Hicks Allen Named Unit Manager Here

H. Hicks Allen of Dallas was given conditional appointment this morning as unit manager for the Scurry Area Canyon Reef Operators Committee. His appointment was announced at noon by J. E. Roth of Tulsa and Tidewater Associated Oil Co., chairman of a SACROC advisory committee.

The appointment is subject to approval by the participating operators which will be made by mail.

Allen, 52, is now president of the Featherlite Corp., a firm which manufactures expanded shale aggregate for construction use.

He has been with the associate companies of Jack Frost of Dallas for the past three and one-half years, of which Featherlite is a part. During that time, he has served as general superintendent of Byrd-Frost, vice-president and general manager of the Utah Natural Gas Co., and Utah production manager of the Three - States Natural Gas Co.

Allen is a native of Temple, born there Sept. 23, 1900. He was raised at San Angelo, where he graduated from high school in 1918. He received his degree in civil engineering from the University of Texas in 1923.

After graduating, Allen was employed with the Texas Highway Department as an instrument man at San Angelo, where he had worked with the department during summers while attending college. He was later promoted to assistant engineer during his year's employment there.

Allen then went to Mexia at the end of its oil boom as assistant chief civil engineer for Pure Oil Co., remaining there until 1928, when he returned to San Angelo and engaged in ranching and construction work. In 1934, Allen had suffered losses in the ranching business from the drought of the early thirties, and he went back to the highway department as resident engineer in the designs department at Austin, later serving as a resident engineer in the construction department. He was later promoted to assistant state highway engineer under Gibb Gilchrist. In 1938, he went to Dallas as assistant division engineer, where he remained until he went into the Army in 1942.

Allen was commissioned as a captain, and he was assigned to the district engineer's office at Albuquerque, N.M., and later to the division engineer's office at Dallas. Going overseas in 1944, Allen went to the China - Burma - India theater. There he helped to keep the Burma Road open during and following Japanese occupation of the territory and helped to build roads around the enemy. He was in China when the Japanese surrendered, and he returned home and was discharged in April, 1946, as a lieutenant colonel.

After his discharge, he went to Corpus Christi to serve under Mayor Bob Wilson as director of public works. At the end of the first year there, he was made city manager, a position he held two years, "until politics changed there."

He was then employed by Fish Constructors, Inc., as assistant chief engineer on construction of the Trans- Continental Pipeline from the Rio Grande Valley to New York. He became associated with the Frost enterprizes in November, 1949.

Allen is married and has two daughters. One is the wife of Dr. E. A. Blackburn of Galveston, recently returned from Navy duty in Korea. The other is Mrs. Roy Willcoxson of Billings, Mont., whose husband is chief of geophysical exploration for Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. there. His parents, both still living, are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Allen of San Angelo.

Allen is a member of the Episcopal Church, and his wife is a member of the Methodist Church.

Kent County Wildcat Slated

Charles C. Green, Jr., of Midland and Lewis T. Lohman of Dallas have set location in West Kent County for a new wildcat.

It is the No. 1 Davis, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 57-G-W&NW, eight miles west of Clairemont.

It will begin at once to drill to 7,500 feet to test the Pennsylvanian lime.

NOLAN COUNTY

Sinclair No. 1 Freeman, outpost from production in the White Flat field of Nolan County, has shows for production from two pays.

It took a drillistem test in Ellenburger at 5,516-549 feet with tool open an unreported length of time. Gas surfaced in one and one-half minutes, and load oil came to the top in one hour and three minutes.

It flowed 51 barrels of oil in four hours to tanks. Gravity was 48.5, gas - oil ratio was 450-1, and 30-minutes shutin pressure was 1,470 pounds. The tool was partially plugged with cavings during the test. Operator reversed out fluid left in pipe when the tester was closed. It made no water.

This well has set and cemented seven-inch casing at 5,845 feet. It had previously shown for production from the Strawn section of the Pennsylvanian and will probably be dually produced from the Strawn and Ellenburger.

DRILLING REPORT

Humble No. 1 Nachlinger in the Buffalo Creek Ellenburger field of East Scurry treated perforations in the top of the Ellenburger at 7,590-610 feet with 500 gallons of mud acid. It swabbed dry with no shows of oil, then shutin 10½ hours. It has now resumed swabbing.

El Capitan No. 1 Dixon in Mitchell County took a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian sand at 6,083-091 feet with tool open 30 minutes and recovered 90 feet slightly gas cut mud with no shows oil or water. It is now drilling below 6,155 feet in shale.

Vega & Universal No. 1 Fowler, wildcat in Southwest Dawson County, drillstem tested the San Andres at 4,927-970 feet with tool open one hour and recovered 40 feet free gas and 180 feet oil and gas cut mud with no shows of water. Flowing pressure was zero, and shutin bottomhole pressure was 1,075. Length of shutin was not reported. It is now coring deeper.

Texaco No. 3 Fuller in North Scurry swabbed 24 hours and recovered eight barrels of oil and 181 barrels of water. It is still testing.

Texaco No. 2 Fuller, North Scurry wildcat, pumped 11 barrels of fluid in 24 hours, 70 per cent water and the rest oil. It is still testing.

In Scurry, Louisiana Land No. 1 Howell is drilling at 7,141 feet in chert, and Blount No. 1 Cary is at 5,024 feet in lime and shale.

In Dawson, Woodward No. 1 Mahaney is at 8,376 feet in shale and sand in the Lower Spraberry, and Sun No. 1 Dean is at 8,885 feet in lime, shale, and chert.

In Mitchell, Wood No. 1 Dixon is at 2,970 feet in lime and shale, Humble No. 1 Cooper is at 2,527 feet in dolomite, Magnolia No. 1 Walker is at 3,980 feet in lime and sand, and Sun No. 2 McCabe is at 2,110 feet in shale.

Youth Admits He Killed Two Little Girls

NEW CITY, N. Y., (AP) — A 16-year-old boy admitted today, authorities said, that he lured two little girl schoolmates into a woods and killed them.

The boy, Carleton Mason of New York City, denied he attacked the victims sexually but refused to tell his motive, Dist. Atty. John Skahen of Rockland County said.

Coroner M. J. Moses reported an autopsy showed the girls — Esther Nagy, 5, and Marjorie Boudreau, 8, both of New York City—were victims of sodomy.

Esther was stabbed to death and Marjorie died of a brain hemorrhage, caused by a blow on the head. The autopsy also showed evidence of strangulation in both cases, Moses said.

The Mason boy was a member of a searching party which found Marjorie's body Sunday night, several hours after she and Esther disappeared from the playground of an endowed boarding school for underprivileged children. He helped carry Marjorie's body back to the school and gave her artificial respiration. Esther's body was found later.

Death Toll In Fire Is At 13

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—The death toll in a fire at the Anheuser-Busch brewery yesterday has been fixed at 13. All the victims were construction workers who suffocated when trapped in a maze of huge fermentation tanks.

Fire raced up the cork-lined walls of a windowless storage wing at the 20 million dollar brewery. Black choking smoke filled the six-story brick wing, touching off panic among the 80 men at work there. Tweny-nine were hospitalized for smoke poisoning.

Light couldn't pierce the thick curtain of smoke in the wing, and the workmen groped blindly for exits.

About half of the victims were caught inside the 30 by 50-foot fermentation tanks. Small manholes just a little more than two feet in diameter were the only exits from the tanks.

"Those in the tanks were trapped like rats," said Foreman Fred Watkins. "They probably never heard the fire warning, and if they did, they couldn't have made it up the ladder before they were overcome."

Ike's Plan For New Health Department Given Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower laid before Congress today a reorganization plan setting up a new federal department of health, education and welfare to take over the functions of the present Federal Security Agency.

The White House said the present FSA administrator, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, would become secretary of the new department if, as expected, the plan becomes effective.

Eisenhower submitted his proposal under a general law permitting him to draft plans for reshuffling government agencies in the interest of economy and efficiency.

This law provides that such plans, once submitted to Congress, become effective 60 days later unless the Senate or House adopts meantime a resolution of disapproval.

To be adopted, such a resolution must have the votes of at least half of the 96 senators or half of the 435 House members.

Some lawmakers have questioned whether the General Reorganization Act is broad enough to permit creation of a new Cabinet-level department.

Successor To Lie Is Sought

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)— U. N. delegates stepped up backstage maneuvering today over a possible successor to Secretary General Trygve Lie. Three candidates have been nominated formally.

The 11-nation Security Council received the nominations behind locked doors yesterday and announced that the United States had put forward Carlos P. Romulo of The Philippines, Russia had named Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski and Denmark placed Assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada in the race.

This was the first formal round in what promises to be a tough East-West struggle to replace Lie, whom the Russians have refused to recognize since Feb. 2, 1951.

Russia's Polish candidate appeared certain to be knocked out by Western opposition. All of the Council's "Big Five"—Russia, the U. S., Britain, France and Nationalist China—must approve any selection.

Despite strong expectations that another East-West deadlock may result, some delegates felt the Russians were so anxious to get rid of Lie they might be willing to accept a compromise candidate.

