White Men Chained to a Negro.

A Houston Chronicle special from Waco of recent date says:

Two white men chained to a negro were seen on the streets yesterday afternoon, the party being in charge of an officer who was going to the convict farm with the offenders. It developed that one of the white men was formerly a constable in one of the west Texas towns, holding a responsible place, but fell under eight charges of forgery; the other formerly traveled for a music house and drew a salary of $150 a month.

Boll Weevil Machines in Operation.

A boll weevil machine made a test of two rows 350 yards long of cotton on Pope's farm, near Granger, Saturday evening last and caught a flour sack half full of squares, small bolls, etc., among which grown boll weevils were thick. Out of a large lot of bolls and squares carefullly cut in two, only one was found that was not injured by the weevil and that would have made cotton.

Nine boll weevil catching machines have been received here in the last few days, seven of which went to the Norwegian settlement. Those who have received and used them are enthusiastic in their work, hardly stopping long enough to tell you what success they are having. The machines are being run day and night and are catching bugs of every description but a majority are boll weevils. Had these machines been secured earlier the boll weevils could have been kept thinned out and a fair crop of cotton raised. But it is most too late now, and if the machines pay for themselves this year the farmers will be satisfied.—Bee County Nugget.

The white house cook has a fearful responsibility; he fattens all the Presidents. Grant and Arthur both added largely to their wieght while occupants. Cleveland and McKinley got stout under the same roof; and now Mr. Roosevelt, in spite of his world-wide strenuousness and dangerous activity, has gained twenty-five pounds since he was Vice President.

COTTONSEED

The Value of its By-Products as Feedstuff.—Important Factor in the World's Markets.

We speak in behalf of southern farm product.

Every dollar added to the value of cotton seed meal increases the farm value of cotton seed. Extending the markets for cotton oil or the meal will add value to cotton seed. Cotton seed cannot increase in price merely because lint goes up. Cotton seed must stand or fall upon the recognized merits of its products—cotton oil, cotton seed meal, cotton seed hulls and linters. Farm and Ranch will have more to say of oil mill manipulation of the seed for increase of values in subsequent article.

Cotton seed had no market value until the oil mills made the products of cotton seed commercial articles. It must then follow as "night the day" that farm values of cotton seed will rise or fail with the prices of cotton seed products. Let us see if this be true of prevailing values

All persons familiar with the south in 1880 will recall the low value of cotton seed. In many regions of the south seed had no value. Up to that year the few oil mills in operation had found only an export market for the oil, little market for the meal, while hulls were used as fuel. Cotton seed sold for $4.50 to $6 per ton. It was suddenly discovered that southern cotton seed oil could be compounded with western, hog lard to produce a substitute for lard. Then followed the use of the oil in packing imported sardines and its use in artificial butter. Oil mills multiplied and the price of cotton seed grew and grew until it is now an important industry.

We called attention last week to the fact that the cotton seed oil and cotton seed meal values are fixed by foreign markets. According to the Tenth U. S. Census, more than half of all American cotton seed oil produced in 1900 was exported This was 46,902,000 gallons, and this is the normal situation. With cotton seed meal the case is even worse.

These facts concern the cotton farmer and the southern public in two ways:

First, we need to encourage home consumption to help the price of cotton seed; second, the farmer neglects his soil and injures his own pocket by reason of his failure to use cotton seed meal especially as a stock feed.

We had not published the article written for last week's issue, calling attention to the merits of cotton seed meal, before a letter came from a Kansas feeder, telling how he had used "one and one-half million pounds of cotton seed meal in the last few years, costing him $23 to $24 per ton" laid down in Kansas. He fed this with native hays instead of hulls. His system of feeding as told in his letter would be of greatest value to farmers living in the cotton belt if used with only slight changes. He closes by saying: "When we feed as high as eight or ten pounds of cotton seed meal one hunderd to one hundred and twenty-five days is about the limit of safety.. With a less ration, I know of no limit."

Farmers and feeders of the southwest would feel agrieved if any such prices as given above were asked for cotton seed meal in this section, yet we know from reliable experiments that normal prices for beef the meal can be fed with profit at $30 per ton. As poultry feed it can be profitably used at a much higher figure.

Farm and Ranch desires to show clearly the value of cotton seed meal because the meal is such an important part of cotton seed. Cotton seed meal represents 38 per cent of the total value of cotton seed. The oil of cotton seed brings one-half of all money received for the seed; the hulls represent 7.5 per cent of what the seed products will bring. There were 1,250,000 tons of Texas seed crushed in 1900, worth $13,600,000. Had the total cotton seed crop been crushed for oil and meal it would have sold for $20,800,000.

But the magnitude of this farm interest is not restricted to the figures quoted. The oil mills can do much to enhance or lend value to cotton seed. The campaign in favor of higher prices for lint cotton, begun two years since and carried forward with system by powerful agencies whose interest are closely allied with the fate of cotton growing, is fresh in the minds of many and is even now before the eyes of some who have a clear view of the situation. Cotton values go upward under these organized influences. The United States government is helping. The time was ripe for the movement because America is now spinning more cotton than any other country and had the right to control the world's cotton markets.

With cotton seed meal (and the oil) there is just now the same opportunity which should be taken at its flood.

One of the first things to be done is to secure the aid and co-operation of the National Department of Agriculture. Uncle Sam moves things—not only here, but in the world's markets. It is to his interest to aid the cotton grower and the cotton seed crusher in the campaign for American control of the cotton seed products markets. The government helps those who help themselves or try to do so. These cotton interests are powerful, precedents have been established, the time is ripe for a marked increase in domestic consumption of cotton seed meal and cotton seed oil.—Farm and Ranch.

Texas State Fair.

Owing to the impossibility of completing their auditorium and exposition buildings in due time and their inability to give their annual race meeting under the present racing laws of Texas, the stock-holders of the state fair of Texas will not undertake their usual fair this fall, but in lieu thereof, and in connection with the Grand Order of Kaliphs, they propose to entertain all visitors to their fair grounds with one of the greatest festivals of mirth and pleasure ever before given in the southwest, beginning October 8th and continuing for nine days.

The fair grounds will be filled with every variety of high class music and free attractions that money can buy and full satisfaction is guaranteed to every visitor for the price of his admission. Thirty-five thousand dollars have already been appropriated for this purpose and as much more will be added as may be necessary to make good this promise.

A cordial invitation is hereby extended the breeders and owners of live stock and poultry to attend this festival with the request that they bring with them everything they wish to sell.

No charge will be made for the use of barns, stables, stalls, pens or coops and the privilige to ship at once will be granted on every sale.

Space in these departments will be located and assigned upon application and may be occupied free of cost during the entire entertainment or vacated at the option of the occupant.

The same cordial invitation is hereby extended the farmer, the merchant, the mechanic, the laborer, and the home seeker, with the request that they bring with them their wives and their children and enjoy a pleasant outing from the busy cares of life with the assurance from the management that nothing will be left undone to make their visit one of such pleasure that it will be remembered by them for a long time to come.

Details and description of the different dates and attractions will be given latert hrough the press of Texas.

"A Toothsome Flavor."

True for you, there's a treat in the crisp, nutty, delicate sweet taste of the Grape-Nuts served with thick cream. (Don't spoil the food by trying to cook it. That work is done and perfectly done at the factories)

The cream should soften it a bit, but not enough to excuse the eater from a few good earnest "chews" for old Dame Nature sends rich blessings to the long chewer. Of course the one with weak teeth can soften the food with milk down to a mush if necessary but the good old Dame doesn't smile quite so cheerfully on them.

You know children and adults must use the teeth and grind freely to make them grow strong and to preserve them. Then the act of chewing brings down the much needed saliva from the gums, and that helps amazingly in the digestion of foods of various kinds.

The saliva is not so much required with Grape-Nuts, for this food is pre-digested, that is the starch turned into a form of sugar in the process of making and that helps give it the fascinating flavor.

Grape-Nuts people are healthy and enjoy good things. "There's a reason."

SECOND DAY'S BATTLE

Russians Made a Number of Charges With Bayonets.

SHAVED BY SHELLS.

Fort at Tungkia Tashan Destroyed by the Japanese, Who Then Proceeded to Mount Guns Upon a Hill.

Liao Yang, Sept. 1.—The second day's battle commenced at dawn. The Russians made repeated bayonet advances in the road directly south of Liao Yang, where the Japanese approached from San Quashin and Tao, shelling the Russian line until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the engagement was general throughout the south and southeast, narrowed to the main line. The Japanese advance on the southeast was by way of Feng Wang Cheng road, immediately in front of Chiafantun.

The Japanese stubbornly attempted to occupy a road-topped hill, which was literally shaved by the Russian shells, making repeated attempts the entire day, where, apparently, it was impossible for anything to live. The cannonading continued from this point to the vicinity of Wanghoatai until Wednesday afternoon without apparent advantage to either side. The Japanese dropped shells within two or three miles of the railroad station in the plain of Wentshu mountain, which is the most important eminence around Liao Yang, but the Japanese abandoned aggression there on account of the resistance they met. There was cannon fire Tuesday night, and this is expected nightly. The varied casualties here include one Russian war correspondent and also twenty-five Chinese women from Chiaofantun, whom Dr. Westwater, the distinguished missionary, is caring for in the Red Cross refugee hospital. The day's developments show that the Russians are prepared for all emergencies. Slow rain began to fall at noon, gradually transforming the plain into a wilderness, through which the wounded in carts and walking, made their way to the hospitals. Considering the scale of the day's operations, the number of Russian wounded is comparatively small, while the Japanese losses are believed to be great, especially where they were repulsed on the south road.

The Russians have effected an advance along the railway to the southward.

The fort at Tungkia Tashan was destroyed by the Japanese, who proceeded to mount guns on an adjoining hill.

The reported presence of Russians in the Itzshan hills has been confirmed.

RESULTS SO FAR.

St. Petersburg Advices Say the Russians Have Been Successful.

New York, Sept. 1.—A Liao Yang dispatch, filed at 5:21 p. m., Wednesday, said that the Japanese were getting around the Russian left flank, while a later dispatch stated that the Russians had effected an advance along the railway to the southward, from which direction the Russians retreated before the battle of Liao Yang was begun.

Reports reaching St. Petersburg are to the effect that the results so far have been favorable to the Russians.

The dispatches estimate the Japanese force at about 240,000 men and the Russians at from 170,000 to 200,000 men, with from 600 to 1000 guns engaged on each side. No news regarding the Liao Yang battle has been received from Japanese sources.

