Museum Dedication Today

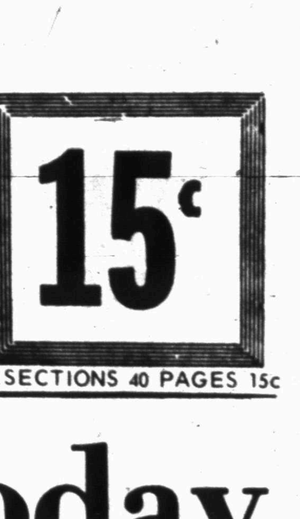

DEDICATION SCHEDULED—Dedication ceremonies for the Scurry County Museum and the Edith Whatley McKanna Garden are scheduled at 2:30 this afternoon. The public is invited to tour the building, located on the campus of Western Texas College, and to attend a reception in the Christian Student Center.

Unveiling Of Plaque Set

The Scurry County Museum building and the Edith Whatley McKanna Garden which surrounds it will be officially dedicated in a program scheduled for 2:30 this afternoon.

Ernest Sears, president of the Scurry County Museum Association, and Dr. Grover Murray, keynote speaker for the dedication, will cut the ribbon formally opening the building. Mrs. McKanna will unveil the bronze plaque in the garden, a memorial given in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thomas Whatley.

The dedicatory prayer is to be given by the Rev. David Robertson, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, and Sears will welcome visitors. Dr. Robert Clinton, president of Western Texas College, will introduce Sharon Sutton, museum director, directors of the Museum Association, members of the college board of trustees, and guests before introducing Dr. Murray.

DR. GROVER MURRAY
...dedication speaker

Dr. Murray, who served as president of Texas Tech University and its School of Medicine for 10 years, recently resigned to return to research and teaching. An eminent geologist, he is a fellow of the Geological Society of America and has served as geological consultant to several domestic oil companies and foreign governments and received numerous honors, fellowships and professorships as a geologist. He was named a Distinguished Alumnus of the University of North Carolina in 1971.

The Scurry County Museum is located on the south side of the campus of Western Texas College. Constructed at a cost of $369,400, the building contains 14,000 square feet of floor space on two levels. A spacious lobby, multi-purpose room, permanent exhibit gallery and offices occupy the main floor. Work and storage areas and a classroom

Last Monday's rain got our attention here at the newspaper office when it sent water over the curb quickly in front of our building. Fortunately, most of the rain seemed to be falling in our block at that time, and the creek didn't rise. But for a moment it reminded us of that grim day, Aug. 13, 1972, when the waters of Deep Creek made a new channel through our office.

But the heavy rainfall this time didn't cover enough territory to get the creek up.

Nevertheless, we are happy that the Deep Creek flood control project is back at least in the talking stage. We never know when we might get 200 years worth of those 50-year rains within a single decade.

It is difficult to figure out how many people are eligible to vote in the general election this year. The best estimate for Scurry County is around 7,900, as calculated by the county tax office. But the registration procedure now makes it virtually impossible to get.

A person may have registered here three months ago and then moved somewhere else without ever casting a ballot. He could even register at his new address and it would be days before people here would know to get him off the local rolls.

One thing is certain. There were many people here who were not qualified to vote in the general election until recently. The big demand for registration cards during the final days of the pre-general election registration period indicates that.

Also, Don Adams, county tax assessor-collector, says he believes more voters under 21 years old are taking an interest in the general election. Heretofore, the under 21 set has not been the factor in elections that had been expected of them

Someone asked what a BTU is. That alphabetical abbreviation has come into ever greater usage since the energy shortage. It refers to the British Thermal Unit, and is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree Fahrenheit.

And, incidentally, one barrel of oil has 6.3 million BTUs locked in itself. So, you can see how important the oil industry is when folks begin talking about BTUs.

That one barrel of oil and its 6.3 million BTUs is enough to heat the average American home to 63 degrees through 4½ days of freezing weather.—WACIL McNAIR.

LAND OF OIL

AND INDUSTRIES

Construction Figures In City Show Big Increase

The fiscal year which ended Sept. 30 may be one of the biggest construction years ever in the City of Snyder.

Building permits issued by the city for the 12-month period ending Sept. 30 totalled $4,310,942. The total for the last fiscal year was $2,792,103. And for the fiscal year two years ago the total was $2,104,471. This reflects a sustained surge in building that has overshadowed figures for any period since the crest of the big oil exploration boom here in the early fifties.

Inflation has been a factor in hiking the dollar volume of construction, but it has not accounted for all of the gains by any means. The number of projects, especially in the residential category, has increased dramatically in the past two years.

During the city's last fiscal year, permits were issued for 50 new single-family residences, for 61 mobile homes, and for a 48-unit apartment complex. Even the oil boom days couldn't match that for permanent construction.

You have to go all the way back to 1960 to find permits for more single-family residences than were issued the past fiscal year. The 1960 residential total was 86. However, at that time, there was no distinction between mobile homes and conventional construction in city records. Also there were no apartment units under construction at that time.

Thus, the addition of 111 single-family residences and mobile homes, along with 48 new apartment units makes the fiscal year that ended last month stand out in the city's building records.

At the same time, permits were issued for 13 new commercial buildings and for three public buildings, and there were 56 permits for alterations and additions to dwellings and 15 permits for alterations and additions to commercial buildings.

The over-all $4,310,942 figure is by far the largest total ever recorded here without any substantial public project, such as a new school, etc.

Hua Named To Replace Mao

HONG KONG (AP) — Premier Hua Kuo-feng has been appointed chairman of the Chinese Communist party to replace the late Mao Tse-tung, according to wall posters put up in Peking, foreign residents of the city reported today.

Foreign residents contacted by telephone from Hong Kong said the posters, which appeared in Peking this afternoon, called on the people to "unite around the party's Central Committee."

Japan's Kyodo news service said Hua had also been named chairman of the military committee. Both posts were held by Mao until his death Sept. 9 at the age of 82.

Kyodo said Hua would resign the premiership and pick his own successor in that post, which was held by Chou En-lai until his death last winter.

Kyodo said the decision was taken by the Central Political Bureau of the party.

The residents reached by telephone said people in Peking did not appear surprised by the announcement.

Mrs. Dieball Dies Friday

Funeral arrangements were pending Saturday for Mrs. Gladys Dieball, 86 who lived at 3112 Fortieth Street. Mrs. Dieball died at 9:45 p.m. Friday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock, where she had been hospitalized for several days after suffering a broken hip in a fall.

Funeral arrangements were to be made at the Gregg Funeral Home in Binger, Okla., where Mrs. Dieball lived for a number of years.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank Feather of Snyder and Mrs. Joe Herron of Idabel, Okla.; five brothers, five sisters and 10 grandchildren.

ONE-STOP SHOPPING—Hardware and soft goods are displayed in a mercantile-type store display in the permanent gallery of the Scurry County Museum. Mrs. Pat Bills, left, and Mrs. Bentley Baize are pictured in the exhibit, one of the new displays to be seen by visitors to the museum on tours following the dedication ceremonies this afternoon.

HELLO, CENTRAL—The switchboard which formerly provided telephone service for Hermleigh customers always attracts the attention of young visitors in the Scurry County Museum. Mrs. Pat Bills, a member of the board of directors for the Museum Association, demonstrates how the operator connected calls.

Dedication Of Santa Fe Marker Set

An official Texas Historical Marker will be dedicated at 4 p.m. Monday at the Santa Fe Railroad Station in Snyder.

The Scurry County Historical Commission has arranged for the dedication of the marker, which will commemorate the Santa Fe's role in Scurry County history. Buchanan, Santa Fe Trainmaster from Slaton. Avon Rushing, local Santa Fe Station agent, will conduct a tour of the station.

The public is invited to attend the dedication.

Two Americans Conquer Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Two members of the American Bicentennial . Everest Expedition have conquered the world's highest mountain, but forgot the flags they were to plant on the frozen summit, the Foreign Ministry said today.

Dr. Chris Chandler, 28, of Seattle, Wash., and Bob Cormack, 30, of Boulder, Colorado, reached the top of the 29,028-foot Mt. Everest late Friday afternoon, the ministry said.

The ministry said it was told by radio that both the U.S. and Nepalese flags were in the pack of Sherpa guide Ang Phurba, who dropped out before the last leg.

The two climbers spent about 30 minutes on the summit before descending to Camp 6 at the 27,500-foot level, the ministry said. They spent the night there before heading back to the next camp.

Both men were reported in excellent health and were expected to reach the base camp at 21,000 feet late this afternoon.

The climbers followed the traditional southeast ridge route pioneered by the first conquerors of the mountain, Sir Edmund Hillary and Sherpa guide Tenzing Norgay, in 1953.

Chandler and Cormack had left Camp 6 about 7:30 Friday morning for the last 1,528-vertical-foot stretch. Observers lost sight of them after they crossed the last main obstacle, the dangerous "Hillary Step," because of clouds.

The ministry said it took the two climbers about nine hours to make it to the top.

This is the second conquest of Everest by Americans. The only previous successful American expedition was in 1963, when James W. Whittaker and Sherpa guide Nawang Gombu scaled the peak.

With the success of Chandler and Cormack, the select club of Everest summiters now include 53 men and two women. One Sherpa has cimbed Everest twice.

A Japanese woman, Mrs. Junko Tabei, and a Tibetan, Mrs. Phanthog, reached the top in May, 1975, from the south through Nepal and from the north col in Tibet.

A second summit team from the Bicentennial expedition is scheduled to try for the peak Monday or Tuesday. That will consist of Gerry Roach, 33, of Boulder, Colo., Rick Ridgeway, 27, of Malibu, Calif., and Hans Bruyntjes, 29, of The Netherlands.

Neither of the two women in the expedition, Barbara Roach and Arlene Blum, was included in the assault teams. They had hoped to become the first American women to climb the mountain.

The Bicentennial expedition set out on the 140-mile hike to Everest from here on Aug. 3. A six-day snowstorm wrecked the original timetable, which called for a final assault between Sept. 30 and Oct. 2.

Chandler is a doctor on the staff of the West Seattle General Hospital in Washington State and a divorced father of three children. His past climbing experience includes the blazing of new routes on peaks in North America and the Andes in Peru.

Cormack owns a rooming house in Boulder, Colo. He also is a pilot and occasional tutor of physics.

Returnable Containers Would Save

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Would you return empty beverage cans and bottles to the supermarket if they carried a 5-cent deposit? A study says that if enough Americans did, they would conserve energy, create jobs and save billions of dollars.

The study done for the Federal Energy Adminstration said there are enormous potential benefits to a law requiring the deposit nationwide. But whether the benefits would be achieved would depend on the public's willingness to return empty cans and bottles to retailers.

The study may light a new fire under proposals for a nationwide deposit law in the next Congress.

The report by the Research Triangle Institute, a private consulting firm in North Carolina, noted that Oregon's mandatory deposit law has brought a 70 per cent return rate. It concluded that a nationwide law might reach 80 or 90 per cent by 1982.

It said such a law would cost the container industry additional investments for machinery, manpower and facilities.

But it also would stimulate energy conservation and a net increase in employment and payroll in the container-related industries, according to the study.

Recycling containers is cheaper than making new throwaways, and consumers could save money if their beer and soft drinks came in returnable cans and bottles, the report said.

The institute said that if a 5-cent deposit were in full force nationwide by 1982 and if consumers returned 90 per cent of the containers, they would save about $1.8 billion per year.

Fort Worth Escapee Captured

BELLEVILLE, Kan. (AP) — A man who escaped from the Federal Correctional Institute in Fort Worth, Tex., Saturday, where he was held on charges of threatening then-President Nixon in 1974, was captured here early today.

Republic County Sheriff Robert Lecha said Franklin David Kirk, 35, was in the Republic County jail.

Kirk's escape gave law enforcement authorities some anxious moments, with President Ford making a two-day visit to Dallas, only 30 miles from the correctional institute.

Ford was to take part in the State Fair parade through downtown Dallas and appear in state fair ceremonies before attending the Texas-Oklahoma football game in the Cotton Bowl.

Kirk was arrested in San Antonio in December 1974 and convicted of threatening the life of a president and sentenced to five years in jail.

He was transferred to the Fort Worth facility after spending time at the La Tuna federal prison near El Paso and the Springfield, Mo., Medical Center.

Sex Changer Suspended From Job

EMERYVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A girls' gym teacher who was surgically changed into a man has been suspended from his job for "immoral conduct" and "unfitness" one day after a court ordered him reinstated.

Steve Dain, who had been Doris Richards, was served at his home Friday with a school district notice of suspension. "You are not to report for work or otherwise appear on any school district property," the notice said.

On Thursday, a judge had ordered the school district to reinstate Dain and give him about $3,200 in back pay.

The school district previously had ordered Dain not to report, but had neither fired nor reassigned him after he attempted to return to work this fall following a sex change operation and therapy at Stanford University.

RECEIVES AWARD—At the Jaycees luncheon Friday, Dave Smelser, right, was presented the Jaycee of the Month Award by club president Clyde Ferguson. Joe Reaves, associate professor of psychology at Western Texas College, delivered the keynote address.

California Suspect Is Held Here

City police officers reported arresting a suspect early Saturday morning wanted on a California embezzlement charge, and also reported two burglaries and a minor traffic accident.

Stopping a car at the intersection of Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue Y at 2:20 a.m. Saturday, a city policeman arrested the driver of the car on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle.

