Mrs. Gibbs Glenn Dies Suddenly on Thursday

Mrs. Gibbs Glenn, a member of one of the county's prominent farming and ranching families, died unexpectedly in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday afternoon, June 1. She had entered the hospital on the preceding day.

Mrs. Glenn had been a vital part of this county's life since she came here as a bride in 1908. The former Eva Maude Ryan of Clarendon, she and the late Mr. Glenn were married Nov. 8, 1908 in Clarendon.

She was born Dec. 19, 1885 in Springfield, Mo., the daughter of Wesley and Carey Spear Ryan.

Until only a few years ago she lived a few miles southeast of Wellington, where the Glenn home was known for its hospitality to the family's friends of all ages and walks of life.

Besides her home and her community, Mrs. Glenn's greatest interest was in the Methodist Church of which she became a member early in life.

She was a charter member of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church. Through the years her children were growing up, Mrs. Glenn also was much interested in the schools and the opportunities they offered.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at 3 p.m. at First Methodist Church by the Rev. Ellis Todd. Burial was in the family plot in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Louis Allred, V. H. Breedlove, Lloyd Wooldridge, J. B. Killian, Velman Warrick, Jones Singley, Henry Sullivan and Paul Bell.

Mrs. Glenn is survived by four daughters and two sons: Mrs. J. C. Hunsaker and Mrs. Russell Horsman of Lubbock; Mrs. Marvin Petty of Benecia, Calif.; Mrs. Loren Thompson and Barney Glenn of Wellington, and Eugene Glenn of Nashua, Mont.

Other survivors are a brother, Earl Ryan of Clarendon; and four shisters: Mrs. Hershel Richards of Amarillo; Mrs. Rube Jones of Plainview; Mrs. May Loftland of Lubbock and Mrs. Kate Johnson of Dallas.

There are 17 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

State Guard Unit Checked

Inspection of the Wellington State Guard, unit of the State Guard of Texas, was held on Tuesday, May 31, by Col. D. E. Kownsler of the Adjutant General's office.

This unit has been inactive for several years, but activity will be resumed and an effort will be made to increase the membership, said Capt. Jimmy Cochran, commander.

The unit is made up of men who have completed their military service, most of them World War II veterans, Mr. Cochran explained.

This is a military organization on the state level, but not subject to call for active duty, it was explained. The primary duty of any state guard is to take over state equipment should the National Guard be called for active duty or it has the powers to act in case of emergency.

At present, the Wellington unit is made up of Capt. Cochran, members of the City Council, Sheriff John Rainey and Police Chief Donald Nunnelley.

All other men interested in membership may contact one of these.

Group Attends ASCS Meeting

Millard Brown, Mrs. Dick Richards, Mrs. Tom Wilkins and Mrs. Guy Owens were in Amarillo Tuesday, June 6 to attend a meeting at the Herring Hotel.

This meeting on automation was set up by the state office to acquaint ASC personnel with the new machines used in payments on current government programs.

COLLINGSWORTH WHEAT HARVEST

The harvesting of Collingsworth County's Wheat harvest went into full swing as soon as fields were dried enough this week for combines to go into. This field belongs to L. C. Hill and is located in the Arlie Community. It is being cut this week by D. C. Lacy and his sons, Don Lacy and Denzil Lacy. Some dry land wheat in this area, as well as around Wellington, is cutting around 30 bushels per acre.

Plans Ready for June 8 Hopper Meet

Plans are complete for the grasshopper control meeting set for Thursday morning, June 8 at 8 a.m. in the Farm Bureau Building, county agent Sammy Helmers reminded.

Jack Moreman will be in charge of the meeting.

An organization will be set up and ready to go if control measures become necessary, it was explained. The high grasshopper count at present indicates this may be needed, and Mr. Helmers explained that when spraying becomes necessary, there is seldom time to get an organization going.

Forest Preston of the USDA Plant Pest Control Division will explain the cost-share program of grasshopper control by which the USDA, the state and the farm owner or operator share in the cost of the aerial spraying.

Critical areas in the county are along the west side, in the northeast and southeast corners.

Texas Tourist Billboard Due

The tourist development program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is emphasized by a billboard program. As a part of this project large three-color billboards have been posted at 100 locations throughout West Texas.

Local residents can see one of these attractive boards on Highway 83 North.

Space for the local signs was donated as a public service by Pan-Tex Outdoor Advertising, Pampa.

Featured on the billboards are the number of lakes, State and National Parks, historical markers, museums and mountain ranges. These are items to which tourists are most attracted, according to tourism authorities.

This is the second phase of the extension tourist development program of the WTCC. The first phase was the new magazine, "This Is West Texas," which emphasizes the tourist attractions in the area.

16 Band Members Competing at State

Sixteen of Wellington's finest teen-age musicians are representing their high school in Austin this week as they participate in the Texas Interscholastic League Band contests.

They are in both solo and ensemble competition.

With them is Wellington High School Band Director James Larson.

Soloists are Brenda Bobo, clarinet, with Regina Ferguson as accompanist; David Groves, cornet, with Regina as accompanist; and Jamie Larson, trombine, with Elaine Karnes as accompanist.

Members of the clarinet quartet are Jan Bowen, Patti Lacy, Cheryl Needham and Debbie Lewis; flute quartet, Jane Thompson, Carey Lewis, Adelle Burquist and Cathy Singley; cornet quartet, Dwight Bowen, David Groves, Kathy Tyler and Bobby McAlister.

Accompanying them are Mrs. Claude Groves and Mrs. Bob McAlister.

"This is a competition for winners only," Mr. Larson pointed out. Every boy and girl participating will have won a first division rating playing a Class I number in the regional contests.

Competition on the state level is even tougher. Only about five percent of all those competing will make a division one rating.

So far, Wellington High School has never had a Division One, the band director said.

Never has the school sent so large a representation as to the 1967 contests.

After the contests have been finished, the Wellington group will visit some of the major points of interest in Austin.

The musicians and their sponsors left Sunday, traveling in a school bus, and will return Wednesday.

Dodson Legion Installs 1967-68 Officers Tuesday

The Dodson American Legion Post installed officers for the 1967-68 year Tuesday evening, June 6, in the Dodson park.

Bill Brady of Claude, 18th District vice commander, was the installing officer.

The present slate of officers was re-elected, and these include Dennis Holland, commander; J. D. Luck, vice commander; Gene Tucker, adjutant; Garland Hightower, chaplain; Truett Holland, historian; and B. B. Martin, sergeant at arms.

This is the third year these officers have served.

A hot dog and chili supper was held in connection with the installation.

Mrs. Ingram in Hospital

Mrs. John Ingram is a patient in Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, for observation and tests.

After being a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital here for several days, she was transferred to Amarillo Saturday. It is not known when she will be able to return home.

Becky Brewer in Miss Childress Contest June 10

Becky Brewer, a former Miss Wellington, will represent the town in the Miss Childress contest Saturday, June 10. This is the first step toward Miss America competition.

The Wellington Jaycees are sponsoring Miss Brewer's entry, just as Childress Jaycees are sponsoring the contest in their city. (Wellington is located in the Childress District, Don Lacy, chairman of the committee in charge, explained.)

Ten young women will compete at Childress, including the representatives of Wellington, Estelline and Quanah. The others are Childress entries.

The contest will be held at 8 p.m. in the Childress Auditorium, and tickets are available here from the Jaycee members.

The winner of the Miss Childress contest will compete in the Miss Texas contest later this summer.

Audrey Brown of Amarillo will be the caller.

Work Starts Monday on Improvement of US 83

Construction on the widening of US Highway 83 from Wellington south to the Childress County line will begin Monday, June 12, it was announced this week by Orville Coyle, senior resident engineer with the Texas Highway Department, who will be the engineer for this project.

Cooper and Woodruff of Amarillo has the contract.

Mr. Coyle said that there will be a number of jobs open for the widening project, and men interested in working should contact the contractor at his headquarters at the highway Monday.

He stressed that high school and college boys can be used.

It is expected that about five months will be required to finish the project, the engineer said.

The widening project calls for a 26-foot traveling surface and an 8-foot paved shoulder on each side. This would give an overall 42-foot paved surface available if needed. This will be the same width as US 83 through Childress County.

Traffic will be handled through the construction but at a reduced speed, unless unforeseen weather conditions prevail, Mr. Coyle said.

Several hills — four or five, the engineer estimates — will be cut down to increase sight distance on the seven and one-half mile highway stretch, he added.

At these points, it will be necessary to take up the existing pavement and lay a completely new road.

Seventeen culverts will be widened.

The contract calls for grade construction, base and double asphalt topping. This will include a new top on the existing road.

Mr. Coyle said that besides the US 83 project, there are a number of highway improvement projects under way or due to begin in both Wheeler and Childress counties for men seeking permanent employment.

There has been no indication from the Texas Highway Department as to when US 83 from Wellington north to the Wheeler County line will be widened.

Improvement of US 83 has been under way several years. It enters Texas at Perryton on the north and extends the entire distance of the state to Brownsville, and connects with the Pan American Highway at Laredo.

An inter-continental route, Highway 83, enters Canada at Minot, N.D., and part of the Canadian project is its extension to Hudsons Bay. Altogether, it is considered one of the major highways through the heart of the United States.

At 4-H Roundup

June Popwell Competes in State Food Show

June Popwell is participating in the state food show at the Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University this week.

June won the district contest in the meat division, the category in which she is competing.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Popwell. Accompanying her to College Station was Miss Leta Kees, the county home demonstration agent.

Her entry in the state contest is Texas Hash.

A former Miss America will brighten the 4-H Roundup activities Wednesday as Miss Marilyn VanDerbur joins statewide youngsters at A&M.

