The SDN Column

A lot of interesting events have been taking place, but probably of most interest to Texans who had their television sets on during the past few days were the U. S. Open Golf Tournament and a speech by the governor Sunday evening.

The golf tournament had an extra chapter Monday, and it was a bitter one for those who were shaken when Charles Coody, a Texan, had the audacity to prevent Jack Nicklaus from winning another Masters Tournament title last April.

Another Texan was on hand Monday in Pennsylvania to keep Nicklaus from winning another U.S. Open title, and the disappointment, especially of the camera crew and most of the commentators, except Byron Nelson (a Texan), was apparent again. In possibly the most ludicrous piece of camera work ever tunred in, the lenses were focused on Nicklaus after his final shot, following him all the way into the crown and thus missing the final putt of the champion, Lee Trevino.

Following the Masters Tournament, the self-appointed elite moaned that Coody was "colorless" and their comments would lead the uninformed to believe that the West Texan had committed an unsportsman-like offense by daring to win the championship when Nicklaus wanted the title so badly.

Trevino offers them more problems. They cannot say he is colorless. Whenever they hold a microphone in front of him, he has a quip that attracts attention, such as one Monday when a commentator asked him about a putt he had made, inquiring how long it was. "At least two city blocks long," grinned Trevino. He is a credit to the game and is bound to join the ranks of the Hogans, Demarets, Nelsons, etc., in world golf history, despite what they may think of him up north.

The governor's speech Sunday night undoubtedly added some fuel to state political fires. Gov. Smith picked a popular subject – economy —but there are those who may be puzzled by his tactics. Wouldn't it have been better to have squeezed "pork" from the appropriations bill by vetoing line items for the entire two years, rather than chopping off a full year (which two years ago the governor said was unconstitutional) and thus give us a chance to forego a special session of the legislature next year?

The special session is now a must, and it could cost us plenty before it is finished.–WACIL McNAIR.

AFTER TEN-YEAR BID FOR MEMBERSHIP

Britain, EEC Agree

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Britain and the six Common Market nations came to terms early today on Britain's admission to the European Economic Community. Now Prime Minister Edward Heath has to sell it to the British Parliament.

"We have broken the back of the negotiations. It is an historic day for Europe," Geoffrey Rippon, Britain's negotiator, told newsmen after an all-night bargaining session with the six Continental foreign ministers ended with champagne toasts at 4 a.m.

The agreement also cleared the way for negotiations with Norway, Denmark and Ireland on their applications to join the customs union formed in 1958 by France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The remaining major issues in Britain's 10-year bid for membership were resolved when the negotiators put together a package that included concessions to Britain's trade with New Zealand, the amount of Britain's first contributions to the joint Common Market budget and help for British coastal fishermen and hill farmers.

But with polls showing 60 per cent of the British public opposed to Market membership and members of both the Labor and Conservatives parties divided on the issue, Heath faces a stiff battle selling the terms in Parliament in the fall. His target is membership by Jan. 1, 1973.

Political sources in London estimate that if the vote is "free," with a member permitted to vote his convictions and not as the party majority decides, Heath could win by a comfortable 70 or 80 votes. But if the opposition Labor party decides against Market membership and party discipline is enforced, abstentions by anti-Market Conservatives might be too much for Heath.

Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the leader of the Labor party, is likely to hold the key. He has said repeatedly he would be in favor of joining Europe "if the terms are right," but he has shown signs recently of moving into the anti-Market camp.

Opponents of Market membership fear Britain will lose some of its national sovereignty and face an ever higher cost of living because food prices will be geared to the higher prices charged by continental farmers.

Congress To Get War Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he will make available to Congress the full 47-volumes of a Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war, which has been under "Top Secret" classification.

The White House said the President acted since the unauthorized publication of some portions of these documents created a situation in which Congress "would necessarily be making judgments ... on the basis of incomplete data which could give a distorted impression of the report's contents."

Senate Favors 9-Month Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has gone on record favoring withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Indochina in nine months provided all American prisoners of war are freed.

But the White House says Tuesday's 57-42 passage of the non-binding pullout amendment won't affect war policy. And House Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., indicated the measure would die in a House-Senate conference anyway.

The amendment originally was drafted by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. It was attached to a bill to extend the military draft.

The Mansfield amendment was adopted after stronger measures foundered. It "urges and requests the President to begin immediate negotiations of a ceasefire in North Vietnam, as well as mutual troop withdrawals and prisoner releases over a nine-month period from the date the measure is enacted.

The withdrawals and releases would come in stages until there are no more American prisoners in enemy hands.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler dismissed the amendment as merely "what 57 senators think our policy should be.

"It is not the view of the Congress as a whole," he added.

As if to underscore that, Hebert said he, as leader of House conferees on the draft bill, would refuse to tack any end-the-war proposal onto it.

The House reaffirmed its stand against such proposals last week, shouting down an amendment similar to Mansfield's by voice vote and rejecting a Dec. 31 pullout date 254 to 158.

House Approves Welfare Reforms

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare reform, including the first federally guaranteed minimum family income, has won House approval along with far-reaching Social Security changes.

The massive legislative package, touching in one way or another the lives of most Americans, now goes to the Senate where its fate won't be decided until at least late this year.

The House Tuesday turned back, 234 to 187 an unusual conservative-liberal coalition's attempt to eliminate the bill's welfare section. Then the measure was passed unchanged, 288 to 132.

The winners, like the losers, represented an extraordinary combination: President Nixon's emissaries working closely with Democratic leaders.

