooklyn Dodgers' problem pitcher, said, "he really looks great. He looks like the old Mungo." Sounds kind of familiar, doesn't it?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Tom Henrich, the New York Yankees' outfielder, is one of the prospects for Lou Gehrig's first base job. Joe McCarthy played him at the initial sack in the first intra-squad game but Tom failed to remind the onlookers of Hal Chase.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Bill Terry is high on Manuel Salvo, the New York Giants' rookie right-hander. Salvo is sure to be one of the starting pitchers in the first exhibition series with the Athletics.

AVALON, Calif.—The Chicago Cubs' new second base combination of Dick Bartell and Billy Herman came under Manager Gabby Hartnett's scrutiny today as the Cubs squared off for their first intra-squad game. Three other camp games are scheduled before the Cubs leave to take on the Chicago White Sox at Los Angeles next Friday.

PASADENA, Calif.—The Chicago White Sox' squad of limpers numbered three today. Pitcher Thornton Lee injured his right ankle covering first on a bunt. His companions are Pitcher Johnny Whitehead, whose right knee was hit by a batted ball, and Second Baseman Jackie Hayes who hasn't shown much improvement following a knee operation.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators is longing for the start of the exhibition game schedule. "We have a lot of raw pitching talent," he said. "I want to see what happens to it when it has to face those Detroit hitters next Saturday."

SAN ANTONIO—Half a dozen balls knocked over the fence by Harlond Clift indicated the Philadelphia Phillies' pitchers better be good when they start against the St. Louis Browns today. Joe Glenn, Beau Bell and Mel Mazzera also hit over the fence in the Browns' final warm-up.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Paul Dean, one of the many question marks on the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, said today his arm feels fine after a week of light work.

NEW ORLEANS—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians said today he would give Roy Weatherly, speedy Texan, first chance at the center field job. Earl Averill, who played there last season, is still a holdout.

TAMPA, Fla.—Manager Bill McKechnie isn't worried over Johnny Vander Meer's wildness just yet. After the Cincinnati Reds' young star walked five and went to three and two on five others in an intra-squad game, McKechnie remarked it took the double no-hit hurler of last season a long time to warm up and that he would have better control this year than last.

SARASOTA, Fla.—There wasn't a drink of water to be had on the Boston Red Sox bench today. "What's the sense of sweating off two pounds or so in a hot workout and then putting it back on by drinking water every five minutes?" asked Manager Joe Cronin.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Third Baseman Bob Kahle's throwing arm suddenly has come to life. The Boston Bees' rookie, acquired from Indianapolis a year ago, was ailing all last season. Plenty of rest seems to have turned the trick and he is throwing better than at any time since joining the club.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers squad will be split into two sections today with the first intra-squad game scheduled. The squad is expected to be complete with Shortstop Bill Rogell and Outfielder Fred Walker due today.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Connie Mack isn't going to lack for catchers on his Phiadlephia Athletics this season. With the appearance of Frank Hayes today, the veteran manager had five backstops in uniform.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—Heinie Manush and Lee Handley were so eager to get started in their spring training they arrived two days ahead of the main part of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The veteran Manush is slated for holdout Paul Waner's spot in right field. Nobody is threatening Handley's berth at third base.

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas—The Phillies step off today into a series of 13 exhibition games with the St. Louis Browns providing the first opposition. Doc Prothro expected to start this lineup: Young, 2b; Jordan, 1b; Pitko, lf; Scott, cf; Klein, rf; May, 3b; Feinberg, ss; Atwood, c; Lomis, p; Burkhart, p; Gross, p.

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—If you think Tony Galento has a chance with Joe Louis you can get six bucks for one in the Broadway future books . . . Georgie Myatt, Giant infielder, is the National League's 1939 glammer boy, gals . . . Florida editors might ask Jimmy Grippo if his light-heavyweight, Melio Bettina (He's champ in exactly one state) is flirting with the movies.

DALLAS, March 10 (AP)—Cecil Coombs, business manager of the Fort Worth Panthers of the Texas League, was stopped by a girl high school reporter in Orange, where the Cats are training. When the interview concerning the club's stay in Orange was about to die a natural death, she asked: "Just one more question, Mr. Coombs, do they play hard ball or soft ball?" . . . Helen Hicks Harb, famous woman links professional, may move to Texas from Little Rock . . . . North Texas Teachers College (home of the rideouts) has won the mile run at Laredo's Border Olympics six straight times. Hey, how about the anti-monopoly law?

Bubba Gernand, coach of the state champion basketball Livingston's Lions, says he finally has broken his second-place jinx. In high school at Beaumont and in Baylor University, he was on teams which finished second place in their races. Cocky Gernand told the Livingston folks in a big celebration he would not be surprised if his team repeated next year . . . One of the dogs in the East Texas field trials pointed a tom cat. The judges, however, made allowances for natural instincts and ruled the dog scored a point so long as he smelled out anything with hide or hair or feathers.

Tex Carleton, the Fort Worth native who was in baseball 14 years, may quit the game. The Chicago Cubs sold him this winter to Milwaukee of the American association, but the big pitcher is tired of baseball. He has saved his potatoes and may "just work around the yard and fish."

Higher education: Bull Rankin and Durwood Herring, Texas Tech football players, were told by a grinning Negro shine boy he could double their money for them in a crap game. They pooled their money, handed him their last $4.80 and told him to go to it. He did. They're still waiting.

Fity the Texas Wesleyan Rams. They defeated Trinity twice during the basketball season, but Trinity won the Texas Conference championship. Two one-point losses to Howard Payne kept the Rams out of the title . . . The Dallas Steers have three players who led their leagues in batting last season. Bill Seghi of the Southeastern League, Cecil Smyly of the West Texas-New Mexico loop, and Hal Lee of the Southern Association.

