CHURCHMAN HELD FOR MURDER OF PITTSBURGH MAN

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—After hearing seven witnesses today, a coroner's jury recommended that Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell be held on a murder charge in the killing of Phillip Clark in the First Christian church at Munhall last Sunday. Clark was shot down as members of the congregation were gathering for Sunday School.

Clark had proposed to bring charges against Tyrrell, contending he was not a fit man to be superintendent of the Sunday School. Tyrrell had represented Mrs. Hazel Clark, widow of the slain man, when she entered suit for divorce recently.

County detective Michael McDermott testified he met Clark on the street the day before the killing, and that Clark told him "Tyrrell has been intimate with my wife and is not fit to be superintendent of a Sunday School." Clark said, the detective continued, that if the church board failed to give hi ma hearing on his charges against Tyrrell, he intended to get up in church before the congregation and "expose this hypocrit."

BUS HEARINGS END HERE AND LEADERS LEAVE

MANY ATTENDED MEET FROM ALL SECTIONS OF TERRITORY

Listening to the final cases on the docket and closing up all details of the hearing here this morning, E. Gilmore, chairman, Lon A. Smith and C. V. Terrell, members and Mark Marshall, director of the bus division, of the Texas Railroad Commission, left Lubbock today for Austin after spending the past two days in hearing applications for the establishment of 27 additional bus lines in forming a closer net-work of motor communication throughout this section. More than a hundred bus owners, county, highway and chamber of commerce officials of the section participated in the hearing.

Held Night Session

Following the convening of the group at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, cases were heard throughout the afternoon and until after ten o'clock last night in order to dispose of the docket as soon as possible. Only one certificate was granted, and that one temporary to A. M. McBurnett for the establishment of a line from Odessa to Brownfield. A permanent certificate will follow the consideration of the project by the commission, it was said. With this exception, no other decisions were made by the group, applications to be considered still further by the commission in Austin.

Only three of the cases presented were protested. Testimony of the protests and applications went into the records of the hearing, the decisions to be announced from Austin at a later date. Five of the cases set for hearing were continued upon motion of counsel, one was dismissed, several petitions altered the testimony of others submitted.

Home of Sacco-Vanzetti Executioner Is Bombed

HOUSE MUCH DAMAGED BUT ALL MEMBERS OF FAMILY SAFE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 18.—The home of Robert Elliott, official executioner for four states and the man who pulled the death switch on Sacco and Vanzetti was bombed early today.

Elliott, his wife and two children were thrown from their beds by this explosion but were uninjured. The house, located in Queensborough was considerably damaged. The front porch was torn away, the front door blown down and every window shattered.

Special Guard Placed

Threats were received by Elliott prior to the Sacco-Vanzetti execution and for a long time police guard was maintained about his house. After the guard was removed the policeman on that beat had instructions to keep a special watch over the home.

Elliott expressed the belief that the bombing was done by sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti, radicals executed at Boston for the slaying of a paymaster. A new police guard was ordered around the home.

Elliott and his wife were asleep in the rear room on the second floor of two story cottage when the bomb exploded. Their daughter, Gertrude, 17, was in an adjoining room while a son, Robert, jr., 27, and a cousin, Thomas Lang, were in the room immediately over the porch. They were all thrown out of their beds, but suffered only minor bruises.

Claim Disputed

DALLAS—Governor Dan Moody's claim, in behalf of the harmony Democrats, of 433 votes in the state Democratic convention at Beaumont, was disputed here today by state senator Thomas B. Love, leader of the constitutional Democrats. "Not more than half the number of delegates the governor is claiming will be for the harmony program as against that of the constitutional Democrats," Mr. Love said.

Renfro Counters

DALLAS—The caucus of "dry" delegates to the state convention, which the Texas constitutional Democrats have called for Beaumont, Monday, is designed to lead the delegates to "ignore and violate" the instructions given to them by their counties, C. C. Renfro, a leader of the Democrats of Texas, harmony group, said in a statement here today.

Good Wheat Yield Is Seen On Plains

South Plains wheat growers are going to harvest a moderately fair crop of grain this season even though dry weather did considerable damage. A month ago many farmers were ready to plow up their grain—some of them did, but those who allowed it to stand will profit, it is thought.

The production has been lowered to a certain degree, but some fields will average as high as 20 bushels.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN TORNADO WRECKS HOUSE

TWO OTHERS INJURED LAST NIGHT NEAR GAINESVILLE

GAINESVILLE, Tex., May 18.—One woman is dead, two persons were injured and much property damage was done by a tornado which swept the Walnut Bend and Rock Creek communities, 16 and 7 miles, respectively, northeast of here, last night. Due to interrupted telephone service and bad roads, only meager reports had been obtained.

Mrs. Ester Mozingo, 19, died of injuries received when the twister wrecked her home in the Walnut Bend community. Her husband and week-old baby were seriously hurt.

Eight Houses Wrecked

Four houses on the farm where the injuries occurred were destroyed, as were four others nearby. A number of others were badly damaged.

Two automobiles on Tenth Street were stripped of their spare tires while several cases of tires stolen from cars at the carnival grounds were reported. One car was even stripped of the tire from a wheel, the car being left standing on the jack. Miss Blanche Bean also reported the theft of a spare tire from her car at 1610 19th Street.

Two automobile wheels with tires on them were brought into the station this morning by a farmer who had found them in his field several miles from Lubbock.

The first week of the next term of county court, beginning May 28 will be "chicken and turkey" week, County Atorney L. A. Howard said today.

Seven different individuals are docketed for trial during the week in the court, there being 33 cases of chicken and turkey thieving charged against them. The cases represent the break up of a ring of poultry thieves which operated extensively over the county last year.

$500 Collected In Camp Fire Campaign

Incomplete returns at noon from only a few of the teams gave $500 as the total collected this morning in the drive for funds for the Lubbock council of Camp Fire girls, J. W. Gamel, president of the council and in charge of the drive, reported this afternoon.

Workers took to the streets again this afternoon in an effort to collect the remainder of the $1500, the goal set for the campaign. Twenty-five workers comprise the teams. Should the goal not be reached this afternoon, the workers will start out again Monday to clean up the drive, it was said today.

Individuals approached in the drive are being impressed with the need of the fund to establish a summer camp for the girls of the city and to also engage a National Camp Fire worker for the city during this summer.

CITY HEADS SEE GOOD REDUCTION FOR TAX PAYERS

With a possibility of a substantial reduction of the city's tax rate loooming before them, members of the city commission are in session this afternoon in connection with various tax matters. Yesterday, they were in a similar session in which tax matters were paramount in the discussion also.

Although it will be quite a while yet before the matter is settled, the question of reducing the city tax rate has been under discussion with the commissioners for some time. The present rate of $1.50 on the hundred is expected to be reduced considerably, due partly, to the employment of the new valuation system inaugurated by the city last year.

The commissioners ordered the purchase of a new Burroughs utility bookkeeping system and machine which will greatly reduce the accounting of the light and water department.

BUILDING FUND REPORTED OUT BY COMMITTEE

HOUSE GETS BILL FOR ERECTION OF NEW FEDERAL UNITS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18—Expenditure of $17,513,560 for work on 99 public buildings throughout the country was recommended to the house today by its appropriations committee in reporting the second deficiency appropriation bill.

The committee, which included funds for the purpose in the measure, explained that the money was needed to carry on the $290,000,000 public biuldings program initiated by the last congress.

The ultimate cost of the 99 projects called for under the present bill, the committee said, would be $74,532,000 or a reduction of $313,000 below the figure recommended by the budget. It was added that this savings had been effected by a readjustment of the estimated cost of several projects.

The bill included appropriations for buildings in southern cities as follows:

Galveston, Texas, quarantine station $37,000; Beaumont, postoffice-court house $40,000; El Paso, federal office building $50,000; Galveston, marine hospital $100,000; Lubbock, postoffice $50,000; Taylor, Texas, postoffice $50,000; Tulsa, Okla., postoffice-court house $285,000.

250 Expected Here For Poultry Meet

Approximately 250 farmers of Lubbock county are expected to meet here tomorrow afternoon in the 99th district court room at two o'clock to continue work of the Lubbock County Poultry Growers association which is expected to form the heart of the South Plains organization now under process of orgainzation.

A progress report of the marketing situation in the county is to feature the meeting tomorrow. Other matters pertaining to the group's future plans will also be under discussion. An authority on poultry, whose name was not announced today, is likely to address the group in the meeting.

House Committee Okehs Court Here

With the okeh of the judiciary committee of the House of Representatives stamped upon the project, Lubbock's campaign for a Federal court appeared a step nearer to success today. Associated Press dispatches from Washington brought the word of the committee's action to Lubbock last night.

MOTHER, OLDER BOY MAY DIE IN MYSTERY CASE

FAMILY ATTACKED IN LUFKIN LAST NIGHT; TWO CLUES HELD

(By Associated Press)

LUFKIN, Tex., May 18.—Officers today were struggling with two meager clues in the murder of John Laing, Houston paper hanger and the serious beating of his wife and two little boys.

The bodies of the family were found by John Morrow, a carpenter, early today in a house they had occupied for the night.

Laing, his head battered in several places, was dead. Mrs. Laing and the two boys, John, jr., 8, and Robert, 2, also badly beaten, were unconscious.

Mother and Boy Near Death

Mrs. Laing and the older boy are at the point of death. The baby is not believed in danger.

"Two men did it!" little John gasped in a fleeting moment of consciousness to Dr. L. H. Denman. This statement and the finding of an iron bar three feet long in the rear of the house are the only clues which officers so far have been able to get.

The Laing family came to Lufkin last night. Laing was to paper the rooms in a house being remodied under the supervision of his stepfather, R. H. Sample, of Humble. He took his family to spend the night in the vacant house. A disturbance was heard during the night but officers are uncertain as to what hour the murder occurred.

The room in which the family was found was in confusion. The body of the man lay on the floor. His wife was in a single bed which the pair had occupied. The older boy had been flung under the bed. The little one was on a pallet on which the children had slept.

