French Leaders Hold Council of War

PREMIER AND MARSHALL FOCH AND MINISTER OF WAR LEFEVRE DISCUSS THE GERMAN SITUATION

PARIS, April 3.—After warning the German charge d'affaires in a note that the French government would admit of no derogation of the treaty of Versailles, Premier Millerand conferred with Marshal Foch this evening. Marshal Foch then had a conference with Minister of War Andre Lefevre, who later was received by the premier.

PARIS, April 3.—Premier Millerand this evening sent a note to the German charge d'affaires, Dr. Von Mayer, recalling that he had written him yesterday asking him to insist that his government retire the troops which recently entered the Ruhr basin. The note warned Dr. Von Mayer that the French government was unable to admit any derogation of the treaty of Versailles.

"Today at 5:45 p. m. Dr. Goeppert, (head of the German peace commission), informed the president of the peace conference that troops exceeding the number allowed by the decision of August 9, 1919, had entered the Ruhr basin and asked me to give formal permission for their entry after the entry had been effected," M. Millerand's note says.

Liberty of Action.

"I learn that Von Haniel (Dr. Von Haimhausen, under-secretary of the German foreign office) confirms that the German government has given entire liberty of action to Severing (Prussian minister of the interior) for the employment of the troops concentrated for operations in the Ruhr basin and that Severing assumes responsibility for their actions in this zone. I learn further that the reichswehr's attack commenced in the neutral zone on April 2 and that the front troops have already reached north of Dortmund and Duisberg.

"By this offensive the German government infringed article 44 of the treaty."

Premier Millerand cites the text of the article to the effect that any contravention will be considered a hostile act against the signatories of the treaty, and adds:

"I will inform you later what decision the government of the republic takes."

STATEMENT IS MADE BY PREMIER MILLERAND

PARIS, April 3.—In a statement to a Havas representative this evening Premier Millerand said:

"We are confronted with a systematic violation of article 43 of the treaty. Bad faith in the explanations offered by the German government for its alleged mistake is evidenced by the rapidity of the advance of the troops, despite our interdiction. The necessity of repressing the troubles in the Ruhr district does not justify the German initiative. The acts of disorder, in fact, were localized; already the conflict is approaching extinction by peaceful means.

"Intervention by the regular forces may lead to the worst consequences."

This information is contained in a declaration made to King Nicholas of Montenegro, who is now in Paris, by the Montenebrin foreign minister.

RAILROADS IN CHICAGO AREA FACE A TIE-UP

Switchmen's Strike Threatens to Paralyze Traffic in and Out of the City

THREE THOUSAND CARS OF STOCK DIVERTED ELSEWHERE

Walkout May Include 16,500 Men Unless Settlement is Soon Reached

CHICAGO, April 3.—Railroads in the Chicago area tonight faced the possibility of a general tieup of terminal operations before Monday as a result of the strike of 700 switchmen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, declared illegal by Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen officers and the walkout of 350 switchmen employed by the Chicago Junction railroad, a belt line, serving the stockyards.

All switchmen in the Chicago railroad district would walk out unless demands of the strikers for a wage increase were granted, according to John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, declared an outlaw union by brotherhood officials.

Stock Handlers Warned

Such a walkout would involve 15,500 men. As a result of the strikes, Chicago livestock exchange warned stock handlers against shipping livestock to Chicago before consulting railroad agents concerning a possible embargo.

Three thousand cars of stock en route to Chicago were diverted to other cities, it was said.

Officers of the yardmen's union said the strikers demanded the reinstatement of President Grunau, $1 an hour for foremen, 95 cents for switchmen, time and a half for overtime and double time after eight hours overtime. Foremen now receive $5.33 a day and switchmen $5 according to the union.

Will Not Negotiate

B. B. Greer, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, said today that the company would not recognize the strikers or negotiate with them.

A telegram was sent today to all members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen outside the Chicago area by B. F. Whitrey, vice-president and H. C. Gallegher, general chairman of the brotherhood on the Milwaukee railroad asking the switchmen report to their division officers for service in Chicago. The telegram said the strike was engineered by radicals to embarrass the brotherhood and that it had been repudiated by President Lee.

Chief of Police Garrity tonight detailed a force of policemen to guard the property of railroads in the event of trouble during the strike, at the request of officers of the Chicago and Northwestern, the Illinois Central, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Chicago Junction railroads.

SITUATION IN IRELAND IS ON HAIR TRIGGER

Military Precautions Exceed Anything of the Kind Since Easter 1916

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE TO MAINTAIN SELF CONTROL

Feeling in Cork is so Embittered That Anything May Happen There

DUBLIN, April 3.—The military precautions in Dublin exceed anything of the kind seen since Easter, 1915. Particular attention is being paid by the military cordon around the city to loads of hay, which are probed with bayonets, while even the suburban street cars are stopped and the passengers searched for arms.

At Finglas on the north side of the city, the military have taken possession of some unoccupied houses and appear to contemplate a stay for a few days. St. Enda's college, at Rathfarnham, formerly conducted by Patrick Pearse, who was executed during the rebellion of 1916, is also occupied by soldiers. They have erected a barricade with barbed wire on the roads outside of Cullenwood house, in Ranelach, where Pearse's mother lives and the children's school kept by Miss Duffy, sister of George Gavan Duffy, who was identified with the defense of Sir Roger Casement, and Sinn Fein representatives at Paris. The residence of Mrs. Humphrey, sister of "The O'Reilly", who was killed in the street fighting at the time of the rebellion, was searched and Mrs. Humphrey's son-in-law, a student, was arrested.

Armored Car Stationed.

An armored car is stationed at the entrance to Kingstown Pier to reinforce the military guard there. Soldiers unloaded fresh supplies of ammunition at Northwall and conveyed it in motor cars, protected by armored cars, through the city.

Despatches from various parts of the country indicate a similar state of affairs at Derry, Tipperary, Newry, Limerick and other places.

The Freeman's Journal publishes a significant article headed "Peaceful Eastertide," in which it says:

"Let the young men of Ireland remember that the main chance the enemy has to complete his triumph of destroying the Irish is summed up in the sinister and savage advice which is going the rounds of the clubs of the militarists 'and die-hards—'Get them into the streets'."

Appeal To The People.

The paper appeals to the people for restraint and self-control.

The feeling in Cork, it is understood, is so embittered by the murder of Lord Mayor MacCurtain that anything may happen there. But so far as Dublin is concerned, it is believed that Viscount French, the vice-roy, will have to report as did Lord Wimberne a couple of years ago on the occasion of a similar scare—not a dog barked.

The military police halted every pedestrian entering Dublin and searched them for arms but found none. The Associated Press automobile was held up by a soldier who emphasized his demand for a search by placing his bayonet uncomfortably near. The troops expect to maintain this guard against arms for three or four days.

Dublin castle does not take seriously the reports of an outbreak. "There won't be any disturbance in Dublin," said a well informed citizen. The arrival of a large number of correspondents is taken as a joke by an evening newspaper, which heads their arrival with "Something for the Foreign Correspondents to Write About at Last."

SYNDICATE TO TAKE OVER GERMAN SHIPS

KANSOS CITY, April 3.—An Easter blizzard that raged all day over central western and northwestern Kansas and over parts of Missouri and the southwest, extending to the Texas Panhandle, continued unabated tonight.

Over western and northwestern Kansas the snow is drifting badly tonight, Concordia reporting drifts from five to six feet deep. Snow plows were at work on the railroads in that part of the state and trains were being put through with difficulty. Four trains, one a passenger train, were reported stalled in snow drifts on a branch of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. It was estimated that from six inches to a foot of snow had fallen over central western and northwestern Kansas during the day.

Dodge City, in western Kansas, reported a blinding snowstorm sweeping that part of the state tonight, with the mercury falling rapidly. A temperature of between 12 and 15 degrees was forecast for that part of the state by morning.

The snow was confined to the northern half of Missouri, with rain in the southern part. Rain was general in Oklahoma, while Amarillo, Texas, reported snow falling since noon and a temperature of 20 degrees tonight.

Continued cold weather with snow in some sections is forecast for Easter Sunday.

HOOVER ASKS ONLY SUPPORT OF ONE PARTY

Requests No Further Embarassment in Use of Name by Other Parties

REFERS TO MEMBERSHIP IN A REPUBLICAN CLUB

Says Removal From Place to Place Has Prevented Active Part in Politics

NEW YORK, April 3.—Herbert Hoover, has announced he is ready to accept the republican presidential nomination if it is demanded of him, issued a statement today in which he requested no further embarrassment by sugestions ot some independents that his name be placed before any other party, as "a primary sense of team work in any party organization would preclude such a possibility."

Mr. Hoover said in his statement he had no great record of partisan activity and "admitted" that his political activity was confined to membership in a prominent republican club and allegiance to the party over a period of years. He added that, because of his profession of a mining engineer, continual shifts of residence had prevented him from exercising as much as he desired the privilege of every citizen at the polls.

Sugests Publicity

Asserting that his administrative duties in various relief organizations would prevent him from making a personal canvass for the nomination, Mr. Hoover said he expected Hoover organizations throughout the country to expend certain amounts for printing and other expenses, but he hoped they would confine themselves to minor subscriptions and expenditures and would be prepared to open their books to public inspection.

Mr. Hoover required that men and women advocating his nomination "bear in mind that personal criticism of the other names before the party is chiefly of service to the opposition."

"All these men' he said, "are patriotic, honorable Americans. They have all served the country well and are entitled to respect."

Because he had refused to allow his name put into the primaries Mr. Hoover declared there was "little organization" on his behalf and at the late date no organization is possible that could compete with other organizations. He urged that his supporters confine their energies to "promotion of their views to the country and the delegates already named, with full respect to their prior pledges."

Welcome Not Expected

Mr. Hoover said he had no expectation that his entrance into the presidential race would be welcomed by the "type of person who concives that fitness for office, patriotism and citizenship, depend upon placing sheer partisianship above national interest or who requires years of demonstrated participation in work with mechanical politicans."

"I cannot assist those people with explanations trying to prove that I belong to their class," he said.

"Some people of this sort feel great trouble of mind that in a letter addressed to a friend last year, I expressed my alarm at the then growing partisanship and pressed the need for unity of action between legislative and executive branches of the government, while we were still faced with the problems of war. It was obviously my duty as an important war official to support the president without thought of any political interest to myself from the day I entered the administration until I left it, and I put no qualifications upon or apologies for loyalty to one's chief in office.

DR. CUMMINGS APPEALS TO AMERICAN WOMEN TO GIVE UP THE CIGARETTE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Surgeon General Hugh S. Comming, chief medical officer of the United States government today voiced an appeal to American women to swear off the cigarette habit.

Dr. Cumming's appeal was based on government reports which indicate that cigaret consumption increased 97 per cent in the United States in the last year.

"The cigarette habit indulged in by women tends to cause nervousness and insomia ruining the complexion" said Dr. Cumming.

The physicial tone of the whole people will be lowered. There is an evil influence. There are a number American women who are becoming investerate smokers. The hab't harms a woman more than a man. The women's nervous system is more highly organized than the man's. The reaction on a woman, therefore, is more intense.

CONFERS WITH MEMBERS OF THE RUSSIAN COLONY

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—The Social Demokraten says it learns that General Yudenitch, former commander of the Russian northwest army, spent last night at Amalienborg Castle, the royal palace, in negotiation with the former dowager empress of Russia and leading members of the Russian colony in Copenhagen.

AT 2200 FEET WELL ON FOWLER SAID TO BE STANDING FULL OF OIL; INTERESTING NEW DEVELOPMENT

Drilling the hole deeper from 1900 feet, where it was abandoned as dry, C. R. Lee is reported to have encountered a sand around 2200 feet in the Adams and Brown No. 1 M. Fowler, Block 81, which has filled the hole full of oil. The test is shut down for a liner, there being around 400 feet of open hole. According to reports from the field the oil in the hole is very heavy, resembling that in the Sigler well, which has aroused much interest this past week.

If the sand reported encountered in this well proves productive almost unimaginable possibilities are opened up for the parts of Burkburnett which have been condemned as dry for some time, and a new productive horizon will be opened up for this district. There have been a number of tests drilled to 2,000 feet and abandoned as dry throughout the county, and the district, as well as close to this test, but so far very few tests below 2,100 feet have been made in any section.

Lee and associates bought the hole in Block 81 from Adams, Brown et al, some time ago and expressed their intention to drill it deeper, stating that they believed oil would be found further down. They have been drilling with a star rig. Casing was set around 1750 in the hole before the drilling was resumed.

The testing of this reported sand will provide highly interesting developments, and will re-direct attention to the eastern edge of the Waggoner, which may possibly stage some such a comeback as has the western edge, even though a deeper sand has to be sought.

SOCIALISTS TO CARRY FIGHT TO THE GOVERNOR

Will be Asked to Call a Special Election and They Will Make the Race

NEW YORK, April 3.—Determination of socialists to carry the fight to reinstate five members of their party expelled from the New York assembly before the voters at a special election, was announced tonight by officials of socialist organizations after a conference here. The governor, it was stated, would be asked to call a special election and the five men would seek re-election, "confident of success."

The socialist party has been the foremost defender of representative institutions by the actions of its opponents," a statement said.

"Plans are being considered for carrying the fight into the district of every man who struck down the representative system, who disfranchised more than 60,000 voters and who seek to disfranchise 100,000 more.

Charge Failure

"Our enemies have attempted to fix upon us the charge that we were some kind of a secret, conspiring body, covertly seeking to overthrow society by the torch and the bomb. They miserably failed in their attempt to sustain this theory."

It was announced that a meeting of delegates representing labor organizations of Greater New York would be held here Wednesday to consider the situation, regarding which the statement said:

"The final consumption of the crime at Albany has aroused the masses as they were never aroused before and this conference will speak in no uncertain tones when it assembles.

"A formal demand will be made upon the governor to call a special election in the five assembly districts, the seats of which were declared vacant. It is the governor's duty to call a special election even if a special session of the legislature is to be called for the purpose.

"Now that the matter is decided it is up to the governor to act."

NEGROES ARE PLACED IN THE HELENA JAIL

HELENA, ARK., April 3.—The six negroes convicted of murder in connection with the uprising at Elaine last fall, but whose cases were remanded by the state supreme court for trial because the verdict failed to specify the degree of murder of which they were found guilty, were brought here last night from Little Rock and placed in the Phillips county jail to await new trials at the April term of court. There was no demonstration when the prisoners arrived.

BUSINESS MEN TAKE A HAND IN TOLEDO STRIKE

Favor Wage Advance and Increased Fare and go After Members of Council

TOLEDO, O., April 3.—The first move in an attempt to restore at the earliest date street car service suspended at 4:00 o'clock this morning was made this afternoon when leading merchants met and demanded immediate settlement of the traction question that has been buffeted about in the city hall for last several years.

They voted approval of the higher wage scale for the carmen and also the increased rate of fare to take care of the wage boost. They proposed an interview with the six councilmen who balked ratification of the agreement between the carmen, company officials and Mayor Schreiber providing for both advances. Mass meetings will be called in the wards represented by the "wilful six," it was said.

Judge John M. Killits of United States district court, took a hand in the controversy giving it as his opinion that his court still has jurisdiction to fix the rate of fare. His opinion was based on the presumption that as both the city and company are parties to the suit, his jurisdiction has not changed.

The city council meets Monday night and indications are that another vote will be taken on ratification of triangular agreement. Only one more vote than secured last night is required to pass it under the charter.

WOULD KEEP MEXICANS FROM NORTH LOUISIANA

SHREVEPORT, LA., April 3.—Because of the lower wages for which they will work, the discontinuance of the employment of Mexican laborers in north Louisiana territory is sought through a petition to oil companies of this section signed by 19 citizens of the town of Linden, Webster Parish, which adjoins the Homer oil district. Several hundred Mexicans are said to have been imported into north Louisiana oil fields, causing a number of American citizens to become idle. The companies are urged to show preference to Americans including discharged soldiers.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER OF HUSBAND

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—Ryman Mandel, 39 is dead from five bullet wounds and his wife, Bessie 34, declared by police to have shot him as he lay asleep last midnight after he had beaten her, was in the city hospital today in a serious condition.

Mandel died two hours after the shooting. One bullet struck him in the head, two lodged in his back as he was awakened from the first shot he told physicians, the fourth penetrated his right shoulder.

Mrs. Mandel, suffering from hysteria, was seriously lacerated and wounded about the head, police said.

TWO WOMEN ARE ELECTED ON THE WICHITA FALLS SCHOOL BOARD; C. H. CLARK THIRD NEW MEMBER

With the heaviest vote polled in a school trustee election in recent years, and the overturning of all precedents by the naming of two women as trustees of the Wichita Falls independent school district, Saturday's election presented the almost unheard of spectacle of a ticket unopposed on the official ballot being defeated by a second ticket, none of whose names appeared on the official ballot. Mrs. M. M. Addickes and Mrs. John C. Key were the two women named, with C. H. Clark as the other new member of the board.

C. H. Clark led in the number of votes polled, receiving 110. Mrs. Addickes received 109 votes and Mrs. Kay 100.

Judge A. H. Carrigan led in the votes polled by those whose names were printed on the ballot, getting 76 votes, with M. A. Bundy and J. L. Downing, the other candidates, polling 70 and 65 respectively.

The election of the unofficial ticket is attributed to concerted action on the part of certain individuals who wished representation of the women on the school board, and who chose Mr. Clark to fill out their ticket.

PASS ADMINISTRATION MEASURE WITH WHICH RESERVE BOARD MAY EFFECTUALLY STOP SPECULATION

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The administration measure under which the federal reserve board hopes to effectually check speculation was passed today by the senate and now goes to the president.

Under the bill discount rates at each of the twelve reserve banks with the "approval, review and determination of the federal reserve board may be graduated on the basis of amount of advances and discount accommodations extended by the federal reserve bank to the borrowing bank."

Enactment of this measure as an amendment to the federal reserve law was recommended by Governor Harding of the federal reserve board in his annual report.

Governor Harding in his annual report said that "in this way it would be possible to reduce excessive borrowing of member banks and induce them to hold their own large borrowers in check without raising the basic rate. The federal reserve banks would thus be provided with an effective method of dealing with credit expansion more nearly at the source than is now practicable and without unnecessary hardship to banks and borrowers who are conducting their affairs within the bounds of moderation.

"The expansion of credit, set in motion by the war must be checked," he said.

PREPARE FOR LEGAL BATTLE TO BE STAGED OVER BOUNDARY LINE; PLEDGE $15,000 EXPENSE FUND

With an expense fund of $15,000 pledged by those in attendance to start this work, three attorneys were appointed at the Saturday night meeting of the Oil Men's Association of Red River Valley Texas to prepare the evidence and testimony on which the various groups involved will make their fight in the Supreme Court against the Federal receivership and injunction recently granted the court on the motion of the Federal government. Judge A. H. Carrigan, Judge C. L. Bass and Judge C. Kay were the attorneys named by the association. This plan of action was suggested to the association by a committee composed of a representative of each groupe of claimants, composed of T. H. Bass, F. B. Wilcox and M. D. Rowe. G. W. Mennis was associated with the committee in an advisory capacity.

The fight is to be made before the court by three general groupes, according to the plan of action outlined—those whose claims are under the mineral permits by the State of Texas, known as the Sparks group; those claiming under the assignment of the Durfee title and the accretions, or the Bass group, and those claiming under patents and whose lands lie exclusively in the patented areas on the hirher land above tehe line of vegetation spoken of as the "Highland" group. The pleas of each of these groups will be presented to the court by a different array of attorneys, although the fight will be co-ordinated as much as possible, and all are to cooperate in the securing of the data and other evidence and the preparation of the cases. One-third of the expense for the securing of data and evidence is to be apportioned among the various groups, T. H. Bass subscribing the third for his associates, F. B. Wilcox pledging the securing of the necessary amount from his associates, and M. D. Rowe for the other group. Associated with Mr. Rowe on a committee to canvass the Highland group are W. G. Minnis and Joe H. Jones.

The need of immediate action in preparing for the fight was stressed by everyone taking part in the discussion, which included Judge Carrigan, Judge Bass, Judge J. T. Montgomery and Orville Bullington. "If you are not in court during the next 13 days ready to file your petition on this matter, the receiver takes charge of your land automatically, and, as it has been aptly expressed, a "receiver receives," said Judge Carrigan, who outlined the problem and expressed the opinion reached by the committee of attorneys which discussed the matter at a Friday night conference.

The members of the attorneys committee preparing the cases are to give their entire time to this work, it was agreed at the meeting. The fees for these representatives are to be looked after by the individual groups which they will represent.

Survey and plats, and affidavits from old residents, and from every manner of expert who can aid in the placing of the river banks at various periods will figure in the evidence to be prepared, the attorney's instructions being to leave nothing undone which might be of aid to any of the groups involved in presenting their cases.

