Next Sunday will be Father's Day, and one of the significant items submitted by the publicty people concerning this annual event comes from the National Livestock and Meat Board. They are gleefully predicting that over 64 million pounds of beef will be consumed on Father's Day this year, which is 33 million pounds more beef than Americans were eating daily in 1955.

It was back in '55 that a "Beef for Father's Day" promotion was launched. The suggestion came from Mrs. Thomas C. Currior of Grand Junction, Colo., and it immediately became an annual project of the American National Cowbelles Association. It is now co-sponsored by the Beef Industry Council, and according to the claims of the promoters, fathers have a much better chance of sitting down to a good beef dinner this Father's Day than they did in 1955.

Texas, which for more than a century ranked No. 1 in area among the states, only to have Alaska take it over, now is moving up to No.2 in motor vehicle registrations, according to the Texas Automobile Dealers Association. Texas has passed New York and now California is the only state that has more cars and trucks on the road than we do. And, the dealers organization says that sales during the first five mmonths of 1971 are up over the same period last year. Dallas County alone is ahead on registrations by 2,252 over the same time last year.

And on the subject of motor vehicles, J. U. Parker, head of the Texas Safety Association, says the new law aimed at controlling drunken drivers may save Texans $340 million in the next two years.

Recommended as a part of the Governor's traffic Safety Program, the new legislation establishes the presence of 0.10 per cent blood-alcohol concentration in a driver as a presumption of driving while intoxicated.

Last year, Parker says, abusive drinker-drivers contributed to the deaths of about 1,700 Texans on our highways. The cost to all Texans was an estimated $348.5 for a single year. That amounts to about half the budget adopted by the legislators in their recent session for the next two years. — WACIL McNAIR.

GIFT TO MUSEUM — Diane Campbell, left present child's clothing of 60 years ago to Mrs. Pat Bills, Acquisition Director of the Scurry County Museum. Miss Campbell is the great niece of Susie Mary Roland, the child who died a few weeks after it was worn during a Christman celebration. The clothing is a gift of the Billy and Lee Campbell families and Bonnie Rigby. The museum is anxious to acquire articles that help portray the history of West Texas.

MUSEUM NEEDS HELP

Clothing Tells A Story

A joyful Christmas of 60 years ago came to life when Mrs. Pat Bills, Acquisition Director for the Scurry County Museum, discovered a bit of tinsel stuck to the heel of a tiny red shoe.

The shoe, one of a pair, along with other clothing of a child, composed the generous gift of the Billy and Lee Campbell families and Bonnie Rigby to the museum.

The child, Susie Mary Roland, died of a short, intense illness a few weeks after the Christmas family gathering 60 years ago. The tiny garments are to be used, along with other gifts and loans to the museum, to bring early West Texas to life.

The museum is going to use the new concept of displaying articles of history in exhibits which tell a story and help show, for instance, how various old tools were used, what the early stores and merchandise actually looked like, and what equipment went with a chuck wagon and round up. The exhibits will be housed in the Historical Room of the Western Texas College until a permanent museum building can be built or a suitable one located.

Bill Eiland has donated to the museum the use of the old Snyder Motors building on East Highway for storage and workrooms for the preparation of the various exhibits.

The museum is now in the process of gathering the various old items to be preserved, cared for, and used in this project to show West Texas heritage. Old records no longer in use and being discarded due to the renovation of the county courthouse are being collected and will form historical archives for research and verification of facts of the early days. The museum needs many more objects and photographs to use in the exhibits. The photographs can be copied and the originals returned to the owners. All items and money donated will be tax deductible. Ernest Sears or Mrs. Pat Bills may be contacted for information by those who have artifacts which will help the museum tell the story of the early days.

Indians Taken From Alcatraz

By JEANNINE YOEMANS
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Federal marshals have staged a surprise raid and forcefully removed the last of an Indian occupying force from Alcatraz Island, a former federal prison site that since Nov. 20, 1969, has been a symbol for American Indians.

Twenty men armed with shotguns landed in boats Friday while most of the estimated 75 Indians living on the San Francisco Bay island were on the mainland on business.

There was no resistance from the six men, four women and five children, and no one was injured. Marshals said they took a four-inch knife from one of the men, who had been using it to cut meat for lunch.

Three Coast Guard cutters evacuated the 15 Indians, who were then taken by Navy bus to a San Francisco hotel.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said the raid was triggered when a U.S. marshal observed $680 worth of copper wires and cables being removed from the island in the morning and sold in San Francisco. Three Indians were arrested and charged with theft of government property.

Browning, who announced the raid at a news conference, said continued Indian occupation of the island was intolerable and that the Indians had been "illegally inhabiting the island."

John Trudell, a 25-year-old Sioux who is a member of the Alcatraz tribal council and was ashore when the marshals struck, told a news conference that Browning had promised "there would be no action against us while we were still negotiating. They lied to us."

The prison, once home of some of America's toughest criminals, was phased out in 1963. The Indians were negotiating with the General Services Administration, the federal caretaker agency, about the future of the 21-acre rock, a mile off the San Francisco financial district.

A band of 78 Indians from 30 tribes occupied the island Nov. 20, 1969, claiming it by "right of prior discovery" and under an 1868 Sioux treaty that they said called for all unused federal property to revert to Indians.

