WOMEN THROUG TO AVALANCHE-JOURNAL COOKING SCHOOL

MRS. CHITWOOD WILL TELL ABOUT MAKING SALADS

Twenty-five varieties to be expounded today

150 ATTEND SCHOOL

FIRST DAY INSTRUCTION LISTENED TO BY BIG CROWD

"Salads" will be the subject discussed this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Ida Chitwood, nationally known food expert on economical, who is conducting the Avalanche-Journal's third annual cooking school in the basement of the Temple Elks building, and she has announced that she will make and give recipes for 25 different kinds of salads, including kinds for the poor woman, the wealthy woman and the woman of leisure, along with the other varieties.

Foods should be decorated, according to this expert, because dishes that are pleasing to the eye are more pleasing to the palate and also will demonstrate the making of many attractive dishes this afternoon.

At 1:50 Her lecture Monday afternoon before about one hundred and fifty women, was on pastries. Mrs. Chitwood lectures and demonstrates her work, answering questions that those in attendance may find to ask, and giving her recipes to those who attend. She found many of the present Monday women who had heard her during her previous visits to Lubbock. Mrs. Chitwood was presented with a lovely bouquet of carnations by the Avalanche-Journal company at the close of her lecture Monday afternoon.

The same program is to be carried out during the first five days of this week in this school. The instruction week starts promptly at 2 o'clock and lasts until about 4 o'clock, when guests are given away. Classes are to be made and discussed Wednesday. Vegetables will be Thursday's subject. Friday afternoon devoted to the meats. Mrs. Chitwood stresses the food value of her preparations, telling what are fattening, those that build energy and heat and give the other functions and uses of the foods in the body. She uses nationally advertised products, explaining their superiority and urging the women to investigate the foods of the products they use in their cooking in order to insure results.

Must Attend All

Attendance at all of these lectures is necessary if one is to receive the most benefit from them, the instructor said, explaining that the lectures are correlated and that each one takes up different and vital phases of cooking. "The most important profession in the world," Mrs. Chitwood declared the fact that many girls enter into the home making profession entirely untrained for the duties they are called upon to be successful in, would not be studied as any other business.

The reason she said Monday afternoon will not talk, grew tough or liquidity even when it is left for a week, she explained, exhibiting a delicious pastry at the close of the demonstration. She invited her listeners to try out the recipes she gives them during the week and to report to her their results, in order that she may help them to solve their cooking problems.

Mrs. Chitwood comes to Lubbock from Tulsa, where she lectures each afternoon to more than two thousand women. She has appeared in many of the larger cities in the United States and Lubbock is probably the smallest city in which she appears. Charles A. Gray, managing editor of the Avalanche-Journal publications, explained in introducing the food expert Monday afternoon.

During the week, Mrs. Chitwood promises to prepare the common foods economically and yet in unusually attractive manners, making them particularly palatable as well as pleasing to the eye. She is stressing especially the preparation of foods for the household of moderate means.

Five hundred bales per day is the average which the gins of Lubbock are now turning out the season's cotton crop, according to a check up on the ginning records yesterday. During the past week, approximately 3000 bales went through the gins here. Of the total for the year, only 4300 bales have been weighed in at the public cotton yards east of town. They are coming in now at the yard at the rate of 250 bales per day. The compresses are receiving a goodly number of the bales brought in. Several hundred bales are scattered on the yards about the gins. With fair weather continuing, cotton men believe that the predicted production of the county for this year will fall short only a few thousand bales. The predicted yield for this year was 62,000 bales.

The Woman's Day

I have just come home with my one evening dress and bottle of French perfume from a strictly female convention. For three days I have played and worked with professional women in the cause. I had a grand time, but they set me wondering. I am wondering if woman is not her own worst enemy. I am wondering if the great institutions, devastating and little groups of convention women in corners saying, "nice, but not homey," and "the pictures aren't in such good taste, do you think?" or "that mantle is too litted."

There was a program in our honor in another home that night. A raven-haired girl with a rose in her hair danced and sang some Spanish songs for us. She was an amateur. Neither the singing nor the dancing was much more than funny, but there was interest, color and drama in the girl herself. Sometimes there is more fun in seeing a non-professional job than in seeing artistry itself. But the crowd was indignant at having "such entertainment foisted upon busy women."

After all, it's mostly our own fault. We are the ones who reap the lines for our faces and the rumps in our voices. And it is we ourselves who lock ourselves from the larger happiness by tracing soot lines on the closet shelves or watching a green vase on a red onyx mantle.

By this time the gentle reader may have guessed that I like that dress. Tenderly I pat the shoulders with tissue paper and prepared to hang it on the closet rod. Being born cautious and being rather accustomed to hotel rooms, I trailed my finger over the closet rod. My finger came off looking as if it belonged to a lady born on the sun-kissed strands of Bahama. I was mad. I showed her haste and informed her and surely that a little cleaning of the closet wouldn't come amiss.

A tap on the door, and in burst my buddy clamoring for ink. She mouthed sweet nothings about "these blinged hotels that never keep the ink wells filled and never any stationary in the desk." "Buddy" having departed in such wrath, I decided to calm my own nerves so pathetically harrowed by sooty closet rods by reclining in bed and ready for an hour or so before the evening speech-making. "Darn." There was no bed light. By some huffing and puffing I managed to drag the desk near the bed, pertinaciously perch the desk lamp on the corner and, thus lighted, peruse my book. But I was too proved to read. I was using about ten gallons of nervous energy mentally telling hotels just what I didn't think of them and wondering just why other people didn't do their jobs as I had done mine if I ate.

Fortunately, senses of humor do exist. And common sense can assert itself. Or perhaps it was "Nise Baby" out of all the prone forces that restored me to sanity. But once again the scene was changed, and I glibbed at my own imbecility—the imbecility of being such simple things as a window to be opened, a closet rod to be sidestepped with a damp towel, an absent bed light, or an empty ink bottle. Besides, I reflected, I'm not so blamed efficient myself. If my boss were as plain snippy about my fallings from grace as I about those of other people, I'd be heading for potato peelings from door to door to fill the great cavernous void.

