New "Spark Plug" On Kansas Track

By International News Service.

ANTHONY, Kansas, Aug. 8.—Barney Google's horse, "Spark Plug" never had a more hectic experience than that which has befallen Jimmy Jenkins big 4-year-old pacer which up to a short time ago was a northern Kansas work horse. A connoisseur noticed he could pace faster than the other horse could run. Today he's on southern Kansas racing circuits, and is groomed for still faster company. He's a thoroughbred whose former owner had to part with him.

NOOSE THREAT BRINGS WAGES

Agitation Constantly On Increase Among German Miners

By The Associated Press.

DUSSELDORF, Aug. 8.—The agitation among the workers here is becoing more serious daily, according to both French and German sources of information. At the Schloegel and Essen mines near Recklinhausan the miners locked the mine driectors in their offices and declared themselves in control of the mines.

Gallows Brings Wages

At the Salzer Neulock mines, according to German press reports, the officials told the miners there were not sufficient paper marks to pay the wages which were due, whereupon the miners proceeded to erect a gallows outside the offices. The wages were produced without further parley.

The Ruhr miners in general are claiming an immediate advance of 2,000,000 marks on their August wages and payment in gold hereafter.

They also demand that their July wages which in many instances have not yet been paid, be increased 300 per cent. The workmen's council having failed to obtain satisfaction on these demands, the miners are threatening direct action.

Seventh Crash In Fornight At Eleventh-Lamar

The seventh accident in the last two weeks to occur at Eleventh and Lamar streets happened Wednesday night when a Ford coupe driven by two young women collided with a Ford touring car with a man driving it.

The touring car was caved in by the impact and the left front wheel shattered. There were no injuries.

Man Implicated in Two Confessions Bound Over to Jury to Meet in October

E. N. Fears, charged with the murder of Frank Zimmerman at Freeman-Hampton last July, was bound over to the grand jury and not allowed bond in a hearing held in justice court at Archer City Wednesday afternoon.

The result of the hearing means that Fears, unless habeas corpus proceedings are taken in his behalf, will have to remain in the Archer county jail until the grand jury convenes in that county next October.

Two Placed on Stand

The hearing which resulted in Fears not even being allowed bond was made with Dewey Wallace and W. A. Kilgore, both who have signed confessions regarding their participation in Zimmerman's death, being put on the stand by the state.

The confessions of Wallace and Kilgore were not introduced as evidence in the hearing. Both men were put on the stand strongly implicated Fears as the man firing the shot that resulted in Zimmerman's death. Wallace when placed on the stand said he fired one shot the time Zimmerman was shot but that he shot straight into the ground. He exhibited a hole in the toe of one of his shoes which he said was made when he fired into the ground.

Claims One Shot Fired

According to County Attorney R. S. Morrison of Archer county there was only one shot fired into Zimmerman's tent. This evidence was laid before the court in the Wednesday hearing. The next move of the state will be made when the grand jury meets at Archer City next October according to Morrison. It is probable that Fears will try to get his freedom until the convening of the grand jury by habeas corpus writ.

Kilgore and Wallace were both bound over to await the grand jury and waived preliminary hearing.

LEAGUE MEMBERS PROMISE MUTUAL AID

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 8.—The temporary mixed cmomission for the reduction of armaments of the league of nations this afternoon adopted the text of the proposed treaty of mutual guarantees designed to bring about reductions of armaments which it will submit to the assembly of the league in September.

Some of the important features of the project were adopted without a unanimous vote and consequently will be the subject of contention at Geneva. The text as it will be submitted provides for a general treaty to be signed by all the members of the league whereby they agree to aid members who are victims of aggression or threatened invasion.

BARTON PLEASED AT SAN ANTONIO PROBE

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—Considerable progress has been made in the investigation of alleged gambling and liquor activities in San Antonio being conducted by state rangers Adjutant General Barton stated on his return from San Antonio today. Barton said he was well pleased with the developments and expected to obtain a number of indictments from the grand jury as a result of information collected by the rangers. The adjutant general probably will return to assist in the investigation within a few days.

SCORES PROSTRATED AT HARDING FUNERAL

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Numerous heat casualties—none of them reported serious—took place in the great crowd which saw the Harding funeral cortege and among the uniformed troops which took part. A broiling sun and a high degree of humidity combined to prostrate scores. For most of the casualties first aid was sufficient and a small number were taken to hospitals.

OIL ANTI-TRUST TEXAS RULING EXPECTED SOON

Severe Penalties Imposed By State Law Seen At Austin

HEAR OF AGREEMENT

United Oil Curtailment May Bring Anti-Trust Law In Action

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—Proof that oil concerns had entered into agreement as to a uniform curtailment of crude oil production to be followed by the makers of the agreement, in one or more fields, would be sufficient grounds for conviction under the stringent state anti-trust laws, according to the opinion expressed here.

Formal Ruling Expected.

The attorney general's department will likely issue a formal ruling on the subject, following action of the oil and gas division, state railroad commission, in laying complaints or reports that oil producers had decided to shut down all but one well on each lease.

It was stated that independent action of a producer probably could not be touched, should he decide to shut down all wells, or all but one well on his leases. But if there is agreement between oil concerns to take this step to curb oil production and accordingly bolster prices, such agreement would undoubtedly be held in restraint of trade, and violative of anti-trust statutes, it is declared.

Penalties Heavy.

Anti-trust violations are subject to heavy penalties, and make liable concerns so convicted of dissolution by state action, according to interpretation of the laws. Penalties range from $50 to $1,500 per day for each day the illegal agreement is in existence, and each party to such an agreement is subject to payment of the penalty.

Corpus Refuses Ku Klux Request To Erect Cross

By The Associated Press.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Aug. 8.—Application of the Corpus Christi ku klux klan number 225 for permission to erect a electrically illuminated cross on the building occupied by the local klan was refused by the city commissioners tonight at a public hearing on the application, to which seven men of this city had protested on the ground that the cross constitute a violation of the city's fire hazard law, and would tend to provoke a breach of the peace. The permit was denied on the latter grounds after the city engineer had stated that the specifications shown that the cross would not be a fire hazard.

Attorneys for the protestors contend that the cross would be likely to arouse public sentiment so much that a breach of peace would be imminent, and in support of their contention introduced Sheriff George Peters of Nueces county and Chief of Police Monroe Fox, as witnesses, Chief Fox in his testimony, referred to the cross that was erected during the July Fourth celebration here, saying "the people were excited, and this feeling grew worse in a couple of days."

Sheriff Ordered to Guard Against Flogging Gang

By The Associated Press.

MILLEGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 8.—Gov. Clifford N. Walker of Georgia tonight ordered Sheriff L. S. Terry and his deputies to guard the Georgia training school for boys, located near here, when reports were received that there might be a repetition late tonight of the trouble last night, when a band of 25 unmasked men attempted to seize and whip Tom Thomas and his wife, attendants at the institution, according to Sheriff Terry.

Split Between England And France Strains Belgium

By International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Premier Stanley Baldwin consulted his cabinet today in an effort to establish a new basis of reparations negotiations with Belgium. It was reported from Brussels that Premier Theunis of Belgium is anxious to intervene to settle the differences between France and Great Britain. With Italy lined up with England, the British may find means of bringing pressure upon France through Belgium. The latter have begun to feel the economic strain arising from uncertainty over reparations and are anxious to have the question settled as soon as possible.

THREE OFFICERS IN $10,000 SUIT

Father Claims Son Was Mistreated By Pair Of Deputies

Damages amounting to $10,000 actual and $5,000 exemplary are asked against Sheriff Pat Murphy, Frank Watkins, Bill Garland, the last two being named as deputy sheriffs, and the fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland in a suit filed Wednesday by E. M. Childress for his son Jack Childress, minor.

The father alleges that Frank Watkins and Bill Garland as deputy sheriffs went to the home of a neighbor where his son was visiting and mistreated him. The damage petition alleges the officers had no warrant for the arrest nor was there a charge against the son and that the two men "assaulted, unmercifully beat, bruised and knocked down" the boy, claiming the boy is a cripple and wholly unable to defend himself. The petition sets out that Garland and Watkins drew their pistols and beat the boy unconscious.

The alleged attack on young Childress was said to have been made in July. The Childress family, according to the petition, lives at Newton, this county.

Schools Will Not Receive Part Of State Auto Tax

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Augnst 8.—There is little likelihood that courts will hold that the state motor vehicle license tax is an occupation tax and must contribute to the state school fund, legal authorities declared here today. The question of whether one fourth of the motor tax should go to the school fund was presented to the attorney general today for ruling by State Treasurer Terrell.

Attorneys said the Texas courts already have ruled that the motor tax is purely a license tax and not included in the occupation group. If it is held a part of the tax must go to the schools, the state will be placed on a cash basis within a short time, Treasurer Terrell said.

Attorneys last week raised the motor tax question with state officials. Numerous inquiries have come to the educational department. One ex-governor of Texas has urged the educational department to contest the question. Over $2,000,000 would go to the school fund annually if the motor tax is held to be an occupation tax.

FRENCH PEACE IS IMPOSSIBLE DECLARES CUNO

Passive Resistance Will Not Be Given Up Says Leader

NO ENGLISH HOPE

German Chancellor Says Rule Under Bayonets Unbearable

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The French procedure in the Ruhr and the Rhineland makes negotiations with France wholly impossible, Chancellor Cuno told the richstag this afternoon in the course of his promised review of the internal and foreign situation. Referring to the present stage of the Anglo-French conversations on the reparations question the chancellor said:

Sympathy Not Expected

"In her endeavor to continue cordial relations with her former comrade in arms, England undoubtedly made liberal concessions to France and while it is not up to us to pass judgment on them, we at the same time believe ourselves free of the folly of expecting sympathies in quarters where we know they are not present."

If the present our parlers among the entente nations are not productive of tangible results, Germany will be wholly reconciled, said the chancellor, to the realization that she is dependent upon herself and that her battle will be fought in spirit of self reliance.

The chancellor announced plans for the various financial and economic measures which the government will forthwith put into effect for the purpose of strengthening the nation's internal structure. Chief among these are the internal gold loan and the establishment of the taxation budget on a fixed currency uni..

Cannot Betray Country

Declaring that the German government could not agree to the French demand that it suggest abandonment of passive resistance to the people of the Ruhr, the chancellor said:

"What we can not and will not do is to abandon a German loan and betray fellow countrymen. We refuse to work under the bayonets of our oppressors. With complete and unconditional submission to the French demand," he continued, "we should merely be buying a document which imposes on us impossible obligations which the whole world recognizes as absurd."

Texas Tech College Awarded to Lubbock After 3,000 Mile Tour

Million Dollar School Location Decided Between 37 Towns After Long Meet

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 8.—The Texas Technological college locating board unanimously awarded to Lubbock the new million-dollar institution which was authorized by the last legislature. The board reached its decision early this afternoon.

Many towns which lost and which had delegations here took the award without criticism, in every instance voicing the sentiment that their townspeople would support the new institution at Lubbock to the fullest degree.

37 Towns in Contest.

Thirty-seven towns entered the contest for the institution. One withdrew at the last moment. That was Claude. It threw its support to Amarillo. Every one of the 37 towns was visited, the sites inspected thoroughly and the claims of each given due consideration. The brief of each contestant was thoroughly studied before the board started out on its trip that consumed nearly four weeks and covered more than 3,000 miles by automobile and rail.

The official statement issued by the locating board shortly after it reached its decision in the cactus room of the Hotel Texas read:

"We, the members of the locating board of the Texas Technological college, in conformity with the law creating such college, have made careful study of the original and supplemental briefs, having visited and inspected the sites offered by the 36 applicant towns, having given consideration to the relative merits of the propositions submitted by the several towns, do hereby select and designate Lubbock, in Lubbock county, Texas, as the official location of the Texas Technological college."

In Conference All Morning.

