THE JUNCTION EAGLE

Volume 45

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Thursday, April 19, 1928

Number 1

BANQUET GIVEN BY THE AMERICAN LEGION

On April 11th, Wednesday of last week, the Burt Fleming Post No. 237 of the American Legion of this place held its first banquet for several months. A sumptuous meal of barbecued chevon, dill pickles and coffee, together with many varieties of salads, pies and cakes furnished by the ladies was served to more than seventy-two guests at 8:30 p. m. at McWright's Camp.

The Chamber of Commerce band rendered several selections of music which was appreciated by the entire assemblage.

After the banquet, a short talk was made by Capt. H. W. Rieck of Roosevelt, Texas, who expressed himself as being optimistic about the future of the American Legion. He further stated that it was a great personal pleasure to again be with his "buddies" and engage with them in carrying out the great principles upon which the American Legion is based. Other speakers of the evening suggested the organization of an auxiliary of the American Legion which seemed to meet with approval among the ladies.

It was decided that the first Monday night of each month would be the regular meeting period, and the next date on which the meeting will meet, according to Post Commander Buck and Adjutant Lowgren, is May 7th, 1928, at the court house in Junction. Every ex-service man should co-operate with this organization. Your proper service to your county, State and Nation is just as essential now as it was when you were a soldier.

INTER-SCHOLASTIC DISTRICT MEET

The District Meet of the Inter-scholastic League was held at Kerrville April 13th and 14th. The contestants of the Junction school entitled to attending the District Meet were present. Those winning in the District contests were:

Christine Schranb, 1st place in junior girl's declamation.
Carleton Wright, 1st place in senior boys' declamation.
Herbert Newman, 2nd place in senior boys' declamation.
Ruby Davis, 1st place in essay writing.

According to the rules of the League the essay will be sent to Austin to the State Meet, and Carleton Wright will compete in declamation at the same meet. Those in junior declamation go only as far as the District Meet.

DUDE RANCHING GOOD IN TEXAS

Alpine—Dude ranch business in Texas is now thoroughly established and thousands of Texans will spend their vacations in Texas instead of going to Colorado, is the opinion of Pete Crawford, manager of La Cienega Ranch near here. Crawford, former cowboy and border officer and government pack train master, is known as the first organizer of the first dude ranch in Texas.

This huge ranch, opened last summer for the first time, includes more than 35,000 acres of land and is stocked with thousands of head of cattle. Situated on it is the famous Mount Ord, bandit rendezvous, made famous by Zane Grey in his novels.

Hundreds of Texans spent their vacations on this noted ranch last summer and will return again this summer, according to Crawford, who has announced many improvements and the adding of modern conveniences to the famous old ranch buildings.

Housing quarters are provided at the ranch in old adobe houses built by Mexicans. Meals are prepared in regular ranch style, while parties follow chuck wagons over the cow trails with the cow-punchers.

COUNTY AND CITY SCHOOL ELECTION

Following is the result of the county and city school board elections from election returns as canvassed by the Commissioners' Court.

J. N. Hodges was elected County School Trustee at large. John M. Hankins for Precinct No. 1, John Graham for Precinct No. 2, and Ernest Amaon for Precinct No. 3.

Like all school elections usually are, a small vote was polled, while the interest was more marked in districts where other elections were being carried on at the same time, as was true in the Roosevelt and Copperas local school districts.

Kimble County has a system of schools that is working nicely and we predict an era of improvement with the enthusiasm of the newly elected officers in this election to add impetus to the situation.

There are a number of men who received scattered votes for the various offices and we are only giving the returns for the men who received the highest number of votes.

For County School Trustees at large:

J. N. Hodges.....234
F. L. Wilson.....85
County Trustee for the District:

John M. Hankins.....139
For School District No. 1:

E. R. Borden, Chris Schraub, W. P. Riley.

For County Trustee District No. 3: E. F. Amaon.

For County Trustee, District No. 2: John Graham.

SCHOLASTIC ENUMERATION

From the office of the County Superintendent we have obtained a tabulated list of the scholastic enumeration for the years 1927 and 1928, the latter of which is just complete.

|             | 1927 | 1928 |
|-------------|------|------|
| Junction    | 417  | 401  |
| Evergreen   | 17   | 20   |
| Segovia     | 50   | 40   |
| London      | 141  | 142  |
| Noxville    | 20   | 16   |
| Adams       | 27   | 26   |
| White Bluff | 17   | 18   |
| Eight Mile  | 15   | 21   |
| Bear Creek  | 19   | 20   |
| Whitworth   | 14   | 13   |
| Copperas    | 38   | 32   |
| Murr        | 21   | 26   |
| James River | 16   | 17   |
| Ivy         | 37   | 36   |
| Roosevelt   | 58   | 24   |
| Watson      | 5    | 29   |
| Tea Cup     | 57   | 39   |
| Hull        | 8    | 7    |

It will be observed that there is an increase in scholastics for the past year of exactly 50, which would indicate on the basis of one to five, which is usually used to determine population, that we have had an increase of 250 people in the county the past year. By a comparative study of the schools it will be seen that most of the schools have increased some, and the enthusiasm of the school patrons, can usually be determined by the census for the year.

