Water Outlook Not Bad, but Not Good

Everybody wonders about Snyder's water situation. Everybody talks about it. But nobody can actually do much about it, the availably supply being limited as it is.

Jay Ramsey, city superintendent and city water superintendent for several years, last week outlined the various factors which enter into any estimate of the water situation here this summer.

By and large, Ramsey is optimistic—with reservations.

IMPROVEMENT

"Our situation is better than last summer, but it isn't anything to rave about," he concludes.

On the brighter side of the picture are the three new water wells which have been drilled. Production from wells already in use is being upped by shifting pumps to better producing wells, and one new pump has been ordered for delivery late this month. Together, the wells and pumps are expected to give the city about 8[illegible]000 gallons per day more than it had available at the period of peak consumption last year, Ramsey said.

An anticipated increase in water consumption brings up the less cheerful aspect. About 500 new water meters will be in use during the summer months of greatest consumption, and city and county paving projects have been promised water for use in their work.

Surveys by the water department have shown that each new residence meter will use about 500 gallons of water per day—or a total of about 250,000 gallons. That puts quite a strain on the supply.

PAVING NEEDS

Paving contractors are now at work on 200 blocks of city paving and the Avenue R and S and the Clairemont Road projects. Both these jobs are expected to need the most water just when domestic and business demands are the greatest.

"We must furnish water to the projects if it is at all possible because the road construction is vital to the city," Ramsel said. "However, water for city residents comes first."

One unreliable relief to the water shortage last year was rain which helped cut down on consumption by keeping lawns and trees watered. If rain falls during these peak consumption months again this year, the pumps will have more time to fill storage tanks and keep water pressure up in the mains.

"The city water department is doing everything possible to get through the summer without trouble," Ramsey said. "Counting on rain, increased pumping capacity and curtailed water usage wherever possible, we will probaly be able to get through the summer without much trouble."

Services For War Dead Set This Morning

The public is invited to attend the decoration of the graves of the 150 war veterans and the memorial services slated for 5 o'clock this afternoon according to Hilton Lambert, commander of the American Legion post.

Decorations of the graves of the war dead will begin at 8 o'clock this morning, with a floral tribute and an American flag to be placed on the grave of each war veteran at the cemetery.

Both the Legion and the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring the Memorial program, which is being held today instead of Wednesday, May 30.

The Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church will make the memorial address. The invocation will be given by the Rev. E. K. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will pronounce the benediction.

A squad from the national guard is slated to fire a salute to the deceased veterans of all wars, and a bugler will sound taps, said Lambert.

Mass Quizzing Called 'Cinch'

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP) —Approximately 175,000 college students today took their "keep-studying-or-start" soldiering test.

"It was a cinch," said Richard Wald, a 21-year-old Columbia University junior. His view was echoed by many others.

How high a student scores on the test can determine whether he stays in college or gets drafted.

The examination, first of its kind and the largest mass quizzing ever held in this country, took place at more than 1,000 centers — mostly college classrooms — across the country.

The students had three hours to answer the 150 questions, most of them multiple-choice dealing with such subjects as vocabulary and mathematics.

It was a generally serious and anxious throng that flocked to the testing places in most areas. But many were optimistic as they emerged at the end of the session.

The examination, forerunner of similar mass quizzes to be held for other students June 16, June 30 and July 13, will be used along with college grades by local draft boards as a guide to determine scholastic deferments.

Three Plead Guilty To Violation of State Food and Drug Laws

Fines totaling $337, which included costs, for violation of the state health laws were paid by three persons last week, according to Dan Mowrey, inspector for the food and drug division of the state health department.

The fines were paid in the court of W. C. Davidson, justice of the peace, after the persons charged entered pleas of guilty.

Other items in Mowrey's report show 45 eating and drinking establishments were inspected, with two places ordered permanently closed.

Two other cafe owners were ordered to remodel and enlarge their places for sanitary purposes, the inspector said.

Also 14 non-eating business places were inspected during the last two weeks.

"Inspection work will be continued indefinitely in the Snyder area," said Mowrey, who is being assisted by James Craven, Jr., senior sanitarian for the city-county health unit.

Eisenhower, Douglas, Kefauver Hardly Mentioned As Nominees

DENVER, May 26. (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was practically the forgotten man when Democrats put new push behind President Truman's foreign and domestic programs here.

The five-star general, who commands the North Atlantic Defense Force, has been mentioned as a possible Republican or Democratic nominee for President.

But if Eisenhower is to figure in the Democratic picture, most of the party's national committee members who would comment on the possibility apparently felt that President Truman will have to put him there.

About the only mention of Eisenhower's name came when Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman praised the efforts of the general to organize Western Europe's defense.

Delegates cheered but they didn't gather later to buzz each other about the possibility of having a military man at the head of the ticket they will pick in a Chicago convention the week of July 21, 1952.

The outstanding fact about the Western District Conference and national committee meeting here was that the Democrats recognize they are going to sink or swim with President Truman.

If he doesn't run himself, Mr. Truman will go a long way toward picking the nominee. The guessing on that score ranged largely to Eisenhower and Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

There was practically no mention of the members of the party who have gained national recognition recently, such as Senators Douglas (D-Ill) and Kefauver (D-Ten).

Senator Kerr (D-Okla), who was credited with making the best speech of the convention in his attack on the policies of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, drew some attention as a possible vice presidential candidate.

Conviction Of Constable On Barring Rights

NEW ORLEANS, May 26. (AP) — The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of a Texas constable and an associate, who were charged with depriving a prisoner of his constitutional rights.

They were convicted under the United States statute which makes it unlawful to deprive a person of any rights because of his race or color.

An opinion by U. S. Circuit Judge Leon McCord said Constable Bruno Koehler and Hogo Ackerman of Guadalupe County, acting "under color of the laws and statutes of the State of Texas," beat, intimidated and imprisoned Efram Rasberry illegally.

The judge said evidence showed that on the night of Aug. 23, 1949, Rasberry hit a dog belonging to Koehler while driving toward Marion, Tex.

Koehler and Ackerman, sounding a siren, followed and stopped Rasberry.

"Get out you're under arrest," Koehler said and pulled Rasberry from his car, the opinion reported. Both beat Rasberry with their fists or a club and then took him to a bar owned by Koehler and held him without allowing anyone to see him.

Ackerman put a pet alligator against Rasberry's naked body, McCord said the evidence showed.

Both were found guilty by a jury and sentenced to pay a $500 fine each and serve six months in jail.

"We find no reversible error in the record," the opinion said.

Judge Russell dissented, saying, "with the evidence sufficient to show wholly unjustified and inhumane acts by the defendants . . . the federal offense is not the unlawful assault, but the wilful deprivation of civil rights."

The dissenting opinion said that the fact that the defendants assaulted Rasberry did not necessarily presume intent to deny him his rights as a citizen.

Election Called For June 23 on Martin County Water District

STANTON, May 26. —An election to affirm the creation of a water conservation district in Martin County will be held June 23. Balloting in the election will be limited to resident property owners in the 75 square miles area which would be included in the district.

The district is proposed to set up regulations on the use of underground water in the county, where the Colorado River Municipal Water district has leased property to secure water. Snyder, Odessa and Big Spring are members of the Colorado River district.

Chinese Flee in Panic; 6 UN Units Pass 38th

2,000 Reds Fail to Break Out of Trap

TOKYO, Sunday, May 27. (AP)—More than 60,000 Chinese Reds were "running like hell" into North Korea today under Allied artillery and air bombardment but 2,000 were trapped south of the 38th Parallel.

Flight of the Communists neared a panic as Allied columns in hot pursuit plunged across 38 at six points in the east, central and west-central areas.

"They don't like the enemy behind them any more than we do. So they are running like hell," a front-line officer said.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said the trapped 2,000 made a desperate, unsuccessful three hour, pre-dawn fight to break out of the trap near Chunchon, 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

PANIC AMONG REDS

Everywhere onrushing Allied troops found evidence of panic. Truckloads of rice and ammunition were left behind. Many of the Reds discarded their uniforms and apparently sought to escape in civilian clothes.

At Eighth Army Headquarters a briefing officer said at least 60,000 Chinese Reds were retreating on the Central and East Central fronts alone.

The new Eighth Army strategy of quick pursuit after stopping the latest Red offensive was paying off—in a slaughter of fleeing Reds; in a fattening bag of prisoners.

United Nations troops met only delaying actions as they swept forward on a line stretching from the Yellow Sea in the west to the Sea of Japan in the East.

NIGHT AND DAY ATTACK

Night and day pounding by Allied artillery and warplanes seemed to have taken the fight out of the Chinese.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said there were at least three major movements of withdrawing Chinese. Elements of three Chinese corps were retreating northwest from the vicinity of the Chonyang River to Hwachon, 35 miles northeast of Seoul.

Twenty to thirty thousand Chinese fled Northeast toward Inje, four miles north of the 38th on the East Central front and 75 miles northeast of Seoul.

Another 5,000 to 10,000 were moving northwest from the Hyon area toward Inje. Allied tank forces were reported already in Inje ahead of these retreating Reds.

BOOTLEGGERS GO BACK TO BOOT

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 26. (AP) — Sheriffs Deputies Frank Lynch and Larkin Lamb discovered something new in bootlegging today.

They made several futile attemps to find liquor in the possession of a 63-year-old woman suspected of selling whisky in legally dry Oklahoma. When they threatened to take her to jail, she confessed.

The whisky was hidden in two zipper bags strapped to her legs above the knees. Each bag held a pint of whisky.

Woman's Death By Roadside May Be Murder

FORT DAVIS, May 26. (AP)—Sheriff Tom Gray said today he believes that a woman whose personal effects were found at a roadside park has bene murdered.

The woman is Ruth Anne McCormack, 24, of Franklin, Ky.

Two suitcases, a purse and letters to the woman were found May 22 near Valentine, 40 miles west of here on the edge of the Davis Mountains.

Sheriff Gray's investigation established the following

The woman was last heard from in Barstow, Calif., on May 15, when she phoned her brother at Franklin from the sheriff's office requesting money. She was using the name of Ruth Anne Beach.

She told her brother she was leaving California with a friend in a 1940 model Ford, headed for Kentucky. She and the friend spent the night in the car waiting to hear from the brother. They left next day. She previously lived at Vallejo, Calif.

The women has brown hair, brown eyes, wears a size 14 dress and is about 5 feet 8 inches tall.

The effects included clothing, an employe's statement from the Quality Cafe, (town unnamed) an a library card from Westerly, R. I. There was no money in the purse. A picnic ice pail and a quilt also were found.

Chapman Sees Danger In Low Oil Reserves

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Chapman said today the nation's surplus capacity to produce crude oil, available for quick use in an emergency, "has reached a dangerously low level."

Chapman said in a news release that since last summer the excess production capacity has declined from more than one million barrels a day to less than 500,000.

"The serious outlook for raw petroleum supplies underscores the significance of the job confronting the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) in dealing with 18,000 producers of petroleum in the United States and with the state regulatory authorities," Chapman said.

"Despite the short supply of steel and other materials needed for drilling oil and gas wells, every effort must be made to discover new reserves and to build up capacity to produce crude oil. So that the backlog of unused productive capacity will be large enough to meet any emergency demands.

"This means that exploration for oil must be intensified, drilling rates must be sustained at the highest level possible with the materials available, oil field operations must be conducted with the greatest possible efficiency, and secondary recovery operations must be extended wherever possible."

Damage Fixed At $800,000

James Binion, chairman of the Taylor County chapter of the American Red Cross, estimated $800,000 damage from rain, hail and flood waters which hit Abilene Thursday night.