Perry And Budge To Play Tonight

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Egged on by his own stubborn pride—and the crinkle of crisp greenbacks—Frederick John Perry will go out on the Madison Square Garden court tonight to try to beat down the great Don Budge and rewin his old position as the No. 1 tennis player of the world.

The match, first of a nation-wide tour, is more than a contest between two of the best players in the world. It is a test match for professional tennis. Unless they produce a fast, hard fought match tonight the tour is doomed to slim crowds and slimmer gates.

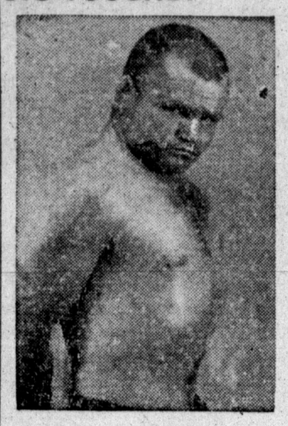

Budge took on Elly Vines, acknowledged boss of the pro game, in his first tour and beat him 22 times out of 39 matches, including an opener at the Garden that has all the zip of the finals of the married men's singles at Sunburn-by-the-Sea. As the tour progressed there were mutterings and in some cases loud hollers that Vines seemed a bit bored by the whole procedure.

So it is up to Perry and Budge tonight. The advance sale is just above $5,000, compared with the $47,000 advance before Budge licked Vines. They had better be good.

Mayor Opens Meet With Perfect Strike

CLEVELAND, March 10 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress' 39th annual tenpin tournament opened on the up-beat. Mayor Harold H. Burton last night raised the curtain on the 58-day classic with a perfect strike. A crowd of approximately 2,600 fans attended ceremonies inaugurating the keglers' marathon for prizes totaling $184,000. More than 23,000 bowlers will participate.

He's just as rough and tough and cocky as he looks in the above picture is Billy McEwin, the wild cowhand from Montana, who tangles with Ernie Peterson of San Francisco in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' big wrestling card Monday night at the Pampa athletic arena. Supporting the card will be a semi-final featuring Miky Durano, an Irish-Spaniard who speaks no English but who knows all about wrestling, and John Nemanic, former referee. Opening battle at 8 o'clock sharp will send Alan Plummer and Frankie Hill to the mat. The card is being classed the best in a year.

Detroit Hopes To Give Yanks Good Argument

By GAYLE TALBOT.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 10 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, hottest club in baseball for the last several weeks of the 1938 fase, hope to go right on from there in the coming campaign and give the Yankees a real argument all the way.

Manager Del Baker almost certainly has the most improved team in either league, at least on paper, and with a fair share of the breaks his club might finish a strong second to the Yanks. That is about as high praise as it's safe to give an American league entry these days.

Except for the batting weakness of their outfield, which is compensated for by the slugging of Hank Greenberg, Rudy York, and Charlie Gehringer of the inner works, the Tigers are a powerful outfit in every respect. Their glaring weakness at third base last season was corrected by the deal that brought them Frank Higgins from the Boston Red Sox.

"It's a good club," admitted Baker. 'It might ever be a great club if Schoolboy Rowe comes back to pitch like he used to, and Fred Hutchinson lives up to his promise. A team can go a long way with a pair of really good pitchers."

Hutchinson, of course, is the prize exhibit of the spring camps. He is a husky kid pitcher who won 25 and lost seven for Seattle last year and cost the Tigers $50,000 cash and several players.

Rowe, who came back to win 12 and lose only two for Beaumont after being shipped out of Detroit with a sore arm last season, believes his wing is as good as ever. I saw him cut loose with a dozen pitches that looked like they might dent armor.

With him from Beaumont Rowe brought another righthander, Paul Trout who looks like he might give the Tigers a terrific mound staff. He won 22 and lost six in Texas. They declared he's better than Rowe.

If these three should come thru, the Tigers wouldn't need a great deal more pitching.

Boxers Of 155 And Up Needed On Boxing Team

Cliff Chambers needs a heavyweight, a light-heavy, and a middleweight for his amateur boxing team. These boys must be of school age.

Interested boys should report for work-outs any evening during the week except Monday and Saturday at the wrestling arena.

Cliff will soon pick a team of 12 boys who will box at various Panhandle towns, including Canadian, LeFors, McLean, Shamrock, and possibly Big Spring and Clarendon. Teams from those towns will return the bouts here.

Proceeds of the matches will be used to purchase awards, either jackets, watches, etc., for the members of the team. The boys will vote on the kind of awards they desire.

Approximately 16 boys have been working out at the arena for about two weeks, and some of the boys are in good shape. Cliff especially invites boys in the three heavy divisions to report for training. Boys in all weights may try out for the team.

The potentiality of the team was indicated at Canadian two weeks ago when Pampa boys won three out of seven matches from the strong Canadian team.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Class A bowlers invaded Class C ranks last night and hung up big scores as General Atlas took two out of three from Cabot, the Lions club won two out of three from Pampa Press, and Kiwanis club swept their series with the Shell Gassers.

Simmons of the Kiwanis club rolled high series of 599 pins, with Sprinkle, rolling for General Atlas, rolled a single game of 213 pins.

The Class B schedule for tonight follows:

Humble Oilers vs. Weir Barbers and American Legion vs. Gunn-Hinetman, at 7:30 o'clock; Faulkner's and E&M Cafe at 9:30 o'clock in a postponed game.

On Sunday afternon two ace Santa Fe Bowling teams from Wellington, Kas., will come to Pampa for games on the Berry alleys, at 2:30 o'clock. One of the teams will be composed of men bowlers and the other women bowlers. Two of Pampa's best teams will be selected to meet the visitors who will come in on the noon train and leave on the evening train.

Jaguars Favored At Cage Tourney

GAINESVILLE, March 10 (AP)—The Jacksonville Jaguars, defeated only three times this season, were favorites here today as the Texas Junior College conference championship basketball tournament opened.

Other teams lined up for the tourney were Tyler, Victoria, Wayland Baptist college of Plainview, Schreiner institute of Kerrville, Gainesville, and Lutheran college of Seguin.

