STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The oxen tugged and tugged some more but moved but very little for the road was simply terrible. The coach man sure was stumped. Said Clogny, "When we were inside your coach and on our merry ride, I felt that something had gone wrong, the way the old coach bumped."
"It's too bad that our trip is marred, but let's keep pulling good and hard. If we all pull together, we may have a little luck. I'll count to three and then we all will try. Be careful, do not fall. At least this won't do any harm, as long as we are stuck."
Then, "One, two, three," he loudly cried. The Tinies tugged and tugged and sighed. So did the kind coach driver. Shortly Clogny yelled, "Hurray! The coach is moving slowly out. We've turned the trick, without a doubt." And, sure enough, they pulled it free and traveled on their way.

The turn of things made all feel glad and little Carpy shortly had a hunch to sing a merry song. The others joined right in. "We're riding in a lovely coach and some nice town we'll soon approach. Whatever we start out to do, it seems we always win."
The Travel Man broke in and said, "That lovely town is just ahead. Yes, sir, there's old Gibraltar and we'll shortly stop for rest. In just a little bit they stopped and to the ground the Tinies hopped. "Oh, gee, I like this place," said one. "It's going to be a treat."

Another cried, "Oh, look out there at what is towering in the air. The big Rock of Gibraltar seems to almost reach the sky. I've read of it in lots of books, and gee, how wonderful it looks. I'd hate to have to climb up to the top. It's much too high."

That Girl on Broadway says usually what is called a sense of humor is nothing more than the ability to enjoy the other fellow's flat tire.

The tumult and the shouting dies, The heroes and the crowds depart; Still stands the game's big sacrifice, The wrenched back, broken leg and heart!

The Plainsman doesn't know how they came out, financially. There were about 3,500 customers on hand—but Tech played nobly against the heavier, more experienced Cowhans from Simmons university of Abilene...

This department forecasts that ere another football season rolls around Tech will be in a conference and that two years from now, if Fred Cochran stays on the job here, will have a whole of a football team.

Rome wasn't built in a day and while Tech's season is nothing to go into hysterics over it's been a better season than last year and as good as any since the first year the school opened.

THE Plainsman sees by Columns 7 and 8 on this page that there seems to be a disagreement between this column and the commercial telegraph companies regarding the handling of numbered messages.

It so happens that the managers of the commercial telegraph companies are friends of the Plainsman despite the fact that this column has no feeling of great brotherhood for the companies' policies.

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

WESTERN UNION AND POSTAL MANAGERS SAY SOMEBODY'S DEAD IN DENMARK

FROM POSTAL. Dear Plainsman: I read with considerable amusement your article in yesterday's Journal about the Thanksgiving greeting message service of the commercial telegraph companies.

The first reason for my being amused is I thought it was about time for you to break loose again about the big money that are taking all the money in and not putting any out. It will perhaps be interesting to you to learn that during 1930 my company has spent in expansion some $10,000 in Lubbock, $210,000 in Texas, and $200,000,000 in the United States.

My second reason for laughing out loud is you did not know what you were talking about. The numbers placed on the Thanksgiving message suggestions are merely for the convenience of patrons who wish to telephone messages to us. They can give us the number instead of reading the entire message, which is a saving of time to the customer and the telegraph company.

To substantiate my statements am quoting excerpts from Postal Telegraph-Cable Company Traffic Circular, Letter Number 15, dated New York, November 14, 1930, and signed by Vice-Presidents I. R. Scovill and C. B. Ailsopp, which reads as follows: "Sending operators transmitting greeting messages from the holiday blank shall transmit only the greeting message through which no line has been drawn. Under circumstances in the number appearing before the greeting to be transmitted."

As more than one third of my life has been spent in commercial

FROM WESTERN UNION

Dear Plainsman: When I read your "spam" in the Plainsman November 26 I couldn't help but reflect back to the first of the year when another of your admiring friends sent you that little calendar with the inscription "Be You know less about more things."

