

Tentative Agreement Reached To 'Suspend' Castro's Regime

Solons Study Loan Shark Bill Conflicts

By JERRY PILLARD AUSTIN (AP) — Texas lawmakers sought to resolve conflicts on loan shark legislation today with just four days left in their session.

High on the Senate and House calendars was appointment of a joint conference committee. Acting Lt. Gov. Charles Herring and Speaker James Turman were to name five from each chamber for attempts to work out differences on what-size loans should be regulated.

With just 21 hours of "office time" remaining, Scurry County had a visible voting strength of 4,421 today for the 1962 elections.

VOTERS RUSHING TO BEAT DEADLINE ON POLL TAXES

Business was brisk at the county tax assessor-collector's office, as voters rushed to qualify themselves for the balloting privilege.

At noon today, the count showed 3,900 poll tax receipts issued and 962 exemption certificates.

'Soft Seven' Gives Ground

By WILLIAM L. RYAN PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The foreign ministers of the American states agreed in principle today to "suspend" Fidel Castro's Cuban regime from hemisphere family councils.

The U.S. informant speculated that the United States would get 17 to 18 of the 20 available votes to bar Cuba from hemisphere councils so long as it embraces the Communist philosophy.

Farm Message Is Delayed By JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sends his plan to establish a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs to Congress this week.

Reorganization plans take effect unless vetoed by a majority in either the House or Senate within 60 days.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared to have achieved limited success to this extent: Most, if not all, of the 19 Latin-American republics judging Cuba agree the Havana regime should be declared incompatible with the American system.

Lions End District Conference

Over 400 Lions from District 2-T2 held their mid-winter conference in Snyder yesterday. Due to sudden illness in the family the featured speaker, Aubrey D. Green, Second Vice President of Lions International from York, Ala. was unable to attend.

"We will remain great just as long as we should," he said. And in his opinion that will be a long, long time.

Green said that a country is not made by its resources, by its quantity of population, or by the colonies it controls. A country is only made great by the character of its people Green said.

DIRE PREDICTION Astrologers Claim Feb. 4 'Doomsday'

NEW YORK (AP) — If you believe in astrology, don't make any plans for next Monday. There may not be a next Monday.

In Nepal, hundreds have taken to the hills to await an expected earthquake. Many Easterners have postponed marriages and betrothals until the danger period passes.

Not is the panic confined to the Orient. In this country, 22 Californians, members of Understanding Inc., have taken refuge in the Arizona mountain town of Cleator.

Mild Spell To Continue

Pleasant weather stuck around in Texas Monday, giving no sign of change. Forecasts promised a pattern of clear skies with mild afternoons and cool nights would continue at least until the weekend.

All these dire predictions, and more, are being made by astrologers the world over who expect the advent of catastrophe some time Sunday. They base their prophecies on an inauspicious combination of the planets in the constellation of Capricorn.

Astronomers — serious students of the heavenly bodies — agree that the five visible planets of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn will be grouped along with the sun and the moon around the constellations of Capricorn and Aquarius. Beyond this point, the astronomers and the astrologers go separate ways.

"Nonsense" is the way James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer of the Hayden Planetarium in New York, describes the prophecies of doom. "It's the same kind of gobbledygook astrologers have been handing out for centuries."

Hoffa Says Labor In Dangerous Position

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "We are in the most dangerous position in the history of organized labor," says James R. Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Astronomers — who try to tell the future by the movements of the planets — don't see it that way. They are preparing for the worst. In India, millions of Hindus and Moslems are fervently praying to ward off the end of the world.

Sec. leader William Miller, a New Englander, said the world would come to an end in March 1963. A Spanish monk promised the end for Sept. 24, 1963.

People who believe in prophecies can take comfort from the fact that Nostradamus — one of the most publicized of the popular prophets — didn't think the world would end in 1962.

Ribicoff Raps Paper Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff held a conference of state public aid officials today that efforts to help troubled people "is tangled too frequently in an administrative underbrush of forms and pieces of paper."

"Elimination of unnecessary paperwork is first on a list of special problems his department plans to tackle this year," he said.

The social welfare worker must deal with people, not percentages, he said. He cannot waste his time with "irrelevant pencil pushing and envelope stuffing."

Ranger Accidental Satellite Of Sun

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ranger 3, the moon shot that missed its target by nearly 23,000 miles, is doomed to spend the rest of eternity in futile flight—an accidental satellite of the sun.

Of its four objectives, the $7-million space craft apparently accomplished only one.

The biggest disappointment was that it missed the moon by 22,862 miles. This happened because it was hurled into its trajectory at excessive speed after it was launched Friday from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

That failure brought on others. For one thing, the 77-pound space craft was unable to bounce radar signals off the moon. And, since it did not land its capsule on the moon, it was unable to bring its seismometer into play and measure moonquakes.

It also failed to get close-up pictures of the moon. The long-range shots it got as it sped past apparently will be of little value, if any.

The one thing Ranger 3 did was collect gamma radiation data. These data already are being analyzed.

Ranger 3 raced by the moon and into oblivion Sunday afternoon, beginning to tumble as it went into solar orbit. Only one of its transmitters was working. During periods when that transmitter's antenna was pointed toward earth, scientists were able to pick up the signal and chart Ranger's progress.

An official of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, operated here for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Ranger 3 will remain in orbit "for the duration of the solar system's life."

Ranger's orbital path is similar to that of earth. It will be as close to the sun as 91½ million miles and as far away as 108 million miles.

The television cameras aboard Ranger 3 were supposed to operate for 40 minutes, as the space craft descended slowly toward the moon in its final maneuver. Had the operation gone smoothly, the pictures would have shown the moon in detail never before achieved.