Pairings for games starting at 9 a. m. today, were Tyler vs. Gainesville; Texas Lutheran college of Seguin vs. Schreiner institute, Victoria vs. Jacksonville.

Only one of the Jaguars' three losses was a conference game. The American Pipeliners defeated them early in the season. Sam Houston State Teachers, a senior institution, eked out a 42-36 decision. The one conference loss was to Kilgore Junior college.

IF YOUR MOTOR HAS COLD-WEATHER TANTRUMS

If your car acts up in cold weather . . . don't call it harsh names . . . don't yank on the choke . . . don't run down the battery. Above all, don't decide that it is an ornery, hard-starting brute, and let it go at that.

Japs' Use Of Islands Near Guam Studied

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The Senate naval committee, studying the proposal to improve Guam Harbor, today sought new information whether Japan has prepared some of her mandated islands in the Pacific for emergency military use.

The committee has asked the State Department whether it has information on possible violations of a bi-lateral treaty between the United States and Japan in regard to free access to the mandated islands.

Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) raised the question as he urged restoration in the naval air bill of the $5,000,000 Guam item previously cut out by the House.

Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, has testified the navy has no information on the Japanese islands because Americans have not been permitted there. The bi-lateral treaty guaranteed Americans access to the islands and included an agreement the island would not be fortified.

While the naval committee was considering the air base bill, other senators were preparing for the forthcoming battle over revision of the neutrality act, presaged by President Roosevelt's expressed opinion that it had made no contribution to preservation of peace.

Some senators discussed a possible compromise by which the provision banning shipments of war materials to belligerents when the act is invoked might be modified to permit shipments on a "cash and carry" basis.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said, however, he would not be satisfied with any such amendment and did not believe others would accept it.

Wadlow Defendant In Missouri Suit

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 10 (AP)—Six-footers were midgets in St. Joseph today.

Seated in federal court as the plaintiff in a $100,000 libel suit was eight-foot, eight-inch Robert Wadlow of Alton, Ill.

The defendant, Dr. Charles Humberd, of Barnard, Mo., introduced two tall men to testify he was an authority on "giantism." One, J. R. Erlich, 32, of El Paso, Texas, said he was seven feet six and one-half inches tall. The other, Glenn Hyder, 40, of Kansas City, said he wasn't "over seven feet."

The basis of the suit is a magazine article by Dr. Huberd about 21-year-old Wadlow.

Wadlow was brought to Pampa last summer by Levine's store.

First indoor rodeo in California will be staged in the Livestock Colissum at the World's Fair of the West, May 12 to 22.

Play's A Hit; Tallulah Feels Pretty Foxy Over Her Success

By GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK, March 9—Her new show, "The Little Foxes," is a success and Tallulah Bankhead is sky-high in happiness.

"It's too mahvelous, darling," said the turbulent Tallulah, curling up on the couch in her star's dressing room, "it's wonderful. I'm excited. I'm the happiest woman in the world. This is THE play at last. What, dahling? I love everything about it—the play—my part—Herman (Herman Shumlin, the producer)—the audience—my husband (John Emory, an actor)—my dad—New York . . . "

She rambled on in that husky, staccato, trilling voice of hers, greeting Edie—the faithful secretary who had been with her for years—ordering her dinner from a menu card, warbling, "Hello" to a couple of visitors.

"I'll eat early tonight . . . I idolize Herman . . . do you play bridge, honey? . . . We play at home every night after the show . . . I almost didn't get the part, you know . . . "

I got three words in edge-wise. "How's that, Tallulah?" The tempestuous belle from Duntsville, Ala., changed from the couch to the chair. "Well, they sent for me," she said, "and asked if I was interested in the part. But they wanted to think it over. They thought I might be too young.

"Too young! I'm 37, and you can look it up if you don't believe it. When I was 29, I told dad that I was going to be 29 for the next 10 years. But I gave it up after I was 30.

"Well, Herman and Lillian (Lillian Hellman, author of 'The Little Foxes') thought it over. They took a day or so to do it. I kept my fingers crossed. I wanted to play in this. I wanted more than anything in the world to play in this. Edie, I'll have the cream of tomato soup. Here's your drink, dahling . . . .

"Herman and Lillian came back the next day and said, 'We want you to be in this.' I was mahvelously happy. I felt the way I did when Willie Maugham took me out to lunch and said that he was sorry that he objected to my playing Sadie Thompson in 'Rain' in London.

"You know, he kept me out of it there. Then he saw me in another play and changed his mind. Willie Maugham was a darling. But I was crazy about the 'Little Foxes.' And Herman was the best dear of a director I've ever had. He's a genius and he's sweet and kind and . . . "

Actress, Broke

Tallulah's dinner had arrived in a hot tray from across the street. She whipped right into it. Edie hovered loyally in the background with pepper and salt shakers and a coffee percolator.

"It's the satisfaction of doing something that seems important and creative," she said, "and I've waited a long time for it. I've never really had a magnificent play like this one.

"And waiting around was expensive. I've never really made any money from the theater. I've never really made any money since they paid me $5,000 a week in Hollywod. Just locking around hopelessly for a good play once had me worried down to 78 pounds. I was terribly depressed and ill, and really, dahling, I was worried about those $25-a-day hospital bills . . . .

"Mah dad thought this was the best thing I've done. He (Tallulah's renowned father is Speaker Bankhead of the House) came to Baltimore with some of his senators to see it and came back and hugged me afterward. And he's honest about his acting. He hasn't liked everything I've done on the stage. And he said so . . . "

South's Cyclone

Thus, Tallulah, the flaxen-haired, emerald bell of the south who went from Broadway where she didn't make much of a stir to London, where she did, and thence to Hollywood which she'd rather forget, and back to Broadway where she now reigns as the stage's most glamorous lady. Marriage, a romantic climax to a whirlwind courtship of Emery, hasn't subdued her. She is as violent in her happiness as she was in her melancholy. Her conversation is cyclonic. Her devotion to her father, the Speaker of the House, is idolatrous.