Motive Is Mystery

Motive for the crime is a mystery thus far. Sheriff Art Youngblood, his deputies and other officers are working on the theory that robbery might have been the motive, but are inclined to believe that a maniac may have attacked the sleeping family.

Laing had a little more than two dollars in his pockets when found, and this, coupled with a report from Houston that he had had a "big roll of bills" shortly before going to Lufkin, strengthened somewhat the robbery theory.

YOUTH KILLED BY LIGHTNING

POST BOY DIES WHEN BOLT HITS RAILS DURING STORM

POST CITY, May 18.—Hurrying home from a hunting trip shortly after 5:30 yesterday afternoon, Bruce Coleman, 19, son of Mrs. John Coleman and a member of the junior class of the local high school, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning which passed through his body as he walked along the railroad tracks two miles north of here.

Young Coleman, with T. J. Rea and Will Cravy, high school seniors, had taken advantage of a day's school vacation and had spent the day in hunting. Toward the end of the afternoon, seeing a storm approaching, the ycungsters made their way to the railroad tracks and started for their homes here. The storm broke, bringing with it much wind, a heavy deluge of rain and some lightning and one of the bolts, evidently attracted by the steel of the railway, struck the Coleman boy.

Terrified, his two companions summoned aid and the body was taken to Post where interment will be made. Young Rea is the son of the Methodist pastor here while Cravy is the son of a former Garza county sheriff. The Coleman family is widely known in this section, the lad's father, who died several years ago, having been a pioneer ranchman of the county.

ERIE ENGINEER DIES

PATTERSON, N. J., May 18 (AP)—Robert S. Parsons, 55, chief engineer of the Erie railroad, died today. He entered the service of the Erie in 1895 as a rodman.

MARYE and "MOM" Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Darling Mom:

I'm still too much provoked with Alan to let him read your letter, because even if you can find excuses for his conduct I'm not so ready to forgive him. If he thinks he can get into the habit of letting his business come before consideration for me and get away with it I don't see what I can expect in the future.

Anyway he's always telling me that you think as much of him as you do of me, so whenever you take his part it just makes it that much harder for me to handle him. It would spoil him utterly to read all the nice things you say about him. So he doesn't get to see your last letter.

You certainly are a wonderful mother-in-law. Alan thinks the world of you. I wish you'd scold him once in a while, for a change; for if he isn't to take too seriously that part of the wedding ceremony that made him promise to cherish me, then he ought to forget about the "obey" part, too. Alan absolutely forbade—can you grasp it?—absolutely forbade me to come down to the office.

He said I treated his stenographer as though she were poison ivy when she was here at the apartment. Of course I didn't do anything of the kind, but what did he want me to do? Serve her tea and ask her to stay to dinner?

I would have liked to ask her where she got the permanent wave but I wouldn't give her that much satisfaction. For if she couldn't see that Alan and I were having a slight difference of opinion for the moment she must be dumber than she looks. And I dare say she guessed what caused it.

I didn't say a word, but when Alan said, "Oh, that's much too heavy for you, Miss Peters," I must have made some kind of funny sound because both she and Alan turned and looked at me.

Well, of course, I don't care whether I go to his office or not, and I've got a lot of things to do but now I'll have to take time off and go. Who would let a husband get away with that forbid stuff?

So if you want to advise somebody who could use a little advice, write to Alan.

Fondest love,
MARYE

Train Your Brain

URGES FANNIE HURST, WHO BELIEVES BEST MINDS WORK ON SCHEDULE

"Waiting for inspiration" is no valid alibi for not accomplishing things, according to Fannie Hurst, famous author of many novels.

Fannie Hurst

"There may be such a thing as inspiration which floods a person's being and causes wonderful results without much effort," Miss Hurst says. "There may be born writers who work only under its influence. But I have never met this magic thing. Nor do I know persons who have met it either.

"It seems to me an amateurish attack for men or women to wait for inspiration before starting to work.

"Men and women go in for gymnastics. They train their arm muscles, their legs, they swing clubs, and do exercises on schedule so they can acquire skill in this or that and make their bodies behave a certain way.

"Why not try training the mind so it will work on schedule too? Practically every writer I know does this very thing.

"It is the systematized mind and a regular schedule that accomplishes things. If anyone asked my advice, I'd say:

"Don't wait for inspiration. Get to work. Train your brain!"

PROIDENCE, R. I., May 18.—Just to attend the coming Republican national convention would fulfill a lifelong ambition of Mrs. Webster Knight, 2nd—

"But to go as a delegate from my husband's state, and to vote for my own father as the Republican nominee for president—now there's the thrill of a lifetime," she exclaimed.

Mrs. Knight is the youngest daughter of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, one of the "favorite sons" of the Republican party. Her husband is a Providence textile manufacturer. Her election as a delegate to the convention was the first political honor she ever had received.

Pledged to Father's Aid

"The Rhode Island delegation will be instructed to vote for Hoover, but it's no secret here or anywhere else that I'm pledged to support my own dad," she said.

"I can honestly and unqualifiedly recommend my father for the presidency. He's a fine example of a good, conscientious statesman, who has served his state faithfully, and would do the same for the nation.

"Speaking of him as a father, I think he's great. He's the most welcome guest that ever comes to my home.

"He is just one of us, a perfectly delightful person who enjoys everything we do, and plays at everything just a little better and a little harder than we can."

Prominent in Capital Society

It requires no keen observation to sense that the devotion of Mrs. Knight for her father is real and deep. The Senator, too, must be very proud of his handsome, dark eyed daughter, who was much of a belle in Washington before her marriage.

"When I lived in Washington, and lived and heard politics all the time, I think I was quite an intelligent person politically," Mrs. Knight went on. "I was my father's confidante, went often with him to the senate, and knew everything that was going on.

"But since I have been married and away from politics—New Englanders don't talk politics the way they do in Topeka and Washington—I am a little out of the circle.

Plans Political future

"With a husband and two children, my interests have become domestic. But when these children grow up, and when they don't need so much supervision from me, I probably shall revert to type.

"I always have voted, and I know women are needed in politics. I have tremendous respect for women who assume their responsibilities to their parties and to the nation, and I don't want to sidestep mine.

"And again—I think this country will pass up an excellent executive if they don't elect my father president. At present, all my ambition are centered in him."

POLICE GUARD IS CALLED FOR JUDGE, JUROR

CHALLENGE THROWN AS M'LAUGHLIN PROBE GOES FORWARD

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 18. — A judge and a juror slept last night under police protection because each had challenged the power of gangland to subvert the law.

John P. McGoorty of the criminal court was the judge. It was in his court that Eugene (Red) McLaughlin was convicted of highway robbery earlier this week. Fred W. Eicke was the juror. He was one of 12 who found McLaughlin guilty.

Eicke Home Bombed

The hidden powers battling in McLaughlin's behalf already had struck at Eicke, bombing his home Wednesday night. The bomb followed a few hours after Eicke had told Judge McGoorty that two men had sought to influence his verdict in favor of McLaughlin.

Eicke said that one of the men who visited him in the defendant's behalf was Robert McLaughlin, brother of Red and president of the Checker Cab company.

Judge McGoorty called upon police for protection for Eicke after uncovering evidence which convinced him the lives of several persons involved in the McLaughlin were endangered. Patrolmen were assigned to accompany the three Eicke children to and from school, to watch the Eicke home and to act as a personal guard to the juror himself.

Salesman Disappears

Fear of gang reprisal was the reason police assigned for the disappearance of Robert Newman New York jewelry salesman, who was the principal witness against McLaughlin. Newman also testified that Robert McLaughlin had attempted to influence him to change his testimony.

Francis Healy, attorney for a jewelers' association, was another for whom fears were expressed. Police said Healy had been "put on the spot" by one of Red McLaughlin's friends who pointed Healy out to several gangsters as "the bird responsible for all this."

Bond Set At $100,000

In view of the developments Judge McGoorty ordered McLaughlin's bond increased from $25,000 to $100,000—a record high figure for such a case, lawyers said.

Judge McGoorty's investigation was one of three going on today. Attorney General Carlstrom was in charge of a special grand jury investigation which had for its purpose the unmasking of persons responsible for election slayings, kidnapings, slugings, and terrorism. Another inquiry sought to sift charges against three members of the criminal court bench.

STORMS TOLL

Thackerville, Okla., with a population of about 300 was struck by a tornado last night and meagre reports were that nearly every house there was blown from foundations. A Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, who live near Thrackerville, were seriously injured when their home was demolished, many persons were less seriously hurt, but loss of life was prevented by recourse to storm cellars.

An aviator, Ray Siflet, who flew over the storm area of southern Oklahoma, reported that several families were marooned on a small island in the Salt Fork branch of the Red river which at places was five miles wide. Plans were laid to send food to them by airplane because of the swift current of the stream which made succor by boats dangerous.

Lightning Sets Oil Tanks

Large oil storage tanks at Midland and Burkburnett, Texas, were ignited by lightning and loss was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. At Midland, shots from a 3-inch cannon were fired into two tanks to drain the oil and prevent spread to the flames to other tanks.

Railroad tracks were washed out in places and telegraph and telephone wires were down in several instances isolating small communities. One of these was Wellington, Texas, where a tornado struck Wednesday night and from which only meager reports of several houses demolished but no lives lost were received.

Big Rain Hampers All Communication

WICHITA FALLS, May 18. (AP)—Train, bus and telephone services were crippled here today as the result of more than two inches rain which fell in northwest Texas and southwwestern Oklahoma Thursday.

The rain started falling about 7 o'clock and continued at intervals for four hours. The precipitation here measured 2.38 inches.

The north approach to the Red river bridge at Burkburnett was washed out and bus drivers were forced to borrow a ladder from the Wichita Falls fire department before passengers could be carried across the gap and placed in a bus that brought them here.

Railroad Bridge Out

The Red river bridge of the Wichita Valley railroad at Byers was reported to have washed out Thursday night and all traffic on the road halted. Wires were down Friday morning and dispatchers were unable to ascertain the amount of damage.