The document was signed by all members of the board, S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction; S. B. Cowell, chairman of the locating committee; Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of Texas A. & M. college; Dr. F. M. Bralley, president of the College of Industrial Arts; Dr. William S. Sutton, acting president of the University of Texas; W. R. Nabours, secretary of the locating board.

The board went in session at 9 o'clock this morning, and when it adjourned at noon was said not to have reached a decision. After a 35-minute session this afternoon, however, the decision was announced.

Spoons Found On Prisoners Here Tell Dope Tale

When a suspect is picked up by the police and a spoon is found among his possessions the officers know they have a "snow bird" or a dope fiend, according to Night Chief Allen.

The new city judge, Joe Carrigan, noted when he came down to police court each morning there were several spoons taken off suspects arrested during the night. He could not imagine why so many of the men arrested at night sometimes had spoons in their possession.

The night chief explained that the dope fiends used the spoons as a container to hold over a candle and warm the opiates.

NEW CONTRACT FOR TEXAS PRISON LABOR

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 8.—A new contract for leasing convict labor of the state penitentiary to a private firm for manufacturing purposes has been placed before the state prison commission, S. J. FINAL FAREWELL GIVEN LEADER BY WASHINGTON

Mrs. Harding Continues To Bear Strain on Way To Marion

SERVICES SIMPLE

Tears Flow Freely When President Leaves Forever

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Warren Harding left Washington forever.

His short, eventful moment of power and heavy care was ended, his eternity of rest begun.

Yesteryear the flooding tide of destiny bore him eastward to take up the challenge of leaders that millions of his countrymen had thrown at him. Today that tide ebbed westward again under the setting sun. The surging rails bore him back to the quiet town in Ohio whence he came.

Brave Memories Linger.

Grim voiced, distant guns spoke the nation's farewell as the funeral train drew out. A legion of armed men stood with rifles and sabres at salute. Great folk and small in their thousands, stood silent and with heads bared in fading light of evening, and the dead president was gone.

But behind him, there in the halls of the senate where long he moved in his happiest hours in the capital, or again, here in the bleak lonely rooms of the deserted white house where were passed the heavy days and nights of care that brought him to his untimely death, lingered brave memories such as he would be proud tonight to know filled men's minds as they thought of him.

There were memories of Harding, the president; memories that dealt with his devotion to duty, his loyalty to those who worked with him, his patient, just use of his great power, his high courage in office, his utter love of country. But there were other memories of Harding, the man: Harding, the kindly, thoughtful, joyous comrade, the friend of all who offered friendship worthily; Harding of the great heart and modest, simple ways, no pride of place could change. And these were the memories treasured closest tonight in the sorrowing hearts in Washington.

Mes. Handing Keeps Courage.

Harding was gone from Washington, splendidly, fittingly gone, as went the day that for him had brimmed with honors as brimmed the cup of life, heavy with its draft of greatness scarce tasted at his lips when death so ruthlessly struck it aside. Gone from the place and the comrades of his greatness, gone with his loving care of a brave woman to shelter him on his last journey.

For in this whole day of pomp and circumstance that men have made to surround the great, there was no thing more touching than the dauntless courage with which Mrs. Harding carried through the public ordeal. As her black-gowned figure passed out of the crowded stone circle where the funeral rites were held, every glance was for her, every sympathy. There was admiration that brought the clutch of chocked-back sobs at the brave, simple dignity of her carriage that still could not hide the depths of her woe. There were eyes turned misty then that had shed no tear before.

Nation Claims Harding.

It ran in minds of men that the brave little woman had waited long to be alone with her dead, had even, because of the greatness of his place, found courage to lend him here to the nation whose service had demanded his life that he might be rendered the honors men would do him. Even she had crushed back her tears and come thus to pray in public over the bier when her heart cried out to be alone with her dead and for the surcease of unchecked tears and the intimate things of sorrow.

But it could not be. Dead, the nation claimed him as living; it swept him to his high office. And there was no mark of honor denied through the long hours that the pages of history could recall for his acclaim.

He was carried from the white house, which had sheltered his sleep for those last brief hours, with all the military pomp and glory that dead presidents or such heroes as the Unknown Soldier alone may know. Not in the memory of loving man has such high honor been paid save at the death of such martyrs to the cause of freedom symbolized and glorified in the flag.

Borne From East Room

From the dim East room and its heavy scented flowers, the dead president was borne out into a day vivid with sunshine. The clear pealing of a trumpet sent long lines of steel flashing to salute. A moment later it marshalled the ordered array of soldiers, sailors and marinesdown the long avenue to the capitol with John J. Pershing riding ahead in command, his only actual command since the first division, home from France, trnged westward over this same route in victory.

Band by band, the hymns of courage and devotion rose in the still air as they passed. Rank by rank, in khaki, blue or white, the sturdy youngsters who serve the flag moved by, their sabers and bayonets glittering in the sun, their dull hued guns rolling slowly. A tolling church bell, swinging with solemn, slow stroke, pierced the harmonies of the bands at intervals; distant minute guns

WATCH YOUR DRIVING FRIDAY

New Traffic Ordinance Here Will Go Into Effect Friday

The new city traffic ordinance which was in the making for about two months and only recently passed by the city council will be in full effect Friday morning.

The new ordinance is comprehensive and embodies the best that could be incorporated after a careful study by the committee, compiling the new ordinances from all the traffic ordinances of leading Texas cities. With the going into effect of the ordinance all the city ordinances dealing with traffic regulations will be annulled automatically. The ordinance makes it very plain that reckless driving will not be tolerated and sets out what will be included under this head.

Double Parking Forbidden

Stopping in the down town street area and leaving cars parked double is also ruled against, the new ordinance providing that some one must remain in the car when it is necessary to stop, with the exception of United States mail wagons. Special regulations both for street cars and automobiles are laid down to be observed in cases when fire apparatus is approaching.

The placing of two hour parking limit for cars on Indiana and Scott avenues between Tenth and Seventh streets and Eighth and Ninth streets between Lamar and Ohio between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. is one of biggest changes from the old to the new ordinance.

City Secretary W. E. McBroome says a number of copies of the new traffic ordinance are now in the press and will be ready for free distribution at the city hall in a few days. Every citizen will be urged to provide a copy of the ordinance and become acquainted with the new system.

FINAL FAREWELL

from Fort Myer, across the Potomac, throbbed faintly over the miles.

But along the way, banked motionless and in silence, were thousands upon thousands who had stood there waiting since daylight to add to the great tribute to the dead. The hushed reverence of these told more strikingly the sorrowful nature of the pageant than even the crepe that streamed from the passing standards or the mourning bands of jackets, or the knots of black at the sword hilts of the officers.

Coolidge First Mourner

Down through that long valley of sorrow the cortege wound to the capitol with that other, living president in thrust overnight to high responsibility, first among the nation's mourners through the family of the dead. President Coolidge was there both to symbolize the sorrow of the nation and to show his own great personal grief for his dead chief. And behind him rode two other men who have known the hard service of that high office, one of whom was stricken almost as was he to whom such honor was paid today. Chief Justice Taft followed President Coolidge, then Woodrow Wilson, coming from his retirement once again for a brief moment to give reverent homage beside the bier of an honor laden American.

All the great folk of Washington followed after. Among them were the diplomats who speak here with the voices of their kings or governments to testify that human sympathy for a nation in grief knows no barrier on sea or land. There also were the great judges and the sorrowful cabinet officers; the senate and the members of the house called back from their varied occupations for this sad moment. Again block after block behind stretched the ranks of all the civilian organizations of Washington, out in full array. The men who head the bureau and divisions of the great government departments; the army and navy and marine corps officers serving here and walking now in ordered line, their tunic sleeves wound with mournful black.

Procession Nears Capitol

Coming thus to Capitol Hill, the bands ceased for the climb to the wide plaza on the east front where new presidents take oath. The muffled drums took up the tale as the cortege climbed up the winding, tree shaded way.

And it was this distant throbbing of the drums that carried word of their coming to those waiting in the flower-filled chamber beneath the towering dome, throbbing that grew nearer until at last it gave place to the sifty rising tones of a great army band that played, "Lead Kindly Light,' as the flag casket was lifted slowly up the long, wide stone steps.

It was a peaceful face, untouched by the ravages of his brief illness. The broad brow was tranquil and save for the light pallor death always brings, he might have been asleep there for a moment of rest, to rouse again when duty called. It hardly seemed that the spirit could have fled; that the lids would not lift presently to show the kindly, thoughtful eyes beneath. There was very little of death about him and much of peace and rest.

The eastern doors were thrown open again and waiting at the foot of the long stairways, between ranks of soldiers and other guards, a mile long column of people stretched through the hot sunlight to wind away out of sight around the distant trees across the plaza. They had been ranked four abreast and at the word came trooping slowly up to pass with only the soft rustle of footsteps to mark their coming and going down the flower-woven corridor that had been made for them. The hushed human tide flowed by on both sides of the casket and each gazed down just a moment before moving on to the west door and thus to the streets far down beyond the wide grounds.

There were men and women from all states of the union in that endless column. There were those from almost every nation in the world. They were of all faiths and of all parties and of many colors. They were dressed in all styles. They were a cross section of the mighty people for whom the man they honored freely gave his life.

All in Perfect Silence.

Sometimes there came one who dropped a single flower on the coffin as he passed, and the watchful guards easily removed it after the giver had gone by. Some came with weeping, some lifted little children in their arms to glimpse that calm, dead face beneath the glass. All came in reverent silence.

There were many little groups of soldiers and sailors and marines who seized the opportunity of their brief rest again between the ceremonies which required their services, to view for the last time their commander-in-chief.

When the moment came that must see the doors closed again more than 85,000 persons had passed through that corridor of flowers, it was estimated, and as many more were turned back disappointed after hours in the slow moving lines. But the departure for Marion could not wait and the great doors were shut.

No sight of the spectacle on the plaza was visible to those within the rotunda. Only its four great archways, facing north, east, south and west, gave access to the stone floors; its only windows are arranged in a row far above at the base of the dome itself and the light they gave was gently shaded as it poured down on the catafalque, waiting in the center.

Then from the senate entrance, the slender, sorrowful widow moved with her escort of those who served most intimately with the death chieftain, to a place near the head of the bier. Her face was almost invisible under the black veil she wore, but no man who saw her carriage could doubt the courage that brought her there, or the bitter woe that filled her heart.

Voices Made Inaudible.

The religious services were striking in their simplicity against the background of military pomp and grandeur given by the funeral parade. Just the short prayers, the murmuring of low voices joined in the old, old words of the Lord's prayer, the scriptural readings and the blending voices of a male quartette in the same hymn that marked this funeral everywhere, "Lead Kindly Light," the hymn best beloved by the dead president, and at the end, "Nearer, My God To Thee," with its message of Christian resignation.

Hardly a word of the invocation, spoken by Dr. A. Freeman Anderson of the Baptist church, which President and Mrs. Harding attended in Washington, or the late plea for divine mercy made by Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplin of the house, reached through the chamber. Jealous echoes from the circling walls caught up the voice and made the voices inaudible. But every word of the old hymns, in the chanting voices of the singers, came clearly and the organ like chords rose and fell with wonderful and touching effect under the vaulted roof. Tears flowed freely everywhere among the still audience as the last chord died lingeringly away far above.

That was all, save the benediction. It was as simple as Warren Harding himself would have had it for he made no parade of his trust in the goodness of God. And, too, as he had given himself in life to the service of the people of his country, he was given now in death for a brief hour that they might see home, sleeping so peacefully in that great casket to which tender hands had confided him beside the far Golden Gate a week ago.

Harding's Face Peaceful.

When Mrs. Harding had gone and, with her the sympathy and the blessings of those who had briefly glimpsed her triumphs over her own sorrow, the new president and his cabinet, the diplomats and general, and admirals all filed slowly out and the great chamber was cleared except for the armed sentries about the bier and the others who quickly carried away the chairs and set long lines of floral offerings in place to form a broad aisle to west across the stone floor. Then the flag was gently drawn back, the heavy steel of the cover was set aside, and these who knew him in life saw again the face of Warren Harding.