A dispatch received late Wednesday afternoon from Liao Yang told of repeated bayonet advances on the road directly south of Liao Yang, where the Russians shelled the Japanese positions until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the engagement, which was general throughout the south and southwest, narrowed to the main line. The cannonading continued until evening without advantage to either side.

No Change of Plans.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—The Associated Press is enabled to speak authoritatively that there has been no change of plans regarding the Baltic squadron on account of the result of the open sea fight off Port Arthur Aug. 10. The maneuvering and firing of the ships have been completely successful, and the squadron has now returned to Cronstadt to await the finishing touches of the battleship Orel and the cruisers Oleg, Izimrud and Jemtchug.

Cortelyou and Crane.

New York, Sept. 1.—Chairman Cortelyou, former Governor Crane of Massachusetts and National Committeeman Booker of Connecticut Wednesday had a conference regarding the situation in the New England states.

BLOWN TO PIECES.

Every Bone In Man's Body Broken, and Two Brothers Injured.

Lawton, Okla., Sept. 1.—At Carnegie the Brewster threshing machine engine was blown to pieces, killing George Brewster and fatally injuring his brother Byron, who was standing on the rear platform of the engine. Every bone in George's body was broken, and he was thrown fifty yards away. A third brother was badly scalded. Both ends blew out of the boiler and a piece of heavy iron was thrown through the siding of a house 100 yeards away.

WILL NOT STRIKE.

Switchmen and Trainmen Decided to Remain at Work.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—At a meeting on Wednesday night of union switchmen and trainmen it was decided that members of both organizations should continue at work.

POSITIONS RETAKEN.

General Sakharoff Tells of the Sixteen Hour's Fighting.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Lieutenant General Sakharoff, telegraphing to the general staff at the conclusion of Tuesday's sixteen hours' fighting around Liao Yang, estimates the Russian casualties througnout the day at 3000. The battle ended at night, when many positions occupied by the Japanese were retaken and again held by the Russians. The report from Lieutenant General Sakharoff is as follows:

"From 5 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night the Japanese forces attacked our frontal positions before Liao Yang and on the left bank of the Taitse river. Both their artillery and rifle fire were intense. Their main efforts were directed against our center positions and left flank, but the numerous attacks were repulsed along the whole line. Our troops made several counter attacks, culminating in bayonet fighting.

"Many positions which had been occupied by Japanese were retaken at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. During the artillery attack our batteries did very effective work. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon the enemy was observed attempting to turn our right flank with considerable forces, but several battalions of reserves advanced and after a ficere engagement checked the Japanese and compelled them to retire. The battle was continued until after dark and only ended at 9 o'clock. The spirit of our troops was excellent and the men rejoiced over the news of the heroic behavior of the garrison at Port Arthur, repulsing the Japanese attacks. Our casualities Tuesday were considerable, reaching about 3000. The Japanese losses must have been heavy."

FILLED WITH JOY.

Rejoice Because the Russians Took Forty-Six Cannon.

Liao Yang, Sept. 1.—The town has been filled with joy owing to the report that the Russians took forty-six cannon Tuesday. The Japanese assault on the Russians was desperate in the extreme. The Japanese loss was very great. The attack was sustained mainly by the Eighth Siberian regiment. The fighting at Wafangow cannot be compared with what occurred Tuesday. Shells shrieked over the town from early morning. People who occupied positions on house tops had a magnificent spectacle.

Got Two Battalions.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Mukden says it is reported there that General Samsonoff captured two Japanese battalions. The telegraph department ieclares that communication with Lio Yang is not interrupted.

Battle Resumed.

Liao Yang, Sept. 1.—Battle was resumed at dawn with rifle fire in the southwest. There was desultory firing all Tuesday night. The attack of the Japanese Tuesday were made at 7 p. m. on the Feng Wang Cheng road.

Station Dismantled.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The state department received a cablegram from Consul General Fowler at Chefoo saying the Russian wireless telegraph station there had been dismantled.

ORDERED OUT.

Donnelly Demands That Butchers Cease Their Labors.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—President Donnelly has ordered 1500 butcher workmen employed in the independent packing plants to cease work. He said of these men continued slaughtering cattle they would be handling stock previously looked after by men who took the places of stock handlers selected to quit work. The manager of the Union Stockyards and Transit company said that in anticipation of the strike of the stock handlers enough men had been in training to take the places of the hands selected to quit work.

A famine in meat is declared by the strikers to be probable, the result of their new move in the strike against the packers. Orders have been issued for a general strike of all butcher workmen throughout the country. The order affecting about 2000 in Chicago and ten independent plants. The order, if observed, will also affect the independent plants in the following cities: East St. Louis, Omaha, St. Louis, Kansas City, Sioux City, New York, Milwaukee, Syracuse and 100 small plants throughout the country which employ from ten to twenty men. Altogether, the union officials assert, 15,000 men will go out and the meat supply will be seriously crippled, leaving as the only supply the output of big packers by non-union help.

The pickets surrounding the yards were largely increased, the yards being watched for several blocks away. Strike breakers were warned not to leave the yards, as there is an ugly feeling existing against them. At 10 o'clock Wednesday 600 stock handlers in the stockyards quit work.

No Sunday Shaving.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 1.—Union barbers of this city have notified the boss barbers that after Sept. 11 they will do no more Sunday shaving. The chief of police will be asked to help close the shops.

ATTACKERS REPULSED

Russians Were Successful in Holding Back Antagonists.

BATTLE WAS DIVIDED

There Were Two Periods to the Engagement, the Second One Beginning at Four O'clock In the Afternoon.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Success crowned the Russian arms the first day of the great battle of Liao Yang and the utmost confidence prevails here that the issue of the fight will be a complete victory for General Kuropatkin. From dawn until darkness Tuesday the battle raged, first in the center and left and then on the right of the Russian line. The Japanese charged gallantly and desperately in an effort to break the center and then in the afternoon came the movement against the opposite flank. This attack was delivered from the west, but General Kuropatkin evidently anticipated just what happened, for he not only met and repulsed it, but actually was able by superior force to overlap and envelop the Japanese. At night both armies bivouacked in their positions. No Russian general officers fell. General Kuropatkin's forces occupied positions forming a semi-circle about Liao Yang, the flanks resting on the Taitse river, east and west of the city. The battle divided itself into two periods. After a preliminary bombardment of the Russian lines on the right and center the Japanese infantry advanced to attack, charging the Russian center.

Although repeatedly checked they came on with bulldog tenacity, hurling themselves against the Russian positions with bayonets. There were many bloody hand-to-hand encounters. By noon the Japanese had actually succeeded in occupying a portion of the Russian trenches. Then General Kuropatkin sent forward some reserves, delivering a series of counter attacks, recaptured the lost positions and drove back the Japanese all along the line.

The attack on the center having failed, the second half of the fight began at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the Japanese tried to turn and roll up the Russian right. Here also they failed, but only after a desperate struggle, which continued until 9 o'clock t night. Reserves dispatched in time by General Kuropatkin at last succeeded not only in checking the Japanese, but enveloping and driving them back in confusion.

The Japanese flank movement from the west began Monday from Chandalpudzi, three miles southeast of Shakhe, which is eleven miles northwest of Liao Yang. One of the striking features of the battle was the splendid work of the Russian artillery, in which the Japanese had heretofore excelled.

In a dispatch late Tuesday night by one of the Associated Press Russian correspondents he says the report was current in Liao Yang that forty-six Japanese guns were captured during the day. There was great rejoicing at St. Petersburg over the news on the bulletin boards. Dispatches posted there were surrounded by eager crowds. Officials at the office, although they had not yet received advices in regard to events, were in high spirits. The Japanese, who have been continuously advancing for a week, are now said to be utterly exhausted, after Tuesday's unsuccessful fighting, and no doubt exists here if the opportunity offers General Kuropatkin has not failed to follow up the advantage he achieved.

WIRES CUT.

Only Reason Given For the Absence of Further War News.

New York, Sept. 1.—The entire absence of news from the battlefield near Liao Yang up to noon Wednesday was not explained by any advices from either St. Petersburg or Tokio. At noon Wednesday here it was midnight in Manchuria, but no word had been received of events since 9 o'clock Tuesday night, when it was stated the fierce battle which raged all Tuesday ceased at 9 o'clock and both armies bivouacked on the field. The only surmise to be drawn from this absence of both press dispatches and official reports is the telegraph line has been cut north of Liao Yang. General Sakharoff Tuesday reported a large Japanese force advancing northward along the Taitse river west of the railroad. Such movement, if accomplished, would interpose this force between Liao Yang, the Russian base ,and Mukden, and cut Kuropatkin's communication northward. Added probability is given this surmise by the fact that Tuesday the Associated Press received almost hourly dispatches from Liao Yang, one timed at 6:49 p. m. detailing the battle up to that hour, being received at New York at 1:15 p. m., while up to noon Wednesday no advices had been received. The announcement that activities were resumed at daybreak Wednesday must, therefore, be an invention.

SUSPECTED SPIES.

Two Japanese Residents of St. Petersburg Have Been Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Grand Duke Boris, who arrived at St. Petersburg Tuesday, returns to the front in three weeks.

Two Japanese residents of this city have been arrested as spies. It is said some letters seized on board the North German Lloyd steamer Prinz Heinrich in July last by the volunteer fleet steamer Smolensk, was from them.

M. Olginsky, one of the Associated Press Russian correspondents, has been decorated with the Order of St. Anne for bravery on the field of battle while with General Mistchenkoff.

SHRAPNEL SHOWER.

For Four Hours Tuesday It Was Raining Fiercely.

Liao Yang, Aug. 31.—From 5 o'clock Tuesday morning up to 9 o'clock there was an incessant shower of shrapnel. The sound of cannonading came from the south, where the Japanese evidently have numerous guns. Deadly shells were bursting everywhere, their white smoke being distinctly traceable against the dark foliage on the mountain sides. The Japanese are searching the whole countryside with fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments they mass a hail of shot and shell from all their guns. They then pass another square, thus working the whole field with mathematical precision from right to left. In this way the entire Russian front has been systematically searched in the first four hours of cannonading. Then commenced the general Japanese advance along the whole line. At 10 o'clock Tuesday the Japanese artillery fire was somewhat slackened but the infantry was steadily pushing forward. The Russians held their ground gallantly and losses Tuesday morning were small, considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire.

REPULSED JAPS.

Latter Were Hurled Back at the Points of Many Bayonets.