The bill would sweep away the present state welfare system, with its 54 different sets of benefit levels, eligibility rules and procedures, and substitute a federally administered plan.

It would assure a minimum annual income of $2,400 for a family of four and include the working poor, possibly adding as many as 10 million persons to the current 15 million welfare recipients.

States could supplement the federal payments—many already pay more—but would not be required to do so.

Welfare reform would cost the federal government an estimated $5.5 billion and save states $1.6 billion at present support levels.

The Social Security provisions would boost benefits for more than 27 million recipients and hike payroll taxes, although persons still working would receive even greater benefits at retirement.

A 5 per cent across-the-board benefit increase would be effective in June 1972, and benefits, and taxes, would go up in future years to keep pace with living costs and average wage levels.

Benefits would be liberalized also for widows, persons continuing to earn money after retirement, men retiring early and low-earning couples. Medicare, now available only to those over 65, would be extended to persons retired for disability.

Vee Task Force At Harlingen

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The Lower Rio Grande Valley may become a battleground in the fight to stop the northward spread of a horse disease which threatens the horse industry in the United States.

A task force of animal and human health authorities, both state and federal, began assembling at Harlingen Tuesday to fromulate plans to halt the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (Vee).

Although no case of the disease has been confirmed in the United States, there has been a confirmed case within 200 miles of the Texas-Mexico border near Tampico, officials said. Another case, described as "clinically observed," but not confirmed, has been noted within 50 miles of the border. This case was reported between San Fernando and San Teresa, Mexico, in Northern Tamaulipas state.

Agencies represented in the task force being assembled at Harlingen were the Texas Animal Health Commission, U. S. Agriculture Department, Texas Health Department, and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Top officials in the task force included Dr. P. R. Henry of the animal health division of the U. S. Agriculture Department from Colorado Springs, Dr. Roy Chamberlin of the center for disease control of the U.S. Public Health Service and Dr. H. Q. Sibley, a state veterinarian with the Texas Animal Health Commission.

CHARGES GONZALEZ

Sharp, Wilson Link Hidden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., has accused the Justice Department of arranging to hide the relationship between Frank Sharp and Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson by not prosecuting Sharp fully.

In a House speech Monday, Gonzalez said the department arranged for Sharp, former board chairman of the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank, to plead guilty to lesser charges of making false entries in a bank and selling unregistered securities.

"By not prosecuting Sharp vigorously, the Department of Justice hopes to keep the public from ever learning the relationship that its own assistant attorney general had with Sharp," Gonzalez said.

He said it was Wilson who helped Sharp acquire 518,000 shares of the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. in June 1968.

"It was this same National Bankers Life stock that subsequently was apparently used in various frauds and schemes attributed to Sharp and his friends during which the stock of the company went from $9 a share to $29 a share; it sells today for $3 a share," Gonzalez said.

Sharp was accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of making deals with high state political figures to get banking legislation passed, but was given three years probation and a $5,000 fine after pleading guilty to the lesser violations.

"It seems that Mr. Sharp is to be given immunity in exchange for his help in securing indictments and convictions of a number of Texas officials he dealt with," Gonzales said. "In other words, it looks as if the federal government wants to hang these who might have been corrupted but let the corrupter go free."

Bank Files Suit On Frank Sharp

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Houston bank Tuesday filed a half-million dollar law suit against Houston developer Frank Sharp, 65, who pleaded guilty earlier this month to violations of federal laws.

The Fidelity Bank and Trust Co. named Sharp in a state court suit over a Dec. 15, 1970, loan for $500,000 made to the Jesuit Fathers of Houston, Inc.

Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee approved today $8.1 million to complete construction of a $35.8 million general veterans' hospital in San Antonio, Tex.

School, College Budgets Studied

Three representatives of major oil companies sat in on public hearings here Tuesday on tentative budgets for the Scurry County Junior College District and the Snyder Independent School District.

The junior college district's proposed budget shows $896,232 in operating funds, and $334,409 for the interest and sinking fund. Taxes are expected to provide $383,762 in operating funds, while $404,170 is expected from the state. The remainder will come from tuition, etc.

It was noted that county valuations are expected to increase this year, which could result in the junior college district roll, jumping from $146 million to $169 million. If this materalizes, there will be a proportionate reduction in the tax rate, college officials said. The tentative budget had been based on a 50 cent total rate for $146 million total valuations.

Arthur H. Dimney of Chevron Oil Co., Dick Bodenhamer of Sun Oil Co. and Carl Williams of Texaco, Inc., were the representatives of oil companies who attended the hearings. They urged the college not to build up excessive surpluses in operating funds, although they indicated modest contingencies would be acceptable while the college is getting itself into operation. Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of the college, and M. L. Broman, board president, reminded that the college has no record of experience upon which to base its estimates for the coming year, and that most of the projections are "educated guesses."

The Snyder Public Schools local maintenance, or operating, budget is due to increase from $3,563,402 to $3,718,947. However, nearly all of the increase is in salaries and these are based on state-wide increases. The public school interest and sinking fund requirements for the coming year are estimated at only $35,844, a reduction from $360,000 the past year. Due to the decline in interest and sinking fund requirements, which occurred when construction bond issues were paid off, and natural increases in valuations, the school district's tax rate is expected to decrease substantially the coming year. The over-all rate last year was $1.57 per $100 valuation. Although exact calculations have not been made, it could be as low as $1.38 the coming year, school officials said.