By now the softer light of early evening filled the great plaza outside. And with it came the troops again to line the short, straight way to the station with a double rank of armed men on each side of the avenue. The mounted troops were back in line before the great stairway, the caisson waiting, the little block of the crew of the presidential yacht Mayflower stood with grounded arms to join the last escort of the dead, the army band held its instruments ready.

President Coolidge and the cabinet officers and the admirals and generals of the honor guard came again in motor cars to enter the rotunda for a few minutes, then the casket was borne out and down to the caisson while the troopers raised their sabers in salute and the ordered rows of the guns ranked behind hem showed every figure erect in saddle or on timber. Again the slow music of the band marked the slow progress of the casket, playing "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

At the word the first troop turned to lead the way down the long lane of soldiery and honored the going of the dead chief. The Mayflower's crew marched next, then came the caisson and its burden. A troop of cavalry and battery of guns brought up the rear and hardly had the last gun passed beyond the grounds before the leading troop, turned aside before the station entrance.

At the station the casket was lifted down to be carried out again, and gently placed in the position where tens of thousand of Americans saw it on the long homeward pilgrimage of sorrow from San Francisco. There were no ceremonies. The nation's farewell had been said except for the last soft strains by the marine band, which played "Lead Kindly Light" in final parting.

Mrs. Harding Comes Direct.

Mrs. Harding reached the station soon after the casket had been placed back aboard the funeral car. She came directly from the white house. Other members of the party who traveled with the dead president on his journey ended with such sad suddeness, were already aboard the train by Mrs. Harding's personal request to be with the dead to the last in Marion.

The group of official mourners stood bareheaded on the platform. A hand waved in silent signal. Without sound of bell or whistle the train began to move slowly, slowly down the track. It gathered speed as it moved out into the yards and in a moment had dwindled under the watching eyes of the silent group left behind, dwindled as it moved faster and faster over the clicking switching until it rounded a curve and vanished from view.

Warren Harding was gone from Washington, forever.

State Union President Here Issues Proclamation Of Harding Respect

Asking that Friday afternoon be observed in memory of Former President Harding and ordering all work to be suspended a half day in view of this, John R. Evans, Gainesville, state president of the painters, decorators and paperhangers union, now in Wichita Falls, issued appropriate resolutions Wednesday.

The local union No. 393 at a special call session, Wednesday, also adopted resolutions of respect. The members of the union agreed to meet at the Labor temple Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and march to the First Baptist church in a body to attend the memorial services there.

The resolution as drawn up by Evans and issued to all Texas locals follows:

Whereas the all wise father saw fit to take from us the nation's beloved President Warren Gamaliel Harding in San Francisco, California, August 2, 1923.

Therefore be it resolved, by local 393 Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America meeting at a special call session that Friday afternoon August 10, 1923, be observed in commemoration of our dear president's devotion to his country. Be it further resolved that the brotherhood meet at the Labor temple at 2 p. m. on this date and march in a body to the First Baptist church and participate in the services.

And that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and that a copy be given to the press for publication.

Signed: C. D. Owens, president; W. S. Martin, financial secretary; James Murray, recording secretary.

Ranger Captain Hickman Visits Here Before Leaving For Gotham Rodeo

Captain Tom Hickman of the Texas rangers, well known here and formerly stationed here, but now at Corpus Christi, was in Wichita Falls Wednesday conferring with Ranger Sergeants Koonsman and McCormick and enroute to New York city where he will be a judge in Tex Austin's rodeo, which begins soon for 10 days at the Yankee stadium.

Captain Hickman is one of the best known officers in Texas and his career in chasing down criminals has made him a national figure. In the last four years, the ranger captain says, he has been stationed in 18 different cities and towns in Texas. "I always come to Wichita Falls when I run out of clothes and buy me a new supply. Just like the merchants here, and then I thought I had better dress up a bit before I landed in New York," the ranger remarked.

Tom Burnett of Iiwo Park, will be present at the Tex Austin rodeo which Captain Hickman will help judge and has entered a number of horses for the event, according to the ranger. Nearly all the big cattlemen of the state are planning to attend the New York rodeo and $500,000 ticket receipts already have been taken, Hickman said.

Ranger Sergeant Koonsman is ranking sergeant of Captain Hickman's ranger company and has been stationed in Wichita Falls more than a year.

We Want to Talk to Every Prospect Who Plans to Pay More Than $500 for a Car

We want to tell you something about the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car. Want you to examine it—and to drive it.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, for less than $1,000 is an opportunity not duplicated anywhere in the world. Elimination of vibration adds immeasurably to the life of the motor. It is one of the reasons for the universal high resale value of the Light-Six.

The Touring Car body is all-steel—even to its framework. Seat cushions—of genuine leather—are ten inches deep and are placed at the most restful angle.

The one-piece windshield is handsome and practical because it gives unobstructed view of the road ahead and is rain-proof. The quick-action cowl ventilator and the parking lights are but indications of the quality and completeness of the appointments.

No other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six Touring Car. The savings resulting from large volume, complete manufacture and the fact that Studebaker's overhead is shared by three distinct models make possible its low price and high value.

The Light-Six upholds Studebaker's 71-year reputation for honest value.

WATER LINE TO RIG AT CHARLIE

Tests to Find Water for Oil Operators Prove Failure

CHARLIE, Texas, Aug. 8...Several tests have been made for a well of water with which to operate the oil rig which is located tow and one half miles west of Charlie, but each test has been a failure. For this reason a water pipe is being laid from the oil rig to the Gower Springs a distance of two miles. Drilling for oil will begin as soon as the water supply can be arranged for that purpose.

Fire Endangers Home.

The home of Mr. John Dodd was endangered Monday, when the barn and garage a few yards away caught fire and was completely burned. A washing machine full of clothes was in the barn when it caught fire and was destroyed. Many trunks packed with winter clothes were burned. The fire department reached the scene just in time to prevent the house from burning.

Trades Day Attracts Many

The trades day held here Monday was a complete success. There were people here from all over the country and it is estimated that there was the largest crowd in town than there has been at any of the previous trades day. One big drawing card is the large number of prizes that are given away on this day. The business men and merchants raise the money for the prizes and give a certain number of tickets with so much merchandise. The tickets are drawn at each trades day on the court house lawn. The winners of the prizes at this trades day are as follows: Mrs. P. M. Patterson, Henrietta, won the $50 prize, W. M. Glasgow, Henrietta, $25 prize, Bob Gorman, Henrietta, $15 prize. A FAIR-MINDED ATTITUDE.

It having been the custom of the mayor and city council to grant privileges for the building of filling stations wherever practical, Mayor Collier never batted an eye when a request was made to build one in front of his home. When reminded of its close proximity to his residence by a member of the council, he insisted that it be considered in the regular channels, without special consideration for him as mayor.

Of course the mayor's attitude was right, but everyone would not have been so broadminded. He spoke in the spirit of Wichita Falls. He recognizes, as all of us should, that the business district must be given room to grow. However, The Record News believes there should be some restrictions placed on the location of filling stations which are strictly outside the possible limits of the downtown district.

WHY?

More than a billion dollars has been advanced by government loan banks to needy tillers of the soil to become owners of the farms they till. This should not be overlooked by the critics of the Harding or Wilson administrations. These government farm loan banks are advancing millions every year to the landless who wish to become land owners. A democratic administration made these farm loan banks possible and a Supreme Court of the United States made the act constitutional. Now why damn the government?

GOOD OLD AMERICAN DOLLAR.

Now that the German mark has touched the lowest depth of degredation and dishonor, there is a revolution due in that country. A mark is a hissing and a byword. A million marks will not buy a breakfast. Those who control food supplies will not accept the mark as currency of the realm, and hunger awaits those who have marks but who must buy food.

There is a dollar in America that is not dishonored. It has never been a degraded dollar. This for the gentlemen who dwell in the Valley of Lunacy and are forever clamoring for the government printing presses to let loose upon the people deluges of flat money.

TEXAS.

Plans for the biggest fig orchard in the world have been concluded by Texas orchardists. This orchard is to be on the old Turnbow ranch, 35 miles south of Houston and 6,000 acres will be planted in trees this fall. Later along the largest fig cannery and preserving plant will be built.

Texas has the largest peach orchard in the world. Texas has the largest ranch in the world. Texas has the largest hog in the world.

SAMUEL GOMPERS.

Samuel Gompers is the president and the voice of the American Federation of Labor. For more than 40 years he has been the directing head of this powerful national organization of wage workers. Samuel has never been unhorsed by his labor rivals. He has never been accused of dishonest practices. No tainted dollar has ever found its way into his pocket.

He has his peculiar economic views and no doubt he is entitled to them. He has many powerful enemies in the capitalistic class, but he never strikes a blow below the belt. He has peculiar political views and he never hesitates to defend them.

He has warned the wage workers of America to avoid what he calls the third party death trap. He has advised them as in the past, to vote for candidates for office regardless of party, who are friendly to the farmers and wage workers of the country and their legislative demands.

This is a solar plexis blow for the Fosters and Fitzpatricks of the labor world who would organize one big union and then hurl that union headlong into the arena as a political party. Samuel Gompers and his followers will walk in the beaten path of the American Federation of Labor and next year the Gomperites will vote for the presidential nominee and candidates for senators and representatives who are the closest to the legislative demands of labor and who are willing to make that declaration in the open.

This may not make much of a dent in the wheat and corn growing states, but it will make a powerful dent in, the vast manufacturing states and industrial centers of America. There are five millions of men who follow the flag of the American Federation of Labor. And now that woman has the ballot in nearly every household, here are two or three voting atoms ready for duty election day.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING.

Samuel G. Blythe is an American newspaper correspondent, the dean of the political writers of the republic and one who has enjoyed the confidence of the greatest statesmen of America as well as the greatest political managers for more than a quarter of a century.

Two weeks ago The Saturday Evenong Post carried a remarkable story from the pen of Mr. Blythe. It bore this caption: "A Calm Review of a Calm Man." It was a masterful defense of Warren G. Harding, as president of the United States and perhaps the most forceful that has ever been written of the Harding administration.

This was the magazine article that Mrs. Harding was reading to her husband when he closed his eyes in eternal sleep. Samuel G. Blythe had his flowers for the living. He tossed the choice posies into the lap of the president while the latter was on his travels, bowing to the plaudits of his countrymen and no doubt ambitious to serve those countrymen to the best of his ability in the years to come.

All the people heap flowers on the bier of a dead public servant. Some few go to his defense while he is in the land of the living and is in a position to inhale the fragrance and appreciate the beauty of the offering.

THE SOUL - SCAR

By HELEN DUFF

A strange, new feeling of brotherhood with the world was knocking at her heart. Sammy Todd, crowding close, was no longer a thing to laugh at, fly from. Life had brought him so little—required so much. He— Something about the crouching woman disturbed her.

"Never seen a woman smoke before, Sammy?" Natalie asked.

He sighed.

"Yep—granny—heaps of times—a pipe." It was a reluctant recall from his own thoughts. "That's not what I was a seein.' It's THEM things." His hand made an expressive gesture.

"Them things" were pear-shaped rubies hanging from hoops of diamonds in ears cunningly bidden by smooth black hair.

The light from the fire woke a thousand reflections in their crimson depths. Live coals they might have been or—drops of blood.

Only an ignorant woman or a daring one would have attempted them. The princess-woman, Natalie decided, as she turned away, was not ignorant!

Miss Merilda's room was dark; and, after speaking twice, the girl concluded that her aunt had gone to sleep in spite of the music. Relieved, she tiptoed softly out.

The boy, Sammy Todd—what a lust of possession there had been in his naive appreciation of the gaudy earrings! The miserable little figure haunted her. She had a sudden urge to audit the balance-sheet and, slipping into her room, tucked a five-dollar bill into her belt.

But Sammy Todd had gone.