If there is a good school interest, the enumeration is usually complete. If it is not, there is usually a falling off. This rule of course has its exceptions, but by referring to consolidated districts No. 19 and Roosevelt No. 17, where there have been recent improvements in the schools, it will be noted there is a very substantial increase in the enumeration.

Every pressure has been brought to bear by the county superintendent in order to get the enumerators to obtain all the scholastics, but despite this fact, we feel certain that the 23 short of 1000 for the county could have been easily gotten if every enumerator had obtained all the scholastics in his, or her district.

The increase shown will amount to approximately $750 more apportionment from the State to this county the coming school year.

BUNDY TO CALIFORNIA AFTER FINE SHEEP

We are in receipt of information that S. S. Bundy, of the Roosevelt community is in California this week for the purpose of purchasing more fine blooded Rambouillet bucks to add to his flock.

He may feel like scoring the editor of this newspaper when he returns, but we believe that a few flowers for the living in his case, will not be amiss.

If you want to get accurate information about ranch business in this part of Texas, you find S. S. Bundy in possession of the facts, obtained by scientific experiment. He can tell you the food value of almost every kind of grass and tree and shrub on our Western ranges in relation to the sheep and goat industry. He knows stock medicines, and ranch management by the same method.

CITY OFFICIALS TAKE OATH OF OFFICE

Tuesday night Judge J. B. Randolph administered the oath of office to mayor E. Holekamp, and councilmen J. A. Heyman, J. L. Massie, F. S. Bissett, N. C. Patterson and A. O. Lawler.

45-POUND CAT-FISH HAS BEEN CAUGHT

No, this is not a fish story. Usually when a man starts to tell you about catching a 45-pound cat-fish, you look around and wink at the other fellow. No doubt Boyd Jetton has done some winking himself when stories of this kind were told. So just to keep the records straight, Wednesday he brought to town a 45-pound yellow cat-fish, caught in the South Llano.

Miss Gussie Burris spent the week-end in Junction.

Mesdames F. M. Hodges and A. Allsup were business visitors in Junction Monday, accompanied by Robert and his sister, Edith Allsup.

Julius Hunger was a week-end visitor with his brother, Ed, and family.

Mr. Roberts and wife of Telegraph are in Virginia at the bedside of their sick daughter who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. McSmith were guests at the E. Hunger home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. G. G. Martin of Chicago arrived Tuesday to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kountz.

ROCKSPRINGS HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

Thursday afternoon at two o'clock the people of Edward County and the surrounding country "Remembered" those who lost their lives in the tornado here last April 12th, with a very impressive decoration and memorial ceremony at the cemetery. Several hundred people from here and neighboring towns were present to pay their sincere tribute to the victims of this fateful storm and as an expression of friendship and good will toward each other.

The program was in the hands of the four local ministers with Rev. Lindsey acting as master of ceremonies. After a touching song by the assembly a quartet by Messrs. A. W. Owens, R. J. Ridley, Elvin Bost and C. G. Race and a beautiful duet by Mrs. C. A. Tyler and Rev. Bost, the feature speaker of the afternoon, Rev. F. L. Bachelor of Uvalde, delivered a very impressive and pretty sermon on the theme of Resurrection. Rev. Bachelor, who is presiding elder of this district and who is one of the biggest Masonic workers in the south, is indeed one of the most able talkers to have ever been here and in his discourse painted a beautiful picture for his listeners.

Rev. Robert Hutchens spoke shortly on the thought of "Remember." After which A. B. Ewing, secretary of the Del Rio chamber of commerce, spoke briefly in extending greetings from his town and said that it was the idea and suggestion of Julian La Crosse, District Attorney and owner of the West Texas News, that the large assortment of flowers from Del Rio were collected and sent up Coke Stevenson of Junction, one of the most able attorneys in Texas, extended greetings from his people and offered the thought that though the neighboring towns had been given much credit for their assistance to Rocksprings but that in his mind this was only the impulses of noble hearts, hence no credit was due. He said the deeds and work of the neighboring towns was insignificant in comparison to what local people did and went through with.

There was a large crowd of Mexicans present and a young local Mexican man and his family sang a religious song, after which this young man delivered in a very forceful manner a beautiful message to his people. —Rocksprings Record.

Max McClure, 14 year old school boy of Lawrence, Kansas, with the 16-inch ear of corn that won for him first prize in the annual "Biggest Ear of Corn" contest in Lawrence. The corn is of the Red's Yellow Dent species. Young McClure raised enough corn in 1927 to feed all the hogs on his farm and pay his way through school.

BUSINESS INTEREST CHANGES HANDS

A deal was consummated this week between Mrs. Pearl Chadwell and Mr. H. G. Hulbert of Austin, Texas, wherein the latter named acquired by purchase the interest of Mrs. Chadwell in the Gann Grocery Company.