The 1958 wearer of the Miss America crown arrived Wednesday, will appear at several 4-H Roundup functions, and leave Thursday. The 4-H activities began Tuesday.

Miss VanDerbur, who was graduated from the University of Colorado with Phi Beta Kappa honors, is a frequent television personality and toastmistress. She also has been television hostess of the Miss America Pageant for five consecutive years and more recently has been hostess of the Miss Teenage America Pageant. Miss VanDerbur, in great demand as a keynote speaker, is the only woman presently a guest lecturer for General Motors.

During the past few years, she has spoken to thousands of groups as diversified as the American Mining Congress and the National Youthpower Congress. She has addressed the Ohio 4-H Congress four years.

Wellington Woman Sees Family After 41 Years

A Wellington woman, separated from her parents 41 years ago, has returned from a visit to New York where she met a sister and brother she had never seen.

She is Mrs. J. V. Emmert. With her was another sister, Mrs. E. C. Wilson of Santa Clara, Calif. Completing the group which made the trip by car, were Mrs. Emmert's daughter, Lena, 14, Mr. Wilson and his mother, Mrs. Minnie Wilson.

"Forty-one years from the day we left, and in the same place that we left from, I met my brother and sister for the first time, Mrs. Emmert said.

They are Mrs. Peter Vander Molen of Seneca Castle and Charles Rouse of Candauga, N.Y. Their parents are dead.

"It was such a wonderful trip, I'll never have another one like it," the Wellington woman declares.

Mrs. Emmert was only five years old when because of circumstances they could not control, the parents and their three children were separated.

They became a part of a group of 12 young children sent into this area for adoption. Mrs. Wilson, Marie, was 10; their brother, three.

Mrs. Emmert became the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forbis of the Fresno community and grew up as Mabel Forbis. Marie remained here two years, then went to live with a family in East Texas, where she grew up.

Mrs. Emmert said their brother is Russell Moore, now of Childress.

She is the only one of the group of children who has remained in Collingsworth County.

"I've never been away from here longer than two weeks at a time," she declared.

But there is more to her new family than a brother and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Vander Molen have two sons and two daughters, while Mr. and Mrs. Rouse have five daughters.

It was the effort of the East Texas couple who reared Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Hargrove, that the sisters learned something of their family in New York and the younger brother and sister, born three and seven years after they had left there.

Mrs. Emmert and Charles Rouse, now 34, corresponded while he was in the army in Korea, where he was wounded. He now operates a dairy farm.

There was little time during the week except for getting acquainted and visiting. They visited the graves of their parents at West Bloomfield, N. Y.., near where the brother and sister still live.

Only five years old when she left New York, Mrs. Emmert has only a few memories of her early home. She remembers her father slightly. She remembers a horse, Topsy, the

Guardsmen Begin Two Weeks Training Sunday

DALLAS.—Over 5,200 National Guardsmen from 70 Texas cities and towns shucked their civilian clothing for Army fatigues and high-top boots June 4 for the 49th Armored Division's annual field training.

Among them are the 27 men and three officers who make up Wellington's Battery A. They left the armory here at noon Saturday, under the command of Capt. Jim Chappell.

The state's "Lone Star" division will spend two weeks at North Fort Hood, although another 2,100 will be either on six months active duty for training with the Army or supporting other activities.

A round-the-clock schedule and a new commander, Brig. Gen. James D. Scott, greeted the men. Scott took command of the 49th June 1, succeeding retiring commander, Maj. Gen. Luther E. Orrick.

Some phase of training will be going on every hour of the day and night for the veteran reservists, who will devote their time to combat exercises. During the first week the 49th is split, with some units heading into the wooded areas, sometimes going as far as 40 miles from the main cantonment area.

The tankers and infantrymen combine into task forces for realistic live-fire training tests. Other highlights are ferrying of large groups aboard hastily made rafts across streams. This is in preparation for the time when the 49th might be called on to make river crossings under combat conditions.

Advance units began to hit the highways Thursday and Friday prior to the actual start of camp; but Sunday was Due-Day for the division in which some 1,500 jeeps, trucks and military transports moved onto the highways in convoy from all corners of Texas.

As always, a mid-camp mounted review will be held, with members parading before military and civilian dignitaries and hundreds of visitors—mostly families of the Guardsmen.

On Sunday, June 18, the division will return to its home stations.

SPECIAL SESSION

Legislators knew their job was little more than half finished when they adjourned at midnight May 29.

Governor John Connally cheerfully reminded them that he would "see them in the fall or next year," meaning that that is when the 1969 budget and a balancing tax bill must be written.

Later Connally told reporters that it is highly unlikely he will call the special finance session before next year. He hinted that next year's tax bill may be less than the predicted $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 and he does not intend to recommend an increase in the general sales tax rate.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court reversed a 43-year-old rule requiring a property owner to warn employees of a sub-contractor of hidden dangers on the property. Case involved a Nueces County welder injured in an accident. Court said injured worker's own employer and foreman should have warned him of threats to his safety.

In another case, the Supreme Court upheld a decision of the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals that questions of usury and unreasonable collection methods should be considered together. Case dealt with a $42-a-week yardman's suit against Pacific Finance Loans and Bond Finance Company.

Ward County District Court judgment that salinity content of water furnished by a water district caused $16,344 worth of damage to a milo maize crop also was sustained by the higher court.

FUNDS FOR AGING

A $140,774 program to develop community programs of district service to the aged in Lubbock, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Mercedes and San Antonio have been approved by the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Contracts went to Texas Tech College, Lubbock ($3,786); Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Advisory Council, Inc. ($50,122); Tarrant County Community Council ($27,000); Hidalgo County Committee on Aging, ($14,946); and Senior Community Services, Inc., San Antonio ($44,920).

AIRPORT FUNDS

The Legislature appropriated $475,000 for building and improving small town airports. Big Bend National Park will get $150,000 plus federal aid for new airport; Lake Whitney State Park, $40,000, and $25,000 will go to aviation research at a higher education institution.

Texas Aeronautics Commission Director Charles Murphy estimates that 40 percent of these applicants for state aid will share in available funds:

Abernathy, Aransas Pass, Atlanta, Bay City, Brady, Bryan, Brownwood, Canton, Center, Cleveland, College Station, Dimmitt, Daingerfield, Dublin, Eagle Pass, Edinburg, Ennis, Fairfield-Teague, Follett, Giddings, Georgetown, Gilmer, Granbury, Graham, Hamilton, Gregg County, Harlingen, Hillsboro, Hempstead, Honey Grove, Karnes County, Kerrville, Knox City, La Porte, Levelland, Littlefield, Livingston, Llano and Lockhart.

Also Madisonville, McGregor, Marlin, Miami, Morton, Mt. Vernon, Navasota, Overton, Paducah, Pecos, Port aMnsfield, Ranger, Rockwall, San Benito, Schulenburg, Sherman, Silsbee, Slaton Smithville, Stamford, Stanton, Sulphur Springs, Tahoka, Temple, Vega, WELLINGTON, West Columbia, Weslaco, Wharton County, and Wills Point.

INTERIM COMMITTEE

A record-breaking list of interim committees, some 70 in all, have been appointed to serve until the next special or regular session of the Legislature begins.

Committees will deal with about everything the Legislature considered during its recent session. In fact, there are more interim committees than there were standing committees during the 60th session. Total then was 44 in the House and 24 in the Senate.

Among the special committees are those dealing with state and local tax policy, law enforcement and crime prevention, State Constitution, general investigating, slum problems and clearance, causes of poverty, renovation and maintenance of Governor's mansion, parking problem around the state capitol, state college faculty pay and benefits and unessential government expenses.

Others relate to the importation and grading of eggs, prices for fruits and vegetables, industrial entertainment promotion, safety regulations for school buses and home improvements contracting.

Also selection of a state poet laureate, and return of the Alamo flag from Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Terry attended the Bankers Convention in Amarillo Friday and Saturday and went from there to Kermit to visit their son, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Claude Terry and family. Their grandson Mark came home with them to spend a few weeks.

Senior Citizens

Senior citizens of the county held their spotlight recently and the climax was a tea in their honor, sponsored by the Home Demonstration Club Council. Among the nominees for Senior Citizen of the year are the group at top. From left they are Mrs. J. G. Gardner, Mrs. R. W. Brantley, Mrs. W. W. Sugg, Mrs. John Henard, and second from right, R. J. Holland. Serving them were Mrs. Truitt Holland, third from right, and Mrs. Don Manuel, right.

At center are a group of the women honored. At back, from left, are Mrs. Fannie Moore, Mrs. S. B. Jackson, Mrs. W. A. Morrow, Mrs. J. L. Hays, and Mrs. W. M. Laycock. Seated, from left, are Mrs. M. I. Wilks, Mrs. W. M. Horton, Mrs. Obie White, Mrs. Roy Young, Mrs. J. A. Killian and Mrs. T. J. Bowling.

Below, left, Mrs. R. H. Isbell, county librarian, received the honor of Senior Citizen of the Year from Mrs. Cecil Masten, THDA chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Duncan and son of Amarillo came Saturday to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Duncan. Herbie is a member of the National Guard here and left Saturday afternoon with the Guard unit for two weeks training at Fort Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Atkinson of Ontario, Calif. were here several days of last week visiting relatives and friends. They were en route home after attending the funeral of her mother at Lawton, Okla.

Texas Traffic Accident Cost at All-Time High

Texas 1966 traffic cost soars to an all-time high. There were 524,972 traffic accidents, an increase of 53,984 over 1965. There was a record of 3,406 human lives lost in traffic accidents, an increase of 378 over 1965. Another 208,310 were sent to doctors and hospitals, an increase of 22,248 over 1965, some of these injured being maimed for life.