Natalie's reappearance in the living room was greeted with demands for arbitration in an argument as to the relative merits of Wagner and Irving Berlin, when there was the sound of a chair hastily overturned—a woman's voice rising in terror. Instantly everyone was on his feet.

"Who screamed?" "What is it?" One by one, as though drawn by a magnet, they turned to find the answer in the scarlet figure flattened against the opposite wall. Like the mask of a milliner's manikin, the face of the princess-woman stared, a ghastly oval in its frame of inky hair.

"At the window!" she whispered.

There was a dash for the door. The men all tried to reach the porch at the same time—a resulting jam—then the cry:

"We've got him!" And two guests staggered into the room, dragging between them a small, disheveled figure.

"Why, that's only John, Bill's brother! He wouldn't hurt a fly," said Miss Pringle. "What were you doing out there on the porch in all this wet?"

"I ain't done nothin'," John whimpered. "I want Bill. Where is he?"

"Boy, look at me!" The princess-woman advanced. "Was there anybody else beside you out there on the porch?"

A sudden spasm of hatred—the hatred that a weakling feels for strength and vitality—convulsed John's features.

"How should I know?" he said. "I only just come."

Another search of the porch was made, then the party scattered for the night.

CHAPTER XII—THE MANDARIAN COAT.

For the first time in her healthy, well-ordered existence, Natalie had a case of mental indigestion. The noise of the storm and a thousand memories of the day kept her brain long active. Worn out at last, she buried her face in the pillows and put the world away from her. How long she slept she could not guess, but she awoke with a consciousness that something had happened. The wind still howled. The branch of a tree tapped tatoo on her windowpane.

And then she realized— She was in total darkness. The light over her door had been extinguished.

Her resentment against the inefficiency which would permit of a hall light going out in a public house grew and grew. Suppose there should be a fire—how was anyone to find the way to the stairs? She flung on a bathrobe, lighted her bedroom candle and shuffled into the hall.

There, just coming out of the bathroom, fully dressed, a crumpled towel in one hand and a handkerchief in the other, stood Jones. On both towel and handkerchief were stains—slowly spreading stains of red.

For a moment they stood facing each other. Then.

"That's nothing," he said. "I—I was shaving and cut myself."

Natalie, turned and fled into her room and under the covers of the bed. After a stifling interval she sat up again and reached for a match. By the flame she consulted her watch.

Ten minutes to three! Why should the clerk of the One Pine Inn shave himself at ten minutes to three?

* * * * *

A persistent sunbeam traveled along Natalie's arm and paused to play on her upturned face. Lingeringly she woke, as a constant tap, tap forced itself into her consciousness.

A group of people were gathered on the lawn—Miss Pringle, Tillie, a few of the guests—all talking in low-pitched, agitated tones.

Bill, a small cleaver in hand, was chipping at a pile of rock and cement—the dam built to hold back sufficient water from the winding brook for Miss Pringle's many improvised fountains. After each succession of blows he added a little foot-power until the wall, creaking a protest, swayed and toppled.

"Get out of the way!" he yelled. "It's comin' now!"

As the water boiled out of the crevice and over the lawn, the group broke apart, and Natalie saw what they had been looking at—the bird-bath. A sweary splotch of color filled the old horse-trough from end to end. With a growing horror she saw black tendrils of hair, unloosed and floating among the lily-pads, an arm that trailed limply over the side, the fingers of one hand that rested on the grass.

While she watched, the water settled, oozed away, and the white arm, with jerky movements like those of a marionette, flopped over as the hideous "something" in the bird-bath sank out of sight.

She almost cried aloud as she realized that it was the body of the princess-woman, still wrapped in her scarlet mandarian coat.

CHAPTER XIII.—SUSPICION.

The sight drove Natalie from the window, sick with horror. When, finally, she dared trust herself to make the journey to Miss Merilda's room, she found the volatile little old lady in a frenzy of excitement.

"Natalie," she cried, "it's happened! I'm getting this right from the start—in detail. Think of the investigation—the newspapers—the way we're all coming in for publicity! My sixth sense was right after all. An adventure I came for, and an adventure I have found! We'll all be put through a third degree, and then they'll start to look for clues—cigar-ash—blood stains and——"

"Blood stains?" Natalie echoed. The towel—the handkerchief—Jones! This, then was what had brought the clerk of the One Pine Inn to the bathroom at ten minutes to three!

The princess-woman was another victim of the soul-scar!

The One Pine Inn was not a hotel, and no one had registered, no one knew who the princess-woman was.

"We mustn't touch anything. Jones told me nothing was to be touched," Miss Pringle said to the guests later.

"Jones? Jones?" said Mr. Watles, a pompous old gentleman. "What's Jones got to say about it?"

"Why, it was Jones who found it—her—this morning, when he was opening up the house. He's gone to Lakeport for the coroner."

"Gone to Lockport, has he? And how do you know, my dear madam, that this Jones person has not taken the opportunity you so kindly gave him and made his escape? Your clerk is probably not only the murderer, but a common thief as well. He has taken with him the two automobile rugs which I entrusted to his keeping—valuable rugs. I have investigated. They're gone!"

"How unfair!" Natalie exclaimed.

"Unfair?" Mr. Watles swung about. "And what, if I may ask, is your reason for coming to the defense of this man?"

The others crowded forward, nodding. The point was well taken.

Natalie had an inspiration.

"What about the man who came with this woman?" she demanded. "What has he to say for himself? Where is he?"

A moment of blankness while the idea seeped in—an eager stir of comprehension. The hunt was on! Young and old scurried to the upper floor. An ear-splitting yelping from the princess-woman's Pomeranians—a slamming of doors—a temporary lull. Then Bill's surly question:

"What you want to start 'em tearin' all over the place for? They won't find nothin'. That bird's wise. He's flew!"

Hope came to Natalie. If this woman's companion had run away, didn't it prove that HE was guilty?

CHAPTER XIV.—A BLOOD-STAINED PACKAGE

"What's the idea?" she demanded of Miss Merilda, five minutes later, as that lady beamed upon her from underneath a counterpane. "Getting back into bed with your clothes on!"

So Goes It

By B. H.

When Henry Ford goes on a motor trip, he takes Messrs. Firestone and Edison with him. That's our idea of management.

Probably it may have occured to you, as it has to us, that folks are rather hard to please in regard to the weather. If it's hot they want it cold and when the cold arrives they insist on warmer weather. Mark Twain once said, in reference to this popular topic: "There has been a lot said about the weather but very little done about it."

An eastern doctor says girls should be kissed on the back of the neck. We venture the opinion that a girl shouldn't be kissed at all unless she doesn't object. The doctor in question may not have intended his statement to be compulsory, but it reads that way.

We will go further and say that if a girl really approves of the kiss in question, she wouldn't want it planted on the back of her neck. The doctor's real object in all probability was not to revise the osculatory custom of our time, but to break into print. This he accomplished, but little more.

There has been a great clamor to reduce the steel workers hours from 12 hours a day to eight and the aforesaid clamor has met with just approval. It also seems to be understood that, with wheat at less than a dollar a bushel, the farmer can work as many hours as he will.

An onion a day will keep 'em all away.

I increase my child's vocabulary not only by telling him stories, but by patiently listening to him retell them to me. Also, whenever I recite short poems and Mother Goose rhymes to him it is with idea that he is to learn them so he can "say them back to mother."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ADVANCING YEARS

In early youth we loved to read
The bards who sang of sorrow—
The solemn poets who agreed
How hopeless was tomorrow!
We doted much on Byron's stuff,
Which, sad as it was clever,
Was always saying to some fluff:
"Farewell! Farewell—forever!"

A few years after that we fell
For Omar's callous chatter.
He told us things would turn out well—
And anyway, what matter?
We liked to think that if the worst
Should come, the beaded bubbles
Would always serve to quench our thirst
And tide us through our troubles!

Then Mr. Kipling came along—
And how our heart beats thudded
In rhythm to his stirring song,
So virile and red-blooded!
But soon we had a softer mood:
With kindness were we smitten,
And all the poems were pursued
That Mr. Keats had written.

But now that we ourselves are sad
And filled with melancholy,
Our present literary fad
Is Poetry of Jolly!
We like the light and blithesome birds
Whose fancy knows no fetter;
Who sings in tripping, trifling words—
The foolisher the better!

UNKIND OF HIM

Mr. Bryan says wealth is a disease, but he refuses to tell us where we can catch it.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE LEO

The moon in cancer governs the stomach, which alone is a disturbing physical influence. The aspects fluctuate from good to bad throughout the entire day and it is, therefore safer to refrain from forcing those things to a close which you had depended upon to be a success. This advice holds good regarding affairs of the heart as well as business.

A child born today will be intelligent and dutiful but unambitious until inspired by the example of others.

If today is your birthday you are probably the exact opposite of what you appear to others. You are somewhat of a hypocrite but not necessarily one of evil intent; you simply do not believe in showing your hand no matter what there is in it.

It thrills you to play a solitary silent game and you delight in surprising people in crucial moments with information that you are not supposed to possess. You are secretive and suspicious of the motives of others because you are of a strongly orthodox of religious nature. You are the type that believes man is naturally evil.

What you lack most vitally is the power of love. You are actually but not consciously as distrustful of your own motives as you are of others. You are afraid of your own instincts. You need the association of various opposite types and above all the cultivation of your sense of humor. You also need a great amount of life in the open.

You are inclined to be sedentary in your habits. You are fond of reading and in general you are appreciative of the arts and have excellent taste but are over-conventional.

You ought to travel a great deal, not because you want to, but because your dispoition needs the broadening influence of new interest.

Emotionally you are cold and timid. You have a strong attraction for the opposite sex, but you are ashamed of it. You are probably jealous in your love affairs because you neither believe in yourself nor in others.

Successful people born on your birthday are:

Alexander Delmar—Political economist.

William M. Stewart—United States senator.

William T. G Morton—One of the discoverers of anaesthesia.

POEMS THAT LIVE

TURN ALL THY THOUGHTS TO EYES.

Turn all thy thoughts to eyes,
Turn all thy hairs to ears,
Change all thy friends to spies
And all thy joys to fears.
True love will yet be free
In spite of jealousy.

Turn darkness into day,
Conjectures into truth,
Believe what the envious say,
Let age interpret youth.
True love will yet be free.
In spite of jealousy.

Wrest every word and look,
Rack every hidden thought,
Or fish wit golden hook,
True love cannot be caught,
For that will still be free,
In spite of jealousy.

IRRIGATION

By A. M. McPHERSON
Consulting Engineer
Kahn Bldg., Eighth and Indiana

INTO WHAT SIZED FARMS SHOULD THE SURPLUS LANDS ON THE IRRIGATION PROJECT BE DIVIDED?

Peculiarities of Peaches.

Peaches are a highly perishable fruit. When ripe they must be disposed of at once. They may be shipped to market, sold to the canners and evaporaters, or placed in cold storage.

If the market alone must be depended upon, peaches are a dangerous crop from the standpoint of the grower. If a canning factory or a commercial evaporator is at hand they tend to stabilize the market by absorbing the surplus fruit.

Peach trees have a habit of giving good yields about three years out of five. The other years the trees rest and only light crops are produced.

The peach tree is about the first tree to bloom in the spring and for that reason it is the fruit most often caught by spring frosts.

The tree never grows very large as compared to other orchard trees and is not as long lived as many. On account of its growing habits and its comparatively short life, it is often planted with other orchard fruits, such as apples, and later on the peaches are cut out.

Perhaps the most important consideration in the growing of peaches is to have them on the market at such times as the market is not glutted with fruit.

Canning factories and evaporators are necessary adjuncts of every successful peach district, but the big money comes from selling peaches on the open market at the right time. This is an important feature that must be considered in estimating whether or not peaches would be a profitable crop here under irrigation.

Tomorrow we will give some further data on peaches.

Routing "Main Street"

One Illinois town refuses to give up its "Main street" simply because Sinclair Lewis wrote a book criticising Main streets in general.

