Father Vows "Something Bad Is Going To Happen;" Girls Hunted

There was more than met the eye this morning when three grim men walked sentinel outposts on a hill near the north canyon.

Tersely informing officials two of them had daughters, 15 and 13 years old, "hidden out" in that section, the men openly hinted at dangerous reprisals.

The girls disappeared two days ago after saying they were going to school at Seagraves.

The father of one of them told Don Reeder, chief of police who had assisted in the search, that they had been seen in company of a man.

"They tried to get rooms at one place," he said, "and I was able to get good descriptions of the man and the car he was driving.

"Unless my daughter is given up something bad is going to happen. I just ain't figgerin' on letting such like go on."

One of the other men said there are relatives living in this section and that he would call on them for help. As a matter of fact, he was in Lubbock at mid-morning attempting to communicate with them.

"They'll come here and help me find my daughter," the father said.

He indicated a family conference would be held and that organized investigation would point the way to where the girls are.

Reeder this morning went to one place where the Seagraves men said a car had been seen answering the general description of that sought. It had been reported that two girls and a man were in the machine. Investigation, however, disclosed that one of the girls was a daughter of the persons who lived at the

All Hope For 66 Others In Mine Is Lost

Rescue Workers Push On But Death Toll Of 91 Expected; Believed Killed Instantly

BY LEO DISHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BARTLEY, W. Va., Jan. 12. — With more than a score known dead, the Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal corporation today virtually gave up hope for the survival of any of the 91 men trapped in Wednesday's explosion in the Bartley No. 1 mine.

Twenty-five bodies had been found and 66 still were missing approximately 48 hours after the blast ripped through the corridors 600 feet underground. As rescue workers doggedly pressed their search for more victims, the company issued this statement:

Hope Is Abandoned

"Anyone would have to say hope is all but abandoned for any of the 91 men in the explosion coming out alive."

A death toll of 91 would make the Bartley explosion the nation's worst mine disaster since 195 were killed in 1928 at Mather, Pa. A blast that killed 361 miners at Monongah, W. Va., in 1907 holds the all-time record.

Probably Killed Instantly

Rescue workers reported the men probably had been killed instantly and saw little chance that miners in other entryways had escaped a similar fate. Mine company officials and mine inspectors shared that belief.

"I am afraid that finding of the bodies means the other men in the mine also will be found dead," said G. J. Stollings, general manager of Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal corpo-

Saucy Ann Sothern Provides Blase Hollywood With Jolt As She Shops For Cute Scar

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 — Ann Sothern jolted blase Hollywood today. She went shopping for an aesthetic appendectomy scar.

"So many girls are marred by their scars," she explained. "There are all kinds of appendicitis incisions. They come square, long, short, jagged, triangular and blotchy.

To Look Kind Of Cute

"I have discussed all possible scars with my physician and I have chosen what I believe to be the most artistic, by far. It will be in the shape of a crescent. I think it will look kind of cute."

How cute it actually will be—is something that only Miss Sothern and the physician can judge, she emphasized.

"It's costing me so much I'm going to keep it just for myself. I will contemplate its artistry in private."

To Be Formed Monday

The crescent will be formed Monday at Good Samaritan hospital and if everything connected with its creation isn't up to movieland snuff, it won't be Miss Sothern's fault.

"I had saved my money for a sable coat," she said. "But I decided I'd better get a scar after my physician advised an immediate operation.

"After deciding on the shape, I had to decide where to get it. I went

Two Convicts Identified As Triple Killers

Farmer Says He Was Held Up And Forced To Drive Men To Scene Of Their Crime

(By The Associated Press)

FORT TOWSON, Okla., Jan. 12.—A Sawyer, Okla., farmer identified two prison camp convicts today, Sheriff Roy Harmon said, as the slayers of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rogers and their son, Dean, 4, whose bodies were taken from the burned ruins of their home New Year's eve.

Harmon said the farmer, Houston Lambert, 28, signed a statement that the convicts, Frank Wellman and Floyd Carpenter, held him up and forced him to drive them to the Rogers home.

Two Shots Were Fired

While he waited outside in the car, the farmer's statement continued, the convicts went into the house and two shots were fired, then the frame dwelling burst into flames.

Wellman, serving a 30-year term for the murder of his bride in 1926 was arrested for questioning in the case 10 days ago but he was exonerated by Warden Jess Dunn, who said his inquiry indicated the convict was attending church services at the time of the slayings.

Gov. Leon C. Phillips said a state investigation convinced him Wellman "didn't have a thing to do with it."

Serving Burglary Term

Carpenter, 33, is serving a three-year term for burglary from Johnston county. He had previously served another term for the same offense.

Warden Dunn said he had discharged Joe Adair, sergeant at the prison camp, because he gave the convicts "too much freedom."

Although Governor Phillips expressed belief that Wellman was innocent, he said his inquiry showed convicts at the Fort Towson camp were given "too many liberties."

"They were given shotguns to go hunting," he said, "and some, at least, got out and got drunk. We

Record Voting Strength For Texas In 1940 Is Forecast

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 12.—There is strong belief here that this year may see record poll tax payments in Texas. This would mean a record voting strength.

Jan. 31 is the last day on which Texans may pay poll taxes and qualify to vote in numerous elections or participate in presidential nominating conventions.

Prospects Are Good

Experts of the state comptroller's department seem agreed that prospects for record payments are excellent. One said "I look for a material increase over last year and perhaps 1936."

In 1936, a presidential election and the record year, $1,685,244 was the state's share of poll taxes levied by state, counties and municipalities. From this the comptroller deduced 1,172,929 tax receipts were issued.

The number of receipts, however, does not represent total voting strength. Exemptions must be considered, and it long has been customary to add 15 per cent for exemption certificates. On this basis, Texas' greatest potential vote heretofore was 1,348,864 in 1936.

Fewer Than Potential Vote

Ballots cast in 1936 were of course, fewer than the potential vote. The highest vote in any state race that year, 1,071,372, was in the first Democratic primary for O. S. Lattimore, unopposed for re-election to the court of criminal appeals.

The greatest vote ever received by a Texas candidate was 1,073,762, cast in 1938.

In 1938, which was not a presidential year but witnessed biennial state elections, including that of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, receipts to the state treasury from poll taxes

Cash For Emergency Defense Given Overwhelming Vote In House; Slight Cut Is Made

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — The House passed by an overwhelming vote today a $264,611,252 emergency defense appropriation for use of the army, navy, coast guard and Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Just before the final voice vote, the House rejected a motion by Rep. Schaefer (R-Wis) to send the bill back to the appropriations committee with instructions to write in a prohibition against using any of the funds for construction, maintenance or operation of ships engaged in patrol of what he called the "300-mile Welles neutrality zone."

Few Scattered Noes

(Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, was instrumental in bringing about the Pan-American agreement declaring the zone in existence.)

There were only a few scattered noes when the question was put on final passage and no roll call was demanded. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The bill represented President Roosevelt's recommendation for emergency expenditures for national defense and neutrality. The money is for the remainder of the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

The budget bureau first recommended a bill providing $271,000,000. The committee cut this to $267,197,908 and a further reduction of $2,586,656 was made by amendment today.

Shortly before offering his recommital motion, Shaefer failed in an attempt to amend the bill directly so as to prohibit use of the money for the neutrality patrol, contending it was established at the Panama conference "in clear violation" of both international and domestic law.

An amendment by Rep. Taber (R-NY) to reduce the army's fund for four months of winter maneuvers in the south from $18,000,000 to

U. S. Cash At Record Total

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — The federal reserve board estimated today that the United States has an unprecedented total of $64,400,000,000 of cash in bank deposits, currency, and coin—about $489 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The total, the board said in its monthly bulletins, increased $5,300,000,000 last year and was $9,000,000,000 larger than in 1929.

In actual coin and currency, last year's gain was only about $700,000,000, about half of which was in coins demanded by Americans for business and personal purposes, and about half in large paper bills purchased by foreigners for hoarding.

Foreigners Send Money

Most of the deposit increase, except for the gain created by better business, also was due to foreigners sending wealth here for safekeeping in anticipation of the war.

Government borrowing, the board said in another article, may have affected deposits totals somewhat but has reduced, rather than increased —as some persons were said to believe—the portion of deposits called "excess reserves" or idle money available for lending and investment.

E. A. Goldenweiser, research director of the board, wrote in the bulletin that the treasury's $17,700,000,000 hoard of gold was "an asset which is of little value now and whose value in the future is unpredictable."

Man Goes To Jail As Result Of Tossing Puppies In Fire

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Anthony Piano, a butcher, spent the night in jail under $5,000 bond charged with throwing three puppies into a bonfire.

Police had been called to the neighborhood by Henry Gillen, who told this story:

"After my supper, my little daughter, who had gone out to play, ran home to tell me: 'You ought to see the bonfire on the corner with the three puppies in it! We were standing there and the butcher threw them in.'

"I thought the child was making up a story but I went out. As I got near the corner I could hear the puppies crying. I managed to pull one out still alive. I saw Piano standing there and asked him, 'did you throw those animals into the fire?' He told me, 'sure I did. I wanted to get rid of them.'

"Then he picked up the pup I had pulled from the fire, which was still alive and whimpering, and knocked its brains out against the curb. That was too

Return To Prison Refused By Ohio

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12 — Gov. John W. Bricker refused today to authorize the extradition to Oklahoma of Carlton B. Chilton, 44-year-old Clevelander, who "made good" after escaping from an Oklahoma reformatory in 1913.

Governor Bricker said in a three-page letter that his decision was based on Chilton's "good conduct" record.

"It is my honest conviction that Mr. Chilton by his own conduct during the past quarter century has clearly shown his own rehabilitation and a positive disposition to live as a peaceful, industrious and law-abiding citizen," Bricker wrote.

The letter was addressed to Gov. Leon Phillips of Oklahoma, who reinstituted extradition proceedings after refusing a pardon plea for Chilton.

Chilton's return to Oklahoma was refused four years ago by former Gov. Martin L. Davey, who gave Chilton a job which he still holds, in the state highway department.

To Get Him Eventually

Owen J. Watts, assistant Oklahoma attorney general, contending at the extradition hearing that "the fundamental institutions of this government are on trial," predicted the state would "get its man" eventually.

Chilton, now 46, married and the step-father of a 19-year-old boy, walked away from the Granite (Okla.) reformatory in 1913 after serving 10 months of a two-year sentence for a $2,200 bank robbery. He returned all but $30 of his share of the loot.

Governor Warns Chilton He Had Better Not Leave Ohio

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—Gov. Leon Phillips served notice today on Carlton Chilton, successful in his fight to escape extradition to Oklahoma, that he had better not leave the state of Ohio.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio refused to extradite Chilton to Oklahoma's reformatory at Granite. Chilton escaped in 1914 after serving half of a two-year term for bank robbery.

"My policy," said Phillips, "will be similar to that of the federal government. Federal operatives stay after their men until they get them. I think this is the right idea."

Japs Apologize For Attack By Sentry Upon American

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12 (AP)—Japanese naval authorities today visited Miss Frances Donaldson of Louisville, Ky., and apologized for an attack on her by a Japanese sentry.

