Thant Challenged War III Warning

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. government has challenged U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's contention that America must stop bombing North Vietnam as the first necessary step toward prevention of World War III.

Thant told the U.N. Correspondents Association Thursday that he feared "we are witnessing today the initial phases of World War III" in Vietnam. He asserted that U.S. bombing of North Vietnam remains "the first obstacle to talks" for peace and urged that all attention be focused on stopping the bombing.

Peking Confrontation

"If the present trend continues," Thant said, "I am afraid a direct confrontation first of all between Washington and Peking is inevitable."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, after hurried consultations with officials in Washington, issued a statement declaring: "We do not share his current assessment of the situation in Vietnam."

Goldberg also took issue with Thant's claim that neither the United States nor North Vietnam accepted unconditionally the secretary-general's March 14 plan for a standstill truce, preliminary talks between both sides and a new Geneva conference conducted in the spirit of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam.

Bombing Halt Offer

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations said North Vietnam's response to Thant's proposal was negative while that of the United States was affirmative.

Goldberg said the United States shares Thant's desire for a peaceful settlement and agrees that talks in the 1954 Geneva spirit would help the cause of peace.

"The United States is prepared to engage in such talks," Goldberg said. Commenting on Thant's call for a stop to the bombing of the North, Goldberg reminded the secretary-general that the United States made an offer of a bombing halt last fall from the rostrum of the U.N. General Assembly.

Grave Consequences

"It was precisely in the hope that there could be a mutual de-escalation of the conflict and a diminution and stoppage of violence on all sides that the United States — in my General Assembly statement on Sept. 22, 1966 — offered to take the first step and order a cessation of all bombing of North Vietnam the moment we are assured privately or otherwise that this step will be answered promptly by a corresponding and appropriate de-escalation on the other side," Goldberg said.

Thant told the newsmen that since his last news conference on March 28, a "new escalation of the air war against North Vietnam" has come about that is "fraught with very grave consequences."

The secretary-general asserted that only North Vietnam's continued resistance to "the pressure of an enormously superior power has prevented an enlargement of the conflict beyond the frontiers of Vietnam."

Tipsy Roosters Aid Chicks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist reported today that a single shot of alcohol induced charm in, motherly behavior in some scrappy roosters who ordinarily are rough on baby chicks.

And they got slightly drunk in the process. But the researcher offered no views on whether an occasional barnyard highball would inspire roosters to help out with the baby-sitting on a permanent basis.

Wobbly Walking

Dr. Joseph K. Kovach of the Menninger Foundation, Topeka, Kan., said only that the experiment demonstrated that on the rare occasions when a rooster shows motherly instincts, it has nothing directly to do with its internal hormones.

Kovach described in the technical journal Science how five white Leghorn cocks who were each treated to a single dose of 33 per cent grain alcohol.

The birds all showed some minor motor coordination disturbances — a polite phrase for wobbly walking — even before they got down to the business at hand, he said.

Boozers Protect Chicks

Five other roosters were given similar portions of pure tap water.

Then both groups — boozers and teetotalers — were confronted with batches of newly hatched White Rock chicks.

All the alcohol-treated roosters protectively sheltered their chicks throughout the first night, and nearly all maintained their maternal behavior up to four days more.

Texas House Finally Gets Money Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—House members finally received the Senate's $437.5 million general appropriation bill today after a four-day wait. Speaker Ben Barnes quickly referred it to the Appropriations Committee.

Chairman W. S. Heatly of Paducah said, however, he has not finished writing some changes for insertion into the House money bill, which will be substituted for the Senate measure.

Heatly said he does not plan to call his committee together until Monday, meaning it should be at least Tuesday before the bill is brought up for debate. That will be less than two weeks before the regular session ends May 29.

REMAP REPORT

Another major bill also was being held up. Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham said his House Redistricting Committee won't report out a congressional re-map until early next week, with floor action Wednesday or later.

Mutscher earlier had said his committee would get the bill out by the end of this week. Previous predictions had been for committee approval around May 1.

There have been problems with the bill, especially concerning the districts of Reps. Olin Teague of College Station and George Bush, Houston Republican. Mutscher said the committee has decided to leave Bush's district about like it is, instead of moving in some primarily Democratic voters and shifting some conservative voters out as had been contemplated at one time.

The House concurred in Senate amendments to several House bills that would:

—Make it a misdemeanor to pay rent with a worthless check, stop payment on a rent check or obtain possession of rent property through trick or deception.

JOBLESS RAISE

—Permit out-of-state teachers desiring to teach in Texas but who have not taken six hours of political science and American history to take an examination in lieu of three of those hours.

—Raise the maximum weekly unemployment compensation from $37 to $45.

—Change auto license plate rates to: $12 for cars weighing up to 3,500 pounds, $22 for cars weighing from 3,501 to 4,500 pounds, $30 for cars weighing from 4,501 to 6,000 pounds and 55 cents per 100 pounds for cars weighing 6,001 or more.

—Establish the Western Information Network among 12 West Texas colleges.

All these bills now go to Gov. John Connally for his signature.

Cold War 'Chicken' Game?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dispute over two collisions of U.S. and Soviet warships in the Sea of Japan was a standoff today. Each side accused the other of causing the bumps.

It appeared to add up to another round in the cold war game of "chicken."

The United States charged the Soviet navy with harassing U.S. Navy vessels on the high seas. The Soviets charged the American Navy with provocations.

The United States claimed the U.S. destroyer Walker warned away the two Soviet destroyers that jostled her — one on Wednesday and the other Thursday — but that the warnings were spurned.

QUICK STEPS

The Soviets claimed the skippers of their destroyers "drew the attention of the Americans to the impermissibility of getting dangerously close," but that the U.S. ships ignored this. American announcements have given no hint of any Soviet warnings.

The United States demanded that the Soviet Union take prompt steps to end the harassments.

The Soviets countered with a warning about "the kind of results" that could result from alleged provocations.

The State Department took its stand in public statements and formal protests to the Soviet Embassy. Moscow spoke through its state-run radio.

An aide said President Johnson considered the collisions a matter of concern.

NO LINK

U.S. defense officials said they see no link between the clashes in the Japan Sea and the war in Vietnam. There has been speculation the Soviet destroyers made passes at the Walker because of cooling relations between the two powers over Vietnam.

American diplomats hoped the Soviets would order their warship skippers to keep a safe distance from American craft and end the incidents. American authorities don't really expect this will be the last of such clashes. The history of the cold war is pocked with charges and countercharges of aircraft buzzings, gunfire, collisions and similar actions.

FIRMNESS

Although officials would not discuss rules of engagement, it was understood that U.S. Navy ship captains are under instructions to keep their courses and to show firmness in the face of harassment by Soviet vessels.

However, defense officials acknowledged there have been occasions when American commanders have had to give way to avoid collisions.

There is a disposition in some official quarters to view the bumping of the Walker as the unintended result of deliberately close passes by the Soviets.

The United States reported no casualties. Damage was described by the Pentagon as light in both collisions.

BROKEN ANTENNA

A Navy spokesman said the Walker took a six-inch hole, 10 feet above her waterline Thursday. The Wednesday bump reportedly resulted in a broken antenna.

Navy sources said the Soviet and American vessels were steaming very slowly.

The Soviet broadcast did not say anything about damage or casualties.

Some Pentagon authorities suggested the Soviets might have been trying to impress on the Americans that the Soviets regard the waters off Siberia as their sphere.

Commiss Rake Two Airfields Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Communist rockets and mortars raked two airfields near Saigon today, killing six Americans, wounding 100 and destroying or damaging 25 planes.

Far to the north, two U.S. Marine positions just below the demilitarized zone came under enemy barrages. These were at Gio Linh and Con Thien, where Leathernecks and Army artillerymen join to counter enemy threats from across the demilitarized zone.

EXPLOSION

AP correspondent Peter Arnett reported from the scene that Gio Linh was hit by from 10 to 15 rounds of mortar or artillery fire hourly all through the afternoon. One explosion set off a fire among a stack of white phosphorus shells. The blaze was brought under control after one hour.

The number of casualties at Con Thien, seven miles west of Gio Linh, was undetermined. Helicopters made 24 medical evacuation flights from that outpost.

WEAPON BIGGEST

The guerrillas used the biggest weapon in their arsenal, their Soviet 140mm rockets, against the big airbase at Bien Hoa, 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. officers speculated that the attacks on the airfields were in reply to the U.S. raids on MIG airfields near Hanoi which began last month.

The two fields hit were Bien Hoa, the largest tactical fighter base in South Vietnam, and an Army airstrip at Phuoc Vinh, 34 miles north of Saigon. Phuoc Vinh is largely a support strip, with helicopters, transport aircraft and spotter planes stationed there.

SPRAINED ANKLES

In addition to the six killed and 100 wounded, U.S. headquarters said about 30 more Americans received such minor injuries as sprained ankles as they sprinted for cover.

The U.S. Command said damage to the airfields was light to moderate and gave no further breakdown. However, eyewitnesses reported at least 25 planes damaged at Bien Hoa and more were known to have been shot up at Phuoc Vinh.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, only light ground fighting was reported. Bad weather continued to hamper raids over the North, but 138 missions were flown Thursday, mostly against supply targets in the lower half of North Vietnam.

CRATERS DUG

Although the 140mm rockets dug big craters in the runway at Bien Hoa, U.S. spokesman said the field was never out of operation completely and was operating normally two hours after the 15-minute attack.

Only four or five of the planes hit at Bien Hoa were damaged beyond repair. Most of the planes at the field were in sandbagged revetments or damage would have been heavier.

Most of the damaged aircraft were F100 Super Sabre jets and F102 interceptors. Most were loaded with bombs and rockets when they were hit but the ordnance did not explode, spokesmen said.

One propeller-driven A1 Skyraider of the South Vietnamese air force burned completely when its fuel caught fire, but the six 250-pound bombs on its wings did not explode. Among the South Vietnamese planes damaged were several new F5 Freedom Fighter jets in which See ROCKETS Pg. 7-A, Col. 3

Police Kill Negro Rioter

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Traffic moved normally along a newly cleared half-mile stretch of Lynch Street today, but National Guardsmen remained alert after a violent night in which one Negro rioter was killed.

Student life resumed on the littered campus of all-Negro Jackson State College, scene of two nights of rioting.

A token highway patrol force remained at one intersection. National Guardsmen were camped nearby.

Mayor Allen Thompson visited Guardsmen and announced it would be "business as usual" in the area. He thanked Guardsmen for their aid.

The Lynch Street area by daylight bore little resemblance to the nighttime battleground where the mob of 100 surged forward repeatedly in an effort to break police lines and move toward downtown Jackson, 10 blocks away.

Cave Search Continues For Three Missing Boys

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Weary mud-grimed rescuers made their fifth and final sweep of Murphy's Cave today, hoping that somehow in nearly 40 hours of painstaking search they missed three boys believed lost in the cave.

No one appeared willing to call off the search for Joel (Joey) Hoag, 13; his brother, Billy, 11, and a playmate, Edwin Craig Dowell, 14, also of Hannibal.

The disappearance of the boys recalled the writings of Hannibal's Mark Twain and the fictional adventures of Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer in these same caves around this Mississippi River town.

PLUGGING

"We'll keep plugging if the authorities here want us to," said William Karras of Washington, D.C., head of the National Speleological Society's cave rescue team.

But Karras said he doesn't feel that the boys are in the cave. For two nights and one day spelunkers—cave explorers—from Missouri and Illinois crawled through winding narrow passages in search of the boys, retracing their steps again and again on the chance they have missed that one passage.

But there was no evidence not even a button—to indicate that the boys ever entered the cave except for the word of two boys who saw them go in Wednesday.

BONE-TIRED

"We don't know what else to do," sighed Karras. Bone-tired searchers standing in a loose circle around Karras nodded agreement.

However, they collected their gear again for a last sweep through the cave and another check of two more caves 300 yards to the east. All three cave openings were exposed by a construction crew cutting a roadbed for a new federal highway through the south side of Hannibal.

The last real hope that the boys would be found in Murphy's Cave was a section of the northeast corner which was sealed off early in the search by a rock fall. Two police dogs brought into the cave went directly to the rock fall and scratched at its base.

STEEP BLUFF

The fall was about 20 feet to the right of the cave entrance, which is located about one-third of the way up a steep bluff sheared to a cliff by blasting crews. Still another fall choked the passage further. Rescuers dug from the outside of the bluff behind the rock fall and opened the passages beyond. They found nothing.

But just to be certain, they excavated the rock-choked passage, thinking perhaps the boys were caught in the fall. They apparently were not.

RESCUE TEAMS

Civil Defense workers, cave rescue teams from Missouri and Illinois as well as Washington, D.C., and the Missouri National Guard joined in the search for the boys.

The Hoag; 5th grad TA26.

The Hoag brothers and the Dowell boy were last seen about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, carrying a shovel and a flashlight, as they entered a cave recently uncovered by construction workers carving out a bed for a new highway.

Individuals and teams of experienced cave explorers spent all Wednesday night and Thursday squirming through narrow passages underlying the area, but found no trace of the boys.

POLICE DOGS

Police dogs were brought in but were unable to work in the narrow confines.

Bob Harrison, commander of the Mark Twain Emergency Squad, said there was a slide in a cave passage about 20 feet to the right of the entrance that blocked rescue teams from entering a section of the cave running along the face of the bluff.

