FORMER PILOT TACKLES TASK

ADJUSTING — A former pilot in the South Vietnamese Air Force, Le Ngoc Hung is well on his way to adjusting to life in Big Spring. The former student pilot at Webb Air Force Base is one of many former refugees working in Big Spring. A look at their efforts to become Americans.

CORNERBACK CANDIDATE

MEAN GREEN LETTERMAN — John Thomas Smith, 6-2, 173, sophomore, will be a strong candidate this fall for a starting cornerback position on the North Texas State football team. A former Big Spring product, Smith was coached by Bob Burris.

Burleson Opens Swing Of District Sunday

When Omar Burleson makes appearances at two functions during Webb AFB's Bicentennial Open House Sunday, it will mark the beginning of a western swing of the 17th District for the Democrat from Anson, Tex.

Burleson will speak at the 4:30 p.m. Sunday dedicatory address of the Steven L. Bennett Airmen's Dining Hall at the base.

The dining hall is being named for a former Webb AFB student pilot who died in June, 1972, saving the life of a comrade in South Vietnam, an action for which the Air Force captain was awarded the Medal of Honor.

An 8 p.m. Sunday speech by Burleson is set for the annual banquet of the Big Spring Chapter of the Air Force Assn. The event will be held at the Webb Officers Club.

The congressman will spend a week to 10 days touring the western half of his district, according to aides.

Burleson's schedule for the month-long August recess of Congress has yet to be worked out.

The Herald will publish a special 20-page tabloid Sunday focusing attention on Bicentennial Open House activities at Webb.

The World At-A-Glance

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishop of a Honduran province where two priests were killed says land reform opponents there have "put a $10,000 price on my head." The Most Rev. Nicholas d'Antonio, 59, who came here from Baltimore, Md., 29 years ago, said in an interview that wealthy ranchers were out to get him. "One rancher actually said he would pay only if someone brought my head to him," Bishop d'Antonio said. Another American priest said he was arrested by soldiers in Olancha province, held overnight and was told to preach the word of God "instead of raising up the people." One of the two priests found dead an Olancha ranch was an American.

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Organization of African Unity rebuffed Arab militants today and approved a resolution calling for increased pressure on Israel "including the possibility of eventually depriving it of its membership" in the United Nations. Closed-door debate on the resolution included a furious exchange between Egypt and Libya, delegates said, with Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi shouting that Egypt was failing to support the Palestinian cause. At one stage, delegates said, Ugandan President Idi Amin, the OAU chairman, asked Egypt directly whether it would support expulsion of Israel from the United Nations. The delegates said Egypt replied that it would not.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's budget officer will refuse to tell the House intelligence committee the total annual cost of U.S. intelligence operations, committee members said. They said they have heard cost figures between $6 billion and $9 billion but that Budget Director James T. Lynn in testimony prepared for delivery today refuses to disclose the figure publicly. They said Lynn contends the figure has been given on a classified basis to the House and Senate appropriations committees and should not be released in open testimony. Committee Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., began the panel's hearings Thursday with a declaration that the Constitution requires public disclosure of all public spending.

Jobless Rate Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate declined to 8.4 per cent in July, the Labor Department reported today. There were indications the drop — from 8.6 per cent in June — meant the nation's economy was improving faster than had been predicted by most economists.

The improvement was greater than the statistics indicated because the 8.6 per cent jobless rate reported last month was considered too low because of statistical aberrations. The Labor Department said the true unemployment rate was about 8.9 per cent in June.

The Labor Department said the decline in unemployment extended to most worker groups including teen-agers, adult women and blacks. It said total employment in July increased by 630,000 to a total of 85.1 million persons.

Unemployment in July totaled 7.8 million workers, a decline of nearly 400,000 from the average for the previous three months, the Labor Department said.

The drop in the jobless rate appeared to catch many economists both in and out of government by surprise. The Labor Department had previously predicted the unemployment rate would register an increase in July because of the statistical problems in the June figure.

The Labor Department said the July figures are considered accurate and are not complicated by the statistical difficulties that arose previously.

It said increases in employment during July occurred in 55 per cent of all the nation's industries, compared with the recession low of only 17 per cent in February.

It said the civilian labor force's strong growth in July meant more people sought work and equaled the May total of 92.9 million persons seeking employment.

In the past four months employment has expanded by 1.2 million workers, the department said.

It said the number of unemployed who lost their last jobs, in contrast to being unable to find work or having left their jobs voluntarily, declined in July for the first time in 11 months. The rate dropped by 240,000 to 4.6 million persons.

But long-term unemployment continued to increase in July. The number of persons unemployed 15 weeks or longer now makes up 3.2 per cent of the labor force, triple the rate of the year earlier.

The Labor Department said the statistical problems arose because of seasonal adjustments to account for young persons looking for summer work. Officials said the June figures showed a drop in the jobless rate that had not occurred.

Errors Noted In Account

An account of a theft report to police may have created an erroneous impression, Jean Ferguson, 4011 Dixon, told the Herald today.

When a pickup truck used to transport feed to a horse lot stuck in the sand, she walked half a mile to the nearest telephone, which happened to be the Desert Lounge. From that point she telephoned to get help. When she returned to the pickup, a purse and pickup keys belonging to Pat Gamble had been stolen.

'PEACE IS NOT PEACE OF PAPER'

Ford Calls For Arms Cut

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Cautioning that "peace is not a piece of paper," President Ford told the 35-nation European Security Conference today that the charter they sign must be more than "a long and sorry volume of unfulfilled declarations."

Seven hours later, he and the other leaders put their signatures to the document, concluding a three-day meeting billed as the biggest gathering of world leaders in 160 years. Ford signed third, after the leaders of West and East Germany.

"The people of all Europe and, I assure you, the people of North America are thoroughly tired of having their hopes raised and then shattered by empty words and unfulfilled pledges," the President said in a major address.

"We had better say what we mean and mean what we say, or we will have the anger of our citizens to answer."

In return for the East's pledges to further the human rights of their citizens, the West tacitly acknowledged the postwar map of Europe and Soviet dominance on the eastern half of the Continent.

President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, in his address to the conference, called for the dismantling of foreign military bases and withdrawal of foreign troops from European countries.

He also renewed his call for the simultaneous elimination of opposing military blocs in Europe — the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the East's Warsaw Pact.

Ford, who is scheduled to visit Romania on his current European tour, also called for arms reduction in central Europe and a new agreement with the Soviet Union to put a lid on offensive nuclear weapons, saying "we owe it to our children."

"We will spare no effort to ease tensions and solve problems between us. But it is important that you recognize the deep devotion of the American people and their government to human rights and fundamental freedoms and thus to the pledges that this conference has made."

has made regarding the freer movement of people, ideas and information."

Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, in addressing the conference Thursday, placed emphasis on a section of the agreement declaring that signers of the accord would not interfere in the internal affairs of other nations.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he found

Brezhnev's speech moderate and conciliatory and assumed the Soviet Union would live up to pledges in the document to protect and expand human rights and freedoms.

However, Kissinger acknowledged that Brezhnev's phrasing was ambiguous.

Ford asserted that "peace is not a piece of paper" and that the European security agreement represented "a challenge, not a conclusion."

While saying "the United States gladly subscribes to this document," Ford declared:

"We owe it to our children, to the children of all continents, not to miss any opportunity, not to malingering for one minute, not to spare ourselves or allow others to shirk in the monumental task of building a better and a safer world."

Saying that "detente is an evolutionary process, not a static condition," Ford said:

"Detente, as I have often said, must be a two-way street. Tensions cannot be eased by one side alone. Both sides must want detente and work to achieve it. Both sides must benefit from it."

Ft. Polk Post Exchange Robbed Of $100,000

LEESVILLE, La. (AP) — Two armed robbers held up the Ft. Polk post exchange early today and escaped with more than $100,000 in cash and checks, base officials said.

A widespread search was started, but there was not immediate indication where the men escaped to or how they got away.

The sprawling base in southwestern part of the state is an open facility, without guard gates and perimeter fences. Two highways run through the base, and military and civilian traffic flows through it unrestricted.

A military spokesman said one of the men was wearing civilian clothes, the other fatigues without any Army markings. They carried revolvers.

The robbery occurred the day after payday, when the exchange safe was filled with money. Exact amount taken was determined to be $104,513, some of it in non-negotiable checks.

The spokesman said the men were outside the main post exchange as civilian employees arrived for work. When the doors were opened for one woman, "they invited themselves inside with her."

No shots were fired, the spokesman said, and no one was injured.

The FBI was called in to investigate, along with the military criminal investigating team.

Eight Vie For Crown

Eight Howard County "farm girls" will vie for the title of Farm Bureau Queen Saturday night at the Howard College Auditorium.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Tricia Jackson, 16, and Mary Kay Hunt are new contestants for the title, signing up this week.

They join Laurie Choate, Ann Nichols, Connie Hughes, Lynn Hopper, Lusara Phinney and Patty Peugh as queen contestants.

Tricia Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Jackson, Luther Community, is a junior at Borden County High School, where she participates in basketball, tennis and track. She is a member of the Beta Club, FHA and 4-H.

Mary Kay Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt, Ackerly, attends Sands High School. She participates in basketball and tennis and is active in the FHA and 4-H.

Ed Cumbe, Bronte, will serve as master of ceremonies at the contest and the winner will advance to the District Farm Bureau Queen Contest.

Senate Nixes Weapons Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected on Friday a $31.2 billion military weapons authorization bill for the next 15 months.

The 48 to 42 roll call vote had the effect of demanding a new House-Senate conference to devise a new compromise bill.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said he doubted the House would agree immediately to another conference and he suggested that the Senate appoint different conferees from outside the Senate Armed Services Committee heads.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BRAWL 'What A Hoedown We're Going To Have'

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The rerun election for New Hampshire's U.S. Senate seat will be an exciting partisan political brawl, but not necessarily a barometer of things to come in the state's 1976 first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

"What a hoedown we're going to have!" says 73-year-old Leon Anderson, historian of New Hampshire politics. "I just think it's marvelous."

The Senate, struggling since January, couldn't determine whether liberal Democrat John A. Durkin or conservative Republican Louis C. Wyman won last November's election. Now, the voters will choose again on Sept. 16.

Republicans and Democrats agree that results of the 48-day campaign will give little indication of what to expect in the presidential primary six months later.

Anderson notes that "never before have we had a special statewide election... so there are no precedents for voter turnouts.... I don't think it will draw as much as a general election pulls."

State House Democratic minority leader Chris Spirou

echoes Anderson in saying, "I don't think the election will be a barometer (for the primary), because this will be an election where all elements of the party will be pulling together. In the primary, the opposite happens."

Of the 421,000 registered voters in the state, 164,000 are Republicans, 116,000 Democrats, the rest unaffiliated.

Laurence Radway, state Democratic chairman, says "the only significance this election will have in terms of the primary will be that it will serve as a training ground for (President) Ford's primary campaign."

Gerald Carmen, GOP state chairman, also says the election will give no clue on what to expect in the primary.

"We will have a clear issue here that will have to do with two candidates, nothing else," Carmen said.

Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr., a conservative Republican, has pledged to help Wyman. Although a critic of Ford, Thomson says he would welcome him to New Hampshire to campaign for Wyman.