The last time I called on Tallulah happened to be the birthday of her mother, Eugenia Sledge, a famed beauty of the south who died when Tallulah was an infant.

I joined Tallulah in a champagne toast to the sentimental occasion. Then some visitors came and the champagne corks popped, the toast was repeated often.

That's Tallulah.

Associated Press Newsman Held Up

DALLAS, March 10 (AP)—If two hold up men made a careful study of the loot they obtained yesterday, they could pass a stiff test on current events.

James S. Payne, an Associated Press editor, carrying a bag which contained news dispatches, started from the day office in the Times-Herald building to the night office in the Dallas News building.

The bag resembled a bank messenger's satchel.

Payne found two men in his car as he approached it. While one held a gun on him and forced him to drive to an outlying district, the other examined the contents of the bag. They found no wallet on Payne's person and finally consented to let him keep his wrist watch on his plea that it was a gift.

After he was permitted to get out of the car, the bag was thrown out.

The incident resulted in a six-minute delay in opening the night state wire of the Associated Press.

Babson Says Security Program Must Be Changed

America's Latest Fad

PALM BEACH, Florida, March 10—Insurance and "guarantees" are the latest American fad. The demand for old age pensions, for a "guaranteed" wage, for unemployment insurance, for fixed prices, and the like means that America has come of age. Our pioneering days are over. Instead of pushing on to new frontiers, our people are clamoring for stability and security. No matter how much we endorse and underwrite our own features, however, we will find that the only real security is character.

To want security is the most natural of human desires. To believe, however, that security can be accomplished by simply "insuring" every phase of human activity is tragic. A security program is only as strong as the character of its administrators and the adequacy of its reserves. Moreover, history teaches that government insurance is not worth the paper it is written on when based on a flat rate from which everyone benefits equally, irrespective of character.

CONSUMER EVENTUALLY PAYS

Take the Social Security program, for example. Under its provisions, employers are now taxed one per cent of their payrolls and employees are contributing a like amount. In addition, employers are paying three per cent of the unemployment insurance. These taxes are scheduled to increase until 1949 when employers will be paying six per cent and employees three per cent, or more. This will represent at six per cent excise tax on employers' payrolls and a three per cent income tax on every gainfully employed worker.

Naturally, this nine per cent tax must be added to the cost of goods. Therefore, it will eventually be paid—as all taxes are—by the consumer. The current five per cent tax is already a big factor in living costs. It is handicapping thrifty people in saving something for themselves. Now, a movement is on foot to put across a national health insurance program which would take another three per cent payroll tax. It will also be added to the cost of goods. If enacted, it will boost the total tax on wages to twelve per cent.

RESERVE FUNDS A "MYTH"

These Social Security taxes alone are now giving the government about $1,000,000,000 a year of new spending money. This is the annual contribution of millions of individuals to the trust fund which is supposed to provide for them a monthly income in their old age. The funds, however, are being used for current expenses. Is one cent being set aside for the future?

If the Social Security system is not changed, I doubt very much if the young people of twenty of thirty years of age will ever receive any benefit from it. When their time arrives to get their $40, $50 or $60 monthly government check, it may not even buy a pair of shoes or a roast of beef! The Townsend Plan, on some reasonable basis, is far safer. It, at least, "pays-as-it-goes" even though it, too, may increase prices tremendously!

482 NEW TAXES

Despite the swiftly running stream of revenues pouring into Washington all eyes are focused on new tax possibilities. Never before in our history has the government collected as much money as it is now doing. Moreover, it is spending every cent of it, including the money connected for the Social Security trust fund, and it is still paying only half of its bills. Meanwhile, largely to pay for new "social" programs, state governments are considering 482 new licenses and taxes. If the security trend continues, the taxes necessary to pay our "security" and "insurance" programs may amount to a practical confistication of every individual's wages!

Texans Await Blooming Of Blue Bonnets, Dog Wood, Red Bud

By DAVE CHEAVENS,
Associated Press Staff.

In deep East Texas at Palestine and out west in Parker county the civic societies have their blossom and bud scouts on the alert for the first signs of blooms on the dogwood and peach trees.

At Marlin they are in close telegraphic touch with San Antonio for first news of the bluebonnet's blooming, for they know the Falls county flowers will be in their glory about 25 days later.

All of that is early spadework for the mass tribute paid each spring to nature's floral glories in the dogwood trails at and near Palestine; the peach blossom pilgrimage at Weatherford and the bluebonnet photo fiesta at Marlin, the uncertainties of the weather at this time of the year make it impossible for us to tell you just when the events will be held. The sponsoring cities are not sure. Only the flowers themselves know when they will bloom, and they are not telling.

Thus the field work and the close attention to the state of the stems on peach trees and dogwoods.

George Buchanan of Marlin, who originated the bluebonnet photo fiesta idea, capitalizing on Texans' love for wild flowers and upon the current amateur cameramania, also has figured out how he can know with reasonable assurance bluebonnets will be abloom when the dates for the pilgrimage are set. When the bluebonnets are blooming heavily at San Antonio, when they are first opening at Georgetown, he says, "then we can set a time 25 days later. We are waiting for the first signs at San Antonio, and understand the first blossoms are appearing at Galveston. It should not be long."

Usually in April is bluebonnet time in that part of Texas.

Marlin is expecting big crowds of camera fans and flower lovers for this year's event. For those photographers who believe a land-scape, even one color-splashed with bluebonnets, needs the human touch good-looking girl models or beautiful child models will be provided. There is no fee for the models and no charge for registration; all you need to do is bring your camera, and that isn't strictly necessary.

Markers and maps tracing newly-developed woodland routes to show the dogwood to its best advantage will be available to the thousands of Texans who appreciate the loveliness of the East Texas forest.

