Astronauts In Danger, Moon Landing Aborted

(AP WIREPHOTO DRAWING)

HOW APOLLO 13 WILL START FLIGHT BACK TO EARTH — This drawing shows how the Apollo 13 astronauts will start journey back to earth by gaining thrust as they round the moon from the descent engine of the lunar module (note exhaust stream at left) while the service module engine (protruding cone at right) remains idle.

Test Rights Of Servicemen During Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a setting reminiscent of the famous Billy Mitchell court-martial, the Navy is trying a young sailor for publishing a newspaper critical of government officials.

The trial of Seaman Appren. Roger Priest, opening today, is considered a major test of the constitutional rights of servicemen by his supporters and as a test of discipline by the Pentagon.

Col. Billy Mitchell, considered the father of American air power, was court-martialed 45 years ago for publicly criticizing the military establishment.

Priest is charged with soliciting military personnel to desert and to commit sedition through his antiwar newspaper, known as "OM, The Servicemen's Newsletter," which the 26-year-old sailor from Houston published while stationed at the Pentagon

The paper referred to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as "people's enemy No. 1." It used such epithets as "Pig" in describing Laird; Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

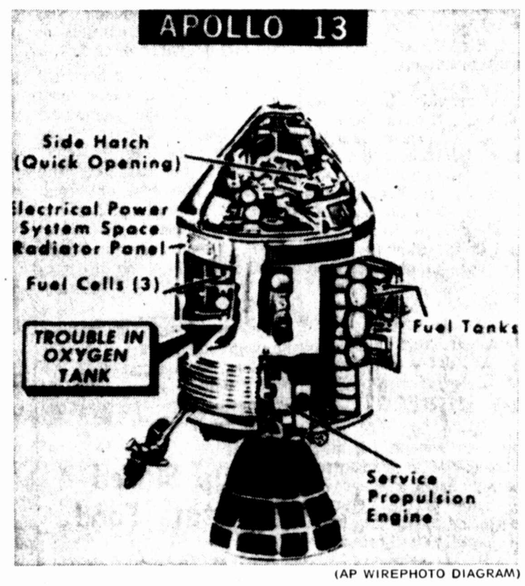

OM proclaimed "today's pigs are tomorrow's bacon" and "we will stop at nothing to stop the Vietnam war, and power arrangements that made it possible."

A military judge dropped the desertion and sedition soliciting charge as too vague but reinstated it when Rear Adm. George P. Koch, commandant of the Washington Naval District, ordered the judge to reconsider.

David Rein, Priest's civilian lawyer, appealed in vain to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals that Koch exerted "undue pressure" on the case.

Other charges are publishing statements urging insubordination, disloyalty and refusal of duty by members of the military with intent to impair loyalty, morale and discipline, and publishing statements designed to promote disloyalty and disaffection in the armed forces.

The Navy is expected to avoid the free speech issue in the Priest case and argue, as the Army did against Mitchell, that the statements constitute a breach of discipline that could undermine the entire military structure.

LEAK IN APOLLO 13 SPACECRAFT OXYGEN TANK — Diagram locates position of oxygen tank in Apollo 13 spacecraft that has developed a leak. The leak became apparent Monday night putting the lunar flight in a crisis.

Fight To Return Crippled Craft

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts battled today to bring their crippled craft back to earth from a quarter million miles away as Mission Control decided they would aim for a Friday splash down in the Pacific.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. took shortcuts to conserve their precious consumables of water, oxygen and power as they raced farther from earth toward a moon which had been their landing target until a violent eruption of a pressurized fuel tank Monday night.

LOOP THE MOON

They were to loop around the moon tonight and two hours later, at 9:40 p.m. EST, were to fire their lunar lander engine to speed them back toward earth and a dawn splashdown in the Pacific north of New Zealand at 12:13 p.m. EST Friday.

Asked whether the three spacemen, principles in the most dangerous drama in American space history, would make it home safely, flight controller Glynn Lunney, answered, "Yes, barely."

"We've got the situation stabilized," he said. "The most critical thing now is to keep it stabilized the rest of the flight."

As Lovell, Haise and Swigert flew away from home, here was the picture aboard their spaceship:

MYSTERY

—The command ship, disabled by the still mysterious rupture, was completely shut down electrically. Emergency batteries and oxygen supplies were available to take the ship, the only vehicle that can carry the men home, through the atmosphere.

—The lunar module which became the astronauts' lifeboat, was providing critical power, oxygen, water and other life support. But its supplies were dropping and the astronauts were operating on minimum requirements.

—Officials were concerned mainly with the water supply. With 72 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, they had enough water for 84 hours, a margin of 12 hours. To keep this margin, the astronauts must power down to minimum electrical power of 17 amperes per hour for most of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

OXYGEN SUPPLY

—The oxygen supply was more substantial. They had enough for 122 a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events. The astronauts moved around as little as possible to reduce their consumption. Oxygen was fed through an open connecting tunnel into the command cabin so the pilots could operate there.

—With power reduced well below 17 amps per hour whenever possible Mission Control officials said the ship's supply of 500 amp hour of power should be sufficient but they admitted it would leave little margin. Only essential instruments were being operated. The only panel lights on were in the LM. Otherwise were flicked on as needed.

—To keep the spacecraft from overheating, the astronauts' ship was occasionally rotated 90 degrees so the 247 degree heat of the sun would not bake on one side for too long.

WRESTLING

—Lovell and Haise, tired from long hours of wrestling with the spaceship's grave problems, were asleep in the command ship couches. Swigert, who earlier slept six hours, took scores of instructions from Mission Control on means of conserving the consumables.

—All three wore flight coveralls. The spacesuits would take too much power and oxygen.

—Communications with the earth were scratchy because one of the high-powered antennas was taken off the line.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target at the time of the accident and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable engine power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts did not have with Apollo 13's big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

Blackmun Is Nixon's Court Pick

WASHINGTON (AP) — An informed Senate source said today that President Nixon will nominate Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota for the Supreme Court.

This was the word reportedly passed to key senators. An announcement from the White House was expected shortly.

Blackmun, a close friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has been a member of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis since 1959. He was appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Before word that Blackmun was Nixon's choice for the court post for which two Southern judges were rejected, key Republican senators were briefed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst in a Capitol hideaway.

Afterward GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said that possible nominees had been discussed and that he expected announcement of the President's nomination "in the very near future."

Scott was asked if he thought Blackmun's chances had been hurt by former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's statement Monday that Blackmun is the kind of man he would like to see on the court.

"I don't think Humphrey's endorsement hurts anybody," Scott replied.

Scott said the meeting with Kleindienst was the type he had urged on the administration after the Senate rejected by a 51-45 vote last Wednesday of Nixon's nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida.

New Chairman Of Joint Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, will become the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Pentagon sources said today.

At the same time, it was reported that Vice Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, commander of naval forces in Vietnam, will be elevated to chief of naval operations.

Moorer will replace Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler who is due to retire in early July after a second six years as head of the panel of military chiefs which advsie the President and the secretary of defense on strategy and policy.

The last naval officer to hold the JCS chairmanship was Adm. Arthur W. Radford during the Eisenhower administration. His term ended in 1957.

Kopechne Report Is Delayed Again

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge today issued a temporary injunction barring distribution to news media, scheduled Wednesday, of the transcript and judge's report on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Judge Andrew A. Caffrey acted in U.S. District Court a few minutes after the 1 p.m. deadline he set for filing of briefs in the suit by a professional court stenographer.

The stenographer, Sidney R. Lipman, contended that he has sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 7[illegible]-page transcript and that [illegible]ans of the clerk of Suffolk Superior Court to issue the documents Wednesday would harm him financially.

There was no immediate indication when Judge Caffrey would hold further hearings on Lipman's move.

The Superior Court Clerk, Edward V. Ke[illegible]g, had contracted with Xerox Corp. to reproduce the documents, and planned to issue them to news media who had ordered them at $75 apiece.

The court order was the latest in the legal tangles of the case of Miss Kopechne, who was found dead in the car of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., last July 19, after it overturned into a Chappaquiddick Island pond.

Kennedy later pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail, and placed on probation for a year.

Fast Begun By Actress Jane Fonda

DENVER (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda and a dozen members of the Mountain States Vietnam Moratorium Committee were in the final stages of their 36-hour anti-war fast here today.

Miss Fonda, still in dungarees and a sweater, slept part of the cool night in a sleeping bag she brought along for the fast, scheduled to end midnight tonight.

The fast at United Nations Plaza in downtown Denver is part of a national moratorium against the war.

Meteorite Hit Apollo?

SEDONA, Ariz. (AP) — The power failure on Apollo 13 probably was caused when the fuel cell was struck by a very small meteorite, Dr. Harvey Nininger said today.

Nininger, regarded as an expert on the subject, said he had given this "very positive opinion" to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration after being consulted by it Monday night.

He said he didn't see why some technologists think the mishap may have been caused by a connection going wrong on the spacecraft since there have been so many successful launches and returns.

"We've known all along of the hazard of meteorites in space," he said, "but we've said very little about it because the flights have been so successful.

"I feel that while we probably have had an encounter with a meteorite, it could have been very disastrous if it had been larger or had punctured the part where the men are living."

BOSTON (AP) — Editorial workers at the Boston Record American voted today to accept management's original contract offer and end the strike they began last Saturday.

Details of the contract was unavailable from either management or the union, the American Federation of Newswriters, Reporters and Editorial Workers, AFL-CIO.

Keep Cops From Enforcing Obscenity Laws In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Federal judges issued restraining orders or continued them today to keep police from enforcing Texas obscenity laws in Dallas, Amarillo and Lubbock.

The suits actually were in two cases.

In the Dallas case, Judge William Taylor Jr. enjoined police from arresting three operators and employes of Cinne Arts Theaters, Inc., and The Guild.

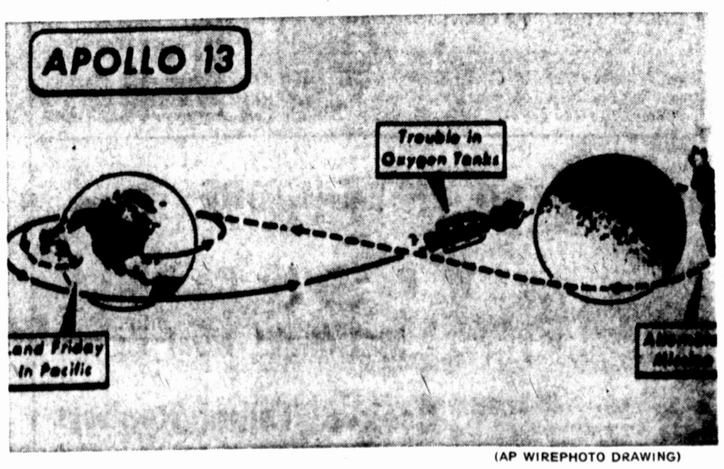

The three operators were arrested last week in raids on the two movie houses. The operators filed a federal suit against officers, asking $275,000 in damages and an injunction against officers "harassing" employes or patrons of the theaters.

In related action, three federal judges agreed to continue a temporary injunction against the obscenity law in four other cases challenging the law's constitutionality.

The manager of the Texas Bookmark Corp., a plaintiff in two of the suits, testified that his Amarillo and Lubbock bookstores were forced to close because of arrests.