Mayor Harry Musgrove asked for a National Guard company to begin a search at dawn in an area east of the cave. Musgrove acted in response to a request from the Hoag family, which has been unanimous in feeling that the boys are not in Murphy's Cave, but perhaps in other caves uncovered by construction work.

HILLS COMBED

About 400 yards to the east two new cave entrances were opened by earth moving equipment, one was filled in, but the other is open.

The Hoags — mother, father, five brothers and four sisters — were unwilling to stand-by while others search for the boy and organized their own search party. They combed the hills Thursday night.

William G. Karras of Washington, D.C., president of the National Speleological Society, arrived about midnight to inspect the slide area and advise rescuers.

23 Protestors Placed In Cells

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of 23 antiwar protestors were arrested today in the fourth day of a demonstration at the Pentagon.

The demonstrators, making an attempt to enter the building, were carried bodily onto a U.S. marshal's bus to be taken to federal court in nearby Alexandria, Va.

The demonstrators had been told shortly before they would be subject to arrest if they continued their protests on the building's grounds.

The young men and women, mostly in their late teens and early 20s, agreed among themselves to remain and continue their attempts to enter the building and get into the super-secret War Room.

As they walked across a parking lot toward the entrance, a solid line of uniformed guards waited for them. The protestors then sat down in the road. Marshals and guards moved in and began carrying them on to a bus.

It's 'Wear Cotton' Time

Cotton Week observance starts Monday in Big Spring, and that's the day all Big Springers will be asked to join in wearing cotton apparel for the day. Big Spring Jaycees, cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce, are promoting the "Wear Cotton" Day. Here Jimmy Anderson and Alton Marwitz pose with Ann Bewley of the C-C staff as they all wear cotton items and promote the use of fiber that is so important to the economy of West Texas. A poster shows that cotton was the style, too, back in the roaring 20's.

EASY LEARNING

Science today affects everything we do. Sometimes scientific facts are difficult to grasp, but there's a writer — Dr. Leonard Reiffel — who presents scientific matters in the most readable terms. Dr. Reiffel, among other assignments, is a consultant in NASA's Apollo office.

His new column, "SCIENCE and YOU," becomes a daily feature of The Herald beginning Monday, and you will find it of absorbing interest. Young people will find it most helpful, as well as fascinating — and that goes for older folk, too.

Here is real learning in the easy manner, and The Herald editors highly recommend to you daily reading of "SCIENCE and YOU." It starts Monday.

400 Pupils Walk Out On Wallace

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Wallace several times as more than 2,000 college and high school pupils stayed to hear him denounce the Supreme Court. Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's plea went unheeded Thursday night as more than 400 pupils walked out on his speech at Princeton University. Later some pupils burned an effigy of the Alabama Democrat. A Confederate flag also went up in flames. Wallace, speaking as a possible third party presidential candidate, shrugged off the walkout and demonstration with a big grin. He appeared undisturbed when a small band of students rose during his address and shouted, "Sieg heil!"

NAZIS HERE

Deadline Near

Monday is deadline for notaries public to file application for renewal of their commissions with the Howard County Clerk. Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that less than half of the nearly 700 notaries public in the county have renewed their commissions through her office since the period began. Failure to renew by closing time at her office Monday will mean that the applicant must go through the state offices to get a renewal. Cost of renewal here is $3.

To Get Degree

Billy W. Rasberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Rasberry, Ackerly, will receive the bachelor of forestry degree from Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches on May 20. A graduate of Sands High School, he attended North Texas State University two years. He has accepted a post as natural resource specialist forester with the Bureau of Land Management for Arizona at Phoenix. He is married to the former Gloria Greenwood, Big Spring, and they have one son, Dorin, 3.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, Friday afternoon sounded a civil jury docket set for next week. From the cases announced ready, he will select those to be tried and determine the order in which they are to be called up.

Primate Pick Is Scheduled

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The new Holy Synod of the Greek Orthodox Church, named Thursday night by the military junta in a sweeping shakeup of the Church hierarchy, will meet Saturday to choose candidates for the top Church post of primate of Greece, the government announced. Archbishop Chrysostomos, 86, who has been primate was ousted by a junta law retiring all clerics over 80. He has been in an Athens hospital since suffering a heart attack two weeks ago. The junta also replaced the former 12-member Holy Synod with a new nine-man group. Metropolitan Constantine of Patras was named acting primate. A government spokesman said the new synod would meet

Cuba's Sugar Crop Estimated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba's vital 1967 sugar production has been estimated by an exile research bureau at a little over six million metric tons. Fidel Castro's announced goal is 7.5 million metric tons, but last year's crop was 4,455,255 metric tons.

Cuba's Sugar Crop Estimated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba's vital 1967 sugar production has been estimated by an exile research bureau at a little over six million metric tons. Fidel Castro's announced goal is 7.5 million metric tons, but last year's crop was 4,455,255 metric tons.

A metric ton is 2,200 pounds. On the basis of the cane cut to date and the current production trend, researchers of an anti-Castro organization, Revolutionary Unity, placed the crop at between 6,047,000 and 6,101,000 metric tons. The harvest, ending next month, could be somewhat higher, however, the bureau said.

Gardeners Fill Slate Wednesday

The question, "Why do I belong to a garden club?" was answered by Mrs. J. W. Trantham when she presented the program at Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the Planters Garden Club.

Mrs. Trantham also installed the new officers, handing each a branch of a native tree of Texas as she explained duties of their office. The new officers are Mrs. Frank Wilson, president; Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, first vice president; Mrs. Jack Cunningham, second vice president; Mrs. R. O. Carothers, third vice president; Mrs. J. A. Andrews, secretary - treasurer.

Seven members and one guest, Mrs. Roy Seiler, attended. The next meeting will be June 14 when Mrs. D. W. Rankin will be hostess at Hilltop Gardens.

Cotillion Club Makes Spring Formal Plans

Cotillion Dance Club members and their guests will dance to the music of Bobby Burns Saturday evening at the annual spring formal held in the ballroom of Big Spring Country Club. Hours for dancing will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., with breakfast to be served as a climax to the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Womack will serve as chairmen for the host group, and approximately 150 are expected to attend.

Other host couples are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Boullion, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crooker, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Heith and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewis.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. George McAlister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meek, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rammer, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Shouse, Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Worthy and Mr. and Mrs. Rene Brown.

The spring motif will be carried out with miniature May Poles and extended streamers placed on all tables, along with crepe paper flowers and ivy runners. The ballroom will be lighted with candles, and colorful streamers will spill from a basket hanging over the bandstand.

Officers Installed At Airport P-TA

Mrs. Jack Murdock conducted the installation of officers at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Preceptor Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Mrs. John Gary, 2615 E. 24th.

The officer's slate includes Mrs. Gary, president; Mrs. Perry Chandler, vice president; Mrs. Darel Highley, treasurer; and Mrs. Adrian Randle, recording secretary.

Refreshments were served to 13. The next meeting will be a salad supper in the home of Mrs. Odell Womack, 1601 Tucson.

HD Group Makes Gifts

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Don Henderson was hostess to members of Carr Home Demonstration Club May 5, and roll call was answered with "Why every club member should hold office." Mrs. Henderson led the song; Mrs. T. A. Rees voiced the prayer and directed the recreation. Mrs. Tom Jackson, vice president, presided and assisted Mrs. Ben Ellett in leading the program, making gifts for children in the hospital. Refreshments were served to five. Mrs. McKenney will host the next meeting, May 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Dink) Rees and daughter, Tracy, of Colorado City visited in the T. A. Rees home Friday.

Berta Becketts Convene For Lunch Thursday

Mrs. H. H. Squires gave the reading, "Storms Are No Worrier If the Roots Are Deep," at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Berta Beckett Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church. The group met in the Downtown Tea Room.

Mrs. O. N. Green brought the devotion, "Faith," and Mrs. Bernice Slater gave the invocation. Others on the program were Mrs. J. P. Dodge and Mrs. Daisy Smyth. Mrs. J. E. Hardesty provided a piano musical background, and accompanied the members as they sang hymns.

Mrs. Inez Lewis, secretary for many years at the First Baptist Church, reported on her work at the church. "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again," was sung by the group as a benediction.

Table decorations were spring flowers of daisies and phlox, and plate favors were miniature red carnation corsages, presented by Mrs. W. M. Gage, class president.

Fourteen attended.

P-TA Holds Installation

Mrs. E. C. Miller, district officer, used the theme, "Building A Home," as she conducted the installation of new officers at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association at the school.

Officers installed were Mrs. B. R. Fletcher, president; Mrs. Ed Pierson, vice president; Mrs. Charles Shanks, secretary; and Mrs. Billy Plew, treasurer.

Auxiliary Convenes In Sweetwater

The Letter Carriers Auxiliary met Tuesday for a salad supper in the home of Mrs. Cecil Stevens, 804 Birdwell, with 16 in attendance.

Mrs. Melvin Daniels presided and announced that the district meeting will be held Saturday in Sweetwater. She read a letter of appreciation from the Veterans Administration Hospital thanking the group for the pitcher pads which they donated recently. Mrs. Alfred Moody demonstrated the making of ditty bags which will be sent to servicemen overseas.

Auxiliary members who will make cakes for the VA birthday party this month are Mrs. Melvin Brown and Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr. Mrs. Billy Gage will provide punch.

Other business included the naming of Mrs. Wendel Payne and Mrs. John Billings as delegates to the state convention June 15-17 in Corpus Christi, and the donation of $10 to the state welfare fund.

Mrs. Moody, the chaplain, led prayer, and table games were played. The next meeting will be June 13 in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building with Mrs. Wade Bledsoe as hostess.

State Hospital Will Get Cookies

The Reba Thomas Circle of First Methodist Church will deliver 1,000 cookies to the state hospital on June 28 according to an announcement made at the Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles Staggs, San Angelo Highway. Mrs. Martin Staggs led prayer.

Mrs. W. S. Goodlett presided and reported that the circle will purchase a stove for the Mexican Mission.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. O. G. Hughes, chairman; Mrs. Jeff Brown, co-chairman; Mrs. Staggs, secretary; and Mrs. W. H. Gray, treasurer. Chairmen named were Mrs. John Knox, missionary education; Mrs. Barney Hinds, spiritual life; Mrs. Bert Shive, local church activities; Mrs. Charles Staggs, Christian social relations; Mrs. W. S. Goodlett, literature and publications; Mrs. Felix Garrett, Sunshine; Mrs. W. D. Duggan, fellowship; Mrs. Ed Shives, reporter; and Mrs. A. G. Beene, telephone.

Mrs. Knox led the study, and 14 attended. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Bert Shive, 2809 Navajo.

Make Bed Table From Cardboard

A large cardboard carton can be turned into a sturdy bed table. Remove the top from the box, tape down flaps for a smooth surface, and cut a curved opening on each side of the box to make room for the patient's legs. A small opening, one on each end of the box, provides sufficient hand space so that the table can be easily lifted.

A LOVELIER YOU Dig Those Wells Of Emollients, Moisture

By MARY SUE MILLER

The oil and moisture content of the skin slowly begins to decrease after the age of twenty-five, and sometimes earlier. The drying process is then set in motion and is sped on its way by harsh weather and neglect, along with the inroads of time.

Left to the mercy of summer sun and weather, even normal skins come to look parched. A dry skin condition is certain to be accentuated by deepening lines and sagging tissue. In order to hold its own in summer, the skin requires nightly applications of a treatment emollient.

Suitably formulated emollients counteract the surface effects of oil and moisture losses. Sometimes called night cream or lubrication, emollients contain oils that have an affinity to natural skin oils. Among them are lanolin, squalene, polyunsaturates and cholesterol.

Emollients also contain humectants, such as moisturizers as glycerin and fatty esters. In addition some products include hormones, vitamins, proteins, herbs, aloe or algae — each for good purpose.

But oil and moisture are the basic ingredients. Oils soften, smooth and, very important, hold moisture on the skin — the skin's own moisture and that of a moisturizer. And, like a flower, the skin withers without its quota of moisture.

Better dig those wells of emollient oils and moisture!

Borger Lands Ammonia Unit

BORGER, Tex. (AP) — Hill Chemicals, Inc., says it will build a $45 million anhydrous ammonia production complex in the Texas Panhandle.

The first phase of a 1,000-ton-per-day ammonia unit will be built at Borger with completion scheduled in late 1968.

The Borger facility, with its eventual 2,000 tons-per-day capacity, will be the largest inland concentration of anhydrous ammonia production in the United States.

About 350 construction workers will be employed at the 300-acre site just outside of Borger, 35 miles north of Amarillo.

The ammonia unit will be designed and constructed by M. W. Kellogg Co., a division of Pullman, Inc.

No announcement was made regarding the number of workers to be employed in the plant.

Hill said his company was negotiating contracts to market the fertilizer to western Iowa, southern Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, West Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico.

Former Nazi Must Stand Trial Again

The victim was George Chudej, about 50. Lavaca County Sheriff Ronnie Dodds said Chalouka was shot in the neck and chest with a shotgun at his farm 12 miles north of here.

Area Residents To Get Degrees

ABILENE — Approximately 170 students will be candidates for degrees at Hardin - Simmons spring graduation ceremonies.