He checked with insurance adjusters, figured insured losses would be about the same.

Abilene insurance men estimated they will handle around 1,000 claims. Losses thus far have averaged abound $700 a claim, but Binion said he expected the average to drop.

Two men were drowned in flash flood waters at Abilene. A man was killed by lightning at Rochester. A soldier drowned in a flooded creek on the Fort Hood military reservation.

A search continued Saturday night for the soldier's body. He was one of three members of the Second Armored Division in a truck swept off a crossing on rain

The only Texas rain reported Saturday was 18 inches at Brownsville and 21 at Beaumont.

Snyder Packer Sees Shortage Resulting From Price Rules

A shortage of meat unmatched in history may develop within the next few weeks if the government beef marketing regulations are not revised soon, G. W. Parks, Jr., owner and operator of Snyder Meat Co., said yesterday.

The government price regulations, which went into effect last Monday, are an attempt to lower the price of beef on the hoof by fixing the price packers can charge for the meat they sell. Meat must be checked by federal inspectors before it can be graded for sale at current average prices.

HITS RANCHERS

Cattle raiser who paid high prices for animals and fed them now find they are lucky if they can break even at the prices packers are allowed to pay. They prefer to hold their stock, waiting to see if controls will be changed, Parks said. Recent rains will enable them to cut down on supplemental feeding.

Packers, finding fewer cattle on the market, are forced to curtail their operations, sometimes dressing less meat than they have demand for. One major packing firm in Lubbock has closed, and others may be forced to do the same, Parks said.

Snyder Meat Co. was killing an average of 225 to 250 head per month earlier this year, but the average is about half that now, Parks added.

Federal meat inspectors may be summoned by a packer at any time, provided he has enough meat on hand to justify the trip. Thus the packer must buy cattle at auction or on the open market, and take the risk that it will be graded high enough for him to get his money back. If it doesn't grade out high enough to be classed prime, choice or good, it must be sold as commercial or utility meat for a low price. Little prime grade beef is produced here, Parks said, since it usually comes from cattle fed further north and east.

LOCKER RULES

Only licensed butchers are allowed to sell meat, which will help eliminate the possibility of black market operations, Parks added. Even persons who rent food lockers or own home freezers cannot purchase cattle and have them slaughtered for their own use unless they have kept the animals on their own range or feed lots for six months before butchering.

Fines ranging from $1,000 and one year in jail to $10,000 and five years in jail can be imposed on persons convicted of violating these regulations, as well as on persons who misrepresent facts to any agency of the government.

City Steps Closer To Dial System As All Telephones Converted

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has begun work installing dials on telephones and replacing some telephones here, Stanley G. Hill, wire chief, said yesterday.

Most of the telephones now in use here are new, Hill said, and can easily be converted to the dial system after the dial itself has been placed on the telephone. No date has yet been set for conversion of the entire system to dial pending completion of the new building and arrival of equipment.

Crews who are now putting dials on telephones will replace those which are not suitable for conversion and will also change worn cords.

No action was taken on reducing the police department appropriation, although such a reduction had been discussed. The council voted that no expenditures may be made from the $18,300 street and sidewalk improvement fund and funds for heavy road building equipment without specific council approval.

Britain Asks Arbitration In Dispute Over Iran's Oil

THE HAGUE, May 26. (AP — Britain and the billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company asked the International Court of Justice today to force Iran to submit to arbitration in the peace-threatening dispute over nationalization of oil.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady handed to the Iranian Foreign Minister in Tehran a note declaring the dispute was of the utmost importance to the "entire free world" and strongly urging a settlement by negotiation.

The United States plainly was worried that the situation might lead to the intervention of troops from both Britain and Russia.

Dispatches from Tehran told of unconfirmed reports that some of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's national bloc at last were willing to sit down with the British for talks.

It remained to be seen, however, how Mossadegh and his followers would react to latest developments.

These included not only Britain's appeal to The Hague and the United States' urging of negotiations, but also the anouncement Friday that 4,000 British parachute troops are being dispatched to Cyprus — within 1,000 miles of the Abadan Refinery in Iran.

ASKS ARBITRATION

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company (AIOC) asked the president of the International Court of Justice to appoint an arbitrator.

The application invoked Article 22 of the 1933 agreement by which Iran gave the company the right to exploit oil resources in the southern part of the country for 60 years. The article provides differences shall be settled by arbitration and, in the event of the two parties are unable to agree on a choice of arbitrators, a third or a sole arbitrator shall be appointed by the president of the World Court at the request of either party.

A few hours later the British government, owner of about 53 per cent of AIOC's shares, asked that the court declare the Iranian government is obligated to submit the dispute to arbitration. Failing that, the British said Iran should be held responsible for an act "contrary to international law."

The British complaint said Iran apparently was "not responding" to a British offer to negotiate a settlement.

Britain reserved the right to ask the court to take steps for the protection of her nationals in Iran and to preserve the existing situation —that is British ownership of the company — pending a final court ruling.

Six days ago Iran's finance minister rejected the oil company's request to the government to name an arbitrator. Nationalization of oil was based on national sovereignty, he said, and was not subject to arbitration or negotiation. He demanded later that the company name representatives by May 30 to help carry out the law.

A communique issued by the court said Iran in 1932 ratified its adherence to the World Court and accepted its jurisdiction.

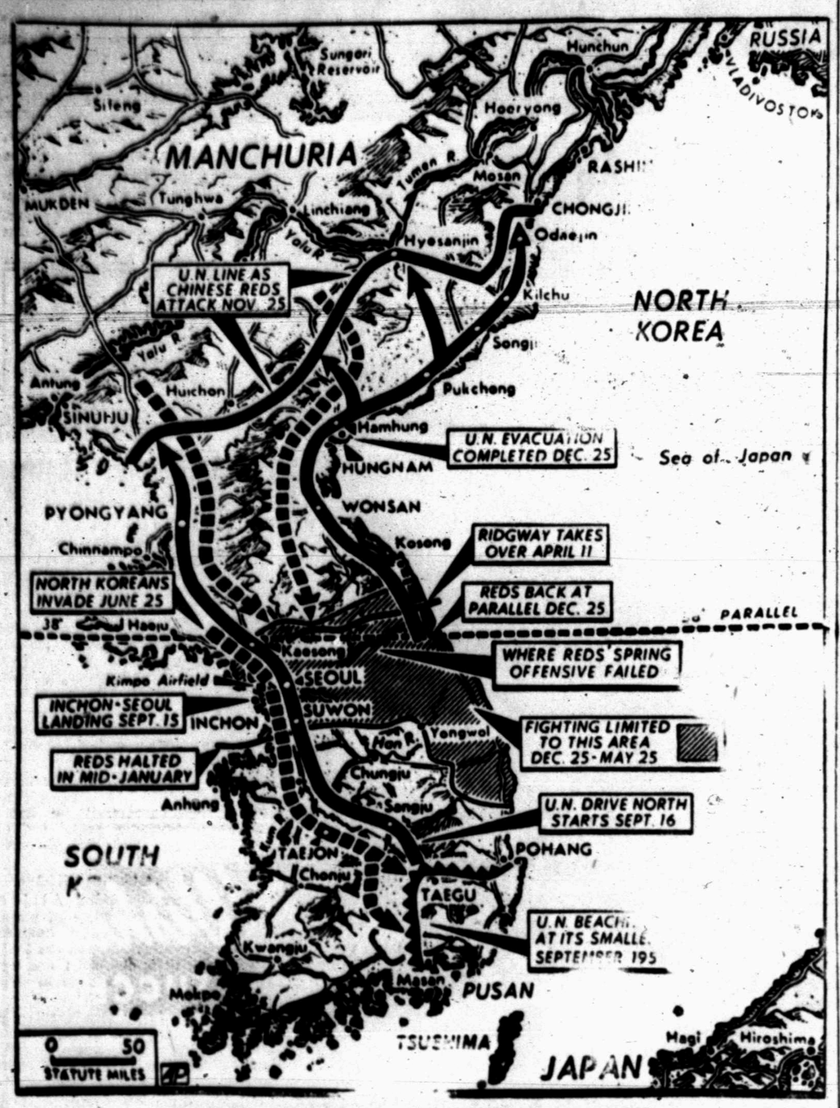

The communique said Britain asked the court to declare:

1. Enforcement of the nationalization law would be illegal and contrary to international law.

2. Article 22 is still legally binding on Iran and, by ignoring it, Iran has committed a denial of justice.

3. Iran cannot annul or alter the 1933 agreement except by agreement.

4. Iran should give full satisfaction and indemnity.

Third Week Of Decline Noted On Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP) — A broad streak of caution tinged Wall Street bearishness today as the stock market ended its third declining week.

Bearishness is the product of accumulated developments that Wall Street believes will unsettle the nation's economy — Korea, Iran, taxes, government controls, material shortages.

Caution comes from the fact that the stock market is in a so-called critical area from which it could move strongly either way, and from signs in several basic industries that business is better than it seems.

A new high for this year was established May 3 with the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $97.80. Today that average was $90.90, only slightly above the year's low of $89.40.

There were these optimistic signs in Wall Street's book:

General Motors forecast a good second quarter despite a slight slump in April.

Estimates indicate 1951 will be the second biggest production year for the automobile industry.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., chairman of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., said "the crisis in rubber is over."

Not everything moved forward today in the stock market. With the AP average of 60 stocks up 10 cents at $90.90, the industrial component gained 40 cents, rails were unchanged, and utilities lost 10 cents.

There were 757 individual issues traded (as compared with 850 a week ago) of which 314 advanced and 186 declined. There were 2 new highs and 17 new lows for the year.

Volume came to only 420,000 shares as against 610,000 shares a week.

This is the last Saturday session before the four-month summer recess June-September.

Conflicting Reports On The Availability Of Steel For Oil

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Steel supply problems were the big thorn in the side of oil industry representatives this week as they tried to reconcile apparently conflicting reports on availability of the strategic metal.

Figures issued by the Petroleum Administration for Defense on third-quarter allocations of steel to the industry are 8½ per cent under what the Petroleum Industry Council estimates to be needed to bring in the 43,000 new wells projected in the national defense program.

The American Iron and Steel Institute, on the other hand, issued a cheerful report on what it called "the record-breaking steel output in prospect for the third quarter" of the year.

Ninety per cent of this production, the Institute said will be for uses normally regarded as part of the country's civilian economy.

Walter S. Tower, president of the Institute, said in a New York address that the U. S., with half the world steel supply, will have ample steel for powerful military forces plus a civilian allotment not much less than the tonnage used in any year prior to 1950.

CONCERN VOICED

Concern of the oil industry was voiced by Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Referring to the PAD's figures on allocations of tubular steel for the third quarter — amounting to 450,000 tons he said

"When you figure that 40,000 tons of that is going abroad, you end up with a rate of supply which would carry on drilling only for about 11 months.

"The only way left for the industry to reach the 43,000-well goal would be to import tubular goods from Europe, where it would cost about twice what it does here."

He said that right now some tubular good sare being shipped in from Germany and Italy.

"I don't like any part of that operation," he continued. "Steel castings are being shipped both ways across the Atlantic. The consumers in the long run are paying for that needless transportation."

A PAD official, who declined to be quoted by name, said the agency had tried unsuccessfully to get the Defense Production Authority (DPA) to grant the oil industry a larger slice of the steel supply.

URGE FULL TANKS

"We are going to continue bucking for the oil industry," he said "but we really don't think anybody's going to suffer with what they're getting. In fact, they should be able to get along pretty good."

Householders along the Atlantic seaboard who heat with fuel oil and kerosene, and eastern industries using heavier oils, are being urged by the PAD to keep their supply tanks full even through slack consumption periods.