Some 890,000 automobiles were damaged or demolished. The economic loss came to an astounding figure of $557,414,000—an increase of $59,327,000 over 1965.

Collingsworth County's contribution to the 1966 Texas traffic cost was two killed, seven injured, and an estimated property damage of $14,775.

If the 3,406 dead traffic victims were stacked in a pile, the dimensions would be about 3.7 miles in length, or 1.1 miles in width, or half of a mile in height. The dimensions of the some 890,000 damaged or demolished vehicles would be about 2,907 miles in length, or 1,113 miles in width, or 852 miles in height. The dimensions for the 208,310 injured would be about 227 miles in length, or 66 miles in width, or 33 miles in height.

Now for a descriptive look at the $557,414,000 estimated economic cost of the traffic accidents. The playing area of a football field measures 300 feet by 160 feet, or 48,000 square feet. United States currency measures about 2⅝ inches by 6⅛ inches. If a football field were completely covered with $1 bills, then a layer of $2 bills, then a layer of $5 bills, then a layer of $10 bills, then a layer of $20 bills, then a layer of $50 bills, then a layer of $100 bills, then a layer of $500 bills AND on top of these eight layers of paper money dump 8,806 tons of silver dollars, this would represent the economic loss in Texas for the year 1966.

The $557,414,000 estimated loss would have bought 10,000 homes at $20,000 each; 10,000 refrigerators at $400 each; 10,000 cooking ranges at $350 each; 10,000 dishwashers at $300 each; 10,000 automobiles at $3,000 each; 10,000 central air conditioning units at $1,400 each, and furnished the head of each of the 10,000 households with a bank account of $29,941.

If the problem is serious today, what about tomorrow? The state will continue to grow. The population will increase, which means more drivers and automobiles and more miles driven. If the present problem continues, in Texas by 1975 there will be 1,000,000 traffic accidents resulting in 7,000 persons killed, 500,000 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of over $1,000,000,000.

Janet Judd Owens, Dwight McKay Marry in Amarillo Ceremony May 27

Janet Judd Owens became the bride of Lonnie Dwight McKay at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, May 2, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orphus Lee Judd, 109 Ramada Trail in Amarillo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon McKay of Quitaque.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. O. Garner of Grace Baptist Church before the fireplace decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a yellow satin sheath with a white lace overskirt pleated from the shoulders. Her accessories were white, and a yellow veil was her headpiece. Her corsage was of yellow baby roses.

Miss Devorah McKay, sister of the bridegroom was the maid of honor and Regie Lee Judd, brother of the bride, was best man. Bryan and Monty Owens were the ring bearers.

After the ceremony, wedding cake and punch were served in the dining room by Mrs. Milton Brown and Mrs. Eldon Martin. Approximately 25 guests attended.

After a short wedding trip in New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home in Amarillo where both are employed at K-Mart Food.

Plan August Wedding

Miss Mary Iletha Graham and her fiance, James Bradley Earp of Munday, have chosen August 13 as the date for their wedding in Wellington. Announcement of the engagement was made this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Monroe Graham of Welligton. The parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perry Earp of Munday.

The wedding will take place at four o'clock in the afternoon in the First Baptist Church by Dr. Russell Ware, associate director of the Baptist Student Union at North Texas State University, Denton, Texas.

Miss Graham, a graduate of Wellington high school, received a bachelor of science degree in home economics from NTSU this month.

Her fiance, who received the bachelor of arts degree from NTSU, taught the last semester in Bridgeport high school. He is a former youth director of First Baptist Church in Denton.

Clothing Workshop For All Women of County Planned on June 15

The many women in Collingsworth County who make their own clothes can learn some of the latest techniques from a clothing specialist.

A county-wide meeting for all interested homemakers will be held Thursday, June 15 at 2 p.m. in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc., meeting room.

The program will be given by Mrs. Martha Schmidt, representative of a leading national interfacing-interlining company. Mrs. Schmidt has given programs throughout the Panhandle.

She will demonstrate the latest construction technique, followed by an exhibit of the use of interfacings and interlinings.

"Even if you are not an accomplished seamstress, you will be interested in attending this program," said Miss Leta Kees, home demonstration agent.

"We are fortunate to have a woman such as Mrs. Schmidt scheduled for a program in our county."

New Artificial Sweetener

As people attempt to become slimmer, sales figures for low-calorie foods fatten. The combined sales of low calorie foods and soft drinks have increased ten-fold in the last five years. Latest breakthrough for the calorie counters is a new product that looks and tastes like sugar, but contains only about one-sixth the calories. It is now being test-marketed. This product can be used from the sugar bowl to sweeten beverages, cereals, fruits and reportedly has the same sweetness as sugar.

The density of the new sweetener is not identical to sugar, and this means that the manufacturer is having to specially adapt some recipes.

About half of the commercial production of synthetic sweeteners goes into low-calorie soft drinks, dry base beverages (popular with children and sold in a variety of flavors and bright colors), and canned fruit. Salad dressings, dietetic jellies and jams, pastries, breads, ice cream, candies, and a number of other foods are sometimes prepared with synthetic sweeteners.

Sales promotion of artificial sweeteners have been geared to and accepted by many hopeful dieters. However, evidence makes it clear that synthetics alone can't take off unwanted pounds. Coupled with good eating habit, they can be helpful.

Malimo

Make your next dress out of Malimo. No, it's not a new fake fur or an exotic bird foliage. Malimo is a fabric that is genuinely new in the eyes of the consumer.

Malimo is the trade name of the fabric construction which produces a new breed of fabric—neither woven nor knit, nor what is commonly considered non-woven.

As in woven fabrics, two layers of yarn are normally used to make Malimo cloth. A sheet of warp, or lengthwise yarns, and a sheet of filling, or crosswise yarns, are used. But rather than being woven together, the two layers are placed one on top of the other and passed beneath a needle bar. The needle bar contains hundreds of needles which simply stitch or sew the two layers together. Variations of the Malimo machine can also make pile or terry-like cloth.

The speed of the Malimo machine is so great that it has been estimated that three of these machines can replace 90 conventional looms with respect to the number of yards of fabric produced. Malimo fabrics may provide a real cost saving to consumers. In general, Malimo fabrics have good launderability, stretch and wrinkle resistance. There are no limitations on the fiber content of Malimo fabrics. Watch your fabric shops for this new fabric.

Home Economics Briefs

• Take precautions when washing fiberglass curtains in the washer. Articles washed next in the machine will pick up the glass particles left behind from the fiberglass fabric. The particles are so tiny they can't be removed. When the articles come in contact with skin, the small glass fragments will work into the skin and are impossible to be located even by a doctor.

• Set a television tray beside the hostess' place at the table to hold rolls and relishes to pass during the meal. You can also use the tray when serving coffee or dessert.

• Select plain or small-patterned wallpaper for small rooms. If you like large-scale patterns, use them in the big rooms. It will seem to fill empty space and give a furnished look. Put a small over-all pattern on walls and ceiling of rooms with gable windows and slanting walls. Widen long, narrow rooms by covering the long walls with plain paper, and the end walls with patterned paper. Raise a low ceiling with light ceiling paper or by using striped paper on the walls.

• To pack shoe polish for travel, wrap in plastic or enclose in a small plastic bag. Be sure the cap is tight. Heat and pressure can cause leaking of even the tightest packages.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Thompson and Tommy of Midland were week end guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood.

Mrs. Ruth Aaron of Canyon was here part of last week visiting with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Forrester of Portales, N. M. were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eron Forbis and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brisbin.

DON'T BE LURED

Many bait manufacturers try to attract fishermen to their wares by cheaply imitatinig the appearance and action of higher-priced lures. Don't be conned into buying cheap imitations. You'll likely find their action and durability far inferior to the better lures.

4-H Girls Learn "Handmade" Look

There is a big difference in clothes that have the "handmade" rather than the "homemade" look. And it is the distinctive "handmade" look that 4-H girls can perfect when they make their own mlothes, say 4-H clothing leaders.

The national 4-H Clothing program annually enrolls about three-quarter million girls from 9 to 19 years of age. Many mothers of today's members learned to sew when they were enrolled in this program now in its 27th year.

What is so special about the clothing program? First of all, it is flexible enough so even a 9-year-old miss can learn to operate a sewing machine and make things like a poncho or head scarf. Twelve-year-olds make skirts, blouses and straight line dresses.

Teenage girls who stay with the project wind up making the most important clothes in their wardrobe, such as suits, coats, party dresses, sports attire and basic outfits for school.

But there is much more to the clothing program than cutting out a garment and running it up on the machine, extension clothing specialists point out. The young seamstresses study design, color, fabrics and finishes. They learn how to use time, energy and money wisely in planning and making their own clothes.

By participating in the clothing program over a period of years, the 4-H girl has an opportunity not only to have a fine wardrobe at low cost, but also to compete for valuable awards provided by the program sponsor, Coats & Clark, Inc.

This year six of the nation's most outstanding clothing members will receive $500 acholarships. Fifty — one from each state — will win all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Several thousand will earn the county medal.

The same awards are offered to 4-H girls in Puerto Rico. All winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the 4-H programs.

Mrs. Holton Hosts Coffee

Mrs. John Holton was hostess at a coffee Tuesday, May 20, for women who were hostesses at a bridal shower given Mrs. Holton's daughter, Miss Joyce Holton.

A centerpiece of roses accented the serving table and guests were served from a silver coffee service.

Each one attending was presented a gift from Miss Holton.

Calling from four to six were Mrs. Henry Sullivan, Mrs. R. L. Mabery, Mrs. Emory Hunter, Mrs. Elvis Crawley, Mrs. Wayne Cudd, Mrs. J. M. Orr, Mrs. Barney Glenn, and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin. The latter is the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Richard Mauldin.