Conflicting interests under Texas laws are represented in this combination, but these "local" differences, it was decided, are to be left in complete abeyance in fighting the common fight, for, as it was pointed out, if "Texas loses, we all lose."

The action of the members of the attorney general's department in preparing this case was severely scored by Judge Carrigan, in outlining the common problem before the Texas claimants, the promises of these representatives of the government to give the attorneys of the Texas owners access to the evidence prepared by the government experts being alluded to in connection with the subsequent cold refusal of these same people to divulge a particle of the same evidence, much of which was gathered through the courtesy of the local attorneys. "And these experts who came here, and who were supposed to make an impartial investigation, and to represent us as much as anyone else—they didn't even spend the night in Wichita county, but went across into Oklahoma," said Judge Carrigan. "That looked queer to me on the start."

The serious efefcts of a receivership such as was imminent were outlined by Judge Carrigan, who also called attention to the fact that the metes and bounds of the lands taken in in the receivership, instead of following the undulations of the ground, wound in and out so as to include only the land having providing wells, cutting out the worthless land. "There is one place where it cuts in for a mile, taking in a narrow strip of only 13 acres in area," he said. "But there are seven wells on that 13 acres," he added, describing it as a diabolical scheme, ascribing the "conspiracy" to a group of "political pie-biters" in Oklahoma, and declaring it to be his conviction that if the true status of the case was presented to the supreme court that the effort would fail. In adjourning the meeting, it was decided by the association to hold another meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday night at 8:00 o'clock at which time a report of progress on the case will be made and discussed, and at which parties with property involved and who were not represented Saturday night are urged to have representatives present.

The temporary organization was made permanent at the Saturday meeting, with John W. Naylor, president, and John Davenport, secretary. Parties with interests involved in the fight and who have not been represented at prior meetings are asked by the association to communicate their attitude to the association through these officers.

Those who have enrolled as members of this association include: C. L. Bass, Bass Petroleum Co.; Frank Wilcox, Lone Star Oil and Refining Co.; W. E. Grant, Texas-Burdette Oil Co.; James L. DEVELOPMENTS K. M. A. FIELD AND DEEP SAND IN BLOCK 81 FEATURE WEEK'S OIL ACTIVITY

With the Art-Boger-Ard and Haynes well still flowing and making 2200 barrels the second twenty-four hours, with the tools still in the hole, the Manhattan (crude oil) reported as making a flow and the Saturday reports showing several other tests in various sections of the Kemp-Munger-Allen field ready for completion with every indications for good producers, the situation in the Iowa Park field promises to parallel the early days of the Waggoner pool developments, and with a report from reliable sources that a 2200-foot sand has been picked up on the edge of the Waggoner pool, Wichita county promises to lay claim to the undivided attention of the oil fraternity of North Texas.

Reports from the field Saturday night were to the effect that the Manhattan Production Company's No. 1 Munger, (Crude Oil Marketing Company) has successfully set the casing after plugging back to 1740 feet, and that the well made a flow Saturday afternoon. This well made considerable oil several weeks ago but developed water trouble. The field superintendent of the company was in the field Saturday night, consequently the company could not supplement the reports from other sources, which were exceedingly optimistic.

The Kemp-Munger-Allen No. 3 on the western part of the company's lease, and practically offsetting the Munger-Verschoyle, reported on the sand, is drilling around 1250 feet, and the No. 4 offsetting the Manhattan No. 1 Munger, is drilling around 1365 feet. This latter test is expected to be at sand depth the middle of the coming week.

Much activity in acreage is reported, $7500 being paid for acreage a short distance from the new well. The activity in acreage extends to activity in new operations, and new rigs and derricks, as well as new locations, are making their appearance already. The Art-Boger et al interests are preparing to put down three more holes, Munger and Verschoyle will drill additional tests, the Manhattan and various other companies with acreage in this vicinity have either started new rigs, or will do so as soon as possible, according to reports Saturday.

Delayed in receiving necessary parts, the Keen-Woolf No. 1 Munger, a short distance to the north of the Art-Boger et al well, will probably not be completed before Monday. The sand was reached at approximately the same depth as in the new well, and on the same day, Monday of last week, but lack of casing has held up completion; setting of casing is now being completed.

A mile to the north and a little west of the new well, the Ryan Petroleum Corporation is reported to have the oil sand at a depth somewhere between 1735 and 1745 feet. This test is across the Wichita river from the Kemp-Munger-Allen acreage, and the producers in the field.

About 2,000 feet north of the new well the Sinclair No. 1 Munger has the sand at approximately the same depth as the other tests on the western edge, and expect a completion in a short time.

To the south, on the Logan, the Lucky Baldwin No. 1 is reported today to have gotten a firm seat for the casing, and to be bailing oil in increasing quantities, with prospects for completing immediately. To the north of the Lucky Baldwin a short distance the Kemp-Munger-Allen No. 2 Munger is plugging back.

CASING BEING SET IN JACK COUNTY TEST MAKING 10 BARRELS

Casing is being set in the Jack county test of the Cosden oil company, which, at a depth of one foot in the lime, picked up at 4,347 feet, and with several hundred feet of open hole, is reported already good for about ten barrels. The test is in the northwest part of Jack county.

Casing (four and three-quarters) is also set in the Silk-Bullington Langford-Smith test, in the southwest part of the Cosden test, which is at a present depth of 3,957. Drilling will be resumed Monday, it is stated.

BIRTH RATE OF JAPS IS HIGH; STANDARD LOW

Exclusion is Only Solution Declares Publisher of Sacramento Bee

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 3.—Japanese birth rate in California is so high and their standard of living so low that any immigration policy other than exclusion will result in the ultimate destruction of the American population in the west, if not in the whole United States, V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee, asserted today in a luncheon address before the city club.

"The Japanese have neither the ability the desire nor the power under their government to become citizens of this country," Mr. McClatchy said. "They are unassimilable. They do not care for citizenship. Their government expects Japanese in this country to remain loyal to the country of their fathers, and they are loyal to Japan."

The chief objection to the Japanese is not racial antipathy, by the knowledge that their economic advantages make it hopeless for the white race to compete with them, Mr. McClatchy explained.

"The Japanese question is really an economic one—it is simply whether or not this nation can admit to the country a people who can drive the Americans out."

Long Hours Small Pay

The Japanese work longer hours for smaller pay than Americans; their women toil in the fields; they concentrate in close communities; they have wonderful business co-operation and they control the produce trade in many sections, he said. Because of these factors, they gradually drive Americans out of every business they enter.

Mr. McClatchy said the Japanese practically control the Imperial valley in southern California; have eighty-five per cent of the Rocky Ford melon business of Colorado, hold the Hood River, Oregon, apple district, and control the southern California fisheries.

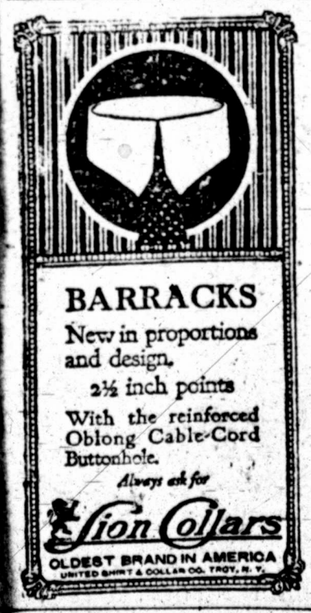

The speaker recited a number of figures from the California bureau of vital statistics tending to show that the Japanese increase about four times as rapidly as Americans in California, and that while the American birth rate there is decreasing, the Japanese birth rate is rising. Plans to admit Japanese by ratios or proportions based on numbers now here or now citizens, such as the Gulick plan and the Dillingham bill, Mr. McClatchy characterized as traps which would result finally in the breeding of enough Japanese in this country to control it. Under the Gulick plan, in 140 years 100,000,000 Japanese would be living in America, he said.

LABOR PARTY CAN'T GET NAMES ON THE OKLAHOMA BALLOT

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., April 3.—An opinion that the new national labor party cannot have its candidates on ballots in Oklahoma was rendered today by Assistant Attorney General R. E. Wood in a letter to W. C. McAllister, secretary of the state election board, in response to repeated requests to the election board as to how the party could enter the field in Oklahoma.

An old election law providing that no party may be placed on the state ticket unless that party polled at least five per cent of the total number of votes cast in the state at the total votes for governor or president at previous general elections in other states, was quoted by the assistant attorney general in his letter to McAllister.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., April 3.—Former Governor Maytorena, who maintains a handsome home here, said today that he had not heard about the reported order of President Carranza permitting him to return to Mexico should he so desire. Senor Maytorena said he had not asked anything of President Carranza and did not know what had led to such an order being issued, if it had been

COTTON ACREAGE IS TEN PER CENT MORE THAN LAST

Situation is Brought About by Flooded Autumn and a Lagging Spring

DALLAS, April 3.—Last year's flooded autumn and this year's lagging spring have conspired to make Texas' 1920 cotton acreage at least 10 per cent larger than last, according to the belief today of M. H. Wolfe, cotton exporter.

"Texas will have around 12,000,000 acres of cotton this year—10 per cent more than last—according to present prospects," Wolfe declared. The planting season has been very backward this year, he said, early rains making the ground too wet and succeeding droughts the surface too hard for good germination of the seeds.

Cotton will be Texas' heavy crop more because the season forced it, however, Wolfe said, than because ylanters preferred it. The wet autumn practically eliminated wheat drilling and oats sowing suffered likewise. The late spring now is expected to prevent a large corn acreage.

Meanwhile the farm labor question is to be contended with.

Indications are there is enough labor for immediate needs, but beyond planting comes cultivating and harvesting, which take many more men. Efforts have been made at the national capital to provide for importation of Mexican laborers during the busy season, but the situation still is in doubt. And added to the labor uncertainty is a graver condition.

Louisiana and Oklahoma, aroused by reports certain localities are infested with the pink boll worm have put stringent embargoes in effect against Texas cotton seed and cotton products. The federal government has threatened to establish a rigid quarantine againstthe entire state unless steps are taken immediately to eradicate the pest. Farmers in some localities, forced thus by the seasons to plant cotton, may be forced by government action to discontinue cotton growing.

Governor Hobby today was enroute to Washington to attend a conference of cotton experts on a campaign against the pink boll worm. If existing state laws are found inadequate, he has said he would call a special legislative session to formulate suitable laws. He will resist a federal quarantine.

Meanwhile the cotton acreage is increased.

These Tires Are a Revelation

The Brunswick is frankly a combination of the best in tire building.

There is one tread that's supreme beyond question. And that is now on Brunswicks.

There is one side-wall construction, which, by every test, holds the summit place for endurance. And that one was adopted for Brunswicks.

Fabrics differ — up to 30 per cent — in their strength tests. On Brunswicks the maximum long-fiber is the standard.

There are certain additions, each one expensive, which add vastly to tire mileage. The Brunswick embodies all these extras.

There are no patents, no secret formulas to prevent any maker from building the best. It is simply a question of knowledge and skill—cost plus care.

Brunswick standards are known the world over. The very name certifies an extraordinary tire. Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Buy ONE Brunswick. It will prove that a better tire cannot be bought, regardless of price.

MANDATE ONLY SOLUTION OF THE TURK PROBLEM

Recommendations of Major General Harbord Have Been Made Public

DID NOT SUGGEST U. S. ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY

Thirteen Arguments For and Thirteen Against Are Contained in the Report

WASHINGTON, April 3.—While the American mission under Major General Harbord which investigated conditions in the Near East last year did not recommend that the United States accept a mandate over the former Ottoman Empire, General Harbord in his report said some power should accept a mandate as the only solution of the Turkish problem.

Constantinople, he said, should be included in the mandatory territory, but he disapproved several mandatories for different portions of Turkey.

The much-discussed report of the mission was transmitted to the senate today by President Wilson in response to a second resolution of request several weeks ago after the senate had failed to hear from the white house concerning its first resolution adopted in November.

While estimates of the number of troops required for a mandate vary from 25,000 to 200,000, General Harbord declared that in his judgment 59,000 would be needed for the first year. The cost of the mandate was estimated at $275,000,000 for the first year including $85,500,000 for the army and navy, and at $756,000,000 for the first five years.

Thirteen Arguments

Thirteen arguments in favor of the United States accepting a mandatory and thirteen against acceptance were contained in the report.

The principal arguments in favor of the mandates were that the United States as "one of the chief contributors in the formation of the league of nations, was morally bound to accept;" that its mandatory would insure peace at the world's crossways; that the building of railroads would offer opportunities for American capital and that there would be great trade advantages; that intervention would definitely stop further massacres of Armenians and other Christians, and give justice to the Turks, Serbs, Greeks and other peoples and that unless the United States assumes responsibility in this region international jealousies probably would result in the continuance "of the unspeakable misrule of the Turks."

Prior Obligations

The principal arguments against an American mandate were that United States had prior and nearer obligations; that there was every likelihood that ambitious nations would continue to maneuver to control this region; that a mandate would weaken the American position relative to the Monroe Doctrine; that the United States would be brought into the politics of the world contrary to its traditional policy; that it would be put to great expense involving probably an increase of the army and navy; that intervention would rob it of its strategic advantage given by the Atlantic ocean; that its line of communication to Constantinople would be at the mercy of the other naval powers, especially Great Britain and that peace and justice would be assured under any other of the great powers.

General Harbord's report was dated October 9, 1919, and consists of a dozen typewritten volumes, with separate findings by a large staff of expert assistants, some of whom aided the American peace commission at Paris.

Y. W. C. A. CAFETERIA WILL BE MOVED TO THE OLD ELKS CLUB ROOM

On or shortly after May 1 the Young Women's Christian Association's cafeteria and headquarters will be moved to the old Elks club rooms, a lease being taken by the board on the entire upper floor of the Anderson building. As soon as the necessary remodeling can be done the quarters will be moved from the present location, 618 Ohio.

The new location is more central than were the old quarters, which at the time the lease was made last year, were the only available accommodations to be found. More room will also be available for the recreation room, and for the cafeteria as well, and the new arrangements are expected to prove very pleasing.

APRIL FOOL'S PARTY FOR EPWORTH LEAGUE

More than a hundred young people enjoyed the novel April Fool's party given Thursday night by the Epworth League of the First M. E. Church, South, in the church parlors. A guessing contest, and a burlesque program entertained. Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. Harrison sang a duet, both very much off key, and Messrs. Reese, Gordon, Akin and Huckabee gave a quartet, each singing a different song, and Mrs. Kenny and Miss Fisher gave readings, different subjects at the same time. Numerous April Fool tricks, including a mock telegram to the president, Mr. McCullough, were engaged in. Refreshments consisted of Easter egg candy and ice cream cones.

RELIGIOUS ISSUE IS INJECTED INTO IRISH QUESTION

Bitter Attack is Made on Catholic Clergy by London Weekly Spectator

By ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, April 3.—The religious issue was injected into the Irish controversy today when the Weekly Spectator in a bitter attack charged the Irish Catholic clergy with responsibility for the reign of terror in Ireland.

Referring to Bishop Cohalan of Cork, cousin of Judge Cohalan of New York, the newspaper accused him of "encouraging lawlessness under a thinly disguised and dangerous appeal."

The bishop, the newspaper said, owed his appointment to the Cork Bishopric to influence exerted by Judge Hohalen and Dr. von Bernstorff, who was then ambassador of Germany to the United tSates. In 1916, the Spectator continued, von Bernstorff informed the German foreign office of Cohalan's connections in the United States, suggesting that German influence be exerted to obtain his appointment, in the belief that Cohalan would be a valuable man to defeat attacks aimed at German interests by Great Britain.

Termed Traitors and Cowards.

"The Sinn Feiners are not only traitors but cowards and not only cowards but also traitors," the Saturday Review declared in commenting on the series of assassinations in Ireland.

The periodical advocated force as the only method to restore order and said: "As long as there are priests and politicians the Irish question never will be settled." The publication charged that it was secular policy of the Vatican to keep Ireland dissatisfied while "politicians exist upon grievances," it said the British government faced two possible courses:

"First, to let Ireland "stew in her own juice."

"Second, to govern the island by military force."

"The time for half way measures has passed," the Review asserted. It praised Lord Cecil as the only statesman courageous enough to demand restoration of law and order in Ireland before reforms were taken up.

"Insult to Ireland."

The Nation believed that such a bill as Premier Lloyd George's new plan for home rule in Ireland "offered by such a government" was an "insult to Ireland, not accompanied by any reconciling process."

The government's "military reign of terror only adds to Erin's distress," the Nation concludes. It was learned authoritatively at the foreign office today that Great Britain would not ratify the treaty of peace with Turkey until the Irish bill has been disposed, inasumch as the home rule statute of 1914 automatically becomes effective with declaration of peace.

The Hungarian and Turkish treaties, it was said, would be signed but not ratified because of necessity for continuing the defense of the realm act and other such measures.

Despite passage by a huge majority of the prime minister's bill on second reading, a fight on amendments was expected when the measure was taken up in the committee.

LOCAL CLUB WOMEN ADVANCED IN SOLVING PROBLEMS OF BALLOT

Wichita Falls club women are very advanced in solving their problems of instruction in use of the ballot, I find," said Mrs. T. Caswell Ellis, secretary of the Texas League of Women Voters, and wife of a prominent University of Texas professor, who was in Wichita Falls Friday. "It is very gratifying to the state organization to find clubs and lecture courses such as I am informed Mrs. J. C. Berney has instituted in Wichita Falls, and women wide wake to the responsibilities of citizenship. The league's work is in the smaller towns and the rural communittes, as a rule, and we are finding that the club women of the cities are handling the matter individually, and need very little outside assistance. It is a matter in which we all have much to learn, and it is indeed auspicious for the future of woman's suffrage to find the business of citizenship studied so thorough and systematically."

CONSTANTINOPLE IS ISOLATED FROM ASIATIC TURKEY

Communication Cut by Detachments of British Who Burn Large Bridges

ANATOLIA IS SOURCE OF THE FOOD SUPPLY

Protective Area Restricted to Districts Within Range of the Naval Guns

CONSTATINOPLE, March 29—(Delayed)—Constantinople is as much isolated from Asiatic Turkey as if the Atlantic ocean separated them. Railway communication between the Bosphorus and the interior has been cut by the detachments of British, who burned the large bridge south of Bilejik, after getting out all their Indian troops who had been guarding the line. British headquarters is at Mid and the protective area is restricted airgely to districts within range of the naval guns.

Anatolia is the source of the food supply of Constantinople and consequently the prices of meat and vegetables have already doubled. The huge profit-taking is not checked by the high commissioners, who maintain the fiction that the Turkish government is functioning.

Communications virtually are suspended and the allied newspapers are filled with statements that the nationalist movement has been nipped in the bud. News which reaches Constantinople through couriers from Anatolia and passengers from the various Black Sea and Mediterranean ports does not support such statements.

Congress Called

Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, has called congress to meet Angora, with five representatives for each vilayet. General mobilization has been ordered and all military munitions ordered removed from the seacoast.

The French have again failed to relieve Aintab and Armenians from Adana are moving, with French permission, upon Hadatin in an effort to relieve the Christians threatened there. A message from Aintab, sent two weeks ago and just received in Constantinople, says that the Moslems will not sell food to 25,000 Armenians there. Turkish leaders who were at Marash have arrived in Aintab and it is feared another great massacre may occur.

The Italians and French are both critical of the allied occupation of Constantinople, which they blame entirely upon the British and declare that if the two million unprotected Christians in Asia Minor are killed by Moslems enraged by the seizure of Constantinople it will be the fault of the British move.

Delegation of Four

A delegation of four members of the Turkish chamber are enroute to Angora for a conference with Mustapha Kemal Pasha. They were allowed to pass by the British passport control and are expected to return here in ten days. The delegation is composed entirely of nationalists, but they are asserted to be anxious to persuade the nationalist leaders that the sultan will not support them and the movement cannot succeed unless modified.

While the British were repairing the bridge near Bilejik nationals directed a heavy machine gun fire on them, but their aim was so bad there was only one casualty. After crossing the bridge the battalions burned it to check the nationalists, whose game seems to be to force the allied troops to pursue them into the interior and keep up guerilla warfare, rather than take the offensive.

EIGHTY-THREE YEAR OLD YOUNGSTER BUBBLES OVER WITH SPIRIT OF YOUTH

ESOPUS, N. Y. April 3.—An eighty-three year old youngster, with white hair and beard, bubbling over with the spirit of youth, officially ushered in spring here today.

John Burroughs, famous naturalist, in celebration of his birthday tapped several maple trees at Yama Farms Inn, near here, gathered the sap and began boiling it down into golden syrup in a big outdoor cauldron. The syrup will be served with hot biscuits at the dinner to be given tonight by his friends.

A long walk through the woods was scheduled this afternoon.

Burroughs and his friends will seek out such wild flowers as may be thrusting their first sprouts through the leaf mould and will visit a trout hatchery.