Both Sides Are Hurt

Seizure of U.S. military installations by the Turkish government puts the United States military and intelligence community in a precarious position.

The Turkish takeover came after the U.S. House of Representatives refused to partially lift the ban against selling U.S. arms to Turkey. The action definitely was one of reprisal.

The ban on arms sales to Turkey came after the Turkish invasion and occupation of parts of Cyprus in 1974. Many Americans feel the Turkish government acted poorly in sending its forces to Cyprus to protect minority Turkish Cypriots. They are concerned that Turkey has not removed those forces.

Congress' rejection of future arms sales to Turkey has been interpreted by some as a move to force withdrawal of Turkish troops from Cyprus and bring about a peace agreement with Greece. It must be remembered it was the former Greek military regime which started the 1974 fighting on Cyprus.

Instead of effecting troop withdrawal and peace negotiations, Congress' refusal to allow arms sales to Turkey has backfired into a countermove by the Turks. They're telling the U.S. to get out of the strategic military installations this country maintains along the Black Sea.

Call it blackmail or what-have-you; but moves by both the Turkish government and Congress have definitely put U.S.-Turkish relations in a severe strain.

Radiating Influence

West Texas and his hometown of Snyder have lost a valuable citizen and servant in the person of C. T. McLaughlin, who died at Snyder Tuesday evening.

"Mr. Mac," as he was known by his many friends, was involved in many spheres of activity, including the industrial, political, agricultural and cultural.

An oil well driller and operator who happened to strike it rich, Mr. Mac nevertheless recognized himself as a trustee of his good fortune. He was interested in the political processes from the precinct to the national convention and served as a national delegate to the Democratic convention as well as on the state executive committee; he was chairman of the Texas Law Enforcement Commission; he was a regent for Texas Tech University.

He was a leader in his career field, heading several oil and gas associations and exercising his influence for anti-pollution of watersheds. He was a leader in breeding of quality livestock and of horses.

The list of speakers he lured to the annual Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquets reads like a who's who of national politics and entertainment, including Lyndon Johnson, destined to be a president. His benefactions to numerous other Snyder and area projects were many.

One of the things dearest to his heart and for which he doubtless will be long revered, is his stimulation of interest in the arts by his own exceptional collection of paintings and sculpture and the founding of his Diamond M Museum, also his active role in the Cowboy Hall of Fame art museum. The good influences of this good man will radiate for a long, long time.

Works For Writers

Around The Rim

John Edwards

As the old bus rumbled to another Friday night football game, I used to wonder what the coaching staff was thinking about in the silence.

It's a word game, a source close to local coaches told me. You match a team or town with an appropriate mascot so that the name means something.

For example: The Mission Impossibles, Goree Details, Claude Hoppers, Comfort Stations, Zapata She No Flusha and Happy Go Luckies.

Also the McAllen McWrenches, Marble Falls So Does Rock, Uvalde Me Tarzan, Irving R. Levine and Arlington Cemeteries.

The Bryan Piccalos vs. the Gail Sayers. And in a hometown rivalry, the (Corpus Christi) Moody Blues vs. the Corpus Delictis.

It works for sports writers, too:

My Answer

Billy Graham

Thanks for that crusade of yours in Albuquerque. I have 3 teenagers, and your visit helped them change so much. Now I have a question — what was the mark that Genesis 4 says God placed on Cain after his murder of Abel?

D. P.

The crime of fratricide carried such a penalty that Cain knew he would be put to death. In the 130 years that had elapsed, Adam's descendants were obviously not limited to the two brothers and their wives; many could have been out to get him.

Now commentators on Genesis 4:15 are divided in the interpretation of this mark. Some say it was a visible sign to repress avengers. Maybe something like a palsy or a special kind of dress. Really, we don't know.

Or it might have been inward assurance to Cain himself that he would not be destroyed. But whatever it was, it was not a sign of Cain's forgiveness, only a pledge of God's protection.

Cain was a wandering fugitive, spared from immediate judgment, but perhaps a fitting emblem of the doom of the ungodly — far from God

Who Controls Policy?

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The lament from the State Department is that with so many cooks, congressional and others, the foreign policy broom is being hopelessly muddled. In instance after instance, Congress steps in and confuses or disrupts the lines of policy laid down by the executive branch of government.

BUT WITH a constitutional obligation in foreign policy, the Senate makes a case for a share of the responsibility. And in specific instances the value of that case is, in my opinion, demonstrable. Take the mission of the 14 Senators to Moscow during the last recess. One of the 14, Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill.) was instrumental in bringing about a change in attitude toward the emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union. He had brought about the inclusion in the group of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D-Conn.) although Ribicoff is not on either the foreign relations or armed services committees as are the others.

Ribicoff, one of the staunchest believers in the right of Jews to emigrate, had come to see that the Jackson amendment was self-defeating. That amendment put free emigration as a condition of trade between the United States and the Soviet Union. Moscow branded this an intervention in Soviet domestic policy and denounced the trade treaty of which it was a part.

IN 1973, the peak year, 35,000 Jews left the Soviet Union, of whom 3,500 went to Israel. In the first five months of this year the total number of immigrants was 7,000, of whom about half were Soviet Jews. This would make the rate for the year 10,000 or less, a mere trickle as the Israelis see it.

Ribicoff returned convinced that a change must be made so that in future legislation there will be no specific condition put on emigration. He is hopeful that during the upcoming recess staff assistants can work out with the State Department a satisfactory formula.

DURING THE protracted debate over the Soviet trade act and in the interval following its denunciation, the Soviets, Percy points out, have signed $9 billion in contracts, mostly on a long-term loan basis, with Japan and Western Europe.

Take another instance out of that same mission to Moscow. One of the group was a freshman senator from Iowa, John Culver, who had previously served for 10 years in the House on the Foreign Affairs Committee.

CULVER IS concerned over Diego Garcia, the small island in the Indian Ocean that the Navy proposes to expand from communications center to a full-scale naval base. It is not the island itself that is Culver's sole concern. He believes that the Navy means to make it the operating focus of a third fleet centered in the Indian Ocean.

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging by the reaction, that shocking jump in the consumer goods inflation rate to 9.6 per cent in June isn't being treated as a mere fluke. Fears are mounting.

Continued price increases could cause other serious economic disruptions, the most serious of them being to undermine chances of a recovery. Almost certainly they would produce political consequences.

Even members of the Ford administration concede that its policies might add to the inflation problem, which was considered all but licked just a few short weeks ago.

Albert Rees, director of the Council on Wage-Price Stability fears that Soviet grain purchases and a decontrol of oil prices could be contributors to inflation. But these, he said, aren't the only concerns.

Testifying before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, he said that prices of finished industrial products haven't declined, as they had been expected to, "and they are beginning to rise very early in the recovery."

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, fears that a continuation of rising prices could actually plunge the economy into a deeper recession in the near future.

Meeting in Chicago this week, the executive council of the labor federation said a tight money policy by the Federal Reserve, grain sales to the Soviet Union and the Ford administration's oil pricing policy constituted economic threats.

Arthur F. Burns, the Federal Reserve Board chairman, told the Joint Economic Committee that he too is worried that sales of U.S. grain to the Soviets will force up food prices.

As if to underscore these fears, General Mills and International Multifoods said Wednesday they were increasing flour prices to supermarkets by 1.6 cents a pound, or about 10 per cent.

While there is some economic justification for higher grain prices; mainly because of the increased demand, some economists are puzzled over the persistence of high prices for manufactured goods in the absence of demand.

Why, they ask, should prices remain high when the nation's manufacturing capacity is being utilized at a rate of less than 70 per cent and the likelihood of continued slack even if a robust economic recovery develops?

Economists of the First National City Bank are speculating on the possibility of retaliations against the government's big vendors by a frustrated Ford administration.

Their speculation doesn't stop with that. Jawboning against price increases is likely to become more commonplace, the First City economists feel. And antitrust action is a distinct possibility, they say.

Don't Invent A Problem

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your opinion on how much I should weigh. I'm a girl, 13, 5 feet, 4 inches tall. I have large bones, and I weigh 124 pounds. My measurements are 33-24-33. I think I should reduce.

Please tell me how much I should weigh.

Miss K. S.

Normal weight for a girl your age and height would be about 115 pounds, give or take a pound or two. This is while wearing normal indoor clothing and without shoes.

Don't invent any weight problems.

You need not worry too much about a few pounds over the so-called norms. A lot can depend on your stage of physical development. Girls tend to add some weight during this period, and often in odd places. In most instances, it all evens out within a couple of years.

Unless there is some real health-related reason for dieting, I do not recommend it for young folks like yourself. More important for you than the fad diet you mention in your letter is adequate exercise, sleep, and perhaps elimination of those infernal snacks. These steps should assist nature in producing the desired results.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 50, and had a complete hysterectomy two months ago. I feel good, go out dancing, and my doctor says the incision has healed exceptionally well.

However, after my post-surgery checkup, he said to take it easy and not to do any heavy lifting. My question is: How can you tell when it's all right to have sexual intercourse after an operation of this type?

Mrs. R. L. Sexual relations can be resumed when the post-operative examination reveals the healing is complete. This usually takes two months, after which the danger of injury or infection is practically nil.

Dancing and the like should not have any harmful effects.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem is that my eyes water. I am 61. For the past several months my eyes have watered so much I can hardly read the paper. Is this a common symptom when one gets older? What treatment is possible?

My vision is quite good for my age.

F. B. M.

Tears are drained through two tiny openings located at the nose side of the lids. They are collected in a sac from which they are released at a steady rate through a tear duct. Normally, we are not aware of this process.

When there is an obstruction of the ducts leading to the nasal surface, as in an infection, for example, an excess of fluid can build up and overflow.

Constricting drops often can alleviate this, but if this has no effect, then a probe to open the obstructed ducts may be in order. You should see an eye doctor to determine the exact cause of the excessive tearing which, although it is not uncommon in older persons, is not normal and not to be ignored.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have read a lot about enlarged prostate. But no one ever explains why and how it happens.

I just had a physical and was told I have this. What causes it?

H. W. The reason you haven't read about it is that we just don't know. Yet 30 per cent of all men over 50 develop the condition.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

In light of a society that tends to exalt the perverse and ignore the uneventful segments of itself, perhaps what I am about to write is meaningless. However, the articles that ran July 29th-30th might catch the eye and searching mind of some of the young people of our great city and might cause some of them to accept the loose moral attitudes that are sweeping our country.

Troy Perry, the founder of a large religious organization for homosexuals, needs to be exposed for just what he is and what he represents. He speaks in terms of God, the church, and being a Christian, yet obviously he hasn't read the Bible enough to understand that "in the beginning... GOD Created."

That same God has provided for His creation (including Mr. Perry) a set of writings which are prophetically correct, spiritually inspired, and unchangeable from day to day. Contained in these writings is God's guidelines for normal Christian behavioral patterns. It is within this scope that the Apostle Paul wrote to the church at Rome and condemned homosexuality as sin (Romans 1:22-32). He called it sin and said those who were caught in this sin ran the risk of being turned over to a condemned mind.

If Mr. Perry wants to be his own god, or establish a different god and another church thereby, that is his right. But to establish what he refers to as a "Christian" fellowship and yet be a proponent of attitudes and morals so diametrically opposed to God's plan, as is the sin of homosexuality, that is something quite different.