It is highly informal, free and easy to follow the dogwood trail in Anderson county. Visitors may get their maps and proceed at their leisure and whenever they wish during the two weeks of the event. Open house will be held at Fort Houston, home of the late John H. Reagan and now occupied by his son, Jeff Reagan and his wife; at the home of former Gov. Tom Campbell, in Palestine, now occupied by the family of his daughter, Mrs. Drew Wommack at Meadowbrook Country club and Elkhart Lake club. Mrs. Wommack is head of the dogwood trails committee.

The dogwood, a small tree whose bloom is a cluster of white flowers surrounded by four large leaves, usually blossoms late in March or early April. In two weeks the floral scouts at Palestine should know approximately when, and the wires will bring the news.

Likewise, they will tell you when the Parker county peaches will come alive. It should be soon, about March 15, unless highly unseasonable weather should develop. Says Mrs. Fred R. Cotton of Weatherford, who conceived the pilgrimage:

"Why shouldn't Texans appreciate the opportunity of seeing an unsurpassed display of beauty right here in their own state? They might go thousands of miles, but certainly would find nothing to equal it.

"Much is said of the famous cherry blooms in Washington, but the Parker county peach orchards will be even more beautiful. There are only a few of the cherry trees. There are more than 400,000 peach trees in this region."

County officials at Weatherford are getting the back country roads in shape for the traffic they expect to carry; not all are paved, but a booth on the square will provide full information, with maps of the routes. The roads will be plainly marked for visitors.

There may be other such events, but this department is not now aware of them. There could be hundreds and still the field would be untouched. There are 4,000 different native flowers that thrive in Texas soil and it would take an encyclopedia to tell about them all.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON
Text: Acts 12:5-17

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.,
Editor of Advance

The same influences and forces that sent Jesus to the Cross were soon manifest in the persecution of His disciples in the early days of the church. As in our own day much of intolerance and persecution is associated with the personal ambition of individuals, or the promotion of some partisan interest, by appealing to popular prejudices and bigotries, so, in the ancient day, religious persecution was frequently found associated with such aims and purposes.

The ruler in Palestine, who held his office and power by the favor of Rome, had the problem of currying favor at the same time with the Jewish leaders who were hostile to Roman domination. It was under circumstances like these that Pilate was willing to condemn Jesus to death, not because he wished to, or because he was convinced of any guilt, but because he did not wish to displease those whose favor and support he sought.

Among the early martyrs was James, the brother of John; and when Herod Agrippa, grandson of Herod the Great, saw that the death of James was pleasing to certain Jews, he threw Peter into prison. It is under these circumstances that our lesson opens.

Herod was about to bring Peter forth, evidently with the intention of according him the same fate as James—but that very night as Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with chains and behind the closely guarded doors of the prison, an angel came and stood by him, aroused Peter and, as his chains fell off, led him from the prison. They passed the first and second guards, and came to the iron gate leading into the city which opened to them of its own accord. Then the angel left Peter.

He was somewhat dazed from his experience but, coming to himself, he realized the miraculous nature of his deliverance. He immediately sought the house of Mary, the mother of Mark who afterwards was for a time the companion of Paul, and who was the author of our second Gospel.

Here he found the disciples gathered together in prayer. When the little maid, Rhoda, came in answer to Peter's knock at the door, she was so amazed and so full of joy that in her excitement she forgot to let him in, but ran telling the company that Peter stood at the door.

The whole experience was as amazing to the company as it is to us. Just what happened when Peter's absence was discovered does not appear, but Peter went on his way and probably was in hiding, undoubtedly carrying on his ministry even in the midst of danger.

It is a miraculous story, involving all the questions and problems that miraculous stories emphasize. As I have repeatedly pointed out, however, miracles would be no miracles if they could be explained.

Their interest for us today is in spiritual suggestiveness and teaching that has little to do with any critical question involved. The real and essential fact is that God does encompass his saints with "songs of deliverance," whether it be in strange and miraculous ways, or in the ordinary and understood processes of life.

Germany Not Interested In Slovak Feud

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, March 10 (AP)—Budget difficulties of the Slovak government resulted in the conflict between Czechs and Slovaks which developed far more serious consequences today than anybody at first expected.

Slovaks demanded autonomy as the price of their remaining within the emaciated Czecho-Slovak republic after the September crisis.

Their demand was supported by Germany and Italy arbitrators of the diminished state's future, and autonomy was granted.

Having achieved autonomy, the Slovaks now discover their own financial resources are not sufficient to balance the budget.

An internal loan, which the government tried to float, brought but scant results.

Slovaks re-examined the financial accord made with Prague and claimed they had been duped by the Czechs.

Trouble, therefore, originally started with a demand for a better financial arrangement.

Hand in hand went the demands of radicals in Slovakia for a more complete autonomy—even to the point of forming a separate state.

Prague authorities pointed out the emaciated republic's finances were precarious anyway, because some of her best idustrial regions had been ceded to Germany.

Slovakia's trouble was no different from that of the rest of the state.

Nevertheless, there seemed to be a willingness to reconsider matters.

In view of the movemnt for independence, the Prague government demanded certain guarantees that a better financial deal would not lead simply to secession.

While this whole quarrel was on, Slovak leaders went to Berlin, apparently to find out how far Hitler would support the movement for Slovak independence.

The German government appears to have taken the attitude it is up to the Czechs and Slovaks to settle their own family quarrel.

While sympathizing with Slovak demands for autonomy, yet Berlin believed this autonomy would be established within the the tri-partite state.

Germany risks that Carpatho-Ukraine would be awarded to Hungary by Poland and Rumania in the event Slovakia becomes autonomous.

Carpatho-Ukraine cannot live by itself, German experts generally believe. If Slovakia secedes, it will deprive Germany of direct connection with the Carpatho-Ukraine.

For the present at least, German authorities claim to be disinterested in the squabble between the Czechs and the Slovaks.

Substance To Be Subject Of Sermon

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 12.

