President Is Able To Take Up Light Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today took another little walk, suffered less pain, and made a start toward resuming the duties of his office.

The doctors said Eisenhower took "walking exercises around 9:30 a.m. on his own initiative.

A 12:15 p.m. medical bulletin said "the President's condition remains excellent," with pulse, blood pressure, temperature and respiration "essentially normal."

It added:

"He walked with but little support from his bed to an easy chair which was placed 20 feet from the bed.

"He sat in the chair for 15 minutes and then walked, again with little support, back to bed.

"During these exercises the President had less discomfort than yesterday."

Yesterday — only 30 hours after his emergency surgery of early Saturday morning—the President walked a total of about 30 feet with attendants partly supporting him. Today the only assistance he had was a hand on the elbow.

Mrs. Eisenhower was in the room on both occasions.

Eisenhower conferred for 10 minutes today with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, and reached several decisions including the designation of Vice President Nixon to represent him at two forthcoming events — the regular National Security Council meeting Thursday and a Blair House luncheon Wednesday for West German Chancellor Adenauer.

Eisenhower also decided against postponing the Conference on Fitness of American Youth to be held at Annapolis, Md., June 18-19.

Eisenhower had been scheduled to speak at the meeting. Nixon already is chairman of the conference and will preside.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said it has not yet been decided whether Adenauer will visit the President at the hospital.

Hagerty also said that still under study is whether the President will be able to attend the Organization of American States meeting at Panama City June 25-26.

In the study class too is the question of whether there will be the previously scheduled talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru on July 7-10.

Adams and other White House aides set up a temporary headquarters near the President's hospital room.

Adams met with the President after conferring in a nearby lounge with other staff members including Hagerty and staff secretary Andrew Goodpaster.

Asked if it would be correct to say Eisenhower now has "resumed his job," less than three days after his operation, Hagerty replied:

"I would think so."

The medical bulletin said antibiotics still are being administered to the President and that he is still being fed through the veins.

Asked whether Eisenhower suffered pain during his walking, Hagerty said: "Sure, he had pain."

But he called attention to the doctors' statement that there was "less discomfort than yesterday."

Two Army medical corpsmen, one on each side, helped Eisenhower when he tried his legs yesterday.

Today, Dr. Isidor Ravdin, one of the consulting surgeons, walked beside the President and guided rather than assisted him.

Eisenhower was pictured as in good spirits with morale high after Saturday's predawn emergency operation for relief of what the doctors called a potentially fatal obstruction of the small intestine.

The surgeon who performed the operation, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, said there is no medical reason for Eisenhower to abandon his second-term decision. Heaton is the Walter Reed commandant.

Speculation Renewed On Ike's Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's operation seemed certain today to touch off a month or more of renewed speculation about his candidacy for re-election despite claims from some Republicans that it makes no change.

Several Democrats said they hope he sticks by his Feb. 29 decision to seek a second term, although most concede privately they think their chances would be better against another GOP candidate.

Several of Eisenhower's doctors said they see no reason for him to change his mind if he recovers as they anticipate.

Eisenhower's spokesman, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, brushed aside all political questions. "I have just one thought in mind, and that is to get the President of the United States out of the hospital," Hagerty said.

In any event, it seemed likely that Eisenhower might reserve a final decision for the four to six weeks his doctors say will be required for full convalescence.

Six weeks will expire July 21, about a month before the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

Eisenhower has said, with reference to his heart attack last Sept. 24, that if he ever feels he is not up to another term he will say so immediately.

His doctors have declared there is no connection between the heart attack and his new illness.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who announced Saturday his active candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he sincerely hopes the doctors are correct in saying Eisenhower can run again.

Adlai E. Stevenson, also seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, said at Chicago he hopes Eisenhower recovers speedily. He said that in campaigning he will not stress Eisenhower's health "but only his conduct of office," and he added: "Of course, his health will have something to do with the conduct of the office."

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore), speaking on an ABC-TV show, said Eisenhower should make health a "first consideration" in deciding whether to stick by his decision to run again.

Adenauer Warns Against Relaxing Soviet Vigilance

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called on the West today not to relax "even for one moment" its vigilance in the face of current friendly talk from Soviet Russia.

Adenauer called the recent tactics "more dangerous than the former aggressive conduct" of the Kremlin.

He said the men in the Kremlin "are still not prepared to remove the main causes of the tension of the world."

Adenauer's remarks were in an address at a luncheon given in his honor by the board of governors of Yale University.

Earlier in the day, he received an honorary degree of doctor of laws during Yale University commencement exercises.

In his luncheon speech the Chancellor said:

"Throughout the world, the Soviets aggravate existing conflicts and endeavor to undermine the West's position in an unscrupulous manner. Above all they want to smash first the mighty protective shield of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to drive the United States from Europe so that Europe will fall like a ripe fruit into the Soviet lap."

The German leader asserted it is undeniable that the present Russian leaders have made an impression on some people by pushing Stalin from his throne—"after his death, it is to be noted."

But, he added, there are no signs to indicate the disavowal of Stalinism means the acceptance of those spiritual principles which are the foundations of the free world.

"Instead," Adenauer declared, "there are only new forms and methods used by a new, more dexterious leadership in the Kremlin, in order to reach the old Bolshevik objectives with fewer sacrifices."

Ike Forbids JCS Jaunt To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower personally rejected today a Russian bid for all members of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff to visit the Soviet Union.

The President made the decision in a conference with his chief aide, Sherman Adams, in the Walter Reed Hospital room where he is recovering from an operation performed last Saturday.

Eisenhower left the way open to Russia later on condition they were given plenty of time outside Moscow to look at "activities of special interest to their own services."

White House Press secretary James C. Hagerty made the announcement of the U. S. position. He emphasized that the decision was the President's and that he was announcing it with the President's authorization.

The Soviet move was the outgrowth of an invitation, which has been accepted for Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, to attend the Soviet Union's aviation celebration June 24.

Twining plans to spend eight days in Russia.

Today's announcement apparently indicates the United States does not expect him to get an adequate look at the Russian defense establishment.

Hagerty said the informal Russian bid to the Joint Chiefs was made last Friday by the acting military attache at the Soviet Embassy, Col. Sergei A. Edemsky.

Hagerty said that in a conversation with Col. M. Brewer, foreign liaison officer of the U.S. Army Department, Edemsky tried to find out "the unofficial attitude of the U.S. armed forces" toward a possible invitation for Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and the Navy and Army chiefs of staff to accompany Twining.

Edemsky said if the attitude was favorable a formal invitation would be issued.

Hagerty said Brewer told Edemsky about 1 o'clock, today—on instructions from the White House—that "the informal question has been very carefully considered but that it would be impracticable now to give a favorable reply."

Final decision was not made until today's 10-minute meeting between the President and Adams, Hagerty said.

Bonding Firm Pays Shortages In Tax Account

Howard County commissioners this morning accepted a check for $9,252.52 from Hartford Accident and Idemnity Company as final settlement of claimed shortages in the accounts of Bernie Freeman, former tax collector, for the years 1949-50-51-52.

The court instructed Judge R. H. Weaver to sign a release freeing the bonding company of further responsibility in the accounts of Freeman.

Freeman, convicted of embezzlement, is under two-year prison sentence. The state court of criminal appeals last week rejected what his attorney, George Thomas, said would be Freeman's last effort to oppose the conviction. A mandate ordering his removal to the state penitentiary is expected this week.

The settlement made by the bonding company covers 19 transactions.

These are instances where taxpayers paid amounts to the tax collector but where no report of such payments was made. In the 19 incidents listed in the bonding company report there were only four of the 19 in which reports were made at all.

Claims Daniel Is Ineligible

AUSTIN (AP)—Reuben Senterfitt, candidate for governor, urged the State Democratic Executive Committee today to bar U.S. Sen. Price Daniel as an ineligible candidate in the July 28 Democratic primary.

Senterfitt told the committee he would not bring a lawsuit nor would he have one brought in his behalf but that he felt the committee itself had the duty of denying Daniel a place on the ballot.

Senterfitt said that the state Constitution makes it plain that no member of Congress shall be eligible for membership in the Legislature or hold state office.

He added that the election law says that no ineligible person for an office may have his name placed on the ballot.

Demo Committee Studying Submission Of Race Issues

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee recessed shortly after convening today to allow subcommittees time to prepare reports on what should be on the ballot for party voters in the July 28 primary.

Reports were to be heard by the committee this afternoon. Meanwhile, candidates for state office were offered the customary opportunity of making statements to the committee during the recess.

Only two candidates for governor were on hand in response to the committee's invitation to make their views known. They were Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba and J. Evetts Haley of [illegible]on.

A legal subcommittee headed by Elmer Ware Stahl of San Antonio was to bring its report this afternoon on the question of submitting race questions to a referendum at the July primary.

The executive committee also was to decide where to hold the Democratic state convention in September, and Fort Worth was being mentioned unofficially as a possible choice.

The state Republican Executive Committee also scheduled a noon session mainly to select a site for the party's Aug. 28 nominating convention. Corpus Christi, El Paso and Wichita Falls were bidding for selection as the convention city.

While Democrats this year select their general election state nominees by the usual primary process, Republicans have decided to use the convention system. They had a choice under the law.

Petitions for submission in the July 28 Democratic Primary of a proposition calling on the Legislature for stronger laws banning intermarriage of Negroes and whites have been circulating for many weeks over Texas.

The petitions also call for a direct expression from Democratic voters on how they feel about mixing of white and Negro children in the public schools, and how they felt about interposition.

Interposition has been suggested as a means of objecting to and possibly blocking what state's rights Democrats call encroachment of federal authority into local areas of authority.

The Democratic Executive Committee also faced the job of making up the primary ballot's list of candidates, and had to decide where to hold the September convention

House Refuses To Boost Foreign Aid

Measure OK'd At Billion Less Than Ike Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed and sent to the Senate a $3,800,000,000 foreign aid bill slashed more than a billion dollars below President Eisenhower's request.

The formal roll call vote confirmed House opposition this election year to an overseas aid program as large as the $4,900,000,000 Eisenhower said was needed for American and free world security.

But just before final passage, the House refused by a 147-52 standing vote to kill the entire measure by sending it back to committee.

The legislation was reported headed for further trouble in the Senate, where some key senators have said it should be cut even further. It is still $1,100,000,000 bigger than the appropriation Congress voted last year.

The bill sets terms and ceilings for the program to bolster free world countries against communism in the year starting July 1. The actual funds must be voted in a separate bill later.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee handling foreign aid, said the program ought to be chopped another billion dollars in addition to the $1,104,000,000 cut already tentatively approved by the House.

But Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sided with the administration against the House slash in Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 request for the year starting July 1. He favored restoring about half a billion dollars. His committee begins closed-door voting on the bill Wednesday.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), a senior Republican on the committee, sent a letter to all other senators asking "bipartisan support" for "the leadership of the President in our foreign policy."

The House version of the bill still provides $1,100,000,000 more than Congress appropriated last year.

Its emphasis was on aid to parts of the world other than Europe, and on the use of loans and private enterprise wherever possible instead of outright government gifts.

The bill would give the President a high degree of flexibility in administering the program, and would leave it up to him to decide in the national interest whether U.S. aid should be continued to Communist Yugoslavia. There had been a move to shut off all such aid.

The bill sets the authorization, or general terms, for the aid program for next fiscal year. The actual appropriations must be voted in a separate measure later.

LeMay Asks For More Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay asked a Senate Appropriations subcommittee today for a $3,800,000,000 increase in funds for his strategic Air Command for stepped-up production of B52 bombers.

Chairman Chavez (D-NM) made this disclosure after LeMay testified before a closed session of the subcommittee examining the Defense Department's proposed 36-billion-dollar budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The figure supported by LeMay, after a study of the B52 bomber program, tops total estimates for the Strategic Air Command of five billion dollars Chavez told reporters.

Chavez said LeMay advocated the increased expenditure over a period of four or five years to challenge the Russian build-up of its long-range bomber forces.

Roommates Share Carolina Prizes

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — Marian McKnight of Manning, a 5-5 blue-eyed blonde, was chosen Miss South Carolina in a beauty contest, succeeding her college roommate, Martha Dean Chestnut of Conway. Miss Chestnut was skeptical about being out of the hurly-burly of having been Miss South Carolina for a year. "Out of it!" she exclaimed, looking at her roommate at Coker College in Hartsville, "I'm in it for another year."

Bomb Force Went Outward

A bomb attached to this station wagon exploded and critically injured Sam McCollum III, of Brady when he stepped on the starter. Mrs. McCollum has been quoted as saying the bomb was "misplaced" in such a way that its full force went out the front of the car instead of back toward the driver, otherwise McCollum probably would have been killed. The bombing has been linked to the Texas veterans land scandals. (AP Wirephoto).

M'Collum Silent On Linking Car Bombing To Land Frauds

BRADY, Tex., June 11 (AP) — A relative says the state should offer $50,000 reward to hunt down the "hired killer" whose car-bomb critically hurt Sam McCollum III, vital veterans land scandal witness.

The suggestion came from Frank Kittrell, uncle of Mrs. McCollum, shortly after McCollum saw a news reporter yesterday for the first time since the blast last Friday. McCollum threw no new light on the bombing.

Asked if he thought the explosion was connected with the veterans land scandals, the 37-year-old lawyer said:

"All I know is I turned on the switch, it went boom and I have been here ever since."

The 45-second exclusive interview in McCollum's hospital room was the first time he had talked with a reporter since he set off a booby trap bomb by turning the ignition switch on his car at 8 a.m. last Friday.

McCollum's testimony helped send former Texas Land Commissioner Bascom Giles to prison. He is expected to be a principal witness against B. R. Sheffield, Brady land promoter charged on 40 counts of veterans land irregularities.