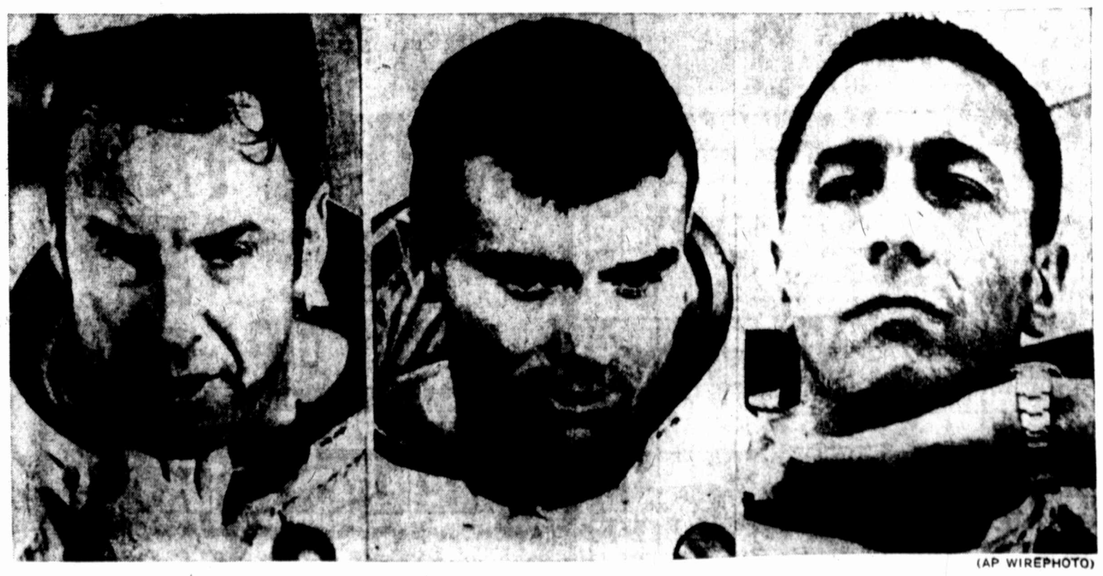

Mike Ackerman said he closed the stores "because they told us if we opened them again they would arrest us again and the fines would be greater."

He said the stores remained closed for nearly three months until a temporary injunction was issued against state authorities.

ALTERNATE MISSION PROPOSED FOR APOLLO 13 — Drawing shows the Apollo 13 spacecraft, approximately 200,000 miles from earth, which developed a major leak from an oxygen tank Monday night. Mission control said no moon landing was possible and that the lunar module descent engine is expected to fire as the astronauts pass behind the moon in an alternate mission, breaking moon's gravity and starting the trio home-ward. A successful return would land them in the Pacific Friday.

Heavy Snow Warnings

By The Associated Press

A mounting spring storm flung wind-driven snow at five western states today, set its sights on three others including the already snow-beleaguered Dakotas, and harassed the Southwest with windblown dust.

Snow fell in Idaho, North Dakota, Wyoming, Nevada and Montana as the storm center moved eastward out of Utah and crossed the Continental Divide.

Heavy snow warnings or the equivalent also were posted for South Dakota, Nebraska and Utah. Winds gusting to 45 miles an hour whipped up dust in New Mexico and Arizona.

The new snow, with a predicted fall of 4 to 8 inches, came only a day after another belated winter storm mantled parts of the Dakotas with as much as 2 feet of snow.

Mobridge, S.D., still had a 16-inch cover and Minot, N.D., 11 inches, and they were in the path of the oncoming storm.

Relatively moderate temperatures took some of the menace out of the storm. Early morning temperatures mostly ranged upward from 25 at Casper, Wyo., although Elyn, Neb., reported 16 and Burley, Idaho, and Laramie, Wyo., 20.

Winds of 72 miles an hour hammered Milford, Utah, late Monday.

The wind tore a one-time cruise ship, La Janelle, from its moorings near Oxnard, Calif., and drove it aground. The ship was not in service and no one was injured.

Salty rainwater fell in south-central Idaho and caused several power outages late Monday. The weather said the salt may have been swept up earlier by windstorms over salt deserts to the south.

Blowing dust reduced visibility and forced closure for a time of Interstate 80 west of Salt Lake City.

Rainfall in the storm generally was light, but the prospects of cold rain and possibly heavy snow brought stockmen's warnings in portions of Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Nevada.

Five inches of snow fell over night at Minot, N.D., to deepen the snow cover there to 11 inches.

The storm which buried sections of South Dakota under 1½ to 2 feet of snow Monday swirled eastward over the Ohio Valley and weakened. Showers or thundershowers ranged from the Carolinas into the southern Great Lakes.

A tornado-like storm whipped through portions of Knox and Anderson counties, in upper east Tennessee, late Monday, overturned two mobile homes and damaged other buildings. No one was injured seriously.

Man Injured

A 54-year-old Seminole man, reportedly in critical condition from burns, was transferred this morning from a Seagraves nursing home to the Veterans Administration Hospital here. He was identified as Lorie Mayberry.

Winds Switch In West Texas

By The Associated Press

An old cool front was dying out across South Texas today and winds were switching to the south in West Texas as a new Pacific front approached.

It was drizzly around Laredo on the Mexican border and early morning fog hung low at Palacios on the coast and at Alice in deep South Texas.

Remnants of the dying front lay stalled along a line from the Palacios vicinity to south of Del Rio in early morning. Skies were clear in East Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy in most other sections.

Official observers looked for the latest Pacific front to swing into the western edge of Texas by evening and set off a few thunderstorms in the Panhandle and elsewhere in the northwest part of the state.

Forecasts held out a chance for thunderstorms along with some cooling by Wednesday in North Central and Northeast Texas and scattered showers over the southern half of the state.

Top temperatures Monday afternoon ran as high as 89 degrees at Laredo. Dalhart was the coolest station with a high of 61.

Readings near dawn today ranged from 38 at Amarillo up to 73 at Brownsville.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Smith Gunshot Victim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merriman Smith, White House correspondent for United Press International for 28 years, is dead at age 57, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Smith received the Pulitzer Prize in 1963 for his coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He suffered a severe illness in December, 1968, but recovered. Ten days ago he entered a District of Columbia hospital. He told his office Monday he had a severe cold and would not be in to work.

When Smith's wife checked on him after he did not answer her call in their Alexandria, Va., home, she found him in a bathroom, with a bullet wound through his head and a .357 magnum revolver nearby.

In a statement, President Nixon praised Smith, saying "Smitty was a reporter I knew and respected for many years and so tonight, I feel a real sense of personal loss. Mrs. Nixon joins me in expressing our deepest sympathy to his family."

Realtors To Host State President Here Tonight

The 1970 president of the Texas Association of Realtors will be here today to help Big Springers celebrate the association's 50th anniversary.

K. E. Antone, who also was 1968 Houston realtor of the year, is a graduate of the Houston Law School and has been a member of the Texas Bar Association since 1938 as an attorney. He joined the Houston Board of Realtors in 1945.

Local realtors will host a reception at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring Country Club, with Antone to speak at the 8 p.m. banquet, Bobby McDonald, president of the local board, said.

Today, although the state is suffering only a minor setback in comparison to the 20's and 30's when the state association had its beginnings, Antone predicts a sound future in the real estate industry.

Antone not only immerses himself in Texas realtors' problems, but he has attended all National Association of Real Estate Board conventions since 1953. In 1969 he was elected treasurer of the Texas realtors after serving one term as vice president.

K. E. ANTONE

He was elected vice president of the Houston board in 1959, and succeeded to the presidency in 1960. He served on the ethics committee as chairman in 1963 and was chairman of the Arbitration Committee in 1968.

He lectured throughout Texas on shopping centers and commercial properties under the old Texas Real Estate Association's seminar programs in 1961, 1962 and 1963. When this program was converted to the present system of Institutes he was placed on the staff of TAR's instruction group and taught real estate law at schools held in Dallas, Austin, San Antonio and Houston.

Antone was chairman of the resolutions committee for two years. He was chairman of TAR's constitution and by-laws committee in 1965, and by-laws committee in 1965, and later, as a member, worked for a complete revision of the association's organic law. He was vice president of Region VI for three terms beginning in 1966.

In 1966 and 1968 he was a member of NAREB's professional standards committee. He is also a member of the enlarged Washington committee on the NAREB.

He is a member of the Episcopal church, the Houston Chamber of Commerce and has served since 1964 on the Gulf Area Development Committee.

He is an organizer and former president of the Southern Federation of Syrian Lebanon American Clubs and was later elected to 10 consecutive terms as chairman of its board. He was named "The Most Outstanding Personality in 25 Years," and is now editor of its news magazine.

For two years he served as a member of the American Cancer Society's annual drive. He is married to the former Geraldine Farha of Beaumont and they have one son, Ellis Gerald, who himself is now a realtor.

New York Post Strike Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — A scheduled 6 a.m. strike by the New York Newspaper Guild against the New York Post was postponed indefinitely early today to allow mediators more time to try and resolve a contract dispute.

Labor mediator Theodore W. Khell announced the move at 3:20 a.m. after a day and night of intensive mediation efforts. There was no new management offer to break what he had called the "total impasse' in the talks.

The guild broke off negotiations with the Post Sunday night, vowing there would be no resumption of talks until management offered major concessions. The Post replied it would not bargain under threat of a strike.

Khell told newsmen he had met with the Post guild unit's negotiating committee and advised them that "an over-all settlement in the newspaper dispute would be seriously impaired if a strike took place at this time."

The Post, together with the New York Times, the Daily News and the Long Island Press, has continued to publish in the absence of strike action by 10 unions whose 13,000 members at the four papers have worked without a contract since March 30.

Concern had mounted that a shutdown at the Post might precipitate a lockout at the other three newspapers, linked by membership in the Publishers Association of New York City.

Although none of the unions has struck, the printers have engaged in a job action at the Times, holding chapel meetings each shift to block the setting of advertising copy.

The printers intensified that action today, increasing to 12 1-3 hours each weekday the total time of the meetings.

In the Post dispute, Khell said he would meet with union and management representatives "at the earliest possible date in order to resolve their particular dispute."

He was flanked by Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the New York Newspaper Guild, and Commissioner Abraham A. Desser of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, during the announcement.

Murphy told reporters, "This decision does not put the Post management off the hook at all. The Post unit has decided to listen to Ted Khell and to listen to the over-all union demands. It reserves the right to take action."

Khell interrupted to agree and emphasized that the union had set "no conditions or waived any rights by its decision to postpone a strike indefinitely."

Apollo-Crisis Chronology

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here is a chronology of key events that led to the decision to abort the Apollo 13 moon landing and bring the three astronauts home (all times EST and approximate):

10:15 p.m. Monday—"Houston, we've got a problem," Commander James A. Lovell Jr. reports. A warning light indicated an electrical power problem.

10:20 p.m.—Lovell reports low oxygen readings on two of the three power-producing fuel cells.

10:25 p.m.—Lovell says "We are venting something out into space." He reports it apparently is gas and that it caused the spaceship to pitch and roll.

10:45 p.m.—Spacecraft reports fuel cell 3 is out, and oxygen supply in cabin is dripping. One of two main electrical circuits "is dead," astronaut John L. Swigert Jr. reports.

10:55 p.m.—Swigert says these systems are flashing warning lights: liquid gas pressurization; fuel cell 1, fuel cell 3, main electrical bus B and suit compressor.

11:20 p.m.—Astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. reports venting is causing "a positive pitch rate, and I can't stop it." Thruster firing halts it.

11:40 p.m.—Haise reports cabin oxygen pressure falling. Mission Control orders activation of an emergency battery, and tells astronauts it is considering the LM "lifeboat"—using the lunar module as a haven.

11:59 p.m.—Mission Control says all three fuel cells are off and that only 15 minutes' electrical power remains in the command ship. Tells astronauts to transfer through tunnel to LM and activate its systems. With oxygen flowing from the LM, Swigert remains in command ship to turn off several systems.

