Medical Abuses Revealed

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cannot be certain of adequate health care because doctors and government officials tolerate the poor practice of medicine, says a Ralph Nader study group.

The report, written by a former federal health official with help from medical and law students, chronicles a long list of what it calls medical abuses: the failure of doctors to keep abreast of new developments, the "leaking" of poorly qualified foreign medical school graduates into the U. S. system, performance of unnecessary operations, prescription of unnecessary drugs and some simply shoddy practices.

The basis of the problem, according to the report, is the failure of doctors to review each other's work and to establish standards for the practice of medicine.

The Nader group was directed by Dr. Robert S. McCleery, a 57-year-old surgeon and former deputy director of the Food and Drug Administration's bureau of medicine.

The report proposed the federal government establish a national board to work with doctors in setting medical care standards.

"Every citizen is at the mercy of a system devoid of uniform, enforced standards of quality and must run the risks implied in the statistics of uneven levels of care among hospitals and physicians," said the report.

Among the statistics cited:

— A Columbia University study of hospital admissions that showed 57 per cent of the patients received good or optimal care. The rest got care rated fair or poor.

— A report by the National Commission on Health Manpower that examinations passed by 98 per cent of U. S. medical school graduates were successfully completed by only 40 per cent of students from foreign schools. Yet, the United States is so desperate for doctors that the foreign graduates "leak" into the American medical system anyway, the commission said.

— A Kansas survey which reported that, despite ample post-licensing educational programs offered to doctors in the state over a 10-year period, 48 per cent of the doctors did not take advantage of the courses.

The report proposed that doctors be subjected to relicensing tests, and that they be certified to practice only in a specific field.

In replying to the report, the American Medical Association said: "We are working almost continually with the Congress and the executive branch of the federal government to promote quality and cost controls." The AMA said a hasty reading showed the report appeared worthy of objective consideration.

COLLEGE CEREMONY — Dr. Robert Clinton, standing at the microphone, presided at the groundbreaking ceremonies this morning on the Western Texas College campus. On the platform are some two dozen dignitaries who were on hand for the event.

Ground Broken At WTC Site

Construction work on buildings for Western Texas College officially began this morning as some 200 persons stood on a windswept hill under bright sunshine south of Snyder for an informal groundbreaking ceremony.

The event signalled the start of the first phase of construction work on the college campus, which was donated by Mrs. Jonisue Stiff, the former Jonisue Cogdell. Mrs. Stiff, who was introduced during the brief ceremonies, gave the college district 160 acres of land.

Congressman George H. Mahon, who was the principal speaker at the groundbreaking, said that the building of the community college here is one of the most significant events ever to unfold in this area.

Rep. Mahon praised the officials of the college for planning a well-rounded curriculum which includes emphasis on vocational and technical education as well as the regular academic work of a college.

"The dreamers and intellectuals had their place, but the people who work with their hands also had a big part in developing this country," Rep. Mahon declared.

He predicted that in years to come, those present would fondly recall that they were present "while the wind blew and the microphone crackled" as the ground was broken for the new college.

Mahon said that there is plenty to be skeptical and cynical about in the country today, but building of a college indicates that the people in this area still face the future with optimism. All must look forward with hope, he declared.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of the college, presided at the ceremonies and M. L. Broman, president of the board of trustees introduced special guests, which, in addition to Mrs. Stiff, included representatives of area colleges and the Texas State Technical Institute at Sweetwater, the coordinating board of the Texas College and University System, the Texas Highway Dept., the County Commissioners Court, the college steering committee which helped prepare for the election creating the college district; representatives of the contractor, Area Builders of Odessa; officials of public school districts of the county, members of the college board of trustees and the college district's architects.

The Rev. Robert D. McArthur of the First Christian Church, gave the invocation; and the Rev. Henry Hartman, of Grace Lutheran Church, the benediction.

Following the introductions and Rep. Mahon's address, the college officials and guests took turns at a gold-plated spade in the symbolic ground-breaking.

Blast Off Set Jan. 31

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 14 astronauts watched today as their Saturn 5 rocket made its first move toward the moon — a ponderous 3½-mile journey from the assembly building to the launch pad.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell were at a viewing site a few hundred feet away as the rocket moved out of its hangar at 6:30 a.m., standing upright on the broad back of a tank-like transporter.

The transporter travels at maximum speed of one mile an hour and the trip to the launch pad was to take several hours.

Shepard, Roosa and Mitchell are to blast off for the moon Jan. 31, reaching a speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour.

Shepard, America's first spaceman back in 1961, and Mitchell are to attempt to land in the moon's rugged Fra Mauro highlands to search for pristine lunar soil that might provide clues to the origin of the moon.

Fra Mauro had been the intended target for Apollo 13 before an oxygen tank explosion 205,000 miles from home cancelled man's third moon-landing attempt last April.

The three astronauts, James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr., fought for survival in four danger-filled days before they returned safely to earth.

As a result of the explosion, the Apollo 14 launching has been delayed nearly four months while design changes have been made in the spaceship.

The new system in the service module includes three oxygen tanks instead of two, removal of most electrical wiring and all combustible materials from inside the tanks, elimination of stirring fans and thermal switches, electrical wires sheathed in stainless steel and a better warning system to alert the astronauts and ground controllers in case of trouble.

The space agency had hoped to install the new oxygen tanks before the command, service and lunar modules were mated to the rocket last week. But the tanks are still undergoing checks and will be installed on the launch pad later this month.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1970. There are 52 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated at the end of World War I and the country was proclaimed a republic.

On this date:

In 1872, the Great Boston Fire broke out and raged for three days, killing 35 persons and destroying nearly 1,000 buildings.

In 1923, 14 Nazis were killed as federal troops broke up a march of Adolf Hitler's storm troopers in Munich, Germany.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration to provide jobs for more than four million unemployed Americans.

In 1938, bands of Nazis roamed the streets of Germany, burning and destroying Jewish synagogues, homes and stores.

In 1941, a Chicago-to-New York express train was wrecked at Dunkirk, Ohio, killing 20 persons and injuring 40 others.

In 1943, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was created.

Ten years ago — Ten Irish soldiers were slain in the Congo in the ambush of a U. N. patrol.

Five years ago — A power failure blacked out parts of eight northeastern states and two provinces of Canada. New York City was without power for 10 hours and thousands were trapped in underground subway tunnels at the height of the evening rush hour.

One year ago — Additional victims of the 1968 Tet massacre at Hue, South Vietnam, were unearthed and the death list rose to 2,300.