Congressman Omar Bursleson of Anson will be the recipient of an honorary doctor of laws degree in commencement exercises on May 29.

Commencement speaker will be Robert Tiffany, formerly of Abilene and now a New York insurance executive, while Dr. Charles McLaughlin of Dallas, secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas State Missions program, will be baccalaureate speaker on Sunday, May 28.

Among those from here and this area who are candidates for degrees are: Shirley Osborn, 107 Frazier, Big Spring; Zaida Ann Bodine, Route 1, Ackerly; Mrs. Shirley T. Bowlin, Route 1, Loraine; Lawrence D. McNair, Josephine Laverne Linville, Mrs. Jane S. Patterson and Georgia Ann Spence, all of Snyder, and all candidates for bachelor of science degrees.

Poet Laureate Ill

ABINGDON, England (AP) — John Masefield, Britain's poet laureate since 1930, was reported seriously ill at his country home near Abingdon today.

Masefield, 88, has suffered from a weak heart in recent years. His daughter told newsmen: "He is very ill and very weak. His state is serious."

A Devotional For The Day

Let not the sun go down upon your wrath. (Ephesians 4:26)

PRAYER: Our gracious and loving heavenly Father, help us, we pray, to keep our family life harmonious. Give us grace to speak the gentle word that overcomes ill will. May we be of such a spirit that we are always ready both to seek and to grant forgiveness. For Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Some Experiment

Amazement is the only appropriate word to describe the reaction of some members of Congress and others who are viewing an experiment in school construction in Connecticut.

The U.S. Office of Education approved a $56,000 grant for planning a campus-type set of school buildings to accommodate Highgate, Franklin, and Swinton, Conn., with a combined population of 7,000. On one end of the campus a public school is planned. On the other end of the campus a parochial school is to be built.

An American Civil Liberties Union attorney wondered what justification in law was being offered for this educational establishment. He asked the Office of Education by letter for an explanation. He received a somewhat unsatisfactory response from the department's counsel, a bit shy in legal citations but filled with assurances that the Office of Education would never think of undertaking anything that was unconstitutional.

Where this will all end no one pretends to know, except that the case will almost surely go to court. How to approach the matter in a court is a tricky question, though. At the very least the Connecticut example may create some more interest in a bill now pending in Congress to authorize judicial review of federal grants to church-related institutions. As of now, the grants cannot be challenged by an individual.

Could Be The Answer

The Dallas County Commissioners Court has been looking at a device which might hold the answer to mechanical tabulation of votes.

It is a six-pound mechanical voting device which its makers say will supplant the present 900-pound lever-operated voting machines. The compact version is a punch card type. The voter mashes a button beside the name of the candidate for whom he wishes to ballot, and this punches a hole in the voting card. When the ballot is completed, the card is counted electronically on data processors. This greatly speeds up the tally and eliminates chances for errors, according to its makers.

Cost of the machines is around $200 each, rather than the larger machines which cost $1,900 or more.

Use of the punch-type machines would be permissible under the proposal which is pending in the legislature. A House committee has reported the measure favorably, but the Senate had voted out a bill without the punch-card plan by a margin of one vote. Perhaps it will be included on the conference committee report.

Something of this sort seems to be the main hope of smaller to medium sized counties taking the step into mechanical vote tabulation.

New Threats From Russia

WASHINGTON—Russia is trying to frighten or bluff the United States into a surrender in Vietnam.

For several days now the Soviets have permitted news to leak out of Moscow that they are planning to give substantial military aid to the North Vietnamese. A United Press International dispatch from London reads as follows:

"LONDON—High Communist diplomats said today the Kremlin had decided upon a program of massive military aid to North Vietnam 'to forestall an American success.'

"The diplomats said the decision followed a recent reappraisal of Soviet Vietnam policy in the light of what they termed 'growing indications of threatening American escalation of the war.'

"We just cannot stand by and watch the destruction and attempted submission of the country," the Communists said.

"THE DIPLOMATS said the equipment would reach North Vietnam by a variety of routes and that they were confident it would get to its destination despite obstruction by Communist China.

"The diplomats said that in the light of the mushrooming Vietnam conflict, chances of an East-West accord must be considered extremely slender.

are being urged to recognize that the only beneficiary of a divided foreign policy would be the Communists.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, of California, assistant Republican leader of the Senate, has issued a warning to his party not to engage in "specious political flummery" over Vietnam so as to gain political advantage. He said Republicans cannot "give aid and comfort to the enemy by speaking with two voices to take advantage of divisions in our country between 'hawks' and 'doves.'"

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY, Republican of Michigan, in answering questions on the Vietnam war at a news conference Tuesday, said he thinks the South Vietnam government should be encouraged to negotiate with the Viet Cong in the South so as to split them away from the North Vietnamese Communists.

The question of Viet Cong participation, however, in any peace conference is a delicate one. Several senators in both parties have indicated they would like to see the Viet Cong sit at the peace table. But the President and the Secretary of State have been very cautious about drawing South Vietnam into any deal with the Viet Cong Communists, preferring to leave any contacts between these two groups to the South Vietnamese themselves.

IT IS APPARENT that the American position in the Vietnam war is growing stronger each day and that the military operation there is becoming more and more a demonstration of America's power. The Moscow and Peking regimes are not too happy about the fact that they must render an unprecedented amount of military aid if they wish to save North Vietnam from defeat. So it's natural for the Russians to try to scare the United States into a cease-fire and prolonged negotiation.

Billy Graham

I can't seem to find peace and I wonder if positive thinking will help?

D. M.

Sometimes the term "positive thinking" can be misinterpreted. If it is detached from the redeeming power of God it becomes a mere mental exercise with limited results.

The Bible says, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." Our minds, in their natural state, tend to entertain doubts, resentments, evil imaginations, and other kinds of wrong thoughts. The Bible teaches that when Christ comes into our lives He brings new thought processes. This becomes "positive thinking" in a Christian sense. Then his become our thoughts. Instead of thinking badly about people who have wronged us, we begin to think good thoughts about them. Instead of being unbelieving about God's goodness, and cynical about others, we put the best construction upon everything. Many people are eaten up these days by hatred, malice and envy. This is not pleasing to God, and does great damage to ourselves. Christ can change all this. Remember, the Bible says, "Let this mind be in you." This means that if we choose we can go on living in inner misery, but it also means that God has given us the power to choose the way of peace, joy and contentment. It is up to us. Christ's power is available to all who will accept it.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Cassius Clay is a tragedy in motion. He is headed toward a collision with an immovable object — justice under the law. He'll lose — and no one of consequence will gain.

The Bible says, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." Our minds, in their natural state, tend to entertain doubts, resentments, evil imaginations, and other kinds of wrong thoughts. The Bible teaches that when Christ comes into our lives He brings new thought processes. This becomes "positive thinking" in a Christian sense. Then his become our thoughts. Instead of thinking badly about people who have wronged us, we begin to think good thoughts about them. Instead of being unbelieving about God's goodness, and cynical about others, we put the best construction upon everything. Many people are eaten up these days by hatred, malice and envy. This is not pleasing to God, and does great damage to ourselves. Christ can change all this. Remember, the Bible says, "Let this mind be in you." This means that if we choose we can go on living in inner misery, but it also means that God has given us the power to choose the way of peace, joy and contentment. It is up to us. Christ's power is available to all who will accept it.

And Clay has been used, there there seems little doubt of that. Negro militants have converted Clay — a really rather child-like individual — to their twisted line of reasoning and set him up as a strawman. Those with financial stakes in his career have abetted this. Now he takes the fall for them, never to rise.

It's all the more tragic because Clay could have been a tremendous force for good. His appearance, his ability, his personality — when not performing to build up crowds or please his Muslim mentors — could have made him an idol of the nation's youth, both of his own race and others. But Clay has thrown this splendid opportunity aside; he has allowed himself to be preyed upon by forces of self-serving demagogery.

There Are No Real Party Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years now the issues in presidential elections have been individuals and not parties. It will be that way again unless the Republicans can make a case for themselves before the 1968 election.

The difference between the parties are getting blurred as the Republicans, finally looking at the clock, emerge from their intense conservatism of Franklin D. Roosevelt's time, even though they suffered a temporary relapse in 1964.

BUT THEY were already out of date in the New Deal days. And, as they moved closer to the Democratic view, which has been a slow jog forward, the issues between them and the Democrats diminished.

This has forced voters to choose more between men than parties.

In 1948, although the Republicans tried to ram him against the wall with their sneers, jeers and criticism, President Harry S. Truman through courage and aggressiveness beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey almost single-handedly.

BY 1952 the country was sick of the mud-slinging, hatreds, divisions and uneasiness created by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and wanted political and mental peace. If the Republicans had chosen McCarthy as their candidate, or someone like him, there would have been a real issue in the campaign. But they didn't.

Who could better restore sanity than Dwight D. Eisenhower? Who could better settle the Korean War? His rival, Adlai E. Stevenson, compared with him, was an untried, political nobody. Stevenson never had a chance.

THIS WAS pretty much the same story in 1956 when Eisenhower beat Stevenson again except that then McCarthy had been silenced and the Korean War was over. And the nation, which had recaptured its sanity, was doing all right. Why change?

As for the parties—there was no real issue between them. They hadn't distinguished themselves in Congress although each had controlled it for two

Are You Sick, Sick, Sick?

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you normal or just a wee bit balmy? Many people get a regular dental and medical checkup, but never think of having their minds inspected. This is odd, because it is well known that one's mental outlook can materially affect one's physical welfare.

As the old saying goes, "It's all in the mind."

IT ISN'T always necessary, however, to go to a headshrinker and have him paw through your ID and ego to find out whether you are well, well, or sick, sick, sick. In many cases you can do it yourself.

Here, for example, is a series of questions which can help you determine your sanity quotient:

WHEN THE alarm clock wakes you up on Monday morning, do you sometimes feel like just lying there in bed and crying until it is Tuesday?

Are you secretly convinced that half the people you meet nowadays don't know what they are talking about three-fourths of the time?

WHEN A bank truck loaded with money goes by you in the street, do you idly wonder how you could rob it and get away with the loot?

If a pretty blonde at a cocktail party walks away from you to listen to somebody else, do you instantly decide that her neck is too scrawny or her legs are too big?

HAVE YOU bought at least one blue chip stock in the last 20 years that has gone down in value? If so, do you believe the guy you bought it from is either a fool or a fraud?

Can you lose your head when those around you are keeping theirs?

As the years roll by, are you finding it more and more difficult to get the tops off ketchup bottles?

DO YOU still prefer martinis to LSD or other forms of psychedelic drugs?

Are you finding it harder to sleep at night but easier to doze off while watching a television program on which prominent people discuss the so-called vital issues of the day?

Do you spend more time figuring how you'll be able to get by on your pension than you do thinking up ways you can get rich?

WHEN someone tells you a new joke, does it remind you of two just like it you heard from your barber 15 years before?

Well, now let's look at your box score. If you answered "yes" to all the foregoing questions, put your mind at ease. You are normal as you need be, as sane as everyone else.

To put it bluntly, you're as sound as a nut.

Pellagra, A Disease Involving The Four D's

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of pellagra? Is there a cure? — MRS. W. D. S.

Dear Doctor: My brother has learned that he has pellagra. Is it contagious? — R.E.H.

Pellagra is a deficiency disease, and is not contagious. It is a lack, primarily, of a part of the Vitamin B group — niacin, or nicotinic acid. However, it is probable that there may be a lack of some of the other fractions of Vitamin B, as well as a shortage of some of the essential amino acids found in protein foods, particularly one called tryptophan.

Proper diet and replacement of the missing nutritional elements cure the disease, but if not properly treated, pellagra's symptoms are the Four D's — diarrhea, dermatitis (skin disease), dementia, and death.

The dermatitis makes the skin as well as the tongue quite red, and blisters form. Digestive disturbances include diarrhea. The patient may become very weak and anemia is common. The dementia is featured by irritability, emotional upsets, depression, sometimes confusion, hallucinations and lethargy.

Treatment consists of a high-protein diet plus supplemental niacin. Fortunately a patient responds rapidly to this treatment, although it may take many weeks before the skin returns to normal texture.

Pellagra is distributed world wide but is seen more often in areas in which corn is an important part of the diet, and the southern states are one such area.

This does not mean that corn is bad in any reasonable quantity. It becomes so only when, over a considerable time, too much dependence is placed on it in the daily diet. Filling up on corn products at the expense of sufficient protein foods (meat, seafood, cheese, poultry, plus some protein in other foods) brings on the deficiency in niacin.

It was noted by early investigators that corn might be included, and subsequent study indicates that corn, besides lacking tryptophan, may also contain a substance which actually is antagonistic to tryptophan.

There are 20 amino acids which combine in various patterns to form the proteins which are essential to health. When one of them is lacking, trouble is bound to develop. In this instance, it is pellagra.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Saving Daylight A Long Time Ago

There have been lots of times when I've asked, "Will this day never end?" knowing full well that it would. But that was yesterday, or more exactly, several endless yesterdays ago.