We were treated in one of the most beautiful homes I have ever been my privilege to enter. Soft-dyed rugs, boundly suited with pastel silks and the glow of dressing table equipment, sun parlor gilded with sun and bird and flower, rare paintings, silver candlesticks and pink roses, waitresses with trays of delicate foods

BRINK HERE TO WORK ON TEXTILE BOOKLET

Wellington Brink of the Texas Farm and Ranch publishing company arrived here yesterday and will remain all week to work up a booklet giving complete information regarding the Tech textile department. The booklet will contain pictures and description of the plant in detail and will be compiled in a very interesting style. When published, the booklet will be sent to every cotton manufacturing concern of the world.

John T. Carpenter, of Dallas, is cooperating with the publishing company in compiling the book.

While here, Brink will likely gather other material for stories on the college for the Texas Farm and Ranch.

CHINESE ELMS STILL GREEN

With practically all the other trees of the city bare of leaves, the Chinese elms which grow on the Tech campus are still green and seem none the worse for the recent freeze which this section experienced.

Dean A. H. Ledlich of the school of agriculture in speaking of the trees yesterday stated that the authorities had the semi-evergreen feature in mind when they were planted. "To my mind, this tree is the best suited for this climate than any other," Ledlich said.

"PRAIRIE FIRE" NAME GIVEN FOR MAGAZINE

To Miss Margaret Bennett, assistant secretary of the college, goes the first prize for the best name submitted for the Tech magazine. Her suggestion "Prairie Fire," was adjudged the most suitable name for the publication by a committee composed of Prof. R. C.

PRE-LAWS TO MEET TONIGHT

With the completion of a law society in mind, all pre-law students of the Tech will meet tonight at 7:30 in room 211. A permanent organization will be perfected and practical work along their study commenced. The kangaroo court will be one of the features of the club throughout the year.

At a meeting of all the students interested in debating last night, it was decided to ask all pre-law students to join the debating club as well as to promote this phase of their work. The leaders plan for many interesting debates throughout the year.

TECH REP NIGHTS WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

After strenuous practice during the past several days, the girls of the pep squad are ready for their night programs which will be staged at the Palace beginning tomorrow night. The programs will consist of songs, musical skits, and chorus features. A girls' orchestra will be the feature of the programs with the girls pouring forth the music of the modern age.

OUR HONOR—"But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? For all things come of Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee." 1 Chron. 29:14.

AS THINGS SEEM TO LOOK AT THIS TIME

We have just read a resume of the conditions of the country by a well-posted authority. General elections always bring on more or less doubt and fear throughout the country. Markets become more or less uncertain, and especially in this the case in the time of Presidential election years. We find from this survey of things, however, that there has been a gradual elimination of these uncertainties brought about by the election, in stock markets as well as in the business world.

As a result the general movement of values has shown a good tone and the outlook has appeared to be more and more promising. As things stand, the general character of the business prospects is much as to sustain the hopeful expectation.

The Senate has decided not to hold any special session on account of the resignation of the Federal Judge whose impeachment had resulted in the call for an extra session. This eliminates the possibility which some had foreshadowed of general and perhaps harmful debate on issues that could not be acted upon and might only have been disturbed through controversy. When the regular session actually opens early in December routine matters of business are likely to be so pressing as to occupy the entire time. President Coolidge has now definitely committed himself to a further tax reduction program on this year's taxes, as had been at first suggested, there is every reason to expect that it will work a decided reduction of the taxes of 1927, which will also probably provide for a special curtailment of the corporation tax.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation, showing an increase of 90,000 tons in unfilled orders and leaving the total at 3,583,661 tons, has been in accord with preliminary indications as to the improvement of conditions among manufacturing industries.

A Government forecast showing the output of cotton at well toward 18,000,000 bales has produced very little effect upon the general tone of the market, this prospective large output having been thoroughly anticipated. It is difficult to say how much of this cotton can actually be picked, but Southern forecasters are disposed to believe that a reduction by something like 1,000,000 bales will be shown by the ginnings, which would leave the actual crop as gathered below 17,000,000 bales. In any case, financing which has been provided for by the Government and the other arrangements that have been made for carrying the crop should suffice to take care of present necessities, while the general expectation that acreage will be cut by about one-fourth to one-third next year will, if carried out, insure the absorption of cotton as held over from this season. Except for the cotton region, the actual returns realized by farmers in most parts of the country continue to show the accuracy of the favorable predictions that have been made, and a better situation among the banks throughout the West evidently prevails. All this affords a very good basis of demand for articles of general consumption. Pre-holiday trade is already beginning in not a few regions and promises excellently for the months of November and December. Slight decline in mail order business in Chicago is attributed to heavier direct buying of more expensive goods.

Foreign trade continues on the upgrade. Exportation of food grains, particularly wheat, continues to show very great increase. The total shipped during the four months ended with October is now officially stated as 106,000,000 bushels, as compared with 44,000,000 a year. Taken in conjunction with the large movement of coal, these three items will go far during the last quarter of the year to bring back our favorable trade balance to normal size, with the result that a corresponding claim upon foreigners and larger movement of imports into the country may be foreshadowed. European conditions point to the belief that this heavy demand for goods is likely to continue for some time to come, particularly in fuel, foodstuffs and cotton, for the same reasons that have already been influential in enlarging the movement of those articles.

While, as already explained, the advances occurring since election might reasonably have been expected to develop some little irregularity later on, especially as the autumn was largely at the expense of the short interests, there has been nothing to create any definite outlook upon the situation. Occasional recessions due to a lessening of these short interests or to a disposition to take profits may occur, but except for these no serious declines are to be anticipated. Investment buying, particularly among the favored dividend stocks, has continued good, and the generally bright prospects for business for the remainder of the year have resulted in restoring of even advancing in some cases quotations of the leaders. There is nothing in the outside situation now to warrant any change of front in this regard. It is not likely that there will be renewed activity upon a large scale of the autumn in the near future, but the market nevertheless is showing substantial activity and vitality and apparently is in a healthy state.

HATE AND FEAR

It's a short word, but it's a terrible word. It is a word that if put into action carries with it destruction, not so much of the fellow or the person hated as the one that hates. We find in pursuing the language of Emerson, one of the greatest prophets that possibly ever lived, we find that what every phase of life he touched on he went to the very depth with unerring insight. He was pre-eminent in three realms of thought. He was a profound preacher. He emphasized, among others, four great moral truths. "The minute I hate, I suffer," said he. "The minute I hate, I suffer," said he. How many of us who slip so easily into hating those who displease us in one or another realize that we are searing our own souls? Yet we know we are, once we stop to think about it. Why, even medical science has come along to tell us that hate actually constricts the physical organs of the body; that it causes a certain kind of physical poison to be cast into the blood stream. Emerson dwelt upon this great truth and made his hearers see clearly its great implications.