Such a practice, the agency adds, can add appreciably to the stored stocks of fuel and ease the pinch on transportation when cool weather arrives again next fall.

The Senate this week agreed to the "escape clause" and "peril point" amendments attached by the House to the bill extending the Trade Agreements Act. Under these provisions, the oil industry can seek establishment of import quotas if the shipments of foreign oil into the country seriously depress prices.

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 26. (AP) — Is grouse in season? I'm in trouble if it isn't, because today I feel like grousing.

So here goes . . . I don't wish to sound like Johny-one-note, but aren't the movies going overboard on the unsympathetic portrayals of newsmen? In the Ben Hogan Biog, the heavy was a nasty golf columnist, the like of which I've never seen. In a new pro football flicker, the villain is again a columnist who picks on Paul Douglas because he's a has-been.

But the biggest blow comes in "Ace in the Hole," in which Kirk Douglas plays the blackest double-dyed louse in journalistic history . . . and while we're on the subject, hasn't Douglas gone overboard in his playing of heels? He can't be that much of a rat all the time.

Ever wonder what happened to the Frank Merriwell ending in which the football hero scores the wining touchdown in the last minute? It's revived in "The Guy Who Came Back." Paul Douglas carries the ball.

Martin and Lewis ordinarily rate guffaws. But I wonder if their ad-lib antics won't pale unless they get some more solid routines. You can get laughs only so long by making faces.

How did they get by with that off-color burlesque routine in the new Danny Kaye film?

Government Hints Success In Explosion Of Hydrogen Bomb

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, May 26 — The United States may have gained a wide new lead in the race for supremacy in nuclear weapons. But the question is How long can it be held?

The lead — indicated Friday in a terse announcement of secret experiments completed recently at Eniwetok — depends in great measure on whether the atomic secrecy system is better than it was five years ago.

The announcement indicated U.S. scientists may have found the atomic "trigger" that will fire superpowerful hydrogen bombs.

In the summer of 1946 Soviet espionage agents gained key information on the making of atomic bombs. By official American estimates, Russia then gained a year and a half of time in her hitherto slow search for the atomic secret. She produced an atomic explosion in the summer of 1949.

The American government apparently thinks its security of nuclear secrets has improved. The joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission, in a recent report commented that the atomic counter-espionage system has not been pierced since the 1946 break.

But for some reason (perhaps international psychology) the U. S. now appears to want the world to know it is making progress toward production of a hydrogen bomb which could be thousand times more powerful than atomic bombs.

HINT SUCCESS

The joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department didn't spell out the words "hydrogen bomb." But it mentioned "experiments contributing to the thermonuclear weapons reasearch, in saying the latest tests on Eniwetok Island had been "successfully carried out." The H-bomb is such a weapon.

That could be a hint that by actual field test — using a relatively small quantity of hydrogen material, like tritium, together with a conventional trigger [illegible] of plutonium or uranium — the weaponeers have learned how to touch off an H-bomb.

Scientists have been saying such a "triggering" process posed two big problems (1) How to produce heat in millions of degrees (some estimates on how much is needed to explore an H-bomb range up to 50 million, Fahrenheit); (2) How to prolong the time of that heat beyond the tiny fraction of a second that the peak heat of an atomic bomb is maintained (in order to use the A-bomb as a "match" to set off its much tougher big brother).

HOW BIG?

It may be the AEC-Military experts also got some other badly needed information on the immensely intricate business of devising a hydrogen bomb.

When scientists first began penciling rough sketches of a future hydrogen bomb, one question was how big and how heavy will it be?

With all of its own complex mechanism, including equipment for cooling the material until the moment of explosion, would it be too bulky to load into any existing bomber? Would the United States once it possessed a hydrogen bomb, find there was no way to fly it to a target?

The announcement said that "information obtained from research on nuclear detonations, the major purpose of the tests, is secret."

This left unanswered the question of whether the Eniwetok series included tests of projectiles with atomic warheads which could be fired from big, long range mortars or launching racks against an enemy in the battlefield. Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La) said earlier this week that weapons for tactical use are ready.

But the announcement did refer to blast and heat tests against structures, airplanes and other items. And, though it said this program had been completed, it suggested further experiments in the Marshall Island proving ground are in the offing. It said the proving ground and the area around it will remain closed.

Chaplains 'Infiltrate' Italy's Red Strongholds for Church

By CARLO FENOGLIO

MILAN, Italy, May 26. (AP) —Special "chaplains of labor" are cutting silently but deeply into the ranks of Italy's Communist party.

Their special assignment is to attack what Pope Pius XII has diagnosed as "The Scandal of the 20th Century: The split of the working masses from the Church."

Slowly but steadily, they are winning the allegiance of many workers who had accepted or veered toward Marxist doctrine. Although the labor chaplains are not primarily interested in compiling statistics on the results of their work, there are indications that it is increasingly effective.

SPECIAL TRAINING

A seminary for [illegible] where young priests are given special training for the [illegible] established at Bologna Communist stronghold in Italy, only four years ago. Recently the number of chaplains assigned to this missionary work was increased to 600.

In the Archdiocese of Milan, in whose factories there is a strong concentration of Communists, 14 young priests have been working for three years. At least 700 ardent Communists have been converted to the Church and an incalculable number of indifferent or opposd workers again have been attacted to the Church.

The factories in and around Milan where chaplains work are among the biggest in Italy. They include the Montecatini, Snia Viscosa, Falk, Saffa and the Marelli at Sesto San Giovanni, sometimes called the "Italian Stalingrad."

AT GENOA, TURIN

Chaplains are stationed in the factories of Genoa and Turin. Three chaplains work among the 60,000 employees of the great Fiat automobile works at Turin.

The chaplains work as unobtrusively as possible to win the tolerance and then the confidence of workers who have been turned against the Church.

The chaplains sit with the workers at their noonday messes. They meet with them during their wine-shop hour of relaxation to discuss current problems. They assist in evening schools organized for workers.

Golden Anniversary For H. P. Browns Here Today

The unique accomplishment of fifty years of married life in Snyder will be marked this afternoon when a host of guests attend the Golden Reception being given for Mr. and Mrs. H. P. TALK OF THE TOWN

BY FRANCES BROOKS

A Jaguar—a British-made car—is 120 horsepower of polished metal, built on eye-catching lines. Mrs. EDITH McKANNA's garage at Rock Ledge Farm, Fluvanna, holds one of the more dapper models.

Hers is black with crimson leather upholstery, carpeted richly. You twirl a little crome crank to slide your driving seat up or back to accommodate your size, and you can slide the steering wheel forward if you need to.

The roadster - like top opens halfway, that is over the front seat occupants. Fashioned along conservative lines, it looks like a Rolls Royce or one of the stately early model Cadillacs.

You want to make a turn, and a flick of the wrist flings a little lighted flag out to the right or to the left. The Jaguar makes 120 mph cruising, and is known among dealers as "A revved-up Chevie."

Made to appeal to American buyers, the steering apparatus is not on the right as it would be in its native island. The trunk, besides yards of space, affords a perfect tool set, cushioned in green felt, every article one might conceivably require for smooth motoring.

MRS. CHARLES NOBLE whose newly remodeled home is an inspiration in home planning, maintains a bright and cheery humor about all the trials and experiences connected with "redoing".

"I'm like the woman who received a geranium pot plant and it wouldn't match her kitchen curtains so she made new ones," she said. "Then the windows looked as though they needed cleaning for the new curtains. After that, the woodwork looked drab, so had to be repainted, then the walls looked sick and had to be repapered, and on and on. When you once start, there's NO stopping!" Her rose and green trimmed stone home atop Noble Heights, cool terraces and grassy lawns, makes you very glad she started it all.

MRS. GWYNN OLINGER HICKOX, remembered for her work as a cosmetician at Harris Pharmacy, writes a note from San Angelo where she is now managing a cosmetic department in the Morrison-Billingsley shop.....Widowed several months ago, she has returned to her former town where her home is located.....Glimpses of what the State Fair of Texas (middle of October) will offer begin to show up in the mailbag. J. Gregory Conway, the only floral artist listed in American Who's Who, will demonstrate his brilliant lecture on flower arranging. He is a master showman and he is said to stand behind his arrangement as he is working so the audience sees it clearly but it means the he's working with the rear of the arrangement to him, quite some feat .....this on Oct. 16, named Garden Club day.

C. M. von ROEDER can never quite get away from cotton.....with all due respect to his wife's charming flower gradens,(Flourishing in an amazing short length of time at the new home in Von Roeder addition). He has planted in straight little rows his favorite plant, COTTON. Mrs. Von Roeder, also with a flair for the practical, has sunk carrot seeds on the east side of the beautiful stone house, their lacy leaves pushing out attractively. "They're two-way plants", a caller at her home commented, "Good to look at, good to eat."

Hopalong Cassidy will be soon twirling strings of spaghetti around a big spoon and endeavoring, with success, we all hope, to avoid dripping that sauce over his silk western shirt and his white custom-tailored bronco suit. Saturday afternoon matinees' loss will be Italy's gain, as Hoppie is a-goin' there, says a Hollywood release. It's all part of a tour to pad the treasury for the Italian Boy's Republic (like Father Flanagan Boy's Town). Whether good-humored, woman-shy, hard ridin' Hop will ship his photogenic mount, Topper, to awe the bambinos, his agent did not reveal. His agent probably was too busy packing Hop's 20 lariats, spurs, chaps and a spare gross or two of red bandanas.

Middlecoff Moves Into Lead At Colonial Golf Tournament

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, May 26. (AP)—Tall, handsome Cary Middlecoff carved out a one-under-par 69 today to shoot into the lead after 54 holes in the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf tournament. His 209 total was a stroke to the good over the field.

The ex-dentist from Memphis, Tenn., overtook wee Ben Hogan, who led at the half-way mark starting today's play with 139. Hogan the little man from Hershey, Pa., shooting his worst round in five years of competing in this tournament, came in with a four-over-par 74 for a 213 total and fell well down the list. Hogan didn't have a single birdie — something most unusual for the National Open champion.

ED OLIVER SECOND

Ed Oliver, the round man from Seattle, Wash., laid down a bristling 68 to make his total 210 and second place as the tournament looked toward its final round Sunday.

Byron Nelson, the semi-retired former great of the links who farms at Roanoke while not playing golf exhibitions and a few select tournaments moved into third place with a par 70 that gave him a 212 total.

Hogan was in fourth place, four strokes away from the top.

Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y., who set a PGA record for an 18-hole round in the Texas Open last February with a 60, shot today's low round — a three-under-par 67. But it only gave him a 54-hole total of 216. He had taken 77 and 72 in the first two rounds.

SNEAD'S SCORE HIGH

Sam Snead of White Sulphur prings, W. Va., took a sorrowful 76. Defending champion and one of the top pre-tournament favorites, Snead's score was the worst he ever shot here. Last year he had a 73 for his high until this time. He took seven consecutive one-over holes on the first nine today. His 54-hole total became 218.

Middlecoff made the first nine in one-over-par 36 when he lost strokes on 3 and 4 with bad chips. He picked one stroke back with a birdie on 6 where he rammed down a 25-foot putt. He romped the second nine with a two-under-par 33, bagging birdies on 10 and 11, the first one with an eight-iron shot that landed four feet from the pin and 11 with a 20-footer.

HOT PUTTERS

Oliver had the hottest putter of the day and it put him in the black when all seemed dark. He had made the first nine in one over 36, getting a birdie on 6 with a 20-foot putt but losing a stroke to par on 7 when he missed the green and on 8 when he was in a trap. But he birdied 13 with an 18-footer and after going one over on 14 when he again was in a trap and then two-putted from seven feet, the round man of golf really moved. He downed a 12-footer uphill on 16, a 15-footer on 17 and a 17-foot curling putt on 18 for the three straight birdies.

