HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Time is growing short! In fact, it is less than two weeks until the first event marking the start of Winters' 1966 Christmas season program! This first event, the Moonlight Sale, when most of Winters' merchants plan to stay open until 8 p. m., will be November 17.

On November 17, many of the merchants will hold individual drawings and give away merchandise with total values reaching into the hundreds of dollars. The Winters Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Christmas program and promoters of the special Moonlight Sale, is compiling a list of all gifts which will be offered through the merchants' drawings, and will probably release the information next week. There is presently no indication of just how much these gifts will total, but it is expected that it will be beyond anything of this nature ever attempted here.

The November 17 drawings will be the first; another big drawing will be held December 22. The way it is planned this year, there will be no drawing by the Chamber of Commerce; instead, each merchant will hold his own drawing. Shoppers taking part in the drawings will be asked to register at each cooperating business; there will be no requirement that purchases be made, or that winners be present at the drawing in order to win. Each individual merchant will run his own contest and draw up his own rules.

(Note to Merchants: If you have not already notified Mrs. Emma Marks at the Chamber of Commerce regarding the items you will put up for the drawings, she would appreciate receiving this information as quickly as possible so that proper publicity may be started. Too, Winters area shoppers will be very interested in knowing just what is going to be offered at the drawings.)

Next Tuesday's General Election, with no contests on the local level and only one contest of any consequence for a "big" office (U. S. Senator) may not seem to be important to many people, in spite of the presence of 16 Constitutional Amendment proposals which will be on the ballot. But anyone who stops a moment to give it thought must readily see that action by voters will be of great importance.

Most of the 16 Constitutional Amendments will affect the lives and actions of every single Texan, in one way or another. It is up to the people to decide what is to be done about them.

Of equal significance is the effect next Tuesday's turnout of voters will have on elected officials. These officials, especially those who make the Federal and State laws which govern the actions of all of us, watch closely the trends, or lack of them, which are indicated by the turnout at the polls and the way the voting goes. These officials in turn will set their sails accordingly.

So it is very important that every man and woman qualified to vote take advantage of this opportunity — which only a small percentage of the world's population has — to express their opinions.

This may be called an "off" year election... but in fact, there are never "off" years — each election is as important as another.

When the government seeks information, there usually is a deadline date beyond which the information giver must not go. A Federal Government form was received in Winters recently with the reminder that it must be completed and proper information returned not later than "November 31."

Our taxiderized friend down the street figures that there now will be a mad scurry to change all the calendars, because after all, he explains, we have reached the point where a bureaucrat's decision becomes final.

Voters Will Decide Fate of Candidates And Amendments in Nov. 8 Election

Sixteen — Constitutional Amendments and 43 candidate names will be on the ballots handed Winters voters at the General Election next Tuesday, Nov. 8, but electors will have few choices outside a few State offices.

All Democratic candidates for county and precinct offices, and several state and district offices, have no opposition in this General Election. Their nomination in the Democratic primary last spring virtually put them in office, leaving the General Election a mere formality. There are no Republican candidates for district and county offices.

Although there are formal candidates for several state offices from the Republican, Constitution and Conservative parties, the only real contests facing Democratic candidates appears to be the race for United States Senator. The incumbent U. S. Senator, John Tower, a Republican, is being challenged by Democrat Waggoner Carr for that office.

Of strictly local interest, the following Democratic candidates have no opposition:

For Representative to Congress, 17th District: Omar Burleson.

For State Senator, 24th District: David Ratliff.

For State Representative, 64th District: Ben Barnes.

For County Judge: W. H. Rumpy.

For County School Supt.: W. E. Elkins.

For County Clerk: Frankie Berryman.

For District Clerk: Mrs. Otis Power.

For County Treasurer: Otis Jacob.

For County Surveyor: Felix Itz.

For County Commissioner:

City of Winters Joins Governing Organization

Winters City Council Tuesday night approved membership of the City of Winters in the Council of Governments, a non-profit group organized recently to work with counties, cities and authorized districts in expediting applications for Federal and State assistance in improvement projects.

This particular organization is made up of cities and towns and districts in a 15-county area surrounding Abilene.

Purpose of the organization is to assist governing bodies in obtaining information regarding available Federal and State assistance, and to help expedite applications for such assistance. The Council of Government groups will employ qualified personnel to gather information and help in presenting applications, thus helping individual cities and counties in properly seeking assistance. Without such a central organization, it has been explained, each separate governing body must obtain information on their own and make application for assistance separately, which in many instances has proved costly and time consuming.

It was also explained that the Council of Governments as such would have no authority in approving or disapproving any application.

Runnels County commissioners recently approved the county government's membership in the organization, a prerequisite for Winters becoming a member.