Death Penalty Pleas Renewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Juries would impose more, not fewer death penalties for murder if stripped of their discretion in handing out capital punishment, lawyers for California and the United States told the Supreme Court today.

U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold opposed establishment of specific standards for imposing the death penalty. He said that under fixed standards, juries would be more likely to find reasons for imposing the death sentence rather than for exercising mercy.

"Murder, and first-degree murder is all we are talking about here, is inevitably a grisly business," Griswold said. He said aggravating circumstances are found in nearly every case.

Ronald M. George, a deputy attorney general of California, said no system of standards could possibly prevent juries from exercising some sort of discretion.

Further, he said, listing aggravating circumstances would incline juries to impose death. "I think fixed standards would result in more death verdicts," he said.

The arguments came as the high court heard a renewed plea to make major changes in the way the death sentence is imposed.

Lawyers for two condemned slayers argued that juries should be stripped of their "absolute discretion" to decide which guilty men should die and which should get jail terms.

The three-hour hearing was a replay of arguments before the court over the last two years that led to no decision. In the meantime, the number of men and women on death row has grown to more than 550—most of whom have a life-or-death interest in the outcome.

The two prisoners whose appeals are before the court are Dennis C. McGautha of Los Angeles and James E. Crampton of Toledo, Ohio. Crampton was convicted of killing his wife, McGautha of killing a grocer.

160 Top Number For 1970

AUSTIN (AP) — State draft call numbers will go no higher than 160 in 1970, Selective Service headquarters said today, but that does not mean that men above 160 are exempt in 1971.

Col. Charles Duncan, acting state director, said the December draft call for Texas is 489 men with local boards to fill the call with lottery numbers 1 through 160.

Duncan pointed out that a presidential order in September will require any man with a number from 1 through 160 not called by Dec. 31 to be placed in the extend priority selection group subject to call during the first quarter of 1971. Those with numbers over 160 will be assigned to the second priority group for 1971.

Pre-induction physical and mental examinations will be given to 3,376 other men in December.

Mr. Berry was a life-long resident of Scurry County.

Funeral services has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Raymond Hall, pastor of First Baptist Church where Mr. Berry was a member, officiating.

Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. S. E. Bateman of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Jodie Bynum, Mrs. Everett Clarkson and Mrs. Noel Banks, all of Snyder; and a brother, Jack Berry of Snyder.

High Court Refuses To Hear Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A divided Supreme Court refused today to hear a suit by Massachusetts questioning the legality of U.S. military action in Vietnam.

Six justices voted against the state and three justices dissented. Only Justice William O. Douglas, one of the dissenters, set forth his views.

Massachusetts had argued that without a declaration of war the President has no authority to send American troops into combat in Southeast Asia.

The Nixon administration counseled the court against granting the state a hearing. Justice Department officials said a judicial inquiry into the legality of the war would hamstring the President, insult Congress and embarrass the nation.

Voting against a hearing were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun, both of whom were put on the court by President Nixon and Justices Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall, holdovers from past administrations.

Dissenting with Douglas were Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart.

In the past the court has declined every time to hear suits questioning the war's legality. At first, only Douglas dissented.

Willis Rites Held Today

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at the Methodist Church in Tehuacana, Tex., for Mrs. Amber Willis, 76, who died at 1:45 a.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Willis had lived here for the past year. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rex Fields of Snyder; a sister, Mrs. Boyd Needham of Houston; three brothers, V. E. McDonald of Tehuacana, C. B. McDonald of Houston and Fred McDonald of McAllen; and one great-child.

The Rev. Bernie McBride of Bangs and the Rev. Ellis Holden of Tehuacana were to officiate at the service and burial was to be in Tehuacana Cementery. Bell-Seale Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

S-Viets Assume Offensive Role

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops have taken over offensive operations from the Americans in an area of 100 square miles north of Saigon, authoritative sources disclosed today.

The major shift of allied responsibilities virtually ends the American offensive role along the Saigon River corridor, a long-time North Vietnamese-Viet Cong infiltration and supply route.

Four American artillery and patrol bases have been turned over to the South Vietnamese along a 50-mile stretch of the river, from the Cambodian border south to within 20 miles of Saigon.

South Vietnamese troops also are taking over Cu Chi, a giant base camp 20 miles northwest of Saigon that is the headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. The division's headquarters and its 1st and 3rd Brigades are returning to Hawaii by Christmas.

Other American units at Cu Chi and Dau Tieng, an American brigade headquarters farther north, will be pulled out soon.

For the most part, sources said, the realignment leaves American forces in the western half of the 3rd Military Region defending their remaining bases and conducting such defensive operations as local reconnaissance, searching out enemy caches and protecting the current rice harvest.

The realignment is part of President Nixon's withdrawal program to reduce U.S. strength in Vietnam to 284,000 troops by next May 1.

The U.S. Command announced today that American forces in the country dropped another 6,000 men last week to 368,000. It was the lowest level since Dec. 10, 1966, when there were 367,400.

Meanwhile, the Cambodian military command reported that the largest combined South Vietnamese-Cambodian task force of the war pushed in behind tanks on a Communist base camp 20 miles south of Phnom Penh. A spokesman said one South Vietnamese tank was reported destroyed by a mine, but the 7,000-man force had made no significant contact with the enemy.

'Fair lady' should be his own choice

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently divorced man, in my early fifties. I am considered good looking, still trim and vigorous, dress well and have done very well financially, so, lonesome, I'm not.

Before the ink was dry on my divorce papers, I started getting calls from friends, "Boy, have I got a girl for you!"

Don't misunderstand, Abby, I enjoy the company of the opposite sex, but I like to select my own. When I'm invited to dinner, I'm asked to pick up some lady who will be my "date" for the evening, then I have to take her home. Or else, I am paired up with somebody's middle-aged sister-in-law, who could haunt a house.

Question: When I'm invited out, would it be proper for me to say, "I am bringing my own lady"?

If it's my company they want, they should welcome me and a lady of my choice. If all they want me for is to escort someone of their choice, they can forget it. Correct me, if I'm wrong. NOBODY'S FOOL IN L. A.

DEAR NOBODY'S: When invited to dinner, always insist upon bringing your own lady, and you'll soon find out if you're wanted for yourself or not.

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh at the man who wrote in about his wife always counting calories. I wish his wife and mine could get together and reach a happy medium.

I am married to a woman who must have put on 80 pounds since I married her seven years ago. Needless to say, I am ashamed to be seen with her. The rest of us eat sensibly, but my wife shovels in the bread, potatoes and sweets like there is no tomorrow. I've talked to her and so have her friends and members of my family and hers, too, but it does no good. At age 26 I am ready to take my love-making elsewhere because my wife is so repulsive.