Byron Nelson To Compete In Amarillo Meet

AMARILLO, May 26 (AP) — Byron Nelson, the old master, and Raymond Gafford rank as co-favorites in the 31st annual Texas PGA golf tournament opening here Thursday at the Amarillo Country club.

These two tied for top honors among the pros last year and Nelson won a nine-hole playoff on the ninth green.

The amateur that led the whole field last year — Morris Williams, Jr. — turned pro before entering the armed services. He will not be here this year.

Other top entries include Chuck Klein of San Antonio; Elroy Marti and Sam Schneider, Houston; Dode Forrester, Hobbs, N.M.; J. T. Hammitt, Breckenridge; Tod Menefee, San Antonio and Jack and Wally Hardin, El Paso.

A field of 150 is expected to take part in the 72-hole tournament and preliminaries to it.

Qualifying for the National PGA tournament gets underway Monday. Pro-amateur matches are carded Tuesday with an International cup match between Mexico and Texas on Wednesday.

Olin Dutra, former National open and PGA champion, will captain the Mexican team. Nelson will head a team of Texans.

A special 36-hole open flight for non-PGA members will be held Thursday and Friday.

Qualifying for the national open June 4 ends the golfing activities. H. T. (Shorty) Hornbuckle, formerly of Odessa, is president of the Texas PGA. Other officers include W. Rowland, vice-president, Fort Worth; Warren Cantrell, Secretary Treasurer, Plainview. Nelson is an honorary vice-president.

Sectional presidents include Gafford, Dallas; Dick Forester, Houston; Homer Widener, Kilgore; Wallace Bost, San Angelo, and Tony Butler, Brownsville.

Chapman Takes British Title

PORTHCAWL, Wales, May 26. (AP) — Dick Chapman ended his 16-year search for the British Amateur Golf title today with a 5 and 4 decision over slender Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, in the 36-hole final.

The 40-year-old Pinehurst, N. C., socialite, twice a beaten finalist in this tourney, shot almost letter-perfect golf to whip Coe, the elements and his own case of nerves.

He shot consecutive birdies on the 27th, 28th and 29th, missing a hole-in-one on the 28th by the width of a match.

The match started in a light rain and the two Americans went to lunch in biting cold weather that followed the early showers. After the recess, which found Chapman two up, the rains began again. Despite those handicaps Chapman was three under par for the distance of the match on the 6,658-yard Royal Portheawl course. Coe, in turn, was three over. Par is 36-36—72.

Graham Leads Longhorn On Batting Score

By The Associated Press

Walter Graham of Sweetwater is the leading hitter in the Longhorn League, taking over the top spot from Leo Eastham of Odessa, last week's leader who slipped 52 points to fifth place.

Grhaam has a lofty .461 average with 47 hits in 102 times at bat. He holds a 15 point lead over his nearest opponent, John Tayoan, San Angelo, whose 72 total bases are tops in that department. Five regulars are hitting above the .400 mark.

Eastham failed to add to his total of two-base hits but retains the lead in that department with 11. Six men are tied for second with nine each. Eastham is tied with Warren Sliter of Sweetwater and Bill Herring of Vernon with the most triples, four. Herring has the most hits with 54.

Wayne Wallace failed to collect a home run in the last week but retained the lead in that department with nine. Leon English of Vernon leads base stealers with 13 thefts. John Reimold of Vernon leads in RBI's with 38.

In the pitching department, Dean Franks has a 6-0 record for Roswell but Eddie Jacome has won the most games, nine. Jacome has lost three games and has appeared in the most games, 16.

Raul Sanchez, Big Spring strike artist, has whiffed 64 men and Marshall Epperson of Vernon, has walked the most men, 59.

Big Spring is the leader in team batting with a .315 average. San Angelo is just one point behind.

Braves Get By Brooklyn 12-10

BROOKLYN, May 26 (AP) — The Boston Braves staggered to a 12-10 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today but Johnny Sain almost blew the game in the ninth inning.

Sain was within one out of posting a 12-5 victory when the Dodgers came to life and poured five runs across the plate to chase the veteran righthander. Rookie George Estock took over and was belted for two singles before Carl Abrams lined to third baseman Bob Elliott.

Duke Snider kept the Dodgers alive with a home run, his second of the game and 11th of the season. Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Gene Hermanski followed with singles to account for the second run.

Roy Campanella sent a three-run homer into the left center field stands. That blow knocked out Sain. Billy Cox and Pinch-Hitter Bruce Edwards greeted Estock with singles but Elliott ended Brooklyn's dream of victory by spearing Abrams' liner.

Man Picked Up On Big Embezzlement Charge

HOUSTON, May 26. (AP) —M. W. Cotton, 37, former manager of the Cisco Country Club, was arrested here today on charges of embezzling an estimated $10,000 from the Cisco Transfer Company, where he served as office manager and bookkeeper early this year.

Cotton was arrested by Houston city detectives.

With the officers was J. T. Carson, owner of the transfer company, who placed his losses at about $10,000.

"I had to obtain a 90-day extension from the government to pay my income taxes for the last year," Carson said. "The losses almost put me right out on the street."

Firmly denying the charges, Cotton said he would fight the charges to "the last ditch and my last penny."

Fighters Go Abroad

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler and Light Heavyweight Archie Moore, along with their manager, Charlie Johnston, left by plane for Buenos Aires today for a six-week tour. Each has six non-title fights scheduled.

Demaret's Leg Gets Pulled In $1 Million Joke

FORT WORTH, May 26 (AP) — Jimmy Demaret said today that Glen McCarthy had offered him a million dollars if he wins the Colonial National golf tournament now underway here.

If Glen McCarthy did, it's not the Glenn McCarthy who has made himself famous as a Houston oilman and hotel owner.

That Glen McCarthy laughed today and said "If such a telegram exists, then there must be two Glen McCarthys."

Demaret said he received a telegram signed Glen McCarthy and saying "a million belongs to you if you win it."

Jimmy decided to go out and practice. He's now tied for 21st in the tournament.

Only Friday a Texarkana oilman, J. K. Wadley, offered Byron Nelson $10,000 if he'll win the tournament. Wadley said he was irked by a statement from a fan that Nelson wasn't trying when he missed a short putt in the first round.

Nelson is tied for fourth.

Women's Open Between Babe And Patty Berg

WHITE PLAINS, N .Y., May 26. (AP) — Shooting a steady 38-38—76, sturdy Patty Berg, forged to a one-stroke lead over Babe Didrikson Zaharias at the 126-hole mark in the 144-hole Weathervane Women's Open Golf Tournament today.

The Babe entered today's round with a two-stroke margin over Patty, but she had her troubles with the rugged and rolling Knollwood Country Club course and finished today with 41-38—79 and a 126-hole total of 529 to Miss Berg's 528.

The two are the only entrants among the 13 pros, who started the tour at Dallas, then moved to Pebble Beach and Indianapolis before coming here for the final stage of the tournament, who have a chance at the $5,000 grand prize.

Louise Suggs, in third place, is 12 strokes behind Miss Berg, so with the final 18 holes scheduled tomorrow it has developed into a two-woman battle for top honors.

Little Betsy Rawls, who turned pro last March 17, provided the setting a new women's record for the course.

The Bauer sisters, Marlene and Alice, continued to play almost like twins as far as their totals were concerned. Alice had an 82 today and Marlene a 77, but Alice still led her younger sister one stroke in the cumulative totals.

Polly Riley In Tourney Win

LUBBOCK, May 26. (AP) — Polly Riley of Fort Worth sank a birdie putt on the 37th green today to beat Betty Dodd of San Antonio and win her first Women's Texas Golf Association Tournament.

Old timers said it was the first time they could remember that the championship match in the event ever went even to the 36th hole.

Hilda Urbantke of Austin won the first flight finals one up in 20 holes over Mrs. Herschel Ezell of Midland.

All matches played today went into extra holes. Mrs. Grady Prim of Sulphur Springs took the championship consolation one up in 20 holes from Mrs. M. W. Morgan of Baytown. The first flight consolation was won by Mrs. Charles True of Dallas one up in 20 holes over Mrs. Lou Lewis of Houston.

Miss Riley came from behind to win the championship. Miss Dodd had her four down at one time.

White Sox Add Another Game To Win Streak

CLEVELAND, May 26. (AP)—Paul Richards' white hot Chicago White Sox kept their pace on the trail of the leading New York Yankees today by shutting out the Cleveland Indians 6 to 0. That made it nine in a row on Chicago's road trip.

Right-hander Ken Holcombe was the mound victor. It was his second shutout and fourth win of the season, on the basis of five scattered hits.

The Sox gathered 12 hits off Mike Garcia and Lou Brissie, and batted around in the third inning, when they tallied three runs. Two more came in the eighth and an extra run in the ninth.

With Paul Lehner and Holcombe on base, having walked, Nelson Fox's double opened the third-inning scoring. Ed Stewart's single drove in Holcombe, but Fox was out at the plate on Orestes Minoso's grounder. Stewart then came in on Eddie Robinson's single.

Brissie took the mound at the start of the eighth and with one out let Gus Niarhos double down the left field foul line. Holcombe aided his own cause with a double to right, driving in Niarhos, and after Fox had sacrificed, Hank Majeski batted for Stewart and singled to center, scoring the pitcher, Bob Dillinger, runing for Majeski, made the third out trying to steal.

The superfluous run in the ninth came when Minoso doubled and went to third on a two-bagger by Robinson, then scored as Jim Busby raised a long fly to left field.

Prayer Breaks Tumult In State House For 1 Minute Each Day

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP) — Each day around 11 a.m. the House stops its noise and stands for one hushed minute of silent prayer for our armed forces in Korea.

Only once since the session began in January has that one minute of quiet and prayer been missing from a legislative day.

Sometimes it's on the stroke of 11, sometimes it isn't until 11:15, but Speaker Reuben Senterfitt remembers, stands up, bangs his gavel, says:

"In accordance with House simple resolution number 13, the House and the gallary will rise for one minute of silent prayer in honor of our armed forces in Korea."

Members start rising before he gets past "in accordance."

STRANGE QUIET

It's a strange quietness that comes briefly in the tumult of the House. Often it has interrupted hot debate. The men who have been yelling at each other stand poised for a minute.

Bang goes the gavel, and words start flying again.

That one day the House missed was when it convened at 11 a.m. "I skipped it that day because I thought the prayer from the chaplain at the opening would stand in its stead," Senterfitt said.

House simple resolution number 13 was introduced by Reps. W. R. Chambers of May and Austin E. Westbrook of Gainesville two days after the session began.

"We just figured it this way — a man needs some help besides his own strength, or he'll fail," Chambers said.

Westbrook served with an army infantry unit in World War II.

Two of Chambers' sons served in the Pacific in World War II. One was killed in combat on New Guinea in 1943.

ONLY HOUSE PRAYS

Only the House has observed the prayer this session.

During World War II, when the legislature was in session in 1943, both the House and Senate stood for 30 seconds of silent prayer each day of the session at 11 a.m.

The resolution in 1943 was introduced by Rep. Florence Fenley of Uvalde, whose son was killed in World War II.

The resolution by Westbrook and Chambers says simply:

"Whereas the situation we find our great nation in today with the conflict in Korea and uncertainty in others parts of the world, there is a dire need for the people of this nation to call upon the almighty God to give us divine guidance and assitance through these perilous times.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the fifty-second legislature, upon the stroke of 11 a.m. throughout the session, that the members of the house rise for one minute of silent prayer."