They acknowledged the truth of the American business woman's report that on Dec. 20 a sentry struck her with his fist when she crossed a bridge into the international settlement, walking inadvertently on what the Japanese consider the "wrong side" of the street.

On Dec. 29 a Japanese naval spokesman challenged Miss Donaldson's report which had been made the basis of an American consular demand for investigation and disciplinary action.

Finns Report Good Hunting

(By The Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 12.—Finnish marksmen were reported today to have picked off groups of Soviet Russian troops in the air as they attempted to land by parachute from planes behind the Finnish lines on the Karelian isthmus.

The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said several groups of 50 men in parachutes were "virtually annihilated" as they floated to earth at dusk yesterday.

Picked Off In Air

Some Finnish riflemen shot the descending troops while they still were in the air and others were quickly rounded up after landing, the paper said.

Meanwhile Scandinavia's response to Finland's appeal for "practical aid" was reported increased by the arrival in Finland of Danish volunteers, described by the Copenhagen newspaper Nationaltidende as "the first company" of men from Denmark.

Swedes At Front

Four contingents of Swedish volunteers, including some who resigned commissions in the Swedish army, previously had reached Finland and some were reported already at the front.

There was no announcement of the number of Danish volunteers or where they were assigned.

Life Term In Holdup Given

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—Only six days after a jewelry store here was robbed of $3,300, Virgil Harris, 33, slight ex-convict from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was sentenced today to serve 99 years in the Texas penitentiary for participation in the crime.

Harris, weak and pale from bullet wounds inflicted by state highway patrolmen, appeared before District Judge Willis McGregor and pleade guilty to robbery charges. He was not represented by counsel, and told the court "I want to get this thing over with."

Mother, Sister Present

His mother and a sister were in the courtroom when Harris, supported by two fellow prisoners, appeared. After the verdict, the wounded man was returned to his cell on a stretcher.

Two armed men held up the jewelry store here last Saturday night and escaped with cash and jewels valued at $3,300. Three hours later, State Highway Patrolmen Wallace Beasley and E. J. Banks forced Harris' automobile to halt at Lewisville in Denton county.

Jap Cabinet Crisis Nears Climax

Leaders Will Quit Sunday

BY H. O. THOMPSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Jan. 12 — A long brewing cabinet crisis is to reach its climax Sunday in the resignation of Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, the premier, and his cabinet aides, it was understood today.

There were strong indications that the next cabinet might be largely a civilian one, including representatives of the chief political groups, except as regards the defense ministries, which are traditionally headed by a general, for the army, and an admiral, for the navy.

To Report To Emperor

Premier Abe called a cabinet meeting for 9 a. m. Sunday (6 p. m. Saturday, CST) and arranged to report to the emperor immediately afterward. It was expected that he would present to the emperor the collective resignation of his ministry.

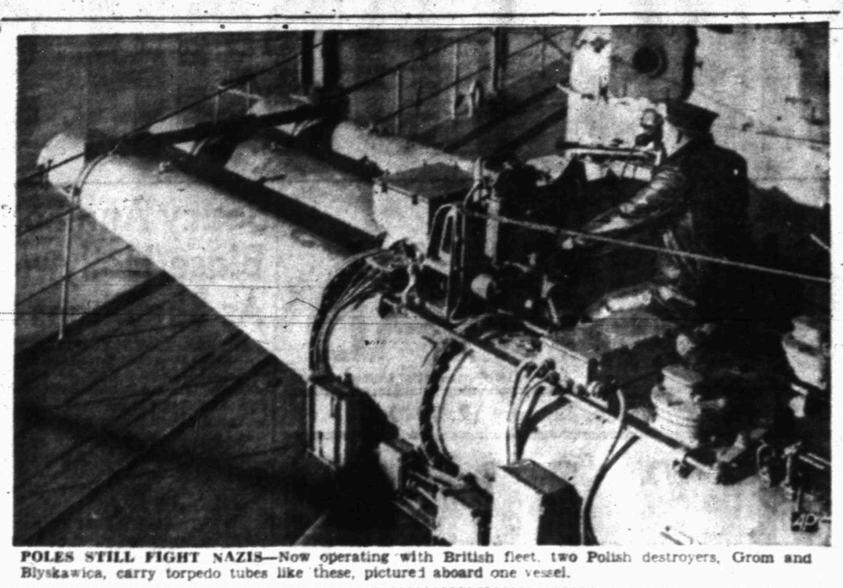

The expected fall of the cabinet was bound up not with the grave foreign problems which Japan faces but with domestic problems, notably the alleged maladjustment of the supply and demand of rice and the alleged growth of bureaucracy.

However, the crisis comes when Japan faces first the inauguration of a "central government" in China, headed by former Chinese Premier Wang Ching-Wei, which will seek, under Japanese domination, to undermine the influence of the Chinese government and sue for peace; the demand that France stop sending war materials to China by way of the railroad extending from French Indo-China into southwestern China; the expiration of the Japanese-American trade treaty Jan. 26, and a drive to further expand the United States navy.

Reluctant To Take Over

Newspapers, speculating on Abe's successor, asserted that the army hoped Prince Fumimaro Konoye, whose cabinet fell a year ago, would take the prime ministry. However, Prince Konoye, now the president of the emperor's privy council, was understood to be reluctant to do so.

In the present cabinet the premier, foreign minister, war, navy and commerce and agriculture ministers are army and navy officers. The possibility had long been foreseen that any new ministry might have less of a military complexion and might bring back to key portfolios representatives of one or more of the big political parties which have been thrust into the background since the Chinese war started.

Method To Produce Vaccine For Typhus Fever Said Discovered

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—Discovery at Harvard medical school of a new method to produce typhus fever vaccine, enough for the first time to protect an entire nation, and probably the whole world, was announced today in science.

Typhus is one of the principal medical worries in the present European war, as it was in the last. Lice carry the disease.

It is epidemic in Russia and parts of the Balkans. Wars always have spread it to civilian populations. Food shortages make people more susceptible so that historically it is known as the famine disease.

Two Main Types

There are two main types, European and American. The American has been far less destructive of life. The Harvard discovery is for the European type, and culminated a 20-year, world-wide hunt.

How to make typhus vaccine has been known. It is done with the bodies of rickettsiae, the germs which cause typhus. But until now there never has been any way to obtain enough rickettsiae.

The Harvard discovery is no secret. Its publication makes the new mass production method immediately available to all nations.

Mass production is done by combining two new methods of growing the germs which had been discovered in the United States in the last two years. The work is reported by Doctors Hans Zinsser, Harry Plotz and John F. Enders.

These Harvard workers recently discovered that rickettsiae could be grown fairly well on agar, a gelatinous substance from seaweed. But not enough to make sufficient vaccine.

Yield Was Disappointing

About the same time Dr. H. R. Cox reported in the U. S. public health service proceedings, that the germs could be grown well by infecting fertilized hen eggs. But again the yield was disappointing.

At Harvard the two were combined by first infecting the eggs and then taking the germs grown there and re-sowing them on agar.

"By this method," said today's report, "with one bacteriologist and two technicians, one liter of vaccine, sufficient for 300 complete immunizations can be produced in a week."

Increase of production, they added, is only a matter of enlarging equipment and personnel. Vaccination against typhus is supposed to last about one year.

The earth is still growing and changing, reports Dr. E. G. Zies of the Carnegie Institution. It is widening at the bottom rather than increasing in height.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Even if other medicines have failed you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Chronic bronchitis can develop if your chest cold is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. See that the name Creomulsion is on the bottle and you will get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Extradition Of Man Refused

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 12 (AP)—Governor Miles last night denied a Kansas request for the extradition of H. Lee Jones, Santa Fe advertising man charged with child-desertion in Topeka.

Mrs. Sue Carmody Jones had accused her former husband of failure to provide for two of their four children, in defiance of a court order issued at their divorce in 1930.

Denying the request, the governor commented briefly that Jones' extradition would "do no good" for any of the persons concerned.

Herbert K. Greer, attorney for Jones, told Governor Miles the extradition would hinder, rather than facilitate, payment for upkeep of the children.

Gets First Chance

He said Jones' recently acquired contract to handle advertising for the Coronado Cuarto centennial program was his "first chance in years" to earn an adequate living.

Jones testified he lost his job and his home shortly after the 1930 divorce, and that recurring illness had prevented his obtaining steady employment. He said he had sent money to the children when he was able to do so.

The couple has four children, Joan, 17, Carmody, 15, Marvin, 13, and Robert, 10. Marvin has been with his father since 1936. Joan no longer comes under the court order requiring Jones to pay $100 a month maintenance.

Poll Tax Time Again Brings Thoughts Of A Texan Whose Big Hobby Is Citizenship

BY JACK KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

It's poll tax time in Texas again and that reminds us of Karl Hoblitzelle. The connection is not as obscure as it seems, for when you work for Karl Hoblitzelle you pay your poll tax and otherwise behave as a good citizen should . . . This slim, fair-faced chief of the southwest's biggest theater chain carries his Americanism to the point of insisting that his 1,600 or so employes take their turn in the jury box whenever the state calls for their services . . . This glimpse of an American-Swiss, who didn't miss, may suggest why "citizenship" is a favorite preachment of his. In off-the-record talks with his men the Interstate circuit boss hammers home the duty of every one of them being active in their communities . . . We should add that in the matter of poll taxes, Mr. Hoblitzelle helps out on that little expense with a whopping big bonus every Christmas . . . A minimum of five weeks' pay for the last Yuletide, with men under union contracts also getting their full share . . . Hoblitzelle has a penthouse atop a San Antonio skyscraper but prefers to putter around his garden in Dallas . . . Has his finger philanthropically in such stuff as opera, art museums, restoration of fine paintings, city planning, Trinity canalization, S.M.U., the Texas world's fair commission and symphony orchestras . . . He's a bank director too, but all these things and master-minding for 140 theaters do not crowd out everything else . . . Those who know him well say he still has time to be gentle-handed in a hard-fisted world . . .

Pungent paragraphing: Frank Tolbert in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, describing the great English distance runner: "Wooderson, who looked like a Jersey cow racing Challedm . . ." Callously ignored in all of the best-stories-of - the - year roundups was an old standby that has never let the ngws witers down: The weather . . . Inevitable as French-fried potatoes in a steak house, the comings and goings of the elements hit the front pages more regularly than any other subject . . .

We bend a knee to Raymond Erwin of Corpus Christi and the University of Texas as hard-luck champion of the year . . . 1939 served him thus: Shot accidentally in the leg on a hunting trip . . . Hurt when a car turned over, with him in it . . . Injured when the barrel of his gun exploded . . . Knocked cold when two cars slammed together. Now 1940 already has dealt him the back of its hand, his car turning over the other day. He went to the hospital for shock, cuts and bruises . . .

Important Texas editors, it seems from this stance, are lifting up their eyes more and more to the world beyond their immediate horizons . . . Their sericus columnings, to mention a few, include the efforts of W.N.F. of the Paris News (Dub Purey he is to most everybody) . . . Charles E. Green of the Austin American and Statesman . . . Lynn Landrum of the News in Dallas . . . Walter Humphrey of the Temple Telegram. They'll bend a professional lance with any subject the news of the world tosses this way.