I STILL make the query, but in all seriousness now. The past two weeks I've had less sleep than the most celebrated carouser in town with nary a memory to make it worth while. I don't adjust easily, and if this daylight is being saved for me, I'd just as soon some sun-loving soul had it who could appreciate it. I can't. I'm an early-to-bed-early-to-rise type but I prefer to do it both in darkness. If you're an eight o'clock gal at heart, you know what I mean. Comes eight o'clock in the evening now—the sun is shafting through the blinds, traffic is at its noisiest and people are running around the neighborhood like crazy, feeling duty-bound. I suppose, to make the most of this latest gift from the government.

"SUN UP, Daughters!" what a sweet sound — and the kindest alarm clock in the world when I was a farm child in Louisiana. Father fudged a little — because the sun was usually not up at all, but he justified it by saying that "something should dawn on us sooner or later." He preferred it sooner.

THERE WAS no use putting your head under the pillow — his vigorous strokes with the pump handle produced metallic shrieks that sounded like screams for mercy — and you knew the water was going to be cold, cold, cold. So was the kitchen, where he had just fired the kindling in that squat, black stove. On the dining room buffet sat pans of milk, covered with cheesecloth, which we lifted to dip out spoonful of thick cream to drip over figs or cut the strength of 'cajun' coffee. The platter of eggs gave you a choice from three sources — hens, ducks or guineas, and I can't remember that it mattered which we were served.

IT DID matter about the sweet, though. Passing up the jams and jellies, I held a fat biscuit in one hand and carefully pierced the longest side with a finger. The resulting cavity was filled with sharp syrup. Taking the whole gooey mess to the back stoop, I finished the meal on the steps watching the sun come up through the pines before letting an impatient Irish Setter ease the last bite from my fingers.

Yes, we saved the daylight then, too. Is it only in a mind approaching middle age that there was more to save it for?

—JO BRIGHT

The Options Are Very Grim

WASHINGTON—The Tall Tactician of the White House is running short of tactics. It means a new test of fortitude in himself and in those who urge him on to victory. For the options that remain have to be called grim, grimmer, grimmest.

THE GRIM ONE can be described as "more of the same." Gen. Westmoreland's 500,000 men are killing Communists at a ratio of eight to 10. Reds to every American life. We are going to win in Vietnam, and the Westmoreland meatgrinder will do it, but when?

The President is being advised that with 600,000 troops he can shorten the war, and that with 750,000 troops he can shorten it still more. He needs to make up his mind on this, and the country had better brace itself to back his decision against the certain outcry of the faint-hearted, the false-hearted and the wrong-minded.

THAT OPTION is grim: more men, more ground action, more casualties. But the next alternative is grimmer. The Tall Tactician was listening in mid-May to the Air Power advocates on the Armed Services Committee. Their advice calls for quicker, cleaner results but with higher risks. They have called for a total take-out of all military targets in North Vietnam.

In the inner councils the President is told that stepped-up Air Power to flatten the enemy's industrial-military capacity is the only alternative to ground war genocide.

IT WILL TAKE a special display of nerve in the President to order his aerial bulldozers to make an industrial desert of North Vietnam. This is true because the Air Power argument goes to the delivery of an ultimatum on the port of Haiphong. Ships of all flags would be given two weeks to clear out and stay out. The obvious risk is that the Kremlin won't stand still for an ultimatum—and that the next phase could be "the main event," alias World War III. The President may be called upon to face down another Missile Crisis. He will need the nation's backing as it was given to his predecessor in 1962.

HAIPHONG IS a mandatory target if we are going to make a major substitution of machines for men in Vietnam. White House sources say the President has already exhausted 80 per cent of the targets proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. With MIG bases, steel plants, cement plants and power plants all added to the permissible list since April, only those target-types remain which could force a showdown of Sino-Russian intervention, and they are chiefly the harbors and railroad lines. The hazards are great, and so is the need for facing up to them.

GRIMMEST OF ALL options—still unacceptable in Washington — is the use of "mass destruction" weapons, not just nuclear warheads but chemical and bacterial persuaders. World opinion counts most heavily against this ultimate escalation.

The foregoing describes the predicament of the Tall Tactician. If he raises the ground war commitment to 750,000 men, he must spend more casualties to speed up the clock. If he sets out to raze North Vietnam's war-making capacity, he must include Haiphong harbor and all that floats there. If he seriously thinks about the unthinkable, he makes mass-destruction weapons a way of international warfare.

LYNDON JOHNSON'S options are not as many as they used to be, and the shortening list is something the country needs to hear about. The test in fortitude is ours as well as his.

Conservatives On The Move

WASHINGTON—It is the kind of coincidence that the Johnson administration will interpret as meaning solid backing for the escalation of the war in Vietnam. The President's standing in the Gallup poll has gone up following the air attacks on Hanoi and Haiphong while a leading Senate dove is threatened with political annihilation.

HARDENING conservatism, fostered by an "education campaign" of the John Birch Society, has encouraged the extreme right in Idaho to believe they can knock out Sen. Frank Church with a recall election. In normally Republican Idaho, Church is the first Democrat ever to be elected to a second Senate term.

He has been a consistent critic of the enlarging war, although his criticism has been less sharp in recent months than that of some of his fellow Democratic doves. For the right wing determined to purge the senator shades of difference are unimportant. Sample recall petitions now being printed up charge:

"SEN. CHURCH has consistently opposed military measures which would help win the war in Vietnam and save the lives of hundreds of Americans dying in Vietnam each week the war continues."

The record shows that the senator from Idaho has voted for every military appropriation bill providing funds for the war. A second count leveled at Church in the petition is that "at a time when Americans are being killed in Vietnam by Russian bullets fired from Russian guns" he supported the consular treaty with the Soviet Union "thereby giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

UP FOR RE-ELECTION to a third term next year, if Church must defend himself in a recall contest he will be under a double handicap. The concentration of right-wing money and propaganda in Idaho with a population of less than 700,000 foreshadows the goal for 1968. Liberal and moderate senators and representatives in the less populous states will be targets rated most open to attack, with resources poured in from the centers of wealth and power.

UNDER IDAHO'S constitution 10 per cent of those voting in the election for governor last year can demand a recall. Forces behind the campaign believe they will have little difficulty in getting 10 per cent of the 252,591 voters to sign recall petitions. This will require Idaho's Secretary of State to call an election in which the sole question will be the recall of the senator. If recall should carry, he would face a contest prior to his campaign for re-election in 1968.

ON THE OTHER side encouraging the doves is the amazing response that Sen. George McGovern (D., S.D.) has had from his forthright speech two weeks ago calling the Vietnam war a disaster. A careful tabulation of 600 telegrams and 5,000 letters shows well over 90 per cent favoring his call for a halt in the bombing, confining military action to holding operations and negotiating directly with the Viet Cong.

Some of the writers said that while they did not agree with his position on Vietnam they admired him for standing up to "that man in the White House." South Dakota, with a population also about 700,000, is another of the states on which the right wing means to concentrate with large infusions of money and talent from the outside.

SENATORS WHO rose on the floor to support McGovern, among them Robert F. Kennedy of New York, also report a favorable response. An analysis of the returns from McGovern's bold speech encourages the minority critical of escalation to believe there is far more support than the polls show for independence and for outspoken criticism.

Church Of God Marks Founding

Special services at the Galveston Street Church of God on Sunday — Pentecost — will commemorate the founding of the oldest pentecostal group in the nation.

The church here will have the Rev. Bob Rose, Weatherford, state Sunday school and youth director for the Church of God, as speaker for both the 11 a.m. and the 6:30 p.m. worship services, said the Rev. Bob Bohannon, pastor.

This marks the 51st anniversary of the organization of the first pentecostal group in a crude meeting house about two miles from the Tennessee-North Carolina border in 1886. The congregation has been active here since about 1936, having started in a location in the eastern part of town. From this, they acquired property on Galveston Street but now have a block of land at State and Ridgeway as a future church home site.

Organization of the Church of God grew out of the disillusionment of a small group with spiritual indifference within their church. After two years of prayer, they met to organize themselves into a body that adhered to the apostolic doctrines and practices; they committed themselves to deeper consecra-

Pastor Works In Unusual Ministry

By BUD SPRUNGER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Rev. Don Stuart never preaches a sermon. He does not even have a church building. He starts work at 10 p.m. and finishes at 6 a.m., and he likes it that way.

His ministry, sponsored by the San Francisco Council of Churches, is to the night people — the strippers, hustlers, bartenders, dope addicts, alcoholics, musicians, homosexuals and the sleepless aged.

"I never felt more productive in my life," says the Rev. Mr. Stuart, who, at 43, is unassuming, slender, inquisitive, talkative and assured.

"Basically I'm a pastor now — I'm on a one-to-one relationship with those in trouble. And most folks I meet are willing to accept my advice. I'm kind of a last resort."

When the council, made up of the city's main Protestant faiths, decided to start a ministry to the night people, the Rev. Mr. Stuart was pastor of the United Church of Christ at Lincoln, Neb. Before that he had been pastor in Nickerson, Kan.

How could a married man from small towns handle a night ministry in a tough seacoast city, the council asked when his name was proposed.

He was raised in Chicago, which answered one question. And he believes that a man who quits work at 6 a.m. and goes home to a wifeless house would soon be as "nutty as those he wants to help." That took care of the other.

Most of the time, the Rev. Mr. Stuart patrols the Tenderloin, a rough part of San Francisco, north of Market Street and west of Powell Street's cable cars. It's an area seldom seen by tourists.

Home's Founder Picked As 'Mother Of Year'

FORT WORTH — A mother of 10,000 children has been named recipient of the Texas Baptist Mother of the Year award.

Mrs. Lena Holston Pope, 85, founder of the Lena Pope Home in Fort Worth 37 years ago, will be recognized in her church Sunday.

This year's honoree has had three children of her own; but through the years has gained the honorary title of "mom" to more than 10,000 others. She says she has tried to give each child two things — "love and a feeling of security."

She readily points to scores of portraits in her modest Fort Worth residence at 2205 Harrison Ave. and refers to her children by name. Among them is the photograph of a young aviator, the only one of 268 military personnel from the home to lose his life during the second world war.

She paused for a moment to tell briefly of a teenage girl who became embittered and despondent upon discovering she was an illegitimate child. Mrs. Pope vividly recalled that after a ride together and several hours of sincere reasoning, the girl was made to understand that "there is no such thing as an illegitimate child."

Mrs. Pope is still an active member of Broadway Baptist Church where her pastor, the Rev. J. P. Allen, describes her work as "solid." She taught a 200 member women's class for 16 years, many of whom helped to found the home in 1930. She teaches a special class for young women at night. She also is active in many community affairs.

The home itself was started when Mrs. Pope and her husband, Ewell Hicks Pope, who died in 1962, lost their seven-year-old son, Conrad, in 1914. Just before he died of diphtheria, he told his mother of dreaming of a mansion. The Popes have two other children, W. H. Pope, Weatherford, and Mrs. Charles Archibald, Fort Worth.

Of more than 10,000 children reared in the Lena Pope Home, "none has ever gone to prison,

Says Many No Longer Pray

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A refugee child, placed in an American foster home, had her first experience with prayer. As the story goes, she described the family devotions as "talking to someone who isn't there."

"Obviously, it seemed to her a strange procedure, and even among the religiously versed, there have been recurring questions about the ways and workings of prayer.

"Teach us to pray," the apostles asked Jesus in the beginnings of Christianity.

And believers ever since have approached the discipline of personal prayer variously — in confidence or uncertainty, in regularity or hardly at all, as an intimate compass to life, or a mere external formality.

Nowadays "prayer for many is like a foreign land," says Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Presbyterian theologian.

"When we go there, we go as tourists. Like most tourists, we feel uncomfortable and out of place."

Catholic philosopher Michael N. Novak, writing in the weekly, Commonweal, says it is astonishing "how many Christians no longer pray," as if God no longer was available in private devotions.

Novak says that one of the troubles is that many Christians "have scarcely progressed beyond the habits of childhood" in regard to prayer.

Presbyterian Synod Meets In Dallas

More than 600 ministers and laymen from 425 churches in Texas and New Mexico are expected to be on hand for the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Texas meeting starting Tuesday in Dallas.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here for the past 21 years, will preside as moderator. R. W. Jablonowski, pastor of St. Stephen Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth, is expected to succeed him.

Among the items on the synod agenda are those dealing with the church and government welfare programs, power and the church, and the Christian wedding. There also will be proposals dealing with realigning of presbyteries (regional divisions) and plans for small Presbyterian churches to join with other small churches for worship without their members being lost to the denomination.

A $125 million Stewardship of Estates campaign will be launched and the control of the Mo-Ranch Assembly, near Kerrville, also will be considered by the Presbyterians, Westminster church in Dallas is the host.

Gideons Set Rally Here

The executive committee of the Gideon International camp here has firm plans for an area rally to be held the weekend of May 20-21. Details were ironed out at the meeting Tuesday.

Approximately 75-80 Gideons and auxiliary members will be in attendance during the rally here.

On Sunday (May 21) members of the Gideons will speak in 36 churches in this area, telling these congregations of the work of the association as well as some of the results which have come out of a ministry of distributing Bibles and of Christian witness.

Gideon's International is an organization of Christian laymen and has 22,000 members in more than 79 countries around the world. One of its chief activities is placing the Holy Bible in such public institutions as hotels, hospitals, motels, etc., and to make them available to military men and students.

Author Defends 'Woolf' Film

There are major lessons for church people in the controversial motion picture "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" says a theologian-author.