London, Aug. 31.—A dispatch from Liao Yang to a news agency dated Aug. 30, says:

The Japanese artillery fire only ceased at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. The casualties have not yet been ascertained. The Third Russian corps repulsed a hot Japanese assault, the Japanese being hurled back by bayonet charges, first by the Twenty-third and then by the Twenty-fourth regiments, which received and repulsed the enemy no less than six times. Two Japanese companies which succeeded in occupying a Tussian position were mistaken for Rursians and annihilated by Japanese artillery fire.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Japanese concentrated their fire on a Russian Southern detachment and also tried to outflank the detachment from the right under the protection of the batteries.

One company after another was noticed running swiftly to the westward in an attempt to outflank the positions, but a Russian regiment and a battery were ordered to advance and succeeded in forcing the enemy to retreat in disorder, evacuating positions they previously had gained.

There has been an immense expenditure of ammunition throughout the day, especially on the southern front, against the Russian Third corps.

It is believed that the Russian losses so far have not been very heavy, except to the regiments which sustained the bayonet charges. All the men serving one Russian gun, except one, were killed by shrapnel. The survivor, who was badly wounded, heroicly brought his gun to headquarters and even then refused to quit his place until the general peremptorily ordered him into the hospital.

It seems that General Kuroki's force did not participate in Tuesday's engagement.

MIKADO'S BIRTHDAY.

Russian Army Expected a General Advance Upon Liao Yang.

Liao Yang, Aug. 31.—Tuesday was the anniversary of the birth of the Japanese emperor and the Russian army expected a general advance upon Liao Yang. Everybody was keyed up for the long awaited moment. From early morning until noon Monday in Liao Yang could be heard the dull rumble of distant guns. Then a lull for four hours ensued, when suddenly the firing was reopened to the southeast heavier and nearer than before and continued with but little intermission until darkness fell.

FORMER SULTAN DEAD.

Death Was Due to Diabetes, From Which He Long Suffered.

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—Former Sultan Murad V. is dead from diabetes, from which he long suffered.

It was reported in May last from Vienna that Murad V., thirty-third sovereign of the house of Osman, was dying, and at the same time it was reported from the same source that his adherents all over Turkey, known as young Turks, were secretly arming, and only awaited the signal to rise in insurrection. Murad V. was born in 1840 and ascended the throne after the murder of Sultan Abdul Aziz, in May, 1876. In July of that year Murad was placed under the regency of his brother, the present sultan, Abdul Hammed II., and Aug. 31 he was dethroned. Outwardly this act was performed legally by the council of ministers on the ground that he was insane. The real facts in the case, however, will probably never be known, but it has been claimed Murad was a good deal more sane than his brother, and one of the greatest terror's of Abdul Hammed's existence was the fear that this Turkish "man with the iron mask," as he had been termed, might escape from his place of confinement in Cheragen palace and some six years ago he was removed to Malta Kiosk, the grounds of Yildiz palace, occupied by Abdul Hammed, which is surrounded by lofty walls.

KENTUCKY LYNCHING.

Body of Negro Who Tried to Rape White Girl Thrown Into River.

Nashville, Aug. 31.—A special to the Banner from Hickman, Ky., says that Joseph Bumpass, a negro, who attempted rape upon Miss Topsy Clay, aged fifteen, a white girl, in this county, was captured by a posse of citizens and landed in jail. He was taken from that institution by a mob and lynched. His body was thrown into the Ohio river.

A colony of 100 Bohemian families will locate near Corpus Christi.

jaw that sent Munroe to the Jeffries went back to his cor the opening round with a sneer and a laugh on his swarthy face, while Munroe's seconds busied themselves with smelling salts and restoratives. When the two came together for the second round the laugh on the champion's visage changed to a look of determination that boded ill to the miner.

Forty-five seconds after the gong sounded Munroe was lying on the floor a bloody, bruised mass of humanity, with Jeffries standing over him ready, if necessary, to put on the quietus to the championship ambitions of his adversary. The miner was too dazed to rise to his feet, and the timekeepers counted him out, but the husky man from southern California did not understand that the victory was already his, nor did Munroe realize that his pugilistic star had so early set, and the two men ,in a moment or two, were facing one another, and Jeffries landed a terrific blow on the jaw, staggering his opponent.

Munroe tottered to his corner with blood streaming from his face and fell into his chair, dazed and helpless. His seconds immediately began working on him to freshen him, and when he came to a realization that the fight had gone against him he arose, and going over to Referee Graney, began to protest. The huge crowd understood that from his protesting gesticulations, etc., the purport of his talk to Graney, and a mighty volume of jeering and hissing evidenced the sentiment of the spectators, many of whom had placed money on the miner that he would stay at least double the number of rounds before the champion.

From the bell at the commencement of the battle to the time the count of ten had been finally uttered only four minutes and forty-five seconds had elapsed. The fight demonstrated, if nothing else, that the world has yet to produce a pugilist who will displace James J. Jeffries as champion of the world.

A great throng witnessed the contest. Estimates of the number in attendance range from 7000 to 8000, and it is believed the gate receipts will approximate $35,000.

The miner's showing was a disappointment to those who had the confidence that he would at least repeat in some degree his performance in Butte, when Jeffries afiled to put him out in four rounds. In the first few moments of the opening round he made some show of aggressiveness, but that he was thoroughly scared was evident from the manner in which he broke ground and awkwardly endeavored to save himself when Jeffries advanced toward him.

Jeffries did not extend himself at any time of the short contest, nor did he deliver a blow that required the full strength of his powerful arm. The shots that sent the miner down were of the short-arm variety that found easy lodgment on the jaw of the man from Butte, but there must have been terrific impact behind them which was shown the way the 200 pounds of flesh went down with a thud on the canvass.

A Dead Moose.

When a bull moose lies dead in the forest he looks like some strange antediluvian animal, with his square prehensile muffle and horns spreading laterally, a peculiarity which he shares with the prehistoric Irish elk and the nearly extinct European elk of later times. The huge form tells of strength and swiftness, and withal the still dangerous gleam of the eye, glazed in its last stare, bids the hunter pause and feel almost guilty of a crime in the destruction of so much that is grand and weird, a feeling very different from the sentiment supposed to attend the slaughter of a deer. But the triumph of mastering the wariest and bravest animal in the woods by fair still hunting and by grimly sticking to the track for many a weary mile amply atones for any regrets.—Century.

Sneak Thieves In Churches.

An old sexton was discussing the amount of stealing that is done in churches. "Scarcely a day passes," he said, "when the church is open without some distracted woman coming to me bowed down with grief because somebody has stolen her purse. The thief watches until the woman is deep in prayer and then leans over, grasps the purse and sneaks out."—Philadelphia Record.

CONCEALED FORTS.

These Are Being Constructed by the Congo Free State.

Cape Town, Sept. 1.—Official information from British Central Africa says that the Congo Free State is constructing concealed forts of considerable magnitude on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika, and that one of these forts, which is equipped with twenty guns, is within two hours of the German frontier. It is believed that the Belgians apprehend a German invasion. A number of natives who are German subjects have been expelled from the Congo Free State.

It is understood negotiations regarding the matter are now proceeding between Berlin and Brussels.

The west shore of Lake Tanganyika belongs to the Congo Free State, the south shore to British Central America and the east shore to German East Africa. The area of the lake is estimated at 14,000 square miles.

DECISIVE ENGAGEMENT

Anticipated Attack Upon Kuropatkin Has Begun.

OUTPOSTS FALL BACK

Tuesday Being the Birthday of the Mikado, the Japanese Celebrate Event by Advancing Toward Liao Yang.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The long expected battle at Liao Yang has begun and the two armies are now fighting what will probably prove to be the decisive battle of the campaign. The Japanese armies are attacking General Kuropatkin's forces upon chosen ground and his friends and admirers here are confident that he having accepted the general engagement, will defeat the Japanese. In a brief telegram received Tuesday morning Kuropatkin says the general advance of the Japanese began Monday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the main lines. The heaviest fighting took place when the dispatch was sent from a point ten miles southeast of Liao Yang, where the Japanese seemed to be concentrating for the main blow. The Russians suffered principally from the shrapnel fire of Japanese artillery. The Japanese selected the mikado's birthday for the decisive battle and it was thought here the day would also be signalized by a grand assault on Port Arthur.

The combined armies of Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu will probably exceed 200,000 men. Their forces are considerably superior in numbers to General Kuropatkin's, but the Russian commander in chief probably relies upon the strength and character of his position to overcome the disparity in numbers. The war office is awaited Tuesday with breathless anxiety for news of the progress and issue of the battle on which so much depends.

FOUGHT ALL DAY.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—The great battle of Liao Yang, which began early Tuesday morning, raged throughout the day with increasing intensity, but up to 3:55 o'clock Wednesday morning no further official details beyond the brief telegram given out in the afternoon had been received by the war office.

Every confidence is expressed by General Kuropatkin's ability to meet the Japanese assault on the ground of his own choosing, but the city is hungrily awaiting further news of the progress of the fight.

The Japanese forces engaged in this battle can only be estimated here, but they are believed to number about 200,000 men. General Kuropatkin is known to have six army corps besides 147 squadrons of cavalry, in which great confidence is reposed, bringing up the Russian total to about the same number that the Japanese have.

How the armies compare with regard to artillery is not definitely known, though throughout the war the Japanese have shown great preference for this arm and skill in its use.

Reports from the front credit the Japanese with having about 1200 guns and many mountain batteries, and it is known that they recently shipped twenty-four heavy guns to Yinkow. Four of these guns already have been mentioned in these dispatches as being in action.

General Kuropatkin, in addition to his field batteries, has a number of very heavy guns placed at important positions at Liao Yang, where the Russians have been strongly fortifying for some time.

The Japanese claim to have captured two field batteries during the past two days. Russian official accounts admit the loss of only six guns.

WALL SCALED.

Japanese Climb It In Spite of Fearful Firing.

Chefoo, Aug. 31.—Port Arthur Novi Krai, in its issue of Aug. 27 says that following a three days' assault on Port Arthur the Japanese rested during the daytime Aug. 23, but at 11 o'clock that night they concentrated a strong force to attack Zarodoutni fort, which is a strong position on the Russian right flank. The Japanese made clever use of the available cover, creeping forward in Indian fashion for one hour in spite of the Russian fire. Midnight found them properly formed within striking distance of the fortifications. They then made a powerful rush, but were mowed down in all but one quarter, where a body of Japanese succeeded in entering the fort over the dead bodies of their comrades, but nearly all were bayonted inside the fort. The remnant retired, losing several as they fled. After repulsing the enemy the Russian troops cheered.

The Japanese seacrhlights showed ghostly heaps of dead, like magic lantern pictures.