The youthful otogenarian was up early today receiving greetings from all parts of the country. He said he feels fine and gave out the same birthday message he has for years:

"Keep cheerful and mind your own business."

Burrough volunteered the following:

"I want to see the league of nations adopted, with what reservations are necessary and would like to see Herbert Hoover elected president."

Arrest Concludes Romance Rivaling Jack London Tales

DETROIT, Mich., April 3.—A romance of the northland rivalling Jack London tales of the wilds came to an abrupt end here today with the arrest by federal immigration authorities of John E. Haeno, 32, alias Erickson and Mrs. Heina Tuoni, 24.

Haeno was a foreman in a lumber camp, in the Hudson Bay district Canada. Mrs. Tuoni, whose husband owned the camp, cooked from early dawn until after sundown for the fifty hungry men. She was a drudge, she said. Haeno was sympathetic. The life of the camp threw the pair together often.

One day in January the lumber jacks and the husband returned to camp to find the foreman and Mrs. Tuoni, her 5 year old son and $500 of Tuoni's cash missing. Two days run on a dog sled through the snow fields with the angry husband in pursuit brought the elopers to a railroad station. There they took a train for the border and entered the United States.

They were arrested on warrants charging illegal entry to the United States. Warrants charging larceny have been sworn out in Canada by Tuoni.

PEOPLE SHOW MORE INTEREST IN CAMPAIGN

Determined to Have Greater and More Direct Influence Than in the Past

By HAROLD D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 3.—The significant feature of the pre-convention campaign is the awakening realization of individual responsibility by the American people, in the opinion of trained political observers and those identified with the various candidacies. The war influx of women into politics and changing social and economic conditions apparently have bred in the people a determination to have a greater and more direct influence in the affairs of government and a broader knowledge of the general political situation. This is evinced particularly by their searching inquiry into the qualifications of the men considered as presidential possibilities.

According to persons in close touch with the situation, the voters are showing an inclination to pry into the respective minds of the various candidates in a way never known before. This inclination has manifested itself in many ways, particularly through the good natured "heckling" of political speakers. Any persons who undertake to prevent the qualifications of a particular candidate these days must be prepared to answer countless questions hurled at him with bewildering rapidity and variety. The candidates themselves are not immune.

Candidates Face Barrage.

It is the rule rather than the exception for candidates, in the course of an address to face such a barrage as this:

"Mr. Jones, where do you stand on the League of Nations?" "What do you think of the income tax, Mr. Jones?" "What is your attitude toward union labor?" "How do you propose to reduce the cost of living?" etc.

The questions are not asked with a view to embarrassing the speaker. They are intended to elicit specific information. And they are generally successful. The interrogators include women as well as men.

Then there are the myriads of quasi political organizations, often non-partisan, formed for the purpose of improving the members' knowledge of political, economical and social conditions. Debates are held, papers read and experts in both practical and theoretical politics called in to make addresses. Women dominate in most of these bodies.

Public is Interested

Politicians accept these and other indications as meaning that the general public will have more to say this year than ever before regarding selection of the president. The same old "machines" are in operation, but, observers assert, they will be more responsive to pressure of public opinion.

One of the men who seeking a presidential nomination summed up the situation in a recent conversation. It was suggested that a certain political leader might "deliver" a certain state delegation to a certain candidate. He said:

"Nobody will 'deliver' anything this year. The bosses may think they are as strong as ever and can handle their delegates as they please. They are wrong. Who is going to select the president? That's easy—Mr. and Mrs. Citizen."

THE PROPOSED STREET LIGHTING SYSTEM.

There is scarcely no improvement that could be made that would add more to the attractiveness of Wichita Falls than the installation of the ornamental street lighting system that is being fostered by the Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

Property owners ought not to hesitate one moment in signing up for this improvement. It has been the experience in hundreds of cities throughout the country that business follows the lighting system and a street which does not have those lights will lose out as a business district.

The reported assault on Ygnacio Bonillas, the arrest of Mexican congressmen for alleged throwing of poison confetti, the gathering of Obregonistas to head off federal troops marching on Sonora to oust the anti-Carranza governor, the reported intention of Sonora to secede from the Mexican republic—all these are indicative of the seriousness of conditions below the line and that the approach of the time for presidential elections is accentuating the gravity of the situation. The hope for Mexico's permanent relief, as Americans see it, is that there shall be a fair election in which a presidential candidate shall receive a fair majority; if this should put at the head of Mexican affairs a man of the Obregon type, who is not provincial and who knows that the welfare of Mexico is indissolubly bound up in the welfare of its neighbors, including the United States, there would be some ground for the hope that he would have opportunity to do something and time to take advantage of that opportunity. But the state of affairs seems to be such that a fair election is impossible simply because the powers that be are opposed to such an election for the reason that it might jeopardize their hold on the reins of government. With enough problems of its own to face, the United States has another one in Mexico; and scrutiny fails to disclose any recent improvement or promise thereof.

It will require a near-miracle now for the federal suffrage amendment to be ratified in time to permit the women of all the states to vote in the 1920 presidential election, because Vermont and Connecticut, the legislatures of both of which are said to be favorable to suffrage, have anti-suffrage governors, who are not going to convene the special sessions necessary to ratify. The one chance is that the Vermont legislature, which seems like the Texas legislature to have some authority to convene itself in extraordinary session, may decide to do that and that it will ratify, making No. 36. Hopes aroused when the Mississippi senate, by a change of ten votes, reversed its earlier action and ratified, were dashed by the ribald majority against ratification in the lower house. Apparently firmer hopes that, with the Delaware senate voting to ratify, the Delaware House would emulate its example, also were crushed to earth when the House 23 to 9 voted to reject. There are six states yet to act on the suffrage amendment—Connecticut, Vermont, Louisiana, North Carolina, Florida and Tennessee. Ratification by one of them will complete, but regular sessions of their legislatures will not be held until next year, and Florida and Tennessee cannot ratify until a year after the resolution is submitted to the legislatures.

Adoption of the new charter simply means that Wichita Falls has another vehicle of expression and means of pushing itself forward as a city of the first class. It provides the means for doing things the citizens have been estopped from doing under the old charter, and leaves open the way for taking care of not only the present but future needs of a growing municipality, which the old instrument did not do. Wichita citizens, we think, are to be congratulated upon the change and the overwhelming majority by which the charter was adopted gives it a better start than had the vote been closer.

"I am interested tremendously in better conditions between capital and labor," said Governor Cox of Ohio, putative democratic candidate for the presidency, and stating an attitude that is held by every thinking person who takes thought of how essential betterment of those conditions is. "There are two extremes, one as dangerous as the other. There is bolshevism on the one hand, believing in revolution; the radicalism or reaction on the other hand, which believes in the bayonet rather than the golden rule for the settlement of labor difficulties." And the Ohio governor might have added, with equal truth, that bolshevism is the growth of that blind reactionarism, and that the great mass of people, occupying a middle ground between the two extremes, are the real sufferers from the conflicts between radicalism and bourbonism, neither of which is representative of American ideals or institutions and both of which should be eliminated for the betterment of conditions and the betterment of American ideals and institutions.

Judging from the opinions held by some of its high officers, it is a bit remarkable to the man in the street that the United States navy was ever able to get back on this side of the Atlantic. The latest critic is Admiral Fullam, who thinks the only reason the American navy escaped destruction during the war was that the German navy was "bottled up." It will need a lot more proof than the statement of Admiral Fullam to convince the American people that their navy is so decrepit as all that or that it would have failed to give an account of itself with the German or any other navy.

Outside of the fact that he "handicapped" the navy, that he was "mentally and temperamentally unfit" for the work, that he upset the plans of the naval staff for winning the war, that he was responsible for the navy's unpreparedness, that he didn't kowtow sufficiently to the naval clique, that he "balled up" the naval awards and broke down the morale of the navy—outside of these and perhaps a few other defects the members of the naval clique seem to think Secretary Daniels was all right.

APRIL.

With April comes the feeling that winter's hit the ceiling, and spring at last is here; we are not always freezing, or catching cold and sneezing, and flu germs disappear. The winter's grim and dreary, it makes us sad and weary, it fills our bones with aches; but April is enchanting, and we begin our planting, and plying hoes and rakes. The winter's knell is tolling; and naught is more consoling than is the breath of spring; there's solace in its breezes, and men are simply cheeses who do not dance and sing. The tumble-bug is tumbling, the bumblebees are bumbling, the grass is getting green; this fact appeals to reason; there is no better season for burning gasoline. Oh, April is a hummer, she is the cheerful comer who gets the welcome sign; though sometimes wet and windy, inclined to raise a shindy, her curves are mostly fine. She shows that winter's ended, for she is not attended by snow and ice and sleet; with cold she's never stung us, and so she lands among us with both her queenly feet.

BUY ME AN ICE CREAM SODA, PLEASE

I'm truly sorry for the man
Who misses all such joys as these,
Who never hears and never can
From little lips their many pleas:
"Get me some chocolate candy, an"
Buy me an ice cream soda, please!"

Light-hearted people go and come
And pause before the shining shops,
They hear their children's: "Buy me some!"
"Oh daddy! There are lollypops!"
But no one begs him for a drum
Or horn or music-making tops.

Alone he walks the crowded streets
And looks at things he never needs,
The painted trinkets and the sweets,
The wooly dogs and colored beads,
But no gay little voice entreats,
And for such pleasures no one pleads.

He does not know the worth of gold
Who has no little girls or boys
To beg for everything that's sold,
For sugar buns and gaudy toys,
And he is doomed until he's old
To loneliness and selfish joys.

Give me the youngster at my side
Who begs for everything he sees,
Tin soldiers and a horse to ride,
And blue baloons to brave the breeze,
Who shouts, and will not be denied:
"Buy me an ice cream soda, please!"

Side Talks
By RUTH CAMERON

HOW WILL YOU CELEBRATE EASTER?

Today is Easter.

What are you going to do to celebrate it?

Surely something besides wear a new hat, and perhaps a new suit, and go to church and listen to beautiful music which has been provided for you.

Surely something besides putting an end to whatever self-denial you may have imposed upon yourself in Lent.

When one stops to think of it, one realizes that Easter is the greatest day in the Christian's calendar.

Just Think What Easter Means.

If it means anything at all to you, Easter means something tremendous—the anniversary of the day when for the first time immorality was proved to be a fact. If it were not for Easter, you would have no assurance that you were ever to see again those whom death has torn from your lives—but not your hearts.

If it were not for Easter, you would have no assurance that you yourself are to have another chance to redeem the failures and incompletenesses of this life.

Surely a new hat, extra fine music at church, and an excellent dinner, are not sufficient celebrations for anything so momentous as this anniversary.

A Celebration The Lord of Easter Would Approve

How then, should one celebrate, you ask?

Well, here's one suggestion:

Easter stands for life. Could there be a more beautiful celebration than to give life to those who, without your help, might lose it?

Yes, it is the same old plea, but I am not ashamed to be making it.

I had another Easter message written and I threw it aside, because I felt that this ought to be said—

Celebrate tomorrow by doing something in answer to the pleas that come to us from across the water.

It does not matter to whom you give. Nine out of every 10 children in Lille, France, show signs of tuberculosis, and the hospital that would fight it is short of funds. In Syria and Armenia, mothers must see their children drop of starvation or die of typhus, and have neither food nor medicine to give; and those who would help cannot help—all for lack of funds. In Belgium—but why go on? You knew the need. You probably have half a dozen appeals on your desk now.

Will You Not Be Happier?

Nor does it matter how much you give, so you give what you can honestly afford. Do not be afraid to offer any gift, however small; it may be big enough to save a life if it comes at the right time—which is now. You need not think of your gift as an individual thing, but as a unit multiplied by millions. All you need to do is your part.

But can you be happy this Easter if you do not do that? Can you sing "Hallelujah, Christ is Risen" if you have not celebrated the anniversary of His rising by some deed of which he would approve?

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SUNDAY, APRIL 4, 1920.

This is not a fortunate day, according to astrology. Uranus, Saturn and Mars are all in malefic aspect.

During this sway the mind is likely to obtain a distorted view of many important religious doctrines and political ideals.

Deception, which is supposed to be much easier when this rule prevails than at other times, may be apparent among leaders of thought who may easily deceive themselves at this time, the seers declare.

Saturn is in a place supposed to be exceedingly depressing to the old, who are likely to take the view that the present and the future are menacing to the welfare of the nation.

It has been often declared by astrologers that the period after the war begins a new era in which all that pertains to the order of things will pass away and this will be increasingly apparent in the autumn.

As part of the prophecy of the coming of the new era the prognostication that many famous men and women would end their life work has been fulfilled, but the number of distinguished scientists, statesmen and celebrities who will pass away in the next few months will greatly increase.

Crimes in connection with the postoffice may be numerous between this date and midsummer.

Great heat will drive crowds from the seaboard cities to summer resorts, and hotel proprietors will prosper greatly.

While the high cost of living may decrease in the next few months, it will not be appreciably less before the winter and may still be an issue long after the next president has been inaugurated.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a quiet year. Business will be satisfactory, if sufficient care is given to it.

Children born on this day may have rather eventful careers. These subjects of Aries usually find it difficult to save money.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

WHY?—

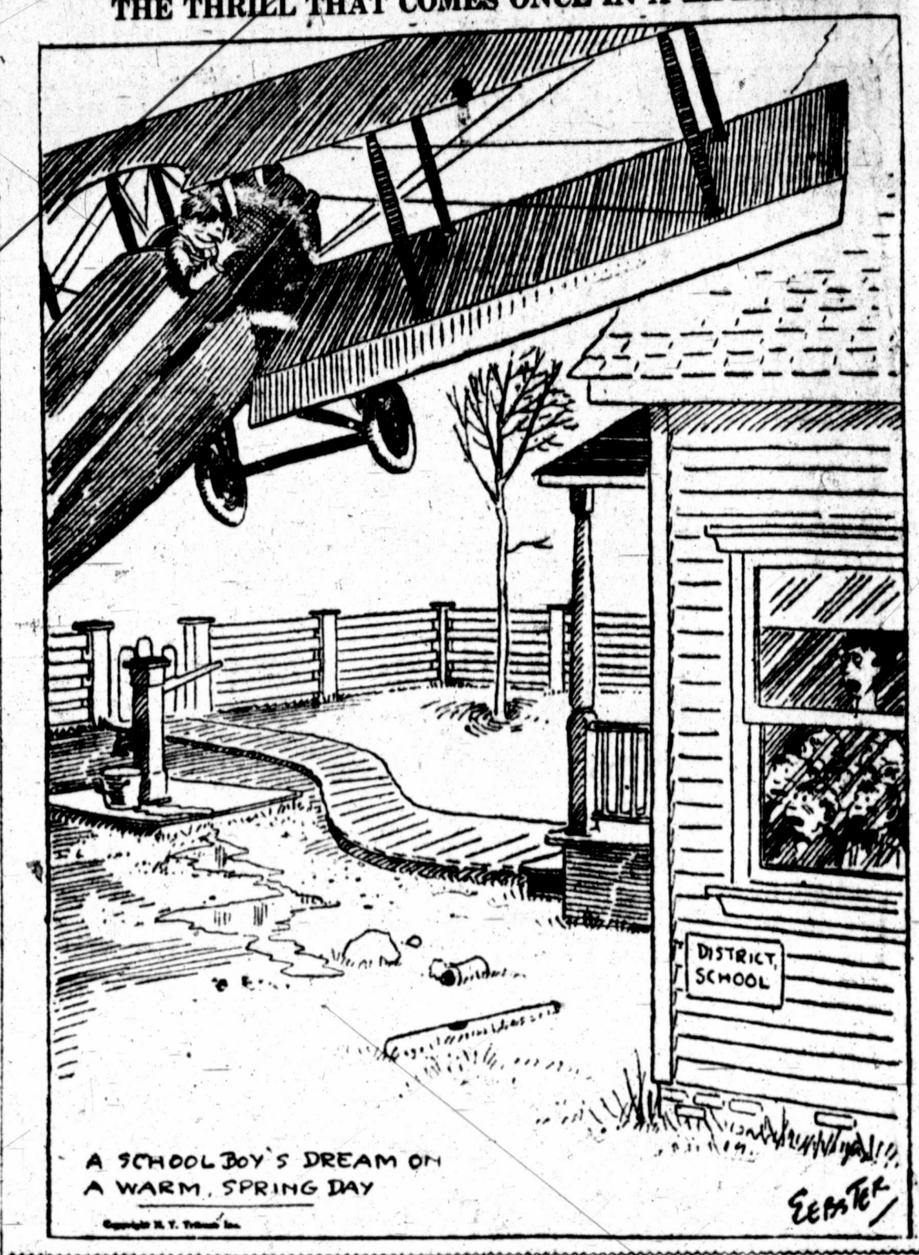

IS THE SEA SALT?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

All the water which flows into the ocean from the land contains salt in very small quantities Much of the water evaporates from the ocean because of the heat of the sun's rays, leaving the solid substances—including the salt—behind. But the amount of water in the sea remains practically the same at all times, because the evaporation is counter-balanced by the flow from the rivers and streams.

The water which is removed by evaporation falls again as rain, seeps into the earth, absorbs minute particles of salt and, through the medium of brooks and rivers, returns to the sea with its tiny cargo of salt—there to start the circle once more by evaporating and turning into rain. As this process has been going on for countless thousands of years, the ocean has gradually accumulated so much salt that the taste is now very pronounced and, in time, will become even more so.

CONFERENCE ON THE LABOR SITUATION TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Plans for a conference between representative committees representing local business men, the Wichita Falls Builders Exchange and the local labor unions at which time local conditions, especially industrial and labor conditions will be discussed, were formulated at a meeting of business men in the Chamber of Commerce Saturday night, the conference to take place at the Labor Temple on Wednesday night.

The purpose of the meeting, it is stated, is not to make any agreements which would be binding on any of the groups, but to bring about a meeting in order that the members of the various groups could become familiarized with the views held by the other groups.

The committee of business men will be named by J. A. Kemp, who was chairman at this meeting.

Keep the egg-yield up as mercury goes down

Hens that pay are hens that lay winter and summer. Poultry raisers estimate that an egg in winter is worth double its value in the spring. You can get maximum winter results from your hens by feeding
Purina Chicken Chowder with Purina Scratch Feed
—the perfect balance for laying hens. Hens fed grain alone make excess yolks, which cannot be laid. Notice the unlaid yolks in the next fat hen you dress. Corn, oats, barley, wheat, etc., are yolk forming and fattening feeds, and should be balanced with high protein ingredients to produce as many whites as yolks. Purina Chicken Chowder contains such white-forming ingredients as granulated meat, linseed meal, alfalfa flour, etc., that balance the grains in Purina Scratch Feed. When Purina Chicken Chowder is fed as directed with Purina Scratch Feed, we guarantee
More Eggs or Money Back.

One Texas County Dunn is the Name Very Much Lost

Wanted—One Texas county. Lost somewhere in the shuffle between legislative session of 1913 and 1919. Probably caught in gerrymandering or political rows over woman's suffrage, Jim Ferguson, Joe Bailey, or between the upper and nether millstones of the anti and the pros. Once clipped from Duval county but never placed on state map, road map, or any other map. Official name Dunn. Finder will receive suitable reward if reliable information is given Millar Burrows, College Station, director of rural survey for inter-church movement.

Some such an advertisement as this, might be inserted relative to Dunn county, as a state division of Texas which was once supposed to be partition from Duval county. Whether it ever existed is problematical. For as far as anyone has been able to find, the county was never organized, never had any officials, never had any reason for existence; and probably was never born except in the mind of some designing politician. Of course, in a state like Texas, an empire of itself with counties to spare, such a little thing as a lost county, is nothing unusual—perhaps. But from lack of information about Dunn county it was either under-done, over-done, or browned to a cinder. Perhaps it was volatilized and went up into the air. At any rate no record of its existence can be found, although it was supposed to have had something like 900 square miles of area. What facts were obtainable about this effervescent county were discovered by Mr. Burrows in attempting to make a survey of it for the inter-church movement. What we could find was a howling wilderness of sand dunes, a ranch or two; and a strangling population of Mexicans, coyotes and prairie dog towns. The county, if it ever existed, might come into prominence in oil litigation since the Benavides field is contiguous to where it once was, or is supposed to have been. It is not beyond the realm of fancy to imagine that this question of dunness, under-dunness, or over-dunness may be the subject of future litigation between claimants for oil leases that would rival the celebrated Sam Sparks and Tom Testerman litigation over the Northwest Burkburnett field and the Red River boundary.

Cole Aero-EIGHT

BALANCED TO ZERO

What vests the Aero-EIGHT with its unusual range of performance and enables it to operate with uniform efficiency and economy throughout its entire speed scope?

Those who have experienced the thrill of traveling in the air realize instantly why the Aero-EIGHT is so versatile.

Its working parts are synchronized. It never labors, never strains. Its operation is smooth, silent, vibrationless. For the Aero-EIGHT is balanced to zero.