"Sensitive viewers will discover a surprising number of prophetically relevant themes," Dr. Clifford W. Edwards states in a recent issue of "Together."

He finds its portrayal of a violent drunken orgy with its use of blasphemous and obscene language brings out "redeeming insights for modern man."

Dr. Edwards finds that "Virginia Woolf" shows how "insecure man seeks to bolster his courage by singing of his self-made salvation while constructing a straw-house pitifully vulnerable to the lurking wolf of destruction."

And where is the wolf? "Within man himself, within human relationships," says Dr. Edwards, chairman of the department of philosophy and religion at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia.

He also is the author of "Christian Being and Doing" and is editor of "The Wesleyan Quarterly Review."

Acknowledging this motion picture's "honesty," Dr. Edwards recommends that it be judged on the basis of its "artistic integrity" as a whole rather than concentrating only on shocking words and actions.

Countering those who are appalled by the picture's ugliness and language, he asks:

"In a nation plagued with soaring divorce, illegitimacy, and crime rates, dare we deny the presence among us of the viciousness and degradation of language and act portrayed in the Albee film?"

Yet, Dr. Edwards finds that

ONE MUST SHOW SPIRIT OF CHRIST IN OBEYING GOD

When Peter and John were freed by the Sanhedrin with an injunction "not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus," they immediately returned to their preaching with more fervor than ever.

They were arrested and brought back before the council, and the scriptural account of this is the basis of Sunday's uniform lesson from Acts 5:27-39. Reminded of the injunction, Peter gave his classic reply: "We ought to obey God rather than men." This is true today, but in this course one must always show the spirit of Christ lest he bring shame and reproach to His name.

Peter also noted that as a witness he could not keep quiet, then revealed another compelling reason, namely that "so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him."

The fact that the Holy Spirit lives within contemporaries, as well as within Peter, should impel the Christian to witness with the same fidelity and vigor. Moreover, it is assurance that while the individual witnesses, the Holy Spirit is carrying on a companion witness to the object of the message. Were this not so, evangelistic preaching and personal witnessing would be ineffective.

Peter's accusers were stirred almost to violent reaction, even to the point of taking "counsel to slay them." This is reminiscent of those who "took counsel" to slay Christ. At this point, the advice of wise Gamaliel prevailed. In substance he said that if this were a false, man-made religion, it would collapse; if it were of God, then it would be a mistake to fight it. The record of Christianity in the intervening 20 centuries ought to speak convincingly to that point.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Customs may differ among the races and may change with the times, but certain institutions in human life have remained constant through the centuries. One of these is Motherhood.

Progress has given Mother new methods and new equipment for her age-old responsibilities. But the love and understanding which are the heart of Motherhood have never depended on science for their expression.

One unchanging sphere of material responsibility has been the religious development of children. From primitive tribal religions up to Christianity, mothers have guided and encouraged the growth of each successive generation in spiritual faith.

The Christian Church salutes all faithful mothers. They have led their families to an ever deepening realization of the sacred bond which unites the Church and the Home in a common devotion to Jesus Christ.

Duchess Okays Queen's Offer

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II has ended a 31-year boycott of the Duchess of Windsor by asking her and the Duke to join Britain's royal family in a public ceremony in London June 7.

A palace spokesman said the 69-year-old Duchess, now in New York with the Duke, accepted the invitation to attend the unveiling of a memorial plaque to Windsor's mother, Queen Mary, who died in 1952.

A spokesman for the Windsors in New York said there would be no comment from them until later.

FIRST INVITE

Queen Elizabeth's invitation is the royal family's first official recognition of the American-born Duchess since Edward VIII abdicated in 1936 to marry the two-time divorcee.

The abdication was particularly anguishing to Queen Mary, who pleaded with her son not to give up the throne for Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Ever since the abdication, the Duchess has been ignored officially by Buckingham Palace. The Duke, now 72, has taken part in a number of state functions and has met with his relatives during visits to Britain. But his wife has never before been asked to join the royal family on a public occasion.

In 1965 Queen Elizabeth met the Duchess for the first time since the abdication. They talked privately together for 25 minutes at a London clinic where the Duke was recovering from eye surgery.

Asked by a reporter whether the invitation indicated a healing of the rift, a royal spokesman replied: "People can read what they like into it."

UNLIKELY

Asked where the Duchess would stand in the receiving line at the ceremony, one authority on court procedure said: "It is highly unlikely that the Duke will be treated in one fashion and the Duchess in another. But I do not think any change will be made in the form of addressing the Duchess."

This apparently meant that the Duchess would not be addressed as "your royal highness." At present, the court informant said, she is entitled only to be addressed as "Duchess."

The ceremony will take place at the Malborough House, Queen Mary's London residence after the death of George V in 1936.

The plaque marks the centenary of her birth.

Tot Kidnaping Charge Filed

TORONTO (AP) — James McLaughlin, 23, Toronto, was charged Thursday night with kidnaping a 6-year-old girl who was rescued unharmed within three hours as she walked on a downtown street with McLaughlin, police said.

Police said blonde, blue-eyed Mary Farncomb told them a man met her as she walked to school and said he would give her something nice if she went with him. She said the man had not harmed or threatened her.

The child's mother, Mrs. Donald C. Farncomb, wife of the president of a Toronto women's sportswear firm, said she received a telephone call demanding $10,000 ransom for Mary, one of the four Farncomb children.

Stock Mart List Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market gainers held a three to two margin over losers in active trading early this afternoon.

Trading opened at a swift pace and the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape trailed by a minute in reporting floor transactions in the first half hour.

Gains of key issues ranged from fractions to a point or so with a few stocks making wider moves.

Some early advances were pared around midday. Some brokers expressed the opinion that the line of least resistance in stock price trends may be upward again.

Losses of about a point by Du Pont and Eastman Kodak held the averages back. The Associated Press 30-stock average at noon had edged up .2, rails up .7 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up .08 at 896.49.

Montgomery Ward, which Thursday reported a 66 per cent decline in first quarter earnings from a year earlier, fell more than a point.

The aircrafts were strong with Boeing gaining three points, United Aircraft up more than two and General Dynamics up more than one.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Royal Boycott Ends

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are shown as they arrive at the Waldorf Towers in New York last night. Queen Elizabeth II has ended a 31-year boycott of the Duchess by asking her and the Duke to join Britain's royal family in a public ceremony in London June 7.

Buckingham Palace made the announcement in London last night. The Windsors accepted the invitation. The Duke has undergone eye surgery in recent years. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Four Airlines Seek Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four airlines filed new applications with the Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday seeking routes involving populous Texas areas.

The proposed routes: Eastern Air Lines—Between New Orleans, Houston and San Antonio, as coterminals, and the coterminals of Denver and Salt Lake City, by way of Dallas, Amarillo, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Wichita and Colorado Springs.

Trans-Texas Airways — Three routes between New Orleans and Salt Lake City, by way of Houston, San Antonio, Midland-Odessa, El Paso, Albuquerque and Denver; one by way of Dallas - Fort Worth, Lubbock, Amarillo and Denver; and one by way of Shreveport, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Wichita and Denver. Also a route between San Antonio, Houston and Salt Lake City, and one between Dallas - Fort Worth and Salt Lake City, both by way of Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Wichita and Denver.

Trans-Texas also asked for authority to operate nonstop between New Orleans and Shreveport, New Orleans and Houston, Houston and El Paso, Houston and Albuquerque, and Dallas and Lubbock, and for the right to provide direct service, without change of planes, between Dallas and Amarillo.

Frontier Airlines—Two routes between Seattle - Tacoma and New Orleans by way of Portland, Spokane, Boise and Salt Lake City—one by way of Albuquerque, El Paso, Dallas - Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston.

Mayor Proclaims Shrine Hospital Day Here Sunday

Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed Sunday as National Shrine Hospital Day, joining in a proclamation issued by Orville F. Rush, imperial potentate, and Harold Lloyd, chairman of the national board.

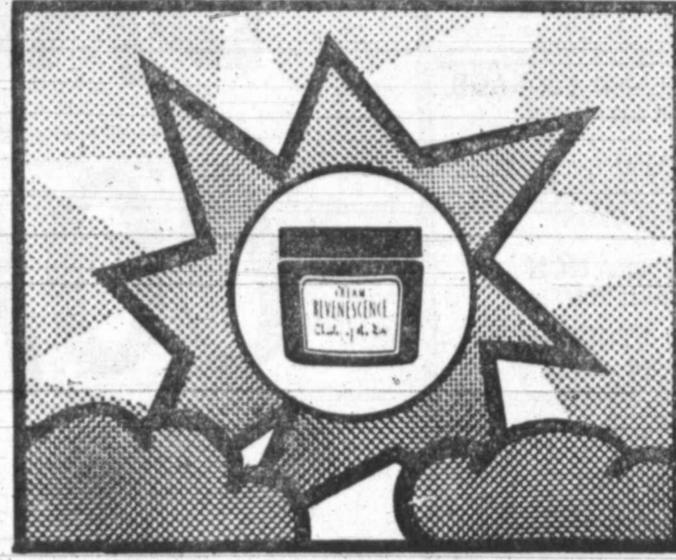

There are two new Shrine hospitals in Texas, one for crippled children at Houston and a burns institute at Galveston.

Indicative of the work being done in these institutions, Mayor Marshall called attention to the record of four youngsters sent from here to the burn center during their first year of operation. They are Donna Kenner, Sand Springs; Tommy Dwayne Sullivan, Big Spring; Marie De La Cruz, Coahoma; and Steven Paul Sanders, Big Spring.

Last month Scotty Ray McNew, less than two months old, was sent to the children's hospital in Houston, and Pamela Jo Strong, Midland, was also sent there.

SUEZ TEMPLE HAS SCHEDULED GALA OCCASION

Shriners Stage Colorful Ceremonial

For the first time in five years, the colorful spring ceremonial of the Suez Shrine Temple comes to Big Spring Friday and Saturday.

Added significance is given to the gala occasion, for it will be dedicated to National Shrine Hospital Day and the two new hospitals in Texas — the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Houston and the Shriners Burn Institute at Galveston.

BIG PARTY

On tap are a big Western party, the traditional, big parade, the initiation of the novices, a Western dance and the traditional ceremonial dance, as well as special entertainment for the ladies.

Besides all the elements from Shrine Clubs within the Suez Temple, the parade will include four uniformed units from Khiva Temple of Amarillo.

Little time will be lost in getting things under way, for the prizes to the first 75 nobles and novices and ladies to register will stimulate early registration in the Settles Hotel lobby, starting at 10 a.m. Friday. Registrants will get free barbecue tickets, and can pick up their breakfast and banquet tickets while registering. All novices will receive free gifts.

WESTERN COSTUMES

While Shriners are getting together, the ladies will have a hospitality affair of their own from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. From 8 p.m. to 12 midnight the big costume Western dance and spectacular floorshow will be unreeled in the Cosden County Club ballroom. Jim King and his Cosden Cowboys will furnish music. Breakfast with all the trimmings is slated for 12:30 a.m. at the club.

Saturday is jam-packed with activities. Registration continues at 8 a.m. and an hour later the examination of novices will begin on the Settles mezzanine. The initiation for the Camel

Herders, a fun group within the fun group of the Shrine, will begin at 9 a.m., as will a hospitality hour for the ladies.

TRADITIONAL PARADE

There will be an exhibition of Suez and uniformed units at 9:30 a.m., followed an hour later by the forming of the colorful parade on First Street. The ceremonial parade kicks off through the downtown district at 11 a.m.

At 12 noon the free barbecue

(to those who have picked up their tickets) will be held at the Howard County Junior College gymnasium. There will be a ladies luncheon and entertainment at the Big Spring Country Club at 12:30 p.m.

Shriners get down to serious business at 2 p.m. with the ritualistic first section in the college auditorium. There will be a break at 3 p.m. for the class picture, and then the celebrated second ("Hot Sands") section of the initiation follows at the college gymnasium.

CLIMAX

Then the ceremonial climaxes with an exciting evening at Cosden County Club which begins with a hospitality hour at 7 p.m. for all Shriners and ladies. The ceremonial banquet, with surprise entertainment, will be at 8 p.m. and the finale will be the ceremonial dance with Jack Free and his orchestra furnishing the music.

NEW OFFICERS ON THE DIVAN

Retired Colonel Is Potentate

Illustrious Potentate of the Suez Shrine Temple, which serves a large area of West Texas, is Robert H. Augustinus, a retired Air Force colonel and former base commander at Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo. He was elevated to the top office at the annual meeting of the Temple in January, succeeding Gordon Griffin Jr., Brownwood.

Augustinus was born in Massachusetts and is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire. He also did graduate work at Yale University.

The potentate's background includes work as an officer in the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933; state administrator in New Hampshire for the National Youth Administration; a service career that began in 1941. Col. Augustinus came to San Angelo in 1958 to work out details for the Air Force Security Service and to take over Goodfellow Field from the Air Training Command. When he retired from the Air Force in 1961, he continued to make his home in San Angelo.

Active in numerous civic affairs, he also has dealt in real estate development, building a large apartment center. He also operates Robert's Metalcraft, a firm which fabricates such items as corrals, panels and gates for farms and ranches. Recently he was named executive director for Rio Concho Manor, a 10-story apartment building for retired people.