The golden text is: "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase" (Proverbs 3:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God": (Romans 8:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter" (page 301).

Food Preservation Topic Of Sunshine H. D. Club Program

Special To The NEWS

SKELLYTOWN, March 10—"One of My Canning or Storage Problems" was given in response to roll call this week when members of the Sunshine Home Demonstration club of Skellytown met in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Fiegenspan.

The program on "Food Preservation" and demonstration of "Newest Preservation Methods and Testing of Pressure Cooker Gauges" was not given, due to the illness of Miss Bernice Westbrook, county home demonstration agent of Panhandle.

Mrs. W. N. Adams, president, presided at the business meeting in which plans were made for a game tournament to be held Friday, March 24, at the school auditorium.

Committees appointed for the tournament are Mrs. John Nichols and Lonnie Figenspan, prizes; arrangement and advertising, Mrs. H. R. Donald and Mrs. W. W. Hughes; ticket committee, Mrs. L. B. Fulton and Mrs. Arvil Williams; Mrs. E. E. Crawford and Mrs. Don Ayers, refreshments; Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Bill Fulton, Mrs. W. J. Watt and Mrs. Williams on the table committee.

Plans were made to attend the poultry demonstration Friday March 17, at Cyler. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. E. E. Crawford and go in a body.

Mrs. H. H. Donald read a letter she had received from the county home demonstration agent, Miss Westbrook, giving information on "How To Make Slip Covers For Living Room Furniture." It was voted to have the next meeting at the community church of Skellytown. The program will be on "The Care of the Baby" and will be in the form of a tea, with expectant mothers and mothers of small children as special guests. Miss Faye Lockhart, county nurse, of Panhandle, will be the principal speaker for the afternoon.

Roll call will be answered by giving "My Favorite Name For Baby." A report on the reporters meeting held at Panhandle Monday, February 28, was given by Mrs. W. W. Hughes, club reporter.

Refreshments in a Saint Patrick motif were served to a guest, Mrs. Horner, and the following members: Mesdames W. J. Watt, H. R. Donald, Bill Fulton, Arvil Williams, John Nichols, L. B. Fulton, W. W. Hughes and the hostess.

County Records In 'Deplorable' Condition, Grand Jury Reports

A charge that there was a laxity on the part of officials to segregate their personal and official transactions and that Gray county records, with a few exceptions, were in deplorable condition, was contained in the report of the 31st district court grand jury, accepted Thursday afternoon by Judge W. R. Ewing.

The jurors reported they had studied the auditor's report (prepared by Cornell & Co., Amarillo, and filed on February 13 with the county clerk), and found that shortages existed in four offices, but for technical reasons they were unable to return any additional indictments.

No explanation of what constituted the technical reasons was contained in the report.

To correct the situation as revealed by their study of the auditors' report, the grand jury recommended to the Gray county commissioners the establishment of an improved system of records by a competent firm of accountants, and that county offices be audited by certified public accountants at intervals of not less than six months.

Judge Ewing accepted the grand jury report, submitted to him by the foreman, W. V. McArthur, and discharged the jury for the term, at 2:50 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The complete report of the grand jury:

"To the Honorable W. R. Ewing Judge of the 31st District Court Pampa, Texas

"Now comes the grand jury and makes this their final report and upon approval of the same, request that we be discharged.

"We have been in session 17 days, investigated 32 cases, questioned 187 witnesses. We have returned eight indictments, all being felonies.

"We have given careful consideration to the recent audit of Gray county records, and find with few exceptions, that they are in a very deplorable condition, there being a laxity on the part of officials to segregate their personal and official transactions. From a study of the auditors report, we found that shortages existed in four offices, but for technical reasons, we are unable to return any additional indictments.

"Due to the inefficiency that exists in the various departments of our county government, we recommend to the Commissioners of Gray county that an improved system of records be established by a competent firm of accountants. And that the offices of Gray county, Texas, be audited at regular intervals, not to exceed a duration of six months, by C. P. A. accountants.

"We find the crime conditions of our county are average. The enforcement officers are diligently working to enforce the laws and deserve the co-operation of the citizens.

"We desire to thank the District Attorney, the County Attorney, the Texas Rangers, for their co-operation and assistance during our deliberation.

"Respectively submitted, this the ninth day of March, 1939."

W. V. McArthur

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ALAN WARREN—Ambitious young country doctor.
EMILY WARREN—Alan's wife.
ERIC KANE—Construction engineer.
DR. FARRELL—Alan's elderly associate.

* * *

Yesterday: Alan places duty first. He leaves in a blizzard to attend a patient the night that his former dean comes to town. Emily is angry because she thinks he may be missing a professorship offer.

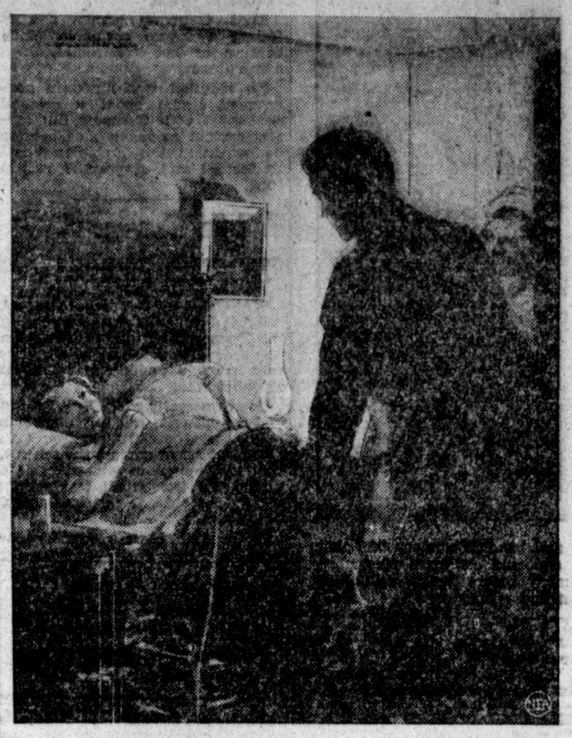

Illustration by Harry Grissinger

Across the room a white, pain-drawn face looked up at him. "I'm so glad you came, Dr. Alan," the woman said.