"We won our victory there a long time ago," said Grace Thorpe, daughter of famed Indian athlete Jim Thorpe, who had participated in the occupation for a time. "It symbolized the reawakening of our Indian people. It started our new Indian movement and got Indians sticking up for their rights," Miss Thorpe said in Sacramento.

Welding Instructor Appointed At WTC

Appointment of Charles S. Walker as welding instructor for Western Texas College has been announced by Gene Robertson, director of Occupational and Technical Education.

Walker will assume his duties in August and will be responsible for the WTC welding program, both at the college level and the contract program with area high schools. He will teach such subjects as introductory, basic, advanced, and special welding; basic and advanced acetylene welding; electric arc welding; metallurgy and testing; as well as pipe and plate fabrication techniques.

Walker has had seven years of training and experience in welding technology. He attended Amarillo College where he completed courses in trade and industrial teaching. He also attended Texas A&M University in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency and completed course work in vocational industrial subjects.

Welding at Western Texas College will be taught in a two-year program leading to an associate of applied science degree. Classes will be conducted during the day as well as the evening school.

A full-time day student will be in the classroom and shop approximately 30 hours per week. Each student will be encouraged to work in a shop during the summer between his freshman and sophomore year.

Selected courses from the day program will be offered during the evening for students interested in working full time and pursuing a degree. Special short courses will be offered when requested by an adequate number of interested individuals.

Anyone interested in enrolling or receiving additional information on any of the categories should call, write, or visit the college offices at 3610 Avenue S., Snyder, Phone 573-3541. Classes will be limited to the number that can be scheduled. So, the sooner that a student places his application, the better chance he will have for admittance.

PASSENGER SLAIN

FBI Agents Nab Jet Hijacker

By JOHN SHANAHAN
And
WILLIAM TOW
Associated Press Writers

NEW YORK (AP) — A gunman hijacked an airliner in Chicago, killed one of its passengers, police said, then fought a gun battle with a deputy U.S. marshal as the plane few to New York before being subdued here Saturday.

The hijacker reportedly demanded to be flown to North Vietnam after he took over the plane by placing his gun at the head of a blonde stewardess.

The slain passenger was Howard Franks, 65, Darien, Conn., who was shot and killed, apparently as other passengers scrambled off the plane at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said it was the first time a passenger had been killed in a U.S. airplane hijacking.

The hijacker, identified as Gregory Wlite, 23, Chicago, was seized by FBI agents when the Trans World Airlines 727 jet landed at Kennedy Airport. The FBI said one of its agents shot the man and wounded him in the left arm after the hijacker fired a shot at the agent.

The hijacker barged aboard the Boeing trijet as it was stopping at O'Hare en route from Albuquerque, N.M., to New York.

After seizing the stewardess, the hijacker allowed the passengers to leave.

But Franks went back to get his coat and "apparently walked between the stewardess and the gunman," police said.

Chicago Police Deputy Supt. John Mulchrone said the only firing came from the hijacker. Earlier reports of a gun battle between the hijacker and police were unfounded, he said. The hijacker allowed authorities to remove Franks' body.

Chinese Shrewd Traders

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chinese are shrewd customers. At least that's the judgment of the federal government.

In an article advising U.S. businessmen on how to deal with mainland China, the Commerce Department said:

"Preparation is a must—the businessman should have copies of all previous correspondence and expect to confront very astute bargaining."

The article, appearing Friday in the department's every-two-week publication called "Commerce Today," said the "Chinese have never been known to give a discount for large orders or pay a premium for prompt delivery.

Showers Fall Here Friday

Shower activity returned to the Snyder area late Friday as turbulent weather covered much of the Panhandle and high Plains region.

The showers moved into Snyder from the south, preceded by blowing dust. Rainfall amounts varied sharply, with Snyder itself in some of the hardest showers. The official gauge at the city water plant measured .65. There was none in the Lake J. B. Thomas area, although winds kicked up dust there. The shower pattern was erratic from around Colorado City through Snyder.

Forecasters of the National Weather Service indicated there would be a good chance for more showers late Saturday over much of North and West Texas.

N-Viets Attack Saigon Forces

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched Sat. their first assaults in two weeks against Saigon forces operating just across the border in Eastern Cambodia. Embattled Cambodian troops on the outskirts of Phnom Penh held off enemy forces for the 16th consecutive day.

A dispatch from Phnom Penh said that two U.S.-supplied Cambodian helicopters were shot down attempting to drop food and ammunition to the government forces. One helicopter limped back to a government position, but the other crashed in enemy-held territory and the fate of its crew was unknown.

The Saigon command reported that North Vietnamese gunners slammed 40 mortar shells into the command post of a South Vietnamese task force three miles northwest of the Cambodian town of Krek on Highway 7.

Less than a mile away, a South Vietnamese armored column and a battalion of 400 infantrymen battled a North Vietnamese infantry force of equal size.

The Saigon command said 30 North Vietnamese troops were killed and eight weapons were captured. There were no South Vietnamese casualties reported in the mortar attack, but one soldier was killed and two were wounded in the ground clash, the command said.

Krek is about six miles from South Vietnam's border and roughly 85 miles northwest of Saigon. Several Saigon task forces are spread along Highway 7 trying to block North Vietnamese infiltration into the southern sector of South Vietnam. The last major action in Cambodia involving South Vietnamese troops occurred May 31 when a badly battered Saigon force retreated from the town of Snuol under heavy North Vietnamese fire.