You are "All Wet" about the telegraph companies transmitting greeting messages by number. At least, insofar as the Western Union is concerned and I presume the Postal has about the same policy as we.

The entire message is transmitted as if you had written it. There was a demand for these suggestions. The customers were continually asking us to help them word their messages just as many of our advertisers ask you to assist them in preparing their ads.

In conclusion, may I wish you a very happy Thanksgiving, but the Lord help you if the Turkey is as tough on you as you are on us.

CHAPTER XXXI

As Terry emerged from the narrow tunnel into the sloped arena, with dim-colored Jersey hills beyond the far end, he stopped and blinked at the tremendous spectacle.

Cheers rattled down from the Princeton stands and leaders gyrated up and down, urging the crowd on. Bands clashed with vocal choruses when blue clad warriors appeared from the far end, sending joyous shivers down Terry's spine. He sensed the thrilling game ahead and quickened his step, running behind the first group, led by Jim Nichols. In step with him and nearest to him as in life were Burne and Sonny.

Immediately the squad swung into action. The ends and backs practiced receiving and throwing passes, tried punts, and got used to the crowd and feel of the ball.

The coach called the players off the field for a final talk, in which the old line of hysterical adjurations had no place whatever. He knew that every player took his cue from the coach in these trying minutes and expressed cool calmness in his talk.

"Well, fellows, this is our big game. We've been pointing for it all season and we're out to win. Remember this is a fighting game. And the fighting team wins. You are going out there to be licked unless you simply refuse to stand for it. You're the kind of hard losers I've enjoyed working with—the kind of men who can't be licked because you won't be licked. Well, that's all, men. Take a little rest."

Headed towards the players' bench, Sonny pulled at Terry's arm. "Look, Terry. Look right up there. Margot!"

Terry looked up into the sea of faces. There, right back of the bench, with soft blue eyes shining in proud affection, the sweet mouth slightly parted as if breathless with excitement, was Margot. For a moment, the sloping tiers disappeared from his vision; the cheers fell on deaf ears. His spirit soared far off into a land of peace and love. He smiled up at Margot, sitting with her father.

She waved to him.

With melody in his heart, Terry grabbed a blanket, pulled it around his shoulders and sat down on the bench. How good it was to see her again after the trying experience of the past week.

Again he turned toward the crowd, with melody in his heart and movement and excitement. He saw the Warwick family. They waved to him. The seat next to them reserved for his mother, was taken by a noisy flapper who guzzled from a pocket flask.

"Well, let's go!" barked the coach. "Come on, Terry. Up and at them. Get going!"

Terry, playing back, looked over his teammates. Jim Nichols stood out on one end, with Bud Gordon, another senior, on the other flank. Brooke Harton, strong and confident, paired off with Dan Hart at tackle. Pink Harrison and Bill Peyton, the guards, took their tempo from Sonny Drayton, flushed and electric at center.

Red Thomas joked with white clad officials as he scurried into his position at full-back. Burne, Warwick, white and nervous, walked in a small circle, itching to get going. The other half-back, Rip Harding, a sophomore in his first big game, jerked his helmet nervously, dug cleats in the ground and watched the ball when the referee cried, "Are you ready, Captain Nichols?" A pause. "Are you ready, Captain Drake?"

The knicker-skered referee raised a whistle to his mouth, blew it, and instantly Dick Ruane, famous Yale quarter-back, quickly glanced at teammates straining at the mark, gave the ball a boot and the game was on.

All nervousness dropped from Terry like a loose coat when he looked up into the sky and saw the tumbling pegasus coming his way, yet conscious of men in blue jerseys swarming down the field under it. They collided with Tiger forwards, picking off tacklers, and tumbling out of the play.

Down came the ball into Terry's eager arms. Transformed into a different human being, his nerves under control, he scanned the field as he swung into his stride, flashed toward the sidelines, drew his hips away from a charging Eli end, with Burne supplying perfect interference.

"Let's go, Terry!"