Remember the Amarillo calendar-makers who by error got 1939's Thanksgiving date printed haywire but who came out all right when Mr. Roosevelt changed the holiday around? . . . Well, they're prepared this year . . . Their calendars for 1940 show Thanksgiving as coming on November 21 and 28.

To John Carlstrom of Port Arthur, a refinery engineer, the war in Finland is more than a headline. . . . His Finnish father and three brothers were killed in it . . . A fourth brother, at last reports, was still fighting . . . In 1918 Carlstrom himself helped free Finland of the Russian . . . "In the first war," he says grimly, "I put more than 100 notches on my machine-gun. I wish I could put some more there."

'BRIDAL' PARTY WALKS WITH DEATH—A white-clad "bride" with a corsage of roses, followed by train bearers, "bridesmaids" and "ushers," followed the casket of Albert Horvath when he was buried at Pittsburgh, Pa. The "bride," Irene Gerber, who was to have married Horvath, complied with his dying request to, "Please carry out the wedding at my funeral." The strange "wedding" party, above, walked to the tune of a dirge by Gipsy musicians with one vacant place in their ranks—Horvath's. He was stricken with pneumonia while planning for the wedding.

Dinner Honors Aged Resident

ISHAM TUBBS

Isham Tubbs, reputed to be the first man to put a plow into Lubbock county soil, was honored Thursday night at a dinner in observance of his 88th birthday anniversary in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Olive Fluke, 2002 Seventeeth street.

Also guests were other pioneer residents of Lubbock. G. C. Wolfarth, Rollie C. Burns, W. D. Benson, sr., P. F. Brown, J. D. Caldwell and J. K. Milwee.

Mrs. T. E. Patterson, a grand daughter, led the group in singing old songs.

Hale And Hearty

Tubbs, who is hale and hearty and seldom wears his glasses, told the group of his early days in Lubbock county; of hauling East Texas lumber from the railway terminus at Plainview in 1907 to construct his 17-room residence six miles west of Lubbock; of this yarn and that since he moved here in 1890 from Kaufman county; of his being the only surviving charter member of the First Methodist church; of having served on the first Lubbock grand jury and the first petit jury; and of his activity in overseeing his 480 acres of farm land he has rented, and of enjoying life at his home surrounded by his sons R. I. and J. L. Tubbs and a daughter, Mrs. F. F. Revier and their families.

Among the firsts he can base claim also are: Of being the father of the first baby born in Lubbock county, Henry Tubbs, Lubbock garageman, and of moving the first house, that of Caldwell, into Lubbock from Monterey, townsite that competed with early-day Lubbock as an attraction for the site of the eventual city.

He is an honorary steward in the church and recently was recognized by the Northwest Texas Methodist conference when it convened here.

He has eight living children, 19 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Homemaking Classes Are To Have Style Shows

Homemaking classes of Lubbock Junior high school have completed a unit of grooming and clothing themselves. As the last problem in this unit the girls made school dresses and housecoats of inexpensive cotton material.

Garments were selected with the following items in mind: Durability, could they be laundered, suitability to individual, coloring and attractiveness in color and design.

The dresses were scored on selection of material, workmanship, general appearance and cost in relation to result. The model dresses will be presented at classroom style shows.

Fidelis Class Business Meeting Is Scheduled

The First Methodist Fidelis class is to attend a business meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the home of Mrs. M. G. Bowles, 2208 Tenth street.

Miss Weeks Is Speaker For Agricultural Conference

DALLAS, Jan. 12 (AP)—Texas educational institutions should devote much study to offering the types of education which will "improve and enrich rural homes," the Texas Agricultural workers' association was told today.

The speaker was Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the division of home economics of Texas Technological college at Lubbock.

Objective In Common

"Agricultural education and home economics education have one big objective in common," she told the opening session of the association's 13th annual meeting. "Namely, they are improvement and enrichment of rural life. Since many of the college students in Texas come from rural homes and since the 'signs of the times' indicate that in the future many more of the population than is now the case will be of rural descent, it behooves the educational institutions of Texas to give considerable thought to the types of education which will improve and enrich rural homes."

Miss Weeks said that "improvement in rural living parallels to a large extent the development of scientific agriculture," and that "home economics has much to give agriculture regarding problems of consumption."

Cites Research Studies

She cited research studies which reveal that if this nation's families had correct diets it would mean increases in the production of milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables.

"'Home economics educators,' she said, 'need to know more about economic forces with which the farmer and his family must contend and appreciate more fully the farmer's responsibility to the nation and the nation's responsibility to the farmer.'"

She said that Texas colleges have modified their agricultural and home economics to meet changed economic conditions.

In her address, entitled "training agriculture and home workers in Texas," Miss Weeks listed three suggestions for improvement of the training of these workers:

"1. More short courses on subject matter facts for workers already in the field.

"2. Short, intensive courses for senior students conducted by leaders in the various federal agencies so as to give prospective workers a better idea of their programs.

"3. More attention paid by the colleges to the development of qualities of leadership and the development of personality traits in trainees."

Tech Exes Are To Wed In Louisiana Sunday

Word has been received here of the approaching marriage of Miss Mary Gorom, daughter of Mrs. Ladonia Gorom of Fort Stockton, to Robert N. Watson of Bunkie, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Watson of Brownwood.

The wedding will take place in Alexandria, La., Sunday. Miss Gorom attended Texas Technological college for two years. Mr. Watson was graduated from Tech with major in geology in 1938.

Mrs. E. A. Armstrong and Mrs. Roy Burk of Amarillo visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hood, 803 Avenue X, Thursday.

Consumers Unit Studies In Kipp Home Thursday

The Consumers group of American Association of University Women met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. H. L. Kipp, 3208 Twenty-first street, with ten members present.

The next meeting will be with Miss Mabel D. Irwin, 2602 Twentieth street, January 25. The group will discuss, "Cooperatives." Mrs. Kipp and Mrs. Archie Bahm will be on the program.

Dramatics Unit Program Given At Seaman Hall

Mrs. Martha Davis presided at a meeting of the A. A. U. W. Dramatics unit Thursday night at Seaman hall. Mrs. Leroy T. Patton reviewed current Broadway hits, Mrs. R. A. Thomson talked on voice personality and Mrs. Jesse Q. Sealey, assisted by Mrs. William Blake, presented the second lesson in the book "The First Six Lessons In Acting."

Twenty members attended.

COOK LEAFY VEGETABLES

Leafy vegetables such as Brussels sprouts, broccoli, cauliflower and cabbage should be soaked in salted water for at least a half hour before cooking. Wrapping strong-flavored vegetables in cooking paper while boiling prevents disagreeable cooking odors permeating the house.

Election Held By Needlers

Officers were re-elected when 1911 Needle club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gaston, 2623 Twenty-second street, with Mrs. P. R. Friend as hostess.

They were: President, Mrs. Prideaux; treasurer, Mrs. Dupree; secretary, Mrs. Maedgen.

Crucial Test Of Part Air Power Is To Play Made Over Nazi Are

Helgoland Is Main Target

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Out of the conflicting British and German accounts of recurrent air battles over Helgoland bight is emerging one striking and perhaps vitally significant fact.

It is that a crucial test of the part air power is to play in this war is being made over German, not British, waters. That bight is Germany's very sea threshold. It is a vast, triangular notch of the North sea, cutting deeply between the German-Dutch and German-Danish borders to form a virtual German bay.

Nearest Points

Helgoland, Germany's island stronghold guarding the approaches to most important German seaports and the Kiel canal, stands almost in the center of the chain of islands that fringe the coast line.

They are the nearest points in Germany to Britain's shores and to traffic lanes in the North sea. That they afford bases for both nazi air and submarine attacks is the conviction on which the British royal air force is shaping its strategy. The greatest air battles not only of this war but in history have thus far been fought, on British initiative, in the Helgoland bight theater.

In air, at any rate, Britain is carrying the war to Germany. German and British accounts agree that the newest and longest range types of British bombers are being used in an effort to break up nazi bombing raids before they get started.

New Pursuit Ships

Berlin reports that new "long range" nazi pursuit ships participated in the most recent battle over Helgoland bight. That both belligerents are straining every nerve to turn out swift air-fighters that can match the cruising radius of their bombers goes without saying.

Backed and protected by long-range pursuit ship screens, the bombers of both could deliver mass attacks across the North sea as they have not yet done. The first of the warring nations to attain long range for its dog-fighter ships and to produce them in quantity will have a heavy advantage.

Morale Stimulated

Piecing together fragmentary official accounts of the most recent Helgoland bight battle creates an impression that the nazi defensive light craft again demonstrated that even fast, new, heavily-armed bombers were vulnerable to attack by faster, quick-climbing pursuit ships. The British paid a heavy price for whatever damage they did if Berlin is correct in reporting that three out of nine up-to-the-minute bombers were brought down.

Yet the fact that British airmen are carrying the fight to their foes, against all German claims of air supremacy, is a factor to stimulate British public morale. It is also a blow to nazi military prestige.

May Involve Holland

All this raises again the spectre of possible German aggression in Holland if Berlin deemed the moment opportune to carry air attack closer to Britain.

Operating from bases on the Netherlands coast, German planes could cut 200 miles or so off the round trip across the North sea. It was that circumstance which stirred the Dutch government over German massing of troops on the Netherlands-German border only weeks ago. Many believe the order to march against Holland was actually given in Berlin and rescinded only at the last moment.

SAYS SISTER IS A LITTLE WILD—"She's a little wild," was the way Jessica Rommilly, Miami barmaid sister of pro-Nazi Unity Freeman-Mitford, described the English blond who recently returned to England suffering from a mysterious bullet wound in her neck. Grain Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP) — Wheat prices tumbled about 2 cents a bushel again today before enough buying appeared to right the market and cause a moderate rally. Prices reached the lowest level in a month.

Stop loss selling, closing out of lines because of need of additional margin and liquidation inspired by continued weakness of securities dominated trade much of the time.

Wheat closed ½-1¼ cents lower than yesterday. May 98¾-⅞; July 96½-⅝; corn ⅛-½ down, May 57¼-⅜, July 57⅝-¾; oats ¼-½ down.

Export sales of U. S. corn to the United Kingdom were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, the largest business in recent weeks.

DOWNWARD DRIFT PERSISTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP) — The downward drift persisted in the stock market today with leading industrials adding fractions to 2 or more points to Thursday's tumble.

After a hesitant start the list acted as though it had rallying ideas, but sellers soon took a shot at the steels, motors and aircrafts. A little support came in later and extreme setbacks were pared here and there. Many quotations, however, were at a near bottom at the close.

Volume was largest on declining periods and transfers for the five hours topped 1,000,000 shares.

Brokerage circles blamed the soggy market performance partly on growing fears congress would slap on new taxes to take care of national emergency defense expenditures despite the fact such a procedure usually is unpopular in an election year.

In addition, while opinions in Wall Street were far from unanimous on business prospects, the thought was still present that a greater or lesser recession is in the cards for the next few months at least. Predictions were plentiful, though, that the upswing would be resumed in the second half.

Prominent among stock losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, American Telephone, Western Union, Standard Oil of N. J., Ohio & Northern and Pullman.

