Heavy Losses Predicted For Allies In '44

Back Of German U-Boat Warfare Declared Broken

By E. C. DANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 9—Prime Minister Churchill gravely proclaimed the "impending ruin" of Germany today, but with all the force of his leadership and language warned that in his belief the Nazis' defeat could not come before 1944.

He asserted solemnly that the campaigns of next year might surpass the tragedies of Waterloo and Gettysburg, that "unless some happy event occurs, on which we have no right to count, 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of the British and United States armies."

The valiant and brilliant Russian offensives have wrecked the German war machine and inflicted wounds "that may well prove mortal," he declared.

U-Boat Threat Broken

The British war premier asserted that the back of the Nazi submarine warfare has been broken, and that the devastating air war upon the Reich has "been one of the prime forces in the impending ruin of the Hitler regime."

In other high points of an address broadcast to the world Churchill:

Declared the "year 1944 is also election year in the United States. I am sure I speak for all those of both sides of the Atlantic when I say that I hope we can preserve goodwill throughout the English speaking world and aid our armies.

Not To Liquidate Empire

Vowed again his intention not to "liquidate the British Empire."

Stated bluntly that this "is no time for those who have practical war work to do to dream of a brave new world."

Of the Moscow conference, Churchill said "we have all been cheered." He paid tribute to Secretary Hull as "that gallant American eagle." The Moscow accord "has had the effect of making our Russian friends feel as they never felt before that it is the heartfelt wish of our British and American nations to fight the war out with them in loyal alliance and afterwards to work with them on the basis of mutual respect and comradeship for re-

Mosquitos Hit West Germany

LONDON, Nov. 9. (U.P.)—British Mosquito bombers hit western Germany again last night as a few German planes raided London for the seventh night in a row, causing only slight damage and casualties.

Targets of the twin-engined British night raiders were not announced immediately, but they presumably lay in the industrial Ruhr and Rhineland. All returned safely.

Fewer than a dozen German planes crossed the British southeast coast last night and only one or two penetrated the London anti-aircraft barrage. One bomb hit a school in an outer London district, collapsing a ceiling and slightly injuring several persons.

Three Raiders Downed

Bombs also were dropped in East Anglia and southeast England. Three raiders were shot down.

The raid came only a few hours after Adolf Hitler was heard broadcasting from Munich that he would extract retribution for the Allied raids on Gemany.

(A German propaganda broadcast heard by CBS boasted of a new German plane described as the "largest land aircraft in the world." Powered by six engines, it has a crew of five men and can carry "munitions, food and 130 troops on each trip," the broadcast said.)

Maintaining Free System Is Urged

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (U.P.) — Maintenance of constitutional government, free enterprise and state's rights was urged last night in a speech by Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding college, Searcy, Ark., before members of the Democratic Woman's club.

"If we maintain constitutional government and private enterprise," he said, "other details of post-war problems will be worked out without serious difficulty."

British Seize New Positions

Drive Opened On Inflation

Fight Promised Over Subsidies

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Administration leaders in Congress today scotched reports that they would compromise on the subsidy issue and opened a campaign against "the worst threat of runaway inflation in history."

They have two immediate plans for holding-the-line on demands for "mountainous" wage and price increases:

1. A fight to the finish with the farm bloc over demands for outlawing food price subsidies. They claim enough votes to uphold a possible presidential veto of such a proposal.

2. Quick action on the new tax bill, still in the House ways and means committee. It would soak up approximately $2,253,000,000 of the $20,000,000,000 of surplus purchasing power estimated by the administration.

Instruments of Timing

The decisions to fight on the subsidy issue and to act on the tax bill were described by leaders as instruments of timing in the war on too-much-money-for-too-little-produce. The subsidy fight will be a delayed action, calculated to win more Democratic votes; taxation is a matter of expediency designed to rush the revenue measure to the Senate where the ante may be boosted. Both parties realize that in an election year the issues involved are political dynamite.

Democrats, particularly in the House, said any disruption of the hold-the-line policy caused by removal of subsidies would have to be accounted for by Congress. They are very conscious of President Roosevelt's warning in his food message last week that any break in the hold-the-line policy through such action would be blamed on Congress.

GOP Says Line Cracked

Republicans insisted that the line against inflation was cracked wide open when the government signed a wage contract with John L. Lewis' coal miners granting them $1.50 a day more in wages for one more hour of daily work. They also claimed that the break was ratified yesterday with the

Yugoslav Partisans Wipe Out Germans

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Several German garrisons holding strongpoints in the Croatian province of Zagorje north of Zagreb have been wiped out by Yugoslav partisan forces and other patriot units are continuing offensive operations in Serbia, Montenegro and Dalmatia, a communique of the Yugoslav liberation army said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, said that partisan troops were steadily pushing the Germans back in a fight for Peljesac peninsula on the Adriatic sea. Indecisive action was reported in Bosnia and some portions of Croatia.

Meanwhile Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander-in-chief in the Middle East, said he had learned that certain Yugoslav guerrilla groups were "helping the Germans in their vain attempts to subdue the forces of liberation" and warned that they would be regarded as "traitors to their own people and enemies of the United Nations."

Wilsn said he heard that "certain men are dishonoring the name of Chetnik and helping the Germans . . . These men are shamefully betraying the cause of their country and adding to this shame by claiming their actions have British aproval."

U. S. Fliers Wreck Bearing Plant—

Turin Is Paralyzed

(By The Associated Press)

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Nov. 9—Turin, northern Italian city of 600,000, was virtually paralyzed by yesterday's Allied attack by Mediterranean-based bombers, it was established here today.

(Flying Fortresses of the 15th U. S. air force struck the city. Allied headquarters in Algiers said photographs showed that every building of the Fiat bearing plant was demolished or damaged to such an extent that the factory could not operate. The plant was regarded as the third most important bearing producer in German-occupied Europe. The raid, which also damaged rail yards, recalled the heavy Fortress attack last month on the bearing plant at Schweinfurt, Germany).

Frontier dispatches to the Geneva newspaper La Suisse said the attack smashed all Turin's street car services, deprived the city of gas and electricity, and cut off the water supply in many quarters.

Victims were estimated in the thousands, the dispatches said, and this morning fires were still raging along entire streets in the center of Turin.

The first wave of 50 American four-engined bombers arrived over the city without warning, bombs hitting targets even before the sirens sounded. A second wave of 40 planes came in over the smoking city at a low altitude, meeting only a weak anti-aircraft barrage.

Fascist newspapers in northern Italy described the raid as the "gravest" of the many that Turin has suffered.

Annual Methodist Conference Opens

First Session Is At 2 P. M. Today

The thirty-fourth session of the Northwest Texas Annual Methodist conference convened in the First Methodist church here this afternoon at 2 o'clock with Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, presiding.

The Sacrament of the Holy Supper was administered to all delegates in attendance by Bishop Holt, who was assisted by the nine district superintendents of the conference. The membership of the conference stood and sang, 'And Are We Yet Alive" immediately following the Sacrament.

The 1943 roll call was conducted by Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of St. John's Methodist church at Stamford, secretary of the conference.

Dr. Lewis Gives Welcome

The visiting delegates to the conference were welcomed to the city of Lubbock by Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Dr Lewis in addressing the conference said, "Our homes and hearts are open to you and I know our community will receive a blessing for your having come our way and being with us the three days of your stay in our city."

Following the welcome address by Dr. Lewis, the first business session of the 1943 annual conference got under way. The first order of business was electing a slate of officers for the conference. The Rev. Mr. Wright of Stamford was re-elected secretary and upon his nomination M. B. Norwood of Shamrock and W. B. Hicks of Baird were elected as assistants; J. H. Crawford of Chillicothe and E. A. Irvine of Clyde were elected statistical secretaries and upon the nomination of Rev. Crawford the

Objectives Set Up For Year

A minimum increase of 15 per cent in membership and participation in every local church was one of the five main objects set up by the Thirty-fourth annual Methodist conference Tuesday morning when the Town and Country committee, consisting of Bishop Ivan Lee Holt and his nine district superintendents and representatives of four major boards of the conference reported that the board had whole-heartedly endorsed this plan of work for next year.

The other objectives were: Secure minimum of 30 per cent of our resident membership to pledge to tithe for the duration by March 1, 1944; render unreserved cooperation in Methodism's campaign for a Christian world order, making our effort worthy of the sacrifice of our men in the armed forces; secure our full quota of the McMurry college building and endowment campaign in the manner and at the time agreed upon by the campaign committee and accept and pay in full all benevolences in every church in the conference.

Recommendations Made

The following recommendations were made by the committee:

1—That the various conference boards and commissions consider carefully where every conference goal touches their special fields of responsibility and plan the fullest measure of assistance in the same.

2—That in our advance tithing campaigns we constitute a committee on general promotion and direction as follows: Bishop Holt as chairman, R. N. Huckabee, secretary and the conference presidents of the W. S. C. S. and Youth Fellowship, and the conference chairman of the following boards and commissions: Town and Country work, lay activities, missions and church extension, evangelism and education.

3—That at the district set-up meetings a period of ten-minutes be given to relating success experiences of last year's goals, following which the superintendents shall give the district an opportunity to endorse this year's goals and authorize the appointment of district committees on the same.

4—That by January 20, 1944, each district have completed three of four campaigns on general advance and tithing, enlisting all agencies of the churches involved.

Navy Destroys Nazi Base Off Greenland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (AP)—Destruction of a German radio and weather base on an island off the coast of Greenland was reported by Secretary of the Navy Knox today.

The small but well constructed base, Knox said, indicated a plan to maintain it permanently. It included a radio station, power house, emergency generator and radio transmitter, defensive machine gun emplacements and food supplies. A small supply ship anchored in the harbor had telephone communications with all principal shore points.

Appointment Of Rent Control Committee Here Is Announced

Appointment of a joint rent control committee composed of representatives from Lubbock Real Estate board and the local Council of Defense was reported here this morning.

Complaints should be filed with Thurman Atkins, member of the legal staff in district offices of the Office of Price administration in Lubbock National building, the announcement said. The telephone number is 7431, extension 44.

Membership Secret

Membership of the committee is secret because those named on the committee would not agree to serve otherwise, according to the announcement.

Those making complaints, it was announced, will be asked for full information and will be required to give permission for the use of their names in any investigations made by the committee.

It was admitted by those reporting the creation of the committee that the group will be without official power. Members will seek, it was explained, to obtain cooperation voluntarily in maintaining, and re-adjusting when necessary, the rents of living

Defense Rests Case In De Marigny Trial

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 9 (AP)—After Nancy Oakes de Marigny testified in behalf of her husband, the defense rested its case at 12:26 p. m. (CWT) today in the trial of Alfred de Marigny for murder in connection with the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes.

There was immediate overnight adjournment, on the motion of Chief Defense Attorney Godfrey Higgs.

The end of testimony came in the 20th day of the trial in the Bahamas supreme court.

The 19-year-old, red-haired Nancy told of the relations between her father and her husband, who wept softly in the prisoner's cage as she started her testimony.

Nazis Forming Winter Line

Heavy Formations Face Fifth Army

BY NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 9—Cutting a new swath five miles deep through enemy positions, the British Eighth army has seized positions overlooking the Sangro river and the heights beyond where the German are reported establishing the eastern anchor of an Italian "winter defense line," headquarters announced today.

To the west the Nazis massed heavy formations of troops and guns in the Mignano area, attempting to halt the American drive toward Cassino on the main road to Rome.

They massed a powerful striking force for a counterattack in the area five miles southwest of Mignano and west of Gallucio yesterday, but Allied guns laid down a curtain of artillery and mortar fire before the assault could be launched, dispersing the enemy.

Nazis To Dig In

German prisoners reported unanimously that the Nazi command planned to dig in for the winter on a line anchored in the west along the Garigliano river and Aurunci mountains, through the mountains near Mignano—where U. S. troops already have won footholds—and across the Apennines to the Sangro river.

The Fifth and Eighth armies already are ramming against this line in most sectors.

Slashing along the Adriatic coastal sector, the Eighth army captured Torino di Sangro, four miles northwest of captured Casalbordino, and Paglieta less than two miles from the river. The speed of this drive obviously caught the Congress Asked To Aid Unions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, told a Senate subcommittee today that the rail unions are prepared to go ahead with a nation-wide strike if their wage increase demands are not settled soon and urged that Congress step into the picture "to solve the problem."

Harrison appeared for the second day before the interstate commerce committee in behalf of a resolution by Senator Truman (D-Mo) which would have the effect of congressional advice to Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to backtrack on his veto of a general eight-cent per hour wage increase award to non-operating railroad workers.

Going Ahead With Vote

The carriers agreed to the increase and Harrison told the committee the unions had also accepted it (in lieu of the 20 cents they asked) after they had been "urged" to do so by President Roosevelt.

After Vinson's veto, a second presidential emergency board recommended a sliding scale of increases ranging from four to ten cents per hour, which the unions promptly rejected.

"We are going ahead with our strike vote — and when the day comes we shall fix the day to interrupt the transportation system of this nation," Harrison testified today.

Must Be Hopeless

Senator Reed (R-Kan) asked if Harrison did not believe the unions could hold off a strike, or fix a strike date far enough ahead, so that Congress would have an opportunity to act on the pending resolution.

"When we are convinced it's

Churchill Praises War News Coverage

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today praised American and British newspapers for their "very full and vivid information from all the theaters of war."

His statement came in reply to a question in Commons as to whether the Allies had reached a stage in the war where more detailed news accounts could be published. Although he made no direct answer, the prime minister's laudation seemed to imply that he thought present accounts sufficient.