The 37-year-old man was taken to the police station and booked. Running a security check on the man, officers discovered that he was wanted by the El Centro, Calif., police department on a charge of embezzlement.

The suspect was taken to the county jail where he will be extradited to California to face charges there.

A vehicle parked at Shot Allen's Wrecking Yard was burglarized. Taken in the burglary were a box of tools and a stereo tape deck.

Returning to his home following a vacation, Lonzell Brown discovered that his residence had been both burglarized and vandalized in his absence. Police officers estimated that about $1,000 damage had been inflicted to the interior of the house. A color console television set was also missing when he returned.

A minor traffic accident occurred Friday at 11:57 a.m. at the intersection of Thirty-second Street and Avenue E. Involved in the mishap were a 1967 Ford driven by Wade Rogers and a 1973 Ford driven by Nils Dean Donnel. No one was injured in the mishap and only minor damages were reported to the two vehicles.

Smelser Honored At Jaycee Session

Dave Smelser was honored at the Friday noon luncheon of the Jaycees when he was named Jaycee of the Month for September. Clyde Ferguson, club president, presented Smelser the award.

Ascending to the podium to deliver the keynote address to the Jaycees was their guest speaker, Joe Reaves, associate professor of psychology at Western Texas College.

Reaves spoke of personal motiviation and personality, saying that the two inseparable. "Many people are not realistic about themsleves. Some people are over-confident of themselves, but most people haven't enough confidence in themselves," Reaves cautioned.

"If we believe we can do something, we're already half way there. And, by the same token, if we don't believe we can do it, that also becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy blocking us from doing it," he said. "The mind controls the body far more than we have imagined."

"We need to be realistic about our selves," Reaves said. The inferiority complex that keeps most people down is not realistic," Reaves said. "And by the same token, over confidence in ourselves is not realistic," he said. "Most people don't lack strength, only will."

Reaves then spoke of how behavior enforces attitudes. "You act the way you want to be," Reaves said. "If you act enthusiastically, you will find yourself becoming enthusiastic. If you act boldly, you will find yourself becoming bold. If you act cowardly, you will find yourself becoming cowardly," Reaves said.

"People should act the way they want to be. Behavior enforces our mental attitudes," he said.

Arabs Live On Man-Made Islands

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 30,000 Arabs, known as "Marsh Arabs," live in a world where houses are constructed on man-made islands and canoes are the main means of transportation, says the National Geographic.

The Ma'dan tribesmen of southern Iraq fish in clear lagoons, often using traditional five-pronged spears. They build their homes by placing a reed fence around a piece of the marsh, filling the space with earth and reed mats. Reeds and rushes form the arches, braces, walls, roofs and floors.

Road Project Is Discussed

GAIL—The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation held a Pre-Construction Meeting at the Borden County Courthouse in Gail, Texas on Thursday to permit county and state law enforcement organizations and other interested personnel to discuss the problems that might arise during the construction of F.M. 846 from 1 mile West of Knott to 0.5 miles West of Knott approximately 0.47 miles, and F.M. 1054 from 11 miles South of U.S. 180 to F.M. 1584 approximately 4.32 miles.

This work is scheduled to start within the next week and will be allotted 140 working days. The full cost of this highway work will be approximately $280,103., which $155,635. is Federal Funds. Groups present included representatives of Price Construction Company, Inc., Big Spring, Texas, contractors for the project; Department of Public Safety representative; Borden County Judge and Sheriff; and personnel of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation from Snyder Big Spring and Gail.

Cumbie, Crawford United In Church Ceremony Sept. 19

Miss Sandra Jean Cumbie and Lill Gregory Crawford exchanged wedding vows Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. at Trinity Methodist Church. Rev. James S. Terry, minister of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Joe Cumbie 2211 Forty-second St. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Crawford, Rt. 1, Hermleigh, are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white re-embroidered voile with a deep V-neckline with the shirt waist collar edged in Venise lace. The bishop sleeves had a wide cuff with bands of pink check gingham and lace inserts. The slightly gathered A-line skirt flowed into a brush train with a deep ruffle and bands of pink checked gingham and lace. A pink polk-a-dot ribbon encircled the waist with a dior bow at back. A matching picture hat of white, trimmed in matching lace and ribbon, completed the look.

For something old, the bride wore a pin that belonged to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. J.W. Byrd, which has been in her family for 130 years. Something new was the bridal attire. Something borrowed was a ruby ring belonging to her mother. A blue garter completed the tradition. She wore pennies minted in the dates of their birth in her shoe.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of pink roses sprinkled with baby's breath.

Miss Paula Falls was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lorinda Jordan and Mitzi Autry, both of San Angelo and Jessica McMullan of Lubbock. They were attired in formal length gowns of pink dotted swiss fashioned in an empire style.

Sid Crawford served his brother as best man. Bobby Jack Cumbie, brother of the bride, Monte Roden, cousin of the groom of San Angelo, and Ron Terry of Longmont, Colorado served as groomsmen. Mark Young and Paul Norred ushered wedding guests.

Favorite selections of the bride and groom were rendered by Mrs. Wayne Bethel at the organ and Miss Debbie Sewell, cousin of the bride, at the piano.

The altar of the church was centered with an arch covered with English ivy and pink bows. Seven branch brass candelabras entwined with English ivy stood on either side. Fifteen branch spiral candelabras, entwined with English ivy and holding burning tapers with small pink bows at the base completed the altar setting.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a floor length white cloth trimmed with pink bows and white satin wedding bells. Centering the table was a white spiral candelabrum with the bridal bouquet placed in the center and the attendants nosegays around the base. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink rose buds. Presiding at the bride's table were Laree Barton, cousin of the bride from Midland, Mrs. Jacky Simpson from Big Spring and Julie Glass of Snyder.

Laurie Bethel registered wedding guests.

The groom's table was covered with a rust velvet cloth and centered with a brass candelabrum holding brown tapers. The cake was in the design of a Copenhagan tin and nuts were served from a brass spittoon. Coffee was served from a brass coffee service. Presiding at the groom's table were Beth Harrington of College Station and Lisa Voss from Lubbock.

Following the wedding trip to San Antonio the couple will reside at Rt. 1, Hermleigh.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School where she served as FFA President, as a member of FHA, and Gay 20 Social Club President. Other honors included Junior Class Favorite and Sophomore FFA Sweetheart. The bridegroom is a 1974 SHS graduate and graduated from Western Texas College in 1976. He is engaged in farming and ranching.

Out-of-town guests were from Big Spring, Midland, Stephenville, San Angelo, Lubbock, Longmont, Colorado, Sweetwater, and College Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Crawford hosted a western style barbecue for the wedding party at their home following the wedding rehearsal.

Powdered MilkPart Of Rations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk powder was part of the rations carried by Genghis Khan's 13th-century Mongol hordes.

During World War II, it often appeared as a few white globs in clouded water. And the Canadian army once used frozen milk chunks to supply their soldiers.

Today, scientists are experimenting with a heating process that should allow milk to be stored for months without refrigeration. The process was invented in 1942 by Elmer Davis.

Davis' process involves a "free-falling film heater" in which the milk is heated to 300 degrees Farenheit for one second.

Orms, Blake United In Double Ceremony

Miss Judy Marie Orms became the bride of John Farrell Blake in a double ring ceremony Sept. 25 at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Ken Andress, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Orms of Snyder. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Blake of Del Rio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was adorned in a formal length empire gown of dacron crepe. The v-neck gown featured long sleeves with a lace ruffle at the wrist, and a lace covered bodice. The veil of bridal illusion was attached to a lace covered caplet. The long train was trimmed in lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, blue carnations and baby's breath tied with ribbon streamers.

Audrey Duncan of Robert Lee was maid of honor. Her formal length gown of light blue dacron knit featured an empire waist and long sleeves with a ruffle at the wrist. Sharon Hanford of San Angelo, matron of honor, wore a gown fashioned after that of the maid of honor. Each attendant carried a small nosegay of blue carnations and baby's breath.

Jenny Porter of Snyder was flower girl. Her floor length gown of blue and white dacron featured short puffed sleeves and a ruffled hem.

Bryant Thomas, nephew of the bride, of Snyder was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Chris Denton of San Angelo. Groomsman was Jerry Knows of San Angelo. Ushers were Jim Blake, brother of the groom of San Angelo; Brian Blake, brother of the groom of Del Rio; and David Keene of San Angelo.

The church altar was centered with a half circle candelabrum holding twenty burning tapers with candelbras entwined with greenery on either side.

Darlene Abbott, pianist, provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Susan Ferrell as she sang "Time In A Bottle" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The reception was held in the young adult building of First Baptist Church. Kathy Blake, sister of the groom, registered wedding guests.

The three tiered blue and white wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, was served by Terri Powers and Susan Ferrell.

The bride chose a dacron knit jump suit as her going away outfit. The couple will reside in San Angelo when they return from their wedding trip to San Antonio and Corpus.

The bride, a graduate of Snyder High School and Western Texas College, attended Angelo State University and is currently employed by Safeway in San Angelo. Her husband graduated from Del Rio High School and attended Angelo State University. He is employed at Hawkins and Son in San Angelo.

Out-of-town guests were from Denton, Krum, Houston, Seabrook, Del Rio, San Angelo and Big Spring.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by parents of the bridegroom at The Shack.

MILITARY COUPLE VISITS—Sp. 5 Judy and Martin Frand, who currently are serving in the U.S. Army, have been visiting her parents and friends in Snyder. They now have orders for a two-year tour in Seoul, Korea, beginning this month. Sp. 5 Judy Frand is the former Judy Graham, daughter of Mary Graham and Gene Graham, and granddaughter of Minnie Evans and J.F. Graham. Sp. 5 Martin A. Frand is from Hibbing, Minn. They were married in 1974 while serving at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Dance Surging In Popularity

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are numerous explanations for the new popularity of dance in America. But despite its phenomenal growth, financial woes plague many of the dance troupes.

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Arts Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Long overshadowed by other performing arts, dance is now on the crest of a box-office boom.

"The fastest growing spectator sport in the country" is how one leading manager describes the surging popularity.

Even those unsure of the difference between a jete and a pirouette must be impressed by the statistical leaps recorded during the craft's remarkable decade of growth.

The audience for professional companies has soared since the mid-60s from one million to 15 million — and has spread nationwide in the process.

Back then, 68 per cent of all attendance was concentrated in New York City. Now 80 percent of the spectators are outside the metropolis.

The Association of American Dance Companies today lists 350 members — not all of professional caliber — compared with 132 in 1966.

A record was set by the American Ballet Theater when in nine weeks this summer it grossed $1,857,990 at the box office.

Growth hasn't solved old problems, however, and some new ones may be incubating.

Charles Reinhart, a leading manager-consultant, says dancer pay scales still trail those for musicians, singers and actors.

And upswinging enthusiasm has not narrowed the gap between income and outflow which plagues all cultural enterprises.

Chronic financial woe, in fact recently caused one of the top modern dance ensembles, the Paul Taylor Company, to announce it was disbanding indefinitely.

On the other hand, the Cleveland Ballet Guild, after years of cautious growth, metamorphizes this season into a fully professional subscription series. Up in Seattle, the Pacific Northwest Ballet, soaring from a zero to $800,000 budget in two years, has hired former ballerina Melissa Hayden to head its training program.

All sorts of explanations from the liberation typified by Woodstock, to the emergence of superstars such as Nureyev and Baryshnikov, to growing TV and movie attention — are offered for the phenomenal growth.

The new dance display is wildly eclectic, ranging from workshop experiments to 40-week tours by major troupes. Big or little, virtually all accent the inventions of each group leader.

The pantheon of creativity includes such widely known titans as Martha Graham, George Balanchine, Jerome Robbins, Alvin Ailey, Robert Joffrey, Alwin Nikolais, Merce Cunningham, Paul Taylor. Before them were the founders, Isadora Duncan, Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn. Coming up rapidly are such devisers of fresh expression as Twyla Tharp, specialist in little, loose conniptions; Murray Louis, and Rod Rodgers, who takes dance to inner city streets.

Ballet is what most people think of first when dance is mentioned, and tutu companies indeed employ the most dancers. Biggest of all is the New York City Ballet, headed by Balanchine, with 94 dancers.

But the largest number of companies fit into the modern dance category, which embraces whatever isn't obviously from the ballet tradition or committed to such specialities as ethnic inspiration, precise mime or the esoteric agitations of jazz.

"The popularity of modern as a form of expression is easy to understand," says John Gingrich, president of the Association of American Dance Companies. "All that is needed are some trained bodies and a little creativity."

By general agreement, 10 years ago five companies had major rating. Reinhart puts the figure today at 20, Miss Arey reports 25 to 30.

The National Endowment for the Arts touring program has indisputably been the prime financial stimulus for putting dance on the road. Private foundation support, as in other arts, has been declining.

Half of NEA's dance allotment goes to direct support of troupes, the other $3 million to sponsors who book companies on tour.

"Until the Endowment came along," says Reinhart, "a successful dance company was one that could employ dancers enough weeks so they could qualify for unemployment insurance. That's all changed now."

A number of companies have reached an annual budget of $400,000, and others scale up to New York City Ballet's staggering $5 million nut.

Ticket sales and tour revenues, the Gingrich survey shows, cover about 55 per cent of costs. Virtually all the top companies augment income — and increase prestige — by foreign tours. Some became popular on cross-country circuits here only after being acclaimed in Europe.