The state alleged millions of dollars were stolen in a large number of illegal deals under the multi-million dollar veterans land program. The program was set up to enable Texas veterans of World War II and Korea to buy farms with state loans at low interest.

Kittrell, an Abilene construction worker, quoted Mrs. McCollum as saying the bomb was misplaced in such a way that its full force was out the front of the car instead of back toward the driver. Mrs. McCollum was represented as believing her husband would otherwise have been killed.

"It was a professional bomb but it was put in by an amateur," Kittrell quoted Mrs. McCollum as saying. "The explosion went down and out the front of the car instead of going back into him."

There was no immediate official comment on Kittrell's plea for a state reward.

Texas Ranger Capt. Gully Cowsert has said a "hired killer" wired the dynamite under the hood of McCollum's 1953 Mercury station wagon. McCulloch County Sheriff Luke Vogel has said, "We know this thing is tied up with the land scandals."

Cowsert and Dist. Atty. Bill Allcorn questioned two men yesterday.

Questioned were William W. Rainwater of Brady, who told reporters he worked for Sheffield for 12 months, and Ted Adams, a Brady dishwasher.

Asst. Atty. Gen. William King, who has spent much of his time concentrating on veterans land cases, is now helping out in the McCollum case. Allcorn said he has asked King to do so.

McCollum's color was natural. There were a number of small scratches on his face, and also a number of scratch-like wounds on his chest. His body was covered from the waist down. Doctors have reported his right leg was broken and his abdomen punctured by the blast.

Court Rejects Parr Appeal Against Tax Trial In Austin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected 5-4 protests by George B. Parr, stormy South Texas political boss, against being put on trial in federal court in Austin on income tax evasion charges.

Justice Harlan wrote the majority decision. It was read in his absence by Justice Burton. Chief Justice Warren wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justices Black, Douglas and Clark joined. Others on the majority were Justices Reed, Frankfurter and Minton.

Parr was first indicted Nov. 15, 1954, in Corpus Christi. His lawyers claimed he could not get a fair trial there because of prejudice resulting from unfavorable publicity in three Corpus Christi newspapers. The government disputed this assertion, but the case was transferred to Laredo.

Later the government obtained a new indictment in Austin, similar to the indictment that had been transferred to Laredo. The federal court at Laredo then granted a government request for dismissal of the original, transferred indictment.

The case was set for trial on Sept. 6, 1955 before Federal Judge Ben H. Rice in Austin, but counsel for Parr appealed to the Supreme Court in protest against the handling of the indictments. Because of the appeal the Justice Department agreed to postponement of the trial pending a decision by the high tribunal.

Parr's appeal contended the government had made "a unique and unprecedented attempt to circumvent a valid and effective order of transfer" (of the indictment to Laredo).

The Justice Department called the Parr contentions "erroneous and unsubstantial."

The tax evasion charges cover the years 1949 through 1951.

Lamesan Charged With Rifling Mails

LAMESA — Arthur W. Yates, postal carrier, has been freed under $500 bond after arraignment in U. S. District Court at Lubbock on charges of rifling the mail.

Specifically, he was charged with embezzlement of two first-class letters, rifling the monetary content of them, and converting same to his own use. Yates posted cash bond and was released. The bond is returnable at Lubbock the first Monday in November.

The arrest was made here Saturday by Postal Inspector Roger T. Darty Jr., Fort Worth. In Yates' car officers found a radio, pistol, set of silver, and cuff links, opened letters, a packet of unforwarded letters and one of undelivered letters.

Postmaster Owen Taylor said Monday that Yates had not been suspended officially, but that he was not working. Suspension will come as soon as papers are processed.

Actress' Home Is Damaged By Fire

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $1,000 damage to the home of actress Martha Raye today. Miss Raye, her daughter, Melody, 13, and two servants escaped unharmed.

Fire Chief Harold I. Shippey said the fire apparently was caused by a cigarette. Firemen removed a smoldering mattress from Miss Raye's first-floor bedroom and confined fire damage to that room.

Plane Strikes House, Six Dead

Navy and civilian firemen fight flames after a Navy jet plane crashed near the Minneapolis, Minn., airport, demolishing one home and badly damaging others. The pilot and five other persons were killed in the crash.

Negro Youth Is Accused In Knifing Death

FORT WORTH (AP)—A short, 18-year-old Negro was held by police today, accused of knifing one white youth to death and terrorizing three others.

Officers said the youth, less than five feet tall, killed James Floyd Ogle, 19, after Ogle withheld a few cents change when robbed at knifepoint Saturday night.

Walter Leroy Moran, 22, said the Negro lured them down a dark north side street, then demanded money. Moran said Ogle gave the Negro a dollar and the youth grabbed Ogle's wallet. When some change fell to the ground, the Negro said "I told you what I'd do if you lied to me," then plunged the knife into Ogle's chest.

Three other white youths said they met the same Negro in a Negro night club frequented by whites. They said they were watching the floor show when the Negro accosted them.

The youths, Garvin Edwards, 21, John B. Stanley, 19, and Jerry Morrison, 18, told of being robbed and forced to ride around the city with the Negro.

"He tried to get us to go upstairs with him (in the club), but we refused," Edwards said. "When we went outside he showed us a bloody handkerchief and a knife."

Edwards said he then took their billfolds and later threatened Stanley with "a long ride," for withholding six cents. He said they sat outside the cafe in their car while the Negro repeatedly threatened: "I just gotta shoot one of you."

Edwards said the Negro stepped out of the car momentarily as they sat outside the cafe and that the three white youths drove off.

Brucker Opposed To Military Unification

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing any complete unification of the armed services, Secretary of the Army Brucker says the Army, Navy and Air Force "should be encouraged to develop individually."

Reuben Robertson Jr., deputy secretary of defense, and Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, were less specific in opinions expressed yesterday. But neither directly supported the single-service plan advocated a week earlier by former Secretary of the Air Force Thomas K. Finletter.

The three defense officials spoke out in different television interviews.

Robertson said the question is "whether you gain enough (from unification) to offset the great spirit, morale and traditions that have been built up in each service."

Burke said the value of the idea "would be dependent upon the power of the one big chief of staff," and added, "Any reorganization plan has to be studied pretty carefully."

Brucker said the similarity or difference in uniform "doesn't change essential problems." Despite advances in military technology, he added, "the need for ground forces to meet ground forces and dig them out with a bayonet will always exist."

He conceded that "the Air Force and the Navy contribute a great, indispensable part, but after all it's the ground where the thing's got to be mopped up and won."

Monaco Facing Trouble Over Bracelet Bill

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Grace never saw the necklace and Monaco's National Council is beginning to wish it hadn't either.

An irate Paris jeweler insists the Monacan goverment owes him $73,000 more for the string of diamonds and rubies and he wants the money now.

It seems that when the engagement of Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly was announced, the delighted council dispatched a representative to Paris to pick out a necklace suitable for a royal wedding gift.

The agent chose one priced at 37 million francs ($107,000). He paid down $34,000 and told the jeweler to wrap it up.

When the councilmen saw the necklace, they complained it was worth only half the price. So they bought another one—valued at $85,000—and gave that to Grace.

When the royal couple returned from their honeymoon cruise last week, the first jeweler demanded the rest of his money.

Negotiations are now in progress. The Monacans want to be sure they get their $34,000 back, and meanwhile the disputed necklace lies in the safe of Council head Paul Noghes.

AN 'EXTRA DIVIDEND'

Salk Shots Might Aid Unvaccinated

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) — Going full speed ahead with Salk polio shots might even protect some unvaccinated persons, including parents of young children, two polio experts said today.

Vaccinated children may become far less able to pass natural polio infections to other family members. There would be fewer "silent carriers" who could spread dangerous virus during epidemics to others.

The chances that Salk vaccine shots could bring this extra dividend were described by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine, and Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

They spoke at a polio symposium at the opening of the 5th annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

Simultaneously, Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service called for use of "every drop" of Salk vaccine as soon as possible, even during polio epidemics.

"Vaccine given in July, and August will prevent paralytic cases and even deaths in August and September," Dr. Scheele declared.

Salk vaccine is being given mainly to children under 5, the most susceptible to this crippler disease.

But even so the shots could hit at the strongest link in polio's chain of infection—the passage of natural infection from human to human, Salk and Bodian said.

Vaccination produces antibodies standing guard in the blood to intercept polio virus before it strikes at nerves.

But it might also reduce the length of time or degree to which a child harbors or reproduces virus which invades him later on.

Dr. Salk said it appears some persons infected naturally by polio virus become "silent reservoirs." Although not sickened themselves, they can become sources of infection, passing virus on to others.

Vaccination could conceivably make them so sensitive to unavoidable natural exposure that they quickly turn out great amounts of protective antibodies. Their own infection could be controlled sooner, reducing their carrier state.

Urging full use of Salk vaccine, Dr. Scheele said that since last May there has been no evidence that any lot of vaccine has been unsafe.

There was one case which could have been regarded "as suspicious" among 40 million inoculations. But this could have been coincidence, or failure of the vaccine to protect, Dr. Scheele said.

He said nearly 70 million shots have been released and the supply will continue to increase.

Segregation Is Dead, NAACP Man Asserts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Roy Wilkins of New York, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, told the Texas State NAACP Conference yesterday that the "white people know that segregation is dead and they are waiting for the Negro to realize it's dead."

Wilkins said that although "segregation is still walking around like a zombie, it is dead and until we (the Negro) realize that it is dead we are not going to accomplish much to make us equal to the white persons."

"It is hard for white people to get used to the integrated schools, swimming pools and parks because they are not used to being equal to a Negro. Tradition has taught them that they are better than the Negro. If the Negro had been taught the same thing, it would be difficult for him to get used to the idea that the white person should go to school and play in the same parks as he does," Wilkins said.

Jewish Appeal Has Plans For Resettlement

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Jewish Appeal has decided to borrow 40 million dollars for use in resettling North African Jews in Israel.

Delegates to the UJA National Conference voted yesterday to borrow the money in communities throughout the United States. The appeal has already set a national-fund-raising goal of an additional 105 million dollars for other work. Forty million of that has been collected.

The decision to borrow money to help North African Jews came after Moses A. Leavitt, executive vice chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee, told the delegates that Jewish shops are being looted and prominent Jews kidnaped for ransom in North Africa.

The Joint Distribution Committee is one of the relief agencies supported by UJA funds.

"While many of the Moslem leaders have expressed a concern for the rights of the Jewish minority," Leavitt said, "the Jews of North Africa are filled with anxiety and apprehension as a result of the statements made by extreme and irresponsible leaders."

Morris W. Berinstein of Syracuse, N.Y., a cochairman of the loan project, said American Jews must come to the aid of their brothers in North Africa. He said Israel would be glad to share in the cost, but must spend its money for defense.

Falcon Water Is Going To Mexico

LAREDO, Tex., June 11 (AP)—W. G. Seigelin, U. S. project superintendent at Falcon Dam, said today that water continues to be released from the reservoir there, but all of it is going into Mexico.

Mexico has been taking 3,883 cubic feet of water per second since a halt was called Thursday for U.S. release, Seigerlin said.

Mexico diverts its share through the Anzalduas Intake near Reynosa, about 60 miles downstream from the dam. Most of the water remaining in the lake belongs to Mexico. The U.S. has used its share.

The rebels wore Philippine army fatigues in their planned raid on the transportation depot in Pililla. It was the first major raid by the dwindling Huk forces in two years.

Home Ec Prof Not A Cook At Home

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Sara E. Coyne, associate professor of home economics at the University of Rhode Island for 31 years, confesses she'd rather eat out than cook for herself. In announcing her retirement she said she prefers eating in restaurants because "it's not practical to cook for oneself—especially doing the dishes."

38 Executed In Swift Cleanup Of Abortive Argentina Revolt

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's military regime pushed a determined hunt today for leaders of a bloody weekend revolt staged by army and civilian followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

The government announced firing squads executed 38 rebels in speedy and unprecedented retaliation. It indicated many more would face a similar fate as swift martial law, sat around the clock.

The executions were carried out under martial law provisions. Argentina's civil penal code provides no death penalty.

Security forces swooped down on known Peronistas in many Argentine cities. Some 500 civilians were reported arrested in Rosario, 11 at Santa Fe, 50 at Santiago del Estero, and 20 at Corrientes. Mendoza, site of an abortive plot earlier this year, was virtually sealed off as authorities mounted a special guard and ordered five arrests.

The revolt—crushed in 12 hours by government air and ground forces—flared at 11 p.m. Saturday in Buenos Aires and three other major cities. Some 100 persons reportedly may have been killed or wounded.

The insurgents struck at two points in the federal capital. At the same time they staged uprisings in La Plata, 35 miles southeast of Buenos Aires; Santa Rosa, capital of La Pampa province in central Argentina; and Rosario, 180 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Loyalist forces directed by the vice president, Adm. Isaac Rojas, quicly smothered the revolt in Buenos Aires and Rosario. Jet fighter and navy bombers finally smashed rebel holdouts in La Plata and Santa Rosa.

President Pedro Aramburu, who returned from a tour of the interior after the shooting, branded the uprising a "mad adventure." He vowed that "energetic measures" would be taken against all who took part.

Loyalist forces scoured the land for two retired generals branded as the men who masterminded the abortive revolt. They are generals Raul Tanco and Juan Jose Valle, both big army bosses when Peron was president. Both were retired summarily when Peron was overthrown last fall.

Observers predicted the startling firing squad tactics unleashed against the rebels would put a brake on disgruntled elements who might have notions of further plotting against Aramburu's regime.

Even the Communists, who in the past have been accused of aiding the Peronistas in sabotage activities, denounced the weekend rebellion.

Fund For Republic Facing An Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Fund for the Republic, endowed but not directed by the Ford Foundation, faces a congressional probe of its activities.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa) said yesterday the House Committee on Un-American Activities will start public hearings June 27 to get "the objective facts" on whether the fund is a "friend or foe in our nation's death struggle against the Communist conspiracy."