About 75 miles to the southwest of Krek, Cambodian troops dug in on patches of dry ground deep inside the Vihear Suor marshes. They were reported battling Communist-led forces around the clock. The marshes are about 12 miles east of Phnom Penh.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, a spokesman for the Cambodian military command, said the command was unsure about the situation at some outposes in the marshes. Many of the Cambodian troops in the swamplands are surrounded by the Viet Cong 9th Division.

Winds Hit 115 MPH At Hereford

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winds screeching up to 115 miles per hour battered the area from Friona to Hereford as wicked storms assaulted the Texas Panhandle-Plains sector again Friday night.

The combination of raging thunderstorms and occasional tornadoes injured at least four persons, inflicted heavy property damage and caused flash flooding in places.

Sheriff's officers reported the wind hit 115 m.p.h. at Hereford, and authorities estimated the velocity matched that figure at Friona. Both towns are southwest of Amarillo.

The National Weather Service said a tornado struck at Friona, knocking down several trailer homes and injuring four occupants.

Word of heavier damage came from Hereford, where a sheriff's dispatcher said the wind—matching some of the fiercest hurricanes in velocity—"smashed everything that wasn't tied down and some things that were.

Although several mobile houses were overturned at Hereford, there apparently were no injuries. Small buildings, billboards, fences and trees were ripped and tossed about.

At Adrian, in the next county north from Hereford, another twister was blamed for the destruction of a hangar containing airplanes and a house.

Torrential rains, often accompanied by hail, fell at scattered points.

BURN ENEMY STRONGHOLD — South Vietnamese soldiers stand by a group of burning enemy huts which they put to the torch during an operation in the jungle and mountainous terrain of the Ho Xa Zone in western Quang Nai province of northern South Vietnam. Parents heartsick over son's fiancee

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of a fine 21-year-old son. After high school he went to college and now he has a good job about 70 miles from here.

He called us and said he was engaged and was bringing his girl to meet us on the weekend. We were so excited we could hardly wait because Larry hadn't dated many girls.

Well, when Larry and his girl walked in I nearly fainted. Abby, she is so fat! The poor thing could hardly fit into the biggest chair we had. When I served dinner that girl just couldn't eat enough. Larry acted kind of embarrassed.

After dinner they went for a walk and I was glad our neighbors were gone so they couldn't see Larry with that girl.

She has a nice personality and we liked her a lot, but all that weight makes her look years older than she is. [She is 20 and plans to be a school teacher.]

Should we say something to our son? I mean like suggest that he tell her to go on a diet? I just hate to think of that girl going down the aisle in a white gown and veil to marry our son! HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: The way she "looks" is only half the problem. The condition of her health is the other half. Tell your son [privately, of course] that you like the girl, but you hope she does something about her weight while she's still young. But bear in mind, he may have already spoken to her about it.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I suspected my husband had an affair with his bookkeeper. I never let him know of my suspicions. The other day I found out by accident that I was right. I still said nothing, but it bothers me. I feel "dishonest" by concealing this knowledge from my husband now. Should I tell him I know and clear the air? It may start an unpleasant situation if I bring it up. Or should I let sleeping dogs lie and bear my cross. What do you say? SUSPICIONS CONFIRMED

DEAR CONFIRMED: I vote for the sleeping dogs.

DEAR ABBY: I have a family to care for, but I try to see my parents once a week, which isn't easy since they live 40 miles away.

This is what their conversation is like: "The weather is too hot. It's too cold. I got a pain here. I got a pain there. My sister died at my age and I don't feel so good. My neighbor is dying of cancer. The end of the world is coming."

Abby, I come home wrung out. I will be 60 years old next birthday and I think my parents are in better health than I am. Any suggestions? TIRED

DEAR TIRED: Don't let the spreaders of gloom and doom get to you. Think of something for which they can be grateful [like having each other while pushing 80] and harp on that!

DEAR ABBY: I am only 15, but I am writing to all the women who complain because their husbands never compliment them.

I know I'm young, but I've dated lots of guys, and I believe experience matures you more than age does. With some guys, sweet lies bubble to their lips faster than a girl can hear them. Why? Because they are out for a make. I'd rather have a guy tell me I look like a dog [if he really thinks I do] than put me on for a cheap make.

For some men, sweet words don't come easily, but the look of real approval in their eyes means more.

My favorite saying is, "What you ARE speaks so loudly, I can't hear what you're saying." Words are only necessary after love is gone. SIOUX

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Computer Keeps Tabs On Dads

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Some Wisconsin fathers charged with supporting their children and ex-wives are now under the scrutiny of a computer programmed to make sure they make their payments.

In recent years, fathers who have found loopholes in Dane County's manual system of keeping track of payments have been delinquent by $5 million.

And Dane County sees no hope of collecting the money.

But during the past 14 months, specialists under the direction of Alan Larson, systems analysis director for Dane County, have programmed an IBM computer to take on the bookkeeping.

Larson says it will not be "virtually impossible" for any of the county's 4,500 support-paying fathers to beat the system.

The program began on Feb. 1 and is expected to be in full operation by July.

The computer makes daily checks of payment records, issues monthly statistics, analyzes children's ages, prints annual records of payments for father, and issues a notice when a child reaches the age of 18 or 21.

