SANITY TRIAL DRAGS THURSDAY, LAWYERS STILL WRANGLE

MILLIKIN ON STAND

DEFENDANT ADMITS HE SERVED TERM IN WASHINGTON

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—The court of criminal appeals late Thursday refused a renewed defense application for mandamus compelling District Judge M. C. Jeffrey at Lockhart to order a new jury for the sanity trial of A. V. Millikin, sentenced to electrocution as the slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty.

The criminal appeals court had been barred by the statutes from granting a mandamus on such a hearing and added to the former proceedings under consideration this court has no supervisory control over the manner of the trial, over the exercise of judgment of the trial or the introduction of evidence procedure. The matter involved is but a mere matter of procedure in the trial court over which this court has no supervisory control.

LOCKHART, Oct. 27.—The three affidavits on which A. V. Millikin convicted slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty, got into court late Thursday afternoon. The state attorney general, Harry F. Blair, who had been in the city since Monday, refused to consent to Millikin's death sentence to life imprisonment. District Attorney Fred H. Doolittle developed in the trial this afternoon.

Both sides of consultation was on October 19 as shown by a letter from the governor's office. Two affidavits that Millikin was insane were dated October 11 and the other October 12.

MEAT LEFT IN CAR

K. L. Kimbro doesn't like to receive gifts, especially meat, from strangers.

Accordingly when he left his car parked in front of the Tech drug store last night, and returned to find that someone had left fourteen pounds of meat in the seat, he decided to find the owner.

He turned the meat over to members of the film department, who in turn placed the meat in cold storage at the Tech C-6.

The owner can get the meat by calling for it at the cafe.

JUSTICE SWIFT FOR SLAYERS OF ROBY OFFICERS

SHEPPARD SENTENCED TO DIE FOR MURDER OF JAKE OWENS

JURY WORKED FAST

ONLY 10 MINUTES OF DELIBERATION REQUIRED

(By Associated Press) ANSON, Oct. 27.—Within sixty days after the slaying of Bob Smith, sheriff of Fisher county and his deputy, Jake Owens, two men accused of the crimes have been tried and convicted, one sentenced to death in the electric chair and the other given a 99 year term in the penitentiary.

Jove Sheppard, alias Bill Smith was found guilty by a jury today and the supreme penalty was given him in the connection of the death of Owen. Lloyd Conatser was adjudged guilty of the murder of Sheriff Smith and given 99 years.

Sheppard faces another murder charge in November at Abilene when he is to be tried for the murder of Smith.

The two heavy officers were slain last August, near Roby, when they were taking Sheppard and Conatser to jail on a jarency charge. Conatser surrendered some time after the crime in Columbus, Miss. Sheppard was captured in Morganfield, Ky.

Conatser pleaded not guilty and declared that he was merely a spectator, that Sheppard fired the bullets which killed both officers. Sheppard pleaded self-defense, but under cross-examination admitted that he shot both officers in the back when they were unarmed.

He said that he fired after Conatser had shot first and had thrown the revolver into his lap.

The trial of Sheppard began yesterday morning. The jury was given on the case at 12:29 this afternoon but did not begin deliberation on it until after they had returned from lunch. Less than ten minutes after they began deliberation, the death verdict was rendered.

County Attorney W. D. Farwell pointed out that a reward of $2,500 will be collected by the arresting officers because Governor Moody specified in his proclamation that the reward would be paid provided the guilty men were captured. Farwell said the reward can be claimed by ten minutes margin.

REFUSES TO TELL OF LIBERTY BONDS

WITNESS IN FAMOUS OIL CASE DECLINES TO ANSWER QUERY ON SOURCE

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Flat refusal to reveal the source of the $230,000 in Liberty Bonds, which went so large in the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial, was made today in the District of Columbia supreme court by the man the government contends can furnish that information.

He is M. T. Everheart, Pueblo, Colo., banker, and son-in-law of Albert H. Fall, who, after a visit to New York, Washington and other eastern points, returned to his home town with that amount of bonds, which went into the lock-box in Fall's name.

Before Everheart was called to the stand, the government had presented to the jury evidence to show that the bonds were used to pay off debts of Fall, Everheart and Fall's three river ranch lands. The bonds were received by Everheart after the "lease" of Teapot Dome naval oil reserves to Harry F. Sinclair by the former interior secretary.

Fears Incrimination. As was the case when he was called in the trial of the Teapot Dome civil suit, Everheart based his refusal to answer on his constitutional rights, contending such testimony might lead to incriminate him and lead to his indictment on the very same charge.

WOMAN TESTIFIES IN WOODSON CASE

SWEETHEART OF MAN SAID TO HAVE ROBBED EDDY BANK IS WITNESS

(By Associated Press) WACO, Oct. 27.—Miss M. Hooper, sweetheart of M. C. Woodson, the woman he was to marry, summoned as a witness for the state, but never placed on the stand, testified in behalf of Woodson Thursday afternoon in the 54th district court where Woodson is being tried on a charge of robbery with firearms, in connection with a daylight holdup October 19 of the First National Bank of Eddy.

Miss Hooper was the third witness called by the defense. She testified that she met Woodson in Seminole, Okla., while she was operating an oil field boarding house. Woodson was a drifter in Seminole.

She told the jury that so far as she knew Woodson never had but two suits of clothing as long as she knew him in Temple. A gray suit brought to courtroom during the morning session and a dark blue which the defendant was wearing, were identified as the clothes.

She told Mr. Holt, county attorney, that all of the time that she and Woodson were in Temple the automobile had been turned over to Woodson, and that when they were in Silsbee she loaned Woodson $46. That money, she said, was paid back the day that the Eddy

STATE FINISHES IN BONDS TRIAL

PROSECUTION WINS ONE OF MAIN POINTS IN MURDER TRIAL AT CAMERON

CAMERON, Oct. 27.—The state finished its testimony Thursday afternoon in the trial of Monroe Fisher, charged with the fatal shooting of Albert W. Bonds at Belton, on May 11, after having won one of the chief points in the case, the admission of a statement alleged to have been made by Fisher when he surrendered on the day of the shooting. The defense took exception to the ruling of the court.

Mrs. Bonds was on the stand as the closing state's witness. The defense put on a number of character witnesses and then attempted to impeach the testimonies of Chief of Police Lee Sausberry, to whom Fisher made his alleged statement, by introducing two witnesses who said that Sausberry in conversation with them had declared that Monroe Fisher did not make a statement admitting the slaying of Bonds.

Testifies Against Will. Sausberry, apparently very much against his will, testified that Monroe Fisher came to his office shortly after noon on the day Bonds was shot, bringing a rifle with him.

