EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WHAT'S A HIPPIE?

We thought we knew what a hippie looked like. The boys have long hair, beards and informal dress. The girls skip the makeup, let their hair go and dress informally.

At Western Union—where many young people seem to come to get money drafts from home—we saw a couple a few days ago whose appearance fitted the hippie description. The only difference was that much of what they wore, hippie style, was blue denim.

And maybe they were hippies. But they also looked precisely like the pathetic, confused ranch country kids who used to come into Denver in great numbers to seek a better—or different—way of life.

Maybe under that clothing the difference isn't so great.—Denver Post.

While starvation is reality to millions, even within our own borders, we spend billions to take land out of production and keep crops off the market in a generally unsuccessful attempt to keep producer and consumer happy. There is certainly no simple solution to a very complex problem, but certainly there is a better approach than we have so far devised.—Griffin (Ga.) Daily News.

Editorial

Are law and order being thrown out the window? Are they old-fashioned? The answer to both these questions should be no.

For 115 years, Texas has strived to give its young the kind of education that includes much more than just "book learning." And, because this "something" is so important, Masonic Lodges across the state banded together to implement the promotion of our public schools. But they need help. Your help

Only through you, can the schools begin to teach our youngsters that authority and law and order are not necessarily synonymous with tyranny and dictatorship, but that only through education do they not become these things.

Law and order is a way of life. A good way of life, because all living things are born out of and live out their life patterns in an order.

Let us educate our children to the facts that they are responsible for the kind of future they and their families will enjoy. Let us help them to understand the importance that books, classrooms, and study hold for them. Let us appreciate and support our public schools in Texas.

But don't support and appreciate them silently. Speak out. Visit a public school in your community March 3rd through 7th. It will be a rewarding experience for you, and a living example for your child.

Keep law and order in the hands, hearts and minds of our children. Support your public schools so they can support you. — (Contributed by Masonic Lodge No. 323.)

TAKE HEED

Cold weather is on the way and this means there may be trouble ahead for the family car, and a lot more headaches of one drives to and from work over the freeways.

The Detroit Traffic Safety Association and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads conducted a survey to find out what causes breakdowns on the expressways and interstate highways.

More motorists experienced breakdowns because of engine failures than any other single cause.

Leaving out unplanned stops, 47 per cent of all emergency stops were for engine troubles. Next most frequent cause was tire failure, with 45 per cent. Running out of gas and miscellaneous ailments accounted for the remainder.

With winter driving just around the bend, there's a moral to these figures. Better take the gas buggy around to the garage for a tuneup and while you are doing it. take a good look at the tires to ascertain if they'll last through the winter.

The Detroit study also showed one other interesting fact. That was the number of motorists stopping to assist disabled cars. For every three cars that broke down, two stopped to offer assistance, which shows that chivalry on the freeways isn't dead.

But if the car is skipping now, and coughing and belching, now is the best time to get it in good shape for the winter. Don't say we didn't warn you.

NEW TAX SURCHARGE CALCULATIONS TRIP UP MANY TAXPAYERS

Many taxpayers are making mistakes in computing the new tax surcharge on their 1968 Federal income tax returns R. L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue in Austin, said today.

Some taxpayers are forgetting to add the surcharge to their regular tax while others are figuring it incorrectly Phinney said. If the taxpayer is expecting a refund, it will be delayed until the mistake is corrected.

To avoid mistakes and refund delays, Phinney suggested that taxpayers read the instructions that come with the tax forms. The tax surcharge is explained in both the 1040 and 1040A instructions.

Phinney said the surcharge on 1968 income amounts to 7½ percent of the taxpayer's regular tax. For example, if a person's tax was $1,000 before the surcharge, it would be $1,075 with the surcharge added on.

Although the surcharge is generally described as a 10 per cent tax, it did not become effective until April 1, 1968, Phinney said. To simplify calculations for tax payers, Congress specified that taxpayers pay 7½ percent of the tax on all of their 1968 income rather than 10 percent of the tax on income earned after April 1, 1968.

A simple empty coffee can is one of the most useful things in a boat. You can use it to bail water or to toss loose plugs into.

The quality of your electric service comes first with the people at CPL. That's why we're proud of the fact that service reliability during 1968 was a near-perfect 99-99/100%.

BUSINESS TRAVEL AND ENTERTAINMENT EXPENSES

If you plan to list a business deduction for travel and entertainment expenses be sure to have the records to substantiate these expenses, Asa L. Crow, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue on Corpus Christi, said today. Estimates of these expenses are not legally acceptable for tax purposes.

In many instances, a taxpayer should keep a dairy or timely record as well as receipts and invoices to back up a travel entertainment expense.