Deadly on taking out men, Burne launched himself before a fleet-footed half-back and together they hit the ground, Terry raced like a pursued rabbit along the white sideline, hesitated when a mass of running figures blocked his path, shifted toward the center of the field and zigzagged forward until arms encircled his legs and shoulders. Down he went, with someone pushing a knee into his back when he wriggled forward. The shrill whistle. Men shouted, jumped up and lined alongside the ball.

Terry was the master now. Cool confident, he observed that he had the ball on the forty yard line, first down, ten to go. He always utilized the first few plays of the game to feel out the strength and weakness of his opponents as well as learn the limitations and potentialities of his teammates and the ground-gaining value of his plays. The left side of the defensive line is usually the strongest. He gathered around him the Princeton eleven into the huddle, with arms interlocked. He barked out the signal in a ringing voice which carried the team forward with smoothness and precision from the time they spread fan-like into position until Red Thomas carried the ball through Dan Hart for five yards.

"Well, that's that," said Terry to himself. "I'll need that play later on when we want a few yards in an emergency. Let's see, ball on forty-five yard line, second down, five to go."

Players all along the line, facing each other in the first scrimmage of the game, joked, ridiculed and greeted each other across the line.

"Bet you can't do that again," said Chuck Drake, who was taken out of the play for Red to go through.

"Make it as much as you like," grinned Dan Hart, who was playing against the rugged Yale captain for the third season. "This is the last time we play against each other. Chuck and one of us is going off the field on a stretcher."

"Okay by me, Dan," said the son of a multimillionaire raised by governesses and private tutors who was matched with head, hands and heart against a lad raised in an orphan asylum without a dime of his own in the world. A grey-haired banker and distinguished woman followed the clean, hard game of the Yale leader and a girl with her name in the lights along Broadway had absented herself from matinee to cheer for the Princeton tackle.

"Make me look good today."

quick nods and lined up. The ball was passed and with it came a Yale lineman who crashed through interference and nailed Terry before he got the pass off to Red. The Tigers lost seven yards.

Rip Harding circled right end on a sweeping run, with the other backs moving down, charging tacklers. But Chuck Drake, fast and determined, hit him. It was the kind of tackle you heard on the sidelines; the bone-rattling kind, the pigskin knocked out of his arms, with a Yale man tumbling on it. Terry also made a dive and hit the Yale man head on. Their heads bumped and both players were stunned. Terry sat up, rubbing his head.

"Tough game, Dick."

"Sure is," agreed Ruane, "but it's lots of fun, especially with us having the ball. Try and stop us!"

The Yale team, getting their bearings, settled down to real work. The Princeton defense wilted before the initial shock of the blue crushing line plays, pushing them back and back in a triumphant march toward the Tiger goal. First down followed first down as the sturdy Yale backs, directed by Dick Ruane, pushed their way down the field. He called signals at a steady even beat until they were in striking distance of the goal. Then his voice changed to sharp, staccato barks, and the players could feel the hair lifting along the back of their head, driving the team forward. They smashed the ends and plowed through the line on straight, old-

INSTALLATION OF NEW OFFICERS PLUS GOOD PROGRAM FEATURES LEGION MEET

Installation of new officers and the appointment of standing committees for the coming year featured the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Allen Brothers post, American Legion, held last night at the new Legion hall on Texas Avenue.

A brief program preceded the business session. The program was headlined by three numbers by Ralph Britt and His Canadians, Hilton hotel orchestra, and two vocal duets by Mrs. J. Samuel Rider and Miss Luella Johnson. The two were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Paul Morgan.

Durwood Bradley, district attorney and a legionnaire, spoke in connection with the approaching second annual Community Chest campaign. Purposes, methods and organization setup of the Chest was explained by Mr. Bradley.

Distinguishing paraphernalia for student traffic patrolmen has been ordered and the school patrol system will be inaugurated soon, Guy R. Johnston, chairman of the committee on the patrol project, reported. The student patrol plan was proposed here by the Legion and was endorsed by school authorities and city officials.