Williams suggested that the district might begin working toward the state minimum slary scale as a means of reducing expenditures. The district here for several years has paid $1,000 per year above the state minimum for teachers salaries. This could gradually be reduced by taking off $100 to $200 per year, the Texaco representative said.

The oil company representatives commended both the college and public school officials and boards for the thoroughness of their work, and no major complaints were voiced.

It's Christmas in June!

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbors still have their Christmas decorations up! It's not just a wreath or a Christmas tree. They have a huge Noel sign across the front of their house, and on the lawn there's a life-sized Santa Claus in a sleigh with a woodcut of reindeers.

The flowers have begun to bloom and the grass is green already, and this Santa in his sleigh makes the whole neighborhood look ridiculous. What should we do?

THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR

DEAR FOLKS: In the first place, your neighbors make only themselves look ridiculous, so don't do anything. Besides, it could be to your advantage. When giving directions on how to get to your home, just say, "It's the house next to the one with the Noel across the front and the Santa on the lawn. You can't miss it!"

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where someone said if a girl in a small town proved to be "easy" for the guys, if she wanted to get married, she had better leave town because guys talk.

Well, girls talk about guys who take them out for only one thing, and if the guys don't have to leave town, why should the girls?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Because in spite of all the women's "libbing it up"—it's still a man's world.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close girl friends. I'll call them "Blondie" and "Red." My problem is that these girls are not speaking to each other. It's not just a little spat that might blow over soon, they have been bitter enemies for a long time. I am going to be married soon and I want them both in my wedding party. [I was maid of honor for both of them.]

Blondie says if Red is in the wedding party, I can count HER out. On the other hand, Red says she doesn't care if Blondie is in the wedding party or not, but she'll ignore her if she is. Abby, I hate to leave either one of my friends out, so what should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Don't let Blondie force you to make a decision. Tell her that you want her in your wedding party, but you intend to invite whomever else you want, and if she chooses to accept or decline, the decision is HERS!

DEAR ABBY: It's a cinch that bachelor who would like to marry a woman with children doesn't live in Phoenix! I am a divorcee with three school-age children, a pretty good job and not quite enough support money, but I don't feel that my children need a live-in father, and I am not suffering for need of a husband.

Every time I meet a man and he finds out I have three children, he bolts for the nearest door. What an inflated ego he has to believe that I would want to marry HIM! I don't dislike men [on the contrary!], but the man who can sweet-talk me into trading my new-found freedom for another dunking in the cesspool of marriage will have to be some man!

A former Snyder resident, he had retired from service with the U. S. Army. He was a native of Buffalo, N. Y.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaginella of Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Mary Perrie of Chicago, Ill.

Pat Abbananto, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ, was to officiate at the funeral service. Burial was to be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale.

In the Central Colorado Rockies, timberline, the point above which no trees grow because of the alpine climate, comes at about 11,500 feet. In Montana it's at 9,000 feet and in northern Alberta, Canada, at only 7,000 feet.

Foster Parents Get Baby

MIAMI (AP) — A Florida judge has ruled that Nicholas and Jean DeMartino, who abandoned their Brooklyn home after New York courts said they had to return their adopted daughter Lenore, may keep custody of her.

"Dear God, we won," Nicholas DeMartino cried when Dade County Circuit Judge Ralph Cullen ruled Tuesday that the DeMartinos could keep Lenore.

Jean DeMartino hugged their Miami attorney, William Colson. She and her husband wept openly with joy.

Sitting just a few feet away Olga Scarpetta also broke into tears. Her child was not her own.

Miss Scarpetta, 33, put the child up for adoption with a New York agency four days after Lenore's birth on May 18, 1970. The DeMartinos, then living in Brooklyn, took custody of the infant four weeks later.

Miss Scarpetta, a Colombian native now working as a secretary in New York, later tried to get Lenore back. The adoption agency refused but lost the fight in court.

The DeMartinos fled to Florida with Lenore and their 4-year-old adopted daughter, Linda, last month. They said they plan to stay.

Miss Scarpetta's attorneys said they would appeal Cullen's decision even though the DeMartinos said if Lenore were to demonstrate she wanted to see her natural mother, they would agree to it.

Cullen said he decided to deny Miss Scarpetta's Florida suit "in view of all the time, evidence and the DeMartinos' good reputation."

DeMartino, an attorney, and his wife still face contempt of court charges in New York.

Judge Throws War Suit Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court judge has thrown out another attempt to force the courts to rule on the legality of the Indochina war, this time sending 12 congressmen down the appeals court trail.

The congressmen contend the administration, by continuing the undeclared war, is violating their right under the Constitution to decide whether the nation should go to war or not.

In approximately five minutes, hearing no oral arguments, U.S. District Court Judge William B. Jones dismissed a motion by the congressmen that would have required the President to seek congressional declaration of war or stop fighting.

The Supreme Court last fall refused to take original jurisdiction of a Massachusetts suit concerning this question. A New York federal court ruled last year that Congress had approved the war by authorizing men and money for the fighting.

Jones told the congressmen's lawyer, Lawrence Velvel, he saw no mention of a 1967 case, Luftig vs. McNamara, in the 111 pages of briefs he had read before the hearing. He dismissed the case without hearing Velvel's oral arguments.

In the Luftig ruling a three-judge appeallate panel said the war essentially was a political question beyond discussion by the courts.

Velvel said Jones' decision would be appealed.

The action was brought by Reps. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., Michael Harrington, D-Mass., and Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y. They were joined later by nine other members of the House.

Women's Liberation Reaches Peak With Many Firsts

by JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever happened to the women's liberation movement?