Out of Town Guests Honored

Mrs. Sandy K. Parsons, Jr. was hostess at a patio party Wednesday evening for several out of town residents visiting members of her family.

These included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams and son, Robbie, of Tulia, and Mrs. A. E. Dillon of Allison.

Others present were Mrs. Claude McMillin and Mr. and Mrs. Parsons.

A&M Research Tests Fire for Bruch Control

COLLEGE STATION. — Researchers at Texas A&M University are studying fire as a brush control method.

Fire probably played an important part in maintaining the grass lands before white men came, says Dr. Jim Dodd, A&M plant ecologist who is heading up the project.

Right now, he is trying to learn how long a certain temperature is needed to kill brush and trees 4 inches in diameter and under.

He is using a gas burner and burning trees at three temperatures: 500, 600 and 800 degrees F.; and three time durations: 30, 60 and 90 seconds.

Dodd says a head fire, one that has the wind behind it, may have a maximum heat intensity of over 1,000 degrees for less than 1 to about 20 seconds. A back fire, one burning into the wind, will have a maximum temperature of about 800 degrees for up to 2 minutes, he says.

As soon as the A&M researchers find out what temperatures and durations it takes to kill various species of brush and trees, they plan to use that information, combined with the weather factors, to determine if burning would be effective on any given day.

Dodd says he plans to do burning on test ranges this fall and winter.

He says brushland burned off in late fall or early winter will actually come back into grass earlier in the spring than land not burned. The reason for this, he explains, is the fire blackens the soil so that it absorbs the sun rays and heats up the soil faster, which speeds germination and regrowth. Of course, burning removes the canopy of foliage and allows the full amount of sunlight to come through, he adds.

Ag Chemicals Used to Fight Hunger, Disease

COLLEGE STATION.— Agricultural chemicals are being used to wage a two-pronged attack on the two oldest enemies of man—hunger and disease.

Dr. Jack Price, leader for the agricultural chemicals program, Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service, says that armed with the weapons provided by the agricultural chemical industry, research institutes and government agencies, the United States has provided its citizens with the benefits of an agricultural economy that offers them the highest quality foods at a most reasonable cost.

Because of the efforts and cooperation among the nation's farmers, the governmental agencies improving and regulating agricultural products and the chemical manufacturing companies, the 190 million plus population of the U.S. is well-fed, says Price.

Within the borders of the United States, hunger is being held in check, but in the rest of the world, it is another story, Price notes. According to the World Health Organization estimates, two-thirds of all the people in the world go to bed hungry every night, and about 10,000 die every day from starvation and malnutrition.

The agricultural and chemical industry must meet this challenge of hunger, says Price.

Outstanding among the products developed by the industry are the pesticides. Over five million people in the world owe their lives to the pesticides developed by the agricultural chemists since 1942, according to the U.S. Public Health Service. This is the number of people who have been saved from malaria and encephalitis by the use of chemicals to control insects which carry these disease, says Price.

Pesticides have freed hundreds of millions of the world's population from such insect-borne disease as malaria, typhus, yellow fever, cholera, trachoma and encephalitis.

Eight of the 10 largest cities in the country lost population between 1950 and 1960.

Auto Thieves Think Small

DALLAS, - - An auto theft ring, whose leaders took the television commercial, "Think Small," too seriously, has been broken up by agents of the Southwestern Division, National Automobile Theft Bureau with the cooperation of Fort Worth, Texas, authorities who also watch television.

Taking to heart the advertisements extolling the virtues of the interchangeability of parts, the thieves bought, for a few dollars, cars whose bottleshaped bodies had been badly damaged. Then new cars were then sold to unsuspecting customers. The remaining parts from the stolen vehicles were then either sold singly, or used by the ring for replacement parts.

Many of the "left over" parts from the stolen vehicles found their way into the commercial used parts trade. The remaining damaged bodies would then be sold for junk.

Mr. C. C. Benson, manager, NATB office in Dallas, said the break in the case came as the result of a report to his office of the purchase of a badly damaged, late model which had been listed as fit ouly for scrap salvage.

Showing more courage than discretion, the thieves stole a car from a judge in Waco, Texas. The body of the car was identified and recovered recently when the judge and his son viewed it in Ft. Worth. At the present time a total of nine of the small, compact cars stolen by the ring have been recovered. The value of the recovered cars has been estimated at $14,000.

Mr. Benson expects additional cars can be recovered as there are numerous reports of stolen vehicles of this particular make which are still "open" in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. The investigation of the ring's operations is continuing. Criminal charges have been filed against persons involved in the ring's operations in Tarrant and McLennan counties in Texas. A warrant has been issued for a suspect in the case still at large.

The object lesson to be learned from this case, Mr. Benson points out, is quite simple, "Lock Your Car."

Collingsworth Youth Broadens Its Horizons This Summer

This summer seems to be the season for hippies.

But it is also when the many fine teen age boys and girls begin their summer activities. We have a good example of this here at home.

A review of this week's newspaper will tell you that a number of them are in college, making what is usually the vacation season count for something valuable in their educational careers.

Others have jobs that keep them busy and provide them with experience.

An unusually large number are out of town this week competing on the state level in contests for which they qualified by hard work and exercising their talents.

They have time for sports, too. One of the points on which those in charge of the 4-H Club Rodeo commented was the courtesy and mature behavior of the boys and girls who competed, both our own and those from other towns. Some will broaden their lives with travel.

These are the teen agers who accomplish much, whether it is in work or play. They do this by their own choice, while a small number of others cause confusion and displeasure by their irresponsible actions, this summer or any other time.

For Medicinal Purposes

Recent news items you may have missed:

—A recent British psychiatrist says he has tested a snore-stopper device — and, by golly, it works! Every time the snorer zzzzzzzes, a tiny throat microphone triggers a mild electrical shock to his arm. He eventually gets the message and is cured.

—A go-go dancer in Corpus Christi, Texas., was married in her topless dancing costume.

—Switchmen in a Fort Worth, Texas, railroad yard came upon a carload of snow in a long freight train. The point of origin was Chicago, which at that time could well spare some snow.

—A lady artist who unsolicitedly painted an 18-foot nude, titled "Pink Lady," on a Malibu Canyon Cliff is suing Los Angeles County for $1 million for covering up her masterpiece. Her grievance? Invasion of her rights of privacy.

—In Denver, a parrot was the sole witness to a house robbery. Its owner has told police the bird admids it recognized the thief but refused to turn stool pigeon.

—When power failure trapped a group of women visitors in the pitchdark state legislative chamber of Olympia, Wash., Rep. Paul Barden of Seattle rose to the occasion. "Follow me, ladies," he said, "I know all the exits." Gratefully, they followed him—into the women's rest room.

Item: "To Whom It May Concern: A group of your neighbors wish to announce that the oneway frosted glass in your bathroom window is facing the wrong way."

So what's with all this? Merely that in an age when so much of the news is of necessity related to war, economic problems, violence and distress, items such as those may very well serve as effective, if unintentional, emotional therapy.

U THANT'S BIAS

In tracing the roots of the Middle East crisis, informed citizens can hardly fail to observe that U Thant, Secretary General of the United Nations, precipitated one of the worst developments in the situation.

This was Mr. U Thant's immediate, affirmative response to Egypt's demand for withdrawal of the U.N. peace-keeping force from positions along the Israeli border.

It was not necessary for U Thant to take this action, for the peace-keeping force had been created by the U.N. General Assembly and not by the Secretary General himself. With this sudden, irresponsible action, U Thant opened the door to direct action to Col. Nasser of Egypt. For example, with the almost overnight withdrawal of the U.N. troops, Nasser was able to send troops to blockade the narrow straits which control Israel's access to the Red Sea and its markets in Africa and Asia. Automatically, war tension was increased.

Western peoples should not overlook U Thant's strange behavior. In the past the Burmese neutralist who heads the bureaucratic machinery of the U.N. has gone all out to assert the U.N.'s authority in international diputes. But he made no such assertion of authority against the Egyptians who are sponsored by the Soviet Union. He didn't even attempt to delay an action that was bound to promote the communist goal of stirring trouble in the oil-rich Middle East.

U Thant's action in the Israeli-Egyptian crisis is in striking contrast to his actions and statements with regard to the war in Vietnam. The U.N. Secretary General has used his office to try to bend the United States to his will, virtually adopting Hanoi's position on the aerial bombing and suggesting that the U.S. by its air raids against the Red regime, was on the verge of starting World War III.

U Thant's behavior, in this and other situations, gives abundant evidence of where his sympathies lie. Nasser's Egypt, of course, is one of the revolutionary states of the world. It is very close to the communist bloc countries. Nasser desires to oust the Western countries from their oil concessions in the Middle East, a goal which U Thant undoubtedly shares.

The bias U Thant has shown toward the Egyptians is all the more graphically illustrated by the failure of his office—and of the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. —to pay any attention to other threats to the peace in the Middle East. Since the early 1960s, Egypt has had 50,000 soldiers occupying the little red Sea country of Yemen, but U Thant and the U.N. have not condemned Egypt's aggression there.

For many months, Egyptian agents, infiltrators and saboteurs have been conducting a terrorist war against the vital British naval-air base of Aden at the southern end of the Red Sea and against the South Arabian Federation. But the U.N. persists in seeing no evil.

A three-man U.N. team visit-Aden this spring, but refused to even consult with South Arabian Federation officials — the lawful authorities in the area. U Thant had no word of reproach for the U.N.'s emissaries. He was too busy trying to pressure the United States into backing down before the forces of aggression in Southeast Asia. In another situation, involving Syrian sabotage raids, the U.N. Secretary General was equally blind to aggression by a pro-communist country.