A Christian is a follower of the teachings of Christ. We can understand a little about Mr. Perry's "Christian" character when we examine I Timothy 5:8 in light of his statement that "he left his wife, two children and the Pentecostal church because he was disillusioned." To sum up the character reference on him, he turns out to be "worse than an infidel" (check your dictionary to get the full impact.)

So now we have a professed homosexual, who is worse than an infidel, trying to lead sinners to Jesus Christ. Sin is still sin and the church preaches against sin. He wasn't disillusioned by the church, he was given a God-ordained standard to live by and could not cut the mustard. Unfortunately, we are breeding in this country too many like Mr. Perry, who have missed the standard and place blame on it rather than on themselves.

Have the churches missed it in dealing with homosexuals? No more so than with any other sin. In my experience as pastor I have found the sin of homosexuality to be the hardest to overcome. My ministry has seen drug addicts completely cured... without withdrawal; chain smokers never smoke again; alcoholics completely delivered. But the homosexual has the toughest road to travel. He can overcome it through the power that our God offers to those who are willing to try.

Mr. Perry stated, correctly, that Jesus died for our sins... that is a fundamental principle of the Bible. But one of those sins is homosexuality. The Apostle Paul, whom I quoted earlier condemning the sin of homosexuality, has stated, "What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound? God forbid." (Romans 6:1)

The true body of Christ, the born-again believers, will never accept homosexuality as an acceptable behavioral pattern. However, as pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church, I invite any area citizens who are caught in this abnormal (not variant, friend, but abnormal) behavior to attend our church. We accept you... we will not accept your sin. We will endeavor to help you overcome this latent spiritual death.

Mrs. Graves

Mrs. Kathaleen Bridget Graves, 46, wife of Leland Graves, died 7:35 p.m. Thursday after a long illness. She had undergone surgery for a brain tumor many weeks ago.

Rosary will be said at 6:15 p.m. today at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, and the funeral mass will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church with the Rev. Louis Moeller, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Graves was born Jan. 28, 1928, in Liverpool, England, and was married there June 11, 1949, to Leland H. Graves. They moved to Colorado City in 1950 and came to Big Spring in 1954. From 1956-75, she was associated with the First National Bank.

She also was a member of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, also the International Wives Club, the BPOE Dues. She also had done volunteer work at the Webb AFB hospital and participated in other affairs, including the Altar Society and the Parents' Club of her church.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, Sean Graves, Big Spring, and Michael Lee Graves, St. Louis, Mo.; and eight brothers and sisters, all of whom live in Liverpool. For those who wish to make memorials, the Kathaleen Graves Fund at First National Bank was suggested as an object.

Suit Is Filed By Matthews

A suit over alleged misuse of business funds was filed today on behalf of Joe B. Matthews, Big Spring, against his former partner, Noel D. Marsalis.

In April 1972, Matthews became partners, each agreeing to provide $1,500. The partnership, the suit states, acquired "mobile homes on a consignment basis which were never sold" because of Marsalis. Matthews is seeking $3,000, including $1,000 in attorney fees.

New Students Can Register

Students who will be attending Big Spring schools for the first time this fall are urged to pre-register as soon as possible so schedules and enrollment projections can be completed. Principals in all schools are now on duty and registration may be completed on any campus, elementary or secondary, during regular school hours (8:30-12:00 and 1:00-4:00), Monday through Friday.

Rain Dots Hot Texas

By The Associated Press

Thundershowers heavy enough to fill streets and flood into low areas hit parts of Texas again during the night, mostly in areas along the Upper Coast and the west central part of the state.

As usual, the shower activity was attributed to afternoon heat which sent thermometers soaring.

While most of the rainfall tapered off by midnight, light rain still dotted South Central Texas and occasionally heavy thundershowers popped out around Amarillo and along the Canadian River in the Panhandle this morning.

Part of a weak tropical depression still lingered over Louisiana. Official observers said it could be expected to cause more thundershowers in the southeast part of that state and in Mississippi, and light rain in Northeast Arkansas.

Hot and sunny weather was promised generally across Texas but forecasters saw prospects for occasional thundershowers again late in the day for the Panhandle, west of the Pecos River in West Texas and here and there in East Texas.

One Injured By Bullet

An argument among three men at 606 NW 8th Thursday night at about 11:30 resulted in gunshot wounds for one of them.

Theodore Diaz, 21, 100 N. 2nd, was shot in the right thigh with a .22 pistol and was admitted to Hall-Bennett Hospital in fair condition.

No arrests have been made, according to the police department.

Agnew Asks To Testify About Junta-U.S. Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has asked the Senate Intelligence Committee for a chance to testify about Central Intelligence Agency relationships with the military junta that ruled Greece until 1974, chairman Frank Church said today.

Meanwhile, committee members said Budget Director James T. Lynn refused, in testimony prepared for delivery today, to disclose the total annual cost of U.S. intelligence operations.

Church, D-Idaho, said that he has received a letter from Agnew citing a recent syndicated column by Rowland Evans and Robert Novak saying that the former vice president's role in Greek-American affairs was under investigation by the committee.

According to Church, Agnew requested a chance to "clear the matter." Vice chairman John Tower, R-Texas, added that Agnew had made a similar request to him by telephone.

Church said he has not yet had a chance to present Agnew's request to the full 11-member committee.

According to the Evans and Novak column, the select committee has received an allegation that Agnew shifted oversight from a position of neutrality to support of the Greek junta shortly before the 1968 election in which he was elected.

also plans to question former President Richard M. Nixon about CIA operations in Chile.

Members of the panel say they have heard cost figures for U.S. intelligence operations between $6 billion and $9 billion but that Lynn refused to disclose the figure publicly.

They said Lynn contends the figure has been given on a classified basis to the House and Senate appropriations committees and should not be released in public testimony.

USED IN SPY TRIAL 'Pumpkin Papers' Called 'Duds' By Hiss

NEW YORK (AP) — Alger Hiss finally got to look at all the famous "Pumpkin Papers," used to prosecute him as a Communist spy 25 years ago and spur the political rise of Richard M. Nixon. He promptly proclaimed them "duds."

"They certainly are useless for espionage purposes," Hiss said Thursday of three microfilm rolls he had never seen because prosecutors did not use them in the case.

Those three rolls and two others of State Department documents had been locked up by the FBI until Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi ordered their release when Hiss sued under the Freedom of Information Act.

Hiss, 70, and historical researchers examined the film Thursday and then displayed it to reporters. Of the three rolls prosecutors did not use, one had been overexposed and was completely blank.

The other two, Hiss said, "seemed to be nothing but Navy-type documents and apparently contained inventory material about fire extinguishers and life rafts."

Nixon, then a young congressman from California, first gained national attention as a relentless Communist-hunter in leading the House Un-American Activities Committee probe of Hiss.

After two trials, Hiss was convicted of perjury in 1950 for denying he had passed on government secrets to Moscow in 1938 while he was a high-ranking State Department official. He served 44 months in a federal prison, but he has consistently protested his innocence.

Hiss' chief accuser was Whittaker Chambers, a former Time magazine editor and repentant Communist who said Hiss slipped him the secrets. The case broke when Chambers, who died in 1961, produced the documents from a hollowed-out pumpkin at his Maryland farm.

$200 Million Pulp Mill Tiff

WALPOLE, N.H. (AP) — A proposal to build a $200 million pulp mill has split this 213-year-old community with many of the arguments centering over the economy versus the environment.

"The town is so divided on this that I've seen husbands and wives turn on each other and swing a fist," says Austin N. Stevens, a member of Citizens for Walpole, a group fighting the mill.

Stevens' group was formed after Walpole citizens voted 252-153 at their town meeting in March to welcome the mill. The proposal for the construction comes from Parson & Whittemore, a New York-based conglomerate. To this day the company has not made a firm commitment to build in Walpole, though it has bought an option on 600 acres of farmland near the town.

At the time of the March vote, many Walpole officials said a mill would lower taxes, boost employment and help business. A recent report by researchers at Dartmouth College indicated the mill would hire 500 persons and attract from 200 to 400 new persons to Walpole.

The opposition claims the mill will pollute the air and destroy the region's tranquility.

Parsons & Whittemore still must secure a zoning change before it can build on its chosen site.

Officials of Parsons & Whittemore have said the conflict has not discouraged them from considering the site, although they admit other sites, including two in Vermont across the river, are still under study.

A vote on the zoning is expected this month or next and Citizens for Walpole has vowed to fight against a change. Some residents say the fervor behind the opponents' drive may bring about approval of the zoning change.

"Some who are undecided are saying they want to vote for the mill just to get rid of Citizens for Walpole," says Robert L. Graves, chairman of the town's board of selectmen and a backer of the mill. He claims the opposition is "fighting too hard."

Another resident, who asked her name not be used, says the antimill group is made up of newcomers, those who only have summer homes in the town and the wealthy "who never think about the workers."

Stevens admits that many of the 50 key members of Citizens for Walpole are not long-time residents. But he claims that those opposing the mill also include tradesmen, farmers and persons whose grandfathers lived in the town. Stevens says his group is not against industry, but would rather see smaller and cleaner operations come into the area.

Refugee Aid Told

AUSTIN (AP) — Needy Vietnam refugees in Texas can now receive welfare benefits under the same regulations that cover Aid to Families of Dependent Children, the Texas Welfare Department said today.

The payments are 100 per cent financed by federal money and the program was drawn up at the federal level, said Don Graham, administrator of the programs and policy development division.

"We have no idea how many persons or how much money is involved," Graham said. "In other states, such as California, it has been considerable."

Graham said the welfare benefits under AFDC rules, which began Monday, is the third welfare program in Texas affecting needy Vietnam refugees.

The food stamp program has been available to them for some time and the refugees also may qualify for Medicaid payments under the same rules as others on the public assistance rolls.

To be eligible under the new program, Graham said, Vietnam refugees, either adult or with children, must qualify under AFDC regulations concerning income, resources and size of payments.

Graham said as an example a family of four, either a parent and three children or two parents with two children, with no income or resources would be eligible for $140 a month.

The usual AFDC requirement that one parent must be missing does not apply to Vietnam refugees, he said.

Graham said the new program also would be available to refugees where their sponsorship arrangement had broken down and they were in need.

Lettuce Wage War, Union 'Bosses' Say

SALINAS (AP) — In this rich, flat valley called the "Salad Bowl of the Nation" a behind-the-scenes union war is raging over who will represent farmworkers.

The 85-mile-long Salinas Valley, which produces about 70 per cent of the nation's summer lettuce crop, is the scene of a power struggle between Teamsters and Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers.

Both unions want to represent 20,000 workers who harvest the $114 million lettuce crop in this valley 100 miles south of San Francisco.

Teamsters represent about 13,000 farmworkers on 70 valley ranches. The UFW, which has backed lettuce boycotts since the early 1970s to strengthen its position, has one contract covering 1,500 workers.

For Chavez' union, which has lost strength in recent years, the struggle over contracts here and in the San Joaquin Valley grape crop is especially crucial. For the Teamsters, it is a major test of whether they can hold their gains.

Starting Aug. 28, a new California law will allow farmworkers to vote in secret ballot elections to pick which union, if any, they want to represent them.