In 1939 he became a Master Mason in Lewy's Lodge No. 138 at Princeton, Maine. He also is a member of Dallas Scottish Rite and affiliated with Suez Temple in 1959 from Anan Temple.

Others on the divan taking office with him in January are Edgar E. Watts, Midland, Chief Rabban; Robert Z. Landrum, Abilene, assistant Rabban; Thomas C. Yantis, Brownwood, High Priest and Prophet; Joseph W. Burrell, Midland, Oriental Guide, Otis C. Grisham, San Angelo, is treasurer, and Ben E. Godfrey, San Angelo, is serving his 17th consecutive term as recorder. Augustinus, Watts, Landrum and Martin G. Browne are representatives to the Imperial Council.

OTIS C. GRISHAM Treasurer

BEN E. GODFREY Recorder

Parade Set For Saturday

Everyone loves a parade — especially a Shrine parade.

Ever since the first one was held here half a century ago, these have drawn large crowds to see the colorful units with their specialties and hi-jinks.

The ceremonial parade set for 11 a.m. Saturday will form on First and Goliad Streets starting half an hour earlier. The route takes it up First Street to Main, south on Main to Fourth, east to Main, north on Main to Third, east on Third to Runnels, then north to First for disbanding.

George Bair, ceremonial master, estimates that the parade will stretch five to six blocks in length. It will include uniform units from other areas as well as antique cars, fire trucks, calliope, oriental bands, marching units, and Suez Motor Patrol, which is manned by the Big Spring Shrine Club.

This is the way the parade will line up:

Police escort; Webb AFB color guard; Suez parade marshal; Big Spring band; Suez potentate, Suez Rabban and assistant rabban; Suez high priest and prophet, Suez oriental guide, Suez treasurer; Suez recorder; Suez motor patrol; past potentates; Suez foot patrol; Khiva potentate, divan, the Khiva motor patrol, karts, klowns; Suez oriental band; ritualistic divan float; crippled children's float; Camel Herders; fire truck and novices; Big Spring band; Suez kloun; calliope; Howard County Youth Horsemen; lame duck novices; and "Tale is Told."

Ring Candidates Provide Fun

Fun for the spring ceremonial of the Suez Shrine Temple here Friday and Saturday will be heightened by ring candidates from among the novices.

Most Shrine clubs in the temple area will have candidates for a ring, given to the outstanding novice, and some additional candidates are expected from the smaller communities.

Usually the novice adopts some character or theme and is appropriately costumed for same while going through all sorts of antics to liven the various gatherings. A diamond studded Shriner's ring goes to the winner.

Motor Patrol Is Pride Of Shriners Here

The pride of the Big Spring Shrine Club is the Suez Motor Patrol which is headquartered here and which will be one of the lively units in the Shrine parade Saturday.

The patrol has 22 members who ride bright red motorcycles through intricate maneuvers within the line of march. The machines and operating expenses are born by patrol members and by other Shriners here.

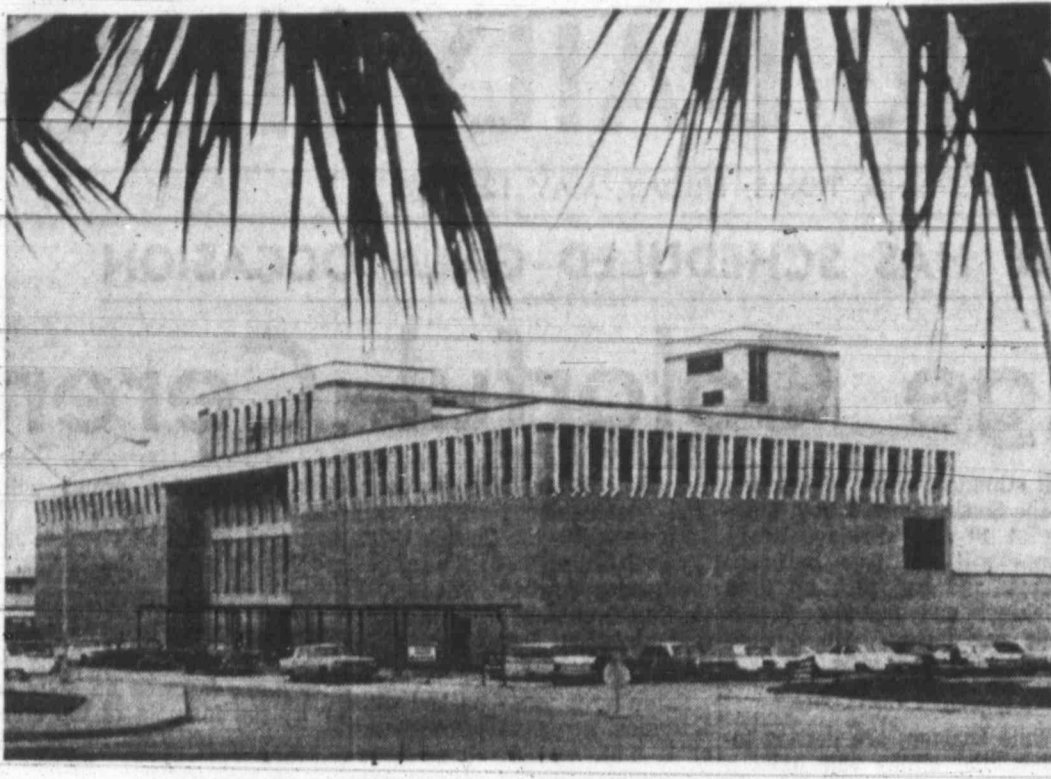

The organizational set-up is unique — it has two branches. For the operation of the patrol, Wayne Tollett is the colonel, assisted by Grober Wayland, Henry Bouchard, captain; Neil Howard, first lieutenant. Those who carry the title of "general" because they are charter members are Jim Owens, G. R. McClenny, Albert Smith, George Glenn and Roy Lee.

Heading the supporting group for finances and other details are Roxie Dobbins, president; J. O. Whitefield, vice president; Billy Jack Johnston, second vice president; Roy Lee, secretary.

The patrol members practice diligently every Wednesday evening and Sunday afternoon, polishing maneuvers and getting timing down to a split second.

They participate in a number of Shrine events, including other temple ceremonials. For instance, the patrol will go to Lubbock-May 6 to repay a visit by the Khiva Temple here. Later, the patrol will go to El Paso to compete against 12 others in the state with five separate judges checking closely for everything from riding skill, maneuvers, to care of the cycles, uniforms, discipline, etc.

The club here has placed at the top of its class in state competition. In addition to Shrine activities, the patrol has made itself available for community functions, including participation in parades. The patrol also is available to the Chamber of Commerce for escorting visiting dignitaries.

Home Of Shriners Burns Institute

This center, opened in March, 1966, was constructed at a cost of $2.5 million by Shriners as a center for treating burns in children. It contains 70,500 square feet, accommodates 30 young patients, has space for research and teaching. The first floor is given over to research in cell biology, cell chemistry, biochemistry, physiology, microbiology, hematology, etc. The second floor contains office, out-patient clinic, classrooms for children who must miss school, face, masks, etc. The third floor, almost completely isolated, is given over exclusively to treatment and reconstructive care.

Hazard To Children Fought By Shriners

Shriners have moved into a void to combat what many medical authorities classify as the greatest single hazard of childhood—burns.

Three Shriners Burns Institutes have been authorized — two put into full time operation and the third to follow this year. The first was opened in Galveston, and already numbers of children from this area — several from Big Spring — have been flown there and successfully treated.

The National Fire Prevention Association reports that last year fires took the lives of 11,900 people in the United States. And this figure represents an increase of over 100 deaths from burns over the previous year. Nearly a third—3,500—of these victims were children. Medical men estimate that each year 12,000 children are hospitalized because of burns. The American Medical Association estimates that some 5,000 beds are occupied daily by children with third degree burns. This is a 33 per cent increase over 1954.

HEAVY LOSS
Yet despite this continuing and mounting loss, burns therapy has remained, until only recently, a relatively unexplored medical area. A child with half of his body burned stood only a 50-50 chance of surviving.

Figures like these led medical authorities to classify burns as the greatest single hazard of childhood. Yet 80 per cent of all burns result from preventable accidents. And more important, medical men rate children's burns as one of the most poorly treated conditions in medicine.

Often, inadequate treatment is due to the enormous expense associated with complicated burn care. Where 40 per cent of the body surface is burned, treatment usually costs between $10,000 and $15,000 per patient. The prolonged and intensive treatment required in severe burns cases, and the lengthy convalescence period requiring extensive physical therapy, make it difficult to treat a severely burned patient in a general hospital without special facilities. Adult victims frequently receive better care than children because the adult injuries usually occur in lines of work where funds are available through workers' compensation.

ADVANCED BIG SUM
To help solve this complex problem, the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine allocated $10 million in 1962 to build three Shriners Burns Institutes. These burns institutes are an extension of the organization's philanthropic work in the field of orthopedics, where it already operates 17 hospitals throughout North America.

The three Shriners Burns Institutes are located in Galveston, Tex.; Cincinnati, Ohio; and Boston, Mass.

These Shriners Burns Institutes are designed to: 1) Save the lives of severely burned children and restore their bodies through extensive care; 2) Undertake research to advance medicine's ability to care for and treat children who have been burned; 3) Instruct medical personnel in the care and treatment of burned children.

ENTIRELY CHARITABLE
Each Shriners Burns Institute is run entirely on a charitable basis, contains 30 beds, and has an annual operating budget of $1.25 million.

Interim Units of the Shriners Burns Institutes were put into operation so that the Shrine program could begin immediately without waiting several years for the construction of hospitals. Galveston began interim operation in November of 1963, Cincinnati commenced in February of 1964, and Boston on the first of May, 1964.

The Galveston unit opened officially on March 20, 1966. The Cincinnati unit opened this year in February of 1967, and Boston is due to open in October of 1967.

All of this began when the Shrine decided to explore the possibility of building institutes for children with disaster burns that could cause orthopedic problems. The fraternity hoped to be as successful in helping burned children as it had been with crippled children.

"WE CAN SAVE LIVES"
At the 88th annual Imperial Council Session in Toronto in 1962, the Burns Institutes Committee reported: "We have a rare opportunity to establish burn centers where children of every race and religion may be saved from the awful torment and scars of burns. We have been saving limbs — we can now save lives."

After the full committee report, the funds to build and operate the Shriners Burns Institutes for Crippled Children were unanimously approved by the membership.

A committee of Shriners, aided by the Surgical Advisory Board of the Shrine, was appointed to choose the sites for these institutes. The sites were chosen so that the Shrine could coordinate with the medical staffs of large universities to further their threefold goal of treatment, research, and education. Shrine professorships of Surgery were created giving the universities additional teaching personnel. The Shriners, in return, will receive permanent supervision of the technical aspects and provision of the appropriate scientists to achieve the Institutes' objectives.

Facts On Institute

Here are answers to some questions about the Shriners Institute in Galveston:

Who is eligible for treatment? Any child under 15 years of age — regardless of race or religion, whose parents are unable to pay for needed treatment.

Why just for children? Burns treatment is costly — $10,000 to $15,000 — and children are least likely to have hospitalization. Cost of operating the burns center is nearly three times a regular hospital.

Who pays for this? The members of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. (They also contribute blood, too, because some burn cases may require as many as 20 pints of blood.)

What is its capacity? Only 30 beds, but because of highly specialized treatment, children are frequently brought out of danger and put on the road to recovery in much less time than usual.

Does this take the place of the children's hospitals? No indeed. Shriners operate 17 hospitals throughout North America, specializing in orthopedic care for crippled children. All this work is purely charitable, too, and open to all children who need it.

HAROLD LLOYD

Lloyd Was Potentate

Harold Clayton Lloyd, first in his glamorous profession to attain the highest honor in Shrinehood — Imperial Potentate — comes from the heart of North America. Born in Burehard, Neb., of English, Scotch and Welsh extraction. Millions of words have been written about the career of Harold Lloyd, the actor, but his success can be succinctly attributed to his native ability as a on and off the screen and his desire not only to seek advice and criticism, but to accept and weigh them for all they are worth.

Lloyd's Masonic career is virtually contemporary with his successful motion picture record. A Master Mason in 1925 (his dad at his side, took every degree in Masonry with him); member of Scottish and York Rites; potentate of Al Malaikah in 1939; elected into the Imperial Divan in Memphis, 1940; served as Imperial Potentate from July 19, 1949, to June 21, 1950; chairman of the board of trustees, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

He also is the past president of the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce; director of the Hollywood Museum; former president of Hollywood Bowl Association; president of the Harold Lloyd Corporation since its foundation in 1923; former member of the educational committee of the National Chamber of Commerce; well known in sport circles.

Leader Of CORE Wins Fellowship

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Innis, outspoken leader of the Harlem chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, has been awarded a research fellowship to study city problems.

He will become a fellow-in-residence of the Metropolitan Applied Research Center — an organization that analyzes urban and civil rights problems.

Ambassador Asks To Resign Post

ROME (AP) — Sergio Fenoaltea asked to resign as Italian ambassador to the United States after Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani called for suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, the Foreign Ministry said Thursday.