The Missouri Kansas Texas road's bridge between Altus and Hollis, Oklahoma, was reported washed out. Frisco bridges between Altus and Snyder and Altus and Hollis were also reported out.

A 55,000 barrel storage tank of the Texas Company, located near Burkburnett, was ignited by lightning about 8 o'clock Thursday night and was still burning early Friday. It was estimated that loss would amount to around $70,000.

Auto Sales Shows County Prosperity

tion will not be convinced that the construction of the proposed road is not needed. The Fort Worth and Denver officials are taking the stand that since the proposed road will parallel their branch from Plainview to Dimmitt, in Castro county and that it is not practical at this time.

Want Lubbock Connection

Witnesses from this section will show that the proposed line will traverse thousands of fertile acres and that the inhabitants of this city, county seat of Lamb county, are in need of rail transportation, and especially seek a rail connection with Lubbock. The motorcade will be led by Fred Schreier, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the railroad committee of that organization. Mr. Schreier will also be Lamb county's principal witness in the hearing and has already marshalled his material and statistics which people here believe will frustrate plans to kill the proposed line.

CATS JUMP TO TOP PLACE AS LEADERS LOSE

SPUDDERS AND BEARS GO DOWN AS ATZMEN DEFEAT HOUSTON

(By Associated Press)

To the Fort Worth Panthers goes the record for the biggest jump in one day in the percentage column of the Texas League this year. As a result of their 5 to 1 victory over Houston Thursday while Wichita Falls and San Antonio sustained reverses, the Cats moved from fourth to first place and ousted the Spudders from leadership.

The victory was Fort Worth's second straight over Housion and was marked by the good pitching of Griffin, who allowed four hits, and Carlton, former Panther bat boy, who yielded but three safeties, all of which were registered by Andy Harrington.

Beaumont Beats Spudders

Good pitching also featured the Wichita Falls-Beaumont contest which the latter won, 4 to 3, as Hubbell and Cvengros tangled in a great hurling duel. Hubbell fanned eight of the Dixie champions and was in danger only in the sixth when the Spudders scored three runs. After the first and third innings, when the Exporters got all of their runs, Cvengros had the Beaumont players guessing.

After three straight defeats, the Dallas Steers assumed winning ways and trounced the San Antonio bears, 6 to 5, although outhit, 11 to 14.

The scheduled game at Waco between th Cubs and Shreveport Sports was postponed on account of the Texas University-Baylor University tilt for Southwest Conference honors.

BAMBINO GETS TWELFTH SWAT AT FAST CLIP

ALL LAWS OF BASEBALL AND PHYSICAL SKILL DEFIED BY HIM

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 18—The gentlemen who refused to believe that man could fly or that radio would work or that a hole could be halved in one are in the same position as those trying to account for Babe Ruth's home run hitting spree.

It didn't seem possible that the Babe could break his old record of 59 homers for a single season. But he did it last year and that, the boys concluded, must be close to the limit but this spring the Babe is off at a faster clip than ever.

Physical Laws Don't Apply

Baseball and physical laws apparently do not apply to Ruth. At a time when most players are on the down-grade, the Yankee star is hitting harder than ever, with a dozen homers already under his belt. Just to figure it from another ahgle, he has collected 18 per cent of the record crop he harvested last year with only 18 per cent of the season completed.

The concensus now is that the shrewd owner of the Yankees, Col. Jacob Ruppert, made no mistake a year ago when he signed Ruth to a three-year contract at $70,000 per season. The Babe probably could have commanded at least $100,000 this spring if he had negotiated a one-year contract in 1927.

Chicago Cubs Now In National Lead

(By Associated Press)

Carried aloflg by the momentum furnished by an 11-game winning streak the Chicago Cubs serenely sat atop the National League ladder Friday.

First place fell from the grasp of the Cincinnati Reds Thursday when they bowed to Brooklyn, 4 to 2, while the Cubs were chawing up the Boston Braves, 2 to 0.

Spurt Started May 5

The Cubs started their sensational spurt on May 5 after they had lost 12 of their first 21 games. During the 11-game splurge they have scored 56 runs; collected 108 hits; committed but eight errors and limited the opposition to 29 tallies.

Pat Malone, American Association recruit, pitched the Cubs to their shut-out triumph over the Braves. The Braves found him for only five hits.

The Reds found Dazzy Vance and Bill Doak too much for them at Cincinnati. Dazzy pitched well and received credit for the victory although he was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh when the Dodgers scored two runs. Rixey and Jakie May divided pitching duty for the Reds.

The other National League teams were idle because of rain.

Ruth Drives Out Twelfth

Ruth's 12th home run of the year and Gehrig's sixth aided the New York Yankees to increase their lead in the American League race with a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Blue and Brannon matched both Ruth and Gehrig with circuit drives of their own. The winning run, however, came when Alvin Crowder walked Combs with the bases full. It was the Yanks' seventh straight win and the Brown's seventh reverse in a row.

The Boston Red Sox climbed into fourth place—a lofty height for them—by beating the Detroit Tigers 5 to 3. It marked the Red Sox's sixth consecutive win and the Tigers' seventh defeat in a row.

Chicago Beats Athletics

The Athletics lost ground to the Yanks when they dropped a 6 to 5 verdict to the Chicago White Sox at Philadelphia.

George Uhle was the whole show at Washington as the Cleveland Indians downed the Senators, 8 to 3. Uhle kept Washington's nine hits scattered and drove in four Indian runs. One of the pitcher's two hits was a homer with one on in the sixth. Fonseca of the Indians and Bluege of the Senators also hit for the circuit.

LOUISVILLE IS READY FOR BIG SATURDAY RACE

(By Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 18.—Thousands of visitors crowded hotels and streets today as Louisville made last minute preparations for the fifty-fourth renewal of the Kentucky derby.

By private car, airplane, automobile, day coach and even on horse back, the throng poured into the city.

The only rooms available in larger hotels were those for which reservations had been made months ago but smaller hostelries, rooming houses and private residences had listed 3,000 open rooms late last night. As more than 70,000 visitors were expected for the classic tomorrow, it was believed that every spare bed would be occupied.

And spread. That was the last words for the federation during the spring term of school.

Moody To Address Loan Associations

DALLAS, May 18 (AP)—Governor Dan Moody will address the United Satates League of Building and Loan associations at its convention her next week, the exact date of the address to be announced. The convention will open Tuesday.

in order to make room for the hundreds of pullmans which will be parked as temporary hotels for the guests they brought to the city. Ohio river packets were moored to the levee in the business district so that their staterooms might conveniently be used by overflow visitors.

Rains which had fallen intermittently since Tuesday afternoon let up last night but not until the Churchhill Downs track had been converted into a river of mud and the professional tipsters thrown into a panic on account of the changed odds that a heavy course might make in the derby lineup.

A large force under Tom Young, track superintendent, worked through the night draining the oval in order that possible winds and sun bath would be no longer private.

ALLEN'S SQUAD ASKS BATTLES ON OPEN DATES

OLD TIME SCRAP MAY BE RENEWED WITH FOUR GAMES SEEN

With a new setting, but a most colorful one, it is quite likely that the old baseball feud between Amarillo and Lubbock, which has waxed warm over a period of years, may pop out again most any time.

The Amarillo Texans, under the direction of Sled Allen, former Hubber pilot and dean of baseball managers of the Panhandle and South Plains, have four open dates on their 1928 Class A Western league schedule and want a game with the Lubbock Hubbers of the Class D West Texas loop.

Both Battle For Top

Both the Amarillo and Lubbock clubs of their respective leagues are battling their way to the top. Sled Allen through his old time battling and hustling tactics has the Broncs within three games of the top while the Lubbock Hubbers are now only one-half game behind the Abilene Aces, West Texas circuit leaders.

"Fight it out" cries Cal Farley, secretary of the Amarillo Baseball Association and who for several past seasons mixed in the Amarillo-Lubbock battles wearing the Amarillo livery.

Wants To Show Squad

The four open dates of the Western league schedule fall on the following dates: June 5, July 12, September 5, and September 25 and naturally since Sled has become a little cocky over his success with the Texans he wants to come back home and let the homefolks see his nine aaginst the Hubbers.

Directors of the local baseball club in the West Texas league will consider the matter and action toward the Amarillo-Lubbock games for this season will be made within the next few days.

MANDELL BOUT WITH M'LARNIN CARDED AGAIN

BOTH FIGHTERS WEIGH IN AT LIMIT OF THE CLASS FOR BOUT

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Tex Rickard announced today that Sammy Mandell would meet Jimmy McLarnin tomorrow night, weather permitting. The promoter was authorized by the boxing commission to again defer the bout on account of rain. Originally scheduled for last night, it was postponed until tonight when clouds gathered in the afternoon. The clouds were followed by a hard rain today.

NEW YORK, May 18—Weather permitting, Jimmy McLarnin, Pacific coast slugger, will get his delayed "shot" at Sammy Mandell's lightweight title at the Polo Grounds tonight.

For the second time in a year Tex Rickard's proverbial luck with the elements failed him and he was forced to postpone the 15-round titular battle until tonight. Rain forced Tex to call off a bout between Jimmy Maloney and Jack Sharkey a year ago.

The promoter decided to call off the lightweight struggle yesterday afternoon when the skies held more than a hint of rain.

Both At Limit Weight

McLarnin was a half pound under the class limit but the titleholder was forced to go through a brisk work-out at the offices of the New York state athletic commission in order to get in under the wire. Mandell was a quarter pourid over 135 pounds when he first stepped on the scales but managed to just make the grade after some vigorous calisthentics.

If either fighter derived any benefit from the 24-hour delay in answering the opening bell, boxing experts believed it would be McLarnin. If the weather permits the bout to be held tonight, the principals will not be required to weigh in again. This means that McLarnin probably will enter the ring weighing close to 140 pounds.

Now Hopes for 40,000

Rickard's hope that 60,000 persons would pay to see New York's first lightweight championship battle in five years would not have been realized had he staged the battle last night. The clouds, carrying their threat of a general downpour, held the customers off and at the time of the postponement the advance sale was no better than $125,000. With fair weather, the promoter now hopeh 40,000 will pay $200,000 to witness the clash between the "Rockford Sheik" and the "Baby Face" from Los Angeles.