Mr. Hulbert plans to move to Junction in the near future and actively assist in the business of the Gann Grocery Company. For many years Mr. Hulbert was a resident of Coleman County and is well and favorably known throughout that section of Texas. The writer in a conversation recently with his banker at Coleman, was told that he was a good man and reliable in every respect.

We welcome him to our little city and invite our patrons to make his acquaintance.

Mrs. Chadwell has been associated with the Gann Grocery Company since it purchased the Butt & Garrett Grocery Company, and has made many friends, all of whom desire that she continue her home in Junction. She will probably visit her daughter for a while in San Antonio.

IVY ECHOES

School work is moving along well and no one has ever shown any disposition to shirk a day's duty.

Remember our play at the Community Hall in London Friday night, April the 20th. The awful predicament that the "Poor Married Man" gets into will arouse your sympathy, and Black Jupiter's actions will bring down the laughter—come.

We had another rain last Saturday; also some sleet. "Old Man Winter" regrets to leave.

Earl Hight was a visitor at school last Friday. Earl is always a welcome visitor. He has never gotten so old but what he enjoys the games on the playgrounds at recess.

Bonnie Ray Amberson was absent from school Monday because she had sore throat.

Miss Mayo visited at Mason last Sunday.

Yates now sports a bumper gate, located at the south end of Main Avenue. T. J. Lange now has a better idea which end of the lane to take in order to find his horses.

School proverb for this week: "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

GEORGE PARKER OPERATED ON

George Parker underwent a serious operation at the Secor hospital in Kerrville Tuesday morning following more than three years of suffering from a growth on his lungs. It is a major operation in an effort to relieve his suffering and it is sincerely hoped that it will start him on the road to his former good health. During the past three years he has been under the treatment of a score or more of the most skilled specialists in the state but as yet they have afforded him no relief, never having uncovered the cause of his disease. For more than a year he has been confined to his bed and room with faint hope for recovery. The operation performed Tuesday promises to be a great success and the many friends of Mr. Parker are anxiously watching his progress. At present his condition is reported to show improvement although it is difficult to ascertain at so early a date.—Harper Herald.

Mesdames Alex Wahl and little daughter, Fay, and A. P. Boyett and son, made a trip to San Antonio Wednesday.

This Week

By Arthur Brisbane

There is a great deal of the hope that President Coolidge will consent to run for a second election this year. Everybody knows he meant it when he said "I do not choose." Everybody knows he means it when he says now he does not want any of his friends to file a finger to nominate him.

But the oil scandal makes a difference in the situation, and everyone of intelligence reserves the right to change his mind.

Cotton "pickers and strippers," replacing human fingers with machinery, are now working in northwestern Texas.

This is good news. Prosperity for farmers depends on machinery, on doing with the earth's products what Ford, first, did with automobiles.

In the Gary rolling mill half a dozen men roll out steel rails that ten thousand men could not have produced with old sledge hammer methods. No human hand touches the iron, until a tall young Scandinavian runs his keen eye along the finished rail and signals another man, who straightens it. Machine dig the ore, put it in ships, unload it, handle it, cold and hot.

Six men, some day, will run a 1,000-acre farm, and multiply its crops by ten. Don't worry about over-population.

The infant death rate is down in Pennsylvania and New York. And that's the most important "crop news" this year.

If only civilization took as much interest in babies as it does in young calves, pigs, boll weevil and corn borer.

Consider Nature's limitless fecundity.

Mr. Ringling shows you this year a sea-elephant weighing four tons that eats 5 per cent of his weight, or 400 pounds of herrings, at one meal.

Any one of a dozen fishes in one generation would fill all the oceans and seas of the world solid with fish if they and their descendants all survive. The elephant, on the other hand, lives a hundred years and only has two or three children at most. Wise nature.

Canada has hanged George McDonald, forger, confidence man and murderer. His young wife, saved from the rope by public appeals, sent him word, "I shall never cease praying for you." She, poor woman, will have time to keep that promise in her life imprisonment. In Canada it MEANS life imprisonment.

Springing that woman is a step toward civilization. Once thousands a year were hanged for petty crimes. Hence the expression, "As well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb." Children were hanged and quartered in Franklin's childhood.

"Civilization" has stopped hanging children, and gradually will stop hanging women, and finally will STOP HANGING. And men, astonished, will see crime diminish.

Tom Wise is dead, Shepherd of the Lamb's Club, and a good actor. Years ago William A. Brady asked this writer to see Tom Wise in a play called "A Gentleman from Mississippi" that Brady was producing.

This writer told Brady, "You have a first class play, and there is in it a young actor playing a minor part, jumping over chairs, etc., that is going to make a success. You ought to make a contract with him." The young man's name was Douglas Fairbanks.

What Cooper wrote about the last noble red men will soon be written of the last wild horses. Not long afterward, thanks to the motor truck, will come the last of the tame horses.

In the State of Washington a thousand wild horses yesterday were being driven toward Yakima, their hides to be sold, their flesh fed to fox farms, or fed to dogs and chickens. The carcasses are worth $3 each.

A big candy factory is closed in New York City, called "a menace to health" by Commissioner Harris.