Quite probably the town hasn't read "Main street" — but that wouldn't change its regard for its time-honored throughfare materially; and if it did read the story, the most noteworthy result that migh come from it would be a determination to make over the street, atmosphere and all, in the light of the criticism aimed at it. "Main streets" should not be destroyed, but redeemed.

Lacking in culture—if they are—by application and diligence, they can "make culture hum." Western rawness needs the use of a little more money, combined with time and the help of "village improvement societies," to eventually, at least, please the eye of the fastidious.

See East Aurora, N. Y., as an outward example and a prototype. Hire a landscape architect and civic beautificationist, organize a society for literary study, go in for music and so much sculpture and painting as the folks can afford, and how long would it be before Main streeters were utterly routed?—F. H. Collier in Saint Louis Post Dispatch.

Impossible.

The usually sedate bridge party at the Ambassador yielded to a burst of merriment the other afternoon when one of the experts coolngly remarked to a dear old lady who had consented to make the needed fourth at one of the tables: "I'm afraid you revoked, my dear."

The old lady regarded her balefully over her spectacles.

"Revoked? Nonsense! Why, my dear child, I don't even know what it means."—Los Angeles Times.

Here And There In The World Of Daily Interest To Women

Slumber Parties Sunrise Swims And Picnics Are Popular

Little informal picnics, swims and slumber parties are continuing to prove popular these warm evenings of ours. Jolly groups playing bridge or dancing on cool porches, picnicking or swimming, and enjoying cool drinks and iced watermelon, are passing summer evenings pleasantly.

Miss Berniece Goblke was hostess to a group of her friends at her home, 1612 Tenth street when she entertained Tuesday evening with a slumber party and sunrise swim.

Dancing and the telling of ghost stories were the features of the evening's entertainment and late in the evening the Patrician Serenaders rolled into the driveway and entertained the party with a group of songs. Ice cream and cake was served to the guests.

Wednesday morning following a delightful breakfast the girls motored to the Municipal Golf club where they enjoyed a plunge. The guest list included Misses Helen Knotts, Gene Nelson, Frankie Adickes, Anabelle Couper, Anna Ruth Kahn, Alma Willis, Donna Mitchum, Lucille Smith, Mary Evans, Elizabeth Carrigan, Elisabeth Brown, Dorothy Nolen Leah Ford, Berniece Martin and Fern Sides of Fort Worth.

"GLAD GIRLS" HAVE SUNRISE BREAKFAST

The "Glad Girls" class of the Floral Heights M. E. church with their teacher, Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, entertained with a sunrise breakfast and swim at Cedar Park polo Tuesday morning.

After a refreshing plunge in the pool, the girls prepared a delicious breakfast of iced cantaloupe, bacon, eggs and buttered toast after which they toasted marshmallows over the coals.

Those present included Misses Mary Jane Black, Crystal Seal, Don Ruth Coffee, Lillian Conn, Wilma Donnell, Velma and Viola Hammer, Annette McMordie and Lois Franklin and Messrs. and Mesdames A. M. Black, Grover Cleveland, Johnson, Rhodes, Misses Helen Cannon of Kansas City, Thelma Ruth Jones of Henrietta and Samuel Black.

MISS RAE MARIAN GIVES PICNIC FOR GUESTS

Honoring Miss Lois Haney, her house guest, and Cleo Jones, a guest in the H. G. Harris home, Miss Rae Marian entertained a few friends with a picnic supper and a swim at Lake Wichita Tuesday evening.

Those present included Messrs. and Mesdames Heygood, Patterson, J. H. Marian, Misses Willie Patterson, Rae Marian, Lois Haney, Vivian Harris and Mr. Cleo Jones.

YALE AVENUE LADIES GIVE ICE-CREAM SOCIAL

The Ladies' Aid of the Yale Avenue Evangelical church will hold an ice cream social Friday evening at Belvue park. Funds will be applied on the piano the society is buying.

ALATHEAN GROUP THREE DISCONTINUES MEETINGS

Group 3 of the Alathean class of the First Baptist church, will discontinue their semi-monthly meetings until the middle of September.

LIBRARY CLOSED FOR MEMORIAL HOUR FRIDAY

The Kemp Public library will close for one hour, between 3 and 4 o'clock, on Friday, in keeping with the city-wide memorial services for the late President Harding.

LADIES ENJOY DAY AT GOLF CLUB TUESDAY

Ladie's Day at the Golf club proved delightfully cool, and a pleasant morning was spent at the games. A delicious luncheon consisting of fried chicken, creamed turnips, candied sweet potatoes on toast circles, fruit salad, olives, jelly, iced tea, and chocolate ice cream was served in the club dining room which was prettily decorated in summer flowers.

Among those present were three charming out-of-town guests, who served to make the day one of especial interest, Miss Carrie Dent of Oklahoma City, the house guest of Mrs. B. O. Cravens; Miss Silk of Birmingham, Alabama, a guest in the home of her brother, W. W. Silk; and Miss Mary Louise Tooke of Arcadia La., house guest of Miss Josephine Mayfield.

Hostesses for next week are Mesdames P. A. Rogers, C. E. Thames, R. A. Myers and H. O. Cravens.

DURLAND GROVE LODGE POSTPONES MEETING

Durland Grove No. 1847 will postpone their regular meeting on Friday honoring President's Harding's funeral, according to announcement received from Mesdames Evonal Wallace, guardian; and Myrtle Baker, clerk.

Today's Poem

FREEDOM

Give me the long straight road before me,
A clear, cold day with a nipping air,
Tall, bare trees to run on beside me,
A heart that is light and free from care.
Then let me go!—I care not whither
My feet may lead, for my spirit shall be
Free as the brook that flows to the river
Free as the river that flows to the sea.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

"The Cinderella of the Movies"—that is what they call Mimi Palmeri, the beautiful fashion model who has made good in the leading feminine role in "The Ragged Edge," with Alfred Lunt.

Mrs. Arthur S. Friend, wife of the president of Distinctive Pictures Corporation, was the Columbus who discovered Miss Palmeri. Mrs. Friend saw Mimi's pictures in various magazines and wrote to her saying that Mr. Friend was always on the lookout for new faces and might be able to use her. Mr. Friend saw and was conquered, with the result that critics say that Mimi Palmeri is one of the rising young stars of the day.

Mimi Palmeri was born in New York city, and has a charming French mother and an Italian father. She has a great deal of musical talent, and at the age of 15 won a scholarship at the Damrosch Musical Institute. Her unusual beauty attracted photographers, however, and she soon found that posing for them was so lucrative that her music lapsed.

Few, indeed, are the stars who rise in quite such meteoric fashion, but you see it can be done.

Samoan Bathing Girls

We have seen hundreds of bathing beauties in the film, but in the new Pathe picture, "Black Shadows" showing moments from the lives of teens and savages of the South Seas, we meet the sirenic Samoan bathing girls. Samoan girls spend on an average of five hours each day in the water. But there is one odd thing about them—superstition prevents them from diving head first—they plunge downward feet first. Consequently, our light-hued beauties have something on them in water darling.

ROSES

Is a great city hospital a machine? Is it routine, incarnate, conscious only by broken bodies? Or did this just chance, in this one instance?

She went to one of the larger of these institutions and she carried some roses to a friend in one of the private wards. But the friend had that morning been discharged as cured and had returned to her home in a distant suburb. And the woman who had brought the roses decided not to take them away.

"I would like," she said" to leave these roses for somebody in the hospital who has no visitors. Will you give me a name to send them to?"

The young woman behind the register looked first startled, then puzzled.

"I don't know who that would be," she said.

"Of course not everybody here has friends and roses. Anyone will do."

"I couldn't tell you anybody like that just now."

"I mean," the woman explained, "man, woman or child—just anybody who is here in the hospital and seems to have no friends to come in visiting hours."

"I couldn't tell you anybody at present!"

The visitor became animated. "You can't be saying that in this great place there's nobody who hasn't friends and flowers?"

The young woman consulted some one in the little office, and turned to say:

"There's 660 but she's on the operating table this morning. No, I really couldn't tell you anybody like that."

The visitor unwrapped the roses, red, perfect. She shook them a bit and smiled with stubborn sweetness.

"I don't believe," she said," that in all this great place you cannot find somebody lonely, and without flowers, to give these roses to."

"I'll tell you!" said the young woman in abrupt relief. "You step down to the social service department at the end of the hall, and ask there."

By now thoroughly interested, thoroughly stubborn, the woman, with roses went down to the end of the corridor to the social service department. The room was empty. From an adjoining door emerged a busy elderly woman, and the rose woman accosted her and explained what she wanted. Said the elderly woman:

"Dearie, I'm in the book-keeping department and I don't know any more about the patients than you do. I couldn't tell you. Your best way is to wait in the social service room till somebody comes."

So the visitor waited in the social service room until somebody came. That woman heard the offer repeated and looked thoughtful.

"I don't know anybody here like that," she said, "but I'll tell you what we can do. Let's carry them to the children's ward. They're sure to like them."

And this was done. But was there really nobody in that whole vast building behind those interminable closed doors, who had neither visiors nor roses?

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

THE "GREAT LOVER."

"What am I to do?" a young girl wailed. "I have fallen in love with a man who admits he has a heart big enough to store a hundred women. He says women are his garden of flowers, and it takes pansies and rose and poppies and daisies to make his garden complete. I have a place in his garden but I want to fill the whole space of his heart! How can I do it?"

Let us ponder on her question. Did one woman ever completely fill a man's heart?" Are they all not more or less like this "great lover" of here, with a garden full of a variety of flowers?

The man who travels and loves life gathers his flowers where he may; his home garden is quietly put from his thought while he travels in foreign lands.

Like the bees and butterflies he sips the honey as he passes by, leaving the memory of a gigantic caress and tenderness.

Admiring, loving, giving joy and pleasure to those with whom he comes in contact, and leaving a trail of friendliness behind him, the "great lover," goes on his way.

Surely he should not be confined to one variety of flower but should love them all—and be loved by all.

WOMAN SO BLUE SHE CRIED

Because of Ill Health—Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Burlington, Ia.—"I used to dread the time for my monthly period as it came every two weeks and lasted for two weeks, and during that time I would have the blues and cry. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am so happy I can hardly express myself. I have gained several pounds and look fine. I have recommended your medicine to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial. I hope your medicine will give others the relief it did me."—Mrs. RALPH GAIL, 2021 Des Moines St., Burlington, Ia.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for ailments common to women. It has been used for such troubles for nearly fifty years, and thousands of women have found relief as did Mrs. Gail, by taking this splendid medicine.

If you are suffering from irregularity, painful times, nervousness, headache, backache or melancholia, you should at once begin to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is excellent to strengthen the system and help to perform its functions with ease and regularity.

Steers Take Close One From Spudders, 5-4

EDDIE DYER IS VICTIM OF BAD BREAKS IN FAVOR OF STEERS AS SPUDS LOSE SECOND TILT

Bob Bescher Hits Homer But Spoils Things By Hitting Into Double Killing With Men On Paths; Grigsby Hurt in Fall Rounding Third; Pinch-Hitter Singles Rap Wins.

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—Pinch Hitter Lingle's single with the bases filled in the ninth inning scored the winning run for Dallas, giving the Steers their second straight win over the Spudders here today by the score of 5 to 4.

Both Dyer and Conley got off to bad starts but settled down and engaged in a merry hurling duel for the remainder of the way. In the first three innings both twirlers were hit hard, Wichita Falls scoring four runs in the first three frames and the Steers putting over three in the same rounds.

No Luck

The Spudders lost their chance to win the game in the ninth when with men on first and second Bescher bunted in an attempt to sacrifice and hit into a double play pitcher to third to first.

In this same round Grigsby hurt his ankle rounding third and fell when he could have scored easily. Grigsby was on second when Locker singled to left. He was hurt in the fall rounding the bag and had to be taken off the field.

Again in the sixth inning the Spudders let a chance to tie the score get away from them. Dyer doubled to right after two men had been retired, and on Grigsby's infield hit Dyer was thrown out at the plate trying to score.