To substantiate entertainment expenses you must establish the amount of each separate expenditure except for miscellaneous items like cabs, phone calls, tips and meals while traveling away from home, which can be added together for each day. In addition, the date of the expenditure must be confirmed, the name of the person entertained indicated and the type and location of the entertainment described.

The taxpayer's records should also show the reason for the entertainment or the business benefit expected, the nature of the business discussion and the names, titles and business relationship of the persons entertained.

The detailed rules on how to deduct travel and entertainment expenses are given in IRS Publication No. 463, available free of charge of all Irs offices.

Social Security Financing Explained

More than 23 million Americans receive social security payments at the rate of over $2 billion each month. More than nine of ten working Americans work in jobs covered by social security.

Therefore, practically every American family has an interest in the social security program and its financial soundness.

This interest is reflected in numerous questions from the public about the financing of the program, the most common of which are answered below:

Q—What are the total assets of the social security trust funds?

A—Total trust fund assets at the end of 1968 were $30.8 billion.

Q—What are the social security trust funds and how much is held in each?

A—There are four trust funds. At the end of 1968, the following amounts were held in each fund: Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund—$25.6 billion; Disability Iusurance Trust Fund—$2.9 billion; Hospital Insurance Trust Fund—$2.0 billion; and Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund—$337 million.

Q—How are the social security funds invested?

A—Except for an amount equal to one month's outgo, the funds are invested in interest-bearing government securities.

Q—How are these funds financed?

A—The first three funds are financed from the taxes paid by persons working under social security. Currently, employees and self-employed persons pay social security tax on up to $7800 of their annual earnings. For 1969-1970, the contribution rate is 4.8 per cent for employees and 6.9 per cent for self-employed persons in 1987 and after.

The Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund is financed from a monthly premium paid by its beneficiaries, matched by an equal amound from the general funds of the U. S. Treasury.

Q—Will the funds continue to be solvent in the future?

A—Yes. Contribution rates are scheduled to increase at a gradual rate to finance benefits going to an increasing number of people. There is a constant review of the income and outgo of the funds and revisions are made to reflect expected changes in the economy and in the population.

Rev. Erdelt Heads Cancer Drive

The Rev. Eugene E. Erdelt of Sacred Heart Catholic Church was named chairman of the Aransas County Unit of the American Cancer Society's 1969 educational and fund-raising Crusade, which swings into action April 1.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Bill Hauser of Alice, W. Preston Pittman of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Alton Zamzaw of Three Rivers, directors of District 6 North, who stated that Rev. Erdelt had accepted the position because of "his deep concern for the urgency for cancer control and the need to combat this health enemy by education."

Serving as National Crusade Chairman for the 1969 Crusade is Virginia Graham whose "Girl Talk" TV program is seen nation-wide. She has been a volunteer worker since 1955, was stricken with cancer in 1951 and is one of the 1,500,000 cured of cancer. Miss Graham succeeds Lawrence Welk, television's popular bandleader and entertainer who served with distinction throughout 1968.

Reverend Erdelt in accepting the position in this area noted that the American Cancer Society had expanded its slogan for the Crusade. "This year, the ACS says it this way: Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check."

Citing figures from a recent Cancer Society survey which revealed that 57 per cent of the public did not go for checkups regularly, Rev. Erdelt pointed out the urgency for checkups is seen from the statistics that "while it is true today that one in three is saved from cancer, it is equally true that one out of every two could be saved. In 1968, approximately 100,000 persons died who might have been saved by earlier and proper treatment."

The two strongest reasons for hope in beating back challenges by the disease, he stressed, were a knowledge of cancer's seven warning signals and regular physical examinations, including cancer tests at least once a year. "There is no safer way to defeat cancer than by early detection and prompt treatment. And to achieve this, regular checkups combined with a keen awareness of cancer's warning signals are mandatory."

Reverend Erdelt concluded by restating the 1969 Crusade slogan, adding that "Checkups help you, a check will help research help others as well as you."

Welcome to Live Oak School

By Tillie Frye

Welcome to all that enter these doors,
We take pride in our school from ceiling to floors.
Rooms filled with children . . . filled with litter,
Hoping to teach them a life that is better.
A life to be lived day by day,
Striving to make their paths an easier way.
A desire to give them a taste of truth
That can stand through many ages of proof.
Enter and see beyond child and desk,
Look deeper, and know that we strive for the best.

James Gillis, principal of Live Oak Elementary School, invites all parents and friends to visit the school during Public Schools Week from March 3 to March 7.

The fourth grade pupils will register the visitors as they arrive.

The first grade rooms of Mrs. Eloyce Haigood, Mrs. Nora Peurifoy, and Mrs. Cepha Jessee are working on a unit of "Our Country." They are making a pupil-illustrated booklet on "Table Manners." The pupils are now learning how to measure different things and to count money.