If a father misses a payment, the computer issues a notice of nonpayment to both the father and the family court commissioner. If he misses two payments, the machine issues all information necessary to get out a court summons, and provides a payment history for the judge to consider.

And, if the father agrees in court to make the payments but fails to do so, the computer informs the appropriate parties so that they may take action.

"In the past," said Family Support Division Supervisor Julie Hunt, "the only way we knew if a payment was late was if the wife called the family court commissioner.

"In many cases, the woman would not call, but go and get on our aid for dependent children (AFDC) program."

As a result, 550 ex-wives are now on AFDC in Dane County. And about one-third of the county's fathers are not paying the support they are supposed to.

Before the computer program was devised, the situation had been expected to get worse. By 1975, county officials estimated, 10,000 fathers here will be required to pay support.

Pair Held In Triple Slayings

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Galveston men are being held without bond here in the triple slaying Thursday at the Texas Cotton Co. warehouse here.

Charged are Arnold Moore, 24, and his brother-in-law, Lonnie Warner, 20.

Sgt. H. F. Tauch, who headed the investigation, said he believed extortion was the motive for the killings. He said both accused men are believed former employes of the warhouse.

Killed were Clifford J. Guiberteau, 56, of Houston, co-owner of the cotton firm; Jose Ramos Pena, 61, an employe, and Robert A. Walker, 37, of La Marque, manager of another warehouse.

Guiberteau was found bound to a chair at his desk with his throat cut. Pena, his hands bound behind his back, was also stabbed in the neck and Walker had been shot twice.

Moore was the man who reported the murders to police Thursday and was first held as a material witness.

Seven Drown In River

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Charles Clark of Chester floundered in the swift, deep water as her station wagon with nine children, including her four daughters, sank into the Mississippi River Friday.

Mrs. Clark and two of the children she had driven to a swimming pool are the only known survivors of the accident.

Her can ran out of control down a long, steep hill, went over a 10-foot embankment and plunged into 20 feet of water one mile from the swimming pool.

The car was recovered about nine hours after the accident, with the bodies of Tammy Clark, 6, and Debbie Canady, 12, inside.

Missing were Norma Clark, 11, Becky Clark, 10, Cindy Clark, 9, Robin Phillips, 11, and Becky Roberts, 6.

Donna Phillips, 9, and Tammy Canady, 10, were rescued.

Weary divers, who fought the powerful Mississippi River current for hours, suspended operations about 11 p.m. Dragging also was halted for the night.

There was no immediate explanation for the accident. Illinois state police said the station wagon brakes may have failed.

A witness, Ned Carlton, about 65, said he watched the automobile soar over the bank, hit the water 30 feet from shore, and sink immediately.

"Then I saw four heads bobbing in the water," the operator of Carlton Boat and Motor Co. said. One of them was Mrs. Clark's.

"She was screaming 'My children are drowning! Help! Help! Help!'"

"She came up twice, and then disappeared," he said.

People Confused On Economic Move

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — "Economic development," that fancy term so often heard nowadays, has some people here a bit confused.

A committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments, a regional planning group, promised recently to compile a list of local agencies involved in economic development.

About a month later, the list still hadn't been drawn up.

"You'd think it would be a simple thing," said Committee Chairman Antonio Furino, "but when we started asking people [illegible] economic development, they seemed to have no information about who does what, and when, and whether they actually do it!"

Babysitting For Volunteers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The Sacramento chapter of Planned Parenthood is organizing a babysitting cooperative for volunteer workers.

Activity Shifting

AUSTIN (AP) — There is evidence of a slight shift in Texas industrial activity from metropolitan to rural areas, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Bureau figures for 1971 show the major metropolitan areas in the state attracted less than 66 per cent of the new plants and expansions, compared to 73 per cent for a like period in 1970.

Plans were announced this year to establish 164 manufacturing plants in Texas and to expand 129 existing installations.

The bureau report said the most active industries in 1971 are fabricated metal products, transporting equipment, machinery, food processing and apparel manufacturing.

More than 4,000 persons were arrested for drunken driving in New York City during 1970.

WILD FLOWERS ON THE HILL

Georgia's poet, Robert Loveman, wrote these words:
"It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining daffodils—
With every dimpled drop,
I see wild flowers on the hill."

The Rain Song it is called. And it expresses the love of a man for the wild flowers, the tenderness of life and the great ability he had to set to poetry life's beauty.

The hills bloomed with these lovely flowers in Loveman's home state, and spring gardens everywhere become alive with their blossoms.

We feel we are in a wonderful business — dealing in flowers, God's loveliest creation. It is a pleasure to serve you as your florist.

Truant Officers Have Changed With Times

By KAY BARTLETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Hookey is as old as Huck Finn. Older, even.

And where there was hookey, a truant officer was sure to follow.

But, as with everything else, there is a new breed of truant officers. Now they are called "attendance teachers" or "attendance officers' or "visiting teachers." A New Jersey educator ran a study of titles used in attendance programs across the country and came up with 29 different titles.

But hookey is still hookey and a truant officer by any other name still gets his boy. Or tries. But today he is closer to a social worker than a boy-nabber.

Gone are the bad good old days.

In Ogden, Utah, for instance, one can almost get nostalgic about Ole Hawkeye, a truant officer's truant officer.