U Thant's position is understandable, in one sense. No doubt his sympathies are in line with the policies of the majority of countries in the United Nations organization. The more than 100 countries in the U.N., after all, are largely nations from the communist world or the so-called Third World of backward, neutralist nations. Thus the majority of the states in the U.N. fall into one of two classes: (1) communist or openly pro-communist nations, or (2) nations which envy America and want to penalize the U.S. for its affluence. Many of the new nations of Africa, which are so numerous in the U.N., belong to the second group.

The United Nations talks peace, but the U.N.'s definition of peace invariably is one which benefits the enemies of freedom. "Peace" for U Thant means Western withdrawal at every point and accommodation to the demands of the revolutionary states and movements.

In short, U Thant's career as Secretary General clearly illustrates his anti-Western outlook — an outlook which he clearly shares with the majority of states in the U.N. organization.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Some of the most expensively tuned minds are now occupied with the subject of UFOs, yes or no.

Which is more scientific but could be less tranquilizing than the method used heretofore on the UFO by people and Air Force wheels, which is to shut the eyes and claim anything they can't see ain't there.

My intellectical neighbor says this system postpones some coping, but has got its drawbacks. Like closing the eyes and mind to vanish a poised rattlesnake or Communist takes him off your worry list only temporarily.

Knowledge is getting around, even out here, that U.S. soldiers and wealth somehow got pledged to the defense of 40-odd other nations over the world.

My what-if neighbor reckons that if two of these countries got into a fight with each other we'd be welching on our sacred commitments if we didn't send troops and airmen to fight on both sides.

Says it just goes to show how the compulsive promiser can get into a tight. Like he once did when he mortgaged his one cow to four different banks.

Supreme Court made a pass at Obscenity here the other day but decided any legal curb on same interferes with freedom of speech and freedom of the printing press.

My idealizzy neighbor says the freedom to print smut is vital to Education. What seems obscene to some can be highly educational to others, who don't yet know how low the human mind can sink.

After all, without any pornographic printed matter, the 99.44 percent of the people that is pure might never learn about the other 0.56 percent: the muck dwellers and their historians.

My old-cool neighbor notes that a few people deplore the rising hemlines, on the grounds that some feminine knees don't help the national beautification program.

But he has taken an extensive eye-poll and would be agin any costly federal project to drive knees back under cover in the interest of preserving the national scenic beauty balance.

In fact, he says, Nature has provided man with cheap protection against the sight of non-beautiful knees, billboards, and other uninspiring objects, by equipping him with a swivel joint at the neck so he can look somewhere else.

3 Teams Formed in Summer Youth Ball Program

Boys participating in the summer youth baseball program in the middle age level were divided into three teams at a wiener roast Friday evening, May 2 at Ellison Park.

Other teams will be formed later to take care of other age groups, so that all boys from 6 to 18 years who are interested can play baseball this summer, according to Billy Moseley. He and Jack Neeley are co-chairmen of the program.

The opening game has not been set, but it probably will be late next week, Moseley said. Those working with the program are now planning the playing schedule, he added.

There is still time for boys to join the program.

Teams and their coaches are:

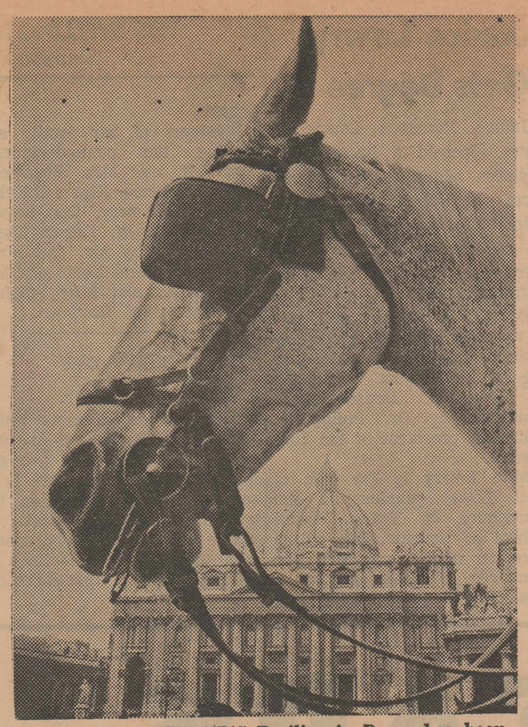

The Dodgers, coached by Paul Guthrie: Bruce Oney, Barry Long, Mike Williams, Tim Jones, George Tipton, Mickey Vassey, Bobby Cantu, Fred Bush, Richard Sims, Randall Sims, Nicky Guthrie, Benny Stallings, and Kenny Stallings.

The Bronchos, coached by Weldon Cleveland, Jr., with O. V. Johnson as assistant: Larry Wright, Roy Robinson, Troy Robinson, Jesse Davis, James Amos, Grady Reed, Garland Tyson, Freddie Chambers, Garry Brown, Rudy Bais, Jack Wilson and Gabriel Aguirre.

The Twins, with Eddie Wheeler as coach and Jon LaBaum assistant: Mike Belew, Bobby Joe Scrubbs, Brent Wade, Tom Holton, Dickey Johnson, Dennis Powell, Charles Hunnicutt, Edward Thomas, Dale Burney, Neal Cochran, Jimmy Saied, Craig Holton, Joe Barton and George Brewer.

Personnel of these teams is subject to change, Moseley said.

Approximately 125 boys and 30 parents were present for the wiener roast, he added.

Mother of Mrs. Long Dies

Mrs. Lora Benson, 95, the mother of Mrs. Ralph Long, died in a Comanche, Okla., nursing home Monday, May 31. She once lived in Wellington and was the sister of the late R. L. Templeton and R. H. Templeton.

Mrs. Benson was born in Lincoln County, Tenn., Dec. 28, 1871, and came to Comanche from Montague County in 1925. Her husband, W. D. Benson died in 1925.

She was a member of the Methodist Church 84 years.

Services were conducted at the First Methodist Church in Comanche Thursday, June 1, by the Rev. G. Al Moreland, pastor, and burial was in the Duncan Cemetery.

Survivors included five daughters and five sons: Mrs. Fannie Wood of Bethany, Okla.; Mrs. Pearl Dumos of Comanche; Mrs. Long, Mrs. Cleo Beck and Mrs. Mattie Peck of Oklahoma City; R. C. Benson of Corona, Calif.; Will Benson of Comanche; Rufus Benson of Duncan, Okla.; Troy Benson of Comanche, and O. B. Barnes of Salinas, Calif.

Attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Long, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Long and Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jenkins, Zeldon and Zanna.

DON'T BREAK YOUR ROD TIP

Many sportsmen break their rod tips when playing large fish by pointing the tip away from the fish. Avoid this danger by being careful to keep rod tip in correct position.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

LOOKING FORWARD HOPEFULLY

During the year 1967 our National Education Program and its counterpart, the American Citizenship Center on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City, will be in forum sessions with thousands of high school and college youth leaders from coast to coast. This will constitute a great expansion of youth in a "Cause" —— this "Cause" being the preservation of our freedom-giving and prosperous American way of life.

It will be my privilege to give the keynote address and the closing challenge at youth citizenship forums in many states, attracting young high school and college leaders from perhaps 40 states this year. We had such leaders from 26 states at the Freedom Forum XXVIII in Searcy, in April, and we will have another 10 or 12 states represented among the several hundred conferees at our June Forum in Searcy; we had 800 Youth in our citizenship forum in Oklahoma City in February; and hundreds will attend forums to be held in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Texas and Oklahoma during June, July and August.

A Keynoter's Responsibility

What does one say who assumes the grave responsibility of keynoting these forums to which are being drawn "the cream" of American youth from coast to coast? I try to make what I say a challenge to the youth (such as):

Speaking on our American Heritage always gives me a great thrill because it is the greatest heritage that ever fell to any generation of youth. Moreover, I enjoy constantly challenging our youth of today with the fact that America still offers hope and opportunity.

Back in the Thirties, I was a bit amazed at how Hitler was able to captivate the youth of Germany. All the young Germans I met were enthusiastically sold on Hitler. He came next after the God of the Universe. He was wonderful (in their eyes). He had simply challenged those youth, challenged them to help him make a better world, and he convinced them that he needed them. They were ready to die for him, and a lot of them did. It took World War II to stop the ambitious schemes of Hitler, but his ability to hypnotize the German youth continued until his death.

Not Doing Enough

But I believe today in America we are not challenging our youth. We are failing to sell them on the value of their heritage and on their prospects for the future. We are not presenting the merits of our own American Heritage. We are not inspiring within them a determination to preserve this great American Heritage.

Our American Heritage is truly wonderful. Observing personally how people live in more than 20 foreign countries has made me a much better American, with far greater appreciation for our marvelous heritage. What has it done for us, you want to ask?

Three Wants Gratified

It has given us more personal freedom than any other society has ever experienced. It is my conviction that if we could ask the people of the past 6,000 years what they would have desired most, we would find them saying "personal freedom." Man's greatest desire through the ages has been personal freedom. In America we are free to choose to live in any state in the Union; we are free to choose our own vocation; we are free to choose our own college, private or state; we have freedom of Speech, freedom of Religion, freedom of Press. All these are but parts of our basic PERSONAL freedom.

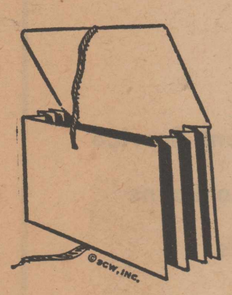

If we could learn what man's second great desire has been through the ages, I think we would find it to be, "economic well-being." In America we have used our freedom to create the greatest measure of economic well-being ever known, twice better than Western Europe, at least four-times better than Communist Russia, and probably 50 times better than is available to the masses of China, India and most of Africa.