Thousands of women marched last August 26, demonstrating for equal pay, child care centers, abortion on demand and an end to sexism. But what are they doing now?

"Women's liberation has crested, but the national consciouness if has raised on sex discrimination is irreversible," said Betty Friedan, organizer of the 1970 strike.

Though there has been a lessening of publicity-conscious tactics such as whistle-ins at construction workers, women persist in their fight for equality.

Court cases charging sex discrimination are increasing in number. Women candidates, many with strong feminist platforms, are priming for political battle.

And almost daily, women move into yet another traditional male domain. Women are becoming generals, Senate pages, aquanauts, and rabbis, as well as truck drivers, letter carriers, or railroad switch operators.

Some recent developments and firsts for women include:

—The Women's Action Program, the first government-sponsored effort on behalf of women, was announced by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to improve the status of women in society.

The United Presbyterian Church elected a woman as its top presiding officer. In other churches, the first woman was ordained as a Lutheran pastor, the American Baptist Convention named a woman as president, and Episcopalians allowed women to serve in the previously all-male House of Deputies.

—The first female mayor of a city larger than 200,000 was elected.

Patricia Sewell of Oklahoma City joined 13 other women who head cities with more than 30,000 population.

—Boys and girls can now compete in contact sports such as swimming and tennis, New York City's Board of Education ruled.

—Pregnant stewardesses, married or not, are now given maternity leave by some airlines. They used to be fired.

—President Nixon opened four jobs in the $25,000 to $40,000-a-year category to women, including a top slot in the Civil Service Commission.

More than 16,000 women in the last five years have filed sex discrimination complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

One woman emerged victorious in a sex discrimination case after a six-year struggle. Lorena Weeks of Wadley, Ga., finally got a job as a switchman for Southern Bell Telephone and received the $31,000 she might have earned had she been awarded the job when she first applied in 1965.

While many states have repealed discriminatory laws—women can finally be bartenders in California, and Wisconsin has ruled that women may work the same number of hours as men and collect overtime pay—hundreds of state laws still limit women.

Women, who regularly carry growing children around the house, can't get jobs that require carrying 10 pounds up and down stairways in California, 15 pounds in Utah, and 25 pounds in Ohio. Women are prohibited from working as bellhops in Washington, electric meter readers in Ohio, or nighttime elevator operators in North Dakota.

Married women need their husband's permission to sell property in several states including Alabama, Florida and Texas. Wives in California, Nevada and Pennsylvania can't start an independent business unless their husbands approve.

Groups are forming across the country to win passage of the federal equal rights amendment, which would do away with 111 of these discriminatory laws. Last year it passed the House with only 15 negative votes, but never made it to the vote in the Senate.

But women still have a long way to go to achieve full participation in the world outside the home. Women now make up more than 40 per cent of the work force, but are still in the lowest paid and most menial jobs.

Despite the fact that women are 53 per cent of the voting population their representation at local, state and national levels is less than it was 12 years ago, according to a study made by the Republican National Committee. In 1959, there were 19 women in Congress. Today, there are 12 congresswomen and one female senator and there has been no woman in the Cabinet since 1955.

But many women hope to change all that.

"All the decisions in our lives have been made by men. We must now get into the political arena and be decision makers ourselves," says Aileen Hernandez. She has announced this year's August 26 action as a day of nationwide fund raising to establish an office for women's rights and a fund for the increasing number of female candidates.

WOMEN'S COMMENTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Once I write, I leave the world. I'm not with it. And when I go out, I have to tell myself to stop and look at the light before crossing the street. I'm with those pages—those people."—Ruth Freeman Solomon, who became an author after she became a grandmother.

"It's a completely different feeling to be surrounded by things you've made, found and grown yourself than to be surrounded by manufactured things that are functional but don't come out of your soul. There are things happening in our society that are evil and the way to overcome evil is to become really involved with making things that are good."—Alicia Bay Laurel, author of "Living on the Earth."

Nutrition Tips For The Bride

COLLEGE STATION — Wedding bells signify love and marriage, but they also mean the bride-to-be will be taking on new responsibility establishing a healthy family, reminds Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

One of the first responsibilities a wife faces is providing good nutrition, Miss Reasonover explains. This task may mean that some adjustments will have to be made.

One step in establishing a program of nutrition for your new home is synchronizing your food likes and dislikes with your husband's. Remember the basic four groups of foods needed for good health are meat, milk, vegetable-fruit and bread-cereal. Of the many varities in these groups, find the foods you both enjoy. You may also find ways of combining foods you don't like with those you do.

If you don't know much about meal planning, buying and preparation, one of the best aids in your new job is to buy a reliable cookbook.

Learning the amounts of food needed for two people is another task facing you. You will have to learn to buy and prepare foods with appetite appeal for two people.

Miss Reasonover gives this hint as you begin family meal planning: establish family traditions, such as special meals for birthdays and anniversaries, to foster unity and good relationships.

And, remember to set good nutrition as a high priority goal, the specialist adds.

Oh Pumpernickel

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the legends of bread concerns pumpernickel, Germany's famous black bread.

It may have been named when a traveling Frenchman tried some and pronounced it "bon pour Nicol," or "good for Nicol," as he called his horse.

There is also the one about Turkish bakers, when caught adding fillers to their flour, being nailed by the ears to their shops.

Junkyards Are Good Economic Indicators

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "For U.S. entrepreneurs going to strange foreign countries, junk studies can be very suggestive. Junk tends to be a leading economic indicator," said the professor.