The Woman's Day

Too many women have forgotten how to be ladies and have not yet learned how to be gentlemen! A current magazine, a woman's magazine, too, quotes this opinion from a man who believes in the complete independence and freedom of women, but who believes, too, in free and independent woman being 'ladies.'

"MAY I SMOKE?"

"A gentleman used to ask a lady if she objected to smoking. Women smokers rarely ask such a question, but put their cigarettes capriciously in the face of any neighbor. Women invade the smoking-rooms of men where gentlemen hesitate to intrude in a woman's room. They fill the dressing-rooms of hotels and Pullman cars with smoke without regard to the sensibilities of other women."

"YOU'RE TOO NARROW"

This very inconstancy of the very women who prattle about "tolerance and broad-mindedness" has always amused me. Meet women who smoke assume that most, if not all, women who do not smoke refrain from a moral motive. The truth is that most women who do not smoke do not for the same reason that they do not eat cavivar campes or green turtle soup or small meringues. They don't like the taste or smell.

ASHES TO ASHES

But they are forced to stand it, willy-nilly, when the puffing stokerhood begins blowing its rings, letting the sparks fall where they may. And as she blows the fair smoker delivers herself of many a homily about "narrow-minded women who don't smoke." This is to me rank intolerance and narrow-mindedness in itself. Women who do not smoke harm no one by their abstinence. Women who do, hurt their smoke into the faces of those whom it may nauseate as badly as the smell of frying fish nauseates some women.

MATTER OF MANNERS

I think that the gentleman quoted and the magazine are perfectly right. I am not ready to battle smoking by women on a basis of right or wrong, until medical science can really succeed in convincing us that it injures women much. But I do think this practice often enters the field of bad manners and poor taste when it violates the rights of others. For that matter, men do the same thing, though they will occasionally mumble a "may I!"

POOR VERONA!

The papers of her town only give a few inches to what is her life's supreme tragedy to Verona Semink. To the papers it's just the same old story of the folly of a woman in love. Verona was plain, never had many, or any, suitors. Then she met HIM at a wedding. They began "going together." The wedding day was set. The day before he told her if she would give him her savings he would invest them for her with his own. Verona drew her life's savings from the bank and gave them to him happily. She never saw him again. One gathers that Verona's sue is not so much for the money, much as that means to her, but for taking up of drab gray mopetons days again with no ray gleam of romance over them. Poor foolish women we! Only too eager to clutch at deception even while stilling our own suspicions by insisting that the deception is true romance!

AGGIES LOOK POWERFUL IN WORKOUT HERE

WESTERNERS COMPLETE PREPARATIONS FOR COYOTE RAID

WICHITA FALLS TEAM ARRIVED LAST NIGHT

Today the thoughts of hundreds of Lubbock and visiting fans will turn to the game between the Texas Aggies, one of the greatest football combinations of the south, and the Texas Tech Matadors, but behind the gridiron thinking of the high school student body is the one thought of the conference game between the Westerners and the Wichita Falls Coyotes tomorrow afternoon on the Matador field. The local high school Westerners can only conceive of one thing—beat Wichita Falls!

Coyotes Arrived Last Evening.
The speed merchants and the highly rated undefeated Coyotes arrived here last evening 27 strong, in high spirits and anticipating one of the hardest games of their schedule in meeting with the local high school outfit. The Coyotes defeated the Vernon Lions in the Coyote city last week by the narrow margin of 8 to 6, in a hard-fought game. The statistics of the Wichita Falls-Vernon contest reveals a strong passing team as they completed 12 out of 17 attempted passes for a total of 112 yards.

Hard Game Expected.
We are expecting plenty of trouble in meeting with the Coyotes Saturday afternoon. Coaches Henry Franks and Del Morgan told the Avalanche last evening. "They come to Lubbock with one of the outstanding conference teams of the Panhandle and to defeat them the boys must exhibit a stronger fighting spirit than they displayed during the last game with Electra," Coach Franks stated.

The Westerners will be in excellent shape for the conference ball and the spirit of fight has been burning over the Westerners camp all week. A word of pep and determination has been displayed by the lads that make up the Westerner roster throughout the last week of training.

Expect Good Offense.
Lee Smith, La Rue Dolhite and Luther Williams, three of Morgan's backfield men, are expected to carry on the best offense action the local machine has exhibited for the season. Smith, husky fullback of the Morganmen, has been the principal cog of the backfield in the two conference games this season, as he has posted, passed and charged through the opposing lines for good gains. Dolhite, shifty stepper for the Westerners, will set his side-stepping and wiff-awing performance in for extra yardage in the Saturday clash.

"Smiling" Harvey Black, the brilliant pilot of the Coyote backfield, who scored the only touchdown of the last week will with the Lions racing back with a punt for 40 yards, is likely to have outshined the Matador field for the Westerners to look at. His running mates, Mitchell, Alford and Mills will all be in for their share of the frays. The visitors will take a slight workout this afternoon before the crucial contest with the Westerners on Saturday.

The probable line-up for the game between the Coyotes and the Westerners will be:

Lubbock	Pos.	Wichita Falls
Kerr	1c	Perkins
Barton	1t	De-3
Dickinson	2c	Hallert
Allen	2t	Barton
Parkinson	rg	Ramey
Tatum	rt	Smith

TECH SPIRIT AT HIGH PITCH ON EVE OF TILT

With an atmosphere surcharged in intense excitement hovering over them, the Texas Tech Matadors and the fighting Texas Aggies were tucked under their respective bedsheets early last evening—both groups set with the determination to emerge victorious in the gridiron tilt this afternoon, which inaugurates "big time" football in Lubbock and on the South Plains.

No over-confidence is lurking in the Aggie ranks. They are still smarting somewhat from the upset handed them when the Tuda beat them to a 16 last week. And Tech field in their workout here yesterday, the Aggies displayed a pep and power that bodes ill for the Matadors, but—the flaming-eyes were also in here with an inspired spirit, the last ounce of determination, and every iota of football strategy that the boys can muster for the occasion.

Aggies Greeted At Station.
The Aggie roster arrived here yesterday afternoon, via special Pullman from College Station and were met by the ex-students of Texas A. & M. The reception committee escorted the Aggies to their quarters and afterwards to the Matador field where they took a light workout.

Coach Dana X. Bible was agreeably surprised in the athletic plant the college has and stated that he was indeed pleased with the condition of the weather and atmosphere. "No wonder you have a remarkable climb with all of this wonderful air. It is certainly nice and makes the boys feel good," this veteran of Texas college football coaches, told Coach Ewing Y. Freeland.