Buy pure candies from shops and manufacturers with established reputations. All sorts of trash is fed to children. A certain clay mixed and flavored, and a little inferior chocolate, is sold for pure chocolate. That crime should mean twenty years in jail.

CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW—

Beauty in Trunks

From grandfather's old carpet bag to the modern wardrobe trunk is a long jump.

Any kind of an old bag used to do when our grandparents, and even our parents, went traveling. In Boston the "green bag" is still a badge of distinction popular with traveling men and Harvard students. It had the advantage of possessing color and up to less than half a dozen years ago it stood out in its beautiful green against all black baggage, including trunks and other luggage.

But now you can look in the wonder windows of great department and specialty stores and find luggage for every purpose, all dolled up for the motor, or for regular long distance traveling, and it is covered in especially developed types of fabricoid that makes it as beautiful as it is practical. Wardrobe compartments that will preserve three suits and five dresses in a state of freshness are among the new marvels of luggage.

There are even auto trunks that are so cleverly arranged that they contain special compartments for tools that may be opened without disturbing the main sections of the trunk; and the young hopeful of the household who is included in the family motor party only has to look carefully to discover that in some of these trunks there is a metal-lined end compartment that provides an ideal storage place for his fishing tackle, wet bathing suits, or anything else that the young hopeful thinks should be added to the equipment.

A dance fiddler claims that he taps his foot half a million times every year. Something should be attached to his shoe to utilize the energy produced.

Statistics of the vast number of people who are not working are quite alarming. What we would like to know is how many of them have jobs.

DR. FRANK CRANE SAYS—

Pin Pricks

The gentleman who gives you a sock in the jaw does not arouse so much resentment as the lady who continually nags at you. We can stand the roar of a cannon once better than we can stand the continual dripping that wears away the stone. It is not the big things in life that we have to fear so much as it is the little things.

We must so to order our lives that our daily intercourse with people shall be pleasant and not irritating.

I knew an old woman who had two daughters.

One stayed at home and gave up a career to take care of her mother in her old age; the other moved to a far city, rarely wrote and never came to see her.

The old woman complained continually of the little irritations her stay-at-home daughter caused her and enlarged upon the virtues of the daughter she never saw.

When she died and her will was read it was found she had left every cent to the daughter who had moved away and nothing to the one who had given up everything to care for her.

A father and four sons went into debt to buy a farm. Three of the boys went off, leaving the one son with the father to pay off the debt.

The father took sick and for the best years of his life the son slaved until the debt was cleared away. While the other three boys were along in their careers he had missed an education, had put off his marriage, had given up the career he had planned.

At his father's death it was found that he had left the farm to be divided up equally among the four boys.

Whether we can make head or tail out of the justice of the story of the Prodigal Son, there is nothing truer to human nature.

ture. As the screech of a locomotive is velvety into a woodwind sound by distance, the irritating little rough places in personality seem to fade in those afar off.

The small imperfections in the one who stays at home are evident and continuously seen.

Rich gifts are counted poor not only when givers prove unkind but when they prove irritating.

As time goes on too often the small irritations loom larger than the essential immolation.

The pin-pricks outweigh the sacrifice.

KNOW TEXAS

Texas has an inexhaustible supply of lignite. The belt extends beneath the vicinity of Laredo to Northeast Texas covering a territory of 60,000 square miles and having an estimated quantity of 30 billions of tons of unmined lignite.

Among the metals found in Texas are iron, lead, copper, manganese, mercury, zinc, silver, tin, vanadium, tungsten, and uranium.

The salt resources of Texas are enormous. Some salt strata beneath West Texas from 250 to 1,000 feet thick.

Texas has two elements for making glass, an abundance of silica and cheap fuel in the form of natural gas.

The value of mineral waters produced in Texas ranges between $50,000 and $200,000 annually.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

(by Nancy Hart)

Two serving secrets that are timesavers for the home-maker may be summed up in these few words:

Prepare foods before hand whenever possible, so all the fussy work is done during the "cleaning-up" part of the day. Then when ready to serve, one need only lift the dishes out of the oven or refrigerator and place them on the table.

Escalloped and casserole recipes, meat loaf, custards and tapioca desserts lend themselves well to this scheme.

Another short-cut is offered by the compartment plate. Meat, potatoes, a green vegetable and a salad can be artistically arranged on the plate. Then when dessert is in order there is but one dish to remove from each place. This adds tremendously to the efficiency of a meal, and makes easy, pleasant service for all concerned.

Ham and Chicken en Casserole

In a well-buttered casserole put diced chicken and ham. Mix with cream sauce; cover with grated cheese and crumbs and brown.

For cream sauce use: 2 level tablespoons of butter or margarine, same of flour, 1 cup milk, salt and pepper. Blend as usual.

Milk Brightens Silver

The silver will be much brighter if you add a little milk to the water in which it is washed.

When the Pans "Stick"

Never scrape a scorched pan. Just sprinkle baking soda over the spots and set aside for a while. The food will soon loosen up and the pan may be easily cleaned.