The boys at the swimming hole up in the mountains, behind the high school, would scatter when they heard the cry.

"Here comes Hawkeye in the Green Hornet. Run for your lives."

"Ole Hawkeye," now 80, was the truant officer in Ogden, from 1935 to the beginning of the 60's. His real name is Charles Hocking, but it was nearly forgotten. Even parents came to believe the name was Hawkeye and they would call his home, first delivering a nicety to Mrs. Hawkeye and then asking to speak to Mr. Hawkeye.

The Green Hornet was the best known car in town.

One resident recalls the day he "sluffed," as they called playing hookey, and reported to the pool hall instead. Out of the pool hall window he spied the Green Hornet pulling to a stop.

"I dove under the pool table," he recalls, "and the next thing I knew there were a pair of feet swinging down in front of me. I waited and waited and waited. But the feet didn't stop swinging. Finally, Hawkeye looked down under the table and said: 'It's 3:30, Karl. You can go home now!"

When Hocking started the job there were less than 4,000 students in the schools and it wasn't long before he knew the ones of preferred swimming to books. When he retired, 25 years later, the school population had grown to nearly 20,000. In between, generations of truants were seized.

"I went to a house one day to tell a parent his son wasn't in school. I recognized the father. I had chased him years before," recalls Hawkeye.

"That son of a gun," replied the father. "He's not going to pull the same tricks I did."

Hocking's approach varied. Sometimes he felt a child just needed a kind word of encouragement. Sometimes he judged the situation needed action.

Hawkeye developed his own tricks of the trade over the years:

—"Don't visit the swimming hole on Friday afternoons. Too many to haul back."

—"When you knock on the front door and know the kids are in there, run around to the back. I caught two coming out the back that way once and found the others inside, one under the bed and the other hiding in the closet."

—"Never go the same way twice. I always went the wrong way, up and down new streets all the time."

While Hawkeye relied on native wisdom, his counterpart today may even need a college degree.

As the titles vary, so do the duties and qualifications of the men and women in attendance work throughout the United States. In Worcester and Kansas City, for instance, only a high school degree is necessary while New York City demands a bachelor's degree plus 30 hours of specialized coursework.

Most often the day begins with the school mimeographing the list of absentees. Then a clerk, a secretary, or sometimes the assistant vice principal telephones the home to try and find out why Johnny isn't in school. Usually, the assistant vice principal can tell at a glance who needs to be checked on, the chronic truants.

Probably the biggest difference in attendance work today is the vast back-up systems—the school counselors, the psychiatrists, the adjustment counselors, the greater emphasis on attempting to find out why a child hates school.

In Worcester, for instance, there was one counselor for every 450 students in 1948. Today there is one for every 250 students. In 1948 there was one psychologist, now there are five. The school population has remained the same.

The punishment for truancy also varies, but in drastic cases can go as far as having the child placed in an institution. Usually the cases are solved much less dramatically.

Ed McDonald, a ruggedly built former police chief in Leicester, Mass., is one of the five attendance supervisors now in Worcester, a city with some 29,000 pupils in its public schools. McDonald has held the job for two years. His predecessor was pushed down the stairs at one of the high schools.

On his daily rounds in his yellow Volkswagen, McDonald sees the problem as one of society rather than the wistfulness of high-spirited children who just want a day off.

He climbs up three flights of stairs to visit a home he knows well, a home where the necessity for an education is not felt. A 14-year-old girl is at home; she didn't feel like going to school.

"What can I do?" sighs her mother. "I'd rather have her here than out running the streets."

The girl's older sister also disliked school. She wandered around the streets, dropping out at 16, the legal age in Massachusetts. An even younger child is at home, with a small cut on her foot that the mother deems cause to stay out of school.

At another home a 14-year-old girl who just returned from a four-day runaway stint says she hates school and doesn't want to go. She tells McDonald her mother is home but she is sick in another room.

McDonald knows the family. He knows the girl's mother is drunk in the next room. The girl says she started skipping school in the fourth grade. She didn't like the teacher. Nobody ever stopped her on the streets during the years.

Her ambition in life is to get a full-time babysitting job.

"We have so many failures, but we don't give up," says Sam Del'Olio, a supervisor of attendance for over 20 years in Worcester. "but if I succeed with one out of 100, it's worth it.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WIREPHOTOS

QUESTION: What are Wirephotos, and how are they sent?

ANSWER: The picture to be transmitted is clamped around a cylinder. The cylinder spins under a photoelectric cell which "reads" the various light, dark and intermediate tones of the picture and transmits them as signals over the wires.

In transmission, a bright light bulb (1), called an exciter lamp, shines through a lens (2), which focuses intense spot of light on picture.

Reflections from picture strike photo-cell (3) and are converted into electrical impulses.

Scanning of a picture during transmission is at the rate of one inch of picture copy per minute. Transmission time on an ordinary 8 x 10 picture is 8 minutes.

The reception, electrical impulses from Wirephoto network are received by a recording machine.

In the recording machine, the impulses are received through a special glow lamp (4), which converts them back into light impulses (5). These impulses are focused by a lens (6) onto a sheet of undeveloped photographic film or paper, which may be developed and printed normally.

Race Problem Strikes Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alex Johnson, the volatile American League batting champion of 1970 who has been benched by the California Angels, was quoted today as being embroiled in personal battles with various teammates, some of them racial in nature.