12:13 a.m. Tuesday—Moon landing cancelled and maneuvers plotted for swinging Apollo around the moon and bringing it back to earth Friday.

Red Troops Trigger All-Night Battle

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven of the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

One source said North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia bombarded the complex of yellow one-story buildings with mortar shells and 240mm rockets weighing about 200 pounds each. Then sappers broke through the perimeter firing rocket grenades.

"The damage was extensive," the source said. "It was pretty bad."

The North Vietnamese left 35 rifles and seven heavy weapons on the battlefield, said the spokesman.

South Vietnamese ground troops and bombers have been making regular forays across the border in collaboration with Cambodian forces in efforts to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have their base camps in the area that juts into South Vietnam. It is known to the military as the Parrot's Beak.

Farther south, AP Correspondent John Vinocur reported from Takeo, Cambodia, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the Seven Mountains region of the western Mekong Delta attacked two Cambodian posts about six miles from the border and captured about 50 soldiers and policemen.

Takeo Province's assistant military chief said the Viet Cong were looking for rice. He estimated that there are 20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in his province.

There was no word of fresh fighting 25 miles farther west along Highway One, where more than 3,000 Viet Cong troops advancing into Cambodia are reported on three sides of Svay Rieng, a provincial capital with a population of nearly 20,000.

Cambodian officers in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, told AP Correspondent T. Jeff Williams that U.S. or South Vietnamese planes and helicopters were flying photo-reconnaissance flights day and night around Svay Rieng to pinpoint Viet Cong positions for the Cambodians.

The enemy's spring offensive in South Vietnam ended its second week with other action reported along the Cambodian border north of Saigon, in the central highlands and just south of the demilitarized zone, as well as 45 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today.

The allied commands said casualties included nine Americans, three South Vietnamese and 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, and 72 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese wounded.

Four American helicopters were lost Monday, the U.S. Command said. One was a big Army Chinook hit by a North Vietnamese mortar shell as it was landing at an American artillery base three miles south of the DMZ. The helicopter crashed, killing one of the Americans aboard and wounding eight others.

Two Milkmaids Steal The Show

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two novice milkmaids—measuring 40-22-36 and 46-24-36—stole the show from two Jersey cows—each 104-120-133—in the annual milking contest between Berkeley and Davis campuses.

More than 250 students—several saying they had never seen a cow being milked—witnessed the contest Monday on the steps of Sproul Hall on the Berkeley the University of California's campus.

Ultra-Liberalism, War Figure In Campaigning

By The Associated Press

Two members of Congress drew fire Monday from their respective opponents for U. S. senator in Texas' May 2 primary elections.

Lloyd Bentsen, challenging the bid of Sen. Ralph Yarborough for renomination by the Democrats, took the senator to task on two counts—antiwar moratoriums and ultra-liberalism.

Rep. George Bush was the target of his rival for the Republican nomination, Robert Morris, because he voted for an amendment to the U. S. Constitution which Morris said would enable a man to be elected president merely by carrying one state.

Yarborough had returned to Washington after a weekend of heavy campaigning in Texas but was expected back in the state Wednesday. He planned to be in Austin Thursday and in Dallas Friday.

Bush meanwhile applauded a U. S. Supreme Court decision in a welfare case, declaring, "It represents a return of the Supreme Court to interpreting rather than legislating."

Bentsen asserted in a statement that Yarborough lent the prestige of his office to an April 18 protest against the war by "saying he supports people who pray and fast — he says he doesn't condone violence, but he knows that the moratorium attracts people who will try to tune up the mob for violence."

In another release to newsmen, Bentsen said his opponent is among those who want the Democratic party "to cater to a vocal group of ultra-liberals and militant leftists."

"If we leave it to the ultra-liberals and militant leftists," Bentsen went on, "the Democratic party will self-destruct in the next general election and I'm not just talking about the Senate race . . . I'm talking about the courthouse to the White House."

Morris referred to a Bush vote for a constitutional amendment providing for direct election of the president instead of through the electoral college.

Under this plan Morris said former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could have won the presidency in 1968 if he had carried New York state by as many votes as President Lyndon Johnson did in 1964.

The remarks of Bush about the Supreme Court concerned a recent decision upholding the authority of states to put a limit on maximum welfare assistance to a single family. He said it was especially important in Texas "considering the seemingly ever present welfare funding crisis which we find ourselves in"

Action Pending On Youngsters

Action is pending on a girl, 15, and a boy, 16, referred over the weekend by city police for investigation of possession of marijuana, according to Keith Jones, juvenile officer.

Action is also pending on two elementary school age boys referred by police for theft; a girl, 14, referred by police for shoplifting; and three boys, ages 13, 15 and 16, for violation of a city ordinance. Jones said Monday a 16-year-old girl referred by parents as a runaway has been located.

SWEATING IT OUT — Thomas K. Mattingly, originally scheduled to be command pilot on Apollo 13 but grounded when he was exposed to German measles, wears a worried expression as he listens to conversation between Mission Control and the spacecraft.

'They'll Have Enough Power, But Just Barely'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Glynn Lunney ran fingers through close-cropped hair, adjusted the headset clamped to his head and flashed a smile down the console.

"All right, everybody," he said. "We've got a number of things to do."

His voice was smooth, calm. No bark. No steely edge. He could have been on an outing with a Cub Scout pack.

But the lives of three American astronauts 202,000 miles from home and nearing the moon hung in the balance. Apollo 13 was in trouble, moon landing aborted, and the astronauts' lives threatened.

And it was up to Lunney and his Black team of flight controllers at Mission Control to make order of the chaos.

Behind Lunney, in executive row, sat some of the top brass of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, drawn there in the wee hours of the night by word that the Apollo flight was in trouble.

The problems, crowding in, demanded attention. But they had to be taken one at a time, the most pressing first.

"We'll set up the roll and let them watch it like they did on Apollo 8," he said about a procedure to keep the sun from overheating the spacecraft.

A controller disagreed.

"I don't see the point in the new procedure." Voice calm, he might have been discussing buying groceries with his wife.

"We keep stalling around. I don't see the point. Somebody tell me what the point is and I'll buy it."

The astronauts, James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert, began going through a checklist on activating the lunar module electrical system.

"OK, everybody, quiet in the room while we go through this activation."

A controller suggested telling the astronauts to skip part of the list to save time.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Several astronauts milled about, discussing problems with Lunney, making suggestions.

The viewing room, isolated by a glass wall behind the consoles, was packed, the plush, red theater chairs filled with tense, worried spectators.

Lunney and his Black team came to work about an hour after the Apollo 13 emergency arose, bringing fresh faces, straight ties and wrinkleless shirts.

But as the night wore on and dawn creeped up on Houston, faces grew long and haggard. The keen, adrenalin-fed edge of excitement began wearing off. The long, tedious wait began.

The wait continues at least until Friday, with two other equally competent teams of flight controllers sharing the suspense.

"Will they have enough," one of the controllers asked about the life-giving electrical supply in the lunar lander.

"They'll have enough, but just barely," someone murmured.

Board To Fill Vacancy

The State Board of Education, at its meeting in June, will consider an interim appointment to the board to fill the vacancy created by the death of William H. Evans, Lubbock. The appointment will be only for the period until a successor is elected and qualified in the 1970 general election. Evans represented congressional District 19 as constituted in 1949.

To be eligible to be appointed to fill the vacancy, a person must be 30 years of age, a resident and qualified voter in District 19 (the district from which he is elected), and a citizen of the United States. No state employe or person engaged in organized educational activity is eligible for membership.

District 19, for membership on the Board, is composed of the following counties: Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Haskell, Hockley, Howard, Kent, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry, and Yoakum.

Information concerning people who are eligible for appointment should be sent to Ben R. Howell, chairman, State Board of Education, Drawer AA, Capitol Station, Austin, 78711, prior to the June 6, meeting of the board.

Vets To Get Higher Aid

More than 777,000 veterans, servicemen, wives, widows and children will receive increased educational allowances under a bill signed by the President.

All trainees under the GI Bill and other VA educational programs were assured by Donald E. Johnson, administrator of Veterans Affairs, that they will receive the increases automatically and retroactive to Feb. 1. He stressed that it is not necessary to contact the VA to receive them.

Johnson said most of those studying under the GI Bill in institutions of higher learning will receive one check about May 10, which will reflect the new regular monthly rate, and include retroactive increases from February through April.

Veterans studying below college level, including apprentice, on-the-job and cooperative training must certify their attendance to the VA every month to be eligible for education allowance payments. This group also will receive one check around May 10, at the new rates including the retroactive increases.

Geisha Girls Relax Prince

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles has learned at first hand about one of the functions of geisha girls —they give effective massage for a weary back.

After a visit to a restaurant where he ate native food, Charles was asked by an attendant geisha whether he had found his current Japanese tour tiring. He said his back was tired, and accepted the girl's offer to massage his back and shoulders.

"Arigato, arigato," Charles said when she finished. That means thanks in Japanese.

Underwater Observatory Passes Big Test In Texas

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A transparent underwater observatory for ocean construction and research passed its first major test in dry dock Monday with two men sealed inside for eight hours.

The plastic sphere, known as NEMO, Naval Experimental Manned Observatory, performed better than expected, officials said.

"The engineers said it exceeded their expectations," a spokesman reported as research engineer Jim Shoff and technician Richard Saenger completed their test of life support systems such as oxygen.

The big bubble, developed and tested by Southwest Research Institute here, is described as the first of its type designed to operate at ocean depths of up to 600 feet.

This is much deeper than any transparent hull has operated to date, officials said.

They said NEMO is designed to take a two-man crew deep enough for operations over practically all of the Continental Shelf.

Southwest Research said NEMO will undergo extensive sea trials this spring in the Bahamas. The dates were not at once announced.

NEMO consists of a transparent sphere about 5½ feet in diameter with a large metal base containing power and ballast systems. Crewmen will have to know more than 100 switches and butons.

The craft will serve as a control and observation center for underwater construction and scientific studies. Divers will be able to plug in lights, power tools and other equipment to NEMO while working far below the ocean's surface.

Southwest Research designed and built EMO for the Naval Civil Engineering Laboratory, Port Hueneme, Calif.

Planning For National Data Bank Dealing With Women

HOUSTON (AP) — The YWCA will form a national data bank about women's life in society, the president of the group announced today at the association's 25th triennial convention.

Mrs. Robert W. Clayton of Grand Rapids, Mich., said the data bank will serve as a resource bank about all aspects of women in American life.

Information will be gathered from universities, family planning movements, child care centers and foundations.

She said the information contained in the data bank would serve as a catalyst for action on women's concerns.

"As a resource bank, the center will offer an cutout of factual data about women's concerns with a view toward correcting faulty concepts about women and their children and a goal of prompting women to raise their level of consciousness about restrictions upon them, such a discrimination and exploitation," Mrs. Clayton said.

"Aspects of work will include concepts of child-rearing today, educational needs, employment problems and changes in women's and men's roles. We hope to present options to women for life styles motivating them to find their own fullest potential."

The convention opened Monday. Reports of various subgroups of the YWCA will be presented today.

The reports will come, association officials said, from the Y-Teens, a high school-age group; the National Student YWCA, an assembly of college women; Young Women Committed to Action, young adults in the YWCA; and the National Conference of Black Women of the YWCA.

The convention heard a Negro civil rights activist say Monday night that only a gentle revolution by militant women can bring freedom and justice to America.

"Workers have failed, blacks have failed, or were crushed. And student movements have become so splintered they can no longer focus on anything," said the Rev. Andrew J. Young, former executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"It may well be that women will emerge as the truly revolutionary class in America and save us from militarism, materialism and racism."