Does Your Oven Scorch Cakes?
If bread, cakes and biscuits have a habit of scorching in your oven, set a small pan of salt water under the tins and note the improved baking.

For Sparkling Windows
A few drops of vinegar added to the water when washing windows gives a fine brilliance to the glass.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

(by John J. Calves, M. D.)

Old Remedies
Old friends are, by virtue of their lasting qualities, usually the best; and so it is with medicines—there are few better or safer than the time-tried. Some of our most valuable agents for healing the sick may be said to be hoary with age—yet we know their action much more thoroughly than many of the new remedies, thus we find them trustworthy.

I have before me a patriarch in medical literature—a book 115 years old; it is interesting to note the medicines in use today that were utilized then, and the list is not short. Camphor is one; opium, the good servant and the bad master; alcohol (spelled "alkohol") of which the same may be truly said; mercury, then called "quick-silver," and two of its derivatives, calomel and "mass of quick-silver." These and many others remain in use today, and doubtless will live when most of the modern, highly-commercialized synthetics are forgotten with the expiration of the patent or copyrighted label.

The poultice and the liniment so popular then, and the much-used "salve" are fast becoming unheard of, and, perhaps, wisely so. The old-fashioned smear, grime and stain, as well as the nauseating bolus have been relegated to the rear, and we rejoice thereat. The alkaloid of science has about replaced the crude drug. Medicine has held pace with world-advancement very creditably.

May I suggest here that when you clean house this spring you neglect not your household remedies; brighten and fill the castor-oil bottle, the camphor flask, the iodine container, the steatite-zinc shaker, the carbolated vaseline jug. Be ready for most emergencies, with good, old, time-tried remedies that you know the most about; it will make the doctor's task lighter if you are compelled to summon him. A roll of adhesive tape comes handy when needed. Don't keep active poisons on hand, such as strychnin tablets, aconite, calomel, belladonna, and such like, unless with full knowledge and advice of your physician.

When the yellow streak begins to work out of some people they have a fit of the blues.

STATE FIGHTS POTATO WEEVIL

The State Commission of Agriculture is making an effort to stop the spread of the potato weevil and other harmful pests. In the past few years the potato weevil, the nematode gaul worm and fungus diseases have damaged the Texas potato crop greatly.

Like other pests and diseases, they are carried from place to place in various ways. One of the chief methods of dispersal is by shipping the infested plants. Seed beds and plants should be inspected before plants are shipped. When any harmful insects or diseases are observed the plants and beds should be treated, or destroyed. Such plants should not go to market. Prevention is always better than the cure.

Yarn mills in Japan making the fine grades of cotton yarns for mills in China and elsewhere are buying almost all their raw materials from American sources this season. For the first five months of the current season the Japanese bought 727,023 bales. This was only a little more than three-quarters of the demand in the same period last year, because conditions in the Japanese spinning industry are not favorable.

The Friends' Class of the Methodist church entertained with a banquet in the Sunday School room of the church Tuesday evening.

Dainty floral place cards and a spray of blue bonnets marked each plate.

A POEM

(by Mrs. Mabel Hardesty)
Oh, come to the land of the western sun,
Where every business is overdone.

Where the stores charge freight on goods made here.

Ask them the reason and they think you queer.

They serve you climate with all your meals;

It's so blamed hot your back peals.

The "Ananias" club includes the State,

From San Diego to the Golden Gate.

The movie stars marry twice a year—

Would marry more of the way were clear.

The grape fruit here are something fine.

Crossed between lemon and pumpkin rind.

Where cows eat barley instead of hay.

And the cream gets lost in the milky way.

They sell you lots made by hand, And make you believe it's really land.

The view of the ocean is very nice, This is included in the price.

They weigh the sack and then the fruit,

Then weigh them again and their fingers to boot.

They claim it is wet if it rains once a year,

You get so dry you can't shed a tear.

The chickens have mites and the dogs have fleas,

The desert wind blows and the oranges freeze.

We shovel sand, you shovel snow;

Just about a stand-off as far as I know.

So tune up your fiver and start for the west,

Where jobs are scarce and the pay is less;

Bring all your cash and plenty of clothes;

When you get any more the Lord only knows.

I'm telling this story which I know is true,

As seen by me through eyes of blue.

If the booster club ever gets this back,

They will change my eyes from blue to black.

They asked me to write the truth to a friend,

Now I have done so, and this is the end.

ICE

Solves Refrigeration's Biggest Problem.

ONE of the outstanding advantages of ICE lies in its ability to not only keep food but purify it. As the air circulates over the ice, the impurities and odors from the food are deposited on and absorbed by the film of moisture on the ice cake and carried off in meltage through the outlet. It takes melting ice and an open outlet to do this.

In buying a refrigerator, make sure that it is well insulated, soundly constructed, scientifically designed for proper air circulation, with ample food chamber and ice chamber capacity for the size of your family.

more food space

FRIGIDAIRE provides greater food space than other electric refrigerators of equal size. This is because the highly efficient and economical front coil, an exclusive Frigidaire feature, occupies less space than the brine tank previously used, permitting greater food storage capacity in a cabinet of any given size. Larger supplies of perishable foods can be carried at one time.