New Stadium Praised.
James A. Sullivan, business manager of the Aggie athletics, who accompanied the team to Lubbock, inspected the field and stands of the college with E. W. Proctor, business manager of Texas Tech, who also accompanied the team to Lubbock, and he, too, was agreeably surprised in the plant of the college for athletic occasions.

"I am indeed agreeably surprised in the Texas Technological College plant. It has the start of a wonderful institution and the new stands for the football game are credit to the college and Lubbock," Sullivan stated.

When Referee Joe Kamp, head official for the gridiron classic of West Texas, blows the initial whistle for the first kickoff at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the several thousand fans gathered for the occasion will see an inspired team in the Texas Tech Matadors as they fight to uphold their young traditions against an old and more experienced machine.

Matadors Will Fight.
The Matadors have yet their first defeat to be handed them on their home field—that fact alone will give the warriors of the Scarlet and Black much to fight for. Ewing Y. Freeland while he expects a troublesome game from the strong Southwestern conference club, believes in his club and is anticipating a scrapper and better organized eleven in the frays with the highly-heralded Aggies.

Four of Bible's axes, including Burgess of Hale Center, speed merchant of the Red and white backfield, were left at College Station resting from injuries received in the Arkansas game. Burgess was also out of the conference game with the Horned Frogs. Colver, another of Bible's backs, Holmes and Figart, two linemen of the Aggie machine were also left in College Station nursing injuries.

The Matador camp is free from handicaps from injuries for the game with the Aggies. While "Dope" White and "Red" Hamilton have both been treating bruised shoulders throughout the week, Freeland will start both men in the game today.

DUCE RUNS THE WORKS
ROME—Under a new Mussolini rule, stores in Italy are compelled to offer their wares at prices fixed by the government. Landlords must stick to fixed rentals. Farmers are held to harvesting and sale of their crops even at a loss. Bank loans are reduced or forced on government control and of tobacco rates restricted to government of several thousands.

GOLF NOTABLES GATHER AT DALLAS

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Oct. 27.—The list of 49 entries in the 1927 Professional Golfers' association tournament which starts with medal play here Monday was nearly complete today with the arrival of Tommy Armour, Bob Cruikshank, J. Golden and a score of other international players.

Although Texas fans are going to be greatly disappointed if Harry Cooper, a local product who knows Cedar Crest course like a bull's back, does not carry off both medal and match play, practice scores indicate that "Lightning" Harry will have to step some to do it.

In the Cooper-Hagen exhibition for $2500 won by the former hero last spring, Harry took a seven on the wicked No. 16, a half pump which makes an ordinary dog leg look straight. Gene Sarazen yesterday did it in a hurtle four while playing the course for the first time. Gene's practice mark of 7 was tied today by James F. Outen of Hinsdale, Ill. A. L. Espino and Mortimer Dutra, Takoma, Wash., Bobby Cruikshank and Tommy Armour paired for a practice round today but did not keep score. They were testing out the greens, which they found extremely difficult, despite the perfect turf, as almost all of the distinguished have done. They all have solved most of their perplexities in this department.

Other arrivals today included Charley Kottig, Lincoln, Neb., and James Gullane, Bartlesville, Okla. Walter Hagen, present champion, wired from Detroit that he would arrive Saturday. Hobson Parry, winner of 19 major tourneys this year was among the missing.

Twins Play Ends On Freshman Team Of The Texas Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 27.—Once in a while two brothers are found on the same high school 11 but seldom are brothers found as teammates in college and especially in rare are the instances when twin brothers are found playing opposite positions on a 11, but that is the unusual case prevailing as regards two candidates on the 1927 freshman squad at the A. and M. college of Texas.

T. B. and W. B. Powers are twins from Denton. They played opposite ends on the Denton high school eleven in 1925 and are two of the most promising candidates on the freshman squad of the Texas Aggies this year. In practice and in the scrimmages with the varsity the wing positions are often filled by the Powers twins and they are filled in a manner which is attracting much attention.

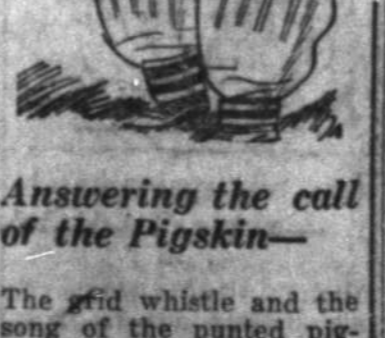

Each of the brothers weighs 157 pounds and they resemble each other so much that even their team mates and coaches find it difficult to tell one from the other. W. B. is slightly taller than his brother but even this difference is so little that it is hardly noticeable.

Pick Aggie Cross Country Line-up

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 27.—Ten men from a group of 20 have been selected for places on the Texas Aggie cross country squad for 1927 as the result of the showing made in competition races held last week.

Although there were four lettermen from last year in the competition the best showing was made by men from last year's freshman squad. Three out of the first five to complete the course and seven out of the 10 selected for places on the squad are athletes who are running their first year for the varsity.

In the order in which they finished in the first competition race, those chosen for places are: J. G. Killian, Alford; J. E. Avila, San Antonio; R. Thompson, Cameron; A. B. Childress, (capt.) Jasper; C. Y. Shoemaker, Jacksonville; G. H. Moore, Dallas; J. B. Michael, Fort Worth; E. E. Kyeer, Marlin; J. B. Halle, Gilad; E. W. Suddeth.

Floydada Team To Play Spur Friday

FLOYDADA, Oct. 27.—Holding an early season record of a total score of 51 points to their opponents 12, the Floydada whirlwind football team will meet the Spur eleven Friday for their fifth game. This team, which won the bi-district championship last year by defeating the best teams in the two districts by big scores, is fast developing into a real contender for the Class B championship of West Texas.

By defeating two class A teams, Plainview and Lubbock, the Floydada eleven placed themselves as worthy opponents of such teams as Amarillo and Vernon. Lubbock has the honor of being the only team to cross the whirlwind goal line this season. Plainview was defeated on the local gridiron for the first victory of the year.

That the showing of the local eleven has been a surprise to Floydada fans is evidenced by the fact that only seven letter men are on the present team. Harold Porter, field, although new in his position of quarter, has been using splendid headwork and with the assistance of "Steve" Marshall, 1926 backfield star, A. D. White, captain, John Edwards and Sid Carter, has succeeded in piling up a heavy score. The last game played was with the Hale Center eleven and resulted in a victory for the locals by a score of 26 to 0.

Following the Spur game Friday the Whirlwinds will meet Halls the following Friday. Games have also been matched with the Lockney Longhorns. Post City will meet the local squad here on Armistice day. The "Turkey Day" game has not been arranged and will probably not be until the other games have been played.