The Japanese soon were reinforced and renewed the attack furiously, but again were repulsed. The Novi Krai soberly asserts that the Japanese troops were forced forward by their own shrapnel fire, the guns having been placed behind them to prevent a retreat.

A third attempt to capture the position also failed.

Snow In Minnesota.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 30.—A fall of snow, the first of the season, occurred at Virginia Monday. It lasted but a short time after the sun rose. Crops, flowers and garden produce were damaged in the country immediately surrounding Virginia, and heavy frosts are reported from other western range points.

POLITICAL FRACAS.

One of the Participants Killed and the Other Escapes.

New York, Sept. 1.—John Deikler, a well-to-do builder, was shot and killed early Wednesday near his home in Glendale, borough of Queens, by an unidentified man, with whom, the police said, he had engaged in a quarrel over politics. Deikler left home early in the evening. Some hours later his wife and residents of the neighborhood were startled by three shots. Mrs. Deikler ran to the street, where she found her husband dying from a bullet wound in his head. Two of the shots went wild. A posse was quickly organized, but the assassin escaped, leaving no clue.

Boxerism Revived.

Shanghai, Sept. 1.—A revival of boxerism is reported from Tamingfu, in the southwestern part of Pe Chi Li province, twenty-one miles from Tien Tsin. Over twenty American missionaries, including women and children, have been obliged to evacuate Tamingfu owing to the intended massacre of the present boxers, who call themselves "Tsiayun."

DRUG HOUSE FIRE.

Large Dallas Establishment Sustains Considerable Loss.

Dallas, Sept. 1.—The J. W. Crowdus Drug company building caught on fire Wednesday morning and considerable damage was done to the stock. The loss may amount to $15,000. The building, which is a new structure, was not seriously damaged.

Negro Business League.

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—The fifth annual convention of the National Negro Business League opened Wednesday in Tomlinson hall. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Holtzman, John W. Kern and A. E. Manning, the last named representing the local negro population. Booker T. Washington responded. Annual address of President Washington was delivered at night. The audience was composed of 3500 whites and blacks.

Lumber Mills Burn.

Houston, Sept. 1.—The Trinity River Lumber mills, at Groveton, burned Wednesday morning. Loss is about $150,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. This is the third large lumber mill in east Texas to burn within ten days.

J. S. DALEY,....PUBLISHER AND FOUNDER

DUBLIN, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPT. 2, 1904.

James S. Hogg made the mistake of his life at Houston. While democrats are everywhere joining in words of admiration and praise for Parker, the democratic nominee for president, and see in him a statesman worthy of highest honor, Hogg praises Roosevelt and dubs Parker "the lock-jawed judge." It is not so bad on Parker but it shows Hogg up in a bad light.—Hamilton Herald.

The Herald editor was a Clark man when Hogg was not for Clark; the Herald man was also for Cleveland when Hogg was against him, Hogg was an admirer of Bryan when the Herald editor was more favorable to Cleveland and in fact there are so many points of difference in the ideas of Hogg and those of the Herald editor that it is not surprising that they differ in regard to Parker, who is practically a self confessed political mountebank who makes vaccilation a chief portion of his political creed. Bryan says he obtained his nominaton through fraud and Hogg practically says the same thing and either of these gentlemen are nearer to the people than is Parker and they are so well known by the people of Texas that even the bull whip of democratic organization cannot move the cuticle from them nor cause them to take "back water" on what they are convinced they are right about.

We see that Clarence Nugent has been nominated for governor by the populists. Wonder what he'll do about it. It is our understanding that Clarence has gone over to the democrats. Will some Erath county friend enlighten us on this point?—Hamilton Herald.

The Herald's understanding regarding this matter is on a par with its general understanding of matters political—somewhat muddy and altogether incorrect. In this instance however the editor is to be congratulated upon his expressed desire to be correctly informed, a pleasing diversion from usual democratic desires—in which the Herald editor is a past master. Mr. Nugent was nominated for lieutenant governor instead of for goveronr by the populists and Mr. Nugent is a populist and not a democrat.

Wall Street is for Roosevelt and against Judge Parker.—Hamilton Herald.

Reports from the quarters mentioned doesn't justify the assertion. Wall Street is the only section of the country heartily favoring Parker; the south is for Parker only because of the ultimatum of the bosses.

Occasional Notes.

Prof. Howard, of the University of Chicago, has given that institution a library of 1,700 volumes on "Matrimonial Institutions." These books relate to the subject of marriage, divorce, and the family, and the collection is the largest of its kind in the world. And there is no place in the world, probably, where such a library is needed, more than in Chicago.

A Russian artist having sold to his government a picture for $50,000 gave half of that sum to help on the war.

If forest fires in the Black Hills and other regions of the far west can be made to operate an automatic wireless telegraph, so as to notify the forest rangers and get out the fire engines, as Secretary Wilson anticipates, why not use the same means for forfeiting the approach of storms, and other similar information.

The crops all through Oklahoma and the Indian Territory are reported to be unusually good this year.

It is cheering to know that somebody is prosperous.

Extensive excavations are going on in Washington, D. C., on the famous Mall for the building of the new national museum and for green houses for the department of agriculture. These take the place of the old ones which have to be removed to make room for the new buildings of that department. Many beautiful trees have been destroyed for these improvements, and a charming pond full of locus blossoms was filled up and wiped out.

The South American ant which was to eat up all the cotton boll weevils in Texas is not altogether fulfilling expectations. It seems it will not dig for the weevil, but kills it only as an incidental diversion while on its way for the nectar of the cotton blossom.

Automobilists run so recklessly over the roads of New England and York State, and rush so strenuously through the towns and cities, disregarding all laws, that it is becoming positively dangerous to ride on the machines. People have in many instances taken the law into their own hands, and now it is quite common for the automobile to be fired at or become a target for a bomb.

From all accounts there is a commercial and industrial depression in England. It is said that the antiquated methods practised in that country hurt more than anything else. America forges ahead because she is up to date.

Recently in Washington both Secretary Hay and Assistant Secretary Loomis were out of the city, and Acting Secretary Adee, who is a little hard of hearing, had retired for the night. So it did no good to ring the door bell and it was quite impossible to say what America intended to do with the Russian war ships in Chinese waters.

In Connecticut not long since, the tire of a big automibile burst; the machine swerved and struck a trolly; it then jumped over a telegraph pole and came down bottom side up The occupants got mixed up with the wires, wheels, poles and trolley cars, and were found unconscious.

Tom Taggart, democratic campaign manager, and Tom Tibbles, populist candidate for vice-president, have names which class with those that Dickens picked up in Whitechapel. Perhaps election day will give them another classification.

Many American newspapers are publishing a table giving the expense of carrying on the governments of the different nations of the world, and showing that the cost of the United States government is less than that of any other nation, being about one-third that of Great Britain. This shows what figures can do. The table does not at all take account of the fact that three-quarters of the expense of our government is borne by states, cities, counties and towns, instead of being charged up to a central exchequer as in the case of England, France, Germany etc.

Cloths For Presents In Japan.

Of one singularly attractive and decorative detail of Japanese daily life little is known in this country. Yet it touches all classes, from nobles to coolies—the use of present cloths. These are squares of all sorts of materials, from twenty inches to two yards across. They are used to tie up the gifts which are exchanged on all possible occasions. After the presentation of the gift the cloth is removed and returned to the giver by a servant. These cloths are handed down from generation to generation, and among them are found some of the finest specimens of the old embroidery and dyeing. Many of the square pieces of Japanese embroidery used in this country for pillow and table covers were originally used as coverings for presents.—House Beautiful

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite, if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Overton Drug Co.

AT BUENA VISTA.

The Only Preparations General Taylor Made For Defeat.

Santa Anna was the greatest military leader the Mexicans have ever known. Santa Anna with 25,000 veterans went to the battle of Buena Vista with the avowed purpose of exterminating the entire army of the United States, and there was no doubt in the mind of Santa Anna that this great feat could be accomplished with comparative ease. General Taylor, with his 5,000 men, prepared for the unequal contest, and not only defended himself successfully, but won a substantial victory from his aggressive antagonists and drove them from the battlefield of Buena Vista.

Some time after the battle was fought and the Mexican war concluded General Taylor was criticised for having made no preparations for the retreat of his army in the event of defeat. General Taylor promptly replied: "I made every preparation necessary for the battle of Buena Vista. I wrote my will, and so did nearly every man in my army. If we had not won that battle, we would have needed no lines of retreat. It was, from our standpoint, victory or annihilation. The only preparation necessary for the contingency of defeat at Buena Vista was that we should write our wills."

Vividly Described.

The reporter from whose account of a fire the following is quoted must himself, says the representative of a rival journal, have been in great danger of being consumed by the fire of his own eloquence:

"The water seemed to spur the fire to wilder deeds. The flames and the smoke rolled higher and higher, and the scene became luridly, awfully magnificent, beyond tottering words' power to paint. It was a canto of Dante's 'Inferno' acted in all its fiery pomp and splendor. Banners of flame would now be waved out by dark smoke bands, then ten million curling little pennons of the fire would hiss and flutter, then vanish, and a great reeling tower of smoke, whose darkness was stabbed and spangled with flames and sparks, would fill the buildings, grimly shoot back from reflected surfaces a crimson greeting, and up in the far-off sky the outglistened stars turned pale for shame and the moon through the drifted smoke glowed like a bowl of blood."

THE GUATEMALAN ANTS

Habits of Boll Weevil's Enemy Being Studied.

SEVERAL FACTS DETERMINED.

Weevils Only Attacked When They Move—Imported Colonies Are Multiplying Rapidly—Texas Ants Killed by Foreign Variety—Plan to Establish Colonies Near Victoria, Tex.

There is a great demand for the Guatemalan ants from the cotton planters of Texas, but the government entomologists are to keep the imported colonies carefully during the remainder of the season and through the winter to see what their habits are, says a dispatch from Houston to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The ants are in the government laboratory at Victoria under the direction of Dr. Hunter, in charge of that branch of the government work in Texas; Entomologist Cook, who brought the insects from Guatemala, and Professor Lowton, curator of the civic museum of Philadelphia, who is at present engaged in the government work in Texas.

The ants were brought into Texas in bottles, the heart of the nest with the queen cell having been carefully incased and Guatemalan dirt placed in the jar. The colonies have multiplied greatly since the ants were put in the bottles, and Entomologist Cook arrived with about 6,000 healthy specimens, divided into eighty-nine colonies.