The third basic want which is gratified through the American system is Faith in God. Man created in the image of God cannot be content with just personal freedom and economic well-being; he craves spiritual understanding, a foundation of faith. And in America that opportunity is wide-open.

These are thoughts which, when expanded, are arousing the zeal of Ameria's youth — and the zeal of American youth is inspiring our Forum staffs to work all the harder and look forward hopefully to a secure America.

OPEN MEETINGS NOW MANDATORY—Gov. John Connally signs Senate Bill 94 in the presence of Garth Jones, Associated Press; Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena, sponsor of the bill; Stuart Long, Long News Service, Austin; and Don Scarbrough, Williamson County Sun, Georgetown. All are members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, one of several groups that urged the bill's passage. Jones is president of the Austin SDX Chapter and Capitol Correspondent for AP. Scarbrough is a member of Texas Press Association's legislative committee. Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville, House sponsor, was unable to be present. Under the terms of the bill all meetings of official public bodies must be open to the press and to the public. Connally proclaimed the law "a great step forward for the people of Texas."

CAP Sets Deadline for 1967 Members

Members of the Wellington Civil Air Patrol have set the last of June as the dealine for membership in that organization for the current year. This action was taken in a business meeting Sunday afternoon, June 4.

Members were fingerprinted and officers were named to serve with Commander Cliff Hartman.

Cecil Masten was elected vice commander to serve with Commander Hartman.

Appointive officers are Mrs. Cecil Masten, publications officer; Jerry Nix, supply officer; David Baumgardner, training officer; Rev. Ronald Crosley, chaplain; Mrs. Kay Ketchum, treasurer; and Pat Glenn, communications officer.

The next meeting will be on Monday, June 26 at 8 p.m. at the Farm Bureau. Membership will be closed after June for this year.

Squadron members are Mr. Nix, Rev. Crosley, Mr. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ketchum, Lee Roy Belew, David Baumgardner, Louis Patterson, Creed Hill, Miss Leta Kees, Mr. and Mrs. Masten, Donald Nunnelley, George Hooten and Ralph Owens.

CATFISHING WITH ARTIFICIALS

Sometimes catfish are caught on artificial bait. But the time and effort expended is not worth the possibility. Primarily catfish are natural bait eaters. Leave them for the cane pole fishermen who know their habits and habitats.

Janice Lowry Gets Degree

Janice Rountree Lowry of Lutie received a bachelor of business administration degree from the College of Business Administration of the University of Houston at the thirty-third annual commencement on Saturday, June 3.

Dr. Logan Wilson, president of the American Council on Education, was the speaker, taking as his subject "Adequacy in Education." Degrees were conferred by Dr. Phillip G. Hoffman, president of the University.

Mrs. Lowry is the wife of Joel Lowry, student in the University of Texas Dental School at Houston. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rountree of Lutie and is a graduate of Samnorwood High School.

Members of her family attending the commencement were Mr. and Mrs. Rountree, Mrs. Bill Janes, Kim and Kyle, Mrs. Jack Lowry, Don Sweat and Mrs. J. W. Deger. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Melton and Kevin of Pine Bluff, Ark., and Miss Stephanie Warren of Baytown.

DO YOU POP OFF YOUR LURES?

Frequent loss of lures when casting can be caused by two oversights. Either you are tying faulty knots, or there is a seriously roughened guide on your rod tip. Of course, if you're casting a heavy spoon with too light a line—that's a different matter. Just don't do it!

Work With Chicks Aids Research

Research work at Texas A &M University's Prairie View Experiment Station dealing with skin grafting on baby chicks is being watched for possible application to skin grafting in humans. Dr. R. W. Lewis, poultry nutritionist, is using drugs to increase body acceptance of skin grafts between unrelated chickens. Permanent skin grafts can be made in humans and animals that are genetically identical but the human and animal body rejects skin from another person or animal, except an identical twin or highly inbred animal.

County Students Attend College During Summer

For many Collingsworth County students summer is not a time for vacation. Many have enrolled for the summer session in colleges throughout the state, with the largest number going to Clarendon Junior College and West Texas State University.

Enrolling in Clarendon Junior College are Jackie Needham, Nancy Sanford, Lanny Ford, Andy Bell, Barbara Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Estes, Larry Henard, Carolyn Christian Keller, Marsha Elbert and Sharon Daves who will attend the first semester at Clarendon and then transfer to Texas Woman's University at Denton. Also going to Clarendon is Rocky Dickerson of Arnett.

Going to West Texas State University at Canyon will be Becky Brewer, Peggy Crawford, Nancy Holton, Jan Cudd, Patricia Wilson, Nancy Russell, and Billy Wilson of Quail.

Gayle Smith of Arnett will attend Lubbock Christian College this summer.

Enrolling at Texas Tech at Lubbock will be Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dillon, Lewis Watkins, Jimmy Campbell, Jane and Ann Orr, Donna Allred, Janyth Estes, Leslie Covey, and Jan Glenn.

Henry Wells is the only one from here going to the University of Texas at Austin this summer.

Regina Ferguson has enrolled at North Texas State University at Denton for the summer session.

Randy Wooldridge has returned to Southwestern State at Weatherford, Okla.

Glasscock at Amarillo Church

The Rev. James A. Glasscock, formerly of Wellington, was installed as pastor of the Northminster Presbyterian Church in Amarillo Sunday, June 4.

He went to Amarillo from Booker, where he was pastor of First Methodist Church since June 1966.

The Rev. James A. Mahon, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Amarillo, delivered the sermon.

The Rev. Mr. Glasscock is the son of John Glasscock of Shamrock and the late Goldie Glasscock, a teacher in the Wellington school. He was graduated from Wellington High School and received the B.A. degree from McMurry College in 1957. He worked during summers and in high school at The Wellington Leader.

He also received the B.D. degree from Perkins School of Theology in 1960 and the Th.M. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1963.

He served as youth director of First Methodist Church at Memphis, educational assistant of First Methodist Church in Childress, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, Brownfield, and pastor of St. James Methodist Church in Abilene three years befofe going to Hooker.

The Rev. M. Glasscock is married to the former Lois Rose Kershner of Lubbock and they have one son, John Randal, three.

The 14-volumes of Henry David Thoreau's journals contained about 2 million words.

Miss Tompkins is Graduated

Miss Patty Marie Tompkins of Wellington was graduated from St. Anthony's Hospital School of Radiological Technology in Amarillo at the commencement Friday, evening, June 2.

Miss Tompkins, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tompkins, has completed a two-year course.

The commencement speaker was Richard Barras. At the same time, the commencement was held for the school of nursing and the school of Certified Laboratory Assistants.

Attending Miss Tompkins' graduation were Mrs. Earl Tompkins, Miss Marie Berryman and Mrs. Virginia Thomas.

A graduate of Wellington High School, Miss Tompkins formerly worked at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Teachers Study at West Texas

Several of the local teachers have enrolled for the summer session at West Texas State University, Canyon.

Going from Wellington are Miss Jolene Groves, Mrs. Weldon D. Cleveland, James Stavenhagen and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lennon, and Supt. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson from Dodson.

John Masten, who teaches at Dodson, will attend for the entire summer, taking advanced studies in Spanish and English.

Quail Seniors Tour Colorado, New Mexico

CANON CITY, Colo.—Members of the Senior Class of Quail High School visited Colorado's famed Royal Gorge on their recent tour.

It was the highlight of a trip that included LaMesa Park, N.M.; Garden of the Gods, Pikes Peak, Cliff Dwellings, Cave of the Winds, Seven Falls, Ghost Town, Van Briggle Art Pottery, Wax Museum, Broadmoor Ice Palace, Broadmoor Zoo, Will Rogers Shrine, all at Colorado Springs; Denver Museum of Natural History, Colorado State Capitol, Lakeside Amusement Park, all in Denver; Central City, Echo Lake, Idaho Springs, Colorado State Penitentiary and the Municipal Museum in Canon City; Monarch Pass; Great Sand Dunes; Taos Indian Reservation; Kit Carson Museum.

At the Royal Gorge, they crossed the world's highest bridge (1,100 feet above the roaring Arkansas River), rode the world's steepest incline railway (100 percent grade), and viewed some of Colorado's most magnificent scenery.

Sponsors of the tour were Mr. and Mrs. Garth Priddy, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Howard, and Mrs. Elmer Haralson.

Students were Marie Johnson, Neva Baker, Earl Feemster, Robert Blevins, James Parker, Jerry Haralson, Judy Campbell, Bill Howard, Kelly Howard and Dennis Howard.

Degree Granted Peggy Hendrix

Mrs. L. B. Don Hendrix was among the 369 candidates who were awarded degrees at the commencement of Abilene Christian College on May 22.

She received a bachelor of science in education degree, with a major in elementary education and minor in English.

Mrs. Hendrix is the former Peggy Shanks and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shanks.

In Abilene Christian College she was a member of the yearbook staff and was active in Kappa Chi social club.

Her husband, L. B. Don Hendrix of Nederland, is attending the United States Army officer candidate school at Fort Sill, Okla.

THANKS FRIENDS

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of the 4-H Club leaders, the Wellington VFW, The Wellington Leader, KBGH Radio, and others who helped make the First Annual 4-H Riding Club Rodeo a success.

I want to extend a special "thank you" to the merchants who bought ads promoting our rodeo.

We are proud to be a part of the community and can honestly say that due to your co-operation, we are known as the most active and largest 4-H Riding group in the Panhandle area.

61 YEARS of SERVICE

We are making plans to celebrate our 61st birthday. We would at this time pause to reflect on some of the milestones we have passed during the past 60 years — of the pleasant and worthwhile things that have been ours, also some of the adversities.