Allied Pact On Relief Signed

Importance Of Humanitarian Goals In War Stressed In Talk By President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt climaxed the signing of a United Nations relief agreement today with the declaration that it, coupled with the recent Moscow documents, shows that "we mean business in this war in a political and humanitarian sense just as surely as we mean business in a military sense."

"It is one more strong link joining the United Nations in facing problems of mutual need and interest," he said at the conclusion of a White House ceremony in which representatives of 43 countries joined with the United States in creating the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration (UNRRA) to feed, clothe, and revive war stricken nations.

The President spoke in the historic east room. He faced representatives of the other United Nations and those associated with them, as well as the French National Committee of Liberation, who had affixed their signatures to the document pledging each to feed and clothe the millions oppressed by the Axis and, as Mr. Roosevelt put it, to build for the future "a world of decency and security and peace."

Representatives of the 44 countries will journey to Atlantic City, N. J., tomorrow for discussions on policies and practical means of accomplishing their stupendous relief task.

"The sufferings of the little men and women who have been ground under the Axis heel," the President told his distinguished audience and several hundred official guests, "can be relieved only if we utilize the production of all the world to balance the want of all the world."

"In UNRRA we have devised a mechanism, based on the processes of true democracy, which can go far toward accomplishment of such an objective in the days and months of desperate emergency which will follow the overthrow of the Axis."

United Effort Said Needed

The President said that responsibility for alleviating the suffering and misery occasioned by the German and Japanese campaigns of plunder and destruction "must be assumed not by any individual nation, but by all the united and associated nations acting together."

"No one country," he added, "could — or should — attempt to

Long Grocery List Awaits Food Meet

Parley Slated For Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 9—Men from 43 nations, and the French liberation committee, meet here tomorrow with the longest grocery lists the world has ever known, tucked away in their brief cases.

This meeting will be the largest international meeting ever held on American soil.

These men, representing 44 nations, are here to find food, clothes, medicine and roofs for the people of the war zones—once the tanks have rumbled by.

Nothing—not a bag of wheat—can be taken from any country without the okay of its "constitutional body"—in our case the Congress.

Gargantuan Barter Seen

There are already signs of the gargantuan barter—history making barter—which will go on here the next few weeks.

Poland has announced it will need 73,000 tons of oranges. They hope to give each child two oranges daily. They're predicting their demands on the first six months after the war. They will also need 12,500 tons of lemons which they plan to hand out, two each month, to ten million people. Altogether, they'll need 1,600,000 tons of food the first six months.

Belgium, entering the conference is in a position to barter. And she's announced what she's willing to swap for food: copper, tin, rubber, cotton, industrial diamonds, nuts, sugar, coffee.

China Makes Announcement

China has made a preliminary barter announcement. She's always been short of food. So she'll ask that from other nations. But she's willing to toss into this world grab bag "such drugs as are peculiar to China."

China will need: ships, boats,

Court Opinion Outlaws Acts

AUSTIN, Nov. 9 (AP)—A Supreme court opinion remanding the Ford Motor company case to a trial court is themed on a funeral dirge of Texas anti-trust laws as written by the legislature, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann declared today in a re-hearing motion.

The attorney general's petition said the Supreme court decision, remanding the case for trial on merits as governed by the Supreme court findings, holds that a manufacturer who has parted with the title to his product has the right to impose restraints upon the resale of products in order to protect his economic interest in the "goodwill" of those who use his products.

Basic Argument Cited

It added:

"This is the basic argument of the proponents of the fair trade acts—that a manufacturer of trademarked or branded commodities has a vital interest in the good will engendered by the sale of such goods with his mark or brand on them, and that an exception to the anti-trust laws ought to be made to enable him to foster and protect that good will.

"The so-called fair trade legislation has been rejected by the legislative branch of the government in this state.

Philosophy Is Adopted

"It's basic philosophy has now been adopted by the court in its opinion in this case."

The state had contended that not only was the Ford dealer contract illegal on its face but that Ford, by a series of alleged practices, did in fact control and unlawfully influence the resale prices of its Texas dealers.

The court held, among other things, the dealer contract on its face did not violate the state's anti-trust laws.

BUILDING IS AFIRE

Flames, originating in the kitchen on the second floor of the building occupied by F. W. Woolworth and company at 1013 Broadway, were threatening the building shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the Lubbock Fire department were fighting to prevent spread of the flames which were confined to the roof of the structure. Every piece of equipment in the city was called out for the fire. The store was ordered evacuated of all occupants by Fire Chief W. E. Twitty soon after the fire trucks arrived.

Social Security Plan Of Care Defended

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Medical and hospital service provided by the social security board would not interfere with the private practice of medicine, Dr. George E. Bigge, Republican member of the board, said last night in a speech at Dallas.

"It has been suggested," he said, "that such a program would be an entering wedge for socialized medicine. I don't know just what that means.

"If it implies that there would be any interference with the practice of medicine, or the standards of service, or with the relation of physicians to patients . . . it is entirely incorrect."

Victory-Through-Air-Power Given Acid Test By Allies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — The victory-through-air-power theory is getting an acid test against Germany with a definite deadline—a time limit after which, if the effort fails, a ground invasion of western Europe will go forward.

The actual timetable is, of course, a military secret.

But the deadline is the invasion date which was communicatd to the Russians, General H. H. Arnold, commander of U. S. Air forces, and Britain's air marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris have until that time to try to force Germany's surrender by use of air power alone.

Definite Goal Set

The theory here is that if 40 per cent of Germany's productive capacity is knocked out, she must quit.

Use of Russian bases for shuttle-bombing of Germany may be involved in the truly "all-out" aerial assault expected to reach a climax shortly.

The United States has a terrific stake in this test of air power. It has been made clear that American troops will make up the bulk

Soviets Lunge For Rumania, Poland, Latvia

Strong Russian Force Striking Through Isthmus

BY RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Russian troops launched a violent assault against the Crimea from the north today, the German radio at Paris said, while other Red army groups beat swiftly toward Poland, Rumania and Latvia.

The Paris radio said the Red army struck down with strong forces through the Perekop isthmus, the narrow land bridge that ties the Crimea to the mainland. A bridgehead had been established and widened at the eastern edge of the peninsula around Kerch and thus a vast pincers appeared to be clamping down on the trapped German 17th army. Stockholm reported that some Germans had been evacuated by sea and that hundreds of Black sea coastal ships and Danube river boats were being assembled for a "Dunkirk."

TEMPO STEPPED UP

LONDON, Nov. 9 (U.P.) — Radio Berlin reported today that the Russians had stepped up the tempo of their attacks in the Nevel sector of the central front and apparently were driving for the central sector of the Zapadnya Dvina river flowing through Dvinsk in Latvia.

REDS RAPIDLY EXPANDING KIEV BRIDGEHEAD

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 9.—A Red army mobile column wheeled southward from the rapidly expanding Kiev bridgehead today and sliced into the flank of the lower Dnieper pocket in a bid to trap 500,000 Germans making a desperate rear guard stand before the approaches to Rumania.

Soviet field dispatches described a three-pronged Russian offensive spreading up to 45 miles beyond Kiev, threatening the last longitudial railway east of the pre-war Poland, and denting the flank of the German forces holding the Dnieper bend country.

Sweeping Southward

Formidable Russian forces were reported sweeping southward against the Kremenchug-Dnepropetrovsk bulge, in which the Nazis had staved off imminent disaster with a back to the wall defense hinged on Krivoi Rog.

Knox Says Japs Face Disaster

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Knox declared today that the present situation in the south and southwest Pacific areas warrants the statement that "the Japanese are now in a more critical position than ever before in that area."

The Navy secretary added at a news conference that "it no longer is a question of holding their positions at lowest possible cost; it is a question of actual survival in the southwest area."

Loss Of Cruisers Cited

He described as "nothing short of a disaster" to the Japanese the loss of use of six heavy cruisers in that area.

"If they don't look out," Knox said, "they will be short of those very vital heavy craft when they want to go to sea with their entire fleet."

Reviewing actions in the south and southwest Pacific areas in the last ten days, he declared there have been "several important military defeats for the Japs."

Defeats Are Listed

He listed first the landing of Marines on Bougainville where positions now are being consolidated in preparation for "cleaning out the Japanese on the island."

He put in second place the night surface engagement in which American warships sank one Japanese cruiser and four destroyers and damaged two cruisers and two destroyers, without the loss of an American ship.

Third, he said, was the surprise attack on Rabaul harbor by Navy carrier planes and then by Army bombers. Navy planes, he said, hit five of six enemy heavy cruisers with bombs and torpedoes and the sixth was torpedoed. Of two light cruisers, he said, one was torpedoed and bombed and the other was bombed.

He added that of the 15 or 20 Japanese destroyers there, two were torpedoed.

Western Invasion Queries Answered

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Fuehrer Hitler in his rat-in-the-corner speech in the Munich beer cellar, yesterday challenged the Allies to open a second-front in Europe, which likely was an answer to Premier Stalin's promise last Saturday that the second-front "is not far off."

Since such invasion talk is in the air, and in fact has all Europe tingling with invasionitis, this would seem to be a good time to answer a couple of questions that I've received from newspaper editors. They naturally reflect reader interest in this consuming subject.

One editor wants to know why, if the Allied air forces are able to do such enormous damage to Hamburg and other German cities, those same bombers can't destroy the Hitlerite defenses over hundreds of square miles on the French coast and thus pave the way for the landing of a great army in the immediate future without undue loss.

Basic Tactics

Well, that certainly is a legitimate query and it puts a finger on the basic tactics upon which the Allies will depend when they get ready for the great adventure across the English channel. The answer is that the Anglo-American air navies in Europe could do the job.

Having said this, however, it must be pointed out that up until recently neither the British nor the American fleets were strong enough for such an undertaking —or to do round-the-clock, big-scale bombing of German cities, for that matter. I'd hate to have to record here how pitifully small the combined Anglo-American fleet in England was a year ago. The admission of weakness can be made now that the crisis is passed.

Other Delaying Factors

There have been other delaying factors. It has been essential to destroy Hitler's war industries as the sure and quick way of crippling his army, which is his most powerful weapon. This has called for the employment of all the bombing strength the Allies could muster.

Also, before staging a big-scale invasion of western France, it was essential that trans-Atlantic communications be secure so that there be no stoppage in the flow of the mountainous supplies and reinforcements needed. This meant that the U-boat menace must be got in hand, and that finally appears to have been achieved.

We now presumably have sufficiently large fleets of warplanes so that the Allied high command can order bombardment of the French coast when the moment is right.

Had To Be Sure

Could the western Allies have staged invasion before this? Moscow has felt that they could and that they were unduly cautious, but that's a matter for the British and American high commands to decide. One thing is certain: we dare not undertake the landing of an army until we are absolutely sure of our beach-heads. Failure would be catastrophic.

The other question submitted to this column asks why the Allies haven't invaded Yugoslavia before this. The answer involves several factors. For one thing the Russians haven't wanted an invasion of this territory, which they regard as their sphere of influence. The position may have changed in this respect, however, since the tripartite conference which developed such friendly cooperation among the big three.

LAAF Band To Play Concerts In Area

The Lubbock Army Air field band, under direction of Chief Warrant Officer George P. Attridge, will play concerts in Brownfield and Littlefield this month, it has been announced at the field.

Vocalist with the band at Brownfield the night of Nov. 22 and at Littlefield the night of Nov. 29 will be Lt. Richard H. Chamberlain, popular baritone who is a regular artist on the post's weekly broadcasts from KFYO. Both concerts will be staged in high school auditoriums in the towns.

Lt. Gordon R. Close, assistant secretary at the field, is making arrangements for the concerts and for three-day Air-WAC recruiting campaigns in each of the towns. During the dates of Nov. 22-24, the LAAF Air-WAC recruiting team will be in Brownfield to interview prospective WACs. Dates at Littlefield will be Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1.

The need for WACs in the Army Air Forces was stressed as Lt. Close issued invitations to the concerts. Women between the ages of 20 and 50 are eligible to step into the service in any of some 150 jobs available in the Air Forces.

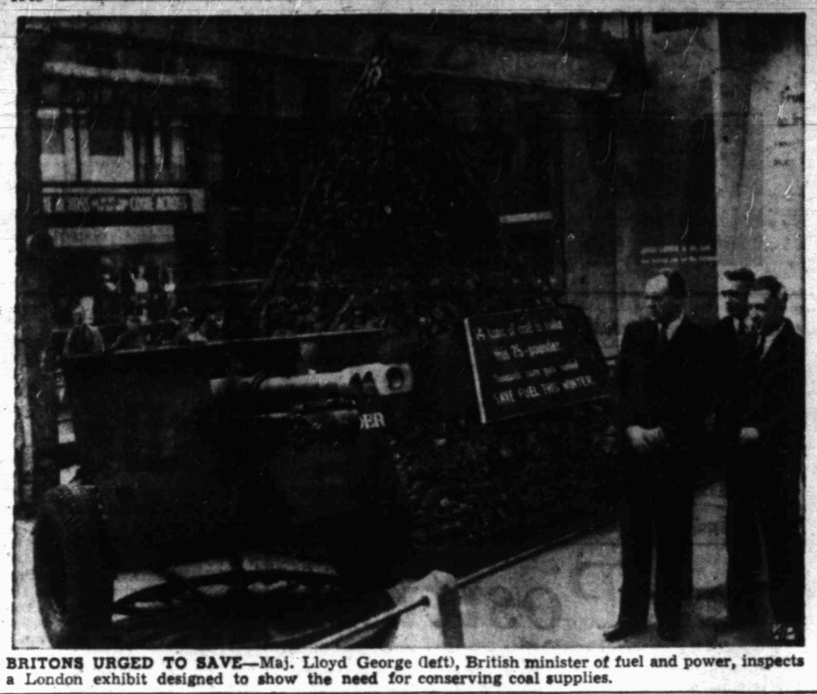

Terry and Lamb county young women are being given special invitations to attend the programs. Prominent persons of the two towns will speak.