Seed House At Wilmeth Swept By Fire Tuesday

A cottonseed house at the Wilmeth Gin was completely destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning, along with an undetermined tonnage of cottonseed stored there.

Winters firemen were called to the Wilmeth Gin about 4:30 Tuesday morning, but were unable to save the seed house. According to information no damage was done to the gin proper.

Meanwhile, back in Winters, volunteer firemen who had remained in town with one truck, were called out again to control a blaze in a burr pile at the Winters Gin on the north edge of Winters. They were called out again about 10:30 Tuesday morning to put down a blaze at the burr pile. Firemen made two calls to fight blazes at the burr pile Sunday.

Firemen also had been called Monday night to extinguish a small refuse blaze at Davidson Gin, said to be caused by sparks blowing from the burr burner to cotton lint in the gin yard.

C-City Grid Team In Winters Tonite

The Winters High School Blizzards, fighting to regain a hold on chances in the 5-AA conference race, will face the Colorado City Wolves here Friday night.

After having met defeat at the hands of Stamford last Friday night, the Blizzards have watched their hopes for conference honors dimmed. Only by making a comeback against Colorado City, and a chance that Stamford and Anson will slip up this week in their games against Haskell and Hamlin, can the Blizzards see daylight. Another tough contest will face them next week, when Anson comes to Winters for the final game.

With three conference games behind them, the Winters players have a 2-1 record for district contests.

Colorado City has a 1-1-1 score for district, having lost to Anson 20-15 last week, defeating Hamlin 36-12, and finishing with a 6-6 standoff with Stamford.

The Blizzards and Wolves have identical seasonal records, 4-3-1, but the Colorado City bunch has crossed the counter mark for more points than the Winters team this season, marking up 124 to opponents' 101; Winters has scored 94 points, to opponents' 66, in all games this season.

In pre-district play, Winters and Colorado City faced two common foes: Brady and Ballinger. Winters defeated Brady 16-6, while Colorado City lost to the 8-AA team 24-14. Each team came out short against Ballinger: Winters dropped an 0-6 contest with the Bearcats, and Colorado City was defeated by Ballinger 21-12.

Outstanding Wolves expected to go against the Blizzards this week include backs Dennis Higginbotham and Don Steakley, and linemen Jerry Franks, and end, and Stedson Cowan, the center.

The Blizzards are back in shape, with no serious injuries to plague them for Friday night's game.

Roger Babson Says—

President Advocating Four-Year Terms For Nation's Congressmen

Babson Park, Mass. Congress has been asked by President Johnson to approve a constitutional amendment that would extend the terms of Congressmen from two years to four. This proposal—which is not likely to be acted upon at this session—has stirred up a good deal of comment pro and con.

Promotion Of Efficiency

The President himself has served with great effectiveness in both the House and the Senate. He is widely regarded as an expert on congressional procedure with knowledge in this field second to none. We would assume, therefore, that his arguments in favor of a four-year term for Congressmen seem valid and constructive to him in the light of his experience, both as member and as President.

Mr. Johnson pleads that this change has become necessary because of the expanding volume—and the complexity—of legislation. He also points to the high cost of campaigning, which is burdensome to candidates for the House of Representatives and especially distracting to those who are running for reelection. In short, he believes we would have more efficient Congressmen if the length of their term were doubled.

Competitive Pressures

The President decries "the competitive pressures imposed by the two-year term, when the incumbent must remain in Washington into the fall to attend to public business." He contends that, because of these competitive pressures, the ability of a Congressman—to legislate as well as to campaign—is impaired.

Granted, the frequency of campaigning under the two-year term is a burden, especially in these days of skyrocketing costs. But is it a heavy enough burden to warrant depriving American voters of the right to express their will in selecting Members of Congress every second year?

Effect On Perspective

As a matter of fact, the whole question of campaign funds is a burning issue with which Congress must come to grips before very long. There is wide difference of opinion regarding the ethics involved in raising and in spending campaign funds. There are also broad differences on the matter of limiting the amount a candidate may spend in seeking a congressional seat. Once the question of campaign funds is settled, the issue of a two-year versus a four-year term will fall into clearer focus.

In the earlier years of our Republic, and in practice pretty well down to the presidency of Herbert Hoover, Congressmen "sojourned" in Washington, but still maintained homes in their districts as principal places of residence. Thus they kept in close touch with their constituents. Now, congressional sessions are so lengthy that most Members actually live in Washington year-round, making only fleeting visits to their home states for holiday observances, vacations, and some "politicizing." Caught up as they are in the artificial atmosphere of Washington with its multitudes of government employees, their perspective is easily distorted, their feel of the pulse of the nation unsure. Change-over to a four-year term would not be likely to improve that perspective.