At first it appeared to be a joke. But as the story unfolded, the listener realized the professor had developed a system of junk analysis and that it actually could reveal the status of a nation's economy, and perhaps its future.

And there were all the credentials, as checked in an interview: Dr. Richard N. Farmer, 43, author of eight books, professor at the Graduate School of Business, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

"Most economic data is erroneous for reasons beyond the control of statisticians," he wrote in the international management magazine, 'Worldwide P and I planning.' P is for project, I for industry.

In quest of knowledge, Farmer has roamed the junkyards of at least 10 countries.

"Every country," he maintains, "is in at least one of five-level junk and trash development cycles," which he labels:

1. Nothing Gets Used. Mainly because the natives don't have the skill to make use of junk. Characteristic of primitive and remote tribes of desert nomads. Per capita income of less than $50 a year.

2. Everything Gets Used. Indicative of rudimentary skills in reusing old materials. Nothing is thrown away for good. Ingenuity develops. Autos are totally stripped. Per capita income up to $200.

3. Piling Up Phase. Low grade materials show up in junkyards and about the countryside: broken bottles, cement fragments, occasional tires, leaking bottles and autos almost, but not quite totally, stripped.

"Labor, particularly skilled labor, is being drawn off into more productive pursuits, so cars begin to have bits and pieces of hard to get things left on them." The junkyard "comes into its own."

4. The Age of Affluence. Usable trash accumulates. Lots of bottles, cans, tires, occasional abandoned cars. Useful stuff appears such as copper piping, two by fours, wire. Per capita income up to $1,200. Influential people talk about ecology. Trash no longer an asset but a costly burden.

5. Total Affluence. Per capita income up to $2,500 or more. Trash becomes a major public issue. Abandoned cars, throwaway containers, piles of paper become problems.

Proper analysis, says Farmer, can tell an awful lot about a country's wealth, skills, needs, initiative, morality, imagination and future.

"Instead of hanging around local luxury hotels, businessmen interested in what is really going on in a country should get out to see what's being done with the local junk.

"It beats drinking politely with local officials, and trash doesn't lie."

Junior Editors Quiz on MOON

QUESTION: Why are the craters on the moon called "seas" when there is no water on the moon?

ANSWER: The moon was always a source of interest to early man. The moon was featured in early mythology of the Greeks and the Romans. There was much speculation about the cloud-like markings on the moon. Early legends described this etching on the moon as the figure of a man, hence the expression, "the man on the moon." Some described the man as a woodcutter carrying a pack of wood on his back.

In the 1600s, Galileo began to study the moon with his telescope. He saw deep indentations on the moon which he called seas. He assumed the moon was a planet similar to earth. He did not know that the moon had no atmosphere. It was not until much later that astronomers realized that the moon was a barren body with no wind, air or water. After Galileo, many craters were observed and called seas, such as the Sea of Rains, Sea of Tranquility and the Sea of Clouds, etc.

Astronomers in recent years have realized that the so-called seas on the moon are large crevices, caused by volcanic eruptions on the moon or damage done by meteors in collision with the moon. The astronauts found the "seas" of the moon to be large pits filled with lava and crushed rocks.

Husband's Taste Buds Change

By LOUISE VOOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Five years ago, my husband the Texan thought a fancy meal was one where you served barbecued ribs and chili.

Today, he wants to know whether the nate is rough or smooth, he complains if there isn't a cheese course and he prefers at least two kinds of wine with any meal.

It's not my cooking that's improved. Just his taste buds.

The making of a gourmet actually started because of my lack of culinary ability. We had to eat out a lot and sooner or later it was bound to happen.

Texas discovered French cooking.

At first he sneered at snails and frowned at frogs' legs, demanding with a drawl, "Just a steak, please."

Then he discovered the steak tasted better with a sauce. When barbecue sauce wasn't available he was induced to try bernaise.

Next came duck under glass-along with sliced veal pate—a rough pate, please, with Dijon mustard on the side.

Along with the experiments in food, came adventures in wine.

Beer went by the wayside. He was induced to try rose wine—a safe choice with just about anything.

Then he was talked into a white wine and a friendly headwaiter supplied a book about the grape. Other tomes followed and soon he was sniffing bouquets appreciatively.

His vocabulary became sprinkled with strange terms—vintage, cru and sommelier. He read wine labels the way some people read the fine print in legal contracts.

By this time we had acquired a wine rack, several corks-crews—including one filched from the refrigerator in a small French hotel, a serving basket, a book to collect labels in and assorted cases of wine.

The same man who used to say, "I eat when I'm hungry. I don't care about food," now spends 20 minutes deciding whether a Marsala or a wine sauce would be better on the veal and weighing the merits of a grand marnier souffle as opposed to floating island.

We still eat out a lot. My culinary talents are still pretty meager. But I'm learning to cover up my failures—with wine sauce, of course.

Lawyers To Help Students

HOUSTON (AP)—Next fall the student at the University of Houston who has trouble getting back his deposit on an apartment will have professional help.

The help will come from a lawyer the school will hire to counsel students on legal problems.

The counselor, yet to be selected, will advise students on standard legal procedures and their legal rights.

Tom O'Donnell, the student advocate who takes up students' problems with the university administration, started the idea.

He said the counselor should help remedy situations in which students suffer in legal disputes because they either lack knowledge of their rights or funds to hire an attorney.

The counselor will advise students on small claims court procedure, consumer protection laws, the Civil Rights Act, labor relations board procedures, laws concerning the employment of minors and city traffic court procedure.