Resistant shares included U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Loft, Standard Brands and International Mercantile Marine.

Backward leanings of major commodities again were a depressing influence for stocks.

Another Evidence Is Given Of Good Business In City

Another evidence that business was good in Lubbock during December was supplied by the report on parking meter receipts this morning to D. D. Martin, city auditor.

In spite of less favorable weather conditions, the receipts showed a gain of $385.95, or approximately 18 per cent, over those of December, 1938. Total receipts were $2,607.65, compared with $2,221.70 in December, 1938.

The gain over last November also was large, totaling $423.55, or approximately 20 per cent. The November receipts were $2,184.10.

Defense Funds

$9,000,000 was defeated 93 to 50.

Taber argued that two months was enough. Rep. Lambertson (R-Kas) suggested the gathering together of two army corps of troops, as the general staff proposes, would lead the American people to believe this country was preparing for war rather than defense.

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va), managing the bill on the floor, said he preferred the opinions of General John J. Pershing and Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, as to how long the maneuvers should be, to Taber's or his own.

In a related field, Admiral Harold R. Stark told the House naval committee that, if special legislation were found to be necessary, the navy would ask Congress for authority to build bigger cruisers than the present 10,000-ton type.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference that he had asked congressional leaders of both parties to work out the problem of giving assistance to Finland in its resistance to Russia.

Secretary Wallace of the agriculture department rallied to the side of Secretary Hull with testimony before the House ways and means committee in praise of Hull's reciprocal trade program. Wallace said he knew of no instance in which reductions on farm product import duties had "seriously inconvenienced" agriculture.

The House investigation of the labor board continued, with Committeeman Routzohn (R-Ohio) raising the question whether the board "juggled figures" to get the labor election results it wanted. A labor board attorney, on the stand, disputed this.

ration which operates the workings.

State Mine Inspector E. L. Chatfield, after talking with the rescue crews, said, "the evidence of the violence indicates that every man in the mine is doomed."

He reported one of the crews found a two-ton loading machine blown 60 feet from the face of the coal.

It took approximately 38 hours to tunnel through tons of slate, rock and coal to where the 91 men were caught 600 feet underground by a blast mine inspectors said might have resulted when the miners cut into some abandoned gas-filled entry.

Company officials estimated it would be early afternoon before other trapped men could be reached. Crews had to "carry the air" with them, building barriers as they pushed along.

Above ground scores of miners and relatives of entombed men huddled together in a cold drizzle, watching gloomily as rescue crews changed shifts every four hours.

Tech Topics

Possibility of organization of a regional association of teachers of art and history of art is being investigated by P. A. Kleinschmidt, upon suggestion of Miss Myrtilla Avery of New York City, one of the directors of the College Art association.

Kleinschmidt, head professor of architecture and allied arts, at Texas Tech today was preparing letters which will be sent to teachers of public schools and colleges of West Texas, eastern New Mexico and part of Oklahoma.

The organization meeting would be held March 7-8, when Dr. Henry M. Willard, president of the Bureau of University Travel, Newton, Mass., will speak here under auspices of the Tech Art institute and the college Gargoyle club. Dr. Willard will speak on "Paths of Eurcpean Culture" and "The Abbey of Monte Cassino as a Center of Medieval Culture."

Establishment of Texas' first woolen mills in Eldorado by J. M. Christian, Texas Tech graduate, should widen our market considerably, said W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry at Tech.

The plant will be known as West Texas Woolen mills and will manufacture 100 per cent virgin wool blankets, ordinary camp and army style blankets, woolen suiting, yarn and woolen batting.

"Although Texas is the largest wool-producing state in the union," Stangel said, "heretofore we have shipped most of our raw wool to New England for manufacture, and none of it has been finished in Texas. Selling at home will be a valuable aid to this industry."

Since graduating from Tech's textile engineering department in August of 1936, Christian has worked as assistant engineer of the southern textile plant of the United States Rubber company.

Draftsman's pen and drawing pad are more valuable than a vocabulary of several thousand English words to H. C. Crawford, 1936 chemical engineering graduate of Texas Tech who is supervising a refinery in Mexico City.

Two hundred men, many of whom do not speak English, work under him. Crawford does not speak Spanish.

"I find engineering drawing the most useful tool I have in the industry," he wrote. "Less than half of the operating chemists here speak more than half a dozen words of English. Practically none of the other hundred workers speak any at all. The only way to make them understand anything is either to show them a blueprint, or draw them a sketch."

The Petroleum Engineering society of Texas Tech will be addressed by L. E. Young, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal company of Pennsylvania at a meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in room 205 of the chemistry building.

Young, representing the American Association of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, probably will discuss the affiliate student chapter which has been approved here, Clarence Kelley, club officer, said.

Officers of the Downtown Bible class were guests for dinner at the resident boys' project sponsored by the National Youth administration Thursday night at the project house on Texas Tech campus.

Food which had been canned by the boys was served. Henry F. Mosely, project supervisor, discussed purposes of the training.

Present were Dr. C. E. Hereford, class teacher, E. M. Barnett, president; Thelton Hamilton stewardship vice-president; W. W. Morris, membership vice president; Guy Casey, ministries vice president; John Langford, treasurer; M. L. Shepherd, secretary; Cliff Elliott, head usher; G. V. Pardue, chorister. Jennings Lewis, district NYA official, also attended.

Two Members Of Kidnap Gang Die In The Electric Chair

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 12. (AP)—Two members of a kidnap gang died silently in Sing Sing's electric chair last night for the kidnap-slaying of a man whose body was never found.

They were Demetrius Gula, 31, and Joseph Sacoda, 28, convicted of kidnaping Arthur Fried, young business man of White Plains, in December, 1937, and burning his shot-riddled body in the furnace of an obscure east side club house in New York.

Lambert's statement related that he drove the convicts back to the camp after the slayings and had been afraid to talk until now, fearing for the safety of his wife and children.

Dunn appointed Carl Dunlap, a veteran prison employe, to replace Adair.

The 25 prisoners at the camp were hurried inside the prison walls and the warden said he would make a thorough investigation of previous conditions there.

Old Granny Dies Sudden Like; Fishtrap Road In Mourning

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 12.—Fishtrap Road is wrapped in gloom: the "oldest old woman on earth" is dead.

Granny Geldia Solomon, who claimed to have lived 127 years, died yesterday, all of a sudden like. Until a few days ago she was spry as a young one.

Apparently she knew her time had come because she sighed and murmured:

"Lord, come get me. I been a-waitin.'"

And then she died.

Old granny never got "trifling and no-count." She was a hymn singer, a quilter and the mother of 14 children. Her progeny came in droves today. All told there were 141.

She was born, they said, on October 12, 1812 on a Mississippi plantation. Her father was a negro slave and her mother an Indian.

Storms In Europe Blockading Ports

(By The United Press)

Storms and record cold in central and eastern Europe have paralyzed Russia's Black sea ports, as well as freezing the Danube delta.

Denmark's "great belt" channel in the Baltic is threatened by ice.

More effectively than any naval blockade, the cold and storms are impeding Germany's supply of raw materials, it was indicated.

Navigation Paralyzed

The Moscow radio reported that a severe storm in the Black sea had paralyzed all navigation. Some ships on the sea were in distress and no ship had left a Russian Black sea port since Tuesday.

The temperature at Moscow reached a record low of 40 below zero.

German wireless newscasts said there were numerous reports from all over European Russia of people freezing to death.

In the Finnish Karelian peninsula, war correspondents said the cold there was abating and it was snowing again.

Severe cold caused increased suffering in Germany because of the strict rationing of coal.

Coal Supplies Dwindle

Supplies of coal were dwindling because canal boats were icebound.

At first only poorer Germans suffered, but now big apartment houses in prosperous sections of Berlin had to close down furnaces. Some families installed electric heaters. Beer halls in some instances had to close because of lack of fuel.

It was indicated that the further restriction of passenger service on railroads was due partly to lack of fuel, not solely to rolling stock shortage. Newspapers in Berlin appealed to the public to abandon "superfluous and non-urgent" railroad journeys.

By contrast, at Buenos Aires, Argentina, nine heat deaths in the last 36 hours were reported and sixty persons were taken to hospitals yesterday suffering heat prostration.

They Like The Westerners Of Lubbock High Even Down In The Southern Tip Of State

They like to read about the Westerners in other parts of Texas, too, as evidenced in a letter to the chamber of commerce this morning.

It came from Donna in Hidalgo county, which is one county removed from the gulf in the very southern tip of the state. Signed to it were a number of names who described themselves as being "Westerner fans."

They have read much, the letter related, about the Westerners and their climb to the high school football championship of the state. But they haven't read enough. Would the chamber of commerce send them a Lubbock paper containing more of the details of the final game in which the Westerners defeated Waco?

The chamber of commerce obliged them. A copy of The Avalanche-Journal of Sunday, Dec. 31, was mailed.

shopping for a room in all the hospitals in town.

Wants No Gloomy Room

"That's because I am a person who is susceptible to her surroundings. If the room is gloomy, I am too. So I chose a room with southern exposure. I also arranged to take along my own table lamps and my own pictures. I am going to the hospital Sunday and first thing I intend to do is hang some bright water colors on the wall.

"Then there is the little matter of clothes. The hospital people said they would put me in a kind of white wrapper for the operation. Now I don't like that idea. A girl looks her worst in a white wrapper. And even though I'd be unconscious, I still don't like it."

Sexy But Beautiful

Miss Sothern said she felt there was considerable nonsense connected with germs, anyway, and that she was having laundered under the most sanitary conditions two dozen nightgowns of silk satin, crepe, and lace, in shades of blue, pink and peach and black.

"They're sexy nightgowns," she said, "but they're beautiful."

"Another thing is hospital sheets," she said. "I don't like them. I had my tonsils out in Chicago once and the sheets were scratchy. I was there five days and I know. Those sheets made me itch. So I'm taking my own bed linens along.

"I'm also taking my backgammon board and I'm issuing a call for visitors. I'll try to keep them entertained."

had the overcoat described as being worn by the larger man in the Odessa-Aldrews jobs. The taller man had a dark jacket that might have been leather.

Authorities of the South Plains said they had "no doubt" that the men were the same as those who abducted Stone.

Stone's car is a two-door sedan, license number 726-377, motor number 997-996.

Kidnaped From Street

It would seem, theorized officials, that the men have been operating the Odessa section. A report published in the Odessa News-Times said prior to the abduction of the Midland school teacher and her companion a man had been kidnaped from an Odessa street in much the same manner Stone was forced to leave his parking place on Texas avenue between Broadway and Main streets.

The man abducted was forced to ride with the two robbers. They drove to south of Midland and the man was let out of his car and robbed. He, like Stone, was told to wait beside the road and informed that the men would return for him.

But they found the car occupied by Miss Hestand and her companion. They robbed the pair, but Miss Hestand slipped off two rings and let them fall on the roadside.

Treated With Courtesy

In each robbery, victims said, they were treated with courtesy. No verbal threats were reported to have been made, but the smaller of the men had a gun in each instance, it was reported here.

South Plains officials, already engaged in a hunt for two men who escaped Dickens county jail early Thursday, were joined by South Plains basin officials in a search for the two robbers.