When the camera was turned on Sunday as Ranger 3 sped by the moon, the space craft failed to keep its antenna pointed toward earth. The signal received at Goldstone tracking station in the California desert was weaker than it should have been and was masked by noise.

Scientists said they would try to unmask the signal and evaluate it. A jet propulsion laboratory spokesman said this may take several weeks. He added: "There is little hope that it will produce any beneficial results."

Ranger 3, built by the laboratory at a cost of about $10,000 a pound, was given too strong a boost Friday by its Atlas-Agena B launching system.

It was supposed to reach the moon in 96 hours. Because of its excessive initial velocity, it crossed the moon's orbital path about 15 hours before the moon got there.

Cotton Men See Encouraging Sign

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The president of the National Cotton Council said today there are some encouraging signs that the government will establish import fees to eliminate the raw-cotton price advantage of foreign mills.

Clyde Wilson told the council hearings will begin in Washington Feb. 13, "and you can be sure the council is doing its dead-level best to get a favorable decision."

Wilson, of Phoenix, Ariz., spoke before about 1,000 cotton ginners, merchants, warehousemen, cottonseed crushers and spinners from the 18 cotton states.

A development which would be helpful, Wilson said, would be "full and effective implementation of our government's" of the Geneva agreements on international textile trade.

Wilson said President Kennedy had indicated his recognition of the domestic cotton industry's problem "in the extremely low wages paid by foreign mills, aggravated by the lower cost of raw cotton overseas."

The council president was critical of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman for raising price supports higher than anticipated. As a cotton producer, he acknowledged "a powerful appeal" in this boost, but said "it is casting deep shadow over my prospects—and other cotton growers' prospects—for the future."

"Consider for one thing," he continued, "the effect of our higher (cotton) price on rayon, our biggest synthetic competitor. In recent years—until 1961—cotton had been faring well against rayon. We had brought our competitive losses to a standstill, and the outlook for rayon was not at all good. But higher prices for cotton helped breathe new life into the rayon industry."

"Consider, too, the impact of higher price supports on the export subsidy program. . . Higher domestic prices prompted an increase in the subsidy from 6 cents to 8½ cents a pound. This, of course, added greatly to the cost of the program. It also greatly increased the raw-cotton price advantage enjoyed by foreign mills, which have been producing vast quantities of manufacturing textiles into the United States."

Man Draws Fine In Check Charge

Harold J. Pitts of Snyder pleaded guilty in County Court to a charge of swindling with worthless checks.

He was fined $5 plus costs of $26.35, and was required to make his outstanding checks good.

Pitts was also wanted by Big Spring officers for parole violation. He had been transferred from city jail to county authorities.

Democrat Purcell Takes Seat Today

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Democrat Graham B. Purcell Jr. takes his seat in Congress today with praise for the Kennedy administration and some reservations about two of its programs.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson led a band of fellow Texans in welcoming Purcell, his wife and three children to the capital Sunday.

Purcell's overwhelming victory Saturday over Joe Meissner, a conservative Republican businessman, clearly was a sweet one for the Democrats.

In his campaign Purcell promised support for the Kennedy administration, Sunday night, when he found his family guests at Johnson's home, he maintained his election demonstrated "an acceptance of the Kennedy-Johnson administration in northern Texas."

However, in a post-election press conference at Wichita Falls, the 42-year-old state district judge listed two reservations involving administration policy.

"I am not in favor of federal aid to education and I am not in favor of medical aid under Social Security," he said.

Tall, trim Purcell is taking the seat held by Frank Ikard, a Democrat who resigned as 13th District congressman to become executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute.

The House division now becomes 259 Democrats and 174 Republicans, with four vacancies.

Ikard was among the happy Democrats who gathered for dinner at Johnson's home.

The joyous welcome came as a surprise to Purcell, who said: "I had no idea I would be staying here. Only yesterday, I was a humble farm boy and now here I am."

Johnson and his wife drove about 25 miles to Friendship Airport to pick up Purcell; his wife, Betty, and three of their children, Blaine, 13; Kirk, 11, and Janice, 9. A fourth child, Blake, 3, was left at home.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., also met the jet plane that carried the Purcells from Dallas.

At Johnson's home Mrs. Purcell said she and her husband have another reason to celebrate today: "It's our 19th wedding anniversary."

Frank Criticism Is Aimed at Meg

LONDON (AP)—The womanly whims of Princess Margaret—once the darling of the nation—today came in for some of the frankest criticism she has ever had to face.

The Daily Mirror called her occasionally perverse and petulant and said her future was a problem.

It was the latest, and the toughest, round in a boat of scattered sniping at the princess whose actions lately seem to have disenchanted some people.

There was disapproving head-shaking when she and her husband, Lord Snowdon, took off from London's icy winter a few weeks ago for the Caribbean sun, leaving their two-month-old son David behind.

Then a businessman publicly complained that the royal party had hogged all the first-class seats in the plane taking Margaret and her husband to Antigua.

While they were away a row broke out over the cost of giving a $23,000 facelift to their new home at Kensington Palace.

What annoyed some people was that the government was prepared to spend the money on a couple well heeled anyway while other folks were homeless and the government was banning wage rises.

The Mirror's tilt at Margaret—in a front-page editorial headed "The Perverse Princess and 'Tony the Camera'"—appeared the day after she and her husband got back from their vacation.

When they flew off to the Caribbean sun, said the Mirror, "eyebrows were raised among the public, for 1961 was not exactly an exhausting year for either of them."

Agent Going To Parley

A Snyder man and a former Snyder resident are among the 100-plus insurance representatives who will attend the annual conference of American Founders Life Insurance Co. in Austin, beginning tomorrow and continuing through Thursday.