The sensation of speed is cut in half. Traveling at 60 miles an hour seems like 30; 40 like 20 and at less it moves so evenly and quietly that one is hardly cognizant of its motion at all.

There's a peculiar fascination about the manner in which the Aero-EIGHT performs which is attributable to its peculiar balance.

TRADE MARK

In 1914 the Magnolia Petroleum Company, one of the most progressive and modern companies operating in the Southwest, purchased its first Wichita truck.

Today the Magnolia Petroleum Company owns about two hundred Wichita trucks.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company has a capital stock of $120,000,000.00.

Its success is founded on business methods and the proper ideals of modern business.

It buys those utilities needed in the conduct of its affairs that yield the best returns on the investments required.

In buying motor trucks, three things, aye four, should be taken into consideration.

The original cost.

The service the motor trucks will give.

The service the motor trucks will get.

The cost of up-keep and of maintenance.

Use these standards and you will find that the Wichita trucks will give you rounded and generous returns on all four points.

Wichita trucks have been on the market for nearly ten years.

Wichita trucks are made by the same company, under the same management, today that first made them nearly ten years ago.

Wichita trucks are today in use in seventy-five foreign countries, by far the widest distribution of any motor truck made anywhere on earth.

The Wichita Motors Company, makers of Wichita trucks, has factory branches, each with a complete stock of spare parts, located at Dallas, Fort Worth, Eastland, San Antonio, Shreveport, New Orleans, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, and Wichita, Kansas.

Distributors who have been connected with the company for many years maintain complete spare parts depots at Houston and Amarillo.

Millions of dollars worth of spare parts are always kept at the two modern factories of the Wichita Motors Company, one at Wichita Falls and one at Oklahoma City.

These factory branches and stocks of spare parts mean super-service for Wichita truck owners in the territory contiguous to the places named.

Wichita trucks are built to run; Wichita super-service insures that Wichita trucks in the Southwest are always kept in a condition to operate, at a minmum cost and with a minimum of delay.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks, Grain and Provisions, Cotton and Livestock.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, April 3.—Corn kited today to the topmost prices since last July. The switchmen's strike here made shorts increasingly anxious. Quotations at last were buoyant, 2¾c to 4¾c net higher with May $1.65⅞ to $1.64 and July $1.57⅞@$1.58¼. Oats gained ⅝c to 1⅛c and provisions 15 to 65 cents.

Possibilities that the railroad labor troubles in Chicago might assume much larger proportions were chiefly responsible for the growing strain today in the corn market. It was admitted on all sides that with transportation further handicapped the accumulation of any adequate stock corn here to fil current contracts would be very impossible. Predictions were also current that spring wheat acreage this year would be reduced instead of augmented. Under such circumstances, it was no surprise to witness prices at the last jump with something of a flurry.

Oats ascended with corn and brought the highest prices on record for immediate delivery, $1.01½ a bushel for No. 1 white.

Provisions were lifted by the strength of grain and hogs despite the big stock on hand.

Market Review

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 3.—The easter holidays reduced this week's dealings in the stock market to four sessions, but trading during that short period was characterized by considerable irregularity.

International conditions so far as they related to London, reflected further marked improvement but exchange on the allied countries, especially France and Italy, was conspicuously weak. Latest reports show that Britain's foreign trade is fast returning to pre-war volume.

Negotiations were said to be approaching completion for the organization of several credit companies to handle exports from this market. One of these will deal exclusively with metal, that industry, especially copper, already anticipating an extensive European demand.

The money market was again stringent as the result of the heavy calling of loans by local and interior banks to meet interest and dividend payments maturing at the opening of the year's second quarter. Call money ruled at 8 per cent but the supply of time funds was negligible.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, April 3.—Almost without stop prices of corn have risen for more than 50 successive days, the market this week has steadily aimed at the senith. Prospects that congress would declare a separate peace with Germany gave fresh impetus to the advance, and so too odid bullish estimates regarding winter wheat. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning showed net gains of 2⅝c to 5⅜c and oats of ½c to 2⅝c. Provisions, however, were down 15 to 65 cents.

Notwithstanding that arrangements to load with wheat fifty per cent of eastern cars at Chicago seemed to shut off any immediate prospect of a better outlet for coarse grain to the seaboard, no bearish effect worth mention developed in the corn market. On the contrary, the meagerness of the stock of corn here continued to frighten shorts.

Seeding delays strengthened oats.

With big supplies in warehouses provisions lacked support.

Evolution of Women From Clinging Vine to Financial Giants

CHICAGO, April 3.—It's going to be a soft life for the men in 1920. This was the prediction today of women who have invaded the field of finance and business based on bank deposits by the feminine sex in the last four years.

According to Mrs. H. C. Kleinsorger, in charge of the women's department of the Continental and Commercial bank here, the evolution of women from a clinging vine to financial giants is progressing rapidly and within a few generations women will take their stand with the men financiers. That woman's evolution will mean her supplanting the man and his relegation to bring a house husband is not entirely improbable, women said.

Banking deposits, according to reports today, showed women proportionately saving more money than men.

In the last four years the number of women depositors as well as the amount of savings has doubled, they showed.

So rapid is the increase of women's activities in the business world and so great is the business banks are now transacting with women that big banks have already established, or are preparing to establish, a separate department for women depositors.

FRANK P. GLASS RETIRES FROM NEWSPAPER GAME

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., April 3.—Frank P. Glass, for the last two years president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, and for 10 years vice-president and editor of the Birmingham News, has severed his connection with the News, his stock having been purchased by Victor H. Hanson, majority owner and publisher, and associates. A signed statement by Mr. Glass declares the severance of relations to be friendly.

Mr. Glass has been engaged in the newspaper business in Alabama for 40 years as owner of the Selma Times, then as half-owner and business manager of the Montgomery Advertiser, which position he resigned to take charge of the editorial department of the Birmingham News.

He announced that he has no plans for the future, but will take a long vacation to be spent in travel. Mr. Hanson announced the editorial policies of the News will be directed by himself, the managing editor and two assistant editors.

GENERAL OBREGON DENIES REPORT HE HAS BEEN ARRESTED

BROWNSVILLE, TEX., April 3.—General Alvaro Obregon, in Matamoros, Mexico, today in the interest of his candidacy for president of Mexico, said he had learned of a plot to take his life while he was in Tampico recently. When men in the plot came to his hotel in search of him, he said, he "happened to be away."

General Obregon denied reports that he had been arrested in Tampico, but said one of his speakers was detained for a time. He refused to go into details about recent happenings in the Tampico district in connection with his presence there. He and his party left today for Monterey.

German Potash

The potash product of Germany during last January amounted to more than 500,000 tons, which is the record figure. Improved industrial conditions are said to be responsible for this achievement.

Health authorities or Saranac Lake in New York declare that this probly is the first "flyless town" in the world Despite the unsually hot weather in June and July, there were scarcely any more flies in the town than most places have in January. It costs about $1000 to eradicate the fly nuisance, which was accomplished by requiring that manure be screened and frequently removed.

The city of Wichita Falls has all the earmarks to become a city of 200,000 people. Upon personal investigation we find the prices in Wichita Falls to be cheaper than anywhere else. There is not a piece of business property to be had at Crowell. At Seymour they are offering a piece of business property, which is now vacant for $20,000.00, and in taking into consideration the size and the pep these towns are offering, the prices in Wichita Falls certainly are cheaper. Vernon prices have soared, so that their prices are equally as high as ours, not taking into consideration that we are ten times as large.

Smaller colonial figures formed the favors, and the place cards were hand painted baskets of sweet peas hung over the water glasses. The guests progressed as each course was served. Lucy Gates Wins by "Long, Long Trail" of Relentless Work

"Some people have to live down a handicap—I have to sing down mine—I have to sing down the American name of Lucy Gates—it has been my greatest trial. If my name sounded like a French salad or ended in 'sky' I should have been welcomed with open arms; but being just only a plain ordinary every day American,—how untemperamental!"

Lucy Gates gave forth the foregoing as a bit of pessimism in retrospect, for the vivacious, brainy western girl has forged her way, via the "long, long trail" of hard, relentless, unremitting work to the very heights of recognition, before the war in Europe—since the war—in America.

Lucy Gates' manager, however, voices a quite opposite theory. "The war has brought about a big change in our sentiments. The day of the American musician—the real, first water variety, is at hand—and the more truly home spun their names and pedigree are, the more surely will they be acclaimed by our people." One critic absolutely epitomized it for Lucy Gates. He said: "Luck Gates—a name easy to remember—a voice hard to forget.' But Lucy Gates has a way of finding even that too long. She has that rare, peculiar and ingratiating faculty of being just "our Lucy" to those who have known her for a brief hour.

Next Thursday, April 8, when at the First M. E. Church South, for the first times we hear the noted American prima donna, who has time and again vied successfully against the most praised foreign luminaries, perhaps we, too, shall decide that for this plucky, cheery little compatriot we have that outstanding good will which will make her in Wichita Falls also "our Lucy."

LONDON IS ENJOYING THE EASTER SEASON

LONDON, April 3.—"Hot-cross buns, hot-cross-buns. One a penny, two a penny, The old woman runs."

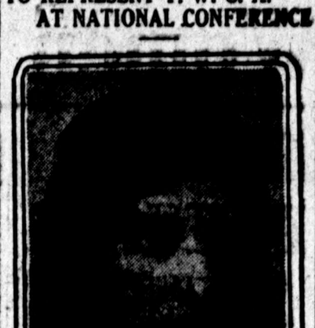

The old-time "hot-cross-bun" seller no longer rings a bell and runs to supply the common or garden bun with an "Easter cross" upon it, nor are there so many fancy-colored Easter eggs to be seen nowadays, but Britishers are celebrating the Easter holidays in the pre-war spirit.

The food comptroller, having removed certain restrictions, the time-honored custom of eating buns marked with a cross on Good Friday has been resumed and many hundreds of thousands of youngsters proceeded to ruin their digestions in the good old style all over Great Britain.

Industrial, commercial and official Britain broke off diplomatic relations with work yesterday and settled down to enjoy the Easter holidays. Today is a "bank" or national holiday, tomorrow is an unofficial holiday for banks only by royal proclamation in which the great majority of workers participate, and Monday is another official national "bank holiday." So the average worker ceased work from Thursday evening until Tuesday morning.

The religious side of the Easter festival was not neglected, for this morning the customary church services were largely attended; but the holiday spirit was everywhere. Many important football matches drew huge crowds both morning and afternoon, and despite the popular outcry against the high cost of living, financial troubles seemed to have been temporarily forgot, for the railway companies report record bookings of holiday-makers to the country and seaside.

"INFLUENCE OF THE GREAT WAR ON THE AMERICAN COMPOSER" IS SUBJECT OF INTERESTING PAPER

At the last meeting of the Musicians Club Mrs. Ruth Wheeler McKnight gave a paper, "Influence of the Great War on the American Composer," which has received much praise from those that heard it, so much in fact that it is desired to pass it on. The subject is a very timely one, and is handled thoroughly and artistically. It will be of much interest to the student of music, and to the lover of music, and follows in full.

"Has the war worked significant and permanent changes in our musical status as a nation Have we grown or shranken musically?

"No one would attempt to deny that the great war has had a most marked effect upon the attitude, at least, of the advantage American toward music, as an interest, as well as an art. The great need of the country, as a whole, to express its inspired patriotism and deep emotion during the world's self-sacrifice has resulted in a great awakening and appreciation of American music and the unlimited advantages of giving it greater expression and development.

"Many musicians devoted their entire careers to the great cause and succeeded in convincing the world that music is more than a mere luxury, but that it is a spiritual force of untold power, for it has made victorious armies, and individually and collectively we have gone forward in a spiritual direction along with our musical progress. We are finding ourselves musicall. We are realizing that we possess everything that enters into the making of a music-loving and music-making people. Music has become recognized to be of serious importance in advancing a harmonious outlook for it was soon found that not the light and trivial but the best and most serious music was most appreciated by the American soldier Out of this should come a wider and more general use of music as an essential part of our public education.

Can't Dream Under Shell-Fire.

"Joseph Bannard has said, 'You cannot dream under shell-fire'—creative, artistic ideals in many cases were sacrificed to the sterner moral and physical needs of the moment. Fred H. Martens writes, 'Patriotism is one of the noblest of the emotions, but as an inspiration to the composer, musically, it has not a great deal to show. We have, as a result of the world war, due to patriotic martial inspiration no more than a few art songs, a few notable symphonic and choral works. War does not stimulate the creation of great music. For even all the battle music ever written is empty in its programmatic thunders compared with one divinely inspired bit of pure music—a Mozart violin sonata, for instance! The world war however has not brought about a state of suspended animation in musical creation. 'Shanewis' was produced at the Metropolitan while the thunders of the German offensive vibrated in the Broadway air. New symphonic and choral works by American and European composers like Edgar Stillman Kelly's 'Pilgrim's Progress' hark back to the spiritual conflict of centuries past. Instead of the material conflict of the present so far the cause of music in this country has been aided purely by the munificence of such individuals as the late Mr. A. D. Juilliard, J. Pierpont Morgan, Joseph Pulitzer and others of equal prominence and generosity.

"But we are going to have a ministry of fine arts. We are going to have a national conservatory of music. We are coming to realize that the latest talent in this country for music, drama, the arts, is as much a national asset at the wealth that lies hidden in our mines, our fields, our forests.

Too Early for Optimism.

"It is too early yet for optimism as regards the influence the European war shall have on the composing of new music. The horror, the tears are still too vivid, the thing lies too near. But by and by, perhaps some one may arise who can write that heroic symphony or that wonderful opera in which the basis for our aesthetic enjoyment shall be what these others endured.

"But not now and not soon! William Arms Fisher, the editor-in-chief for the famous publishers, the Oliver Ditson Co., is interesting in his views on our American music. He says, "I believe solidly in the American composer and that his day has come, but (and it is a large but) he must stand squarely on his own feet, without crutcheles and be willin" to do so. MacDowell's attitude was healthy and manly. He wishes his music to appear only on programs which contained foreign as well as American music. And he shunned any especial consideration as an American. I know positively that publishers' doors are not closed to any one who has something to say and knows how to say it. There is a great deal of talent in this county but only the artist knows bow to use his ideas. The fundamental need in art is sincerity.

"Bernard Rogers is 'quite brutally frank' as he admits, 'Is there a great American composer? Name one (MacDowell possibly excepted) that can measure up to such artists as Whistler, Sargent, Emerson Poe, Saint Gaudens and others. Our composers today are industrious, fairly fertile and mediocre! Many are well-trained masters of modern technical resources, sincere, aspiring, possessing remarkably acute memories. Back to America they come, steeped in this or that tradition, stake out a studio—comes pleasant 'singable,' playable, sellable stuff—go idealism, vision, breadth, purpose. Not MacDowell nor yet Cadenan, has voiced the crude brave spirit that is America. Not one of them whose efforts I have heard has yet utiered music that marks him out as the mouth-piece of a strong people. The American composer has skill and patience—he is still without the grandest thing on long or sea—genius.

Query Is Propounded.

"Musical America in October, 1913, propounded this query to a group of leading men and women in the world of American music—impresario, composers, singers and players.

"'Is the present interest in American music and musicians temporary, due to conditions that will change, or have we come to the real assertion of our music independence?'

"Geraldine Farrar's reply condensed is, 'Out of the ravages of the present war has grown an influence which ought to be directed for great good in the musical life of America. An influx of musicians mainly Americans whose studies and engagements have been interrupted, but a great many artists of all nationalities also brings to light the great need for municipal opera that these artistic newcomers may be given an opportunity to express themselves to a music hungry people.'

William Wade Hinshaw does not think that any 'fair-minded person can truly say that our musicians are second to any in the world. All we need is to give opportunity at home for our own artists.'

"Gatti-Casagga makes this interesting statement, 'American composers in my opinion will have a wonderful opportunity after the war if they first will learn to take an absolute practical view of the limits and purposes of the theater. They must realize that the theater, of course including the opera, is to entertain—not to bore it.'

View of DeKoven.

"The late Reginal DeKoven expressed himself thus—'I believe this is the opportune moment for American music. A national that can send eighteen hundred thousand men to battle for an idea must surely rise above the sordid things and produce something great in art. The real beginning of American music was after the Spanish-American war when for the first time north and south combined for a common ideal. Although there has been much music in Aemrica there has been so far little distinctive American music and this very moment with its tremendous forces for unifying our country, will I hope give impetus not only to music but to other artistic endeavors. It is a moment full of hope.'

"As to German music, Mrs. H. H. A. Beach remarks, 'For many years the country was in bondage to the idea that music in order to be good must come from abroad especially from Germany. Little by little has come the change and the realization that good things were being produced here in our own land. At least there came the climax of separation from Germany. In time we shall regain our old love for the classics which belong to the world, more than to any one country, but our old slavery to a mistaken theory will be swept away into the 'limbo of forgotten things.' America's musical assertion of herself has come to stay.'

"The late Maud Powell's reply is interesting and distinctive—'Music shall in its process of democratization gain a great vitality and make a new place for itself in the world. It will be democratic—not aristocratic. It will strike between the eyes and find its way straight to elemental reaction in the heart—as Sousa's marches find their way thither through the toos! Out of all this in good time, say in several generations, we shall probably evolve a real school of national art, literature and music.

Martens and Rogers.

"In closing I quote again from Frederick H. Martens and Bernard Rogers:

"'But the voice is not yet. It is new and its newness cannot safely be intrusted to the old musical forms. What you have to do, you that remain, you that come after, is to weave, model and invent new forms of expression. Do this and you will get a hearing. We want no hymns of hate. What we want is a bold, free utterance—an utterance of our faith in the might of right, the sanctity of law, the sacredness of liberty. We are on the eve of some such work.'

"I do not despair of the American composer. He will come, he surely will come. He may be even now in our midst, articulate but unheard among the babel of shriller, shrewder voices. But I believe that he is on the way. His arrival will be of a piece with the new day that is ahead of America; a day bringing with it altered values, a spontaneous turning toward the yearning for things sensed, not touched. The hand of the material that has long estranged us from the spirit will at last be lifted. New currents will sweep through the land. When the hour sounds the right man is at hand and ready always. The American composer will arise like a giant. His song will be the chant of a people come at end to claim a glorious inheritance."

DOUGLAS MAC LEAN AND DORIS MAY AT EMPRESS

Doris May and Douglas MacLean will be the attraction at the Empress theater for two days beginning Monday in a screen version of the stage play, "What's Your Husband Doing?" The picture is described as a rollicking comedy about young husbands and wives and a grand mix-up at a lively roadhouse.

Miss May has the role of Beatrice Ridley, newly married and suspicious of the notes which her husband gets every morning from "Honeysuckle Inn." She consults Douglas MacLean in the role of John Widgast, a lawyer, and they resolve to investigate. In the meantime, the wives of Widgast and Pidgeon, his partner, have become jealous of the divorce business which their spouses find necessary to talk over with pretty co-respondents and other designing creatures.

The real reason for young Ridley's letters are that he owns a share in the inn and is trying to sell it out. On the same evening that he goes to close the deal, taking Pidgeon with him to draw up the papers, Widgast and the lawyers' wives and Beatrice also appear at the roadhouse. And to cap the climax, the place is raided by the police. Matters are cleared up the next morning in a police court in a most amusing fashion.

The film, which was produced by Thomas H. Ince, is said to provide a fine vehicle for these youthful stars, who have already established themselves in high favor with screen fans.

"SEALED HEARTS" AT THE PLAZA THEATER MONDAY

"Sealed Hearts" the second Selznick picture in which Eugene O'Brien is starring, will open at the Plaza theater Monday for two days. Of noteworthy interest in this production is the brilliancy of the cast which supports this popular star, it being headed by Robert Edeson on the one side and on the feminine side by Lucile Lee Stewart. Miss Stewart, it will be remembered, played a prominent role in "The Perfect Lover," which recently showed here.

Since Mr. Edeson achieved his phenomenal success on the stage as the star in "Strongheart," his name has been one to conjure with in matters dramatic. His long and varied stage career includes an interesting and predominatingly successful series of "legitimate" productions, recently culminating in "The Good Bad Woman" and these successes have raised him to one of the highest niches in the theatrical Hall of Fame.

In all of his stage ventures, Robert Edeson has been starred, just as he has been starred heretofore in practically all his screen plays and his presence at the head of Eugene O'Brien's support in "Sealed Hearts" is, therefore, indicative of the high plane on which this photoplay has been produced.

"THE BEAUTY MARKET" AT MAJESTIC WEDNESDAY

The plight of those who attempt to wedge themselves into society's circle when their finances are meager is shown in "The Beauty Market," Katherine MacDonald's second production for First National Exhibitors' circuit, and which will be seen at the Majestic theater Wednesday and Thursday.

As Amelie Thorndike, Miss MacDonald takes the part of a girl who is hopelessly entangled in a net-work of debts and indifferent love affairs in an expensive society set. Amelie's poor finances make it imperative for her to marry a wealthy man if she is to continue with the people she has been accustomed to.