PONIES PRIMED FOR LONGHORN INVASION

DALLAS, Oct. 27.—With their sensational win over Missouri tucked away in the back recesses of their minds, the Southern Methodist University Mustangs are keeping only the coming Texas game in view. Texas plays S. M. U. Saturday in Dallas at Owenby Stadium.

Although the Mustangs are naturally elated over having defeated Missouri, they would much rather take Texas for a cleaning, and are working in each day's practice for that goal. The Missouri game did not make them over-confident. Instead is served to show the Mustangs their real power when they went on the field prepared to fight with every pound and with every brain cell.

The Texas-S. M. U. game will bring together two of the greatest eleven developed in the South-west in many months. Texas has defeated Vanderbilt, S. M. U. has whipped Missouri, and now the two meet in one of the biggest games to be played off in the South this season. Both Morrison and Littlefield have built their offense around the pass to a great extent. Fans in Owenby Stadium Saturday will see a great passing game.

Fans from out of town will have no trouble in getting seats for the Texas-S. M. U. game as the Mustang authorities are making preparations for handling the largest football crowd in the history of the school. A number of good seats are still available in the concrete stands on the playing side of the field. Additional seats will be built ahead of the demand if necessary.

Explanation Of DISSECTING GRID RULES Men In Motion

BY E. J. O'BRIEN
Famous Football Referee
The rule states that no player of the side which has the ball shall be in motion at the moment that the ball is put in play; except that one man may be in motion, either directly or obliquely towards his own line.

It puts a restriction on men in the line being in motion, so much so that if one of the line plays in motion, he must be five yards back of the ball at the moment the ball is put in play, and also one of the backfield men must take his place in the line of scrimmage.

It means that the rules have been so reconstructed that now in all shift or huddle plays, the players must come to an absolute stop and remain stationary in their new positions, sufficiently long enough to prevent any doubt in the minds of the officials that the players have come to a full stop.

Remember, any man in motion at the moment the ball is put in play must be at least five yards back of the spot from which the ball is snapped and furthermore must be going towards his own goal line at that instant.

TWO TILTS FOR CONFERENCE TODAY

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Oct. 27.—The Southern Methodist Mustangs and the University of Texas Longhorns, fresh from victories in two great inter-sectional contests, will supply the headliner of the Texas collegiate football bill this week-end when they clash here Saturday in one of the two scheduled Southwestern Conference games.

The game doubtless will be featured by aerial attacks of both teams, since for both, the forward pass has been the principal method of ground gaining this season. It was the forward pass, in the main, which enabled the Ponies to run roughshod over the strong Missouri University Tigers here last Saturday, and it was the pass which enabled the Longhorns to defeat the Rice Owls in the final minutes of their contest at Austin one the same day.

Baylor Plays Today. At Waco, the Baylor University Bears will attempt to beat back after its defeat by Centenary College of Shreveport, La., last week by kicking the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs who have fought two conference games, from Texas University and A. & M. today, and nothing ties this year.

Although in past years the Bears have shown surprising ability to defeat teams at unexpected times, because of their great showing against the Longhorns and the Aggies the Christians will enter the game favorites to win by a small margin.

Other conference teams will play non-conference games. A. & M. meeting Texas Tech at Lubbock, Arkansas University playing the Louisiana State University at Shreveport, and Rice Institute clashing with Southwestern, University of the Texas Conference at Houston.

Indicative of the popularity of the classes have been the fact that first class seats have been all taken by the opening of the class period each day and that all balcony seats have been taken within a few minutes.

INSURANCE RATE NEEDS REDUCING

GREAT INCREASE IN SIZE OF COMPANIES CITED AS CAUSE FOR CUT

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Oct. 27.—There is a well defined feeling all over the country that the cost of life insurance should be reduced. William Montgomery, president of the American Mutual Life Association of Washington, D. C., told the American Life convention here today, street car and newspaper advertising are the most profitable kinds of publicity for insurance companies.

John Lee Mahin, vice-president of the American Mutual Life Association, told the insurance men. Officers of the convention will be elected tomorrow and the next meeting place will be selected. Governor Dan Moody will address the morning session, at which bankers, manufacturers and business men have been invited to be present. Press of state business prevented the governor from addressing the delegates today.

The feeling that the cost of life insurance should be reduced is not to be wondered at, Montgomery said. Many of the companies have reached a size that staggers the imagination. The business has increased at a rate undreamed of a few years ago. If these accumulations do not point the way to economy of management and reduction in cost, all but the weak naturally ask: "To what purpose is this accumulation?" Will they not ask "What benefit do they are the accumulation to the public so far as cost is concerned?"

Terrors Of Shipwreck Told In Brazil By Survivors Of Ill-Fated Liner; Some Estimate That 400 Went Down With Boat

(By Associated Press) BRAHIA, Brazil, Oct. 27.—Belief that the captain and at least 400 of the passengers and crew of the sunken Italian liner Princess Mafalda went down with the vessel was expressed by survivors who reached here today despite reports from other sources that only a handful of the more than 1,200 aboard were lost.

Just before the crash, according to survivors, the Mafalda, was making good speed and everyone was enjoying the tropical sunset and cool breezes prior to dinner. Suddenly a roar and a crash, followed by the sound of rushing waters in the bowels of the ship, and then a terrible explosion which blew aways the beautiful saloons and staterooms, turned the laughter into screams.

Survivors Pessimistic. Despite warmth of water and calmness of sea, four of those rescued by the Mafalda died from exposure and exhaustion before reaching port and survivors expressed the belief that many others of the rescued would not live. They said it would not be surprising to them if the final death toll amounted to between 500 and 800 persons. Some of them indicated that a number of victims were decaying by sharks as they struggled in the water.

Members of the Mafalda crew, of whom 27 were aboard the Mafalda, told that Captain Simon Guleto of the Italian liner went down with his ship. Captain Privet of the Mafalda said he was not sure of this as the only thing he knew it was that he heard Captain Guleto giving orders on the bridge of the sinking vessel a short time before it foundered.

400 Dead, Estimate. Captain Privet said "the scenes could not have been more horrible than they were, especially the screaming in the midst of the wind and darkness from women and children helpless in the ocean waves."

The disaster was due, according to Captain Privet, to the loss of a propeller in such a way as to prevent an inflow of water, causing an explosion of the boilers.

Canyon Has Both Orchestra, Band

(Special To The Avalanche) CANYON, Oct. 27.—Through the cooperation of the town and the West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon has available for all special occasions, a band and orchestra which would be a credit to towns three or four times its size.