Young, who resigned his SCLC post in March to run for Congress from Atlanta, urged women to combat oppression in America within the system. "I like the structure even though I know there's something wrong with it," he said.

He drew his loudest applause when he called on President Nixon to nominate a woman to the vacant seat on the Supreme Court, saying that the President could find a woman jurist to fit his conservative ideology who would still be humanitarian.

Critics Trying To Unseat Judge William O. Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

"This is judicial misbehavior," Wyman said. Pointing to the article, he said, "this is conduct which establishes a sitting justice as a partisan."

Ford displayed a copy of the magazine containing photos of nudes, including a naked couple. He called it shocking.

The resolution calls for the special panel to submit its report in 90 days.

If created as proposed, the committee would conduct hearings and be armed with subpoena power. The resolution, itself, would be referred to the House Rules Committee and, if cleared by that unit, would be subject to a House vote. There were reports the sponsors envision a five-member panel, with three Democrats and two Republicans.

Douglas, who has served on the court since 1939, was criticized last year over his role as president of the Albert Parvin Foundation which received considerable income from Las Vegas gambling enterprises. Douglas resigned from the foundation last May.

The more recent criticism of the jurist has been directed toward his book in which Douglas wrote that "growing rightist tendencies" in America threaten to make man an automaton.

The Constitution sets forth that should the House vote impeachment by majority ballot then the Senate would try the individual with a two-thirds margin required to convict. There is no appeal from the Senate verdict.

In Kansas City Monday night, Douglas refused to talk about the matter. He addressed about 1,000 persons at the University of Missouri-Kansas City on conservation, then invited questions. A member of the audience started to ask about impeachment proceedings, but Douglas cut him short, saying, "I have no comment on that."

THOUGHTS FOR SPACEMAN'S WIFE — Mrs. James Lovell, whose husband is commanding the disabled Apollo 13 spacecraft, signs for a fruit basket at door of the Lovell home while a delivery boy holds a pad for her signature. Meanwhile Lovell and his two fellow astronauts, Fred Haise and John Swigert, were fighting to bring back the moon ship.

Apollo Families Pretty Calm, Tense

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm not saying another word until Jim gets back home," Marilyn Lovell said today as her astronaut-husband aboard Apollo 13 fought a historic space battle to return to earth.

The wife of Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. stayed close to her space center monitor and a big color television set in her home as the space crisis unfolded 200,000 miles away.

At her side, in the small study used by Lovell in prepping for the mission, was Charles Conrad Jr., Apollo 12 moon explorer.

"She's pretty calm but tense," said Conrad as he left the Lovell home in the early morning hours, astride his red motorcycle.

"Sure they'll make it," Conrad said with enthusiasm, but added: "Of course it's always a shame to give up a mission."

"The atmosphere is tense, everyone listening to the squawk box and watching television," said space agency official Bob McMurrey in describing the activity in the homes of Lovell and astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr.

Before the trouble developed in space, Mrs. Lovell and Mary Haise were cheerful as they watched their husbands on Monday night's television show from space. They had gone to Mission Control to see the telecast.

In Denver, Swigert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Swigert, said they were "very worried, just stunned" upon hearing of the Apollo trouble.

Dr. Swigert, a 67-year-old Denver ophthalmologist, was reported not feeling well. Mrs. Swigert, 63, said her husband's arthritis in his legs was bothering him.

Swigert's parents followed the events on television at home. With them were their two daughters, Mrs. Philip Spinelli and Mrs. Marcella Edwards, and three grandchildren, all Spinellis.

A NASA spokesman said the Swigerts "are taking it very well."

Haise's sister, Mrs. Brenda Johnson, said her mother, Mrs. Lucille Haise, has "taken it calmly." Another sister, Eydie Haise, 19, left the University of Southern Mississippi to join her mother in Biloxi, Miss.

Lovell's sister, Mrs. Reynold F. Redman, of Milwaukee, Wis., said she didn't intend to worry about reports that the landing was called off, adding, "It's better than being on the moon and not being able to get back."

A Devotion For Today . . .

I will lift up mine eyes . . . My help cometh from the Lord. (Psalm 121:1-2)

PRAYER: O God, illumine the road I shall travel this day. Help me to look to Thee for a new vision that will make my life vibrant and vital. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Situation Is Different

Members of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, the union representing 22,000 of the 25,000 teachers in that city, have gone on strike in an effort to exert pressure on the public, and in hopes the public will transfer that pressure to the California legislature for more funds.

By a two-thirds vote, teachers previously had rejected a five per cent increase in pay base. Also at stake are other side issues such as smaller class size, carpeting, air conditioning, soundproofing of buildings.

Some teachers threatened to stay out until the end of the current school year; others said they only wanted to make a point and hoped to be back at their desks in a few days. It certainly is to be hoped that the latter is true.

While one would not expect the lessons of organizational pressure to be lost on teachers, there is something about striking a school that runs contrary to established codes. We have a feeling that the school situation is different.

In the first place, schools rank right up there with security in importance to the public welfare. The crisis is severe enough when truckers and other transportation workers, and indeed postal workers, go on strike. These may have a paralyzing effect, but in time truckers can pick up where they left off, and eventually trains will move and letters will get delivered.

But when a child loses time from education, he is losing that which can hardly be replaced. The damage to a box sitting on a loading dock waiting for a truck to pick it up is one thing, but a child whose educational pattern has been interrupted or shattered is quite something else.

Finally, teaching has fought tenaciously for a couple of generations for professional status. And professionalism ought to carry with it some higher order of reason and responsibility than a mere trade or craft union.

Outstanding Job

You won't find the Borden Citizen listed in directories of newspapers, but this quarter publication is one of the outstanding efforts at preserving early history of an area.

The Citizen is issued by the Borden County Historical survey committee and is edited by Pauline Miller. Most issues have a major topic which serves as the main course, but there generally are several sidebars to add to the historical spice.

Borden County people, past and present, have demonstrated a spirit of cooperation so characteristic of the frontier days which the Citizen seeks to get on paper as a permanent record. Contributions have come from descendants all over the country, and those still living in the area have performed great service in gathering information, and now a lot of items which go into the Borden County Museum.

The survey committee has set Aug. 16 as the time for the annual Borden County Homecoming and the dedication of the museum. This is something of which this area should be proud, and for which all of us should be indebted to Borden Countians for undertaking. Borden County is going to have one of the best documented early histories of any county in West Texas.

Twaddle About The Postage Rate

WASHINGTON, — Thank heaven President Nixon will have to fight for his preposterous demand for a 65 per cent increase in first class postage, but the flak he's catching on Capitol Hill is small comfort. The melancholy thing about the whole sordid business is Nixon's display of contempt for the American working stiff.

THIS probably is pardonable. The average citizen is such a fat-headed sheep he has persuaded his political rulers he will stand for almost anything. But it would be nice if some President, sometime, resisted the opportunistic temptation to kick Main Street in the teeth.

Despite Nixon's lofty utterances about inflation and pay-as-you-go, the result of his proposal to raise the price of a six-cent stamp to 10 cents is that the sheep will be shorn again. And why not? Main Street is too ruddy lazy or indifferent to bleat. It has accepted automatic postage boosts from Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson while the postal system sank slowly into its present morass of howling inefficiency.

INFLATION and pay-as-you-go indeed! While Nixon would boost first-class postage by four whopping cents, he asks for only a 5 per cent increase in postage for bulk, third-class matter — the junk mail nobody wants.

Nixon says that he's got to get the money from somewhere to finance the pay boost for postal workers. But he has postponed a proposal within the administration for a five-cent increase in the eight-cent tax on cigarettes and a boost in the federal tax on leaded gasoline. The cigarette and oil industries are loaded with fat cats who can be dunned for campaign contributions.

BUT IF IT'S MONEY the President wants, there's still plenty of it lying around in various programs which could be cut or abandoned without causing a national donning of sackcloth and ashes.

For example, on the same day Mr. Nixon proposed this latest piece of legal thuggery against the common man, Vice Admiral Hyman Rickover told a Senate committee the Pentagon could save $2 billion a year by keeping closer tabs on defense contractors. The postal pay increases will cost $2.5 billion in the coming 1971 fiscal year.

LIKE HIS PREDECESSORS, Mr. Nixon obviously believes it is still necessary to nick the taxpayers for $2 billion in foreign aid every year — a quarter of a century after the end of World War II. He insists on keeping 310,000 American troops in prosperous Europe. We continue to pay through the nose to buy the good life for Formosa's Chiang Kai-shek and the politicians and generals of South Korea.

Our United Nations membership will cost us $109 million in fiscal 1971, one-third of that curious outfit's budget. Seventy-seven other members are in arrears in their dues. At the current rate of troop withdrawal from Vietnam, it will cost us $60 billion in the next three years. Our lords and masters are spending more dough on the supersonic transport at a time when most of us already have been driven nuts by the noise and pollution of our present assortment of jet planes.

THE INCREASE in postal rates, says Nixon, "is only good business, and it is insurance against inflation." This is a new low in twaddle. Apparently, nobody has informed the President that boosting first-class postal rates will increase the cost of operations for businesses using the mails, and that the cost will be passed on to the consumer.

Meanwhile, Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., who usually talks sense, says that as chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee he would be willing to consider a first-class rate boost of two cents, "but that's the upper limit." My dear Senator, considering the state of the Post Office Department and the plight of the middle-income taxpayer, the "upper limit" was reached when the rate was a nickel.

I WISH I COULD hope, that the taxpayers would rise up in non-violent revolt, but they won't. Phooey.

Billy Graham

Do you know any reference in the Bible about the angels singing? Our pastor made the statement that angels never sing. This is contrary to what I have been taught. I trust your judgment, and I would like for you to clarify this matter. M.G.

The concept that angels sing probably comes from the statement: "There is more joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, than for the ninety and nine in the fold." It is also commonly thought that the angels sang at Christ's birth. But, if you will read the record of the angel's announcement at Bethlehem, you will find that the angels said: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, and goodwill toward men." They did not sing.

Singing seems to be reserved for the redeemed of the Lord, and in Revelation we read that it was those who had been redeemed by the blood of the Lamb who sang the song of Moses and the Lamb.

As George Beverly Shea sings: "And when we sing redemption's story, they (the angels) will fold their wings; for angels never felt the joy that our salvation brings."

Singing God's praises is the unique exercise of saved, redeemed people. It came into flower in the New Testament when the disciples: "Sang a hymn and departed." Jesus was with them on that occasion, and it was He that stirred within them a song of praise. When He is present in our lives, He gives us a new song. While the Bible does not specifically say that angels sing, yet I think they do . . . since He is now with them.

Height Of Sophistication

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The Martini is probably the leading cause of unemployment among executives over 40.

If a fellow never does anything, he never has to apologize for what he did.

People who like to chew chocolate caramels usually owe money to their dentists.

It is less nerve-racking to submit to a mugging than it is to sit through lunch with a guy who has the habit of drumming on the table with his fingers.

The two kinds of hobbyists I'd hate most to spend an evening listening to are weightlifters and sky divers.

Inflation inevitably changes our sense of values. The odds are 3 to 1 that if you drop a penny on the sidewalk the person behind you won't stoop and retrieve it—that is, unless you happen to be a pretty girl. In that case the odds are about even.

The height of sophistication is the ability to yawn in the boss's face while being given a merit raise.

In giving a child a name, the wise parent should think first not of how cute it sounds now but how it will look 70 years later on a tombstone.

A man is judged by what he has in his head, a woman by what she keeps in her refrigerator.