In the ninth inning Hamilton opened up by working Dyer for a pass. He was forced at second by Wano, who a moment later went to third on Donohue's single. Vache was purposely passed, but Lingle, pinch hitting for Connolly singled past short, driving in the winning score.

Steers Get Breaks

The Steers clearly got all the breaks. The Spudders secured the same number of hits as did the Steers, but their total included five doubles and a homer, while the best Dallas could do was annex a double and a triple.

Bob Bescher hit his eighth homer of the season in the first inning with the bases empty, yet it was Bob that stopped the Spudder rally in the ninth by hitting into a double play when trying to sacrifice.

Buddy Tanner and Eddie Dyer both contributed a couple of two-ply blows to the Spudder cause. Tanner was credited with only three times at bat, while Dyer had three trials.

After one man was out in the first Bescher hit a home run over the right field wall. Locker went out short to first but Tanner doubled to left. Cotter walked but Weiss was called out on strikes.

In Dallas' half of the first Hamilton opened with a walk and scored on Wano's hit to left for three bases. The other batters gave Dyer no further trouble in this round.

The Spudders added one more to their total in the next round when Berger, first up singled to right, and scored on Grigsby's double against the score board in center field.

Dallas jumped into the lead momentarily in their half of the second. Griffin singled and was sacrificed by Dyer. He stole third and scored on Adam's single to right. Conley followed with a double scoring Adams.

Salm's athletes scored two runs in the third and their last for the game. Locker, first batter up singled and was sacrificed by Tanner. He went to third on Cotter's infield hit to short. Cotter stole second and both scored on Weiss' single to left. Berger and Bischoff went out on flies.

Tanner's Error Costly

The Spudders allowed the score to be evened in the fifth when after two men had been retired Tanner allowed Vache to reach the second sack on his wild throw to first. Vache scored on Connolly's single to left.

For the remainder of the game till the fatal last inning the two pitchers settled down and had things all their own way. The Spudders came near scoring in the sixth when after two were out Dyer doubled, but was thrown out at the plate trying to score on Grigsby's grounder to first.

In the visitor's half of the ninth inning Dyer started the ball rolling with his second double of the game. Grigsby walked. Bescher then hit into a double play in an attempt to sacrifice, Conley to Segrist to Wano.

The Spudders suffered another trick of fate in this round, with Grigsby on second Locker singled to left. There was no chance to stop Grigsby, but as he fell and sprained an ankle rounding third he was tagged out on the base line. He had to be carried off the field and Coombs sent to his position in right.

To win the game in the ninth Hamilton walked and was forced at second by Wano. Donohue sent Wano to third with a single. Vache was purposely passed. Lingle was sent in to hit for Connolly and came through with a single past short scoring Wano.

MR. DIOGENES WANTED HERE

Of all the funds handled in the office of County Tax Collector Guy Raley the first six months of 1923, County Auditor E. P. Walsh in making his semi-annual audit of the books found they were out of balance only $2.25. This is conceded as unusual.

The second unusual and significant fact connected with the audit of the books is that the $2.25 was in favor of the county tax collector. He had paid Wichita county $2.25 too much and the amount was returned.

Calling Mr. Diogenes please.

Dennis Burns Best Wachtel In Box Battle; Atz Enters Protest

FORT WORTH, Aug. 8.—D. Burns pitched well in the pinches against Fort Worth today and Shreveport won, 3 to 2. Manager Atz protested the game. In the first inning, with Skinner up, Umpire Daly called a ball when Wachtel let the ball slip in winding up. Skinner afterward walked and scored. Fort Worth had three on with one down in the ninth, but Sears hit into a double play. Score:

Take It Or Leave It

BY BILLIE SMITH.

Spudders and Steers again today at Dallas.

Eddie Dyer lost his first game in the Texas league yesterday, and the first time that he has pitched a full game. Eddie should have received a better break in luck, but as it was, the Steers received all the breaks.

From the third inning on Dyer settled down and pitched a high class grade of baseball. He allowed the Steers no more hits than did Conley allow the Spudders. On top of this he added two doubles to the Spudder cause.

The jinx is still hovering around the Spudder's trail. Yesterday the old man put Denver Grigsby on his list of Spudder victims. This time he not only took a valuable player, but did it at a time when it cost the Spudders a run and probably the game. Grigsby sprained his ankle rounding third and had to be carried off the field. It is very doubtful that he will be able to get into the lineup today.

Rip Wheeler will probably draw the pitching assignment in today's game. The Ripper is due for another win, and if he is in anything like old time form the Steers are in for a bad day.

Locker, Tanner and Dyer each secured two hits, while Tanner and Dyer rapped out a couple of doubles. In fact everybody in the Spudder lineup hit, with the exception of George Bischoff, yet the Steers got all the breaks and the Spudders none at all.

By bowing to the curves of Dennis Burns of the Gasser club the Cats allowed the Steers to gain a full game on them in the league race. The Steers widened the gap between them and the Spudders another full game by defeating Salm's crew.

Evidently Stewart Jacobus couldn't regulate his saliva flow in the Exporter-Sand Crab game yesterday. The Sand Crabs jumped on Jacobus for eight runs in the second inning, and from there on out the game was a farce. Even Pug Allen, who does a little bit of everything—good and bad, tried his luck at stopping the Sand Crabs.

The Record News oil and gas editor—more gas than oil, says that he has a prescription whereby the Spudders will win the majority of the games on their schedule, and be a hot contender for the title. He says Salm should seek the services and advices of some well known jinx killers which live in this part of the country. He comes out with the statement that one of these so-called jinx killers can be found in Henrietta, the metropolis of Clay county. He goes further to state his Henrietta friend will guarantee a cure of the disease known as jinx.

Earle "Shorty" Adams is making a determined effort to make Chicago fans forget Charley Hollocher. Charley quit the Cub team for bad health and other unknown reasons, but luckily the Cubs have a good substitute in a former Spudder player. Latest averages issued show Shorty hitting at .293, which is somewhat of an improvement over what he has been hitting up till the last two weeks. If Manager Killifer uses Adams regularly Shorty's average will soon be up in the select circle.

"Ace" Elliott has also improved his batting average. Two weeks ago Ace was hitting below .200, but is now hitting around .254. With time Elliott is sure to improve.

Although Carl East could hit like a Ruth or Cobb, he was classed as too old to play in higher class baseball. East left Wichita of the Western league last to play with Minneapolis. Wise baseball experts said that East would never do in a higher class of ball. They said he was too old, yet East is batting for the grand average of .396 with the Millers, which is just five points better than his average was in the Western league. Besides that he is next to Bunny Brief of the Kansas City Blues in home run hitting with a total of 19.

Last year Ted Blankenship was considered one of the pitching finds of the season. The White Sox took Ted up from Sherman of the then Texas-Oklahoma league the early part of last season. Ted won seven games and lost eight. With one year experience Gleason was banking on the Texas youngster to be one of his regular pitchers this season. So far Blankenship has been a disappointment. He has won only four games and lost nine.

Quigley Recovers.

By International News Service.

TOPEKA, Kansas, August 8.—E. C. Quigley, National league umpire, who was injured some weeks ago by being struck on the head by a foul ball, will arrive in Saint Louis today to resume his duties. He has been out of the game since his injury.

Carl Simmons Will Meet Sailor Grisham At Lake Wichita Arena

Headliners for Saturday night's fight card of the American Legion attractions at Lake Wichita, have Battling Simmons of Henrietta, listed in a 10 round bout with Sailor Grisham of Wichita Falls. Athletic Secretary Don Wofford of the American Legion, believes that in Grisham he has a fighter that will stay with Simmons the full 10 rounds, not only do this, but give Simmons a real scrap for the money.

In his short fighting career, Simmons has yet to meet a defeat. In his last three fights at the Lake arena, he has knocked out three men, or had them so badly battered that they were forced to throw in the towel. Red Byrd was Simmons first victim, and then came Cyclone Bowser for a trimming in three rounds. Bob Terry, the Gainesville welterweight was the last boxer to meet defeat at the hands of the Clay county puncher.

The last time that Sailor Grisham appeared on the Legion program at the Lake arena, he got a draw with Battling Jennings of Henrietta, in four fast rounds of a scheduled eight round bout. The referee called the fight a draw after Jennings had taken an overlood of severe body punishment from Grisham, claiming that many of Grisham's blows had been low.

Grisham has it on Simmons in experience, but the latter will make up for any lacking there with his ability to deal out knockout blows. Simmons is a fighter that waits for his opening and then lets loose with hard rights and lefts. Grisham will be a much harder target for Simmons' blows. He will not leave so many openings, and will take advantage of every misplay of his opponent.

Many fans who saw last week's bout between Kid Snyder of Burkburnett, and Otis Bell of electra, believe that the referee erred a bit in awarding Snyder a decision over the Electra kid and have asked for another match. Bell and Snyder both did some vicious fighting and many believed that Bell earned a draw. To settle the question, both have been matched again Saturday night. They will go eight rounds.

Farmer Seibold of Henrietta, and Anderson Martin of Wichita Falls, light heavyweights have been scheduled to mix blows in a six round bout. "K. O." Williams of Durant and Sailor Davis of Wichita, will go four rounds in a curtain raiser.

After the success of the last battle royal with Wichita blacks, the Legion is putting on another one. This time they are featuring "Wichita" an "Battling Nelson." Both of these burly battlers have issued challenges to other Wichita Falls negroes, and promise to deal misery to everyone that enters the ring with them.

Jap Player Furnishes Dope Spiller; Singles In Last Round

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—F. Mitzukami, a slender son of Old Nippon, whence have come the Davis cup players Kumagae and Shimidzu, today continued to blaze his way through an astonishing field when he put out of the Southwestern tennis tournament J. B. Adoue, Jr., Dallas, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

The defeat of Adoue and the ease with which Louis Thalheimer, former state champion, and one of the Southwestern doubles title holder was disposed of by W. F. Luther of Tulsa, Okla., in the fourth round, supplied the upset of the fourth round. Thalheimer was defeated 6-2, 6-0.

Luther next faces Mitzukami.

Edward Anderson Wins Junior Net Title In Singles

Edward Anderson is the junior tennis singles champion of Wichita Falls. Young Anderson entered the boy's tournament as a dark horse and a dark horse he was, for he easily bested the cream of the city in every match that he was listed.

Anderson is a newcomer to Wichita Falls, having moved here in July from Los Angeles, Calif. In high school athletics he was considered a star in most every branch of sport. He featured in track, but also played football and basket ball.

Anderson was a member of the Los Angeles Tennis club and took part in the southern California tennis tournament in July.

Others who came down to the finals and semi-finals were Abe Bashara, Fred Cooper, Scott Powers and Isadore Cohen.

Keeping Pace In The Chess Match

Electra Preliminary Stage Quanah An End Game Houston Starts Again

Electra—Knight to King Square.
Wichita—Pawn to King Bishop Four.

The chess games lately have been slowed up considerably by delay in sending in moves, sometimes as much as a week elapsing between moves. The first string chess editor is still out of town, whiffing the ozone in Colorado, and so teams are asked to send in moves as soon as made.

Let's Hear About It.

Chess Editor: We have been following your Houston and Quanah chess games with a great deal of interest and have finally decided to throw our hat into the ring.