Houston Program Is Easing Milk Shortage

HOUSTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — More cows in backyards, less milk for restaurant patrons and voluntary milk rationing for adults are the results of the milk shortage in Houston.

With milk supplies slumping far below normal demands, the city health department has worked out a program designed to ease the shortage and to insure adequate supplies for infants, the aged and the infirm.

The main features were self-rationing by adults and slashing of milk allotments to cafes and restaurants. Though the department has not advocated individual purchases of milk cows, more bovines are staked out in yards than at any time in the memory of older residents.

Woman Clears Final Barrier, Joins WAC

CLAYTON, Ala., Nov. 9 (AP) — A woman approached Capt. George H. C. Stone, Gunter Field officer conducting an "air WAC" recruiting drive, and said:

"I'm interested in joining the WAC but I don't want to leave until my husband is drafted. What can I do?"

"That's your problem, mam," the captain told her.

"Not any longer," she declared as she grasped a nearby telephone and called her husband's draft board.

"Put my husband in the next call," she told a selective service official. "I'm joining the WAC."

Frank Hancock Is FSA Administrator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — War Food Administrator Marvin Jones announced today appointment of Frank Hancock of Oxford, N. C., as administrator of the Farm Security administration (FSA). He expects to begin active duty November 15.

Hancock served in Congress from 1930 to 1938 as representative from the Fifth district of North Carolina.

U. S. Airmen Sink Japanese Warship

CHUNGKING, Nov. 9 (U.P.) — American Mitchell bombers sank a 250-foot Japanese destroyer and four other enemy ships Sunday in a low-level attack on Amoy harbor on the southeast China coast, an American communique said today.

The 14th Air Force medium bombers, with an escort of fighters, ran a gauntlet of heavy anti-aircraft and machinegun fire as they swept across the harbor and dropped their explosives on a total of seven ships.

Other American planes supported Chinese ground operations in western Yunnan province, opposite Burma, with damaging near misses on a "strategically valuable" bridge near Tengchung, the communique said.

All aircraft returned safely from both operations.

SHOOTING REPORTED

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — Reports reaching Cairo today from Albania, according to Reuters, said Mustafa Merlika Kruja, pro-Nazi former premier of Albania, was shot and his son Kahfer Merlika, killed, on Oct. 12 as they were driving through Tirana.

'Monstrous Bull' Is Seventy-Pound Calf

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP)—Called out by terrified reports that a monstrous bull "weighing maybe 1,000 pounds" was tying up traffic and sending pedestrians scurrying, two radio car patrolmen sped to the scene today, in spite of warnings that their clothesline also was too frail.

They returned with a 70-pound calf seated quietly between them.

Hog Marketing Peak Foreseen

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP) — A record influx of hogs into the nation's stock yards during the next two or three months was foreseen by livestock experts today and Chicago meat packers were confronted with a new problem — finding sufficient manpower to handle the big runs.

With a good statistical knowledge of what is coming, packing officials are seeking to build up their labor forces to meet what gives every indication of being the severest crisis yet produced by the manpower shortage.

74 Million Pigs

There were 74,000,000 little pigs born on American farms last spring — a record. Fattened throughout the summer months until they are carrying around 200 to 240 pounds of pork and lard, these pigs have started to come to market. They will keep coming in increasing numbers during November and December.

Already, in the country's outlying markets, pens are jammed with puffing porkers. Meat processors are buying hogs in the country and then shipping them to Chicago because the smaller slaughtering points do not have room to keep them overnight. The run of previously purchased hogs at Chicago yesterday was the year's largest.

Frozen Cooked Food Predicted After War

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Frozen cooked foods will be one of the miracles coming to the Southwest after the war, Miss Grace Neely, of the War Food Administration, told members of the Texas Frozen Food Locker association in convention here today.

Cooked foods are now being successfully frozen in California, Miss Neely said.

Miss Neely stressed the importance of educating the public on the need of bringing fruits and vegetables to frozen locker plants when they are at the stage highest in vitamins and minerals. Many fresh foods are held too long after they are gathered, she said.

'Newspaper Axis' Is Accused By Ickes

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP) — Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, calling on Americans to realize that Russians will be powerful in peace as they are mighty in war, accused "the Hearst press and the Patterson-McCormick newspaper axis" last night of "deliberately fostering ill will" between Allies.

The cabinet member, speaking at Madison Square garden exercises celebrating the 10th anniversary of United States relations with Russia, praised the Soviets for their triumphs over Hitlerism, pictured a great future for them, exulted over the Moscow unity pact and tore into those American newspapers he called "vendors of venom."

Understanding Stressed

"It is of the utmost importance for our two nations to understand each other," Ickes said.

"Unfortunately there are powerful and active forces in this country that are deliberately fostering ill will toward Russia. There are those who hate Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt so bitterly that they would rather see Hitler win the war, if the alternative is his defeat by a leadership shared in by the great Russian and the great American.

"Need I name names? Let me simply mention, as example, the Hearst press and the Patterson-McCormick newspaper axis, particularly the latter."

McCormick Replies

Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, in a statement made in New York in answer to Secretary Ickes' speech, said:

"Ickes, in Chicago, was a small bucket shop operator, who as a Republican did dirty work for Democratic Boss Brennan. He was taken into the administration to do its dirtiest work, which he did consistently, and as a reward has been allowed to carry on petty graft in his department.

"The speech before the Communist gathering at Madison Square garden is only an attempt overwhelming repudiation of Roosevelt at the last elections.

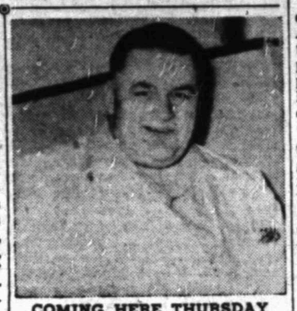

"I wouldn't reply to this man with a fouler tongue than Winchell's except that it gives me the opportunity to point out that the only hope that the people who want to overthrow our republic have is to steal the Republican nomination for president in 1944 as it was stolen in 1940."

Patterson Is Silent

At the office of the New York Daily News, it was said that J. M. Patterson would have no comment to make immediately on Ickes' speech.

The secretary unloaded a special blow for "the morning colonel of Chicago," a title he has used in the past for Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of The Chicago Tribune, a morning newspaper. (Ickes used to call Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, "the afternoon colonel" before Knox became secretary of the Navy.)

"The morning colonel" said Ickes, "is really in a class by himself. He sees evil, hears evil and does evil. Possessing no good will for anyone, so far as known, he sneers at the attribute. Himself immune to good will, he belittles such a policy between nations."

Luggage Price Controls Set

Lubbock OPA officials announced today that the Office of Price Administration has placed all types of luggage under uniform price control in a move to check practices which, in some instances, had resulted in unjustifiable increases in luggage prices.

With available supplies sharply reduced—partly as a result of greatly increased wartime luggage requirements and of War Production Board restrictions holding production approximately to 60 per cent of the 1941 dollar volume—OPA said that urgent need for effective price control had developed. The extent of any price reductions as a result of this move will vary from store to store, depending upon individual prices previously charged, OPA said.

Must Attach Price Tags

Under the new price regulation terms, retail ceiling price tags must be attached by the manufacturer giving the specific top legal retail price for each item of luggage; the tag cannot be removed until the luggage is delivered to the consumer; manufacturers calculate retail ceiling prices based on a fixed mark-up over their own maximums; wholesale prices are set at definite discounts under maximum retail prices; and, manufacturers set their ceilings under a formula they have previously observed based on March 1942 prices, but for new items of non-leather luggage introduced since that date, may not sell for more than highest prices charged for the same types during the period from March 1, 1942 to August 31, 1943.

NEW CORN REGULATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (AP)—The Office of Price administration plans to issue a new corn regulation soon placing the computation of ceiling prices on a county rather than an area basis, Senator Gillette (D-Ia) said today.

Most creatures that became extinct in modern times did so through the stupidity of man.

Rumanians Urged To Turn Against Rulers

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (U.P.)—King Carol of Rumania, advising his countrymen that "the victorious armies of the United Nations are nearing our frontiers," today called on Rumanians to turn against "the sold-out government that is leading our country to its ruin."

The exiled king, in a proclamation issued in Mexico City where he now is living, and released through his publicity firm here, told Rumanians to "join hands for the liberation of Rumania and for the future of our people, with the aid of the United Nations."

"Today has come the moment that you should raise the ensign of the Rumanian faith and the Rumanian spirit of justice, preparing the fight against the Nazi invaders and chasing out the sold-out government that is leading our country to its ruin," he said.

Manufacture Of Refrigerators, Washing Machines Is Planned

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Uncle Sam is making plans to help mama with the wash and help papa keep the beer cool.

The government is working on a program to permit manufacture of mechanical refrigeraotrs and washing machines again.

Production of both was halted after Pearl Harbor because of the war needs for the materials and facilities used in making them.

Now the Office of Civilian requirements (OCR) has found in a national survey that both types of machines are badly needed in American homes.

Machines Due Next Year

One official of OCR, which is drawing up the program, gave as his "guess" that the machines would not appear on the market before mid-1944.

OCR is part of the War Production board (WPB). Its program will have to be approved by WPB's requirements committee before it can be put into operation.

Since there are some "ifs" and "buts" involved, the plan is not yet shut-and-closed. But this is it in outline:

Right now there is a demand for perhaps five million mechanical refrigerators and four million washing machines. Only about one million of each are called for in the program.

To Fill Essential Needs

They will have to fill, not demands by people with money itching to be spent, but essential needs.

Prime factors to be considered: the amount of manpower, materials and facilities which can be spared to do the job.

Depending upon them, the program for washing machines might have to be revised downward.

Meantime refrigerators and washing machines now in Americans homes must be kept in use. OCR gives this picture on maintenance:

Enough Spare Parts

There are enough spare parts available to keep popular makes of refrigerators and washing machines in operation.

The only bottleneck in maintaining present equipment is not lack of parts but lack of repairmen, many of whom have closed down their shops, gone into war plants or into the armed services.

And this was the picture given at OCR on kitchen enamelware:

The manufacture of enameled pots, pans, kettles, tea and coffee pots has been greatly stepped up; the increased production is now under way; the result will appear on the store shelves about Christmas time.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Should Mother Take A Job?

Written Exclusively For Associated Press Features By ANNA W. M. WOLF Author And Lecturer On Child Care

Despite radio and other voices the government does not encourage mothers of young children to go to work. Though today there is a great need for women in both war industries and civilian work, the first to go, it is believed, should be women without children and women with older children who can shift pretty well for themselves. Says the War Manpower commission:

THIRD OF A SERIES

"The first responsibility of women with young children in war as in peace, is to give suitable care in their own homes to their children."

Great Britain has adopted this same policy; even in that sorely pressed nation where both men and women have been drafted for industry, mothers of young children are exempted and are not obliged to go to work.

Nevertheless in both England and America many such mothers do go and in many cases they cannot be blamed. With a chance to earn money as never before, come also opportunities for themselves and their families—medical care, better housing and clothing, much needed fun and recreation and perhaps educational advantages as well.

Before a woman goes to work she should ask herself several questions: Are the things she can buy with her money more valuable for herself and her children in the long run, than a home with the mother herself in control? Even if she can provide properly for her children's health and safety under the care of relatives or elsewhere, how are the children going to get along without the warm mothering that the young ones crave from their own mothers? How will she feel when her children, as even the healthiest are bound to from time to time, get sick? Little children rebel against separation from their mothers. Sometimes they rebel openly and directly; oftener they show their anger by getting mischievous and hard to manage. When this happens, relatives, even well-intentioned ones, get impatient.

If a mother decides that in spite of the obvious problems caused by her absence she must nevertheless go to work, she should choose, when she possibly can, a day-shift that will leave her free to be home for her child's supper and bed-time.

Both here and in England experience has shown that if a mother must be away from home a day-care center is better in most cases for young children than care in the home of relatives or in a foster-home. There are now many such centers operated under government (Lanham Act) funds, or by social agencies and churches and sometimes also by the factories. The right kind of a day-care center is much more than a parking place for children. It is a place where they live and play and make things and where they learn the valuable lessons of give and take that come with getting together with other children.

Even with father away and mother at work, a child still has a right to a home of his own.

Board Outlines Procedure In Getting Duplicate Book

Persons who lose their ration books henceforth will be required to advertise their loss three times in the press, before they can obtain new books.

This requirement was announced Wednesday following a conference of Lubbock county rationing board officials, and applies to gasoline and sugar-coffee rationing books and to other rationing books which may be issued in the future.

They explained the procedure as follows: When a book is lost, the first thing the owner should do is to insert a newspaper advertisement. After the ad has run three times, the newspaper supplies the owner with an affidavit attesting to proof of publication. He should take this with a clipping of the ad to the rationing board office, 1215 Texas Avenue, where he must make application and a sworn statement that the book has been lost.

Officials emphasized that it will be needless to go first to the rationing board, that the initial act should be the insertion of the newspaper advertisement.