The comments were printed in today's editions of the Los Angeles Times in an interview done by Bill Lane of the Los Angeles Sentinel, a black-area newspaper.

Johnson was quoted as saying some players on the Angel team—whom he did not mention by name—disliked him and let their feelings be known to newsmen.

"As far as some of these players going to the newspapers with statements about me, there again you can see who is doing the agitation," Johnson said. "I was taught you keep your arguments in the clubhouse. Have I been quoted as saying out in public that this or that player is no good, that I don't want to play with him?"

Johnson intimated that some of his squabbles with the club resulted from his being black.

"Hell yes, I'm bitter. I've been bitter since I learned I was black," he was quoted. "The society into which I was born and in which I grew up and in which I play ball today is antiblack. My attitude is nothing more than a reaction of their attitude.

"But they don't keep the hatreds to themselves. They go out of their way to set up barriers ..."

Johnson is an introvert and rarely made extensive comments to reporters, and almost never about his relations with teammates or the club. Last season, when his batting average was dipping to below .320 and there was still a chance Johnson could earn the bat title, Manager Lefty Phillips admitted he had a "man to man" talk with the left fielder.

Johnson eventually won the title with a .329 mark but never commented publicly about his relationship to Phillips, before or after the talk.

Early this season, Johnson hit a batting slump and after a 4-for-34 slump in early May, was benched by Phillips on May 21 for not hustling.

Two days later he was benched again and then asked Phillips for another talk.

He came back to the lineup May 26 and in the next five games, collected nine hits in 20 at bats but when he failed to run out a groundout on June 4, he was benched and has since appeared only once, walking as a pinch hitter.

Throughout the row with Phillips, Johnson has been silent.

"A small minority of the white ones are good people," he was quoted as saying.

Women Golfers Play Monday

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —The 36th annual Women's West Texas Golf Association Golf Tournament, one of the state's oldest, kicks off for a four-day run beginning here Monday, with qualifying rounds over the demanding 6,500 yard par 71 Wichita Falls Country Club layout.

Played every year since 1935, except from 1943-45, past winners include the women's professional golf tour's leading money winner this year, Miss Sandra Palmer of Fort Worth.

Palmer won the WWTGA title four years straight from 1960-63.

The WWTGA takes in a large area of Texas. The boundaries begin at Del Rio in the south, running north to San Angelo, southeast to Brady, northeast to Fort Worth, along the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad to Wichita Falls and north to the state line. Originating with 12 member clubs, some 105 clubs will be represented in this year's tourney.

The cream of the crop, 16 of Monday's top qualifying scores will make up the championship flight. First-round matches begin Tuesday with play extending through the third round Friday.

Miss Toyua Jones, an 18-year-old high school graduate from Andrews, Tex., is the defending champion, having won the tourney last year in Abilene. She's also the reigning West Texas Junior Girls Champ and winner of the 1969 Texas State Junior Girls Intermediate title.

A strong field, including 1969 titlist Miss Francis Collins of Amarillo, is expected to make for an exciting race for the crown. Miss Collins won the West Texas Junior Girls championship three years straight, 1967-69, and the Texas State Junior's Senior Division in 1969.

Other top contenders include Brownsville's Miss Jo Hickman, the 1969 South Plains champ; Mrs. W. M. Hays, current Abilene city queen and nine times Country Club titleholder; Mrs. Lynn Hercey, Amarillo Tascosa Country Club's champ in 1968 and WWTGA titlist last year; and two-time WWTGA winner Miss Charlotte Schultz of Wichita Falls, taking titles in 1957 and '66.

Giants Beat Mets 3-2; Astros Nip Braves 5-4

by KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bumbling, fumbling San Francisco Giants found a way to win. It was easy. They played The Gang That Couldn't Throw Straight.

Slump-bogged San Francisco used a wild pitch to score the winning run in the 10th inning of Friday night's 3-2 triumph over the New York Mets, only the Giants' second victory in June. "It was a human error," said relief pitcher Tug McGraw, whose pitch sailed past catcher Jerry Grote and allowed Hal Lanier to score from second base. Yes, second base. Grote couldn't find the ball.

"I threw a fastball and Grote was expecting a screwball", said McGraw of the fouled-up play. "I thought he called for a fastball and he says he called for a screwball. One of us made a mistake." New York Manager Gil Hodges also made a mistake by protesting the play, claiming that a fan touched the ball after it bounced off Grote's glove, and that the runner should have only been awarded one base. Hodges was thrown out by Umpire Lee Weyer.

It was strictly a judgement call to award home plate to Lanier, Weyer volleyed back.

The loss plunged the Mets to second place in the dizzy National League East race, 1½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates, who whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 11-4. The Cards now are third, 1½ games behind the Pirates and 10 percentage points behind the Mets.

In the other NL games Friday, the Houston Astros topped the Atlanta Braves 5-4; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers routed the Montreal Expos 12-1 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the Philadelphia phillies 2-1.

American League: Kansas City Royals 6, Boston Red Sox 3; Baltimore Orioles 8, Chicago White Sox 5; Detroit Tigers 4, Minnesota Twins 1; Cleveland Indians 2, Milwaukee Brewers 1; California Angels 4, Washington Senators 2 and New York Yankees 6, Oakland A's 4.