The band, directed by C. E. Strain of the college faculty is composed of both students and townspeople and is viewed by Canyon as its band. The band averages about thirty members, both men and women. They wear uniforms of maroon and white, the colors of the college around which much of the town's life and interest center. In order that band concerts may be more easily attended by all the people of the town a band stand is being built upon the public square. The Canyon Federation of Women's Clubs undertook the building of this, the Canyon Chamber of Commerce gave $300 to it, and the citizens of the city supplied the remainder of the $1500 necessary to build the brick structure.

The orchestra, which is directed by Mr. Wallace R. Clar, head of the music department of the West Texas State Teachers College always has among its members several people of Canyon who are not students and who find it a source of recreation and culture.

Seek New Hearing For Cotton Seed

(Special To The Avalanche) FORT WORTH, Oct. 27.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has asked that an adjourned session of the hearing rates on cotton seed and its products be held in San Antonio the first part of the year. A general investigation in this matter was concluded in Fort Worth October 17 and an additional hearing is scheduled to be held probably next January.

The regional organization of the West is opposing the proposed transit privileges which are advanced by the larger terminal mills. The opposition is justified by the West Texas body on the basis that the proposed transit privileges would operate to detriment of interior crushing mills.

ARGUMENT ENDED IN BRUNSON SUIT

CASE INVOLVES THE ALLEGED FAILURE TO PAY NOTE ON HOTEL HERE

Argument was concluded late yesterday afternoon in the Ninety-ninth district court in the case of Mrs. Linton Brunson versus Oscar Lykes, which has been engaging the attention of that court for the past two days.

The litigation involves the Lubbock Inn and properties. Suit was brought by Lykes to foreclose on a lien on the property and on a note made by Mrs. Brunson for the furniture. Mrs. Brunson alleges that Lykes misrepresented the value of the business done by the hotel, and fraudulently induced her to buy. Upon failure of Mrs. Brunson to pay amount due, on lien and note, Lykes dispossessed her of the property and later sold it again before the case had been tried in court.

Mrs. Brunson asks for cancellation of contract and refund of $1500 paid on furniture.

Football Topic At Kiwanis Club

A menu of football was dished out to members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club at their regular weekly luncheon held yesterday noon at the Hotel Lubbock.

Coach E. V. Freehand gave a discussion of Tech's athletic history and probable future, and especially referred to the possibility of Tech's securing a berth in the Southwestern conference.

E. W. Provence, Tech business manager, declared that while there were still plenty of seats available for the game they were going fast. He expressed the hope that some late customers in Lubbock would be forced to content themselves with a seat on the turf.

A plea for support to the Lubbock High Westerners in their game against Wichita Falls Saturday was made by Dr. Fred W. Standefer.

John T. Ore, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, now visiting in the city, was introduced and predicted that the Matadors would give a good account of themselves in the game. State Comptroller S. H. Terrell optimistically predicted a victory for the Tech.

TWO WOMEN

bodies would fit tightly into the trunk. A bed in one of the rooms apparently had been used for the gruesome operation. Neighbors said that the women had returned to their apartments late yesterday afternoon after an outing. Police believed the crime was committed during the early morning, basing their belief on a report of neighbors reporting they had heard screams about one o'clock. A man who occupied an apartment in the same building was taken into custody. Another man F. C. Mimm, was questioned. His name found scribbled on a wall in the death chamber. He was held at the house of detention today having been arrested late yesterday at the Moty home.

Came From New Iberia

The Moty's came to New Orleans several weeks ago from New Iberia. Neighbors said that the two young women were well behaved and that their husbands bore good reputations.

The bodies were found by Frank Sylva, and Jules Chaitlain, insurance men who mounted to the second floor apartments after overhearing neighbors tell of the strange series of a child and the failure of the two women to appear during the day.

The news of their discovery spread and shortly after police arrived several hundred persons thronged the narrow streets of the French quarter. Superintendent of Police Healey, who took over the investigation, pronounced the crime "the most horrible butchery" in his experience. "The murderers in committing this crime, exhibited a fiendishness that the authors of the most diabolical crimes in American criminal annals could approach," he declared.

SINCLAIR CASE

that Sinclair and Fall are now facing. Justice Siddons will determine later, probably tomorrow, whether Everheart will be required to tell from whom he received the bonds.

News and ill at ease, Everheart was a reluctant witness from the start and at one point appeared on the verge of going to jail for his refusal to answer precise questions as to whether he had met Sinclair prior to February 1, 1922. Justice Siddons directed him to answer.

"I decline to answer," Everheart retorted. Charles A. Douglas, a Washington attorney, appeared then for Everheart and asked permission to advise the witness Justice Siddons refused, remarking that he had advised Everheart.

The witness then asked the stenographers to repeat the question and finally answered in the affirmative. That ended the tension for the moment, but Everheart later refused to answer another question and Justice Siddons directed him to do so.

Before coming to the source of the Liberty Bonds, Owen J. Roberts, of special government counsel, carefully laid the ground work for that question by dragging from the witness the admissions that he had no business transactions with Sinclair; that he never had been employed by the government; and that he had nothing to do with the negotiations for the lease of Teapot Dome and did not know it had been leased until more than a month after lease had been executed on April 7, 1922.

By rapid fire questions, the government prosecutor drew from Everheart the information that he left Pueblo early in May, 1922, and that later he was in New York City and that still later he saw Fall in Washington. On May 29, 1922, he returned to Pueblo and deposited the Liberty Bonds at the First National bank.

WOODSON TRIAL

bank robbery was committed. She stated that she never did know that Woodson had as large a sum of money as that taken by the officers.

Two witnesses from Berger who testified as to the good character of the defendant were E. C. Duvall, assistant manager of the Western Supply company, Berger, and Earl G. Nelson, manager of the company. A. C. Ramsey, president of the First National bank of Berger, who came here to testify, was called back to Berger before being called to the stand.

Testimony in the case began Thursday morning when County Attorney Dick Holt called Cashier Fred Stewart of the Eddy bank as a witness. Stewart identified Woodson as the man who held him up. Five other witnesses who testified that they either saw Woodson or his car at Eddy on the day of the robbery were also called by the state. Sheriff John Bigham and Deputy Sheriff C. B. Johnson identified Woodson as the man arrested in Temple with $1,200 in his possession.

Argument in the case will probably begin tomorrow.

HUGE BONFIRE

Tech team would acquit itself creditably during the contest. Dr. Walton, president of A. and M., was introduced and he also spoke briefly.

L. Thomas of Kelly Field, who flew to Lubbock in four hours, was also introduced, with his mechanic.

All West Texas Coming

All West Texas teams are on Lubbock today as thousands of visitors pour into the city to witness what has been classed as one of the greatest football classics ever staged in the state outside of southwestern conference circles. Hotel lobbies especially the A. and M. quarters at the Lubbock, were buzzing with excitement last night as various fans for each team talked of the coming contest.