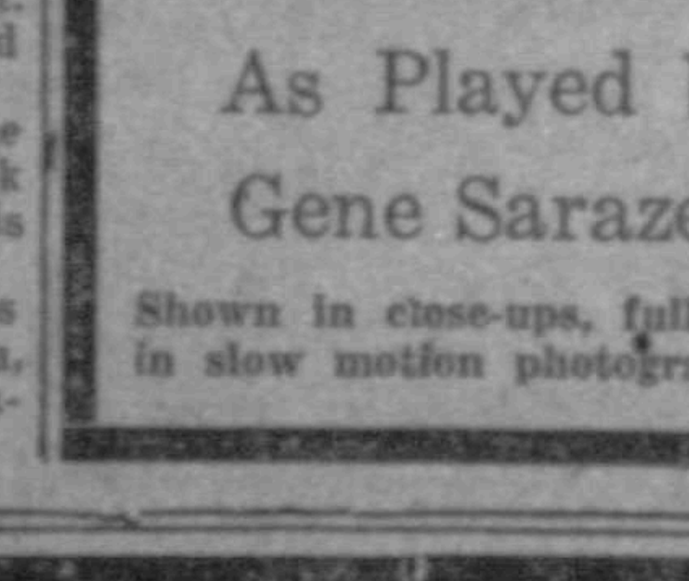

Although we do not have very many members in our chess club we feel that we could give your team a run for the money, therefore we take this means of challenging Wichita Falls for a game, running in your paper the same as those now in progress.

If you are interested in this kindly let us hear from you and let us know what all is necessary.

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

LEATHER LEADS STOCK LOSSES

Price Changes Not Thought Conclusive With Friday Holiday

Financial Feature.

Total stock sales 411,300 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 88.63; net loss .92. High 1923, 105.38; low 80.91. Twenty railroads averaged 77.86; net loss .50; high 1923, 90.63 low 76.78.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Heavy selling of leather and shipping shares and a few specialties because of poor trade conditions led to a withdrawal of buying support by short interests in today's stock market and brought on an early interval of moderate about a sharp recession of prices after strength. In view of the absence of a number of large traders because of the 90 minute suspension of business today and the Friday holiday, price changes generally were not regarded as very conclusive.

Leather Stocks Hit Cotton.

Considerable short selling developed in the leather group with the result that Central Leather common and preferred and American Hide and Leather preferred dropped to new low records for the year, the net loss in each case being about 2 1-2 points. International Mercantile Marine common and preferred, American International corporation, Burns Brothers, A. and Allied Chemical-Dye also touched new lows.

United States Steel, Pan-American B., American Locomotive, Studebaker, American can and Anaconda also closed 1 to 2 points below yesterday's final prices. Eastman Kodak broke four points on omission of the extra dividend of 75 cents per share which had been declared in the two previous dividends.

Rails Show Up Stronger

Rails offered better resistance to selling pressure, the average of 20 leading stock showing a net loss of about half a point on the day. The government crop report issued after the close of the market yesterday was interpreted by the grain trade as bullish but it received only a moderate response in the commodity markets.

Foreign exchanges were again heavy French and Belgian francs and German marks establishing new low records for the year. Demand sterling held fairly steady just above $4.56.

Call money held at 4 3-4 per cent all day. The time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business quiet.

Raw Sugar Firm.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The raw sugar market was firm but there were no changes in quoted prices with Cubas at 4 3-8 cent, cost and freight, equal to 6.15 for centrifugal. There were sales of 32,700 bags of Cubas to local refiners at quoted prices, while an operator bought 5,600 bags at 4 13-32 cost and freight, but at the close Cuba were still obtainable at the 4 3-8 cent level.

Raw sugar futures closing: September 4.39; December 3.98; March 3.38; May 3.45. The market for refined sugar was steady and unchanged at 7.90 to 8 cents for fine granulated, but the demand was limited to nearby requirements only.

Sounded Familiar.

When the Battle of Mobile Bay was over and the ships anchored, Lieutenant Commander Perkins, who commanded the Chickasbaw, went on board the Hartford to report to Admiral Farragut.

After calling on the admiral, he went below, to the ward room, where he found the officers standing around the table, and the chaplain, with prayer-book in hand, just about to read the prayer of thanksgiving for victory.

Perkins stopped in the doorway and the chaplain, seeing him, said in a solemn voice, "Captain, won't you join us?"

"No thanks, old man," replied Perkins, "I've just had two with the admiral."—Los Angeles Times.

CROP REPORT BOOSTS WHEAT

Material Advance Scored After Forecast of Cut In Crop Total

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—With the government crop report indicating that the 1923 yield of wheat would be much less than had been generally expected, wheat scored a material advance in price today. The market closed firm, 3-4 cents to 1 1-4@1 3-8 cents net higher, September 98 1-4 to 98 1-2 cents, and December 1.01 1-2 to $1.01 5-8. Corn finished at 1-8 cent off to a like advance, oats with a shade to 1-8 cent gain, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

Corn and oats were steadied by the smallness of stocks of old corn and by assertions that there are a great many more hogs and cattle in the country this year than last. Rains and bearish aspects of the government report had only a transient effect on values.

Buying on the part of packers rallied the provision market after a decline due to the weakness of hogs.

COTTON LEVELS DOWN AGAIN

Unfavorable Crop Advices Fail to Stimulate New Buying

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Unfavorable crop advices caused rallies from an early decline in the cotton market today, but failed to stimulate a renewal of general buying and prices were generally lower. After selling off to 23.55c shortly after the opening, December rallied to 23.84c, but later broke to 23.15c and closed at 23.34c. The general market closed barely steady at a net decline of 45 to 55 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 17 to 21 points and the active positions sold some 25 to 30 points below yesterday's closing quotations during the early trading. There were private reports of showers at a couple of points in Texas, which probably encouraged selling on the relatively easy showing of the Liverpool cables and a less favorable view of the European situation.

Afternoon Market Weakens.

Covering by early sellers on the rally which carried October up to 23.88c and January to 23.60c around midday or back to nearly yesterday's closing quotations, but the demand soon tapered off and the market weakened during the early afternoon. Private reports of rains in Oklahoma and rumors of showers in Texas, may have accounted for part of the selling on the break. The late weather advices were more or less conflicting, however, and traders quite as generally attributed to the failure of recent crop news, to more generally stimulate demands for cotton goods, and the easy technical position of futures.

Closing prices were 15 to 19 points up from the lowest on covering. Trading was suspended from 11 to 11:45 o'clock out of respect to the memory of President Harding.

Port receipts today, 7,915. United States port stocks, 168,092. Exports today, 7,869; making 39,813 so far this season.

Fort Worth Livestock

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 8.—Common cow were slow sale on a weak basis Wednesday and heavy calves again found slow sledding; the day, or 75 cents for the week to date decline amounting to 25 cents for the on that class, but otherwise the trade in the cattle divisino made satisfactory progres at prices that were steady or higher. Beef steers of good quality went scaleward with considerable freedom, and prices were called 10 to 15 cents higher. Fat cows, heifers, and yearlings were quotably unchanged, good light calves, which were very scarce, were taken at values that were about steady. Undesirable calves, and especially the weighty kinds are almost unsaleable. Receipts amounted to 3,500 head of cattle and 1,500 calves.

Hog buyers were late in starting and the trade was hard to quote. The average seemed to be around steady to 10 cent lower. A few choice wagon hogs sold at 8.25 to a packer, but the carload top was 8.20 to shippers and packers. Bulk sales made a range of 7.75 to 8.00; pigs met with a good demand and the market averaged 25 cents higher. Good stockers cleared up to 5.50, and a string of sales ranged from 5.25. Hog house receipt amounted to 1,000 head.

Activity wa displayed in the sheep market, a run of 1,000 head going over the scales early at prices that were fully teady. Good shorn wethers sold at 7 to 7.25. Lambs cleared at a spread of 7.75 to 12.00.

Do You Always Think of Us?
Or Do You Sometimes Forget?
The Wichita Hardware Co.

When you go to buy Dishes or Glassware of any kind. Sometimes you may forget that we sell dishes and glassware of every description—dishes better than the ordinary as well as the semi-porcelain and common ware.

We just received a solid carload of dishes—nothing but dishes—you may ask why so many at one time. Our answer is: It's much cheaper to pack them in straw loose at the pottery and direct to our warehouse on trucks here. It's a great saving and we divide it with our customers. So remember we have everything you need in our big new store, and our prices are the lowest. We strive to please.

A well equipped repair department in connection with the store.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon E. M. Simmons by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Seventy-eighth district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D. 1923, the same being the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1923, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 14644-B, wherein W. K. Miller is plaintiff, and E. M. Simmons is defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of certain real estate situated in Wichita county, Texas, the same being lots Nos. 20, 21 and the east one-half of lot 22 in block No. 46, as shown and designated by the recorded plat of the town of Electra, Texas, together with all buildings, improvements and appurtenance thereto belonging.
That on the 18th of September, 1919, one E. M. Simmons sold and conveyed by deed the following described real estate, to-wit: 50x150 and 50 feet off of the west end of lot "E" or R. G. Shurer subdivision of the southwest corner of block 2 of the Bellevue addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, according to the map of said subdivision, as shown by the records of Wichita county, Texas, to one W. K. Miller, who was at said time a resident of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and while he bears the same name and initials as this plaintiff, he is a separate and distinct person from, and bears no relation to, this plaintiff, W. K. Miller.
That as a part and parcel of the above transaction with E. M. Simmons, the said W. K. Miller, then a resident of Wichita Falls, Texas, executed and delivered his two promissory notes to the said E. M. Simmons, evidencing the residue of the purchase price of the last above described real estate, and the said W. K. Miller having made default in the payment of said notes, according to the terms and tenor of the same, the said E. M. Simmons did on the 19th of August, 1920, cause to be filed in the Seventy-eighth district court of Wichita county, Texas, his suit, being cause No. 8720-B, seeking a judgment for the sums represented by said notes and a foreclosure of his vendor's lien against the last described property to secure the payment of said unpaid purchase price of same. That on the 10th of May, 1921, E. M. Simmons recovered judgment against the said W. K. Miller, being the sum of $2,516 and interest, costs and attorney fees, and for a foreclosure of vendor's lien, that an abstract of judgment in said case was filed in the county clerk's office and duly recorded in book 6, page 202. That the said judgment of E. M. Simmons against W. K. Miller for the sum of $2,516 appears in the abstract to the property of this plaintiff located in the town of Electra, Texas, and erroneously and wrongfully constitutes a lien against, and creates a cloud upon his title to said property, to the damage of this plaintiff in the sum of $2,516 and interest and costs and attorney fees, as shown in said abstract of judgment.
Wherefore plaintiff prays that E. M. Simmons be cited to answer herein, a judgment and order be entered by this honorable court canceling the said judgment for $2,516 with interest, cost and attorney fees, in so far as the said judgment may affect the title to the property of this plaintiff, and removing the cloud from the title to said property belonging to this plaintiff, for costs of suit, etc.
Herein fail not, but have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 24th day of July, A. D. 1923.
A. F. KERR,
(SEAL) Clerk District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To all persons interested in the estate of Homer H. Hale, deceased.
Know ye that T. J. Moss, executor of the estate of the said Homer H. Hale, deceased, has filed in the county court of Wichita county his final account of the conditions of said estate, together with an application to be discharged as executor thereof, which will be heard by our said court on the first Monday in October A. D. 1923, same being the 1st day of October A. D. 1923, at the court house of said Wichita county in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas at which time and place all persons interested in said estate are required to spear and contest said final account and application, if they see proper.
Witness Alma Y. Miller, clerk of the county court of Wichita county.
Given under my hand and the seal of said court at my office in Wichita Falls, Texas, on this the 1st day of August A. D. 1923.
Alma Y. Miller, clerk
County court, Wichitta county Texas.
By M. F. Yeager, deputy.

CHILDREN WORK MANY WICHITANS

Claim Tourist Who Died Here As Uncle And Ask Money

False pretenses as a way to obtain funds were strikingly exhibited in Wichita Falls Wednesday by a girl of 10 and a boy of 8 who capitalized the death of E. Gardenshire, tourist who died suddenly here Monday, by claiming him as their uncle and making the rounds of the city seeking funds for his burial and gathering about $25 before they were caught.

Hodgins Touched.

The manner in which the little girl and boy fooled the public would have done credit to the most trained confidence men that ever operated in a big time way in metropolitan cities. Going to Chief of Police Hodgins early Wednesday morning the children told him their uncle Gardenshire had died Monday suddenly and that they were traveling through the country with him and his death left them absolutely without funds. They asked Hodgins' indorsement to solicit funds to ship the body to Breckenridge. The chief of police heard their story, was touched in two ways, it developed later, gave the children $1 and a written permit to solicit funds.