How much bigger the dance audience may grow has started to worry some professionals.

"It's like what happened to a lot of mass circulation magazines," says one. "The bigger you get, the higher costs become. There's danger that some companies will get so large that they may create deficits that cannot be handled."

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Junior Duke of Snyder announce the marriage of their daughter, Toni, to David Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stokes of Snyder.

Turk-Greek Conflict Background For Novel

THE HOUR OF THE BELL. By Harry Mark Petrakis. Doubleday. 363 Pages. $8.95.

In the early 1820s the winds of revolt swept Greece. Long dominated by the Turks, the Greeks rose up against their foreign overlords and began a bloody struggle for freedom that was to last for years before the Greeks were victorious.

Harry Mark Petrakis deals only with the earliest part of that long war in "The Hour Of The Bell," a panoramic novel that tries, usually successfully, to tell of the many personalities and violent events that dominated both mainland and island Greece during those cruel years.

Starting with the effect the rebellion has on one tiny Greek village — as seen largely through the eyes of the village's elderly priest — Petrakis slowly expands his range so that steadily and surely the reader is drawn into the widest possible view of what is happening in the violence-plagued land. The effect is similar to a stone being dropped in a pond with the ripples slowly spreading out farther and farther.

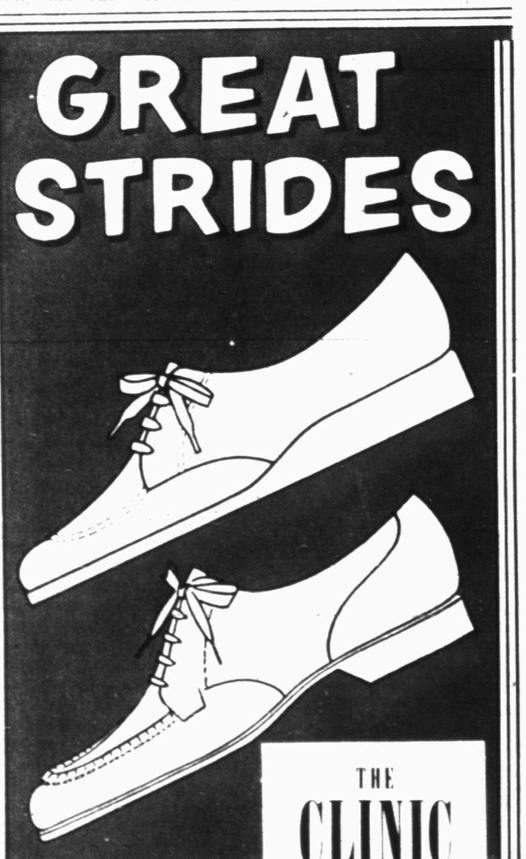

Petrakis obviously has studied his period thoroughly and while his sympathies lie with the Greeks he manages to keep his vision objective throughout. There are good Greeks and bad Greeks, just as there are good Turks and bad Turks. There is heroism on both sides, just as there are violent cruelties and senseless bloodshed. A veteran Greek soldier sums it up well when he says dispassionately, "My mission is to stay alive. To accomplish that much I have to kill Turks, who, in order to stay alive, have to kill me."

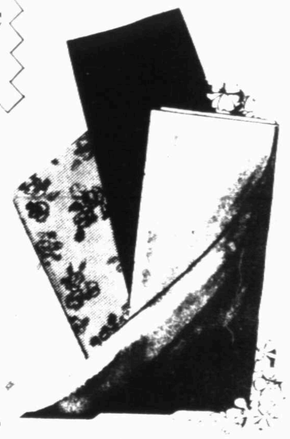

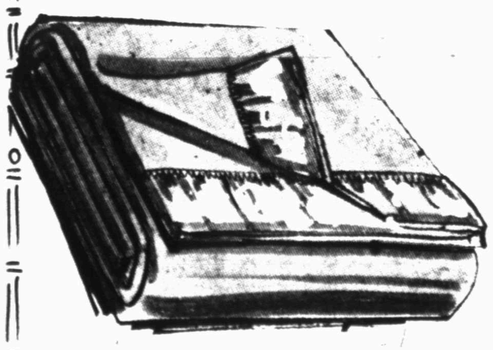

"The Hour Of The Bell" is a well-written historical novel — but vastly superior to the usual run of books lumped into that genre — and hopefully the first in a series.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Constipated? Take one tablespoon of unprocessed bran daily in milk, water, fruit juice, suggests Surgeon Captain Cleave of the Royal Navy. Food fiber, such as bran, is the best and most natural way to prevent and cure constipation. He states, "Patients with diverticulitis and subacute or chronic uncerative colitis thrive on it." A teaspoon of bran and a teaspoon of wheat germ is also excellent. It restores to the diet what the miller has taken out.

Cookbook Features Carter's Wife

Amid the reams of publicity circulating about Jimmy Carter and family was an item that caught many eyes. Apparently the Democratic nominee's wife, Rosalynn, is quite a cook.

It seems that when Carter was governor of Georgia, an organization known as the Junior Associates of the Atlanta Music Club came out with a collection of local residents' recipes titled "Atlanta Cooks for Company" (Atlanta Music Club, P.O. Box 52572, Atlanta, Ga. 30305).

The book was so well received that it was designated the official cookbook of Atlanta. Since it first appeared in October 1968, more than 75,000 copies have been sold and the book is going into its seventh printing. Proceeds from the book go to philanthropic causes related to music, such as scholarships for talented young musicians.

Mrs. Carter's contribution, which appears on page 141, is called the "Plains Special" Cheese Ring. The Carters reportedly served it when they entertained at the gubernatorial mansion.

The recipe combines chopped nuts (peanuts naturally!) and cheese, along with mayonnaise, grated onion, black pepper and cayenne.

The book has a number of interesting offerings for brunch, the noonday meal, tea, cocktail parties, dinners and holiday feasts.

Here's the Carter recipe:

1 pound grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped peanuts
1 cup mayonnaise
1 small onion, grated
Black pepper to taste
Dash of cayenne

Mold all ingredients with hands into desired shape, place in refrigerator and chill. When ready to serve, fill center with strawberry preserves. But it is also good as a cheese spread without preserves.

Opening lead — A ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's jump to four spades was definitely an overbid, but one of those overbids that everyone makes from time to time.

West doubled and started proceedings by playing the ace and five of spades. East produced the eight so South who had dropped his nine of spades at trick one was forced to win in his own hand.

South could still get to dummy with a trump to take the heart finesse, but that would leave him no way to ruff his last heart. So, South decided to try to get the defenders to help him out. He cashed the ace and king of clubs and led the queen of diamonds. East was in with the king and in trouble.

He cashed his queen of clubs. If South had ruffed, South would have been dead, but South discarded his deuce of diamonds.

East could not lead another club. That would establish a club in dummy. He could not lead his ace of diamonds. That would set up dummy's jack. He did his best by leading a heart. This enabled South to finesse his queen, cash the ace, ruff his last heart and win the rubber.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ontario reader wants to know why, when the opening leader holds a suit headed by ace-king, he leads the king rather than the ace.

There really is no good reason except that this has been the standard lead since the days of whist. There just isn't any important reason to change although some experts have.

CARAMEL COFFEE CREAM

Complicated to make, but worth it.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2¼ cups milk
¾ cup sugar
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten with a dash of salt
1 teaspoon powdered instant coffee
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sprinkle the gelatin over 2 tablespoons water (in a cup) to soften. In a 2-quart heavy saucepan heat the milk until very hot. In an 8-inch skillet over moderate heat, stirring constantly, dissolve the sugar in ¼ cup water; boil gently, stirring often, until golden; remove syrup and milk from the range; at once carefully stir the syrup into the milk — it will bubble up. Stir about half the milk-syrup into the egg yolks; stir back into milk-syrup mixture; cook gently without boiling, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Stir in the gelatin and coffee until dissolved; pour into a large mixing bowl. Chill, stirring often, until beginning to thicken. Fold in the egg whites, then the cream. Turn into individual serving bowls. Chill until set — it will not be firm enough to unmold. Makes 8 servings.

Insulin shock needs attention

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—You had a column on diabetic comas and I hoped you would have one on insulin shock. Whereas diabetic coma usually sets in gradually, with the patient having ample warning, insulin shock can happen suddenly, sometimes without any warning.

Our 15-year-old son is a diabetic and has had several attacks a year, usually in the spring when he increases his level of activity. He gets no warning.

If this should ever happen to him when he's away from home, precious time may be lost because no one will think to check his I.D. tag. If anyone did he would know to look into his pocket for a tube of glucose or a packet of sugar and, if someone put this into his mouth, his convulsions would stop immediately and within five minutes he would be out of shock.

Even if the attack were to be diabetic coma it wouldn't hurt and when help arrived he would be treated in a hospital. But it is more likely, in sudden attacks, to be caused by low blood sugar.

DEAR READER—Your comments are correct. And I did have a column on insulin shock. In fact, I received a letter from two people who wanted to tell me that one should not use sugar to treat insulin shock because it was bad for the teeth and for other reasons. The truth is that leading diabetic specialists, such as Dr. George Cahill, professor at Harvard and director of the Joslin Research Laboratory (also president of the American Diabetic Assn. recommends giving candy or a sweetened beverage if the patient is conscious enough to swallow.

Ordinary sugar is rapidly broken down in the intestine to glucose and fructose before it can be absorbed. The glucose will help bring the patient out of insulin shock.

Insulin reactions may begin with mental confusion. Often the patient can't add or subtract. Bizarre behavior may make a person think the patient has been hitting the bottle. The problem can progress rapidly to unconsciousness. I would like to emphasize that if there is any doubt, treat the patient as if it were insulin shock, not diabetic coma, for the very reasons you have mentioned.

Incidentally, the patient in insulin shock may be sweating and pale, whereas the patient in diabetic coma may be flushed, dry and hot. The problem for the untrained individual is that anything taken by mouth may be aspirated into the windpipe or lungs. Every diabetic should have some glucagon available in the diabetic kit. This can be given by a trained member of the family by needle. It is an anti-insulin hormone and will get the patient out of coma far enough that other carbohydrates can be given by mouth, such as sweetened orange juice.

You can have severe low blood sugar reactions even from oral medicines - if you use them. Some of these may be so long acting that intravenous flucose may need to be given for two to three days to overcome the problem.

A thorough search of anyone who is unconscious or nearly so should be made to see if there is any information available about the victim's medical status, such as I.D. cards in the wallet or a bracelet.

Those who want more information about the other causes of low blood sugar can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 3-9. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10017.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Three years ago our daughter underwent a hysterectomy and the removal of both ovaries. Her physician prescribed estrogens daily and told her this must be taken the rest of her life. She is 38 now.

We are all quite upset on reading in the papers about the cancer producing effects this drug has been found to have. Is this as serious as the news media makes it sound?

DEAR READER—Don't worry another minute. I am sorry the news stories have caused you mental anguish. The news stories failed to get across to the public that the increased risk in cancer was for the lining of the uterus. The truth is that female hormones may protect women from other cancers. Since your daughter has had her uterus removed she can continue to follow her doctor's wise advice and totally disregard all those scare stories that have upset so many people.

Young women without ovaries usually need hormone replacement, just as individuals without thyroid glands need thyroid replacement. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause, because your daughter without hormone replacement would be in a surgical menopause. Others who want information of female hormones and their function in relation to the menopause can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Sometime ago you wrote in your column about a blood test that can detect V.D., and if a person had never been treated for it that he could still be treated after 10 or 15 years. I worry that I might have had it and never knew it. So if you could tell me the name of that blood test, I'll check with the clinic here or my physician to see if that test is available.

DEAR READER—You are probably referring to the TPI test (treponema immobilization test). The common Wasserman (VDRL) test may become negative or weakly positive in the course of years or after treatment. It may also be positive when a person does not have and never has had syphilis. To clarify matters physicians sometimes need to use a more sensitive test.

The TPI test entails putting some live syphilis germs (treponema) on a slide and adding some serum from the patient's blood to them. If the person has ever had syphilis he or she will have developed antibodies to syphilis germs. The anti-bodies will immobilize the normally active treponema germs on the slide confirming their presence.

It is rare to have had syphilis and not know it. I'm always surprised how many people worry about this. To have never had symptoms and also have a negative blood test of the type commonly used (Wasserman, VDRL) would be unusual.

As many as two-thirds of people who have syphilis develop a lifetime immunity without any damage to the body throughout life. The remaining third, if untreated, go on to have damage to the brain, the heart or other parts of the body. That two-thirds will develop immunity without damage explains how the human race survived its sexual habits in the years when there was no effective treatment for syphilis. Many of the great men in politics, royal families, art, science and philosophy were infected with syphilis.

NEW INSTRUCTOR—A new part-time instructor in the Mid Management program at WTC is Marianne Barber. Mrs. Barber was an insurance agent before joining the WTC faculty.

Princeton Is Loaned Art

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Princeton University has been loaned a group of paintings, drawings and sculptures by Cezanne, Van Gogh, Degas, Toulouse-Lautrec, Picasso and other modern masters, the university's Art Museum has announced.

The works in this two-year loan were taken from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pearlman and the Pearlman Foundation.

Mid-Management Instructor Named

Marianne Barber has been named a part-time instructor-coordinator in the Mid-Management program at Western Texas College, Dr. Gene McClurg, Dean of Occupational Education and Technology, has announced.