The second grade rooms of Mrs. Ruby Rasco, Mrs. Jane Eller, and Mrs. Jane Browning are beginning a unit on the solar system and its importance to us on our earth planet. There are three native groups in Alaska—the Eskimos in the north, the Indians in southeast Alaska, and the Aleuts on the Alaska Peninsula. The second grades will study the Eskimos who are the most different from our own culture.

The third grade rooms of Mrs. Betty Foster and Mrs. Carol Smith have been studying the five main classes of animals. The classes are eagerly learning to write friendly letters.

The fourth grade rooms of Mrs. Maurine Underwood and Mrs. Tillie Frye have been learning about various countries. They are now completing a unit on Egypt. One of the pupils will soon be living in Egypt and has promised to send back first-hand reports on that country.

The fourth grades are making up a school newspaper which will be given to visitors as they register during Public Schools Week.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Form 1040 U.S. Individual ... for the year ... 1966, ending ... U.S. Treasury ... First name and initial (if joint return, use first names and ...) type

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My boss still hasn't given me a W-2 statement. What should I do?

A—Employers are required to issue withholding statements to their employees by Jan. 31, so it would be advisable to ask your employer about it. If he has gone out of business, your should contact him or the present owner of the business. If the Form W-2 is still not available, then you should prepare your income tax return from the best information at hand, file your return by the April 15 deadline, and attach a note explaining why the Form W-2 is missing.

Q—I received a package of estimated tax forms in the mail. Does that mean I have to fill out one and send it in?

A—You do not have to file an estimated return for 1969 unless you meet the requirements as explained in the instructions that came with the estimated forms.

Estimated tax forms have been sent to every taxpayer who filed an estimated return for 1968 as well as to those taxpayers who had a balance due of $40 or more when they filed their 1967 return. The forms are identified with the taxpayer's name, address and social security number just as they appear in IRS files.

If you are required to file an estimated return, be sure to use the forms sent you. It will assure that your estimated tax payments are properly credited to your account.

Q—Can I deduct the assessment I had to pay for a new sidewalk?

A—No, the law generally does not permit deductions for assessments for local benefits that tend to increase the value of your property. The amount of the assessment can be capitalized, however, and added to the basis of your property.

Q—Where can I get a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax?"

A—This publication can be purchased for 60 cents at local IRS offices or from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for Publication 17.

Q—What records should I keep on my 1968 return in case I'm audited?

A—Keep whatever you need to substantiate the income and deductions on your return. Cancelled checks, paid bills, Forms W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement), and 1099 (U. S. Information Return for Calendar Year), bank books and similar records in addition to a copy of the return, will be helpful.

Q—I've got a refund coming. Where should I send my return?

A—All tax returns should be sent to the regional service center. An envelope addressed to the center was provided in all 1040 tax packages. If you don't have an envelope, address your return to: Internal Revenue Service Center, 3651 Interregional Highway, Austin, Texas 78740.

Q—Can I deduct my medicare premiums?

A — Yes, premiums for Medicare and other medical insurance are deductible if you itemize expenses on your return.

Don't forget that medical insurance premiums are handled differently than other medical expenses. One half of these premiums up to a maximum of $150 may be deducted without regard for the 3 percent limitation generally imposed on medical expenses.

Details on deducting medical insurance premiums and other medical expenses can be found in the 1040 instructions.

In Florida all fishing boats carry an 8 or 10-foot hardwood pole. They find it very useful in anchoring in platts, or poling through shallow water.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Shirt Off Your Back?

To the beleaguered debtor, his creditors may seem ready to snatch away all his worldly belongings. Armed with a judgment against him, they may indeed be able to seize his available assets in satisfaction of their claims.

However, there is a nest egg of possessions which — by law —is exempt from this dire fate. The debtor at least if he has not waived his rights may hold onto these possessions no matter what.

One purpose of these exemptions is to protect the debtor from "losing his shirt off his back"—that is, from losing the simple necessities of life. He is not to be pushed to the brink of either starvation or indecent exposure.

Another purpose is to let him keep what he needs to carry on as a breadwinner, so that he and his family will not become public charges.

Which items are exempt? There a lot of odd items in the individual state laws, such as surreys and spinning wheels. But the most common are the family homstead, furniture, clothing, tools of the trade, insurance benefits, and wages — within widely varying limits.

In interpreting these laws, the courts usually give the debtor the benefit of the doubt, since exemptions are intended mainly for his and his family's welfare.

Thus, under an exemption of "household furniture," courts have protected not only chairs and tables but also a family piano. Under an exemption of "wearing apparel," courts have protected not only an extra suit of clothes but also a wrist watch.