Checks And Balances

The four-year congressional term is proposed in the name of greater efficiency. Most of us will agree that there is a need for more efficiency in our federal government operations. But it is to be hoped all the angles will be explored before we scrap the two-year term in the name of efficiency.

Undeniably, the four-year term would tend to make Congressmen more "independent." Would it also make them less responsive to the will of their constituents? If, as the President's plan provides, they were elected during presidential election years, would that have a truly beneficial effect, or not? Finally, would a four-year term tend to weaken—perhaps eventually destroy—the system of checks and balances designed by the Founding Fathers to insure that neither our government, nor any of its branches, can become tyrannical?

U. S. SEN. JOHN TOWER vs. WAGGONER CARR

A CAMPAIGN FACT SHEET

SENATOR TOWER'S STRONG POINTS

1. "Senator John Tower is doing a good job for Texas"

—In 1965 and 1966, 19 major bills bearing his name passed the Senate which ranged from the San Antonio HemisFair bill to far-reaching soil and water conservation measures. In addition Tower fought successfully to keep Texas' right-to-work law. Senator Everett Dirksen said of Tower: "His counsel and his leadership have been invaluable. He has served his people well." (Congressional Record, October 13, 1965).

—Significance: He is honest, sincere; and effective.

2. "Has seniority on powerful Senate Committees"

—Senator Tower is the second-ranking Republican member of the Banking and Currency Committee which is deeply concerned with halting inflation and the rising cost of living. He is also the highest ranking Republican in both the Housing and Small Business Subcommittees.

—Significance: He has earned positions important to Texas.

3. "One of the most well-informed members of Congress on the War in Viet Nam"

—This is the No. 1 concern to every American, and Senator Tower toured Southeast Asia in 1961, 1965, and 1966 to confer with top U. S. military leaders and diplomats. He's toured the combat zone in Viet Nam, and many of his proposals on military policy, weapons and equipment have been adopted by the Administration.

—Significance: He is experienced and qualified.

4. "Key member of the Armed Services Committee"

—As the only Texan on this committee, Senator Tower oversees more than $3.5 billion being spent in Texas annually that affects more than 250,000 Texans employed at 36 major military installations and in defense contract work. Texas ranks ahead of all the states in defense spending except California and New York.

—Significance: He protects a vital area in Texas' economy.

5. "Texas needs to continue two-party representation"

—Our state needs the advantage of having 1 Democrat and 1 Republican in the Senate to "work both sides of the aisle" for legislation that will benefit all the people of Texas. For example, oil and gas legislation, Texas defense appropriations, and our right-to-work law all need broad-based support in both parties. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said of Tower: "He has performed in a way which does credit to the Senate and to himself." (Congressional Record, April 4, 1963. . . . Senator Tower is respected by Democrats as well as Republicans.

—Significance: Without bi-partisan representation, important legislation for Texas would be lost.

Tactics Being Used Against Senator John Tower

- "He's a Republican" ANSWER: Carr has nothing to offer the people of Texas but the fact he is a Democrat. Most Texans know that voting should be BY THE MAN and his abilities, and that Senator Tower has represented all the people of Texas.
- "Texas needs more than a negative vote." ANSWER: Senator Tower's positions subsequently adopted by the Johnson administration include a 7% cost of living increase for Social Security beneficiaries, Viet Nam G. I. bill, co-sponsorship of extending the National Wolf Act, authored and successfully guided the HemisFair '68 bill in the Senate. Tower's proven record speaks for itself.
- "Texas deserves effective representation." ANSWER: Senator John Tower was a key floor leader in the long successful debate to keep Texas' Right-To-Work Law (Section 14b, Taft-Hartley law); was called to the White House in June by the President for advice on the war in Viet Nam (with 9 other key congressional leaders); is an important member of the powerful Armed Services Committee.
- "In 1964 Tower ran from one end of the country to another praising Goldwater." ANSWER: Senator John Tower has a proud history of backing his party's nominees, including former President Eisenhower and former Vice-President Richard Nixon.
- "Conservatives should vote for Carr because he would split the patronage with Yarborough." ANSWER: This is completely untrue. A senior senator in the majority party has the final say-so on each appointment. If Yarborough finds a Carr appointment unacceptable, he simply can block the appointment as the senior senator.