This union battle sent Roy Mendoza, a 38-year-old Mexican-American Teamster organizer, out on a scorching July afternoon recently to talk to Toro lettuce pickers in a Salinas field.

Mendoza, wearing a vest and jeans, walked across the field and stopped by a lettuce wrapping machine that was moving slowly along. A Mexican-American song blared on a worker's radio.

Three Teamster organizers with Mendoza fanned out among the workers in the field, distributing leaflets spelling out the new benefits in the contract Teamsters negotiated with 130 growers recently.

"The majority here are for the Teamsters," one woman lettuce packer said in Spanish as she chatted with Mendoza. As Mendoza drove back to town, he predicted, "We'll keep a huge percentage of the contracts."

A day later, at a farm labor camp on another ranch across the Salinas Valley, workers were up at 6 a.m. eating breakfast in the stark Garin Company dining hall.

Roberto Garcia, a 32-year-old UFW organizer, walked into the hall and greeted some of the workers.

Garcia, a big man who wore a windbreaker and jeans, chatted with a Chavez backer about the latest ranch developments.

Accuse Four Of Bilking Investors

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas County grand jury has returned indictments against four Texas men who allegedly bilked investors in real estate deals that involved millions of dollars.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard Worthy said the four-count indictments resulted from investigations by the Dallas County district attorney's office and the state securities board.

Named in six indictments each were Wayne R. Morgan of Fort Worth, president of Capital Syndications Inc.; Jesse D. Sanders of Duncanville, vice president; Richard H. Perkins of Roanoke, president of Capital Specialists Inc.; and David D. Emmert of Texarkana, Tex., comptroller.

The indictments allege misapplication of fiduciary property, fraud in the sale of securities, selling unregistered securities and selling securities without a license.

Worthy said the four men began operation in 1971 and were placed in receivership by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission last August.

The accused men reportedly sold more than $34 million worth of land located generally in the Dallas-Fort Worth area to about 2,000 investors who paid money to be limited partners, Worthy said.

Jail 'Grapevine' Info On 'Jaws' Isn't Reliable

TULSA (AP) — Curtis S. Boone will learn soon that the jailhouse "grapevine" isn't reliable.