Another great truth of his was the meaning of fear. "Fear always means something wrong." How many people today realize that they believe their dignity when they allow themselves to be swayed to and fro by fear, when that fear emanates from some of their own misdoings? Of course, modern psychology has come along with scientific proof of this great truth, but do we not still need a rugged prophet to stand before and thunder that we ought to be ashamed to be afraid. To steal means to steal from one's own self. This was another rugged way he had of stating an elusive truth. Of course, few self-respecting people steal in the ordinary sense, but how many folks do things that they know are not exactly straightforward. Every gain of this kind is dear, says Emerson, for we have only stolen from our character, for we have only beamed ourselves. All power that others have over me myself give them, is his fourth great truth. How many of us warp our conduct just a bit because of what others will think or say? We delegate to them power to warp our life. To realize this truth is in a measure to cope with it, and thus Emerson tends to serve as tonic, even today. His preaching is effective in this very different world of 1926; if you do not believe it, take down a volume of his works and see.

Emerson was a great poet because to him nature, the stuff of poetry, was alive. A bumblebee, a rose, a bird, a stream, even a rock, was of interest because he could see beneath the exterior to a something within that was all a piece with himself. Feeling this, he could never tire of wandering out into Nature's beauty, there to feast his soul. He had a peculiarity that forbade him ever to seek to adorn his verses, or to arrange and order them in a logical sequence, or to belabor an idea. This makes his poetry, as well as his prose, seem rough, at times even like a courdoury road; but if you will give up to him, and just follow where his fancy leads, you will learn to delight to wander after him amid Nature's bounties. Emerson is perhaps the greatest philosopher America has produced. He had a standard of value that requires every individual thing, animate or inanimate, to stand upon its dignity. You remember how he made the little squirrel justify itself in face of the gigantic mountain; well, to him no one thing ought to despise itself in face of any other thing, because God had placed certain responsibilities upon every different thing, and no one could fulfill the functions of the other. This great concept brought in its train the absolute freedom of the human soul. No tyranny, not even of the human soul and the entire fulfillment of its destiny. Books of the past, written by men whom we rightly adjudged great, are not to shackle us for one moment. Great men of other times wrote truths as they appeared in their world, but our world has changed and it demands that we write our own books, and thus bring truth up to date. This is why the gentle seer of Concord was the most powerful man of his time; he did more to set free the soul of his countrymen than has any man before or since. Emerson was a great preacher, though not an orator. But we are glad that even the freedom of the Unitarian pulpit cramped his great soul, because he left the ministry and became the poet and philosopher. He stands today a great beacon light far beyond us, beckoning us on to the great possibilities of life. His tonic is strong; but if we will drink it down it will give us a renewed vision of the grandeur of human life.

The Sleepy Santry
"This Bus: A family moved from the city to the suburbs, and were told that they ought to get a watchdog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a nearby dealer.
Shortly afterward the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul while the dog slept.
The householder went to the dealer and told him about it.
"Well, what you need now," responded the dealer, "is a little dog to wake up the big dog."

SO THINK WE

We think that some of the fellows who sigh for the good old days that they would certainly sputter if they had the automobile taken away from them, the electric lights, and the telephone.

We think that it takes four to make a man. What his wife thinks he is; what he thinks he is; what his neighbors think he is and what he really is. To last element however, is the all important part of the quartette.

We think that people who pray up Sunday and ease on week days, are not the kind of men that St. Peter will choose at the pearly gates.

We think that people who will tell youngsters off and dose them up to a point where they will buy booties and candy, are about as low down in the scale of human men as one can ever be. That is done in Lubbock, if we have the correct tips.

We think the present or at least the ominous enforcement officers and judges are going to make things very uncomfortable for the big bootlegger in this section. It seems that even the jail doors are being opened to those who refuse to tell.

We think that possibly most everybody has forgotten your great-grandfather. It is time you were doing something worth while yourself. One cannot live on the reputation of their forefathers indefinitely.

We think that men may come and men may go, but there are two things that probably will go on forever—interest and taxes.

We think that for the fact that claims "Penny was once a typewriter expert is no indication that punching typewriter keys will make you an expert boxer.

We think there is a cheerful side to most everything—even rheumatism according to those who suffer of it. They say, they can always tell when there is a fever to be a change in the weather. Well, that eliminates all necessity for spending money for a barometer.

We think when a fellow gets it into his head that he has the world by the tail with a hook will sell on it, he is in a good way to be subsequently off the face of the globe by one who is not so sure, but is working on the job.

We think the income that does not keep a little ahead of the outgo, will not furnish much shelter on a rainy day.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that possibly there will be no need for a prison board away this next year, as it looks like the present administration is going to honor all of their penitentiary boarders through the pardon route.

It is reported that an automobile with one light was the cause of one man getting badly injured a few days ago near Lubbock. It is a good idea to have all the lights going when the car is running at night.

It is reported that one man walked 150 miles from Iowa to Chicago a few weeks ago to take a job, and there one man in Lubbock who would not walk across the street for war, and over everybody in town too.

It is reported that a fellow down in a Central Texas town took a few drinks of "jake" and thought he was a fish, and jumped in a lake and was immediately drowned. That's one time that we will give Jake credit for getting rid of one fellow that was possibly a nuisance to the community.

It is reported that a man appeared in Lubbock yesterday who said he had a family out in this country picking cotton, but did not know where. He was searching diligently for them however, and will no doubt locate them in some of the white fields of the Lubbock country. They had come on in advance of him he being delayed on other business for a few days.

It is reported that a securityman found and returned to its original owner a purse containing $2,000 in money. Such honesty is to be admired in this day and time. We lost a purse containing five dollars one time. We found the purse, but the money. Such thieves should be apprehended and severely dealt with.

It is reported that the latest designs of "homes" is a well arranged cottage with a home attached.

It is reported that about the only way a fellow can feel thankful for the present fashions is to look back through some of the old family photographs, and see how awful some of the styles were sixty years ago. The sartorial leg sleeves, the hoops and the bustles. Let us thank Madame Fashion for being no worse than it is.