G. E. Luce, police motorcycle patrolman, was appointed chairman of the Legion's school patrol committee, replacing Mr. Johnston. The latter is a construction engineer for the state highway department and the change was made at his suggestion because of his inability to be in Lubbock constantly.

Plans for the annual membership drive of Allen Brothers post will be shaped soon at a meeting of the membership committee, which was appointed at Thursday's meeting with Tom Carter as chairman.

Other members of the committee are Tom Baber, Glen Burson, J. Jones, J. O. Crisman, J. C. Eastman, W. G. Doss, C. M. Eoff, L. A. Howard and Hamp Spiller.

New commander of Allen Brothers post is Glen Hess.

TURKEY DAY CLASHES DECIDE MANY GRID TITLES

WEST TEXAS GRID CURTAIN DESCENDS

EAST IS ONLY AREA LACKING CHAMPION

TEXAS, KANSAS U. AND ALABAMA WINNERS IN CHASES

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Nov. 28. — (P) — Thanksgiving Day's football slate decided three more conference championships and left only the East, among the major groups, lacking a generally recognized leader.

In a day conspicuous by a decided absence of form reversals, the Southwestern, Big Six and Southern conferences wound up their seasons yesterday insofar as titular play goes. A few games remain to be played but they cannot affect the championship situation.

Texas Wins Title

In the Southwest, the Texas Longhorns supplanted Texas Christian as title-holders by whipping the hapless Texas Aggies, 26-0. In the Big Six, Kansas walked into the title with a struggle when the Oklahoma Sooners were held to a scoreless tie by Missouri's inexperienced outfit. In the Southern conference, the situation is not so cut and dried for both Alabama and Tulane finished their conference seasons unbeaten and untied. Alabama registered its eighth straight conference triumph by whipping Georgia after a bitter battle, 13-0. Tulane also found plenty of trouble with Louisiana State but finally eked out a 12-7 victory.

In the East, yesterday's standout game saw Cornell's eleven outplay Penn and win, 13-7 for the first time since 1923. Colgate added further to its sectional title claims by whipping Brown, 27-0. The Maroons, beaten only by Michigan State, looked like one of the section's really powerful eleven but there are other formidable candidates such as Army, Dartmouth and Fordham.

Florida Scores Win

The South had a heavy holiday schedule but only the Tulane and Alabama games had any bearing on the title. Auburn chalked up its first conference victory in four years by trouncing South Carolina, 25-7, and Florida for the first time succeeded in beating Georgia Tech and did it thoroughly, 55-7.

In the Big Six, the Kansas Aggies, who never had gotten better than a tie with Nebraska, beat the Cornhuskers, 10-9. At Chicago, the Oregon Aggies concentrated their attack in the third period to whip West Virginia, 12-0.

Utah, which clinched the Rocky Mountain title some time ago, closed another unbeaten season with a 41-0 triumph over the Utah Aggies. In the Pacific Coast conference, already won by Washington State, Southern California whipped Washington, 32-0, in the big game of the day. St. Mary's of Oakland noosed out Oregon in a non-conference game, 7-6.

FIGHTS TONIGHT

FIDEL LA BARBA

LA BARBA AND TAYLOR MEET

FAST BOXERS TO SWAP PUNCHES IN GOTHAM ARENA TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. — Another two to one shot goes to the post in Madison Square Garden tonight and those who back their opinions with cold cash are hoping that Fidel La Barba has better luck than recent favorites have had in the garden. La Barba, former world's flyweight champion, meets Bud Taylor, body-punching featherweight from Terre Haute, Ind., in the main go.

In recent weeks, Kid Chocolate, Al Singer and Jimmy McLarnin, heavy favorites, have been beaten at the Garden. La Barba was the cause of one of these upsets for he whipped Chocolate when the Cuban negro was a 3 to 1 choice. Largely because of his showing in that bout, La Barba has been established a well-defined choice tonight against Taylor but the middle-westerner is nobody's set-up.