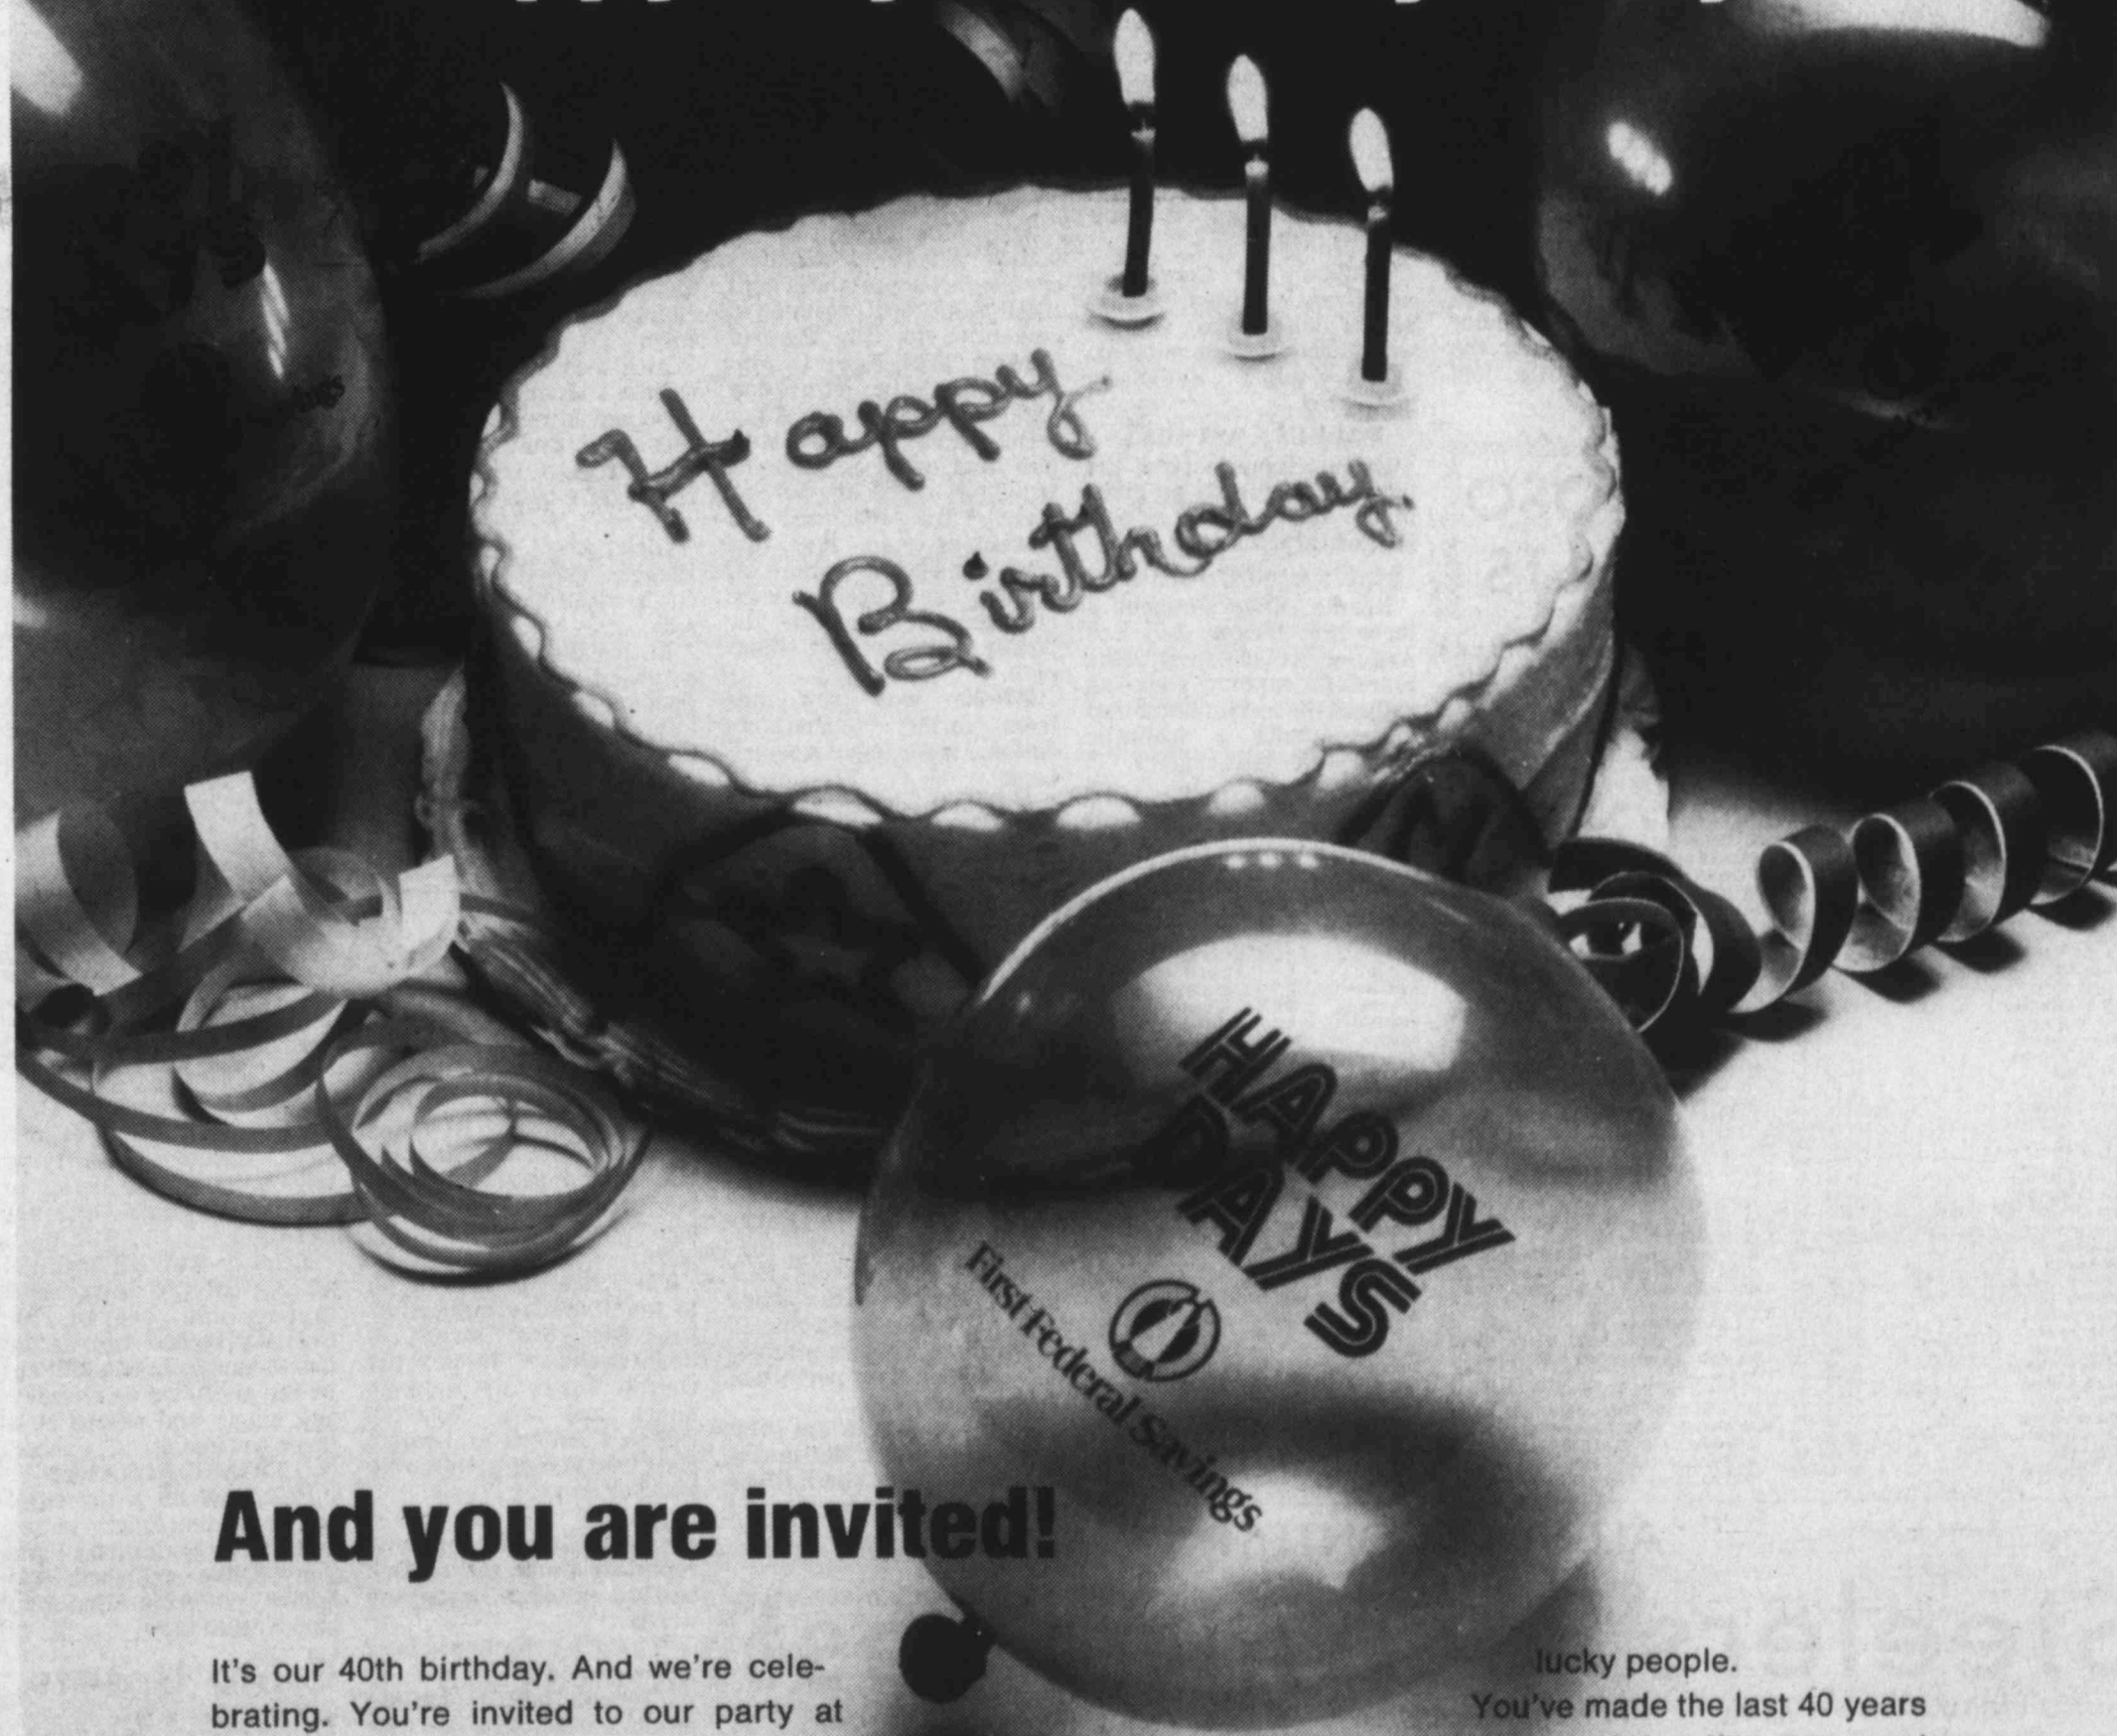

Boone, 45, was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary on Thursday for stealing a car. He then asked District Court Judge Robert Green for immediate transportation to McAlester so he wouldn't miss the movie, "Jaws."

Boone told the judge had had heard through the "grapevine" that prison officials would be showing the movie in a day or so.

Judge Green said it was up to the sheriff when Boone would be transported to McAlester, "but as far as I'm concerned you can go tonight."

Boone's information was wrong, however. Associate Warden Phil Kirk said Thursday night there were no plans to show "Jaws". He said prison officials were in the process of drawing up a film-showing schedule for the next six months and "Jaws" wasn't on it.

Overwhelming success of this year's hybrid striped-white bass production has more than made up for the disappointing show by striped bass.

Inland Fisheries officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say that stockings of the hybrid fish outnumbered striped stockings by more than three to one.

P&W biologists and hatchery men placed 732,873 hybrid fingerlings in 17 public reservoirs this spring and summer. Striper production was so poor that only some 215,000 were available for three Texas lakes.

In 1974, nearly one million striper went into public reservoirs.

Massengale's Card Lowest

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — An old, beat-up putter, mallet-headed and wooden-shafted—a gift from his caddy—turned the golf season around for Rik Massengale.

"Just like the last three, four years, I wasn't doing much of anything," Massengale said. "Out in Palm Springs early in the year my caddy, Denny Ferrell, was watching me putting one day and I was complaining about it and he said he had an old putter I ought to try."

"He brought it out the next day and I've used it ever since. I think that's the biggest change there's been in my season—the putting."

Massengale, armed with that new-old putter, scored eight birdies—"I didn't miss any short putts all day long," he said—on his way to a seven-under-par 65 and the first-round lead Thursday in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

John Montefusco could have had a steak dinner, but he had to eat his words instead.

The brash San Francisco pitcher vowed to strike out Johnny Bench four times Thursday night and the Cincinnati slugger promised Montefusco a free meal if he did.

As it was, Montefusco wasn't even around long enough to face Bench four times—as the Reds bombed out the righthander with a six-run second inning en route to an 11-6 triumph over the Giants.

"I told him before the game that I'd buy him a steak dinner if he struck me out four times," said Bench, who cracked a three-run homer in the big second-inning rally. "Nobody's going to strike me out four times in one game."

Montefusco also put his foot in his mouth when he confidently announced that he would shut out the heavy-hitting National League West leaders.

"Maybe The Count got everybody excited," said Bench about the Giants' swaggering young pitcher. "He got everybody motivated."

ALL-STAR CONTEST

Steelers Face First Test

CHICAGO (AP) — As the story goes, there were less than two minutes left in Super Bowl IX and the Pittsburgh Steelers had the game on ice with control of the ball and a 16-6 lead over the Minnesota Vikings.

Jon Kolb, a key man in the Steeler offensive line, turned to a fellow lineman and said with the sweet smile of victory, "Man, the 'Burgh' must look like Hiroshima now."

The 'Burgh' is Pittsburgh, and though no buildings were destroyed in celebration of the team's first National Football League championship in its 43-year history, fans like to brag that half of Ohio heard the shouts and car horns of unrestrained joy echoing from the Steel City after the game.

The Steelers face their first test as champions tonight in Chicago's Soldier

Field, when they square off against the College All-Stars in the 42nd annual game that traditionally marks the start of the NFL season.

After waiting those 43 years to participate in the contest, the Steelers say they're not about to go home as losers.

"We're not going there to lose," said Coach Chuck Noll before the team left for Chicago.

Few other championship teams have lost the battle with the collegiates. The series record stands at 29-9-2, and the All-Stars last won in 1963, when they defeated Green Bay 20-17.

Last year's game was not played because of the NFL players' strike.

Dwight White, one quarter of Pittsburgh's famed defensive front four, added his thoughts on how the Steelers will approach the game.

"I, for one, will not take the game lightly," White said. "It's an all-out thing. Take no prisoners."

The Steelers are solid 17-point favorites in the nationally televised contest, to be seen on ABC at 8:30 p.m. EDT, except in the Chicago area, which is blacked out. But All-Star Coach John McKay's 1973 squad threw a scare into the Miami Dolphins, playing an outstanding defensive game before losing to the pros 14-3.

McKay had been accused before that game of running a "country club," because he held only one practice a day and rarely scrimmaged.

McKay's coaching style is less flamboyant than most. "No, I am not a jump-up-and-down coach," McKay said. "I don't have jump-up-and-down teams."

He just has winning teams, compiling a 119-36-8 mark as coach at USC.

KEY ON SIMS NO MISTAKE

South Smothers North, 14-0

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The first thing Billy Sims should do when he checks into the University of Oklahoma this fall is make friends with his offensive lineman and then hope he doesn't have to meet linebacker David Hodge again somewhere down the line.

Sims, the heralded schoolboy All-American from Hooks, was held to under 100 yards for the first time in his career Thursday night as a stout South defense keyed by Hodge of Brazoswood smothered the favored North 14-0 in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star football classic.

In fact, Sims gained by 30 yards in nine carries. Sims had previously rushed over the 100 yard mark in 38 straight games.

Hodge, the hottest prospect among the lineman crop in Texas who decided to attend the University of Houston, was something awesome to behold.

He made 13 tackles, intercepted a pass that led to the South's first touchdown, and recovered a fumble that stopped a North drive.

Sims was a symbol of the North's offensive fertility. The North's Putt Choate of Coahoma had quoted Sims as saying before the game "Man, I don't need anybody to block for me."

As it turned out, nobody did. With 21,544 fans looking on in Amon Carter Stadium, the North flashed some early offense. The North marched to the South 28, 8, 19, and 31 yard lines. Wayne Petties of Monahan missed a 26 yard field goal and dropped a sure touchdown pass in the end zone.

Enter Hodge who swiped a North aerial and returned it 30 yards to the enemy 5. After both sides exchanged 15 yard penalties, big George Woodward of Van Vleck charged a yard for a touchdown.

Woodward, bound for Texas A&M, gained 45 yards in 15 carries to earn the Most Valuable Offensive Player award.

Leading 7-0 at halftime, the South put the game away in the fourth period when David Hill of Cuero, who is bound for Southern Methodist, alertly pounced on a North fumble at the 34.

Quarterback Thomas Lott of San Antonio jay dashed 30 yards to the North 11 and four plays later Joseph Randle of Wortham scored from a yard away.

Loop Officials Approve Change

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Texas League officials meeting here Thursday approved a change in affiliation for the San Antonio Brewers from Cleveland to the Texas Rangers in 1976.

League manager Al Stuckman said the Brewers also will be hosts to next year's All-Star game against the Rangers.

He said other teams will keep their present affiliations in 1976. Stuckman said league officials discussed seven cities, including two in Mexico, one in Louisiana and four in Texas in considering possible expansion next season.

"We can't say anything definite yet," he said, "until we get a ruling from the National Association." Stuckman said cities mentioned were Amarillo, Victoria, Corpus Christi and Laredo, Tex.; Baton Rouge, La., and Nuevo Laredo and Juarez, Mexico.

He said some possible transfers of teams also were discussed because Eastern Division clubs have been unhappy about unfavorable weather this season. The Jackson, Miss., club has been rained out at home 29 times.

Stuckman also said the league is considering the adoption of a split-season schedule used by several other minor leagues. He said under such a schedule each division would have a champion for the first and second halves of a split season, deciding the over-all playoff championship in a division series, and the final league champion in a five-game series.

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A rain-soaked field delayed the start of the Texas League All-Star game here Thursday night, but did not dampen Jay Dillard's five-hit performance in a 5-2 Lafayette victory.

Dillard, named most valuable player, struck out six All-Stars to boost his record to 3-1. Lafayette's player-coach, Chico DelOrbe, surprised the 4,500 fans on hand by doubling home a run in the eighth inning. Craig Barnes hit two doubles for the Drillers, and Scotty Wolfe singled, doubled and scored a run for the winners.

The All-Stars' only runs came from Wayne Tyrone in the fifth and seventh innings. Marty Cornejo gave up 11 hits to Lafayette to take the loss and drop his record to 3-4. The game did not get under way until 9 p.m. Rain washed out a regular league game here Wednesday night and continued to fall until 2 p.m. Thursday.

Kiwanians Stay In Contention

By CLARK LESH
John Morelino's two-run homer plus Dick Battle's excellent relief pitching kept the Big Spring Kiwanians in contention for the District Senior Teen-Age Championship here Thursday night, stopping Odessa, 3-1.

Big Spring, 1-1, now runs into undefeated San Angelo tonight at 8:00 at the Johnny Stone Park. Provided the Kiwanians can win the opener, a second game also against San Angelo will be required to determine the double elimination champion.