Draft Jitters Only Cloud On College Graduates' Job Horizon

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Associated Press Staff

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Here's how the job pattern shapes up for college men and women graduating this June:

It's good — very good —if

The "if" stands for a man's status in the draft. If he's a veteran, 4F, or in an essential occupation, he can write his own ticket. It doesn't matter what kind of grades he made during his four years, or his standing in his class. Women, too, enjoy a favored status better than ever before.

That's the story from coast to coast.

FRANTIC SEARCH

An AP spot check of placement directors at the University of California on the west coast; Texas Southern Methodist, Emory and Johns Hopkins Universities in the South; Illinois, Bradley, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Michigan Universities in the Mid-West; Dartmouth College, Universities of Harvard, Cornell, Pennsylvania, New York and Columbia in the East, all point up the same frantic search for employees that took place during World War II.

The picture for the June graduate with reserve officer status or subject to draft, is not so good. True, large employers are interviewing them. They're inviting men in the top ten per cent of the class to join their organizations' training programs, even if only for a two-month period.

DRAFT JITTERS

At Johns Hopkins it's "let's go ahead and be interviewed and see what happens" attitude. "Draft jitters on the part of many seniors are causing them to disregard thinking about the future," says Donald W. Cameron, Dartmouth's placement director.

At Emory, it's a "don't care" outlook. At Ohio State it's a "kingsize headache." At Texas, those subject to draft "are dejected and envy their fellow students who are getting job offers." At Notre Dame, the graduates in I-A feel they are "dead ducks" employment-wise.

Bradley reports a "healthy attitude in general." At Harvard many graduates have adopted "long-range planning beyond their stint in uniform." The same attitude prevails at Illinois and Ohio State.

BOARDS ARE TOUGH

Graduates seeking employment in draft-deferred jobs, says Beach, "shouldn't count on this too much, even should they get such jobs. Draft boards are tough and despite promises of company officials, few will go to bat for junior employees. They're saving their 'ammunition' for the time when the going gets real tough and they'll have to fight hard to retain key men."

Despite these conditions, the demand for the services of graduates is nearly double last year at John Hopkins, Ohio State, Dartmouth, and N.Y.U. The largest number of company interviewers in 20 years or more visited the Cornell and Columbia campuses.

Emory, Notre Dame, California, Pennsylvania, Bradley, Harvard, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Southern Methodist, and Texas, all report at least two jobs available for every graduate interested.

The greatest demand is for technically trained men and men with engineering skills. Dean William P. Kimball of the Thayer School of Engineering at Dartmouth explains this is due to the rapid increase in defense production and the fact that a slump in engineering school enrollment has caused a real shortage of college trained personnel.

CHEMISTS NEEDED

All placement directors agree there just aren't enough engineers, chemists and physicists to go around.

In the non-technical fields, accounting, sales, especially in consumer goods, industrial management, personnel, architecture, agriculture, secretarial and teaching especially on the elementary school level, are all seeking employees.

Mobilization is opening many positions in government, Cornell reports.

Salaries being offered would have been considered "fantastic" several years ago, placement officers say. They're up about $20 to $30 a month from last year.

$400 TO START

Engineers graduating this June are starting anywhere from $375 up to $400 per month, with one exceptional case at Columbia, where an experienced engineer starts at $440.

The average starting salary for the AB graduate ranges from a low of $250 at rural schools to a high of $475 at Ohio State. Many are starting at $275. The lowest salaries of all are found in teaching.

Those with master's degrees in the technical fields are starting at $300 per month and going as high as $400. The average starting salary for MA's is about $300 a month.

Men with Phd's in the technical fields, placement officers say, are in great demand. None starts at less than $375 a month and salaries may range as high as $550. In one exceptional case, reports Beach at Columbia, a 24-year-old engineering Phi accepted $8,000 a year and already has been raised to $7,200 before starting work.

TEACHING SLOW

Placement of Phd's as college teachers is slow.

As the employment market gets tighter still, placement officers say graduates will be able to write their own salary tickets.

The girls are doing very well, too. Companies which have done little or no campus recruiting for women since the war, are again visiting campuses. More women are being sought for training programs with department stores, insurance companies and banks. They are being sought for government jobs and stand almost an equal chance with men in the technical fields.

There is a secretarial shortage and a great demand for women in elementary teaching, secretarial, nursing, physical and occupational therapy.

Starting salaries for women are up, too. These vary from $140 to $350 a month, with most girls refusing to take less than $240 to start.

Only accountancy seems to be holding out against women. Despite a great demand for accountants, reports Texas, "women accountants still have difficulty finding employment."

Free Health Program For School Pupils

The Snyder school system has set up a voluntary summer health program to begin June 18 for all children of school age.

Immunization to doptheria, whooping cough, ttyphoid fever, and small pox will be offered free to children six, seven, and eight years old, and children nine years old or older will be offered tyhoid and small pox immunization.

The program is not compulsory, but parents preferring to have their family physicians administer vaccine shots are requested to furnish the school with records of the immunization so that they may be written into the scholastic records of the children.

The children will also be examined for eyesight and hearing difficulties, and all benefits of the program will be administered by registered nurses employed by the school system.

The program will be divided into two date periods, the first being June 18 through June 22, and the second beginning July 16 and continuing through Aug. 10.

The clinic will be held in the cafeteria of the high school building daily from 8:30 to 3:30 o'clock.

During the first date period, only the combination whooping cough-diphtheria shots will be given, and only the first of a series of three shots. The second and third shots in this series will be given during the second date period, each of the three being four weeks apart.

All typhoid and small pox immunizations will be made from July 16 through Aug. 10. Recommendations are that children who have not been given small pox vaccine in the last five years be vaccinated.

Parent's have been requested to give written permission to the school nurses for the vaccination of their children. The school system is furnishing blank forms for this purpose for all children now registered in the schools.

Giant Book Stores Memories Of Carefree High School Days

The Snyder high school annual, "The Tiger's Lair," came off the press a few days ago as the largest ever published for the school here, and was in such demand that copies became scarce within 24 hours after the shipment of 425 arrived.

The 180-page book is bound in gold leathereette; and despite its larger size, cost the student this year less than annuals of all previous years. Last year's annuals sold for $3 a copy, which was a price 50 cents cheaper than in former years, but this publication was offered the students for $2.50 a copy.

STAFF MEMBERS

Sponsoring the annual was Miss Katherine Northcutt of the school faculty. Members of the editorial and business staff composing the book were Jo Ann Gee, editor; Ed Frank Bayouth, business manager; Ann Richardson, assistant editor; Barbara Lewis, assistant business manager; David Harlin, sports editor; Manuel Hedges, assistant sports editor; Ramona Harless, feature editor; Kaye Weber, advertising manager; Billy McCormick, organization manager; James Franklin, photographer, and Don Head, assistant photographer.

The "Tiger's Lair" this year was dedicated to the Snyder school board and the superintendent, M. E. Stanfield. The board members named in the dedication were Lee T. Stinson, president; J. B. Turner, vice - president; Bob Dupree, Paul Keaton, E. H. Williamson, Wayne Boren, Raymond Smith, and W. H. Scarborough. Each was pictured at his daily work.

The book is divided in sections with the opening page of each designed in a photographic silhouette symbolic of the subject. The school's administrators are pictured as well as the faculty and the entire student body. Also pictured in special sections are the officers and sponsors of each class, the class favorites and athletes.

A few pages are given to the highlights of the entire year with mention of the school's progress, outstanding events, and other interesting notes.

The cost of publishing was borne chiefly by firms, merchants and business and professional men who purchased 86 advertisements and congratulatory spaces in the final pages.

HERMLEIGH TOP SCHOLARS

Granville Chorn, left, and Marjorie Vandiver will be recognized as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively of the Hermleigh high school senior class at graduation exercises Thursday night. Fifteen other students will also receive diplomas at the services.

Promotion Exercises Slated For Junior High On Thursday

A promotion program for about 250 eighth grade junior high school students will be held in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday night, Herman Trigg, principal, has announced.

In addition to the presentation of diplomas, merit and scholastic awards will be made to several students. Trigg is to give a brief address in presenting the class to the high school, where they will enter as freshmen next fall. T.D. Wiman, high school principal, will make the reply of acceptance.

Valedictorian of the junior high school class is Harriett Redwine, who had an average of 97.83 for this year's work. Clare Smith is salutatorian with a 96.42 average. Myrlene Markham will also be recognized for her scholastic average of 96.25.

Suzanne Houston and Stephen Blair, who have been chosen the best-all-around girl and boy in the class, will also receive awards.

Medals for outstanding work as librarians will be presented Shirley Barrett and Glenda Drennan. Marsha Fisher will receive an award for outstanding office work, and Mary Nell Strickland, Doris Hataway, Sue Trumble, Neta Wilson, Carla Swan and Suzanne Houston will be honored for their work as cheer leaders.

Eight members of the Junior Police Patrol will receive medals from Mrs. L. M. Bruce, president of the junior high school Parent-Teacher Association. The organization is sponsored by that unit. Patrolmen to be honored are three eighth grade students, Ronnie Riley, Charles Chapman and Harold Grant, and five seventh grade students, Fred Williams, Carl Burns, Bob Knollenberg, Darrell Parrish and Odell Moore.

The program this year is being called a promotion program rather than a graduation exercise for several reasons, Trigg said. First, it is planned to prepare the students for further education rather than representing an actual end to a phase of their education. It is designed to honor the students and encourage further effort on their part, he added.

Second, the program is shorter, and simple. Students are encouraged not to spend money for expensive clothing, but rather to feel that this is part of their school year activities.

Borden Votes June 5 on Consolidating School Districts

Borden County voters will go to the polls June 5 to decide in a special election whether the county's five common school districts shall be grouped into one district with three rural elementary schools and an elementary and high school at Gail.

If the election carries, the county's first high school will be organized, and a modern combination elementray and high school building will be constructed at the site of the present Gail school.

3 NEW SCHOOLS

Approval of the grouping also arries with it authorization to construct three new elementray schools in the outlying rural areas of the county and teacherages for each of the four school buildings, C. S. Harris, county superintendent of schools and county judge, said.

Preliminary plans for the new buildings are already on hand, Judge Harris said .One of the elementary buildings will be constructed in the Plains area in North Borden County where two present common districts will be combined. These are the Mesquite and Berry Flat districts. The other two rural schools will be built in the Union community, southeast of Gail and near the Scurry County line, and in the Glen Creek district, in the west-central part of the county.

Plans are to remodel the present two-story Gail school building, converting it into shops for crafts and farm instruction, and construct the new one-story building adjacet to it on the east with a combination auditorium and gymnasium at the extreme east.

The elementary school will occupy a wing of the new structure extending north from about the center. It will have six elementary classrooms, five high school classrooms, two home economics rooms a lecture room, a science laboratory, study hall, two administration offices, band room, a library, a cafeteria and kitchen, and shops for farm, metal, wood, and paint work.

GOOD BUILDING

The present building, about 35 years old, has nine rooms, It is still in good condition, however, according to the architects, and can be effectively remodeled, Judge Harris said.

Each of the other school buildings will have three classrooms, a lunchroom, and a kitchen, and all the schools will have modern water systems and restrooms.

Two or three duplex homes will be constructed near the Gail project for teacherages, the superintendent said, and one or two will be built at each of the other schools.

About 16 new teachers will also be hired, he said, explaining that the exact number would not be determined until each of the rural elementray schools had decided whether it would have four or six grades. The county now has only eight teachers.