Why do I stay? Because I love my kids and I suppose I still love the girl under all that blubber.

FATTY'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Her first move should be in the direction of a doctor. She eats because she's unhappy, and one of the reasons she's unhappy is because she's fat. If you love her, don't quit talking to her!

DEAR ABBY: I was interested in the letter signed "VERY MAD," from the "domestic" who is always introduced as "our Marybelle" as tho she had no last name.

You say the employer probably does it more out of "affection."

Then it would seem to me that the domestic, out of "affection," should be able to call the employer by HER first name, which I am sure the employer would neither encourage nor tolerate.

The relationship of domestic and employer in an "our Marybelle" situation sounds more like possession than affection—something that was supposed to have gone out with the Civil War. P. K.: CLEVELAND

DEAR ABBY: I have been a "domestic" for many years and I never felt put down because I was called "William." I have worked for people who were young enough to be my children, and I never expected them to call me "mister" to show "respect" for me or my age. The title doesn't give the job dignity nor the person respect. It is the person who gives the job dignity.

I think a lot of people are looking for something to be mad about these days.

I would rather have my employer shake my hand or pat me on the shoulder and call me "William," than stand two feet away from me and call me "Mr. Adams." I know I am respected and I have no complaints about what I'm called.

WILLIAM IN ATLANTA

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "MINNESOTA GIRL," relative to hitch hiking, I wish to make the following comments:

I am now in the process of investigating a case in which a 19-year-old girl also thought that hitching a ride with a stranger was cheaper and quicker than taking a bus. She was picked up by a "nice guy" who made advances to her. When he refused to stop, the girl opened the door and jumped out. The car was traveling about 50 mph. Needless to say, the girl required hospital treatment. Very truly yours,

DETECTIVE: WATERFORD, CONN.

Muskie Sounding Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, says he has started to sound Democratic leaders about possible support for the presidency in 1972.

So far, the inquiries have been made "in a tentative, limited way," Muskie said. But that effort "obviously has to be expanded and escalated," he added.

"When the final decision comes, it will depend, I think, largely upon whether I think I am the candidate or the man who can best serve that function."

Muskie, just elected for his third term in the Senate, would not say who he has contacted in his probe of Democratic feeling for his candidacy. To reveal the contacts, he said, "would misrepresent the nature of my interests and my drive in this connection."

Just when he will make a decision whether to run, Muskie wouldn't say. "I don't have any fixed timetable in mind," he said.

One questioner said it appeared Muskie feels President Nixon can be beaten in 1972. He replied: "Any president is beatable."

He appeared on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

Nixon On Holiday In Bahamas

by DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

GRAND CAY, The Bahamas (AP)—President Nixon, here for a post-election island holiday, met informally Sunday night with leaders of New York's Conservative Party, which ousted incumbent Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell in Tuesday's balloting.

Nixon spent about an hour and a half with the chairman and vice chairman of the New York Conservatives, then had a dinner get-together with columnist William Buckley, brother of James L. Buckley, who carried the third-party standard to victory over Goodell and Democrat Richard Ottinger.

The Southern White House took some pains to emphasize that the New Yorkers "dropped by" for socialbility. However, Conservative Party Chairman Daniel Mahoney told reporters that politics certainly was discussed—that Nixon showed a keen interest in the New York Senate race and the techniques of the Buckley campaign.

Buckley won with the active support of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and the tacit blessing of Nixon. Goodell had frequently differed with administration policy, while Buckley promised the White House support.

Nixon and C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, his friend and neighbor from Key Biscayne, Fla., flew by helicopter to Grand Cay Saturday following a five-hour policy-and-politics planning session at the Florida White House.

UAW Talks Continue

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators in the eight-week-old United Auto Workers strike returned to the bargaining table today reportedly for nonstop talks aimed at reaching agreement in the strike against General Motors by Tuesday night.

The Tuesday deadline is needed if GM is to return to full production by Dec. 1, officials said.

Such an agreement could then be submitted to the 350-man GM-UAW Council Wednesday for its approval and the next step would be a ratification vote by GM workers across the country.

The plan for a long day-night session was reported by a highly placed and usually reliable source.

From another source it was learned the union has called its 25-member International Executive Board to meet Tuesday in Detroit.

While negotiations are being conducted under a news blackout, there have been reports of progress from other sources in the last three days.

Negotiators met for 10-plus hours both Saturday and Sunday.

Theft Cases Being Probed

City Police are busy investigating several thefts.

Someone stole a .12 gauge shotgun and a .22 caliber rifle from the residence of Mrs. Qveita Carlton, 315 Thirty-sixth Street, sometime between last Thursday and last Saturday. The loss was placed at $80.

Thieves took 10 batteries from the garage of Hatley Lewis, 501 Twenty-fifth street, last Friday.

Pope Paul Is Booed

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI was booed and whistled at by a group of 400 to 500 shanty dwellers and made the object of two other demonstrations during his Sunday blessing to a crowd in St. Peter's Square.

The shanty dwellers had been evicted by police earlier in the day from newly built apartment houses where they had illegally seized quarters. They shouted at the Pope, "Housing yes; shanties no!" and waved a big sign saying, "We want housing." The pontiff gave no sign that he was aware of their presence.

In another demonstration, a group of Youth Italian Fascist party members protested the five-month old jailing of five members of their organization for a street fight with leftists, and two chained themselves by the wrists to a lamp post.

The third demonstration was staged by a Catholic group displaying placards which called for a national referendum if parliament legalizes divorce, as it is in the process of doing.

There have been past demonstrations during the Pope's Sunday blessing, but this was the first time he had been whistled and shouted at by a large group.

Lindsay Not Seeking Nomination

LONDON (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said tonight there was "not a chance" of his seeking the presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket in 1972. He also said he has no plans beyond the end of his term as mayor in December, 1973. Lindsay was speaking in a British Broadcasting Corp. television interview recorded Saturday after the U.S. elections.

The mayor told interviewer Robin Day there was no possibility of his being a presidential candidate in 1972.

"Not if you were to go on the Democratic ticket?" Day persisted.

"Not a chance," said Lindsay. "I don't have the wish in the first place, and in the second place, even if I did, it's not viable politically" because "I'm an enrolled Republican."

New Parking Meter Developed

NEW YORK (AP) — An excess time parking meter that records the amount of overtime parking has been developed. Fines can now be based on the length of overtime registered on the meter.

Two Mishaps Logged Here

City Police are investigating two motor vehicle mishaps involving hit-and-run drivers.