An English bishop said he dreaded television because even his bath would be no longer private.

SCANDAL TO FLOW WHEN STONEHAM, M'GRAW AND M'QUAIDE OF N. YORK GIANTS GO TO BAT, FARRELL THINKS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Sport Writer

Predictions are being passed around in New York that baseball will be rocked to its very foundations if the quarrel among the quarrel among the stockholders of the Giants gets into court.

The characteristic cynicism of the New Yorker that every business is a racket and that every game is "screwey" has been augmented in this case by the threat of the deposed treasurer of the club to expose the president.

Judge Francis X. McQuade was relieved of a $15,000 a year job as treasurer of the Giants by an act which he called the double cross of Charles Stoneham, president of the club and John McGraw, vice president and field manager of the team.

McQuade threatens appropriate court action and an attending exposure of the relations between the New York and Boston clubs and the methods of Stoneham and McGraw in the management of the team.

Public Likes "Exposures"

Threats of exposures, in baseball, boxing and racing particularly, always come as appetizing food to that part of the public which has its suspicions about the honor and hcnesty of professional sport and it must be admitted that some things have happened to justify the public in being willing to think and expect most anything.

If Judge McQuade does go to court and does do some exposing it is not likely that baseball will be shaken off its foundations for reasons other than that baseball is a sturdy animal that has kept its feet under much more devastating shakings.

It would be interesting to those in the provinces who have been crying about syndicate baseball if it should be shown that the Giants and the Braves were brothers, but we imagine that the Giants and the Braves would go on playing baseball and the customers would keep on paying.

Boston certainly seems content to have Rogers Hornsby with the Braves, bringing as he does better ball playing to look at. New York beyond doubt is satisfied to watch the Giants without Hornsby in the lineup. And the Pirate, the Cardinals, the Cubs and the Reds probably don't care where Hornsby is because they made nothing of the opportunity to get him.

Slight Chance for Scandal

The syndicate baseball horror, under these conditions, would seem to be a minor horror and the chance of a bigger horror such as more details of the Dolan-O'Connell scandal is remote.

There are many angles to that Dolan-O'Connell affair that never have been explained satisfactorily and they hardly would be explained in court because too many times it has been proved that it is very difficult, even in court, to make the boys tell more than they want to tell.

In these court exposures there is always that well known situation where the exposer is liable to have as much mud splashed back on him as he tosses at the accused and to prove others guilty he has to make of himself a guilty part by complicity. This is mentioned merely as a generality with no direct application to the Giant quarrel.

Boxing Expected Quake

The boxing world was led to expect that the fight game would be rocked to its foundations when Jack Kearns went into court to sue Jack Dempsey for all that money. Kearns said he was going to sink Dempsey and Tex Rickard but the two defendants said he couldn't sink them and if he could do any sinking he would sink with them.

There were no exposures in that Dempsey-Kearns suit. If there were any exposures to be made the court would not have permitted them because they would not have been relevant to the case and the parties were so instructed.

Stoneham, discussing the threatened suit against the club, said the deposed treasurer had nothing to sue about. So it is quite likely that after a brief hearing in the newspapers the case will be forgotten.

Hooks and Slides

NO real line on the strength of the candidates for the major league pennants can be obtained until the first intersectional battles have been decided. With the Giants and the Robins showing unexpected strength, the power in the National League is fairly well distributed, but the American League strength is largely confined to the east even if the Indians and the Browns are running against the figures.

The Giants should be able to hold their own in the first skirmishes with the strong western clubs, but it is doubtful that the Robins can maintain their fast early season pace against the Pirates, Cubs, Cardinals and Reds.

The Indians and the Browns also will find heavier going against the Yankees, Athletics and Senators.

Reasons for Grief and Glee

AFTER another week of campaigning the situation around the two circuits seems to be:

Cards—Hafey concussion of the brain. O'Farrell fractured thumb. Holm operation on shoulder. Douthit and Roettger doing the saving act.

Browns—Gray and Kress playing heroes. Plenty of hustle and spirit of nothing to lose.

Cubs—Cuwley hitting .200. Dumb infield work. Root total loss.

White Sox—Lyons, Thomas and Blankenship not winning.

Yankees—Moore and Hoyt out of shape.

Athletics—Fine pitching by Grove and Walberg and timely smacking by Cobb and Speaker. With Simmons out indefinitely Bing Miller and Speaker saving the team.

Indians—Fine substitutes to make necessary shifts. Uhle, Shaute and Hudlin and Langford, an outfielder with an arm like a 16-in. gun.

Reds—Fancy pitching and a great rookie outfielder, Pid Purdy.

Brooklyn—Hitters helping pitchers helping hitters and Rube Bressler.

Washington—Still hurt.

Pirates—Getting into condition.

Giants—Nice early schedule.

Much Better Than Nothing

CONNIE MACK certainly has no goofy traits in his record but the boys thought he was getting a bit balmy last winter when he put out dough to get Bing Miller and Tris Speaker to assist Ty Cobb in making the oldest and slowest set of outfielders in captivity.

But old Connie is having his last laugh and the boys are handing it to him for a lot of smart foresight or luck, if you will have it that way.

Simmons has been out all season and no one knows when he will be able to play. With a player of such ability unable to work it does not take much guessing to figure the plight of the A's if old Connie did not have Miller and Speaker around.

TUNNEY-HEENEY SCRAP TO MOVE OFF ON SCHEDULE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 18.—The official pronouncement may not be forthcoming until Tex Rickard has a few other details out of the way but it can be put down not that the big heavyweight shot of the year, involving the well known Shakespeare scholar and the honest blacksmith from New Zealand, will take place on schedule and on the night of Thursday, July 26, at the Yankee Stadium.

Ever since the fight between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney was signed, sealed and delivered there has been an air of skepticism around it. This atmosphere has become thicker since the knockout of Jack Delaney by Jack Sharkey and the occasional reports that Jack Dempsey was about to reconsider his decision to retire.

Unusual Situation

Rickard, the boys point out, has been up against probably the most unusual situation of his heavyweight promoting career with a Tunney-Heeney title scrap on his hands despit ethe fact that a Sharkey-Tunney fight probably would be a much bigger drawing card and a return Dempsey-Tunney tilt the biggest shot of all.

But there will be no change in the program, nor is there likely to be a second heavyweight fight in September, featuring a Dempsey come-back or a bout between Sharkey and the winner of the Tunney-Heeney contest. The one-big-shot-a-year program of Rickard still

HARRIS SHIFTS HIS LINEUP AS SISLER GOES IN

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—In an effort to increase the hitting strength of the Washington baseball club, a drastic shakeup of the batting order was ordered in effect today by Manager Harris.

The veteran Joe Judge was to be benched in favor of George Sisler who has been waiting since the beginning of the season for just this chance to show that he still is to be considered a major leaguer.

Sammy West will be withdrawn from left field and supplanted by "Goose" Goslin, heavy hitting veteran who has been out of the line up for quite a while with a sore throwing arm.

"Muddy" Ruel, first string catcher for the Senators for several years and whose pegging wing also has been ailing since the team broke training camp, will take over the catching duties in place of Benny Tate.

Harris announced that the changes following yesterday's defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

WOLFFARTH LAYS CLAIM TO TITLE IN DIAMOND PLAY

Flaunting a record of ten games won in the face of other community schools over the country the Wolffarth school, about 13 miles southwest of Lubbock, claims the titled of the only undefeated baseball team on the South Plains. Their 7-5 victory yesterday over Smyer completed the list of victims which included Carlisle, Foster and other nearby schools; also the Wolfarth community all-star team.

All games resulted in close scores considered unusual for rural school baseball. Featuring the team's work in the games were the three Brooks brothers, thought to be promising players by the community.

The team was coached by M. Stevens, superintendent of the Wolffarth school. His list of players includes: L. V. Waldrop, catcher; B. Brooks, pitcher; D. Brooks 1b; M. Jones, 2b; C. Brooks, ss; McReynolds, 3b; J. C. Williamson, rf; J. Holcomb, cf; C. Anderson, lf and I. Stevens and C. Grasto utility players.

OLTON, May 18.—With electric light and power for Olton 'just around the corner', workers of the Texas Utilities company have started the construction of transmission lines in and around the city. The plant is expected to be completed within the next few weeks and service will be begun shortly afterward.

BOY JAILED IN POLICE SEARCH FOR PLAYMATE

IMAGINATION RAMPANT IN VARIOUS STORIES TOLD IN MYSTERY

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 18—Bruno Bogan's imagination, which already has moved a small mountain of sand, finally has put police in a blue. They locked Bruno up last night.

Bruno is only eight years old, but his imagination is full grown. He is the playmate of the missing John Pyrek, also 8, and it is to him that the police have looked since Tuesday for information that would bring some clue to John's whereabouts.

Three different stories Bruno has told, each story starting a renewed search and inspiring new hope in the breasts of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pyrek who today were reported near collapse from uncertainty over their son's fate.

Said Locked In Box Car

Bruno's first story led to general search from the Northwestern Railroad company offices for a search of all box cars on its sytem. The missing boy, according to Bruno, had been locked in a car which later was hauled away by a freight train.

Then Bruno said John had been buried in a sand slide at a gravel pit where they were playing. Acting on this tip scores of men and two steam shovels worked all yesterday moving 10,000 tons of sand, only to find their efforts wasted.

"Well, I guess John didn't get buried in the sand after all," said Bruno, who had watched the steam shovels attack the pile all day long. "I think he fell in the river."

Points Out Spot on River

They took Bruno to the river, and he pointed to "the exact spot" where he said his playmate "sank out of sight." Police made plans to start dragging the river today.

He admitted, however, considerable aggravation and decided that other methods having failed he would keep the boy prisoner a while.

Pleas of distracted parents, bribery, candy, tickets to amusement parks, the kindly questioning of priests—all have failed to bring from Bruno a positive clue.