Reports early Thursday night said an automobile answering the description of that taken from Stone had showed up at El Paso.

It was believed here that the machine was not the same as taken from Stone.

ACC Wildcats Determined To Break Losing Streak Here

Texas Seeks Early Climax In Cage Race

Tech Raiders Taking Floor As Favorites

Two sharp-shooting cage machines of contrast, but both with the same ambitions, further spice an already colorful court campaign with a two-game series beginning at 8 o'clock tonight when Texas Tech's confident Red Raiders tangle with Abilene Christian's faltering Wildcats.

Boasting a record about as impressive as any in the Southwest, Coach Berl Huffman's Crimsons harbor intention of increasing their little victory string the next two evenings in the old barn just west of College avenue and north of Eighth street.

Wildcats Lose Again

But just as determined to snap a seven-game losing slump are Coach "Bugs" Morris' charges, Texas Conference powers, who dropped their second straight to West Texas Teachers tall Buffaloes last night, 49 to 35. But it was not without a first half scare that the Buffs had to live through and then come back to submerge an Abilene team that doesn't seem to know when it is beaten even though it has had many occasions to find out here of late.

Sure to be paced by their two stellar hoop artists, Marshall Brown and Bauman Roper, the Scarlet and Black thinly clads will take the hardwood a favored crew tonight — heralded as one of the hottest quintets in college and university circles in the country. Brown and Roper together have accounted for 284 points in 16 tussles — more than half the Crimsons' total for the year.

Not a tall team, the Raiders make up in speed and cleverness what they lack in ceiling bumping qualities.

Seniors To Start

The lineup which Coach Huffman sends onto the painted floor against the Wildcats will be same classy combination of five seniors who have inaugurated practically every Tech game this season: Marshall Brown and Robert Percival, forwards; Bauman Roper, center; T. L. Gilley and Curley Risinger, guards. Any changes in this setup likely would send J. B. "Whizzer" White, sensation of this year's team and former Lubbock High star, in at a guard post.

Abilene Christian will not show fans a tall team but a fast, quick-passing and deft ball handling aggregation, one similar to that forced to the Texas conference championship in 1938 under Coach "Bugs" Morris' direction. And again this year, the wiseacres are predicting that after the Wildcats get tired of being knocked around they will be plenty tough to handle in the conference campaign.

Johnson Paces Wildcats

Coach Morris has indicated he will start Bruce Prior and Leon Reese in the forward slots with Bill Johnson at center and J. O. Black and P. H. Hill on the guard spots. Johnson is nearest thing to a skyscraper in this lineup, and there's 6-feet, 1-inch of him. And heaped on his broad shoulders is the honor of having been ranked the best all-round player on the squad. However, Coach Huffman claims he has heard a lot about the accurate goal shooting of Prior and expects plenty of trouble from this young man tonight and Saturday.

Of interest to the large number of fans expected for the series will be the individual scoring race between Brown and Roper, friendly rivals for the good of Tech's cause. Brown has clipped the net for 58 field goals and 26 gratis shots for 142 points, the latter for 62 field goals and 18 free tosses for the same total. Their rivalry for top scoring is the subject of much kidding between them but there is no chance that it will be fup for the Wildcats when these boys start their basket barrages this week-end.

They're Always Dangerous

Gilley, holder of third place in scoring with 30 field goals and 30 free shots for 90 points, has warned the two leaders that he is out for a few honors himself.

Coach Huffman scouted the Wildcats last night against the West Texas Teachers at Canyon.

"The Wildcats are just that on the floor," he commented. "They don't go in for crip shots to any great extent but like to fire at the basket from mid-court. That kind of shooting is difficult to guard against. Once that bunch starts hitting the bucket with those long shots they'll drive somebody crazy, and I'll probably be that guy."

Picadors Play, Too

There will be double headers both nights, the Tech Picadors victorious in their last five starts, entertaining the Shallowater Independents tonight and the Shallowater High school aggregation Saturday night. Both contests will start at 6:45 o'clock.

Coaches Dudley Akin and Bill Amo are tutoring the first year cagers at the college.

Admission to the full night's entertainment both evenings will be 40 cents, provided the prospective spectator doesn't possess a student activity book or season ducat.

POISON OAK IN DECORATIONS

MARTINEZ, Cal. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Richman decorated their home with "pretty leaves" which they had gathered in the hills in honor of a party they were to entertain for a week. Later, the home became a sort of improvised hospital for victims of "poison oak" from the leaves.

Pro Football Not Lacking In Inspiration; After All, The Boys Play For Very Lives

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12 — Being the head of a family and a bread-winner, even though the bread does come in slice by slice, I have never been able to understand why anyone should ever question the spirit of professional football players.

To say that they lack the inspiration of college players is to say that such intangibles as school spirit, the colors, the lift of a song, are more motivating than such realities as rent, groceries, and the thing that insurance man talked you into.

Have A Living To Make

Most of the men playing professional football are men with responsibilities, men with a living to make. They're in the game not to do or die for dear old alma mater, but to do and live for themselves. In the good old college days a touchdown run was worth a rah-rah-rah from the cheering section, a nice write-up in the paper, and a lot of glory on the campus. In professional football the same touchdown is worth security for another year, perhaps, or that kindergarten for the kid, or that weasel choker the wife has been longing for.

My thought along these lines was prompted by a conversation with Steve Owen, coach of the all-star pro team which plays the world champion Green Bay Packers here next Sunday. I mentioned to Steve that lots of people with whom I had talked have asked me whether two pro teams, playing an exhibition game, would care enough about winning to make the game interesting to watch.

No Play For Glory

Mr. Owen practically strangled as he answered me.

"Care enough!" he choked. "Here are a bunch of men playing football for a living, not for a mess of glory. Football is their profession, not their schoolboy hobby, and when they walk on a field and the whistle blows, their reputations are at stake. They can't afford to look bad. If they could afford to, they probably wouldn't be out there playing professional football, and taking a chance of getting up injured."

Money is not the only thing, however, that drives a professional player to give his best at all times.

"When a college boy has enough ability to become a pro player," Owen said, "you must know that he has a tremendous amount of competitive spirit. He wants to win, no matter what he is doing. Even in the friendly games of billiards and snooker and bridge and checkers my boys play around the club during off hours, they almost come to blows when they lose, even though nothing is at stake but their pride. That pride counts for a lot in this game, too. The passers don't want to be out-passed by other passers, and the tackles don't want to be out-tackled by other tackles. In a sense they are in the show business, and each one of them would like to play the leading part. After all, the leading part pays better eventually."

To bear out his contention that professional players lacked nothing in spirit or will to win Owen told me of a half dozen cases where his players had concealed injuries and carried on.

He didn't have to convince me, however. No scourging words of a coach during the half were ever as fearsome or as inspirational as the telephone company calling to say that your service had been discontinued until the bill is paid, or the grocer smiling at you but hiding behind his back the head of cabbage you had picked out.

Razorbacks To Furnish Stiff Test Tonight

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 12.—Intent on ripping the glamour from the Southwest conference basketball race by giving it an early climax, Texas university tonight goes to work on the Arkansas assignment.

Over the business of putting two challengers in their place, Rice institute and Southern Methodist, the Longhorns can just about bull the race if they trip Arkansas twice.

Arkansas Is Tough

Odds on the Texans scoring a double at Fayetteville were decidedly long, however, for Arkansas on its home court has become known as the most perplexing problem in the conference.

Arkansas on any court would be hard enough, for the rangy Razorbacks have a basketball team. Four of last year's starting five are back and the one replacement, O'Neill Adams, is the boy they have been waiting for. Agile, tall and fast, Adams played a fine end on the football team.

Such is Texas' situation. Four of its five starters from the '39 championship team have returned and the fill-in, W. D. Houpt, center, is the key man.

Rice Could Come Back

Meanwhile, Rice institute, rated even-up with Texas until Texas toppled matters by downing the Owls, 50-46, last week, draws a two-game assignment on Friday and Saturday night that could, possibly, put it back on a level with Texas.

No serious trouble is expected when the Owls unpack for a Friday date with Texas Christian at Fort Worth, the same bunch having been handled on a 16-point margin only a week ago, but the problem becomes more difficult when they move on to Dallas Saturday night to play Southern Methodist.

The Methodists took several beatings in pre-schedule games but have looked dangerous in two conference games. They spilled a good Baylor team, 47-44, and then battled Texas all over Gregory gym at Austin before 7,500, finally fading in the closing seconds to lose, 31-24.

Swept Into Lead

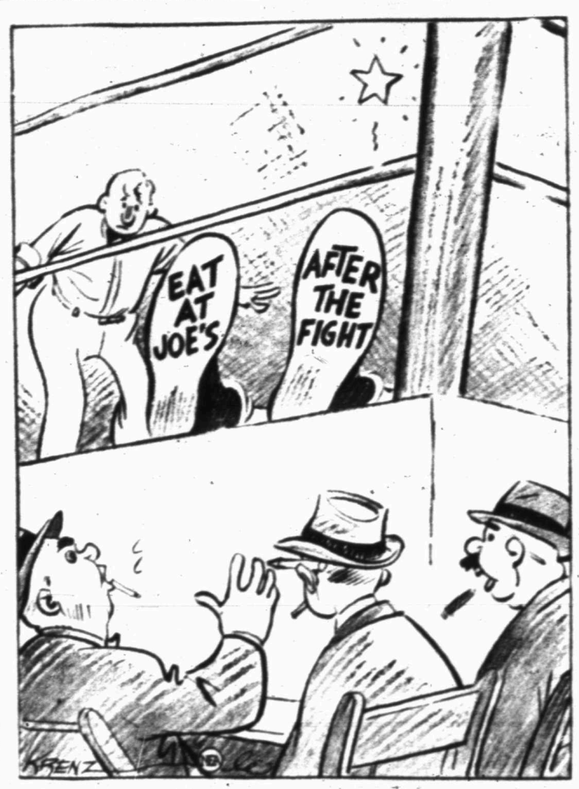

The Mustangs swept into a 12-2 lead before faltering.

Baylor, with its fine bunch of veterans, goes after the Texas Aggies at College Station in the other Saturday night game. The Baylors let Southern Methodist rally in their only conference start after holding the big stick through most of the game.

The Aggies were surprisingly stout in pushing Texas Christian around, 44-31, in their only conference game to date.

CARIBOU IMPORTED

LISCOMBE, N. S. (U.P.)—Herds of caribou once more may roam through the forests of Nova Scotia if an experiment being carried out by provincial authorities is successful. Nine of the animals, with young, have been brought in from Newfoundland and released in the game preserve here.

Texas High School Coaches Gather Today At Athens To Discuss Big Grid Problems

ATHENS, Jan. 12. (AP)—The executive committee of the Texas High School Football Coaches association met here today with a lengthy agenda including:

Selection of the site of this year's football coaching school with Austin apparently the chief bidder.

Selection of instructors for the school with Major Bob Neyland of Rose bowl Tennessee expected to be offered the position of head man.

Selection of 48 high school football stars, who finished their eligibility last season, for the annual North-South game at the coaching school.

A discussion of the Interscholastic league's 18-year age limit which goes into effect next fall. The association has conducted a referendum on this rule and its vote shows two-to-one against it.