WAGGONER CARR'S WEAK POINTS

- Carr is inexperienced in national government and international affairs. (Viet Nam and the rising cost of living are the two most important problems facing the United States.)
- Carr has approved nuclear attacks in Viet Nam. He advocates this if the Joint Chiefs recommend it, not the President of the United States! (August 16)
- Carr will cause Texas to lose 6 valuable years of seniority in the U. S. Senate. If Senator Tower's seat on the important Armed Services Committee were vacated, it would be many years before another Texan of either party could earn the position.
- The U. S. Senate will be used as a springboard for Governor in view of Carr's well-publicized ambitions. Carr planned to run for Governor this year, but Conally's third term blocked him.
- Carr is easily influenced; others tell him how to act and what to say. He has always used someone else's coat-tails to advance himself. The one exception was in 1960 when he was soundly defeated for Attorney-General by his own party, losing by over 160,000 votes.
- Carr is for one-party domination. Texas will be better protected by a two-party system as healthy competition between party officeholders benefits the entire state.
- Carr is too much of a polished politician, and not a statesman. His speeches and personal attacks amply demonstrate this. In addition, Carr's campaign slogan, "He can do more for Texas," is identical to that used by Senator Robert Kennedy, except for the name of the state.
- Carr has always campaigned for public office with bitter, personal attacks. In this campaign he's even attacking Senator Tower, an important member of the Armed Services Committee, for going to Viet Nam for firsthand knowledge of the needs of our fighting men.

Around The 5-AA Loop

Up until last week there was a big question—spelled "BLIZZARD"—but the Stamford Bulldogs won that spell-down 6-0... now, unless they stumble they are headed for the District 5-AA conference title. They've already played the stronger teams of the district, and now have only to hold off the two bottom teams, Hamlin and Haskell. There's nothing in the books that says this HAS to happen—but all indications are that it will.

If the unexpected should happen... well...

While Stamford is playing in Haskell this week, Anson, running neck-and-neck with the Blizzards, will be hosting the other "bottom" team, Hamlin. Meanwhile, south of the border, Winters will be hosting a comer —Colorado City—a team which may yet give someone some grief, although the Wolves have a 1-1-1 standing in district.

Last week's Winters - Stamford bout—the net result, that is—was something of a blow to the Blizzards, who had visions of possible containment of the roughest teams in the league after taking two games in a row. The Blizzards opened the contest with a 2-0 conference record, while the Bulldogs had a win and a tie. Stamford joined the league with Winters in 1961, and had not won a game during the years they had contested the Blizzards, until Friday night.

The Anson - Colorado City game last Friday was a close affair, 20-15 for the Tigers, with rushing and passing yards gained pretty close, 242 to the winners and 218 for the losers. First downs were 13-14, with C. City out front there. Anson now has a 2-1 record for district, and

Texas Research League Proposing Overhaul Of County Government

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Texas Research League unveiled its tentative recommendations for heading off "disaster" in growing urban counties following a statewide study ordered by Gov. John Connally.

Plan contains sweeping and controversial proposals to overhaul local government in 24 major and middle-sized counties. It proposes four statutory changes and two constitutional amendments. Test public hearings have been held in Austin and Dallas-Fort Worth and more discussion meetings will be set over the state.

Basically, the recommendations aim to encourage regional planning and cooperation among units of government in solving common problems and performing services on an area-wide basis and to permit big counties to adopt a modern governmental structure best suited to their needs. State aid to carry out these recommendations would be available under League suggestions.

A cabinet-type agency—the Texas Local Government Agency—is proposed to advise metropolitan areas and to police a new municipal incorporation. Probably the most controversial recommendation is a constitutional amendment to permit—on popular vote—the reorganization of governments in 24 counties, making it optional whether most county administrative officers are to be appointed or remain elective.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, can purchase life insurance on student borrowers and pay the premium directly to an insurance company from Opportunity Plan Fund. So held Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in an official ruling.

Texas Aeronautics Commission has no regulatory authority over airline service with origin or destination points outside the state.

Auto sales tax is due on cars transferred from subsidiary to parent corporation.

Appointed lawyers are due a separate fee for each appeal to final conclusion in Court of Criminal Appeals.

TEACHER PAY

Texas State Teachers Association has served notice it will push for a pay raise in 1967, regardless of views of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education.

TSTA blamed a 5,500-teacher shortage mainly on pay scales and renewed its plea for a "national average" wage with built-in escalator clause.

Texas Association of School Administrators joined teachers in urging an interim committee report on the need for better teaching salaries.

Stage may be set for one of the next Legislature's biggest money controversies.

FUSION FUNDS

The University of Texas, putting together a team of physicists and electrical engineers to work on conversion of thermonuclear fusion directly into electricity, has won a $700,000 research contract from the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation. Previously, the contract had been held by a California firm.

Governor Connally hailed the contract's coming back to Texas as marking a big step in his drive for excellence in higher education. The University committed a dozen faculty tenure positions to attract top men in plasma physics to join the UT Center for Plasma Research and Thermonuclear Physics.