The money panic of 1907 came along when we were only one year old, this we weathered when our total resources were barely $100,000.00. Later the Federal Reserve System came into being to guarantee that no section of the United States would be without their fair share of the money to which they were entitled, as was the South during this time. We are proud to have been a member of the Federal Reserve Bank since its inception.

We remember vividly the great depression and drouth of the Thirties; the "Banking Holiday" of 1932, a two week period during which all banks in the United States were closed by order of the President. Our financial position was such that we were among the first banks to be allowed to open on an unrestricted basis after the Presidential order was lifted.

Another milestone, of which we feel justly proud, came in 1958, at which time the Wellington State Bank absorbed by purchase, the First National Bank in Wellington and moved our banking house to its present location. Combining these two banks has greatly increased our ability and facilities to render more and better service.

During the last two years you undoubtedly have heard and read a great deal about the "Tight Money" situation and the resultant increase in interest rates on loans. We consider ourselves fortunate in that we have not been confronted with such a situation; we have, at all times, had ample funds to take care of the demand for sound banking loans and at no increase in interest rates. Our interest rates are at an all time low and we do not anticipate any increase in the future.

5% Interest on Time Certificates of Deposit

In order that we may keep abreast of the times and to be more competitive with other banks, both large and small, we do propose, effective as of June 1, 1967, to pay interest on time certificates of deposit at the rate of 5%, this being the maximum prescribed by the Federal Reserve Bank under whose regulations we operate. We do further propose that on all such deposits, outstanding as of June 1, 1967, and having a maturity of 30 days or more to adjust the present rate upward to 5% effective as of this date. You may bring your certificates of deposit in and we will initial this change if you like but it will not be necessary in order to receive the higher rate of interest.

We have numerous services to offer, and we welcome an opportunity to advise with our friends on any that you might have a need for at this time or at some future date. We extend a cordial invitation to everyone to come by and visit with us.

Two-Day Youth Rodeo Draws 284 Competitors

Collingsworth County 4-H Riding Club staged its first annual Youth Rodeo with professional trappings Friday and Saturday nights, June 2 and 3, and the number of contestants was one of the largest for a rodeo here in recent years. It was not far short of 300 when the last rider signed in — 284 the rodeo books show.

Royce Tippett of Tell won the horse cooling blanket as the best all around cowboy, and an identical blanket went to Kim Flowers of Miami as the best all around cowgirl.

John R. Henard III of Wellington received the Sportsmanship Trophy donated by Troy Marsh Insurance Agency.

Large crowds watched both performances at the VFW Arena. Professional rodeo announcer Rex Harris of Amarillo donated his time to announce the event. He came here directly from Tucumcari, N.M., where he had announced the three-day annual New Mexico State Rodeo.

The actions of two young professional clowns could entertain the spectators or hold the attention of angry stock until thrown performers could get out of danger. They were teen-agers Jim Grandstaff of Phillips and Johnny Back of Borger.

Most of the falls resulted only in bruises. During the Friday night bareback riding, Tommy Yarbrough's horse, Rawhide, went straight through the chain link fence at the north end of the arena. Yarbrough, 18, was bruised and shaken when he was caught by the cable along the top of the fence. He competed again Saturday night.

A number of ties resulted and in each case the winners received duplicate awards or ribbons.

The list of winners was heavy with Wellington contestants, but there were others from Iowa Park and Oklahoma points nearer.

Here are the winners and their time:

Tie down calf roping: first, Eddie Orr of Wellington, 23.5 seconds; second, Gary Crawford of Iowa Park, 24.9 seconds; third, Link Rainey of Erick, Okla., 29.6; fourth, Monty Kromer of Vinson, Okla., 31.8; fifth, George Havick of Throckmorton, 35.2; and sixth, Dusty Oldham of Shamrock, 36.7.

Ribbon roping: first, David Trammel of Amarillo, 18.5 seconds; second, Tommy Yarbrough of Wellington, 20.5; third, Andy Lowe of Wellington, 21; fourth, Ted Harris of Wellington, 36.3; fifth, Alex Bell of Amarillo, 44.3.

Breakaway roping, 12 to 14 years: first, Rod White of Wellington, 7.9 seconds; second, Charles Taylor of Wellington, 9.5; and third, Dale Rollins of Hollis, 11.2.

Calf dobbing, 11 and under: first, Monty Bradley of Memphis, 1.7 seconds; second, Kim Norman of Hollis, 4.5; third, Bart Patterson of Wellington, 5.2; fourth, Pam Patterson of Wellington, 5.4; fifth, Mike Williams of Wellington, 7.1; and sixth, Kevin Sedden of Hollis, 10.5.

Barrel racing, 8 years and under: first, Kirk Flowers of Miami, 22.1; Charlotte Smith of Shamrock, 22.8; third, Kathy Patterson of Wellington, 22.9; fourth, Kenny Jackson of Hollis, 25; fifth, Pat White of Wellington, 26.1; and sixth, Cindy Coleman of Dozier, 29.3.

Barrel racing, 9 to 11 years: first, Susan Lowe, Wellington, 20.6 seconds; second, Kim Flowers of Miami, 20.8; and third, Bart Patterson of Wellington, 21.4; fourth, Pam Batterson of Wellington, 21.5; fifth (three-way tie) Teresa Patterson and Mike Williams of Wellington and Kevin Sedden of Hollis; sixth, Tim Jones of Wellington, 22.8.

Barrel racing, 12 to 14 years: first, Royce Tippett of Tell, 20.1 seconds; second, Lesa Garrison of Tell, 21.2; third, Billy Henard of Wellington, 21.8; fourth, Leigh Nall of Wellington, 21.9; fifth, Connie Lee of Quanah, 22.1; sixth, Don Sherman of Shamrock, 22.4.

Barrel racing, 15 to 18 years: first, Nicky Murphy of Childress, 20.5; second, Larry Everson of Crowell, 20.9; third, M. L. Gierhart of Shamrock, 21.2; fourth, Randy Rollins of Hollis, 21.5; fifth, Ricky Nall of Wellington, 21.7; and sixth, Betty Woodard of Crowell, 22.4.

Pole bending, 11 years and under: first (tie) Monty Tucker of Hollis and Kim Flowers of Miami, 23.9 seconds; second Teresa Patterson of Wellington, 24.5 seconds; third, Kathy Patterson of Wellington, 25.4; fourth (tie), Pam Patterson of Wellington and Charlotte Smith of Shamrock, 26; fifth, Edie Watkins of Wellington, 27.1; sixth, Lucy Sullivan of Wellington, 27.9.

Pole bending, 12 to 14 years: first, Royce Tippett of Tell, 23.5; second, Billy Henard of Wellington, 25.7; third, Lesa Garrison of Tell, 26.4; fourth, David Boykin of Childress, 27.3; fifth, Rod White of Wellington, 27.4; and sixth, Leigh Nall of Wellington, 28.7.

Pole bending, 15 to 18 years: first, Randy Rollins of Hollis, 23.2; second, Nicky Watts of Wellington, 24.2; third, Vicky Hines of Childress, 24.5; fourth, M. L. Gierhart of Shamrock, 25.8; fifth, David Trammell of Amarillo, 25.9; and sixth, Larry Everson of Crowell, 26.

Ring racing, 11 years and under: first, Mike Williams of Wellington, 20.1 seconds; second, Monty Tucker of Hollis, 20.3; third, Kim Norman of Hollis, 22; fourth, Pam Patterson of Wellington, 22.3; fifth, Susan Lowe of Wellington, 22.7; and sixth, Teresa Patterson of Wellington, 23.

Ring racing, 12 to 14 years: first, David Boykin of Childress, 17; second, Billy Henard of Wellington, 18; third, Mark Killian of Wellington, 18.6; fourth, Leigh Nall of Wellington, 18.8; fifth, Royce Tippett of Tell, 19.2; and sixth, Lesa Garrison of Tell, 20.3.

Ring racing, 15 to 18 years: first, Nicky Watts of Wellington, 15.3; second, Andy Lowe of Wellington, 16.1; third, Randy Rollins of Hollis, 19.1; fourth, Vicky Hines of Childress, 21.8; fifth, Ricky Nall of Wellington, 21.9; and sixth, Larry Everson of Crowell, 22.

Riding Events

Riding events have a two-part score. One part is based on the performance of the rider and the other of the animal. The total of these two determines the score. Winners were the best of the two performances.

Calf riding, 11 years and under: first, (three-way tie), Mike Williams and Keith Davis of Wellington and Douglas Coleman of Dozier, 63; second, Jim Bob Nall of Wellington, 62.

Steer riding, 12 to 14 years: first, Royce Tippett of Tell, 71; second, Reece Bowen of Wellington, 63; third, Tommy Sursa of Clarendon, 62; and fourth, Mark Killian of Wellington, 60.

Bull riding, 15 to 18 years: first, David Trammell of Amarillo, 72; second (tie) Reese Bowen of Wellington and Gary Crawford of Iowa Park, 70; third, Alex Bell of Amarillo, 69; fourth, Mike Mitchell of Iowa Park, 66; fifth, Don Morris of Quail, 61; and sixth, Glen Daws of Throckmorton, 59.

Bareback bronc riding, 15 to 18 years: first, Gordon Harris of Throckmorton on Grey Ghost, 70; second, Mike Mitchell of Iowa Park on Red Rose, 66; third, Don Vaughan of Childress on Johnny Dial, 58; fourth (tie) Ricky Nall of Wellington on Jughead and Kenneth Sims of Kirkland on Red Rose, 56; fifth, Jim Henard of Wellington on Jughead, 55; sixth, Tommy Yarbrough of Wellington on Rawhide, 51.