The first one occurred at 6:40 p.m. Thursday in the 600 block of Thirty-fourth Street. An unidentified motorist fled the scene after his car was in collision with the 1967 Model Chevrolet of L. C. Hoover of Sweetwater, causing $25 damage.

The second collision occurred at 9:45 p.m. Saturday at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue M. Damage to the car of Marjanis Patricia Randell, 304 Thirty-second Street, was placed at $45.

Wrinkles are a vicious cycle.

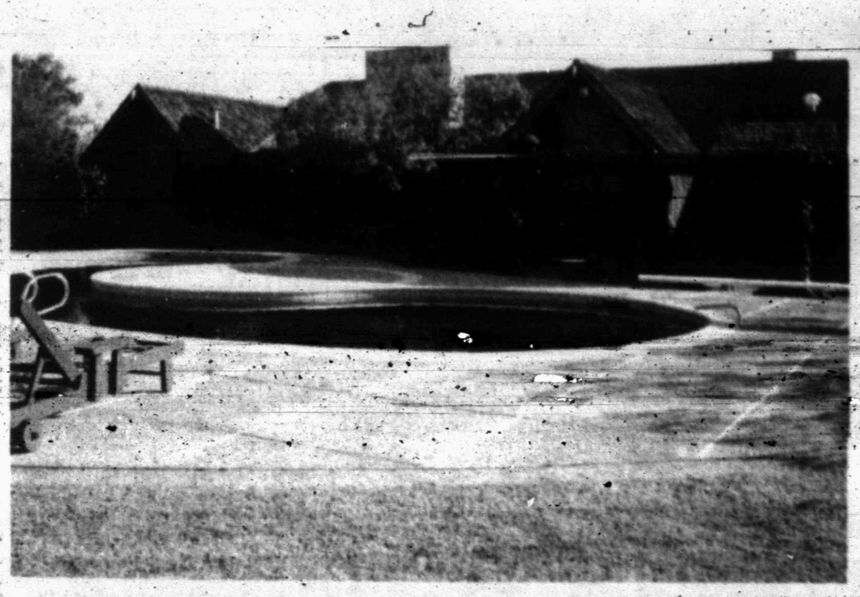

In some dryers the heat that dries your clothes also bakes wrinkles into permanent press.

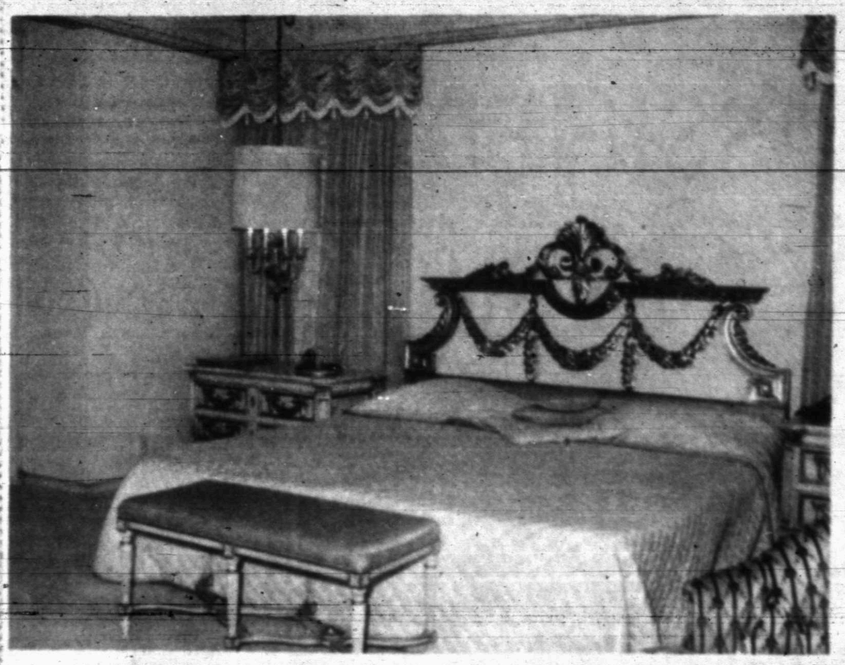

But you can buy a new gas dryer with a permanent press cool-down cycle that turns off the heat and cools off your clothes.

That means modern gas dryers won't add wrinkles to your wash and extra ironing to your work load. Because they have a cycle that keeps wrinkles from becoming vicious.

WOMEN

Todays Hemlines Is Controversial Topic

COLLEGE STATION— Hemlines have become one of today's most controversial topics. For those already tired of the mini-versus-midi question, there are many more American women who are simply tired of hemming, period.

Hemming is a chore few homemakers like. Yet, a well done hem gives a dress a smart appearance and contibutes to a woman's well groomed look, says Fannie Brown Eaton, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University.

The most important thing about a hem is not the site, but the stitch, she adds.

Use the sewing machine to put narrow hems in garments to be used for active sports clothes and other garments, such as children's school clothes and those that will be laundered often. This stitching adds a decorative touch if done with skill.

Sew the hem by hand on better garments that demand appearance rather than strength. Use small stitches and thread the same color as the fabric. Take stitches between hem edge and the garment, keeping them fairly loose to achieve a neat hem.

Use a finish, such as hem tape, stretch lace, or lightly overcast edge, on fabrics that fray easily or those loosely woven. Pink or machine-stitch fabrics that don't require a finish. Firmly woven fabrics and those that don't ravel, including most knits, may be hemmed with no edge finish at all.

On underlined garments, the hem should be attached to the underlining. Pay special attention to avoid stitching through the top side of the garment. Transparent and sheer fabrics look best when attached to the underlining.

Miss Eaton reminds that regareless of the fabric, a good hem should always be an even distance from the floor all the way around. It should not be noticable on the right side of the garment. The hem should be uniform in width, and wide or narrow enough to give the right weight to the skirt. A good hem is one that is durable, neat, well-pressed, and lies flat and smooth.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

It is always a difficult matter to give long-range advice on how to keep a basement dry. The causes of a wet basement are so varied that it is impossible to give a precise opinion about a specific case other than by personal inspection.

Lacking a professional on-the-spot analysis and even without pinpointing the cause, a home owner can take certain steps that [illegible] ation. Most important, it is necessary to be sure that the water is entering the basement from the outside. More than one person has gone through the trouble and expense of a waterproofing job only to learn that there was no leak or seepage of any kind but merely condensation.

A completely wet wall, with water actually flowing down it, can be the result of excessive moisture which cannot escape. When this warm, moist air hits a cold surface, such as a basement wall, it condenses, producing a condition similar to that of seepage. If you tape a small mirror on the wall, leaving it there a day or so, you can discover whether the dampness is caused by condensation or seepage. If the surface of the mirror is wet, the problem is condensation. If it stays clear while the surrounding wall area is damp, then it's seepage.