The Way Society Pays.

Ashburton Gaylord, a wealthy munitions manufacturer, points out the way. He is in love with Amelie and promises her the real financial backing which she has lacked during the most of her society career. Amelie accepts a platinum brooch for an engagement present, knowing that she must pawn this present to society's Uncle Isaacs in order to meet bills which her creditors are enraged about.

Amelie is ready to take the gift to Uncle Isaacs when Capt. Kenneth Laird, millionaire and soldier, induces her to avoid embarrassment and pawn the gift to him. He gives her a check for $1,500 for the brooch not knowing that it is an engagement present.

A reporter for a society scandal sheet serves to discredit Amelie with Gaylord and involves Captain Laird in a distasteful scandal. Gaylord rushes to the apartment of Laird intent on vengeance, when events take a sudden and unexpected turn, and Amelie confronts a new kind of marriage game wherein she is compelled to give as well as receive.

Charles Ray heads Monday's and Tuesday's bill at the Majestic, starring in a Thomas H. Ince Triangle production entitled "The Hick." It is a comedy drama of a country boy who enters school in a college town.

ALL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR THE CITY ELECTION TUESDAY

With only one contested place on the ticket, all preparations are made for the municipal election on Tuesday, at which time Wichita Falls will name the administration which is to put in operation the new form of city government prescribed in its recently adopted new charter.

Walter D. Cline, who heads the ticket, is unopposed for mayor, having the endorsement of practically every faction of which the local citizenship is composed.

Four names appear on the ballot for places as aldermen, three of which are to be elected, two to fill regular vacancies and one to fill an unexpired term.

The two leading candidates will presumably fill the full terms, and the third highest the unexpired terms. The four candidates are W. S. Curlee, M. A. Bundy, W. N. Bonner and J. A. Wray.

TO DISCUSS BAILEY AND ADMINISTRATION AT THE OPEN FORUM

The open forum conducted in the Labor Temple each Monday evening will tomorrow night stage a debate on the pros and cons of the democratic administration or for or against Wilson or Bailey.

The committee in charge were taking questions of speakers up with the different campaign chairmen of the administration and Bailey forces Saturday and if conveniently arranged speakers for both Wilson and Bailey or for or against either will be those designated and assigned by the chairmen of the campaign forces of the city and county.

It is anticipated that in any event there will be competent timber available to support and attack each side and if the performance or the discussion runs true to typical Bailey gatherings, as many in the state have, there ought to be an entertaining display of both heavy and light artillery on both sides, with perhaps a few depth bombs and aerial warfare to lend variety to the eulogies and condemnations that may be expressed.

Those not familiar with the alleged sins of both commission and omission of the contending forces would do well to attend this meeting open to the general public and scheduled to begin promptly at 8:00 p. m. in the auditorium of the Labor Temple Monday evening.

AMERICAN KITCHENS TO REMEMBER HOMES

VIENNA, April 3.—Every child fed at the American kitchens tomorrow will be given a loaf of cake to take home to its family for the Easter dinner. One hundred and fifty thousand loaves will be distributed enabling thousands of children to taste cake for the first time in their lives.

Bibles for Fighting Men

Perhaps nothing better shows the cosmopolitan character of the present war than some fighters that the British and Foreign Bible Society recently published. Since the war began the society has distributed for use by friend and foe, in trench, doug-out prison camp, barrick-room, battleship and hospital, more than six million books in sixty languages.

The world applauds men for fighting for what they want, but let a woman use her natural weapons—beauty and wits—in her struggle for position and her share of this world's goods and —oh! how the prudes and moralists condemn her!

CALL FIELD

Civic League

The last meeting of the Community Club was held during an intermission of the April first dance and plans were made to change the name and organization to that of a branch Civic League. The dance was a most pleasant social affair which was enjoyed by all present; several nurses from the Methodist hospital attended and expressed their intention of making themselves a part of the social circle on the field. It is certain that from now on the social events will be largely attended, the young men will all be there and the wives of the married men are sure to attend.

During an intermission in the dancing, President Fitzimmons called the club to order and introduced Miss Webster, superintendent of the hospital, who told the club of the work of the Civic League of Wichita Falls and made the suggestion that a branch organization be formed on Call Field. Miss Webster heartily commended the work of the Community Club and congratulated the people of Call Field on the start that had been made along the lines of community interest. She said that this movement was directly in line with social activities all over the country and that by all means the hall which is now available for social gathering should be retained for the use of the people of the field. The discussion which followed showed that the members of the club desired to broaden its activities so that it would include not only the social life of the field but also all matters which would make living at Call Field pleasanter and better for the citizens. Upon the motion of Mrs. Dr. Gillen it was voted to change the name of the organization and make it a branch of the Civic League of Wichita Falls. A committee was appointed by the chair with Miss Webster as chairman to make plans for this change and call another meeting as soon as these plans were ready.

The members of the club have been invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Civic League next Tuesday and a number of the ladies plan to motor to town for that purpose. Those who do attend are to plan the organization of the new club and present these plans at the meeting which is called for Wednesday night at 9 o'clock in the Community House. It is thought that by-laws can be adopted at this time and officers and committees appointed.

Call Field Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Fennessy of quarters 21C are being congratulated on the birth of a son. Miss Keene is the nurse in charge.

Dr. Gillen is visiting his son in quarters 29C. The younger Dr. Gillen is heavily interested in the Emerick Oil Co., which has recently developed a large production in the George tract of the Northwest Extension.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans and son, Robert, and Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson were visitors at the Sheldon quarters this week. Dr. Atkinson was a major on the field during the war and was in charge of the hospital. Mr. Evans was the supply officer at Call Field during 1918 and 1919.

Mr. Berry and family have moved into the city.

Lt. DeMontel has vacated his quarters and moved to town. This was in response to an order received from the owners requiring him to either leave or pay back charges for light and water. Lt. DeMontel was the adjutant on Call Field during the war and claims that he was told that no charge other than his rent would be made until notice was given. Rather than be forced to submit to the alleged unjust charges, he left the field. He is at present adjutant of the Carrigan Post of the American Legion.

Garments That in Superiority of Cut, Finish and General Style Add Emphasis To Baum and Gardner Fashion Prestige

COLOR—LIFE—INDIVIDUALITY—these are the high notes of fashion for the season of spring, nineteen-twenty. When the great style creators of Europe began to make their designs, they turned their faces to the Far East, and then to Spain, with the result that today if one is to be fashionable one must also be picturesque.

GOWNS that glitter with beads and gleam with bright embroideries, with skirts tucked in to simulate harem trousers; wide sashes that wind slimly about the hips; boleros and zouave jackets over softly frilled vestees; sleeves that end above the elbows—and everywhere—color—color.

SUITS that also reveal the influence of the Orient and the Spain of the old masters, with skirts that narrow toward the bottom and smartly cut box coats over brilliant blouses or vestee. With scores of other suits that conform to today's newest idea of tailoring, with perfectly cut finger-tip length coats and slim, straight skirts that fit to satisfy the most particular.

COATS AND WRAPS that enfold you luxuriously, falling in long, slender lines of grace, developed in silks and wools whose textures are beautiful beyond description, many enriched with deep silk fringes, bands of fur, accordion plaitings and radiantly smart silk linings.

SPORTS AND STREET COATS too, in many models of fashionable cut, including the soft, ever-so-durable camel's hair polo models, for women and misses.

HATS that happily express the inspirations of Paris, chosen personally by our own buyer from the shops of Evelyne Varon, Lewis, Marguerite et Leonie and others equally distinguished.

WHAT MR. GOMPERS WOULD DO IF HE WERE AN EMPLOYER; TEN QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED

Placing himself in the position of an employer of labor, Samuel Gompers, except for one year president of the American Federation of Labor since 1882, in article which will appear in the April number of System, answers 10 questions propounded to him by Samuel Crowther, a writer for that publication.

In Mr. Crowther's article it is stated that the answers are surprising, that they differ totally from the usual conception of the union relation, and the writer says that never before has he seen unionist principles so clearly stated in the simple terms of everyday business affairs.

Samuel Gompers' way of looking at the business man's labor problems is a viewpoint in which there is much interest, and with that in the mind the editors of System, one of whom, Neil M. Clark, managing editor of Crowther to visit Mr. Gompers and ask him the 10 questions which are given below with his answers.

* * *

HOURS AND PAY.

1. Would you have the relation between you, as an employer, and your employes personal or purely one of the bargain and sale through a collective agreement or would you endeavor to have both?

"I regard the human equation as the largest concern of business and I think that the only way to acquite the truly personal relation on a man-to-man basis is to arrange the basic hours and pay through a bargain with a responsible union body, for then there is no question of goodness on the part of the employer or of contentment on the part of the employe. The parties meet as buyers and sellers on a level plane and because each has something that the other wants there is no reason on earth that their bargain can not be carried through with the same dignity, with the same mutual satisfaction, and with the same fairness of aim on the part of both sides that makes a present-day bargain between business men the beginning of a relationship.

"We have 100 people or so in the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor, all of whom are working under my general direction, and I do not think that it would be possible to have a more cordial relation than exists between us. They not only do endeavor to anticipate my wishes in every respect and quite frequently do more than I want them to do.

"If I were an employer of general labor I should expect to bargain in the fairest possible spirit and I believe that I should receive fair service in return. Once we remove the union's suspicion of the employer and the employer's suspicion of the union, there is nothing in the world to prevent the most cordial relation.

"The interests of the employer and the employe are in no sense identical. Do not confuse that point. They have not an identity of interest, but they have a co-operation of interest—that same co-operation of interest which exiss beween a manufacurer and his best customer.

"Therefore, as an employer, if my men were not organized, I should insist upon their organization and I should put the matter of basic wages and hours out of the way through a collective agreement and should go on promoting the true idea that we are all associates in the same enterprise but approaching from somewhat different standpoints.

QUESTIONS?

1—Would you have the relation between you, as an employer, and your employes personal or purely one of the bargain and sale through a collective agreement, or would you endeavor to have both?

2—What relation would you officially have with the union? In other words, would you have anything in the nature of an advisory committee composed of the union officers and the company officers?

3—In what manner would you regulate the number of men to be employed, the tenure of employment, and would you call upon the union to aid in affecting such a program of production so as to avoid seasonal work and insure 12 month's output?

4—How would you arrange wages?

5—Would you evolve wage scales, which carried with them bonuses, either individual or departmental?

6—Would you put the question of so-called scientific management up to the men and let them by their own committees with the assistance of production engineers evolve the best methods?

7—Would you put the matter of hiring and firing in the hands of a committee and an employment manager or would you fix the responsibility upon the union?

8—Would you endeavor to have any kind of committee or association among your employes who would discuss with you the ways and means for bettering the business?

9—Presuming that you have evolved a system of harmonious working with the unions, what would you do in the case of a sympathetic strike?

10. Would you further any community effort in the way of co-operative amusement, co-operative housing, savings or the like, where a distinct economy might be had by clubbing together?

CONFIDENTIAL RELATIONS.

2. What relation would you officially have with the union—that is, would you consult with them on business affairs that touch labor, and would you place with them for their own confidential inspection a full record of your financial transactions? In other words, would you have anything in the nature of an advisor, committee composed of the union officers and the company officers?

"I should, without doubt, consult frequently with the union heads and I should put before them my financial transactions, not, however, with the notion that whatever I have done is the best under the circumstances, but with the view of obtaining their co-operation to see if the one best way can not be achieved. For instance, I should not ask the union to lower their minimum standard of wages and living so that I might obtain contracts at a price lower than my competitors.

"In order to obtain increased operating efficiency I should call in the union heads just as I should call in an industrial engineer.

"There is an impression that the unions are against machinery, are against the better ways of doing business, are against scientific management, and in favor of stringing out every job to the greatest possible extent. That is not the attitude of the American labor movement. I am in favor of every possible mechanical device that can substitute for human labor, but if the employer looks at his machine solely as an instrument to take employment from men, he is bound to fail just as are the workers who oppose the machinery because it is going to cost them their jobs. That is the shortsighted view.

"A good illustration of the proper way to handle a situation of this kind was given by the printing trade. When the linotype came in, it was undoubtedly the idea of the printers to displace the hand compositors and and substitute girls. The unions met the situation fairly and so did the employers when the facts were presented to them. The employers realized that it would not be fair to throw out the men who had spent years in learning hand composition, that they were entitled to employment at decent wages, and that their skill would make the mechanical typesetters far more valuable than if the machines were regarded as substitutes and not as aids to better and more intelligent man-production. In consequence we have seen the whole printing trade expand perhaps a hundred times since the introduction of typesetting machines and similar devices, simply because these machines were regarded as additions to intelligence.

"It is frequently said that there is no place for the unskilled man in the union organization and that, therefore, an employer in negotiating with unions is negotiating only with the more skilled and presumably the more intelligent labor and that this is essentially unjust to the unskilled man. It is my contention that every job is the better for bringing skill to it and that, although at one time it was correct to say that the unions found no place for the unskilled man, that is no longer true today.

"I should not only endeavor to have all of my employes organized, but I should want to have them organized in such a way that I might, as an employer, consult with their representatives on constructive policies and not confine the consultation merely to differences. This constructive side has undoubtedly been neglected.

* * *

ON GETTING PRODUCTION.

3. In what manner would you regulate the number of men to be employed, the tenure of employment, and would you call upon the union to aid in effecting such a program of production so as to avoid seasonal work and insure 12 months output—that is, continuous employment? This would involve many large questions of procedure and would include the consideration of working hours. How would you arrange the quantity and quality of the work done, and in general what the union is delivering under the collective bargain? Could you shift responsibility to the union for the delivery by the men of production rather than of mere presence?

"The answers to all of these various questions grow out of the adoption of a proper system of planning which will insure a full year's work. Seasonal work is the curse of American industry. It demoralizes both the employer and the employe. The employer gets in the habit of shutting down the moment that sufficient work is not afforded and the employe is continually harrassed by a feeling of uncertainty and is easily led away into the delusion that by soldiering on the job he can prolong it. Here is a point in which the interests of the employer and the employe are not in conflict and where their best brains can well be pooled to take advice with production engineers for the planning of the work in such a way as to avoid slack seasons.

"It must be said to the credit of the Germans that in the greater number of their industries they did avoid seasonal work. It is to the decredit of our industry that in very few occupations is the employment at all constant. This is a very proper subject for the unions to co-operate upon with the employers' associations or with the individual employers—on the basis, however, that the last thing to be considered is shutting down the plant. With the growth of cost accounting, employers are beginning to realize that plant closing is a most expensive procedure, that manufacturing is not merely an adjunct to selling and that the two have to coordinate and co-operate.

"It will develop that both profits and wages are too low because of the excessive waste of seasonal business. If capital and labor will openly co-operate to war upon waste they will both find it far more profitable than warring upon each other.

"I am in favor of putting more and not less responsibility upon the workers themselves and upon their union representatives. As an employer I should expect my employes to give me in return for their wages the fair value in work that we had agreed upon. If this fair return was not given then I should hold the union strictly responsible, and if the local officers should be derelict in respecting that responsibility then I should go to the highest authority of the American labor movement. If I considered that my labor agreements had become inequitable, I should want to have them equitably revised. Nobody can resonably expect to succeed with a cut-throat policy."

SHOP COMMITTEES.

4 How would you arrange wages? Would you have a wage committee or a shop committee and would you regard the union scale as a uniform dead level or as a minimum wage for that class of work, as, for instance, in the case of piece-work? Would you arrange with the union to guarantee the union scale, paying those who exceed that scale in proportion to their excess and firing those who do not come up to the scale? This would, in effect, be to regard the union day wage as merely a guaranteed minimum and then the wage itself would be based upon performance.

"The union wage is a minimum wage and it is arrived at as being in the nature of a safeguard against paying a man of a certain skill less than a certain amount for his day. But however erroneous may be some of the opinions on the subject, wages are paid out of the production and out of nothing else. Therefore, those who, in the name of unions, oppose the introduction of better methods of work are catering to ignorance and not to union principles.

"As an employer I should endeavor to distinguish between the union organization which is for the purpose of bettering society and those organizations which falsely call themselves unions and which exist for the avowed purpose of destroying society as we now know it and supplanting it with communism.

I am decvidedly in favor, wherever it is possible, of measuring the wage exactly by performance and of treating the union wage as a guaranteed minimum. If the standards were fixed by the men themselves or by the union officers, they would be fairly fixed, and those men who could not attain these mutually agreed upon standards would very properly be discharged. Under such a mutual arrangement the length of the work day could be easily adjudicated on the facts, which is, after all, the only way that it can fairly be settled.

WAGE SCALE, BONUSES.

5. Would you evolve wage scales which carried with them bonuses, either individual or departmental, based upon the fact that after a certain production is exceeded, then the overhead charge becomes so much lower per unit of production that a considerable increase in wages may be made?

"This question I have already answered in the previous question. I should expect to share with my workers the increased benefit of large production, letting them know fully by arrangement with their committees just what it was we were sharing and why we were sharing it. The rates thus arranged would put a real premium on honest, active work and remove every possible difficulty in the way of higher and ever higher production. The idea of limiting production is a very pernicious one, but production will be limited until the two parties to higher production learn to co-operate."

• • •

THEIR OWN MANAGEMENT.

6...Would you put the question of so-called scientific management up to the men and let them by their own committees with the assistance of production engineers evolve the best methods, or would you accept the ideas as exemplified in the English unions that there is only one way of doing anything and that is the way it has been done?

"Only out of production can we all grow prosperous and every aid to production that does not involve human waste is a benefit to society. If the added production is gained at the cost of a human being then it does not help society, because even from a cold standpoint of economics it tends toward over-production by destroying in the very making of the product those who would directly or indirectly buy that product. Whatever are the evils in the distribution of the products of work (and there are many of them), those evils are not going to be cured by producing less.

"I think that scientific industrial instruction can best be given and possibly can be given only in co-operation with the workers and with committees of the workers so that none will have to work blindly. I am quite sure that the assurance that the improvement of methods will be for all will invite the most active co-operation on the part of the union officers.

"As an employer I should discriminate between the union organized for work and the organization falsely called a 'union,' which is organized to prevent work."

• • •

HIRING AND FIRING.

7. Would you put the matter of hiring an dfiring in the hands of a committee and an employment manager or would you fix the responsibility upon the union?

"This vexed question I should leave to an employment manager acting in consultation with the union, for in this way the fairest results may be secured. The turnover of labor is one of our most serious industrial problems and it has frequently come to my notice, this time speaking not as an employer but as president of the American Federation of Labor, that employment agencies have contributed to a very considerable degree to abnormal turnovers. In the past it has been not at all infrequent for foremen or superintendents to share in the fees paid to the employment agencies for jobs.

"It then became to the interest of these officials to have just as many men as possible hired or fired.

• • •

ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

8. Would you endeavor to have any kind of committee or association among your employes who would discuss with you the ways and means for bettering the business and all who are associated with it without regard to what any other business is doing, and how would you avoid having these committees degenerate into merely legalistic bodies discussing and making rules as in England?

"Which is something that every employer might well bear in mind."

"I think it has been very well demonstrated by the English experience that the works committee as a whole is a failure and that far better results can be attained by union co-operative committees for specific objects.

"Where the industry as a whole is concerned it is to the advantage of both the employer and the employe that the minimum standards at least should be everywhere maintained. The matter of committees is not particularly complicated if we regard them not as a substitute for management but as an aid thereto and assign to each definite and not merely roving functions. They will not become merely legalistic quibbling bodies if they are operated in a spirit of fair play.

• • •

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE.

9. Would you further any community effort in the way of co-operative amusement, co-operative housing, saving or the like, where a distinct economy might be had by clubbing together?

"As an employer I should encourage my employes to form every possible kind of society which would add to their comfort, their education their pleasure, or their well-being, provided always, however, that these societies could be organized by the people themselves and managed solely by them without interference from above. I am in favor of every such organization of employes and against every organization which is paternal in its scope or which is designed to hold the worker to his job by mixing up with that job something in addition to the job itself. For instance, savings schemes fostered by the employer and managed by him wherein the employe loses unless he remains a certain length of time, have nothing to commend them. Savings should be voluntary and managed from the outside.

10. Presuming that you had evolved a system of harmonious working with the unions, what would you do in the case of a sympathetic strike?

"A sympathetic strike is absolutely against the principles of the American Federation of Labor. It has nothing to do with constructive union labor and is a weapon evolved by the anti-trade unionists to pave the way for the general strike with which they hope to destroy the present basis of society."

FORM PARTNERSHIP IN REAL ESTATE BUSINESS

Joe DeBerry and Ford Albritton have formed a partnership to engage in the real estate and insurance business, and have taken offices on the second floor of the new National Bank of Commerce building. Both the partners in the new firm are old hands at the real estate game and long-time residents of Wichita Falls, with a large acquaintanceship and a thorough knowledge of real estate values. Before forming the partnership each was in the real estate business for himself, and the new combination therefore gives them a very valuable list of properties and a large clientele.