A highlight of the conference will be the annual awards banquet at which Mr. and Mrs. John Payne and Mr. and Mrs. Don G. Robinson will join top company executives in recognizing sales personnel who have achieved outstanding sales records during 1961.

In addition, a three-day planned program will include numerous sales and educational meetings, group luncheons, group singing, a coffee honoring the wives and an amateur night.

"Expansion" is the theme of the conference which will pay tribute to the agents who have made American Founders one of the fastest growing companies in the United States.

Yves Makes Comeback Bid Today

By GABRIELLE SMITH PARIS (AP) — Yves Saint-Laurent tried to make a comeback in the fashion world today with a collection that showed he had not abandoned the sack look he loved so when he designed for Dior.

This time the young designer, opening his own fashion house 18 months after the army took him away from Dior, gave the sack a tunic effect with straight skirt beneath, never longer than just below the knee.

The overblouse was belted loosely at the waist with a sash or fell straight from shoulder to hip.

Hips were accented loosely in good little suits whose blouses peeked out from under short jackets in fabric or fringe. Skirts pretended to be straight cut and folded into one big envelope pleat in the front for ease and fullness.

The 25-year-old designer showed his impish side with rakish little dresses ending in harem pants at the knee. Scarves were tied under the head Bardot style. One scarf, for afternoon wear, had ostrich feathers attached to it.

One suit was in a cherry check with an olive green blouse puffing out under the jacket waist. Other check suits were trimmed in braid which formed a small Chinese stand-up collar around the neck.

Saint-Laurent introduced a sailor's buttons were replaced by silver and gold metal braided buttons.

The most successful models were often the plainest. One was a black suit with what will be Saint-Laurent's trademarks this season: an ochre blouse peeking out from under a short jacket, an easy skirt with a fold in front, a big black panama hat and an ochre scarf tied around the neck, cowboy style.

Dresses had kimono tops and short sleeves. They often looked three-tiered — loosely tied at the waist, coming to their next stop at the hip with the end of the tunic, and the skirt peeking out from under.

Man's Motives, Fate

A STAR IN THE WIND. By Robert Nathan.

In this novel about a young Jew and the beginnings of the state of Israel, Nathan has encompassed many of the motives of mankind.

It is a story about Joseph Victor, who was running away from life. As a boy in Cleveland he had been prodded by his family into a frustrating attempt to be a child prodigy of the violin. In escaping from that imbroglio, he had become a news correspondent in Rome. And it was in Rome that he met Priscilla Greene of Boston.

At 23 was remarkably adept at managing her own life and those of several others.

They had an affair, which both of them realized could not last for long, and it didn't. Joseph was running away from the fact he was a Jew, and the young Bostonian had sense enough to know that he had to stop that fight.

Then came an assignment for Joseph to cover Britain's withdrawal from the Middle East, which would leave the infant state of Israel to the mercies of the blood-thirsty Arabs, as everyone believed.

Joseph made the trip on a refugee ship, crammed with European Jews who had managed to survive — but maimed spiritually and mentally — the horrors of the German concentration camps. And there on the ship he met Anna, whom he was destined to follow to the little hill fortress in Israel called "Star in the Wind." These latter episodes on the frontier of Israel are graphic and moving.

Nathan tells his story with a sharp sense of irony and pathos, blended with a fine feeling for the inevitability of fate. He spins well the words that convey ideas and emotions.

Experts Are Growing Wary Of Specialized Education

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—You are in college or planning to enter one and your life's ambition is to become a business executive.

Should you specialize in courses narrowed to the field of your choice? Or should you seek a rounded education, but with due attention to economics and business administration, and get the specific training on the job?

Business administration schools, like universities in general, are adding more special courses for technical training.

But some educators think the trend may be overdone. They hold this training and the absence of the wider view could confine you to that field. It could prevent you from developing characteristics top management seeks when tapping juniors for advancement to executive posts.

One such dissenter is Howard T. Lewis, professor in the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University. And he takes on not only the college curriculum itself but also the trend of companies endorsing training for their particular fields.

"Too many colleges and universities," he charges, "seem willing to give courses on anything from 'laundry management' to 'pie making' provided only someone will subsidize it or it can be made to pay for itself financially."

"There is actually very little correlation between the business courses majored in at college and the actual occupation of alumni," the Harvard educator holds in an article in the current issue of Purchasing Magazine, trade publication for industrial buyers.

Noted Ranger Hickman Dies

GAINESVILLE (AP)—Tom Hickman, 75, a famous Texas Ranger in the boisterous oil boom era of the 1920s and 1930s, died today.

He retired in 1935 and for a number of years was a special officer for Gulf Oil Co. He was appointed to the Texas Public Safety Commission in 1956 and became its chairman last year.

He had been ill for months. Surviving are his widow; two sons, David Hickman in the Navy at Norfolk, Va., and Tom Hickman Jr. of Venice, Calif., a UCLA student.

A sturdy 6-foot-1 figure with iron gray hair, Hickman remained active until his final illness, even taking part as a horseman on long trail rides.

Habitually he wore cowboy boots and Western garb.

The phone in one early phone booth required on money to operate but the caller had to deposit a coin to get out of the selflocking door.

"Business firms seeking to augment their personnel from a graduating class," Lewis says, "ask for your best men, not for your list of majors in accounting (or finance, or marketing)."

In defense of his thesis Lewis quotes Dean E. T. Weiler of Purdue University as saying, "I don't believe many special skills are necessary to get a foothold in American industry."