The A. and M. team arrived here yesterday afternoon at 4:30, headed by President T. Q. Walton and Coach Dana K. Biddle. James Sullivan, E. E. McQuillen, secretary of the former A. and M. students; C. T. Sprague, trainer, and Curtis Vinson, publicity manager, were in the party also. Following their change at the hotel they took an "easy" workout on the Tech field yesterday afternoon.

Town Overflowing

Visitors from practically every section of West Texas are to be here for the game today. Scores of them coming in at all hours last night. Every hotel in the city reports an overflow and two trains, carrying hundreds of out-of-town fans will roll into town this morning. Amarillo will have a train bearing 500 fans, to town at 10:30 this morning.

200 Ducks Ready

Two hundred ducks have been killed and will be cooked for the prodigious barbecue to be prepared for the palates of ex-Aggies. Salsas and other delicious edibles will be ready for this affair, which will be held at noon today at the stock judging pavilion at Tech college.

All ex-students of A. and M. are asked to register at Hotel Lubbock and get badges, which will be official identification to enable them to enter the pavilion.

Feeling will begin at 12:30 and afterward there will be a short program of yells and songs, and then the entire group will adjourn to attend the game.

Noted Out-of-Town Men

Included in the out-of-town visitors in Lubbock today will be the entire board of directors of Tech; President T. Q. Walton of A. and M.; President J. A. Hill of West Texas State Teachers college; Amos G. Carter, former chairman of the Tech board of directors; Will Strick, former Tech captain; E. J. Gandy, general manager and vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad; S. H. Terrell, state comptroller, and Captain W. E. Lind of Kelly Field.

Directors who are to be present include: Chairman Clifford J. Hinkle of Starr; Col. G. Thompson of Amarillo; C. W. Meadows of Waco; Mrs. F. N. Meadows of Corsicana; Houston Haris of San Angelo; G. S. Combs of McKinney; H. A. Underwood of Plainview, and H. T. Kinney of Lubbock. They will hold a meeting tomorrow morning to pass on several important matters of the college affairs.

STATE FINISHES

"Well, I guess I have done it. Can I keep my gun?" "No, sit down, there," Salsberry said as he walked.

The Fisher said the chief of police testified.

"I have killed Albert Bonds. I left him lying on the sidewalk."

Mrs. Bonds testified that she went to her husband as soon as she could after the shooting and asked him, "Oh, Daddy, who did it?" and that Bonds answered "I don't know, I was blinded."

The state then closed and the defense called Charles Cox of Temple, who testified that he was a close friend of Fisher's and that his character "was good. He further testified that he had asked Leo Salsberry if Fisher had made a statement to him and the officer answered, "no."

Charles M. Campbell, Temple banker, testified to the same effect and several other witnesses testified to Fisher's good character. Adjournment was then taken until 9 a. m.

MILLIKIN TRIAL

It crapped out again Thursday, when Blundell, cross-examining Millikin, asked:

"Didn't you serve a term in the Spokane, Washington, prison?"

Millikin said "yes," that he thought it was there but when Blundell asked how many times, the defense objected, referring to a previous ruling of the court on testimony prior to conviction.

Blundell shouted that he was "trying to prove that it was criminality and not insanity that got Millikin into this." He referred to the extensive defense testimony and Clarence Glen, defense counsel, wanted to know why the prosecutor "didn't object at the time."

Blundell introduced several letters purporting to have been written by Millikin in efforts to show that the latter knew he was to be executed, despite his denial of that under direct examination.

Another brief session was arrested and the defense prepared to call some of its three affiliates, they are Dr. J. B. York, Houston, one of the affiliates as to Millikin's "insanity," Dr. Howard Whiteside, Wichita Falls, and Dr. John A. Manser, hitherto uncalled defense witness.

This store will be closed at 2:00 P. M. Friday for the A. & M.-Tech football game.

NOTHING FISHY ABOUT THIS YARN—IT'S THE TRUTH

With a friend of ours we went up to the Cafe for supper. He ordered a T-bone steak with a baked potato. The waitress asked him, "How did you find your steak?" He answers: "I rolled the potato over and found the steak under the potato." Now if you don't believe that one ask Wolf down at Swift and Co's for he is the guy that pulled it.

We both decided that we will eat fish hereafter as they are easy to find down here at the Lubbock Fish Market. Fresh Fish and plenty of them arriving daily. The greatest value of fish as food is their protein content, which contain nitrogenous substances, without which the body cannot replace its wear and tear and either develop or function normally.

NORFLEET

The Manhunter's Own True Story

As told to Gordon Hines

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD:—

Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher, was valued at $45,000 by a confidence ring, resolves to break up the ring. After a short time he lands two of his men in California and hurries to Florida to search for others. After several disappointing experiences with the police in some Florida cities, Norfleet gets a tip that a ring is operating at Sanford, Fla. as a prospective purchaser of a celery farm, using the name of "Club House". Norfleet meets an outfit of the ring who introduces himself as Johnson. Johnson induces Norfleet to accompany him to Daytona where the investment opportunities are greater. Strutting on the beach they meet a man named Steel, whom Johnson calls a financial wizard. Steel places a bet on two of the horse races and makes a nice winning for Johnson. He then insists on Johnson and Norfleet accompanying him to the "Club House" where the facilities are much better for big winnings. They were driven to the spot where the "Club House" topped a high hill, overlooking the sea. Steel tries to dissuade the chauffeur but Norfleet quietly threatens him and forces him to wait inside the "Club House" where all the facilities for stock exchange and horse-race reports. A great stack of money said by Steel to be more than $10,000 was on a table in the center of the room, guarded by two men with carbines. Norfleet feels alone and helpless with eight men against him. He is nervous as to what the outcome will be.

Chapter Seventeen

Here, before me, was all—more than I had lost. I wondered how much sweat and blood it represented and how many tears its loss had caused other writhing victims. I felt like yanking out my guns and, at one swoop, taking my chances on recuperating my own fortune. I could see the justice of it. Why shouldn't I take it?

Perhaps I was too keenly interested in finding a trail to Furey and Spencer. Perhaps I was too humanly curious to see what would happen if I should go on playing the part of an innocent victim. Perhaps the carbines looked a little too wicked. These were reasons enough. The last one was especially convincing.

Fate was rubbing it in. Where she left off, those steely mouthed carbines would likely begin. I asked Steel who stood by me. If he had ever seen so much money before in his life. He laughed in a hollow way and remarked that customers' stonings were sometimes so great as to require that much, and more, to be kept on hand for settlements. I asked him what they did when the horse did the winning and he laughingly replied that he guessed they could safely handle all they look in. I asked him how much money he reckoned was in the heap.