The plan is designed, they said, to aid the holder in locating his book and to protect him from use of the book by some unauthorized person.

INSERT A "3 DAY AD" IN THE LOST & FOUND COLUMN

A Small INEXPENSIVE "10 Word Ad" in the Lost and Found Column of the Avalanche-Journal, published for three days, will comply with the ruling now in force. Here is all it will cost to place such an ad in the Avalanche-Journal—

10 WORD AD PUBLISHED FOR— 3 Days WILL COST YOU ONLY— $1.10

IF Within THREE DAYS your RATION BOOK is not returned, the Avalanche-Journal will furnish you with an "Affidavit of Publication" This signed and notorized statement contains a copy of the ad, and certifies that you have complied with the Rationing Board's advertising regulation. Just attach it to your application for replacement.

Food Shortage Felt In Occupied Italy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second of a series of four uncensored articles on conditions in German-occupied Italy written for the Associated Press by Gunnar D. Kumlien, chief correspondent in Rome for the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen, who traveled by truck, train and airplane to return to Sweden with the story).

BY GUNNAR D. KUMLIEN
(Copyright, 1943, By The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9 — The German armies in Italy have driven northward some 1,500,000 sheep which normally pasture every autumn on the plains of Foggia and supply Rome with winter meat.

The food situation in the capital is catastrophic as a result.

The difference between Rome, which is in the field of operations, and northern Italy is best demonstrated by food. When I left the capital 10 days ago the bread was a grey-yellow color, so full of poplar flour and other indigestible ingredients that it was almost uneatable.

Fruit Is Exhausted

Grapes from the city's environs are exhausted and oranges, which normally are available abundantly in the winter, now are on the other side of the front.

The only meat obtainable is purchased at the black market at staggering prices such as approximately $5 a pound.

The sale naturally is uncontrolled, and for that reason a roaring trade is done with meat from ailing animals or livestock which has died of illness.

Civilians Evacuated

The civilian population along the Tyrrhenian sea was evacuated by the Germans in order more easily to defend the coastline against Allied landings. Consequently fishing stopped.

When we left Rome by automobile on our uncertain journey north the last train from Rome had returned to the capital a few days earlier without even reaching Florence after being bombed 18 hours following its departure.

We traveled a roundabout way on the least frequented roads in order not to be stopped or become involved in German military transport, where bombing danger is greater. Our two cars had diplomatic license plates and large Swedish flags on the roofs.

12 Different Roads

We went on toward the Apennines at dawn. There are 12 different roads across this range and in order to spare our engines we chose the easiest—though it is tough enough, anyway.

At 3,000 feet we ran into clouds and drove slowly up the winding road toward Futa pass between Florence and Bologna.

If the Germans are trying to barricade off northern Italy at the summit of the Apennines, then without doubt they have great prospects of success. The position is made stronger because it is impossible to outflank it by landings in the rear.

At the top of Futa pass we lunched at a roadside inn on macaroni made from the finest white flour, eggs, chicken and pigeons roasted over an open fire in our presence.

Area Of Plenty

We had cheese, grapes, apples and pears—all washed down with fine Chianti. We had entered the area of plenty in northern Italy.

Up there people are eating all their stocks of food as though every day were their last. They would rather starve later than see the Germans remove their food and wines.

In Milan the iron hand of the German occupation weighs more heavily than anywhere else in Italy. But the opposition is more active than anywhere else, with the possible exception of Turin.

Among the pugnacious working class in northern Italian cities is a long standing hatred of the Germans.

More than 60 per cent of the houses in Milan have been destroyed by bombs. Many of the remainder are more or less damaged.

Soviet Territorial Designs Are Denied

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9. (U.P.)—Russia has no designs on the rest of the world and is interested only in helping European countries win their freedom and choose their own forms of government, Constantine Oumansky, Russian ambassador to Mexico, said in a speech Monday.

Speaking in Spanish to a joint session of Mexico's Senate and Chamber of Deputies, Oumansky said the tripartite foreign ministers' conference in Moscow opened the way for ultimate Allied victory. He said that any statement that continental Europe was an "impregnable fortress" was pure Nazi propaganda.

Oumansky spoke in response to two and a half hours of Spanish oratory praising the Russian people and the Russian government. The special congressional joint session was called to celebrate the 26th anniversary of the Russian revolution. The special session climaxed two days of celebration in the Mexican capital, which included a reception at the palatial embassy and a mass meeting staged by the Mexican federation of labor.

LAAF Class Is From 36 States

The latest class of aviation cadets and aviation students to arrive at the Lubbock Army Air field on the final lap of their flight training certainly represents a good cross section of the average youth of America.

Exactly 75 per cent of the country is represented, with men from 36 different states. Just about half of the total class hails from the Midwest, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan being the leaders, with the Lone Star state furnishing their usual large share of native sons.

Among the new arrivals is young B. C. Newsom, son of Mrs. Carson C. West of Sonora, who received a bachelor of science degree from Texas Tech early this year. His wife, the former Miss Frances V. Graham, lives at 2308 Tenth street.

Practically half of the other new arrivals are college men, and to the great University of Wisconsin goes honors, with 30 former Badgers here in quest of their silver wings. Other famous campus yells to be heard around the cadet area are University of Michigan, Illinois and Texas A. and M.

Serious In Purposes

It is most interesting to note that these new students at LAAF appear to have a seriousness of purpose that belittles their youthful age; and not without good reason, for after a few questions among them, the following facts came to light:

Aviation Student Arthur W. Sherbondy of California, was a banker a few months ago, and when he received word that his cousin, Lt. Charles Cook, was a prisoner of war in Germany, he decided to do something about it in the Air Corps. He also has a brother, Lt. Robert Sherbondy, in the Air Corps who has been decorated with the Air Medal, Purple Heart and three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Aviation Cadet Eugene J. Roberts of Michigan has a cousin, Naval Lt. pilot William Roberts who has four decorations for services at Pearl Harbor; and Aviation Cadet William H. Bush's uncle, Brig. Gen. Harry H. Baird is on the general staff in Australia, and has been awarded the Purple Heart and Legion of Merit. Aviation Cadet John P. Cutting, who has been educated in military schools and spent a year at Annapolis, is the son of Lt. Col. George W. Cutting and a brother of WAC Corporal Mary M. Cutting. Aviation Cadet Robert L. Dowell of Colorado is the son of Fred Dowell on duty on the U. S. S. Wyoming.

Twin Brother Is Flier

Cadet Guy S. Forcier has a twin brother already a flier, but in the Navy Air Corps. They hail from Missouri. Cadet Gordon P. Culver, from Wisconsin, has a sister, Gladys, in the WAVES.

It is safe to state that every branch of the service, and from buck private to general, is represented by families of this new class of future "eagles of Uncle Sam."

For one aviation student, LAAF is an old story, as he was a corporal here on the flight line before entering flight training a few months ago. His name is James L. Prowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Prowell, of nearby Clovis, New Mexico.

Death Penalty Asked For Highway Robbers

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9 (U.P.) — Death penalty for 15 alleged highway robbers was asked yesterday by the federal prosecutor.

If the penalty is invoked, it will be the first time since an Oct. 7 executive order re-establishing capital punishment under the president's wartime emergency powers.

Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commander of the U. S. Air Forces in the Solomons, presented the awards and also pinned an air medal on Maj. Anthony Dalfonso of Philadelphia. Dalfonso was an army flight surgeon in the Solomons up until May to study combat factors affecting pilots and crews.

Escaped Convicts Caught In Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Frank Celli made good his boast that it was easy to escape from the Retrieve prison farm, but found that maintaining his freedom was not quite so facile.

Celli, 26, wrote to a Houston detective recently that he could walk away from the prison farm. Houston police said he did just that, along with Leonard Wilson, 33, yestrday morning.

Police captured the fugitives last night after a 75-mile an hour chase through Houston in which officers fired six shots. No one was injured.

Celli was serving 30 years for robbery by firearms from Tarrant county and Wilson 15 years for robbery from Ward county.

Five U. S. Airmen Sell Their Lives At Premium On Raid

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 4. (Delayed) (AP)—Five American boys, pledged to one another to sell their lives at a premium if their bomber was hit over Rabaul, kept their word by sinking a Japanese destroyer and then running their Mitchell almost down the guns of a cruiser before they died.

"If we get hit and there's any big stuff around it's going to be 'catch-as-catch-can'," was the last thing the pilot had told his commanding officer on Nov. 2 before leaving on the raid. Only a few minutes before he had explained his crew's pledge.

Engine Shot Out

Coming in over the target, the Mitchell's right engine was shot out by anti-aircraft fire. Then the bomber, piloted by 1st Lt. James Hungerpiller, Augusta, Ga., turned directly over a destroyer and blew it out of the water.

With one bomb left and all guns blazing, it drove for a cruiser but crashed in the harbor just short of the target.

Other members of the crew were 2nd Lt. Lonnie C. Shattuck, jr., Odessa, Tex., co-pilot; 2nd Lt. Everett A. Rice, Backus, Minn., navigator; Staff Sgt. Walter B. Burgess, Richmond, Ind., radio; Staff Sgt. Frank A. Mino, Johnstown, Pa., gunner.

New Law Suit Facing Flynn

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (AP) — Mrs. Shirley Evans Hassau, 21-year-old housewife, today filed a new paternity suit against Actor Errol Flynn, reiterating her previous allegation that he is the father of her child, Marlyn, 3.

The suit sets forth that Mrs. Hassau has not abandoned the daughter, who resides with the child's aunt, Mrs. Florence Mullen of San Francisco. Marlyn was born Nov. 13, 1940, a day after the mother's nineteenth birthday.

Request Is Changed

Instead of asking $5,000 hospital costs for the mother, $1,750 a month support for the child and other amounts, as requested in the previous action, the new suit merely ask a reasonable monthly allowance for Marlyn's maintenance and education and reasonable litigation costs and attorney fees.

The latest action resulted from a hearing Oct. 28 when attorneys for both parties stipulated that a demurrer filed by Flynn should be sustained, with the opportunity for Mrs. Hassau's lawyer to amend her action. Instead of an amendment, the new action was filed.

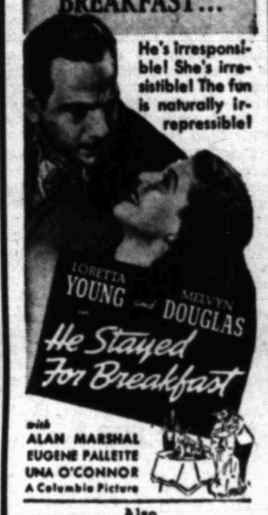

Flynn in an affidavit has denied ever being intimate with Mrs. Hassau.

JAP GENERAL KILLED

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP) — Lt. Gen. Takeshi Sakurada was killed Sept. 10 in an airplane accident en route to Japan from southern regions "to take up a new post," a Tokyo broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications commission said today. No details were given.

Revived by "Heady Goodness" of Folger's tells of canning-for-victory experience!
"YESTERDAY WHEN I HAD TIGHTENED THE LAST LID ON THE LAST JAR OF THE DAY'S CANNING, I WAS TIRED--AND I MEAN TIRED. I EVEN FOUND MYSELF THINKING 'I DON'T CARE IF I NEVER SEE ANOTHER CAN OF FOOD--DARN THAT VICTORY GARDEN ANYWAY!' WEARILY I REACHED IN THE CUPBOARD FOR THE FOLGER'S AND AT THE FIRST WHIFF OF THAT RICH, HEADY GOODNESS I BEGAN TO REVIVE. AFTER ONE CUP AND A 'DIVIDEND' CUP I WAS ACTUALLY WISHING THAT IT WASN'T TOO NEAR DINNER TIME TO START CANNING AGAIN."

MRS. R. S. KNAPP of Cedar Falls, Iowa, describes feeling that every woman will sympathize with . . . and there's a smart tip in her letter for all who do home canning!
HERE'S WHY FOLGER'S TASTES DIFFERENT
During rationing, thousands tried mountain grown Folger's Coffee for the first time—were surprised and delighted when they tasted it's delicious miracle of flavor.
For Folger's is a special kind of coffee. The Folger people blend precious mountain coffees from the Coffee Growing Paradise of the tropical Americas to produce a rich vigorous flavor that's never been matched by any other coffee in the world.
And rationing proved Folger's is a real economy—that Folger flavor is so much richer, many women write they use ¼ less than of ordinary weaker flavored brands. Proof there's a mountain of flavor in every spoonful of Folger's!

Randolph Field Top Service Grid Team; LAAF Is Second

(By The Associated Press)

Randolph Field's unbeaten, untied Ramblers — the only team with a perfect record in the Southwest — march against the Ward Island Marines this week—then there will be two more games before Glenn Dobbs and Co. call it a service football campaign, barring a post-season clash.

Randolph downed Blackland Army Air field 26-7 last week to run its string to seven straight victories.

The Ramblers met Ward Island earlier in the season and won 39-9. The Marines were the only outfit able to score on Randolph until Blackland did it last week.

Play NTAC Nov. 20

Randolph plays the North Texas Aggies Nov. 20 and Southwestern Louisiana institute Nov. 27 and if able to come through those two tough opponents can lay claim to the unofficial title of the Southwest. SLI beat Southwestern, which defeated Texas and Texas is top favorite for the Southwest conference championship.

Lubbock Army Air field remains in second place among the service teams with four victories and one defeat. LAAF has challenged Randolph for a game but it is doubtful if the two teams will be able to get together due to travel restrictions on air field elevens.