Walter said the committee is not passing judgment on the fund or its activities, but added in a statement that some of the fund's projects "have aroused criticism and doubt on the part of members of Congress, prominent patriotic organizations and individuals. . ."

President Robert M. Hutchins of the Fund for the Republic said in New York that one of the organization's principal activities is sponsoring "studies of the nature of the Communist threat to American institutions."

Any judgment concerning it, he said, "should be based on careful inspection of its three-year record of activity."

That record, he said, "demonstrates that the fund has carried out the aims for which it was created, to advance the principles of freedom and justice as set forth in the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence."

In another New York statement, President Rowan Gaither Jr. of the Ford Foundation said that group "has full confidence in the integrity and patriotism of members of the board of the fund."

Premier Of Yemen Seeks Moscow Aid

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Seif ul Islam Badr, slim young crown prince and premier of the isolated Arab kingdom of Yemen, left by plane today to talk economic aid in Moscow.

Badr was accompanied by a Yemenite trade delegation on his first venture behind the Iron Curtain.

The tall prince, still in his 20s, wore the traditional turban, cloak and wispy beard of Yemen as he boarded a special Soviet plane sent to Cairo for him.

The prince has had little experience outside his primitive country and some observers expressed fears he might be an easy mark for the Russians. However, he was accompanied by one of the shrewdest statesmen the Arab world—Quadi Mohamed el Amri, deputy foreign minister of Yemen. El Amri is considered the most influential man in his country outside the royal family.

Observers also noted that Badr had a conference with Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser before he departed.

Yemenite leaders view the excursion to Moscow as another step in their cautious efforts to expand and develop their country's economy without upsetting unduly the conservative pattern of Yemenite life.

Although potentially one of the richest areas in Arabia, Yemen has kept its doors so tightly closed to the outside world that most of its wealth is still untapped.

The kingdom stretches 75,000 miles over the southwest portion of the Arabian Peninsula on the Red Sea. Its 4½ million inhabitants live in a land that has almost no roads. Mail service is still conducted by camel back.

Yemen's ruler Imam Ahmed is interested in developing his country, but his lack of knowledge of the modern world plus his supicion of foreign intrigues has handicapped any development.

U.N. Has Spent 25 Millions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations says that it spent a record $25,800,000 in 1955 on its technical assistance program.

Seventy-three governments have promised $28,941,030 to finance the aid program this year. The largest contributor is the United States, which has pledged up to 15½ millions to match the grants of other countries, dollar for dollar.

The program was started in mid-1950. Its previous biggest year was 1952, when 23 million dollars was spent.

The U.N. last year sent 2,004 foreign experts to 101 countries or territories to help improve their farming, mining, industry, health, education or other activities. The program financed study abroad for 1,203 persons.

For the first time the program began spending four million rubles — a million dollars at the official exchange rate — in Soviet contributions which had piled up. The money previously had been frozen by a dispute over its use.

It All Happened Because Chicken Crossed The Road

DANIAL, Wyo. (AP) — A chicken crossed U.S. 189, which passes through this western Wyoming hamlet, and William DeGraw of Labarge, Wyo., slammed on his brakes.

An auto driven by his brother Jim, also of LaBarge, rammed into his car.

Jim and his wife Doris suffered bruises of the nose, mouth and leg.

A passenger in Jim's car, Merna Krehneyer, suffered a fractured spine and was hospitalized at Rock Springs.

The chicken was unruffled.

New Volcanoes Have Appeared In Mexico

By RAMON COFFMAN

Among the wonders of nature, there are few which surpass the volcano, in public interest. We have dead volcanoes, living volcanoes and some which may, or may not have life in them.

Q. What was the origin of the word "volcano"?

A. It came from the name of Vulcan, or Vulcanus, the Roman god of fire. The Latin word was changed to "vulcano" or "volcano."

Q. Does a volcano always have a cone?

A. Not always. A volcano exists when lava or hot ashes come out of the ground. The ground was level when the volcano known as Paricutin appeared in a field in Mexico 13 years ago.

Starting from "nothing," Paricutin built up a cone 140 feet high inside of a week. In less than a year, that cone passed the height of a quarter of a mile!

A mound, commonly called a cone, is built up by the lava and ashes which a volcano sends out. It grows from lava which hardens, also from ashes which drop around the opening.

Q. Is Paricutin the only "new" volcano on record?

A. Several records exist of new volcanoes. Jorulla, another Mexican volcano, started in much the same way 197 years ago. A hole was blown in the midst of a plain, and a cone with a height of a quarter of a mile was formed. That was the principal cone. Several other smaller cones were built up in the same area.

6-11

An old volcano, Vesuvius, has had many explosions during the past 19 centuries.

Eleven years after Jorulla appeared, a new volcano started in what is now the republic of El Salvador. This Central American volcano has erupted many times since then; the cone now has a height of a half a mile.

Most volcanoes, however, are very old. Many of them go back to times before there were people on earth.

HALEY WOULD IMPEACH THE HIGH COURT

AUSTIN (AP) — Cowboy candidate for governor J. Evetts Haley has called the Supreme Court "a bunch of cheap politicians" who should be impeached by Congress.

Haley, former history professor and author, told a Democratic rally yesterday that if the Federal government should seek to enforce an integration injunction against a school board, the state should resist to the point of "throwing the U.S. marshal in the hoosegow."

If the government should send U.S. troops, "that would mean a police state," Haley said. He said he didn't think the conflict would go that far. He added that he would not want to carry resistance to the point of secession, commenting he didn't think it would be necessary.

Japs Kill 'Em, Too

TOKYO, June 11 (AP)—Automobile accidents in Japan last year killed 6,379 and injured 76,501 in 93,981 mishaps. It's a record. Police said the previous high was in 1954 when 6,374 were killed and 72,390 injured in 93,869 accidents.

Adlai Views Ike's Health As An Issue In Campaign

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination he will make a campaign issue of the conduct of the office and "the President's health will definitely have something to do with the conduct of his office."

"To diminish the office of president is the dangerous thing and that is what I will campaign against," Stevenson said last night.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee made the statement to newsmen on his arrival from California, where he defeated Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn) in that state's Democratic primary Tuesday.

Returning to his suburban Libertyville home after four months of campaigning, Stevenson said that he had accomplished what he set out to do this spring — "winning every contested primary but one."

The lone defeat was administered by Kefauver in the Minnesota primary, the first head-on clash between the two.

Since then the former Illinois governor has won five consecutive contested primaries.

"I feel refreshed after three days of rest which followed a very refreshing incident (the primary) in California," Stevenson said.

Stevenson said he intends to spend most of the next two months, before the Aug. 13 convention, at his home.

Recovery Most Important Thing

President Eisenhower has come through emergency major surgery apparently in remarkably good condition. There is, as best medical science can determine, no reason to believe he will not recover barring serious complications. For which every citizen of this nation, and indeed millions throughout the world, will give thanks.

To what extent, if any, this development will affect his activities in office is not known, nor can it be for some time yet. Sometime, with or without surgery, the condition which necessitated the operation is corrected completely; sometimes it reoccurs at unpredictable intervals which may be separated by months or even years. In event of other attacks, medical authorities assert that the patient is obliged to under go complete rest and submit to the close observation of his physician until recovery is complete.

The primary concern of the moment is solely the health of the President.

Naturally, there will be an increasing amount of speculation about the portent of this development. Mr. Eisenhower has recognized the importance of the question in saying that he, himself would speak out frankly when he reached a time and point where he felt that health considerations would preclude full time service in the office. He has addressed himself to the issue with a great deal more candor than his White House aides who twice have minimized what have proven to be serious threats to his well being.

No one can stop speculation, nor should they; nor should anyone stop praying for the President's recovery.

Not Only Who, But Why?

In Brady, a prominent young attorney, Sam McCollum III, stepped on the starter of his station wagon Friday morning. This detonated a bomb which broke his legs and inflicted abdominal and other injuries so that he was left in critical condition.

Mr. McCollum was one of those whose testimony figured in the conviction of Bascom Giles for a part in the veterans land scandals. Preliminary investigation also revealed that the car which had been rigged with the bomb had been promised for the use that day of another man who had both testified in the land cases and who himself was to face trial for alleged complicity in the deals.

Whether the bomb was meant for Mr. McCollum or for the other man has no bearing on the utter brutality and despicability of the crime. Either it was in reprisal or it was an attempt to silence a potential witness.

This development dispells the idea that the land deals were harmless fruits of a few characters out for a fast buck. There must be some pretty compelling reasons to dictate such rough play as attempting to blast someone into kingdom come.

While getting at the paramount problem of catching and punishing those responsible for this most deplorable and cowardly act is the most urgent order of business, further digging to see if other important bones are buried in the land scandals is certainly proper.

President's Mis-Step On 'Neutrality'

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's foreign-aid program — most military and much needed — is in trouble in Congress, and this is due largely to his own mistakes in tactics.

Thus, the damage done by the President's offhand remarks at Wednesday's press conference is incalculable. Even the clarifying statement issued Thursday afternoon does not erase the injury done when the President, in effect, encouraged "neutralism" and caused the many allies and trusted friends of the United States in Southeast Asia who have joined America in military alliances to wonder if they were being let down by Mr. Eisenhower.

The telephones buzzed with expressions of shock and surprise and at times righteous indignation as the news of what Mr. Eisenhower said on Wednesday reached diplomats who represent America's allies in Asia. On Capitol Hill there was consternation. At the State Department there was an obvious discomfort but a discreet silence.

To understand what heppened, it is necessary to present here the text of the President's remarks at the press conference as authorized for publication:

"Now, today there are certain nations that say they are neutral. This doesn't necessarily mean what it is so often interpreted to mean, neutral as between right and wrong or decency or indecency.

"They are using the term 'neutral' with respect to attachment to military alliances. And may I point out that I cannot see that that is always to the disadvantage of such a country as ours.

"If a nation is truly a neutral, if it is attacked by anybody — and we are not going to attack them — public opinion of the world is outraged. If it has announced its military association with another great power, things could happen to it, difficulties along its borders and people would say: 'Good enough for it. They asked for it.' So let us not translate this meaning of the word 'neutral' as between contending military forces, even though the conflict is latent, and neutral as between right and wrong."

But, asked some of the diplomats who represent countries that have already joined America in military alliances: "Shall we tell our people now that they were wrong and that, if attacked, they 'asked for it'?"

The President heard from his colleagues inside the government who advised a public statement. Here it is in its essential part:

"It is obvious that in some countries of the world there are certain ideological, geographical or other reasons making military alliances impractical. Such nations may declare themselves to be neutral, hoping thus to secure the support of world opinion against attack from any quarter. Neutrality does not mean either disarmament or immunity from attack. We have had historical examples of this kind of netrality for many decades . . .

The President does believe that there are special conditions which justify political neutrality but that no nation has the right to be indifferent to the fate of another, or, as he put it to be 'neutral' as between right and wrong or decency or indecency.'

"The President does not believe that association for mutual security with the United States will involve any country in added danger but, on the contrary, will provide added security on the basis of mutuality and scrupulous respect for the independence of each. As the President pointed out, the United States is not going to attack anybody; but some great powers have shown an aggressive disposition, and military association with a power could lead to difficulties."

Why did the President plunge into such a delicate field of discussion, anyway, without going over carefully in advance with the Secretary of State the text of what he had to say? The answer is that, with the press conferences conducted as they are today, when a President's impromptu remarks are quoted directly without regard for the sensibilities of governments abroad, tragic mistakes like this will happen. They have occurred before under previous administrations, too.

Unfortunately, Mr. Eisenhower isn't "briefed" in advance as he should be. Many of his friends in New York and elsewhere who have access to him have been dinning into his ear statements about the Asian situation which seek to justify neutralism and the expenditure of billions by the United States to nations that tomorrow may become Communist.

Mr. Eisenhower allows such friends to influence him, and the State Department is often in the dark as to what is going on.

This intervention of a separate kind of "State Department" at the White House is a difficult thing to deal with, and it is amazing that a man with the President's fidelity to well-defined lines of responsibility in military life should tolerate an influence on foreign policy separate from the officials charged with responsibility in making it.

Voters Can't Help Asking About Ike's Fitness

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's second physical crisis in nine months will force voters to think again of what they asked themselves the first time: Should he be given another four - year term?

The question does not arise out of lack of confidence in Eisenhower's honest opinion of what he thinks is best for himself and the country. He has said he will frankly say if he's not up to another four years.

But he is a man of 65, carrying the enormous burden of the presidency. He would turn 70 before the end of a second term. He has had two major illnesses within these nine months: a heart attack and an intestinal block.

Because of the great public liking for him and trust in his judgment, questions about his physical fitness quieted down once he said the heart attack that he felt he could stand another four White House years.

But now, in view of this second illness, voters cannot help asking themselves this question, even though he may again say he feels able to run for re-election:

Are these two illnesses so close together simply accidents that could happen to any man? Or are they signs of a physical weakening under the stress and strain of the presidency that may be repeated?

Eisenhower himself has said, "The presidency is probably the most taxing job, as far as tiring of the mind and spirit . . . My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

His doctors have said he will not be able to resume his full duties for at least a month. This means —counting 3½ months after his heart attack—that for 4½ months in a year he could not function fully.

The doctors have said there is no connection between the two illnesses, and they have been almost enthusiastically optimistic about his ability to run again. And Eisenhower has shown remarkable recuperative powers.

In fairness to himself and to the country he probably will wait until he is back on his job full-time before saying for the second time whether he will try for re-election.

That will be mid-July. Until then he will leave Democrats and Republicans with their tongues hanging out—but wagging—in opposite expectation, the Republicans knowing their best hope is Eisenhower, the Democrats knowing their best hope is anybody else.