Greater food capacity, quieter operation, freedom from vibration, lower operating cost, a wider range of models, the more precise engineering and manufacturing methods of General Motors, greater beauty of design, proven dependability in service—these are the things that have made Frigidaire the choice of the overwhelming majority of users of electric refrigerators.

TEACUP MOUNTAIN

(By Emmett T. Boudler)

Yes, sir, we killed a lot of them with that first volley. Some of the boys had shot guns. These they loaded with all the charge that they thought the gun could stand. Then they would rest the butt of the gun against a rock, to keep it from kicking, you know, point it in the general direction of the Indians and let go. Man, if you never been in a night where they used shot guns, you ain't never seen no war. Every time one of the old pea-shooters roared a dozen red skins would get their one-way ticket to the happy hunting grounds.

"Did they retreat? Not as you could tell it. They jest hung on and kept on trying to make it up the mountain. We would make it so hot for them that they would have to fall back, but they would go down behind the rocks and tie up their wounds and come again. Everything was all in our favor but they didn't give up trying. No, sir, one young chief in particular showed that he was everything but yellow. He jumps up from behind a boulder and comes charging toward us, yelling like all hallelujah. The boys jest laughed and filled him full of buckshot. But he didn't stop. No, sir, he jest comes on swinging his tomahawk, yelling and collecting more buckshot every time he hit the ground. There wasn't any stopping him. He must have been as full of lead as an ammunition factory by the time he heached our breast works, but he jest keeps on coming. As he piles over the breastworks, old Bill Abercrombie shoved a pistol in his face and pulled the trigger. That stopped him, carrying away most of his painted face.

"Them Indians was game, son. They jest keep charging up the mountain, getting killed, reforming and coming again. We hadn't suffered a single casualty ourselves. Not one, but keeping awake for three days and nights, and all the time fightin' to keep them away from the fort began to tell on our nerves. This wasn't the worst part of it, though. As I said before, there was no water in the fort. A man can hang on for several days without water, even when the heat is registering ninety in the shade as it was during them days, but when it comes to women and children suffering from thirst—that's a different matter. It is heart-breaking to hear little babies crying for water and the mother trying to pacify them by savin'. 'Never mind, honey. Go to sleep, and when you wake up maybe the Indians will be gone, and then you can have all the water you want.' Things like that was making it pretty tough. The Indians seemed to know that we was out of water and would have to give up pretty soon, for they jest keep hanging on.

"Then the fourth day came, and some of the men were almost delirious from thirst—tongues hanging out, black and swollen. It was jest awful, I tell you. And a sight like that wasn't nothing compared with the ones among the women and children. We held a council of war, after revealing the Indians for the five hundredth time. We reasoned that the Indians would be able to hold on until the last one of us was starved to death. It was all up, and the only thing left for us to do was jest sell out and take as many Indians as possible along with us to the happy hunting grounds. But there was jest a ghost of a chance that the Indians might retreat if we made a charge on them. Anyway we had to do something. A man can't jest stand around and see little children dying from thirst.

"We sent one of the boys into the fort to inform the women as to what our intentions were. Gave them orders to blow up the magazine, the fort and incidentally themselves in case the charge failed. We didn't care to let the Indians take them prisoners after having lost as many warriors as they had during the siege on the fort.

"Well, this was jest the condition things were in when something happened. Happened to old Bill Abercrombie, and the results were all in our favor—and in old Bill's too, although he may not have realized it at that time. Old Bill, having been on a big spree before the fight, seemed to be suffering worst of all for water. He was a horrible sight. His tongue all swollen and his eyes puffed and red, and had a set look like he was already dead. But old Bill wasn't. He jest kept wandering around and thinking up cuss words that he couldn't say on account of his swollen tongue. I don't believe old Bill had a spat of sense left. Well, the Indians had seemed to realize that they couldn't hit us behind our breastworks, so they began to heat arrows red hot and shoot them up into the air, kinda in jest, and not very effective, for we always saw the arrows falling and got out of the way—that is everybody but old Bill did. He wasn't paying any attention to anything. He seemed to be plump crazy, and was crawling around on his hands and knees, like as if he thought he was a dog. This was the position Bill was in when one of the flaming missiles struck him. I saw it falling, coming like a flaming meteor out of the sky, and I yelled at Bill to look out, but he didn't pay any attention. It hit Bill behind the breastworks, yes, sir, right in the seat of his breeches. In spite of his swollen tongue he let out a howl as he jumped the breast works and charged right toward the Indians. He was a wild looking sight, arms and long hair waving in the breeze as he ran. Smoke was coming from the seat of his breeches like the exhaust from one of these airplanes. Yes, sir, he was running toward the Indians as if he thought he would run the whole tribe. And strange as it may seem, that is jest what he did. When they saw him coming they yelled something about devils, or evil spirits, and within five minutes there wasn't an Indian in sight, except dead ones. Bill shore scared the day-light out of them. "We soon realized that Bill had saved the day, and we sent a detail out to catch him, and another detail we sent for water. It was both of the details that caught Bill and brought him back, for he ran straight to the river, and he didn't stop till he got there. They found him sitting in the water, and they had to overpower him, tie him hand and foot to get him back.