Odessa was scratched from further tournament action, suffering two setbacks. Morelino was credited with all of Big Spring's RBIs. He led off with a third inning two-run four-bagger with Pat Carroll aboard, then doubled home Carroll again in the top of the seventh.

The Kiwanians lost a run in the seventh as Odessa's catcher Randy Pufal tagged Roger Battle sliding into home on a perfect throw from centerfield. Carroll had previously singled. Battle was on base as result of a wild pitch, advancing into scoring position on Barry Canning's sacrifice.

Odessa's only score took place in the fifth. Allen Johnson walked and moved to third on two wild pitches. A Big Spring error permitted Johnson to score.

With two outs in the fifth, Big Spring's Dick Battle was summoned from the bullpen by Manager Bill Battle, Dick's father. Bill's previous two visits with starter Pat Carroll required a pitching change under tournament rules.

Dick toed the rubber with Odessa's Ricky Hayes on third and James Lunsford on second as result of a ground rule double. Hayes had reached the base paths on an error.

Dick first walked Jug Fisher, then got Pufal to fly out to rightfield to retire the side.

In his 2-1-3rd innings of pitching, Dick, who preserved the win for Carroll, fanned four and walked only two. Carroll, while performing his pitching duty, whiffed three and issued only one walk. Between Carroll and Battle only four hits were allowed.

Big Spring experienced a slight jam in the bottom of the seventh but got out of it without any difficulty. Again with two outs, Hayes walked. Then Lunsford's towering infield fly hit the ground untouched. Ken McMurrey, positioned in right field, saved the game for Big Spring, catching Jay Fisher's shoe top drive.

Big Spring's Andy Anderson hit the ball twice in three appearances with both Morelino and Carroll, going two for four.

Jerry Walker, Odessa loser, who went the full route, fanned eight and walked two. He gave up nine hits.

Red Sox Advantage Hiked To 9 Games

BOSTON (AP) — To a man, the Boston Red Sox refuse to claim anything yet, but there appeared to be a hidden message in the notice on the clubhouse bulletin board.

The notice was there for all to see Thursday night after the Red Sox swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 3-2 in 10 innings and 6-1, boosting Boston's American League East lead to nine games over idle Baltimore.

Chalked on the board normally used for the reporting times for routine batting practice were the words: "Friday—6 p.m. pitchers and everybody."

Pitchers taking batting practice when they don't hit in regular season games, or even in the league playoffs? That doesn't make sense, unless thoughts are pointed toward the World Series when pitchers must bat against the National League champion.

In the only other American League game Thursday, the Minnesota Twins beat the Kansas City Royals 7-2.

Team captain Carl Yastrzemski drove in two runs, including the tying tally in the eighth inning, in the first game against Detroit.

Then he walked, sprinted all the way to third on a tapper and scored for Boston's second run in the fourth inning of the nightcap. In the sixth, he delivered a key single and scored in a three-run inning.

TWINS 7, ROYALS 2

Phil Roof hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and Eric Soderholm and Tony Oliva smashed solo homes, powering Minnesota past Kansas City.

Crute Upsets Seeded Entry

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Only one of the eight top-seeded men failed to get by the opening three rounds of the Missouri Valley Tennis Championships.

Unseeded Alan Crute of Kansas City upset seventh-seeded Gerry Perry of Springfield, Mo., 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, in the third round Thursday.

Scholarship Won By Owens

David G. Owens, a graduate of Big Spring High School and the son of Col. and Mrs. Robert A. Owens of 1 Albrook Drive, Webb Air Force Base, has won a four-year scholarship to the college of his choice. Col. Owens is the commander of 78th Flying Training Wing.

David received a certificate Wednesday from Capt. E. C. (Al) Pierce, Air Force ROTC admissions counselor. He was told that he is one of 875 high school seniors selected by the Air Force ROTC to receive scholarships next fall when they begin college.

"When you register at the University of Texas, you will have your tuition, books and lab fees paid and also receive $100 a month from the Air Force," Pierce told David.

The Commander of AFROTC, B. Gen. James R. Brickel of Maxwell AFB, Ala., certified that David had been selected to receive the scholarship.

A review of academic and extra-curricular achievements of those selected showed that they ranked among the top five per cent in class standings and attained an average score of 1150 in college entrance examinations.

Ted Knight's Son Arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 20-year-old son of actor Ted Knight, co-star of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," has been arrested for investigation of burglary.

Theodore C. Knight Jr. and Howard Klein, 21, were taken into custody Thursday at Klein's apartment, where police said they found a 100-pound safe stolen from a dental office.

Klein and Knight, whose father plays newscaster Ted Baxter on the television comedy series, were released on $1,000 bail each.

The Big Spring Bicentennial Commission is taking a straw vote before determining a new name for the Comanche Trail Park lake, which variously has been known as T&P Lake, Hughes Lake and Cosden Lake.

Among names already proposed for the lake, located in the south part of the city, are Spring Lake, Comanche Lake, Hueco Lake, Cosden Lake and Tollett Lake.

Those desiring to submit names for the lake can address their letters to Lake, Box 391, City Hall, Big Spring, Tex. They need to act expeditiously, however.

'Pull-Tab' Card Sales Violating Texas Law

FORT WORTH (AP) — Fort Worth police say a number of Fort Worth country club, lodge and fraternal organization members have been violating state gambling laws in the sale of "pull-tab" cards, similar to the so-called numbers game.

Deputy Chief J.H. Hopkins said Thursday an investigation by Fort Worth's Organized Crime Unit has shown that the sale of the cards has spread throughout clubs here.

Hopkins said police wanted to warn club members who may not realize they are violating the law before making any arrests.

Police said in a statement, "These cards are sold to patrons who remove pieces of paper from the back of the cards to reveal certain letters, symbols or numbers, a certain combination of which will win a cash prize for the purchaser."

"The sale of these cards to patrons violates, in the opinion of the Fort Worth Police Department, the state gambling law prohibiting the promotion of gambling by operating or profiting from a gambling place."

"Such a violation would be a felony, punishable by a jail term from two to 10 years and a fine up to $5,000."

The statement added that "the possession of these cards to further gambling would be a misdemeanor, punishable by a possible jail term of one year and a fine up to $2,000. Gambling is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $200."

Hopkins said police have information that many of the cards are being distributed from the White Settlement

MIAMI, WASHINGTON SAFEST? Crime Survey Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — New government crime statistics suggest that Miami and Washington may be two of America's safest big cities.

The study, conducted in 1973 and sponsored by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, showed that those cities had the lowest proportion of crime victims of the 13 cities surveyed.

The report, made public Thursday, was based on Census Bureau polling conducted in about 9,900 households and 1,535 businesses in each city. In addition to Miami and Washington, the surveyed cities were Boston, Cincinnati, Houston, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, San Diego, San Francisco, Buffalo, N.Y., and Oakland, Calif.

San Francisco and Minneapolis emerged with the highest crime victimization rates.

The study is part of the LEAA's continuing effort to measure the nation's crime rate by polling a scientifically selected sample of citizens about their own experiences with crime. Previous LEAA studies have shown there is two to three times the amount of crime than incidents reported to police.

The report showed that Miami had the lowest victimization rate for personal crimes of violence, defined as attempted and actual rapes, robberies and assaults.

Twenty-two of every 1,000 Miami residents suffered violent crime in 1973, the report said. Washington had the second lowest rate, 31 per 1,000. San Francisco had the highest rate, 71 per 1,000, and Minneapolis was the second highest at 70 per 1,000.

The rates per 1,000 for the other cities are: Boston 67, Cincinnati 63, Milwaukee 61, Oakland 59, Houston 53, San Diego 53, Buffalo 49, Pittsburgh 48 and New Orleans 46.

In the measurement of household burglaries, Miami and Washington again were at the low end of the scale and Minneapolis at the high end. San Francisco fell in the middle.

Seventy-five of every 1,000 Washington households were burglarized, and 85 of every 1,000 Miami households. Minneapolis had the highest rate, 177, and San Francisco had 155.

The burglary rates for the other cities, per 1,000 households, were: Boston 149, Buffalo 97, Cincinnati 143, Houston 164, Milwaukee 152, New Orleans 112, Oakland 174, Pittsburgh 93 and San Diego 138.

Ex-Union Boss Missing, Will Question Mobster

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Authorities planned to question a reputed high-ranking organized crime figure in Detroit today in connection with the disappearance of former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

Cher 'Happier Than Ever'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television star Cher Bono has begun taping her first show of the new season, and co-workers said she seemed "happier than ever" despite the turmoil in her personal life.

Since her series went on summer hiatus, Cher has divorced husband Sonny Bono, married rock star Gregg Allman and filed for divorce from Allman.

"The last time I saw her was before she got married (to Allman), and she wasn't very happy then," costume designer Bob Mackie said Thursday. "Now she seems happier than ever."

Cher's spokesman said Allman has been with her in Los Angeles but there is no talk of a reconciliation of their brief marriage.

police said. Lt. Curt Grenier, who is heading the investigation, said Anthony Giacalone, 56, was one of six persons who would be questioned. Giacalone, a longtime Hoffa friend and confidant, was described in 1963 U.S. Senate testimony by the Detroit police commissioner at that time as a "big man" in organized crime in the Detroit area.

Hoffa, 62, has not been seen since Wednesday, when his car was found abandoned in a parking lot. There was no evidence of violence, but Grenier said, "You always have to consider foul play, considering Hoffa's background."

Sources said Hoffa's family fears the labor leader is dead.

"My own feeling is that things do not look too good," said Grenier. "Mr. Hoffa is usually prompt in reporting his whereabouts."

Police say Hoffa was scheduled to meet someone at a Bloomfield Township restaurant Wednesday afternoon. Michigan's governor said Thursday night that he understood Hoffa had arranged to meet Giacalone, but Giacalone told The Associated Press, "That's absolutely untrue."

Grenier said, "We don't have any first-hand knowledge of a scheduled meeting between Mr. Hoffa and Mr. Giacalone. But we have this report to that effect. We're going to contact him today. We're going to ask him, 'What do you know about this?'"

The disappearance of Hoffa, who has been trying to regain leadership of the 2.1 million-member Teamsters Union — the nation's largest — followed a series of violent incidents involving key figures at Teamsters Local 299 in Detroit. Hoffa and his hand-picked successor, Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, both began their road to power at Local 299.

James Riddle Hoffa was last seen at 2 p.m. Wednesday outside the restaurant where his 1974 Pontiac was found, unlocked and untampered with.

The person Hoffa was to meet at the Machus Red Fox Restaurant never showed up, and Hoffa called his wife.

"That's the last we've seen or heard of him," said Grenier.

Police are known to be checking five or six possibilities as to whom Hoffa was to have met.

His son, Detroit attorney James P. Hoffa, filed a missing person report Thursday evening.

The FBI, which says it is observing the investigation but playing no active role, said, "We have no evidence, no indication, no reason to believe that there was foul play."

Grenier said Hoffa's wife is "extremely upset and worried.... We're not saying foul play, but...."

Speculation that Hoffa may have been kidnapped is "just that — speculation," said Grenier. "We've received no threats, no phone calls, no nothing."