The winner has been promised a match with the survivor of the Chocolate-Bat Battalino featherweight title bout to be held here Dec. 12.

MICKEY WALKER WILL FIGHT CHRISTNER

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. — Mickey Walker, king of the world's middleweights, will make his second raid into the heavyweight division tonight with tough Meyer K. O. Christner of Akron as his opponent in a ten round bout at the coliseum.

Walker, who with his manager, Jack Kearns, believes he has outgrown the competition in his own class, aspires to go places as a heavyweight and already has the scalp of Johnny Risko of Cleveland. In his possession Christner, a good puncher, will outweigh the Toy Bulldog by at least 30 pounds and is regarded as a serious test.

MATADORS ARE DEFEATED BY SIMMONS

OTHER TEAMS FINISH YEAR'S DRIVE ON TURKEY DAY

College football clubs of West Texas closed their 1930 gridiron season yesterday with Lubbock, Canyon and Amarillo the scenes of exciting games before throngs of Thanksgiving holiday fans. Simmons university of Abilene, West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon were victors in two of the principal games, while at Amarillo the Wayland College Jackrabbits and the Amarillo Junior college Badgers fought to a 6-6 tie.

On the Texas Tech gridiron here, the Matadors concluded a stormy season by submitting to a powerful line and backfield brought down for the holiday by Coach Leslie Cranfill, 20 to 6. Outweighed in every department and unable to hold against one of the nearest football machines to appear on the local field this season, the Matadors put up a strong fight, but were never able to pierce a stalwart Simmons line, held together by Center Golithly and Tackle Ribble. The smashing off tackle thrusts by Wayne Davenport, the speedy runs by Marshall and Clark, and the fine punting of Bill Sanders were too much for the light Tech linemen and backs.

Red Waller, diminutive Tech half-back, put pepper in the gridiron Turkey day menu when he took the kickoff as the second half started to race 85 yards through a broken field for a touchdown. Frank Woodridge and Motiett were the other Tech backs to shine. Bill Neal at end and Langford at left tackle and Simmons at the other tackle were outstanding in Tech's line.

Up at Canyon, the Buffaloes had a good day's work when they turned back the McMurry Indians, 6 to 3, with O'Donnell doing the scoring and most of the playing for the Buffs.

Two other teams who have appeared against the Matadors this year fought to a scoreless tie at Amarillo. Wayland College of Plainview fought the Amarillo Junior college Badgers to a 6-6 deadlock. Wayland defeated the Matadors early in the season and Tech's Peadars bowed to the Badgers a few weeks later.

Another game of interest to local fans was the Howard-Payne-Southwestern game, won by the Yellow Jackets, 59 to 0, giving the latter the championship of the Texas Conference. The Yellow Jackets turned back the Matadors last week 26 to 7, at Brownwood.

THUGS ARE BUST

PORT WORTH, Nov. 28. — (P) — Robbers took between $500 and $1,000 from an iron safe in the office of the Schmidt Produce company here last night. The money represented sales from Thanksgiving turkeys and chickens.

TEXAS TAKES GRID HONORS

HIGH SCHOOLS END SEASON

ONE OF BEST SEASONS IN HISTORY ENDS ON GRIDIRON

Playing offensive football for three quarters of the game, the Lubbock High school Westerners ended their 1930 season yesterday at Plainview when they took a 28 to 12 victory over the Plainview High school Bulldogs. At the same time, the other teams of Class A, District 1, were concluding the season at Pampa, Vernon, and Wichita Falls.

The Westerners got the breaks in the early part of the game to score three touchdowns in the first half, but they made their own breaks and the game went according to dope and the classy playing of a well finished Westerner crew. The victors clinched third place in the district standing for the locals.