Lie tendered his resignation last November because of Russian pressure, which was fanned to bitter ire over his endorsement of the U. N. action against Red aggression in Korea. He said he would stay on at the post until a successor is chosen.

Armed Forces Are Rapped By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators talked today of a shakeup in the nation's top military command because of what they called lagging defense efforts and reported shortages of ammunition in Korea.

The Senate Armed Services Committee was called into session for a decision on what to do about its investigation of Korean ammunition stocks, touched off by the assertion of Gen. James A. Van Fleet that there were serious shortages throughout his 22 months as Eighth Army commander there.

Two committee members made plain they would press for concrete action.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said that if the American people knew the "whole brutal truth" about comparative U. S. and Russian armed strength, they "would demand a wholesale reorganization of our Defense Department, so as to get more defense for less money."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) declared that "incompetence and inefficiency at the Pentagon have left us short of almost everything we need to fight the war in Korea."

Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md), not a member of the committe, said the reported ammunition shortages and the shooting down of a U. S. plane in West Germany by Communist planes made necessary "a re-evaluation of top Pentagon and overseas commanders."

Two days ago the armed services committee heard somewhat divergent testimony about Korean ammunition supplies. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, said there have been no shortages. Secretary of Defense Wilson and other officials, however, indicated there have been some—particularly of artillery shells—but that they have been or are being corrected.

Byrd and Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) said in separate interviews they favor creation of a subcommittee to keep an eye on the situation.

Saltonstall said he would propose a three-man subcommittee to continue the ammunition investigation with emphasis on "cuting down red tape in getting ammunition."

"There has not been enough priority and impetus behind the ammunition program," he said. "Civilian production was allowed to interfere. There was not enough needling and pushing of the factories which had contracts."

Senators Ask GOP Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he has asked Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Joseph Dodge to submit to Congress by May 1 an estimate of next year's federal spending.

Taft, the Senate Republican leader, said he thinks Humphrey and Dodge should be able to deliver by then at least an "educated guess" on the size of possible cuts in former President Truman's $78,600,000,000 budget.

The Ohioan said he understands businessman teams sent to Europe by Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen will report March 24. He said Stassen should be able by April 15 to estimate foreign aid needs, put at $7,861,000,000 by Truman.

About the same time, Taft said, the Defense Department should arrive at its possible savings from the $46,296,000,000 in military outlays scheduled by Truman. All these figures are for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Only after he gets an over-all estimate will he be able to chart the administration's course in the Senate on the issue of reducing taxes, the Ohio senator added in an interview.

4 British Airmen Die Over Germany

LUENEBURG, Germany (AP)—Soviet jet fighters shot down a British military aircraft near the frontier between the British and Russian Zones of Germany today. At least four British airmen were killed.

Wreckage of the downed bomber fell in this British Zone town, the British Air Ministry said, but some parts of the four-engine craft apparently landed across the frontier in territory controlled by the Russians.

Eyewitnesses declared the attackers had invaded West Germany, where four of the victims were found.

It was the second violation of frontiers in two days. On Tuesday Soviet-built MIG15s attacked two American jet fighters in an area 300 miles south of today's incident. One U. S. jet pilot was shot down but he parachuted safely.

The plane shot down today was a four-engine bomber, the British Foreign Office said.

It was a Royal Air Force Lincoln, a propeller-driven World War II type that is no match for jets. Such planes usually carry seven crewmen. The Foreign Office said three men bailed out and one later died. This would mean five men died in the attack, if the plane was carrying all seven crewmen.

The Foreign Office Spokesman told reporters in London that the attack took place over Bleckede, just within the British Zone of Germany. British troops were posted around the wreckage.

The Foreign Office spokesman said "it is far too early to decide" if today's plane attack, coming on top of Tuesday's against a U. S. jet, indicates a new pattern of Russian tactics linked with Joseph Stalin's death. Stalin died a week ago today and the next night it was announced that Georgi Malenkov had succeeded him as Prime Minister of the Soviet Union.

While there was no doubt here of the nationality of today's attackers, the Foreign Office spokesman in London said he could not as yet identify the "two jets" that shot down the British plane. High-ranking officials were studying all available information.

Gerhard Golmann, German policeman at the border town of Bleckede, said two jet fighters attacked the British plane high in the air. They fired several bursts at the pursued plane, continuing to fire after it burst into flames and started to fall. Germans reported finding a hole in one parachute.

The British were holding military exercises in the area, which is close by the Elbe River. The downed bomber was from a Royal Air Force training station in Yorkshire, England.

A British sergeant who parachuted from the crippled plane died enroute to a hospital. He had a bullet wound in a shoulder, but German doctors said he died of a broken neck.

A German who drove the sergeant to a Lueneburg hospital said three other men aboard the downed plane had been found dead.

The incident came just two days after a U. S. Air Force jet was shot down by MIG's near the frontier between Czechoslovakia and the U. S. Zone of Germany. In that case, the downed pilot bailed out with scratches.

The best available information on today's shooting was this:

The British plane was attacked by two fighter planes as it flew westward, apparently from Berlin, toward West Germany through the one of the three narrow air corridors which allied planes are required to follow over Soviet-occupied East Germany.

It fell just across the border inside East Germany near the Elbe River town of Boizenburg.

West German police at the frontier expressed belief that six men were aboard the British plane and four parachuted.

The hospital said the sergeant brought in dead carried a daily assignment schedule from a British military unit at Hamburg, 30 miles northwest of the area in which the plane crashed.

The Royal Air Force had no comment immediately on the incident, even more than an hour after details had been confirmed. Its comment likely was being delayed because of the delicate international implications.

In London the Foreign Office announced a British plane had been shot down near the frontier of East Germany. A spokesman said, "It is known that military exercises were going on in the district at the time, but it's not clear whether or not the downed plane was a Royal Air Force machine."

Heavy Fog Still Persists In Several Parts Of State Today

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy fog—which tied up Houston Ship Channel shipping nearly seven hours Wednesday—persisted Thursday in scattered points about the state.

Although most air line flight were back on schedule after a bad day Wednesday from the fog, the following points reported restricted visibility late Thursday morning:

Beaumont, three-sixteenths of a mile; Galveston, eighth of a mile; Houston, one-half mile; Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Austin, three miles; and Palacios five miles.

Temperatures remained mild throughout the state. Not a single point reported freezing weather.

Meanwhile, rain which brightened hopes for the end of the drought had virtually stopped in Texas. Late Thursday morning, Laredo was the only city reporting rain.

AUSTIN THUNDERSTORM

The calm weather followed a night of violent thunderstorms in Central Texas: Austin was rocked by a half-hour storm Wednesday night that brought heavy hail, high winds and rain to the state capital.

Kerrville, southwest of Austin, reported a heavy, two-inch rain that lasted three hours Wednesday afternoon. Streams in the area were filled, but no flood damage was reported.

Flights at Dallas' Love Field—stopped 11 hours Wednesday—were back on schedule Thursday morning, although the fog in South Texas was still hampering some flights.

73-Degree High Here

The mercury hit a high of 73 degrees yesterday followed by a low of 44 degrees last night, according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer. The reading at 7:30 o'clock this morning showed a one-degree rise, she said.

Mahon Speaks For Snyder

WASHINGTON — Rep. George Mahon spoke today in behalf of air service for Snyder before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

In his oral argument, he pleaded that "Snyder be put on the air map of Texas." He stated that because of its oil-induced growth and the concentration of oil activity in Snyder, its demands for service would be equal to that of a much larger city.

Snyder's oil interests, he added, made it imperative that it be given air links to Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, and Tulsa.

Oral arguments are expected to continue a day or two longer. James Rosser probably will speak in Snyder's behalf tomorrow. With Rosser in Washington is Dr. John Blum.

Rejection Of Explanation By Czechs Is Assured From U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said today further shooting clashes between American and Communist aircraft along the Iron Curtain would hold grave danger of setting off an international explosion.

That was a major reason why the latest incident is taken so seriously here. In the kind of trigger-finger tension which now exists in the East - West border country, moreover, there is a serious risk of new clashes.

A Czechoslovak claim that the American jet fighter shot down by a Soviet-made MIG15 Tuesday was over Czech territory was certain to be scornfully rejected by the U. S.

Informants here and at the U. S. airbase at Wiesbaden said there was no doubt whatever that the U. S. plane and a companion jet were patrolling well inside Germany's U. S. zone when two Red aircraft approached and opened fire.

The U. S. within a matter of hours registered an official protest with the Red Czech government at Prague, asserting that the clash took place over West Germany and protesting against a territorial violation.

Prague, as expected, yesterday turned down the protest and told the American Embassy the clash occurred after the U. S. planes had penetrated Czech air space and refused to obey an order to land.

U. S. officials who may not be named said it was hard to know precisely what significance to attach to the incident. They seemed to doubt that it was a deliberate, overt action on orders from the Red high command. The tendency appeared to be to regard it rather as "one of those things" which happens in an area of high East-West tension.

TV Bill, Many Others Are Up

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to give the Liquor Board power to regulate beer advertising on television programs was introduced in the Senate today.