"In a few days we decides that we didn't care to live here any longer with so much trouble with Indians. So, we all votes to leave it with 'em. During this election Bill's guns agreed with the majority."

I was just a little doubtful when the Old Timer finished this tale, so I asked him, "Do you mean to tell me that all this happened right up there on Teacup?"

"Yes, sir. Right up there on Teacup. I can prove it to you dead easy," he insisted. "Now, see those little specks among those rocks up there?" He was pointing at the mountain.

I looked and the black specks were there just as he claimed. "Well, what of it?" I asked.

"They are the entrances to the fort," he explained. "Those little trails winding up the mountain are the ones that we drove our cattle up. The big broad one—you see it? Then without waiting for my answer he continued, "That one we used for an automobile road. The two things that you see up there on the top are the remains of our aerial, and—"

"Hold up, old man," I commanded. "Don't you think that you have carried this story a little too far?"

"You mean—you mean," he stammered, "that it doesn't sound logical?"

"Logical, logical," I repeated ironically. "No, it isn't only illogical, it's impossible. Listen, Old Timer, I am willing to believe that you are a hundred and ten years old, or five hundred and ten for that matter. I am willing to believe, as you told me, that an Indian and his sweetheart once jumped off of Lover's Leap. More than that, I accepted what you said about a tribe of Indians throwing sand into the river in obedience to the river god Llanus, and that he gave them seven hundred springs for having faith in him. But, Old Timer, in spite of the fact that your wife is the best cook in Kimble County, and I should know, for I have made it convenient to always happen around there about the time she serves dinner, and in spite of the fact that you happen to be the grandfather of a certain girl—yes, Old Timer, in spite of all this I am going to refuse to believe a story in which savages, automobiles and radio go hand in hand."

Letting out the clutch, I raced the motor and shot the machine ahead—such was my temper.

As the motor settled down to a steady purr I heard the Old Timer say, "I always did say that facts are stranger than fiction." There was a twinkle in his eyes.

RANCHMEN'S ROUND-UP

Announcement is made that the Ranchmen's Round-Up, an annual meeting at the Ranch Experiment Station near Sonora, 14 and 15. The coming Round-Up will be the fourth annual meeting of this character and affords an opportunity for ranchmen and others interested in the livestock experimental work at the Station to see the work first-hand and keep in touch with the progress of its development.

The Ranchmen's Round-Up has had an attendance each year ranging from two to three thousand people, who come from every section of the State and particularly from the ranching section.

The Ranch Experiment Station is located in the heart of the sheep and goat region of the Southwest. Texas produces 80 per cent of the mohair produced in the United States and more wool than is produced in any other State in the Union. No finer sheep and goat range is to be found in the United States and both the sheep and goat industries in that section have reached a high state of development, which explains the unusual interest reached in the work of the Station in the study of range problems. In this section lies a great source of wealth to Texas which is being developed on a sound and permanent basis.

Announcement of the program for both men and women will be made in due time through the press.

LOWER POSTAL RATES

The House of Representatives has passed the Grist bill for a general downward revision of postal rates. If it is approved by the Senate the old one-cent postal card will reappear and newspapers will be transported at the 1921 rate. It is estimated that the Grist bill will reduce the revenues in the Post Office Department by $41,000,000.

Increased postal rates came about as a war measure. So long as there was need for every penny's worth of revenue the Government could raise, no complaint was heard regarding them. Since the war, however, there has been constant agitation for return to the old basis. It is to be hoped that the Senate will act favorably upon the measure, particularly in view of the fact that the lowered rates may draw sufficient additional patronage to offset largely the anticipated increased deficit.

EIGHT MILLION OLD HENRIES STILL IN USE

Detroit, April 20.—The manufacture of replacement parts for the millions of Model "T" Ford cars still in daily use continues to demand nearly one-third the production capacity of Ford plants here.

Ford officials estimate, from reports of dealers all over the country, that there are still approximately eight millions of the Model "T" cars in constant use in the United States. Some of these cars are many years old. Every now and then there are reports of Ford cars of the old brass-bound radiator types of twelve or fourteen years ago, still running after more than a hundred thousand miles of service.

The newest of the Model "T" Fords is now nearly a year old, for the production of assembled Model "T" cars was suspended in May, 1927 to make way for the Model "A."

This suspension of assembled Model "T" cars did not effect the production schedule of Model "T" replacement parts, however. Throughout the past year the manufacture of Model "T" parts continued to occupy about one-third the production capacity of the Ford plants.

A few days ago newspaper correspondents here asked Henry Ford how long he expected to continue making parts for Model "T" cars.

"Until the last Model 'T' is off the roads," Mr. Ford replied promptly. Then he added: "That may be ten years, but we do not intend to allow any Ford car ever to become obsolete as long as it can be useful with reasonable replacements."