Nothing makes a fellow feel more greedy than inheriting money. He hates to pay tax on it even more than if he had earned it himself.

Here's another difference between men and women. A man will usually look up in the telephone directory a number he can't remember. A woman will simply dial the operator and get her to look it up.

Whenever I overhear a man in a restaurant order a breaded veal cutlet for dinner, I figure he has a pretty sodden imagination.

One of the major disappointments of our civilization is that the harder it is to open a package in it anything worth keeping.

Whenever you meet a man who pays $100 for a pair of shoes, you can be certain of one thing about him: sooner or later he will tell you about it.

Among the girls in the office typist pool, the one with the longest fingernails usually turns out the fewest letters.

The biggest problem of housewives today is how to use profitably the time they must spend waiting for a frozen steak to thaw out on the drainboard.

A father wouldn't mind so much how his son's flapping locks make him look if the lad would simply pay his own way through college with the haircut money he saves.

If during a single day all of us carried out our daydreams and fantasies, nobody in the nation would be alive by nightfall.

Franchise Pains

NEW YORK (AP) — When an individual signs a franchise agreement with, let us say, a restaurant chain, he might agree to buy his signs, kitchen equipment, spices and packages solely from the franchiser.

This, he is told, is part of his success formula. It will allow him to maintain a consistently high quality product. It will assure customers that a high standard is maintained by any shop that uses the franchiser's methods.

Thousands of businessmen have signed such agreements in recent years, convinced at the moment of signing that everything was in their favor. Now many of them are disillusioned. Some are seeking court relief.

"The franchise agreement presently in use by most franchisers is an instrument of repression," says Harold Brown, author of "Franchising, Trap for the Trusting." Such contracts must be rewritten, he maintains.

Contracts aren't the only issues affecting the $100-billion industry. Franchising accounting methods have made some businesses look a lot better than they really are, bringing pressure from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Congress also is interested in franchising methods, particularly those which employ the names of celebrities to sell exclusive rights to territories. Some purchasers have found themselves possessing nothing but a section of map.

Local merchants also are complaining, feeling that they have been bulldozed by franchise chains that come into their territories with a great hullabaloo that amounts to unfair competition.

The biggest problem, however, remains within the industry, and it concerns those contracts. A U.S. District Court jury in San Francisco has just ruled "tie-in" arrangements illegal.

This goes to the very heart of the industry. Tie-ins refer to stipulations in the contracts that dealers purchase certain of their supplies exclusively from the chain. And that's what franchising is all about.

"A matter of life and death," said attorneys for Chicken Delight, before the grand jury ruled that such agreements violated the Sherman Antitrust Act.

"What is under attack," they had argued to no avail, "is sole obligatory method of compensation to Chicken Delight for its trademark license, for its name, for its system—for everything Chicken Delight is."

He Has A Slow Pulse

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any significance to a slow pulse? I am 54, work every day, am not winded by climbing stairs, have excellent appetite — but a pulse rate of about 64.

I have an annual physical and check out fine. Is the slow pulse an indication of low blood pressure? Would tranquilizers lower the pulse rate?—Mrs. J.V.B.

A pulse rate of 64 is in what we call the low normal range. Too slow a rate can be a significant sign, but in your case, with everything else appearing satisfactory, I can't see any reason to get excited about a 64 rate.

The relatively low rate does not necessarily indicate low blood pressure — your annual checkup doubtless would have included that.

However, yes, tranquilizers can lower the pulse rate, and so can low thyroid function.

Dear Doctor: What is emphysema? That went on the death record of my father. I thought it was age and shortness of breath. Now the term appears all the time and is often mentioned with cigarettes.—S.R.

Emphysema involves shortness of breath but not necessarily age. The lungs deteriorate and lose elasticity, so a person can't breathe efficiently.

The disease has been known for a long time, but in the last few years has become vastly more prevalent, with smoking and other forms of air pollution very much involved. A person with emphysema should not smoke, both because the irritation makes his condition worse and because smoke in the lungs reduces the amount of air he can get into them.

If you want more of the emphysema story, more detail as to just what it is and what to do about it, send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Friends and relatives told me about arthritis sufferers who found relief with a medicine they got in Mexico. I tried it and felt better before the day was over.

After reading so much about cortisone and its danger, I asked this doctor, and he assures me this medicine does not contain cortisone, so I don't think he could possibly be the doctor you wrote about in the column.

But I am still in doubt about the medication. I can't afford to have his pill analyzed for I have a family and can't afford any more expense of the long trip to Mexico, but I would be willing to send a pill to you to analyze.—Mrs. V.I.

No thanks. I'd be swamped if I tried to analyze pills for everybody who reads this column. But I certainly think you should give one of the pills to your doctor. One of the south-of-the-border arthritis medications is a painkiller so powerful and potentially dangerous that it is used only in the rarest emergencies in medical practice. It can cause serious blood diseases and other disorders. Make sure you aren't being given dipyrone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read about the man who can't digest milk even on his cereal. I find the non-dairy types of cream on the market are the answer — good on hot or cold cereal as well as in coffee. I am allergic to all dairy products.—Mrs. I.M.T.

Thank you. If it helps you, it should help others.

Around The Rim

It's April . . .

"It's April in Paris . . . chestnuts in blossom . . . picnic tables under the trees . . ." A slender French boy quickens his stride to fall in step with a dark-eyed girl strolling along the avenue.

IT'S APRIL in Houston. A cloudy day clears, and two statesmen shake hands, grinning like children, as the massive rocket — a shining toy — soars through the curtain of sky. Soon come the voices from outer space, and the smiles quickly fade. A few miles away at one of the nation's most respected universities, bright young students protest the administration's refusal to allow an activist to speak on campus.

It's April in Washington. Disarmament negotiators depart for Vienna to seek an agreement with the Soviets to curb the superpower arms race. Their giant airliner roars skyward, it's shadow skimming over the ghettos and junk yards.

IT'S APRIL in New York. A beautifully gowned woman smilingly greets guests at the 100th anniversary celebration of a beautiful museum. Their laughter is loud enough to drown out the chocked gurgle of the wide, dark, polluted river across the way.

It's April in Augusta. Thousands of affluent spectators line the fairways of an exclusive country club, seeing nothing but the glint of sun on a swinging golf club. Beyond the trees, and out of sight, are hundreds of black people — scrubbing, digging, lifting — who will never see a golf match in their lifetime.

IT'S APRIL in Los Angeles. Over 20,000 teachers alternate on picket lines outside public schools, demanding higher pay, class aides, carpeting, air conditioning, soundproofing, etc. A tired taxpayer, on the way to a small office, glances their way and remembers that in his youth he always wanted a chance to go to college and get a degree.

It's April in Chicago. Hundreds of teamsters take "time off" from their jobs as cartons of consumer goods stack up in warehouses and grocers across the nation stamp a higher price on the diminishing cans on their shelves.

IT'S APRIL in Vietnam. A young, frightened soldier hardly breathes as he creeps through the brush. Ahead of him a limb snaps and he whirls toward the sound. Then the sharp crack, and he falls to the ground, hand only half-way to his rifle.

It's April everywhere.

We're Gaining On 'Em

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's bitter remarks concerning the Senate vote on Judge Carswell, there was a certain amount of optimism at the White House the following day.

ATTY. GEN. John Mitchell told the President, "They beat Haynsworth 55 to 45, while Carswell was only defeated 51-45. That means we picked up four votes in less than a year. At this rate we should have a man on the Supreme Court by 1972."

"You're a good man, John," the President said. "How many more nominees do you think it will take?"

"Well, given the makeup of the Senate at the present time, I doubt if you'll have to put up more than six men before we can get someone confirmed."

"That's good, John. I'd love to fill that ninth vacancy while I am still in office."

"YOU HAVE NOTHING to worry about, Mr. President. My wife, Martha, has been working on some senators right now. She should be able to get them in line before long."

"Good for Martha," the President said. "Where is she now?"

"When I left her at two this morning, she was still talking to the Arkansas Gazette."

"What for?"

"She was trying to get them to crucify Sen. Fulbright."

"Oh?"

"Martha feels that if she can crucify six senators, she can swing the Senate around to our side."

"WHY DIDN'T we think of that?" the President said.

"Do we have any other candidates lined up to nominate?"

"I've been getting a lot of suggestions. Vice President Agnew thinks that since we're looking for a strict constructionist, we ought to appoint someone from the building industry."

"That makes sense."

"Strom Thurmond just called in and said he thought Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida might make a good choice. Kirk's been wanting to get to the Supreme Court for over a week."

"BUT KIRK'S A Southerner, and everyone knows a Southern constructionist can't win."

"Sen. Hruska gave me a new list of mediocre judges he has complete faith in," the attorney general said.

"I believe we better stop playing up the mediocrity of our candidates this time. It doesn't seem to have the appeal we thought it would."

"There must be someone," the President said.

"Mr. President, I know it's not my place to advise you, but have you ever thought of appointing a woman to the court?"

"THAT'S NOT a bad idea, providing she's a strict constructionist. Whom can we get?"

"Well, Martha was trying on Judge Carswell's black robes the other night, and we were all surprised how well they fit her."

Research: Israel's Secret Weapon

REHOVOT, Israel — In the vast expanse between Western Europe and Japan the Weizmann Institute of Science is unique. It is a center for advanced research in all the sciences that is comparable to Rockefeller University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the United States.

BUT, IN THE dimension of the demands of this developing nation, it is more than that. There is an acute awareness of the need to generate new industry out of the laboratories where dedicated scientists from the four corners of the earth are working. The example of MIT and the electronics industry it spawned after World War II is for Israeli planners a hopeful portent.

So much has come into being so swiftly in this astonishing new country. But nothing has more of a miraculous look than the Weizmann Institute. In a beautiful garden setting in a whole series of buildings in handsome contemporary architecture for nuclear physics, biology, and chemistry more than 400 researchers and students are at work. This is a growth from 10 in 1934 and 20 in 1944. The total staff today, including the gardeners who created the setting of flowering trees and shrubs, is 1,600.

MORE THAN A hundred scientists from 20 countries are here. From Japan, the United States and Western Europe, they spend up to a year and a half or two years at work in one of the half-dozen institutes. This was the dream of Chaim Weizmann, scientist and statesman, the George Washington of Israel, for whom the institute is named. At the ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone for the first Weizmann unit in 1946 the venerable founder put it this way:

"I was for many years a wandering university student in my youth and felt, like my fellow Jews, that I was nowhere particularly welcome. But it was not so much the fault of our hosts as the fact that we could not offer hospitality in return. I thought that perhaps when the first professor from abroad came to Palestine and found something of interest to him and learned something of what we were doing, it would be a sign that we had entered as equals into the comity of world scientists. This has happened, and what we see today is the symbol of a great advance along our own long, thorny road.

ANOTHER PASSIONATE motive he expressed not long before his death was to restore the reservoir of Jewish genius so large a part of which was destroyed in Hitler's gas ovens. For every scientist who escaped to America and contributed so impressively to American scientific and technological development, Albert Einstein being the most conspicuous instance, 10 were lost.

It helps to explain the outpouring of funds from abroad contributing to the growth of the Weizmann Institute. Many of the buildings are named for donors in the United States and England. A loan of $25 million from the Agency for International Development sparked by Ogden Reid, who was then American Ambassador to Israel, meant a big advance. The institute has had contracts for non-weapons research for the American Navy and Air Force.

ISRAEL STANDS high on the list of those nations that could within a relatively short time produce an atomic bomb. The whole process has been greatly simplified, since it is no longer necessary to have a uranium trigger but Foreign Minister Abba Eban says: "We have said that we will not be the first to introduce atomic weapons into the region. That is what we will continue to say. And we shall say nothing more."