Several facts have already been determined in the experiments which are being conducted. It has been found that the ants will not seek the weevil, but that when they run across a moving insect they will at once attack. The weevil plays possum, and so long as it stays perfectly still the ants crawl over and around it without any attempt at molestation. When a weevil moves it is at once seized and an effort made to force back its head that the ant may get its sting on the exposed flesh of the neck, the armor of the weevil protecting its body elsewhere. If one ant is not sufficiently strong for this work it is assisted by a fellow, there appearing to be perfect harmony between them and an understanding as to how to work together. So far no weevil has been found to escape when once attacked.

There being a fear that perhaps the imported ant would not be able to hold its own against the native red ants, which are generally considered as being vicious, a number of them were procured and placed in a nest of the Guatemalans. The result was ascertained within a very few seconds, the Texans being wiped out and put in storage as food. Inasmuch as the Texas ants are generally regarded as a nuisance by the farmer, the Guatemalans may prove a relief from them as well as from the weevils.

It has been further ascertained that the ants frequent the cotton plants for the nectar thereof. They appear to be very fond of this secretion and so are the boll weevils. The ants swarm over the cotton plant and attack the weevil as quickly as found, seeming to prefer the insect food to the nectar.

It is proposed to establish colonies of the ants on the farm near Victoria controlled by the government for experimental purposes. The plan is to inclose a space about twelve feet square and to establish a colony at each corner thereof. The nests now contained in the botties will be taken therefrom and set in the ground, it being the hope that the ants will at once resume their normal habits and go to housekeeping without loss of time. Thick stakes and sheets of tin will be sunk into the ground to such depth as will make it as certain as may be that the ants cannot burrow beneath them, and the tin will be extended upward to the stockade. Here they will be fed on cotton plants within the inclosure, so that the ants may be at liberty to attack them without having the task forced upon them. The study of the habits of the insects will be maintained at all times and an accurate log kept. They will be observed at night as well as by day to determine their nocturnal habits.

It is expected that they will hibernate during the winter, as do the native varieties, but the latter have some bad habits which will be looked for in the visitors. Arrangements will be made to so construct at least one of the colonies that a portion of its interior may be observed from time to time.

There will be nothing further done about the injunction asked by Ross Clark. Dr. Hunter has given his personal pledge that there shall be no liberation of the ants until it has been definitely determined that there is no danger of their becoming a pest, and as that was the sole point in Mr. Clark's contention he rests satisfied.

A large number of applications are already on file from cotton planters asking for colonies of the ants and agreeing to take them on any condition that may be imposed by the government.

Life.

A crust of bread and a corner to sleep in,
A minute to smile and an hour to weep in,
A pint of joy to a peck of trouble,
And never a laugh, but the moans come double,
And that is life!

A crust and a corner that love makes precious,
With the smile to warm and the tears to refresh us,
And joy seems sweeter when cares come after,
And a moan is the finest of foils for laughter,
And that is life!
—Paul Laurence Dunbar.

The Worship of Nature.

The harp at Nature's advent strung
Has never ceased to play;
The song the stars of morning sung
Has never died away.

And prayer is made, and praise is given,
By all things near and far;
The ocean looketh up to heaven
And mirrors every star.

Its waves are kneeling on the strand,
As kneels the human knee,
Their white locks bowing to the sand,
The priesthood of the sea!

They pour their glittering treasures forth,
Their gifts of pearl they bring,
And all the listening hills of earth
Take up the song they sing.

The green earth sends her incense up
From many a mountain shrine;
From folded leaf and dewy cup
She pours her sacred wine.

The mists above the morning rills
Rise white as wings of prayer;
The altar curtains of the hills
Are sunset's purple air.

The winds with hymns of praise are loud,
Or low with sobs of pain—
The thunder organ of the cloud,
The dropping tears of rain.

With drooping head and branches crossed,
The twilight forest grieves,
Or speaks with tongues of Pentecost
From all its sunlit leaves.

The blue sky is the temple's arch,
Its transept, earth and air,
The music of its starry march
The chorus of a prayer.

So Nature keeps the reverent frame
With which her years began,
And all her signs and voices shame
The prayerless heart of man.
—Whittier.

Growth.

There is much that needs amending
In the present time no doubt,
There is right that needs defending,
There is wrong needs crushing out,
And we hear the groans and curses
Of the poor who starve and die
While the men with swollen purses
In the place of hearts go by.

But in spite of all the trouble
That obscures the sun today
Just remember it was double
In the ages passed away.
And these wrongs shall all be righted—
Good shall dominate the land,
For the darkness now is lighted
By the torch in science's hand.

Forth from little motes in chaos
We have come to what we are,
And no evil force can stay us—
We shall mount from star to star,
We shall break each bond and fetter
That has bound us heretofore,
And the earth is surely better
Than it ever was before.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A Happy Life.

How happy is he born and taught
That serveth not another's will;
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill!

Whose passions not his masters are,
Whose soul is still prepared for death,
Untied unto the world by care
Of public fame or private breath;

Who envies none that chance doth raise
Nor vice; hath ever understood
How deepest wounds are given by praise;
Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from rumors freed,
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers feed,
Nor ruin make oppressors great;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of his grace than gifts to lend,
And entertains the harmless day
With a religious book or friend;

This man is freed from servile bands
Or hope to rise, or fear to fall;
Lord of himself, though not of lands;
And having nothing, yet hath all.
—Sir Henry Wotton.

Where Did It Go?

Where did yesterday's sunset go
When it faded down the hills so slow,
And the gold grew dim, and the purple light,
Like an army with banners, passed from sight?
Will its flush go into the goldenrod,
Its thrill to the purple aster's nod,
Its crimson fleck the maple bough,
And the autumn glory begin from now?

Deeper than flower fields sank the glow
Of the silent pageant passing slow,
It flushed all night in many a dream,
It thrilled in the folding hush of prayer,
It glided into a poet's song,
It is setting still in a picture rare,
It changed by the miracle none can see
To the shifting lights of a symphony,
And in resurrections of faith and hope
The glory died on the shining slope.

For it left its light on the hills and seas
That rim a thousand memories.
—W. C. Gannett.

The Tide Rises, the Tide Falls.

The tide rises, the tide falls,
The twilight darkens, the curfew calls;
Along the sea sands damp and brown
The traveler hastens toward the town,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

Darkness settles on roofs and walls,
But the sea, the sea in the darkness calls,
The little waves, with their soft white hands,
Efface the footprints in the sands,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

The morning breaks; the steeds in their stalls
Stamp and neigh as the hostler calls,
The day returns, but nevermore
Returns the traveler to the shore,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.
—Longfellow.

The Hills of Desire.

Last night I saw them in a dream
And marveled till the morn—
The purple hills, the sunlit hills,
The hills where I was born.

Those gentle slopes I shall not climb,
Though long I may aspire;
Still will they gleam in each fond dream,
The hills of far desire.

EDMONDS' STUDIO

A horrible tragedy cocurerd in this county Wednesday on the Brazos river near McWhorter old mill at the mouth of Fall creek, when four children were drowned, while the mother looked on with horror, but could do nothing to save them from a watery grave. Mrs. Franklin Burleson had brought her children and some of her sister's children down on the river to camp and enjoy themselves. Six of the children were boat riding, when the boat sprang a leak and sunk. The eldest boy managed to save himself and one child but four were drowned. The mother's cries soon brought help but too late to save them. Three of the children were Mrs. Franklin's and one her sister's child. There were two boys and two girls, the eldest child being a girl of 13 years of age. The water was very deep and only by seigning could the drowned children be found. The accident is greatly to be deplored and the grief stricken mother has the sympathy of all.—Granbury Graphic-Truth, Aug. 26th.

Clayton Martin, the fifteen-year-old son of J. P. Martin of Brownwood, mysteriously disappeared from the Frisco train while en route home from the world's fair last Monday night together with Mr. Martin's family. The party boarded the train at Ft. Worth, but the car which they first entered was crowded and young Martin was allowed to go into the smoker. No further attention was paid to him until after leaving Comanche, when it was discovered that he was not on the train. Mr. Martin says he cannot believe the boy has gone off of his own free will and accord. He is also positive that the boy was on the train just before they reached Dublin, several parties having remembered seeing him. Inquiries have been made all along the route, but no trace of the missing boy has yet been discovered.

The board of school trustees at Brownwood have selected plans for the proposed new school building at that place. The structure when completed will be two stories and a basement and will contain six class rooms proper, and three rooms in the basement, the latter of which will be used for a furnace for heating the building with hot air. There will also be rooms for manual training and athletic performances. The cost will be in the neighborhood of ten thousand dollars.

San Angelo citizens are preparing for a fall carnival to occur on October 18th, 19th and 20th. An interesting feature of the festival will be a public wedding, the principal participants of which will receive presents of lumber, flour, groceries, dentistry, medical attention, poultry, live stock and every sort of a thing imaginable. There will also be bronco busting, polo games, live stock, poultry and agricultural exhibits, racing, tournament riding and baloon ascension.

Hallmark's restaurant has been remodeled, improved and had a general rearrangment. You will find there as neat a place as can be found any where. The oyster and fish season is now open and this first-class restaurant is especially prepared to handle this business. Private tables for ladies and their patronage respectfully solicited. Regular meals 25 cents, short orders at all hours; best chille in town.

Section men employed at the two sections out of Valley Mills have been on a strike for higher wages since the weather has been so very hot. They say that they cannot afford to do section work at $1.15 per day when they can make more in the cotton field. Wages of the section hands have been raised to $1.40 per day, but none of them have yet returned to work.—Valley Mills Protectionist.

LEARNING THINGS

We Are All in the Apprnetice Class

When a simple change of diet brings back health and happiness the story is briefly told. A lady of Springfield, Ill, says: "After being afflicted for years with nervousness and heart trouble, I received a shock four years ago that left me in such a condition that my life was despaired of. I could get no relief from doctors nor from the numberless heart and nerve medicines I tried because I didn't know that coffee was daily putting me back more than the Drs. could put me ahead.

"Finally at the request of a friend I left off coffee and began the use of Postum and against my convictions I gradually improved in health until for the past 6 or 8 months I have been entirely free from nervousness and those terrible sinking spells of heart trouble.

"My troubles all came from the use of coffee which I had drunk from childhood and yet they disappeared when I quit coffee and took up the use of Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many people marvel at the effects of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Coffee is a destroyer—Postum is a rebuilder. That's the reason.

Look in each package for the famous little book, "The road to Wellville."

An exchange tells of the stingiest men on record. The first will not drink water unless it comes from a neighbor's well; the second forbid his family to write any thing but a small hand, as it wasted ink to make large letters; and a third stops the clock at night to save wear and tear on the machinery. All of them refuse to take a newspaper on the grounds that it is a terrible strain on their spectacles to read.—Western Publisher.