There was a possibility the House might get to a final vote on a softened auto inspection law that it advanced yesterday.

The TV-beer bill was introduced by Sen. Jarrard Secrest, Temple.

The House approved the auto inspection bill yesterday on second reading, 87-53. It still faced debate before it could move on to the Senate.

Secrest's bill would widen the Liquor Board's powers in regulating beer advertising. It now has the power to prohibit obscene advertising. Under Secrest's bill, that would be extended to offensive advertising.

Another auto inspection bill calling for outright repeal of the present law sputtered and died yesterday in the House with a 73-74 vote against it.

Sen. William T. Moore, Bryan, introduced a resolution in the Senate directing the A&M Board of Directors to abolish the office of chancellor.

Moore is the senator who tried unsuccessfully last week to push through a resolution to admit girls to the school.

Moore's resolution on the chancellorship recited that with enrollment dropping at A&M, the job is no longer needed and it would save the state money to abolish it. Gib Gilchrist is chancellor.

8 Missing In Ship Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Coast Guard cutters and planes searched an 80-mile radius of the gusty North Atlantic today for the bow of a split oil tanker and eight missing persons.

Six Navy and Coast guard planes and three cutters concentrated their search in the area where the stern of the Liberian tanker Angy was found drifting.

The Angy caught fire, exploded and broke apart four days ago. Its aft section was sighted yesterday by the American freighter Claiborne and 28 crewmen were rescued.

The bow was seen drifting for more than 30 minutes after the ship broke up. Then rain came, and it was never sighted again.

Inter-Service Rivalries Are Cause Of Government Waste

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A onetime Pentagon chief said last night if the American people knew the truth about bitter rivalries in the armed services they would demand a "wholesale reorganization" of the Defense Department.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force, told the Bulletin's seventh annual forum the public is not being given the truth about the defense effort and "continuance of that failure may destroy us."

"The Department of Defense is suffering from inside competition, and the American people are suffering because of it. If the Pentagon operated under a unification law which gave efficient business and military administration, with less service friction, we'd get far more defense for far less money," he added.

Symington's speech came in the closing session of the two - day forum a short time before Gen. Lord Ismay, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, said the building of Europe's defense forces is ahead of estimates made by President Eisenhower when he was chief of the NATO armed forces.

Ismay reported NATO now has "not less than 50 effective divisions and 4,000 first-line aircraft" ready to meet any aggression against the West.

He said Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to NATO Commander Gen. Matthew Ridgway, "told me we are much further ahead today than he and Gen. Eisenhower had estimated that we would be at the end of two years."

Symington gave the last-round punch to the forum with a caustic criticism of what he called a failure to give the American people the truth about the defense situation.

"It is a sad fact that for a long time some of our national leaders —in both parties—have not told us the whole brutal truth about the world in which we live . . . The failure to tell us the truth has already injured us. The continuance of that failure may destroy us," he said.

Symington said the administration has changed from Democrat to Republican "but one thing has not changed—the policy of butter and guns has not shifted in favor of guns."

He argued the American people should be given the truth about the military strength and production of Soviet Russia as compared to the Western Allies' military strength and production.

Then he posed these questions:

1. What is our government's estimate of that date when the Soviets may have what they might consider enough atomic weapons to launch a successful attack, by air and submarine, against the United States?

2. Is our Defense Department properly organized for the most efficient utilization of the taxpayer's dollar in building a defense against such an attack, by that date?

3. And is the size and form of our defense program aimed toward the maximum national defense possible against atomic attack by that date?

DESCRIBE ATTACK BY COMMUNIST MIGS

Lt. Donald C. Smith (left), and Lt. Warren G. Brown, the two U. S. Air Force pilots who were fired at by two Communist MIG-15 jets over Germany's U. S. zone, use plane models to illustrate the attack for interviewers at Wiesbaden. Lt. Brown, of Henderson, Colo., parachuted to safety when his damaged plane went out of control and crashed. Lt. Smith, from Marysville, O., landed at his base undamaged. The incident happened near the Czech frontier during a routine patrol.

BEDSIDE WORKSHOP

This Midland carpenter—Ernest Foust— may be down but he's not out. A broken hip is keeping Foust confined to his bed for a year but he has moved a "work shop" into the room. It consists of a pint-sized table containing the tools of his trade. Here Foust is shown putting the finishing touches on a coffee table. A night stand he has completed stands beside his bed.

Liquor Fine Is Paid On Guilty Plea In Court

Mrs. William D. Lawhon of Allene's Ranch, a drive-in establishment on the Lamesa highway, pleaded guilty in county court yesterday afternoon to a charge of selling whisky and paid a fine of $273.50, including cost.

She pleaded innocent when the charge was filed Feb. 18 and was released on bond of $1,500. Her husband was charged with three counts on the same day, but the charges against him were dismissed yesterday morning by Edgar Taylor, county judge, when the state's witness, a liquor control board agent, testified he could not identify Lawhon as the man from whom he purchased liquor.

The agent said he made three buys at Lawhon's cafe from a man described to him by others as Lawhon but that the man he bought the liquor from was not the man brought to court yesterday. He did identify Mrs. Lawhon, however, as one from whom he made one buy.

Mrs. Lawhon, expecting a child soon, said yesterday morning she could not appear in court because she was ill. She and her husband came to the courthouse to pay the fine yesterday afternoon when she decided to plead guilty.

Jail Sentence For Man Completed Here

William Otis Roe, 32, of 2711 Avenue X, was released from the county jail yesterday, having completed a 60-day sentence assessed him in district court on felony conviction of driving while intoxicated as a repeated offense.

He was convicted here Jan. 15 when he pleaded guilty to the charge by grand jury indictment. He had previously been convicted of drunken driving as a misdemeanor a year and one day earlier. His sentence could not have been suspended since he had also been previously convicted of a felony in another state.

County Gets Royalty

The county has received payment for February royalty on its two oil wells, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said today, the total of the checks being $803.82.

Payments for royalty for January totaled $879 plus $14 for natural gas from the wells. The gas payment for February has not yet been received.

6 Invalidated Votes In Kent

A 39th District Court jury yesterday invalidated six votes cast last spring in the Kent County courthouse removal election.

Eight other votes had already been ruled illegal by attorneys' agreement. The six votes, four of them from Clairemont, still left Jayton without the majority it needed to move the county seat from Clairemont. Jayton was left with 600 votes, and Clairemont had 304, short of the two-thirds majority required.

The presiding judge, however, will make the final decision on moving the county seat, and Judge Ben Chapman may base his judgment on other issues as well as those already considered.

Dallas Scarborough, Abilene attorney representing Clairemont, intimated that itinerant cotton pickers had been "herded to get poll taxes to vote the courthouse away from Clairemont." Tom Davis, attorney for Jayton residents who brought about the election contests, denied Scarborough's accusations.

Rites For Mrs. Von Roeder Today In First Methodist Church

Funeral services for Mrs. Pauline von Roeder, 43, were to have been this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Von Roeder, wife of Edgar von Roeder who lives on the Roby Highway, died yesterday morning in a local hospital. She had been ill about two months. The Rev. W. W. Adcock, pastor, was to have officiated at the services. Burial under the direction of Bell Funeral Home was to have been in Snyder Cemetery.

Pallbearers are Floyd Jones, Paul Jones, Curtis Corbell, A. R. "Doc" Morton, Doyle Pogue, and John Woodard. Flowerbearers are Miss Meda Bell Smith, Miss Annie Jones, Miss Colleen Bishop, Miss Patsy Ann Burney, Miss Mary Belle Carrell and Miss Jean Ann Carrell.

Mrs. Von Roeder was born April 17, 1908, and had lived in Scurry County most of her life. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, two sisters and two brothers.

Fine Paid In Drunk Driving Case Here

A fine has been paid in county court for A. W. Carey, about 42, of Snyder, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Carey, arrested March 6 by Bill Love and Howard Gibbons, deputy sheriffs, first pleaded innocent to the charge and was released on $200 bond. He was fined $50 plus $23.50 court cost when he changed his plea.

Mrs. G. E. Jocoy, Big Spring Highway, has returned home from Medical Center Hospital in Odessa where she underent major surgery.

Older Women And Old Cities Have Interesting History

By HAL BOYLE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"Meet me in St. Loozey..."

There are some cities that make you feel sad when you come back to them, and to me this wonderful old river town will always be one.

My feeling for it is like an old love affair in which one partner can't quite quit yearning.

It is nearly 20 years since I first came here, and lost my heart to St. Louis on sight. A young man can't withstand an old city...or an older woman. And the reason is simple. They have a history..and he would like to have one, too... and the quickest way is to share theirs.

Every antique brick in this quiet city on the Mississippi seemed to me to have a story in it. There was a mellow feeling of time past and time present merging in a pleasant pattern. It didn't appear at all impossible to me that on some moonlit night...strolling along a narrow waterfront street...I would meet Mark Twin and talk with him...and not think it odd at all.