Counseling on problem pregnancy laws and draft laws will also be provided.

Because of restrictions on group practice of law in Texas, the counselor, to be selected from a list of local attorneys, will not represent students in court or perform actual written legal services.

In such instances, the counselor would refer the student to either a lawyer's referral service, if he is able to pay, or to the Houston Legal Foundation.

U Thant Cancels Trip To Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A dizzy spell apparently brought on by fatigue has led Secretary-General U Thant to cancel a trip to the Soviet Union and several other Communist countries.

The United Nations withheld until Monday an announcement of Thant's illness Saturday, but a spokesman said the 62-year-old Burmese diplomat did not suffer a heart attack.

Thant's condition was not critical, the spokesman said, and he is undergoing medical tests.

Thant had planned to leave for Moscow today.

More Expensive

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — "Each year it gets more expensive," President Nixon jokingly complained as he bought 31 yellow roses to give his wife Pat for their 31st wedding anniversary.

Nixon stopped by a shopping center flower and gift shop, the Nosegay, Monday saw roses he liked, told the owner, Mary Brennan, he would take them, then thought to ask: "Do we have an account here?"

"You sure do," she replied.

"We'll see that we pay on time," he said.

Cardinals, Athletics Win In Little League

There were two tight pitcher's duels in the Little League last night in Towle Park as the Cardinals clipped the Giants 4-1 and the Athletics beat the Indians 8-4.

Cardinal pitcher Ricky Beard twirled a 3-hitter, giving up singles to Zane Sterling, Billy Rollins and Glenn Davis. Davis, the loser, gave up just five hits — all singles — to the Cardinals. Beard rapped two singles while Marcus Anderson, Randy Browning and Ronny Ille each stroked one.

Trailing 1-0 after three innings, the Cards tallied two runs in the fourth and two in the 5th to take the decision.

The A's were behind 4-3 going into the 5th when they pushed across five runs to grab the victory.

Both the A's and the Indians collected four hits. Mark Mueller and Richard Crayton worked on the hill for the Athletics while Darrell Lester and Dray Sikes shared the mound chores for the Tribe.

Royce Corbell and Bryan Walton each doubled for the A's, and Randy Lewis and Gerald Snyder hit singles. For the Tribe, Dray Sikes, Anthony Lewis, Jay Hammond and Greg Sullenger each stroked singles.

The Oilers defeated the Bullets 12-1 and the Rebels bombed the Dodgers 11-1 in two thrilling Junior Teenage League tilts held in Towle Park last night.

Oiler pitchers Robert Braziel and Hubert Crayton gave up just four hits--all singles--to the Bullets. Hitting safely for the losers were Welton Cobb, V. T. Roberson, Henry Hernandez and Rodney Head.

The Jets scored one run in the 3rd and two in the 5th. Butch Buchanan paced the attack with a single and a double. Albert Hernandez slashed two singles. Marvin McClanahan and Larry Wall each hit one single.

McCovey On Disabled List

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants placed first baseman Willie McCovey on the disabled list Tuesday night and indicated he may undergo surgery on his left knee.

After the game with the Chicago Cubs, Dr. E.C. Sailer said he and a specialist had run some tests on McCovey's ailing knee and found some cartilage damage.

To replace McCovey, the Giants called up Ed Goodson from their Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

McCovey, whose knee has been bothering him more and more recently, has a current batting average of .292 in 53 games this season with 11 home runs and 39 RBIs.

Spurs Gain On Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Satchel Paige's advice to "not look back because something might be gaining on you" held true for Amarillo in the torrid Dixie Association West race.

The Giants stumbled 6-3 to Albuquerque Tuesday night and suddenly found themselves only half a game ahead of second-place Dallas-Fort Worth, which dropped San Antonio 5-3 and 4-0 in a doubleheader.

In other Dixie games, Arkansas increased its Dixie Central lead to four games over Memphis with a 2-1, 5-1 doubleheader sweep of Shreveport, Columbus took a pair 6-0 and 13-3 from Jacksonville, Birmingham edged Memphis 4-2, Savannah downed Montgomery 4-1 and Asheville at Charlotte was postponed because of rain.

Donna Seeks Third Crown

By D. BYRON YAKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

ERIE, PA. (AP) — Donna Caponi will be shooting for her third straight U.S. Women's Open golf championship this week at Erie's Kahkwa Club.

The $33,000 72-hole tournament with a $5,000 first prize, gets under way Thursday.

Despite a double bogey on the final hole last year at Muskogee, Okla. and a final round 77, Miss Caponi still won the 1970 Open by one stroke with a 287.

In 1969, she defeated Peggy Wilson by one stroke at Scenic Hill Country Club in Pensacola, Fla. with a 294.

No other golfer on the women's tour has won the U.S. Open more than twice in succession although Mickey Wright and Betsy Rawls took the championship four times in their careers.

Kahkwa Club, a 6,306-yard course with a par 72, sits just outside Erie. Although short, the course demands accuracy. It is tree lined, well trapped and hilly.

Check Out Trade Schools

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I have just graduated from high school and plan to attend a trade school. How can I be sure I'm choosing a good one? -- B.B., Cincinnati

Many private vocational schools offer excellent training, but some are a tragic waste of time and money.

(1) CONTRACTS. Do not sign a contract until you've gotten the facts. Some schools offer a so-called scholarship or reduced tuition which is given only if you sign on the spot. This is a favorite trick of 2nd-rate schools. Good schools will give you time to investigate.