SCREWORM EPIDEMIC

Texas is in the midst of its worst screwworm infestation since the statewide eradication program was initiated in February, 1964.

Two weeks ago, there were 33 confirmed cases. But last week (just through Thursday) 106 cases were confirmed.

Federal, state and private funds are being used to fight the infestation through dropping sterile flies from airplanes and treating infested animals. "But things don't look too good," said Dr. S. B. Walker, executive director for the Texas Animal Health Commission.

SHORT SHORTS

Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has outlined priorities for $58,300,000 worth of construction projects for submission to the next Legislature.

Garden Club leaders from over the state reviewed the Governor's Mansion landscaping plans initiated by Mrs. Connally.

Texas Securities Commissioner William M. King revoked the secondary trading exemption of Westec Corporation of Houston.

Governor Connally approved Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in Cameron County and San Diego Independent School District and a Head Start project for Uvalde, Kinney and Real Counties.

Roger Babson Says Before Another Decade Passes Japan To Become Major Power

Babson Park, Mass. Though Japan is still plagued by a number of problems and her future role in world affairs is not yet clearly discernible, she is steadily regaining her influence in Asia. Before another decade passes, she may well have recaptured her prewar status as a major world power.

Extrordinary Comeback

Highly industrialized and more democratic than any other Asian nation, Japan has achieved truly amazing postwar economic recovery. More astounding still have been the strides she has made toward building the first really modern society in the Far East.

Now emerging from a moderately prolonged business recession which had its beginnings in 1964, Japan's latest burst of prosperity is reflected in an average rise in urban household income of 10.7 percent in the first six months of this year over that for the 1965 period.

Just a few weeks ago, Premier Eisaku Sato's office disclosed that city-dwelling Japanese families now have average monthly income equivalent to $184.53. While this is far below the average for U.S. families, it is a new high for Japan—and three times the average family income in most other Asian countries.

Industrial Capability
Japan's area in square miles is less than four percent of the area of the United States. Yet there are 100 million people living in Japan, or just about half as many as are living in our country. Although more than half her arable land is still used for growing rice (the chief food) Japan has somehow also squeezed into her small island confines what has become the most concentrated and most readily usable industrial complex in the entire Far East.

She has made impressive use of her raw material resources to build an iron and steel industry as modern and efficient as any in the Western World. She has also become a leader in shipbuilding and in the manufacture of precision instruments. Her own large merchant fleet contributes mightily to the very favorable international trade balance she has enjoyed for some years now.

Leadership Potential

The industrial rebirth of Japan in the past 20 years is all the more amazing when one considers that at war's end nearly 50 percent of her industry lay in ruin. Our enlightened policy in Japan, administered in the late 1940's by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was a big factor in making possible the economic gains that the nation has achieved. But great credit must also be given to the energy, determination, and creativity of the Japanese people themselves.

Primarily, it is this leadership potential that has brought Japan so quickly to the fore in agriculture, industry, the arts, world trade, and scientific achievement. The Japanese are ambitious, resourceful, and hard-working. They can be counted upon to make the most of their not inconsiderable natural resources, their scientific know-how, and their unique geographical position relative to the Asian continent and the Pacific. Our forecast is that in the next ten years Japan will vastly increase her influence in Asia and in the world... whether she decides ultimately to draw closer to Peking, to Moscow, or to the West.

Equal Free World Partner
Today, Japan is at the crossroads. In an Asia racked by war and rumors of war, Japan's early postwar pacifism is gradually giving way to a more realistic posture. She is about to adopt a new constitution. She is about to re-arm. In self-defense, she may well feel that she must develop her own nuclear capability to offset that of Peking.

Tied to China by history and culture, she is at the same time profoundly Western-oriented. She feels strongly that she has a mission in Asia and that she can in time exert an influence on China. But she is also being wooed by Russia and the promise of greater trade with Siberia. Will she swing out of the Western bloc of which she has been a part these past 20 years? Perhaps the answer depends upon whether the West will in fact make her an equal Free World partner.

TEXAS IS ON THE MOVE!

In virtually every field of endeavor, our state has made dramatic progress the past four years under the strong leadership of Governor John Connally. His administration's bold, yet sensible programs have helped provide new opportunity and a better way of life for all our people.

IMPROVED EDUCATION — Since 1963, state investment in higher education has doubled, and faculty salaries have increased 40%. State support of local public schools have increased 44% in four years, including a $100 million teacher pay raise enacted in 1965. Technical and vocational training programs have been vastly increased; junior college enrollment doubled during the current bi-ennium. Special literacy programs for migrant workers and their children have been expanded. A college student loan fund of $85 million has been established. And a special Governor's Committee on Public Education currently is studying all facets of elementary and secondary education.

WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT — Long range planning and development have been given top priority. $100 million in bonds have been issued for development of needed storage facilities; authorization has been granted to expand this program to $200 million for the next two years.

CONCERN FOR THE AGED AND NEEDY — Since 1963, assistance to our elderly has been increased 27%. The Governor's Committee on Aging is continually working for the benefit of our senior citizens.

OUTDOOR RECREATION — More than $2 million has been invested in improving ten of our most attractive state parks during the past two years to provide additional recreational facilities.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION — A record 855 new industrial plants have been established the past three years, moving Texas into second place in the nation in industrial expansion. Last year, more than 23,000 new jobs were created in manufacturing alone — the best year ever for the Texas labor force.

INCREASED TOURISM — More than 12 million tourists visited Texas last year, adding more than $900 million to the state's economy, and creating 140,000 new jobs. The state's tourist advertising program has been sharply expanded.

MENTAL HEALTH AND MENTAL RETARDATION — New emphasis on prevention of mental illness and mental retardation has been achieved through establishment of new community centers, replacing the former practice of "warehousing" patients. Investment for research into causes of mental disorders has doubled the past four years.

BETTER HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION — Texas has more farm-to-market roads than any other state — more than 35,134 miles. We lead the nation in construction of interstate highways, at a cost 40% below the nation's average.

COMBAT AIR AND WATER POLLUTION — New legislation for public health, "The Clear Air Act of Texas," provides state action to combat air pollution. Similar vigorous action has been initiated to control pollution of Texas streams, bays and estuaries.

NEW CULTURAL GROWTH — The Fine Arts Commission was established in 1965 to nurture the cultural enrichment of Texans. The state's cultural heritage will be preserved and portrayed in the state's pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio.

BUSINESSLIKE ADMINISTRATION — With unprecedented teamwork, our state government has operated responsibly and efficiently. The Legislature has finished its work on time in each session. Following a pay-as-you-go policy, we have maintained a healthy surplus in the general revenue fund without curtailing essential services.

HEALTHY, GROWING ECONOMY — Business activity rose 11% last year, as Texas continues one of the brightest growth areas. Employment and income are at an all-time high, unemployment at an all-time low. Despite increased responsibilities, our state government costs only $168.78 a year per citizen, fourth lowest in the nation. No broad-based tax has been enacted the past four years. Texas still has no personal income or payroll tax, no corporate income tax, and is one of few remaining states with a limited sales tax of 2%.

LET'S KEEP THIS KIND OF PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY FOR TEXAS! HELP GIVE AN OVERWHELMING MANDATE FOR THE VISIONARY LEADERSHIP OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR JOHN CONNALLY AT THE POLLS NOVEMBER 8TH!

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

One of our fastest growing sports today is archery.

There is a special thrill and fascination in shooting the bow and arrow—the most primitive of weapons—that is a challenge to everyone.

But the modern bow-and-arrow in no way resembles the crude weapons of the Indians. Modern archery equipment is accurate and deadly. It still amazes me what an accomplished bowman can do with such equipment.

Maybe you've been thinking of taking up archery. If so, probably you are confused about what it involves. Should you want something simple and easy, then forget the bow-and-arrow. It takes time and patience to learn to shoot accurately and consistently.

Hunting with the bow-and-arrow is the ultimate in challenge. A bowhunter must be close to his game to score. Preferably less than 35 yards (from even a large animal like a deer). This isn't an easy assignment.

It is difficult enough to learn to shoot proficiently with good, well matched equipment. So the fledgling archer who gets equipment not suited to him is off on the wrong foot. No matter how good he may be athletically, he'll never learn to handle his equipment with any proficiency.

Before buying any archery equipment every beginner should go to an experienced bowman and get his views on the subject. Many sporting goods dealers are not able to give this information. Unless a man has tried archery, and many sporting goods dealers have not, he really doesn't understand what it involves.

Basically, there are two types of archers: the bowhunter and the target shooter. A person can be both, but he must understand that there is a different technique involved and different equipment.

A target shooter, for example, chooses a bow that is easily pulled, something of 35-pounds-pull or lighter (a bow pull is determined by the number of pounds of pressure required to pull an arrow full length).

A hunter wants something heavier, that will drive the projectile with greater force. Preferably a bow of 45-pounds-pull or greater.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to shoot proficiently with a hunting bow.

Pulling a bow brings into play certain shoulder muscles which are not accustomed to the task. A beginner should start with an easily-pulled bow to condition these muscles and learn the proper technique. Then graduate to a heavier hunting bow. Most common fault of all beginners is "over-bowing," or choosing a bow too heavy to pull comfortably.