I felt the same way about meeting Father Marquette, De Soto, Rogers and Clark, or Dizzy Dean or even Mr. Anheuser-Busch. Ole Diz was in his glory prime then, fogging a fast ball so soon to fade. And a tan tiger called Joe Louis made himself the nation's amateur heavyweight champ here, but even he didn't know how far his fists would carry him.

Oh, it was a fine time and place to be young. The only war a fellow had to fight was poverty. But beer was a nickel a glass, you could get some kind of a meat dinner for two bits, and on $100 a month I lived in a daze of glamor. The paychecks were passed out on the first and fifteenth of the month, and in between paydays you went to the money lender. He gave you a ten spot and the next week he cashed your check and kept $11. This simple, basic idea had made him rich.

I worked the night shift, taking new stories over the long distance phone about holdups in the Ozarks, criminals being electrocuted in the state prison, or somebody in southern Illinois turning his car over on the way home, killing himself and somebody else's wife. I was new at the typewriter, and all the tawdry tales of people in trouble wore a kind of romance instead of misery.

The older newspapermen were heroes to me, their gossip of old scandals in the news was the shop talk of journalistic demi-gods. Would there ever be stories like that again, I wondered, and would I get to write them?

Two of my favorite titans were an old copyreader embittered by futility and a long duel with his ulcer, and a rewrite man named Johnny, who had a boy's face a death-look in his eyes, and an ability to sing "Wabash Moon" in a way you could never forget.

After knocking off work at 2 a.m., we would tour the waterfront, trudging over worn cobblestones from one joint to another But finally we always settled down in one called "Little Bohemia," run by a Serbian artist named Savo Radulovich. It had sawdust on the floor, red-checkered tablecloths, and was lit by candles in bottles. You could lean out the back window and spit in the beautiful Mississippi.

The beer flowed like wine, a phonograph played "Dark Eyes" over and over and over, and in between Johnny warbled "Wabash Moon" and the old copyreader talked of the dead days past when newspapermen were really newspapermen.

One night I looked across one of the tables into the grey eyes of a girl. Later I didn't come to the tavern so much. I walked in Forest Park with the girl with the grey eyes, spilling college poetry in her ears, and listening happily as she told me I was sure to write the great American novel one of these days.

All of this happened nearly 20 years ago...and it lasted only a few short months.

Now when I come back to St. Louis I know that the waterfront joints are torn down..."Dizzy Dean no longer throws a fast one, and Joe Louis has been up the ladder and down...Johnny died long ago, the old copyreader took his ulcer to Heaven...there isn't a nickel beer left in town...

I walk the streets and hear the lost echoes of "Wabash Moon"... but I know I will never meet Mark Twain...or write the great American novel...and never again see the girl with grey eyes.

When a man comes back to the town where he was young, all he sees is himself as he used to be... and that is always rather sad, no matter how good life has been to him.

This jewel-trimmed swimsuit will make a big splash on the fashion scene this season, according to fashion forecasters. It follows the latest trend to glamorous beachwear and is specially designed to cut an hourglass figure and sparkles with rhinestone trim on black tulle ruching.

Charges Set For U. S. Immigration Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new book is on the market today at the best-seller price of $3 a copy.

It is the annual report of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, usually distributed free by the thousands.

A form letter told those receiving it in past years of the $3 price, fixed by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

His aides explained this was "a part of the general economy move," and cited a 1951 congressional act authorizing a charge for government publications.

Die-hard Communists Still Cause Trouble In Compounds

BY JOHN RANDOLPH

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—Why do Communist captives still riot in bloody battles on the prison islands of South Korea?

Is it the result of any mistreatment or brutality by the United Nations Command—as the bitter Red radio at Peiping claims again and again? Is it the work of trigger-happy guards supplied by the U. S. and Republic of Korea Armies?

Or is it some peculiar madness inside the prisoners themselves—some innate Communist frenzy fueled by unreasonable hatred and magnified by the mental pressure of long confinement?

Saturday's riots on the islet of Yoncho, where 23 North Korean Reds were killed and 42 wounded, raises these questions.

Such violence was understandable and probably inevitable in May and June last year after the Reds had gained control of their huge, 5,000-man compounds on Koje Island and had seized the camp commander, Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

But Dodd's rescue and the breakup of the Reds into smaller, more manageable compounds has not ended even the major violence—as many hoped and expected it would do.

Last October, well after the breakup, more than 50 Chinese Communists were killed in a riot in their new camp on Cheju Island, far off Korea's southwest coast. Only last January nearly 90 North Korean Reds met a like fate on the islet of Pongam.

In between have been more than a score or more of other "incidents" that include murderous attacks on Allied guards, shooting of mutinous single prisoners, and frequent compound "suicides" that look suspiciously like Communist lynchings.

What are the reasons for this unending, bloody violence so completely different from America's World War II experience with German, Italian and Japanese prisoners of war?

To get these answers and others like them I made a nine-day tour of U. N. prison camps in South Korea—traveling nearly 1,500 miles by air, train, boat and jeep, and trudging many other miles afoot.

I talked to high-ranking commanders and to buck private compound commanders, watched the prisoners at work, play and rest, and visited their compounds and workshops. I saw some prisoners so savagely anti-American they spat curses as we passed—and other so friendly they serenaded us with a brass band.

You cannot see everything in nine days, but I can say without qualification that not once in any camp did I see a single act of U. N. brutality or mistreatment—not even minor "hazing." On the contrary, I saw many positive acts of genuine kindness and friendliness by Allied troops.

It is true that there always was a steady display of Allied weapons, and the continual presence of overwhelming military force. But as long as the individual prisoner behaved himself, he got far more consideration from his guards, both American and South Korean, than any American rookie gets from his sergeant at recruit camp. As for prisoners' food, clothing, shelter and medical care, it was beyond reproach.

To explain the sudden bloody outbreaks that have haunted the Prisoner of War Command for more than a year, the American officers and men give these general reasons:

1. Prisoners in the Communist camps have never "surrendered" mentally and still wage war as Red soldiers at every opportunity.

2. Die-hard Communist leaders in the Red camps hold daily and nightly rabble-rousing sessions to goad their men into even more bitter hatred of the Americans and the U. N.

3. There is a possibility that messages of instructions still reach some of the Red compounds by means of Communist espionage agents.

4. Many Reds, most of them confined for more than two years, are going "stir crazy" and would commit acts of violence under any circumstances.

"The biggest reason is that these prisoners are not prisoners at all in their own minds," explains Col. H. L. Taylor of Arlington, Va. As Koje camp commander Taylor has general supervision over three sub-camps at Chogu, Pongam and Yoncho.

"They see themselves as Red soldiers cut off behind enemy lines. As Communists, they must go on fighting at the risk of their lives to do us all the damage they can to tie down our troops, try to shake our nerve, and try to make us look bad in the eyes of the world."

To combat this Red strategy, the men who run the camps try every remedy they know. Compounds are kept small enough to handle—not more than 500 men each. A strict eye is kept for trouble brewing, and too ambitious compound leaders are pulled out and isolated whenever they can be located.

Informers are planted in dangerous compounds whenever possible, and two American soldiers are kept in each one during the daylight hours. Sharp inspections are made at random intervals at night. Day and night, the strictest isolation is maintained to keep down the possibility of message sending.

Every camp, too, has a quiet and hard-working intelligence section that keeps its fingers on the pulse of each compound—often predicting and thereby avoiding trouble in advance.

At all times, prisoners are handled with firm but scrupulous fairness. If there is a threat of riot, overwhelming force is displayed to discourage any Red attack in advance—and tear gas or vomiting gas grenades are always at hand to stop it mercifully if it begins.

But if all else falls, the orders to the Allied soldiers are simple, direct and inevitable:

"If a prisoner attacks United Nations personnel, the guard will shoot the prisoner."

Insurance Would Have Come In Handy, But Was Little Too Late

BALTIMORE (AP) — Salesman Manual Hyman thought he had a customer in the bag last night, when three holdup men barged into the liquor store.

The thugs forced Hyman and the store manager, William Gross, into the rear of the place, then made off with about $100 from the cash register and Gross' wallet.

"Now are you going to buy a policy?" Hyman persisted.

"I can't think about that now," Gross replied.

Hyman said he'd be back another day to try to sell the liquor store manager an insurance policy covering holdups.

Hallinan Picked Up On Tax Evasion Count

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vincent W. Hallinan, 1952 presidential candidate of the Progressive party, and his wife said they would surrender to a U. S. marshal today on income tax evasion charges.

A federal grand jury yesterday charged Hallinan, 57, a millionaire attorney, and his wife evaded $65,221 in taxes for the years 1946 through 1950.

Robert F. Peckham, assistant attorney general, said the government also will seek more than half a million dollars in civil liabilities, penalties and interest.

Hallinan labeled the charges "harassment" by the government because of his political activities.

"We're going to fight," he said. "We don't owe them a nickel."

Action On Unstamped Gamblers Stepped Up

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews indicated today prosecution of gamblers for failure to register and buy an occupation stamp will be stepped up.

The Supreme Court on Monday ruled the stamp tax law constitutional.