It is reported that bootleggers of beauty preparations are necessary in Oklahoma, as legalized cosmetics are forbidden in that country.

That jail doors are good to make fellows talk.

That this is going to be an unpleasant place for bootleggers from now on.

That his bonds are not easy to get "fiddled in loose" in some cases.

That there is many a slip between the cup and the lip in world-be love affairs.

That cotton men are now predicting that sixteen million bales will possibly be the next government report on the 1926-27 cotton crop.

That what a man swears, that shall he also reap. If it is true, and from what we have seen of life in the past, it is very true. A lot of the young men and women of this day and time will have a wonderful harvest, but it will be mostly of thistles.

That about all some young couples lay up for the future is a divorce.

CODE FOR SCHOOL BOYS

Recently when J. P. Cranfill of Dallas made an address to the student body of Texas Military College at Terrell, he was asked by the dean of the institution, Dr. Odie Minato, to prepare a set of rules for the conduct of young men. Mr. Cranfill made a fine set of rules for not only the young men but other persons, men and women as well. Here they are:

- 1.—Always speak the truth. Lying is not only sinful—it is stupid.
- 2.—Be honest. Never sell your integrity for property or money.
- 3.—Be sober. The man who fights booze tells in that fight and loses all other contests.
- 4.—Keep your record clean. A man is constantly meeting himself coming back.
- 5.—Take care of your health. Turn up the candle at both ends makes a brilliant light, but it uses up the candle.
- 6.—Do as you wish in your life as you expect your mother and sisters to be.
- 7.—Be economical. The man who spends more than he makes will have to beg, borrow or steal.
- 8.—Keep good company. Evil associates cause the ruin of all kinds of integrity and crime.
- 9.—Be studious. Good literature is the world's greatest university, and is available to all.
- 10.—Respect and obey constituted authority in the home, the school and the state.
- 11.—Do not waste your time. Think of what an extra conscious hour would mean if you had come to life's end. There is the stuff that life is made of.—The industrious.
- 12.—In youth give your heart to God. Religion sanctifies the earthly life and lights the way to life eternal.

Huge 20-Link Radio Chain Ready

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Radio fans in the United States and Canada will have the privilege of listening to the evening of Monday, November 15, to what is considered the most elaborate broadcasting concert ever produced. It will be the occasion for introduction to the radio audience, for the first time in their careers of two brilliant stars in the world of entertainment and the reunion of many other leading lights of the stage.

The event is the assumption of control over station WJEF in New York by the newly formed National Broadcasting company, subsidiary to the Radio Corporation of America, and the junction of the chain of stations taking the program from WJEF and WJZ in New York.

At this time, therefore, both WJEF and WJZ will broadcast this important program, while in other stations region to the Editor of this paper opens up a question for the people of this city to solve:

The Editor, Avalanche, Lubbock, Texas.
"My dear Sir:

I note in your paper of November 15, under the "It is reported" column that you make the following statement: "That people are making it a habit of driving across the school grounds in muddy weather thereby leaving the grounds in very bad condition, etc."

As a patron and teacher in the Lubbock schools and one that believes in progress along every line, I want to commend you for this statement, but want to suggest, respectfully, that you go a step further in this matter. Ask the teachers in the high school, for instance, how many children come into the school with wet feet and sit all day because of the mud and most of water which surrounds the high school grounds. I have seen children literally waded water in the morning trying to get to the walks because there was no approach, not even a board laid down, whereby they could get across. This thing has caused parents and patrons of the school to drive on the grounds in order to protect the health of children and wives in wet weather. Let's have some approaches so that children

"SUCH GOINGS ON"
They park their cars in dark and lonely places. Where passers see their forms but not their faces. And let it rain or let the cold wind blow. Love laughs at summer showers and winter's snow. While crabbid age, forgetting all that's gone, Would have a law to stop such "goings on."
"Such goings on," with Eve and Adam first began. "Such goings on" have marked the trail of man. Down through the ages all the study trees Have lost their friendship to such scenes as these. The world has changed and suffered countless pains. But the sweet thrill of kissing, still remains.
Oh, crabbid age, which sees them in the park. Finds them on lanes and roadways after dark. Recall the horse and buggy days when you Stopped at the roadside for a kiss or two. The vehicle has altered but the game of making love is very much the same.
And when a thousand years have rolled along, With all that men shall learn of right and wrong, And all that men shall conquer with their skill, Water will run an usual down the hill, And youth as usual will be frowned upon.
By crabbid age that sees "such goings on."

PADDOCK AND LOCKE RECORDS RATIFIED BY AMATEUR ATHLETIC UNION RULING TENTH-SECOND WATCHES NOW BARRED

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 15. (AP)—The amateur athletic union, in an annual convention today, ratified the world's record smashing sprint performances of Charlie Paddock for 100 yards and Roland Locke, University of Nebraska star, for 220 yards but closed the door to acceptance of further records timed by tenth-second watches.

The expected fight over acceptance of the records themselves—9.5-10 seconds for the century by Paddock and 1-10 seconds for the furlong by Locke—failed to materialize. Both were ratified without objection but it was only after spirited debate that the convention voted to taboo after January first the type of watches the registered these performances and to readopt as officials the fifth second time pieces.

There are international complications to this battle of split seconds. The international amateur athletic federation has gone on record, after making tests, as holding the tenth second watch to be inaccurate. It was this attitude that prompted the decision of the A. A. U. as a result, the marks of Locke and Paddock, while they go on the books of American standards, face likely disapproval when they are submitted to the I. A. A. U. for recognition as world's records.

All told, the convention today ratified an array of 159 American record performances, 35 in track and field and 124 in swimming, out of an original list of 217 applications. The most conspicuous record falling under approval was the pole vault marks of the Norwegian star, Charley Hoff, who has turned professional and sued officials of the A. A. U. on charges of conspiracy growing out of the cancellation of his American tour while he was in Los Angeles.

Paddock, who last bids for two other records, at 125 and 150 yards, selected because better marks already are on the books to his own credit, also had his amateur status under some question during the day. This resulted from the use of his name and figures for him in connection with an advertisement for gasoline in Sacramento, Calif., newspaper. The registration committee put the matter in the hands of Robert S. Weaver of Los Angeles for investigation.