That Third Person–Inside

NEW YORK (AP)—There are at least 26 million overweight Americans, and Leonard Louis Levinson has just written a book dedicated to them all.

His dedication reads:

"To the thin person, inside every fat person, fighting to get out."

A reformed fatty himself, this repentant sinner is the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the diet field.

For most of his life Levinson, now 52, never counted his calories and preferred to take them rather than leave them alone.

He was a highly successful writer of film scripts, stage skits and radio shows. He wrote for Fibber McGee and Molly and many another entertainment headliner.

Then he was commissioned to write "The Brown Derby Cookbook," to celebrate the sophisticated cuisine of the Hollywood restaurant he patronized himself.

"In preparing that book," he recalled, "I tasted about 1,500 dishes they had in a card file as well as all those they had in the menu. For example, they had 23 different ways of preparing lamb kidneys—imagine that!—and I tried them all.

"The recipes weren't for people worried about putting on weight. Most of them started off—'Take a half pound of butter. Or a pint of rich cream and.'"

Levinson who wore a great brown walrus mustache when he started the project, resembled a walrus in other ways when it was finished. He was round, unfirm and fully packed. He was also short of breath and uncomfortable.

His doctor told him he had to reduce.

"I thought it would be easy," said Levinson, "but it took me a full year. I had become too used to stuffing myself with rich food.

"But I like to throw myself into a thing, and I got really interested in nutrition and made a thorough study of it."

The result, after more than two years of experimentation with myself as the guinea pig, is a book on the other side of the dietary fence. It is called "The Complete Book of Low Calorie Cooking."

Just how thorough was his research?

"Well," said Levinson, "I found 365 ways to prepare a breakfast egg—a different way for every day of the year."

The book abounds with tips on how ordinary diet cheaters, such as the midnight icebox raiders and the between meals snackers, can gorge themselves on extra fodder that will fill their empty stomachs but won't put on weight.

"The single most important thing a dieter should learn is moderation—then he can eat almost anything," he said.

"But moderation is something many people just can't practice. So for them the answer must be—to pick low-caloried foods to fill up on. If we use more old world spices, herbs and seasonings—and the big news in the American kitchen today is that we are using more—these foods can be made more varied and tasty."

The days when he ate lamb kidneys prepared in 23 sauce-rich ways are past for Levinson, who fought successfully to get out of his old fat self. But he has no regrets.

"We are what we eat," he said, "and the more we eat the more we are."

Britain Losing Its Best Brains To America

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—A leading British educator says this country is losing its best scientific brains to the United States. He lists higher salaries and better opportunities as the main attractions.

Lord Chorley, general secretary of the Assn. of University Teachers, told the association's Central Council:

"A very serious drain is being made on our scientific manpower by the United States."

There has been some talk that British science students accept American offers to evade the two-year military service here.

Lord Chorley denied this, but the government is to grant "permanent deferment of national service to graduates and those holding equivalent qualifications who are actively employed in the field of science and technology whether in teaching, in research or in industry."

Emergency Repairs

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—Joe Price got a telephone call late at night asking him to come downtown and open his television repair shop. He found two very tired men and a heavy TV set they had carried for almost 5 mile.

One of them explained they had brought the ailing set in a car to the outskirts of town and stopped because the auto had no license. Then they lugged the set on foot. And they phoned Price because they didn't want to lug the set back to the car.

Ad For Police

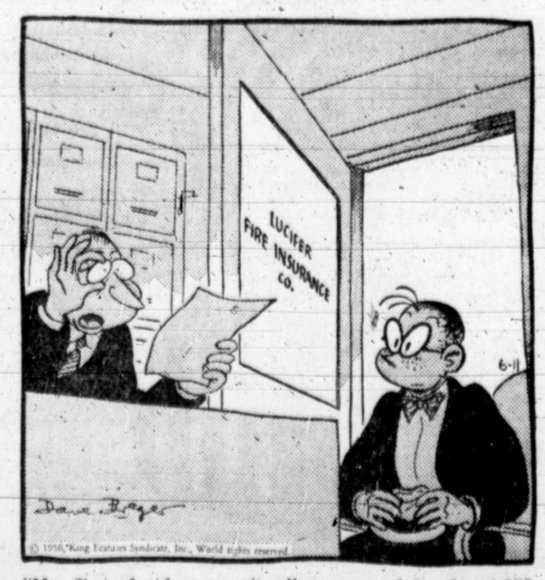

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A police truck was used to advertise for help.

"Men Wanted For Police Department" signs were placed on each side of the truck, and civil service examinations were soon being conducted for five additional members of the police department and four for the fire department.

Has A New Crop

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) Farmer Clarence Smart reaped a lot more than he sowed. Three Navy rockets plowed into his land. A specialist from nearby Camp Drum dug them up and said they were a harmless, practice type. But nobody has been able to determine where they came from. Mrs. Smart thought she heard a jet plane about the time her husband saw the rockets land, but inquiries have failed to confirm presence of any aircraft.

Mr. Breger

"No, I'm afraid we can't allow your claim for 1,273 gallons of fuel oil you say were burned in your furnace over the winter . . ."

Around The Rim

The Age-Old Job Of Counting Noses

Perhaps it's just as well the government doesn't tackle the task of counting noses around the country no more than once every ten years.

Here it is four years before the next census will be taken and already the people in Washington are preparing for the task of asking the people to stand up and be counted.

They say it will require the services of 150,000 people or more to enumerate the residents of this nation and their jobs will be a bit more detailed than they have been in the past. They'll not only count the people and the houses but everything the people use, as well.

If, four years hence, a fellow with a pad and a pencil over one ear comes to you and asks how many artichokes you ate the preceding 12 months, bear with him. He's only doing his duty.

Census takers have been with us a long, long time. Fact is, the Babylonians were gathering statistics about their people 57 centuries ago, to make it easier on the tax offices and the draft boards in those days.

The first official nose-count occurred in this country in 1790. It showed the country with a total of 3,929,214 men, women and children. It's expected the next census will show at least 175,000,000, exclusive of that 10,000 a half dozen cities in Texas think they have but can't find.

Big Spring has had experience in losing such a segment of its population. In 1950, there were estimates that the local tribe would run as high as 25,000 but countless numbers drifted away from the reservation before the tabulation. The final figure showed 17,528.

Local officials would have looked menacingly in the direction of Midland and, no doubt, claimed that enumerators over there had included the western half of our city in their final tabulations, but for the fact that Midland itself was short 20,000 or so.

No community was shortchanged like Los Angeles, however, which claimed 4,000,000 and turned up with a population of a little more than 1,800,000, even though it had city limit signs posted just outside Seattle and Albuquerque.

Civic boosters along about that time do cease to ask the eternal question "where are they all coming from?" and substitute the lament, "where did they all go?" A refreshing change, if a temporary one.

Review Of The Anti-Stalin Position

Reading Khrushchev's enormous speech, I found myself fascinated by his tale of cruelty and treachery and cowardice but unconvinced and puzzled by his theoretical explanation of Stalin.

Reduced to its elements, Khrushchev's theory is as follows. Lenin, who was the infallible leader, thought that while terrorism should be used to win the class war against the members of the old regime, terrorism should end when the class war had been won, and it should never be used against factions within the revolutionary movement itself.

Khruschchev went on to say that by the time Stalin had climbed to power in the mid-20's, the Communists had won the class war. There was therefore no further need for terrorism against non-Communists and no excuse whatever for terrorism against Communists. Lenin's victorious revolution should then have been conducted by leadership and persuasion within the hierarchy of the Communist Party. This hierarchy was in Lenin's view as in Khrushchev's the self-appointed and unquestioned ruler of the new revolutionary regime. Stalin's offense was, according to Khrushchev, that he overrode the Communist Party hierarchy, and set up a personal despotism by the use of terror through his own personal secret police. Stalin did this because he had an insane lust for power.

What I find puzzling and unconvincing is Khrushchev's asssumption that the terror which has prevailed in Russia was an aberration due wholly to the deranged personality of Stalin. This begs the main question. The question is whether the transformation of Russia in the '30's could have been carried out without terrorism. I do not doubt at all that Stalin was the monster that Khrushchev makes him out to be. But what we have to remember is that the forced industrialization of Russia and the agrarian revolution, carried out in a short generation, was a monstrously abnormal undertaking. It subjected human beings to an ordeal to which there is no parallel.

It seems to me highly unlikely that the quick transformation of the life of the Russian people could have been carried out without extensive, ruthless, persistent and pervasive terrorism. In all probability the abnormality of the undertaking itself and the abnormality of Stalin's personality reinforced and exacerbated the one or the other.

In the new cult of Lenin, which Khrushchev celebrates, it is set down that the Communist revolution was victorious by the time of Lenin's death in 1924. The fact is, however, that the revolutionary transformation of Russia into an industrial state was not seriously begun until the first five-year plan in 1928.

This plan called for sacrifice and for a kind of hard labor which could be extracted from any people only under fiercest kind of compulsion.

What seems to me false in Khrushchev's argument is the fundamental assumption that this terrible undertaking could have been carried out, but for Stalin's personality, without a reign of terror. It is more likely that the main cause of the terror was the decision to sacrifice one Russian generation in order to transform Russian society, and that Stalin's character was a complicating element in an undertaking to which the whole Communist hierarchy was dedicated.

This would also help to explain, along with the fact that they were personally intimidated, why they worked so long for Stalin.

All this bears on the practical questions which are in our minds. What ground is there for thinking that the reaction against the Stalinist terror may be lasting? Why are the present rulers of the Kremlin relaxing the iron discipline of the Soviet state?

My notion is that the Stalinist terror, allowing for Stalin's personal abnormalities was an integral part of the violent and abnormal revolutionary transformation of Russia which began in 1928. The question would be whether the Soviet system has now reached an equilibrium where it can be operated without the terror.

* * *

We must remember in all of this that we are not witnessing a revolution against Communism but an historic dispute within the Communist world. The issue between Khrushchev and Stalin, or for that matter between Tito and Stalin, is not about dictatorship, democracy, the Bill of Right, a government of laws and not of men, much less about the two-party system. The test of whether the anti-Stalinists are winning is not whether they are coming closer to our American conception of how government ought to be conducted. They have a radically different conception of government from our own and their quarrel with Stalin is that he distorted their conceptions of government, not that he violated our conceptions.

Let's Stop This Getting Pied In The Sky

There is nothing that alarms me more than to find myself giving aid and comfort to the WCTU, since these latter-day Carry Nations are not the cup that cheers me.

But here I go again, ready to plump for a bill that would make the wild blue yonder a little less so by forbidding the sale of liquor on commercial airliners. Such a bill has just been approved by the Commerce subcommittee of the House of Representatives, and high time.

Pie in the sky is one thing, but getting pied in the sky is horsepower of another color! From the point of view of this patron of commercial aviation since its early days, the passenger plane hasn't yet been built that's large enough to contain in comfort and safety even one drunk among its customers.

When I first started to fly more than a quarter of a century ago, there was a hard and fast rule on all airlines that alcohol and altitude do not mix. That hard and fast rule applied both to the crew and the passenger.

That elementary law of flight has not yet been repealed for the crew, which still must be sober as a judge. I prefer the passengers that way, too.

Before World War II, a passenger who was obviously ground looping had no more chance of getting on a commercial plane than the legendary camel through the eye of a needle. Passengers were barred from boarding a plane if they had had one too many for the air road.

Once in Chicago, I saw one of the nation's foremost captains of industry quietly refused a seat on a plane, for which he held a reservation, because he was stewed to the gills.

But now a passenger doesn't need to get loaded before he boards a plane, since he can lap it up once he tightens his seat-belt.

A few years ago when I protested to a harrassed young stewardess that an obstreperous drunk aboard a Florida-bound plane was a danger to plane and passengers alike, she explained that there really was no danger because the pilot compartment was locked from the inside and the drunk couldn't get in there to interfere with the plane's operation.

When I insisted that I then be allowed to go up and join the crew in the safety of the cockpit, she said such action was impossible but added, "That's where I'd like to be, too!"

Under the present system, stewardesses have been turned into bartenders, with scant time to look after passenger comfort in any other department.

No wonder that both pilots and stewardesses approve the present House bill. On the ground, a sober citizen can take evasive action from a drunk. But in the air, the citizen is well-nigh helpless to defend himself from a lush. The automatic pilot can do a lot, but, unfortunately, it can't yet be sent back to cope with a lost-weekender.

What my plea boils down to, I guess, is a longing, once more, to fly both high and dry.

Parking Hazards

ORANGE, Va. (AP) — Police here understand the hazards of parking. For the third time the department's only police car has been ruined while standing still. A car caromed off a trailer truck and did it this time. Two years ago a garage fire did it and in 1952 a train smacked a lumber truck and the flying timbers buried the parked prowl car.

Auto Breaks In

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — None of that sissy lock-picking for these burglars. They used an automobile to batter in the front of Roland Katzke's service station and cart off a cash register containing $35.

Londoners Told Of Doubt About Ike

LONDON (AP)—The Washington correspondents of most London newspapers told their readers today that the American people are increasingly dubious of President Eisenhower's physical fitness for re-election.

"Growing U.S. view he should quit fight," headlined the Conservative Daily Mail.

"There is deep disquiet in the United States today over President Eisenhower's health despite the optimistic and almost ebullient statements of the doctors," the Mail said. It added:

"The American public would be less perturbed if even one of the 13 or more doctors who attended the President had counseled caution or restraint or even said, 'Let us see how the President gets along—let us not rush things.'"

The pro-Labor party Daily Mirror declared bluntly:

"Public confidence in the medical opinions have been shaken by Saturday's operation, and it will take much more than publicity about Ike's golfing prowess to convince them that he is fit enough for another term."