A Mineral Wells girl recenty bought a bottle of stuff which the lady agent said was a "bust developer to be used locally." Her father skinned his nose, and, mistaking the mixture for liniment, applied it industriously. From the size of his probosis it is now generally agreed that the old man has developed a "bust."

President Loudermilk of the Comanche County Farmers union has called a meeting of the union to occur at the court house in Comanche on the second Monday in September. The meeting will hear reports of delegates who attended the state union and transact any other business that may come before the body.

J. P. Wilkerson of Stephenville, last week purchased the Comanche telephone exchange from C. H. Fisher, paying $8,250 for same. Mr. Fisher has not yet decided where he will go, but will probably go into the same business.

We note from the Ft. Worth Record of August 30th that Walter Ray, a former Dublin boy, has been promoted from the second to the third class in the railway mail service. This promotion also earns an increase in salary of one hundred dollars per annum.

We have received notice from Pat Thompson, formerly of Alexander, to change his post office address from Sulphur Springs to Muscogee, I. T. He is still engaged at Muscogee with the round bale cotton people, with whom he has been for several years past.

Hot days followed by cool nights will breed malaria in the body that is bilious or costive. Prickley Ash Bitters is very valuable at this time for keeping the stomach, liver and bowels well regulated. For sale by Dublin Drug & Jewelry Co.

Dr. R. A. Kooken of Hamilton, who was some time since shot and seriously injured, has entirely recovered from the wound and will shortly return from New York, where he has been taking a special course in surgery.

Miss Faye Tomme has secured rooms at the residence of D J. Timlin and will do all kinds of dressmaking in the latest and best style at prices reasonable. Several years experience guarantees Miss Tomme's work to be the best. 16-4t.

W. P. Claunch of Clarendon, Texas was here this week on a prospecting trip with a view to locating. Mr. Claunch is a brother-in-law to F. R. Rogers, who reisdes four miles southeast of Dublin in the Live Oak neighborhood.

B. M. Utterback and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Abbe returned this week from a visit to the world's fair. While in St. Louis Messrs. Utterback and Abbe purchased the fall stock of goods for the Utterback & Harris Co.

Another game of base ball has been arranged for next Monday afternoon between the fats and the leans at the athletic park. All are invited and the only charge is 10 cents for the grand stand.

J. H. Reese and Frank Wieser have rented the residence of Dr. R. A. Miller and both families occupied the same yesterday. Dr. Miller and family will occupy their other home in the same yard.

Misses Lura Collier and Pattye Perry returned last week from a visit to the fair at St. Louis. Miss Gertie Andruss, who left with them stopped at her old home in Kansas for a visit.

The McFadden cotton agency at this place have had a private wire strung into their office and employed an operator. In the future they will receive the market reports over this wire.

The board of teachers' examiners will meet at Stephenville tomorrow. The board is composed of Prof. E. I. Hall of Dublin, J. T. Russell of Purves and D. P. Parker of Stephenville.

Rev. Addison Clark has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Christian church at Amarillo to accept the presidency of the Jarvis College at Thorp Springs.

Sentaor Joe. W. Bailey will deliver an address in Comanche next Monday September 5th, at 2 o'clock p. m. A large tabernacle is being erected for the occasion.

The total valuation of property in Hood county for 1904 foots up $1,871,680. An increase of $142,120 over last year.

Card of Thanks.

In the sadness of our hearts and amid sighs and tears for the loss of our sweet baby girl and after having kept anxious vigil day and night we saw the breath grow shorter and shorter, the eyes closed, the lips parted, the heart ceased to beat, the angels had come. We kissed her good-by and she went to heaven.

Holding the throbings of our hearts we turn for a moment from this death scene to pay a tribute of thanks to our friends for the many kindnesses bestowed upon us.

To those bound to us by the ties of blood and kinship we wish to say your help was lovingly appreciated. Our hearts respond to those kindnesses and we are indeed thankful for your patient care, kindness and sympathy.

To those of our neighbors who come to us in our day of trouble and did so kindly and faithfully aid us we thank you with our hearts full of gratitude.

To the orders of the Knights of Honor and the Woodman of the World we do appreciate your aid and sympathy. Long live those fraternal orders which come so close to suffering humanity, and to the attending physician who did so faithfully serve us, keeping vigil day and night with skill and tenderness to hold the life that would not stay. We do appreciate that faithful service and that patient kindness will ever be remembered by us.

We leave all in the hands of God with resignation to his will for the passing of our sweet Ruby Vivien, who went to heaven at mid-night, August 23, 1904.—Mr. and Mrs. John T. Culwell, Harbin, Texas.

Dr. T. J. Walne will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning. The pastor requests that none fail to hear him.

We are exclusive agents in Dublin for the celebrated Red Cross flour—the best ever brought to this section.—Rawls & Friend.

John Whitten has begun the erection of a five room house in east Dublin. Mr. Hurd is also building another rent house in that locality.

Mrs. J. H. Reese returned Wednesday from a visit of several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Connell, at Ft. Worth.

Mrs. Jack Leslie of Hico is spending the week with relatives in Dublin. Mr. Leslie was here the first of the week.

Try a sack of the Red Cross flour. It is a high grade flour that will give you the best bread you ever ate. Rawls & Friend are exclusive agents.

Coach excursion via the Frisco to St. Louis Saturday and Sunday Sept. 10th and 11th. Round trip rate $15.50, tickets good for seven days.

Regular services will be held Sunday morning and night at the Presbyterian church by the pastor, who has now returned home.

The tax roll of Palo Pinto county for the year 1904 has been finished and amounts to $4,275,985. This is an increase of $32,095 over last year.

Letter to J. G. Conner & Co. Dublin, Texas.

Dear Sirs: Devoe is worth $4 or $5 a gallon, put on; how much is another paint worth?

Depends on how many gallons you've got to put on, to be equal to one of Devoe.

Mr. J. J. Hall, Sheffield, Pa. painted two houses one coat, five years ago, lead-and-oil, took 40 gallons.

Last summer bought 40 gallons Devoe for same houses: had 10 gallons left.

Mr. N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., owns two houses exactly alike; painted one with Devoe; took six gallons. The other with some other; took 12 gallons.

What'd you give for those off paints?

Bear in mind, you've got to pay for the painting. Yours truly,

F. W. Devoe & Co., New York.

A TRUE BOWEL CLEANSER.

A Remedy That Purifies the Bowels Mildly, Strengthens the Bowel Channels and Promotes Regularity.

A General System Tonic.

By no means the least of the valuable properties of Prickly Ash Bitters is its admirable effect in the bowels. Any active cathartic will empty the bowels, But it takes more than a mere cathartic to cure them. What is needed is a tonic, a restorative; one that will strengthen the bowel channels and prevent the return of constipated conditions. Prickly Ash Bitters contains these desirable qualities to a remarkable degree. It is a mild laxative that moves the bowels comfortably, the drastic bowel drenching and paralizing effect of strong cathartics being noticeably absent. It not only empties the bowels comfortably, but it regulates the bile—the liquid which moistens the inner lining of the bowels and makes it possible for the waste products of the body to pass through, and finally, it relieves those conditions produced by imperfect digestion which fills the stomach and bowels with gas and fermenting matter. Prickly Ash Bitters is in short a handy household medicine and should be kept in every home. There are constantly occuring in every family little ailments which are easily checked if given attention but which prove serious if neglected and it is in correcting these troubles that Prickly Ash Bitters has established its claim to be a "family medicine." It relieves women of sick headache, sour stomach, dizziness and promotes regularity in the monthly periods. Children with worms, those who are sickly, restless and irritable, who eat too much candy or sweet stuff, who complain of colic or disturbance in the bowels, will immediately improve and grow strong, rosy and cheerful under its cleansing and invigorating influence.

Accept no substitute. Insist on having the genuine Prickly Ash Bitters with the large figure 3 in red on the front label.

Sold by All Dealers, Price $1.00 per bottle.

Progress $1 a Year.

What Makes Thirst?

We Wish We Knew.

We would give a good deal for a receipt that would enable us to keep all the inhabitants of Dublin thirsty all the time.

A good thirst is a thing to be treasured. Never waste one on a poor drink.

It will pay youevery time to wait till you can reach our fountain.

Our store is easy to reach and once here your waiting is ended. Promptness does not come first, neither does it come last.

Two considerations only are ahead of it—cleanliness and quality.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

NINE KILLED.

Two Other Persons Die and Fifty More Were Injured.

Richmond, Que., Sept. 1.—The worst railway accident that has taken place in the province since the Craig's road disaster in 1885, occurred here Wednesday when the regular No. 5 Grand Trunk from Island Point, Vt., collided with the special fair train from Montreal to Sherbrook. Nine persons were killed outright, two of the injured died later of their injuries and about fifty others were injured, twenty-five of them seriously.

Many of the dead are so badly mangled that they are unrecognizable.

The fair train was packed with people. There was a terrific crash and the first two coaches in each train telescoped the baggage cars, while both engines were smashed to pieces. The cause of the disaster is unknown. Within five minutes there were many willing helpers on the spot and the rescue was commenced.

WENT TO A FAIR.

Judge and Mrs. Parker Given a Rousing Reception.

Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Judge and Mrs. Alton B. Parker attended the Ulster County fair Wednesday. The judge was heartily cheered as he entered the grounds. Himself and party were conducted to the reviewing stand. After shaking hands with many, the party left Ellinsville. Fred Parker, his son, went along.

At Accord, about half way to Ellenville, the train stopped for orders, and Judge Parker alighted and looked about at the many familiar landmarks. It was at Accord where he taught school in his youth, and there he met Miss Mary Shoonmaker, who is now Mrs. Parker.

While driving to the fair grounds Judge Parker stopped at the lodge of an invalid lady, who expressed an earnest desire to shake by the hand "the Democrat who is going to be president of the United States."

BRYAN TO WOODSON.

Will Be at Disposal of Democratic Committee In October.

New York, Sept. 1.—Secretary Urey Woodson of the Democratic national committee has received a letter from William J. Bryan in which Mr. Bryan says he will beb at the disposal of the Democratic committee for campaign purposes during the month of October.

Mr. Bryan indicates that he would prefer speaking in the west, mostly in Indiana. Chairman Taggart says the committee has not yet taken up the subject of Mr. Bryan's itinerary, and it is not yet known whether he will speak in the eastern states, although there have been several requests from different localities that if Mr. Bryan enters the campaign he should make one or two speeches in Connecticut and New York.