Until resumption of U.S. bombings after a temporary truce in February, Italy's center-left government confined its official position on Vietnam to an expression that it understood the American position.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman indicated the Cabinet had not yet acted on Fenoaltea's April 29 letter offering his resignation after five years in Washington. Informants said Fanfani had tried to convince the ambassador to remain.

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — James Marshall, 17, of Killeen was killed Thursday in a car which hit a truck on a rural road four miles west of here. Manuel Villan, also 17, was injured.

Two To Receive Sul Ross Degrees

ALPINE—A total of 156 persons are candidates for degrees from Sul Ross State College during the spring commencement exercise, which is scheduled at 7 p.m. Sunday in the new Health-Physical Education building.

The list includes 144 bachelor degree candidates, and 12 who are candidates for master of arts and master of education degrees.

F. Norman Woodruff, El Paso, manager of gas prorations operations for the El Paso Natural Gas Company, will be commencement speaker. Woodruff was "Engineer of the Year" in El Paso for 1967.

Among the candidates for a master of education degree is Robert W. Ethridge, Coahoma, who took his BBA from SMU in 1956; and among candidates for degree candidates, and 12 who are candidates for master of man, Ackerly.

Eastern flavor is imparted to the doings of the Suez Temple by its Oriental Band, which is made up of members in the Brownwood Shrine Club. This group of musicians will be highlighted in the colorful Shrine parade downtown at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Local Club Plays Host

Hosts for the Suez Temple's spring ceremonial of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will be the Big Spring Shrine Club. These men, headed by James S. Owens, president, are leaving no stone unturned to make this a memorable and hospitable weekend for the hundreds of visitors. Membership here approximates 175, including a few from Coahoma and Stanton.

Over 840,000 Nobles In Order Of Shrine

Here are some facts about the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine for North America: There are over 843,000 nobles in the organization, served through 169 temples, of which 159 are in the United States, nine in Canada and one in Mexico. The Shrine, organized in 1870, has appealed to many because of its colorful costumes, ceremonies and pageantry, all with an Arabic or Near East flavor. The glamor of the organization has been heightened by the history and origin of the Shrine rituals. Walter Fleming and William J. Florence originated the idea for establishment of the order. The Imperial Grand Council for North America was formed in 1876 with headquarters in New York City. At that time, the requisite for membership in Europe, Asia, Africa and America was established as a 32nd-degree Scottish Rite Mason or Knights Templar in good standing. PURPOSES The organization's purpose was to build the Order of Nobles into an organization for the exercise of charity, improvement of the mind, and an ally to the fraternity of Free Masonry in the United States. The crescent is the official insignia of the order. In the center is the head of a Sphinx, on the back of which is the Pyramid and Star. The Latin motto, "Robur et furor," signifies strength and fury. Since 1888 during the yellow fever epidemic in Jacksonville, Fla., the shrine has been active in charity. Officers and members of the Morocco Temple, assisted by associate Knights Templar, organized themselves into a relief corps to aid victims. FAMOUS NOBLES The Shrine has three rooms in the George Washington Masonic National Memorial outside Washington, D.C. — a shrine room, hospital room and imperial room. There are oil paintings of such distinguished Nobles as Warren G. Harding, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, and John Diefenbaker, former prime minister of Canada. Fun loving Shriners have taken pride in their parades. The first was held in Baltimore in 1884, and the first national parade was held in Omaha in 1892. One of the principles of Shrinism is fun. The Shriners are men who enjoy life, but they use their fun to support the Shrine's humanitarian efforts. From the latter have come 17 hospitals for crippled children (often called "The World's Greatest Philanthropy"), and now three Shriners Burn Institutes for Children. New York City has the oldest Temple (chartered in 1872) and Tucson, Ariz., has the newest (Sabbar, chartered in 1966). There are more than a dozen temples with memberships of more than 10,000.

City Has Had Two Potentates

Big Spring has furnished two of the illustrious Potentates of the Suez Shrine Temple since it was founded 17 years ago. The first was Cecil D. McDonald in 1956 and the second was Ted O. Groebl in 1962. McDonald was a member of the divan when the Temple was organized in 1951 and chartered in 1952.

First Wheat Load

MEGARGEL (AP) — The season's first load of wheat in this North Central Texas area was brought to a Kimbill Milling Co. elevator at this Archer County town Thursday. It had a 12.5 per cent moisture content, lower than normal because of winter drought.

Silent Screen 'Sheba' To Wed

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Betty Blythe, onetime "Sheba" of the silent screen, has announced June marriage plans. Miss Blythe, 74, said Thursday she will marry Manuel de Encio, also 74, who formerly headed the translation department of Warner Bros. motion picture studio. She created a considerable stir — and launched herself to stardom — when in her 1921 title role performance as "Queen of Sheba" she wore nothing but beads above the waist. Her first husband, director Paul Scardon, died 13 years ago.

Order Challenged To Help Children

Helping children in need has been a challenge to the Shrine since the famed "Portland Resolution" at the 46th Imperial Council Session. The resolution, presented by W. Freeland Kendrick, former mayor of Philadelphia and Imperial Potentate of the Shrine, authorized establishment of a hospital for crippled children. The resolution was approved, and Kendrick came to be known as "father" of the Shrine's great philanthropy. The first of the 17 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children devoted to orthopedics was opened on Sept. 16, 1922, in Shreveport, La. Today there are 17 Shrine orthopedic hospitals—13 in the continental United States, two in Canada, one in Hawaii, and one in Mexico. They represent a construction investment of some $40 million and are operated on an annual budget of over $10 million. The hospitals are open to all children under 15 years of age, regardless of race or religion, whose parents are unable to pay for the needed surgical, medical and hospital facilities. Any Shriner can recommend a child by securing an application from his Temple or a Shriners Hospital. Since the establishment of that first hospital, more than $113 million has been spent for operating expenses alone. The money for them comes from wills, bequests, and gifts from Shriners and non-Shriners, an annual assessment of $5 from each Shriner, income from investments, permanent hospital life memberships, voluntary hospital life memberships and money raised by individual Temples through various activities such as Shrine football games and circuses.

Tories Score Big Landslide

LONDON (AP) — Another landslide ousted Britain's reeling Labor party from control over 46 towns and cities today after municipal elections throughout England and Wales. Conservative party Chairman Edward Du Cann called the results "a devastating rout for the Labor party." The results had no effect on Labor's large parliamentary majority since no House of Commons seats were at stake. But it was a continuation of a trend to the right in local elections which was seen as a protest against the harsh economic policies of Prime Minister Harold Wilson. The Laborites lost to the Conservatives in 21 towns and to independent groups — often supported by the Conservatives — in 15 others. In 322 towns and cities, the Conservatives gained a net of 534 seats and Labor lost 592.

The Tories scored a landslide in Liverpool, the port city which sends Wilson to Parliament from one of its districts. The Conservatives won 16 seats from the Laborites, ending 10 years of Labor control.

Suit For Divorce Asks $10 Million

DETROIT (AP) — Janet M. Wilson, wife of Ralph C. Wilson who owns the American Football League Buffalo Bills, has sued for divorce and demanded a $10-million property settlement. The complaint Thursday charging extreme cruelty said Wilson has established a standard of living which could "best be described as luxurious." Wayne (Detroit) County Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman issued a restraining order preventing Wilson from selling or transferring his holdings until a hearing Tuesday.

Wind Up 2-AAAA Season Here Saturday

Pictured here are members of the 1967 Big Spring High School baseball team, who at 2 p.m. Saturday in Steer Park wind up District 2-AAAA play against San Angelo. The Steers can insure themselves a better-than .500 won-lost record by defeating the Bobcats. They are now 12-12 on the year. Coach Okey Hagood likely will send Jerry (Moose) Ryan to the mound as the locals bid for their fifth league victory. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It took a dedicated effort on the part of HCJC last weekend to gain a first place tie with Odessa College in the Western Conference track and field meet.

Odessa had one-third again more boys than the Hawks but the locals volunteered to compete in events which were often strange to them in efforts to head off the Odessa surge.

Consider Joe Tighe, the classy HC pole vaulter, who ran as an intermediate hurdler over a distance of 440 yards and finished fourth. Tighe and the race were complete strangers but Joe negotiated the distance in the good time of 59.4.

What Tighe did was run as hard as he could between barriers and then high jump each one. The Hawks couldn't have made it without the two points he earned in the event.

That 3:12.8 Hawk mile relay team reeled off wasn't the fastest in the school's history (the all-time mark is also a national meet record, 3:12, set about three years ago) but it beat the existing Western Conference mark by several seconds. It's also the fastest in the nation among juro teams this year.

The current Hawks have established no less than five school records this year, with the National meet at Garden City, Kan., still to come. Here are the marks:

Dee Fletcher, 1:55.6 in the 880, at Hobbs, N.M.; Joe Tighe, 15.1 in the pole vault in the Texas Relays; Jimmy Jasper, 21.2 in the 220 (curve) in a meet here against ACC and other schools; David Wright, 45-10 in the triple jump at Hobbs; and Claud Couch, 55.1 in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles here.

In addition, both Jasper and Linwood Wright have tied the school standard of 9.5 in the 100. Jasper in the local meet and Wright last Saturday in Roswell. (Wright turned in a 9.4 clocking at Plainview but with a strong favoring wind.)

Lubbock Christian's Hubert Jones and HC's Robert Lindsey were caught in the same time (48.3) in the 440 but Jones beat Lindsey by the proverbial hair. Shayne Slovacek of Odessa, who ran third at Roswell, was the defending titlist in the event.

It's difficult for a lot of friends of athletics to realize that coaching is a science, as exacting as any study today. A lot of well-meaning parents do the coaches an injustice by trying to tutor their sons at home, many times undoing a lot of the good they've been done in training classes at school.

Habits picked up under such conditions, regrettably, are often hard to break and the boys — all too often — are torn between two loyalties. Consequently, they never do develop as they should.

The coaches would much rather accept an enrollee as green as grass than one who has been coached thoroughly though anything but beneficially by others. The raw rookie is much easier to instruct and runs no danger of falling into his old habits when the coaches are not looking.

Press Maravich saw his varsity basketball team at LSU last season outdrawn at the gate by the school's freshman team much of the time, but he didn't mind in the least. Star of the LSU first-year club was his son, Pete, who likely will develop as the Tigers' finest player since Bob Pettit.

Winner of the award as 'Most Proficient Boxer' of the 1960 Olympic Games wasn't Cassius Clay but new middle-weight king Nino Benvenuti.

Reed, Morton Teams Notch League Wins

Standings: Reed Insurance made short work of Chapman's Meat Market, winning a 14-1 decision, in a City Softball league contest here Thursday night.

The contest was called after five innings, at which time the circuit's ten-run rule was invoked.

In other action, Morton's F o o d s crossed three times across the plate in the second inning and added two in the third to defeat the Optimist Club, 5-1. The Optimists are still winless in the circuit.

Herb Sorley clubbed a triple and two doubles to pace the Reed team's 13-hit attack off two Chapman hurlers. The losers could manage only three hits off Thelbert Camp and Roy New.

Charles Boadle also smashed three safeties and drove in two runs for Reed's, which now stands 2-2 in the race.

Ronnie Dale Smith drove out a home run with a mate aboard for Morton's in the second inning of the second game. Joe Sharpnack and Billy Paul Thomas each had two hits for the winners in that one.

Jim Ward, on the mound for Morton's parceled out five hits to the Optimists and no one had more than one blow for the losers. Sam Wrinkle clubbed a third inning triple for the Optimists and scored his team's only run.

Nicklaus Is 2 Off Pace

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—What's wrong with Jack Nicklaus' golf game?

"I'm taking too many strokes," said the Golden Bear with a chuckle after completing the first round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament Thursday with a two-under-par 70.

Nicklaus was two shots behind bespectacled Frank Beard, who has beaten Arnold Palmer twice this year, and Gardner Dickenson. Beard nipped Palmer by a stroke in the Tournament of Champions a month ago and again last week at the Houston's Champions International. Palmer isn't competing here.

The 27-year-old Nicklaus is off to his slowest start since he began prospecting for gold on the fairways in 1962. He has won only $14,800 this year — hardly enough to keep his big private jet in gasoline.

"I was pretty pleased with 70 since I couldn't get here until late yesterday and only played nine holes," said Nicklaus in a locker-room interview. "The back nine I didn't get to play and I still shot 35 on it."

"A 70 is a pretty good round opening up. I'm not too unhappy with it," he said and added: "It's better than I've been playing."

Nicklaus went on to say that he thought putting was dictated by iron play.

Huge Crowd Due At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An international field of drivers will make 10-mile dashes against the clock Saturday in one of sport's best-attended preliminary events, qualifications for the 500-mile auto race May 30 at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

A crowd upwards of 150,000 is likely to watch Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., try to beat the qualifying record of 165.899 m.p.h. he set last year.

Andretti, U.S. Auto Club champion the last two seasons, hit 168 unofficially in practice sessions both in 1966 and this spring when conditions were ideal.

His Ford-powered Brawner Hawk will be challenged by two entirely different types of machines — the STP Pratt & Whitney gas turbine driven by Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., the 1963 Indianapolis winner, and the Mongoose turbocharged Offenhauser driven by Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., who has never been worse than 11th in seven Speedway starts.

Jones has turned laps at almost 166 m.p.h. in the turbine. Ruby also has turned laps well over 165.