The independent Times said the "political implications of his present illness have possibly assumed a greater insistence than the fears inspired by his heart attack last year."

The middle-of-the-road News Chronicle said, "Neither Axrica nor the world would forget it if the politicians were to urge the President to work beyond his physical endurance."

The Laborite Daily Herald said millions of American voters may "feel a little sickened, perhaps, if they feel, or know, that Ike's expectation of life is being sacrificed on the altar of the Republican party machine."

O'Dwyer Back To Face Tax Claim

NEW YORK (AP) — Former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer has returned from Mexico to face a government claim that he owes about $10,000 in back income taxes.

O'Dwyer's case is scheduled to be heard tomorrow in Federal Tax Court. He has asked a hearing on claims that he owes back taxes for the years 1949 through 1951.

The former mayor arrived last night by plane from Mexico City, where he now lives. He left his city post in 1950 to become ambassador to Mexico.

O'Dwyer has asked the tax court to throw out the government claim. He says he spent $22,390 in performing his diplomatic duties and was reimbursed only $10,124 by the government.

O'Dwyer said he expects to stay in the United States about a week.

'Operation Was Successful'

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty tells newsmen at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington at a dawn conference that the exploratory operation on President Eisenhower to relieve an obstruction in the small intestines "was successful." Hagerty said the "President's post-operative condition is very satisfactory. He left the operating table in excellent condition." Col. Robert L. Schulz, presidential military aide, stands behind Hagerty. (AP Wirephoto).

Two Are Held In Slaying Of Brink's Robbery Informant

BOSTON (AP)—Two men were booked today on suspicion of murder in the gangland-style slaying of an ex-convict who reportedly divulged information to the FBI about the $1,218,211 Brink's robberty.

The victim was William J. Cameron, 49, a Dorchester district hoodlum whose body was found yesterday in his parked car at the rear of a Navy barracks building on the South Boston waterfront.

Booked on a charge of "suspicious persons in connection with murder" were Thomas J. Ballou, 27, of Quincy, who was free in $20,000 bail on an indictment of being an accessory in the Brink's robbery, and Thomas A. Callahan 50, an ex-convict waterfront "tough guy."

Police said they have information that Callahan recently beat Cameron severely after accusing him of being a "stool pigeon" — an informer.

Ballou was indicted less than a month ago after authorities accused him of serving as courier for Thomas F. Richardson, 48, and James I. Faherty, 44, while both lay in hiding in a Roxbury district tenement.

Richardson and Faherty were the last to be captured of the 13 men in custody on charges of being the Brink's robbers.

Cameron's body was slouched under the dashboard of his car with two bullet holes in his face, one at the nose and the other in his right cheek.

A police official said Cameron once lived in a house that had been "staked out" as the hideout for Faherty while he and Richardson were evading police for more than a year.

The official said Cameron apparently never got the money he was promised for hiring the Boston apartment and went to the FBI after several attempts to collect his "fee" for his services to Faherty.

Callahan was described by police as a close friend of Jordan Perry, 31, of Boston, who was arrested in Baltimore about a week ago on charges he tried to pass about $4,000 of the Brink's loot.

Perry's arrest led to a raid on a Boston office and rooming house where some $90,000 in Brink's money was recovered from behind a wall panel.

Callahan, who has a long police record, had been sought since Perry's arrest in Baltimore. He was arrested as he drove up to his house.

Cameron had been questioned at least three times in connection with the Brink's robbery of Jan. 17, 1950, police said.

Cameron's 48-year-old widow Pauline was quoted by police as saying her husband got a phone call about 12:15 a.m. yesterday while they were watching television.

She said she heard her husband say over the telephone: "Where can I meet you? I'll see you in about 15 minutes."

Twenty minutes later, Mrs. Cameron was quoted further, a male visitor came to their door and her husband — wearing work clothes and slippers — left with the man after shouting to her: "I'm going to give him a push."

Police theorized the visitor reported his car had broken down and was in need of a tow.

Cameron's body was found about two hours later.

Lions In Basement Touch Off A Community Scare

CHICAGO (AP)—"There's a pack of lions running loose out here, and they looked pretty hungry," an alarmed caller reported to Englewood police last night.

Eighteen similar phone calls flooded the Englewood headquarters in the next five minutes.

Policemen Robert Martinjak and Richard Ryan were ordered to lead a safari. The cries of a crowd and the roar of beasts led them to 6419 Peoria St.

Cautiously, they crept toward a broken basement window where the roars emanated. They saw two husky lions chained to the basement wall.

Two Hawaiians who live in the building came forward through the crowd and said they were the lions' owners.

Kalanilehau, 31, and his cousin Liko, 29, said their lions, Togar, a 2-year-old, 285-pounder, and Kila, a yearling 80-pounder, were imported from Africa for use in a night club act.

"They are as tame and gentle as alley cats, and they wouldn't hurt a mouse," said Kalanilehau. "But kids in this neighborhood! They're always teasing the lions. The kids broke the basenent window a couple of days ago and they're forever pestering Togar and Kila.

"Why one of 'em was trying to make Togar put his head in a kid's mouth."

Mrs. Adelyn Smith, 47, signed a complaint charging that Kila always was tempting her daughter Lola, 7, to lick his face, or vice versa.

The police left the lions chained, but arrested Kalanilehau on a charge of harboring wild animals.

Solution of Saturday's Puzzle

PAR TIME 26 MIN.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Without a doubt, they threw the mould away when they made W. J. Green, president of the Southwestern baseball league.

The Class B wheel is a going concern for no other reason than Green is determined to see that it remains extant.

Some league prexys are prone to shoulder a great deal of credit when leagues prosper and their incomes approach their outgo.

The agents of more than one have been so bold as to suggest that the personal magnetism of their chief executive meant the difference in the ball clubs feasting on fillet steaks and bacon sandwiches.

You sometimes wonder how professional baseball has survived at all, when you consider some of the boiled hats who pass for league presidents.

Their contributions to the game usually are limited to making eloquent speeches to the press about how 'American is the grr-e-at game of baseball' and showing up at each of the member parks at least once a season.

A prexy should be judged by the manner in which he backs up his umpiring staff and deals with the malcontents. In too many cases, unfortunately, the arbiters have to fend for themselves, without knowing' when they are going to be diced and fed to the wolves by the presidents themselves.

Some presidents have a cute habit of looking the other way or pleading they have no weapons with which to arrest the tell-tale signs of economic decay, when a debt-ridden club begins sending out SOS's before it turns up its toes.

Such august people have even been known to enter into a conspiracy to divorce a franchise from one city in order to marry it off to a more gullible community, which might be panting for the diamond sport but is unwise in the many weird ways a club can be separated from its money.

No so with Mr. Green, who extends sympathy to every club owner who wants to bend some one's ear about his troubles. The path to Mr. Green's door obviously is as well worn as that of an Army chaplain's whose outfit has been on C rations for a month.

Mr. Green not only is free with the sympathy. He believes in keeping his money in circulation. He's the fellow in the odd-looking hat and the rubber boots the club owners sing to in their chant, "Fireman, Save My Child."

* * *

League presidents are not permitted, under Organized baseball rules, to own clubs but it's extremely doubtful that Tony York would be in business at Ballinger right now had it not been for Mr. Green and his ever-ready bank roll.

Pampa started to throw in the towel recently. In fact, Grover Seitz of that club had called several other teams within the circuit offering to peddle some of his high priced help at very modest prices. Suddenly, the working stiffs were taken off the market, for what was probably a very good reason.

Mr. Green, it is said, showed up with a bundle of boodle and helped bail out Seitz and the Pampa board of directors.

Some say he laid $2,000 in a neat, little stack before the stock holders, pointing out that it was un-American to deprive the ball players of their livelihood.

The cash helped meet the upcoming payroll and the Pampa people — who always thought Santa Claus wore a long white beard — went out, picked up the towel and proceeded to mop their well-creased brows.

* * *

Professional baseball has been going notoriously bad in West Texas since the 1956 season got under way.

Through April and May, the elements influenced more pinochle play while rearranging the top soil in various baseball parks than it had in a long, long while.

The paying customers got in the habit of staying away and the habit proved as hard to break as smoking.

Some of the club owners are said to have enrolled in night school, learning new words with which to abuse the good name of the weatherman in particular and the populace in general.

Even though the tariff was reduced in some of the parks and everything from bingo to bugle-blowing seals were tried in others, the fans still aren't beating down the gates to get to their seats.

Mr. Green is a very stubborn man, however. If he's seen any handwriting on the wall, he's tried to erase it and enscribe his own formula. He wants professional baseball to endure in this area and obviously he intends to have his way.

Leave us hope his money and his enthusiasm hold out.

Grimm And Hobbs Outlast Angelo

By The Associated Press

Jim Grimm stepped to the mound Sunday to stop a San Angelo rally in the ninth and then clouted a double and came home on a single in the 10th to hand his Hobbs mates a 4-3 Southwestern League win.

In the other games, Ballinger took a doubleheader from Pampa 5-4 and 13-3, Clovis beat Carlsbad 7-1, Midland defeated Plainview 9-1, and El Paso routed Roswell 14-0.

Musial, Wehmeier Team Up To Pace Card Drive

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

If Stan Musial would hit every day as he does on Sundays and if Herm Wehmeier could pitch against every club as he does against Pittsburgh, the St. Louis Cardinals would be a cinch to win the National League pennant.

Yesterday Musial cracked four hits including a home run and double, and drove in four runs as the Cardinals earned a split with Pittsburgh that cut Cincinnati's first-place margin to 3 percentage points.

Wehmeier, who hasn't been able to beat anybody else this year, shut out the Pirates 3-0 with six hits after they had won the opener 11-3. It was his second victory of the season, both over the Pirates, over whom he holds a lifetime record of 25-8.

Musial, a .320 Sunday hitter—20 points better than his weekday average—has hit half his eight homers and has driven in a third of his 42 runs on Sundays.

Five National League teams are so closely bunched today a pennant would cover them all. Brooklyn, in fifth place, moved to within two games of the top by defeating Cincinnati 8-6. Pittsburgh, in first place for a couple of hours after its opening triumph, dropped into third place, a half game behind Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Frank Lane Defends Trades He's Made For Cardinals

ST.LOUIS (AP)—Trading wizard Frank Lane scoffs at the idea he's lost his touch because former St. Louis Cardinal players have come back to haunt the Redbirds.

The energetic general manager, conceding the growing legion of onetime Cardinals has given the club trouble, declared last night:

"I'll stand on my record so far this year. We're tied for first place now. At this time last year we were 17½ games out, tied for fifth.

"I'm not concerned with the players we've given up, but rather with the men we received.

"The St.Louis fans don't think I've lost my touch. We had this season's record crowd Sunday, 28,129, and (Herm) Wehmeier (obtained from Philadelphia in one big trade) got a big victory for us. The fans are all steamed up . . ."

But the Redbird fans, some of the most loyal in baseball, did grumble when their club fell before ex-Cardinals.

Luis Arroyo, stubby Latin lefthander, dealt them an 11-3 defeat in the first game yesterday and Bill Virdon's seventh-inning homer broke a 3-3 tie.

Harvey Haddix and Stu Miller, traded to Philadelphia for Murry Dickson and Wehmeier, both defeated the Cardinals here to help the Phillies take three games of a four-game set.

Brooks Lawrence, big righthander traded to Cincinnati for little left-hander Jack Collum, has become the big man of the Redleg staff.

But Lane declared: "We're not suffering."

He points out Haddix lost to the Cardinals once and Arroyo hasn't been outstanding in other outings. Virdon, he asserted hasn't hit as well for the Pirates over-all as Bobby del Greco, sent here with left-hander Dick Littlefield in another transaction.

Thirty Texas Horses Are Nominated For Futurity

RUIDOSO N. M. (SC) — Attesting to the increasing popularity of the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity with the horsemen of the Southwest is the response which they gave in the form of nominees for the race. The first closing date, May 5, 1956, found sixty hopefuls in the entries at a cost of $100 each. Two late nominations prior to the second closing date, May 20, paid the $250 penalty to become eligible for the race.

Entries will be accepted until the final closing date, June 5, 1956 with a $500 penalty, making the total initial entry fee $600.

Information concerning the final closing date has been requested by trainer L. A. Boice of the R. C. Ellsworth stable. Boice intimated that he may nominate a colt by the illustrious Khaled, sire of the Kentucky Derby winner Swaps.

Sectionally, Texas led the list of horsemen nominating entries with 30. New Mexico owners were next with 22, Oklahoma four, Arizona five and California one.

Leading the list of individual subscribers with three each were: Lazy H Ranch, May, Okla. —O. M. Lee Jr., Alamogordo, N. M. and Ken Gaston of Roswell, N. M.

With a conservative estimate of 30 colts starting in the Trials, June 16, at the cost of $100 each, plus the $2,000 purse and the five per cent of the mutuel handle on the race the gross purse will exceed any purse ever offered in New Mexico Racing. With an estimated value of $12,500, the winner of the Futurity, August 11, will net approximately $6,500.

If the race were to be run soon, the probable favorite might be No Gal, the two-year-old colt owned by Dick Gray of Gorman, Texas. By August 11 — Quien Sabe?

Boston To Host Show Saturday

By The Associated Press

Tony DeMarco of Boston and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., two of the hardest hitters in the welterweight division, meet head-on in a Boston 10-rounder that should produce plenty of fireworks Saturday night.

DeMarco, 24, who lost his crown to Carmen Basilio who lost it back to Johnny Saxton, has flattened 27 opponents in posting a 43-6-1 record. Martinez, 27, winner of 21 straight, has stopped 25 opponents. Vince's record is 49-9.

The bout will not be televised.

There will be a lot of action tonight when Mexico's Gaspar Ortega and Gene Poirier, Niagara Falls, N.Y., collide in a middleweight 10-rounder at New York's St.Nicholas Arena. Both are free-swingers with little aptitude for defense.