Mrs. Barber, a native of Germany, holds a German collegiate degree (Abitur). She was previously a Farm Bureau insurance agent for the Scurry County Farm Bureau and was employed by two major insurance companies in the Dallas area before moving to Snyder. Her husband, Carlton Barber, is an instructor in the WTC electromechanical technology program.

Mrs. Barber was one of 725 persons awarded the professional insurance designation of Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) recently at ceremonies held in Chicago. The CPCU is awarded to persons who complete a series of five comprehensive national examinations on subjects including insurance, economics, government, law, finance and management.

The Mid-Management program at WTC is a cooperative program which combines the study of management skills with practical work experience, preparing students for positions in management.

DeSoto Upsets Ennis

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Defending Class 3A state champion Ennis, holding a 16-game winning streak and a No. 3 ranking, lost 20-13 to DeSoto in the biggest upset in Texas high school football Friday night.

It was a night of few surprises as only seven teams in The Associated Press' five Top Tens were defeated, and two of those losses were to teams that also are ranked.

The Class 4A Top Ten, along with the Class A elite, escape unscathed. Top-ranked Houston Kashmere, celebrated its first week as Texas' top team with a 27-9 triumph over Houston Waltrip, No. 2 Odessa Permian outlasted Abilene Cooper 24-14, No. 3 Longview crushed Tyler Lee 35-6, fourth-rated Tyler John Tyler trimmed Marshall 12-7, No. 6 Killeen tripped San Antonio Central Catholic 20-7, No. 7 Spring Branch Memorial blanked Houston Westchester 21-0 Thursday night, No. 8 Sherman shut out Richardson Lake Highlands by the same score and 10th-ranked Brazoswood massacred Victoria 42-0. Ninth-ranked Temple enjoyed an open date and No. 5 Port Neches-Groves played Houston Lincoln Saturday night.

Artesia, N.M., crossed the Texas border to upset Pecos, ranked seventh in Class 3A, joining Ennis as a casualty in that division. Top-ranked Beaumont Hebert rolled on with a 44-6 victory over Cleveland, second-ranked Gainesville drowned Seagoville 50-0, No. 4 Brownwood burned Weatherford 42-0, No. 5 Humble axed Aldine Carver 40-2, No. 6 Beeville outscored Corpus Christi West Oso 32-16, No. 9 Gregory-Portland whitewashed Corpus Christi Tuloso-Midway 33-0 and 10th-ranked Silsbee solved Livingston 52-0. Eighth-ranked Jacksonville was idle.

In Class 2A, sixth-ranked Paris North Lamar and No. 7 Slaton suffered their first losses — 24-0 to unbeaten Commerce and 19-12 to Lubbock Roosevelt, respectively. No. 1 Rockdale continued to roll with a 44-6 victory over Hearne, eighth-ranked Comanche clubbed Cisco 53-0, No. 9 Refugio axed Mathis 28-0 and 10th-ranked Anahuac nipped Hamshire-Fannett 13-10.

Fourth-ranked Bowie played Lake Dallas Saturday night and No. 2 Columbus, No. 3 McGregor and No. 5 Childress were idle.

Top-ranked Aledo, No. 2 Holliday No. 4 Groveton and 10th-ranked Tatum had an off night Friday while the rest of the Class A elite won their games.

RETURNS PUNT—Lamesa High School's Dennis Page (21) returns a punt during the Snyder-Lamesa football game here Friday night. Blocking for him is Keith Lee (61) while the defenders for the Tigers are Tommy Smith (34) and Doug Morrell (33). Snyder fumbled eight times during the contest, and the visitors capitalized on some of the mistakes for a 9-6 upset victory.

Tornadoes Slip Past Fumbling Tigers, 9-6

Snyder's Tigers may have set a District 3-AAA fumbling record as the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes capitalized on Snyder mistakes to claim a 9-6 victory and spoil the Tigers' Homecoming here Friday night.

Snyder lost the ball eight times on fumbles, and the Tornadoes turned two of them into points. Other fumbles stopped some promising Tiger drives.

The victory leaves Lamesa with a 3-3 season record and a 2-0 district mark while the Tigers now are 3-2 for the year and 0-1 in district play.

Lamesa end Clay Wright booted a 23 yard field goal with 4:03 to go in the second quarter following a fumble recovery by the Tornadoes on the Snyder 12 yard line. Snyder played good defense throughout the game or it could have been a lopsided victory for the visitors.

Following the fumble recovery at the 12, Lamesa could only gain five yards to the seven in three plays. They elected to go for the field goal on fourth down and Wright's kick from placement was accurate.

Snyder gained the lead in the 3rd quarter when quarterback Tim Falls turned in a beautiful 26 yard run for a touchdown with 1:37 remaining in the period. Ricky Beard's kick from placement was wide to the left, but it appeared the Tigers were in command.

On the touchdown run, Falls ran to his left, then reversed himself and cut up the right side of the field to pay dirt. He was untouched on the TD run. The touchdown drive covered 39 yards in four plays. Falls launched the drive with an 8-yard aerial to Tracey Witherspoon. Clay Peterson contributed two yards and Falls threw an incompletion before keeping for three. Another aerial fell incomplete before the touchdown run.

In the fourth quarter, Lamesa fullback Anthony Manuel blasted four yards over left guard for the winning touchdown with 6:40 remaining in the game. Wright's kick from placement was off target leaving the visitors in command 9-6.

The touchdown was set up by a fumble recovery at the Tiger 34. Halfback Dennis Page gained six to the 28. After a 5-yard penalty set the Tors back to the 33, Page gained five more to the 28 again. Then Page set up the touchdown with a 24 yard scamper to the four. He took a pitchout from quarterback Charlie Batchelor and raced down the east sidelines where he stepped out of bounds at the four.

Snyder missed a golden opportunity to score when the Tigers recovered a Lamesa fumble at the Tor 33 early in the initial period. Fullback Ricky Beard, who was the game's leading ball carrier with 84 yards on 20 carries, gained three to the 30. After a loss back to the 35, Falls hurled an aerial that fell incomplete, then Beard gained three to the 32 on fourth down.

Lamesa took over, but the Tiger defense held. On fourth down, the Tors recovered a fumble on their punt at the Snyder 42, but the Tiger defenders held again. Snyder couldn't move the ball and their fourth down punt was partially blocked with the ball going only 10 yards to the Snyder 15 yard line. Manuel gained two to the 13, Guy Price was held for no gain, and a pass fell incomplete. On fourth down, the Tors went for a field goal with Wright kicking from the 21. The ball was wide of the mark and Snyder took over again.

Snyder drove from its 20 to the Lamesa 48, but a fumble recovery by Glen McCurley stopped the Tigers again. Lamesa managed to drive to the 27, but again a stout defense by the Tigers stopped them. On their next possession Snyder marched from its 34 to midfield, but another fumble recovery, this time by Mark Hansard, stopped the Tigers. After the fumble recovery that led to Lamesa's field goal in the second quarter, the Tigers marched from their 38 to the Lamesa 16, but this drive also was halted by a fumble. Big plays in the drive were a 20 yard run by Beard and an eight-yard aerial, Falls to Tracy Witherspoon.

Snyder took the kickoff opening the second half and drove from its 24 to the Tornado seven yard line, but a fumble recovery by Ray Pearson stopped the Tigers again. It was a beautiful drive in which Clay Peterson, Falls and Beard all contributed yardage. Falls kept the drive alive with an 11-yard pass to James Wells to the 11 yard line to set up first 10.

At this point, it appeared the Tigers were sure to score. Beard gained three to the eight, and Peterson gained one to the seven. Then came the untimely fumble.

The Tigers took over possession of the ball at their 36 yard line with 6:40 remaining in the game following the Tornado touchdown. Beard carried three times, reaching the Tor 39 yard line. Falls contributed two to the 37, then another fumble halted the Tigers.

Snyder came into possession of the ball again at their 35 with 2:45 remaining in the game. They drove out to the 48, but this time a pass interception stopped the Tigers, and Lamesa was able to run out the clock.

The Tiger defense was outstanding throughout the game. Ends Tommy Smith and Ricky Fritz, tackles Richard Willis and David Rice, linebackers Darrell Lester and Greg Pavlik and nose guard Gary Hamilton all looked good. The secondary—Doug Morrell, Randy Shipp, Ramsey Tercero and Brent Terry— all appeared to be in the right position at the right time.

Next week, the Tigers host Lake View.

The Tigers dominated the game, rolling up 221 yards rushing to only 76 for Lamesa. Snyder also held the upperhand in passing, completing 4 of 10 aerials for 32 yards while Lamesa didn't complete any of five passes. Snyder led in first downs, 15 to 4.

Hermleigh Trips Panthers 34 To 8

HERMLEIGH—The host Hermleigh Cardinals thumped the Hobbs Panthers, 34-8, in a District 3-B Six-Man football contest here Friday night.

Hermleigh got the scoring parade underway in the first quarter on a six yard touchdown run by Carroll Don Burleson to cap a 60 yard drive. The try for extra points failed.

Later in the period Mark Anderle scored for Hobbs on a 12 yard run. They kicked for two extra points and an 8-6 lead.

The lead was short-lived, however, as Hermleigh's Burleson scampered 70 yards to pay dirt to put Hermleigh ahead 12-8 as the first quarter closed.

In the second period, Tim Peterson of Hermleigh scored on a nine yard run to climax a 27 yard drive set up by a fumble recovery. Again, the kick for extra points failed as the hosts took an 18-8 margin into the dressing run.

Peterson tallied for Hermleigh on a 16 yard run in the third quarter to cap a 48 yard drive. Joe Roemisch kicked for two extra points and a 26-8 Hermleigh lead going into the fourth quarter.

Burleson scored for Hermleigh on an eight yard run to cap a 31 yard drive set up by another fumble recovery. Tim Dacus kicked the extra points for the final 34-8 margin.

Hermleigh rolled to 394 yards rushing in this contest. The offensive line—Tim Dacus, Alan Culp, Danny Soules and James Williamson—all did a fine job of blocking for the Cardinals.

Hobbs ran the spread formation, but Hermleigh did a good job of covering the receivers and rushing the passer.

Hermleigh will be at Ira Friday night while Hobbs hosts McCaulley.

Highland Outscores Ira 82-33

IRA—Highland outscored Ira's Bulldogs, 82-33, here Friday night in a District 3-B Six-Man football clash.

Highland's Kerry Scott tallied on a 16 yard run in the first quarter, then Ray Reyes passed to Scott on a play that covered 52 yards. Ivan Krejci's kick made it 14-0 in favor of the visitors.

Ira cut the margin when Royce Corbell ran 41 yards for a touchdown and ran across for the extra point.

Krejci ran 19 yards to pay dirt, then kicked for two extra points.

Corbell ran 13 yards for an Ira TD, then Raymond Reyes passed to Krejci for a TD play that covered 54 yards. Krejci kicked the extra points. Late in the quarter, Royce Corbell scored on a 54 yard run to cut the visitors' margin to 30-19 at the end of the period.

Highland scored an 18 yard field goal by Krejci, a 20 yard pass play, Krejci to Scott; another 16 yard pass play, Krejci to Scott; and a 21 yard pass from Reyes to Randle Bankhead. Ira got a TD in the 2nd quarter on a 12 yard run by Fred Kesner, who ran for the extra point. Highland led 56-26 at halftime.

In the third period, Krejci scored on a 64 yard run and kicked the extra points, then Paul Rieger ran 32 yards for a TD. Ira's Fred Kesner tallied on a 64 yard run, and he ran for the extra point. Ivan Krejci also turned in another TD run as the third period ended, 76-33.

Krejci passed 16 yards to Reyes in the fourth period for the final TD, and play was stopped under the 45 point rule with 2:51 remaining. Ira hosts Hermleigh Friday night.

Hudspeth Steps Into Hot Water

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Rick Forzano followed up last Sunday's loss by the Detroit Lions with his resignation. Tommy Hudspeth views this Sunday's game against New England—and the rest of the season—with anything but resignation.

Hudspeth has a tough task in his National Football League coaching debut.

Hudspeth was the Lions' coordinator of personnel and scouting until last Tuesday, one day after Forzano quit as head coach. Then he was elevated to interim head coach by Lions' owner William Clay Ford—just in time to run into the hottest team in the league.

The Patriots, after dropping their opener to Baltimore, stampeded past three heavy favorites, Miami, Pittsburgh and Oakland. "They're great right now," Hudspeth understated.

But he thinks his Lions are good, despite their 1-3 record including last week's 24-14 loss to underdog Green Bay. He thinks the Lions are still capable of being a Super Bowl contender—if they play up to their potential.

"Anytime you can put a football team on the field with the potential we have, there's a chance to make the playoffs," he says. "But you have to get it out of them. This has to be done by placing the cards on the table with each individual. Be honest with them and say, 'This is what you have to do and haven't been doing. This is what you're doing that needs to be corrected.'"

What needs to be corrected most of all is the blocking on the line. Detroit's quarterbacks have been sacked 26 times and the team ranks next-to-last in the National Conference in passing.

SITTIN' ON THE SIDELINES

By BUCK SITTON

Our nomination for the Texas Sports Hall of Fame is the late Chesty Walker, who may have been one of the best offensive coaches of all time.

Chesty coached at Memphis during the late 20's and early 30's, and his Cyclone teams won regional several times. If there had been a state championship at that time, his teams possibly could have won several state championships. But, regional play was as far as those little Panhandle teams advanced in those times.