"Well," he puckered his brow reflectively, "I should say something like a hundred and seventy-five thousand."

I must have gasped, for he grinned at my consternation. Undoubtedly, the money was there. I stood turning the packages over covertly.

"It takes money to make money," Steel remarked casually as he examined himself to look over some telegram. He left my side and I took advantage of the opportunity to slip up the place as to exits. I might need one badly, I reflected, and I hardly wanted to make a new one through one of the thick walls.

I walked over to the two men sitting on the bench. They were busily putting down figures and scanning the board. I stood directly in front of them.

"I've never seen so much money in my life, gentlemen."

They ignored my remark and looked sideways to look around me at the board, where figures were being changed rapidly. I was letting their faces register themselves in my memory and I could hardly stare so intently without saying something, so, in spite of their rudeness, I went on:

"Just think of it, gentlemen—on that table is one hundred and seventy-five thousand in cold cash! Can you realize how much money that is?"

speeding toward the landing. His nose was high above the water, and its sides cast a sheet of spray in both directions, as the gunwale split the water. There was a lone man in it and he seemed very much in a hurry. I stropped on to the window and watched him. The others must have seen him, too, for the room became quiet and the putt, putt, putt of the boat's engine was causing questioning glances and unrest.

Johnson must have sensed the suspense for he announced, in a loud voice, that he looked over the horses and that he was ready to place a few bets.

"I'd rather take my chances with a live animal than with a bunch of green celery, any time," he chided.

That was for my benefit. From my remarks, Johnson and Steel had gathered that I must have a considerable sum with me and they were ready to start the wheels moving which would clean me out.

I had doped out my position pretty well. There were nine of us in the house. Eight of them against me, with the nigger outside probably neutral. It seemed that the rest of the house was boarded up and that I had little chance of learning anything about Furey and Spencer.

Perhaps an attempt by me to leave would start the fireworks, but I had about concluded to make my getaway, with the nigger outside probably neutral. It seemed that the rest of the house was boarded up and that I had little chance of learning anything about Furey and Spencer.

Each of us must have caught something significant from these brief words. We understood each other. He was making it especially plain that I should attempt nothing irregular and let him know that I understood him.

When the putting man entered, through the back door. He stood at the door and looked lustily about. Steel stepped over toward him and came to meet him. A scrap of paper passed between them and Steel's fingers closed over it stealthily. I pretended not to see the transfer and the bearer of the note went over to Johnson. They spoke in low tones and walked, together into a little aid room.

Steel smoothed out the paper and glanced down at it, guardedly. Evidently, the writing was almost illegible, for he lifted it close to his eyes and squinted as he made it out. His face blanched and his trembling hand dropped to his side clutching the paper. I could almost feel the electricity of the silent signal which went about the room, Steel's hand shook as if palsied. I had never noticed its ugly peculiarity before, but now I saw the heavy scars which marked it. On three of the fingers, the hair grew in a swirl in the wrong direction. I'd known that hand anywhere. He tried to speak, but the words stuck in his throat. I was convinced that the note had brought him some sort of information about me, for his very looks told it, clearly. Perhaps, after all, I was to learn something of Furey and Spencer. Who else could have caused such excitement? I was sure that no one else knew me as Norfleet. My determination to get away was given another incentive and I felt that I would soon know my fate.

I took a step toward the door. Steel, who had recovered some of his poise, deliberately stepped aside to block me, moving backward as I moved toward him.

Johnson called across the room to me, urging that I get into the game and do a little betting on some of the fast horses. I could sense that they were working together to get me at a disadvantage. If Steel could get me in the right position, the carbines would probably get a signal to speak. I was somewhat relieved at the thought that Steel was unarmed. It was thickish business, watching all of them and, at the same time, affecting nonchalance.

I couldn't make out the situation. What had the note said, to so suddenly electrify the atmosphere? As far as I knew, not one of the men in the crowd knew my real identity. It seemed probable that the note had not concerned me, but that the crowd was much concerned over my not getting away before I had been rolled for whatever money I might have on me. At first I had intended that Steel and Johnson should believe that I carried a considerable sum. This was working against me now.

Steel echoed Johnson's invitation for me to get into the game, taking, at the same time, another step to block me. Keeping my eye on him, I asked of whoever might care to answer:

"What day of the week is this?" One of the wooden images sitting on the bench replied that it was Sunday.

"Sunday!" I exclaimed regretfully. "Well, that's too bad. Gentlemen, when I was a young man I promised my mother that I would never bet a dollar on the Sabbath. I've always kept my promise. That lets me out to-day. I'll have to see you all again."

I evened my distance with Steel so that he was on the line with me, not in front or behind, but exactly at my side. He instantly edged toward my back. His movement flashed a warning—a recollected warning my wife had given me before I left home. "Don't let them get at your back. Frank, keep your back to the wall, and make them fight fair, if you get into a tight."

I was in a "tight" all right. I realized the old Western policy of acting before the other fellow could get organized would be my best hope now. I recalled that father had often quoted: "A strong attack is the best defense."

I backed closer to the wall, turning slightly out from Steel, to go around him. He quickly tried to cut me off by getting in behind me. As I cut him off, I said:

"I appreciate your men's hospitality a lot, but I must be leaving."

I made a sweeping gesture of adieu with my left hand. My words and the motion brought the room to a tense silence. The clerk at the bulletin board turned, chalk poised in mid-air. The two bench-warmers eyed me threateningly, then glanced at Steel, as if for instruction. The telegraph instrument stopped clicking.

Miller Defendant In Suit On Notes

Lubbock Irrigation company brought suit against H. E. Miller in district court here yesterday for foreclosure, resulting from alleged failure to pay promissory notes.

The notes were originally given to the plaintiff by J. C. Nichols, who delivered seven promissory notes as part purchase price for San Augustine county school lands, the petition states. Nichols and his wife conveyed the property to A. G. and A. R. Bellah, who in turn conveyed the property to H. E. Miller, who agreed to assume the notes, according to the petition.

DAILY MARKETS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Following an early advance the cotton market reacted today on rumors that the census bureau claimed it gave no figures to Secretary Jardine on which he could have his report yesterday that two-thirds of the crop had been ginned prior to October 15.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—The cottonseed oil market was active and lower, closing with net losses of 3 to 10 points under liquidation by recent buyers and reaction to cotton weakness of bags and the new lows for the whole in cotton. Sales—20,900 barrels. Prime crude 9.25; prime summer yellow spot 10.55; October closed 16.55; December 10.82; January 10.91; March 11.13; May 11.50.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 27. (AP)—Dull trading continued today in the hog trade with the market 65 cents to 75 cents down on butcher stock and 25 cents lower on calves. With the exception of calves, which were 75 cents to 50 cents down, the cattle market was steady. The sheep trade was also steady.