And Lewis cites two surveys, one by the Ford Foundation, the other by the Carnegie Foundation, as reaching the same conclusion: that vocationalism, or overemphasis on specialization and training for specific jobs, is poor policy for colleges and should be left either to industry itself or to vocational schools.

Many companies offer such courses to their ambitious employees. Trade associations and universities around the nation offer advanced courses for management training aimed at junior and middle executives some years out of college.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents is backing such top management courses.

But the committee chairman, Harold Berry, says, "We still feel that a good, sound, basic bachelor degree in business administration, engineering, or even in the liberal arts school should precede a purchasing education."

Many educators will disagree with the Harvard professor's views on the value of specialization, and so will many business men looking for new men with particular training. But many others will agree the broader view is more likely to get you to the top.

Highlights From Mail Of Columnist

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
One of the prices of prosperity—one in every five Americans over 30, doctors say, is dangerously overweight.

After women yearn to be beautiful, but beauty is no guarantee of either happiness or a long life, Marie Antoinette married at 14, became queen of France at 18, and lost her head to the guillotine at 37.

Life keeps getting easier all the time. A process has been developed by which you can now send facsimile telegrams in your own handwriting. Hunters can buy decoys so realistic they flap their wings.

What is your handicap? Three of the most eloquent men who ever lived—Demosthenes, Edmund Burke, and Abraham Lincoln—all had poor speaking voices.

The good old days: In 1901 the first New York State automobile licenses cost $1.

Money is changing hands faster. The average dollar bill gets so battered it has to be taken out of circulation after eight months.

Our quotable notables: "If you see a woman weeping, you can't always be sure whether it is because she has lost her lover or because she has been peeling onions."—Deems Taylor.

One way to solve the parking problem: A scientist says that if the population increases at the present rate in 750 years each square foot of earth will hold a human—being, thus leaving no room for automobiles.

Here's something else to gnaw your nails about: It is estimated that if the antarctic ice cap melts it would raise the level of the oceans 200 feet—and make most of the world's coastal cities habitable only by skin divers.

History lesson: You don't have to be tall to be president—or senator either. Only 13 U.S. presidents have been six feet or over.

The smallest, James Madison, was only five-foot-four, weighed 100 pounds. The two tallest: Grover Cleveland, 260 pounds; and William Howard Taft, 300-332 pounds.

Old superstitions: It is supposed to be bad luck to go to sleep on one side of the bed and get out on the other. Which explains the saying, "He got out on the wrong side of the bed this morning."

The theory of atomic structure isn't new. In 500 B.C. Democritus, ancient Greece's "laughing philosopher," taught that the world is composed of "infinitesimally tiny particles."

It was Ethel Barrymore who observed, "You grow up the day you have your first real laugh—at yourself."

Dog Bite Victims Are Being Sought

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Authorities are trying to locate the R. F. Perry family, en route to Everett, Wash., on vacation.

Their 3-year-old daughter has been bitten by a dog believed to be a rabid.

Policeman M. H. Arnold said a neighbor's dog bit Lucia Ann Perry Thursday and may have bitten Robert, 6, and Donna Elaine, 3. The family left Friday night.

Arnold said neighbors reported the Perrys were traveling by bus and would pass through Atlanta, Cincinnati, Chicago and Butte, Mont.

Junior Editors Quiz on SILK WORMS

QUESTION: How many silk worms does it take to make enough silk for a pair of stockings?

ANSWER: When the silkworm is full grown it begins to spin a cocoon of fine silk thread. In the commercial raising of silk worms, the worm lives on a mulberry tree and feeds on its leaves. When the cocoon is complete and the insect destroyed, skilled workers unwind the fine thread of the cocoon. These strands are exceptionally fine and if they were unwound into a single long strand it would measure anywhere from 500 to 1500 yards—all from a single cocoon. This is called raw silk. It would take about 1,000 miles of it to weigh one pound. It is twisted into skeins and then washed in a hot soapy solution to remove some of the natural gum that protects it. This reduces the weight of the silk. It goes through many processes before it is finally used for making fabrics or stockings. Because of this, it takes the cocoons of about 70 silkworms to produce enough silk to eventually manufacture a pair of silk stockings.

FOR YOU TO DO: The Chinese were the first people to have silk. Read about the fascinating ways they tried to keep the manufacture of silk a secret from the rest of the world.

(Karen Brown of Wichita Falls, Texas, wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, AP Newstextures will select the winner.)

Collegiate Fives Return To Grind

By ORLO ROBERTSON
College basketball, in midwinter doldrums the last two weeks, swings back into high gear this week with all members of the top 10 in action and second-ranked Kentucky and third-rated Cincinnati bupiest of them all.

While undefeated and No. 1-ranked Ohio State (14-0), idle since thumping Purdue 91-85 a week ago, plays a return engagement with the Bollermakers tonight at home before taking on Northwestern Saturday, Kentucky (13-1) and Cincinnati (14-2) swing into a three-game schedule.

Kentucky, pacing the Southeastern Conference with a 4-0 mark, takes on three of the league's lower echelon—Georgia Tech tonight, Georgia Wednesday and Florida Friday.

Cincinnati, heading to stay in the Missouri Valley race with a 4-2 standing back of ninth-ranked Bradley's 5-1 and Wichita's 5-2, meets two-conference foes—Drake Tuesday at home and North Texas away Saturday. In between the Bearcats take on independent Houston at Houston Thursday.

Fourth-ranked Kansas State, 13-2 after edging Iowa State 55-53, makes only one appearance this week. The Wildcats are at home Saturday to Nebraska and need the victory to keep on the heels of Colorado's Buffaloes, whose 4-0 mark is best in the Big Eight Conference. K - States league mark is 4-1.