Two other outdoor track and field records approved were the two mile relay mark of 7 minutes, 41.4-19 seconds, set by the Boston A. A. at Philadelphia last July, also constituting a world's record, and the pole vault mark of 12 feet, 5.1 inches, made by Lee Barnes at Los Angeles in February.

Among the swimmers, Agnes Gerthly, breast stroke star of the women's swimming association of New York, led the record breakers with 19 new marks placed to her credit. The slate of awards of 1927 A. A. U. national championship include: Senior indoor women's swimming title events Buffalo; senior and junior track and field; New Orleans; July 1, 2, and 4; senior indoor track and field, Detroit; February 26 or March 5; women's outdoor track and field, Pasadena, Calif.; Marathon, Boston; 15 mile run, St. Louis; senior cross country 10 mile run 7-1 mile walk, Steple chase and pentathlon New York; wrestling, Iowa State college, March 24-25 and 26; senior boxing, Boston; junior boxing Cincinnati; senior men's outdoor swimming, Hawaii.

Gophers Only Bar to Wolverine Hopes

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Upon the shoulders of the Minnesota Gophers in the view of most followers of Western conference football, rests the only considerable chance of averting a tie for title honors.

Minnesota, which lost to Michigan early in the season, meets again next Saturday the Wolverines who breasted by a single point last week the barrier to their championship hopes interrupted by Ohio state.

Northwestern, which stands with Michigan at the top of the big ten heap, meets Iowa, and a defeat for the Wildcats would be regarded as a distinct upset.

The Minnesota-Michigan combat assures already as big a crowd as the Minnesota stadium will hold. Since the Gophers' loss by twenty points to Michigan, Spears' men have hit their stride and have rolled rough shod over Wabash, Wisconsin, Iowa and Butler, conquering the Buttricks Saturday by an 81 to 0 score.

Spears strove tonight only to hold the spirit and the cohesion which have made his team a juggernaut after a slow start, and polished all departments of the team's play with Joe Stang, Alquist and Nydahl as the focal points of his attack. The Gophers held Michigan scoreless in the second half of the Ann Arbor game, and they believe they can keep that record.

Michigan began another week of the same hard practice necessary for the Ohio state conflict. Yost told his men that Minnesota will be a stiffer opponent than Ohio state.

Iowa's entertainment of Northwestern was viewed by the latter as a game which must be won, for the Wildcats are at the threshold of their first conference championship, Iowa has yet to win a conference game.

For the first time this season every big ten team will be in action Saturday against a conference foe. Wisconsin meets Chicago, Indiana battles Purdue, and Ohio State engages Illinois. All of these, have the ear marks of royal battles.

Frogs Will Try to Tame Wild Mustangs

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—The rodeo at the annual fat stock show stands to be eclipsed Thanksgiving day when Texas Christian university's football team enters the arena at Southern Methodist university to try to tame the Mustangs.

Four members of the Southwestern conference in the roles of potential home riders found themselves sprawling in the tankard soon after they climbed into the saddle in an effort to "break" the hard bucking ponies. It promises to be a pig moment when the Frog warriors crawl into the saddle. With such careering broncs and the prancing Gerald Mann, the galloping Hume and plow horses like the giant Cotterella and Wade, all loose in one corral the Frogs will need all the equestrian cunning they can muster. Although a full game and a fraction behind the Ponies because of two tie games, the Frogs still hold an unquestioned record as an undefeated eleven the same as the Mustangs.

he Purple's 19-7 victory Saturday over the Arkansas Razorbacks proves that Coach Bell has a combination that is not to be taken lightly even by the rampaging Dallasites.

MEN STUDY STENOGRAPHY
(Special to The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—More men are studying stenography than ever before, according to Miss Florence Maritz, instructor in business administration in the University of Texas. There is a large demand for men secretaries for long trips with statemen and other officials and a great opportunity is open for men in this field, she said.

Golf Professionals Elect President

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—The professional golfers' association today elected a new president, awarded its 1927 championship to the south for the first time in the history of the organization, and discussed steps of defense against an impending invasion of British stars next July.

After delegates from twenty-two districts had voted to stage the title fixture next fall at the Cedar Crest country club of Dallas, Texas, Alex Pirie of Chicago was elected to succeed George Sargent of Columbus, Ohio, as head of the association. Sargent's retirement after six years as president was accompanied by presentation to him of a platinum watch.

Willie Ogg of Worcester, Mass., W. H. Way of Cleveland and Nell Christian of Yakima, Wash., were chosen vice presidents. Ernest Anderson was elected secretary-treasurer.

Announcement of Great Britain's intention to send an invading team of professionals across the Atlantic was contained in an official letter from the British professional golfers' association. At least eight well known players will visit the United States to participate in the open championship at Oakmont and to engage American professionals in a return international team match.

The British organization reveal that a trophy similar to the Walker cup played for by British and American amateurs has been offered in an effort to bring about permanent international competition between professionals.

TWO MINOR AUTO ACCIDENTS MONDAY

A three year old boy ran into the street at Main and Avenue J, about 3 p. m. yesterday and was struck by a car driven by Mrs. J. Newell Bryant. Mrs. Bryant stopped the car at once. G. P. Kuykendall picked the child up and carried him to a hospital for treatment, where it was found that the lad was practically unharmed. Neither Mrs. Bryant, Mr. Kuykendall nor the doctor, in the case, knew the child's name.

Officer Lee Cheshire witnessed an accident at Main and R, when three girls driving an Essex ran over a little girl of 10, but he did not take the names of any of those involved.

Record taken over a period of 35 years show that the greatest number of influenza cases occur about the ninth or tenth week of the year, and the fewest about the 25th or 26th week.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James E. Dow

The special train to Amarillo will take away of the Lubbock fans showing pride in their own boys. The 12th school has a good aggregation and needs the support. Jar loose with that $2.26 and go to Amarillo and help the Westerners bring home the Plains championship.

The Aggie-Engineer game at the Tech promises to be one of close competition as both teams are working. The students of both schools are looking forward to the game also. Intercollegiate athletics develop school spirit and the Tech is advancing along that rapidly.

Forty thousand fans in a great crowd for a football game in Texas, but that is the prediction for the crowd at Austin to see the Steer-Aggie game, Thanksgiving. We hardly predict, but we're laying one that the Longhorns come out in the lead. Just a matter of opinion.