Ford engineers, from tests and observations made over a long period of years, have estimated that the average useful life of a Model "T" Ford car is about seven years.

HOME DECORATION HINTS

Modernizing the Bathroom
Bathrooms need no longer be painted a glaring white. With the advent of the new fast-drying pyroxylin finishes, harmonious effects can be achieved in colors, at the same time obtaining a surface that is sanitary and washable.

A brilliant color scheme adopted in an Eastern home is suggested to those who wish to have a bathroom finished in the modern manner. The floor was ducoed a Mediterranean blue, which is a deep sea blue. The walls were tiled halfway up in pale apricot with uneven edges shaded to give the effect of several tones, with a heading of peacock blue. The remainder of the wall and the ceiling were treated in a paler tint of peacock blue, while a deeper tone of the same color was used on the woodwork, doors, windows and outside of medicine chest. The interior of the medicine chest was done in apricot with silver on the edges to supply cool tones.

The curtains were apricot with a stripe of peacock and vermilion. Towels and bath mats in charming colors and designs completed the general scheme.

This general color scheme could also be used, even if the walls were not tiled, by having the lower half finished in pale apricot with a three-quarter inch stripe of the deeper tone of peacock blue as a heading on the apricot color.

When a woman marries a man she not only takes a man's name but everything else he has.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Never fit a garment wrong side out. Few people are exactly alike on both left and right sides, and when the garment is turned right side out it may not set smoothly.

Slip covers on the upholstered furniture not only save the covering of the furniture, but actually make the room seem cooler and brighten it up so that it loses its winter look.

To clean a carpet sweeper, empty the box on a damp newspaper, and use a buttonhook or coarse comb to remove hair and dirt from the brushes. Oil the bearings occasionally.

For sweetening fruitades and punches, make sirup, using two parts of sugar to one of water, cooked together about 10 minutes and cooled. This sweetens more uniformly than sugar.

Chocolate that appears white on the outside has been kept in an overwarm place, so that some of the fat has melted and come to the surface. It is not injured in any way for use.

There is no reason why fresh or properly preserved fish should not be eaten at the same meal as milk. Fish and milk are often cooked together in the form of milk chowders or creamed dishes.

Work the butter for sandwiches, but do not melt it. Cut the bread into thin even slices. If you are going to trim off the crusts, do not butter too near them. Bread for sandwiches is best when about 24 hours old.

Always iron with the thread of the goods, and iron until the garment is dry. Otherwise it will pucker. Shiny gloss on hems, tucks or seams, can be removed by moistening a piece of cheesecloth with clear water, wringing it dry, and wiping it quickly over the shiny surface.

Use eggs as much as possible in the spring when they are plentiful—for breakfast, lunch, or dinner. They may be cooked in any number of delicious ways so as to seem like many different foods. Change the sauce, or the flavoring, or combine the eggs with other tasty foods, and you will enrich the menu without making it monotonous.

Measure your windows with care before buying curtain material. Allow at least nine inches extra for hems and shrinkage. Cut the goods by a thread if possible. Accuracy in cutting and neat sewing help insure well-hanging curtains. Many people like to put hems in by hand, but if a great number of curtains must be made at one time this is not always possible.

Dandelion greens can be yaffered very early in the season, when they are young, tender, and least bitter. Owing to this bitterness of flavor, it is a good plan to combine the dandelion greens with other vegetables or flavors which modify it. The plan of cooking these greens in several waters is not recommended because much of the valuable mineral matter is thrown away, vitamins are destroyed, and the greens are overcooked. Raw dandelion leaves or those cooked without water are less bitter than those that have been boiled.

LECTURE GIVEN

General care of the eyes and the proper use of artificial light for the protection of eyesight is the subject of a series of educational lectures now being given in West Texas public schools under auspices of the Safety Department of the West Texas Utilities Company.

Mrs. E. L. McGintie, representing the Safety Department of the company, who last fall visited all West Texas schools with a series of lectures on general safety topics, is again conducting this educational feature. She spoke in Junction at the High School on last Friday.

In addition to presenting a very interesting and instructive talk on care and protection of the eyes, Mrs. McGintie carries with her a specially built lighting cabinet, designed and built by expert engineers in the laboratories of the General Electric Company, which is used in a highly interesting fashion to show the effects of various colored lights, and the queer tricks that may be played on the vision by a shifting of lights and shadows.

She also carries with her a complete miniature motion picture outfit which is used wherever auditorium space is sufficient, showing films on the history of light through the ages, on the marvels of the X-ray and other topics.

A feeling of superiority is about all the satisfaction some people get out of being good.

The baseball season is on, and automatically the mortality rate among grandmothers will mount high.

Where Will You Be at Seventy?

Recent investigations have shown that a large number of persons are dependent on relatives or charity in their old age.

When the autumn of life approaches, and the leaves of youthful vim and enthusiasm fall, it is extremely difficult for any person, no matter how able, these investigations prove, to compete in the world of business and commerce.

What better insurance against dependence in old age than a savings account in a bank.