In a nation enduring a war of attrition pursued by her Arab neighbors even the peaceful retreat of the institute in its flower-scented setting cannot escape the signs and symbols of conflict. The stark concrete entrance to a bomb shelter expresses the reality of a condition of not peace, not war. No one really believes it will have to be used. And yet it is against that remote chance that this reservoir of brainpower, perhaps the most highly valued asset in the nation, must be protected.

A LOVELIER YOU

There's Technique To Wearing A Shawl

By MARY SUE MILLER

It's an "in" fashion for sure, if you can wrap it. That goes for scarves and skirts, dresses and shirts, jackets and coats.

And for shawls, Indian, Spanish, Mexican, Grand Piano and Grandma in origin shawls top everything from maxi skirts to midi pants and mini bikinis. The effect on day clothes and play clothes is all dash. Just imagine the geometrics of a bright Mexican poncho over a scarlet terry bikini. Or give a bare and spare long white crepe dress the embroidered Spanish shawl treatment. That, milady, is pure slink. Unless, of course, the wearer swaddles herself with shawl.

Overcocooned, even a statuesque figure appears squatty. Remember, you really do not wear the shawl for warmth but for show. So don't blanket yourself with it. For the purpose of decor try wearing a shawl off your shoulders, cowl-fashion, and hold it together lightly with one hand at chest level. Or fit the back to your shoulders and let the front ends fall straight down or tuck them into the crooks of your bent elbows, as the senoritas do.

There are other ways to manage but those two make a good beginning. What you must never do is put on a shawl by slinging it over your head. Rather, adjust it on one shoulder and, slipping your hand behind your back, slide it to the opposite side. That way, you avoid assaulting bystanders.

Man Kills Woman, Wife, 3 Children

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An Elkhart, Ind., man was in critical condition in a local hospital today after a shooting which left his estranged wife, another woman and three children dead.

Neighbors told police they heard shots in the home where the five were killed and then saw Travis Chavis, 25, emerge, shoot himself between the eyes, and topple into a flower bed.

Killed were Thelma Chavis, 22, their two children, Latonia, 3, and Daphne, 4; Mrs. Eugenia Bohlen, 33, and her daughter, Eugenia, 3. Mrs. Bohlen's son, George, 2, was listed in critical condition with a head wound.

Officers said Chavis had come to Memphis on a bus from Elkhart to talk with his wife. Police said he met with her and their children at the three-room tarpaper-covered home of Mrs. Bohlen near downtown Memphis, where the shootings later occurred.

Police said they had not filed charges against Chavis.

THUGS STEAL GUIDE DOG

NEW YORK (AP) — The men came up as Steven Tripp stood waiting on Lexington Avenue for the 40th Street crosstown bus. They knocked him to the ground, emptied his pockets — and fled with his guide dog.

No one helped, Tripp told police.

Two women came up and told him there were two men who robbed him and took his dog, he said. Then they walked away.

Tripp, who made his way home with an injured leg, later gave police the only other information he had. He described his dog, Bruno, a 4-year-old German shepherd. Police put out an alarm for the dog.

The 47-year-old blind man told police that he had been visiting friends and was returning home when he was attacked shortly after midnight.

In addition to the dog, he told police, his assailants took $36 from his vest pocket and his wristwatch and ring.

To Continue Busing Plan In Carolina

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina will be able to continue its school busing program, at least temporarily, as a result of a continuance issue Monday by a three-judge federal court.

The judges Monday continued a stay delaying implementation of their decision calling for sharp changes in the bus system. They heard more arguments that day and ordered that the stay remain in effect until they can consider the arguments and official records of the case.

Judge J. Braxton Craven of U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals and Judges Edwin M. Stanley, and Eugene A. Gordon of the U. S. Middle District Court made no indication as to when they will hand down their final ruling.

At stake is their order of last Aug. 13 that North Carolina must stop busing school children living in areas annexed by cities and towns since 1957 unless bus service is extended to all urban children.

Offers Of Help From British

LONDON (AP) — The United States got offers of help today for any rescue operation for Apollo 13 if the spacecraft comes down in the Atlantic.

Britain said its Royal Navy ships would be placed at the disposal of any rescue operation if asked to do so by the United States. But a Defense Ministry spokesman in London said it had received no request.

In Paris, President Georges Pompidou ordered the French fleet on a state of alert to be ready for any recovery. Word of this was relayed to the U.S. Embassy in Paris.

Brazil's navy and air force were alerted for a possible rescue operation off the coast of Brazil.

There was a possibility Apollo 13 would come down in the South Atlantic but U.S. space officials were hoping for a splashdown in the Pacific as originally planned.

Jodrell Bank, Britain's big space tracking station, reported it was following Apollo 13's course and was receiving a faint signal from the lunar module.

Fraud Charges Jail Candidate

HOUSTON (AP)—M. K. Fisher, a candidate for county judge in Fort Worth (Tarrant County) was released from jail Monday after posting a $2,000 bond on fraud charges.

Fisher, an insurance salesman, was charged with using bogus stock certificates to obtain a $560,000 line of credit at the Port City State Bank here.

He had been arrested Sunday in Dallas at the home of a relative. Fisher, 30, told reporters he planned to continue his campaign in the Democratic primary.

Police claimed Fisher put up 396 stock certificates and eight pads of stock assignments on March 17, alleging they were worth $750,000. Police charged that the stocks were bogus.

This school was not closed, but most of these students were told to go home and return Tuesday.

Wildcat Trucking Strikes Costing Hundreds Of Jobs

By The Associated Press

A 20-day-old strike by air traffic controllers appeared to be ending today, but some teachers and truck drivers remained on strike.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said 250 controllers returned to work today in New York. He said there were no absentees in Boston or Cleveland on the first shift. Washington, D.C., reported only one controller absent.

The back-to-work trend followed increasing court pressure on the controllers around the country, including a temporary injunction issued Monday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orin G. Judd in New York.

Teachers in Los Angeles and Minneapolis remained on strike. But in Butte, Mont., teachers ended a four-day strike.

The 450 Butte teachers returned to work after school officials agreed to a change in contract wording of an administrator-hiring clause.

About half of Los Angeles' 25,000 teachers are striking for higher wages and smaller classes. In Minneapolis, the teachers struck on April 9 for similar demands.

Wildcat trucking strikes in various cities have caused thousands of layoffs in some parts-short industries. Cities affected included St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, and Kenosha, Wis.

The truck drivers are protesting a tentative nationwide contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 over three years. The Teamsters union is setting up a referendum on the contract.

Among the cities affected by trucker strikes were Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit, Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.Y.

Some Chicago drivers who won wage increases of $1.65 an hour over three years during independent bargaining have remained on the job.

In New York, negotiations between the four major daily newspapers and 10 unions representing newspaper workers continued after the New York Newspaper Guild agreed to postpone indefinitely a strike it set for today at the New York Post.

Newspaper employes remained on strike at the Boston Record American, New England's largest circulation newspaper. They were asking wage parity with other Boston newspaper workers.

In Madison, Wis., state Atty. Gen. Robert Warren drew up court papers today in an effort to head off a threatened strike by several thousand workers at 24 state mental institutions.

Commission Meets Today

The city commission meets today at 7 p.m. to select a mayor and swear in the commissioners elected in last Tuesday's city election.

Marshall and newcomers Eddie Acri and Wade Choate will be sworn in as commissioners and will join George Zachariah and Garner McAdams on the panel.

The other action items on tonight's agenda are.

1. Canvassing the vote in the city election.
2. Discussion of a meeting time.
3. City depositor bids.
4. A claim for damages from Mrs. W. O. Washington.
5. Bids request on a new city loader.
6. Traffic commission recommendations.

Brighter British Budget Blossoms

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor party government said today the nation has fought its way out of its long financial crisis and that the Bank of England's discount rate will be cut from 7½ per cent to 7.

The discount rate governs all lending of funds in the country. The cut goes into effect Wednesday morning.

The announcement was made to the House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins. He told the house Britain had made a comeback from the "trough of crisis" to one of the strongest foreign payments positions in the world. He said the foreign surplus in the fiscal year just ended will be considerably larger than he had expected.

Jenkins, who is the equivalent of the U.S. secretary of the treasury, was presenting an election-year budget which may well decide the Labor government's chance of re-election in the balloting that must come by May in 1971.

The cut in the discount rate is the second in little over a month. It was reduced from the crisis level of 8 per cent to 7½ on March 5.

This was expected to mean an early drop in house mortgages and give a boost to the crisis-ridden building industry.

Guardsmen Shelter Jury

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Riot-trained state officers and about 200 National Guardsmen were ordered to jury studying the case of union men who battered down part of a building erected by nonunion workers.

Gov. Claude Kirk ordered up the state forces at the request of Palm Beach County Sheriff William Heidtman. The sheriff refused comment.

"The sheriff has asked for the guard and he is a very reasonable man," Kirk said. "So we'll give him what he wants."

Maj. Gen. Henry McMillan, commander of the Florida National Guard, said at Guard headquarters in St. Augustine that it was his understanding Sheriff Heidtman wanted the guardsmen on hand to cope with a possible flareup today when the Palm Beach County Grand Jury met.

About 1,700 men smashed the walls of an automobile agency with battering rams and pelted police with rocks April 6 over use of nonunion labor on a construction job.

Labor leaders said they would picket the courthouse where the grand jury meets.

Yeggs Enter Record Shop

The Record Shop, 211 Main, was reportedly entered by burglars sometime Monday night who stole stereo equipment, tapes, and records tentatively valued at $2,000 from the store shelves.

Owner Oscar Glickman, 700 Washington, said at least three stereo tape players and an undetermined number of tapes and records were taken in the burglary. Officers said the burglars apparently entered the shop through a skylight in the ceiling and slid to the floor by way of a pole support.

The goods were apparently lifted back through the skylight with a lift rigged with boards and wire, officers said.

Pot Charge Is Filed Today

A charge of possession of marijuana was filed this morning with Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter against Steven Gordon Rogers, 17, 710 E. 14th, following an incident Saturday night in which Rogers and two juveniles were arrested at Moss Creek Lake, allegedly in possession of a marijuana cigarette.

Rogers was released from Howard County Jail on $2,000 bond Sunday.

Lake Superintendent Ikie Rupard arrested three persons around 10:45 p.m. Saturday on the lake grounds. He said the three were huddled around a campfire when he discovered the cigarette believed to contain marijuana.

The younger boy and girl arrested with Rogers were transferred to the jurisdiction of Juvenile Officer Keith Jones.

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in women's shoes because they are part of the view whenever I look at a woman's legs, which is at every possible opportunity.

I can't decide whether these "mod" shoes for women look like prosthetic devices for clubfeet, or torture boxes made of scraps from a harness factory. It is even impossible to tell which way a lady is facing from looking at her shoes.

I ask compassionate people everywhere to help stamp out this conspiracy to make a woman's foot look like an obscene growth on the earthly end of a heavenly object.

FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to the National Shoe Retailers Association and told them what I thought of their squaretoed, clunky, masculine looking shoes that seem to be the only things you can buy anymore.

I told them I have been wearing TENNIS SHOES that were made in Japan because they were actually better looking and more comfortable than what they are showing here.

I am tired of looking like I'm on my way to a gym class.

JUDY IN FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CALIF.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have specialized in bone surgery for nearly half a century. The ill health and suffering due to women's ill-chosen foot gear is appalling. Incidentally, I dare say that treating ailments caused by improper shoeing puts more money in the pockets of medical specialists than is spent for the deforming shoes sold.