CHAPTER II

"IS the river road still open, Jimmy?" Alan asked as he waited for the filling station attendant to check his gasoline and oil.

"It was at 4 o'clock, Doc, but the men who came down from the dam say she'll be drifted shut by morning. You have to go up there?"

"Yes, Jimmy, I've got to go. I guess we'll make it all right. I won't go all the way up to the dam, just about half way."

"But Doc, that's more than 10 miles, and in this storm it'll take an hour or more. Look out for that new fill, up by Price's place. They haven't got the guard rails up yet—you could easily miss the road there and go into the ditch. If you have any trouble, or get stuck, just sit tight and flash your lights and keep your horn going. I know all those farmers up along there; I'll phone and tell them to be watching for you."

"Thanks, Jim. But I'll get through—but it's good to know that people will be looking out for me along the route—just in case."

For this—to drive through storm and snow to relieve pain—he had worked and dreamed since boyhood. For this he had spent years in schools, more years in hospitals. His father had driven through storms, just as he was doing now. But that first Dr. Alan Warren had driven a team and ridden in an open sleigh, not in a warm automobile.

Alan hardly remembered his father, but Farrell had known him well. It was Farrell, then associated with Alan's father, who had brought Mrs. Warren and her five-year-old son word of that first—and last—heart attack; and it was Farrell who had guided the lad to medicine, constantly reminding Alan of the heritage his father—a country doctor—had bequeathed him.

* * *

A LIGHT flashed past, to the right. That would be Price's. Jimmy had called after all, and Price had turned on the light at the gate, to let him get his bearings. Alan flashed his lights, and sped on.

Jimmy's warning about the new fill hadn't been exaggerated, Alan thought as he pulled out of a skid, slacked his speed and then went on around the curve. A few feet more and he might have gone over the edge. Well, he hadn't and he was more than half way now.

Snow caked his windshield, except the tiny area kept warm by the electric heater and cleaned by the beating wiper blade. Alan peered out, trying to see beyond the limited range of his headlights.

Suddenly out of the darkness another pair of headlights gleamed brightly, coming directly toward him. Alan wrenched the steering wheel, pulled his car far to the right as the other automobile shot by him.

"Fool!" he muttered, as the whirlwind of snow in its wake swirled around him. His anger passed quickly, however, and he found himself wondering if the driver would make the Price corner safely.

* * *

CARROLL was waiting in the doorway as Alan turned in the lane, and beside the car as it stopped.

"Run 'er right into the shed, there, Doc, out of the storm." the farmer said. "Sure glad to see you," he went on without waiting for Alan to answer. "Hated to call you out in this blizzard but the missus—"

"It's all right, John. This storm is overrated," Alan told him as he pulled his obstetrical bag from the car. "How's Mrs. Carroll?"

"She's having quite a bit of pain, Doc. But her sister, who's a nurse, came yesterday and she's not worried much. She knew you'd be here in time, too."

Inside the farmhouse Alan warmed his hands over the kitchen range. "Better call Slattery's and Price's and tell them I'm here. I won't try to make it back before daylight." He turned toward the bedroom door, opened it softly. Across the room a white, pain-drawn face looked up at him.

"I'm so glad you came, Dr. Alan," the woman said, with a smile. "Everything will be all right now."

* * *

"IS everything ready, Herminia?" Emily asked as she stepped into the kitchen. "Cocktails, soup, steaks? And did the dessert turn out all right?"

"Everything is perfect, for once, Mrs. Warren. Shall I leave a place for Doctor Warren?"

"No—Alan won't be back. There'll just be four, Dr. and Mrs. Peterson, Dr. Farrell and myself. You're a jewel, Herminia. I knew I could depend on you. When we move to St. Louis, I'll take you along. Oh, there's the bell. I'll answer it."

Radiant in her black dinner dress, Emily hurried to the door. Despite Alan absence, she could not feel unhappy. She felt sure, in her mind, that Dr. Peterson's visit was more than a social call on a former student and the daughter of an old friend.

"Emily, you look perfectly gorgeous. I'd like to steal you away from Alan."

The warmth of Dr. Farrell's greeting and the sincerity of his admiration enveloped her as she opened the door to admit him. She kissed his cool, rough cheek, then helped him off with his coat. Emily loved this gentle, understanding man, who had the power to soothe mental as well as physical hurts.

"If my husband keeps on deserting me, I'll probably take you up on that, Doctor!" she said.

"Has he left you again? I thought he'd be staying close to the fire tonight. What is it? Some inconsiderate woman having a baby?"

Emily nodded. "Mrs. Carroll."

"And Alan drove out there in this storm? Why didn't he call me? Driving through blizzards is an old man's job. We know how it's done. Why back in 1905—"

"Yes, I know. You and Alan's father drove for weeks without even sleeping in your own beds. That winter was what brought on Dr. Warren's heart attack."

"You're more than right there, Emily. That's why I don't want Alan running out in every sort of weather. He has a life's work ahead of him here in Sumner. An obstetrician with hands stiffened by frostbite, like mine are, can't attain the things Alan will. He should have let me go—I know every inch of that road. Why if he should get stuck in a drift—"

"Dr. Farrell, he'd freeze to death on a night like this." Sudden terror chilled Emily.

"But there's no danger of that," Farrell tried to amend his misspoken fear. All those farmers will know about Mrs. Carroll and they'll be watching for Alan. Don't worry about him, child. By the way, what's Dr. Peterson stopping off here for?"

"He's an old friend of my father's, and he always has been terribly interested in Alan."

"I think he's going to offer Alan a place at the university, Dr. Farrell. Father wrote that Dr. Peterson had practically quizzed him about Alan's work, and about Sumner and the chances for success here. I think he wants Alan to come back to St. Louis."