Three Games This Week

There are three games for service teams scheduled this week. The Abilene Army Air field-First Military Police Training center plays Southwestern at Abilene Friday night. The Randolph-Ward Island game is Saturday along with a clash between 51st General Hospital and the El Paso all stars at El Paso.

Standings of Texas service football teams playing as many as five games:

Jim Thorpe Fails To Get Coaching Job

SHAWNEE, Okla., Nov. 9 (AP)—Big Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete 30 years ago, was en route to an Oxnard, Calif., war plant today because the coaching job he sought in his native Oklahoma failed to materialize.

Mrs. Mary Wisonn, Thorpe's sister, said he felt keenly disappointed at the collapse of his hope for a place at Oklahoma university or some other state institution.

Reiger Is Lost To Westerners

Locals Weakened For Crucial Tilt

The Lubbock Westerners will roll into Amarillo this week for the crucial clash with the highly touted Amarillo Golden Sandies without the services of Jim Joe Reiger, right end, co-captain and one of the two lettermen of the club.

Reiger was knocked out of the Armistice Day game with the Sandies by pneumonia which put him in bed Saturday night. He was reported to be greatly improved Monday, but he has been definitely ruled out of the Amarillo game, and in all likelihood will remain bedfast until Friday at the earliest.

The loss of Reiger will leave the Westerners with only one letterman for the all important battle of the Amarillo Golden Sandies on Butler field. This will be Jim Strawn, tackle.

The wing posts seem to be the hardest hit spot on the Westerner club, and Monday found Kenneth Cawthorn, reserve wingman, also missing from the practice because of an injury to his leg which took a turn for the worse in the past few days. The injury was suffered in practice early last week.

There were no other injuries on the club. The Westerners came through the tough battle last Friday afternoon with Brownfield in good shape.

The team spent Monday working on the offense for the Amarillo game. A long scrimmage was held with the Cowhands Monday with Coaches J. Mule Davis and Dixie White using many offensive combinations against the younger lads.

Jerry Crawford, 136 pounder, was being groomed Monday to replace Reiger at the right wing post, and was showing up well in the rough scrimmage session.

The Westerners were ripping off nice gains against the Cowhands, and were looking good. Several new surprise packages were being made up for delivery to Butler Field Thursday, and much attention was being centered on these plays during the scrimmage session.

The team will hold two more workouts at home and leave Wednesday for Amarillo after the last workout. The team will spend the night in Amarillo Wednesday and be ready for the crucial battle Thursday afternoon.

E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, business manager of athletics at Lubbock High school, said Monday night that "about half" of the tickets for the game had been sold Monday, and the rest would again be on sale this afternoon at the Hilton hotel. He warned fans again that those intending to go to Amarillo must get their tickets before they leave, for all tickets at Amarillo have already been sold.

Three Former Techsans To Be Playing For NTAC Saturday

Three one-time Texas Tech students will attend the homecoming football game here Saturday afternoon with the North Texas Aggies from Arlington, but will come with intent of making things uncomfortable for the home-comers.

Three members of the Aggies started college careers with the Red Raiders, but Navy calls landed them at the Arlington school where they have become members of the high-stepping Aggies.

One of the trio was a freshman and two were varsity lettermen with the Texas Tech grid teams.

One of the towers of strength in the Aggie forward wall against his old mates Saturday will be James Reid, a lad who is well known to Texas Tech grid fans.

The other two on the Aggie roster with Tech backgrounds are P. A. Wynn and Joe Beavers, a pair of linemen who were out for spring training at Texas Tech this year.

Other grid greats playing now with the Junior Aggies are Woodfin, last season the regular center with Texas Christian, John Steele, another Frog starter, and Batchelor, who played one year with the Texas Longhorns.

The Red Raiders were given a day of complete rest Monday, and there was no workout, but Coach Dell Morgan said that Tuesday the team would settle down to the task of getting ready for the Navy packed Aggies.

The team came through the game last Saturday with Texas Christian without any injuries, and barring accidents during the week, will enter the game at top strength.

The Red Raiders came back strong Saturday to defeat Texas Christian 40 to 20, and win their first college game of the season, and hope that it will be the start to a blazing finish for the grid season.

Much of the spark for that comeback Saturday was provided by Buster Melton, who had been held out of the first half of the game because he "missed the bus" at Lubbock when the team left for Fort Worth.

Melton was given a unanimous vote of the team to return to the lineup, and the Red Raiders started the second half with a 15 yard penalty while waiting for Melton to suit up and get ready for battle. He played a great game while in there, and the 15 yard setback seemed worth it.

There had been much speculation among radio listeners regarding the 15 yard penalty at the start of the second half.

The game here Saturday will be the last home game of the season, and next to the last game for the Red Raiders, who still have a game left with Southern Methodist University at Dallas the following week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Don't be surprised if Holy Cross and Louisiana State turn up in Miami's Orange bowl New Year's day—in spite of what happened to Steve Van Buren and Co. Saturday. . . The committee has been working on that pair and is willing to laugh off one game to get two civilian teams . . . And all the arrangements have been made to transport a full squad of eastern stars to San Francisco for the Shrine East-West game (if they can find enough stars) . . . Plans for a war bond pro football show here Thanksgiving day have been abandoned because George Marshall wouldn't lend his Redskins for scrimmages with the Giants, Dodgers and Eagles.

Six Frogs Lost By Transfers

(By The Associated Press)

Coach Dutch Meyer has grown used to the Navy's crooking its finger at his Texas Christian university football players. He has become somewhat philosophical about it.

So, when the Navy beckoned again yesterday and the Horned Frogs lost another six men by shifts involving naval personnel, Meyer said:

"We'll put a team on the field Saturday at Austin, and we'll do the best we can. We won't give up."

Starters lost yesterday by the Christians were Backs Arthur Teixeira and Quintin Lawrence, End Bill Marshall, Tackle Bill Gaffney and Guard Norman Morrill. Moose Green, who reported only recently, also was shifted by the Navy.

Texas' Hopes High

In the Longhorn camp at Austin, hopes ran high that Ralph Ellsworth, fleet tailback, would be ready to start against TCU, as his elbow sprain was responding well to treatment.

Coach Homer Norton, whose unbeaten Texas Aggies face Rice at Houston, revealed a unique plan whereby his A, B and C teams will engage in a round robin schedule during this week's practice to determine which will start against the Owls. In trouncing S. M. U. 20-0 last week, all three elevens looked good.

Arkansas' hapless Razorbacks moved into San Antonio, site of their Saturday clash with Southern Methodist.

Notre Dame Sweeps National Grid Poll

Irish Unanimous Choice For First

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 — Coach Frank Leahy, of Notre Dame, believes the Irish-Northwestern football game this Saturday "can go either way," but the sportswriters of the nation apparently think the South Bend mentor is talking through his hat.

All of the 91 grid experts participating in this week's Associated Press poll to determine the top ten teams ranked the Irish in first place. This is the first time a team received unanimous backing.

Altogether Notre Dame, on the basis of its 26-0 trouncing of Army, polled a total of 910 points, putting the Irish in a class by themselves. Purdue retained second place, but was far behind with 570 points.

Navy Jumps To Third

Navy, which bounced back from a Notre Dame licking to hand Penn its first defeat, jumped to third place with Michigan, Iowa Seahawks, Army, Duke, Northwestern, Southern California and Penn completing the first ten.

"Northwestern has one of the greatest backs in the country in Otto Graham," Leahy told the New York football writers yesterday. "He is a wonder at passing, running and kicking. I know because I coached him for the all-star game in Chicago this year."

"We got the breaks to beat Army," Leahy continued without cracking a smile, "I think Northwestern will give us a tough battle. It can go either way. I know a lot of persons will be surprised if they beat us, but not me."

Here's how the teams ranked, counting 10 points for first place, etc.:

Texas Aggies 14th

1, Notre Dame, 910; 2, Purdue, 570; 3, Navy, 518; 4, Michigan, 486; 5, Iowa Seahawks, 459; 6, Army, 404; 7, Duke, 308; 8, Northwestern, 285; 9, Southern California, 250; 10, Pennsylvania, 131.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say—
The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 300 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

RENT TROUBLES

Dear Plainsman: We are six soldiers, non-coms, who disagree with your reply to the corporal's letter which appeared in last Friday's Evening Journal. We also disagree with the corporal in his statement that apartments are available in Lubbock at reasonable rents.

All of us have been trying for months to find such places, but without success. We'd suggest that a committee be appointed to locate and list apartments which are available at rents that we can afford to pay. And Cpl. ——— is unanimously elected chairman of the committee. We will gladly plead with his C. O. to release him from other duties to handle this most important job.

We are strong for rent control, because we believe that there are not enough apartments, and if you have evidence to disprove that the situation is critical, let's have the dope. We want rent control in spite of your criticism that "it looks good on paper, but in practice it doesn't work." Do you have information that is not accomplishing its purpose at Amarillo, Hobbs, Dalhart and other such places where it is in effect? Since there are 10 people asking for every place that is offered for rent, do you have a better way to keep these landlords from doing the thing that nature impels them to do and collect all that the traffic will bear?

We realize that there are hundreds of owners in Lubbock, who are playing fair with their tenants. Evidently there also are plenty of those who are getting the kind of treatment that we received from our landlords. With only two days notice, all of us were notified of a raise in rent from $30 a month, to $37.50. Our accommodations include a bedroom, kitchen and bath, and no improvements have been made since any of us moved in.

The important fact that we must face is that another big slice of our pay will go for rent from now on if nothing is done to bring in rent control. If you were in our places, Mr. Plainsman, what would you do?

We herewith sign our names, but do not wish to have them published.

Six Soldiers.

(Dear Soldiers: You say you are for rent control "because there are not enough apartments." All the rent control in the world will not bring about more apartments and shortage of apartments is not a basis for rent control. I am sure the housing situation here is critical; that there is a shortage. However, as I pointed out before, a survey made in places where rent control is in operation indicates that it does not solve the problem. I suggest you appoint one of your number to call upon A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, who has the survey information. Frankly, it is my hunch that there will be rent control here before long. Right now — and as a last resort — there is a Fair Rents committee, which is supposed to talk landlords out of raising rents by pointing out the bad angles of rent control. That, to me, looks like another "noble experiment" and I don't believe in Santa Claus. Since I own no rent property and own my house, I have no personal objection to rent control; neither do I have any personal desire for it. But if the minority of landlords don't quit trying to squeeze blood out of turnips, they're going to bring rent control on themselves — which is deserved — and on the fair majority, which does not deserve the inequities which rent control brings. If rent control comes in, though, don't expect it to solve your problem. There won't be any more living quarters — or more desirable rental property — available under rent control than now. Cordially yours, The Plainsman).

This Story Was Too Good To Be Invented

ATLANTA, Nov. 9 (AP) — An applicant for a renewal of his gasoline ration did not have the required tire inspection record and gave this explanation:

"My uncle George died last week and my aunt called me up and asked if she could borrow my everyday suit to bury him in. So I told her sure, why not? Anyhow, she buried him in my suit — and my tire inspection record was in the pocket."

The applicant, said Secretary Luther B. Stephens of the Fulton county rationing board today, got a duplicate record — and his ration book renewed "because nobody could have invented that story."

THANKS to Mrs. Beecher Sherrod, of Tahoka; Mrs. A. S. Riddle, of Lamesa, and to Carvel Bramblett, of 1909 Dixie Drive, for their contributions of leather from which George Moore will fashion scabbards for knives to be sent fighting men in the South Pacific jungles. We can still use more leather, though—and some knives, too. Especially do we need cotton knives, which Klaus McCraw will cut down and sharpen up for Jap-sticking purposes.

Speaking of knives for Jap-sticking purposes, we saw a jim-dandy the other day. Mayor Carl Slaton's son-in-law, Roy Leasure, jr., was leaving for service with the SeaBees and while employed in a Houston ship-building plant made himself a fine, strong knife.

The knife was made out of an ordinary file. Its blade is nine inches long and its strong handle, fashioned from a 20 mm. shell, is protected by a good hilt.

Mr. Leasure says he made his knife this way, in case any reader may want to make one for a friend in the service:

First, he took the temper out of the file by heating it until it became pink in the center. Then he let it cool naturally; used no oil or water to hurry the process. Then he ground it down into blade form.

Mr. Leasure said during the grinding process he occasionally dipped the blade into water, to keep it from growing too hot. The finished product certainly looked worth the effort.

Douglas "Ben" Meador, editor of the Matador Tribune and probably better described as the "Sage of Dutchman Creek," was in the other day and reported that good knives can also be made out of leaves of old automobile springs.

He says his father-in-law, A. E. Tipton, has made several such Jap- stickers for service friends.

MORRIS LEVINE, the merchant, had such an unusual wartime experience the other day that he nearly had heart failure. Fact is, he was so astounded, that he was moved to write the following letter to a Dallas wholesaler:

"Dear Dave: Don't you know there is a war on? Recently I gave your firm a considerable order covering numerous types of merchandise. Not only did you fill the complete order, but you filled it properly without an error.

"On top of that, you shipped the order on the very day you agreed to ship it, and it arrived here just when you said it would.

"I repeat: Don't you know there's a war on?

"What kind of an outfit are you running anyway?"

As an after-thought, Mr. Levine added this:

"P.S. Please triple the order for next month!"

MRS. SAM MARTIN, who lives on Route 2 out of Post, brought us a copy of the extra Armistice Day (1918) edition of the Abilene Reporter, which we are turning over to our good friend Dr. Louise Crawford Allen for display to her Tech journalism students.