Corvette Convertible Discontinued

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The "ragtop" era of Chevrolet's popular Corvette sports car ended Thursday when the last convertible model rolled out of the assembly plant here.

The Corvette convertible was discontinued as part of General Motors' decision to end production of all convertibles except the Cadillac El Dorado.

Floyd Utthey, Corvette engineer, said that of 38,365 1975 model Corvettes produced this year, only 4,629 were convertibles.

"The advent of automobile air-conditioning ended the old-time lure of the convertible," he said, noting that Corvette would continue to produce the removable hardtop model.

Convertible No. 4,629 went to a St. Louis car dealer who said he planned to keep it as his personal car.

When first introduced in 1953, Corvette offered only a convertible model. The 1953 version cost about $3,200, while the 1975 models range in the $8,000 class.

SHE RESISTED HIS ADVANCES

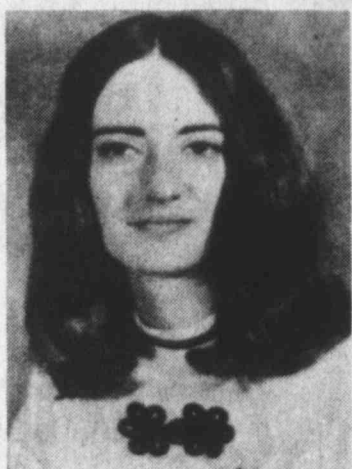

Charge Young Janitor In Slaying Of Nurse

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A 23-year-old San Antonio janitor faces capital murder charges in the stabbing of a nurse who died Thursday after lying four days in an unsheltered ravine inside the city.

Peggy Moran, 27, survived 10 knife wounds, a collapsed lung, pneumonia and dehydration for four days before she was discovered by police Wednesday only half a mile from the veterans hospital where she was abducted after work Saturday.

The former Army nurse and Texas Woman's University graduate died early Thursday of what hospital officials called "irreversible shock and general debility."

Dist. Atty. Ted Butler lodged capital murder charges against Donald G. Franklin after Mrs. Moran died. Franklin was arrested five hours after her abduction when police traced an automobile license number copied by a hospital security guard. The guard had been bounced off the car's hood while trying to stop it from leaving the parking lot.

Police said Franklin refused to tell officers where Mrs. Moran was though he was asked repeatedly during the four days she was missing.

One of the first policemen to find Mrs. Moran, A.P. Flores, said she was "so weak all she could do was move her eyelids and faintly say, 'Help me, help me.'"

Police said Mrs. Moran did not identify her attacker, but told detectives he did not rape her. She said the man began stabbing her when she resisted his advances.

Phyllis Weinman, a Methodist Hospital spokesman, said Thursday, "She was in shock during the entire time of her hospitalization but she was coherent. In fact, she had talked to her parents and this morning she was joking with the nurses in ICU (intensive care unit) where she was being treated. She is a nurse herself, you know. But then she went into what the doctor is listing as a tentative cause of death, irreversible shock and general debility. One of the doctors was with her when she died. . . I would say it was a shock because she seemed so . . . alert."

Authorities had given up hope that Mrs. Moran would be found alive, and the day before she was found, Butler said, "We need a body. It is quite evident she has been murdered."

The public was asked to help search for Mrs. Moran's body. About 3:30 p.m. Wednesday a couple found a nurse's blouse and shoes half a mile from the hospital and police converged on the area.

Butler said Franklin, a grade school dropout from Stanton, Tex., who served a four-year prison term for rape ending in 1974, also faces:

—A capital murder charge in the rape-slaying of Cynthia Ann Kettinger, 19, of San Antonio, last Nov. 13.

—Aggravated rape charges involving an attack on a 16-year-old girl in December 1974.

Crowder Draws 10-Year Term

SNYDER — A Scurry County jury, consisting of seven men and five women, found Elton Crowder of Snyder guilty of murder with malice after deliberating three hours here Thursday.

The jury's punishment recommendation for Crowder was 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Crowder had been charged with murder in connection with shooting death of Charles Allen Grice Dec. 16, 1973, at the Dunn Cotton Gin, near here.

Crowder's trial began earlier this week in 132nd District Court here.

Cubs Await Big Events

Two important sessions are coming up for Cub Scouts and their leaders next week.

Thursday the Cub leaders monthly round-table will be held at St. Paul Presbyterian church with Mrs. Ruby Bruns, cubbing vice chairman, in charge. Then on Saturday Aug. 9 at 9 a.m. the Cubmobile Derby will be run on Lancaster downhill from 14th back of Safeway. Cubs have been making their own racers, and the event, similar to Soap Box Derby, will draw a large number of participants, assisted by parents. This will be the last event of the summer, which will qualify the Lone Star District for its special award, said Mrs. Bruns.

Recently completed was the aquarina at Webb AFB swimming pool with participants earning beads for their district patch. Winners included, for swimmers: Heat event; 1. Mike Gilbert (P. 100); 2. Tim Mayes (P. 63), and 3., Steve Jones (P.238); relay — 1. Casey Weaver (P. 100), 2. Robert Oliver (P.63), 3. Steve Jones; underwater swim — 1. Ron Clanton, 2. Robert Oliver; 3. Casey Weaver. For non swimmers — 1. Jerry Grimes (P. 305), 2. Kenn Wickman, and 3. Terry Watkins. Aiding were lifeguards Nathan Poss, Terri Spannaus, and Frances Schultz.

Prices Farmers Receive For Raw Products Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices farmers receive for raw agricultural products, bolstered by recent grain sales to the Soviet Union, rose 3 per cent from June 15 to July 15, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Some government economists have said consumer food prices might rise slightly because of the Russian purchases but that no major hike is expected if farmers get the record harvests now forecast.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz defends the grain sales and said in Williamsburg, Va., shortly before the price report was issued that it is "intellectually naive or dishonest" to blame Soviet purchases on rising food costs.

In its report, the department's Crop Reporting Board said higher prices for hogs, wheat, potatoes, upland cotton, milk and soybeans accounted for most of the increase. Lower prices were reported for cattle.

The increase put July 15 farm prices 6 per cent above the same date last year. Farm expenses, meanwhile, rose one-half of 1 per cent during the month and averaged 11 per cent above a year earlier.

Although the report did not mention the Soviet grain sales, which in July included 154 million bushels of wheat, 177 million of corn and 51 million of barley, it showed that prices of those commodities went up during the month.

Wheat averaged $3.33 a bushel on the farm as of July 15, up from $2.92 on June 15. Corn was $2.72 a bushel against $2.68 a month earlier, and barley rose to $2.35 from $2.30 a bushel in mid-June.

Despite the surge in grain prices from June 15, those were far below levels earlier this year and the record peaks set in 1974 when U.S. supplies were thin.

Wheat, for example, was a record of $5.52 a bushel at the farm on Feb. 15, 1974. By April 15 this year it dropped to $3.69 a bushel and between May 15 and June 15, in the face of record harvest prospects, plummeted from $3.47 to $2.92 a bushel.

Until I became interested in sailing, I thought boats simply drifted with the wind. It hadn't occurred to me that few sailors would ever reach port in this manner.

And before I became earnest about church, I thought people's lives—their joys and disappointments, their achievements and failures—were largely a result of fate or fortune. Luck would long ago have replaced religion if this were true.

Now I know the thrill of sailing into the wind. Sure, tacking to port or starboard requires a zigzag course, and when your craft heels over at that precarious angle, it takes skill to control her. But that's part of the adventure—making headway against a strong wind.

Now, too, I know the thrill of believing in God . . . of setting a goal, of relying on His power, of devoting myself to reaching the destination. Making headway against adverse winds heels us over—but it's part of the adventure of being a Christian today.

Bachelor's Desire To Play Shrink The Wrong Game

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old bachelor who recently met a very beautiful 40-year-old woman with whom I fell head over heels in love.

She's a medical technician and is very intelligent, but she's a bundle of nerves. She bites her nails down so far they sometimes bleed. She's never married, vows she is a virgin and insists that if she marries, she will remain a virgin. "Sex," she says, "is the original sin."

She is a clothes "nut." Once she showed me (by actual count) 81 pant suits and 103 pairs of shoes (most of which had never been worn).

Several years back, she was in a serious auto accident (her mother was driving). She went through the windshield and was laid up for two years.

She changes her mind in a matter of seconds. For instance: Last night, she asked me to take her to a steak house because she wanted a steak. Once there, she ordered fish. Then she sent it back because it was "spoiled." (I'm sure it wasn't). Afterward, we went to a movie she wanted to see, but we left in the middle because she decided it was "no good."

I realize she is not very stable. I've never walked away from a challenge, and I think I can help her. Am I barking up the wrong tree?

HANGING IN THERE

DEAR HANGING: Unless you are a psychiatrist, you are not only barking up the wrong tree but in the wrong forest. The woman is in need of psychiatric treatment. The best way to help her is to persuade her to get it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young wife. My husband and I have been married for two months, and whenever I displease him, he goes out and sleeps on the couch to punish me.

I have tried to talk him into coming back to our bed, but he won't listen to me; he just stays out there until he falls asleep.

Please don't tell me to just let him stay on the couch because I want him in bed with me.

EMPTY BED

DEAR EMPTY: Try reverse psychology. When he leaves your bed for the couch, don't say a word. Let him stay there, and when he realizes that he isn't getting the kind of reaction he expected from you, he'll give up that childish bit and return to your bed. Wanna bet?

DEAR ABBY: The man I have been living with and I would like to get married, but we don't want it in the newspapers because our grandchildren think we are already married.

Is it possible to do it here (don't mention the town, please), or do we have to go elsewhere? Is there a three-day waiting period? How about blood tests?

I have been married before, but he hasn't. He helped me raise my children, and we are raising a grandchild left to us by my daughter who recently died.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: The information you seek is available through your local county clerk. In some states (California is one), you can be married by a clergyman; the marriage will be recorded in the church records, but by request will not be made public in the newspapers.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif., 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Wedding Held Wednesday

Miss Londa Elaine Hendricks became the bride of Jack W. Copeland Jr. Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Horn, 505 Dallas.

The Rev. Joseph C. Mower, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, officiated as the wedding party stood before an archway of yellow and white streamers centered with bells. Mrs. Joe S. Bradley, pianist, and Dave Kirkland, vocalist, provided nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Wesley Hendricks, New Braunfels, and Mrs. Lillie Hendricks, 1320 Utah, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Copeland Sr., Lubbock.

Carrying a bouquet of yellow and white carnations, the bride was attired in an ecru wedding gown. The eyelet bodice featured a square neckline and sleeves edged in lace. A ruffle trimmed with matching lace accented the skirt.

Miss Lisa Kaye Wallace, maid of honor, was attired in a brown floral, floor-length dress trimmed with ruffles. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Danny Cogburn, Lubbock, served as best man.