Andrews said today:

"The action of the Supreme Court will facilitate enforcement of the occupational tax on wagering, since a number of cases involving prosecution under the act have been delayed while the issue of its constitutionality was pending."

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gray, 2[illegible] Thirty - fourth Street, visited during the week end with his brother, Norman Grey, and Mrs. Grey and with his sister, Mrs. L. E. Boykin and Mr. Boykin, all of San Angelo.

TEXAS LADY LOST 27 POUNDS

It's simple; it's amazing how quickly one may lose bulky, unsightly fat — or money back. Here is a home recipe to help take off ungainly weight and help restore graceful slenderness. Now get the Improved Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions. Then watch the fat almost seem to melt off from neck, chin, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles. The improved Barcentrate contains in carton, in addition to liquid, appetite curb tablets, which help to lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. If the very first bottle and tablets doesn't show you the way to reduce, safely and easily, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 27 Pounds

"I cannot say thanks enough for Barcentrate. It has helped me many ways. First, I lost 27 pounds. I also got rid of the fullness and bloating that made breathing difficult." Signed: Rose Warren, Box 118, Knox City, Texas.

10 Pounds Lost

"It is a pleasure for me to endorse Barcentrate," writes Mrs. R. E. Moore, Route 4, Cleburne, Texas. "I have lost 10 pounds taking Barcentrate."

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers" Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5488.

I got a girdle in the summer, and as I had another one I wear for work, I haven't worn the other one very much. I have gained some this winter, which makes the new one uncomfortably tight. But now I'm beginning to need it, so I'm wondering if I could put a piece of wide elastic in it or a piece of satin. It is a Gossard, and I guess lastex. The front has a piece of satin in it, so I thought I might stitch along on each side of where I planned to cut it, then insert the material, and over-cast or zigzag the girdle and material together so that it would not run, and be sure to stay. Do you think this could be done satisfactorily? Can elastic thread be used to good advantage in stitching gowns where they are just straight and need to fit, or to hold them in at the waist to give more shape? If so, could you tell me how so that it won't be too tight and break the threads or be uncomfortable? R. G.

Since the girdle is of no use to you now, you wouldn't lose anything by trying your plan for piecing it. One local woman has pieced two-way stretch girdles with pieces of old girdle elastic. She lapped the pieces over and had them stitched together with a zigzag stitch which some of the new machines makes. Since your girdle has satin in it already, you might add a satin piece without cutting into the elastic.

Elastic thread would be fine to make the gowns fit. You should be able to judge the length of thread to use by measuring it around your waist, making it as loose or as tight as you want it. Then sew that amount of thread around the gown.

We do not have a recipe for chicken tamales which someone requested in this column, but we have a quick chili and bean recipe that is excellent if that person likes Mexican food. Heat pressure cooker and add 3 tablespoons salad oil. Brown 1 pound ground beef; 1 onion, chopped; 1 clove garlic, crushed. Stir in 1 No. 2½ can kidney beans, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, ½ tablespoon salt, ½ tablespoon paprika, 2½ tablespoons chili powder. Place cover on cooker. Pressure cook 10 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Let cooker cool gradually. We like this with corn chips. Mrs. A.

Border Olympics To Draw 900 Athletes

LAREDO (AP)—Athletes from 76 universities, colleges and high schools began arriving here today for the 21st annual Border Olympics and the Southwest Interscholastic Golf Tournament.

Both events, set for tomorrow and Saturday, are expected to draw more than 900 participants.

At least six Border records, including the oldest in the books, the 880-yard run set in 1938 and tied last year, will be endangered, according to Meet Director M. R. Davis.

Led by world Olympic performer Darrow Hooper of Texas A&M, who will be after new marks in the shotput and discus, and by Oklahoma A&M's classy Norwegian, Fredrick Eckhoff, who has turned in sizzling times in the mile, tracksters may also set new records in the high jump, 440-yard relay, and broad jump.

There are 8 universities, 11 colleges, 13 junior colleges and 44 high schools entered, Davis said.

Six schools have entered golf teams in the Interscholastic Golf Tournament. They bring 34 golfers.

AGGIES FAVORED

The strong Texas A&M track team is favored to repeat as Border champ in the University division, but the Aggies may find trouble against Oklahoma A&M and Texas University. In the College division, defending Champion North Texas will be favored with Abilene Christian expected to give them the most trouble.

Victoria Junior College is favored to cop the junior college division title for the third straight time. Rice freshmen are the runner up spot.

University freshmen are entered in the junior college division this year.

Odessa, winner last year, Amarillo, and Ray of Corpus Christi are seen as the three top schools in the high school division.

Amarillo won the title last year, but was disqualified when an ineligible athlete was discovered and the crown was forfeited to Odessa, the runner-up team.

Howard Junior Into Playoffs

AMARILLO (AP)—Howard County of Big Spring, Tex., today was headed for the National Junior College Basketball Tournament after winning the Region 5 tournament from Eastern Oklahoma A&M of Wilburton, 67-66, last night.

The Texas team will enter the national tournament at Hutcheson, Kas., Monday.

Eastern Oklahoma A&M overcame a 53-44 third-quarter deficit to tie the game at 55-55. Howard County managed to regain and hold onto a slim lead.

Jerrell Logan of the Oklahoma team was high point man with 31. Bobby Williams had 24 points and Clarence Jones had 17 for Howard County. Charles Warren of Howard County was named most valuable player in the tournament.

Third place in the tournament went to Arlington State which beat Connors State of Warner, Okla., 71-49.

Oleander Relays Set

Final Plans For Relays Here Tomorrow Made By Officials

At least 27 teams were officially entered in the Canyon Reef Relays to be held here Saturday, Speedy Moffett, director of the meet, said.

Of those entered, at least four are coming far enough to arrive here a day early and stay overnight. Teams are coming from as far away as Pampa, Borger, Childress, and Wink.

More than 500 boys will participate in the meet to make it one of the largest in West Texas. Moffett, who is also head coach of the schools, said the meet will be held annually here.

The only competition with the Snyder gathering is the Laredo meet, and many schools gave up going to the border meet because of the distance and decided to come here. Oleander Relays tomorrow are attracting Southeast Texas teams.

Preliminaries will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and last until noon. They will be run in 120-yard high hurdles, 100 - yard dash, 880 - yard relays, 440-yard dash, 180-yard low hurdles, and sprint relay. No preliminaries will be held in the mile run, sprint medley, and mile relay.

Most of the events will be held on an around the cinder track at the Tiger Stadium, but discus throwing will be held at the new high school baseball park south of the new school building.

Moffett has been choosing officials all week. About 60 men and high school boys will work with the meet. New officials named include T. D. Wiman as recorder, Mule Kayser as announcer, Ned Underwood as clerk of the field; Bill Barnett, Jack Blanchard, K. O. Pitner, Mutt Herod, and Shelton Holmes as timers; Steven Blair, Robert Hagin, Jerry Smith, Royce Pierce, Alen Snead, and Jimmie Rodgers as finish judges; Bill Morgan, Skipper Joyce, and Bill Grimmett as curve judges.

Schools officially entered are Lubbock, Brownfield, Pampa, Phillips, Plainview, Borger, Stamford, Childress, Wink, Loraine, Sweetwater Colorado City, Ralls, Abilene, Andrews, O'Donnell, Hamlin, Hobbs, Big Spring, Snyder, Dumas, Roby, Abernathy, Seminole, and Winters.

Russell Takes Schreiner Job

DALLAS (AP)—Rusty Russell, who quit his head football coaching job at Southern Methodist under alumni fire, will report to Schreiner Institute at Kerrville Sunday.

He will coach football at the junior college and also teach some regular classes.

The red-headed coach made the announcement last night. "Mrs. Russell and I visited the Schreiner campus and found it very much to our liking," he said. "I will report there March 15," he added.

President Andrew Edington of Schreiner confirmed Russell's announcement. He said the school was pleased and added:

"Let me say now that there will be absolutely no pressure on him. All we are trying to do at Schreiner is a good job in the field of Christian education."

Last January, Schreiner officials at a meeting of the Pioneer Conference in Dallas had said heavy losses at the gate might force them to drop out of the league. That is not planned now, Edington said.

Russell declined to discuss his salary but it is believed to be around $6,500 yearly at the Kerrville school. Like other Schreiner faculty members, he will have a rent-free home on the campus.

When he resigned at SMU, Russell's seven-year contract was settled for an estimated $33,000 to be paid over a three-year period.

At Schreiner he will replace Clause (Cheena) Gilstrap who quit to take over the head coaching duties at Arlington (Tex.) State College.

Russell pointed out that there is no spring training at Schreiner, and no football scholarships. The school does have some "work contracts" with athletes, he said, but only 14 of these were awarded football players last season.

Schreiner won seven and lost three games last season.

Amateurs Up In Tournament

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Fort Sam Houston Rangers and Brooke Army Medical Comets advanced into the semifinals round of the Texas AAU Basketball Tournament here last night.

Fort Sam blasted MFSS, 84-75, as George Christiansen piled in 30 points for the Rangers.