CLOTH MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Many inquiries were received early in the morning for gray cloth market today, but with raw cotton easier, the interest melted to comparatively nothing. Small sales were made with the price basis firm throughout. Burlap quotations were steady in Calcutta and fairly firm here. Jute declined one point after a rise of the same amount on Wednesday. Finished goods were in very moderate demand. Raw silk was firm and the Yokohama market continued active.

CHICAGO GAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Wheat prices had an upward slant most of the time today, chiefly as a result of big export takings from North America. Actual purchases for trans-Atlantic shipment, however, were mostly Canadian wheat. Influenced by auspicious weather, deferred deliveries of corn established a new low price record for the season. Closing quotations on wheat were firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 2-8 cent higher, corn unchanged to 2-8 cent off, oats unchanged to 1-4 cent up and provisions varying from 22 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents. Provisions turned weaker, with hog and on selling ascribed to packers.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Fine wools were firmer today, notwithstanding the spotty demand, the unevenness in the market being due to further advances in asking prices by a number of dealers. The bulk of current sales consist of original Bay territory. Average lots consisting of bulk French combing and clothing wool are selling at around 192@193 with a number of dealers asking 195 and very little still available at this time. Better lots of original bag wools are bringing 195 and up, depending on quality and length of staple.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Cattle 27,000; active; best western heifers 2.25; best fed steers 17.75; calves weak to 50 lower; vealers 12.50@12.90; she stock weak to 25 lower; stockers and feeders unchanged. Hogs 40,000; generally 50 to 75 lower; top 10.25; butchers 9.50@10.20; mediums 8.50@9.50; lights 7.50@8.75; sows 7.25@7.35; pigs 4.00@4.75; estimated hilderover 12,000. Sheep 17,000; fat lambs strong to 25 higher; natives 13.75@13.85; buck lambs 11.00@11.50; sheep steady; fat ewes 6.00@6.50; feeding lambs unchanged; bulk 13.85@14.50.

Lamesa Luncheon Club In Meeting

(Special To The Avalanche) LAMESA, Oct. 27.—At the Lamesa Luncheon club today three phases of community activities were represented. The high school gave the program of musical and reading entertainment. Boy Scout work was represented by Rev. W. H. and Scoutmaster Knok, of Lubbock, and the chamber of commerce and business interests of the city represented by membership of the club. In addition to these, Judge J. L. Price, district attorney of this judicial district, spoke. Among other things Judge Price said, "I am representing the court house, the very thing you people here are educating to stay away from. Co-operation of these three things here today represented will do much to put Lubbock like myself out of business."

They are Edward Dale of Stamford, Lawrence Fitzgerald of El Paso, and Zollic Steakley of Sweetwater. ### Sheriffs Of West Texas Will Meet In Floydada Soon

(Special To The Avalanche)
 FLOYDADA, Oct. 27.—More than 100 sheriffs of West Texas are expected to meet in Floydada November 10-11 for the semi-annual meeting of the West Texas Sheriff's Association. Besides this number there will be more than 100 special invited guests who will attend the convention and the football game in the afternoon. Those attending the convention will be the guests of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce while visiting in Floydada. In this, as in the other meetings of the association, the target shoot will be the feature attraction and will follow the banquet. This event attracts the attention of every member of the association and the competition is usually keen between fifty and sixty members. Floyd county carried off the signal honors at the last convention, which was held in Lamesa, when Arthur Barber, of Lockney, won the trophy offered to the highest score made. A prize of $50 in gold is being offered by P. G. Stegall, sheriff of Floyd county, to the winner of this event at this meeting.

Arrangements are being made to invite many different notables of the State to the convention. The visitors will be taken for a visit over Floydada, which is attracting much attention at the present by its building program.

New Buildings For Floydada

(Special To The Avalanche)
 FLOYDADA, Oct. 27.—Closely following the announcement that the Frisco Railway system would build a $35,000 railroad station in Floydada came the announcement that another large brick business house would be erected. Roy L. Snodgrass, proprietor of the Motor Supply company, has announced that he will build a modern brick building on his lots on south Main street with a seventy-five foot frontage. The building will cost $17,000 and will be one of the largest in Floydada.

The office and salesroom will occupy 10,000 feet of the building and the remainder will be used for a filling station with entrance from two main streets. There will be two supporting posts in the building but the steel beams will support it making more room for storage purposes.

Included in the recent buildings now being erected or planned is a fifty foot frontage on West California street now under construction, twenty-five front to be erected by J. M. Wilson on Wall street, a two story bakery and office building on West California, and a new postoffice which is yet to be located. During the past twelve months approximately $750,000 has been expended in city development.

Contract Made For Hereford City Hall

(Special To The Avalanche)
 HEREFORD, Oct. 27.—A contract was let Tuesday for Hereford's new $25,000 City Hall and Fire Station, to George Parr of Amarillo, according to Mayor E. S. Ireland. Mr. Parr states that the ground will be broken early next week for the new structure and that work will be rushed to have it completed by Christmas.

The new city hall will be two stories and is to be of brick and semi-fireproof throughout. Offices for city officials, living quarters for the caretaker, quarters for the fire equipment, etc., will be on the first floor.

The election for the new city hall and fire station went over recently by a vote of eight to one and local citizens are looking forward to its completion with much enthusiasm.

Election By Slaton Retail Merchants

(Special To The Avalanche)

Lamesa Has Big Community Plan

(Special To The Avalanche)
 LAMESA, Oct. 27.—That Lamesa is in a great program of community work and development is shown by the many programs it has scheduled which bring the people together in this sort of work.

Friday evening of this week Lamesa people will come together in one of the largest community meetings ever staged here, according to local Chamber of Commerce officials. The title of the program is "The Chamber of Commerce Fine Arts program, and represents all talent in the community, from the ludicrous to the most classical, songs, readings, instrumental music, dances, slight of hand tricks, acrobatic stunts—in fact all the circus-side lines will be represented along with the most classical talent in the community. The program is sponsored by the entertainment department of the local Chamber of Commerce with Mrs. T. C. Baanon in charge.

MAJORITY OF BIG BEND COTTON NOW GATHERED

(Special To The Avalanche)
 ALPINE, Oct. 27.—The cotton crop of the Big Bend—Brewster, Jeff Davis, and Presidio counties—is progressing along real well, with something weather prevailing. More than seventy-five per cent of the crop has been gathered. The prospect continues to be above normal yield. It is believed that all cotton will be harvested and ginned before the Christmas holidays. Other fall crops are doing nicely. A feed crop is being harvested in many of the three counties.