The firm will handle all kinds of real estate and insurance, as well as farm lands and oil properties.

JOHN BURROUGHS HOST TO PERSONAL FRIENDS

NEW YORK, April 3.—John Burroughs, dean of American nature writers, today varied the quiet routine of his life at "Yama Farms" on the Hudson, near West Park, by inviting a number of friends to help him observe his 83rd birthday. Among those invited were Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford.

LAW PROVIDES THAT COUNTIES OF TEXAS MAY HAVE LIBRARIES

Austin, Tex., April 3.—The county library system as recently provided for by state legislation is a co-operative venture, which promises much to those counties which adopt it. There is no doubting the fact that valuable to all ages and occupations access to specialized literature is in of life and that in the majority of cases such literature is not available. At present there are fewer than 100 public libraries in the whole of Texas, all of which are located in cities and larger towns. This leaves immense areas which are unprovided for and which would be served with the installation of the county library system.

The provision states that if petitioned by as many as 100 resident taxpayers, the commissioners' court in any county shall call an election for the levying of a tax which shall not exceed 5 cents on $100. This tax goes for the maintenance of the county library, which is to be located at the county seat with branches operating in other towns and school districts and is to be presided over by a trained librarian.

It is not the aim of the county library to eliminate other public libraries. Not only will it serve heretofore unreached communities, but it will work in co-operation with libraries already existing. The farmer, the housewife and the schools will be especially represented in the selection of literature. There is the possibility that each of these will be peculiarly benefited, the school probably most of all.

Since the buying of books is under a single permanent management, there will be no duplications such as is too frequently found in high school libraries. Moreover, since the books are bought in large quantities they may be obtained more cheaply and in greater numbers than would otherwise be possible. The selection of these books is to be made by the trained librarian in consultation with the teachers. Thus there will be no chance for the introduction of unsuitable or useless books. The county libraries will be overhauled each year and out-of-date matter will be replaced by the most recent. Also, it is highly probable that a system of exchange can be worked out, whereby endless variety of books may be had.

Texas will not be the first state to adopt a system of county libraries. In California, more than two-thirds of the counties are at present actually using such libraries. A total of 2,890 branches and 2,695 school volumes are employed. California and other states have found this system a workable and valuable one. Educators in Texas believe that the system will be especially valuable to this state on account of its extensive area and comparatively undeveloped educational facilities. The initiative, however, must come from the voters themselves.

DISCLOSE THE OPERATION OF A BAND OF ORGANIZED THIEVES IN OIL FIELD

Investigations carried out during the past three days by county officials has disclosed the operations in Wichita Falls oil regions of a gang of clever thieves who have specialized in theft of oil field machinery. Two men have been arrested as the result of the investigations and it is understood that several others are implicated in the matter. Two youths arrested Saturday have been lodged in the county jail. It is alleged that they were implicated in the theft of a large supply of pipes consigned to points in the oil fields.

WHY MEN MARRY

By JANE DIXON.

"A man marries because he believes he has found the woman who can answer, satisfactorily, his search for happiness." — JOSEPHINE DASKAM BACON.

Another logical reason why men invest in plain gold and rings.

Sound logic, too. They are all sound, these answers to a very pertinent question by women who write and who, as successful story weavers, must be fairly close to the human heart.

Josephine Daskam Bacon, whose wit is of the caliber of a Toledo blade and who manages to see the whimsical side of life with a clarity which permits her to tell it amusingly to others, "boo-ed" the question of men and marriage when it was put to her.

"Men marry because—because—why because they marry, of course," she said, seeming to surprise herself with the futility of her answer.

"But you must have some one or some few special reasons why they commit matrimony," I protested.

"I haven't the remotest idea," insisted Mrs. Bacon. "They simply do it, that's all."

"There must be a cause before there can be an effect," I reminded my hostess, planting my cup of tea firmly on the table and conveying, subtly I hope, that a woman who has graduated with flying colors from Smith College should at least acknowledge the law of cause and effect.

"Yes, yes,—of course," brightly.

"And inasmuch as you are marrying off men and women and folks regularly in your stories, you must have some notion why you escort them to the altar," I continued.

A sigh of relief from Mrs. Bacon and the merriest sort of a laugh. The trap door was open and she was able to effect an escape through her books.

Never Thinks of Story Loves.

"I never think of the marriage ceremonies I perform—in my stories," she confessed. "They just seem to happen in the natural sequence of events.

"Come to ponder the question, I believe men marry because they find, or think they have found, their complement.

"We are all more or less selfish in this business of life. What we want more than anything else on earth is happiness. Happiness is the great unfinished quest.

"So then, when a man meets a girl or a woman who appeals to him physically, mentally, socially, financially, artistically, or in any of the varied dominos in which femininity cloaks itself, he is like a young colt in a green pasture. What those tender blades of grass are to the browsing colt the promise of happiness through marriage and the right mate is to a man.

"It is a wholesome selfishness, this quest for happiness on the part of marriageable man. It is the driving force which founds homes, builds cities, propagates presidents and perpetuates the race.

"The girl or woman who promises the greatest return in happiness to a man is the one he is most anxious to marry. Failing to capture the first prize, he will try for the second, the third, and so on through the list of desirables.

"There are men who seek their happiness mate in matrimony once and only once. Love will admit of no substitute. Having been disappointed in the one great promise, they go on down the western way—alone.

"'Why doesn't he marry?' asks the world, wagging its wise old head. How little the world knows of scars on lonely hearts?

There is the other type of man, the one who marries frequently and with astounding ease. Phoenixlike, his hope rises from the ashes of love and matrimony to wing in the wake of new and fruitful promises."

Man and his complement—the woman.

I asked Mrs. Bacon who, in her opinion, was the most complete complement of any man

Marry an Opposite.

"His opposite," was the quick and decisive reply.

"The finest violin, the most exquisitely tuned, the handsomest wrought, is useless without a bow to string out the music imprisoned in its heart. One might duplicate the sensitive strings, the delicate bridge, the graceful case, but until there was a satisfactory bow the instrument is useless, incomplete for melody.

"So it is with man. The right woman intensifies, accentuates every good thing in him. She brings out possibilities he never dreamed he possessed. She is the other half of his happiness equation.'

"Then you do not believe persons who are alike in tastes and temperament and abilities should marry?" I asked.

Mrs. Bacon sent a swift, comprehending glance from her dark eyes, with the stars of humor twinkling in their thoughtful depths.

"At the risk of being submerged beneath a surf of infuriated howls," she nodded. "I go on record as saying like should not marry like.

"A man with a bad liver, for instance, has no business marrying a woman with chronic Bright's disease.

Josephine Daskam Bacon, author and philosopher, advises man to seek Wedded happiness in his opposite and so avoid marital catastrophe.

Each will be so absorbed in individual aches and pains that neither will have sympathy or tolerance for the other. Husband and wife will be like two garrulous patients who had just enjoyed the same operation, trying to out-talk each other.

"A tremendously serious man should not marry a woman without a smile in her system. Every day would be blue Monday in such a home. A frivolous man who marries a butterfly has one chance in a million to escape falling into the mire of mediocrity, or, worse still, of failure.

"It is a mistake for a lawyer to marry a lawyer, for an artist to mate with an artist, a business woman with a business man. There is too much ego in the humn alchemy to bear the test. One or the other makes too frequent and fervid use of the pronoun 'I.' The other resents playing second fiddle in this domestic symphony. The result is a discord that seeps out and strikes the ears of friends, lightly at first, gradually resounds through the world at large and winds up with an earsplitting crash in some court or other.

"A solemn man needs a lighthearted woman, to flood his heart and his home with sunshine.

"A frivolous man wants a thoughtful mate, to clip his wings now and then so he can keep his feet on the ground.

Gypsy Needs Homebody.

"A gypsy needs a home woman, to keep him from wandering too far afield.

"A stay-at-home wants a wife who likes to go out and see what is happening in the world, to keep him from growing moss on his back and rust in his brain.

"Fortunately, for the most part, opposites do attract one another. That keeps the world and its wives balanced. Otherwise we would seen an endless procession of matrimonial barques listing to port or starboard because all the weight happened to be on that side and the poor, unhappy voyageurs would be dumped over the side where they would be compelled to flounder and strike out blindly for shore—probably in opposite directions."

Josephine Daskam Bacon has recently written a neat and chatty little collection of timely tales she calls "Square Peggy."

"Beth Griswold," one of the book's heroines, is a spoiled and fashionable young lady who gets so bored with being useless she takes up the honorable profession of nursemaid. In the course of her nursely duties she meets a mere policeman.

This is what the author has to say of Peggy and the policeman:—

"You see, all her (Beth's) culture counted at last; and she knew that in the face of an enormous thing like this, nothing—nothing in the world—should separate them. Policeman or ambassador, Griswold or nursemaid, it was all the same? Nobody had ever told her that this kind of feeling existed, but now that she knew it, she knew that every other feeling in the world was unimportant beside it. That strong, wonderful creature, with his burning eyes, was hers, and she was his.

So Beth, in the book, promises to marry her policeman. Of course, in the end, he turns out to be a perfectly good millionaire, who has joined the police reserves because he, too, grew tired of being the fifth wheel on the cart of progress. But Beth knew and loved him as a policeman, which is all that matters for the purpose of etching Beth on the tablet of womanworth and courage.

To return to Josephine Daskam Bacan's reason "Why Men Marry," Beth found her complement, and the millionaire policemen recognized in Beth the end of his quest for happiness.

Would that we all might do likewise.

SOX TAKE THE GAME SATURDAY FROM THE SPRIGHTLY SPUDDERS; LAST OF SERIES THIS AFTERNOON

The White Sox and Gus Johns underwent a complete reversal of form yesterday and the Hose copped 10-1. Eleven clean Lusty pokes formed the piece de resistance of the afternoon for the White Hosed boys and all of them were served up by Lefty Johns himself.

Johns is not to blame for the defeat, but rather old Boss Boreas who shivered the bottom timber of the grandstand, and made the dust and its cargo of paper, grass, etc., while around in such a way as to make it practically impossible to carry on a ball game. Ot it was, it was merely a case of the best wind-horse, and Wee Richard Kerr and his able sidekick, Lefty Sullivan, turned out to be the winning team.

The defeat was doubly mournful for Johns as he had a suit of clothes coming for a victory.

For the first five sections, the affair looked like a ball game, despite the efforts of various and sundry gusts of wind to put an end to the pastiming. The local crew stepped forward in the initial spasm and uncorked enough baseball to grab off a single tally, while the Sox laid them down for easy outs.

There was no more scoring until the third, when a single by Kerr himself and a wild pitch by Gus, and a little funny stuff totaled a counter for the opposition.

After that the game went along smoothly for several rounds. Both sides were hitting frequently, but the Hose blows came when they were needed whereas the locals blows were scattered throughout the afternoon without meaning anything. A triple by Battling Roy Storey was the only extra base blow garnered by the local outfit, and Storey was cut off at the plate in an attempt to come in on an infield out.

Then came the sad part of the proceedings in which Rebel Russell and his cohorts did considerable and extensive damage to the slants of Johns. Sullivan began by striking out. Marquis drew a complimentary ducat to the first station and Murphy singled. Mostil landed safely on first when Storey foozled his grounder and Marquis scored. Collins was passed. Then Tex Russell stepped forward, spat upon his dukes and smacked the apple in the eye for a round trip. Result—four runs, two hits, and much disaster.

Not content with knocking Johns loose from his base of supplies, the Collins clan oozed forth in the eighth and started in to pry the local left-hander loose from his shoes. Fikrle led off with a two-base clout and Storey contributed another error to the pastiming, putting Sullivan on board. Marquis forced Sullivan and Murphy poked a single choking the corners. Came a lusty thump, considerable footwork, and Mostil had tripled, clearing the sacks. Collins scored with a single.

Thus the tale runs with much weeping and gnashing of spikes in the Spudder camp. The wind was unquestionably the cause of a lot of the trouble, however, and the Spudders are going back at them tomorrow with the confidence that a victory gives.

San Antonio Team Rounding in Shape For Opening Game

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., March 4.—Though team-work is far from developed, the individual talent which will represent San Antonio at the start of the Texas League season April 16, has been just about decided upon. President H. J. Benson has a few more deals cooking but one, or possibly two, are all that will go through, he believes.

Pitcher Clarence Sims, Outfielder George Anderson and Infielder Rolla Darringer have just about been given up. Sims is holding out tenaciously, while Anderson and Darringer object to playing "down low" among the Texas Leaguers, since last season they were regulars with the Milwaukee, American association, club.

Manager Johnny Nee is well supplied with hurlers. He has two nifty southpaws in Walter Stewart, ex-Florida leaguer, and Cecil Wetzell, from Ohio. Both are stocky and have speed and control. Bill Fincher and Clyde Farfoot and Sid Ross are the veterans on the job again. Harvey Muns, Claude Davenport, Bill Eberhardt and Al Harrell will fight for the remaining two berths. Louis Harris has been released, not showing anything near the stuff Brother Bryan, formerly of Houston, did.

Frank Gibson and Elmer ("Hickory") Johnson will do the catching. Rodney Whitney, likely-looking youngster, is still being carried.

Jim Poole is the first baseman, Frank Fuller the second sacker, Ewell Gross the shortstop and Manager Nee the third baseman. Gross, a doubtful quantity for awhile, has been hitting big league pitching hard and often.

The outfield is still a little in doubt. Eddie Brown seems to be a certainty in the center. Pete Kruiseley, slugger, will play either left or right. The odd position lies between Everett Booe and Hub Northen, with Hub having the edge.

The Bronchos will play local amateur and army teams almost daily until the season starts.

Burns and Hill Both Rounding Into Form For Monday Evening

Both Solly Burns and Freddie Hill, principals in the 12-round bout scheduled for the C. A. C. Monday night, are in the city and are winding up their training stunts in the Camel club gym. Burns has been there for the past few days and Hill arrived Saturday morning.

Hill came here from Fort Worth, where he has been working out in the Panther City Athletic Club's gym. He is in the best possible shape for the Monday night go, and is confident that he can lick the star lightweight with whom he is matched.

Burns is one of the best lightweights in this section of the country. He walloped Bobby Waugh to a turn the other night. He has beaten Otto Wallace, although Otto says it was a draw, and he is here to beat Hill, whose scalp would be a valuable addition to his already long string. He has cleaned up so far during his short stay in this section and he intends to continue his whacking operations Monday night.

To the fans who have seen Hill work out, a certain questioning of Burns' ability to topple Freddie will come up. They know that Hill is one of the classiest of the lightweights who have appeared in the C. A. C. bouts, and also that Freddie carries enough "kick" to put any lightweight to sleep.

Burns is accompanied by his manager, Jack Tierney and trainer, Eddie Huse, claimant of the welterweight title of the Pacific coast. The pair work out together every afternoon, starting at 2:30. Those who have seen Burns and the welter going say that the former is as classy a boy as has yet appeared here and that Hill will have to extend himself to the limit to put him under. Burns is built alongs the Hill style and the boy should be able to give the fans a lively go. Their styles look enough alike to promise a merry mixup.

Some good preliminaries have been carded by Al Edwards. eLading among them is a semi-windup between Sid Martinek and Cliff Clarke, of Marlow, Okla. Clarke challenged the local boxer last week, following his defeat of Battling Roy, the stockyards bully, and was accepted. A lively go is promised.

Other prelims of the same class have been arranged for, and the fans are promised as good a show as they have yet witnessed. Spike Kelley will again be the third man in the ring.

Archie Tanner Can Blossom Out Today In New Easter Suit

Archie Tanner, Spudder hitter extraordinary, was presented with a $100 suit of clothes Saturday morning by the management of the Freeman-Black clothiers. This marks the first award of its kind of the season.

The Freeman-Black company has a sign on the baseball fence in left field and it carries the lettering—Clear this space and wear an Adler-Rochester suit free, or words to that effect. Tanner did the trick—walloped the ball cleanly over the spot in Friday afternoon's game with the Sox Yannigans and yesterday morning he was invited to take his choice of the Freeman-Black stock of clothes.

The boys are making no bones of their appreciation of the standing offer made by the Freeman-Black company and are all waiting their chance to lob a ball over that particular spot in the left field fence.

Besides the suit, Tanner also has five dollars coming from another firm. He was given five dollars in cash by one of the fans immediately after Friday's game.

WILLIAM TILDEN II IS WINNER OVER RICHARDS

NEW YORK, April 3.—William Tilden II of Philadelphia, defeated Vincent Richards in the final game of the national indoor tennis singles championship here today and paired with Richards, successfully defending the doubles title against Samuel Hardy, former Californian and S. H. Voshell of New York. The singles score was 10-8, 6-3, 6-1; and the doubles 6-3; 3-6; 6-12; 12-10.

SONG OF THE STALWART.

Who drive, red-hearted, down the field.
Of soft content and fame;
For we now take the way of those
Who play the braver game;
Who drive, head-on against red fate
Along the storm-swept shore;
Who drive, red-hearted, down the field.

And Love shall meet us with a rose
And necklacing our dreams
Soft arms shall seek to hold us back
Along the singing streams;
And Failure's legions sweep our lines
From front and flank and rear,
Through sunless days of bitterness—
Through starless nights of fear.

And few there be to credit us
With clean content or faith,
Where fame is but a memory
And love is but a wrath;
Content to know when each stark soul
Has passed the out-post stars
The Scorer counts no medals there—
He only counts the scars.

THE DOUBLE-GRAB

There are five cities from this nation's roster that carry two major league ball clubs.

These five, in a pennant way, enjoy what is known as the Double-Grab.

Which is to say they have two shots at a pennant where the other six major league towns have only one.

The word "enjoy," however, applies to only four of the five cities. You may get the idea in bulk from the pennant achievements of the five towns in the last twenty years.

Chicago—9 pennants.
Philadelphia—7 pennants.
Boston—7 pennants.
New York—6 pennants.
St. Louis—6 pennants.

THE DESERT

This record shows that St. Louis, with a double barrel to fire, hasn't nipped a pennant in well over twenty years.

And yet St. Louis is one of the best towns—or would be—in baseball. For over two decades it has had to suffer two failures every year, which is double the burden that Cleveland, Washington and others have had to carry. In a pennant way it has been a dessert since the days of the old Browns, who existed when Pop Anson was a rookie and Wagner had never swung a bat.

This season St. Louis has two fair ball clubs, but so far no one is picking either club to go out and snag the pennant. But if there is any such thing as being over due, this is the year.

MERELY A SUGGESTION.

While the Carpentier-Dempsey engagement is under a cloud and beset by a tangle, here is a suggestion that might be worth consideration:

1. Carpentier is the champion boxer of the armies of Europe. He is not only French champion, but the superior of anything Great Britain has to offer. He stands as the representative of the European armies.

2. Bob Martin, Gene Tunney and Ray Smith are the three leading representatives of the A. E. F. Why not let this trio have an elimination contest wherein the ultimate champion of the A. E. F. is at last crowned. This elimination process could take place while Carpentier is fulfilling his moving picture and vaudeville engagement.

3. Then match Carpentier, representing the French and British armies, against the selected representative of the A. E. F.

Here you have the basis of one of the greatest boxing matches in all history—an engagement that would draw as great a crowd as an arena could accommodate.

Later on, if Dempsey wiggles out of his present tangle, he can then meet the survivor.

This program would boom general interest in boxing beyond anything yet known. The A. E. F. elimination contest alone would be one of the great sporting events of the year. If Carpentier should beat the winner he would still have Dempsey or Fulton to take care of. But the preliminary would in many ways overshadow the main event.

If it were necessary to have a championship setting in case Dempsey is eliminated, Fulton could be used in an emergency role. The big plasterer took no particular interest in the war, but for all that he is no easy bird to pluck, with Dempsey out of reach.

Dallas Team Has a Strenuous Week; Working Men Hard

DALLAS, TEX., April 3.—The Marines had a rather strenuous week during the seven days just past, playing four games in a row the latter part of the week and working hard the first few days. Skipper Patterson is working his men with a new lineup almost daily in an effort to get the best combination possible. His sore spot, at the present time, is a third sacker. Gray, rookie, who has been serving at the hot corner, fell down on the job Sunday and. Pike, a Saginaw club infielder who reported late in the week, was put on third in Gray's place. He is active enough on the field, but has made a poor showing with the willow so far. It is probable that he will regulate his batting eye in the near future and be able to produce the goods.

McDonald, probably the best third sacker in the league, has been working at short for Pat because the Dallas skipper has no one else to put in the short field. Chick Mattick, veteran outfielder, was shifted to third during a practice game early in the week and made a good showing. It is probable that Pat will give him another chance in the infield.

If Mattick comes to the infield it will give the local boss a chance to play Don Flynn, versatile pitcher and outfielder, in the outfield and thereby profit from Flynn's bat, while he is not serving in the box. Flynn's bingles have been a feature of every game he has played in this season.