The Comets moved up a notch by ousting the San Marcos Cats, 74-53. Joe McDermott again paced Brooke with 18 points while Jack Turner aided with 15.

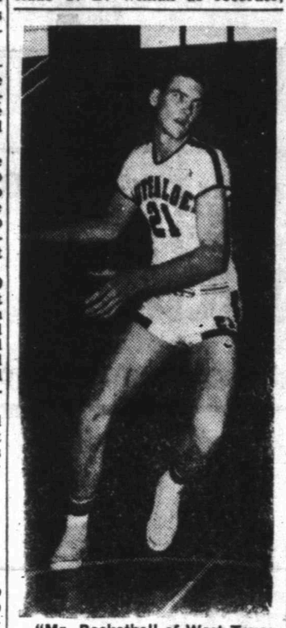

Bob Smiley also pushed through 21 points for Fort Sam to help the Ranger cause considerably.

Fort Sam was out in front, 37-28, at halftime, jumping into a comfortable lead in the opening minutes. The Comets held a 35-27 advantage at the end of two periods.

Semifinals in the meet are scheduled tonight at Central Catholic High School gymnasium.

Phillips Oilers of Midland flashed plenty of strength in blasting Monsanto Chemical of Texas City, 77-56, in the third game.

The Midland team plays the Comets in the semifinals while Brooke will play the Woodard Motors (Dallas)-Big Chief Super Market (Texas City) winner in the other semifinals.

"Mr. Basketball of West Texas State," by name Troy Burrus, 6 foot 7 center, scored 450 points this season, running his 3-year total to 1,032 for a better than 20 points a game average. Burrus is called the greatest basketeer in West Texas State's 43 year history.

St. Johns And Duquesne Vie

NEW YORK (AP)—St. John's of Brooklyn, a Cinderella team without even a pumpkin, tries to match hustle against Duquesne's awesome height in the "big if" semifinal of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament tonight.

Top-seeded Seton Hall meets fourth-seeded Manhattan in the other game of a double-header which is expected to draw a capacity house of 18,000 to Madison Square Garden.

Duquesne and Seton Hall are favored but upsets have been so common in the NIT that anything could happen.

St. John's, which probably wouldn't have rated more than a passing glance from the tournament selectors except that they needed another New York team, astounded the customers by overwhelming St. Louis in the first round and outlasting Defending Champion La Salle in the second round.

In both games the Redmen from Brooklyn, who look more like football linemen than basketball players, displayed amazing accuracy and speed.

The Dukes have advanced by winning easily over Tulsa and Western Kentucky—so easily in fact they have tended to loaf.

"They will know they've had a ball game this time," declared Dusty Destefano, the St. John's coach. "Don't sell my boys short."

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clark of Penrose, Colo., are visiting his mother, Mrs. Jim Sullenger, Sr., 3302 Cherry Street. Another son. Lloyd Clark, and children of Canon City, Colo., left Tuesday following a visit here.

Major League Teams Already Aiming For Top In Exhibitions

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff

Any baseball manager will tell you it is mighty nice to break from the barrier in front. And for that reason, if nothing else, you can't blame Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Fred Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers if they are feeling right well these days.

The spring exhibition season is less than a week old but both Dressen and Hutchinson have their clubs away winging in quest of the mythical Grapefruit League crown. The Dodgers have won all five of their outings and the Tigers are unbeaten in four games.

The Dodgers beat the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies twice each before hanging a 4-2 setback on the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

The Tigers, somewhat of a surprise after finishing in the American League cellar for the first time last year, compiled their perfect record at the expense of Cincinnati, the Phillies and the Braves. They beat the Reds twice, the Phils once and yesterday thumped the Braves, 14-10.

The New York Giants dropped their opener to the Cleveland Indians and yesterday made it four straight wins as they thumped the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, to remain right behind the leaders.

In chalking up their fifth straight at the dedication of Holman Stadium in Vero Beach, the Dodgers scored three of their runs in the first inning off Charlie Bishop. That was all they needed. Carl Erskine, allowing only one single, hurled the first four innings. Ben Wade yielded three in the next three and rookie Glenn Mickens gave up one in the last two.

Jackie Robinson pulled a leg muscle and had to leave the game but the injury was not believed to be serious.

A seven-run fifth inning, in which Walt Dropo hit his first homer of the year, carried to the Tigers to their triumph over the Braves at Lakeland, Fla., but it was a costly triumph. Infielder Eddie Kazak suffered a bone break in his left hand when struck by one of Max Surkount's pitches in the first inning. He is expected to be out of action about three weeks.

The Giants spoiled the seasonal debut of Saul Rogovin, ace right-hander of the White Sox, by getting to him for four runs in the third inning at Phoenix. The big blow was a bases-clearing double by pinch-hitter Jim Rhodes.

Gil Coan's three-run homer offset three bases-empty home runs by the Yankees as the Senators downed the world champions, 7-4, at Orlando. The Yankee homers were by Charley Silvera, Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins.

Ed Bailey, 19-year-old rookie catcher on leave from the Army, was the big gun in the Reds' 11-7 triumph over the Phillies. He hit two homers.

Homers by Hank Sauer and Gene Baker, both in the eighth, gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-4 victory over the Indians.

A single by Harry Agganis, ex-Boston University football star, broke a deadlock and paved the way for the Boston Red Sox's 5-3, 12-inning victory over the Cardinals.

Paul Richards Needs Every Man To Win

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP)—Paul Richards, the gloomy ringmaster of the Chicago White Sox, has come out of the heat of his preliminary training camp at El Centro, Calif., talking pennant, with only one important "if." Unsmiling as ever, the thin man from Waxahachie faced the big question squarely.

"If all our stars play up to what they have shown they can do in other years, I think we have a real good chance," he said. "I like this team very much. However, if three or four of them should have poor seasons, then you know we are not going to win anything. It's as simple as that."

What, he was next asked, did he think would happen to the New York Yankees if little Phil Rizzuto's pet ulcer should prevent his playing a full season at shortstop for the champions. Something which might have been a faint smile but probably was just a muscle twitch appeared at the corners of Paul's mouth.

"Just say that I would love to play the Yankees about 22 games without Rizzuto in there," he requested. "It would be a very, very interesting experiment. If you see Casey Stengel, give him my regards and tell him I hope he has Rizzuto for about 13 games."

It is well known in baseball circles that Richards does not much like the Yanks' peerless leader. He engaged in one of last year's prize ruckusses at the stadium and still feels he was robed of a victory. Had to do with a game called because of rain.

"It's too early yet to say whether Vern Stephens' bad knee will permit him to play third regularly," Richards said of the former Boston Red Sox. "He says it feels all right and he's been running and taking batting drill, but I want him to take it easy for a while.

"I'm not too worried one way or the other. If Stephens doesn't do it I'll be perfectly willing to go with Rocco Krsnich at third.

Allan Coach Quitting

BRYAN (AP)—Nick Furnace has resigned as head football coach of Allan Academy and been succeeded by Doyle Waller, his assistant. Furance will remain as an instructor and baseball coach at Allen Academy.

He said he resigned the football job because he needed a rest from the constant grind of recruiting and long hours of work during the season.

Power tools like this are necessary only with very large gardens. Simple tools are enough for small projects.

Simple Tools Are Enough For Most Gardening Operations

(By The Associated Press)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — A good garden can show a dollar profit besides returning dividends in health and happiness, and you'll get a warm glow because you're Mother Nature's little helper.

If you garden in the right spirit you may fondly regard a visiting rabbit as a little brother, even while he nourishes himself on your tender new 50-cents-a-dozen cabbage plants.

NOT TOO MUCH

These are extras. If you expect the sweat of your brow and the greenness of your thumb to shave a few bucks off the grocery bill, you'll have to be a good businessman. There's danger of putting too much energy and too much time into your garden.

Garden specialists warn particularly against over-extending yourself with gadgets. They heartily recommended investment in sturdy tools. And when you go shopping they advise passing up the bargain hardware that may have a short life.

LIST OF TOOLS

Professor C. H. Nissley of Rutgers offers this list of garden tools needs:

Spading fork to loosen the soil, dig in fertilizer and do similar jobs.

Iron rake to smooth the surface soil and make a fine seedbed.

Hoe to make furrows, for seed planting and weeding.

Hand trowel to dig little holes when you set out plants.

Stout cord. Stretched between two sticks it helps make a straight row that is more easily cultivated than a crooked one. Besides, a straight row looks better.

Hand duster to keep ahead of insects and diseases.

These are basic, Nissley adds. For a big garden you might wisely invest in a wheel hoe or even power equipment.

SEEDS IMPORTANT

Now about seed. Good seed is so important to the success of your garden that its cost is minor. When you order seed from a catalog early — which means right now — you're one up when the season starts.

For the beginner there's the economic danger in buying too much seed. For example, says Nissley, there are about 1,500 radish seeds in a half-ounce of seed. That's enough for 100 feet of row.

Radish seed is cheap, but other seed comes higher, and this is where your garden plan is useful. If you intend to plant only a 20-foot row of beets, you'll have quite a lot of seed left over to feed the birds next winter if you buy an ounce.