Walker later won recognition as coach of the Phillips Blackhawks when they had such powerhouses in the 1950's. We saw his 1954 team defeat Killeen for the state championship. Local fans will remember the Blackhawk team that defeated a good Colorado City team when the heralded Hollis Gainey played for the Wolves. The two teams met in Lubbock on windswept day, and the game was rated even. Phillips, however, won a one-sided victory.

When Jim Owens went to Washington in the mid 1950's, he took Walker with him as backfield coach. And it was Chesty's coaching brilliance that accounted for the Huskies' lopsided triumph in the Rose Bowl against a Big 10 team that was favored before the game.

Chesty closed out his career as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys.

In college at Abilene, Chesty was known as "Four Yard Walker" because he could be counted on to gain four yards every time he carried the ball.

One opposing coach in the Panhandle said he knew the exact type of plays that Chesty was going to use at Phillips and could diagram them on the blackboard. Yet, he was still unable to stop the Blackhawks. Chesty had a knack for getting a team up for a game week after week.

* * *

Speaking of football coaches, one of the most hard-nosed coaches the state has ever seen is Roy Curry, who won a state championship at Graham. Mickey Nunley, the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific Railway Co. veep, played under Curry at Graham during his high school years.

During one game with Fort Worth Polytechnic, Nunley, who was a starting halfback, sustained a fractured leg.

Curry walked out onto the field when play was stopped, leaned over the prostrate Nunley, and asked him if he could finish the game.

Curry later was hired at Fort Worth Arlington Heights, and rumor has it that he departed that coaching position because the parents felt he was too rough on their kids. Perhaps that stint in the Marine Corps gave Curry a Spartan approach to life.

In District 3-AAA action Friday night, the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes capitalized on several Snyder mistakes for a 9-6 victory over the Tigers.

Gail Clips Dawson 19-8

GAIL—The Borden County Coyotes defeated the Dawson Dragons, 19-8, here Friday night in a District 3-B football contest.

Eurdist Rinehart tallied from seven yards out for Gail in the first quarter.

Dawson's Walter Kitchens scored on a one-yard burst in the second quarter, and Kelly Carr passed to Jesse Kitchens for two extra points.

The Dawson lead was short-lived, however, as Gail scored on an 18 yard pass, Joe Zant to Ty Zant, to give Gail a 13-8 lead at halftime.

There was no scoring in the third quarter, but Gail's Bob McLeroy ran across from the four in the fourth quarter.

'Mystery Disease' Of International Importance

By JAMES R. PEIPERT
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Scientists in the United Sates, Britain and Belgium are trying to identify a mysterious disease known to have killed at least 81 persons since mid-September in the African nations of Sudan and Zaire.

At the World Health Organization (WHO) in Geneva, a spokesman said officials there view the outbreak as an event of "international importance."

A spokesman for the British Defense Ministry said blood samples from Sudanese victims of the disease were received last Tuesday from the WHO.

He said the samples were being examined at the ministry's microbiological research establishment at Porton Down. The high-security installation, near Salisbury about 83 miles southwest of London, is Britain's major microbiological research center.

A spokesman for the Belgian Public Health Ministry in Brussels said scientists are also trying to determine the cause of the disease at the Institute of Tropical Medicine in Antwerp and at the U.S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center in Atlanta.

Brussels is the major European terminus for flights from Zaire, formerly the Belgian Congo.

The Belgian Public Health Ministry said all travelers flying to Brussels from Kinshasa, the capital of Zaire, are being examined by health officials.

The inspectors have been taking passengers' temperatures to see if they have a high fever, a symptom of the disease. Other symptoms are vomiting, diarrhea and bleeding from the mouth, ears, eyes and other body orifices.

The death toll from the disease has been hard to pin down because it is believed that many Africans afflicted with it have gone into the bush and forests to die.

A WHO spokesman said the disease, similar to Lassa Fever, has a "very high mortality rate." It broke out in southern Sudan in mid-September and then spread to northern parts of Zaire.

A Belgian public health official said official figures from Zaire show 49 cases of the disease reported in that country. He said 41 of the victims died, including three Belgian Roman Catholic nuns and one Belgian missionary priest.

A WHO official in Geneva said health authorities in Sudan, which borders Zaire, had reported 80 cases, 40 of them fatal, in the towns of Nzara, Maridi and Lirango up to Oct. 5. He said that among the sick were a number of hospital doctors and nurses who have treated infected patients.

There have been unconfirmed reports from Kinshasa and Nairobi, Kenya, circulating in Europe during the past few days that as many as 230 persons may have died from the affliction.

So far there is no indication that the disease is Lassa Fever, one of the world's deadliest afflictions. Lassa Fever, which was identified in northeast Nigeria in 1969, has no known antidote and is caused by a virus carried by a tropical species of rat.

Balloonist Seeks To Cross Atlantic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ed Yost was reported to be 750 miles from the Spanish coast today in his bid to become the first to cross the Atlantic in a free air balloon.

Yost was at 12,000 feet moving northeastward at a speed of about 15 miles per hour, reported Richard Keuser, a coordinator for the wind-blown voyage of the 57-year-old balloon company owner from Sioux Falls, S.D.

Keuser said Yost has broken the record for time aloft in a free balloon, the old mark being 87 hours, set in 1913. Yost departed the Maine coast Tuesday evening.

Yost's latest position was a point approximately 270 miles north of the Azores, said Keuser. He had moved to 12,000 feet on the advice of radio messages from weathermen who said the wind currents were stronger at the higher altitude.

Because ballooning is inherently unpredictable, no one can say where Yost would cross the European coast. Keuser quoted Yost as saying, "I'm just lookng for dirt.

UNIVERSAL MEAL—Wednesday, Oct. 13, more than 25 million school students will enjoy the same meal in National School Lunch Programs throughout the country. Part of promotional activities throughout the week, the Universal Menu represents a balanced diet or the four basic food groups and provides one-third of the Recommended Daily Allowances for each child. This year's menu features a Hot Dog on A Bun, Ring Master's Vegetable Beef Soup, Side Show Orange Wedges, Happy Clown Tutti Frutti Crisp, and Midway Milk.

Nutrition Is Objective Of School Lunch Week

More and more Americans are becoming food-conscience in this age of Nutrition labelling laws, growing concern for malnutrition in America and a general interest in adequate nutrition for active minds and bodies.

New federal legislation has reinforced the need for nutrition education in America's educational programs and soon several pilot states will implement projects in nutrition education. Congress will also be taking a look at comprehensive nutrition education tied directly into the nation's learning laboratories and school lunch programs.

Reaching the nation's youth with good information and materials on the importance of nutrition may be an answer to malnutrition in America. School foodservice programs are already implementing various nutrition projects around the country and National School Lunch Week is no exception.

During National School Lunch Week, Oct. 10-16, students across the country will be deluged with information on good nutrition built around the theme, "You Are What You Eat."

On Wednesday, Oct 13, a universal menu will be served to 25 million students and convey a nutrition lesson not only to students but parents, teachers, and the general public.

This year's universal menu features a Hot Dog on A Bun, Ring Master's Vegetable Beef Soup, Side Show Orange Wedges, Happy Clown Tutti Frutti Crisp and Midway Milk and is an excellent example of the well balanced, nutritious meals served everyday in 90,000 school lunch programs. These meals are referred to as Type A lunches.

The Type A Lunch students eat at school furnishes at least 1-3rd or more of the Recommended Dietary Allowances for the nutrients boys and girls need each day. A well-nourished student functions better than a poorly nourished one. The food they eat each day makes a difference in the way they look, the way they feel and how well they grow and learn.

In today's society where mothers often go to work before their child leaves for school in the morning, the first well-balanced meal he will receive after 18 hours is the school lunch. It is this food that is eaten which builds bodies and maintains health. These foods include choices from all of the food groups of the Daily Food Guide plus a specified amount of butter or fortified margarine.

WHY SHOULD STUDENTS EAT A TYPE A LUNCH AT SCHOOL?

Researchers have found that when breakfast was omitted, students took longer to make decisions, were less steady and their work output decreased. This study alone indicates that breakfast is a very important meal. If a child does not eat an adequate lunch he will then be unable to adequately apply himself during the whole school day.

WHY SHOULD YOUR CHILDREN EAT A VARIETY OF FOODS EACH DAY?

Different foods provide different nutrients needed by the body. Therefore, this wide selection of variety of foods together will supply the nutrients needed is very important to follow. The school lunch includes foods which supply these needed nutrients and energy for young growing bodies.

WHAT IS SO IMPORTANT ABOUT EATING MEAT AND OR MEAT ALTERNATES?

Two or more servings are recommended daily. School lunch can provide one of these servings. The meat group contributes about 45 percent of the protein in the diet as well as 35 percent of the iron and 40 percent of the niacin. Meat also contains Vitamin A, thiamin, and riboflavin plus other nutrients.

Meat alternates such as eggs, cheese, peas, beans or peanut butter, may contain somewhat less per average serving of protein than meat. These items are usually consumed in combination with cereal protein, cereal and milk, or eggs, and therefore the combined protein values will approach that of the meat and cost less.

WHAT IS SO IMPORTANT ABOUT EATING VEGETABLES?

Four or more servings are recommended daily. School lunch often provides one of these servings. Vegetables are an important source of vitamins and minerals. Some vegetables supply Vitamin C, Vitamin A and iron. Others are supplementary sources of niacin, riboflavin and thiamin.

Good sources of Vitamin C include the dark-green leafy vegetables such as kale, spinach, and collard greens. The body needs Vitamin C to help bind cells together, to help produce strong teeth, to keep gums healthy, to promote the healing of wounds and cuts and to resist body infections. Dark-green leafy vegetables and deep yellow or orange vegetables such as carrots, sweet potatoes, and winter squash are good sources of carotene which the body can convert to Vitamin A.

Vitamin A helps keep skin healthy, promotes growth and development, protects us from not being able to see well at night and helps the body resist infections. Iron, another important nutrient, is also found in dark-green leafy vegetables such as kale, spinach, broccoli, and collard greens. Iron combines with protein to make hemoglobin, the red substance in blood that carries oxygen from the lungs to the cells. A lack of iron can cause iron-deficiency anemia.

Vegetables are also good sources of water for the diet. They provide necessary bulk which aids in digestion and elimination. One important plus is that most vegetables are low in calories while providing needed bulk or fiber.

WHAT IS SO IMPORTANT ABOUT EATING FRUIT?

Four or more servings are recommended daily. The school lunch provides part of one serving. Fruits are an important source of Vitamin C or ascorbic acid. Citrus fruits eaten chiefly for ascorbic acid include grapefruit, grapefruit juice, oranges, and orange juice.

Other good or excellent sources of Vitamin C are cantaloupes, raw strawberries and several tropical fruits. Vitamin C is known to be of great importance in many intra-cellular chemical reactions. The most important role of ascorbic acid is in forming and maintaining collagen, a substance that binds living cells together. Collagen holds the cells in proper relation to each other and to the body fluids that surround them. If collagen is weak in the wall of the small blood vessels, hemorrhages may occur. Ascorbic Acid has long been regarded as the factor in hastening recovery from cuts and wounds and healing of surgery.

Apples, apricots, peaches, pears and prunes offer small amounts of Vitamin C per serving. They are only important sources when they are eaten in large amounts daily and in forms in which the vitamin has not been lost in processing. Bananas and pineapples are slightly better sources of the fruits just named but are definitely of less value than citrus fruits strawberries and cantaloupes. When they are plentiful and cheap, they provide practical sources of Vitamin C. Many fruits also contribute Vitamin A to our diets. These include apricots, cantaloupe, prunes, cherries, nectarines, and tomatoes.

WHAT IS SO IMPORTANT ABOUT EATING BREADS AND CEREALS?

Four servings of enriched or whole grained cereal products are recommended daily. School lunch provides one of these servings. These products contribute to the day's intake of thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and iron. Whole-grain cereals and bread provide the necessary bulk which aid in digestion and

WHAT IS SO IMPORTANT ABOUT DRINKING MILK?

Four or more cups of milk are recommended daily for teenagers. School lunch provides one of these servings. Milk provides most of the calcium and riboflavin, some protein and Vitamin A. Vitamin D (if fortified), phosphorous and other nutrients in the daily diet. Calcium is needed during growth and throughout adult life since there is a constant remodeling and reshaping of the bones.

Calcium also plays a role in blood-clotting, and the regulation of the permeability of the cell memberane which controls the uptake of nutrients by the cell. Vitamin D plays an effect on this in the utilization of calcium in the body. Milk by itself is a great snack or a compliment to a mid-afternoon sandwich.

All of the above mentioned foods will be found in the "All American" lunch served in the Snyder Public School Cafeterias during National School Lunch Week.

These foods are provided in every Type A lunch served at school. Parents are invited to join their child for lunch this week. Adult meals will be $1.00. Are your children eating at school? If not, are you making sure your meals represent all of the nutritious, well-balanced foods they need?

Davis has been administrator of the SCS since June 1975. He began his career as a soil conservationist in 1952 in North Dakota. He served in various positions in that state prior to being named assistant state conservationist in Pennsylvania in 1963. He advanced to state conservationist there in 1968.

In 1972, Davis was assigned to the dual position of administrator's field representative for the 14 northeastern states and director of the SCS technical service center at Upper Darby, Pennsylvania. In 1974, he became assistant administrator at SCS headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Brune, who is the current president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, is a Sealy rancher, businessman and realtor. He was elected to his present post in 1973.

The Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts will elect two state directors and alternates during area discussion sessions on Wednesday, October 13. The Association president and vice-president will be elected at the business session on Thursday.

Jack Preferred Younger VP

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If his father had listened to him, Jack Ford said, someone younger than Sen. Robert Dole would be on the Republican ticket for vice president.

President Ford's oldest son said he suggested Gov. Christopher Bond of Missouri, Mayor Pete Wilson of San Diego, Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington or Sen. Pete V. Domenici of Colorado as a running mate before the national convention.

"You'll recognize my prejudice toward younger men," the 24-year-old told a news conference Thursday.

BELATED AWARD—Mrs. Pat James, a clerk at the Snyder branch of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, was presented an award Wednesday for her proposal in 1971 that the U.S.D.A. change its basic rule of fractions. Presenting the award was Roy Hanson, left, the county executive director of the ASCS and Tolbert Jaynes, right, the District 8 Director of the ASCS. The award was at least one year late in arriving.

Red Tape, Delays Still Flowing From Capitol

Despite politicians' election year vows to reduce the bureaucracy, oceans of red tape are still flowing from the nation's capitol, judging by two separate incidents that occurred in Snyder the past week.

The county auditor, Jay Massingill, received a small bundle of mail Wednesday from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in Washington. Massingill said he receives many pieces of mail from various governmental agencies.

However, in Wednesday's mail, he received a 17 feet-5 inch long form that weighed several pounds. Accompanying the stately document was a two-page set of instructions informing him of the proper way to fill out the form. A memorandum, dated Sept. 27, was also in the mail giving Massingill an address and telephone number to contact in the event he should need additional copies of the form. A shorter form, 3 feet-8 inches long was also provided him by the EEOC, in addition to the nine identical 8-page long EEOC bulletions.

"It will take one person working an eight-hour day to fill out that form," Massingill said. The major form, the one that is 17 feet-5 inches long, requires an analysis breakdown of Scurry County's 300 to 350 employes.

Massingill, accepting the situation good-naturedly, noted that he has until Nov. 30 to complete the form. "I do not think however," he said, "that I will need any additional copies of the form."

In another incident, a Snyder woman finally received an award and official recognition for a proposal she made Aug. 18, 1971.

Mrs. Pat James, a clerk at the Snyder branch of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, made a recommendation to the Texas branch of the ACSC in College Station that the U.S.D.A. change its basic rule of fractions.

Because the ACSC often works with statistics and figures, she explained, the employes are usually asked to round off the numbers. Under the old guidelines, they were only permitted to round off the figures downwards. However, the calculators they work with do not round off downwards, only upwards, this requiring the clerks to perform extra computations.

In 1971, Mrs. James recommended that the U.S.D.A. change its policy and permit employes to round off their figures upwards, in order to conform to the abilities of their calculators.

In 1972, she received a letter from the U.S.D.A. rejecting her idea. Doing a complete about-face in 1975, the U.S.D.A. then adopted her suggestion and implemented it in all its offices in the United States.

Only Wednesday Mrs. James was presented an official award for the suggestion she made in 1971. To top if off, the award paper had been bent somewhat in the mail.

"Frankly, no one in this office knows why the award was so late in coming," she explained patiently.

Man Caters To Burning Desire

MIAMI (AP) — Guy De Stefano caters to people who have a burning desire to get rid of something. For a fee, he will see that confidential matters are burned to a crisp.

De Stefano, 61, claims to be the only such destroyer in the sprawling Miami-Dade County area.

He started his firm several years ago after getting out of the scrap-paper business.

He said he has destroyed everything from attorneys' records and designs for clothes and buildings to medical formulae and packages of unspecified materials. Usually he takes the material to a county incinerator and watches as it's burned.

Burning is the only way to make sure that anything, especially paper, is destroyed, De Stefano said.

"Shredders only shred to a quarter of an inch, and papers could be put back together," he explained. "The only true way is to burn it and mix it with thousands of other things."

More than half the people of the world live in Asia.

SEEING RED—Mrs. Alta Bavousett, a clerk at the county auditor's office at the courthouse, shows a 127 feet-5 inch long form the office received Wednesday. Accompanying the form was a host of other materials. The auditor's office has until Nov. 30 to complete the form and return it to Washington, D.C.

Humphrey Up Walking Around

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey is up walking around and "continues to do very well" after surgery to remove his cancerous bladder, his doctor says.

Dr. Willet F. Whitmore Jr. said Friday that the Minnesota Democrat's "vital sign remain stable and progress continues normally. He has been out of bed several times this afternoon, walking around his room."

Whitmore led the surgical team which removed 65-year-old Humphrey's bladder at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center on Thursday.

THE PRIDE OF THE WEST—The Snyder High School Marching Band, "The Pride of the West," marches down College Avenue in all its splendor as the 1976 SHS Homecoming Parade approaches the downtown square.

THERE WAS FOOD, TOO—Homecoming visitors, student and townspeople thonged the Snyder High School Cafeteria late Friday as the School Food Service Association served a Mexican Food dinner. Some 1,221 persons were served, the association reported.

THE CROWD RALLIES AROUND—Hundreds of people were massed on the courthouse square when the Snyder High School Homecoming rally concluded pre-game festivities Friday afternoon.

A WORD FROM THE PUBLISHER

The tella on Deep Creek says, "There are plenty of rules for attaining success, but none of them work unless you do."

Being the new kid on the block has been an interesting experience for us since our arrival in Snyder just over a week ago. Although we are still trying to find our way around, we are feeling more "at home" each day.

In just a few short weeks, our wife and son will be joining us in Snyder, and by then we hopefully will have a better grip on the routine.

The first week here has been an eventful one, and we've met hundreds of friendly, helpful people. If you haven't moved into a new town, you just can't fully appreciate that kind of reception.

We've had many first impre_ions of Snyder, and all of them have been positive. Without a doubt, the city is one of the most progressive in West Texas.

The fact that Snyder has a 13 per cent increase in population over the 1970 census is no surprise to us. While many West Texas communities are holding their own population wise, Snyder is setting the pace.

We're not surprised since there are many evidences of why Snyder will continue to grow. That goes back to one of our first impressions. People are proud of this city, and we've been told by numerous folks what a good place Snyder is to work, live and rear a family.

Snyder people talk about their city with pride and enthusiasm and enthusiasm breeds more enthusiasm, and pride is a commodity that can't be bought or manufactured.

The outstanding public facilities such as the city hall, chamber, courthouse and coliseum are just examples of community pride which we've discovered the first week.

The renovated downtown area, the impressive Western Texas College campus and a super parks system are other items which have made a positive impact during the first week.

We've found many people who like to tell the Snyder story, and it is indeed unique and all-American.

One item in particular took our attention when a real estate man explained with pride that the city charter had not been revised since it was drafted almost 25 years ago. That kind of record is proof of planning and hard work.

We're pleased to be a part of Snyder, and we look forward to working as part of the Snyder Daily News team in giving a blue ribbon city the same kind of newspaper.....ROY McQUEEN

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a possibility you could treat a serious matter far too lightly today. Don't play games with something of value.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Even though you will have to contend with opposition today you're apt to be the one who lucks out in the long run.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Whether you have problems today largely depends on your own attitude. If you seek the sunshine, it's there.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's not likely that your generosity toward certain pals will be matched today. When the tab comes, see that everyone antes up.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Put your splendid sense of humor to work for you today instead of taking yourself and everything you do too seriously.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Dwelling on self-defeating thoughts will whip you before you even get started today. It's just as easy to see yourself a winner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Give of yourself, your time and your advice to a friend who has a problem today, but don't try to solve things with your checkbook.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Being too closely involved with the wrong person today could cause you complications. Avoid anyone whose aims differ considerably from yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be willing to be helpful today, but you'll deeply resent being used. Unfortunately someone may try to take advantage of you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's best that you don't do business with friends today. If it can't be avoided, be careful no one's feelings are hurt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is not a good day to enter into important negotiations as you may have to bargain from your weakness. Wait.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today you're apt to be your own harshest critic. Try to see the same good points in yourself that others recognize.

For Monday, Oct. 11, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It will take some soul-searching today before your best ideas surface. Once the light goes on, however, follow through promptly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A big opportunity may come about from a humble beginning today. If you hear an insider talking about a potential gain, take notice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may be a slow starter today, but once you get going the sparks will fly. Toward evening you'll really sharpen up.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be fortunate today in accomplishing what you want to if you operate behind the scenes. Just be sure to be above board.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you'll function best in front of a crowd. An attentive sea of faces inspires you to lucid prose.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Taking steps to enhance your income or career should be your major concern today. The results will please you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Grasping ideas and retaining them easily are your main stocks in trade today. Don't waste time on shallow thoughts or thinkers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Joint ventures are extremely promising today. Move as soon as everyone is in full accord.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're a pretty nifty horse trader today. Chances are if anyone can turn a buck you can. Don't pass up anything that looks like a bargain.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Conditions affecting your vocation should be in harmony with your highest aspirations the next few days. Do your very best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Hang in there today. Time is your ally. You may not be the first one out of the starting block, but you could break the tape.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your good today will be on the good things you can do for others. Follow through. It will please you as much as it helps them.

THE PASTORAL COUNSELOR

LOVE FROM ANOTHER DIRECTION

Baby was two and a half. She loved to run across the room and jump into Mama's lap and stay there for a big hug. Mama's lap was a good place to be. Mama's arms were handy there to hold her. Mama's tummy was fun to pound on. Mama's lap was just the right place to be.

One day mama left. She was gone forever. She had said she was going somewhere like a hospital and would be back soon. It wasn't soon at all. She was gone four naps, and four night-nights, and four breakfasts and forever, almost.

When Mama came home she wouldn't let Baby sit on her lap and pound on her tummy any more, at all, ever. Not even once. She said the doctor had cut on her tummy and it hurt when Baby even touched it. Baby couldn't sit on her lap and lean against her and feel safe any more. Baby cried because Mama didn't love her any more. Baby didn't know what she had done to make Mama stop loving her, but it must have been something horribly bad. Baby cried, and cried, and cried.

And then Mama understood. It took her a whole day, but she finally understood. "Baby, you can't sit on my lap, but you can sit here right beside me and snuggle up with my arm around you. Oops! No, you can't pat my tummy, but you can pat my leg and up here, and on my arm, but not my tummy. That still hurts."

Baby was satisfied. She felt just as warm and just as safe cuddled up to Mama from the side as she did in her lap. Her lap would really be better, but even if she couldn't get her love from Mama's lap, she could get it from Mama's side. The lap wasn't the important thing, after all, the love was.

In one sense, Baby was lucky. She learned that love could come a different way from what she was used to. But it was still love. Lots of grownups never learn this. I asked one lady what her husband could do every day that she would recognize as an act of love. She immediately replied, "Buy me an expensive present." The poor girl thereby doomed her marriage. Her husband had a lot of love for her, but he could not spend $200 and up a day to prove it. He had to show her in other ways, and she could not learn to notice the other ways. It is true that this was about the only way her father had shown his love for her, but love has many forms.

One thing that sours a good many marriages is that we grow up learning only a few forms of giving and receiving love. When husband and wife know the same forms, everything is fine. But when their ways are different, it can only be frustrating until each learns how the other is expressing love. In the husband's family, when someone went out and picked a bucket of blackberries and brought it home, it was greeted with cheers, a pie was promptly made, and everyone enjoyed those berries. Blackberries were a symbol of love for the whole family.

In the wife's family, a neurotic mother would angrily force the kids to go out and pick blackberries. So for her blackberries became a symbol of oppression. Husband went out and picked a bucket of blackberries, and with a big smile brought it in to his wife. Wife looked at them, felt all that oppression, burned pale, and put the berries on the sink shelf where they quietly rotted. For several days, every time husband went into the kitchen he would see those berries and be hurt all over again. It took a lot of forgiveness and understanding from both of them before love could flow freely in that family again! But understanding and forgiveness and also acts of love.

Baby knew that the way she got love was in Mama's lap. She thought it was the only way. But once she realized that it was the love, not the lap, that she wanted, she was then able to accept it from the side.

Pest Control Award Made

Joe Alexander, president of Alexander Pest Control, has been awarded the designation, Di-Tox Pro, according to Hub States Corp., manufacturers of Di-Tox and other professional insecticides and equipment.

The designation refers to the local firm's use of the Di-Tox insecticide in controlling roaches, ants, silverfish and other insect pests for residential and commercial customers.

Di-Tox is a relatively new compound, employed only by professional exterminators and is not available in consumer-packaged insecticides. "In the hands of our trained technicians," said Alexander, "We can solve the majority of the insect problems in this area with Di-Tox."

Week's Reports Cause Concern

By WILLIAM GLASGALL
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Unemployment and prices added this past week to worries that the nation's economic recovery may be turning around.

And a number of economists continue to be concerned that a major indicator of economic health — capital spending — may fail to pick up during the rest of 1976.

The unemployment rate for September showed joblessness remained fairly stable since August, declining 0.1 per cent to 7.8 per cent.

But both total employment and the number of those with jobs plus those seeking them declined. The drop in the number of Americans with jobs in August and September followed a period of rapidly rising employment.

Although the work force fell, wholesale prices jumped ahead. The government said a 1.9 per cent gain in farm prices pushed the wholesale price index up 0.9 per cent last month following an 0.1 per cent decline in August.