Four rookies were shaken loose from the locals early in the week and Patterson has asked waivers on five more. It is probable they will be released early this week. The majority of the men released are finding berths in the Oil Belt territory.

The Marines have settled considerably since the season's opening and are beginning to work like a real ball club. They have defeated most of the semi-pro and college teams in this victory and copped a victory from Kid Gleason's second string White Sox here Saturday. They are making a good showing in the field and are batting way above the average. From present indications Patterson has a gang of willow swingers this season that will torment the best twirlers in the circuit.

The Pittsburg Pirates are here for a return engagement Saturday and Sunday.

CALIFORNIA DEFEATS THE ILLINOIS TEAM

BERKELEY, CALIF., April 3.—The University of California defeated the University of Illinois track and field team here today by a score of 74 to 66.

The meet was unusually close, first one university and then the other being in the lead, until the final event, the mile relay, decided the meet. California won this event by a margin of less than two yards.

California was superior in the field events but Illinois had the better of the distance events and dashes. Merchant, of California, a field man, was the greatest individual point winner of the day. He won 14 points, while Emory, of Illinois, was close behind him with 13. Grunsky of California, was third with 11 points.

DICK GRIFFIN RETURNS TO THE FIGHTING RING

Dick Griffin, recently reported to have given up the boxing game as a means for a livelihood, returned to the rosined arena Friday night and lost a 12-round go with Mike Dundee, by a shade at the Panther City Athletic club, according to an Associated Press report Saturday.

News of his return to the ring should interest local fight fans, to whom Griffin appeared to be the best there was in the way of classy bantams.

A few weeks back, Griffin wired Al Edwards, promoter for the Camel Athletic club, stating that he was through with the fight game and that he was going to work for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad. The announcement came as a surprise to many local fans, as Dick had demonstrated the fact that he had considerable ability on several occasions he appeared here.

His return will be welcomed and the fans are expecting a bout between him and some other bantam at the Camel club in the near future.

The swallow has a larger mouth in proportion to its size than any other bird.

DEMPSEY AND KEARNS ANSWER TO CHARGES CASE IS POSTPONED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The case of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Jack Kearns, indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with Dempsey's alleged evasion of the selective draft, were called in the United States district court today and went over for two weeks, at which time, it was announced, the cases would be set for trial. Neither Dempsey or Kearns appeared in court.

YOUTH MUST BE SERVED BUT IT MUST ALSO LEARN IN THE ATHLETIC WORLD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 3.—Youth must be served?

Gray hairs have an advantage in the arts and sciences but when the physical becomes a factor, according to the popular modern theory, it is young blood that counts. When 24-year-old Jack Dempsey battered 33-year-old Jess Willard almost into a pulp last summer in Toledo, the analysts declared:

"Youth must be served."

Similar verdicts that age had exacted its toll were given by the sport juries when S. Davidson Herron, the youthful Pittsburgh golfer, won the national amateur title; when Miss Helene Pollak, the 20-year-old New Jersey girl, won the indoor tennis championship; when Harry G. Helm, the Buffalo high school boy, showed his heels to a field of veterans in the two-mile run of the national indoor meet, and when Walter I. Reid, the Providence school kid, won the standing high jump at the same meeting.

Youth must be served, it is true, but it must be served its lesson in some cases.

Look at Jack Britton, still welterweight champion of the world at 38 years of age and still teaching youngsters and veterans alike the fine points of fighting. Look also at Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion at 31 with gray-streaked hair.

Pat McDonald, the giant New York traffic cop, who has been putting the shot for more than 10 years, is still able to outheave the best of the younger generation. Eagon Erickson, his jumping brother member of the traffic squad, showed Walker Whalen, the youthful Boston jumper, that age isn't such a handicap by outjumping him at the recent national indoor championship meet.

Jole Ray is not kid any more and Norman Ross is no duckling in the water yet there are none in America who can come up to them in their hobbies.

"Billy" Johnston, national tennis champion, is a real veteran of the courts an dhe still take pleasure in trouncing Vincent Richards and some of the youngsters of the court.

One of the heaviest jolts ever handed to the theory came when Oscar Mathiesen, the Norwegian, who has been skating for 30 of his 38 years, took the world's championship away from 23-year-old Bobby McLean.

Baseball, since the war days, has been noticeably slow in developing new blood to pulse through the veins of the major leagues.

Ty Cobb, champion batter of the American League for 12 out of the past 13 years, is 34 years of age. Eddie Roush, king hitter of the National League, is 27 years old. Walter Johnson, the peer of American League pitchers, and Grover Alexander, the best of the National League boxmen, are each 33 years old. Babe Ruth, the greatest home-run hitter of all times, is 26.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE AT OLNEY ON APRIL 16-17

The interscholastic league meet of district No. 4 will be held at Olney on Friday and Saturday, April 16-17, according to a communication received by County Superintendent E. C. Hall from L. Z. Timmons, superintendent of the Olney city schools. Provision has been made for all events in track and field for both junior and senior boys and girls. The athletic contests will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. Saturday. Provision has also been made for Tennis and basket ball. All schools desiring to enter the district contests are requested to forward a list of the names of contestants and event in which each will participate to Superintendent Timons, director general of the meet, not later than April 10. Superintendent Hall said Saturday that reports from various schools indicate that Wichita county will be well represented.

SELECT COURSE FOR THE OLYMPIC MARATHON RACE

ANTWERP, April 3.—The course for the Olympic marathon race, the principal individual event of the Olympic games, has been officially selected and promised an excellent test for the long distance runner of the world. The start of the race, provisionally set for August 21 or 23, will be made from the royal palace at Laeken, outside of Brussels, and the finish will be made in the Olympic stadium at Antwerp. The distance will be 26.56 miles including the final laps over the stadium track proper.

Leaving Laeken the runners will follow a little used road from the Palace for a few kilometers, making a detour which will bring them to the main highway between Brussels and Antwerp. This road is almost as level as a table and leads through five or six small villages as well as the larger cities of Malines. It was from this city that the Germans bombarded Antwerp. On the hill of nearly one per cent grade near Malines and this is the obsticle which the competitors will have to surmount during the twenty six and a fraction mile race. The roadbed is of brick but dirt foot paths parallel the road on both sides and these paths are broad enough for two runners to travel abreast.

BIRMINGHAM INFIELDER SOLD TO PHILADELPHIA

Dick Kerr Signed for Wichita Falls Between Seasons

Dick Kerr, left-handed pitcher and world series hero de luxe has signed a contract with Wichita Falls.

Kerr is coming here as an auto salesman for the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company at the close of the 1920 season.

The deal which is to bring Kerr to this city has been banging fire for the past six to eight months. When Mr. Weaver was in attendance at the 1920 world series, he brought the matter to Kerrs attention. Kerr is a personal friend of Mr. Weaver's.

As things stand at present, Kerr will come here about the fifteenth of October or the first of November and will help Mr. Weaver sell Hudson and Essex cars.

She has been in dry dock during the winter. The Shamrock III will sail for America on April 7, without escort.

Captain Alfred Draper of Southampton is in command of the yacht and among the crew which will sail the Shamrock III will be seven members of his family.

Kerr Will Start Game Again Today It is Announced

Dick Kerr will again start the ball game this afternoon for the Yannigans, and Zinn or Appleton will start for the Spudders.

Kerr pitched three innings of yesterday's game and showed the fans what a big league hurler looks like, even if he was driving head on into a 50-mile gale.

The little southpaw cut some neat figures in the box against the Spudders, and Manager Collins decided to work him for but three innings against the local crew in yesterday's game in order to give him a chance to work for the fans in today's contest. The fact that he is to work should prove a big drawing card, as a large number of the fans were unable to be at the Saturday game, whereas they are all desirous of seeing the diminutive southpaw work.

Grover Lowdermilk will do the relief work in this afternoon's conflict, with Tesar, Tabor, and a whole herd of other rookies lined up behind.

Fred McMullin will blossom forth in the Yannigan spangles this afternoon. Fred was holding down the regular third base job for the Sox during the hold-out season, but was relegated to the rookie squad with the return to the fold of Swede Risberg and Buck Weaver. McMullin is a veteran third sacker and classy all-around utility man. His presence will add much strength to the present line-up of the Goofs. Lutske will be moved up to short; Murphy will take the keystone berth and Marquis will go into the outfield, thus relieving one of the pitchers who has been performing in one of the outer gardens.

The visiting Dokeys will be taken in automobiles for a visit of the oil fields in the forenoon followed by a parade throughout the streets of Wichita Falls at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. A banquet will be given in the basement of the Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar streets, at 7 o'clock. The ceremonial will follow at the Knights of Pithias hall.

MORE THAN A HUNDRED CIVIL CASES DOCKETED IN PAST THIRTY DAYS

More than 100 civil cases have been docketed in the county court during the past thirty days, it was announced Saturday. These cases are set for the April term of county court which opens Monday. Tuesday is appearance day and defendants in various civil proceedings are expected to file answers on or before that date or the plaintiff will be allowed to take judgment by default. It is announced that but few answers have been filed by defendants and a large number of default judgments are expected.

The February session of county court closed Saturday. Not more than ten civil cases were disposed of during the term but the criminal work was extremely heavy. More than $2,500 in fines was paid during the past month, County Treasurer McHam anounced Saturday.

TOTAL COLLECTIONS POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR MARCH $4370

Vagrancy, that handy little word that speaks of sin and shame as well as less vicious crimes, was the most common and the most lucrative item in the police business enjoyed by the city for the month of March. In cash just $4,370 was collected during the month and a great percentage of this figure is represented by arrests made by the police in breaking up "parties."

In the heyday of the wave of immorality or lack of judgment, whichever you may call it, 'Old Man Traffic Violations" is an also ran. Usually a strong contender, he must be content this month to run a poor second. "Drunk and Disorderly," "affray," and the like make up a total that, although inferior financially to February, maintains a high average figure.

"PHOTOSTAT" CAMERA IS INSTALLED BY LOCAL FIRM

graphing maps, deeds, blueprints, etc., the first of its kind for commercial use in the state, has been installed by the Wichita Falls Blue Print and Supply company. The machine is in reality a large camera capable of making prints of any size up to 18 by 22 inches and is a great advantage over the blue print system in that there is no necessity of transferring the object to be printed to tracing cloth.

Speed, adaptability, labor saving and money saving are some of the claims advanced for this new machine. With this machine it is claimed that it makes "facsimile copies directly upon sensitized paper at a possible speed of one copy a minute from any colored object, at original size, enlarged or reduced, that are absolutely permanent, that are legal evidence in court, that are water proof, that are erasure proof and that do not need to be checked."

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION FOR POSTOFFICE SERVICE

A competitive examination for the positions of clerk and mail carriers for the Wichita Falls postoffice service will take place at the postoffice April 10. Competitors will be examined, according to an announcement sent out by the civil service department, on the following subjects: Spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying from plain copy and reading addresses. The positions pay from $1,000 to $1,500 a year with additional compensation of $200 for the $1,000, $1,100 and $1,200 grades and $150 for the $1,300, $1,400 and $1,500 grades. From the eligibles resulting from the examination the existing vacancies will be filled.

NEW POSTOFFICE BOXES TO BE AVAILABLE SOON

Those Wichitans who have been waiting for some time to secure boxes at the postoffice are greatly cheered by the information given out by Postmaster Ed Howard that the correct numbers for the boxes now on hand were shipped from Indianapolis March 25, and are looked for any day. The reason for the delay in installing the additional boxes in the postoffice annex is found in the fact that the first shipment of boxes had the wrong numbers on them, in that they ranged from 100 to 600, when the corerct numbers should have been from 1,041, the present limit of boxes, to 1,641. To prevent duplication the leasing of the boxes has been held up until the correct numbers arrive.

Mr. Howard says that those who now have their applications in will be given first choice in the renting of the boxes.

HARRISON DRUG COMPANY HAS HANDSOME QUARTERS

The Wilford-Harrison Drug company is now at home in its new quarters in the Bank of Commerce building, having opened for business there Saturday.

The cigar counter opens into the main lobby of the building.

Altogether the store is one of which its company may well be proud.

ODD FELLOWS TO CONFER THE INITIATORY DEGREE

The Odd Fellows after a rest of one Monday night will confer the Initiatory Degree upon what is expected to be the largest class that this lodge has ever put on at one time tomorrow night and a large attendance is expected.

This lodge has perhaps had a better percentage in growth than any other Odd Fellow lodge in Texas during the past 12 months, and the end is not in sight. Some of the members would be glad to get a rest, as they have remained faithfully until the late hours every meeting night for almost a year, but so long as candidates are in waiting, there will be no rest for any one.

EYES

Most people, you included, perhaps, are extremely negligent in the care of their eyes, and very culpably so in regard to their children's eyes. The public generally has no idea of the number and variety of present day eye defects and often resort to glasses selected at random which are entirely unsuited to the conditions of the eye. Many glasses selected in this way which "seem to suit exactly" at first, prove most injurious and often result in permanent injury. Come and talk over your eye trouble with us.

Increased Demand Makes Necessary Factory Expansion

Increased demand for products of the Nash Motors Company is reflected in substantial additions to the great plant at Kenosha during the past year. It is in this factory that Nash six cylinder cars and Nash trucks are built, the new plant in Milwaukee, now under construction being planned for the exclusive production of the Nash Four.

In addition to new buildings that have been added to the Kenosha plant in the past 12 months, thousands of dollars worth of additional machinery also has been installed. As a result the factory of the Nash Motor Co. is regarded as one of the largest and most thoroughly equipped plants in the automobile industry.

To the visotor at the Nash factory it is plain that the dominating ideal is that of fine mechanical precision—of organized accuracy. No matter where the eye may turn in these shops it finds evidence of the fact that the pressure of expansion, the continually increasing demand for Nash products, is being provided for by the multiplication of mechanical efficiency by the development and installation of marvelous automatic machines made to do many things at one time stead of a few.

An important addition to the factory is found in a building 120x120 which was added to the large foundry. There also has been constructed a foundry warehouse and pattern storage 80 by 100 feet. Other new buildings include a new roller bearing tool room and pattern shop, 100 by 600 feet and an addition to the sheet metal shop measuring 32x236 feet.

Four courtways that formerly separated long lines of saw-tooth buildings have now been roofed and turned into component parts of the factory. One of these measures 180x16 feet and the others, 90x257, 60x257 and 42 x236.

Under construction now are a new boiler room 50x50 feet and an addition to the heat-treating department measuring 40x140.

The construction of all these buildings is thoroughly modern and was carried out without interruption to work in the busy Nash shops.

There are in operation in the Nash factory over 1,500 productive machines and over 300 factory maintenance machines; the plant embraces 1,011,332 square feet of floor space and in the power plant which keeps the machinery in operation, 120 tons of coal are used every 24 hours.

Five thousand men are on the payroll of the Nash Motors Co.

Remarkable Cold Weather Advantages of Hot-Spot Motor

Ray McNamara has driven over 800,000 miles—the only man in America to come that close to the million mark. He has driven across the continent 11 times and as an evidence of his carefulness has never had an accident nor been arrested for speeding. He ought to know something about driving an automobile. After an experience of 50,000 miles with a Hot-Spot motor, his following impressions are valuable:

In the early days of the automobile industry, manufacturers were confronted with so many problems throughout the car that they were satisfied with almost any kind of carburetion just so long as the motors would start and run. In the summer time the cars would start fairly well, but on a cold winter morning, it was always a guess as to whether you would get your motor started. A man needed a pair of overalls for this operation, as on some cars it was necessary to raise the hood, twist your arms around a lot of greasy wires and pipes to get to the carburetor for the purpose of flooding it, also to hold your hand over the air intake while some other husky cranked his head off, and then, if you were lucky enough to get started, you would have to humor the motor all day to keep it going. The intake manifolds would become frosty and balls of ice would form in the gasoline feed pipe necessitaing the cleaning of the gas line every few miles. When the amateur had to contend with these conditions, a man had to be a real sport with a lot of patience and nerve to use his car the year around.

Removing the "Bugs."

After some of the "bugs" were removed from the car, so that sliding gears would slide, motors would mote, and differentials would differentiate, it was evident that something was needed to perfect carburetion and improve the flexibility of motors. This came first in the form of hot air off the exhaust pipe and hot water jacketed carburetors. Both forms improved the situation very much and seemed to be the limit of perfection at this point. However, the hot air arrangement had its faults in that when cold blasts would come in under the hood, the air would pass over the exhaust pipe without being sufficiently heated. This would almost choke the motor and necessitate a lot of carburetor adjustment to meet the temperature of the four seasons. In the case of hot water jackets, on intake pipe and carburetors, there seemed to be a lot of condensation taking place which caused a moisture in the gas. This condition, in a great many cases, caused the repeated fouling of plugs, valves and excessive carbon deposits in cylinders; also it was necessary to run a few miles with a very rich mixture, motor popping and spitting, before the water became sufficiently heated to have the proper effect on gases.

It was very evident that what was needed to attain the highest degree of efficiency and perfection in carburetors, was a dry gas and this to be accomplished in the shortest possible time after motor was started, so it has only been in the last few years that engineers conceived and worked out the Hot-Spot principle. This was accomplished in a very satisfactory and simple manner on both the Maxwell and Chalmers motors.

It would be very hard to describe fully the advantageous effects of a hot-spot on the internal combusion motor. Having driven over 50,000 miles summer and winter, touring in temperatures ranging from zero to 102 degrees with hot-spot equipment, the writer believes the chief advantage lies in the fact that motor operates the same in winter as in summer. Extreme changes in temperature have practically no effect at all on carburetion. In the coldest weather, the economy remains practically the same and it only takes a few seconds to warm motor up to the point of smooth running. Other advantages are clean and dry combustion chamber valves and spark plugs, in fact the fouling of spark plugs is an unknown quantity in hot-spot motors. It is only a question of time until all manufacturers will adopt this principle.

The JORDAN Silhouette

EASE of handling is comparative. The ocean liner is easy to handle in the open ocean with leagues of water in which to maneuver. But the Silhoutte Five is like the swift white launch darting in and out among the harbor shipping.

It is instantly responsive to the gentlest pressure. The Jordan arrangement of the steering apparatus is a marvel of precise control. The perfect balance of the car, the careful distribution of weight, the length and strength of springs and the delicate suspension all contribute to unerring forward motion, with no side-sway. In its application of power, the Jordan Silhouette is supreme. Acceleration is not a leap but a swift, plane-like glide. There is no jerking or struggling—the road simply flows past.

Women appreciate the ease and restfulness of driving the Silhouette Five as they appreciate its fashionable lines, its harmonious coloring and its perfect appointments.

They welcome a distinctly fine light car—a five passenger car in which quality has been made the compelling ideal.

Many of Changes in Motor Car Are From Hints by Customers

Many of the changes made in motor cars are the result of suggestions from dealers and members of the selling force. When the Liberty Six was exhibited at the automobile shows last year it was noted by company officials that, although criticisms and suggestions from the men of the field force were asked for and welcomed, nothing of more than a minor nature was forthcoming, and very few even of such suggestions were made. As one dealer said, "it's too good to be improved. At least I don't know how to better it."

Nevertheless the 1920 Liberty Six shows considerable improvement over previous models, both in body lines, in details of comfort and convenience, and in features of design and construction. But since the engineering staff of this company is recognized as belonging to the very forefront of the profession, it was not unexpected that they should have improved even the splendid examples of engineering skill which the 1919 Liberty models represented.

The wheelbase of the car has been lengthened to 117 inches. It was found possible, also, to revise the body dimensions in such a measure that more liberal space is provided in both compartments, and a readjustment of these interiors has resulted in undoubtedly better provisions for the comfort of passengers.

Other improvements that will especially appeal to owners from the viewpoint of greater convenience are: interior fastening side curtains, plainly marked, which are carried in a very accessible compartment back of the front seat; plate glass rear curtain light of generous size; improved seat cushions upholstered in genuine leather, fitted over the unexcelled Marshall cushion springs; slanting windshield; newly designed top holders, etc.

The mechanics of the car have also shared in the general smoothing and refining. The motor has been perceptibly bettered. And this, we are told, is due entirely to the talent and untiring application of the Liberty engineering staff, which, for two years past, has steadfastly held to the task of perfecting this already great engine.

Other details of mechanical improvement include somewhat larger brake drums on the rear wheels, slightly heavier frame side members, and one or two others of a very minor nature.

TO BE ASSOCIATED WITH BROTHER IN BUSINESS HERE

George J. Moulder, formerly assistant branch manager of the International Harvester Company at Grand Forks, N. D., and a brother of J. D. Moulder of this city, has arrived here to be associated with his brother in the Wilhelm-Moulder Automobile Company. A fine experience in the automobile business and all of its allied branches will make Mr. Moulder an acquisition to the business life of this city.