The creation of the new school system will also call for creation of a new seven-man district school board, each member to be appointed by the present county school board which will remain unchanged. Each of the five members of the county board will name a person to the new board, and the entire body will chose two others to represent the county at large.

In addition to the county board, each of the five common school districts now has a separate board of three members, making 20 board members in all. There will be 12 board members in the entire new system, including the county and district boards.

Under the present system, the commissioners court sets the school tax valuation and makes collections for each of the school districts with the assistance of the three school trustees in the district. The county superintendent, however, must approve the actions of each trustee board in this respect.

Tax valuation for schools under the new county district system will be set by the district school board.

TAX, ROAD ELECTION

In conection with the creation of a new school system, another election has been called for June 30 in which voters will decide on issuance of bonds for the new buildings, maintenance tax, re-allocation of county taxes, and construction of 30 to 35 miles of hard surface roads conecting the schools.

Voters will be asked to set the school tax rate for the new district at $1 per $100 assessed valuation. Now, the tax rate varies in the five districts, two of them having a 25-cent rate, one having a rate of 75 cents, one a dollar, and the other $1.50.

The proposal to re-allocate the county tax of 80 cents per $100 valuation is to place 20 cents in the general fund, five cents in the jury fund, 50 cents in the road and bridge fund, and five cents in the permanent improvement fund.

The tax rate is allocated now to provide the general fund with 25 cents of each 80 cents collected, place 15 cents in the jury fund, 15 cents in the road and bridge fund, and 25 cents in the permanent improvemet fund.

Re-allocation is to provide more funds for the building and maintenance of the roads proposed.

UP ASSESSMENT

In the same election June 30, voters will decide on whether to assess an addition 30 cents ad valorem tax for road purposes.

This 30 cents tax is allowed the county by the state in place of a 30-cent cut in state tax made in this session of the Legislature. The Legislature voted to take 30 cents off the state ad valorem tax and to allow any county which so desired to assess an additional 30 cents for road or drainage purposes or both, Judge Harris explained.

"Practically all voters in the county feel certain both elections will carry with little opposition," the superintendent said, "because the county is for the first time able to provide adequate educational facilities at home for its students."

Because of the small population of the county and no great sources of wealth, the county heretofore has been unable to operate a high school. Students now are transported at Borden County expense to Snyder for high school work, he added.

"Schools in other counties have been good to Borden in helping our students with high school work," Judge Harris said, "but now that the county is able to provide its own high school facilities, this should be done."

New Furniture In Court Room

Furniture in the 132nd district court room which was installed back in 1909, when the court house was completed, is being discarded for new equipment.

The opera - styled seats that have served court room audiences for the past 49 years are being replaced with modern court room benches, 16 feet in length, of oak construction. Seventeen of the benches were installed Friday night, together with a late model conference table for attorneys, and a court reporter's table.

Additional equipment, to include a special chair and bench for the judge, other chairs, and benches are slated to be installed shortly, said Edgar Taylor, county judge.

The new equipment, costing around $3,250 was authorized by the commissioners court last December, said Taylor.

Governor Shivers To Be Present At Colorado City Chamber Banquet

Two other members of the highway commission, Fred Wemple and Robert J. Potts, will also be guests. New members of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors will be recognized, with Sen. Pat Bullock acting as master of ceremonies.

The banquet will be held in the new elementary school cafeteria.

Robeson was apprehended by Vernie Head and Mark Search, deputy sheriffs, about four miles out on the Colorado City highway last night.

The fine and costs were paid by Robeson.

Free Classing Service To Cotton Farmers

Cotton farmers who belong to organized improvement groups may now apply for cotton classing services under the Smith-Doxey act, H. J. Matejowsky, director of cotton classing at the Abilene PMA office, has announced.

The Abilene office will serve farmers in 26 counties in cotton classing. These counties include Scurry, Kent, Mitchell, Fisher, Howard and Martin Counties.

Participation in the program will entitle the farmer to free classing as well as Department of Agriculture market quotations, Matejowsky said.

Responsibility for the 1951-52 edition of The Tiger's Lair, Snyder high school annual, will rest largely upon the newly appointed editor Ramona Harless, and business manager, Marlin James. The faculty selects these officers from the student body on the basis of scholastic standing and ability. Both Ramona and James were on the annual staff this year. (James Franklin photograph.)

These 64 high school seniors represent about two thirds of the largest class ever to graduate from the Snyder high school. Commencement exercises for the class of 83 students will be held in the school auditorium next Friday night at 8 o'clock. Tonight, they will assemble at the auditorium for baccalaureate services.

Tempo Mounts As Graduation Nears

Among the many year-end activities is electing officers. Heading the student council at high school next year will be Herbert Reed, president, and Ramona Harless, vice-president, both shown above. They won the offices in elections Monday.

Picking colleges is a big task for graduates. Among the graduates already making plans for entering college in the fall are the seven above. Seated, left to right, are Martha Stoker, Anne Richardson, Patsy Pogue, and Shirley Teague. Standing, left to right, are David Harlin, James Franklin and Grant Teaff. All have chosen colleges within the state.

Jo Ann Gee, third from left, editor of the 1950-51 Tiger's Lair, gets some assistance in selling the volume at the high school. Miss Katherine Northcutt, faculty sponsor, is at the right of Miss Gee. Other staff members helping are, left to right, Anne Richardson, Ramona Harless, Miss Gee, Miss Northcutt, David Harlan and Manuel Hedges. This year's edition was the largest ever published by the school. (Joe Dave Scott photographs.)

During graduation week, quick changes of clothes are necessary for exams, afternoon parties, and dances at night. Shown here are three seniors, Martha Stoker, at left, wears the dress of her choice for senior week. This year's seniors will receive their diplomas in gray caps

In the center, Janet Saffle models her cap and gown. and gowns with black and gold tassels. The girls will wear white collars under the gowns. Shirley Teague, at right, is dressed for a formal event which crowds the senior schedule during the closing week of high school.

Will you print recipe for a good upside-down cake, which does not require an expert to make. Mrs. L. J.

We think this banana upside-down cake is special and hope you will agree. It is usually baked in a ring pan or a tube. Preparation of pan: Cream together 1-3 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar. Spread over bottom of pan, and place sliced bananas and maraschino in this sugar mixture. Recipe for cake batter. Cream together 1-3 cup shortening, 1 1-4 cups sugar. Add 2 beaten eggs. Sift together 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt. Add alternately to mixture 1 cup mashed bananas, 1-2 cup sour milk. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in moderate oven (385 degrees F) for 50 minutes. Turn out on cake rack to cool. Before serving, fill center with 1 cup sweetened whipped cream mixed with ½ cup mashed bananas.

I have young friends who will adopt their baby in September. They are already wondering, when this long - awaited event happens, if they might send out some kind of announcement. The child is under six months of age. What is proper in this case, please "Ida".

We quote from Emily Post's latest edition of "Etiquette" about this subject which we think she answers to satisfaction "So many people are interested in adoption announcements that the following has been chosen as being not on charming but likely to bring reassuring comfort to the child later on should she ever doubt her place in the hearts of those who chose her to be their own

Mr. and Mrs. Nuhome have the happiness to announce the adoption of Mary aged thirteen months

Or, if announcements are sent during the legal proceedings, change above form to read: have the happiness to announce the arrival and prospective adoption of...

Is it correct for a girl to order her food from the waitress at a cafe? I have been told that this is very wrong, but here I notice most of the men allow their wife or companion to place her own order. Miss L.L.S.

You are right, that it is in better form for the man to place the order of the girl he is escorting. But, he carries on a somewhat three-way conversation if he does it right, to insure ordering what she wants. It might run something like this:

Man: "What would you like Fruit cocktail? Oysters?"

Waitress: "The shrimps are very good tonight."

Man to girl: "Would you like shrimps?"

Girl: "Yes very much," or else, "I'd rather have oysters."

Man to girl: "Soup?"

Girl: "No I'd just like the chicken with ice cream for dessert."

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken From the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for May 27, 1926.)

While workmen were excavating at Wolf Park on the edge of the city one day this week, they unearthed fossil remains of some huge animal supposedly a mastodon or a mammoth. Besides finding many fragments of different parts of the animal they found two teeth, molars, which are in an almost perfect state of preservation.

A portion of a tusk was also found which measures 12 inches in diameter. The tusk is in fair condition. Owing to the tusk tapers very little, there is no telling how long the complete tusk was.

The remains of a number of these animals have been found in Scurry County, particularly along Deep Creek, and the Cottonwood in the northeastern part of the county. The soil where these monsters died is always discolored, and if the soil or gravel is put into a bucket of water, oil will form on top of the water.

The teeth and tusk are in Mr. O. P. Wolf's possession. He will have them photographed this week and then will send one or both of the teeth to some state school.

WOMAN'S FORUM

Do you sew for yourself?

Is home sewing a help to the budget, or is it as eeonomical to shop wisely from the factory-made articles in such abundance in shops today? Would the time spent in mastering really - professional look ing sewing be better used in some other phase of self development—painting, a study course, club work or the study of child psychology better to deal with your children? In other words, is sewing a valuable asset to a woman today?

These questions were shot via telephone at some 25 women representative of every walk of life in Snyder. The answers are varied, but tend to lean toward complete and total approval of sewing as a boon to woman and a real satisfaction, no matter what her budget situation. So enthusiastic are the women who maintain they have saved their husbands many dollars by handiness at needlework that their fervor was outdone only by those who never learned and "sure wish they had!"

• • •

Mrs. Broaddus, has found her time ing, for practical as well as aesthetic purposes, is part of being a woman. I shall urge training in needlework and dressmaking upon my daughter when she is old enough. Never having learned myself, mainly through negligence, I can surely appreciate what is lacking when you haven't mastered sewing.

"A teen-ager should learn it, and as for a young woman starting a home with the budget to consider, it is probably one of the most important accomplishment she can cultivate!" Wife of a busy doctor.

Mrs. Broaddus, has found her time so occupied with outside activities that she believes that has kept her from learning even at a late date.

• • •

Mrs. I. S. Dolen whose husband owns and operates two branches of Universal Construction Co., here and in Midland, believes sincerely that her sewing experiences have enriched her life. A son and a daughter benefited in past years from her making of coats, suits and most of their clothing. Only about 10 years ago did she stop making all of her own dresses, and, frankly, she misses it. For practical purposes, being able to thread up the machine and turn off a garment for some member of your family is mighty worthwhile, Mrs. Dolen believes.

• • •

Mrs. Bill Underwood, 2102 Avenue Z, wistfully remembered that they never could pin her down to sewing in her extreme youth, and, marrying at 17, she quickly became occupied with her family of three boys, and one girl and somehow missed learning to sew for them. She regrets this, having observed that her mother and sister, who did take time to learn, have been most happy with their results.

• • •

Miss Mae Lyons, secretary to Pat Beene, lawyer, thoughtfully commented that, for herself, unmarried, and a busy career woman, sewing would not be worthwhile, financially or otherwise. She also believed this might be true to other working women without large families. "The clothes I would make would not equal in appearance or quality those I can buy within my budget today. Perhaps, were I proficient at sewing, for a little less I could make my clothes, but most home sewing is not quite up to the clever and tailored garments designed by experts and sold at nominal prices in the stores." Miss Lyons, however, did postscript her remarks against personal sewing by the statement that, as for satisfaction, sewing would give it, and she secretly would enjoy doing some of it for accomplishment's sake, were it practical.

• • •

Mrs. William Haney, who is associated with her husband in the real estate business, never found the time to learn sewing. She doesn't so much regret this, having been fortunate in discovering a clever designer-seamstress, who can fit her perfectly and meet her requirements for simple clothes at a cost below what she would pay for such dresses at stores.