Southern California, fifth-ranked at 12-3, also has only one game on the week's agenda, meeting UCLA away Friday. Sixth-ranked Duquesne faces two foes, one of them tough Villanova.

The Dulles, 14-2 after stopping LaSalle 80-66 Saturday, took on Villanova (15-2) Wednesday when that could be the game of the week. Villanova polished off Memphis State 100-84 Saturday with Hubie White getting 30 points and four teammates scoring in double figures.

Duke (14-2), ranked seventh and tied with North Carolina for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead after downing Wake-Forest 82-68, clashes with two league foes — South Carolina at home Tuesday and at North Carolina Saturday.

Bowling Green (14-1), No. 8, returns to action Saturday after a week's idleness, meeting Miami (Ohio) on Miami's court Saturday. Bradley (12-3) playing without All-America Cliff Walker, had a relatively easy time improving its Mo-Valley lead Saturday in downing North Texas State 84-70.

The Braves face a couple of toughies this week in Tulsa tonight and St. Louis Saturday, both at home.

Mississippi State (14-1), trailing Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference with a 4-1 mark, shouldn't have any trouble holding its place in the top 10 unless Louisiana State causes trouble Saturday.

The Rebels warm up for the league clash against non-conference Delta State tonight.

The Ohio State-Purdue game brings together two All-Americans — Ohio State's Jerry Lucas and Purdue's Terry Dischinger—in a return engagement. In their first clash a week ago, Lucas outscored the Bollermaker ace 32-19 and outbounded him 21-1. Dischinger had a brilliant day against Wisconsin Saturday. He scored 50 points in a losing effort as the Badgers downed Purdue 83-85.

Dischinger's scoring rampage, however, was only second to Jimmy Rayl, who tossed in 56 points, including a game-winning 20-footer in Indiana's 105-104 victory over Minnesota. Selon Hall got 49 points from Nick Wrkman in a 101-78 decision over St. Peter's of Jersey City and Jack (The Shot) Foley dropped in 47 in Holy Cross's 83-80 conquest of Niagara.

Battered SWC Quints Coming Back Home

By The Associated Press
Southwest Conference basketball teams resume conference warfare this week after a lull-luster showing against outsiders.

Southern Methodist downed Oklahoma City University 67-66. Arkansas topped Tulsa 99-77 and Rice edged Trinity 79-77 last week.

On the loss side of the ledger, Texas Tech took two drubbings from UCLA, 89-80 and 87-87, and the University of Houston whipped Texas Christian 61-56.

There's still a three-way tie for the conference lead. Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech all have 2-1 records. Next in order are Texas A&M, Arkansas and Texas, and TCU and Baylor.

Arkansas, with a 2-2 conference mark, tops the season standings with an 11-3 record.

The three-way tie is bound to be broken Tuesday night when SMU is host to Texas Tech and Rice journeys to meet Arkansas at Fayetteville. Baylor and Texas Christian will meet at Waco the same evening in a battle of the cellar-dwellers.

All the loop teams will see action Saturday. A&M will play TCU, Baylor at Texas, SMU at Rice and Texas Tech at Arkansas.

Skowron Inks '62 Contract

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Moose is loose.

That's the word from big, heavily muscled Bill (Moose) Skowron, the New York Yankees' best hitting first baseman with a history of back trouble who became the ninth member of the world champions to sign his 1962 baseball contract.

Skowron, the team's regular first baseman since 1954, received a modest raise Saturday to $35,000 for the 1962 campaign in which he hit .287 with 28 homers and 89 runs batted in, then swung at a .353 clip against the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

The 31-year-old slugger, who has his own system of exercising designed to stretch and strengthen his back muscles, has been keeping loose during the off-season by going through his paces every morning right after hopping out of bed.

"They told me at a Mayo Clinic checkup a few years ago," said Skowron, "that my muscles didn't have much elasticity. Since that time, I've had these stretching exercises to do. No question about it, they've helped me."

With the exception of 1956, a year in which he was freed from injury and hit .308 with 23 homers and 90 RBI, Skowron has been a steady patient. But the last two years he has been relatively free from his aching back.

The Reds, meanwhile, signed five players, including second baseman Don Blasingame and former Yankee catcher Jesse Gonder, while the Chicago White Sox lured pitcher Ray Herbert and three rookies into the fold.

Blasingame, who hit .222 last year, came to the Reds in a trade with San Francisco that sent catcher Ed Bailey to the Giants.

The White Sox acquired Herbert in a trade with Kansas City and the veteran hurler compiled a 9-6 record for Chicago after a 3-6 start with the A's.

The Baltimore Orioles got third baseman Brooks Robinson to agree to terms and the Washington Senators came up with contracts from rookie pitchers Roy Hauer and Carl Middleton. The Philadelphia Phillies stymied outfielder Ted Savage and Pittsburgh lured third baseman Don Hoak.

The World Series play in which Yankee Willie Howard's bat hit his topped ball in fair territory should have been ruled a punt for the catcher. It comes under the interference rule. Series scorers ruled it an infield out, catcher to first base.

A BUCK WELL SPENT

Littler's Dollar Putter Pays Off

By P. D. ELDRER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gene Littler's one-dollar putter was a cold and unresponsive hunk of iron until he really needed it.

Then the ancient, homemade club the U.S. Open champion picked up for a buck in Milwaukee three months ago dropped two decisive putts for Gene in a rally that made him $9,000 richer today—winner of the San Francisco Open golf tournament by two strokes with a 274.

The usually steady San Diego pro was 12 under par for three rounds and six strokes in front of the field going into the final round Sunday and it looked like a breeze for first money in the $50,000 event.