Archery shooting involves many different things like stance, draw, anchor, aiming, release and follow-through. Each step is important to success.

Here again we say seek an experienced archer. Get him to show you the proper techniques. This is the only way to learn. Like in golf, the archer who starts off with the improper technique and form will have difficulty getting back on the

HEALTH LETTER

Repairman's Blunder
When Ed's car was repaired at the corner garage, the mechanic made one small mistake: he left out part of the steering apparatus. Driving home, Ed lost control of the car and crashed into a fire hydrant.

Was the garage legally liable for his accident? The proprietor said no, insisting that once a car left the premises his responsibility came to an end.

But Ed collected. The court said liability for negligence extends as far as the "natural and probable consequences" of the error.

To be sure, the connection between the repair work and the accident was crystal clear in Ed's case. That is not always so. And, if you cannot establish such a connection, you cannot hold the garage liable. Thus: A nut fell into the gears of a recently repaired car, causing considerable damage. But evidence was strong that the repairman had not touched that particular nut at all.

The court, finding no probable connection between the repair work and the damage, held the garage not liable. Furthermore, the law demands reasonable care not only from the garage but also from you as the car owner. For example, if you knew that a repair job is inadequate, you may be held to have "assumed the risk" of driving the car in that condition.

On the other hand, you will not be blamed if your conduct—while not perfect—was at least up to the standard of the average driver.

Take the case of a motorist whose brakes, improperly repaired, failed at the crest of a hill. When he sued later for damages, the garage owner argued:

"Even if our repair job was bad, he made matters worse by his own negligence. Instead of rolling wildly downhill, he should have halted the car by jamming against the abutment at the side of the road."

But the court placed responsibility on the garage alone. Refusing to find the motorist negligent, the court said:

"An ordinarily prudent man is not prone to remain calm, cool, and collected in an emergency, and one so imperiled is not required to make the decision which seems soundest in light of subsequent circumstances."

Many Citizens In Area Due Benefits From Medicare

Many elderly citizens of the 13 county area serviced by the San Angelo District Office could benefit from one of the hidden features of the Medicare law reports Ted F. Moellering, District Manager of the Social Security Administration. The insurance will pay for home visits by nurses, physical therapists, and certain other health workers employed by a home health agency that is participating in the program.

Payment can be made for part time nursing care, physical therapy, special medical supplies, use of special equipment, etc. Mr. Moellering emphasized that neither full time nursing care nor general housekeeping services are covered under this provision.

The hospital insurance part of the law and the voluntary supplementary section each provides for up to 100 visits per year by home health workers. Under the hospital provision, the beneficiary must have been hospitalized for at least three days before payment for home visits can begin. Under the voluntary plan, he does not have to be hospitalized first to get the services. In either case, his doctor decides whether he needs the services and sets up the plan.

Providing skilled services in to protect vulnerable parts while you are shooting. Any sporting goods dealer can fill you in on the various other equipment needed.

Just remember that the bow and the arrow are the most important. They must be suited to you individually.

Arrows come in various construction: wood, fiberglass and aluminum. The latter two are best, but the wood is most economical and it is best for learning.

A leather arm guard and a finger guard also are necessary.

the home is one of the newest developments in medical care. According to Mr. Moellering many cities and counties have limited or no facilities for furnishing these services, but it is hoped that the prospects of Medicare revenues will speed their development. Home Health Agencies must generally be non profit, be supervised by a physician or registered nurse, and keep clinical records on patients.

Communities interested in establishing similar agencies may contact the Department of Health, 1100 West 49th St., Austin, Texas 78756.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

You and your family will enjoy cheese in main dishes, salads, and sauces. Or serve it with crackers, fruit or as a snack, suggests Mrs. O'Connor. Cheese contains most of the nutrients of milk, including riboflavin, calcium and protein. The protein in cheese equals that of meat, fish and eggs.

To find the comparative cost of cheese, compare the price of equal weights of cheese. Aged or sharp natural cheese usually cost more than the mild ones; imported cheeses are more expensive than domestic ones; and prepackaged, sliced cubed cheese costs more than wedges and sticks.

Cheese keeps best if stored in the refrigerator. Soft cheese, such as cottage and cream, is highly perishable. Cheddar and Swiss varieties keep much longer if protected from drying out. Cover cut surfaces tightly with waxed paper or some other protective covering. Then store the cheese in a tightly covered container.

Beef features this week include several popular steak cuts: sirloin, T-bone and round steaks. Pork supplies are larger and lower price tags are found on many cuts. Boston butt roast, shoulder steaks, center chops, canned hams and picnics are featured.