Reading of Mr. Bryan's letter was received wuth much satisfaction at headquarters of the Democratic national committee.

First Call.

Austin, Aug. 30.—The state treasurer Monday made his first call to pay registered warrants, being from 1 to 2775 and representing $53,520. This leaves the deficit $179,067.

CLARK ATTACKED.

Montana Senator Accused of Having Grouse In His Pocket.

Massoula, Mont., Sept. 1.—United States Senator W. A. Clark was attacked here Tuesday by a man known on the streets as Joe Peg, who thought the senator had been breaking the game laws and was carrying a grouse in his pocket and threatened to take the senator's life. He followed the senator several blocks, persistently calling on him to hand over the grouse. Senator Clark ran panting into the lobby of the Florence hotel and demanded protection. He was sure that Peg had a gun, for several times the latter had made motions to pull it, and threatened to shoot unless the senator would give up his game bird. Several persons sprang to his assistance and the man was overpowered.

SENATOR WILLIAM A. CLARK OF MONTANA.

GOT LARGE SUM.

Thirteen Thousand Dollars Stolen by a Trio of Masked Men.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 1.—A special to the Tribune from Kemerer, Wyo., says that three masked men held up the express agent and armed guard just as train No. 5, on the Oregon Short Line was entering the station at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and took from them $13,000 which had been shipped there to pay off the miners. The robbers beat the railroad men into insensibility with the butts of their guns and escaped.

The Noble Red Man Today.

"Yes," said the portly and consequential gentleman in the observation car, "these plains were once roamed over by savage red men. The Indian in those days was a famous hunter. When he was not on the trail of the bear or the buffalo he was on the scent of the white man."

"He is on the cent of the white man yet," said the dapper little tourist with green goggles.

The portly one smiled indulgently. "How do you make that?" he asked.

"I don't. It was made at the mint." And the observation car grinned appreciatively.—Kansas City Journal.

Proof of Woman's Amiability.

One thing stands as a sure proof that woman is an amiable creature, easily pleased and satisfied with her lot. And that is that when she buys a dress ready made she rejoices because it is much better and cheaper than fussing to have it made. And when she has it made herself she wonders why people ever get things ready made when one can have clothes made "just as one wants them and cheaper!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

BOY OF THE REGIMENT.

With His Dying Breath He Asked Garibaldi For a Coffin.

When Enzo Ferretti entered actively into the Italian war of independence he was just seventeen. He left Parma secretly, deserting, as it were, his father, mother and family to fight for his hero, Garibaldi. He walked over the Apennines without a penny in his pocket and, arriving half dead at Genoa, concealed himself on one of the ships bound for Sicily. When at his destination he emerged and gained the nickname of the "boy of the regiment." From that time for some months he fought until the day for rest came. He was shot in the head and carried to the hospital in a dangerous condition. Everything possible was done for him, but it was evident that he was troubled, and at last it came out that he could not die happy because he had never seen his hero. "I have fought everywhere and sought always," he exclaimed, "but I have never succeeded in seeing him. How can I die never having caught a glimpse of him?"

Another preoccupation was that he feared he might be buried without a coffin. Morning, noon and night his cry was, "Let me have a coffin!" The very day he died, by a fortunate chance, Garibaldi arrived at the hospital. Having heard Ferretti's story, he stooped and spoke to him. The sick boy's expressive face lighted up and he exclaimed: "Now I can die happy. Oh, general, let me have a coffin!"

TRAGIC IN ITS BREVITY.

The Story of the Duel Between Hamilton and Burr.

The story of the Hamilton-Burr duel is tragic in its brevity. The little party of five—the principals, their seconds and the surgeon—was on the ground not long after sunrise. The preliminaries were soon arranged. As Pendleton, Hamilton's second, gave him his pistol, he asked, "Will you have the hairspring set?"

"Not this time," was the significant reply, and then the men faced each other.

According to the best authorities upon a disputed subject, Burr fired at the word. At the report, Hamilton started forward with a convulsive movement, reeled, involuntarily discharging his pistol into the foliage above him, and fell headlong. Burr, with an expression of pain upon his face, sprang toward him, but Van Ness, his second, seized him by the arm and hurried him down the bank and into their boat.

Hamilton, being lifted up, revived for a moment and gasped, "This is a mortal wound, doctor!" Relapsing again into unconsciousness he was again revived by the fresh air of the river. "Pendleton knows," he said, trying to turn toward his friends, "that I did not intend to fire at him."

At 2 the afternoon following he had breathed his last.

SAVED BY A GYPSY.

An Incident of the Austro-Prussian War of 1866.

An incident of the Austro-Prussian war of 1866 was told as follows by the Archduke Joseph: "On our retreat before the advance of the Prussian army," said the archduke, "we camped in the neighborhood of a Bohemian town. I was lodged in a peasant's cottage when about midnight I heard the sentry challenging some newcomer. My adjutant entered and reported that a gypsy wanted to see me in private. A soldier (a gypsy) entered, and on my asking what was the matter he told me that the enemy was approaching to surprise us.

"'The outposts have not heard anything suspicious,' I said. 'No, your highness, because the enemy is still a long way off.' 'But how do you know this?' I asked. 'Come to the window, your highness,' answered the man. 'Do you see those birds flying over the wood toward the south?' 'Yes, I see them. What, then?' 'What, then? Do not birds sleep as well as men? They certainly would not fly about if they were not disturbed. The enemy is marching through the wood and has frightened all those birds.'

"'Very well, my lad. You can go.' I at once ordered the outposts to be reenforced and the camp to be alarmed. An hour later the outposts were fighting with the enemy, and our camp was only saved by the keen observation of a simple gypsy."

Shot Peppered.

Port Lavaca, Tex., Aug. 29.—J. C. Carothers and John Letts, farmers, had a difficulty about cotton. Letts was peppered with shot and Carothers jailed. Letts will recover.

PICKERS WANTED.

For Twenty Years There Has Not Been Such a Demand.

Waco, Sept. 1.—There is the greatest demand for cotton pickers in the cotton region of Texas known in twenty year, and in many cities and towns draymen, delivery boys, cooks and even hotel helpers have been influenced by the high price paid pickers to go into the fields. The hot weather of the pest ten days has caused all cotton not destroyed by insects, to open, thus creating an extraordinary demand for pickers. The crop in central Texas promises to be better than last year.

POPULISTS MEET.

Members of the Executive Committee Confer at Waco.

Waco, Sept. 1.—New Populist state committee held its first meeting here on Wednesday. Melton Park, national committeeman, took part in the deliberations, the purpose of which was to arrange for the state campaign. Mr. Park said: "We will throw our vote against Alton B. Parker, if such conditions arise, because we want to see his defeat. The Populists do not like the Republicans any better than they do the Democrats, but they believe Roosevelt, such as he is, is a better man than Parker."

Chairman Egger says a truceless war will be waged against Parker.

COUNTY CLERKS.

Will Meet at the City of San Antonio Next Year.

San Antonio, Sept. 1.—County Clerks' Association of Texas decided to meet here again next year. Jack Hamilton of Kerr county was elected president; Frank Shanks of Dallas vice president, Geo. M. Rucker of Hunt county, treasurer. J. E. Grinstead, editor of the Kerrville Mountain Sun, was appointed secretary.

County Judge Green of Bexar county spoke on "Needed Probate Reforms." Other speakers were W. N. Wiggins of Bexar county, on "How to Keep the Finance Ledger," and W. A. Johnson of Edwards on "School Lands."

JAUREZ ON FIRE.

One Block of Best Business Houses Was Consumed.

El Paso, Sept. 1.—The city of Juarez, Mex., across the river from El Paso, is threatened with destruction by fire. One block of the best business houses has been burned, and all efforts of the fire department have been of little avail. The loss will be heavy.

Tyler Died.

Batson, Tex., Aug. 1.—A. E. Tyler, who was shot, is dead. Bob Campbell, who was accidentally shot, will be taken to Houston. A man suspected of the murder of Hazelton Monday night was arrested and taken to Kountze.

HESTER'S FIGURES.

Annual Report on the Cotton Crop Has Been Given Out.

New Orleans, Sept. 1.—The totals of Secretary Hester's annual report of the cotton crop were given out Wednesday evening. They show receipts of cotton at all United States ports for the year, 7,252,222 against 7,724,104 last year; overland to northern mills and Canada, 939,945, against 1,083,383; southern consumption taken direct from the interior of the cotton belt, 1 819.209, gaainst 1,902,072, making the cotton crop for the United States for 1903-4 amount to 10,011,374, against 10,727,559 last year, and 10,680,680 the year before.

Secretary Hester made his annual investigation into the consumption of the south and has received reports by mail and telegraph from mills consuming cotton in the cotton-growing states, including wool of the mills that have used cotton, and the results show a total of 1,091,252, but of this, 100,043 were taken from ports and included in port receipts.

This shows that the mills of the south have used up 81,477 bales less than during 1903-4, and 18,719 less than during 1901-2, the decrease being due to the unsatisfactory condition of the goods, trade and relatively high prices of the raw material compared with the manufactured product.

Colonel Hester's full report contains interesting and valuable facts, showing the consumption of the south by states, the takings and consumption of northern mills and the world's consumption of American cotton. He will also give the crop by states, and facts in relation to the increase in the spindles of southern mills.

McGuire Wants Franchise.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 1.—Delegate Bird S. McGuire made application for a franchise in the Southwestern Baseball League for next season, and his application, so far as it could be acted upon at this time, was accepted.

Regular Correspondence.

Aug. 29th.—We regret to have to report that our once fond hope of a full cotton crop is just declining from the present dry weather. I don't think I ever saw cotton dry up and go down in weed as fast in all my life it has shed all of its forms and died out by the acre. Three weeks ago we flattered ourselves that we would make a bale per acre, while at this time if we make, on an average, one fourth of a bale we will be in luck, such is the life of the farmer. Corn is reasonably good, the forage crop is good and well cared for. Water and grass are very scarce. Many are gathering corn so as to get pasture for their stock; most of the stock in this section is watered from wells. It is distressing times with many.

Mrs. S. A. Greaves, after several weeks visit to her old home near Cumby, Texas, has returned to her home. Mrs. Ada Greaves accompanied her home.

Mr. Matt Johnson and family from near Oak Grove, visited J. V. Stephen last week.

Mrs. J. M. R. Stephen and mother, Mrs. Greaves, visited at Dublin two days last week, the guests of Mrs. A. M. Maloney.

Misses Bessie and Loraine Maloney visited their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. R. Stephen, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Sam Walker was quite sick the past week, but we are glad to report her convalescent.