George Knudson, the spectacular young Canadian, Billy Casper and Bob Rosburg, were so far back that it looked like they were merely fighting it out for second money.

Instead, a finish duel developed with Knudson, Casper and Rosburg all making a run for the top money—and falling back in the face of Littler's two key birdies on the stretch holes.

At the finish it was Littler by two with the 34-year-old Knudson picking up his biggest tournament check with $4,000 for second place at 276. Casper and Rosburg finished at 277 for $2,000 each before heading for this week's Desert Classic at Palm Springs.

Dow Finsterwald came from far back to shoot a six-under-par 70 on the front nine. But Dow came up with bogey trouble and wound up tied in fifth place with 279.

Littler took bogeys at 11, 12 and 13 on his back nine. Knudson pulled up even with him, with Casper and Rosburg just a stroke back.

Littler's putter caught fire then, however, and he birdied 14 and 16 with six-footers after fine approaches.

Gene went ahead on 14 when each of his three pressing rivals took pars. Casper held himself to a bogey at 15.

Knudson had pars all along on the back nine until he and Littler both bogeyed the 18th, but by then it was all over.

Tigers, Tors Meet Tuesday

With a victory essential in order to stay alive in the District 2-A-A championship race, Snyder's Tigers prepare for Tuesday's invasion of the league leading Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

Tipoff time for the encounter is 8 p.m., and it will be preceded by a 6:15 B game involving the two schools.

Lamesa currently holds undisputed possession of the top rung at the halfway point in the chase with a 4-0 mark, and dealt Snyder (2-2) one of its losses in the campaign by a score of 62-45. The two teams had met on one other occasion—in the consolation finals of the Caprock Holiday Tournament in Lubbock—and the Tors came out on the big end of the score in that one, too, by 66-56.

For the entire season Snyder is 11-10, while the Lamesas are 18-4. The latter quint warmed up to the occasion Friday by clipping Sweetwater (3-1), with Snyder being idle that night. Over the past three seasons the Tornadoes of Coach O. W. Follis have won 20 consecutive district games, including a state championship in 1960.

Russell's Out; Celts Smart

By The Associated Press
If anyone doubts the value of Bill Russell to the Boston Celtics, the performance of the three-time National Basketball Association champs in the last four games may change their mind.

Russell, considered the best defensive player in the game, has missed the last four games because of a foot injury and the Celtics have lost every one.

Their four-game losing streak matches their longest since March, 1957, and has cut their Eastern Division lead from 10 to six games.

Cincinnati reserve second baseman Elia Chacon came from Venezuela but his father was one of the greatest infielders in Cuba's baseball history.

The Baltimore Orioles got third baseman Brooks Robinson to agree to terms and the Washington Senators came up with contracts from rookie pitchers Roy Hauer and Carl Middleton. The Philadelphia Phillies stymied outfielder Ted Savage and Pittsburgh lured third baseman Don Hoak.

The World Series play in which Yankee Willie Howard's bat hit his topped ball in fair territory should have been ruled a punt for the catcher. It comes under the interference rule. Series scorers ruled it an infield out, catcher to first base.

Proverbs 2:1-4
One of the most interesting phrases in this scripture is "if you seek it like silver." We have become so lazy in our luxury that we no longer seek wisdom, much less "seek it like silver." Only when we have such a desire for the wisdom of God that we will fight all kinds of obstacles, as the prospectors of old did, can we find that true wisdom.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW
Rev. R. Charles Spivey
"My Son, if you receive my words and treasure up my commandments with you, making your ear attentive to wisdom and inclining your heart to understanding; yes, if you cry out for insight, and raise your voice for understanding, if you seek it like silver, and search for it as for hidden treasures; then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God. For the Lord gives wisdom . . ."

Texans Excel In Arizona Tennis Play

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Texas players captured both the men's and women's singles crowns Sunday in the Thunderbird Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Tut Bartzon of Dallas defeated Allen Fox of Phoenix, 6-4, 6-4, in the men's final.

Nancy Richey, a part-time student at Southern Methodist University, whipped Karen Susman, 6-3, 7-5, for the women's title.

Mrs. Susman, a former San Diego resident, is a student at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Bill Hoogs and Jim McManus, a southpaw pair from the University of California, beat George Draliner and Hugh Stewart of Phoenix, 6-2, 6-3 in the men's doubles.

Mrs. Susman and her husband Rod teamed to defeat Miss Richey and Thorwald Mow, a former Davis Cup player for Norway, 3-6, 6-4, in the mixed doubles.

Cowtowner Cops Racing Championship

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Alan Connell of Fort Worth, Tex., won the Sports Car Club of America national championship Sunday with a 83-mile race at an average speed of 101.24 miles per hour.

Connell drove a Maserati Birdcage powered by a three-liter Ferrari engine to victory over the 3.1-mile track.

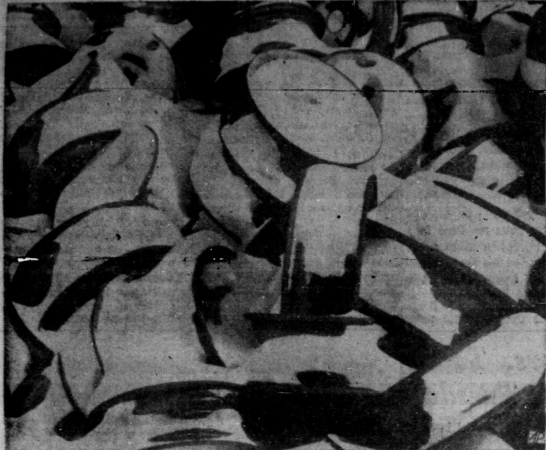

Connell's strongest challenge came from Harry Heuer of Chicago, driving a Chapparral. The lead changed 28 times before Heuer's brakes locked 7 miles from the finish.