On the other hand, courts have refused to stretch the exemption laws to unreasonable lengths. If they did, crediors would be that much slower to extend credit in the first place.

Accordingly, under an exemption of "tools of the trade," a barber was allowed to keep his scissors and combs —but not his chewing gum machine; an undertaker his candelabrum but not his office safe.

"Exemptions should be liberally construed," said one court, "but should not be applied as an instrument of fraud or imposition upon creditors."

Copano Bay Causeway Offers Great Fishing

Fishermen now have access to fishing waters that they couldn't reach before expect in a boat. They fish under light where no lights existed before, and they catch fabulous strings of fish. They have this in the State's newest park designed exclusively for the fishermen—Copano Bay Causeway State Recreation Park.

In 1962, the Game and Fish Commission, forerunner to the Parks and Wildlife Department, began exchanging letters with the Texas Highway Deparment concerning disposition of the old Copano Causeway across Copano Bay after construction of a new bridge. The new bridge would parallel the old one where State Highway 35 crosses Copano Bay, five miles north of Rockport.

Employees of the Commission thought that when it was no longer to be used for a highway the old bridge would make a good public fishing pier. Highway Department personnel agreed, and conservation minded senators and representatives introduced bills in the Senate and House to make this possible. On March 3, 1963, the legislation was approved and sent to the governor for his signature. A $70,000 fund was then set up to do the work.

As time went by and the Highway Department worked on the new bridge, the Legislature met again. Since the old causeway had never been turned over to the Parks and Wildlife Department, the $10,000 had not been spent. The Legislature reappropriated the $10,000, plus another $10,000.

The Parks and Wildlife Department then applied to the United States Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for matchfunds, and as a result $40,000 was made available to convert the old bridge into two fishing piers. Two piers were necessary because 500 feet had to be removed from the old causeway for navigational purposes.

On Feb. 1, 1967, all work by the Highway Department on the old causeway was completed and the actual transfer to the Parks and Wildlife Department was made. The Copano Bay Causeway State Recreation Park was now to form. Plans were drawn, materials procured, and work schedules for Parks and Wildlife employees were revised.

All construction, plumbing, and electrical work was done by Parks and Wildlife workers. One man stayed suspended under the bridge so long stringing wires for the fishing lights that he claimed he begun to think like a monkey.

Fishing from the pier continued all this time, but on Saturday, May 18, 1968, the concession stand on the south pier officially opened for business. This pier is 2,390 feet long and reaches out into some of the prime fishing areas of Copano Bay. Twelve 1,000-watt light bulbs attract bait fish which, in turn, lure game fish to the area. Twelve 100-watt mercury-vapor lamps light the pier itself.

The concession stand at the end of the pier is run by one of the best known fishing guides in the Rockport area. The Parks and Wildlife Department issued the contract after receiving sealed bids from all interested parties. Under the terms of the law creating the park, the concessionaire is allowed to charge for fishing from the pier, the amount charged to be approved by the Department. Currently, adults pay 50 cents, persons 13 to 19 years of age pay 25 cents, and children 12 and under are admitted free. No charge is made for sightseers, photographers, or bird watchers.

Available at the concession stand are live, dead, and frozen bait, snacks, and cold drinks, and a complete line of fishing tackle and accessories.

Now that the south pier is open and operating, work is beginning on the 6,000-foot north end. When this is completed and has all the facilities now available on the south side, a dream will have became a reality—a recreation park designed with fishermen in mind. (Reprint from Texas Parks and Wildlife Magazine, Sept., 1968.)

This and That

JOHN KINSEY

A nice looking lady came into the Pilot office and bought a copy of last week's paper. She started looking through it and then said, "I'm looking for an ad that someone said was in this paper about TOPS."

I told her that she probably was referring to a short article I had written for the paper two or three weeks ago about the formation of TOPS, the organization with initials that stand for Take Off Pounds Sensibly. I explained that some ladies had formed a local chapter of the national organization.

"Well then," she replied, "you probably know when and where they meet. I want to attend because I have been a member for four years and was president of the Riverton, Utah chapter for two years.

"Now that my husband is retired, we have a trailer and we travel a lot, and wherever I am, I find out if there is a TOPS group and I attend their meetings," the lady added.

I explained that my wife was a member and that I would call and find out where and when the group would next meet. Bernita told me that the "weigh-in" was at 7 p.m. Monday night at Sacred Heart Parish Hall and the regular meeting starts at 7:30.

The lady asked me how many pounds my wife had lost. I said about nine. Then I asked the lady from Utah how many pounds she had lost.

"About 107," she answered. "Believe it or not, four years ago I weighed 249 pounds."

So, don't discourage, local TOPS members!