Egg prices are lower this week. Grade A large size is usually the best value. Fryer marketings have increased resulting in lower price tags on whole birds, cut-up and fryer parts.

Sweet potatoes are in good supply. Both hard and soft shell squash, pumpkins, red potatoes, mustard and turnip greens, eggplant, carrot, and dry yellow onions are worthy of your consideration. Cauliflower is reasonable, broccoli and brussels sprouts are moderately priced. Apples, grapes and other fall items are in the spotlight. Apples by-the-bag are now available and are usually a good buy. Fresh cranberries are now available, also. Bananas are low priced in some stores. Both grapefruit and oranges are now in larger supply.

"Breakthroughs" In Consumer Education Made

Several "breakthroughs" in consumer education and in standards demanded by consumers are in sight.

This word comes from officials of the American Home Economics Association.

Today's consumer stands at the center of a storm of change. Dr. Dorothy S. Lyle, a former president of AHEA and currently director of consumer relations for the National Institute of Drycleaning, says.

Technological advances have made the consumer more prosperous than ever before. Yet at the same time, they have made his life more complex and have increased the impersonality of the market place.

In reviewing consumer educational efforts, Dr. Lyle emphasizes that President Johnson has appointed a consumer interest committee and established an Office of a Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs. Additionally, a Consumer Advisory Council has been appointed, and four subcommittees were appointed to consider.

1. The role of the state in consumer protection.

2. Consumer education programs.

3. Legislative items such as truth-in-packaging, truth in lending, trading stamps and automobile safety.

4. The La Que Report, calling for a federally chartered standards institution and Federal Textile Labeling Laws and Standards of Labeling.

In today's "consumer-oriented" democracy, Dr. Lyle has challenged members of AHEA to keep informed on all aspects of change affecting the consumer and especially the changes taking place in the American Standards Association.

Today's consumers are getting increased attention from the business community. Dr. Helen G. Canoyer, Dean of the State College of Home Economics at Cornell, says.

Department stores have been installing consumer information desks, where consumers can request specific information regarding the item they wish to buy. Consumer credit counseling services are being sponsored in a number of cities through the cooperation of local lending agencies and a national consumer credit association. Some attempts to counsel consumers early—before they go too deeply into debt—is being provided by some banks and consumer cooperatives.

Breakthroughs in consumer education, as defined by Dr. Canoyer, include:

1. Successfully and consistently reaching an entirely new audience.

2. Achieving a new approach or focus on our subject matter of such magnitude as to change its content.

3. Developing new and more effective methods of dissemination than we are now using in order to achieve mass communication.

"Consumer education means making consumers more effective in the entire market economy in which they operate," Dr. Canoyer concluded.

Consumer Education Week Program will be held November 17, 1966 at 2 p. m. at the Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

Walter Spill gave a reminiscent sketch of Mr. Hollingshead's life, of his activities in postal work and of his best-liked hobbies. Mrs. Spill gave a poem and a short story of a Rural Carrier courtesies while on and off duty.

A money tree was presented to the honoree, which was followed by an appreciation reply by Mr. Hollingshead.

Games of eighty-four, forty-two and dominoes were enjoyed by the group.

Refreshments were served from a tea table decorated with lovely fall flowers of gold and bronze.

Junior Culture Club Monthly Meeting Is Held Thursday

Regular monthly meeting of the Junior Culture Club was held Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hambright, with Mrs. Hambright and Mrs. Gayland Robinson as co-hostesses.

Members discussed some special projects for the club year and a parliamentary drill was given by Mrs. Douglas Cole, parliamentarian.

Those present were the hostesses, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Wayne Solomon, Mrs. Dell Hyatt, Mrs. Forrest Meadows, Mrs. O. O. Funderburg, Jr., Mrs. G. K. Beall, Miss Leva Reagan, Mrs. Tommy Russell and Mrs. Nelan Bahlman.

These days if you want to relax you've got to work at it.

Things you can do with your hands—wring them in despair—fold them as if there were nothing to do—clench them in anger—put them to some useful task.

Contentment is the philosopher's stone, which turns all it toucheth into gold; the poor man is rich with it, the rich man poor without it.

Friends last longer when they aren't used too often.

Could You Use Help?

Suppose one of the most helpful men in your town was an old friend of yours, interested in your financial future and always ready to help you with advice and counsel. Suppose he was even willing to lend you money to help you build that future and lend it at rates as low as you could get anywhere else.

There's not much doubt that this kind of "financial advisor" would give you an edge in achieving financial independence. Well, this kind of advisor does exist and getting him on your team is mostly up to you.

The Winters State Bank is daily proving its friendship to individuals in this area. May we serve you too?