FERTILIZERS NEEDED

Unless you're gardening on a very limited scale it probably will pay you to buy a 100-pound sack of fertilizer, instead of carrying home little bags of it. You'll use it eventually, this year or the next.

Although fertilizer, too, is cheap for the returns it gives, its easy not only to waste it, but to do actual harm if you use too much. Especially too much at the wrong time.

Maybe you're wonderfing what varieties of vegetables or flowers will grow best in your locality. Or you're puzzled about how much fertilizer to use. Remember you can get free answers to your garden problems from your county agricultural agent, or in some states, from your county home agent.

Plentiful Beef Supply Means Sizzling Steaks Are In Style

Preparing a steak may be nearly a lost art in your household, or if you're a bride, perhaps the whole process is a new experience. Either way, it's time to brush up on the details. For the good news is that beef is plentiful again and steaks have taken a slide in retail prices.

With the per pound price of steak only a few cents higher than we've been paying for ground beef we can fit it into the budget again. Don't wait for an anniversary or birthday to cook a steak dinner. The very fact that steak is within your pocketbook is cause for celebration. The family is certain to agree.

Whether you prefer sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone, flank or swiss steak, here are a few suggestions. Even if you are one of the rare cooks who has kept in practice, a new twist to accompaniments for a steak dinner are always acceptable.

A successful steak sizzling on the platter begins at the meat counter when you select the beef. The best tasting ones will be well marbeled with interlacing of fat to make the steak juicy.

Although the United States Department of Agriculture purple stamp is no longer compulsory on meat, many packers probably will continue to use it. Unless you are an experienced steak selector these are the best guide to quality meat.

Most cooks prefer to broil steaks. The kind of steak will determine largely how long it must be in the broiler, after you decide whether you like it medium, rare or well done. In general, here are six easy steps to tasty broiled steak.

1. Set the regulator at 550 degrees F. or "broil."

2. Put meat on broiler rack and place under broiling unit so that top surface of meat is about 2-inches from heat (greater distance for very thick chops or steaks.)

3. Broil with door closed if using a gas range; leave door slightly ajar if broiling by electricity.

4. Broil until meat is well browned, season with salt and pepper.

5. Turn and brown other side. Only one turning is necessary.

6. Serve broiled meat immediately on hot platter to "save the sizzle."

For a steak measuring about 1¼ inches thick you can allow approximately 20 minutes for a medium done steak. For rare steak cut the broiling time a little or lengthen a few minutes for well done. If you are planning to make it a well done steak place the rack a little further from the heat so the cooking will be slower.

Thrifty housewives recognize the good buy that flank steak offers. Because it is no-bone, it is no waste. Here is a recipe for delicious stuffed flank steak in which the dressing is subtly flavored with onions, caraway seed and celery salt.

STUFFED FLANK STEAK

1 flank steak
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup finely chopped onion
2 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon caraway seed
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup tomato juice

Have the meat man score the flank steak. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt fat and in it lightly cook onion. Mix with bread crumbs, caraway seed, celery salt and salt and pepper to taste. Spread stuffing on unscored side of steak and roll parallel to its length. Tie in three or four places with string or fasten with short metal skewers and lace with string.

In a skillet or other heavy utensil, brown steak in a little hot fat. Add tomato juice, cover and cook over low heat or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) two hours, or until tender.

A mere pound of flank steak can be stretched to serve four persons adequately when prepared with this flavorful Spanish Sauce.

SPANISH SAUCE

1 pound flank steak
1 teaspoon vegetable bouquet sauce
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup drained stewed or canned tomatoes
1 cup sliced carrots
½ cup finely diced celery
½ cup finely diced green pepper

Lightly score flank steak against the grain. Brush on both sides with vegetable bouquet sauce. Melt fat in Dutch oven over moderate heat. Brown steak lightly on both sides. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with layer of onions, then add tomatoes, carrots, celery and green pepper. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until meat is tender, about 45 minutes. If necessary, add small amount of water to keep meat from sticking. Remove steak to warm serving platter and keep hot while putting vegetables through sieve or food mill. Serve meat cut in strips, accompanied by the gravy. Serves four.

Steak prepared in this manner would go well on a menu with hot steamed rice, green peas, a green salad bowl, bread and butter, apple pie and coffee.

It is probably a toss up as to which is more popular, steak with mushrooms or steak smothered in onions. If you and your family prefer the onions, here are a few simple directions which will make a delicious steak.

STEAK SMOTHERED WITH ONIONS

Beef Steak, cut ¾ to 1-inch thick
½ cup enriched flour
Lard or drippings
6 medium onions, sliced
Salt
Pepper

Dredge steak with flour. Brown on both sides in lard or drippings. Cover and cook slowly for 1 hour. Add onions. Season. Cover and continue cooking for about 30 minutes or until meat is tender and onions are done. Serves six to eight persons.

Swiss steak is a little more effort to prepare because of the necessary dredging, but it is worth every minute of it. In selecting round steak for swissing, choose one about 1-inch thick. Pound flour seasoned with salt and pepper into the meat with a cleated hammer or the back of a knife. This makes the meat more tender.

Brown the meat in lard or bacon drippings. Next add liquid, usually tomato juice or canned tomatoes. Place a tight cover on the utensil and let the meat cook slowly in the liquid, usually about 1½ hours.

Seasonings are particularly good when braising in this manner. Bay leaf is particularly good, or onion rings or tiny pearl onions lend a good flavor. Individual swiss steaks may be made by cutting before braising.

A different accompaniment for swiss steak, which also serves as garnish, is seven-minute cabbage. Coarsely chop the cabbage and cook for seven minutes in boiling salted water. Arrange the individual swiss steaks on the cabbage and serve with the gravy made from the drippings. Serves four to six people.

Swiss steak with mushrooms is an avowed favorite with most steak eaters. This recipe combines the mushrooms with tomato paste and seasonings to make a real treat.

STEAK A LA MUSHROOMS

2 pound round steak 1 to 1½ inches thick
½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1-3 cup minced onion
1-3 cup fresh or canned mushrooms
1-3 cup fat
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup tomato paste
¾ cup water
2 small cloves garlic, minced

Dredge steak with mixture of next three ingredients. Score meat on both sides. Brown steak, onion, garlic and mushrooms in hot fat; add other ingredients. Cover; cook 1½ hours over low heat. Yields six servings.

Broiling is the easy — and delicious—way to cook and serve either sirloin or porterhouse steak. Before broiling, rub the steak with a cut clover of garlic, or onion salt. The length of broiling time will vary, depending on the thickness and individual preference for rare, medium or well done. Serve with pan-fried mushrooms, baked or French fried potatoes and sliced tomatoes.

80 Enrolled In Adult Classes

Interest is increasing in the adult education classes, recently started at the high school building, according to T. D. Wiman, Jr., high school principal, and Dr. C. L. Yarbrough, superintendent.

Present enrollment is 80, and there are five classes in four general subjects. The school began last Monday when 60 registered, but instruction actually began Thursday. Persons wishing to enroll may still do so, Wiman said, adding that the administrators were hoping as many as could would enroll tonight.

When the program started, one class was set up for each general subject, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and arts and crafts. The general arts and crafts class is actually composed of classes in leather work, ceramics, painting, etc., and a student may take any he wishes. The typing class, now with 47 students, became so large it had to be divided.

Mrs. Virgil Joines teaches both of the typing classes. Miss Geneva Marshall teaches bookkeeping to 24 students. Mrs. N. O. Starr is teaching a class of nine in shorthand. Mrs. R. B. Parnell, assisted by her husband, is teacher of the arts and crafts class.

All classes except arts and crafts are meeting at the high school, but arts and craft students are meeting in a frame building at the campus of the junior high school on Twenty - eighth Street at Avenue O. Tuition is $5 a month, and the present semester is set up to run three months. Future semesters will depend on interest, Wiman said, and any student may take as much or little training as he wishes.

Classes begin at 7 o'clock and are held until 9 o'clock each Monday and Thursday nights.

Because many men of the tiny Dutch - held island of Saba in the Caribbean get jobs in other places, there are approximately two women to every man among the 1,000 people on the island.

Can't Take Hollywood Out Of Man, Even On Korean Front

WITH 1st MARINE DIVISION, Korea (AP)—"This," said the man with the mustache and microphone, "is coming to you from Korea."

The rattle of machine-gun fire filled the tent. "We are not far," he continued, "from where things are happening. Hey, you Marine, what do you think of Miss So-and So's presence in Korea?"

A single .50-caliber cranked off a bass "pow."

Said the announcer brightly, "That's all the comment necessary. Thank you."

In the rear half of the tent T.Sgt. Robert Kiser of Shawnee, Kan., raised out of his sack and asked, plaintively, Captain, do I get combat pay for listening to this?"

In due time the announcer, his USO troupe and his sound track, recorded some 20 miles behind the front lines at the Marines' machine gun school, went away.

Kiser, a combat photographer, sank back into his sack and mused, "You can take the man out of Hollywood, but you can't take Hollywood out of the man."