The association also polled coaches and superintendents on two other rules which limit the spring practice period to a month and forbid start of fall training before Sept. 1. These rules were met with a favorable vote.

Most of the work will be done tomorrow.

Strange Things Are Going On In Ranks Of The Football Great At Texas Tech; First-Year Lettermen Get The Works

There's no arguing that the football season has stared the dust-gathering stage at Texas Tech as far as conversation is concerned, but there are 18 prospective Red Raider lettermen who continue to have their ups and downs.

Not to waste any words nor action—and the superiors in this case, the old members of the Double-T association now active on the campus, certainly do neither—it's "Hell Week" for first year lettermen at the college and that means anything from a ping pong game on the dean's desk to a date with Suzie Q, be she total stranger or not.

Lasts Through Saturday

Continuing through Saturday night the initiation got under way Sunday night and since then, students and townspeople passing in the vicinity of College avenue and Broadway may often have turned thoughts to some institution as they saw one of their football heroes garbed in a bath robe and spring fedora—and not an educational institution either!

Anything can happen, that is, if it already hasn't!

Bill Brown's once flashy black hair has turned to an auburn shade, while Billy Dodd, blond halfback, is sporting coal black locks. The candidates for admission into the Double T organization have special assignments, such as furnishing members with chewing gum, candy, toting their books from class to class, cleaning up rooms and the like.

Costumes Vary

When called upon for a speech or a song, the pledges must respond immediately—and with a good rendition or they may receive five licks with a well-used paddle. Professors at the college have been very lenient on the students this week and the Double-T initiation seems to be the reason. How can an instructor bear down in class after being greeted with a chorus of "Good morning?"

All of the pledges are smartly attired in dresses, bath robes, rags, army uniforms, tuxedoes, gym suits and apparel of numerous descriptions. Also, makeup, including lipstick, rouge, powder and similar items, has been applied with great care.

The first year lettermen must address each Double-T member with 'Mister' and have not been known to talk back—without a severe seat-warming. Among the pledges are C. L. Storrs, J. B. Gilbert, Charles Dvoracek, Billy Dodd, Bill Brown, Bob Duncan, Glen Lowe, Francis Bingham, Durwood Herring.

Bob O'Connor, Charles Daniel, Tom Douglas, Ty Bain, Cliff Jones, Abner Teague, Clarence Tillery, Jack Wheelis and J. D. Webster. A novelty act is being arranged by the pledges for entertainment between the halves of the basketball games Friday and Saturday nights.

Raiders In Action Ag

By Collier Parris

BASKETBALL TONIGHT, at the Texas Tech gymnasium. The Red Raiders meet the Abilene Christian college Wildcats in the opener of a two-game series.

The main event gets under way at 8 o'clock, or as soon as possible afte. a preliminary skirmish featuring the Tech freshmen and the Shallowater Independents.

The regular admission of 40 cents will admit one to both games.

No basketball wizards are the Red Raiders, but they have developed a game that compares well with any of the well known types of basketball offense. They play interesting basketball, taking their chances, sometimes shooting wildly but nearly always shooting. They don play a careful, waiting game, their object being to get the ball in the vicinity of the backboard as quickly as possible and to shoot at the goal as consistently as possible. They take a lot of shots, and the law of averages takes care of them.

Coach Bugs Morris' ACC team comes here fresh from a double encounter with the towering Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers college. They'll find the Red Raiders some shorter, but probably no less troublesome.

"We have some fine prospects, and we ought to have a good club," Coach Morris was quoted by the Abilene paper on the eve of the Wildcats' departure for West Texas. "This trip ought to do us a lot of good, because we meet two of the finest teams in the section."

The Wildcats are supposed to be quite some shakes in the Texas conference basketball race this season.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES: Difference between a referendum and an "election" is that the referendum doesn't count . . . So the 18-year age limit rule goes into effect, regardless of a two-to-one vote against it . . . Such is democracy in the Interscholastic league . . . Sure glad to get a letter from old John Buck, the former Crosbyton middleweight who is back in the section and ready to enter the Golden Gloves . . . We were wrong about Tommy Coats, the feather champ for two years, being back in Lubbock as a resident and possible tournament entry . . . He has returned to Chicago where he is in a dental school, having visited the Tech campus a day or so during the holidays . . . But maybe six of last year's district champs will re-enter . . . Three have already done so . . .

Sympathies are extended Jess Neely, the former Clemson coach who piloted the Cotton Bowl winner . . . He's the Rice institute coach now, and he's going to wonder if it's really true what they say about the rest of Dixie . . . Selection of Shaughnessy as Stanford's coach lessens the possibility of Homer Norton's departure from A. and M., but chances are he'll be back on the griddle by this time next year . . . A large number of fans, and some players, will still tell you that Waco's placekick for extra point after its second touchdown in the state championship game did not go between the uprights . . . We noticed that Referee Ab Curtis hesitated before calling it good, and fans stationed behind the goal posts on the south end of the field contended the kick was wide . . . Wouldn't that have been a helluva way to lose the state championship? Or either . . .

New Blood To Take Part In Golden Gloves Tilts Here

Someone once said that "variety is the spice" of something or other (copyright), and in the never monotonous business of slinging the leather is there a more gilt-edged statement of fact.

And amateur boxing, it seems, is the only division of the ring profession which apparently realizes and capitalizes upon this spectator-satisfying device.

Entertainment Tops

So, it is with anticipation of "something different" that officials are looking forward to the fourth annual Lubbock Avalanche-Journal District Golden Gloves tournament. Enough of the old veterans will be around to make things interesting for the steady spectator and indications that the entry list will be sprinkled with a goodly number of newcomers, thus assuring new blood that should add no end of action and interest to the affair.

The old-timers, those who are well acquainted with district, and in one or two cases with state GG competition are going to walk to the center of the ring come the nights of Feb. 5 and 6 to stand face to face with many new youngsters, determined aspirants to ring fame who may have a majority of the titles and honors if the "old guard" doesn't spring to the colors more rapidly.

Buck Enters Campaign

Speaking of the "boys who have been around," there is a name added on the list today which should make the hearts of those who crave action with a capital "A" rub their hands with glee. It is that of John Buck of Morton, the former middleweight and light heavyweight champion.

Thursday's postman brought a letter and an entry blank from the former Golden Gloves and A. A. U. titlist, with the promise that contenders in his division might prepare themselves for a little trouble. Buck has been residing and working in California and writes, "I represented an amateur athletic club and fought eight times during the past year, and lost only one fight." He did not, however, make specific reference to the particular division in which he was to participate in the District tournament.

Others Indicate Intentions

It will be remembered that he won the middleweight crown here two seasons ago and forged to the state finals. In 1937, he captured the Southwestern A. A. U. middleweight championship. More than likely he will cast his lot among the light heavies, a division which promises to have more than the usual bit of action and entries this time.

Other entries arriving yesterday were from Harold M. Freeman, a lightweight, of Petersburg; Abe Martin, former heavyweight, now dressed down to light heavyweight proportions, of Floydada; Derward Price, middleweight, of Lubbock, and H. Curtis Beck, one of the first featherweights to enter, from Texas Tech.

Entry List Jumps

Individual entries now stand at 22, and do not include the complete teams promised from Littlefield, Slaton and Tahoka, where boxers are working out daily in preparation for preliminary skirmishes and the district tournament.

Numerous entries are accompanied by inquiries regarding a place where regular workouts, under supervised instruction, are being held. As yet, no official Golden Gloves training room has been available, but the committee is at work now trying to line up a downtown place to be known as Golden Gloves training headquarters.

Gymnasium Is Needed

Any suggestion or offers on the part of persons owning or in charge of a vacant downtown building, basement or other place where a ring may be set up and where other equipment may be temporarily installed for the benefit of fighters trying to get in shape will be deeply appreciated. It is hoped that such a place may be located within the next day or so in order that both local and out-of-town boxers may increase their training exercises.

Several Texas Tech boys are working out daily at the Tech gymnasium, and so far no objection has been voiced regarding the exercising there of non-Tech students.

In the meantime, boxers are urged to send in their entry blanks, clipped from this page, or to write in asking details, and copies of entry blanks at the Sports Department office in the Avalanche-Journal building, and boys who have not received individual registration cards or who have not filled out the blank appearing daily in the Morning Avalanche and Evening Journal are invited to drop by the office and fill out a card.

Tickets for ringside seats will go on sale Saturday at the Hilton Hotel cigar stand, Mark Halsey Drug No. 2 on College Avenue, and Hotel Lubbock Drug.

WATCH THIS LIST GROW!

Arrangements Near Completion For Showing Of Quintuplets

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Mayor LaGuardia said today he understood arrangements had been virtually completed for showing the Dionne quintuplets at the New York World's fair in the 1940 season opening in May.

He said he had learned this from Board Chairman Harvey D. Gibson and that "there remain only a few procedural matters to straighten out."

The mayor said he understood the 5-year-old quintuplets would be here from May 11 to Oct. 25, and that the fair corporation would construct a building, a replica of their Callander, Ont., home.

Under the plan, admission would be charged visitors to an enclosure from where the children could be seen. All proceeds would go to the Canadian Red Cross for war work.

The quintuplets parents have agreed to the exhibition plan.

WELL, the Lubbock "Glammer Boys" coming out party was a big success and the young men who goodnaturedly took a gook joke and carried it on to a hilarious finish are due a lot of applause.

Instead of being upset when their pictures appeared in last Sunday's Avalanche-Journal as 1940's "Li'l Abners," those selected as representative of the city's eligible Leap Year bachelors took it in their stride and made a real affair out of it.

All credit to 'em!

The "glammer boy" story was easily the best natural newspaper feature that has cropped up in Lubbock in years, if not the best of all time.

Folks giggled at the pictures, chuckled over the stories of the "coming out party of the he-debs"—and had something to occupy their minds for a few days besides Congress, taxes, the Finnish-Russian war and the European situation.

All in all, it was very worthwhile.

ALTHOUGH The Plainsman mistakenly got credit for the idea of running the pictures of the eligible bachelors in last Sunday's paper, he doesn't deserve it, at all.

The idea was not the writer's. Instead, it was a product of the fertile brain of C. W. Ratliff, who worked it out, took the pictures and wrote the story to go with the pictures. To Mr. Ratliff goes the credit for giving the newspaper reading pubile, the bachelors and the unattached ladies a great, big break.

As for the idea of the "coming out party," that was conjured up by the young men, themselves. Vernon Herndon, Charles Maedgen, John Shewmake and a few others got the ball rolling and, for your information, the party cost each "Glammer Boy" exactly $1.80.

Not bad for a party which brought pleasure to about 500 persons who attended, not to mention countless thousands who enjoyed reading and talking about it both before and after the event!

* * *

Further than that, the party furnished a background to teach The Plainsman a lesson. It gave Hugh Dunlap a chance to take your humble servant for a great, big ride—and Hugh, who doesn't miss many tricks—took full advantage of the situation. In introducing the "he-debs" before all those hundreds of people, he took fall after fall out of The Plainsman, winding up by referring to this writer as "that daring young man on the flying trapeze—keyboard!"

Well, The Plainsman isn't squawking.