The normal shape and function of the human foot requires no raise of the heel. Every fraction of an inch that raises the wearer's heel above the level of his toe, causes him to increase the curvature of his spine necessary to stand upright.

Sketchily tracing the history of the high heel: A "dumpy" queen had high-heeled foot gear made to attain a more "imposing" stature. The prostitutes of Paris latched onto the idea, and the so-called "civilized" women of the world promptly fell for it.

Years ago, when I met the owner of one of the largest shoe stores in San Francisco, I needled him about the atrocious crippling shoes he sold to women. He said, "Doctor, you don't know the half of it! I once stocked my store heavily with the most beautiful and sensible women's shoes we could buy and we couldn't GIVE them away!

If women must distort and bedevil themselves, why don't they select less damaging devices?

Very truly yours,
E. W. CLEARY, M.D. (Retired)

Illegal To Sell Skunk As Pet

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Beginning today, it is illegal to sell a skunk as a pet in Illinois.

John Lewis, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, said the prohibition is contained in a new regulation on animals that becomes effective today.

He said statistics show that skunks are the most prevalent carriers of rabies in the state. Of 998 animals found to be afflicted with rabies over the past five years, 61 per cent were skunks, Lewis said.

'Hey, We've Got A Problem Here!'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

"Hey, we've got a problem here." It was James A. Lovell Jr., the spacecraft commander, the only human to make four trips into space.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problem. We've had a main B bus interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would, even if their ship were a derelict.

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ship.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen; a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained—the power that would have set them on the lunar surface—to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Fred Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

'WE ARE READY' — Capt. Leland E. Kirkemo, above, the commander of the Apollo 13 recovery ship Iwo Jima, said "We are ready" when he learned of the crisis in space Monday night. If all goes well, the astronauts will splash down in the Pacific at noon (Big Spring time) Friday.

Buc Days Are Planned

CORPUS CHRISTI — Buccaneer Days in Corpus Christi is the largest celebration in South Texas and this year's fiesta has been set for April 30 through May 10.

Entries to date indicate more bands, more floats and more marching units in the Saturday night illuminated parade than ever before. Del Mar College officials, sponsors of the annual music festival held the first weekend of Buc Days, are frantically searching for additional rooms and performance halls for the thousands of high school students who will pour into the area.

One of the most colorful of the "Buc Days" ceremonies will be the annual Bucanneer Coronation Pageant in Memorial Coliseum.

On Saturday, May 2, possibly the highlight day of the whole extravaganza, pirates will capture the city; "Miss Texas Pirate Queen" will be chosen. The day will be climaxed by a pre-parade show in Buccaneer Stadium followed by the more than three mile long illuminated night parade.

Most South pairs played a spade contract when today's hand was dealt in a recent tournament. Whether they reached for a small slam or were content to settle for a mere game contract, the result was always negative—for, with the spades banked so badly, East cannot be prevented from winning four trump tricks.

The pair whose bidding is depicted in the diagram achieved the optimum North-South result thanks to a well conceived bidding campaign by South.

North opened the bidding with one spade and South responded with two clubs. When North jump shifted to three hearts which was forcing to game and designated 19 points in high cards, South's thoughts turned at once to slam. He held all the ingredients—an independent suit, side controls, and a fit for his partner. He decided not to dally further and embarked on a Blackwood inquiry by bidding four no trump.

When North admitted to having one ace, South realized that the partnership was off an immediate trick since the opponents held one of the top controls. If the hand were played at a spade contract there was the risk of an additional loser unless North's suit was solid. However, if South were to become the declarer, he might be able to find a parking place for his small spades on North's red suit high cards. So reasoning, South elected to bid the small slam in clubs.

East felt that the only hope of defeating the slam was to obtain a spade lead thru the dummy, so he doubled, an action which by convention demands the lead of dummy's first bid suit.

West was unable to oblige his partner since he was void in spades, and he opened the ten of diamonds which was taken by North's queen. South saw that he was in the dummy for the first and only time so, in order to clear up the block in the heart suit, he continued with ace and king of diamonds on which he discarded the ace of hearts.

The K-Q-J of hearts were cashed on which South discarded three small spades. He reentered his hand with a club and drew trump, conceding a spade trick at the end to bring home his slam contract.

Chicken Outlet Receives Award

The first award of Institutions, the magazine considered to be the "bible" of the food industry, has been given to Kentucky Fried Chicken Corporation as the nation's largest commercial food retailer.

E. L. Terry, operator of the Big Spring outlet, pointed out that only the U.S. Army, the U.S. Navy and U.S. Department of Agriculture School Lunch program exceeded KFC in food production. Last year the KFC total sales amounted to $500 million in its 2,500 outlets. The company has jumped from No. 12 to No. 1 in less than five years, said Terry.

Bill Casper Proves Point In Masters

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

CLOSE SECOND

"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He has never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible—or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat—even though it was three sizes too big.

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

DEFEAT ODESSANS

Dogies Capture Eighth In Row

ODESSA — A triple play executed by Odessa in the seventh inning robbed Big Spring of a chance to end the game but the Dogies counted in the ninth to defeat Odessa High in a JV game here Monday, 5-4.

The Shorthorns, now 8-0 on the year, return to play at home Thursday against Odessa Permian. Monday's game was moved back from last Thursday due to the weather.

Johnny Sevey and David Englert combined to pitch the win for Big Spring. Englert threw the final 6 1-3 innings to get credit for the win. He surrendered three hits but did not give up a run.

In Big Spring's ninth, Grady Ray walked and Newman was hit by a pitched ball. The two were moved along on a squeeze by Jesse Olague, after which Ray scored on a wild pitch.

Tommy Brewer banged out three hits and Tommy Fletcher two for Big Spring, which had seven safeties in all.

Big Spring tied the score at 4-4 with a three-run outburst in the sixth.

COACH OF YEAR — Red Holzman, who coached the New York Knicks to their first Eastern Division title in 16 years, was named Monday the National Basketball Association's coach of the year.

IF THEY'RE LITTLE LEAGUE AGE

Boys Can Now Register For Baseball Contest

Boys age nine through 12 can now register through the McGibbon Oil Company here for the first Pitch, Hit and Throw competition sponsored by big league baseball.

Youngsters will have a chance to show how well they can handle a baseball and a bat and will compete to represent Big Spring at the Mauor League All-Star game in July.

Jack Barber, Little League district commissioner, will serve as co-ordinator of the Pitch, Hit and Throw competition, which is being staged under the auspices of the Phillips 66 Oil Company.

Registration and entries will be accepted through May 16 at any participating Phillips 66 dealer. A parent or guardian must accompany the boys to register. The entire competition is free. All a boy needs to compete is the desire to win. Everything else is provided — balls, bats, targets, measuring tapes.

Every boy who registered will receive a free Pitch, Hit and Throw "Tips" booklet which gives him the lowdown on how to get in shape for the competition and turn in his best performance.

Every boy who participates in the Pitch, Hit and Throw competition has an equal chance to win since he competes only against boys in his own age group. Points are awarded for each ball he can pitch into a target, for the distance he can hit a fair ball, and for the distance he can throw a ball down the foul line.

Thousands of boys will compete in local competitions all across the country, and every boy who participates receives an official PH&T participant's patch. Each local winner receives a PH&T plaque, a baseball warm-up jacket and winner's patch. The four winners of each local competition advance to one of the 56 District competitions.

There will be 224 District winners, 56 in each age group. Each winner gets a District PH&T plaque and winner's patch. Each District winner and one parent will travel to major league city for the next level — the Division competition.

Each Division competition will be held in a major league ballpark on the field before the game. The four top Division winners, one in each age group, representing the National League and the four top Division winners representing the American League advance to the National PH&T Championship to be held at the All-Star Game on July 14.

Each of the eight finalists and both of his parents will attend the banquet of champions prior to the final event, as guests of Phillips Petroleum Company.

Aaron, Jackson Take Charge For Teams

By The Associated Press

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future and Dave Bristol probably has figured out a similar remedy for Reggie Jackson the next time around.

But the enlightened managers had nothing to show for their newfound wisdom today.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

Jackson crossed up Bristol, Milwaukee's new skipper, with a two-out, two-run single in the seventh inning that gave the Oakland A's a 2-1 American League victory over the Brewers.

ASTROS LOSE

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, only other scheduled in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. But you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

"I didn't know how far it was going," said Aaron. "I just knew it was going out of the ball park."

Aaron knocked in another run with a single and Tony Gonzalez delivered three more for the Braves with a single and triple.

Milwaukee's Marty Pattin was clinging to a 1-0 lead at Oakland when Jackson came to the plate in the seventh with runners on second and third. Instead of giving Reggie the open base, Bristol called left-hander John O'Donoghue from the bullpen to pitch to the left-hand hitting slugger.

TWO RBIS

Jackson drilled O'Donoghue's first pitch to center, driving home the tying and winning runs.

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

JOE PEPITONE, new outfielder of the Houston Astros:

"My last check from the New York Yankees amounted to about $26. They took the rest of it in fines."

* * * *

RICK CROUT, one-armed pitcher for a high school team in Columbia, S.C., discussing his spectacular hitting and pitching record this year:

"I don't really feel I have a handicap. I have always been without the arm. Everything — hitting, pitching and fielding — just comes natural to me."

* * * *

BUD FURILLO, Los Angeles columnist:

"White people can learn something from black people, which is don't be afraid to speak out. What do I think? Jerry West was the victim of jealousy among black players over the attention accorded him. West's color cost him the black vote in the MVP balloting in the NBA."

* * * *

BOB GIBSON, St. Louis pitching ace:

"I never have thrown a no-hitter and I never will. I throw too many high fast balls."

* * * *

TED NANCE, publicity man for the University of Houston:

"The newest reason not to play Houston is that the Cougars can sign prospective players to a letter of intent before the SWC date of Feb. 10. This is true and it's such an advantage that SMU signed Tino Zaragosa of Houston at least a month after he initially signed with Houston ..... It apparently has been worth at least $2 million to Rice not to play UH. That's how much, conservatively, Rice has turned down in the past 15 years by not playing Houston. How would you like to be a fund raiser at a school that can turn down $2 million?"

* * * *

Broadcaster LINDSEY NELSON, recalling how it was in the early days of the New York Mets:

"Casey Stengel couldn't get any good players. So he went after the college boys, hoping he'd at least get some smart players. 'We got a lot from Johns Hopkins,' Casey said, 'but them we thought was from the college turned out to be from the clinic.'"

* * * *

Coach PEPPER RODGERS of the University of Kansas, discussing his 1970 football prospects:

"Like the last two years, we could finish first or last. We've proved that nobody has any idea what we're going to do, including myself."

* * * *

GEORGE ALLEN, coach of the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL:

"It'll be impossible to replace Maxie Baughan, who is retiring due to injuries. You can replace the uniform but not the man. Ten years in the league, nine years in the Pro Bowl. A young guy can't do it, and nobody is going to trade a linebacker with experience. It's just too hard to train them. When you have them, you keep them. We were lucky when we traded Maxie from Philadelphia. It's without a doubt the best trade we ever made."

* * * *

JOE PATERNO, Penn State coach:

"I think a national championship would be one of the greatest things that ever happened to college football. I'm hoping for it and at least we're getting some responsible people who like the idea. We have to insure we wouldn't hurt the bowl games and we don't want to get involved in 14 and 15-game schedules. I think, however, both problems can be worked out. What we need now is a concerted effort with a target date like 1978 or sooner. It could be a great stimulus to the game ..... I don't like those weekly polls because the people who vote are impressed by the teams which run up the score. Winning should not be to humiliate. Too, it's a guessing game. You've got people voting for or against you who have never seen you play ..... Texas? I believe they won their national championship on what they did 15 years ago. Sure, the Southwest and Southeast have some fine football. But so does the East."