Condensation is eliminated by permitting the moist air to escape—either by opening the windows on dry days or by using an exhaust fan—or by trapping the air with a dehumidifier. Often the amount of moist air can be cut down at the source; for instance, by venting a clothes dryer.

While there are products that can be applied to the inside of a wall for holding back seepage, a more certain solution is to prevent water from collecting in the ground along the foundation. This means sloping the ground outside the walls so that water flows away from the house and being certain that the roof drainage system—the gutters and downspouts—is operating perfectly.

Gutters and downspouts that are out of whack or clogged with debris cause overflows that pour water into the ground next to the foundation. Observe the system during a heavy rain. If water is spilling over the gutters or is collecting on the ground at the bottoms of the downspouts, repairs are in order. In severe cases, the downspouts may have to be connected to dry wells between 8 to 15 feet away from the foundation. Sometimes a downspout can be extended so that the water [illegible] paper, which a paved area, then slopes away from the house.

A major problem is when water flows through a basement wall rather than [illegible] it. Repairing the break in the wall may not be sufficient, although it can be tried first. Professional help usually is required to dig up the ground around the foundation and apply a membrane-type waterproofing material. It's a tough and expensive operation. Fortunately, using the preventive methods previously mentioned usually will avoid trouble.

(Noisy plumbing, concrete and plaster patching, removing mildew and repairing screens are among the 35 household problems discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Jobless Rate, Inflation Controversy Continues

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the wake of the recent elections, the controversy over unemployment and inflation is not likely to abate like so many other issues that were churned to the surface for the sake of argument.

Now stripped of value, the remants of these many minor controversies have been dumped like garbage from a scow, but inflation and unemployment, which are really one and the same, hang by a tow line to the ship of state.

If any greater problem faces the nation, the consensus of economists suggests, it is not in the economic sphere, and the dialogue between now and 1972 should thus be among the most colorful in recent social history.

The setting is this: the United States, as with other industrial nations, is committed to a policy of maximum output and employment consistent with wage and prive stability.

The Democrats tried to fulfill this commitment, which results from the Employment Act of 1946, and for a time seemed to succeed early in the 1960s. But by 1968, having become enveloped by inflation, they conceded defeat.

Unemployment was pushed down below 4 per cent, but as it continued downward the rate of inflation grew. The "tradeoff" was at work, meaning that at some point a falling jobless rate was simply exchanged for inflation.

The Republicans now have to deal with the issue. And while the inflation rate is now between 4 and 5 per cent, and the unemployment rate between 5 and 6 per cent, they are promising a substantial reduction by 1972.

Can they do it? Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is unusually frank in his assessment. In remarks addressed to a meeting of the National Electric manufacturers Association, he said:

"The specter of inflation haunts not only the United States economy but most European countries, where prices are now rising by at least 5 per cent annually.

"From the standpoint of political policy, the cause is clear. No one has yet found out how to combine full employment and price stability in a mature industrial economy for any appreciable period of time."

In other words, Madden suggests, we are kidding ourselves. The combination of full employment, which for practical purposes is somewhere around 3.8 per cent joblessness, and wage-price stability, is little more than a dream.

"Until public opinion can be persuaded to abandon the mythology of stable full employment which now dominates political discussion," he said, "realism in examining the tradeoff between employment and inflation is difficult."

The American public, and certainly the two major political parties, may however be unwilling to accept this thought. "It is hard to see in our recent siege of rhetorical overkill preceding the elections," Madden said, "much evidence of growing political candor."

The major task of responsible political leadership, he maintains is not to maintain unrealistic hopes, but to "dispel the myth that full employment without inflation is a realistic goal attainable in a period such as the next two years."

A stable, full-employment economy appears to represent an incredible display of tight-rope waling, even without the worry of political considerations. But with the winds of politics blowing, the job may be nearly impossible.

Without the myth, if that be what be what it is, economists and politicians would be forced to admit that the battle for stability might be without victory. That admission will never come.

The political dialogue over the next couple of years will therefore be concerned with a dilemma that may involve a myth. Those aren't the ingredients of logic; they belong to controversy.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKPORT, MASS.

QUESTION: What is Rockport, Mass., famous for and why?

* * *

ANSWER: Samuel de Champlain, French explorer, founder of the Canadian city of Quebec, discovered in 1605 a pretty little cove in a part of Cape Ann, in Massachusetts, which we now call Rockport. Why Rockport? There are some rocks there, against which the surf beats in a modest manner, but a resident of Maine might tell you that they don't compare with the grandeur of the coast further north. Where then, lies the special claim of Rockport to world fame? It's Art, capital A. Artists throng to Rockport like bees to lucious flowers. Why, again? Everything about Rockport is picturesque, meaning arranged like a picture. There are picturesque old fish shacks, especially the one we illustrate, called "Motif no. 1," meaning the first thing the newly-arrived artist wants to paint. There are fishermen, lobster pots, boats lying around, all looking natural, easy going, far away from the pushing and shoving of modern life. Drawing this picture started our artist dreaming. He's looking up bus schedules to Rockport right now, he wants to paint "Motif no.1" in color.

Age Makes Junk Valuable

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Never throw anything away.

That may have been sound advice throughout history, but it ought to be commandment today.

Junk, aged long enough, becomes valuable.

Even the desk where you carved your initials in third grade will probably be worth twice its original value in time, whether you become president or not.

If old light bulbs and used spark plugs retain dollar appeal, almost anything is worth money.

New York City is a salvager's paradise. Old buildings falling to the wrecker's ball to make way for new buildings offer the adventurous prospector a mother lode.

Doorknobs, old apartment mail boxes, ironwork railings, the very bricks of the fallen walls may be valueless on New York City streets.

But transported to suburbia, they are the instant antiquity of some modern decorating prizes.

Surely an international cartel should be organized to transport New York's junk to the points where it acquires value. And vice versa.

Old milk cans are no prized items in southwest Missouri's hills, where people still use them. And used flat irons hold little attraction for the hill housewife who can still buy them new at a discount store—and clearly remembers her mother using one.

But Manhattanites freshly fled to greener suburbs will part with cash for both those items, as well as such oddments as real cowbells, old carpenter tools, even glass-topped "Mason jars" of the sort that boys broke 30 years ago by the dozen with slingshots and b-b guns.

The array of roadside antique stops expands yearly. "Flea markets" stretch from New York's asphalt parking lots west, offering a network for junk to exchange its way around the nation.