When a USO troupe hits camp things happen. Take, for instance, the time the petite blonde decided that she was going to have a shower.

She made her way into the showers during off hours and, with great courage, stepped under the cold water.

Now this particular shower has a peculiar regulator. A man has to stand on a little platform and use his hand to determine whether the water is too cold or too hot and then he adjusts valves accordingly.

The Marine heard the water and climbed up to his regulator. In all innocence he reached over the backboard of the shower to make a test. All he could manage upon seeing the nude blonde was "Holy cow!"

The blonde smiled and said, "You naughty boy. No fair peeking." The Marine threw tradition to the winds. He retreated.

Then there is the sad tale of the bumps and grinds specialist who was warming up in her tent before a show. She ground into a hot stove, but the show went on though each bump thereafter was a grind.

There are good shows and bad shows, but the ones the Marines are quick to appreciate are those performed under extreme difficulty. One such was the Rory Calhoun show with Lita Baron and Dawn Addams. They went on stage in the middle of a heavy snowstorm. To keep from freezing they had to make frequent trips to warm themselves by a fire in the dressing room. But the show went on. Marines like that.

Israel Changes Tax And Financial Plans

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's government has proposed a 216 million pound (605 million dollars) budget for the coming fiscal year. It promises considerable income tax reductions despite a 25 per cent jump over last year's budget total.

The figures were presented to Parliament yesterday by Finance Minister Levi Eshkol, who said that the nation's foreign exchange controls would not be lifted in the near future. He said the government would curtail services and streamline the civil service in order to permit the tax reductions, including exemption of up to 70 per cent of the cost of living allowances for industrial and white collar workers.

The National Geographic Society estimates that 1,500 miles of dikes guard the Netherlands against invasion by the sea.

Coffee Seems Heading For Another Hike

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A small but important group of foods, chemicals and metals are bucking the general trend to lower prices.

Coffee seems set for another price hike. Some estimate that when it comes out from under price controls, coffee may rise by five or six cents a pound retail.

World demand is outrunning production. And dealers here are reported ordering it at above-ceiling prices, expecting controls to be lifted before the coffee is delivered here.

Onion prices are up, as the supply tightens on the eve of the new crop season. Egg prices may increase.

Store prices may go up on some gadgets, too. The sharp rise since decontrol of copper and brass prices is boosting the manufacturing costs of many appliances.

Three of the largest steel companies are raising the price of stainless steel by two or three per cent. This is a chain reaction, arising from recent price advances of two of its ingredients—chromium and nickel.

Even lead, which has been weak for some time, rallied this week to stage its first price rise of the year and to reverse a long down trend.

Some of the chemicals that are widely used in making such consumers products as tires, glass, plastics and medicine are staging price advances. Chemical makers say their costs are rising, and in some cases demand has been growing faster than production.

Soda ash prices are going up 15 cents a hundred pounds. Soda ash is used in glass, textiles, paper, paints and ceramics.

Chlorine prices are going up 20 cents a hundred pounds. It is used in treating water and in sewage disposal, as well as in insecticides and as part of other chemicals.

All of these price hikes will have their effect on manufacturing costs, on profit margins, and possibly on retail prices of end products.

But the general price trend—in spite of these exceptions—has been down, or at least steady.

President Ulysses S. Grant was named Hiram Ulysses Grant, but the name was changed because a congressman made an error when Grant was named to West Point and the future President allowed the error to stand.

Choctaws Want Government To Pay For Ancestor's Drinking

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—More than 5,000 Choctaw Indians are asking the U. S. government to pick up a 209 million dollar tab for lands they say their white brothers cheated them out of with big words and firewater.

The Choctaws go before the three-man Indian Claims Commission in Meridian, Miss., Monday to give testimony about the raw deal they claim their ancestors got from the white man about 100 years ago. The commission will report its findings later to Congress.

The Choctaw band, most of them living in Mississippi, are placing their faith in the hands of A. T. Weir, a 75-year-old Philadelphia, Miss., lawyer who says his sum total of schooling amounts to four months and two days.

Weir has lived among the Choctaws all his life. He became their legal counsel about three years ago with the consent of the federal government.

The Indian Claims Commission was created by Congress in 1946 for a period of 10 years to dispose of—once and for all—the claims of all Indian bands against the government.

Weir said in an interview last night the underlying trouble was the fact that the Indian just never got the hang of the white man's ways, a situation he says that exists even today.

The attorney said if the commission will permit he'll trot out between 400 and 500 Choctaws as witnesses to testify. Some of them speak only Choctaw and will have to be heard through an interpreter.

"Just to give you an idea what I found in going over them treaties," Weir said. "I found where the white man 'treatied' them out of about 25 million acres of land in exchange for land in Oklahoma that the Indians owned anyway."

The big words in the treaties plus the use of firewater spelled the doom of the Indian in trading with his pale-faced brothers, Weir claims.

Fighting All Across Korean Front Today

SEOUL (AP)—Allied soldiers grappled with Communist troops all across the storm-battered Korean Peninsula today.

Winter returned to the rugged Eastern Front with a vengeance. Front-line reports said howling gales piled snow into 10 to 15-foot drifts. Almost a foot of snow fell in the bleak and barren Heartbreak Ridge sector.

Snow, pelting rain and heavy clouds again restricted Allied air attacks. Most warplanes were grounded.

Heaviest ground fighting erupted before dawn on the Central Front. An Allied patrol nosed into no man's land and ran smack into a force of 150 to 175 Chinese Reds.

The Reds quickly surrounded the outnumbered Allies, identified only as Europeans, and closed in for hand-to-hand fighting.

Two reinforcing units raced to their aid. The first was intercepted by Communists. The second fought its way through to the first. Then the combined force fought grimly through a screen of Reds, rescued the patrol, and fought slowly back to Allied lines.

The bitter fighting exploded south of Pyonggang at 2 a. m. and continued eight bloody hours.

Other Allied troops held their ground against four Red probing attacks in predawn darkness. The heaviest Communist jab, by 50 to 80 Chinese, was against an oft-hit outpost southeast of Kumsong on the Central Front. South Korean soldiers manning the post called up reinforcements and beat off the Chinese in a 40-minute battle.

No Farouk As Narriman Off

ROME (AP)—Former Queen Narriman of Egypt, whose separation or divorce from ex-King Farouk has been much rumored here and in Cairo recently, is flying to Switzerland this afternoon with her mother, it was learned.

There was no word the former monarch planned to accompany them. Trans World Airline said it had been told also there would be no baby in the party, so presumably the couple's infant son, King Fuad II, will remain with his father at the villa Farouk has taken as a home-in-exile near here.

Passage was booked to Zurich for Narriman, her mother, Mrs. Sila Sadek, who has been here from Cairo visiting her, and a nurse.

Narriman was treated at a Lausanne clinic last fall for an internal disorder. Her trip then gave rise to rumors that she and Farouk were on the verge of a divorce, but she denied the reports.

Mrs. Sadek's visit here has been accompanied by a new wave of talk of a divorce or separation for her daughter and son-in-law, who were married a little over two years ago. However, Farouk's secretary branded the reports as "nonsense" yesterday and pointed out that the couple had been seen together in public repeatedly until a few days ago.

Their year-old son succeeded to his father's throne when Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib's Army coup forced Farouk to abdicate and flee from Egypt last July.

2nd Trial Is Mistrial Here

A mistrial was declared in county court yesterday afternoon after a jury reported it could not reach a decision in the case of Will Clay, Snyder Negro bootlegger, tried for the second time on a charge of illegally possessing whisky.

The case on which Clay was tried yesterday was one on which he had previously been convicted in trial court here, but the court of criminal appeals in Austin recently reversed it because of uncertain and vague testimony of Vernie Head, former chief deputy of the sheriff's department. Head, now in the cafe business at Brownwood, was visiting in Snyder yesterday, and the court called the Clay case because of Head's presence here. Clay, who recently moved temporarily out of the state, was also in town.

The appellate court opinion a month ago stated its reason for reversal was that Head, who had made the raid against Clay, testified in the first trial in February, 1952, that he "was not sure the property on which the liquor was found was Clay's property."

Head testified yesterday, however, that he was "pretty sure it was Clay's." Clay has previously been convicted on similar charges many times. When he was first tried on this charge, the court assessed enhanced punishment—exceeding that allowed for a first offense—and fined him $1,500.

Edgar Taylor, county judge, and Wayland G. Holt, county attorney, said this morning they intended to try the case again.

Clay was represented by E. G. Pharr of Lubbock.

Mrs. D. A. Taylor of Colorado City Highway, is recuperating from surgery in a Dallas hospital. She is to return home Saturday.

Sentell's Bill Sent Into Subcommittee

AUSTIN — The House education committee put into subcommittee the bill of Rep. C. F. Sentell of Snyder to allow counties to set up a countywide school tax.

Sentell said the bill, House Bill No. 336, was to be reported back to the whole committee in two weeks.

The bill is permissive legislation, he said, allowing counties to assess taxes on a county basis, then divide the money according to school populations of the districts.