The Abilene paper, which will be 25 years old next week, is somewhat the worse for its age, and due to the fact that the trunk in which it has been kept went through a flood. But it still can be fairly well read.

The whole front page of the paper was given over to bulletins about the Armistice, all of them set in big type.

The banner line, set in type four inches high, reads:

"World War Over At Last."

Wonder how long it will be before a similar edition will be rolling off the presses in connection with the current conflict?

Not too long, maybe. (We hope!)

Two lines of inch-high type tell a terse story of what the kaiser and his chums did when the German home front collapsed.

They say:

"Glittering Staff Flee For Their Lives. Kaiser And High Command Arrive Armed In Holland."

As everyone knows, the kaiser and his entourage were granted protection, in keeping with the rules of international law, and he served out the rest of his human existence in the land of the Dutch.

But that's where he had it on Hitler.

When the Little Corporal reaches the end of his rope, he'll have no place to go for safety, if, indeed, his own people don't kill him, or he does not take his own miserable life.

There'll be no protection—even in a neutral country—for Hitler and his jackals.

They'll have to face the music. And it will be slow music, at that!

A LOT of people, who two years ago would have turned up their noses at the idea, are now eating butter substitutes.

Under current butter point values, few, if any families can avoid using a substitute at times and our observation is the substitute is doing very well.

At our house, it is a major event when we have butter, but to tell the truth, The Plainsman never knows whether he's spreading the real McCoy, or some form of oleo, on his bread.

It's gotten so we never think about it.

Ladies who are culinary experts tell us that butter substitutes serve much better as spreads than they do in cooking and those ladies ought to know. However, since we've been largely using butter substitutes at our house we've noticed no deterioration in the food as served up. That is partially due to our Willie Walcott, major domo of the kitchen who is pretty much of a magician when it comes to whipping up good grub. But if butter substitutes were awful awful, not even a top-flight cook could disguise all their shortcomings.

After the war is won, it's our guess that the makers of butter substitutes will never be pushed back into the doghouse where they have been kept for all these years by strong dairy lobbies.

People will know then that butter substitutes can be used very nicely and while butter probably always will be the better product, the lower cost of the substitutes will recommend their use to a lot of families.

Americans are being forced to learn a lot of things these days—and not all they're learning is without promise.

I Am A Murderer

By MORRIS MARKEY

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: This is the story of the "perfect crime"—the murder of Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether in the library of his Long Island estate—and of the events leading up to it. We have met the wealthy Colonel's attractive daughter Cynthia. We know that Henry Prentiss' injured hand will keep him out of the day's polo game, and that another player, Fred West, is being urged to marry Cynthia and replenish the family finances.

REVERIES AND POLO

CHAPTER III

The only report that came to Mrs. Porter West of her son's proposal to Cynthia Merriwether was in a chance remark that Fred delivered as he drank coffee with her after dinner one night.

"By the way," he said. "Cynnie told me to go climb a tree. But," and he smiled a little wryly, "she said it could be a tree in her own back yard."

On the whole, this was not too disturbing to Mrs. Porter West. She had learned, with men and with horses, the inestimable art of patience—and persistence she did not have to learn, because it was born with her.

"Keep your head," she replied quietly, "and don't do anything young or foolish."

Which seemed fertile advice except for one element which grew steadily into the situation. That element was Henry Prentiss.

Now it should be said at once that Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether and his daughter Cynthia were not old school. They were not even, in the strict sense, Long Island. Six or seven years ago they had appeared at Gull Point, and the colonel had bought, for certain holy quantities of cash money, the old and altogether magnificent Stone estate. And horses once more had filled the barns. And a preternaturally shy Cynthia had taken confidence unto herself and had grown slowly beautiful.

Whence had they come? Well, no advices were offered from Stone House, and the times had changed to affect, permanently no doubt, the asking of direct questions upon such a matter. The essential fact was, alas, that Colonel Merriwether was a very rich man. At least he behaved like one. Not nouveau riche, not devoted to crude, extravagant display. Oh, no. But solid, assured, and in his particularly calm manner altogether opulent.

Did the Hunt (a trifle embarrassed for funds) wish the hounds walked for a month? Colonel Merriwether would undertake the burden: daily food for the 26 dogs and keep for their handlers. Not too readily. Not too eagerly.

He would hear the secretary of the Hunt and the master of fox hounds explain the situation—listening most gravely—and then, after some moments of consideration and in the quietest of tones, he would say, "I think it would be a pleasure, gentlemen. I am always glad to be of such assistance as I may manage."

Did the beagling crowd look aobut a little wistfully for somebody to serve breakfast after the Sunday morning coursing? Stone House was gracious in its hospitality, ample with its food, and positively distinguished with its Fish House punch, within whose aromatic bowls the bouquet of Clicquot '29 was never missing.

When Cynthia grew of an age to undertake the duties of hostess (no Mrs. Merriwether had ever been seen or even mentioned) the entertainments within those broad and enviable rooms, upon the terrace, at the pool and the tennis courts, became more lavish. Everybody who was anybody felt at home there, despite the magnificence, and in a confused and troubled world Stone House was a haven of quiet merriment and all of its atmosphere was of ineffable security.

There was only one curious note. The guests at Stone House were, without exception, the people of Gull Point (and their own week-end or summer guests). Nobody ever appeared from the outside world, nobody from that existence which the Merriwethers must, perforce, have lived before their arrival in the community.

It would not be a precise statement to say that Mrs. Porter West enjoyed the hospitality of Stone House. Naturally, she was on the guest list prepared and kept carefully to date by Mitchell Grace, the Colonel's secretary. She even forewent her native antipathy to invitations-by-telephone, and inveriably accepted them. But the verb "to enjoy" has connotations peculiar to itself. Mrs. Porter West was too shrewd a woman to spend her opportunities in the vain pleasures of the fleeting hour. When she went to Stone House, she went on business.

And she found out, early indeed, enough to convince her that here, despite certain unsatisfactory details, was the Main Chance—for her Frederick, and not incidentally by any means, for herself.

Then the insufferable Henry Prentiss appeared. Four years ago, wasn't it? Yes, about four years. He, too, seemed to come out of nowhere. Oh, one or two of the boys remembered playing polo with him on the coast, at Midwick and the Uplifters. But what was that? Hollywood! And before Hollywood? Who could know? Probably born in Flatbush!

She had addressed her son upon the subject within a month of Henry Prentiss' arrival. "By the way, Frederick—" (fluttering of the newspaper and sudden interest in some obscure item).

"Yes, Mother?"

"Oh—what?"

"You were saying something."

Today's Journal Editorial

MR. HOOVER'S OPTIMISM

The most encouraging fact in connection with the "hope" voiced by former President Herbert Hoover the other day that the war will end next year was that it came from Mr. Hoover.

Probably no one in the public eye today personifies conservatism more perfectly than does the former President. Nor can there be any question as to the soundness of his judgment in realistic matters. True, his judgment of political values has been nothing to speak of, as he has readily admitted. But his is the sort of mind which can examine causes and usually predict results with accuracy.

Thus it meant a good deal when Mr. Hoover told members of a Senate Foreign Relations sub-committee the other day that, "we're certainly in the latter stages of the war," and added, "very probably, I hope, the last winter of the war" is at hand.

Coming from Mr. Hoover, these statements meant more than the positive declaration by almost anyone else that 1944 will see the end of the struggle. Anyone else might give voice to wishful thinking, but not Mr. Hoover.

However, it is worth noting that Mr. Hoover was referring specifically to the war in Europe. There was no occasion for his opinion on the war in the Pacific, so he expressed none. This may or may not be a clear implication that he shares in the widespread opinion that Japan still will remain to be crushed after peace is returned to Europe.

Hold Everything

"No mail from home, so they're reading each other's palms!"

"Dear me—what could it have been—Oh! I was just wondering who is your friend Henry Prentiss? Seems a rough and tumble sort of chap."

"Hank?" Fred laughed. "Salt of the earth, Mother. Don't bother. He'll not contaminate your precious Gull Point. The man's positively moral. By Joe, Mother, the most moral citizen I ever knew!"

"I don't care for your language. I asked you a simple question. Very simple."

"To wit: Who is my friend Henry Prentiss? Let us reply, then. He is a guy from California who had a six-goal rating there, good for a three-goal rating in our own high-class backyard. He plays a nice game and he's got top ponies to do it with. He lives in the Brewer cottage, which he rented, and as far as I know he pays his rent—along with his other bills.

"I never saw him fumble the check at 21 or the Stork Club or the St. Regis. He doesn't gossip and never boasts. He's good company, and personally I like him. But, wait a minute! His neckties! I knew something was wrong with the guy. He wears lousy, noisy, viciously expensive neckties. Guess I'll have to drop him after all."

Mrs. Porter West looked at him steadily.

"Does it occur to you," she said, "that you have neglected to answer my question?"

"You're being rather difficult, Mother."

"Perhaps. But is has not escaped me that your friend has given rather devoted attention to the Merriwethers—and to Cynthia in particular."

"Oh, nuts. The girl can pick her own friends, can't she? If she wants to walk out with Tony Galento, what business is it of yours, or mine?"

"I rather felt that Cynthia deserved more concern from up than that."

"I'm sorry, Mother. I apologize. I keep forgetting you're not used to my crude manners. I suppose we're a pretty low-down generation. But quit worrying about Hank—and Cynnie. He's a right guy and she's a right kid, and everything comes out in the wash, anyway."

Cynthia gave a shrill cry, jumping to her feet and clapping her hands. And Mrs. Porter West swam out of her bitter reveries and lifted her eyes to the soothing green carpet of the playing field—to the little clump of horsemen pulling up their mounts at the mouth of the north goal.

Her son had just scored beautifully from a wide angle, and the scoreboard told that his Whirlwinds were leading the Clovers, 5 to 3. Henry Prentiss was enjoying Cynthia's excitement to the utmost. He looked with delight at her pink cheeks, her eyes glowing with all of her grand vitality, her small fists beating against each other—and he laughed aloud, slapping his thigh.

Mrs. Porter West murmured to herself, "Gauche individual!" and kicked the bench in front of her with her elegant toe, in a manner of such vigor that it would certainly have been frowned upon by any stout-hearted member of the old school.

The Only Loophole in the Agreement

Travel On Land, On Sea And In The Air Doesn't Bother Ernie

He Still Tips The W. K. Beam At 108 Pounds!

EDITOR'S NOTE: In this column written in 1940 Ernie Pyle looks back over more than five years as a roving reporter. The five have stretched now to more than eight, and to the fighting fronts. (We are reprinting some of Ernie's past columns while he is on vacation.)

By ERNIE PYLE

THIS old carcass is now in its sixth year of busting constantly around the country and writing about it.

When we started I weighed 108 pounds, had two bad colds a year, felt very tired of an evening, and was scared to death at meeting strange people.

But, now, after five and a half years and 165,000 miles of travel, I weigh 108 pounds, have two bad colds a year, feel tired of an evening, and am afraid of people. Travel, indeed, is broadening.

ERNIE PYLE

We have traveled by practically all forms of locomotion, including piggyback. We have been at least three times into every state in the Union. We have been to every counrty in the Western Hemisphere but two. We have stayed in more than 800 hotels, have crossed the continent exactly 20 times, flown on 66 airplanes, ridden on 29 boats, walked 200 miles, and put out approximately $2,500 in tips.

Job Has Its Good Points

The reason we do all this is simple. We do it to make a living. That is accomplished by writing a piece a day for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, and some others too.

In five years these columns have stretched out to the horrifying equivalent of 20 full-length books. The mere thought of it makes me sick at my stomach.

People often ask me how we stand all this travel. Well, it has its compensations. You don't have to make your own beds. You don't have to buy coal. You can make new friends and go on before they find out how dull you are. You don't have to get up at 4 a. m. and milk the cows.

AND then, too, lots of people write us nice letters, and there are even fanatics who thrill me by vowing that there is a certain quality in my writing that on some days actually makes sense.

In sending my columns into Washington from odd spots all the way from Nome to Asuncion, not a single column has been lost.

Once I went for five months without seeing my own column in print. And among fatal statistics—two men whom I interviewed have died before the columns about them were published.

We have no figures on the number who have died of shock after seeing themselves in print.

He's Still Solvent

This job has created one distinction nobody can take away from me. And that is that I am probably the only solvent person in America (and I don't mean too solvent) who literally has no home, no place to hang his hat, no base to go back to and start away from.

We have worked up a whole new continent-wide list of intimate friends, and we consequently keep up a personal correspondence with about 300 people.

IN these years we have worn out two cars, five sets of tires, three typewriters, and pretty soon I'm going to have to have a new pair of shoes. I love to drive, and never get tired of it, but on long days I do get to hurting on the bottom.

Where this wandering business will get us, or where it will all end, I have no idea. Five and a half years ago my boss in Washington got tired of me pestering him about the travel idea, so he said, "Oh all right, go on and get out. Try it a little while as an experiment. We'll see how it turns out."

From that day to this he has never mentioned it again. That's all right with me, for I was never one to rush into hasty decisions, either. But if they don't make up their minds about my future within 15 or 20 years, I'm going to begin to wonder.

German People Said Ready To Surrender

CHICAGO, Nov. 9. (AP)—The great majority of the German people realize the war is already lost to them and prefer to surrender to the western powers to escape the revenge of the Russians, Thomas Mann, German author and exile said last night.

"The Germans already are atoning for their sins," he declared, at the 17th triennial convention of the National Council of Jewish Women. "Soon their country will be invaded by foreign troops and their country will be directed for some time by foreigners. Defeat is the best education."