The male students at West Texas teachers college have pledged to go without shaves, until after the Thanksgiving game with Tech. "We'll be able to contrast with the sleek shavers of the Tech, the Matadors. An interesting game is assured the fans of Panhandle.

"We're after them" is the words of the Matador crew and from the points from the camp, Howard Payne will have a hard fight to keep from being as much as Tech did last year. "We won't have to worry about that bit," the coaches say.

Time worn traditions have been taken upon the gridiron this season. Take for instance, the T. C. U. in over Arkansas at their homecoming something which had never been accomplished. By the way, Amarillo has never been defeated by Lubbock at Amarillo. Another time worn addition due to fall.

Cappelman, the lad from Honey Grove, who showed wonderful ability in the last quarter against A. C. C. will be out of the game for the season because of a knocked down shoulder. He is one of the best men on the team and would likely have figured in a win of the next two games.

Shaylor is still wondering how S. M. made so many points. The dope was probably even and the Baptists had hope of winning, the work of the leading Methodist backs completely smothering all S. M. U. has another conference title safely under her belt.

There's something which has bothered the Tech quite a while. How will Red Grange's line up against Morrison's backs when they meet, which will probably be next year. The game will be of much interest and will be a crowd drawer. Here's hoping that the two teams meet in the coming season.

Aggies Practise in Secret Now

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 15. (AP)—Coach Dana X. Bible announced Monday that the A. & M. football team would start training Tuesday behind closed gates, and that secret practice would continue until the Thanksgiving game, the classic Aggie-Longhorn tilt, which still holds much interest despite the poor showing of both A. & M. and Texas.

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her Mother To Take Cardui, Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas—Mrs. Gladys Folsom, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but... did not enjoy myself at all. "One day my mother remarked on how pale I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved her health, so she thought I had better try it.

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved. I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night. My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and, lo and behold, after several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

TECH ARTIST COURSE BRINGS WHITNEY

The genius of Edwin M. Whitney consists in an unequalled ability to make the great characters of literature live before his audience—to bring his hearers a personal acquaintance as it were, with the towering figures of modern drama. More than a mere reader or impersonator, he has dignified his art with an understanding realism. His work is wholesome and charming.

There is no one like him in the entire lyceum circuit or entertainment field. He is distinctive; an individual. A typical, clean-cut wholesome American gentleman. Trained in his art to the finest degree of perfection, he brings to his audience something far beyond that which they come to hear. His atmosphere of wholesomeness attracts and arrests attention. He personally demonstrates his genuineness and his ideals, his ability to give your imagination and visualize the characters as they weave the pattern of the play.

This is the second instruction on the Tech Artist course and will be given in the high school auditorium on Monday evening, November 22nd.

Little Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, is to have a broadcasting station.

THE kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. FLOYD COUNTY IS BACKING SCHOOLS

"IF THEY'RE BEST, KEEP THEM SO, IF NOT, MAKE THEM SO."

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)
FLOYDADA, Nov. 15.—A farm home, a country church, a rural school, the best place on earth to raise a child, is the slogan recently adopted by every parent in Floyd county and as a result the county schools in this progressive community are one of the best advertisements the county has to offer.

"If Floyd county's rural schools are the best, let's keep them the best. If not let's make them the best," is the opinion of Epize Scott, county school superintendent. Mr. Scott has been elected to serve another term in the same capacity. He was reared in the county having been a teacher in the rural districts for several years. He is also recognized as one of the best authorities on school matters in West Texas.

30 Rural Schools
 There are thirty rural schools in the county having a total valuation of $23,190. Nineteen of these schools are housed in modern brick buildings costing from $5,000 to $20,000. The buildings alone have a total valuation of $214,000, the grounds $25,250 and the school furniture $30,400. The total does not include $5,790 worth of equipment such as home economics and libraries. There is a growing demand for good teachers everywhere and Floyd county is preparing to take care of their teachers by building them neat and

ADVOCATE TEXAS UNION BUILDING

AUDITORIUM TO BE PART OF PROJECTED CONSTRUCTION AT AUSTIN
 (Special To The Avalanche)
AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—A Texas union building project comprising two separate units, is being advocated as the two structures to be next erected on the university campus by various student organizations, faculty members, and interested friends of the institution. According to the proposed plan one unit will include an auditorium seating from 4,000 to 5,000 persons, a structure is erected with the "greater University of Texas" in mind. What will accommodate the institution at this time will not do so within ten years or less time, Moore believes. An institution of 10,000 students seating a stadium, with a seating capacity of 45,000 persons, should have a 2700-manual accommodation 15,000, and an auditorium seating 4,000 persons, he stated. For an enrollment of 5,000 students, such as the university now has, structures one-half that size will suffice.

Audiences of 1,000 to 2,000 persons would be assured twice daily. Mr. Moore declares, with various student convocations, class meetings and the like, enough to fill only one-tenth of a large gymnasium.

As it has been suggested that one building be erected to serve the purposes of both these proposed structures, it is pointed out by Mr. Moore, that a building suitable for one would hardly be serviceable for the other. This is particularly true, he says, if a structure is erected with the "greater University of Texas" in mind. What will accommodate the institution at this time will not do so within ten years or less time, Moore believes. An institution of 10,000 students seating a stadium, with a seating capacity of 45,000 persons, should have a 2700-manual accommodation 15,000, and an auditorium seating 4,000 persons, he stated. SOUTHERN COLLEGES TO MEET AT JACKSON

FOUR DAY SESSION TO BE HELD IN MISSISSIPPI CITY NOVEMBER 20

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 15 (AP)—School requirements for members of athletic teams and regulation of absences brought about by athletic games are expected to have a prominent place in the discussion at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools when that body assembles here on November 20 for a four-day session.

The tendency in the association has been to uphold high standards for athletes and to restrict absences to a minimum. Professor J. Hesse Lin of Mississippi college said in discussing this phase of the meeting. The professor considered action to enforce regular attendance as probable at the coming meeting.

The 72 colleges and 483 secondary schools from 12 southern states will come to Jackson as guests of Mississippi and Mississippi colleges, although all members of the association in Mississippi joined in the invitation. Resolutions for the delegates have been made and officials are expecting an attendance of more than 300 of the south's leading educators.