Amarillo Wins

The Amarillo Sandies completed an undefeated season when they ran over the Wichita Falls Coyotes, 85 to 18, at Wichita. Only one of the stars of the Sandies, and even that was awarded a victory for them, the Pampa Harvesters played according to their usual form when they downed the Quannah Indians, 58 to 20. Vernon lost to Electra, 13 to 6, in the Thanksgiving clash at Vernon, giving fourth place to the Tigers. Children had completed its season a week earlier by going down to the Plainview team.

The day was a great one for Class B teams and schools over the South Plains. Slator High school's Tigers, coached by Paul Wright, won the championship of Class B, District 2, when they downed the Littlefield Wildcats, 14 to 7, in a hectic struggle at Slator. Spira's Bulldogs ended a highly successful season by trouncing the Simmons university freshmen team, 40 to 12, at Spur.

Tahoka turned back the unofficial champions of the northeastern part of the district, Lockney, by a count of 36 to 7 and Lamona trounced the Anson team, 45 to 0, at Lamona. Coach, Martin Hayhurst's Brownfield Cubs got their old passing attack to working again and smothered the Amherst team, 46 to 0. Levelland downed Sudan, 19 to 0, to close the season there. Abernathy went on a scoring spree to beat Winkler, 105 to 0, at Abernathy.

As a result of their easy triumph, the Longhorns closed their conference schedule with four wins and one defeat. Their only loss all season was a 6 to 0 setback from the Rice Owls, who caught them before they found their strength. They were assured of the championship no matter what the results of the Baylor-Rice and Southern Methodist-Texas Christian tilts tomorrow at Waco and Dallas, respectively.

There was some talk of a post-

LORENZO BUSY WITH GIRLS

HOME-EC STUDY NOW IS POPULAR, SAYS NEARBY CITY

(By Staff Correspondent)
LORENZO, Nov. 27 — Home economics is one of the popular studies in the Lorenzo high school, with thirty girls taking work in two units under the direction of Miss Velma Russell, a graduate of University of Texas.

Instruction is given under the Smith-Hughes act and support for the work is given by the federal government through the state. One credit is given by the state through affiliation of the school with the state department of education, for food instruction and another for clothing.

Equipment Secured
Four standard sewing machines are a part of the equipment of the department, as well as four gas ranges and eight cabinets for food laboratory work. The big room in which the equipment is stored contains closet space and shelves for books, papers, reports, supplies, etc.

In addition there is a combination dining room with equipment for instruction in serving of meals. Five days a week instruction is given for 90 minutes to each class. In addition the girls have the opportunity for outside work in the school.

Recently the girls had an exhibit of their work in a downtown store window. It attracted wide attention, not only from residents of Lorenzo but also from visitors from other towns and from the community at large.

ICE PLANT IS SPUR'S PLAN

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN BY DICKENS COUNTY MUNICIPALITY

(By Staff Correspondent)
SPUR, Nov. 28.—Construction of a ten ton municipal ice plant is being begun by the city of Spur, with prospects of the plant being finished and in use by the early spring season, L. R. Burrow, city secretary, says.

"The building and machinery will cost around $30,000," Mr. Burrow said. "We will operate it in connection with the ice plant, using power from our municipal plant to run the machinery."

No Additional Workers
"It is the intention of the city to use city employes in operating the plant. We believe we can do this without additional employes."

Figures on the machinery have been secured near an arrangement made for financing the purchase out of the plant earnings.

"We believe that we can cut the present price of 60 cents to 30 cents a hundred and make money," Mr. Burrow added. "Present prices range from 80 to 90 cents. The city plant can make money selling at half that figure."

Macaluso Continues To Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Len Macaluso, Colgate's battering-ram fullback, needs only one more touchdown to boost his total points scored to 150. The Maroon star scored one touchdown and kicked three goals after touchdown against Brown yesterday to send his season's point total to 144, by far the country's best total among major college players. He will have one more chance to increase this figure when the Maroons meet New York university here Dec. 6.

LOCAL LEGION LAYS PLANS

WELLINGTON MEETING TO BE ATTENDED BY LUBBOCK MEN

When members of the 18th American Legion district meet in Wellington on December 13 and 14 for their annual convention with the Frank King Post No. 249 as hosts, a representative group from Lubbock will be in attendance, according to announcement made here yesterday.