Adding to their scheme in a manner showing precocious forethought, the children went to a florist's shop, purchased a $1.50 wreath and had it sent to the Merkle-Lunn undertaking establishment and instructed it placed on their uncle's bier. The court house was worked, literally and not figuratively speaking, many of the officials giving the boy and girl 50 cents or a dollar.

Realty Man Suspicious.

After collecting about $25 the children went to the union station. A local real estate man had suspected the story, the only one of 50 who showed the least doubt that the two were worthy charity subjects The realty man took the children before the travellers' aid representative on duty at the station. After much questioning the little girl broke down and said the little boy had gotten her into the scheme.

A visit to a room where the children had been staying revealed that though the minds of the juveniles were abnormal as far as putting over shrewd confidence deals were concerned, they ran true to form regarding their childish instincts for disposition of their funds. The room was filled with candies, dolls and other toys. The money had been spent for the things always uppermost in the minds of children.

Further investigation proved that the body of Gardenshire, who the children had claimed as their dead uncle, had been taken in charge by the dead man's father, Tuesday and sent to Breckenridge for burial. The dead man's father had also gone back with the dead man's wife and baby.

Salvation Army Warns.

The children who perpetrated the fraud that fooled the chief of police, most of the court house officials and a number of the leading citizens of Wichita Falls were turned over to the Salvation army.

Ensign Loring F. Corliss, who recently took charge of the Salvation army post here, said the above instance was about the tenth to be called to his attention the last few weeks of cases of money being obtained under false pretenses. He said many persons would go out soliciting funds and when asked why they did not call on the Salvation army would say they had been turned down. Such persons, according to Corliss, had never been around to Salvation army headquarters at all. The ensign recommends a drive against pretenders who are "fleecing" the public.

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

Wichita Falls closes up Friday, 3 to 4 p. m., out of respect to President Harding, whose funeral services will be then held at Marion, Ohio.

E. A. Thompson of the irrigation office is now in Dallas. He is not expected back before Monday.

Lots of sand, lots of wind—lots of everything but rain yesterday.

New traffic ordinance in effect today. Watch your step and the cops, too.

Now comes Graham wanting a game with the Wichita Falls chess sharks. Quanah's waiting for a decision on a ruling from New York. Electra and Houston are pegging along, and the chess editor writes from Colorado that he's trying to rig up a match with a crack aggregation at Colorado Springs.

When all of this aggregation of vacationists once gets back to well well-known burg that faith built there should be one swanky batch of tales about game black bass and trout and what not caught in roaring streams, ad infinitum. At least there'll be enough of them to last until next spring with possibly an oversupply if the oil stump lets up before then.

"Gosh, ain't got a bit of pep today," said the hotel cook the other afternoon. Same way that Town Stuff feels. Well, what's the use?

It seems too good to be true to realize that at last our friends of the gas company have taken off the mountain of dirt lining Tenth street. Day after day, Town Stuff plowed through the irrigation dam lateral between the street car tracks and threatening dirt mountain so kindly created by the sprinkler. And that's—when your shoe soles are full of holes.

Bascom Nelson, who has been up to Medicine Park on a camping trip, returned yesterday as full of fish tales as any of the others.

The chamber of commerce magazine for August is expected to be off the press today.

Detective Luke Hart returned from Fort Worth Wednesday with a prisoner held there for local officers in connection with a swindling charge here.

Frank Holuday, local attorney, filed charges against a woman auto driver Wednesday who Tuesday night ran into his car and broke a wheel, then gave him a fictitious name and address. The attorney got the number of the car the woman was driving and in this way obtained her correct name.

The local postoffice will be closed from 3 to 4 o'clock Friday to observe the memorial service to be held for former President Harding.

MASONIC PLANS FRIDAY CHANGED

Wire Declares Against Full Regalia for Harding Service

The plans of the local Masonic orders to attend the Harding memorial services at the First Baptist church Friday afternoon in a body and dressed in full regalia have been changed due to an announcement by P. B. Curd, deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Texas for this district, from Mike Thomas, grand master, saying the special dispensation could not be made in this case because of intrepretations of Masonic laws making it impossible.

Grand Master Thomas in his wire to the deputy grand master here Wednesday said the matter had been gone over thoroughly from the Masonic legal standpoint and he had investigated the action taken by the order at the death of President McKinley but no precedent was found. Deputy Curd says however, that every Mason will be expected to do his Masonic duty by being present at the Friday memorial service.

SARAZEN AS GOLFER SHOWN AT OLYMPIC

Local golf enthusiasts will be given an opportunity to learn many of the finer points of the game when a one-reel educational feature, "Golf, as Played by Gene Sarazen," is shown at the Olympic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Sarazen played especially for the picture and carefully demonstrates every stroke, club, the proper grips and stances besides a series of instructions that should benefit both the amateur and professional. The picture was produced with the sole idea of helping other players and Sarazen is said to have shown everything he knows of the game in making the picture. The film shows him in action in full figure, close-ups and in slow motion photography which gives the spectator time to see every detail of the play.

Mrs. F. B. Massey and sons, F. B. and Marshall, left yesterday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. V. B. Wilson in Reed, Okla. Mrs. Massey also will visit in Frederick and Mangum while away.

Oil Products Of Texas Bought By Argentine Navy

A large quanity of Texaco brand products will be shipped for the next 12 months to Argentine for use on the naval ships of that government, it was learned here yesterday, when the local traffic office of the Texas company received a wire to that effect from Buenos Aires.

The local office could not give any definite information as to the amount of the products the Argentine government will buy. The telegram stated that a large contract had been signed from Port Arthur. A large part of the Texas company's crude comes from the Wichita Falls section, being piped from here to Port Arthur.

Oil Field Men Plan President Services Friday

All oil field workers will suspend for an hour Friday in respect to President Harding when he is laid to rest in Marion, Ohio. Plans were being made yesterday for memorial services in Archer county Friday afternoon, with all rigs to be shut down from 3 to 4 o'clock.

Services will be held on the Verschoyle lease between the hours of 3 and 4 near the Peterson field. A speaker from Wichita Falls will be present, but he has not yet been selected. About 200 workers are expected to attend.

SARTIN TO SPEAK AT BYERS SERVICE

Memorial services for President Harding will be held at Byers Friday afternoon according to G. C. Boswell, Byers school superintendent, who was in Wichita Falls Wednesday.

County Judge B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls, will make the principle address at the service. W. F. Curtiss, Byers postmaster, will also speak, his subject to be "Harding as A Man."

HARDING DEATH OBSERVED HERE

Theatres and Gas Filling Stations Join Friday One-Hour Closing

The Harding memorial hour Friday afternoon in Wichita Falls, will be thoroughly observed. At the same time that all that is mortal of President Harding is laid to rest at Marion, Ohio, Wichita Falls business houses will be closed in mourning. Gasoline filling stations and theatres yesterday announced that they would join other business houses in closing between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Memorial services will be had at the First Baptist church. The Marion funeral is scheduled to take place at 3 o'clock.

JULY COLLECTION OF TAXES BESTS JUNE

Collections of taxes due Wichita county and the state made by County Tax Collector Guy Raley for July are more than four times as large as for June, according to records.

County taxes collected for July totaled $7,718.76. State tax collections for the month were $6,814.20. Of the total taxes collected during the months $2,107.50 was for occupation tax licenses, which is the greatest amount collected for this purpose in any single month in the history of the office. There were also insolvent collections amounting to $3,450.

Denison Police Chief Visits Constable Morgan

Will Beavers, chief of police at Denison, boyhood friend of Constable Frank Morgan, has been visiting the latter the past few days. The Denison police chief spoke highly of Wichita Falls and said it was in his opinion the fastest growing city in the state.

THE FREEMAN — Clare Dillon Holt

No man has known the thrill of freedom's will
Who does not know that comradeship exits
With dusky winding road and babbling brook,
With tints in sunset glow and mountain mists,
Who has not found within a friendly look
The touch of kindred, or felt with hill
A like pine-scented hope and stood intrigued
By mysteries whose cosmic links are leagued.

No man has sipped from freedom's cup at all
Who does not feel a fellowship with least
Of living things, who has not recognized
The kindred claim of man and bird and beast.
And granted rights, which he for self has prized
Unto all forms of life, both great and small,
No freeman stays the flight or clips the wing
Of longing hope in any living thing.

No man has worn a freeman's diadem
Who has not loved the flash of gleaming trout
And left them dancing in the mountain rill,
Who has not sought the woods and birds without
A gun or touched the garden daffodil
And left it blooming there upon its stem,
A freeman grants all life the same sweet hymn
Of freedom that The Master yields to him.

Carpenters Will Observe Harding Memorial Friday

The Carpenters Local No. 977 met in call session at Labor temple Wednesday morning and voted to take next Friday afternoon as a half holiday to observe the death of President Harding and to participate in the memorial services to be held at the First Baptist church Friday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock.

Following the meeting of the carpenters, W. O. Griffin, business agent for the contracors—took the matter up with the latter and these agreed to also observe the half holiday and participate in the memorial services. The carpenters and contractors will attend the memorial services in a body.

Number of Cars Already Bests 1922

Automobiles are the argument against hard times in Wichita Falls, which prove prosperity is still lingering hereabouts according to automobile license records just compiled in the office of County Tax Collector Guy Raley.

Automobiles registered in Wichita county from the first of the year through last July, numbered 17,000. This total is already 5,000 greater in the number of cars registered than the whole year of 1922 showed. With five more months to go and the fall buying era, which is always a good selling time for cars, still to come there is a possibility of twice as many cars being registered in 1923 than in 1922.

"TAPS" FLASH ON WIRES FRIDAY

Even the Associated Press wires will be hushed Friday in respect to the memory of President Harding when the leader is laid to its last rest at Marion, Ohio.

A notice over the wires yesterday, notified operators that a "taps" flash would be sent over the wires from coast to coast at the moment that the body was placed in the mausoleum to be followed by a two minute period during which wires will be silent.

When a

Bank Account

Looks Good—

When you have come to the end of your earning capacity—when your working days are over, then is when a bank account looks good. It is then too late to wish for the money you spent foolishly in early life.

"Experience is the best teacher." No truer words were ever spoken, but let's not wait for experience to teach us, because then it will be too late.

If you have not already made regular saving a part of your life plan, do so at once. You will never regret it and you may have cause for thanksgiving later if you practice savings bank thrift now.

1924 Models Are the Finest Big-Sixes Studebaker Ever Built

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the reception they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

The Big-Six Sedan and the Coupe are the finest cars that have ever borne the name Studebaker. They provide all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car will give—at a price that smaller producers cannot approach.

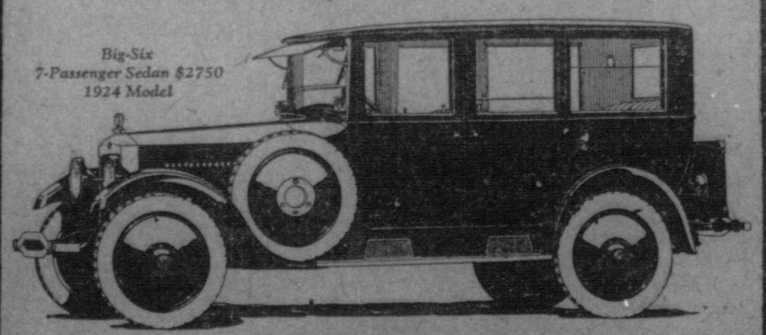

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to the extra disc wheel with tire, tube and tire cover (two on Sedan); handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; large, roomy trunk; automatic gasoline signal, and many other features. There is nothing more to buy.

The prices of the Sedan and Coupe are moderate because of Studebaker's large production, vast physical and financial resources; the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants, and the accumulation of experience and prestige gained through 71 years of building quality vehicles.