He had a spanking coming from Hugh Dunlap on acct. of his popping off to Hugh that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which Hugh is president and a leading light, is the "gentlemen's auxiliary of the Junior Welfare league!"

You can bet your bottom dollar that there'll be no more wisecracks about the Jaycees and their community uplifting from this corner!

AND here's a secret, as we wind up this comment on the big and grand "Glammer Boy" party:

News services all over the country carried the stories of the affair on both Tuesday and Wednesday preceding the party, and again on Thursday after the affair had been held.

Picture services wired The Avalanche-Journal for pictures to be sent out to newspapers all over the United States, and—

There's a chance that one of the big picture magazines will use some of them within the next few weeks.

If any of 'em do, we'll tip you off so's you can get a copy!

So; to the "Li'l Abners of 1940," a big hand and salute—together with oceans of orchids, without which no debutante can happily exist!

We'll be presenting a new crop, come 1944, which is next Leap Year!

SEVERAL times recently The Plainsman has commented upon the way Amarillo and West Texas, in general, supported the Lubbock Westerners in their triumphant march to the state schoolboy football championship.

It was all very heart-warming, indeed.

But to cap the climax, the Slaton Slatonite, published by our good friend and reformed school teacher, Jimmie Rankin, came out last week with a whole page congratulating the Lubbock team on its fine victory.

"State Champions—Lubbock, 20; Waco, 14."

"As part of the county," wrote Editor Rankin, "and of the South Plains, Slaton is proud to congratulate this Lubbock football team that won the first state championship for the county and the South Plains. We have followed the Westerners through this amazing season and feel that the best team won the whole trip. We are happy to honor the Westerners who have brought so much favorable publicity and attention to this section of the South Plains."

Slaton business people who made the page possible included T. O. Petty, plumber; Berkley and Haddock, grocers; Liles Sheet Metal Works; Alcorn Motor Freight; O. D. Kenney Auto Parts; Garren Grocery; Union Compress; O. E. Bain, grocer and filling station operator; the Texas Company and the Slatonite.

At the top center of the list was none other than the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

Thanks, neighbors, thanks.

Lubbock and the Westerners appreciate your sentiments and your very, very fine gesture of friendliness!

THE PLAINSMAN always has important things to do on Sunday morning, such as getting in a little extra sleep, or reading the funny papers.

Hence, he doesn't get to hear the Hon. Wilbert Lee O'Daniel's regular weekly Circus of the Air.

Therefore, like millions of other Texans, The Plainsman didn't know what the governor said in his last Sunday's broadcast until the Monday afternoon paper came out with the regular weekly report of the didoes.

We were interested to note that the governor gave considerable time on his program to heralding the virtues, values, people and products of the lower Rio Grande Valley and couldn't help but wonder if Mr. O'Daniel planned to break Texas down into sections and give each geographical area a boost on succeeding Sundays.

While of course not a "professional politician," Governor O'Daniel certainly is a good enough politician—or his advisors are—to know that it will never do for him to whoop it up for any one section of the state over all the others. That's not like selling a brand of flour, trademark of which is owned by the salesman.

Therefore, we bespeak for the governor all the facts and figures and all the help available from South Plains chambers of commerce if and when he gets around to giving up some time—and oratory—to this section, the economic backbone of Texas.

How about it, governor? Can you wedge the South Plains in between the second hymn and the third political oration some Sunday?

Women Want Beauty!

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SUSIE LAMBERT—She served waffles and dreamed of being beautiful

DICK TREMAINE—He liked Susie's waffles but he couldn't see Susie.

JEFF BOWMAN—His chief concern was to make Susie as beautiful as she wanted to be.

Yesterday: Susie answers the Harker ad, is chosen among the first five applicants. Then Harker decides to investigate individually.

CHAPTER VIII

It was ten days after Susie read Harker's ad that Jeff Bowman started out to investigate the five homely applicants for Harker's. Jeff was what is commonly called a swell guy. To Edna, his mother, he was the dearest boy in the world. His big frame was loosely hung together, his red hair was none too smoothly brushed. He tried to brush it, but it was that kind of hair. He had nice, healthy skin, sprinkled with a few freckles, and sparkling blue eyes. His eyes laughed, there were little wrinkle fans at the outer corners from laughing. His chin was stubborn, his mouth could be very tender.

Jeff did not go over in a big way with the girls, perhaps because they utterly failed to interest him. His mother said the girls didn't know what they were missing and gave thanks that they did not.

To hasten things Jeff went on his mission by plane. He found a girl in Denver. She was well past 40, precise, dull. He marked her off the list. Two dime store workers, one in Detroit, the other Cleveland, met the same fate.

The fourth applicant was a faded housewife with a none too attentive husband. Jeff did not mark her off the list. She had very little personality. Jeff thought her a weak sister, but he couldn't help thinking how much fun it would be to fix her up and flash the result on her no-account husband.

At last he arrived in Rivertown, the small University city where Miss Susie Lambert dwelt at 1019 Elm street. Jeff hoped Susie was a student. He had a great respect for education and, if the Chief was set on Susie, it would be fine if she weren't too dumb. Going to the old frame house on Elm street he waited for the door to open with pad and pencil in his hand. When the landlady answered his ring he announced that he was taking names for the city directory.

When, among others, she mentioned Susie, he asked, "Is Miss Lambert employed?"

"Yes, she works at the Waffle Shoppe just west of the campus."

Inwardly Jeff groaned. Betaking himself to the Shoppe he straddled a stool and ordered a waffle, meanwhile glancing about.

"Syrup or honey?" he was asked by a waitress.

"Syrup, please."

He heard her say, "Waffle and syrup, Susie," and took a good look.

So that was Susie. Oh, Lordy—Lordy—. Fat, awkward, pasty faced. He noted the negative hair, scowling eyebrows, ridiculous glasses on a crazy little nose, the thin, wide mouth. Susie was terrific. If the Chief wanted homeliness he had his wish—wowie! But the girl could make waffles!

While enjoying one of her masterpieces he saw Susie move ponderously across the floor to the telephone, heard her say, "Is there a letter for me, Mrs. Johnson?" and saw her face fall as she hung up the receiver. As if her face could fall any lower, he thought.

After paying his check he went to the counter beside Susie. "I beg your pardon," he said, "Wonder if you can help me out?"

"I'll try." Her voice was pleasant, extremely pleasant in fact. She raised her eyes questioningly and Jeff gazed into clear gray blankness, then the thick lids fell again.

"Im looking for a family by the name of Lambert," he told her. "Someone sent me to you, said your name was Lambert—." This was Jeff's ruse to observe Susie for his report to John Harker.

"I'm sorry," she said quietly. "My family lives on a farm upstate. The Lamberts here are strangers to me."

"Well — thanks just the same." Jeff went away and Susie looked after him. He'd been friendly. Like Dick. He had looked at her, not through her. Like Dick? There was no one in the world like Dick.

Much of Susie's enthusiasm over becoming attractive had faded in the past two weeks. She'd been a fool to go off the deep end that way. In retrospect she was a little ashamed of her letter. Nevertheless she bought a Chicago paper each day and knew that the model had not yet been chosen. A tiny, quivering hope still lay behind her thoughts.

Jeff went back to the office and reported to John Harker. At last he got around to Susie. He stopped, shaking his head, not knowing how to begin.

"Well—?" Harker gave him a verbal nudge.

"The best I can say is that Susie isn't deformed, that she has a pleasing voice and the average number of features. Maybe you can do something for her but, man, you'll be letting yourself in for something."

"That's what I want," said Harker eagerly. "Tell me about her."

"She weighs a ton, maybe half a ton, her eyebrows come out over her eyes like ragged awnings, her mouth is this wide," Jeff went on, stretching his thumb and small finger. "She has three chins, dust-colored hair and her nose—it's helpless."

John Harker touched a button. "Susie it is," he said. "When we get through with her she'll be Suzanne." His secretary came in. "Take a letter, Miss Griggs. My Dear Miss Lambert—."

Susie received the letter on the following day. As the winner of the contest, she was to report to John Harker at her earliest convenience. She was to make plans for an extended stay. Susie sat down on the top porch step of Mrs. Johnson's rooming house. They had an inclination to buckle. After a while she went to her room and packed a suitcase with her forlorn best. In an old trunk she placed the rest of her belongings. She gave up her room and Mrs. Johnson, upon being asked, consented to store the trunk in the basement.

Taking her suitcase Susie went to the Waffle Shoppe and resigned. The manager, at first irate, finally humbled himself and begged. When this failed he offered Susie an unbelievable increase in salary. Dazedly she stuck to her resolve. She was in a trance, or was it a nightmare? Walking out of the room she had called home for five years, throwing over the best job she'd ever have, it had all the earmarks of a nightmare. And all because some lunatic in Chicago had said he could make her beautiful. Suddenly she shook with hysterical laughter.

Then came reaction. Her mind swung back and forth like a terrified pendulum. Doubts assailed her. When she presented herself to John Harker he would take one look and change his mind. The thought of being observed so critically, being discussed, her bad points, of which there were so very many, talked about, made her cringe.

"I don't care," she said to herself. "I won the contest, didn't I? They

THE GOP'S CASH WARNING

The announcement by Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National committee that his party's deficit has been wiped out should tend to jolt the Democrats out of any over-confidence with which they may have been regarding the 1940 elections.

Republicans and Democrats are very much like owners of race horses. If they regard their horse in a race as being a certain loser, they aren't going to bet on him. When they believe that their party is sure to be defeated in an election, it is hard to jar them loose from cash to help meet campaign expenses. This statement is borne out by the fact that in practically every one-sided national election, the defeated party has emerged from the campaign owing a whopping big debt.

But when the party's chances begin to brighten, purses begin to open. Thousands upon thousands of loyal Republicans — and Democrats — figure to make a rush for the pie counter if their party wins. They aren't going to take the chance of being crowded away from the counter because they may have failed to give evidence of party loyalty by contributing a few dollars to the campaign fund.

Republican purses quite obviously have begun to open. That is sufficient evidence that they, at least, have confidence that their chances of victory are good in the 1940 campaign.

Today's Thought

For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God.—Ecclesiastes 5:7.

Vanity is the quicksand of reason.—George Sand.

PORTRAIT of a Columnist on the Miami Beach Sands: Al Jolson, Ben Bernie, Ben Hecht, Mickey Rooney and other clowns were grouped in front of Roney Plaza cabana 41 yesterday talking shop. . . . Jolson revealed the Big Story of Hollywood—the dismissal of Darryl Zanuck's long-time Man Friday, ex-boxer Fidel LaBarba. . . . Zanuck, it appears, plays polo for relaxation. . . . On the studio lot, no matter how terrible the quarrels over this or that script, he carries a miniature polo mallet and swings at imaginary polo balls . . . Fidel's big job throughout the years was to toss olives in the air while Zanuck tested his skill and aim. . . . And suddenly Fidel was fired . . . The other day Jolson ran into him on the street.

"Gee whiz!" said Al, "what happened?"

"Oh," was the sad reply, "I struck him out."