The best performance in the first of four qualifying sessions was the pole, the inside starting position on the three-car front row, regardless of later speeds.

Winning the pole is more a sharp-well, it is a matter of confidence, and it takes you a while to get it back."

"The wind was very bad," said Beard about Thursday's play over the 7,023-yard Lakewood Country Club course, which played much shorter because the hard fairways gave the ball a lot of roll.

"Those fairways are so hard, my feet hurt from walking," said the 130-pound Dickinson.

Beard won this tourney a year ago, and Dickinson finished second—two strokes behind.

Just a stroke behind the co-leaders Thursday were tour regulars Tommy Aaron and Johnny Pott, Earl Stewart, a Dallas club pro, and Allan Henning of South Africa.

Sunland Season Opens Oct. 20

EL PASO — Sunland Park president George Ranchich and general manager R. F. Haynsworth issued a joint statement announcing that racing dates for the 1967-68 season would be virtually the same as for the current meeting which concludes Sunday, May 14.

Once 33 cars have qualified, another still can make the lineup by bettering the slowest speed in the field. The slow car then is "bumped" from the lineup and cars behind it move up.

Trials will start at 11 a.m. EST Saturday.

The Sunland officials stated with a request would be made to the New Mexico Racing Commission for an 84-day meeting beginning Oct. 20 continuing through May 12. Sunland Park has operated fall-winter dates since the inaugural season which opened Oct. 9, 1959.

Ranchich said the tentative dates were being announced at this time as there had been speculation that Sunland would open later than in previous years.

"We established fall-winter racing on the border a decade ago and plan to continue with it again next season," said Ranchich.

General manager Haynsworth said details for the 11th season purse schedule had not been completed, but indicated that it would again top the one million dollar mark.

Sabres Rally In Seventh To Nudge T-Birds 8-7

The Sabres came from behind to beat the T-Birds, 8-7, in an International Little League extra inning game here Thursday night.

The T-Birds counted two runs in the top half of the seventh inning only to have the Sabres come right back with three in their half of the round.

Bonnie Jacob's double, his third hit of the game, pounded across the T-Birds' two runs in the seventh.

Ricky Cobb and Danny Piston singled for the Sabres and both

Lions Decision Cats, 11 To 4

The Stripling Lions added frosting to the cake by scoring six runs in the final inning on their way to an 11-4 Texas Little League victory over the Optimist Cats here Wednesday night.

Each team now boasts a 3-2 won-lost record.

Adam Yanez received credit for the mound win. He and Garland Green limited the Cats to seven hits.

Johnny Ortega and Jerry Johnson each had three hits for the Lions.

Tigers Triumph

In National Minor League play Thursday, the Tigers manhandled the Hawks, 12-9. Roger Battle was the winning pitcher.

In reality, there will be two scrimmages. The sophomores will square off for a workout at 7 p.m. The varsity players will start their toil at about 8 o'clock or shortly thereafter.

The public is invited to watch the workouts, according to coach Spike Dykes.

Chance Finds Formula With Minnesota Club

By The Associated Press
 Pitching for Minnesota has made Ohio farmboy Deane Chance happier than a farmer with a pen full of hogs and the market price doubled.
 The hard-firing right-hander, who had fallen on sad times since winning the Cy Young Award with the California Angels, is rounding up the scattered Twins and fattening them up as a pennant threat.
 "With this team, I don't think I'm going to lose another game," Chance said in an expansive mood Thursday night after blanking Kansas City 8-0 on a one-hitter.
 "It's fun when you win; it's fun to play the game," he said, responding to his 5-1 record, which makes him the winningest pitcher in the American League. "It means something to play for a pennant contender because you know you're playing for something."
 Chance, who operates two farms with a total of about 285 acres near Wooster, Ohio, also owns almost half of Minnesota's 11 victories and has kept the sluggish Twins tied for sixth, only 4½ games from the lead.
 Steven Hargan and Bob Bruce also had reason to be jubilant. Hargan hurled a five-hitter in Cleveland's 2-1 victory over Washington in the only other American League game, and Bruce allowed only three hits in pitching Atlanta past Pittsburgh 9-2 in the only National League contest.

Edmiston Quits Job At Stanton

STANTON — Doyle Edmiston, who has never experienced a losing season in his seven years as a basketball coach, has resigned as head coach mentor at Stanton High School to accept similar employment with Waco Richfield High, a District 13-AAAA school which has been open for six years.

DOYLE EDMISTON

Edmiston, 30, a native of Rising Star and a former Hardin-Simmons University basketball great, has been at Stanton the past four years. During that time his teams have won 98 and lost 22 games.
 He was at Wellman the three years previous to that and coached his teams to a 49-19 record.
 Edmiston fielded perhaps his best team the past season, at which time the Buffaloes wound up with a 29-4 record. The Buffaloes lost a chance at the District 4-AA championship in the final game of the season.
 At Stanton, Edmiston coached an all-state player in Allen Simpson plus a boy who rated the second all-state club several years ago — Ronnie Hart-sill.
 Richfield, which finished with a 25-2 record last season but failed to get out of district, lost all starters off this year's club but will rebuild around a B team that finished 15-5.
 At Richfield, which boasts about 1,800 students in high school, Edmiston will coach B team football up until Oct. 15 and will scout for the football team. The Richfield football coach is Jack Price.
 John Burrows, who was the Richfield basketball coach, resigned to become coach of the Hill County Junior College basketball team. Edmiston will report for duty Aug. 1.

 Edmiston, who played his basketball under Bill Scott at H-SU, led the Cowboys in scoring and rebounding for two years and still holds several records there, including 31 rebounds captured in one game. He averaged 16 points a game his senior season.
 Edmiston was later signed to an NBA contract with the Detroit Pistons, then coached by Dick McGuire, but played the following season with the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League.
 He quit following one season there to become a coach.
 Applications are not being accepted for the Stanton position at the present time. Tommy Blackwell was the assistant cage mentor under Edmiston the past season.

Giants Down Braves, 5-1

The Kiwanis Giants winged to a 5-1 Texas Little League victory over the Kent Oil Braves here Thursday night, benefitting from the stylish hurling of Cris Duron.
 Duron yielded seven hits to the Braves, who are now 4-2 in the race, but kept them well scattered.
 Cruz Rios made two tremendous fielding plays for the Giants at second base in the final inning to keep the Braves from scoring again. The win was the second for the Giants in six assignments.

A three-run third-inning iced the verdict for the Giants.

Lions Vanquish Yankees, 9-8

The Lions won their fifth straight National Little League contest by edging the Yankees, 9-8, here Thursday night. The loss was the second in five starts for the Yanks.
 Alan Davis, who divided time on the mound with Paul Douglas, received credit for the victory. Together, they rationed out only five hits to the Yanks.

Douglas banged out four off his team's 13 hits. Nathan Poss accounted for three of the losers' safeties.
 Steve Daves, Yankee catcher, and Davis had the game's only home runs.
 The Yankees had two big innings, the third and fourth. Down, 8-5, going into the fifth, the Lions exploded for four runs in that inning to snatch victory from defeat.

Romney Gets 'Gold' Phone

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A $600-gold-plated telephone will be installed in Gov. George Romney's Bloomfield Hills home.

Romney, a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, received the special phone Thursday from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., as he participated in a celebration marking installation of the 100 millionth telephone in the United States.

Nine governors, members of the executive committee of the National Governors Conference, talked with President Johnson on a nationwide hookup marking the ceremony.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes, a Republican, took note of the connection between Lansing and Washington.

"Well, Mr. President," he said, "I'm glad you and George have a direct dialogue."

Can Nevada Control Big Gambling?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Indictments charging seven officials of two Nevada casinos with skimming money from the profits of their gambling halls to avoid taxes raised a question today.

Can the state control the gambling industry?

The indictments were returned Thursday by a federal grand jury. Reports began to circulate at once that similar indictments involving three or four other casinos might be returned if convictions are obtained.

The indictments climaxed an investigation begun by Internal Revenue Service agents five years ago and accuse all seven men of three charges: Conspiracy to defraud the government, to submit a false tax return, and to evade payment of corporate income taxes.

One of them — Edward Levinson, 69, former president of the Fremont Hotel — also is accused of signing a return he knew was not true.

Other former officials of the Fremont indicted are Edward Torres, Paul Weyerman and Cornelius Hurley. Two others — Lewis Stone and Sam Delich — are named as co-conspirators, but face no charges.

Riviera Hotel officials named in the indictments are Ross Miller, Joseph Rosenberg and Frank Atel. Miller is chairman of the board of the Riviera. An employe, Herschel Miller, is named as a co-conspirator.

The indictments allege that in each conspiracy, the men would count the currency collected at a dice table, then "appropriate, conceal and skim" part of it.

The Fremont indictment cites 30 instances where two of the defendants were involved in counting cash collected at the tables. The Riviera indictment lists 28 similar instances.

Longhorn Named Ambassador

Ablene, billed as the largest Texas Longhorn steer, poses with handler Mack McClain after being designated "ambassador for the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City." Ablene was brought to Oklahoma City today by Henry Bass, Enid, Okla., chairman of the Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission. Ablene will be quartered at the trail. He is 17 hands high and weighs 2,100 pounds. Ablene is 19 years old. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Mexican Field Hands Cross Rio

ROMA, Tex. (AP) — Mexican field hands crossed the Rio Grande today to harvest Texas melons while pickets seeking to block them had gone home for the night.

By the time the Confederation of Mexican Workers (CTM) resumed picketing on the day shift, immigration officials said most of the farm hands already were on this side of the international border.

"La huelga (the strike) is no more," said one of the immigration men at the opposite end of the bridge in Miguel Aleman, Mexico.

'NOBODY TOLD US'

A CTM spokesman said picketing was suspended late Thursday "because nobody told us to stay here all night."

The secretary general of CTM's Miguel Aleman branch, Antonio Rivera, was arrested Thursday at Camargo, 15 miles down the Rio Grande, after he failed to remove pickets as ordered by Mayor Roman Gonzalez Berrera.

A representative of the Mexican union said the mayor told pickets federal police would be called unless they withdrew. Rivera was held for four hours and released.

FIRST TIME

Mexican laborers walked across the bridge here between 12:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. en route to Starr County fields around Roma.

Thursday's blockade halted about 150 field hands from work at a critical harvest period. It was the first occasion that unions in Texas and Mexico have joined in such a move.

Gilbert Padilla, vice president of the United Farm Workers, had said the Mexican picket line — across the bridge in Miguel Aleman, Mexico — would be manned 24 hours a day.

'GREEN CARD'

He said this was part of an attempt by his union to bring La Casita Farms to the bargaining table by cutting off its supply of Mexican field hands.

La Casita, principal target in an 11-month-old labor dispute, is the largest employer in this area of Mexican "green card" workers, so-called because of the permits required for them to cross the border.

The Little Critter Says... DRIVE AND ARRIVE SAFELY TEXAS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

Labor demonstrations in Starr County have occurred almost daily since last June, when union leaders came here from California and said they would seek a $1.25 minimum hourly wage and a union contract for the Mexican-American field hands. The union claims present pay is less than $1.25 hourly.

Electrical Storm Sets House Afire

A brilliant electrical storm that set afire one house struck a small part of North Central Texas during the night while a severe thunderstorm alert was in effect.

The house was hit at Sherman, which underwent an electrical display that for a time indicated a major storm brewed. But when the rain came, it fell gently and lasted only about an hour and a half.

Hail fell at Whitesboro and near Bonham. The Bonham section had the size of golf balls, and up to an inch of rain fell in that area.

WATCH ISSUED For a time, a portion of Grayson and Cooke counties was under a severe thunderstorm watch.

A cool front which held out hope of lowering the scorching temperatures of Wednesday and Thursday stalled today and only the northwestern part of the state benefited.

Prospects for scattered thunderstorms increased across the northern part of Texas today as hopes for cooler weather faded.

Cooler air from Canada pushed southward into the Panhandle, reversed directions and then headed toward the south again Thursday. By this morning the forward edge of the front was about stalled along a line linking Plainview, Seymour and Paris.

Overnight temperatures dipped to comfortable levels in the Panhandle-Plains sector but unseasonable heat maintained its grip on the rest of the state.

80 AT DEL RIO Readings at daylight were down to 46 degrees at Dalhart, 47 at Perryton, 50 at Amarillo and 52 at Lubbock. It cooled only to 80 at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

These marks compared with Thursday afternoon highs of 107 at Brownwood, with Mineral Wells and Presidio 106, Junction 105, Del Rio and San Angelo 103, Abilene 101 and Laredo and San Antonio 100.

HEAVY RAIN While most areas sweltered, turbulence dipped into parts of North Texas briefly Thursday night, loosing heavy rain and occasional hail.

Up to an inch of rain fell in rural areas near Bonham and hail stones the size of golf balls pelted one section. Damage was limited.

CIA Money Raps Denied

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two lawyers have denied charges by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison that they have been receiving money from the Central Intelligence Agency.

The district attorney named Burton Klein and Steven Plotkin, both of New Orleans, as lawyers who were receiving money from the CIA while representing persons involved in Garrison's investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Klein is attorney for Alvin Beaubouef, who was a close associate of David W. Ferrie. Garrison has charged that Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald and Clay Shaw conspired to kill Kennedy in Dallas in 1963.