Du Mont will telecast at 9 p.m. EST.

Middleweights also are featured in Wednesday's radio-television bout at Syracuse, N.Y., where Joey Giambra, Buffalo, and John L. Sullivan meet in a return 10-rounder.

The New York Giants came from behind to nip the fourth-place Braves 5-3, leaving them still two games off the pace, only 7 points in front of the Dodgers. The Chicago Cubs buried the Philadelphia Phillies deeper in the basement, sweeping both ends of a double header, 2-1 in 11 innings and 5-2.

The New York Giants came from behind to nip the fourth-place Braves 5-3, leaving them still two games off the pace, only 7 points in front of the Dodgers. The Chicago Cubs buried the Philadelphia Phillies deeper in the basement, sweeping both ends of a double-header, 2-1 in 11 innings and 5-2.

The New York Yankees salvaged the finale of their three-game series with Cleveland, blanking the Indians 6-0. Chicago's third-place White Sox climbed to within half a game of the Indians with a 3-2 triumph over Boston. Washington dumped Detroit out of a fourth-place tie by vanquishing the Tigers twice 6-5 and 12-9 while Kansas City snapped Baltimore's four-game winning streak with a 7-3 victory.

A pair of former Redbirds — southpaw Luis Arroyo and outfielder Bill Virdon—came back to haunt the Cardinals in the opener. Arroyo, traded to Pittsburgh earlier this year, held his former mates to seven hits and fanned five. Virdon, along with Gene Freese and Lee Walls, homered for the Bucs.

Brooklyn slashed five Cincinnati hurlers for 15 hits, including home runs by Randy Jackson and Charley Neal. Jackson batted in four runs as Ed Roebuck registered his first victory of the year, in relief.

Blanked by Warren Spahn for six innings, the Giants erupted for four runs in the seventh that cost Spahn his fifth successive defeat. Foster Castleman's three-bagger — while trying to duck a pitch — highlighted the rally which gave Johnny Antonelli his fifth triumph, in relief.

Eddie Miksis and Pete Whisenant teamed up to hand the Phils their double loss. Whisenant doubled and scored on Miksis' single in the 11th inning of the opener. Eddie also drove in the other Chicago run. Whisenant batted in three Cub runs in the nightcap with a single and double.

Johnny Kucks threw the shutout against Cleveland although he yielded nine hits and walked four. A home run, double and single by Billy Martin and Joe Collins' pinch hit home run with two on combined to hand Bob Lemon his third loss against seven victories.

Billy Pierce, off to his finest season in nine years, stopped Boston with six hits for his eighth victory in 10 decisions. The White Sox capitalized on a break to score all three runs in the fourth. After Nellie Fox's pop fly fell safely for a double, successive singles by Minnie Minoso, Larry Doby and Dave Philley followed. A forceout brought in what proved to be the run that gave Pierce his 102nd American League victory.

Enos Slaughter doubled in the tie-breaking run as a pinch hitter and the Athletics went on to defeat Baltimore and end their five-game losing streak.

Outfielder Jim Lemon rapped his third hit in the ninth inning of the opener, a single that drove in the tying and winning runs for Washington, then homered with one on in the first inning of the second game.

Pete Runnels collected six hits and drove in five runs for Washington.

Dusters Bomb AAFB Again

Webb Air Force Base's Dusters bombed Abilene AFB, 14-9, for the second straight day here Sunday. King was the winning hurler.

The Dusters had subdued Abilene, 8-2, Saturday night.

Abilene used four hurlers in a futile attempt to stop the local airmen.

Jay Hill got the Dusters off to a fast start by belting a three-run homer in the first inning.

The Dusters travel to Abilene next Saturday for a doubleheader against the same team.

Webb also has a twin bill lined up with the Johnson Oil Company team a week from Saturday.

Marlene Hagge Paces Tourney

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Marlene Bauer Hagge was $2,000 richer today as she started preparation for next week's annual Ladies Professional Golf Assn. tournament in Detroit.

Little Marlene registered an easy victory here yesterday in the $12,000 (Triangle) Round-Robin tournament, the "plus and minus" derby in which she stacked up plus 50 points.

Almost immediately, the other professionals along the play-for-pay circuit sounded a common battle cry: "Beat Marlene."

Mrs. Hagge, a 22-year-old star from Asheville, N. C., now has grabbed first money in three of the last five tournaments. In one of the two she list, she tied for first and bowed in a playoff.

"I'm playing some of the best golf of my career," Marlene said afterward. "I'll start work right away for the championship at Detroit."

Mangrum Reasons Littler Will Win National Open

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) — After the fourth round of the Round Robin Golf Tournament, Lloyd Mangrum looked at Gene Littler, who had just beaten him, and remarked:

"I've got to go with you for the Open. I picked Cary Middlecoff, but you're playing well and you've got things going for you. You're playing in luck."

Mangrum reiterated that idea after Littler had won the $3,000 top money yesterday in a 24-point runaway. Littler shyly assented that he feels "pretty good" about his prospects in the Open, which starts Thursday at Rochester's Oak Hill Club.

Tigers Win Pair Here On Sunday

San Angelo didn't show but the Big Spring Tigers played a double header anyway here Sunday afternoon — and won both games.

Snyder's Tigers filled in for the Greyhounds, whose absence was unaccounted for, and dropped a 6-0 seven-inning decision to Elias Gamboa's team.

The Bengals, which previously had won only one game this season, then smacked the Colorado City Indians by an 8-2 tally.

Mike Rainey went all the way on the mound for Big Spring in the opener, giving up only two hits. He struck out ten and did not walk a batter.

The Tigers struck for four runs in the third frame and all but wrapped up the verdict with a two-run fourth.

In the second game, Charley Fierro and Bobby Beall teamed up to pitch the Tigers to victory, giving up only six hits between them.

A six-run sixth inning, highlighted by Sonny Dutchover's triple, put the verdict out of reach.

Lysandro Sillas paced the Tiger offensive, with three sharp singles in as many tries.

Corpus Clippers Blast Lubbock

By The Associated Press

How to dominate a baseball league: win 13 of 15 games. That's what Corpus Christi's domineering Clippers have done in the Big State League. Somebody's going to yell "break up the Clippers" any day now.

Corpus Christi beat Lubbock 5-3 Sunday night to make it five straight and remain 5½ games out front. Carl Green allowed the Hubbers only five singles to post his eighth straight victory.

Wichita Falls stayed in second place with a 4-3 victory over Victoria, going 10 innings to do it. Gene Wallace lofted a sacrifice fly in the tenth with the bases loaded.

Abilene beat Beaumont 4-0 to stay within two points of Wichita Falls. Evans Killeen pitched a 7-hitter in skunking the Exporters.

It was Littler's second big check in two weeks. He collected $5,778.50 for a second-place tie in the Texas International after losing a playoff to Australia's Peter Thomson.

"I blew that one," he said emphatically.

Leading all the way after the second round over the par-72 Wykagyl course, Littler shot 69-69-68-68-70 for a 344 medal score. He hit a near record total of plus 55 points in the round robin scoring system, which awards points for each stroke by which a player beats the others in his foursome.

Nearest to him was Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who trailed by only two strokes in scoring but two gathered only 31 points. Kroll's bid was thwarted largely by lanky Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., who fired a 69 against Kroll's 71 on the last round. Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, plus 27; Jackie Burke, the Masters champion from Houston, plus 13; and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., plus 11, were the other point leaders.

West Texan Dies In Traffic Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— A West Texas Naval Reserve flier was killed yesterday when his Cougar jet plane plunged into the Pacific southwest of San Francisco.

The Navy identified the victim as Cmdr. Gerald Trapp of Amarillo, here on a two-week training assignment at the Naval air station at Alameda, Calif.

Trapp was attached to Squadron VF 703, Dallas Naval Air Station. He was flying his F9F-6 at about 15,000 feet when it suddenly went into a dive and did not return. The target plane went down in search of it, but reported no trace. The Coast Guard sent search planes to the area.

Mistrial Called In Slaying Case

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP)—A deadlocked jury resulted in a mistrial Saturday night in the murder case against Ronald Edward Menter, 22, former mental patient accused of slaying a Texas A&M senior.

Menter, formerly of Keene, N.H., was accused in the fatal shooting of Jan David Broderick, 20, near Hempstead, Tex., last Dec. 30.

Menter claimed he shot Broderick in self defense during a drunken brawl on their way by car from El Paso, where he met Broderick.

Dist. Judge Ernest Coker said eight jurors favored a 5-year prison sentence and four favored a 4-year sentence.

Most Captives Of Koreans Accepted The Fate Of War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eighty per cent of the American war prisoners repatriated after the Korean War neither resisted nor cooperated with their Communist captors, an Army research study shows.

Based on analysis of the records of the 3,323 former prisoners, the study classified 15 per cent as collaborators and the remaining 5 per cent as resisters. The study did not take into account the actions of more than 3,000 others who died in captivity.

Those who did cooperate with their captors, the study showed, did so primarily not because of any belief in communism but to avoid possible mistreatment and to obtain preferential treatment.

There was little difference in the backgrounds of the resisters and the participators, said the study. The latter group, it added, "came back in physically better shape," but the resisters had "fewer neurotic symptoms."

Ban On Travel

CAIRO (AP) — An Interior Ministry spokesman announced today Egyptians will not be allowed to travel abroad this summer. The ban is intended to conserve foreign exchange. MRS. JIM FLEMING

Jim Fleming Marries Peggy King On Sunday

In a mid-afternoon ceremony Sunday, Peggy King became the bride of Jim Fleming of Denton, in a semi-formal service read at the Wesley Methodist Church.

The Rev. Wayne Parmenter, pastor, read the vows, which were repeated by the couple before the altar that was simply decorated. Twin palms flanked the altar table centered with an arrangement of white gladioli in a Haeger pedestal bowl.

Mrs. R. F. Lozano of Dallas, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and wore a princess style pink linen dress trimmed with lace and rhinestones. Her half hat was pink, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white flowers.

The bride, who was accompanied to the altar by her father, wore a princess style wedding dress. The white lace over taffeta was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, embroidered with pearls and rhinestones. The brief sleeves were complemented by lace mitts. The fingertip veil was attached to a calot of lace and seed pearls. White agapanthus, tied with a white French picoted ribbon, were carried on a white Bible.

R. F. Lozano served as the best man and Charles Peterson and Merle Hoisager were ushers.

Soloist for the rites was Mary Frances Norman of Wichita Falls whose mother, Mrs. C. W. Norman, was the organist. Miss Norman sang "I Love Thee" by Greig and "At Dawning" by Cadman.

Lohengrin's processional and Wagner's recessional were played as the wedding marches.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. King and is a graduate of Big Spring High School. She is now a student at North Texas State College in Denton.

Mr. Fleming is a graduate of Polytechnic High School in Fort Worth and is also a North Texas student. He is a member of the American Federation of Musicians. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Dean Fleming of 6904 Robinhood Lane, Fort Worth.

For a traveling costume, Mrs. Fleming wore a rose cotton dress, and her accessories were white. When they return from their wedding trip to Galveston the couple will make their home at 102 Taliaferro Courts in Denton.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1400 Benton. Here, guests were received by Mrs. King, Mrs. Fleming, the bridal couple and Mrs. Lozano.

The receiving rooms were decorated with white flowers and greenery and the refreshment table was covered with a white organdy cloth trimmed in pink. The centerpiece was of pink and white flowers.

Betty Wright, Sally Baber and Irene Newcomb of Odessa served the decorated wedding cake and punch to the guests. Billie King registered the friends who called.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Burleson, Joyce Fleming, Dixie Huffaker, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dysart and sons, T. M. Pollard and Jerry Howard all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fleming of Abilene; Irene Newcomb and Robert Maddox of Odessa; Sally Brown and John Schwab of Denton; and Mrs. J. C. Pollard of Millsap.

Howard Crawford And Myra Jean Moody Wed

LAMESA — In a double ring ceremony read Friday evening at 7:30 Myra Jean Moody became the bride of Howard Wayne Crawford. The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Moody, Abilene, and Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Crawford of Plainview and former pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lamesa.

The exchange of vows was read in the Fairmont Methodist Church in Abilene by Dr. J. H. Crawford, the bridegroom's father. The altar was centered with a Gothic arrangement of candelabra flanked on either side by spiral candelabra. Large baskets of white gladioli, stock and candytuft were interspersed with commodore foliage forming palms and centered with a white wrought iron kneeling bench overlaid with satin cushioned pillows. The chancel rail was garlanded in palms of commodore foliage.

Dottie Floyd, Lamesa, presented the traditional wedding music and accompanied Bob McDonald, Plainview, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of gossamer Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The figurine bodice was designed with a decolletage neckline accented with soft folds of tulle studded with pailletes forming the portrait neckline; the sleeves were long and tapered. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with a deep lace yoke and softly pleated tulle flowed to carpet length. Her veil of illusion was attached to a lace tiara studded with pearls and pailletes. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible showered with stephanotis and satin love knots.

ATTENDANTS

Gayle Crowder, Abilene, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Charlyne Williams, Abilene, and Catherine Shurtleff, Abilene. Ann Johnson, cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of aqua crystalene over taffeta fashioned with full ballerina skirts and fitted bodices with pleated stoles around the shoulders. They wore matching aqua headdresses of silk straw accented with rhinestones. They carried French bouquets of Esther Reed daisies showered in satin and tulle. Lana Johnson, cousin of the bride, Wichita Falls, was the flower girl.