Cage Circuit Takes Charge Of Miami 5

NEW YORK (AP) — Owners of American Basketball Association clubs got together here today with the matter of merger on their minds.

The owners were to hear a report concerning merger with the National Basketball Association.

The announcement of the merger committee report was made Monday by Commissioner Jack Dolph following a meeting of the owners.

At that meeting it was decided that the ABA would take over the Miami Floridians for the remainder of the season.

"The ABA has taken over the operation of Miami," Dolph said at a news conference. "We will attempt to restructure the ownership. Vince Murphy remains as general manager, acting for the league for the remainder of the season."

Dolph said the ABA wants to keep Miami as a base of operations and is considering the possibility of making it a regional representative such as the Carolina Cougars.

The commissioner also said the league is negotiating with CBS for telecasts of its playoffs but that the first round, which opens Friday, would not be televised because of CBS committments.

In another development Monday, Sam Shulman, a member of the NBA's merger committee, said in Los Angeles he was confident the conflict between Baltimore and Washington can be overcome. A stumbling block to merger has been the geographic closeness of the ABA Washington franchise and the NBA Baltimore club.

Shulman had said Saturday agreement on merger was close and one of the agreements was moving the Washington franchise. However, Washington owner Earl Foreman, not present at Monday's meeting here, said no agreement had been reached on moving Washington.

Foreman said Monday, "I understand his position of not wanting the fact made public that he might even be considering moving."

However, Shulman admitted there was a possibility a merger agreement might not include moving the Washington franchise. He indicated he felt the move was a necessity in reaching a merger agreement.

Miami Yields Draft Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

Green Light In Bradenton

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Yellow school buses transported black and white children to their new classrooms today in Manatee County as officials implemented the desegregation plan blocked last week by Gov. Claude Kirk.

Some 2,600 of the county's 17,000 public school pupils were sent to new schools to provide the 80-20 black-white ratio ordered by a U.S. district judge. The plan also transferred 107 teachers.

Kirk was at the state Capitol in Tallahassee when the busing began.

School Supt. Dr. Jack Davidson said everything was going smoothly.

Davidson said he didn't have any figures of attendance but initial reports were that it was good.

Kirk, who abandoned control of the county's schools in the face of a threatened fine of $10,000 a day for contempt of court, turned from defiance of a U.S. District Court judge to pleading with a Court of Appeals.

"We didn't throw in the towel," Kirk said in New Orleans Monday as he filed two briefs with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. "We are in court. We are working within the system."

Kirk had suspended the local school officials in this Gulf Coast county south of Tampa last week to block the desegregation plan.

Kirk flew to New Orleans Monday to file his briefs personally "to give physical evidence of my conviction that we always must stay within the system."

The Justice Department followed Kirk into court with the assertion that the desegregation plan should be upheld for the time being.

Muskogee School Strike Nets Vow

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — The Muskogee school shutdown appeared headed for settlement today after a four-member majority of the school board made a long-distance pledge Monday night to reinstate the withdrawn desegregation plan that triggered the teacher walkout.

The pledge came in a telegram delivered to a meeting of the executive committee of the Muskogee Education Association. The teacher group relayed the pledge across town to a meeting of the executive committee of the Muskogee Parent-Teachers Association.

The wire came from the four school board members who are attending a convention of the National School Boards Association in San Francisco.

The teacher group, however, refused to call a general meeting of the city's 422 teachers until Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lucile Wilcoxen, president of the MEA, said the executive committee did not want to call the meeting until tonight's scheduled meeting of the school board to see whether for the former plan was actually reinstated.

The P-TA executive council reaffirmed its support Monday night of the original desegregation plan.

The telegram from San Francisco said:

"Having completed and participated in the special session for desegregation, we the undersigned majority of the board pledge reinstatement of the previously approved plan."

Muskogee teachers closed the city's 21 schools Friday and Monday by staying off the job. About 275 of the teachers voted Thursday night to stay off until the board submits a suitable plan of desegregation to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The board had received tentative HEW approval and one plan, but that proposal was withdrawn March 26 after the election of Michael Brown, who campaigned on a platform of opposition to busing of students.

He was the only board member who did not go to the San Francisco convention, and was given until Friday to devise an alternate plan.

He said Monday night he would not make the reinstatement unanimous.

Officers Attend Homicide Seminar

Several officers of the Big Spring Police Department traveled to Crane today to attend a one-day Homicide Seminar sponsored for West Texas Law Enforcement officers by the city's police department.

Assistant Chief of Police Leo Hull said this morning the officers would hear talks from officials from Houston and other cities on matters of homicide investigation.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father, Herbert C. McCraw who passed away one year ago today, April 13, 1969. The song bird's melody fills the air—long after the bird has gone—and when the rose has lost its bloom, its fragrance lingers on. And though we cannot see the ones—from whom we've had to part—their memory, like a melody—still lives within our hearts. Sadly missed . . .

DID YOU READ THAT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME?

A lot of people usually don't see the extra "the" at first reading. Which only goes to prove that you can't believe everything you think you see. The same thing with your hearing. You're not always aware of what you hear.

Like Muzak, for example. Here's an unobtrusive, scientifically programmed musical environment that people don't consciously listen to but subconsciously react to in a positive, functional way. That's one reason why Muzak is so successful in motivating people and increasing their efficiency. Not because we say so. But because companies like your own are proving it every day.

If you would like to see some convincing cases in point on how effective Muzak environments are, just call or write us.

LAUGHING MATTER

"I'd rather not discuss it any further, dear, if you don't mind."

Soviet Nuclear Sub Lost In Atlantic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

There was also the possibility the Soviets might claim an American submarine or ship had bumped the Russian vessel.

To counter such an allegation Defense spokesman Jerry Friedheim told reporters: "I am able to categorically state to you that no U.S. surface vessel or submarines were involved in any way" in the incident.

He declined to discuss whether the Soviet submarine had been tracking any American units. It was understood she had recently been operating with other Soviet vessels in the Mediterranean.

Another reason for the disclosure, one U.S. official said, was to show that the Soviets, too, have trouble on the high seas.

"Everybody thinks we are the only people to have problems with nuclear submarines," he commented.

Barnes Makes Bid To Cut Pot Terms

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says juries will be more willing to convict marijuana users if they know youthful offenders won't be sent to prison.

He said enforcement of drug laws, therefore, will be easier if the legislature adopts his recommendation that first offense marijuana possession be reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor.

"Juries only convict 38 per cent of those indicted. I think the juries' attitude is well proven. When the legislature reduced DWI (Driving While Intoxicated from a felony to a misdemeanor, convictions increased 300 per cent. . .I think juries are hesitant to send them (young marijuana users) to the penitentiary and make felons of them," Barnes said.

Felonies are crimes punished by prison sentences, which can be probated, while misdemeanors carry only a jail sentence and-or fine.

Barnes said he is optimistic the 1971 legislature will reduce first offense marijuana possession to a misdemeanor if it is presented in a bill that increases penalties for pushers and expands enforcement of drug laws.

The lieutenant governor said he has received more mail on his proposal to reduce marijuana penalties than on any other issue in his 10 years as a politician. Mail is running four to one in favor of the recommendation, he said.

Barnes said he would ask Gov. Preston Smith to join him in sponsoring a young people's conference on drugs this summer.

"I hope to have people on panels who have been drug addicts or have used drugs and are being rehabilitated or are cured," he said.

Friday he plans to meet informally with state officials and medical experts who briefed him on his recent tour of drug treatment facilities. He said he wants their ideas on drug education.

Barnes also said the Texas State Teachers Association has endorsed the idea of a one-day program on drugs for each school teacher in the state.

Pay Raises Okayed In C-City Budget

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council adopted a budget Monday night totaling $476,530, down $44 from last year, and providing for a continuing tax rate of $1.60 for each $100 valuation, based on 45 per cent of market value. Discounts will be allowed for early tax payment, ranging from three per cent in October to one per cent in December.

J. A. Sadler, city manager, said the new budget would include pay raises for city employes, averaging six per cent; would allow for replacement of the city's mobile radio equipment; and would provide $600 per year for joining in an area wide teletype service for the police department.

In addition, Sadler said, the budget would allow the city to deposit $5,000 per year toward the purchase of a new fire truck and provide funds for the increased costs of electricity for a new street lighting system, now in the process of installation. The complete changeover will take five years and will raise the city street lighting bill by about 60 per cent.

Council members elected C. C. (Mike) Burt, assistant principal at Colorado High School, as mayor, and Paul Boyd Hunter as mayor pro tem.

New council members Trevelyn Kelley and Buck May and re-elected councilman Eddie Piland, were sworn in as council members and outgoing mayor Dr. John Chinn and mayor pro tem R. J. Hoback, who did not run for re-election, were presented plaques of appreciation for 10 and eight years respectively service on the council.

'Threats To Life, Limb' Halt New Jersey Paper

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — The Daily Record of Morris County suspended publication today due to what a management spokesman called "threats to life and limb" to personnel who did not honor the strikers' picket lines.

The paper had published two limited 16-page editions daily since the strike involving mailers, typesetters and pressmen's unions started last Wednesday over demands for new contracts.

The spokesman said publisher Norman Tomlinson Jr. called for publication to stop "because of the recent violence and threats to life and limb to our personnel and particularly to their families."

Representatives for the paper, which has a circulation of about 42,000, met Monday in Newark with federal mediators in an attempt to "define the issues." The same representatives were to meet today with one of the unions, the Morris Typographical Union, to discuss terms of a new contract.

After his meeting with the mediators, Tomlinson said, "We tried to find out some of the issues. They are different with each one of the unions." In addition to the typographical union, Local 8 of the Pressmen's Union and Local 11 of the Newark Mailers Union are striking the paper.

The typographers contract expired Dec. 31, 1968; the pressmen's contract on Dec. 31, 1969; and the mailers contract last July.

Among key issues for the pressmen and typesetters are wages; the retraining of workers to use new equipment; and a union shop request.

Tax Issue On Agenda

Consolidation of city, county and school tax collection agencies will come up for discussion tonight when the Big Spring Independent School District trustees meet at 7:30 p.m. in the board room at Eleventh and Owens.

Trustees will take a look at a proposed request for a Texas Research League survey for merger of governmental services. A Chamber of Commerce Task Force has requested the trustees to ask for the survey to determine the best way to combine agencies such as the tax collecting departments.

With a fairly routine agenda, trustees will consider allowing a one per cent tax discount for those persons paying 1971 taxes in October, the first month in which taxes can be paid; amendment of the budget to incorporate necessary minor changes; discussion of availability and use of federal funds; appointment of the board of equalization and setting the date for the hearing.

Trustees will also review and discuss the 1970-71 operational budget and canvass returns of the April 4 trustee election.

Lancaster To Attend Meet

Jim Lancaster, of Big Spring Cable TV, will attend the 1970 Convention of the Texas CATV Association (Cable Antenna Television) in Dallas this week. More than 400 cable system owners and operators from Texas and surrounding states are expected to register for the three-day meeting.

In addition, the Mid-America CATV Association will hold its board of directors meeting during the Texas Convention. The Mid-America CATV Association is comprised of cable system owners and operators in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Cable television has grown nationally from only 70 systems serving a total of 14,000 subscribers in 1952, to an industry today with over 2,300 cable systems with more than 4,000,000 subscribers. In Texas alone, there are some 204 operating cable systems serving approximately 200,000 subscribers.

Big Spring Cable TV was established in 1961 and now serves more than 5,200 homes in Big Spring and Coahoma.