The following sales are reported by Wilhelm-Moulder during the past week: George W. Elkins, Vernon, Cleveland touring car; J. W. Holbrook, city, Chandler touring car;

Public Opinion is Increasing Demand For a Closed Car

"As the automobile industry has evolved, expanded and progressed, the attitude of the public has gradually shifted with the passing of the years in regard to the open and closed car styles," states C. W. Nolen, of Nolen-Stringer, who sells Haynes cars locally.

"In the infancy of the industry the touring car and the roadster were the popular types of cars and were manufactured in an overwhelming majority. Later on, the closed models began to make their appearance in the larger cities in a very limited number. Year by year, this number has been increased until now the closed models are a familiar sight, not only on the city boulevards, but on the great national highways that stretch across the continent.

"The reason for this shifting of the popular favor from the open to the closed models is due to a number of things. One is that the closed cars are now so manufactured that they can readily be transformed into open cars by lowering the side glasses. In this way the closed cars, such as the Sedan, Coupe, Suburban and Brougham, are the ideal all-season, all purpose types of cars, conveniently adaptable to all sorts of weather in all climates.

"Another reason for the present popularity of, and demand for, closed cars is the education of the automobile public to the varied uses of these models. For many years it was the general impression that closed cars were of use only for driving about the city during cold and inclement weather. But the Sedan, Coupe, Suburban and Brougham have incontrovertibly proved their worth on long tours and during clear weather.

"The Haynes Automobile company has been one of the first of the leading automobile companies to realize the possibilities and advantages of the closed types of cars. These pioneer motor car builders have concentrated, of late years, a large share of their energies on producing closed cars that possess not only a sturdy mechanism, but also refinement and distinction. And well have they succeeded in their efforts. The new Haynes Coupe, Sedan, Suburban and Brougham are master creations of engineering skill and coachbuilding artisanship. Their pleasing lines, their richness, combined with their exclusive fittings, distinguish them as character cars.

"On dusty roads, in the smoke-laden atmosphere of the city, and during inclement weather, these cars carry the passengers to their destinations in the same restful and immaculate condition in which they started their journey. In clear exhilirating weather, or when it is warm, the lowered glasses transform the Sedan, Coupe, Suburban and Brougham into open, airy cars, admitting the refreshing and invigorating breezes. No matter what the condition of the road or weather, or the length of the journey, the closed car will efficiently serve its owner,' concludes Mr. Nolen. "And the automobile-buying public, realizing the many advantages of the closed car, is demanding this type of car in greater numbers each year."

An Explosive Mistake.

MONMOUTH, ILLS. — Dave Wilson was drowsy when he built the morning fire. He mistook the gasoline can for kerosene. Today carpenters were busily engaged erecting three kitchen walls.

CAN'T MEET DEMAND FOR CARS IN 1920

"It won't be during this year that automobile men have any rest. If manufacturers make every car they plan on making, we'll fill just about half the orders that are coming in."

That is the way the local manager for the Root & Van Dervoot Engineering Co. sums up the situation.

"I expect to spend a big percentage of this leap year, leaping out of the way of people who want R & V Knights faster than I can deliver them," he says. "Why, manufacturers aren't going to make half the cars they said they would, and they didn't say they would make half enough in the first place."

Commenting upon the demand for the new R & V Knight which has six very popular Knight cylinders in it, he says that it has so far exceeded his ability to get deliveries.

With the announcement of the 1920 models of the R & V Knight, came the simultaneous announcement of the incorporation in them of a six cylinder Knight engine, making it the only car in the country which is thus distinguished.

The Knight principles of motor construction have been combined into a six cylinder unit, giving a smooth flow of power and easy flexibility which is surprising. At the same time, the car is light, easy to handle, and well balanced.

Here is his caution for everyone who wants a car during 1920: "Get your orders in at once, so that if manufacturers are unable to keep up with their production program, your order will be near to the top of the list. There is no possibility of the supply of cars coming near to equalling demand for them during this year."

Why there's a "snap" to the action of a CHALMERS

PERHAPS you've noticed the sluggishness, the "heaviness" of the action in so many cars of today.

Ride in this new Chalmers and you will observe the difference.

There is an underlying reason for the "snap" in a Chalmers.

It's due to the manner in which it gets results out of "gas."

As you know, "gas" has deteriorated, gone down and down in grade.

Feeding the "gas" you get today into the average engine is giving it a "food" that it can't digest. Engines have got to be redesigned.

Chalmers engineers were first to act. They found the answer in Hot Spot and Ram's-horn. The raw, heavy "gas" (which has just as much power in it as the so-called better grade of "gas" that once was purchasable) strikes Hot Spot, is heated, "broken up" into very fine particles, and forms a "cloud."

Then Ram's-horn, which is one of the greatest improvements ever made in engines, hurries the "cloud" before it can condense, to the cylinders.

The results are astonishing. You get an action from "gas" you believed no longer possible.

A year later you will find that those troubles which afflict so many cars today on account of the low grade "gas" situation are not to be found in the Chalmers—troubles like burned bearings, frequently fouled spark-plugs, scored cylinders, repair bills that come from excessive and endless vibration. You, too, will join that growing circle which declares that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

We Let You Know What The Chandler Price Is

THE Chandler Motor Car Company, ever since the first Chandler Car was built seven years ago, has, in every advertisement issued to newspapers and magazines and all other forms of publications, stated the list price of the Chandler Car.

It states it now, and will continue to do so. There is good reason for this and many thousands of motor car owners know it. This is the reason—The Chandler Six is the most closely priced car in the whole medium priced field.

Look through the pages of this paper or a magazine that may be lying on your table. There are probably from ten to twenty automobile advertisements. How many name the price of the car?

True, the cost of automobile production has increased in the past year, and it is still increasing. But the Chandler Company, throughout 1919, with all its production greatly oversold, held to its price.

The Chandler Six of today is a highly perfected development of the Chandler Six of seven years ago, which started the trend toward lightweight sixes. All the engineering skill and production efficiency at the command of the Chandler Company has been devoted to this one chassis and that fact is one of the reasons for the Chandler's leadership in its field today.

All Chandler bodies are mounted on the one standard Chandler chassis. Simple, sturdy and dependable throughout, its features embrace, as for years past, the really marvelous Chandler Motor, solid cast aluminum motor base, annular ball bearings, silent chain drive for the auxiliary motor shafts, and Bosch magneto ignition.

No Such Animal as Ideal Perfection Says Apperson Man

"There ain't no such animal as an 'ideal perfection,'" said the Apperson works manager to Mr. T. E. Jazzard, vice president of the Apperson Bros. Automobile Company of Kokomo, Indiana. "A thing can't be any more than perfect, you know. Perfection is just perfection, and that's all there is to it."

The argument was about the statement in a recent Apperson advertisement—"The Apperson spirit is striving for an ideal perfection."

"That's where you're way off," said Mr. Jarrard. "The man who wrote that had something in his mind at the time. He was talking about the way Elmer and Edgar Apperson have always kept in mind a far-advanced stage of motor design.

"Put it this way; when they built the first automobile, they might have set out then to simply perfect every part of it as it stood. That would have been practical perfection.

"But that didnt interest them. They had the idea of a car like the Apperson of today—a car that accelerates from one to 40 miles in 40 seconds in high, and that makes from that speed to a dead stop in four sections—40 yards. Twenty six years ago—when the Apperson started—such a car represented an ideal perfection."

SHARK LEATHER MAY LOWER SHOE COSTS

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—"Sea shoes" may soon appear as a solution of the high cost of footwear.

A process for tanning skins of shark and porpoise so they can be used for making boots and shoes has been perfected, it was announced here today by a leading member of the American Chemical Society, who said a section of the leather industry wil lbe organized as one of the first acts of the society at its convention here April 12 to 17.

While no details of the process was given out, it was said the new departure will produce much cheaper shoes than those now on the market, as experts are now looking everywhere for a durable substitute for the ordinary leathers used in making footwear.

Other processes for tanning leather will also be discussed at the convention, which, officials declared, 2,000 members will attend.

New processes for preparation of American sugar will receive considerable attention and the chemists, in turning their activities from war to peace, expect to play a dominant part in lowering prices for this product.

A new section of the association devoted entirely to the sugar industry will hold its first sessions this year. Increases in cane production in lower Mississippi and beet growing in western Nebraska and Kansas offer a big opportunity for purification of American sugar and putting more of it on the market, chemists declared.

Dye, kepi and acetone industries will come in for considerable extension, it was asserted. Announcement will be made at the convention that capitalists are waiting to put $50,000,000 into the American dye industry when its status is established.

TELL HOW OLDFIELD CAME TO SELECT MARMON CAR

Barney Oldfield, the premier speed king of America and now president of the Oldfield Tire company, Cleveland, O., has not peer as a judge of tires or motor cars. The other day he bought a new series Marmon-34, and he claims that no one sold him the car, but that he bought it on his own judgment and impulse, after—but the story must be told in its logical order.

At the San Francisco Automobile show, Barney Oldfield, the speed king, who came out of the west, met Bert Dingley, another former racing king of the east. It was at the Marmon booth. Barney was a spectator and Dingley in charge of the Marmon motor tear down and rebuild, which has been a feature of the shows. As a result of the meeting and Dingley's demonstration Barney is now looking forward to the possession of a new series car as soon as delivery can be obtained, for in these days even a king must needs wait in line.

Barney has frequently declared that he would never, never be sold by an automobile salesman-manager or by any other factory official no matter how great. He might buy a car he opined, he might, in fact, buy several at various times depending upon how much he needed them, but he would never, never be sold.

And he lived up to his word, but after watching Bert Dingley direct his crew of mechanics in the tear-down and rebuild demonstration Barney stepped up to Dingley and he said, "Bert, I'm going t ohave one of those new series Marmons. Your demonstration sold me. I sure want one as soon as you can get delivery for me, and I want to buy it from the man who has proved this car to me by actual demonstration." A compliment to Dingley, but also a fitting tribute to a car that could win in such a revelation of its inner secrets. Barney knows how many races have been lost through time wasted in making adjustments and repairs on inaccessible motors.

"BLUE BIRD THOUGHTS" ON SALE AT Y. W. C. A. BENEFIT DAY NURSERY

For the benefit of the Day Nursery, which the welfare council hopes to open soon for the children whose mothers are employed during the day, a number of copies of "Blue Bird Thoughts," a dainty volume of collected verse and quotations, of various moods and fancies, has been placed on sale at the Y. W. C. A. and will be put in various other places in the city. This benefit is given the Day Nursery by the compiler of the volume, Mrs. S. B. Herndon, woh has arranged the selections and published "Blue Bird Notes" for the purpose of giving the proceeds to the various baby camps and old people's homes in several cities of the state. The volume is now in its third edition, just one year after its first publication. Mrs. Herndon was in Dallas when the first edition was brought out, and the Dallas baby camp was made the first beneficiary. Victrolas and records for the children's camps and nurseries, and the old people's homes are bought with the proceeds, it being the author's wish to give these children and old people something of the luxuries of pleasure, since through the regular channels the necessities are given.

INDIA'S TAX MAY KILL KID GLAZING

WILMINGTON, DEL., April 3.—Discriminating taxes laid by India on goatskins exported to the United States may ultimately wipe out America's glazed kid industry, according to leather manufacturers here.

With 42 per cent of the raw skins imported by American leather manufacturers and refiners coming from India, it was agreed India's latest tax of 15 per cent on exports to countries outside the British empire can mean nothing but removal from the United States to Canada of millions of dollars' worth of machinery used in the glazing and finishing of fine leather.

It was pointed out that manufacture of skins in Canada would enable factories there to undersell American made goods, they having the benefit of a rebate of 10 per cent of the tax because Canada is part of the British empire. More than 8,000 workers in Wilmington would be affected, this city having grown to be the chief center in this country for glazing of kid.

Not alone would those in Wilmington be hit by the removal of the plants to Canada, James I Ford of the Wilmington Leather Co. said, but it would mean considerably increased prices for shoes and leather goods. The Indian tax amounts to $3 a pound on leather, it was pointed out, and with loss of 42 per cent of the present supply of skins, prices would naturally be forced upward.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

The Roadster, Too, Has All the Noted Essex Qualities

Speed--Power--Endurance--Economy--Utility
It is an Ideal Car For Business as Well as Pleasure

The wide business uses for which the Essex Roadster is adapted are instantly apparent.

Its utilities are many. But note no evidence of them is revealed when the Roadster is used as a pleasure car. Every line is smart, trim and graceful. It takes but a moment to make the change.

A World Endurance Record Proves Essex Dependability

A large class of its buyers are business men. They choose it for utility and dependable transportation. It becomes, in fact, a part of their business system. It must be on the job, keep all engagements on time, and be as responsible as an engineer's watch.

These same qualities, with its rare good looks, make the Roadster unsurpassed as a smart car for pleasure.

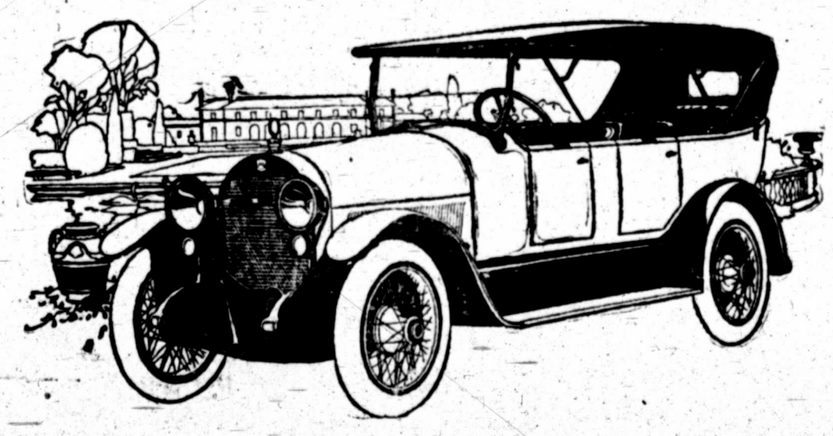

Economy, durability and train-like regularity are the standards set by Essex. These things have been shown in the hands of more than 25,000 owners.

It was more dramatically proved on the Cincinnati speedway, when an Essex stock chassis set the world's long distance endurance record of 3,037 miles in 50 hours. The same car, in three separate tests, traveled 5,870 miles at an average speed above a mile a minute. Another stock Essex set the world's 24-hour road mark of 1,061 miles over snow-covered Iowa roads.

It is specially suited for salesmen, inspectors and others who must cover wide territory, quickly and frequently. Though not large, the Essex is commodious. There is plenty of room for passengers, and special arrangements for carrying sample cases, unseen, and even a trunk if desired.

Come see the Essex Roadster. Ride in it. Try its paces. Whether you want it for business or pleasure, you will appreciate why Essex in its first year set a new world's sales record.

PECOS IS WRESTLING WITH WATER PROBLEM PLAN TO DRILL WELLS

PECOS, TEX., April 3.—A pre-war plan to provide soft water for Pecos, has been revived with the oil boom, by the arrival of H. LaSalle of El Paso, who plans to drill a number of water wells, in the territory 16 miles east of here, and six miles north of Quito, and build a reservoir 12 miles east of here.

Mr. LaSalle represents an El Paso firm, who were forced to abandon their plans at the start of the world war, due to the government demand for pipe. They have a 50 year franchise on the Pecos main, effective when they bring soft water to the city.

Oil men are busily prospecting the Pecos Valley for this soft water needed for their boilers, and it is probable that the water from these wells, known as the "P." wells, will be piped to the drilling fields, north of Pecos.

Long distance telephone service, connecting with Fort Worth, Dallas and El Paso, may soon be a realty. The Fabens and Pecos Valley Telephone Co. have purchased the Fabens and Odessa exchanges and plan to connect the two through Toyah and Pecos, where the oil men are anxious for connections with their headquarters in the larger Texas cities.

Mr. C. J. Bryan has deserted the medical field to enter the oil business and in company with D. W. Bozeman has let a contract to Chas. F. Morris of Eastland, for a well on section 3, block 54, township 4, situated three miles south of the Bell well. Drilling will start as soon as Mr. Morris can get his rig.

LITTLE ASTOR CRACKS U. S.-BRITISH NUT

LONDON (By Mail.)—Lady Astor's little daughter has solved an international problem which has been perplexing the best American and British brains for some months past.

It was at luncheon at Lady Astor's house. The conversation had turned on the topic of present Anglo-American misunderstandings and Lady Astor invited her guests in turn to give an opinion as to the causes thereof.

Words of wondrous wisdom wafted across the table. There was a general feeling that that little difficulty had been settled once and forever, and each embryo-diplomatist having vented an opinion leaned back with a self-satisfied air, as who would say, "I think my theory's best, anyway!"

Suddenly Lady Astor turned towards her young hopeful.

"Well, Toots," she exclaimed, "and what do you think stands between England and America?"

The child, who up to this point had paid very little attention to the babblings of her elders, looked up in evident mystification at having such an utterly foolish question put to her by a parent whose intelligence she had every reason to respect.

"Why, Mummie dear," she faltered shyly, "the—the ocean, of course!"

ASK FOR ROYALTY ON GOLD ABOLISHED

DAWSON, YUKON TERRITORY, April 3.—The Canadian government will be asked to abolish the present royalty on gold because the mining industry is threatened by the depreciation in the purchasing power of the metal, according to the Yukon Development League, composed of miners and merchants. League officers asserted that gold has lost half of its purchasing power and gold mining is the only industry which cannot increase the price of its product.

New Townsite Opening

Big Auction Sale of Lots

There are 358 lots, each 25 by 140 feet. The sale will take place at 1:30 p. m. on the Tillman townsite, Tuesday, April 6th. All lots will be sold to the highest bidders.

A band will be present and refreshments will be served. It is estimated that the average cost of the lots will be in the neighborhood of $100 each. This is a low price. Should good oil production be secured in this territory, a rapid increase in the value of all real estate naturally will follow. Thus in addition to the probable growth of Tillman as a farm shipping point, each lot has a speculative value far beyond what it will cost.

On the New Rock Island Extension

Tillman is on the new extension of the Rock Island railroad from Chattanooga, Oklahoma, to Grandfield, Oklahoma. It is situated about midway between these two places and is the only new town on this extension.

The first train to Tillman will be run over this new road from Chattanooga on Tuesday, April 6th, the date of the sale. A community gathering will be held to celebrate the event.

Tillman also may be reached from Grandfield and from Chattanooga by auto. The roads are excellent. Follow these routes:

FROM GRANDFIELD—Go six miles due north from the east city limits, then one mile east.

FROM CHATTANOOGA—Go one mile west, then five miles south.

TUESDAY, APRIL 6

Tillman a Town with a Splendid Future

Tillman is the logical trading point for the farmers of northern Tillman County, Oklahoma. It promises to become a big shipping point for wheat, cotton and cattle. The townsite is high and well drained. A bank, hotel, grain elevator, lumber yard and railroad station already are under construction or planned.

Tillman is located in what once was known as the "Big Pasture"—480,000 acres of the richest land Uncle Sam ever threw open to settlement. The "Big Pasture" was opened in 1907.

Oil Prospects

Tillman is about eleven miles north of the northwest extension of the Burkburnett oil field. Munn's syncline runs directly through the townsite. Land on all sides is under lease now. Good wells already have been struck in Oklahoma north of the Red River. More than a score of tests are going down within a few miles of Tillman. One test is to be drilled immediately only three miles to the south. Should good oil productions be struck near the town, these lots should prove to be extremely profitable investments.

Tillman County in the Limelight

Tillman county is booming. Located just north of the great Burkburnett extension oil field, it has enjoyed prosperity, almost without limit as a result of this wonderfully rich development.

Much of the oil country equipment used in the Texas fields just south of the Red River is unloaded at Tillman county points and hauled by trucks and teams to the wells where it is to be used. A great number of oil field workers also has been unable to secure suitable places to live on the Texas side and literally thousands of the families of these men make their homes in Tillman county towns.

Add to this the fact that oil operations in Tillman county are very active, and you have a combination of circumstances that lead to ready spending and unnumbered opportunities to make money. In fact Tillman county has been in the limelight for more than a year, because of the probability of discovering there rich extensions of the golden oil sands of Burkburnett. And the country may be electrified any day by the news of a big Tillman county strike, which will repeat the frenzied history of Cushing, Ranger, Homer and Burkburnett.

The new town of Tillman is close to all this activity and the near future may find it in the heart of the same scenes which have made the name of Burkburnett a household word from coast to coast.

Terms:

Each purchaser of a lot will be given a deed in fee simple. Terms of sale as follows:

One-half Cash.

25 per cent in two months from date of purchase

25 per cent in four months from date of purchase

10 per cent interest on deferred payments

3 per cent discount for cash on deferred payments.

The Thomas J. Grogan Co., Real Estate Dealers, of Grandfield, Oklahoma, are handling the promotion. The sale has been well advertised and it is anticipated that a large crowd will be on hand for the occasion.

Everybody is invited.