Marvin Crawford, Plainview, was his brother's best man. Ushers were John Davis, Lamesa, Bert Affleck, Dallas, Tejan Cunningham, Amarillo, and Keith Wiseman, Dumas. Gene Tucker, Andrews, James Kirby, Dallas, and Jody Foster, Stamford were the groomsmen.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held at the church. The table was covered with a floor length cloth of satin and net and centered with the attendants flowers. The appointments were of crystal. Members of the houseparty included Loveta Riley, Jonelle Click, Julie Massey and Ila Beth Hester.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado the bride chose a yellow and white polished cotton sheath dress with white accessories.

Both are May graduates of McMurry College. The bride will teach school next year in Spring Brand. The bridegroom will attend Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston this fall.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Cleanliness Leads To Beauty, Says Starlet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Although Pat Crowley has never considered herself a raving beauty, she won her first Hollywood contract over 1500 other girls who were interviewed for the job.

Soon to be seen in Universal-International's "Walk the Proud Land," Pat told me as we drove to the Long Beach Veterans Hospital that she was frightened when she first came to Hollywood by the chance that make-up experts would try to change her.

"I was told to cut my hair. They believed that it suited the type I was to play, but actually it was wrong for my face. This made me realize more than ever how attractive appearance depends on a becoming hairstyle. When a person wears the wrong hairdo, it's like putting a cheap picture frome on an El Greco.

"If you don't feel that you are a beauty," Pat suggested, "spend more time making everything as perfect as you can. Somtimes you'll come out ahead of very pretty girls who are lazy or careless of their appearance.

"When I know that my hair is pretty I can face the world with confidence. Unlike most people, I have to wash my hair every three days to keep it looking fresh. When you attend to all these little things, hair, nails, complexion, and put them together, they spell glamour.

"Everything starts with cleanliness," she continued. "Make shower time fun time. Scrub your body with a good brush. Use bath powder, a fluffy towel and sweet cologne. And be sure every garment you put on is fresh and clean.

"I think clean, crisp gloves add so much to a costume. I've worn them since I was a tiny girl going to school, mostly white, and never more than once without washing them. I like cotton gloves in the daytime and kid at night. I mend a glove as soon as it needs it, and with the slightest sign of wear I discard them. It is so easy to wear shabby gloves without noticing it. I like colored gloves that match a costume. All in all, I must have 25 pairs.

"Don't let anyone tell you," Pat exclaimed, "that the way you look and the way you feel are not closely related. It is impossible to be at your best when you feel like apologizing for your appearance.

"But all the accent should not be on your appearance," she said as we approached the gray towers of the veteran's hospital. "You have to be interested in people, appreciative and interesting to others if you want to be well-liked and popular."

MORE ON APPEARANCE

There are many interesting and valuable appearance tips in Lydia Lane's new "Unlock Your Hidden Beauty" booklet. There are 12 pages just loaded with ideas for women of all ages — teen-age to middle-age. A copy will be on its way to you when you send your request with 10 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Mary Lancaster Is Wed To J. M. Ray In Sunday Service

Mary Lancaster, daughter of Mr and Mrs. O. N. Lancaster of Knott became the bride of James Weldon Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Morgan, Sunday afternoon.

The informal, double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Cecil Rhoades of the West Side Baptist Church.

The bride wore a white voile dress that was fashioned with a high neckline and was sleeveless. The front bodice was trimmed with rows of narrow lace and tiny bows.

Following tradition she wore the wedding ring of the bridegroom's grandmother which was 46 years old; the dress was new; her garter was blue and borrowed and she wore a penny in her shoe.

She carried red roses.

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Joe B. Matthews, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a dress of navy blue shantung trimmed with white collar and cuffs. Her flowers were white carnations.

Joe Matthews attended the bridegroom.

The couple is on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., and after their return here will make their home at 2706 W. 16th St.

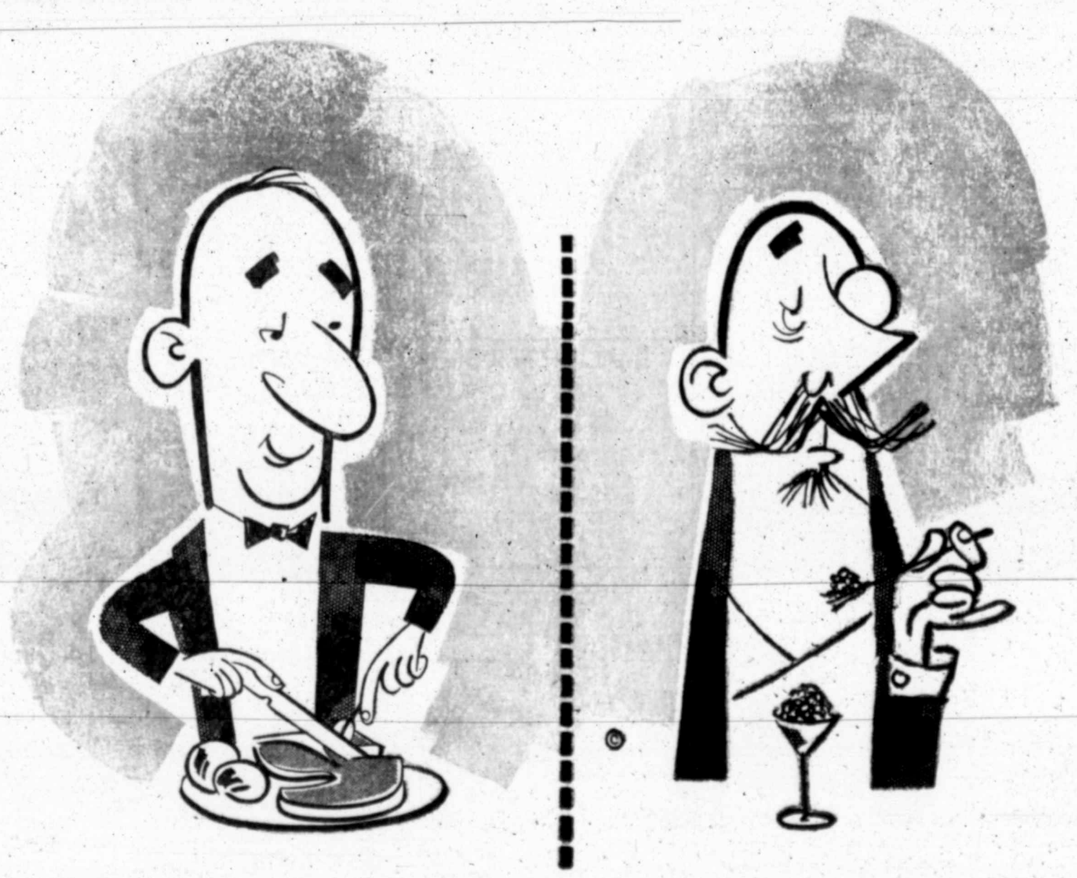

Mrs. Ray is a graduate of the Knott High School.

The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and is now employed at Hull and Phillips Food Store.

Wooten Visitors

Mrs. Bessie Wooten was pleasantly surprised over the weekend when she was visited by her nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Maddere of Ponca City, Okla.

This was the first time she had seen her nephew in 25 years. The family is vacationing and was en route to Carlsbad Caverns, and points in California, Oregon and Washington.

PLENTY OF MEAT AND POTATOES.....VERY LITTLE CAVIAR!

• Essentially an information medium, The Herald gives you the day's news, the news behind the news, expert commentary. It has its light side, too, of course — comics, humor, features.

• But The Herald has established a firm hold on people of the Big Spring area because it offers a substantial diet of good American meat and potatoes. The caviar is left to the entertainment media — radio, television.

• If you have a hankering for caviar, okay, it's your money. But if you want a solid diet that sticks to your sales ribs, Herald advertising is your dish.

• People invite The Herald into their homes day-after-day. They buy it — they pay to have it sent there. It's the one medium that can be read, discussed, reviewed and retained.

SEATO Delay Criticized By Filipino Chief

SINGAPORE (AP) — A Filipino general warned SEATO military staff planners today of his country's "air of impatience and growing feeling that nothing concrete is being done by our organization."

Brig. Gen. Pelagio Cruz, chief of the Philippine air force and head of his country's delegation to the eight-nation conference, told fellow officers he realized the difficulties involved but "our delegation feels these can be surmounted by the redoubled collective efforts of all SEATO countries."

Some 100 staff officers listened as chief delegates of the United States, Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, the Philippines, France, Thailand and Pakistan reaffirmed support of the two-year-old Southeast Asian Defense Pact.

Earlier this week a Philippine government communique said the Singapore meeting would discuss a proposal to establish a permanent military staff for the organization. The communique said the proposal was approved by the SEATO military advisers who met in Australia last January.

Calling for SEATO to make itself into a "living, vital, vigorous organization," Gen. Cruz said, "Those of us who live close to these potential areas (of aggression) feel and see the threat against our own way of life . . .

"We see the urgency therefore of a strong SEATO stand against this threat which persists."

Wreck Victim Still Critical

Juan Garza, 50-year-old Knott resident, critically injured in a car accident Saturday, was still clinging to life Monday morning at the Malone-Hogan Hospital. His condition was termed precarious.

Garza is suffering from 11 broken ribs, a punctured left lung, severe head injuries and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Garza, who suffered multiple fractures in the same accident, is in the same hospital but was said to be progressing satisfactorily.

Five children of the Garza's and Mrs. Garza's mother escaped with minor injuries.

Garza's car was involved in a collision with a transport truck at a road intersection near the Shirley Fryar farm northwest of Big Spring.

Swims Eight Hours To Report Wreck

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A 36-year-old man staggered ashore at Key West today after an 8½-hour swim through choppy seas to send Coast Guard craft to the rescue of three other survivors of a wrecked fishing boat.

Ray Wraymond, 36, told officers at the Boca Chica Naval Air Base where he reached shore that he swam nine miles after the charter boat Golden K went down during a squall.

A Navy helicopter spotted the boat's three other occupants clinging to the wreckage and a Coast Guard boat picked them up.

Wraymond was admitted to a hospital along with Dorothy Snell, 35, and Winford Bennett, 39. The other survivor, Frank Young, did not require medical treatment. All are from Marathon, Fla.

The Golden K, owned and captained by Bennett, struck a submerged island at Pelican Shoals southeast of Key West during a rainstorm at noon yesterday and sank at 4:30 p.m.

Wraymond started his swim 20 minutes later and reached shore at 1:20 a.m. after a nine-mile struggle through waters heavily infested with barracuda. He started with a life preserver but it came apart during the swim.

"I almost gave up a couple of times and thought of trying to drown myself," Wraymond said.

Capt. Tranum Leaves Force

Jack Tranum, police night captain since January, submitted his resignation to the city this morning. He said he is moving to Midland, his former home.

Tranum said in resigning that there was no difficulties or differences causing his quitting. He added that he hated to leave the Big Spring department but was leaving for personal reasons.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers was out of town this morning and could not be reached for immediate comment. No word has been given concerning a replacement. At the present time, however, A. V. (Curley) Brown is sergeant on Tranum's shift.

The resignation is effective today.

Tranum was sergeant on the night shift when appointed captain Jan. 15. He was promoted to fill the captain's position vacated by Rogers when he was made chief.

He had been with the local police force since Oct. 20, 1954. Prior to coming to Big Spring, he was with the police department in Midland.

He has applied for a job with the Midland police force, he said this morning.

6 Area Troops At Scout Camp

Six troops from the Lone Star District took part in the first week of the Buffalo Trails annual camp at the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

While there are no troops from here in attendance for this week there will be several taking part next week.

Approximately 60 boys were in the units going from here for the initial week.

Reports were not complete from all of them, but troop No. 136, led by Harvey C. Hooser Jr., Scoutmaster, and Jack Rhoton, assistant, had Harold Griffith and Douglas Wilson as candidates for the order of arrow. One patrol from the unit won first place in the Gold Rush, a camporee skill contest.

Other units making the trip were troop No. 30 under Lt. William E. Moorhead; troop No. 1 under M-Sgt. James R. Smith; troop No. 2 under Lt. Carroll French, assisted by Don Anderson; troop No. 146, led by Sgt. Chester L. Abernathy; and troop No. 11, Forsan, led by Cliff Ferguson.

Farm Bureau Program Set

The Howard County Farm Bureau will start a series of quarterly meetings for its members and their families Tuesday evening.

First of the programs will start at 8 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College auditorium, Ralph White, Bureau president, has announced.

Millard Shivers of Waco, the new organizational director for the Texas Farm Bureau, will be the speaker. Several musical and other entertainment numbers also are on the program.

Martha Winans, HCJC vocalist, will sing, as will the South Paws, local barbership quartet made up of Bill Pratt, Bob Clark, Bob Spears and Byron Wolfe. Mrs. C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma will present a group of her expression pupils, also.

Road Work Set On 5-Day Week

Effective next Monday, the 35 highway workers employed by the county will begin operating on a 5-day week work schedule.

Walter Parks, county engineer, appeared before the commissioners court today with a suggestion that the 5-day week plan be put in force.

He explained that the men would work the same number of hours — 44 — each week but that work will begin half an hour earlier and lunch time would be reduced to 30 minutes. Quitting time will remain the same.

Saturday will be the off-day for the workers.

Parks explained that such a plan would provide him with additional time for office detail work.

Auto Falls Over Bluff

State Highway patrol officers reported that Moses White, Big Spring, was involved in a car accident southeast of Big Spring at 4 a.m. Sunday.

The patrol said that White's 1947 Buick went off a 20-foot embankment.

White suffered minor injuries and Paul Hagan, a passenger, was bruised but neither required medical attention.

Three Accidents In City Sunday

Two of the three accidents occurring Sunday were on San Antonio and within two blocks of each other.

Malcomb Bob McFarland, 907 NW 5th, and Mrs. Cecil E. White, Lenorah, were in collision at Fifth and San Antonio. McFarland had a 1938 Chevrolet, and Mrs. White was in a 1955 Ford.