And it is true that age alone creates value. No one collects Barbie dolls yet but the man who in 50 years has the last six in the world may claim some thing of value.

Throughout history it has been true that today's modern is tomorrow's antique.

Perhaps the lesson for parents is: If you would leave your children a real legacy, save their toys so that when they retire they will boast an instant collection of rare (and priceless) antique toys.

Lines Extended

LONDON (AP) — When Dennis Clark parked his car in a side street there were no yellow parking restriction lines painted on the road. But he returned to find his car standing on a pair of yellow lines—and a parking fine stuck on the window. While Clark was away council workmen had extended the lines under his car.

Williams Trying Separation

LONDON (AP) — Singer Andy Williams and his wife Claudine Longet say they are having a trial separation even though they are sharing a suite at the Savoy Hotel.

"The marriage wasn't quite what it should be," Williams told a newsman. "We were taking each other for granted. We finally decided to have a sabbatical—I guess a civilized separation is the best description for it."

Mrs. Williams said, "We split up because it is better to part before you get to the point of hitting each other. If we get together again our marriage will probably be much better for the separation."

Williams, 39, and his French-born wife, 28, have been married nine years.

Cromer Named To Washington Post

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative government has named as its ambassador to Washington an outspoken banker who says "It will be important to explain to the Americans why we must move closer to Europe."

The government announced Monday that Rowland Baring, 3rd Earl of Cromer, head of the great 19th century banking family of Baring, will replace journalist-politician John Freeman in Britain's No. 1 diplomatic post.

Cromer was British economic minister in Washington from 1959 to 1961 and for the next five years was governor of the Bank of England, one of the nation's most influential financial positions. His plain speaking in that post was at times a thorn to both the Conservatives who appointed him and the Laborites who inherited him in 1964. But his prestige in the international banking world was considered a major factor in the rescue of the pound early in the Laborite term.

Many observers also credit Cromer with a decisive influence in the June election that brought Prime Minister Edward Heath to power. Speaking on television, he challenged the Labor government's claim that it had strengthened the nation's economy by wiping out the balance of payments deficit.

Cromer's appointment to Washington drew cheers in British financial circles, but the Financial Times warned that his success "will depend partly upon whether he can establish a close personal relationship with the President."

The business daily added that this would be difficult as "Mr. Nixon has close personal relationships with few people."

Cromer commented to one interviewer: "I knew President Nixon when he was vice president, and we have had several serious talks."

The new envoy told well-wishers today:

"I see the important part of my new job in the area of commerce and trade and in the dollar-sterling relationship during the Common Market monetary developments. I will be dedicated to working to further the interests of both countries."

Government officials and bankers in both countries fear a monetary and tariff war may develop in the next few years. Many in Britain fear that the United States will soon impose quotas on textiles and perhaps some other imports. The Common Market countries would retaliate against American sales to Europe.

Harpies are 30-pound South American eagles that come equipped with talons as big as tigers' claws.

Alexander Not Seeking Crown

LONDON(AP) — Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia, 25-year-old son of the late King Peter, says he has no present ambition to be crowned king-in-exile.

King Peter died in Los Angeles last Tuesday.

In a statement at a Serbian Orthodox Church memorial for his father Sunday, Alexander, who is a lieutenant in a British army tank regiment, said he had not thought about crowning and "in my opinion such an event could have no constitutional effect and could well be the cause of political friction."

He added, however: "If at some future time the Yugoslav people as a whole decide that they would wish to have a restoration of the monarchy, then I shall give this question deep consideration in the light of events at that time."

Harpies, South American eagles, are more than three feet tall and have seven-foot wingspans.

Saints Upset Detroit

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Dempsey had an angel on his shoulder and some magic in his foot.

"We got beaten by a miracle, what else can you say?" was all Detroit Coach Joe Schmidt could say after Dempsey's record 63-yard field goal gave New Orleans a 19-17 National Football League upset Sunday.

The kick on the last play of the game appeared to be headed short for the underdog Saints, who supposedly had a prayer of winning.

The Saints' bull-strong booter had some faith he could make the distance, which bettered the 1956 mark of 56 yards by Baltimore's Bert Rechichar.

"I knew I could kick the ball that far, but whether or not I could kick it straight, kept running through my mind," Dempsey said. "I knew I had to hit the ball awfully hard and would need a little extra time. But the Lions held up perfectly and I got a perfect snap (from Joe Scarpati)."

The field goal had a field day in other NFL games Sunday. Cincinnati's Horst Muhlmann kicked five three-pointers as the Bengals bested Buffalo 43-14; George Blanda's 52-yarder helped Oakland trim Cleveland 23-20; Fred Cox sailed four field goals in Minnesota's 19-10 success over Washington; Mike Mercer's 38-yard boot was the difference in San Diego's 24-21 victory over Denver and Pete Gogolak ripped three as the New York Giants upset Dallas 23-20.

Atlanta and Los Angeles played to a 10-10 tie; Philadelphia won its first game since Nov. 23, 1969 by beating Miami 24-17; San Francisco routed Chicago 37-16; Kansas City slugged Houston 24-9; St. Louis walloped Boston 31-0 and Pittsburgh toppled the New York Jets 21-17 in the other games. Green Bay and Baltimore clash in the Monday night television (ABC) game in Milwaukee's County Stadium.

Dempsey's booming drive cleared the cross-bar by mere inches, and he admitted it took some special ingredients.

"There's so much involved in kicking a 60-yard field goal," he said. "You've got to try and hit the ball as hard as you possibly can and yet, kicking it straight is a hard thing to do.

"It just happened that I hit it right that time and it happened at the right time."

Detroit appeared to have won it when Erroll Mann kicked an 18-yard field goal with 11 seconds to give the Lions a one-point lead.

But New Orleans' quarterback Billy Kilmer completed a pass to Al Dodd after the Detroit kickoff and Dodd went out of bounds at the Saints' 45 with two seconds left.

Then Dempsey, born toeless on his right kicking foot, did his thing.

Muhlmann drilled field goals of 22, 30,13,36 and 43 yards for Cincinnati, which snapped a [illegible] game. Sudie Buland's O.J. [illegible] are house on his left leg.

Blanda, Oakland's 43-year-old kicking wizard, came through with his game-winner with three seconds left. He earlier relieved Daryle Lanonica at quarterback in the final period and threw a 14-yard touchdown pass and kicked the extra point.

Cox made good on attempts of 44,17, 24 and 42 yards and Dave Osborn spun over from the one as Minnesota stopped Washington.

John Hadl fired three touchdown passes, two to Gary Garrison, and Mercer added the finishing touch for San Diego with his field goal.