Today they were to play their last card. Bruno's mother was to take him to see Mrs. Pyrek. He was to be shown the missing boy's playthings and clothes. Through two mothers' love it was hoped Bruno would tell what really happened—where his little playmate is—and whether he lives or is dead.

Flip Of Coin Not Reversal Cause, Held

CHICAGO, May 18. (AP)—Simply because a jury flipped a coin to decide a $15,000 damage suit is no reason for setting such a verdict aside, in the opinion of Circuit Judge David Brothers. He so ruled yesterday in upholding the award of that sum to Mrs. Mary Dibbell in a suit aginst the Checker Cab company.

The verdict was protested on the ground that was determined by the flipping of a coin. Mrs. Dibbell's counsel explained that the jury stood nine to three for the $15,000 award, with the minority favoring $12,000. The coin toss was reported to have ended an eight hour deadlock.

ONE MAN KILLED IN SCRAP OVER LOVE OF WOMAN

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—A quarrel over a woman's affections set down as its toll the death of Charles Fitzhugh Payne, fifty year old auditor of the federal tariff commission, and the holding of Wilbur Kellogg, 34, an attorney, in the district jail for questioning.

The two mixed in a fist fight in an apartment house in the northwest residential section yesterday in which Payne was felled with a heavy blow. Kellogg told police the fight was the outcome of alleged attentions of the auditor to the attorney's estranged wife.

The fight began near Payne's apartment, the two exchanging blows as they made their way slowly down the stairway. Finally, in the lobby of the apartment, Kellogg pinned Payne's right arm to his side and struck him in the mouth with his left hand, the attorney's statement to police said. Payne slumped to the floor.

Appeals For Aid Of Man

Mrs. Kellogg, who lives in the same apartment with two daughters watched the fight from the stairs. As soon as Payne dropped, she appealed to her husband to help the unconscious man to his apartment. He advised her to call the janitor. At that point, however, Mrs. Louis Lawrence, in whose apartment Payne had quarters, came to the injured man's aid and the three helped him upstairs.

There the auditor appeared to revive for a few moments and Kellogg left. Shortly afterward, however, Payne died.

Co-Eds Won't Break Age-Old Tradition

CHICAGO, May 18 (AP)—Co-eds simply will not upset tradition, it appears, so "dutch dating" has been deemed at Northwestern university.

The plan of letting co-eds pay their share of the expenses on dates with the men has been given two trials and found wanting. The first was at a dance during the all-university circus whose sponsors admitted it developed into a "flop."

The second trial was at another widely advertised dance but only 30 couples appeared.

So now the idea has been adbandoned.

COOLIDGE GIVEN FARM BILL AND MARINE MEASURE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—As asked by republican independents in the senate, the McNary-Haugen farm relief and the Jones-White merchant marine bill today reached President Coolidge in the same envelope.

Predicting a veto of the farm bill, Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, a supporter of that measure asked in the senate that Mr. Coolidge also veto the merchant marine measure. He described the shipping bill which would provide extensive replacement of the merchant marine as a "subsidy" proposition because of provision for liberal ocean mail contracts to private shippers.

President Coolidge has ten days within which to sign or veto the legislation.

Senator McNary of Oregon conferred at length with the president today regarding the bill. He, in conjunction with Representative Haugen of Iowa, led the farm relief forces in congress to victory.

The Oregon senator after the white house conference, limited himself to saying that Mr. Coolidge "is still thinking it over."

"I feel that he has not yet made up his mind. I will come down and talk some more with him next Monday," he said.

CHINESE DRIVE NEARS PEKING PRESENT GOAL

JAPAN READY TO HALT MANCHURIA FIGHTING IF NECESSARY

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, May 18.—The nationalists were approaching ever nearer to Peking and Tientsin, goal of the present drive today.

Members of the foreign community at Shanghai believed the northerners were preparing to retire from the capital into Manchuria.

(A Reuter dispatch from Tokyo said that indications there were that Japan was prepared to act on a moment's notice to prevent the civil war from spreading into Manchuria.)

Advance Along Railroad

The nationalists were believed to be advancing along the line of the Peking-Hankow railway. The latest nationalist reports claimed that they had reached Paotingfu, about 80 miles south of Peking on the railway. The nationalist news agency said the vanguard of Shansi troops, which are allied with the nationalists, had reached Changsintien, about seven miles southwest of Peking.

Indications of danger to Peking were seen in attempts of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, northern dictator, to hearten his own troops and discredit the nationalist generals. He issued a proclamation accusing General Feing Yu-Hsiang, nationalist ally, of cooperating with the communsist and attempting to foment anti-foreign demonstrations. This last charge was regarded as an attempt to involve the nationalists with the Japanese.

Japs Name Commander

The Japanese formally notified the Chinese authorities at Tsinan, where nationalists and Japanese clashed, that Major General Saito had been appointed garrison commander there to assist the chamber of commerce in maintaining order.

Chiang Kai-Shek, nationalist commander-in-chief, made an unsuccessful attempt to open negotiations with Lieutenant General Fukuda, Japanese commander at Tsinan, being anxious to discuss the Japanese demands on the Nanking government. General Fuguda refused to negotiate except with a personally appointed delegate.

Japan Wants Early Termination Of Row

TOKYO, May 18. (AP)—The Japanese representatives in north and south China today were instructed to inform the two warring governments that Japan hoped for a speedy termination of present disturbances in China.

The government instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, minister to Peking, and S. Yata, consul at Shanghai to hand memorandums to this effect to Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, northern dictator, and Huang Fu, foreign minister of the Nanking government.

The Japanese memorandum also said that should disturbances develop at Peking or Tientsin and affecting Manchuria, Japan might take effective steps for maintaining the peace in Manchuria. Japan however, would maintain a strictly neutral attitude between contending forces.

GOTHAM BOMB

Police were unable to find anyone who heard or saw those who placed the bomb. Members of the bomb squad from New York headquarters estimated the bomb had a time fuse and had been placed either on the porch or under it half an hour before the explosion.

Elliott was appointed executioner for New York early in 1926. At the time he was executioner for Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He is 54 years old.

A quiet, gray haired man, he never seemed affected by his death-dealing job until the execution of Mrs. Ruth Synder, the first woman on whom he had pulled the switch. He suffered a nervous breakdown after the Synder-Gray execution at Sing Sing prison in New York and was under the care of a physician for several weeks. He has always avoided publicity and little is known of his past life. Even his neighbors were unaware of his occupation for some time after his appointment as New York's executioner.

Kills Over 100 Persons

Elliott has put to death more than one hundred persons and his income is said to average about $4,800 a year. He received $900 for one day's work in January 1917 for executing three persons.

When the police reserves rushed to his damaged house today they found Elliott in the kitchen calmly discussing the bombing with his wife.

"Are you going to stay here for the rest of the night?" police captain asked him. "Do you want to be escorted anywhere?"

"No," was the reply. "Our room and bed seem to be all right.

"We are going to remain right here. Nobody is going to drive us away."

At the Wolffarth school, Mr. Pevehouse will make the address to the graduates, there being two in the high school and 12 in the grammar school. The high school graduates are J. C. Williamson and Miss Ruby Harrison. A. J. Brooks, president of the Wolffarth school board, will present the diplomas. M. L. Stevens, superintendent of the school is to make a short talk also. A program is to precede the presentation of the diplomas.

OHIO MYSTERY CASE DEEPENS

GIRL FEARED KIDNAP VICTIM IS BELIEVED STILL ALIVE

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 18.—With fresh clews discovered by police, rewards posted and another suspect under arrest, hope was renewed today that 10-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum, missing since last Monday, would be found alive.

Chief Wallace Metcalf of the city vice squad announced he was working on a new theory but declined to reveal its nature. However, he said the scheduled dragging of two lakes in Mill Creek Park, near the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rosenbaum, had been abandoned.

Another Suspect Held

While the search was spread into northeastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and New York, another suspect was arrested for questioning today. It was also believed police hope to trace the missing girl, who was last seen Monday entering an automobile, by a strange man, through questioning of another man who has not been arrested but who has talked concerning the case.

While police, Boy Scouts, world war veterans and other citizens planned to continue their search of this vicinity for the girl today, Mrs. Rosenbaum had given up hope of see her child alive.

Believed Ransom Wanted

"My heart tells me Beatrice is dead," she said.

The girl's father, a steel worker, who has been out of work a week, believes his daughter was kidnaped for ransom, although he said he has no money. For the third day he watched for ransom notes today, thinking that perhaps the girl had been taken away in the belief she was the daughter of one of his five brothers, all of whom are Youngstown business men.

Miss Jane Mast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mast, 2219 13th street, was selected this afternoon as the sponsor to the convention from the Tech, it was announced by officials of the college.

Miss Mast is also a junior in the college this year and was chosen along with Miss Gilkerson as one of the college beauties during the first year.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, May 18 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady in response to better Liverpool cables than due. Prices continued steady after the start on heavy rains in Oklahoma, July trading up to 20.97, October to 20.80 and december to 20.77, 7 to 10 points above yesterday's close.

Later the market turned easier on the theory that a reaction was due and that the market had become top heavy. July traded off to 20.87, October 20.68 and December 20.65, 10 to 12 points down from the highs. When the offerings were absorbed the market steadied on fears of an over-abundance of rain in the belt.

The market stiffened later on reports of further heavy rains in Oklahoma and North Texas, July advancing to 21.10, October 20.93 and December 20.80, 19 to 21 points above yesterday's close.

The advance attracted considerable realizing and there was some renewed selling on the reaction early. July eased to 20.75 and October and December to 20.57, or 23 to 25 points off from the highs and 10 to 15 points below the previous close. Near mid-session the selling apparently having run its course prices recovered 4 to 10 points of the loss.

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 7 to 11 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and talk of more or less unsettled weather in the south.

The bulge met extensive realizing, however, and prices soon sagged back to about yesterday's closing quotations. Trading was moderately active at the start, but tapered off later if the market was inclined to await further weather and crop developments.