At Third and San Antonio, D. W. Jarosquewski, Webb, was involved in a hit-and-run. The other driver later came to the police station to report the mishap but his name was not recorded.

A minor accident occurred on private property, at the Humble Service Station, at 310 E. 4th. Involved was Elizar V. Rodriquez, 620 NW 4th.

Invitation Arrived A Bit Too Late

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daniel have received an invitation to attend the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier in Monaco. Daniel was acquainted with the grandfather of the prince and said the prince called him from New York last February. The wedding took place in April. The invitation to the Daniels was erroneously addressed—hence the delay in delivery until last Saturday.

Burglars Find Money Handy In Loan Office

Burglars took $16 from a counter at the Security Finance Company, 204 Runnels, Sunday night but tampered with nothing else in the office.

The establishment, operated by J. C. McWorther reported that nothing else was bothered. The money was three $5s and a $1 bill.

Police investigators said entry was gained via a rear door window. The money was on a desk immediately below a light and evidently the burglars were in the building only a short time.

H. G. Russell, 1101 W. 3rd, reported that a gold pocket watch had been stolen from him at that address sometime between midnight Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Russell said that a man and woman came to the residence and asked him to tune a violin but he had no idea whether they had anything to do with the disappearance of the watch.

Also reported stolen over the weekend was a license plate from a motor scooter. Reporting the loss was R. H. Holbrook, 1800 Scurry.

Jo Simmons, Elm Courts, claimed someone had stolen an undisclosed amount of clothing from her apartment Saturday night.

Ammonia Fumes Cause Alarm

LAMESA—Ammonia fumes sent firemen hurrying at 8:10 a.m. today to the Lamesa Meat Company. Small damage was reported from the escaping fumes.

F. D. Gene McAlister said that when he turned a valve on an ammonia line, it burst and released the fumes, forcing him from the room before he could throw the master valve.

Firemen, using an oxygen mask, quickly turned the valve. McAlister said the firm's mask had been lost in the fire which destroyed the packing and processing firm last autumn.

Airport To Receive No Federal Money

There is no possibility that Howard County can expect any federal funds to assist in the building of a proposed county airport.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, and Jack Cook, chairman of the aviation committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, have been told that the CAA has no intention of providing any financial assistant to the county in its project.

Weaver and Cook, who went to Fort Worth last week, talked to Bob Allen and A. G. Dyanct, engineers for the CAA. The engineers explained that no funds would be provided and that the county, if it is to have a county airport, must finance the project entirely on its own.

One site which had been suggested by the Chamber of Commerce committee for consideration was turned down by the CAA as unsuitable. This location is west of the city.

Three other proposed sites were submitted for consideration. One of these was turned down some years ago by the CAA but the engineers told Weaver and Cook that they might reconsider their ruling.

Weaver said that some confusion had arisen over a report that the CAA had cancelled its appointment to see him and his companion on Thursday.

"The CAA office," Weaver said, "thought we wished to attend a meeting of the CAA air space subcommittee.

"We did not wish to attend this meeting — all we wanted to do was talk with the engineers and get information on the requirements as to location the CAA would specify to make an airport here acceptable for commercial airline use."

Howard County Commissioners court resumed general discussion of the airport problem this morning and was to continue its meeting Monday afternoon.

Airport engineering firms who are seeking contracts to handle detail work for the commissioners in the project were on hand to discuss the program with the commissioners.

It was believed that a firm would be selected by the commissioners this afternoon to inspect the proposed sites and draw up estimates on the probable cost of the airport to the county.

It has been proposed that $400,000 be voted in bonds to finance the project. No date for the election has been set although the commissioners have approved the proposal to call for such an election.

340 Enroll For Summer School

Approximately 340 are enrolled in either school or college summer programs.

Final figures reported Monday morning showed that Howard County Junior College had 161 registered for the first six weeks session of summer school as compared with only 89 last summer, and 100 the previous summer. Out of the total, 32 were students from Webb. However, last summer there was only a single nine-weeks session which meant that the per student semester hour load was heavier. With another six weeks session yet to go, the semester hour total this year undoubtedly will show a pronounced gain, too.

Junior high and senior high summer enrollment reached 105 Monday noon, which, according to available records, is a peak registration for the summer term.

The summer band school program gained new recruits Monday morning, the last time for enrollmeat, and had 86 on the line at mid-morning.

45-Day Jail Term

L. M. Burnett, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty before Judge R. H. Weaver in county court today and was formally sentenced to serve 45 days in jail.

Dawson Court Names Advisors For Hospital

LAMESA — Fourteen men were named to an advisory committee today and will work with the Dawson County Commissioners Court in problems surrounding the erection of the Dawson County Hospital.

The group will meet jointly with the court at 2 p.m. on June 25.

Named to the committee were Dr. S. Z. Frazier, Dr. Noble H. Price, Dr. Hayes Walker, D. L. Adcock Sr., L. D. Echols, W. J. Beckham, Karl Cayton, Doyle Hankins, Connally Baldwin, M. E. Boren, Walter Collins, Matt McCall, Henry Norris and Clyde Branon.

The court voted to table a request for leasing a 12-acre landing strip to be used in crop dusting and other operations. The strip is on the Ray Orson plot and the lease payment of $30 an acre would have been applied to the purchase price of land from Orson, if and when the CAA approves plans of Lamesa and Dawson County for a local airport. The court said it felt a present strip would be satisfactory and would not cost anything.

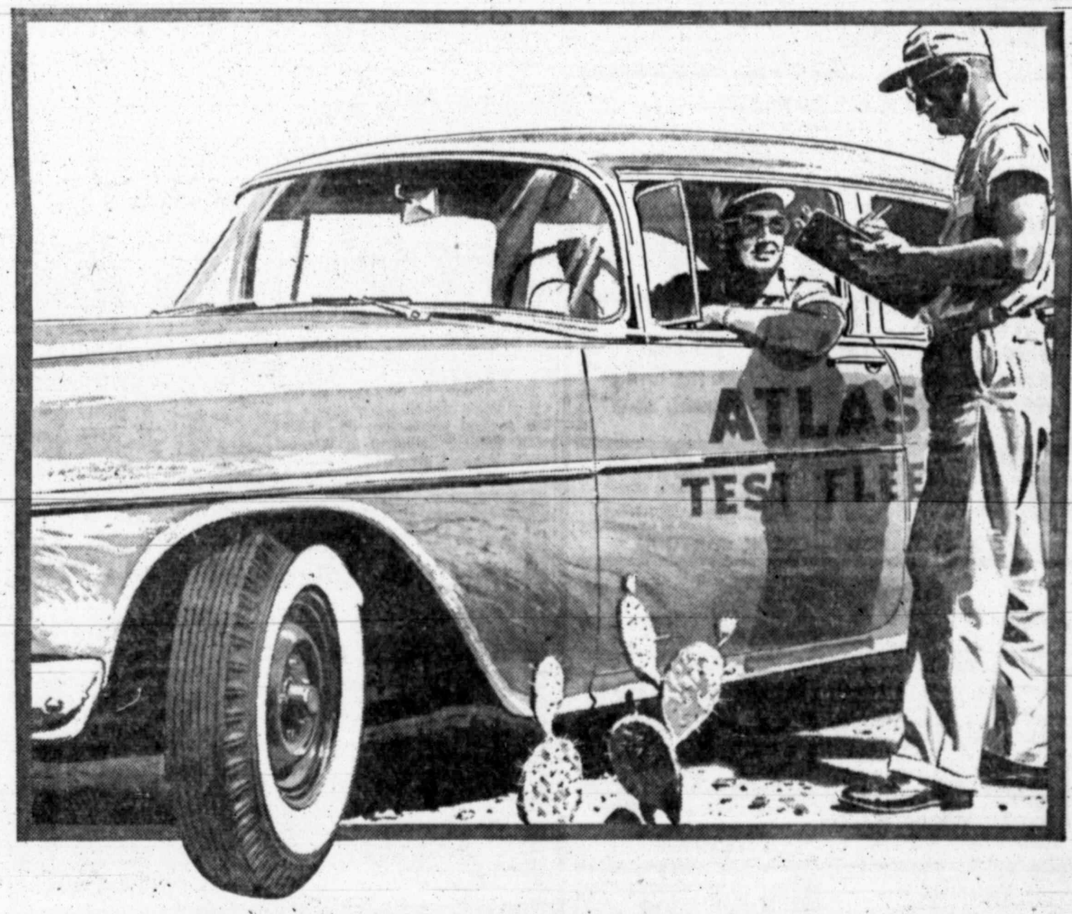

Robert L. Wade, G. Gorman and Dan Rogers, property owners, protested valuations before the court, which sat also as an equalization board. The board recessed the equalization hearing until 10 a.m. June 25.

Deputy Clerk's Pay To Be $235, Court Decides

County Commissioners ruled this morning that a deputy employed by George Choate, district court clerk, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Elizabeth Carpenter, would start work at $235 a month.

Choate had sent a letter to the commissioners requesting permission to employ a deputy to replace Mrs. Carpenter at the "same salary and status" she had held in his office.

The court decided that such a plan — employing a deputy at what is top salary category at the outset — would establish a dangerous policy.

It was pointed out that Mrs. Carpenter had worked in the office for nearly six years before she had achieved the $250 a month compensation.

McCollum's testimony helped send former Texas land commissioner Bascom Giles to the penitentiary. He also was scheduled to be a key witness in the trial of B. R. Sheffield, Brady land dealer, in connection with the veterans land cases. McCollum was in critical condition with leg and internal injuries. (AP Wirephoto).

Harriman Not Rapping Other Demos, He Says

NEW YORK (AP)— Gov. Averell Harriman, now an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says he is not part of any "stop-Stevenson" movement.

The New York governor said yesterday that any remarks he has made against "moderation" and "middle-of-the-road" policies were directed at President Eisenhower and not at Adlai E. Stevenson.

Harriman announced Saturday his active candidacy for the Democratic nomination. Previously, he had called himself an "inactive" candidate.

He has said he regards Harriman as his main opponent for the nomination.

In an interview on NBC-TV's Meet the Press, he said he would not criticize or discuss positions taken by Stevenson or another candidate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. He described both as "fine men."

Meanwhile, Carmine G. DeSapio a leading Harriman backer, said Harriman will win the nomination, and with strong support from the Western states.

"I have every confidence that the governor will get the support of Nevada, Idaho, Washington, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Kansas and other states in that area, DeSapio said in a television interview. DeSapio is a Democratic national committeeman.

Harriman's western supporters have scheduled a rally for him in Denver next Saturday. Delegates with 80 to 90 national convention votes are expected to attend.

Harriman already has most of New York's 98 delegate votes.

Harriman said he did not believe President Eisenhower's operation "will have any influence" on the campaign. DeSapio said the American public is "sensitive to the health problem and it just can't be played down if you are going to be realistic about it."

Keeps Up Comedy As Hand Blown Off

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Lawrence Anderson's act went over big for 1,500 spectators at the Jimmy Lynch Thrill Show yesterday, but for the pain-racked clown it was a tragedy.

Anderson, of Chicago, misjudged the timing of a giant firecracker, and it exploded in his left hand. His hand was blown off.

But his grease-paint smile hid his tortured face and the crowd howled with laughter as he waved an arm smeared with red that only he knew was not ketchup.

The crowd thought it was all part of the act.

The clown went to an ambulance nearby, and attendants whisked him to a hospital. Physicians said his condition was not serious.

North Koreans Charge U. S. Is Planning War

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea has charged the United the United States is planning a new war in Korea.

The North Korean Foreign Office said the U.N. Command's expulsion of the four-nation armistice inspection teams from South Korea showed that the United States plans to bring atomic arms and other new-type weapons to South Korea.

Peiping radio also blasted the ouster of the truce group as a "rude and unscrupulous action" and said it "places the entire Korean armistice agreement under threat of being wrecked."

The North Korean communique, broadcast by Pyongyang radio, termed the expulsion "an act destroying the armistice in Korea." But North Korea indicated it would continue to observe the armistice, saying the truce could not be nullified nor the powers of the truce teams changed by what it called a unilateral U.S. action.

The U.N. Command airlifted the truce inspectors from the South to the neutral zone between the two Koreas Saturday. The truce supervisory commission announced it was pulling its teams out of North Korea also.

Inequity In Income Problem For India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indians—millions of whom are among the poorest people in the world, with a few among the richest—are busy discussing ways to reduce what they call "inequality of incomes."

Everyone agrees it's something that has to be done if India is to be the true socialist society Prime Minister Nehru wants it to be.

But not everyone agrees how it's to be accomplished. The debate is fast producing a key political issue for India's next general elections, less than a year away.

The Communists and other opponents of Nehru's Congress party are picking up the question as a key plank in their platforms. India, they say, must put a ceiling on incomes. That viewpoint has considerable appeal. Even members of the ruling Congress party find it easy to give lip service to the idea of a ceiling on incomes.

But Nehru rejects the idea. He isn't against reducing income disparities. He simply believes it can't be done "by cutting off the head of everybody who is above a certain height."

"Socialism does not mean a dead level of poverty," Nehru told Parliament while arguing against a private member's resolution urging the government to fix a $5,000-a-year ceiling on incomes. The resolution reflected a popular feeling and had considerable backing.

The resolution, Nehru said, might have some "psychological satisfaction" but could upset incentives at a time when India is embarking on an ambitious 15-billion-dollar, five-year development plan. The proper way to attack inequalities in income, Nehru said, was to increase production and attempt to raise the living standards of all Indians.

Nehru's words did not end the discussion. The government eventually accepted another resolution calling upon it to take "appropriate measures to reduce the disparity in incomes prevailing between different sections of society in the country."

India's per capita annual income is about $50. Yet members of Parliament earn an estimated $5,000, counting such "fringe" benefits as housing and telephones. Some Indian industrialists are among the wealthiest men in the world.