Bernie, it appears, has a stock crack whenever he misses a putt on the golf course or loses a hand at cards . . . "How do you like that?" he thunders: "And I sold papers when McKinley was shot!" . . . Nobody ever cared about attempting to top the silly comment, until George S. Kaufman got into a card game with him recently . . . After Bernie lost a big pot he groaned: "How do you like that? And I sold papers when McKinley was shot!"

WINCHELL

"Who," drily observed Kaufman, "couldn't?"

Hecht told of the new movie firm that George Jessel was plotting with him . . . And how they went to see an official at the Hudson Trust Bank to promote some coin for it. . . . Jessel explained how simple it was to make a good film—if one had the backing . . . He concluded: "Then we can let you see a finished film for only $200,000."

"I can see one around the corner," barked the banker, "for 50c."

THEY called on Mayor LaGuardia to get him interested in bringing the Hollywood studios to Manhattan, and told the Mayor of their own plans to go into the film producing business . . . The Mayor was interested . . . "How much," he asked, "did it cost to make 'Ninotchka'?"

"That one," said Jessel, "cost $1,200,000."

"Why?" said the unimpressed Mayor, "it has only one parade!"

FDR's Election Year Budget Leaves Congress Holding The Bag; It's A Perfect Curve Ball

BY BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Roosevelt's 1941 budget looks like an extremely smart move in the intricate chess game that has been going on between the executive and the Congress. Whether it is much more than that is an open question — open-and-shut, maybe.

Catton

That the President put over a very fast one indeed, with lots of body English on it, is evident from a simple study of the figures.

First of all, he handed Congress a set of estimates which run about $788,000,000 under those for the present fiscal year. These include big cuts in things which a congressman hates to cut in an election year—money for roads, for various forms of relief for agriculture, for the government payroll generally, and so on. Congress will be under tremendous pressure to go above the estimates, and will almost certainly do so.

Congress' Double Dilemma

But the catch in it—the thing that really makes it a fast one—isn't just the fact that the President would then be able to turn to the country and say, "Well, I tried to reduce expenditures but Congress wouldn't go along." The real sticker is the fact that the law sets the limit to which the federal government's debt may rise at $45,000,000,000.

Listen, now, to the canny way the president figured this one. If the president's budget should be adopted in toto, the total government debt at the end of the next fiscal year would be just $62,000,000 under that legal debt limit of 45 billions.

But if Congress spends more—if it goes only $67,000,000 over his budget—it must, at the same time, vote to raise the debt limit. Which is the one thing above all others that a congressman approaching a re-election fight would truly hate to do.

The president, in other words, gets himself out of a tight corner. He avoids the necessity of having to ask for a raise in the debt limit . . . he hands in a sharply reduced budget . . . and he puts the burden for both things on the shoulders of Congress. If there isn't plenty of back-spin on that one, just try to think of a trickier one.

A Legacy

There's this to think about, too—that third term angle.

Assume that President Roosevelt's budget is adopted. It covers the period from June 30, 1940, to July 1, 1941. The president who is in office next winter—the one who is elected next fall, in other words—is the gent who will have to do the worrying about what is spent after July 1, 1941. And that president will find himself with a public debt that is within whispering distance of the legal debt limit, and with either have to balance the budget or ask Congress to raise the debt limit.

Doesn't that sound very, very much as if Mr. Roosevelt figured that somebody besides himself was going to be president next year?

* * *

Shoots Works On Recovery

Meanwhile, it is worth noticing that the budget is based on hope.

Relief expenditures are cut sharply. This the president frankly admits is based on the hope that the present business upturn will continue. If it does, all well and [illegible] doesn't—if a recession [illegible] even if the curve of [illegible] provement merely levels [illegible] things stay as they are [illegible] money budgeted for work [illegible] for farm aid just won't be [illegible] and supplementary appro[illegible] will have to be asked late [illegible] And if the president does [illegible] must either get back into [illegible] corner by asking for a raise [illegible] debt limit, or get Congress [illegible] new taxes.

Obviously, the president is [illegible] the works on the hope that [illegible] is going to continue to gain.

Koonsman Sifting Fugitives' Clues

Sheriff Johnnie Koonsman of Dickens county was in Lubbock this morning for conferences with law enforcement officials in an attempt to bolster his investigation into a jail break at Dickens early Thursday.

John Norris and Charley Jurecka, each about 35 years old, sawed out of the Dickens county jail where they were being held on grand jury indictments charging passing of a forged instrument. Aspermont wants them for investigation into a similar offense, said Sheriff Koonsman.

The sheriff said he had enlisted aid of officials in other counties and hoped for early developments.

This morning he particularly sought to learn if another automobile had been stolen by the men, who had abandoned a car belonging to Harold Blair of Dickens near Spur.

Sheriff Koonsman in 1936 and 1937 arrested five men who broke his jail on two occasions, two in one and three in another.

Holt And Settle Represent Lubbock At Aviation Meet

A. P. Holt and J. Doyle Settle, chairman and member, respectively, of the city aviation commission, left this morning for Austin to represent Lubbock Saturday at a special aviation meeting called by the Texas league of Municipalities.

Primary purpose of the meeting, it was explained, is to discuss regulatory legislation in Texas for aviation and the possible creation of a state aviation commission. The aviation committee of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has taken an active part in urging such a meeting.

Aviation enthusiasts have been informed, chamber officials here were advised, that the position of Texas would be strengthened in efforts to secure federal allocations for aviation improvements if a state aviation commission existed.

Permit For Office Building Is Issued

Permit for the eight-story office building of Lubbock National company now under construction on Main street east of Texas avenue was issued this morning by Jim Reid, city building inspector.

The amount, as had been announced on previous occasions, was $400,000.

The company was listed as owner and W. S. Moss as general contractor. Sub-contractors shown on the permit application were Newton and company, plumbing, and Jim Pruitt, electrician. Contract for the basement excavation, now nearing completion, is held by Panhandle Construction company.

Pouring of concrete for the foundation of the building has been in progress more than a week, Moss announced. With favorable weather, he estimated, 30 to 40 days will be required for that work, after which the erection of steel will start.

The permit increased the total of new construction authorized this week to $444,964 and during 1940 to $510,095.

Satisfactory Year In Business Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—A prediction that 1940 will be "a satisfactory year" for business came today from Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator.

At a press conference, Jones said he thought "we can look forward to a fairly good year—in fact a very satisfactory year if we are not too greedy."

He explained that his "not too greedy" qualification was merely a warning against expecting too much.

Since the Reconstruction Finance corporation resumed lending in February, 1938, Jones announced, the agency has made 7,147 loans aggregating $1,452,377,368. Of these, 6,089 aggregating $325,209,878 were loans to business.

Banks participated in the business loans to the extent of $373,071,127.

Thibault Will Sing Monday

There are few radio listeners who are not familiar with the baritone voice of Conrad Thibault, featured on important coast-to-coast programs of the National Broadcasting company. He has been heard so often that he has become practically a broadcasting institution. Indeed his popularity has reached the point where his air audiences are demanding to see him in person. So during the season of 1939-40 he will supplement his microphone activities with a concert tour which will bring him to this city Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Senior High school auditorium under auspices of the South Plains Civic Music association.

Thibault is an American, a native of Northbridge, Mass. His earliest vocal experience was in a church choir in Northampton. There Calvin Coolidge heard the boy sing and became interested in him, and through this connection a scholarship was obtained for him at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. He studied there for five years with Emilio de Gogorza and coached operatic acting with Wilhelm von Wymetal. He made his debut with the Philadelphia Grand Opera company and continued singing leading roles with that company for three seasons. During this period he spent the summers studying in Europe.

He was first presented over the air on the regular series of Curtis broadcasts. This brought him a commercial radio contract over WCAU in Philadelphia. It was but a step to the National Broadcasting company networks, over which he has been heard hundreds of times.

Allies Order More Planes

BY DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—In preparation for a long war, Great Britain and France are arranging for the purchase of as many as 12,000 American warplanes in the next two years, authoritative sources said today.

Moreover, with steady shipments of American military planes on contracts signed since the start of hostilities last Sept. 3, the Allies expect to exceed the German production rate by the middle of the coming summer.

Manufacture In Canada

To release American aircraft factories manufacturing for export from large-scale commitments on anything but combat types—particularly bombers and pursuits—the British will make training planes in Canada under United States licenses, it was reliably reported.

The long-range buying program in the United States was described as still being in a "liquid state," though verbal assurance has been given American manufacturers of large additional contracts. In some instances the Allies have underwritten the cost of aircraft plant expansion to assure themselves a continuing supply of machines.

Indicative of a rapid rise in productivity, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce today set at $20,000,000 a month the dollar value of American aircraft and engine production on January 1. The chamber estimated this would be boosted to $50,000,000 by July 1.

Court Reporter At Plainview Resigns To Take Perryton Job

Brents Norman of Plainview, court reporter for the 64th district court and well known to many Lubbock and South Plains attorneys, has resigned to accept a similar post at Jerryton for the 84th district, according to word received here.

Young Norman was appointed by Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview. The district includes Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Castro and Swisher counties. Jim Norman, a brother, who has been a district court reporter for Tarrant county grand juries, succeeds him.

The vast open pit of the Kimberly diamond mines in South Africa is more than 1,000 feet deep.

ROPESVILLE, Jan. 12 (Special)—Principal speaker at the annual parents-son banquet of the Ropesville High school Future Farmers of America chapter Thursday night was A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture at Texas Technological college.

The banquet was conducted in the high school gymnasium.

The program:

Invocation, Rev. W. O. Wilson; opening FFA ceremonies, by the chapter; welcome address, C. W. Turner, president; response, M. M. Collins; address, "Purpose of the FFA," Ray Turner, reporter; Greenhand address, Myles Collins; FFA address, Carroll Bradshaw, vice president; address, "Requirements of the Lone Star farmer," Vernon Keese; introduction of guests, J. Walter Grist, high school vocational agriculture teacher and chapter sponsor; and address, Dean Leidigh.

Home economics girls of the high school prepared and served the meal.

Freight Rate Fight Looms

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission received notice today northern railroads were ready for a fight over the south's recent freight rate victory.

Defendant carriers in the southern governor's rate case, decided largely in the south's favor, filed a petition asking the ICC to postpone for 60 days the effective date of the order.

They told the commission a petition for "re-opening, reconsideration, and re-argument of this entire proceeding" was in preparation.

Although it was not stated in their postponement plea, attorneys for the railroads indicated they would appeal to the federal courts if they failed to get a reconsideration by the commission.

The ICC order, issued six weeks ago, directed rate reductions on about a dozen manufactured articles of southern origin moving to destinations in northeastern, or "official," freight territory. Feburary 1 was set as the effective date.

Items included are the hall for the ceremony, the flowers, music, minister or magistrate, the trousseau, six charmingly dressed bridesmaids, a flower girl, photographer and press releases.

HOW TO REMEMBER . . .

In One Easy Lesson!

The ambition to remember well can be realized by practicing one simple rule.

A well known principle of the psychology of memory is to associate the fact you wish to remember with something you already know. Take the following as an example:

You wish to remember that the Pilgrims landed in America during the year 1620 . . . now associate this fact with THE BAKER COMPANY telephone number which also is 1620. . . . Presto, the job is done . . . it's easy to remember . . . telephone 1620.