The September wholesale price increase was the sharpest in 11 months and also was boosted by an 0.9 per cent rise in industrial commodity prices.

Wholesale prices rose 9 per cent last year and had been rising, though at a considerably slower rate, through the early part of 1976. The slowdown contributed to optimism that the rate would be considerably reduced for the year as a whole.

If the September rate were calculated on an annual basis, it would come out to a 10.8 per cent gain, although economists caution that figuring a year's performance on one month's statistics is unwise.

The third worry, capital spending, comes as observers wait for businesses to gear up for expanded production.

Capital spending is money invested by a business for new plants and manufacturing equipment. Some economists say the spending boom is just around the corner; others are warning of continued sluggishness.

"Businessmen still have substantial excess capacity and see no driving need to expand," said Robert H. Parks, chief economist of the brokerage firm Advest & Co.

Tilford Gaines, a senior vice president of New York's Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., said "capital spending is lagging appreciably behind where it would be expected to be at this phase of the business cycle."

According to Gaines, industries are facing "abnormally high" interest rates, forcing them to postpone borrowing plans, as well as rising construction costs and the uncertainties of inflation.

But at the National City Bank of Minneapolis, economists Walter W. Heller and George L. Perry see a different picture ahead.

Heller and Perry cite a rise in capital goods orders over last year's levels and a recent Commerce Department survey showing business spending rising at a 15per cent annual rate in the last three quarters of this year in forecasting a capital spending pickup.

Jennings Asks To Withdraw As Finalist

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Waylon Jennings has asked to be removed for "personal" reasons as a finalist for the Country Music Association awards to be televised Monday night.

But CMA officials say it's too late and Jennings is still among the finalists in each of five categories.

Richard Frank, counsel to the CMA, said Thursday the association received a telegram last Friday from Jennings in which the country artist asked to withdraw from the voting for "personal and private" reasons.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Penny Marshall of "Laverne & Shirley" (ABC, Tues. night at 7:30) lets her hair down and takes an inward look at herself. In this "Celebrities On The Couch" interview, Penny Marshall reveals her private personality and the truth comes out...often in surprising, revealing and funny ways.

MAURICE: How would you describe yourself?

MARSHALL: Scared, frightened, not without talent, and, I don't know. Just an ordinary, regular, sick person.

MAURICE: How has the success of "Laverne & Shirley" changed your life?

MARSHALL: I don't have the time to enjoy the things that I like doing. I don't have time to see as many friends as I used to and I miss seeing them. I don't see my child often enough. I don't see Rob (Reiner from "All In The Family") often enough. We're on different schedules. I like to do jigsaw puzzles and stuff which is a total waste of time but I like it. I haven't been in a store so long that I forgot what one looks like.

MAURICE: Is there anything you tend to be vain about?

MARSHALL: I don't deal with that at all. I don't like to look in mirrors. I don't like what I see. I expect another vision but it's always me.

MAURICE: Don't you think, as an actress, you should have a sort of love-self confidence going for you?

MARSHALL: I don't know where it comes from or how I get to it. It happens and I can't explain it. The writers don't like to hear when I give them my lecture that I am not an actress and I don't know how to act. They can't understand what I'm saying is that I don't know how to do it. I'm not an actress, I keep telling them. I do what I do and I don't consider it acting, sometimes. It's silly and neurotic but it is also true.

MAURICE: What do you do that really annoys Rob?

MARSHALL: Smoke; he's not too thrilled with that. And I worry. He doesn't like to see me worry and down a lot cause he says, 'You've got everything going for you now. Don't worry about it.' I'm already worried about my downhill climb from stardom. He says, 'You just got there! You're crazy!'

MAURICE: Do you feel that a woman must have a child in order to feel complete?

MARSHALL: Oh, I don't know. All I know is the pressure is off. I've done it. I don't have that thing of being 30 or 35 and not having a child. I did that. I did that at 20.

MAURICE: Do you worry about your age?

MARSHALL: Only lately from doing the series cause we're playing 22 year olds and I've long past that age. We're supposed to be playing vibrant 21, 22 year olds and the cameramen keep telling me that I look very tired and the rings begin to show underneath my eyes. It worries me cause I look like I've had it.

MAURICE: When you were 21, 22, were those happy days?

MARSHALL: I was married with a kid. Those days weren't bad. I had dropped out of college and I was having a good time. I didn't know what depression or anxiety meant until I came out to "Lotus Land". It was here that I learned about analysis and all that. I think that screwed me up more than anything. I was getting along just fine until I came out here and everyone had to see a psychiatrist. You had to go to one. And now I'm crazy.

Powder Puff Mechanics Course Set

A 10-hour course in Powder Puff Mechanics will be offered through the Community Services department of Western Texas College starting Thursday night.

An organizational meeting is planned at 7 o'clock Tuesday night, Paul Cormier, instructor, said. He will use that session to talk with students and determine their special needs.

The organizational meeting and class meetings will be held in the WTC automotive shop at the east end of the campus.

Students will pay fees of $15 each. A minimum of 10 will be required to form the class, with maximum enrollment set at 15.

Lecture time will be divided with actual lab time, and each person enrolled will be given the opportunity to work on his or her own car whenever possible.

Topics to be covered during the classes include general repairs (fixing flats, checking oil levels, fuel, oils and filters); general car care (cleaning, paints, waxing); tune-up guidelines, and troubleshooting.

Persons interested may preenroll by calling the Community Services office at WTC, 573-8511, extension 237.

Prince Bertil To Wed Dec. 7

STOCKHOLM,, Sweden (AP) — Prince Bertil of Sweden and his friend and companion of 33 years, Lilian Craig of England, will be married on Dec. 7 in the chapel of Drottningholm Castle, a royal residence on the outskirts of Stockholm.

The royal family announced Friday that the wedding of Bertil, 64-year-old bachelor uncle of King Carl Gustaf, and Mrs. Craig, 61, was approved by the king, who is married to a West German commoner.

Bertil's father, the late King Gustaf Adolf, long opposed the romance between the prince and Mrs. Craig and refused to approve the marrige, as required by the Swedish constitution.

Had Bertil married without his father's approval, he would have lost his royal title like his brothers Carl Johan and S[illegible] married Swedish commoners

Priscilla Davis Recalls Eve Of Mansion Murders

EDITOR'S NOTE — By jet set standards, it was a quiet summer night, warm and starry, an evening of dinner, drinks at a pub, small talk. There was only a hint that something was wrong: "I noticed the security locks were off..." Thus began a night of terror and death in the opulence of a showplace Fort Worth mansion. A survivor remembers.

By MIKE COCHRAN and JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writers

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The man, Priscilla recalled, was dressed in black. All in black.

He wore a black wig and said, "Hi." He shot her in the chest.

"I grabbed where I had been shot. I screamed. I said I had been shot. I said, 'Cullen shot me! Stan, go back! I could hear Stan coming."

It had begun.

Cocktails, dinner, a starry August night. A couple, she recalled, very much in love.

But a man in black intervened.

Stan Farr, 30, died. Andrea Wilborn, 12, died. A young man fell critically wounded. And Priscilla Davis, blood gushing from the bullet wound, escaped death in an incredible midnight dash for help.

Her estranged husband, millionaire Cullen Davis, was jailed, accused of a murderous shooting spree at the $6 million "dream house" he built during a happier time.

That was Aug. 2.

It is now two months later. Again it is the mansion and again it is midnight. Priscilla reflected from her opulent bedroom with two newsmen on the murders and her own brush with death that bizarre night.

Curled lazily against a downy ridge of pillows, she sipped clear wine from a goblet. A blue jet of cigarette haze twisted carelessly toward the high ceiling.

A striking ice blonde of 35, she was wide awake in the dead of night, as has become her custom. A longtime woman friend sat nearby.

High up on a far wall, a three-screen presidential-style television console flickered soundlessly. The woman friend pushed a button and the three sets—each tuned to a different channel—went dark.

"Whenever I look at television now, somebody's pointing a gun," Priscilla said.

Before the shootings Aug. 2, Priscilla moved easily in her role as a high priestess of Fort Worth's monied society. There were the jet set parties. The mansion glowed at night like a garish birthday cake commanding a view of the 181-acre estate. There were trips to Europe, a mink bedspread and the home's solid copper roof. Not bad for a girl from Houston's grimy southeast side who said she learned what it meant to be blonde, bosomy and beautiful. And it all fit well with the high life Cullen Davis laid at her feet.

"I didn't try to break into the social group. By marrying Cullen I started at the top," she said.

A woman of some mystery, a target of high and low rumor, Priscilla swept away all pretenses, smiling wryly as she acknowledged talk about a movie camera focused from the ceiling on her bed below.

"It doesn't even work," she said.

And filmed lovemaking?

Again the smile: "I know what I'm doing. I don't need an instant replay. I'm not and never have been into that kind of thing. I don't think Cullen ever went looking for another woman because he found me boring."

A powder gray kitten hopped from a chair at the sound of muted voices downstairs—Priscilla's round-the-clock guard and private nurse.

"What have people been saying about me? I've heard a lot of it myself. There may have been some wild parties here while I was away. I don't go for that. I'm strictly a one-to-one person. I've never talked with anyone who's participated in group sex who got anything out of it. But I can't say because I've never tried it."

As the kitten explored the massive bed—strewn with papers, books and letters—Priscilla lifted the back of her blouse to expose a scar. It was the exit wound of a .38-caliber slug.

Although her weight is still 10 pounds below her normal 104, she appeared virtually recovered, in good health and good spirits.

And, as the spiraling trees danced crazily outside in the rush of an autumn wind, she refilled her wine glasss, lighted another cigarette and remembered.

She had fled the mansion that night, her denim skirt wrapped tightly around her midsection, stemming the flow of blood. Moments later, she heard a shot, a woman's scream, then another series of shots.

She mistakenly thought it was her older daughter, Dee, returning home unexpectedly. Actually, it was Gus Gavrel, 21, bringing a friend to the house. He was critically wounded. The friend escaped.

She recalled stumbling across the vast estate, her head pounding, her dog running alongside her.

My God, I've got to get help for Stan and the children. I thought it was Dee. I was talking to God. I was talking to the dog. I was talking to [illegible]

Davis Is Poring Over Papers

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — With a crack legal team battling to free him, millionaire industrialist Cullen Davis languished Saturday in a 6-by-8 foot cell on the 10th floor of the Tarrant County jail.

There is no television, no radio. Only paperback novels and magazines.

He spends hours poring over business and legal papers, the latter involving charges that he killed his 12-year-old stepdaughter and the lover of his estranged wife Priscilla.

Davis also is accused of attempted murder in the shooting of Priscilla and a young visitor at his lavish, $6 million mansion on Fort Worth's southwest side.

He sees only his lawyers, a brother, a nurse and occasionally a chiropractor who treats him for an ailment which produces intense headaches.

"He never complains and he seeks no special favors," said Sheriff Lon Evans. "He is a polite, well-mannered gentleman as far as we're concerned."

He rises daily at 6 a.m., cleans his quarters and quietly whiles away the hours, leaving his cell three times a week to walk 40 feet down a corridor to bathe.

Mostly he is simply left alone with his private thoughts, sprawled across a steel bunk, wearing white jail coveralls and tennis shoes.

It was here that he spent his 43rd birthday Sept. 23. Except for receiving several birthday cards, his birthday passed unnoticed.

Davis, once a fixture in Fort Worth's loftiest social circles, has been confined here since Aug. 20, 18 days after the shooting spree at the mansion.

It was Aug. 20 that the district attorney's office dropped murder charges against Davis and refiled capital murder charges. Under the original charges, Davis could not be denied bond.

Bond was set on the capital case involving Stan Farr at $500,000. The murder complaint involving Andrea Wilborn carries no bond.

The capital murder charges are based on a state contention that Davis entered the mansion the night of the murders and was "in the course of committing and attempting to commit the offense of burglary..."

At the time of his second arrest Aug. 20, he was preparing to board his private airplane. He told officers he was flying to Houston on business.

His trial is set for Feb. 21.

"dream house," Priscilla led the way through its cavernous, ornate rooms.

She wore bluejeans, a blouse, and heavy woolen sox. Barely five feet tall, she looked fragile against the massive backdrop.

Her soundless steps moved across parquet floors, past sunken tubs, beyond the spectacular indoor swimming pool, through carefully appointed hallways, stopping in a blazing pink bedroom once occupied by Andrea, Priscilla's daughter by a previous marriage.

Several balloons dangled lifelessly from a lamp pole. Tears welled up in Priscilla's eyes.

"I guess that's one thing that will haunt me forever. I'd give anything in the world to know, why Andrea. Why Andrea?"

As she stood there, the once glamorous queen of the Fort Worth jet set seemed forlorn. Lost. Her daughter was dead, her lover dead, her husband jailed, her mansion cold.

Would she remain in a house whose every room could offer nothing but tragic reminders?

"Where can I go? I have no place to go. I never knew fear before—until now."

Viking Arm Pushes Rock

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — On its second try, the Viking 2 lander's arm pushed a Martian rock a few inches to help scientists test a theory that if Martian life exists, it may hide from the sun.

On Monday, a Viking program spokesman said, the mechanical shoveling arm will be ordered to extend again and scoop up a soil sample for testing in one of the robot's miniature laboratories.

The soil will be tested for organic compounds, the carbon-based molecules that are the basic components of all living things on earth.