The routine of business is established so as to speed action as much as possible and to clear up the many problems during the four-day session. Following the usual plan the commissions on colleges and the commission on secondary schools will meet on November 20 in order to present definite plans before the first general meeting of the association on the morning of December 2.

All problems will be thoroughly thrashed out by the commissions before being called to the attention of the general session. Two full days will be taken up in this manner with the commissions holding separate sessions to consider the problems of their groups.

The commission on colleges, headed by Dean H. D. Campbell of Washington and Lee university, permanent chairman, will take up the much-discussed problem of the scholastic requirements for members of college athletic teams and is expected to have definite recommendations for presentation before the general meeting. Dr. L. Bondurant of the University of Mississippi is secretary of the commission.

A number of new institutions of higher learning have filed membership applications with the associations and these will be placed before the commission at the opening of the meeting. Practically all of the standard literary schools of the south are now members, but few of the technical schools have been admitted. Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the Georgia School of Technology being notable exceptions.

Revision of the list of accredited schools and the admission of new secondary schools to membership will be the principal business before the commission on secondary schools, according to Professor Lin, a member of the committee. The graduates of the accredited schools are admitted to any and all colleges and universities in the United States without examination except those schools that refuse admission on the certificate plan. W. L. Spenser, state high school supervisor for Alabama, is chairman of the commission on secondary schools.

The result of the standardization of colleges and schools in the association may be clearly illustrated by the fact that the United States government in a prospectus to European countries, recommended the American colleges which are members of this association as efficient and reliable.

In addition to Mississippi and Mississippi college, the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State College for Women are members of the association from this state. There is a large number of accredited secondary schools in Mississippi.

The following states are represented in the membership of the association:

Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. West Virginia, formerly a member, has joined the middle Atlantic group.

The University of Missouri, though a member of the North Central association, draws many students from the south and sends delegates to the meetings of the Southern association.

Dean M. W. Walker of the University of North Carolina is president of the association and Dean T. H. Jack of Emory university, is secretary. Members of the executive committee are: Chancellor J. H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt; President A. B. Dinwiddie of Tulane; Dean T. H. Baker of the University of South Carolina; Professor W. D. Hooper of the University of Georgia; and Professor S. F. McCauley of McCauley school of Chattanooga.

LIVESTOCK ACTIVE IN BREWSTER NOW

MUCH CATTLE BEING SHIPPED FROM HIGHLANDS TO MARKETS

(Special to The Avalanche) ALPINE, Nov. 15.—Considerable activity in livestock deals is taking place in Brewster county and some of the biggest yearlings ever raised in the highlands of Texas are being sent to the Fort Worth, Kansas City and California markets. H. L. Kokernot and Son, rounded up on their highland ranch and shipped to Fort Worth the top yearlings of some of their herds. The shipment averaged 625 pounds at the landing pens here and weighed 815 pounds on their arrival in Fort Worth.

Four hundred head of yearlings shipped by J. W. McIntyre, averaged 721 pounds, brought much comment. Other herds here are expected to weigh up accordingly. Mr. H. L. Kokernot, who was here from San Antonio this week, said that he had never seen so many heavy cattle in his many years of experience in the cattle business here. He said that the grass this year is making heavier more solid cattle than any he has ever seen

Allen Thompson, manager of the horse show department of the Royal Livestock show, was in Alpine and bought 200 calves from Mr. Kokernot which he will place on his farm in the corn belt as feeders. W. D. Callahan is in Alpine, and is buying 500 head of feeders, which he will ship to Kansas.

K. L. Kokernot and Son will ship two loads of yearlings to Kansas City where they will be entered in the American Royal Livestock show, now going on in that city. Jeff Davis county cattle raisers, who are exhibiting in the Royal Livestock show in Kansas City this week are Smith brothers, J. W. Merrill and Son, George Jones, Frank Jones and Milton Gillette.

Jackson and Harmon have been heavy shippers throughout the season. During the past week they shipped 197 steers, (fours and fives) and a load of cows to California. The steers averaged 1224 lbs. and the cows 1000 pounds.

Jackson and Harmon also shipped four loads of steer yearlings and 12 cars of calves from Heavy last week. The yearlings were shipped to Wichita as feeders and the calves went to producers.

ALPINE, Texas, Nov. 15.—During an Armistice Day program at the Alpine high school auditorium last Thursday morning, the closing song "Dixie", which wound up the program, was greeted by the famous "rebel yell" from Uncle Allen Palmer, Confederate veteran and patriot, and one of Alpine's most loved citizens. "Uncle Allen" (as he is affectionately called here), was a member of the famous Quantrell band, and a brother-in-law to Jesse and Frank James. Each winter Uncle Allen's home is the abode of Frank James, who is now a gray-haired, elderly lady, well-known and loved by many friends here in Alpine. Uncle Allen is spry and mentally alert, and interested in the development of Alpine and surrounding country—and does not show his age at all. He is one of the most interesting characters of West Texas, and his reminiscences of those thrilling days of the James boys, never fail to surround him with an interested audience. He is typical of the chivalry of which the south was famous—and refers to his wife as Miss Kitty—which he calls Mrs. Palmer, in that respectful manner characteristic of the old southern days. Uncle Allen and Mrs. Palmer, have a delightful stone home on College avenue in Alpine, and will probably spend the remainder of their lives as residents of Alpine—which is no mean city.

section, who are principally ranchers, are more prosperous than the people of many sections. The country has suffered very little as a result of the economic situation prevailing over the state. With a few more years like this year, I believe April herd and next year the highland section of Texas will come back into its own and a bigger wave of prosperity will come over this part of the state.

The cost of living in Athens is mounting.

SIX SENIOR STUDENTS TO JUDGE STOCK AT COLLEGE CONTEST

(Special to The Avalanche) COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 15.—Six senior students specializing in animal husbandry work at the A & M college of Texas, were selected as the team to represent the college at the American Royal Livestock Show, judging contests to be held at the American Livestock Exposition at Kansas City on November 12, and the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago on November 27. These men are as follows: J. E. Amos, head; R. E. Bowman, San Antonio; C. W. McDonald, Coleman; J. H. Floyd, Midland; P. Luckenbach, Amarillo and W. G. Coffin, Farmersville. The team is being coached by A. H. Groth, professor in the animal husbandry department of the college.