He predicted Hitler will be murdered and lost within the abyss of a revolution within a year. The Moscow pact, he said, made a deep impression in Germany because it shattered their hopes for a split among the Allies.

Winfield Scott Defends Wife

AUSTIN, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Winfield Scott, Fort Worth heir to a cattle fortune, today defended his former wife Ruth Ann, accused of bigamy in Oklahoma, and declared he loved her more than he ever loved any one else.

In reply to the bigamy charge presented by Love County Attorney R. A. Keller with a request for extradition, a Juarez, Mex. divorce decree was exhibited. Scott said the divorce had been obtained with his consent.

Over-ruling the white-tied Oklahoma prosecutor's contention that he had no right to inquire into the facts but must honor the Oklahoma governor's requisition, Stevenson took part in the questioning. "I do not want to pry into your affairs," he told Scott. "I just want to find out what the situation was."

Scott Breaks Down

Scott broke down and cried as he told the Texas Governor: "I've always tried to be a good loser. I've lost her. I don't want to see any harm done her."

Scott denied that they had lived together as husband and wife since the divorce, admitted he had been undergoing narcotic treatment and said:

"I can't see whose affair this is, if I am satisfied, Capt. (David M.) Cameron is satisfied and my former wife is satisfied."

He said Mrs. Scott had promised not to remarry until he had completed hospital treatment but added that he did not blame her for marrying earlier.

"Captain Cameron received his overseas orders. He may not come back. I don't blame them for marrying," he said.

The Oklahoma attorney questioned the validity in Texas of a Mexican divorce. Scott's and Mrs. Cameron's attorneys said such a divorce is valid in Texas if the parties have submitted themselves to the jurisdiction of the court. Scott said he had done so.

Drive On Inflation

administration's promise of four to 10 cents an hour increases for non-operating railroad workers.

Attempts at compromise had centered about the subsidy issue. There is virtually no hope for a substantial contribution from the tax front to mop up excess income in an election year, regardless of non-partisan agreements.

But a suggestion that a middle road might be reached through a decision to postpone the subsidy fight until spring has been discarded by both sides. That would have been done by merely extending authorization for the Commodity Credit corporation, under which the subsidy program operates. Such a compromise was reached early last summer.

quarters of all kinds at equitable levels.

If this does not solve the problem, according to those in close touch with the situation, compulsory federal control will almost certainly result. In such case, the warning continued further, rents probably will be established at the ceiling levels prevailing in March, 1942.

BUYING COURAGE REVIVES

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP) — Buying courage revived to some extent in today's stock market, after six successive declining sessions in which Monday's relapse was one of the sharpest of the year, and leading rails and industrial specialties enjoyed a good rally.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon with large blocks of low-priced issues crowding the ticker tape, tapered in the third hour. Transfers were around 1,500,000 shares against yesterday's 2,340,180.

There was some short openings and reinstatement of commitments here and there when talk of an early peace, main instigator of the recent downswing, waned on Prime Minister Churchill's warning that the campaign of 1944 in Europe would be the most severe and costliest in lives that the Allies have ever experienced.

Prominent advancers were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, N. Y. Central, American Distilling, Loew's, Paramount Pictures, Pepsi-Cola, Distillers' Corp.-Seagrams, Douglas Aircraft, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, Dupont, Ohio Oil, Texas Co. and Oliver Farm. In arrears at intervals were American Telephone, Chrysler, American Can, United Aircraft, Goodyear, Standard Oil (NJ) and Boeing.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill's address today tended to dampen the optimistic reports of an early peace in Europe, which had been a disturbing influence in the grain market, and earlier losses were more than wiped out.

Air Power Test

of the invasion army, and that the casualties of such a campaign would be very great.

Another Factor Seen

There is, of course, another factor besides air power actually involved. Aside from the Allied operations in Italy, a crash-through by the Russian army on the eastern front might produce one of two results:

1. A capitulation by Germany in an effort to keep the Russians off German soil.

2. A ground invasion of western Europe ahead of schedule in order to clamp Germany in a nutcracker.

News Briefs

Second Lieutenants Mary E. Scott and Evelyn L. Olson, both trained in Chicago hospitals, are additions to Lubbock Army Air field nursing staff. They are from the mid-West.

Report that his brother, Staff Sgt. J. R. Bell, waist gunner in a Flying Fortress, is a prisoner of war in Germany was received Monday by Policeman J. W. Bell. Sgt. Bell has been missing in action since Oct. 1. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bell of Oakland, Calif., former residents of Shallowater community.

Marlin R. Smith, jr., city manager, C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce, and A. F. Holt, member of the city airport board, plan to leave early Wednesday for Oklahoma City to attend a national post-war aviation planning conference sponsored by the National Aeronautics association.

Officials at Lubbock General hospital this morning reported that Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, who suffered a fractured hip in a fall Sunday, is resting very well increased in ferocity, particularly south and west of the town, where the Russians gained ground "slowly in the face of determined resistance.")

Driving beyond Fastov, a tank force reached points 45 miles southwest of Kiev along the Vinnitsa railroad which splits the Ukraine from northeast to southwest.

Another force was protecting the right flank of that column by pushing westward along the Zhitomir highway. It already had covered between one-third and one-half of the distance to Zhitomir 80 miles west of Kiev.

The Kiev-Vinnitsa railroad constitutes the spinal column of the German armies struggling to extricate themselves from the predicament posed by the Russian onsurge through the Dnieper line.

Once that line is destroyed, military observers believed, the tottering German front in the south Ukraine will collapse. The Nazi position was counted hopeless because of what was regarded as irreparable stategic errors committed by the German general staff, evidently at the instance of Adolf Hitler.

Error Blamed On Hitler

But for Hitler's refusal, it was reported, the general staff would have carried out a general retreat to the Carpathians where a solid right flank could have been established. Instead the Nazis were being hurled back to the same area with tremendous losses.

Once again, the Germans were abandoning arms and even planes in their haste to escape Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's flying columns. Fifteen planes were seized intact on one airfield near Fastov, in addition to a full fuel dump.

Strike Toward Rail Center

Thundering across territory held by the Germans since the early days of the war, Soviet tanks and motorized infantry captured Koshanka, 43 miles southwest of Kiev and only 140 miles northeast of Rumania and 110 miles southeast of Poland, and more than 60 other towns and villages.

Fom Koshanka, the Russians struck southwest toward Berdichev, terminus of the last north-south Ukrainian railroad in German hands.

Capture of Berdichev would leave the Germans only the Odessa-Lwow railroad over which to move reinforcements and supplies to the Nazi armies in the Dnieper bend, or to evacuate them.

Other Columns Advance

Another Soviet column, advancing almost due west from Kiev, forced the Zdvizh river and captured Makarov, 31 miles west of Kiev and 50 miles east of the junction city of Zhitomir.

The third Russian force drove into Gornostayepol, 45 miles northwest of Kiev and only 70 miles southeast of Korosten, another junction on the railway running north from Berdichev.

A special Soviet announcement disclosed that 15,000 Germans were killed in the four days of fighting that ended with the capture of Kiev Saturday. Some 6,220 Germans were captured.

At the eastern tip of the Crimea, the Russians improved their positions on the Kerch peninsula after beating back four German counter-attacks by an infantry regiment and 15 tanks.

(The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet quoted a Bucharest report that the Germans had seized a large number of Danube barges and small coastal craft in Bulgaria and Rumania, presumably for evacuation of the Crimea. At least 400 such craft were reported already assembled at the Bulgarian Black Sea port of Burgas.)

bear the burden of meeting the vast relief needs—either in money or in supplies."

Describing as immediate and urgent the work confronting UNRRA, he said the organization will have to operate at first in areas of food shortages because many of the most fertile food regions of the world are either under Axis domination or "have been stripped by the practice of the dictatorships to make themselves self-sustaining on other people's lands."

"Additional regions," he continued, "will be blackened as the German and Japanese forces in their retreat scorch the earth behind them."

The cooperating nations, working in these food shortage areas until the resumption of peaceful occupations will enable the liberated peoples to ward off death by starvation or exposure, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Using the British-American assistance to civilians in French Africa as an example, he added:

"We have shown that while the war lasts, whenever we help the liberated peoples with essential supplies and services, we hasten the day of the defeat of the Axis powers.

Will Speed Victory

"This means that the more quickly and effectually we apply measures of relief and rehabilitation, the more quickly will our own boys overseas be able to come home."

In defeat or in victory, he said, the United Nations have "never deviated from adherence to the basic principles of freedom tolerance, independence, and security."

"Tomorrow," he concluded, "the UNRRA begins its first conference —and makes the first bold steps toward the practicable, workable realization of freedom from want. The forces of the United Nations march forward and the peoples of the United Nations march with them."

The signing started at noon and 30 minutes later came Mr. Roosevelt's 15-minute address pointing up the historic, precedent-making agreement holding forth to conquered peoples a promise of speedy rehabilitation as soon as their lands are freed.

district auditors were elected.

The nominations to fill the vacancies on the Quadrennial boards and for the standing committees were read to the conference body.

On another motion from the floor the hours of meeting and adjournment were set at 9 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., and the bar of the conference was designated as the main part of the auditorium.

Bishop Holt and his cabinet of nine district superintendents were in session all Tuesday morning and the slate of pastoral appointments were announced completed with only a few minor changes expected to be made.

The first conference business came before the body of Methodists in the main auditorium of the church at 2:30 o'clock with Bishop Holt presiding.

Finances Are Better

The general financial state of the Methodist churches in the Northwest Texas conference was presented by Bishop Holt at a Laymen banquet in the Lubbock hotel last night.

He told the group of laymen that the financial status of the churches in this conference is higher than it has ever been, and only a few churches had any indebtedness against them. These are expected to be cleared up during the next conference year, the bishop declared.

Ray Nichols of Vernon was re-elected chairman of the Board of Laymen during the Monday night's meeting. Others elected were: E. M. Connell, of Anson, vice-chairman; C. B. Breedlove, Haskell, secretary, and A. V. Crowder of Sweetwater, treasurer.

This session of the annual conference will be the shortest held since the winter of 1918 when the influenza epidemic broke out in Texas and a one-day conference was held with only a few delegates in attendance.

The most impressive ceremony of the conference will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock when Bishop Holt will ordain the new ministers accepted by the conference. He will be assisted by several of the leading ministers of the conference.

The church extension program and the mission work will be brought before the conference during the business session this afternoon. A plan of setting the preachers minimum salary at $1,110 will be discussed by Dr. E. D. Kohlstedt of New York City, chairman of the Board of Missions and Church Extension.

The final business conference today will be held at 7:30 p. m. The ordaining service will follow.

Allies Gain In Italy

Nazis off balance.

Farther inland, British, Canadian and Indian troops punched through Torrebruna, three miles west of Celenza, gaining control of an additional chunk of valuable lateral road.

Near the center, Eighth army units occupied Pescolanciano, eight miles northeast of Isernia in a mile-and-a-half advance, and other formations seized Fornelli, five miles west of Insernia, in a three-mile stab.

On the air front, Allied planes bombed Durazzo harbor in Albania, scoring a direct hit on the warehouse.

Durazzo in Albania was attacked Sunday night, while last night a railroad bridge south of Grosetto in Italy was blasted by bombers.

In the battle area, Allied planes pounded gun positions on the Eighth army front and attacked enemy trains.

trucks to carry relief into her country—much food and medicines —and then she'd like help to re-establish her bombed out universities.

These preliminary offers seem to mean that anything can happen here. Early arrivals foresee a huge barter pool opened up in the joint sessions with all the world's surplus commodities thrown into the hopper.

But what about the countries that can't afford to pay, or have nothing to swap?

The agreement, signed today, seems to mean (interpretations are to be clarified at this conference) that the impoverished countries will get what they need without a bill. Those who can pay will be asked to pay.

NEW BERLIN SONG

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Irving Berlin has written a new war song which he plans to introduce as a surprise at the opening tomorrow night of "This Is The Army." The title is "My British Buddy."

Acid Treatment Being Given Harless Test

With 2,500 feet of oil in the hole and acidizing operations going on this afternoon, verdict is expected in the next day or so on the amount of production in the new Hockley county Permian strike, the Woodley Petroleum company's No. 1 Harless, section 21, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, three and one-fourth miles west of the Lubbock county line.

Swabbing was to follow acidizing and the result was expected to give the South Plains another pool, the well being 21 miles from the nearest oil production which is the Slaughter pool to the southwest.

The well was plugged back from 5,955 feet to 5,952 feet to guard against bottom hole water after the wildcat picked up about a quart every two hours. When the last three feet of recovery was cored, it showed gray dolomite with no showings of oil or gas. The well was plugged back with Calseal.

The discovery is on acreage farmed out by Stanolind Oil and Gas company who turned the acreage to R. R. Rhodes and Bruce McKague, Midland, who in turn farmed it out to the Woodley company.

Churchill's Speech

settlement and rebuilding of this distracted, tormented world," he declared.

Sounding again a note of unconditional surrender, he declared "we must make sure that confusion and chaos do not follow the victories of the army or nullify the unexpected surrender of the enemy."

Warning that Hitler still has 400 divisions to throw into combat, he cautioned that "we cannot exclude the possibility of new forms of attack on this island."

Forcibly, Churchill predicted great and grim casualties before victory is won.

Campaign To Be Costly

"The campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and costly" yet undertaken by the Allies, he said.

"We must strain every nerve for its successful accomplishment. This is no time for relaxation.