The shovel had failed earlier in the week to budge another rock, leading scientists to theorize that it was the tip of a larger, partly buried rock or that it had been cemented in place by wind, rain or other natural forces.

The arm was ordered Friday to try another rock, about nine inches long and seven inches wide. The rock moved, exposing an indentation in the ground about three inches deep, the spokesman at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

Scientists want to sample the soil beneath the rock to test the possibility that living organisms seek shelter from the harsh solar radiation which streams unhindered through Mars' thin atmosphere.

Closes Streets

City administrators plan to close streets near schools and senior citizens' homes so the young people will have a safe place for play and the elderly will have a pleasant area for recreational and social purposes.

Contract Amended By Water District

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District amended the water sales contract with the city of Robert Lee at their meeting Thursday in Big Spring.

Robert Lee is due to furnish rural water district with some 75,000,000 gallons of water a year, and this exceeded the city's contract quantity. Any customers beyond 2½ miles of the city limits, exclusive of the rural water district, may be served by the district.

First National Bank in Big Spring was selected as the depository for the biennium beginning Jan. 1, 1977.

O.H. Ivie, general manager, told the board that seven test wells had been drilled in the Ward County well field, and that after an analysis of the formations, four would be selected for drilling and development in time for use in the summer of 1977.

Ivie was instructed by the board to continue billing the SACROC unit in accordance with contract terms as interpreted by the district, and to take whatever steps necessary to obtain payment on that basis.

No further word has been heard from General Tire and Rubber Company, for whom the district previously agreed to sponsor waste water control bonds in the amount of $1,500,000. All terms had beeen agreed upon, but General has not requested issuance of the bonds. These will constitute a liability against General Tire and not the district, but the district will receive an underwriter's fee for handling the bonds.

The price of residential (generally $1 per foot) and commercial lots at lake J.B. Thomas were restored to the original figure. During a period of low lake levels, the lease price had been reduced. New leases will be at $2 per front foot per annum at Lake Thomas.

Directors honored W.A. (Shorty) McGlaun, Snyder, former director, for 17 years of outstanding service on the board. He was present to receive a plaque from P.C. Harbour, Odessa, president of CRMWD.

Earlier, the board had approved an annual budget of $7,605,652 for the year 1977. Matching these revenues, the expenditures were to include $2,569,619 operating expenses, $3,730,395 debt service and $1,305,638 net revenues for required bond coverage.

CHANGE IN SEED CERTIFICATION:

Certified seed purchased after Jan. 1, 1977 will be certified only for genetic identity.

This means that the seed has been produced and processed under standards and procedures established by the Texas Seed and Plant Board and enforced by the Texas Department of Agriculture to assure that the variety is as represented by the certification label accompanying the seed.

Since the new certification standard is concerned only with the genetic identity of the variety, it does not consider such quality factors as purity, inert matter, other crop seed, weed seed, noxious weed seed and germination percentage. However, the Texas Seed Law still requires that seed quality information be truthfully labeled on a separate analysis label accompanying the seed. Remember, both labels tell the complete story about the seed [illegible]

The reasons for the change in seed certification standards are these:

–To assure a more dependable supply of seed officially certified as to genetic identity.

–To establish uniformity with the Federal Seed Act.

–To encourage international seed trade.

–To encourage competition for producing higher quality seed.

–To allow production of certified seed having quality characteristics for different market needs.

Producers buying seed for the 1977 planting season should look for the new genetic certification label along with the analysis label accompanying the seed. Each of the labels has a specific purpose. The certification label means the variety is properly identified while the analysis label provides seed quality information. Producers must read carefully both labels to [illegible] the seed meets [illegible]

Rain Damages City Hay Crop

The City of Snyder could sympathize with farmers who felt that they could have made it a few days longer without those rains the past week.

The city had a cutting of alfalfa hay on the ground at its "farm" adjacent to the wastewater treatment plant when the rains came.

What is the city doing with an alfalfa crop? Well, a couple of government agencies—one federal, one state—are involved. Acting in response to regulations handed down by the Environmental Protection Agency, the Texas Water Quality Board has instructed the city to find a new method of disposing of treated waste water from the plant south of Thirty-seventh Street near Deep Creek.

For a number of years, the city turned most of this water into the creek. Last year, arrangements were made for Western Texas College to use some of the effluent water for irrigation of its new golf course and other areas of the college campus. But even its peak demand would require only a fraction of the amount of water available.

So, in seeking other uses of the water, the city launched an experimental irrigation project of its own. Some 70 acres of land available at the treatment plant was planted to alfalfa and as much of the wastewater as the land would take was applied.

The alfalfa was sold on a contract to the highest bidder, bringing $30 a ton as it stood in the field. The first cutting several weeks ago returned the city $2,700. The second cutting was on the ground when the rains came the past week and it sustained considerable damage.

City officials figure it will not return more than $1,000.

However, they are hopeful that a third cutting will be produced before the growing season ends.

The city has taken an option on more land adjacent to the property it already owns at the wastewater treatment plant and hopes to increase the amount of water it can use for that purpose in the future. In fact, city officials are hopeful that all of the wastewater can be put to use which will enable the city to comply with the EPA and Texas Water Control Board rules. They haven't been pushed to conform immediately, but the sooner the better, they figure.

CITY'S HAY CROP—Bales of hay dot the landscape near the City of Snyder's wastewater treatment plant as a crop comes off the city "farm." The city is growing the alfalfa in a project designed to make use of water from the treatment plant which has been going into Deep Creek. The EPA and Texas Water Quality Board have instructed the city to discontinue the practice of turning the wastewater into the creek.

READY FOR DELIVERY—A load of fresh-cut, fresh-baled alfalfa hay is shown at the city's farm land adjacent to the wastewater treatment plant south of Thirty-seventh Street near Deep Creek. The alfalfa is irrigated with all the water the land will absorb as the city seeks to use up as much of the wastewater as possible. It hopes to make practical use of all the water from the treatment plant in the future.

Event Includes Free Dance Lessons

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State University has scheduled its first big homecoming dance in years — and it's not taking any chances.

Anyone planning to attend the dance on Oct. 30, featuring the "big band" sound of Les Elgart, is eligible for free dancing lessons.

"The students are trying to bring back the 1940s big band sound for this dance," said Margaret Wiemers, administrative assistant at the Iowa State Center. "A lot of kids really don't know much about ballroom dancing, so we'll be having the lessons for them."

A Des Moines dancing studio will teach the two-step, fox trot, tango and modern dances like the Hustle and the Bump on three Fridays before the big dance.

DEAR ABBY: Tell WIG-WEARER to relax. (She's the one whose friend always tugged at her hair in public to see if she was wearing a wig.) I had a similar problem when I started wearing a toupee.

A self-righteous biddy in our couples dinner-bridge club would ask me in company such nosy questions as, "Whose idea was it, yours or your wife's?" And, "Does it make you feel more manly or younger?"

I took it goodnaturedly for a few evenings, but it finally got to me, so I asked her sweetly, at the bridge table, how come she didn't use a deodorant.

Well, since then, she hasn't spoken to me about my toupee. Come to think of it, she hasn't spoken to me about anything at all.

COMPLACENT IN ILLINOIS

DEAR COMPLACENT: Read on for another response to the same letter. Only this one got it in the teeth:

DEAR ABBY: The woman who was embarrassed by her "friend" calling attention to her wig reminds me of a "friend" I once had who always called attention to the fact that I wore dentures.

"They look SO real," she would say, "Are they the kind you take out at night, or do you sleep in them?"

One day I reached the boiling point and told her that the next time she mentioned my false teeth in the presence of others, I would fix her so that she would need not only false teeth but a wired jawbone to go with them! She knew I wasn't kidding, so that was the last time she mentioned my teeth.

MINNIE IN N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from GOING CRAZY really hit home. Please remind people that even if a patient isn't seriously ill, he is in the hospital to get well, not to entertain visitors.

I just came home from a hospital stay and was pleased that I had had the foresight to tell friends and relatives that I didn't think I would want any visitors. My roommate in the hospital appeared to welcome graciously a stream of well-intentioned friends and relatives, but I noticed how relieved she seemed to be after they left because she really didn't feel up to seeing them.

Please ask your readers to check to see if a patient REALLY wants visitors before popping in with a surprise visit. A card may be much more appreciated than a visit or a phone call.

RECOVERING FROM SURGERY

DEAR RECOVERING: Well said. And while we're on the subject, I wonder why everyone thinks a NO VISITORS sign on a door means everyone but THEM?

DEAR ABBY: I like this guy who lives near me (we're both juniors in high school) but he calls me his "buddy." I would like to be closer than that but can't seem to get him to realize it.

He always tells me his troubles, talks about other girls and asks for my advice, but when it comes to a school dance or a movie on the weekend, he asks somebody else.

Should I drop him?

ONLY A-BUDDY

DEAR BUDDY: Face it, rarely does a romance bud between a young man and a girl he calls his "buddy." Enjoy your relationship on a platonic plateau and don't hope for anything more. Don't drop him because the more buddies a girl has, the better are her chances for a boyfriend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of those buddies can become a boyfriend.

President On Defense

By The Associated Press

It was President Ford's turn to be on the defense this week — first about Earl Butz and later about his own performance in his debate with Democrat Jimmy Carter.

The controversy over Butz started Friday with the disclosure that he had made some obscene remarks about blacks. On Monday, Butz resigned as secretary of agriculture.

Carter criticized Ford's handling of the affair, saying he should have fired the secretary. Ford, who had reprimanded Butz, compared the remarks to Carter's comment during the primaries that he wanted to preserve the "ethnic purity" of neighborhoods. Carter apologized for that one.

The question of Butz didn't come up in the debate on Wednesday — the second of three sponsored by the League of Women Voters — because the topics were limited to foreign policy and defense.

But there were some hard-hitting exchanges nonetheless, with both men making a few bloopers and, as after the first debate, both men claiming success.

Ford's debate performance caused the most controversy. He said there is "no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe and there never will be under a Ford administration."

Organizations representing Americans of Eastern European descent expressed shock; Carter said the statement was a "blunder;" and foreign newspapers were sharply critical.

Ford did not retract his statement. Campaigning Thursday in California, he said the United States "has never conceded and never will concede" the domination of Eastern Europe by the Soviet Union and is dedicated to helping the area "become less dependent" on Moscow.

The California trip — part of a week-long journey — marked Ford's longest campaign expedition since Labor Day.

Carter has been traveling more extensively — and criticizing Ford for not doing so. The Democratic candidate's current trip is taking him to 10 cities in eight states in five days.

The vice presidential nominees took their cues for the campaign from the debate as they prepared for their own confrontation next Friday.

'Sign' Receives Parking Fines

BOSTON (AP) — Bette Arnold thinks it's unfair that a sign advertising her restaurant business is constantly zapped with parking tickets.

But the sign happens to be a $40,000 canary yellow Rolls Royce parked in front of her eating and drinking establishment, "Bette's(Rolls Royce."

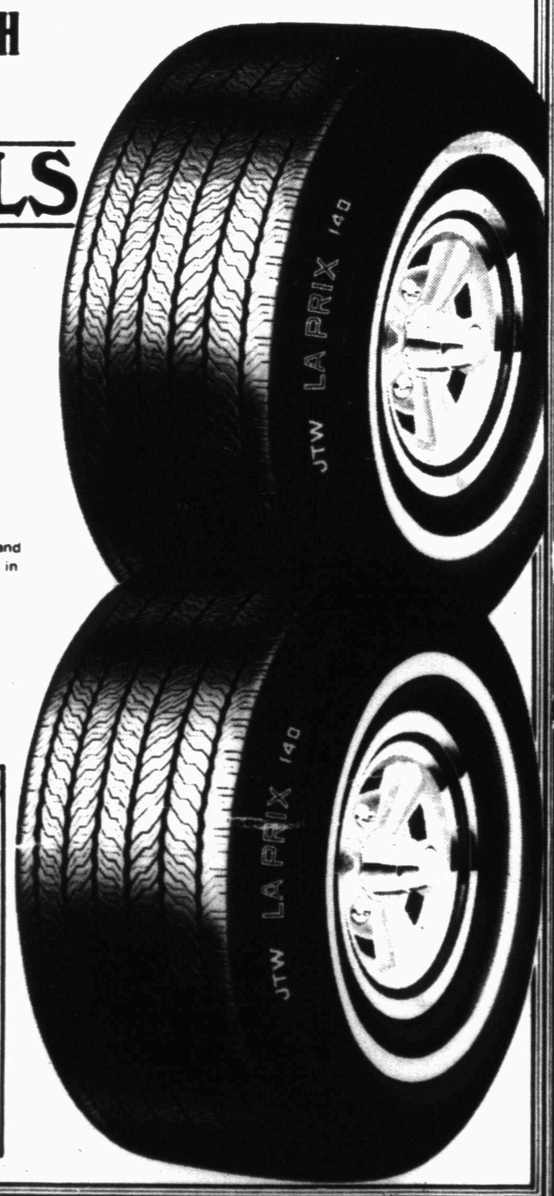

The flashy English convertible has received almost $5,000 in parking fines since 1970 when it first appeared on the street.

Miss Arnold was ordered into court Thursday to pay the remaining $50 of a required $1,453 down payment.

She claims her Rolls Royce is a business sign and hopes to end her six-year battle by persuading the city to give her a temporary parking permit.

"There are many other vehicles that park down on my street that never get a ticket," said Miss Arnold. "My car is dollars and cents, my bread and butter."