Timekeepers for the rodeo were Jimmy Bowen and County Agent Sammy Helmers, while Mark Fires was the bookkeeper. Judges were Kenneth Kromer of Vinson and Kenneth Jackson of Hollis.

Members of the VFW Auxiliary were in charge of the concession stand.

We should be grateful for the golden harvest that is being gathered and the green crops that are growing in this area. To the west disastrous hail and torrential rain have wiped out the crops leaving the planting of substitute crops as the only alternative in some localities. To the south and southwest a more dreaded condition prevails. It is the old nemesis of the Southwest — drouth. At Coleman the owner of a filling station told us that the rainfall had not been sufficient for them to plant either cotton or grain sorghum. There has been some rain but not nearly enough in a vast stretch of country south and west of Abilene.

We found Austin to be about the quietest we have ever seen it. The Legislature had gone home but not before it had passed the greatest rash of new bills in recent years. Some of these you will be hearing about in a few days and it may be months before you learn how others may affect you or your business. As a result of the session we will vote on six constitutional amendments this fall and fourteen in 1968. The Senate voted itself a $1,000 annual raise; but it will not be in effect because the House did not pass it. In fact, the bill was never introduced in the House.

High school busses bearing band students were parked all over the campus of The University of Texas. We arrived late at night and left the next day so we did not get to visit with the Wellington contestants; but we understand that our band members have once again won a number of honors while competing with top musicians from all over Texas. We will have the details next week.

The demise of the railway passenger train from the American scene eliminated many things from a way of life that was a part of Texas. Forty or fifty years ago the departure of a young man for his first pear in college was an adventure and a historic moment in the family. The potential scholar was bidden farewell by some of his elders at the home and by others at the railway station and then he was on his own in relief, in loneliness, and in contemplation as the iron wheels sang their rhythmic song of the future.

The emotions of the young boy or young girl who is leaving home for the first time are exactly the same assortment of doubts and fears and bold and confident hopes as were those of the young men and young women of fifty years ago. The feelings and aspirations of the parents are also identical. The difference is in the dignity of the departure of the young scholar.

Witness the spectacle of the freshman enrolling for a summer course at any college or university. In Austin, cars of many descriptions were parked as near Moore-Hill Hall as they could find space. Mothers and fathers as well as a few younger brothers and sisters were helping the tall and by now embarrassed young men tote their gear up one, two, three and four flights of steep stairs. Their help was patiently and politely accepted; but after the bare quarters had been inspected as well as the cafeteria, it became obvious to the most obtuse parent that it was high time to get out of the hall. In the old days of railway travel no such indignities were inflicted on the young.

Leo Rivest of the City Grocery took his entire family back to Massachusetts for their vacation this year and reports a wonderful time. They made the trip by car and reached their old home at Holyoke in 36 hours. On their return they visited New York City and bucked the traffic to get a sight of a number of the more famous buildings. On their trip to see the Empire State building they saw a delivery truck pull out of a place and parked there. They received a ticket for parking in a zone reserved for commercial vehicles. What astounds me is the intrepid nerve of a family that went sightseeing in the traffic of New York.

The success of the 4-H Rodeo last week end surpassed all expectations. Over 284 contestants from ten riding clubs in addition to Wellington took part in the two day show and exhibition. The number of entries presented a problem for any number of the younger contestants were limited to one event and the fond parents wanted them to participate in more than a single event. If the entertainment continues to mount in enthusiasm and size, perhaps the answer to the problem lies in having the rodeo more nights than two. Start with a Thursday through Saturday rodeo and if that does not work run it through Sunday afternoon.

Barney Jones Closes Laundry

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Jones have announced that they have closed their loundry, after 37 years of operation in Wellington.

The couple opened one of the first self-service laundries in this part of the Panhandle. For many years, they have operated it at its location on Eighth Street, although they have remodeled it and improved it several times and new equipment has been installed numerous iimes.

Their 37 years of service to the people of the community is one of the longest in the city under one ownership, and the Jones laundry was by far the oldest of its kind in Wellington.

Irene Young Has Scholarship

A scholarship to the Midwest Music and Art Camp at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan., has been awarded to a former Wellington girl, for the study of German.

She is Glenna Irene Young, 16, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tiffin Young, Jr., 1105 Prince Drive, Corpus Christi.

Miss Young will be at the camp from June 18 to July 30, and during that time she will complete one year's study of the German language. Although she will be entering her senior year of high school in September, she will receive college credit upon completion of her German course at Lawrence.

She was selected for the scholarship on the basis of her excellent record in German during high school.

Mrs. Young and Irene will be in Wellington Thursday and the former's sister, Mrs. Joe Coleman, will accompany them to Kansas.

Irene is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tiffin Young and Mrs. S. L. Lindsey of Wellington.

Sagebrush OKs Highway Signs

The Sagebrush Arts and Crafts Association members, meeting Sunday, June 4 at the City State Bank, approved signs that will advertise the organization and its wares. These will be put up five miles north and five miles south of Wellington on US 83.

Other signs were approved for Guthrie Carpet Mart where products of the Sagebrush members are sold.

Other plans for publicizing the organization were discussed.

Spillman Gets Baylor Honor

Bill Spillman, junior in Baylor University, has been selected as a member of one of the teams to participate in that school's Operation College Bound during the 1967-68 school year.

Each team consists of five members and there are six teams. They visit schools through Texas to discuss college life with high school boys and girls.

Spillman will present Baylor's academic life. Other members of the team will represent campus activities, dorm life, religion, etc. They answer the questions Texas students have to ask about Baylor.

Spillman will be representing Baylor at schools through Central Texas.

He is spending this summer in Wellington with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spillman, and working in his father's law office.

Baptist Men Show Film

The Baptist Men's Organization of Faith Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting Monday night, June 5.

Lloyd Vines, president, directed the short business session, then the Rev. Jack Tutor showed the film, "On the Square," made by Cotton John Smith of Amarillo during a tour of Europe.

Families of the men were guests for this meeting and refreshments were served to approximately 30.

Mauldin Works for USDA

Richard Mauldin was here over the week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin. He left Monday for Dallas, where he will be employed during the summer by the Department of Agriculture as a meat inspector.

During the long session, Mauldin is a student in the School of Veterinary Medicine of Oklahoma State University.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tatum attended the singing convention in Mangum Saturday night and visited with his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Bert Tatum and Mrs. Arthur Tatum.

Three Wellington Students Receive Degrees at Tech

Three Wellington students were among the more than 1,500 who received degrees at Texas Tech's commencement exercises June 3. They were Vicki Glenn, John Wayne Brown and John Clyde Saunders. All received bachelor of science degrees.

Lt. Gen. W. Austin Davis of Los Angeles, former vice commander of the Air Forces Systems Command, and a 1936 Tech graduate, gave the principal address in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Gen. Davis currently is corporate vice president, aircraft group for North American Aviation, Inc.

Miss Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Glenn, received her degree in elementary education with a specialization in music.

For three years she has been a member of the CorpsDettes, drill team sponsored by the Army R.O.T.C. and the Student Education Association. She served as a legislator of Clement Hall during her junior year and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national Honor Society. She was among the college seniors recognized scholastically at the All-College Recognition Service March 19.

Miss Glenn will teach in the Caldwell Public Schools at Caldwell during the 1967-68 term.

Mr. Saunders is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Saunders. His degree is in animal husbandry.

In addition to his scholastic work, he was active in the ag department and was a member of the Block and Bridle Club.

He also held membership in Alpha Zeta, an honorary fraternity for ag majors.

During the summer, he and his wife, Vicky, will be in Wellington.

Mr. Brown's degree also was in agriculture.

He was a member of Tech's grass judging team that for three years won top honors in the National Grass Judging contest. On this, he also won high honors and second high honors as an individual.

He and his wife will remain in Lubbock this summer and Brown already has begun his work toward the master of science degree. This also is in agriculture.

Broilers Big Texas Business

Broilers in 1966 brought Texas producers $79 million, says the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Last year, 153 million broilers were produced in the state, 8% more than in 1965. Texas ranked 7th among the 23 major broiler producing states in both numbers and gross income.

Nationally, 2,568 million broilers were produced and for the 19th consecutive year, a new production record was set.

Gross income from broilers in 1966 totaled $1,369 million, also a new record.

Park Rules Shaped for Fun Patrons

AUSTIN.—Record 1967 park attendance is indicated, according to the Texas Parks and Wild Life Department, and the millions of fun seekers may need to mind their "Emily Post manners" this year.

The official regulations do not cover snorers or sleep walkers that are accepted as inevitable in the best regulated of nocturnal areas, but there are some rigid rules designed to keep the patrons compatible and contented.

For example:

Firearms or fireworks may not be displayed or used at any time. Hunting in state parks likewise is strictly forbidden.

Pets permitted on leash only.

Speed limits generally are 20 MPH, with travel exclusively on designated routes and only authorized traffic permitted after 10 p.m.

No intoxicating liquor or beverages may be sold or publicly consumed within state park boundaries.

Loud and unnecessary noises are forbidden.

No wild flowers, trees or shrubs shall be picked, cut, broken or otherwise mutilated.

Minors will not be permitted to register or stay overnight in a park unless chaperoned and accompanied by adults.

Radios, recorded music and musical instruments will not be played after 10 p.m. beyond the concession building or connecting patio.

Camping and shelter occupancy will be for a 14-day limit between May 1 and Sept. 15.

Overnight camping (including shelters) will be by permit only and at the site or location approved or assigned by the Park Ranger.

Texas Tourist

The third phase is the erection of tourist attraction signs for the individual cities. The latter will enumerate local tourist attractions.

"The small signs are being manufactured and lettered at this time and will appear within the next three weeks," according to Tourist and Travel Chairman Harlan Bridwell, Bridgeport publisher, who has led the WTCC group in this project.