"It is a reasonable assumption that unless we make some grave strategical mistake, the year 1944 will see a climax of the European war."

His speech to the lord mayor's banquet, held amid the ancient panoply of the mansion house, was his first since the triumphant Moscow accord and the breaching of the Nazis' Dnieper line by Stalin's armies. The prime minister surveyed the course of the struggle with satisfaction that plainly was touched with much restraint.

New Attacks On Britain

Speaking of the chance of "new forms of attack" on Britain, Churchill said "whatever happens, they will not be of a nature to affect the final course of the war, but should they come they will certainly call for the utmost efficiency and devotion."

The central theme and purpose of his address was to combat Allied over-confidence. Thus his words that next year's campaigns likely would see "the greatest sacrifice of life by the British and American armies and battles far larger and more costly than Waterloo or Gettysburg."

His address was on the occasion of the induction of a new lord mayor of London, Sir Frank E. Newson-Smith, who succeeded Sir Samuel Joseph.

The traditional procession of the lord mayor through the streets preceded the luncheon.

On the same occasion last year Churchill disclosed that President Roosevelt was the author of the North African landing and that the landing was intended only to gain vantage ground for a new front against Hitler — a front which since has been opened, with more to follow.

Recalls Pledge

Churchill recalled at the beginning of his address that in 1940 at the height of the blitz he pledged Great Britain never to give up the fight to liberate peoples from the Nazi yoke.

He recalled also he told a similar gathering that Britain would join the United States in war on Japan. "There is nothing wrong with that," he said amid cheers.

In the last year, he observed, there have been an unbroken series of Allied victories and the back of the U-boat campaign "has been broken."

Aerial Campaign Lauded

He said the aerial campaign against Germany might well be the precursor of victory in the European struggle.

"In all these struggles on land, sea and in the air Great Britain has had the honor to bear the largest share — and pay the largest price," the prime minister asserted.

His reference to the American troops' part in the Pacific campaign and General MacArthur's role brought a round of applause.

"But the outstanding triumph of this year has been the Russian advance, liberating so much of Russian soil from the foul invader," he said. This, too, brought a roll of applause.

Nazi Machine Wrecked

Russian valor and generalship and science have wrecked the Nazi war machine, he asserted, and inflicted wounds "that may well proved mortal."

"We and our American allies have done our best to bring our forces across the seas and put them into action against the enemy.

"The air attacks on Germany have been one of the prime forces in the impending ruin of the Hitler regime.

"We all have been cheered by the results of the Moscow conference and we look forward to welcoming back in the next week or so our foreign secretary from his successful mission."

He called U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, "that gallant American eagle."

Referring to his 1942 speech on the same occasion, Churchill said:

"Last year, in 1942 I thought it right to say I did not consider it any part of my duty to liquidate the British empire. I do not conceal from you now that I hold the same opinion today."

Churchill described the main Allied task that of "beating down into dust" the Hitler regime.

"The campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and costly in life that we have ever experienced," he said, "this is no time for relaxation and rest."

He said Hitler and his retinue were fighting for their very lives.

"Victory will certainly be won, not only over Germany, but over Japan, with which the British empire has an inexorable quarrel" which must be dissolved only by "unconditional surrender," the prime minister added and emphasized:

"We must make certain that chaos does not follow the victory."

Flames Threatening Malibu Film Colony

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (U.P.) — Flames again swept toward the movie colony at Malibu beach today as they leaped over newly-constructed fire trails and raced out of control down winter canyon.

Winter canyon emerges from the Santa Monica mountains on the coast at Malibu.

All night weary and begrimed firemen had battled to keep the forest fire under control in the Zuma canyon area, three miles inland.

Shortly after dawn a fresh breeze sprang up, whipping the flames out of hand. Despite heroic efforts of Army and civilian firemen, the fire raced over the ridge and down into Winter canyon.

Less than 24 hours ago Malibu —which contains summer homes of many film greats — was jeopardized by flames coming up from the south. A hastily-built backfire checked the blaze less than 150 yards from the colony.

Showdown Fight By De Gaullists Seen

ALGIERS, Nov. 9 (AP)—A De Gaullist showdown fight for complete control of the French provisional government appeared likely today as the National Liberation committee's consultative assembly, augmented by last week's arrivals from France, resumes its session after a recess of several days.

Supporters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle are expected to launch a determined effort to cleanse the national committee elements they regard as "lukewarm" and replace them with others actively enthusiastic for the De Gaullist party line, thus insuring their ascendancy in the future government.

Ending War Time In North Is Considered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — A House subcommittee considered abolishing war time in the northern states today—so the kids can go to school by daylight.

"Up in our part of the country," said Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), "mothers have to get their children up by lamplight to get them to school in time. And after they get there, during the winter months, it's hardly light enough for them to read."

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9 (AP) — Gregorio Cardenas Hernandez, a University of Mexico chemistry student who allegedly strangled three girls and buried their bodies in the garden of his home, has been moved from the penitentiary to an insane asylum for observation.

More than 1,500 stray cats were rounded up in a single drive in London. In most cases their owners had been bombed from their homes.

Mann Is Not Yet A Candidate, He Says

AUSTIN, Nov. 9 (AP)—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann today asserted he was not yet a candidate for governor or any other office.

Answering questions at a press conference Mann said he had not set a deadline for a decision on whether he would seek the governorship or other nomination.

Reminded that several weeks ago he said he would remain in public life only as governor, Mann asserted:

"I was of that opinion then."

Asked if his statement excluded him from seeking another state office he declined a yes or no answer but added that several lawyer friends had suggested he offer himself as a candidate for the state Supreme court.

Milder Weather In Prospect For State

(By The Associated Press)

Pleasant autumn weather was in prospect for Texas following freezing temperatures that extended to all sections of the state, the United States weather bureau said at Dallas.

El Paso had the coldest weather with a thermometer reading of 25, while Lubbock and Big Spring reported 26.

Other sub-freezing or freezing temperatures were recorded as follows:

Amarillo, 29; Brady, 29; Dallas, 32; Sulphur Springs, 32; Wichita Falls, 31.

The Fort Worth weather bureau showed 34 but unofficial readings in some sections of the city reported as low as 31.

San Antonio and Waco 34; Laredo, 33; Corpus Christi, 36; Austin, 41; Beaumont, 34.

Corpus Christi had its coldest Nov. 9 in 56 years but there was no appreciable damage from a light frost.

Some damage was feared to tomatoes and sweet peppers in the Laredo area due to a light frost.

Temperatures tonight were not expected to be as cold as last night.

Extended Terms For Filipinos Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (U.P.)— The Senate today adopted by unanimous voice vote a resolution to extend the terms of the Philippine president and vice president until the islands are freed of Japanese domination and civilian functions resumed.

Unless such legislation is approved by both houses of Congress and signed by President Roosevelt before Nov. 15, the term of President Manuel L. Quezon will expire on that date under the Philippine Commonwealth's constitution and he would be succeeded by Vice President Sergio Osmena. The war makes it impossible for the Philippine people to elect any succesor to Quezon.

No Change Due In Baylor U. Board

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (AP)—There will be no change in the Baylor university board of trustees at the annual meeting here today, President Pat M. Neff said in commenting on reports of a possible shake-up because of the recent removal of Baylor university medical school from Dallas to Houston.

It had been anticipated that new members from the Houston area might be added to the board, perhaps resulting in the dropping of other members, President Neff was told, but he said that this matter was not up to the board but to the Baptist general convention meeting in Dallas this week.

The 27-member board meets semi-annually, once at Waco and later at Dallas.

Second Front Hour Is Near?

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 9—With American and British troops girding swiftly for an invasion of western Europe, the impression prevailed in London today that the hour for the second front promised by Marshal Joseph Stalin had been advanced materially as a result of the close military cooperation envisaged at the Moscow conference.

Should the blow from the west fall in the immediate future, German forces reeling under the mighty Soviet offensive would find themselves confronted with another grand assault while still fully engaged in the attempt to stem the onrushing Red Army.

Pause Due in Spring

Considering the Russians' past winter successes, their drive may not pause until spring. Since the spring pause in Russia for the past two years has been a long one—beginning about April and ending in June when the ground hardens after the rains—a British-American attack during that period would lack the advantage of simultaneous pressure from the east.

Consequently, the most favorable time for an invasion of the greatest advantage to all three powers would seem to be before the spring lull, or after—and scarcely anyone here believes it will be that late.

Nazis Suggest Invasion

Nazi news broadcasts have been suggesting an early Allied hop across the channel into France from southern England, where the Germans said an invasion fleet and troops were being assembled. Stalin's promise that the second front is near could mean that Berlin is right and an invasion is imminent—more imminent at least than the original schedules contemplated.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill's declaration of Nov. 11, 1942, that the Allies would step up the invasion at any moment that the Germans became demoralized never has been repudiated. The question now is how much Germany is really cracking.

Certainly, Adolf Hitler more than has his hands full trying to stabilize the Russian front, delay Allied occupation of Italy, fight the Balkan guerrillas, keep war material flowing from bomb-riddled factories and maintain morale at home.

Army Arsenal Is Rocked By Blasts

METUCHEN, N. J., Nov. 9. (AP)—A series of explosions at the Army's Raritan arsenal today was reported at the plant to have destroyed two magazines without killing or injuring any employes.

The reports were heard over a radius of several miles.

Raritan arsenal is an Army manufacturing and shell-loading plant. Col. Max A. Elser, jr., commanding officer, said last August that it had been employing 9,000 workers, most of them civilians, but that between 2,500 and 3,000 of this number were being released because of "improved conditions."

The arsenal is on the bank of the Raritan river, south of Metuchen and about three miles west of Perth Amboy.

The explosions continued over a period of possibly 30 minutes, but the arsenal asked no aid from the outside and there was no mobilization of outside police, fire or civilian defense forces. The arsenal has a sizeable fire department of its own.

Great Social Task Of Church Cited

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (U.P) — The world is at its worst and to combat the social and economic ills of a world at war, the church must be at its best, Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary at Louisville, Ky., told Baptist laymen convening here in connection with the Baptist general convention which opened today.

The church must clarify the minds of men, confused on the subject of religion itself, he said. The church also must define the gospel of redemption and preach it with unrelenting power if it is to save the world from war's destruction, immorality, drunkenness and crime, Dr. Fuller said.

Japs Claiming Big Victory

(By The Associated Press)

Japan continued to add to its astronomical claims of damage to the United States fleet today while Mitchell bombers blasted Japanese shipping off the China coast and American destruction of enemy warships tapered off in the south Pacific.

Berlin radio quoted Nipponese stories that Japanese warships and planes sank twelve Allied warships and transports and damaged seven others in an attack on a convoy south of Bougainville that began yesterday. Listed as sunk were three battleships, two cruisers, three destroyers, four transports. One battleship was reported damaged.

Claims Not Substantiated

Previous Japanese assertions said 78 Allied warships were sunk last week. None of these claims had the slightest substantiation from Allied sources.

The latest Tokyo tabulation came almost simultaneously with a dispatch from the south Pacific that was perhaps indicative of the origin of Imperial claims. It told of an attack by twelve Japanese torpedo bombers on an American PT boat and two landing craft near Bougainville in which four and possibly six Japanese were shot down and two of the little American boats damaged.

Big Victory Reported

Tokyo radio thereafter claimed the torpedo bombers "sank a medium and smaller carrier off Bougainville," commented Ensign Theodore Berlin, skipper of the PT boat. "That was us."

Today's story from Tokyo, Berlin radio said, reported "the biggest Japanese naval victory since Pearl Harbor." The broadcast said Japanese militarists had noted American forces have switched from island hopping to frontal attack and speeded up their offensive while the air weapon has attained added importance in the south Pacific.

Many Jap Ships Sunk

China based American bombers sank a Japanese destroyer and four other vessels in Amoy harbor, opposite Japan's Formosa.

In the south Pacific, where Allied forces have sunk 42 Japanese warships and at least as many other craft in the last month, Australian bombers scored hits or near misses on two destroyers and American airmen destroyed a corvette.

Other Allied squadrons wiped out 63 more Japanese planes, including between 35 and 43 in new raids on the stronghold of Rabaul where 800 had already been destroyed or damaged in less than a month.

Tokyo admitted another air loss in the death of Lt. Gen. Takeshi Sakurada, killed in a plane accident Sept. 10 while on his way "to take up a new post" in the southern regions of Japan's war-built empire.

Crosby Jury Finds Four Indictments

CROSBYTON, Nov. 9 (Special)—Four indictments naming four defendants were returned to Judge Daniel A. Blair of the 72nd judicial district Monday night by a grand jury of which C. Parsons was foreman.

Indicted were:

Erma Holmes, a negro woman charged with murder of Viola Lenford, another negro woman. The slaying, with a knife, was in Crosbyton. Both principals lived at Ralls.

Fred Davis and Alfred Davis, Haskell brothers, 17 and 19, charged with burglary of A. W. Wallace garage and theft of mechanics tools. Separate indictments.

Jim Carter, alias John E. Reed, forgery of a $31.28 check to which had been signed the name of A. A. Green, farmer of near Ralls.

The grand jury, which probably will be recalled in February, according to Burton S. Burks, district attorney, no-billed John A. Johnson, who had been charged with murder of A. J. (Hap) O'Dell of Petersburg, whom Johnson had arrested before a fight developed in an automobile when en route to arraign O'Dell before a justice of peace.

Trial of the indictments will be Nov. 22, Burks said.

Henry Clay said, "I would rather be right than be president."