Gogolak kicked the New York Giants into contention with his talented toe, then Ron Johnson sparkled in a second-half comeback with two touchdowns. The Giants held off a determined Dallas scoring bid in the closing moments.

Roman Gabriel threw a four-yard scoring strike and David Ray kicked the extra point that pulled Los Angeles into a tie with underdog Atlanta.

Philadelphia had to stave off a fourth-quarter rally by battling Miami. Norm Snead had built a substantial Eagle lead on three TD tosses.

John Brodie completed 21 passes for San Francisco and moved into an elite class of quarterbacks with 2,000 or more lifetime completions. John Unitas, Y.A. Tittle and Sonny Jurgensen are the others.

Linebacker Bobby Bell latched onto a Houston pass and raced 45 yards for a Kansas City touchdown that broke open the rainstorm-slowed game.

Knicks Nip Portland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A National Basketball Association team scores 46 points in one period and it probably should win the game, right?

Wrong. The Portland Trail Blazers came out smoking with a 46-point fourth quarter, but wound up trailing the New York Knicks Sunday night.

Final: New York 125 Portland 113.

The Knicks actually had cooled off Portland with some hot hands of their own in Willis Reed, Walt Frazier and Cazzie Russell. They led by as many as 31 points in the third period. Reed and Frazier had 28 points apiece and Russell, 21.

In Sunday's other NBA games, Seattle defeated Cleveland 111-105; Milwaukee stopped Phoenix 125-105 and Los Angeles turned back Baltimore 124-105.

In the American Basketball Association, Memphis trimmed Pittsburgh 105-96; Utah stopped Indiana 111-103; New York's Nets toppled Denver 114-104 and Carolina defeated the Floridians 122-115.

In the NBA Saturday night, it was Boston 140, Cincinnati 122; Philadelphia 134, Seattle 128; Phoenix 107, Atlanta 100; Chicago 125, Detroit 99; San Francisco 114, San Diego 102 and Buffalo 103, Cleveland 91.

Seattle overcame a 17-point deficit in handing the winless Cleveland Cavaliers their 14th straight defeat, one short of the NBA mark for consecutive losses at the start of the season.

Kittens Rip Lake View 60-6

The Snyder Kittens blasted Lake View 60-6 here Saturday afternoon in a "B" team football game.

Snyder took the opening kickoff and drove inside the 10 before relinquishing possession. On the second play, the Chiefs fumbled in the end zone and Chris Covey recovered for a touchdown. David Chambers ran for two points.

The Kittens really got to rolling in the second period. Ivory Greer broke loose on a 30 yard run, and Chambers added the two extra points.

Moments later, Jackie Hartsfield recovered a fumble and Ivory Greer sprinted 31 yards to pay dirt. Glen Hoyle added the extra points. In the next touchdown drive, Chambers connected with Jackie Hartsfield on a long pass, then he hit him for a 10 yarder in the end zone as the count soared to 38-0. Glenn Hoyle made it 40-0.

David Tyrone scored two touchdowns in the third quarter. The first one was a 50 yard run, and the second one was good for 29 yards. Neither extra point try was picked up as the Kittens held a 52-0 lead going into the final quarter.

Then Chambers connected with Hartsfield again, this time for 36 yards and the final Kitten tally. Glenn Hoyle added the two point bonus.

Five Prep Powers Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spoilers had a field day with The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll last weekend and their handiwork should be reflected in this week's balloting.

Five teams ranked in last week's poll tumbled in games last weekend including sixth-ranked LaMarque and 10th rated Texarkana in Class AAAA; fourth ranked Daingerfield and ninth ranked Belton in Class AAA and 10th ranked Carrizo Springs in Class AA.

But the form chart remained true as far as the top-ranked teams were concerned.

Wildcats Lose Lindsey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Abilene Christian College will try to recover from its biggest loss of the season this weekend when the Wildcats meet Trinity in a showdown for second place in the Southland Conference.

ACC defeated UT-Arlington 21-7 Saturday but lost NCAA passing champion Jim Lindsey with a broken collarbone. Lindsey completed 21 of 36 passes for 256 yards and one touchdown in his final collegiate performance before the injury.

Arkansas State, the No. 1 ranked team in The Associated Press small college poll, could wrap up its second straight SLC crown Saturday with a victory over UT-Arlington, which is winless in eight outings. Arkansas State is 8-0.

Lamar Tech plays a non-conference date at New Mexico State in the only other SLC action this week.

Arkansas State pounded North Dakota 23-18 last Saturday and Trinity defeated Lamar Tech 37-31.

Arkansas State lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted but managed a 20-0 lead in the second quarter.

Greg Oliver and Earl Costley each scored twice in Trinity's victory over Lamar Tech.

Bears Give Texas Stiff Competition

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

What a difference a year makes.

Last season about this time, Baylor head coach Bill Beall was at one of the low ebbs of his first season at Baylor following a 56-14 loss to Texas.

"I think all of us made a promise that wouldn't happen again if hard work had anything to do with it," Beall said Saturday.

Beall and his Fighting Bears lost again this year but that fact has almost been lost in the uproar surrounding the closeness of Texas' 21-14 victory.

In battling the No. 1 ranked Longhorns to the narrow victory margin, the Bears, who have won but two games in two seasons, may have knocked the Longhorns out of their top national ranking.

"You know, Jess Neely (former Rice coach) once said there was no such thing as a super team," Beall said. "That doesn't take anything away from Texas. They're good."

Longhorn head coach Darrell Royal offered no alibis.

"If I have any praise, it goes to the Baylor football team," Royal said. "They were playing an odd defense. They were meeting and defeating our blockers. We just didn't block well at all. We have no alibis. Baylor just played good, hardnosed football."

Beall said the Bears felt they could stop the Horns awesome option play. "If there is a better sophomore defensive end than Roger Goree or a better linebacker than Davis Jones, I want to find him," Beall said.

So suddenly, the word "fighting" is back in the Baylor nickname and Texas Tech must be wondering what kind of atmosphere it'll face in its SWC battle at Waco with the Bears Saturday.

Tech is the only SWC team left in the SWC chase with Texas and Arkansas, having eliminated Texas Christian 22-14 in Lubbock Saturday. The Raiders are 4-1 in the campaign and can't afford another loss.

In other matchups this weekend, Southern Methodist is at seventh-ranked Arkansas; Rice is at Texas A&M and Texas is at Texas Christian.

Arkansas recovered from a halftime deficit to defeat Rice 38-14 and SMU defeated Texas A&M on two field goals by chipper Johnson in other SWC action last Saturday.