Only three colleges have won the present trophy being offered at the International exposition, on more than one occasion. These are Texas, Nebraska and Indiana. The winning of the trophy on three occasions will give permanent possession. The Texas team also won the trophy offered at the American Royal last year. The contests this year of special interest since Texas is the only state that possibly can win permanent possession of both trophies.

The team left the college last week, and went directly to the American Royal at Kansas City. During the

CITY CAMPAIGN IN HOUSTON IS HOT

MAYOR'S REAL ESTATE DEALS POINTED TO BY HIS OPPONENTS

HOUSTON, TEXAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Houston is in the midst of a campaign to choose a mayor and lesser city officers.

The election has been fixed for December 4. Mayor Oscar Holcombe is a candidate for re-election. He is opposed by Murray H. Jones, and Robert Cole, lawyers, and by T. L. Walker, automobile accessory dealer.

Holcombe has been mayor for three terms of two years each. Cole was his former campaign manager. Jones previously has been a candidate for the same office and Walker, a former railroad engineer, is regarded somewhat as seeking to be the candidate of labor.

Holcombe announced that he is running on his record and points to the great development of Houston during his terms of office. Cole and Jones point to a number of Holcombe's real estate deals during those periods and insist that they were unethical. Holcombe retorted with a detailed account of each and gave the sums for which he bought the properties and the prices for which he sold them. They showed a profit of several thousand dollars. Some of them were in the belts of city development. Cole and Jones point to that as one reason why Houston should have a mayor other than Holcombe. Holcombe retorted with names of persons with whom he dealt in real estate transactions and the dates and insisted if he knew of proposed development, he discussed it fully before sales were made to him.

A candidate for mayor will be chosen by preferential ballot under the city charter. Voters will signify first, second and third choices and the candidate having a majority will be the nominee. There will be no run off.

Under the city charter if no candidate has a clear majority of first choice votes, second choice votes are added to his total. For several years Houston voters have declined to exercise the privilege and have voted first choice only.

However, several years ago the voters elected a mayor on third choice votes. One candidate got more first choice votes than the others, another candidate more second choice and more first and second choice votes but neither had a majority. The third choice man who was low in first and second choice votes, was elected when third choice votes were counted, giving him a majority of the whole.

TO PLAN NEW BUILDING FOR STATE UNIVERSITY

(Special to The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15—Among the matters that are to be considered by the board of regents of the university of Texas at its special meeting to be held here November 24 are the awarding of the contract for the erection of the new power and heating plant and probably the authorizing of the drawing of plans and specifications for a new chemical building to replace the one which was recently burned. The power plant will cost approximately $250,000 and will be of size sufficient to supply heat and other requirements of not only the present buildings but those that may be erected upon the campus in the future.

The terms of Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, H. A. Wroe of Austin and Mart H. Houston of Galveston expire in January, and Governor Dan Moody will have the appointment of their successors.

LEARNING FIRST AID FOR CHICKENS

TEACHERS IN WEST TEXAS STUDY METHODS OF VACCINATING POULTRY

(Special to The Avalanche) CANYON, Nov. 15—West Texas is developing very rapidly into an important poultry producing section. The past year has seen a remarkable interest among the students in this school concerning poultry work. Many letters have come in from the parents of these students, as well as from other West Texas farms, asking for information concerning some of the disease control that we have had to deal with in the college flock.

Perhaps more requests have come asking for information concerning rosp than any other one disease. While the climate in this part of the state is such as will not encourage the growth of very many organisms, there is possibly an exception in the case of rosp. The sudden changes of temperature, especially when accompanied by cold rains, have caused considerable worry among poultrymen. This is made more difficult by the fact that the large number of sunny days prevents more poultry diseases and the average West Texas farmer is not familiar with sanitary methods practiced by poultrymen in other sections of the state.

Three years ago, the West Texas State Teachers College agricultural authorities began to experiment with rosp vaccination and they have been so successful that this year they are vaccinating all chickens belonging to the college farm against rosp. Also, the fifty-odd students who are studying poultry at the college are being given experience in administering rosp serum. It is expected that every student who takes any work in connection with poultry at the college this year will be able to demonstrate this kind of work in the community in which he teaches next year.

Mr. R. J. Woodruff, who has charge of the college poultry plant, is very enthusiastic concerning the future possibilities of preventing rosp in West Texas by means of serum.

109 GIRLS ATTEND C. I. A. WITH AID OF STUDENT LOANS

(Special to The Avalanche)

DENTON, TEXAS, Nov. 15—Approximately 109 girls are attending the College of Industrial Arts this year through the beneficence of the C. I. A. student loan fund, according to records in the auditor's office.

This fund is maintained principally through the efforts of the Y. W. C. A. Each Thanksgiving a bazaar which offers for sale student-made products is held. The proceeds are devoted to the student loan fund.

Ambitious students, without financial means, borrow money from the fund at a low rate of interest. Since the establishment of this system there has not been an instance where students have failed to pay back what they have borrowed.

ILL HEALTH SENDS W. T. COX TO DALLAS FOR TREATMENT

(Special to The Avalanche) LAMESA, Nov. 15—W. T. Cox, director of the Lamesa chamber of commerce band, tendered his resignation, effective at once, to the organization.

Mr. Cox is afflicted with high blood pressure and must seek special medical treatment. He will go from here to Dallas, where he will receive the treatment necessary for his ailment.

It will be remembered that Mr. Cox took charge of the Lamesa band the first of June this year and led it to first place honors in the four year class at Amarillo convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, soon thereafter.

Mr. Cox is recognized as one of Texas' foremost band leaders. He came to Lamesa from the Dallas Red Hausar band.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of cod liver oil, which is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, laryngitis, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today with narrow price fluctuations and without any definite trend in values. After opening five to 9 points down against the previous day, Liverpool cables that due and receding a few points more in the early trading mainly on some hedge selling until the price level was 9 to 12 points under the previous close, the market rallied on covering. First trades here showed losses of five to 5 points. The market continued to ease off after the start on hedge selling until by the end of the first hour December traded down to 12.45, January to 12.54 and March to 12.65, or 5 to 12 points below the close of Saturday.

Later in the morning the market rallied on covering and as there appeared to be a scarcity of offerings, prices recovered all of the early loss.