However, she admonishes every working woman that certain basic garments, such as that good suit, should come from a real tailor and not your own machine or a "friend who sews" unless you are a genius with the pins and needle or know Christine Dior.

Mrs. James B. Turner, never learned to sew, but is tolerant of young women's enthusiasm for it, believing it "adds something" "My only daughter was born 15 years after my marriage and by then I suppose I had lost the desire to learn, and didn't need to, so never made any of her clothes, but she will be differnt. At 12, she hovers admiringly over anyone who can run up a seam, and we plan to buy her a machine very soon. When she gets a course in school, we feel she will be a great addict of sewing, and are very glad for this interest. I did embroider, and such, at one time, but today find my interests outside of my home so much that there just isn't time. For a woman at home a great deal, perhaps with a family, sewing just can't be beat."

• • •

Mrs. Florence Leftwich, stopped a moment from her work as saleswoman at Frank's Department Store, to maintain stoutly that it is "perfectly wonderful for a lady to know how to sew, no matter what the circumstances. To point out what appeal sewing has for women, Miss Jackie Bayouth, buyer for Frank's and with hundreds of blouses and dresses available to her in the store, is at home this afternoon making a little blouse. It's a fulfilling hobby, and my mother, who did my sewing while I taught for years, enjoyed every minute of it, besides, helping that budget, oh, my!"

• • •

Mrs. Allen Warren, Warrencrest, whose lovely home sits atop a cool hill at hte foot of Avenue U, told of her mother's teaching her to sew when she was 16 and of many a dress and suit she had success with through the years. Having no children, she gradually let up on heavy sewing, and today manages to find what she wants in stores, but a young bride would do well to know how, she believes. She did modify this statement with, "Now if you just don't care for sewing, don't. You know, it is one of those things some women like very much, some do not. If you like it, it's saving, and fun, too."

• • •

Miss Jane Gilmore of the high school faculty, firmly reiterated her approval of sewing for women of all ages. 'It gives a chance to express creative ability, relieve nerves, and save money!" Miss Gilmore, herself, never was much at sewing, having been occupied with getting her master's degree in college, teaching and sponsoring the high school newspaper.

Mrs. M. L. Andress, Clairemont Road, "can't remember" when she learned sewing, it was at such an early age, and it has benefited her. Today five grandchildren enjoy her labors as she neips the one daughter and the daughter-in-law with small clothes. Mrs. Andrress believes there is a saving to be had in sewing which any young bride should know about. 'For instance," she explained "this week I sat down and sewed for myself a cotton dress, with lace trim, simple but with good lines. I would have paid $45 for it in a good shop."

Mrs. Victor Baze, 1411½ Avenue S, left a customer in their roadside service station and grocery on Lubbock highway, to discuss sewing with me. Mrs. Baze, whose outlook was refreshing if different disposition. With an unusually sunny disposition, Mrs. Baze went on to declare, "There just doesn't seem to be an ounce of southern lady in me. I haven't got a hemmed cuptowel in my place, and give me a good expensive rack of dresses in a shop downtown every time!"

• • •

Mrs. Louis Adams, whose husband is associated with the Milwhite Co., finds her husband so busy and called out so many nights that there is ample time to sew, which is certainly a budget-helper, she says. "Why, sewing comes next to cooking in a home!" confided Mrs. Adams, mother of two daughters and sewing for an approaching heir. "I didn't know a thing about it unfortunately, when I married. Soon, I bought a machine and started out, no help, and today, while I'm not fancy. I can sew enough for us that I really cut the bills. You may watch for remnamts, use a little originality in beating the expensive pattern costs and soon you have saved enough for something you really want!"

FORT WORTH LADY LOSES 20 POUNDS

"I like Barcentrate very much. It has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. T. V. Pace, Route 6, Box 186, Fort Worth, Texas. "When I commenced to take Barcentrate, I weighed 148. I had high blood pressure. I have now taken four bottles and lost 20 pounds, do not have high blood pressure, sleep and feel fine. It is a wonderful medicine."

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 12 POUNDS

"I have taken 2 bottles of Barcentrate and lost 12 pounds," says W. C. McElroy, 1922 Sixth St., Lubbock, Texas. "I feel lots better."

Domestic Drilling Program Is Held Back By Pipe Shortages

By KEITH K. KING

TULSA, Okla., May 26. (AP) — "Steel is oil," says the petroleum producer. He'll tell you it takes from a pound and a half to two pounds of metal to find and produce a barrel of oil and keep up an adequate reserve.

So, a want of his vital tubular goods — casing, tubing and drill pipe — is giving him the biggest headache of all his problems.

Spot shortages of pipe developed early in 1950, just after the oil industry had climbed from under the steel scarcity of the war years.

SIGNS GROWING

Now there are growing signs that those who hunt and produce the black gold may not get all the pipe they want this year.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America has told its members the situation will remain serious for some time. This is so, the IPPA said, because the rate of pipe mill production in the first half of 1951 failed to live up to hopes.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense, the oil industry's agency in the rearmament program, convinced the National Production Authority oilmen should have around 1,800,000 tons of steel to drill not fewer than 43,000 wells this year.

SUPPLY CRAMPED

That allocation, calling for pipe mill production of 157,000 tons monthly, was believed enough. But the supply was cramped by two developments:

First, only 129,000 tons were produced in each of January and February, 131,000 tons in March. PAD says the needed pipe volume won't be reached until July.

Second, demands have outrun the supply almost two to one. PAD has on file applications which, if filled, would drill more than 72,000 wells. That's about 68 per cent above the total anticipated for the year.

PRODUCTION NEEDED

The petroleum industry says the country has only 400,000 to 450,000 barrels of oil daily in excess of producing capacity that is, discovered oil that could be brought from the ground is badly needed without injuring the wells.

PAD has put the nation's needs for defense purposes at one million barrels daily of excess capacity.

Oilmen are confident the added oil can be found and produced. They warn, however, that without steel the domestic drilling program must suffer.

Not a few producers feel defense production officials could take the petroleum industry's steel requirements more seriously.

RESOLUTION

The IPAA, in a resolution it is circulating to defense production leaders, declared:

"There is evidence that some government agencies and officials not directly connected with petroleum, are refusing to recognize essential minimum requirements for oil industry mattrials.

The resolution praised PAD's efforts to supply steel to the oil country but not:

"Unless all government officials recognize these needs, the mobilization program is threatened with failure."

MORE PIPE SUPPLIES

It suggested, too, that the State Department and Office of International Trade "are demanding disproportionate quantities of steel for foreign use at the expense of operations in this country."

Seeking to ease the situation, PAD announced more supplies of pipe for regional distribution depots at Odessa, Tex., and Casper, Wyo. areas it said had bad shortages. There are 13 such depots in the country.

The agency also has acted to halt black market sale of oil producing materials and to assure allocation of available pipe through proper channels. Applications are closely scrutinized and some orders of necessity cutsharply.

THIRD QUARTER

Those trimmed, in many cases, are for the third quarter starting July 1, when the regular distribution program gets underway.

In the meantime, five per cent of the total annual pipe allocation has been set aside by PAD for wildcat drilling — operations in areas not yet proven. Many such operators, however, won't get all they want or need.

Some drillers have borrowed pipe from others whose inventories aren't immediately needed. A lucky few have tapped foreign supplies, chiefly Belgian, but the pipe and its price reportedly aren't as good as the domestic kind.

Two Completions Are Reported in Scurry

Lion Oil Co. and John R. Less have filed completion reports on two Scurry County field locations.

Lion No. 5 Marchbanks, drilled in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon pool, was finaled for 184.62 barrels of 43.7 gravity oil on a 24-hour flow. Gas-oil ratio was 1,059-1. Top of the pay was at 6,681, with production from perforations at 6,686-6,698 and 6,704-6,716 feet. Location is in section 164, block 97, H&TC survey.

In the Sharon Ridge 2400 field, Less and others No. 7 Byrd-Frost pumped 24 hours for a potential of 60 barrels of 30 gravity oil. The hole had been treated with 15,000 gallons of acid. No water was present. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1. Location is in the eeast half of the southwest quarter of section 131, block 97, H&TC survey.

A field office will still be maintained here, Cremer said. The move of the divisional office was made to facilitate the company's operations in Louisiana and Texas.

Imperial and Edith W. McKanna last week spudded in the No. 1 Vernon B. Cox, a 7,500-foot wildcat, about 16 miles northwest of Snyder and about three miles northwest of Canyon reef production. It is located in the southeast quarter of section 699, block 97, H&TC survey.

Imperial took over the properties of the Imperial Agency Corp. in Scurry and Kent Counties last year.

Well to Be Deepened

Kids Tease Him, but Honors Pour In on Teen-Aged Artist

NEW IBERIA, La., May 26. (AP)—Perhaps there is something to the theory that environment is more influential than heredity. It certainly seems so in the case of 17-year-old Robert Gordy of New Iberia, La., who recently won top honors in the National Scholastic Arts Awards exhibition in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Robert's folks can recall no one on either side of the family who was talented with brushes and paints. The only clue to Robert's budding art is his birthplace.

BORN IN RIGHT PLACE

The South Louisiana lad was born at Jefferson Island, La., in the old Joe Jefferson home. Joe Jefferson, famed actor of a generation or two ago, also was a successful painter.

The youngest of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gordy, Robert, from his diaper days, liked scribbling fanciful pictures. However, it wasn't until about four years ago that he became seriously interested in the so-called "modern art" which is now his favorite hobby.

About 1947 Robert began attending art classes sponsored by the then newly organized Iberia Art Association. He also enrolled in a couple of night art courses at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayett, La., and painted his first modern piece as an experiment.

EXPRESSIONISTIC ART

Robert says his style is hard to explain but classifies his art as expressionistic with emphasis on child-like fantasy — primitive elements combined with strong color and good design.

As a teen-ager and a mere novice in the field he thinks his style changes every day with each painting but no doubt about it, Robert's art is modern.

Robert is a senior in the New Iberia High School. After graduation he plans to study art education at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, then to go East for his master's degree, and some day to teach art in a college or university. His ambition is a one-man show in New York.

How does he develop a painting? He selects a subject, then thinks about it. He decides what the most impressive feature of the subject is, and then emphasizes that feature.

DOES ILLUSTRATIONS

That must be one way of doing it, because Robert recently won the distinction of having a full-page color illustration published in the "it's all yours" May issue of Seventeen Magazine. That issue was written, illustrated and edited by teen-agers. Robert illustrated the prize-winning short story.

Robert entered 17 paintings in the National Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition, and 13 of the 17 were hung. In the regional scholastic art exhibition which preceded the national show, Robert won 17 achievement keys with 18 paintings entered. In last year's National Scholastic Art Awards, he won the Strathmore Award for the best painting from the Louisiana district.

LOTS OF RIBBING

The young artist takes a lot of ribbing from his teen-aged friends (who call him Bobby), mostly because his paintings just don't make much sense to them. However, Robert doesn't mind a little kidding and has a wide circle of friends.

Besides painting, Robert likes a variety of sports, including swimming, but "my favorite sports are horseback riding — and dating." He likes girls and dancing and when there's nothing much going on among his crowd, he reads the traditional teen-age literature.

Robert lives in a large, comfortable brick home on the banks of the famed Bayou Teche of Longfellow's "Evangeline." His father is an executive in an area salt company.

Anderson - Prichard Oil Corp. and Greenbrier Oil Co. are to start operations by the middle of June at their No. 1 R. S. Windham, et al, a 13,500-foot wildcat in West-Central Upton County to explore to and through the Ellenburger.