The market stiffened during the morning on covering and commission house buying, with July advancing to 21.32 and October to 20.97, or 15 to 19 points above yesterday's closing quotation. No fresh news feature was mentioned in connection with this upturn, which reflected continued nervousness over the new crop start. The market eased near noon, when there was realizing and selling on a more favorable view of the weather outlook. At midday July was selling around 21.02, or about 30 points below the best, with active months generally showing net declines of 1 to 15 points.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Raising of the New York federal reserve bank rediscount rate and the increase of more than $140,000,000 in brokers' loans brought a flood of selling orders into the stock market today, and gave opening prices a distinctly reactionary tone. Curtiss Aeroplane broke 4 3-4 points on the first sale, American Linseed 3 3-4 and General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Radio and Texas Gulf Sulphur sold down a point or two. Wright Aeronautical, Western Maryland and Mack Trucks opened a point or so higher.

First batch of over-night selling orders was absorbed and the market staged an impressive rally. Curtiss Aeroplane, American Linseed, U. S. Steel common and a number of other issues recovered their early losses and moved higher.

Meanwhile pool operations were resumed in a number of special stocks. St. Joseph Lead was quickly run up 5 points to a new peak at 48. International Harvester and Park & Tilford also moved into new high ground. Curtiss rallied from 135 to 140 3-4 and American International from 118 to 121 1-2 before the end of the first half hour.

Foreign exchanges moved lower in direct reflection of the raising of money rates which is likely to result in the withdrawal of some American balances from abroad. Sterling cables were quoted 1-16 of a cent lower at $4.88 1-49.

The closing was steady. The list went up fast in the final hour under the stimulative leadership of a boom in the merger rails. Chesapeake and Ohio shot up 9 points and Delaware and Hudson 8. Prices of Pere Marquette, Wabash, the Nickel Plate, Reading and New York Central sizzled as they moved up. The recovery in volatile specialties was even more violent. Wright Aero and Curtiss Aero selling a dozen points or more above their earlier high, and Radio and American International more than five points each.

CHICAGO TRADING

CHICAGO, May 18 (AP)—Big export buying, estimated at 2,000,000 bushels gave a quick upward swing to the wheat market today. It was said that all wheat offered overnight to Europe had been accepted.

Opening 1-3 3-4c to 3 3-8c higher, wheat subsequently held near the initial range. Corn, oats and provisions, as well as wheat, showed strength, with corn starting 1-2c to 1 1-2c up, then reacting slightly.

Wheat closed unsettled 1 3-4 to 2 3-8c net higher, corn 1-4 to 1-2c off, oats 1-8 to 5-8c up and provisions from 10c decline to an equal advance.

WOOL TRADING

BOSTON, May 18 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The market is stronger for wool everywhere. Buying in the west proceeds steadily and most of the far western states are practically cleared of the new clip, while in the bright wool states the new clip movement is proceeding more or less steadily. In the east the market is slightly dearer, though still below the parity of western prices, with the demand somewhat spotty.

Foreign markets are firm.

The manufacturing position is still somewhat difficult but slowly prices on various lines of goods are being advanced and the outlook is more promising than for some time.

Mohair is rather quiet. The new cape clip of adult hair moves steadily, with America buying more or less freely.

Wool quotations: Scoured basis—Texas fine 12 months (selected) 1.15-1.20; fine 8 months 1.10-1.15.

Mohair—good original bag Texas spring 75-77; Texas kid 90-92.

Easy HOUSEKEEPING
By Mrs. Meg MacGregor, Director of Household Science

"Stains never worry me now"

This is the cheerful beginning of a letter I have just received from a woman in Cleveland. And it is true that stains need never worry any woman who knows when and how to use Clorox. For Clorox is "bottled magic."

Common stains

For instance: Nearly every day in every family someone spills tea, coffee, chocolate, or wine. Take the stains out with Clorox in correct solution.

And then ink spots—out they come—jiffy quick! Another ugliness that sometimes seems absolutely fatal is the stain caused by medicines—argyrol, iodine, mercurochrome and others. Fruit stains, too, are easily disposed of. All these can be safely and quickly treated with Clorox. You have only to follow the directions carefully.

Mildew and scorch disappear easily too

Who hasn't carefully rolled up a cherished doilie, lunch cloth, or white cotton or linen blouse—only to let it mildew? And who hasn't taken special pains with some fine piece of linen, only to scorch it? But these accidents need not be fatal! For mildew—soak in the proper solution of Clorox for ten minutes and hang in the sunlight until all discolorations vanish. For scorched spots the method is easy, too. The label shows you how. You'll say it's nothing short of magic and it is!

Send for my Free Chart

If you have a difficult problem of cleaning or disinfecting won't you write to me about it? Perhaps I can help you. I shall be glad to answer your letter and send to you, free of charge, my "Easy Housekeeping Chart" to hang in your kitchen.

SPEAKERS FOR NOMINEES NOW MAIN PROBLEM

ATTENTION TURNS TO NOMINATORS DURING CONVENTIONS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—All the nicethings that can be said about a presidential candidate usually are summed up in the nominating speeches at the national conventions, and one of the problems of the various aspirants for the presidency is to determine who should propose their names to the delegates at Kansas City and Houston next month.

Some candidates have made a decision; others have not. It is a certainty, however, that the honors will fall to members of the home state delegations. What is a custom, rarely, if ever, disregarded.

Hoover Looks to McNab

Of the republicans, Hoover looks to John McNab, a San Francisco lawyer, to place him in nomination, although, for personal reasons, McNab may stand aside for some other member of the California delegation.

Lowden has not shown his hand. The convention will be called on to name Curtis by the massive "Poly" Tincher, once a picturesque member of congress from Kansas. To Will Wood, the veteran representative from Indiana, probably will fall the honor of proposing Watson. Who will eulogize other candidates, including several "favorite sons" has not been decided.

Davis Is Smith Aide

As to the democrats, there is some talk of John W. Davis, party standard bearer in 1924 and this year a delegate at large to the Houston convention from New York, might present Smith's name. "Jimmie" Walker, New York's dapper mayor, also has been mentioned, but indications now are that Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice presidential nominee in 1920, will be the Smith spokesman. He placed him in nomination at the historic Madison Square Garden convention four years ago.

Hull of Tennessee, expects to ask Colonel Harvey H. Hannah of Oliver Springs, Tenn., who was a lieutenant colonel of his regiment in the Spanish war, to call for his nomination, while George of Georgia, Reed of Missouri and others who will go into the democratic convention with delegate support have not indicated who will speak for them.

STATELY GRADS

Caps And Gowns To Be Work Tonight By Kindergarten

Sweet girl graduates and lads who have attained that venerable age of six years, disciples of the Hunt and Dupre ward kindergartens, are to march across the high school stage this evening to receive their first diplomas.

Clothed in the stately attire of scholars—and probably wearing the traditional mein of students—these 25 youngsters are to appear in a program rivaling other commencement exercises in the city. The kindergarten graduating exercises which are to begin at 8 p. m. and are free to the public have been prepared under the direction of Miss Elsie Conner, teacher. An orchestra, which has Junior Sampson, gradson of Mrs. J. W. Sampson, as director, will be featured.

Graduates in White

Some of the pupils have been selected for faculty and school board positions and will come to the stage in black caps and gowns. Graduates will be clad in white.

Junior Sampson is to be in the role of president of the school board while Jack Hankins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hankins, has been selected as class president. Billy Trice, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trice, is yell leader; Eugene Nail, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Nail, has been selected to be the school superintendent.

The school principal is Sara Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jones; Betty Jane Eubanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Eubanks, is to parade as secretary of the school board, and Wilday Ray White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. White, is vice president of the board.

Executives' Aid In Progress Is Cited

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 18.(AP)—Contributions of commercial executives to progress were stressed in an address here today by Joseph F. Leopold, manager of the southern central division of the United States chamber of commerce, who spoke to more than 80 delegates to the twenty-second annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives association.

Other speakers were W. Roy Christian of Corsicana; Ray Gill of Beaumont; Hubert Harrisen of Wichita Falls, and Homer Wade of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

County Tax Rate Is Not To Be Changed

The tax rate for Lubbock county will remain unchanged during the coming year, the county commissioners voted in their metings this week, Rolbe O. Burns, county tax assessor, announced today.

The rate will be the same as last year, 80 cents on the 100 dollars.

A decrease in the rate was considered impractical by the commissioners, due to the fact that the present rate only went into effect last year and that the state rate is likely to be given a cut.

The commissioners will take up the tasks of the equalization board on June 13, Mr. Burns said today. Hearing will be made beginning on that day, on all property owners' complaints regarding assessments.

Swain Chick Plant Nears Completion

When completed, the baby chick plant on the R. E. Swain farm, just south of Lubbock, will be one of the most modern in this section of the state. Workmen are at this time completing their work and the building will be ready to turn over to the owner in another two weeks.

The brooder has a capacity of 4,00 chicks without crowding and is arranged in such a manner as to make it possible for the chicks to go from the fire to the sun room or the grazing ground at pleasure. Heat is furnished by a hot water system that is adequate in size to care for 16,000 chicks.

Telephone Company Heads Visit Here

S. L. Odegard and A. L. Harte, of Chicago, president and vice-president respectively, of the State Telephone company, are in Lubbock looking over properties of their firm here and both had words of commendation for the solid economic foundation of the city and surrounding territory.

The company with which the men are connected is planning improvement and expansion in this area they said.

Payne Holds Lead In Pyle Marathon

BRADFORD, Pa., May 18 (AP)—C. C. Pyle's bunioners faced the 53 mile trip to Wellsville, N. Y., today with equanimity born of the fact that the trek brings them that much closer to the final goal, New York. The race will end at Madison Square Garden, Saturday, May 26.

Holding a lead of 20 hours, eight minutes and 29 seconds over his nearest opponent, Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., was conceded better than an even chance to win first prize money of $25,000.

Am Ruchman, who led through the 44.2 miles from Jamestown, N. Y., yesterday, said he would conserve his strengt hfor a final dash into New York, his home city.