Question: Who Writes Speeches?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the key questions—not emphasized so far in the Senate inquiry into censorship of military officers' speeches—is how many of them actually write their own speeches.

It can be reliably stated that few do although the Senate subcommittee got top brass complaints about the kind of censoring they got and the fact that low-ranking subordinates used the red pencil.

It is doubtful that many of the military speech-makers even see the speeches written for them before they are submitted to the Pentagon censors: the Defense Department's Security Review Office.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara not long ago ordered officers to initial their speeches, as evidence that they at least looked at them, before sending them to the Security Review Office.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, retired chief of naval operations, complained to the subcommittee against review by Pentagon subordinates of what the top officers are going to say.

So did Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, chief of Army research. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent the subcommittee a statement saying: "Let our informed military speak."

But Gen. Thomas D. White, retired Air Force chief, said he didn't mind being reviewed by Pentagon underlings because "most speeches are written by junior officers and reviewed by junior officers of similar rank."

"I rarely personally wrote a speech myself," he said. "There were relatively low-level persons who wrote the speeches in the first place."

This is the usual procedure: A speech to be delivered by, say, an Army officer goes first to the Army security review to be sure it reveals no secrets and is in keeping with presidential policy.

From there it is sent to the Defense Department's Security Review Office.

Along the line there is any conflict, the speech can be submitted to Arthur Sylvester, McNamara's assistant secretary in charge of public affairs or if there is still conflict to McNamara himself.

President Kennedy backs the present policy, which was also Eisenhower's policy although now Eisenhower seems to be having second thoughts about it.

Backing it also are Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Robert A. Lovett, defense secretary under President Harry S. Truman.

This inquiry is the result of charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that the military was being muzzled when it wanted to make anti-Communist talks.

One thing upon which everyone is agreed—including Thurmond—is that the military must be subordinate to civilian control.

The French have been cited as the prime example of the danger that can be created for a republic where the generals go from open opposition to the government to conspiracy against it.

So what the Senate subcommittee hearings boil down to after a week of testimony is not whether top government civilians have a right to censor military men's speeches but only how it should be done.

This then becomes a matter of judgment. That leaves the door wide open for a lot of wrangling but hardly for explosions.

Ex-Convict Is Held In Kidnaping

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—An ex-convict was held today on a federal charge of kidnaping the daughter of a New Mexico state senator.

The man, Richard Charles Banish, 24, of Cupertino, Calif., said he went along to protect the woman after another man abducted her at knife-point in Albuquerque Saturday.

Wanda Smalley, 23, daughter of Sen. and Mrs. F. M. Smalley of Denning, N. M., was found unharmed in Kansas City. She had been brought here in her car.

Banish said the other man, known to him only as Robert or Bob, wanted to go to Iowa but let them after Banish refused to go farther than Kansas City.

Banish said he promised Miss Smalley he would take her home, and he took her to a Western Union office so she could telephone her mother for money.

Mrs. Smalley notified New Mexico officers and Kansas City police found the daughter and Banish waiting in the Western-Union office.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the case but declined to disclose any details of an interview with Miss Smalley and her mother, who flew to Kansas City Sunday night.

Banish talked freely to reporters at the city jail.

He said he met the man, Bob, a few days ago in New Mexico and they were together in a car when Bob suggested they follow a woman's car into a parking lot.

"We had never seen her before, but she was a very beautiful girl," Banish said. "I didn't know what he was going to do until he got out of the car and walked over to her car and told her to move over. He pulled out a knife and I could see that she was scared."

"I knew right then I should call the police but I was afraid if I left he might kill her."

Bob had said he was wanted in Los Angeles for kidnap and rape, Banish related, and threatened to kill Miss Smalley.

His own record, Banish said, included a 21-month term in a federal institution at Lompoc, Calif., for interstate shipment of stolen goods. He was paroled 10 months ago, he said, and broke the parole by leaving California.

Minister Undaunted By Car-Train Crash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 70-year-old Presbyterian minister didn't let a train-auto crash keep him from delivering his Sunday night sermon.

The Rev. C. O. Williams' car stalled on a railroad crossing and the minister saw a Missouri Pacific freight train roaring toward him.

He got out, stood clear and waved his hat at the train, signaling it to stop. It didn't.

The car was crushed but no one was hurt.

Williams hitched a ride to his Highland Heights Presbyterian church and delivered his sermon.

Dixie Coast Is Struck By Winter Storm

By The Associated Press
A winter storm has struck the Dixie coast from North Carolina to Maryland with icy rain and up to a foot of snow. It closed hundreds of schools and left many roads treacherous before swooping out to sea.

The storm, whipped by strong winds, lumbered into North Carolina early Sunday. It swept up the coast through southern Virginia and hopped over to the Maryland Eastern Shore.

Washington, which trembles at a snow forecast, was spared. South of the snow belt, rain poured down along the coast as far as Georgia. Flash flooding was reported to have struck the Rocky River at Norwood, N.C. In Virginia, Richmond — the capital of the Old Dominion — got 8 inches, Blackstone, 10 inches. The heaviest fall — 12 inches — was measured at Chatham, Norfolk. Four inches and Fredricksburg and points north had no snow at all.

North Carolina fared about the same with snow ranging from a light fall to 10 inches at Reidsville, near the Virginia border. Winston-Salem in the heart of the tobacco county got seven inches. Raleigh had 2 1/2 inches but only a little stuck on the ground in Charlotte.