"You'd like that, wouldn't you, Emily." Farrell's tone was soft. "You don't like Sumner very well, do you?"

"I hate it. I—" The ring of the telephone interrupted her. "Maybe it's Alan" she thought. "Oh God, let him be all right."

Slowly she lifted the phone. "Hello—"

Slayer Of Four Men Executed

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., March 10 (AP)—Joseph B. "Smokey Joe" Anderson, 37, confessed slayer of four men, died in the electric chair at dawn today for a murder of which he steadfastly maintained innocence.

William Roberts and Tremon McDermott of the Wayne county, Mich., (Detroit) sheriff's office reported Anderson confessed just before he started to the death house, that he fatally shot Robert A. Moulch, Detroit salesman, last summer.

Officers said Anderson had previously admitted killing three other men, but denied he was responsible in the case in which he was convicted.

This was the slaying of Eldon Cooley, 26, grocery chain official of Hot Springs, Ark., who was abducted and robbed of nearly $400 last September 8. Cooley's nude body was found the next day in a ravine.

Police said Anderson admitted killing George W. Howey, Detroit transit firm driver; John Colla, Gary, Ind., taxi driver, and Fred L. Firth, Oakland county, Mich., farmer.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar made the response at a Parent-Teacher luncheon program, held at noon today, and Miss Gracie Fern Latimer was chairman at a librarians luncheon at the same hour today in the home economics sewing room.

Pampans On Four Committees

Pampans are represented on four of the nine conference committees. On the resolutions committee Pampa is represented by Miss Ethleen Murrell; educational progress, T. L. Sone; legislative, W. B. Weatherred; publicity, R. A. Selby.

This morning Pampa High school's a capella choir, directed by Miss Helen Martin, sang to the group assembled in the main auditorium.

Business of the conference was conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon in room 211 of the Administration building.

Boys Chorus To Sing

General sessions will be resumed at 9 a. m. Saturday, when the Shamrock high school band, directed by Glen A. Truax, will play. After a short business session, an address will be given by Miss Corine Nash, supervisor of elementary schools at Waco, on "The Resources of the Teacher." The fourth and last general session at 10:20 a. m. will be introduced with a choral concert of 200 elementary schoolboys, directed by Miss Nell Parmley of the State Department of Education. Speakers at this final session will be Mrs. Wallace, who will talk on "Home-School Cooperation," and Dr. Benjamin, who will talk on "Whose Education?" The new officers of the conference will be presented, and the big meeting will close shortly before noon.

The conference grew from its present status as the biggest convention which regularly meets in the Panhandle from the old Teachers Institute, which was established to satisfy a legal requirement that teachers attend professional meetings at least five days each term. The conference retains the basic features of the old Institute and greatly extended the program. The organization now includes all schools of district 9 of the Texas State Teachers association.

Deposed Premier Protests To Hitler

BUDAPEST, March 10. (AP)—The Vienna radio, broadcasting in the Slovak language, said today Dr. Joseph Tiso, deposed premier of Slovakia, had sent a communication to Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany.

The nature of Tiso's message was not announced, but the broadcast added that the Slovak ex-premier in a telephone conversation with Vienna had protested his removal from office was unconstitutional.

Tiso and two of his ministers in the autonomous government of Czecho-Slovakia were dismissed today by President Emil Hacha of the federated Czecho-Slovak state after discovery of an alleged Slovak movement to secede from the republic.

Czech soldiers and Moravian gendarmes patrolled Bratislava this afternoon, according to telephoned reports from the nervous Slovak capital, while confusion prevailed in government headquarters.

Martial law was being imposed in several regions of Slovakia.

In Bratislava troops threw a heavy guard around gas and electric works. Gendarmes patrolled the streets and were stationed at administration buildings.

The population was in the dark as to what was happening.

The consumption of oranges, lemons and other citrus fruits has tended to increase in recent years, while the consumption of apples has dropped.

Britain Will Try To Halt Arms Contest

LONDON, March 10. (AP) — Britain intends to sound out the big powers on the possibility of halting the tremendous arms race which Prime Minister Chamberlain has declared can end only in bankruptcy for Europe if continued at its present pace.

London papers were unanimous this morning in reporting with optimism the projected disarmament efforts.

Political quarters in this connection attached increased importance to the official trade mission which takes R. S. Hudson, secretary for overseas trade, to Berlin next week.

Some thought Hudson might gain support in Berlin for the idea of at least a "token cut" in armaments. Some newspapers predicted that events in the near future would show how much "wishful thinking" motivated present optimism.

The Daily Mail said "Mr. Chamberlain is planning to call a conference of big powers to consider calling a halt to the arms race in Europe, possibly before the end of the summer.

"Limitation may be aimed at aerial weapons in the first instance. . . . If progress could be made in that direction the disarmament discussions might be widened to include world powers, including the United States."

British belief there was a chance for a successful disarmament venture apparently was based on this reasoning:

That Premier Mussolini's expected claims upon France for colonial adjustment would be more moderate than Italian press agitation has indicated.

That the end of the Spanish civil war would remove the most dangerous immediate threat to European peace.

That Germany admits she is feeling a severe economic pinch because of her tremendous arms expenditures.

No mention was made in government circles about a colonial settlement with Germany, but several cabinet members were said to be convinced the problem should be tackled and, if possible, settled soon.

Poll On Townsend $200 Plan Planned

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—A poll of democratic congressmen on the Townsend old age pension plan was ordered today by house leaders as a possible prelude to calling it up for a vote.

The democratic whip, Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, said his assistants would begin checking next week on sentiment for or against the scheme, which contemplates imposition of a 2 per cent tax on all transactions to pay for old age pensions up to $200 a month.

If the poll shows a sizeable majority of democrats against the plan—and leaders believe it will—Boland said "the next logical step will be to bring the bill before the house."