Planting Under Way In Lamesa Vicinity

LAMESA, May 18.—Dawson County farmers are busy this week planting feed and cotton. Every available tool and man is no longer idle but instead are to do double duty from now until all seed are in the ground. There was never better season for planting in this section and the farmers are making good their opportunity. It is estimated that a good feed crop could be made without additional rain and little rain will be needed to insure a good cotton yield. About 200,000 acres will be planted to cotton while more than 100,000 acres will be planted to feed. All lands were up and ready for planting when the rain came and on the average of three and one-half inches fell here.

Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith seem to have found a place in the sun—in California at least.

Thought For Today

We all do fade as a leaf.—Isaiah 64:6.

Sinclairized

Now that the late lamented Sinclair trial has slipped far enough into the past for us to look at it in the proper perspective, it might be a good thing for us to study it, as a scientist would study some strange bug he had found in his test tube, and see what it means.

It has been said, for instance, that it means that America cannot convict a man with a million dollars; that our jury system is a failure, and that the government cannot possibly gain a conviction in the District of Columbia.

Are these the real meanings of the famous trial. On the surface it looks as if they are. Yet a little thought will disclose another portent underlying all of these secondary indications; a thing more dismaying than these, calling for prompt, drastic action.

Our court machinery, it would seem, is almost hopelessly complicated. It defeats its own end. A major criminal trial loses sight of its real function, which is to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused party; it becomes a game, conducted according to elaborate, intricate rules, which no layman can ever quite comprehend. In the Sinclair case the prosecution was not allowed to introduce certain vital evidence—not because that evidence had no bearing on the question of Sinclair's guilt or innocence, but because its introduction would have been contrary to the rules of the game.

Under these rules Sinclair was not required to utter one word of explation and defense; more, the jury was not even permitted to hold his silence against him. The jury was not allowed to know what the supreme court thought of the mess. After the trial, one juror admitted his amazement to read in the newspapers facts which were never presented in court.

What does all of this mean—if not that our legal machinery is crying to heaven for revision? Can any other interpretation possibly be placed on it? Is it not time that we stopped considering a criminal trial a fascinating game for high priced lawyers and make it a trustworthy process for settling the question of a man's guilt or innocence?

The lawyers of the country would seem to have a responsibility in the matter. Through their bar associations they wield a great influence on the laws that govern court procedure. Cannot they speak out and begin working for a change? Or is the game, as now conducted, more luerstive than it might if simplified?

That is the real issue brought up by the Sinclair trial. After all, Teapot Dome has been returned to the government. Fall has quit the cabinet. Sinclair, if not in jail, has at least had an unpleasant time of it of late. If his acquittal will serve to shake up our criminal court processes and unbind the cords that fetter the arm of justice, the country, after all, will have gained something.

Prohibition

Whether or not the whole world ever will adopt prohibition is too deep a question to be answered here; yet there are strong indications that the world is constantly growing more temperate, at any rate.

Paris, capital of France, has a whole multitude of bars. It is as easy to get a drink in Paris as it is to buy a loaf of bread in Kansas City. There is no hour of the day or night when some salon is not open. Yet drunkenness is on the decline—markedly so.

In 1912, for instance, Parisian police made 25,000 arrests for drunkenness. Last year the figure had fallen to just under 8,000. The police insist they are no more lenient now than they were formerly. What is the answer?

Observers abroad believe the chief reason is the suppression of absinthe and the greatly increased prices of the stronger drinks. Whatever the reason, however, the figures are vastly interesting.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Boardway seys she believes policemen should be vaccinated because they're always catching something.

Spirited bidding and a successful offer of more than $1,500 marked an auction of what was purported to be the "war torn and dusty" tri-cornered hat which Napoleon Bonaparte wore while pursuing his dream of a world empire. Money, in this day and time, seems to have lost a certain part of its intrinsic value.

* * *

As the Plainsman sees it, the tri-cornered hat of Napoleon—even though it be the original—is worthless, as far as benefit to the public at large is concerned, in the hands of a private owner. The hat is steeped in historic value and should have been allowed to go nowhere save to France's national museum. The hat was purchased by a French artillery officer at the Paris auction.

* * *

In Chicago "Red" McLaughlin has been convicted of highway robbery. Shortly after the conviction the home of Fred Eiche, one of the jurors, was bombed. Then it was discovered that two men had attempted to bribe Eiche during the trial to "give 'Red' a good break" and Eiche refused. The record of "Red" McLaughlin was perused and it was discovered further that he had been arrested before, once on a charge of murder, prosecution of which was dropped for lack of evidence, and that he had been shot down by the mayor of a Wisconsin village who made the remark that "he may be tough in Chicago but he can't get tough here."

At any rate McLaughlin, who is described in Associated Press dispatches as "a thorn in the side of Chicago police," appealed his conviction on the highway robbery count and his bond, originally set at $15,000, was hiked to $25,000 because it was found that "he had once jumped a $50,000 bond."

* * *

What kind of laws have we, anyway, that can't be tempered with common sense? Why should a man with the record evidently compiled by "Red" McLaughlin be granted a bond at all? Why should he, whose friends resort to bombing and attempts to bribe a juror, be turned out of jail while his lawyers fiddle around in legal loopholes, free to engage in other depredations at the expense of society?

* * *

We hear a lot of talk about crime waves but we don't do anything about them. The way the laws of this land can be stretched and misinterpreted to serve the interests of the criminal element is a blight upon modern civilization. Chicago is no different from any other city although the shenanigans engaged in there appear to be more flagrant than in the average place. The whole machinery of justice seems to be in dire need of a thorough overhauling.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says these are dangerous days. He's afraid all the time now when he goes home in the evening that he'll find the lawn mower crying for attention.

The way Babe Ruth has been banging out homers no baseball fan can deny that there's such a thing as "socks appeal."

* * *

We read of the stock exchange winnings,
Of burglary, arson and sin.
But what we don't worry a darn bit about
Is what's going on at Tienstin!
We like to read tidings of Nobile,
That the Cubs put McGraw's team to rout.
But hate to waste time reading line after line
On what we know nothing about!

* * *

Mention cotton to the fellow who lives in the boll-worm infested area and he'll likely ask you "what's the use of bringing that up!"

* * *

A young woman whom press dispatches refer to as a "six gun girl from Texas," is doing her bit, though perhaps innocently enough, to continue to spread the name of the Lone Star state as the "wild and woolly west." It seems that the lady in question is in California and has had several run-ins with officials which have proved sensational enough to get her name and activities displayed upon the front pages of the far west newspapers.

* * *

And over the news wires tick the merry feature stories of the "six gun girl from Texas." In the north and east the people who have never come within striking distance of Texas borderlines read them and chuckle and continue to believe that people from Texas are wilder'n than wildcats and twice as mean.

* * *

Obviously Texas needs to combat such stuff. People in other parts of the country should not be permitted—even because of their own innocent ignorance of the facts—to think that Texas is a place where there is more shooting than civilization. The Plainsman believes that it would be money well spent if Texas would raise a fund to spread the gospel of the real Lone Star state in words and pictures. It would mean more business for Texas and Texans in the long run.

Flood Control Is The Nation's Job And Uncle Sam Must Pay The Bill Is View Taken By Congressman Frank Reid

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and born BROADWAY

NEW YORK, May 18.—Hart's Island looks directly upon that section of Long Island that is studded with the estates of the rich. From Hart's Island you can see the rolling green lawns, the trees, the mansions and the drives of such swanky commuting points as Great Neck, or Sandy Point. Looking across on a warm Sunday afternoon, you can imagine the smartly dressed week-enders in their colorful sport togs, you can see the cars spin up and on a quiet day you can hear the faint echo of an autohorn or a whistle.

Therein lies some of the somber mockery of contrast!

Just behind Bellevue hospital, where derelicts and penniless ones can find a cot, is a sturdy little pier. In mid-morning and mid-afternoon a boat pulls out carrying a gruesome cargo. It is taking the bodies of the unknown and uncared for dead to Hart's Island. For this quiet, somewhat brakish island has a desolate, sandy hill upon which are buried the unknowns of the metropolis. This is the super-Patter's field of Manhattan.

At the Hart's Island point there is an ever alert buoy. Thereon is a bell of solemn tones which, night and day, sounds its dirge for the unfortunates who have escaped at last to a sandy hill, standing upon which you can see the green trees lean in the wind on the estates of the rich just across the water. Such last rites as are said for the paupers could be watched with a spy-glass by one standing upon the balcony of any one of the millionaire's mansions.

To Hart's Island comes the bodies of men they find lying in the gutter. Scores of them are buried without so much as the record of a name. No one knows them, no one claims them, no one identifies them.

And so the records of the Island read: "John Doe—found dead in a doorway in Times Square." Or "Baby Jane Doe, found abandoned in a doorway." Or "Jennie Roe, victim of alcoholism, found in Battery Park."

They come by many trails to the sand hill on Hart's Island. They come from the west and the middle west, the south, the north and the east to die on a New York bench, or whisper their last words to a busy nurse of Bellevue. They come and go and live and die and nobody knows and nobody cares.

But they are rare, you may say! Not in the least. The little boat from Bellevue averages almost 29 a day, 140 a week, or more than 6,000 a year—6,000 persons a year who are buried without the dignity of a grave marker. No, that isn't exactl yaccurate. They bury them 150 to the grave on Hart's Island, with a single headstone for the bunch. And there are not always that many names to a stone. Now and then a patient man or woman arrives on the sand hill and goes sorrowly through the vast tiers, scanning the list of names and going away, shaking their heads sadly. A mother—a father—a sister, trying to get some trace of a missing son, father, husband, daughter!

That is a part of Manhattan you forget about unless you go to the pier back of Bellevue Hospital or pass Hart's Island and are reminded by the dirge-like bell that warns boats of destruction on the rocks.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Representative Frank R. Reid of Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control Committee and father of the Flood Control Bill recently passed by the House, has written for The Journal and NEA Service a concise explanation of the legislative problem raised in Congress with passage of the House and Senate flood control measures, which are now in conference. Chairman Reid's article boils down the situation to its elementals.