The bride, a student at Big Spring High School, is employed at Denny's Restaurant. Copeland is a graduate of Monterey High School, Lubbock, and attended Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock. He is the assistant manager of Denny's. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

NUPTIALS — Gordon Wheeler, Odessa, and Mrs. Jewell Wheeler, 1304 Sycamore, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pam, to John L. Gribble of Dallas. The future bridegroom is the son of Frank S. Gribble and Mrs. Romaine B. Gribble, both of Dallas. The couple will be married Aug. 30 in the Slaughter Chapel, First Baptist Church, Dallas.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 2, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are logical in your reasoning power and in your conclusions. So use your mind to fullest advantage to reach logical decisions. However, don't allow any deceptive conditions to creep in, or much of the benefits otherwise possible can be lessened.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day to contact those with whom you haven't been able to make night arrangements in the past. Have fun with friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into those practical affairs that will help you increase income appreciably. Take it easy tonight and rest on laurels.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into the activities you enjoy and forget that ally who has weird ideas and could get you off the track. Social opportunities abound.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Analyze your regular job and plan how to become more proficient at it, buy the new gadgets you need. Fine social p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get out with good friends and avoid a quarrel with mate or attachment today. Evening then can be spent happily at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day for outside duties difficult during work week. Fine also for handling any civic matters. Avoid overspending.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can benefit now from existing conditions. Find a new associate whose experience has been different from yours; learn thereby.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to handle that responsibility for which you have had little time before and get good results. Happy p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen to partner's scheme, but discard it if it does not meet with your approval. Plans. Enjoy other associates later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Jump right into all that work ahead of you and you will have accomplished much by p.m. Then relax and build up energy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get rid of confusing situations in a.m., then off for recreation. Spend more time with mate and gain the added affection needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to make conditions more favorable at home and establish more harmony. Entertain good friends charmingly in p.m.

Three Shark Victims

By the Associated Press

Oliver Conger and his wife Grace were clinging to debris off the Oregon Coast. Bobby Ray Slack was diving Down Under. All three were shark victims.

Slack, 37, an American immigrant to Australia, was diving for abalone off South Bruny Island near Hobart, Tasmania, an Australian island-state when he was killed.

Conger, 64, and his wife, 62, of Morro Bay, Calif., had been fishing. Somehow their boat came apart. The Coast Guard says it doesn't know how it happened.

But they've found no indication of a fire or explosion.

Dr. William Brady, the Oregon Medical examiner, said Conger lost most of his right arm to sharks. Mrs. Conger's arms and legs were badly bitten. An autopsy showed that Conger died of drowning, his wife of the shark bites.

Debris from the boat was recovered Wednesday by the Coast Guard from the same area as the bodies.

"This is the first case like this I've seen in 10 years as medical examiner," Brady added.

A large shark attacked Slack with such violence that he was yanked out of his diving harness and devoured, his mate said Thursday. Slack was a "great bloke" and didn't worry about sharks, said Tony Hitchens, 22.

Hitchens said the attack Wednesday was all over in "five seconds." The only trace of Slack was one green glove and hand net, officials said.

Slack had moved to Australia from California about 10 years ago and is survived by his widow, Donna, and children, Robbie, 7, and Michelle, 2.

Tests Due For Youth

A psychiatric examination will be undertaken Monday at the Big Spring State Hospital for an Abilene youth charged with the rape of two Abilene women and robbery of one of them.

Defense attorney Brad Reid requested that George Willie Hobbs, 17, be examined by a psychiatrist to determine if he is insane presently and if he was insane at the time of the alleged offense for which he is under indictment.

Hobbs claims he suffered from periodic headaches and his memory lapses, after which he cannot recall his activities during specified periods of time.

District Judge J. Neil Daniel appointed Dr. James H. Kreimeyer of the BSSH staff to conduct the examination.

Hobbs is under grand jury indictment for "aggravated rape" in connection with a June 10 incident in which a 14-year-old Abilene girl was tied up with a jumping rope and assaulted in her north-side Abilene home after her parents had left for work.

Hobbs also is charged with robbing the 14-year-old of about $15 at the same time, and is charged with raping a 27-year-old woman June 30, but those two charges have not yet been presented to a grand jury.

He had been arrested in the apartment of the 27-year-old woman July 1 after he allegedly kept a "promise" to the woman to return the night after the reported assault. The woman told police of the threat and police awaited inside her apartment, making the arrest when the suspect appeared as he had said, investigators related.

Soviet Is Also Christian

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Garaudy, a noted French scholar, has long been a Communist, and still is. But after extensive participation in Marxist-Christian dialogues, he now declares he also is a Christian.

It was a subtle, thoughtful transition, of a distinctive kind.

He doesn't link it directly to the discussions of recent years with believers, but he does say that examining their theological works has firmed up his own belief.

"I am Christian," he writes in a book recently published in Paris. "My life as a man began when I became a revolutionary activist. My life took on its full sense when I discovered, in faith, the foundation of my revolutionary action."

Garaudy, a philosopher, art historian, poet and professor of ethics at the University of Poitiers, France, regularly has argued the affinity between Christian idealism and Marxism, despite the latter's avowed atheism.

"We must dream," he quotes Lenin.

Indeed, Garaudy says that the resurrection of Christ from death holds up the highest vision of

REV. R. EARL PRICE

Minister Accepts Challenge

The Rev. R. Earl Price has resigned his pastorate at the First Presbyterian Church here to embark upon a missionary venture in the Dallas area.

He came here in November 1970 from Dallas where he was associate pastor of Highland Park Presbyterian Church, and he will be going to Carrollton, a north Dallas suburb, with nothing but "four acres of land and a lot of Presbyterian prospects."

The Covenant Presbytery, which embraces the Dallas-Fort Worth area and extends to Texas and Arkansas, in East Texas, acquired four acres of land in a potentially rapidly developing area. At the moment, said the Rev. Price, the nearest house to the site is three-fourths of a mile away. A recent survey in Carrollton, however, showed about four per cent with Presbyterian preference.

This will not be a new experience for the Rev. Price, for he was instrumental in organization of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church in Dallas. His first task at Carrollton will be to see if there is sufficient interest for an informal gathering of Presbyterians, for which the school board has granted use of a building for three hours on Sunday morning. Within about six months, he hopes there will be enough to form a congregation. The next step would be to develop building plans.

The Rev. Price was in private business in Dallas for a number of years, went into the service, and then took his degree at University of Texas and his bachelor of divinity degree from Austin Presbyterian seminary. He was associate at Highland Park for seven years before accepting the call here.

The church here has enjoyed growth and expansion of program during his ministry. He also has been active in community affairs and has headed the Rotary Club. The Rev. Price and Mrs. Price have one daughter, Mrs. Robert F. Tilton, San Antonio.

Award Of Merit To Be Presented

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Robert W. Hirsch of Yankton, S. D., has been selected to receive the International Lutheran Laymen's League's Award of Merit for outstanding Christian service. The presentation will be made at the Int'l LLL's 1975 convention to be held in New Orleans Aug. 2-8.

The 49-year-old attorney is now serving as a member of the board of directors of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod and as legal adviser to the board of directors of the South Dakota District of the LCMS.

He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill.

'Please Make Me Cry' Will Be Shown Here

David Wilkerson's newest film, "Please Make Me Cry" will have a premiere showing at the Evangel Temple Assembly of God here Tuesday, August 5. The church, located at 2205 Goliad, will begin the film at 7 p.m.

Wilkerson is author of the best selling book and movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade". In his latest release, this full-color documented drama tells the love story of "Cookie" Rodriguez. A cop hating junkie delinquent, "Cookie" was raised from her deathbed on the streets of New York to become "God's girl in the ghetto."

The film, which runs 63 minutes, shares miracles seldom seen on the screen. It is suggested for all members of the family.

"Please Make Me Cry" is a touching story about the power of the Holy Spirit to heal broken hearts. This powerful true-to-life film of transformed junkies and prostitute mothers learning to love babies born addicted to drugs, will thrill the viewers heart.

The film was produced by World Challenge Films, producers of "The Rapture" and "The Road to Armageddon".

Workshop Theme Set

"Power in Preaching" will be the theme for the ninth annual Preachers Fellowship Day Thursday, September 18 at Abilene Christian College, according to Dr. J. D. Thomas, ACC professor and head of the Department of Bible.

"Each year," said Dr. Thomas, who also serves as chairman of the day's activities, "we try to select a theme that is current with the trends in preaching today. There is nothing more vital today than the power in preaching."

Three main speeches will highlight the day's activities.

Lone Star Gas Earnings Same

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. had reported the same earnings per share for the first six months of 1975 as for the same period last year, $2.28.

Lone Star president W.C. McCord said Wednesday the earnings came on operating revenues of $350,590,000 in the first six months of 1975, compared with $246,080,000 for the same period last year.

Consolidated net income for the three months ended June 30, 1975, was $11,300,000, or 76 cents a share, which compared with $11,900,000, or 80 cents a share, during the same period last year.

The company also said the decrease in earnings was because of the firm's inability to pass along increased natural gas purchase costs to residential and commercial customers.

MARY JANE GROWS UP Is America Going To Pot?

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News, which obviously believes it's high time for another look at the burning issue of marijuana, has made a pretty interesting TV study of it and how much America is going to pot.

Called "Mary Jane Grows Up: Marijuana in the '70s," this one-hour special airs Sunday night and inspects in a sprightly, informative way the medical, social and legal aspects of smoking the devil weed nowadays.

The tour guide is Jack Perkins, a Los Angeles-based newsman who goes about his labors with occasional flashes of whimsy, such as appearing early in the show sitting relaxed with a marijuana cigarette in hand.

"There are an estimated 30 million criminals at large in the United States," he says. "Their crime — possession and use of marijuana."

"I would make it 30 million and one if I were to smoke this marijuana joint in 49 of the 50 states. As it is, I'm in the 50th, Alaska, where I could smoke in the privacy of this home if I wanted to."

He goes on to note that state's Supreme Court recently ruled it is an invasion of privacy "to arrest anyone for possession or use of marijuana in private."

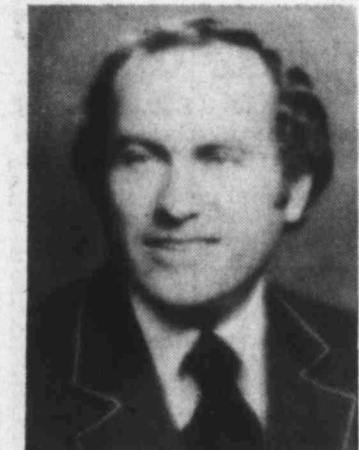

Then it's off for reports on changing attitudes toward pot-smoking, with notations that such no longer is strictly the province of the young, long-haired citizens of this country.

Briscoe's appointees included Calvin Guest, the Democratic chairman; Sabinal rancher R.J. Nunley; Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald editor-in-chief Harry Provance; Herbert Frensel of Houston, president of Brown & Root Inc.; and Alfred Davies of Dallas, president of the Texas region of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Chlordane, Heptachlor Ban Rapped

WESLACO, Tex. (AP) — A Texas A&M entomologist said he does not know of any substance Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus growers can use to replace two pesticides banned by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Jimmy Deer of the Texas A&M Research Center here made the comment after the federal agency announced a ban on chlordane and heptachlor as pesticides. The agency said the pesticides had caused cancer in some laboratory animals.

"I think a lot of their evidence is highly suspect," Deer said.

Deer said the ban may be harmful to citrus growers who have used the pesticides for years in attempts to kill termites and ants.

"I don't know what we're going to do to control ants and termites without them," Deer said. He explained that one use of the pesticides is inside freeze protection wrappings placed around citrus seedlings during the winter.