Tech's Doug McCutchen churned out 204 yards rushing against TCU and Tech quarterback Charles Napper passed for two touchdowns and Dickie Ingram booted three field goals to pace the Raider offensive effort.

Tech defensive end Bruce Dowdy stopped TCU quarterback Steve Judy cold on a first down try at the Tech six late in the game to kill a Frog scoring attempt.

Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery pushed the Razorbacks to five consecutive scoring drives in the second half to finally put away the troublesome Owls. Tailback Mike Saint helped get the Hog ground game going.

Johnson booted a 24-yard field goal to give SMU a 3-0 halftime lead and then split the uprights with a 38-yarder with two seconds left on the clock for the Mustangs' victory margin. Pat McDermott hit a 34-yard field goal for A&M's only points.

Hermleigh Sets Homecoming

HERMLEIGH—Homecoming has been set Nov. 14 at Hermleigh. Activities will begin at 2:30 p.m. with the football game with the Hobbs Panthers.

Registration will begin at 4. Supper will be served from 6 until 7:30. A program will follow with Jay Williams, a former coach, the speaker.

Syracuse has added Northwestern (Sept. 25, 1971) as an 11th football rival on next season's schedule.

These were among other victims:

TOO VALUABLE FOR COINAGE USE

Government Breaks With Silver Tuesday

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government officially gets out of the silver business this week, ending a long, colorful and sometimes controversial association with the white metal.

Once the main issue of a presidential campaign, the metal that used to make American coins ring has fallen on hard times—at least as money.

The government break with silver comes Tuesday, the date of the Treasury Department's final sale of the metal on the private market.

"Silver is just too valuable to be used as coinage," according to Thomas Wolfe, director of Treasury's Office of Gold and Silver Operation.

In other words, the supply of the metal has fallen so short of the demand that the face value of silver coins is worth less than could be obtained by melting the money and selling the silver.

At the last sale a few weeks ago, silver brought a price of $1.76 an ounce. Three years ago the set price for silver was $1.29 an ounce.

For all practical purposes, silver coinage ended in the United States in 1965 when Congress ordered all American coins except the Kennedy half-dollar minted from a copper-nickel alloy. Now, because of the supply and demand problem, even the Kennedy coin is not being made.

Silver coins were used in this country in the early years, and through most of the 19th century the U.S. money system was based on both gold and silver.

But in 1873 the nation, along with most of Europe, went on a strictly gold standard, leading to a struggle that nearly split the Democratic party and embittered U.S. farmers against the Eastern business and banking community.

The issue at what time revolved around the farmer's and other workingmen's desire for more available money—and easier credit—against the banker-businessman's contention that hard currency—gold—was the only protection against inflation and a debtor economy.

The issue reached its climax when William Jennings Bryan won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1896 after his famous speech in which he thundered at the bankers: "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

But, faced with mass desertions from his party, Bryan lost in 1896 and twice more; the political appeal of freer silver lost with him.

Gold remained the nations money base until 1933 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt took the United States off the gold standard in an anti-Depression move.

Tuesday's severing from the silver market won't quite cut all government relations with the metal. The Treasury still has about 24 million ounces of unrefined silver and the Defense stockpile has another 155 million ounces for industrial use in emergencies and in the event some future Congress might decide a silver coin is needed.

"Quickies" Ended Sunday

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — So-called "quickie" divorces which made this border town popular with Americans for 37 years ended Sunday with establishment of a more stringent law requiring six weeks residency and appearance of both litigants in court.

The old Chihuahua state law attracted millions of dollars annually, mainly from Americans who could receive a mutual consent divorce in just a few hours. It was necessary for only one of the marital partners to appear in court.

"Well, that's it," said Eugenio C. Flores, a prominent Juarez attorney specializing in divorces, who said that since 1948 he has assisted over 50,000 couples in untying the marital knot.

Well over 1,000 last minute divorce applications were filed in the past three days with some 80 lawyers and countless clerks from three state courts working to process the petitions. No new applications under the 1933 statute were accepted after midnight Saturday.

Though more conservative than the old law, the new statute is still more lenient than laws applying to the remainder of Mexico requiring 90 days residency and a waiting period for finalizing the decree.

The three state courts were crowded by hundreds of petitioners trying to beat the Saturday midnight deadline.

Flores said the divorce business in Juarez accounted for 25 million pesos ($2.4 million) in revenue the first eight months of this year.

"It will be a couple of days before an accurate count is made of the applications," he said.

The government has made no formal statements on the more restrictive divorce law but sources close to the scene saw the measure as a forestalling effort against what was feared to be even tougher laws when a new regime takes office Dec. 1.

Racer Killed In Crash

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) A flaming collision of two drag race cars killed one occupant and injured two others gravely Sunday evening.

David Lee Rodgers, 22, of Grand Prairie burned to death in the crash at the Yello Belly Drag Strip.

Sheriff's Deputy Les Kennedy reported a 1940 model coupe carrying Rodgers and Billy Nicholson, 17, also of Grand Prairie, pulled onto the track in the path of a pickup truck.

Nicholson suffered burns over half his body as the coupe's gasoline tank burst and flames enveloped the vehicle, trapping him and Rodgers inside. Attendants said he was in critical condition.

Danny Bart Ford, 19, of Dallas was hurled from the pickup and injured internally. Attendants said his condition also was critical.

Tony Garza, 46, of McKinney and Dale Smelser, 4, of Coppell were with Ford in the pickup. They escaped with cuts and bruises.

The crash occurred after the day's races had ended and about 500 spectators escaped injury.

Deputy Killed At Roadblock

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old Californian was hospitalized in critical condition Sunday after his car rammed through three police barricades across West and Southwest Texas, killing a ValVerde County sheriff's deputy.

Charges of murder with malice were filed against Eddie R. Jeffery of Los Angeles by Peace Justice Sergio Gonzales.

Killed in the incident was Deputy D.W. Bowers.

Officers said they set up a roadblock near Sanderson in West Texas following a Saturday night gas station robbery. Officers said a car stolen in California rammed through the barricade and they set up another near Comstock but it, too, was destroyed when the car rammed through it.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers established a third blockade at Devil's River near Del Rio which the car approached at speeds of up to 130 miles per hour, officers said.

Officers said a warning shot was fired at the vehicle just before Bowers stepped into the road and fired his shotgun point plant at the oncoming car.

Highway patrolmen said the shotgun crashed through the car windshield and Bowers' body sailed 50 feet through the air when he was struck by the car.

Officers said the driver leaped from the car but was felled in a hail of gunfire.

Jeffery was taken to the Bexar County Hospital at San Antonio for treatment of his wounds.