Two outstanding visitors at the two-day affair will be Hal Brennan, department commander of the Texas department, and R. O. "Bob" Whiteaker, adjutant. Another distinguished visitor expected for the gathering is Mrs. F. I. Carpenter, state president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Clint C. Small, state senator, whose home is at Wellington, will be the principal non-Legion speaker. Raymond Berry, Hollis, Okla., one of the popular humorists of the Oklahoma department, is to be another speaker.

C. Ward Moody, assistant executive committee member for the district is helping with arrangements for the convention. The post there has advised all posts in the district that the "rain call" has been fastened up and will be killed for the occasion.

The 18th district led the state last year in membership. Plans to maintain the lead will be made at the meeting for the 1931 drive. Already many members for next year have been signed in the district, which includes the entire 18th congressional district.

OLD CRIME CONFESSED

DEORAH, Ia., Nov. 28 (AP)—After maintaining his innocence for nine years, B. F. Kneeskern, life prisoner in the Fort Madison penitentiary has admitted the slaying of Charles Van Brocklin of Castalia, near here.

FLASHES OF LIFE

As Brought Over Associated Press Wires Today

Hey, Hunters!

LANING, Mich.—Back from the north woods has come Leonard S. Hill with a 175-pound buck, shot with his home-made bow and arrow.

And Hey Again!

DEFIANCE, O.—Paul Sparks, of Toledo, has the glory of accomplishment as a memento to his hunting prowess with bow and arrow, and that's all. Yea, he's out $25. He killed two rabbits and was fined for lacking a license. The rabbits were confiscated.

Oh Me, Oh My!

NEW YORK—The latest issue of the Social Register, omits the former Eleanor H. Huton, who eloped with Preston Sturges, playwright.

Guard New York

NEW YORK—A black watch is protecting Father Knickerbocker. Twenty-five inspectors of the Department of Health from atop skyscrapers are seeking at night evidence of illegal burning of refuse, which is regarded by health authorities as responsible for an increase of throat and lung trouble.

No Substitute for Mother Nature

Old Mother Nature has no substitute when aid is needed for torpid, constipated liver. That's why Carter's Little Liver Pills are made out of pure vegetable calomel. Starting thirty ounces of bile flowing freely, they thoroughly cleanse body of all waste. Red bottles. All Druggists. Insist on Carter's by name. Take Carter's. Adv.

A Good Record

ADEL, Iowa — Samantha Burns is remembered at the county home for skill in peeling potatoes. She did a bushel and a half daily for 35 years, never missing a day till her last illness.

Your Coke Money

ATLANTA — From 14,000 miles away Assa G. Candler has telephoned to inquire about the health of his children and grandchildren and to say that he will be home for Christmas. He called from Sydney.

Models Unionize

NEW YORK—The A. F. of L. is unionizing models. Besides a minimum wage and overtime the international Theatrical, Art and Fashion Models Union seeks to eliminate moral hazards of the business.

Good Censor

NEW YORK — From Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow has come news that her husband when Ambassador to Mexico censored a book of hers. She wrote "The Painted Pig" a children's story. It contained the sentence, "Generals are brittle and easily broken." The "Ambassador scrutinized the text carefully before "Generals" he inserted the word "glass" to make it obvious that the reference was to toy generals.

Has Nine Armies

NEW YORK—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has nine armies of archaeologists operating on a 2,000-mile front at a cost of millions. Receiving the gold medals of the Holland society, Mr. Rockefeller's generalissimo, Professor James H. Brewster, director of the Oriental Institute, described the attacks being made in various quarters on the pyramids surrounding the dawn of civilization.

Merciful Heavens!

NEW YORK—Gene Tunney is to broadcast tonight, in aid of free care for the poor at hospitals he will speak over a WJZ network at 8:30 Eastern time.