Actually, all the difference of opinion in the New York-San Francisco affair wouldn't have happened in the first place had not the Mets' Dave Marshall delivered a tying, two-run homer with two out in the ninth and sent the game into extra innings.

The Giants held a 2-0 lead on Willie McCovey's two-run homer before Marshall, a pinch-hitter, laced Jerry Johnson's serve into the left field bullpen to make it 2-2.

Lanier then greeted McGraw with a leadoff double in the 10th before charging home with two out.

Until this victory, San Francisco's Jone swoon included eight losses in nine games as the Giants lost a little of their big lead in the West.

Pitcher Dock Ellis helped himself by driving in three runs on the way to his seventh straight victory as Pittsburgh pounded St. Louis. Ellis got seventh-inning relief help from Dave Giusti after keying two rallies with singles.

Joe Torre's two-run single off Ellis in the fifth cut the Pittsburgh lead to 6-3 but Willie Stargell ripped his 21st homer in the seventh and the Pirates capped it with a four-run burst in the ninth.

Jim Wynn came home with the winning run on a two-out infield bouncer in the ninth as Houston sank Atlanta. The Astros lost a 4-1 lead in the top of the ninth, then pushed across the game-winner after Wynn singled and took third on a single by John Edwards.

With two out, Norm Miller bounced to shortstop Zoilo Versalles, who started to throw to second, only to find the bag uncovered. Wynn tallied on the fielder's choice.

Tony Perez hit a tie-breaking home run with one out in the eighth inning to carry Cincinnati over Chicago. Perez' homer, his eighth of the season and third by the Reds in the game, came off Bill Hands.

Brumbelow Is Net Winner

Mitch Brumbelow defeated Tim Falls, 8-0, in the summer tennis program's intermediate tournament held Friday. They played a pro set.

In the first round Falls drew a bye; Sherry Fleming defeated Regina Lewis, 8-1; Robert Potts defeated Anthony Lewis, 8-3; Mitch Brumbelow defeated Steve Perryman 8-5. In the second round Tim Falls beat Sherry Fleming, 10-8 and Brumbelow defeated Robert Potts, 8-1. Sherry Fleming defeated Robert Potts, 8-2 for third place.

In Consolation, Steve Perryman defeated Anthony Lewis, 8-4; Regina Lewis drew a bye and then played Steve Perryman, who defeated her 8-3.

There will be a dual match with Big Spring Tuesday, beginning at 8 a.m. and it will last as long as there are players ready to play.

Store Manages Is Executive

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

The supermarket manager is a true executive: a merchandising man . . . a public relations man . . . a decision-maker . . . manager of a business employing from 20 to 200 people, with sales of as much as 2 million dollars a year.

HE LISTENS to customer complaints and tries to remedy the causes, settles squabbles between employees, and works long hours – sometimes Sundays and holidays. In a chain store, the manager's duties are more limited concerning personnel – he may not interview, hire, fire or transfer employees, but he is still responsible for coordinating the entire store operation, and directly supervises department heads, the assistant manager and bookkeeper.

HIS RESPONSIBILITY also includes supervision of thousands of dollars worth of merchandise, and hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in equipment, fixtures and store property. In short, the supermarket manager is responsible for the profitable operation of the store.

Managers of high-volume stores can earn up to $25,000-30,000, although $8,500-$17,000 is more typical. Fringe benefits are frequently excellent, but a discount on food purchases is not usually included.

FEW WOMEN are supermarket managers today, but it's reasonable to expect greater opportunity for women in the future; in fact, for an energetic experienced homemaker, this could be an ideal second career goal.

Although the supermarket manager's position requires many crucial decisions, his work setting is usually pleasant. Most supermarkets are clean, well lighted and colorfully decorated. The manager must be always on the move – through aisles or storerooms, talking with customers or clerks, or doing paperwork.

TWO-YEAR programs in food retailing or distributive education at community and junior colleges is one good way to prepare – particularly if your education is combined with practical work experience. Several colleges offer degrees in food distribution: Michigan State U. at E. Lansing, Cornell U. at Ithaca, N.Y., and the U. of So. Cal. at Los Angeles. These institutions offer a bachelor's, master's, or doctor's degree in food distribution with retailing emphasis. Other universities also offer food distribution programs (check a college guide book).

An important point to remember is that competition for top jobs, including manager, is keen, so the more education, the better. That is, up to the baccalaureate level; the master's and doctor's degrees are more appropriate for research or teaching, or certain jobs in corporate chain headquarters.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION. Unfortunately, not much recent career literature is available, but here are helpful items: "Introduction to Supermarket Occupations" published by Delmar Publishers, Mountainview Ave., Albany, N.Y. 12205 (215 pages, $6.00, this is used as a textbook, though it's easily read). "Why Not Own Your Own Store," free from the National Association of Retail Grocers, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. (16 pages).

Read trade magazines: "Chain Store Age," "Progressive Grocer," "Supermarket News" (ask librarian for addresses or back issues). For specific questions, enclose return envelope and write to National Association of Food Chains, 1725 Eye St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Street To Be Named For Elvis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An ordinance will be introduced next Tuesday to rename a section of a Memphis street "Elvis Presley Boulevard."

City Councilman Downing Pryor says he will introduce the measure to honor the Memphis entertainer.