BY HON. FRANK R. REID
Chairman of the House Flood Control Committee
Written Especially for NEA Service and The Journal

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The principal issue in controversy in connection with flood control legislation is whether the United States government shall require the local interests in the Mississippi valley to contribute to the cost of the work of preventing the destructive floods of this vast interstate river.

My position, and that of the proponents of the bill just passed by the House of Representatives, is that the protection of life and property and the safe conduct of interstate commerce, as well as the protection of the mails, are the solemn obligation and duty of the government of the United States, and that there should be no provision for local contribution in the bill if Congress really intended to protect the lives and property of its citizens from these destructive floods.

If anyone asks why the federal government should be urged to take hold of this problem on a national scale and assume full responsibility for the time, labor and great cost involved in obtaining complete control of the Mississippi river, surely it is sufficient to remind him that the drainage basin of this great river covers 41 percent of the total area of the United States, and the river pours down into the lower valley the draining from 31 states.

THE elemental weakness of the present system, as disclosed by all the investigations and reports, is that the dependence upon local participation has resulted in a weak and unfinished system of levees. No levee system can be effective unless it is unified, coordinated, and complete, and should any levee district fail to pay its contribution, the whole plan would fail.

It is contended that benefits will result and those receiving the benefits should pay part of the cost of the work. Of course benefits will ensue, but not the kind upon which a special tax upon adjacent property is warranted. The benefits may be listed as follows:

Human life will be saved.

Sickness and disease will be prevented.

People will not be driven from their homes and made objects of charity.

Suffering and misery will be prevented.

Land will not be washed away.

Property will not be destroyed.

People will be able to follow their occupations.

Industry will continue.

Interstate commerce and the United States mails will not be interfered with.

There will be a feeling of security that will restore confidence.

NO court or law of the land ever levied a special tax on land based on these elements and to require a payment for these benefits would be levying a tax on saving of human life, on occupation, on industry, on opportunity, on progress, and on property.

These enefits are some of those for which our national government is organized, are properly paid out of the general treasury, and are given freely and without price in order that general welfare may be furthered.

Our country can prosper only in proportion as our citizens prosper, and the misfortune of great numbers effects the fortune of the nation. Why states as such should be considered in this matter is not clear. The states asked to pay have no part in producing the destructive flood waters. Floods know no state boundaries and can not be controlled by flat. The states as such cannot legislate regarding the control or use of the navigable waters of the Mississippi.

THE Mississippi river has worked the deadliest wrong to this country—its gifts to the south are discontent, impoverishment, and degradation.

The farmer and his family must live in semi-starvation, in wretched hovels, amid squalor and privations, barbed by the thought that any little money earned by labor and sweat from day to day will have to go to the federal government to pay for levees.

The loss in human life can not be measured. For who shall put an estimate upon the value of the souls destroyed by the same causes, and who shall gather the tears of the widow and the orphan, the bloody sweat of anguished families, and the griefs for loved ones lost, fortunes broken, and hopes destroyed; and weigh them in the scale with a pitiful appropriation of money?

AFTER the flood had subsided these people had no homes to which to return; their fields have grown up to weeds, they have no mules, no implements of husbandry with which to begin anew the cultivation of the soil; they have no seed, they have nothing; yet they are asked to pay a special tax to be permitted to earn a living and to be saved from drowning.

The conscience of the whole country has been aroused by the frightful destruction in the lower valley. Nothing less than an adequate, comprehensive plan of 100 per cent flood control without local contribution will satisfy the people of this nation.

THE ENTERPRISE OF YOUTH

For vision, enterprise, industry, and public spirit the American boy has no superiors and few peers. That was the declaration made by Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, at a dinner tendered by him to several outstanding examples of grown-up American boys following the publishers' meeting in New York last week.

Every one of his guests and the host himself is visual evidence of what the American boy can make of himself. All of Mr. Ochs publisher-guests were men who had started at the bottom of the ladder and risen to the top. He, himself, has a similar record.

But it was of the boy as a boy that the distinguished publicist was speaking when he paid his tribute to boyhood. His appraisal of the youth of America is accurate and in no sense does he overstate the case for the boys. They are enterprising, they do possess vision and they have far more public spirit than their elders in many cases. As for industry, who among the grown-ups would care to rise before dawn in order to carry a route of morning newspapers, yet that is what tens of thousands of youngsters do every days in the year.

Properly led, intelligently inspired, spiritually helped, the average boy will develop quite naturally and normally into an exceptionally fine type of man. The boy is a good sportsman, he loves fair play, he insists upon it and he maintains his rights and has a proper appreciation of his personal dignity. These are all traits that go into the making of a man who will command the respect of his fellows—a man who can lead and lead intelligently and rightly.

Few men take the trouble to give thought to their debt of boyhood and their duty toward the rising generation. Every man can be the inspiration and hero of some boy. He may already be for all he knows. Dealing with the young in a manner to be helpful requires a special gift, however. Simple interest and friendliness is usually all that is required. That breaws the ice and enables the boy to seek the man with his problems.

These problems may be more serious than one would suppose. Many a lad is carrying burdens beyond his years. He requires wise counsel, lacking which he may make serious blunders. Many a lad is the head of a family through the death or even more tragic loss of a father. Some boys who have to leave school to support their families. It should be a joy and a privilege to the average man to help in such cases in any way that is open to him. The service clubs are devoting much effort to such matters. There is no field of endeavor that will more richly repay the interest of men and organizations than this.—Amarillo Daily News.

Dawson County Has Twelve H. D. A. Clubs

LAMESA, May 18—Under the leadership of Miss Bessie Jackson, county home demonstration agent, twelve women's clubs have been organized into a county federation council, Mrs. J. M. Boyd, of the Ballard club, is the county president.

According to Miss Jackson enough money has been made already this year by this club to send twelve women and girls from Dawson county to the short course at Texas A and M. college this summer. Much good work has been done and is being done by these ladies.

A man in Iowa traded his automobile for a suit of clothes. So tists the tide of morality over the Middle West.

Na lynchings were reported anywhere in the United States during the first four months of 1928. The country certainly is losing its enthusiasm.

ONE MARINE IS KILLED, ONE IS HURT IN CLASH

TROOPS PUSH ON INTO NICARAGUA JUNGLES AFTER REBELS

(By Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 18—Pushing their way through the jungles of the north, American marines today were tracking down the rebel slayers of a comrade in arms.

In the most severe combat since February 27, one marine and one Nicaraguan national guardsman were killed and the commanding officer of the patrol, Captain Robert S. Hunter of Kansas, and another marine were wounded.

75 Insurgents in Clash

Sixty to 75 insurgents and 25 marines and ten guardsmen took part in the clash which occurred near Paso Real, 45 miles northeast of Jinotega and across the Cua river.

Fighting against odds, the marines killed five rebels and wounded five. The insurgents were under Jose Leon Diaz, who has had previous revolutionary experience and is reputed to be a Honduran who has joined the cause of General Augustino Sandino.

The marine patrol was isolated. Medical and surgical supplies were dropped to them by an airplane squadron under Captain Robert A. Archibald. The names of the enlisted men who were casualties were not learned.

Relief Is Rushed In

Two relief columns were rushed from Jinotega toward the region which is thickly forested and has been little explored. These marines, under Major Kellerpe Rockey of Indiana, were to assist the wounded and take up the pursuit of the rebels. The wounded will be sent to Quilali and then evacuated to Managua by airplane. Brigade headquarters stated that they believed Captain Hunter's patrol was not in a serious predicament.

Until word of th eclash reached Managua, it was not generally known that the marines had pushed so far eastward from Jinotega. The patrols have been chasing armed and organized outlaws into practically unexplored regions. Brigade headquarters believed that General Sandino has retired to the central part of the department of Jinotega, a region nearly inaccessible.

Diaz Is Daring Leader

Diaz is known as a daring leader. Last October he attacked a government garrison of thirty men with 15 followers. Recent erports said he had 200 men under his command. Constant pressure by marines broke up this band, but they were believed to have worked their way back to Jinotega in small groups and formed again.

Since the clash on February 27, when a supply train was attacked and five marines killed, marine patrols have made 25 contacts with the rebels. In these there was only one casualty, Captain Francis E. Pierce, who was shot through the foot while actin gas an observer in an airplane which was fired upon by rebels.

H. W. Amphlett, manager of La Luz mine in northeastern nicaragua, which was recently destroyed by insurgents returned to Puerto Gaberas, with copies of a defiance signed by General Sandino. Amphlett said this had been posted on the property by the insurgents and promised destruction of all American owned property that fell into his hands.

Coolidge Gets Blame

"All that is North American that falls into our hands has arrived at its end," the document read. "The losses which you have sustained in the mine you may collect from the government of the United States, Mr. Calvin Coolidge, who is the only one really responsible for the horrible and disastrous situation through which Nicaragua is passing at the present time.

"The most honorable resolution which your government could adopt with Nicaragua is to retire its forces fro mour territory, thus permitting us, the Nicaraguans, to elect our national government, which is the only means of pacification of the country."

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. Earl Goodridge Foster, of 2805 Ellis Ave., Fort Worth, Tex., says: "I was flat on my back, suffering from indigestion. But after 5 bottles of Tanlac I returned to work, didn't suffer any more from indigestion and gained 14 lbs."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

A Spring Message for Parents Only

Commencement with its gay parties, its breathtaking moments and the sweet sadness of goodbys, is just around the corner. It is the glorification of Youth, the time—more than any other—when parents long to give their children the pretty frocks and colorful accessories that seem their rightful heritage.

And yet, expenses are so high and there are so many necessary things to consider. Still, it can be managed if you shop the Penney way. This is Loveliness Month in our Ready-to-wear Department and frocks of crisp taffeta or flowered chiffon bloom in gay profusion. A thousand fripperies crowd the counters for the Sweet Girl Graduate, but best of all Mothers and Fathers need not fear the price tags here. Our prices are so modest that none should worry even if there are three graduations in the family.

It really costs very little to make youngsters happy. If you don't believe it, just take a stroll thru our store and convince yourself.