The exploration will be three and one-half miles southtast of Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 McElroy, recently completed flowing discovery from both the Strawn and the Ellenburger to open production from those pays in the wilshire area of the McElroy ranch.

The location is 16 miles northwest of Rankin and approximately the same distance north and slightly east of McCamey.

No Shows On Borden Test At 9,033 Feet

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-G Higginbotham, wildcat 14 miles south of Gail in Southwest Borden County, is drilling ahead after a drillstem test at 9,003-9,162 feet.

When the tester was open, a weak blow of air surfaced for 15 minutes and then died. The tool was closed 15 minutes and re-opened with a weak blow of air which died in 45 minutes. Recovery was 60 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or gas.

This wildcat recovered oil and salt water on a drillstem test in the Canyon reef lime at 8,025-8,065 feet.

Caddo Flows In Stonewall

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., of Dallas has completed his No. 1 T. A. Upshaw as a Caddo discovery in East - Central Stonewall County.

The well flowed 257 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a 12-64th-inch choke on the potential test.

Gas - oil ratio was 630-1.

Production is from open hole between 5,945-6,970 feet.

The new discovery is located 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 84, block D, H&TC survey and two miles northeast of Aspermont.

North Howard Wildcat Set

Three and one-quarter miles east of the closest completed oil wells in the Vealmoor field of Central-North Howard County, Fullerton Oil Co. and others of Hobbs staked location for an 8,200 - foot Pennsylvanian wildcat.

It will be drilled as their No. 1 Collins Ranch, 720 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the northwest quarter of section 42, block 31, T&P survey, T-3-N.

Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will start by June 1. Location is 20 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Scurry Wildcat Is At Total Depth of 5,373

R. Olson Oil Co. No. 1 J. W. Templeton, East - Central Scurry wildcat, is at total depth of 5,373 feet in sandy lime and reaming hole 20 feet off bottom. It is located 10 miles east of Snyder in section 52, block 3, H&TC survey.

Marriage - Divorce Ratio About 2 To 1

Although Scurry County's ratio of one divorce for every two marriages would probably shock our grandfathers, it looks good compared to some other Texas areas.

In Abilene, for instance, bonds are being severed about as fast as they can be tied, and in San Antonio at one time there were more people getting un-married than were being wed.

TWO-TO-ONE

The score here since Jan. 1, 1949, is about 182 divorces granted to 413 marriage licenses issued. If you like that field of fiction called statistics, this can be boiled down to 2.21 marriages for every divorce.

This picture of relative connubial solidarity is a little misleading, however, because it ignores the number of divorces that were filed but dismissed or denied. If all divorces filed are compared with marriage licenses, the ratio is 1.12 marriages for every divorce action initiated.

Since Jan. 1, 1949, 368 divorce actions have been filed and almost half of these have been granted.

In the marriage license department, 1950 appears to have been a good year for Cupid. That year 231 licenses were issued, compared with only 129 in 1949, and only 53 so far this year.

Most divorce suits are dropped before they ever come to trial, Ben F. Thrope, district judge, said. "During the 30 days which must elapse between the date of filing a divorce case and the date of hearing, at least half the couples decide either in favor of dismissing the suit or not pressing it," Thorpe added. If it is dismissed, the couple usually goes back together and forgets the disagreement. If not pressed by either the plaintiff or the defendant, a case may stay on the books for several months, and the plaintiff later drops it, or else they separate but remain married and eventually go back together.

PERJURY

Perjury is practiced occasionally both in obtaining marriage licenses and in seeking divorces. The consequences of perjury are severe if an adult is convicted, but seldom are persons charged with perjury except in rare court cases where it is evident a person is intentionally making false statements while under oath.

J. P. Billingsley, former county clerk and now county auditor, said several cases of perjury had been discovered from time to time, but these were usually overlooked after parents of minors gave consent for their children to marry rather than wanting to appear as witnesses against the spouses their children had married.

Sometimes a man of age obtains a license to marry a girl who is actually under age by swearing she is also of legal age, Pat Johnston, county clerk, said. The man in this case may be prosecuted for perjury.

Perjury in divorce cases is usually difficult to detect, Judge Thorpe said, because the defendand is ordinarily not present. Sometimes a plaintiff will file a false charge against his or her husband or wife in an effort to strengthen the case or prove justification for divorce after it is granted.

In many of these cases, the defendant will overlook the false charge rather than defend himself. When he overlooks it, he is defend himself of an unjurst charge at fault, the judge said. "He should even though he may want the divorce as much as the other party."

Of Every Dollar Collected In Texas, U. S. Returns a Dime

(Special to the Daily News)

WASHINGTON, May 26 — (CQ) —One-tenth of the federal taxes paid by Texans in 1950 was returned to the state in the form of grants-in-aid for such programs as highway construction and public works.

This is the finding of a survey by Congressional Quarterly News Features, a privately owned and independent Washington news and research bureau.

$126 MILLION BACK

Federal revenue from Texas during the fiscal year 1950 totaled slightly more than one and one-fourth billion dollars, and $126 million was returned in federal grants-in-aid.

A grant-in-aid is federal money made available to a state or local government for certain programs for which the state or a subdivision also provides funds.

Figures quoted in the C.Q. survey are from a detailed study by the Senate Subcommittee to study Intergovernmental Relations, of the Senate Expenditures Committee, and from the federal budget for 1951.

Texas received $118 million in grants-in-aid in 1949 and is scheduled to get $115 million in 1951.

HOW IT WAS SPENT

A breakdown of the $126 million the state got in 1950 shows that the following amounts were allotted to major programs:

Old age assistance, 60 millions highway construction, $29½ million; aid to dependent children, 27 million; employment compensation and employment administration, $5,500,000; school lunch program, $5 million; hospital construction, $3,500,000; distribution of farm surplus, $2,500,000; federal airport program, $1,500,000; agricultural extension work, $2 million.

In terms of percentage of federal tax money returned to the state, Texas' neighbors ranked in this order:

Arkansas, 34 per cent; New Mexico, 30 per cent; Louisiana, 22, per cent; Oklahoma, 16 per cent.

In terms of dollar volume, the rank of neighboring states was:

Louisiana, $77 million; Oklahoma, $67 million; Arkansas, $36 million; New Mexico, $17 million.

California received more federal aid in 1950—$187 million —than any other state. However, the figure represents only seven per cent of the federal revenue raised in California during the year. In terms of the amount of federal tax money returned to the state, Mississippi led all others by getting back 38 per cent of the money it paid to the federal treasury.

ONE FOR THE ALBUM—Maj. Gen. Leon W. Johnson, Commander of the U. S. Third Air Force in Europe, snaps a picture of his daughter, Sally, as she prepares to leave for a Buckingham Palace presentation to the King and Queen of England.

As summer vacation time nears for school children of the county, the Youth Center, shown above, stands vacant. The board of directors has stated their policy that the club must be cleared of debt before it is to be used. To clear the building, $12,001 are needed. On top of that, maintenance and operating costs would have to be met.

Sound Business Practice Important For Cities, Too

Despite the example of the national administration, making the budget balance is a time-hallowed American institution.

No businessman who flouts the economic facts of life will long survive. And woe to his wife if she exceeds her allowance on the household expenses.

The principles of sound business are no less important to a city government than to a manufacturing firm with thousands of employees and stockholders.

At present, this city does not draw up a budget each year. We believe the operation of the city would be more efficient and less expensive in the long run if a detailed, itemized budget of anticipated expenses and expected revenues were compiled annually, as is done in Colorado City and other municipalities operating under the council-manager form of government.

Under the council-manager form, the city manager is designated the director of finance and is responsible for drawing the budget.

To enable him to make the estimate as accurately as possible, he is given the authority in the Colorado City charter to ask itemized estimates from each city department. Since he is also administrative head of the government, the manager has well in mind the probable new projects to be undertaken during the coming year as well as general operating expenses.

From these figures he draws up a budget for presentation to the council, which in turn holds a public hearing on it, makes changes or amendments and has the final authority to adopt or reject it.

A summary of the budget presented to the Colorado City council by Jack Tallent, city manager, for the next fiscal year shows to the nearest cent where money for city government will come from and for what it will be spent. From each dollar expected to be collected during the year, 68 cents will come from general property taxes and five cents from other local taxes. Licenses and permits will furnish 12 cents of each dollar, with nine cents from fines, forfeitures and penalties, three cents from revenues from other agencies and three cents from charges for current services rendered by the city.

The heaviest expenditure called for in the budget would be in the public services department, which would account for 42 cents of each dollar. The police department would receive 25 cents of each dollar, with less than 10 cents each going to the council, court and law department, city manager's office, finance department, city hall, fire department, parks and recreation department, retirement of the general debt, contributions and into the contingency account.

The budget definitely sets out the amount expected to be collected in taxes, from which city tax rates are to be determined.

The budget is not allowed to exceed the expected income plus cash on hand under the Colorado City charter, and some funds must be set aside for a contingent fund.

Should the expenditures of the city exceed the budget, the council may authorize the borrowing of money by the issuance of negotiable notes, either upon anticipation by the collection of property taxes or other revenues. All these notes must be payable not later than the end of the fiscal year in which they were issued.

To pay for capital improvements, the Colorado City council is permitted under its new charter to incur indebtedness by issuing revenue bonds or tax bonds. Revenue bonds may be issued under the civil statutes of the state, while the issuance of tax bonds must be approved by a majority vote of qualified property tax payers. The council must make public all pertinent information concerning the bonds well in advance of the election. This information is to include the levy of taxes sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund or retirement of the principal and the number of years within which the bonds are to mature.

Before the city can make any sale or contract for sale of its property valued at more than $1,000, opportunity must be given for open competition on it. The same right of open competition is applied to city contracts for improvements costing more than $2,000 or purchases.

Conservationists Warn Farmer About Rotation And Terraces

The board of supervisors of the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District, of which Scurry County is a part, has cautioned farmers against planting all their land in cotton this year and leaving no ground available for early fall vetch and rye, according to Marion E. Everhart work unit conservationist for the Snyder office.

"A good three-year crop rotation is cotton, hairy vetch and rye," said Everhart. He pointed out that co-operators have found that they make as much income as the straight cotton man over a period of six years.

"The vetch and rye can be grazed by livestock in average years until about March 15 each year, then allowed to grow until the vetch is in the early bloom stage," said Everhart.

'It should then be worked into the surface with a one-way or disc and not turned under," he said. Adding, 'About 200 pounds or 20 per cent superphosphate per acre should be applied with the vetch and rye. An increase in yield will be observed the following two years. Technicians of the district office will assist co-operators in applying this part of their conservation plan."

TERRACES

In regard to terrace outlets. Everhart said:

"It is not too late to have your terrace outlet and a waterway down the end of the field shaped and seeded to a good permanent grass cover. This should be done on all farms that have a terrace system which does not have a outlet.

"It is best to try to hold a good portion of the rain above the terraces, but only partial closures should ever be made. If the soil is very tight then no closure should be made. When rains do come in sufficient quantity to run out the end of the terraces, around the partial closure, then it must empty in a good waterway. The waterway should resemble a good highway ditch, being at least six feet wide at the bottom, with gradual side slopes.

"The area occupied by the waterway should not be considered waste land nor should it be used for a turn row. This area can be some of the most profitable on the farm because it is ideal for a hay crop or may be used for a grass seed crop. King Ranch blue stem makes a satisfactory waterway grass and because of the extra water it gets, it will make an abundance of excellent hay or a good seed crop. If the field adjoining the wateway is planted to wheat or any other grazing crop then the waterway grass may be used for grazing.

"It is the unthinking farmer who allows his terrace outlets to wash and gully back into his field."