The storm buffeted Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore with the Pocomoke City area bearing the brunt — six inches. Slight accumulations were reported as far north as Bridgeville, Del.

Thousands of youngsters got a holiday as hundreds of schools in the snow area were ordered closed.

Most roads were open but there were scores of minor traffic accidents and jams.

In Newport News and Hampton, Va., bus service was suspended temporarily.

Dreary Picture Of Berlin Drawn

BERLIN (AP) — From statements of Communist leaders, a picture is beginning to emerge of the walled-in "free city of West Berlin" they have demanded. The picture is a dreary one.

It would leave 2.2 million West Berliners in a city of 185 square miles, about half the size of New York. There might be some token troops of the Western powers left, but they would be joined by Soviet units.

West Berlin would have to come to terms independently with the colossal Soviet Union, and with the East German Red regime that runs the country surrounding the city. West Berlin would have its own tariffs, diplomats, customs authorities and public health system.

Other countries, including the Soviet Union, would decide what kind of newspapers, radio stations and political organizations could exist inside the wall.

The Western powers have turned down this "free city" proposal of the Soviets. They say it would make West Berlin so weak that the Communists could easily gobble it up.

West Germany particularly opposes the plan as creating a "third German state." The West German Republic agitates strongly for German reunification. It opposes anything that would lead to general recognition of even a second German state, the satellite "German Democratic Republic" set up by the Soviets.

Western officials are talking of arrangements that would go part way toward meeting Soviet demands for changes in West Berlin. Western proposals were made with this in mind at the Geneva conference of 1959. The Soviets turned them down.

Since then the Communists have built their wall through the city, cutting off the flow of refugees from East Germany.

The Communists maintain that East Berlin is the "capital of the German Democratic Republic" and that there can be no question of changing its status.

Some Western officials point out that units of Soviet troops have regular jobs in West Berlin, but no Western troops are stationed in East Berlin. The Soviets help man the Berlin Air Safety center, share in watching the war criminals held at Spandau prison and stand guard at the Soviet war memorial on the Western side of the Brandenburg gate.

The Western powers hold that West Berlin has never been legally part of the West German Republic, though it has been treated for most purposes as if it were.

So West Berlin already has a special status. It is a kind of "free city" now—much freer, Western officials point out, than it would be if the Soviets had their way.

Four Children Die Of Baffling Virus
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Four children under 6 have died in Davidson County in the past week from a virus which the medical examiner, Dr. W. J. Core, says is baffling doctors.

Core described the virus as a type of pneumonia which develops almost instantly from what appears to be a mere cold. He said in each case the ailing child appeared in good health, then died in less than six hours.

"Doctors are just beginning to recognize it," Core said, "because it is a relatively new strain."

VALENTINE CANDY IS A TRADITION—It's a tradition too to get that candy at Snyder Drugs at Thirty-seventh Street and the Big Spring Highway. Pat Nicks, employe of the store, shows Mrs. Verba Williamson one of the beautifully decorated heart-shaped boxes of candy. In the background are just a few of the nearly 2000 boxes of Valentine candy to be found at Snyder Drugs.

Girl Wins 100-1 Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nora Gunning, 19, of nearby Blacklick came home Sunday. Doctors last October said she had only one chance in 100 of doing so.

Nora, who was en route to Mexico, suffered 30 broken bones, a collapsed lung and was in a coma for 3 1/2 weeks after an automobile collision near Nashville, Tenn., last October. Doctors gave her a 1-in-100 chance to live.

For four months she has been in Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville staging one of the most surprising recuperations in that hospital's history. Sunday she was released and flew home.

"Oh, she's home and it's wonderful," exclaimed her mother, Mrs. Robert Gunning. "She doesn't have any definite plans yet," Mrs. Gunning said, "except that she plans to work in a hospital here this summer."

Nora, who has been studying political science at Swarthmore College before her accident, says she now wants to become a doctor.

INEZ COMPLETES BOOK—Inez Robb, well-known newspaper columnist whose column appears regularly in The Snyder Daily News, is completing the manuscript for her book, "Don't Just Stand There," scheduled for spring publication by the David McKay Co. Working with her are Keith W. Jenison, vice president of the publishing firm, and Mrs. Robb's editor, Eleanor S. Rawson. The book will be a witty and penetrating commentary on life in America today.

Tubby Gets A New Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is relieving Roger Tubby as assistant secretary for public affairs, appointing him U.S. representative to the U.N. office in Geneva.

The announcement came Saturday after a week of reports that a change was in the making. Among the reported reasons for the switch was that Tubby and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had been unable to establish a close working relationship.

As chief of public affairs in the State Department, Tubby, 51, was known to newsmen as a persistent advocate of maximum disclosure of information about international relations and diplomatic developments.

This, said sources, has brought him into conflict with the traditional preference of diplomats for secrecy, especially on matters under negotiation.

Officials said Tubby's successor had not been designated but that high on the list of possibilities was Robert J. Manning, 42, who resigned last December as Sunday editor of the New York Herald Tribune and formerly headed the London bureau of Time-Life-Fortune.

The State Department said Tubby will remain in the position of assistant secretary for several weeks before taking on his Geneva assignment with the rank of ambassador.

Broadway Debut Of Rita Hayworth Set

NEW YORK (AP)—Rita Hayworth will make her Broadway debut next fall in a drama about a rejected wife.

Producer Herbert Swope Jr. said the glamor screen actress will costar with Gary Merrill in "Step on a Crack," written by Bernard Evslin.

"It had not occurred to me to try the stage until I read the play," Miss Hayworth said Sunday. She hasn't been near a stage since "I was little," except for audience-attended radio shows.

"And by that I mean not since I was 13, 14, 15," she said.