If you don't understand a contract, find a mature adult who does and ask him to explain it to you. If a salesman promises you something that is not spelled out in the contract, beware. See what the contract says about the schedule of payments, and tuition refund policy in case you drop out. Get a receipt for your own down payment and a copy of the contract.

(2) PROMOTION. Avoid schools which guarantee jobs, or say that you will be anything but a trainee upon graduation, or make the occupation sound overly glamorous. Watch out for high pressure salesmen, particularly those claiming to be "career counselors" or "guidance counselors" or something other than sales representatives.

(3) ACCREDITATION. A number of schools receive approval by questionable accrediting agencies. Don't blindly accept the word "accredited" or "licensed." When a school says it is accredited by a state, write the state's licensing agency (a public school official or librarian can help you locate the licensing agency) to find out what licensing means. It may not mean that the state approves the course offered, but only that the school has complied with some registration requirements.

You can get a free directory of schools which meet certain standards by writing: the Accrediting Commission for Business Schools, 1730 M St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036, and the National Assn. of Trade and Technical Schools, 2021 L St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

(4) REPUTATION. You should check with your local Better Business Bureau, or Chamber of Commerce in areas where no BBB exists. Determine how long the school has been in existence as one factor in evaluating financial and operational stability.

(5) REFERENCES. Ask employers, unions and professional associations, and former students what they think of the school's training. Try to ask in person, not on the phone (you may get straighter answers).

For instance, if it's a medical technology school, ask hospital personnel directors, physicians and operators of independent medical labs. If it's civil service training, ask a civil service personnel office.

Obtain a list of 20 former students and spotcheck at least 5. If the school won't name any, forget the school. Bear in mind, however, that the school won't give you any disgruntled graduates, so you'll have to ask probing questions and listen carefully to the answers.

(6) LICENSING REQUIREMENTS. Check state or Federal licensing agencies for occupations requiring a professional license (example: beauty operator) to determine what education is needed to qualify.

(7) SHOP SEVERAL SCHOOLS, prices vary. Compare costs and hours involved, being certain that there are no "extras." Also, visit each school to get personal impressions (preferably with an adult already working in the trade). Also, check nonprofit public schools where the training may be comparable, or better -- and cheaper. Your public school system can tell you what programs it offers.

(8) JOB OPENINGS. Call private employment agencies and the State employment service office. Ask about the general employment picture for the trade you're thinking about entering.

If you will do the headwork and legwork to find the best private vocational school for you and stick with it, a good skilled or technical job can be your reward.

Duke Of Windsor Is 75 Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The Duke of Lindsor planned to spend his 75th birthday in seclusion today with his wife in their Waldorf Towers apartment.

The Duchess, whom the duke married after giving up his throne as king of England in 1936, has been ill and was unable to attend a 75th birthday party planned for her last Saturday.

They plan to leave Thursday on the Michelangelo for a trip to their home in France.

Local Rotarians Install Officers

Lee Herring, a banker at Grand Prairie, told local Rotarians that "monetary things aren't as important as spiritual things." He spoke last night at the annual Ladies Night Banquet and Installation Dinner, held at the First Methodist Church.

Herring was introduced by Rotarian Rex Robinson, who said the speaker was his elementary school teacher at Hermleigh in 1940 when the classes were held in a church because a fire had destroyed the school building. Robinson had not seen Herring again until last January when he met him at a cattle meeting in Fort Worth.

Herring told several anecdotes and kept the audience laughing for about an hour.

"Laughter is good medicine," he explained at the end of his speech. Some of the jokes were on himself. Calling attention to his size, he said that he has been called the biggest banker in Grand Prairie.

A former member of the Texas Tech football team, Herring said that a man becomes a better citizen through participation in a service club. He commended local Rotarians for their contributions to their community. He said the individual "grows" through participation in service club projects.

Bentley Baize installed the new officers, including Loren Sullivan, president; Roy Carter, vice president; and, Mike Ezzell, secretary-treasurer. Baize urged the new officers for 1971-72 to "give service above self."

Sullivan said he would do his best to be a good president in the coming year. He presented a past president's pin to Frank Miller, outgoing president. Sullivan was vice-president last year. Outgoing secretary is Clifford Terry.

Holdover members of the board of directors are Rex Robinson, Von Kleibrink and Roy Carter. Outgoing directors are Malven Stevenson, Dr. Robert Hargrove and Mel Gilbert. New directors include Truett Bryan and Leslie Butler. Another new director will be elected in the near future.

Linda Burgess, the Club Sweetheart for the past year, received a special gift from Miller. She accompanied Susan Ferrell, Pam Hartsfield and Jana Bullard as they sang several songs. Roy Carter was chairman of the entertainment.

Invocation was given by Rayburn Burgess, and Frank Miller introduced the guests.

Nixon Plans Trip To Midwest

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, who says he's wearing his non-political hat this pre-campaign year, is heading for the Midwest to touch a few more political bases.

Back in Washington Tuesday after a 5-day working holiday trip to New York, New Jersey and Florida-three key states in presidential contests—Nixon will fly to Indiana and Illinois Thursday and Friday.

Ostensibly, the motive for Nixon's trip to the Midwest is non political. He has said he is concentrating on presidential duties this year and will not answer political questions at news conferences.

So, too, was his appearance Tuesday in Atlantic City, N.J., at the annual convention of the American Medical Association.

Addressing the physicians, Nixon promoted his own health care proposals by predicting an alternative sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a potential 1972 challenger, would cost the taxpayers $77 billion a year 36 months hence. His audience cheered.