The 12-mile section, now Belleve or U.S. 51 South, extends from South Parkway to the Mississippi line. Presley's mansion, Graceland, is on the thoroughfare.

Fawns Wearing Necklaces

The neck pieces are radio transmitters placed on the fawns by a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department crew to find out what happens to those baby deer which never grow up to be adults.

86 Oil Wells Drilled

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Oil well completions in the state this year outnumber those reported during the comparable period of 1970, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The commission said 86 new oil wells were drilled the past week, bringing the year's total to 2,379. This compares with 2,367 a year ago.

Forty new gas wells were completed, for a total of 807, compared with 904 last year at this time.

Wildcatters logged four oil and nine gas discoveries. One oil wildcat each was in the San Antonio No. 1, Houston, Abilene and Midland districts. Five gas discoveries were in the Corpus Christi district and four in the Houston district. A wildcat is a well drilled in previously unproven territory.

A total of 284 wells were plugged, including 48 dry holes.

MORE FACTS about modern drugs

① In the past ten years, wholesale prices for all commodities went up 20%, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In the same period, prices of specialty drugs did not go up at all.

② Most modern drugs go down in price after sales and production increase. Salk vaccine, penicillin, and streptomycin are typical examples.

To fill any prescription, see one of our skilled pharmacists for personal, courteous service — at uniformly fair prices, always.

OR WOULD YOU PREFER PYTHONS?

Lion In Your Stomach Beats Tiger In Tank

By ALISON LERRICK

PARIS (AP) — What's better than a tiger in your tank? A lion in your stomach.

"It must be a very young lion, though, under 130 pounds," says Paul Corcellet, who marinates three a year in red wine, serves them with herbs, or garnishes his lion printanier with peas, carrots and bacon cubes.

Pythons are more plentiful, and every week his grocery near the Opera receives a laundry sack with five of them coiled neatly inside. "Look how beautiful he is!" exclaims Corcellet with rapture, running a three-yard python through his fingers. He soaks them in vinegar and water, dusts with flour and sautees with shallots, onions, tomatoes and white wine, plus "a few pimentos to bring out the flavor." It all adds up to python provencale.

"Python could almost pass for crocodile tail," says Corcellet, who also flames 100 of these in rum annually in his tiny kitchen around the corner, assisted by his Russian chef. Whale, however, "tastes more like tortoise," and he serves either a la Napolitaine.

Who are the devotees of zoological dishes? "Curious people, people who want to escape from the confines of society and to know life on a matter over mind basis." And they take them home, frozen in plastic bags, at $2 a portion.

Aged 61 and with a belly that testifies to a career of good eating, Corcellet opened his shop "atavistically" 35 years ago. "My chromosomes pushed me into business," explains Corcellet, whose ancestors captured the coveted title of coffee merchant to King Louis XVI in 1760, and whose three shops to this day are Meccas for coffee addicts.

Actually, he "owes it to all my mother," who demanded that her dutiful son whip up little delicacies for her. "She was a splendid mother," he says, "because she loved me a lot."

Ten years ago he made his debut as chef with a python. "Instinctively, my first reaction was fear and repulsion, like everyone else," he reminisces. After scrubbing the unwieldy reptile, he entered into "a tete-a-tete with it. Every morning I patted it affectionately, not at all in a bestial way."

Finally he saw the light and since then repeats the contemplation process with every new animal. "Take a Norwegian bear," continues Corcellet, justly proud of his bear pate. "At first I used Norwegian recipes, but to put salt and beer in a bear that smells of nuts and honey is heresy."

Inspiration for new subjects comes "from chatting with my neighbors. Besides, I'm a nature lover."

But whether he's attacking a camel's hump, braising a reindeer tongue, marinating a monkey or stirring kangaroo soup—"kangaroo is even better roasted"—he keeps in mind the traditional French palate.

"Couscous, for example, is meant to be eaten under a tent, with the sun shining and the air circulating. But rancid butter doesn't belong in a 17th century dining room." So he never uses rancid butter in his couscous and run-of-the-mill recipes like curries, paella, blinis, bouillabaise, Antilles sausage, snails and rabbit. All are precooked, packaged and frozen under his label "Le Monde a Table," suggestive of a TV dinner. You simply pop them, bag and all, into boiling water for 15 minutes.

Ralph WantsOpen Convention

DALLAS (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough says that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' support of U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as a favorite son presidential candidate next year "is the most arrogant thing I have heard of."

Yarborough, beaten by Bentsen in the 1970 Democratic primary, was in Dallas Friday for installation of officers for the Democratic Women of Dallas County.

Yarborough said he didn't feel Texas Democrats are ready to "give up their votes to these two fellows."

He said the pair has "annointed" themselves to pick a nominee and "I didn't see any of the other 11 million people of Texas joining the annointing party."

"I don't believed these people are going to look favorably on being disenfranchised and let Lloyd Bentsen and Ben Barnes pick the nominee," he said.

Yarborough called for an "honest, open" convention "not a hand-picked, closed thing."

Barnes had said earlier that Bentsen was his choice as the Texas delegation's favorite son candidate to the National Democratic convention because Bentsen was not up for re-election

Profession Is Extended

DALLAS (AP) — Like the old fire horses that couldn't stand still in the pasture when the fire bells rang, Chief Ocie C. Martin is going to carry his profession into retirement.

Fellow firemen presented him with a radio capable of picking up fire calls.