Mrs. Sam Davis is much improved after six months confinement to her bed.

Cotton picking is in order and much of the fleecy staple will be gathered this week.

HAZLE DELL.

Regular Correspondence.

Aug. 30th.—The weather continues warm and dry, with very little prospects of a change.

Cotton is opening very rapidly and some have commenced picking.

W. B. Conway has been on the sick list but is improving.

The Methodist protracted meeting closed Sunday, It was well attended, and all were rewarded by a series of good sermons by Rev. Bates. A number from Dubiln and vicinity attended the meeting the last day.

A disease, which no one can give any name to, is affecting the cattle of this section. It affects the limbs and they become stiff and move about with difficulty. The disease is proving fatal in some instances.

Arthur Williams and Miss Maggie Matthews were married at Hazle Dell last Sunday morning, 'Squire Hastings officiating.

Twelve days ago the cottcn crop of this scetion presented a very promising appearance, but it has fallen off and now it looks gloomy to the fullest extent, and causing some to scartch their heads and use language not in accordance with the Bible.

LINGLEVILLE.

Regular Correspondence.

Aug. 31st.—Gathering the fleecy staple has begun in earnest. The yeild will not be any better than last year. Several bales were ginned here the past week. Hands are in demand at 50 and 60 cts. per hundred.

R. P. Campbell and lady are attending the world's fair.

James McNeill and family moved to Stephenville this week. We regret to lose Mr. McNeill and has estimable family from our community. Several young people enjoyed a farewell party at their home on Monday night.

The Christian meeting conducted by A. J. McCarty of Killeen, Texas, closed Sunday night with twelve conversions.

James Head of Bluff Dale was visiting here the first of the week.

Mr. Tom Voss and Miss Ida McNeill of this place were married on the 21st inst. at Bunyan. We extend congratulations.

L. F. Roberts and family of Stephenville attended the Christian meeting last week.

Young Men Wanted.

Every young man in Dublin is wanted! Wanted from the street corners, from the loafer's rendezvous, from the idler's promenade; turn your steps into the highway of noble aim and earnest work. There are prizes enough for every successful worker, crowns enough for every honorable head that goes through the smoke of conflict to victory.

There is within the young man an upspringing of lofty sentiment which contributes to his elevation and though there are obstacles to be surmounted and difficulties to be vanquished, yet with truth for his watchword, and leaning on his own noble purposes and exertions, he may crown his brow with honors. He may never wear the warrior's crimson wreath, the poet's chaplet of bays, or the statesman's laurels; though no grand universal truth may at his bidding be confessed to the world; though it may never be his to bring to a sucessful issue a great political resolution—to be the founder of a republic whose name shall be "a distinguished star in the constellation of nations,"—yea, more—though his name may never be heard beyond the limits of his own neighborhood, yet is his mission none the less a high and holy one?

But why do so few young men of early promise, whose wise hopes, purposes and resolves were radiant as the colors of the rainbow, fail to distinguish themselves? The answer is obivious. They are not willing to devote themselves to the toilsome culture which is the price of success. Whatever aptitude for particular pursuits nature may donate to her favorite children, she conducts none but the laborious and the studious to distinction.

Married Under Difficulties.

Two young people from Chalk Mountain, near Walnut Springs, presented themselves at the county clerk's office early Saturday morning, and after much hesitation made known to Deputy Clerk Jas. Dempster that they wanted the necessary papers to enable them to become legally joined in the holy bonds of wedlock. The young man was Mr. W. M. Lee and the girl was Miss Mellie Stigler. Our obliging young deputy clerk asked the girl's age and she modestly replied that she was over eighteen. Mr. Dempster looked at her rather inquisitively and said she didn't hardly look to be eighteen and told the young man he would have to make affidavit to the fact before he could get the license. This the young man said he could not do, so the license was reluctantly refused them. Sadly the young couple turned their footsteps towards the door. They had failed to realize the consummation of their fond hopes, but they didn't despair. They decided late in the evening to go to Comanche and started off in their buggy. Meanwhile communication was gotten with the girl's father at home who said the girl was of age and to let them marry. So Charlie Kirk struck out and overtook them on the road and informed them that all was well. They returned at once, got the license and the ceremony was performed.—Hamilton Herald.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicine gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet again in short order and now he testifies. "I am on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles and all forms of stomach and bowel complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Overton Drug Co.

Mr. Dooley on Traveling.

The El Paso Herald takes the following words from the mouth of Mr. Dooley relative to the comforts of traveling:

Mr. Dooley says that whenever he wants the sensation of traveling in the future he will stay at home, throw his money out of the window, put a cinder in his eye and go to bed on a shelf in the cupboard.

He says he don't see how a man can undress in an upper berth and sit on his clothes at the same time. Not being a contortionist he says he succeeded in getting out of the berth by the aid of the step ladder, the bell rope and the bald head of the man in the berth below.

He says he was surprised at the comforts in the toilet room and that he could wash his face as comfortably as at the hydrant back of the gas house.

He says he does not approve of fast trains, for the faster they run the closer the joints of the rails are together.

He who can sleep in an upper berth, he says, with a light burning over one ear, and the cinders pouring in through the window and the other people snoring, can sleep on the back of a donkey engine and —none of it for him.

"The comforts of travel is so great that you can go to bed in St. Louis and still be awake when you get to Chicago," he adds.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." An attempt was made to take a diamond from the finger of Mrs. J. C. Heaton a few nights since. She was sleeping before a screened window and when she awoke a dark object moved away. On investigation it was found that the window screen had been cut and there were fresh tracks about the window.—Coleman Voice.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomei—Only Guaranteed Cure for This Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breating it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of catarrh poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane and effectually drives this disease from the system.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

Offensive breath, huskiness of the voice, dryness of the nose, discharge from the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose at night, pain in the back of the head, aching of the body, pain in the front of the head, droppings in the throat, tendency to take cold, tickling back of the palate, burning pain in the throat, formation of crusts in the nose, hawking to clear the throat, dryness of the throat in the morning, pain in the chest, loss of strength, a cough, spasms of coughing, stitch in side, cough short and hacking, losing of flesh, cough worse nights and mornings, variable appetite, loss in vital force, low spirited at times, a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, raising of frothy mucous, expectorating yellow matter, difficulty in breathing, frequent sneezing.

Hyomei will destroy activity of all catarrhal germs in the respiratory organs and in a few weeks the cure will be complete.

This is a strong statement, but Overton Drug Co. emphasizes it by agreeing to refund your money if Hyomei does not cure.

The Radium Industry.

Notwithstanding the difficulty in its production (many tons of ore being required to produce 1 gramme), a radium industry has already developed in Germany and France, and although 1 gramme is sold at a little less than $ 2,000, the manufacturerers are said to have orders for several hundred grammes.

The demand for medical purposes exceeds the supply. Radium possesses all the important qualities of the Roentgen rays in addition to the invaluable property of being ready for use at any time and furnishing its rays without the employment of apparatus. It has been demonstrated that a small glass tube, not larger than a goose quill, containing a little more than a thousandth part of a gramme, is as effective as an expensive and complicated electric apparatus for the treatment of cancer—snrpassing the best effects of the Roentgen rays. —Scientific American.

The habit of treating those nearest and dearest to us with discourtesy, is one that clouds the sunshine of too many homes. If you are young and looking for your prince, just test his home conduct. Do not be guided in your choice by what a young man is in the parlor; find out what he is in his mother's sitting room. Do not judge him by the way he can tip his hat, but by the way he treats the old, especially his parents. The home where mutual consideration rules is always a happy one, if it be the top flat of a cheap tenement or an abode hut on the prairies. There should be a certain respect observed in the most intimate relationships. Wives have no more right to search their husband's pockets than they have to take the same liberty with an acquaintance. We have no more right to rob the baby's bank than to force the vault of the national bank. We may hurt the feelings of a society acquaintance and there is no harm done, beyond an enstrangement of two people who care but little for each other; but when we stab the fond mother's heart ,that loves us with a love next in tenderness to heaven's, or wound the sensitive feelings of a brother or a sister, life is not long enough to extract the sting from memory. Love's opportunity will soon vanish forever and out through the sunset of life, the ones we love dearest and best have flown away like birds to a summer land and our words of endearment are thrust back like voices that beat against a wall of rock.

Has Sold a Pile of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for more than twenty years and it has given entire satisfaction. I have sold a pile of it and can recommend it highly.—JOSEPH MCELHINEY, Linton, Iowa. You will find this remedy a good friend when troubled with a cough or cold. It always affords quick relief and is pleasant to take. For sale by Overton Drug Co.

The same squeamish people are pitching into Bishop Potter because he recently blessed a liquor saloon, are finding fault with the St. Louis exposition managers because they allowed the President's boys the freedom of the grounds on Sunday. The argument is that Potter's "alcholic food" is not enough for the church and the child it is good enough for everybody, and if the Roosevelt boys may go to the fair on Sunday all other boys, as well as grown up people should be allowed to do the same thing. As Ruskin would say: "There is too much freedom in America."

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under certain law. Abuse that law even slightly pain results. Irregular living may derangement of the organs, result in constipation, headache or worse trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle yet thorough. Gov. Hogg made an irideseent fool of himself at the Houston convention; in one speech he killed himself as dead politically as Steve Ashby is today. He did it with his praise and endorsement of the negrophile President, and his called for slurs at the Democratic nominee. The Chief has no following whatever for the democrat who does not gracefully submit to the action of his party in convention and give the nominees his hearty support. The very first canon of principle of Democracy is submission to the will of the majority. And now the Chief parts company with Gov. Hogg, whom it has admired for years, not for anything he believes in or does not believe in, but for his ridiculous action in Houston. He is entirely too big for his breeches, big as they are. —Comanche Chief.

TIRES FIXED WHILE YOU WAIT

I have lately made a new addition to my shop in the way of a cold setting machine, with which I can set tires on wagons or other vehicles without heating the tire, and in a few minutes.

The tire is therefore not injured, neither is the wheel and it will last much longer than hot setting, besides the wheel in this way is only disturbed as much as it should be.

Call and see me and have your tires shrunk

It is just a common cold, people say, there's no danger in that. Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

At the first symptoms the careful person will heed the warning by taking a mild laxative; some vegetable pill that will not disturb the system or cause griping. About the best is "Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets." If the cold starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alterative extract, which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

It contains no alcohol to shrivel up the blood corpuscles, but makes pure rich red blood.

Dr. Pierce's 1000-page illustrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. For 31 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. 1008 pages. It was formerly sold for $1.50 per copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