The President delayed the departure of his big jet from a nearby airport for many minutes while he received New Jersey's Republican county chairmen.

The scenario for next Thursday and Friday:

—An appearance at Vernon, Ind., to unveil a plaque at the birthplace of Nixon's mother, Hannah Milhous Nixon, who at age 12 left the state for California with her parents in 1897.

—A black-tie retirement dinner in Indianapolis Thursday for Frederick Hovdey, stepping down after 25 years as president of Purdue University.

—A Friday appearance in Chicago at a joint conference of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Nosey Raccoon Causing Short

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — A raccoon wandered into a power substation here, causing an electrical short that left the southern half of Lafayette without power for half an hour.

Hospitals had to switch to emergency power, but the short blackout caused no serious problems.

The raccoon died.

CANYON — Bradley Maule, son of the George Maules of Snyder, will perform the role of Dude Forbes during the sixth season of the musical drama "TEXAS".

He will also be the understudy for Dave Newberry. He has performed roles in "Hamlet", "Hello Dolly," "The Fantasticks", "Antigone", "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolfe" and "The Lion In Winter" at West Texas State University.

Maule has received Branding Iron Theatre Awards for Best Supporting Actor and Best Actor. He is on the Dean's List and is a member of Buffalo Masquers.

At Snyder he played roles in "A Man For All Seasons" and "Elizabeth the Queen".

The grandson of Mrs. J. E. Maule of Snyder is one of 130 persons selected for the 1971 "TEXAS" company.

The production, written by Pulitzer Prize winner Paul Green, opens Thursday (June 24) and runs nightly, except Sunday, through Aug. 28 in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon. A special performance will be given Sunday, July 4.

Opening night will be a gala honoring the mayors of the Panhandle who broke ground for the amphitheatre 10 years ago. Both the mayors of ten years ago and the current mayors of the Panhandle tow... will be guests of the Heritage Foundation for the evening.

Affidavits Filed At Big Spring

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — Backers of Jay Banks, Big Spring's fired police chief, have filed two affidavits asking the first recall election in the history of this West Texas city.

The documents deposited Tuesday with city secretary Charles Smith seek removal of city commissioners Jack Watkins and Wade Choate from office.

Filing of a third affidavit was expected today.

Choate and Watkins joined commissioner Eddie Acri in a 3-2 majority vote by which the dismissal of Banks was approved at a closed session last Friday.

The three commissioners said Banks, a veteran peace officer, had not cooperated with other law enforcement agencies.

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall, also a commission member, and commissioner M. R. Koger voted against firing Banks.

The petition seeking Choate's recall election was signed by John Currie, Big Spring bank vice president. D. G. Whitten, an oil company executive, signed the affidavit naming Watkins.

Both petitions, identical in wording, alleged Watkins and Choate have been derelict in their "duty as a city commissioner."

According to the city charter, 35 per cent of the total vote in the last regular Big Spring election—950 persons—must sign each petition to call an election.

Four policemen have resigned in protest over Banks' dismissal. Thirty-five others on the 40-man force have threatened to resign.

Doctor Receives Service Award

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — A Texas doctor received the American Medical Association's distinguished service award Tuesday.

The citation went to Dr. George R. Hermann, 76, of Galveston.

He is a professor at the medical branch of the University of Texas in Galveston and has written three textbooks and 360 medical articles.

MIAMI (AP) — Mary Louise Peterson must shed 60 pounds in the next five months or go to jail for the next three years.

The deadline diet was imposed on the 38-year-old mother of six after she was found guilty of disorderly conduct and resisting police without violence. Criminal Court Judge Murray Goodman made the weight loss mandatory as a term of her three-year probation.

"Her attorney said she was on welfare and was too overweight to hold down a job," Goodman said. "If I put her in jail or fine her, I just penalize the children."

At the time of her May 24 trial, Mrs. Peterson tipped the scales at 315. Tuesday, she said she was down to 310.

"I'm on a strict protein diet," she said. "It's not easy to lose weight, but then my doctor said it wouldn't be. The judge told me I had to lose three pounds a week until I got down to 250. I'm going to lose more than that, I'm not going to stop until I get down to 200.

Mrs. Peterson, who is 6 feet tall, said she weighed 138 when she was married, nearly 20 years ago, but had gained steadily over the years.

"It sort of creeps up on you," she said.

Mrs. Peterson must make periodic visits to her probation officer to show she is complying with the terms of her sentence. She also plans to begin attending a Miami weight reducing salon, which offered her a free membership.

"When I sentenced her," Judge Goldman said, "she told me, 'Good, now I'll finally lose some weight.' I hope she does ... for her sake."

Chicken Thief Sent To Prison

DALLAS (AP) — A chicken thief drew a three-year prison term and a bank embezzler received a suspended sentence in federal court Tuesday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe E. Estes ordered John M. Lawrence, 44, of West Memphis, Ark., to serve the three years.

Officers arrested Lawrence at a suburban truck stop in February while he was trying to sell boxes of frozen chicken. They said he made off with 101 boxes in a shipment from Tupelo, Miss., to Houston while working as a substitute truck driver.

Robert E. Wilson, 41, of Dallas received the suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to embezzling $1,500 last January at the Exchange Bank & Trust Co., where he was a vault teller.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Cecil Emerson said Wilson altered his balance sheet to cover the shortage.

The Indian sun dance was an eight-day ceremony, much of it secret, to honor the buffalo and assure good health to the hunter.
