Fascist Army Is Repulsed, Greeks Say

Il Duce's Invaders Claim Capture Of 79 Greek Cities

(By The Associated Press)

A 35-mile Italian advance into the Ioannina sector of northwest Greece, along with the capture of 79 Grecian villages, was reported by the official Italian news agency today.

The Italian claim—which would indicate that the city of Ioannini (Janina) now is under Fascist seige or that Mussolini's invaders are not advancing on the shortest line from the Albanian frontier—conflicted with official Greek reports.

Say Italians Repulsed

The Greek high command declared that tank-supported Italian troops in northwest Greece had been "repulsed everywhere" in the 5-day-old Balkan conflict while on the east end of the 100-mile front the Fascist invaders started a major drive toward Salonika.

RAID "COMPLETE FAILURE"

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Well-informed Greek sources here said that Italian planes bombed the Greek port of Sa'onika at noon today. They said the raid was "a complete failure" but that no details were available immediately.

British RAF bombers attacked southern Italy for the first time, bombing the ancient Tyrrhenian seaport of Naples near the "ankle" of the Italian boot.

The Naples attack, striking at oil tanks and other military objectives in the Naples area where great blast furnaces and steel mills are located, followed a rising clamor in the British press for stronger blows against Italy.

Italy Weakest Link

"Italy is the weakest link in the Axis," said the London News Chronicle. "Smash it, and more than half the battle is won."

Similarly, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express declared:

"Living women and children matter more to us than the antiquities of Rome. If bombing Rome is to mean an earlier victory for the Greeks and ourselves, we should begin it tomorrow and continue it until the Italians see sense."

Premier Mussolini's high command said the raid on Naples cost one killed, five wounded.

Belgrade dispatches said the Ital-

Nazarenes End Assembly At Noon Today

'41 Assembly City Not Chosen; Event Said Successful

The convention described as the most successful in the 31 years history of Abilene district of the Church of the Nazarene closed at noon today soon after pastoral appointments for the next year had been announced by Rev. John L. Knight of Mineral Wells, who was re-elected district superintendent Thursday.

Among the appointments was that of Rev. A. F. Laing, pastor of Lubbock Church of the Nazarene, Fourteenth street and Avenue Q, which has been host to the annual assembly since Monday night.

Most Churches Included

The pastoral appointments included practically all of the churches in the Abilene district which embraces the whole of Northwest Texas.

Another event of the final session of the assembly was the ordination of seven ministers as elders at which Dr. R. T. Williams of Kansas City, senior superintendent of the general church, officiated.

Those ordained were J. W. South of Bethany college, Oklahoma City; Ward B. Chandler of Abilene; J. C. Warrick of Bethany; Jack Dan Welty of Bethany; B. W. Taylor of O'Donnell; Mrs. Lucille Bohannon of Floydada; and Miss Betty Ellis of Tahoka, who is to become pastor at Hedley.

No City Named

Announcement was made by Mr. Laing that the selection of the 1941 assembly city has been referred to the district superintendent and board of advisers.

War Developments Watched By Turks

ORDERED DEPORTED — Mrs. Raissa Berkman Browder, wife of Earl Browder, general secretary of the U. S. Communist party, was ordered deported by the Justice department on the ground that she had entered this country illegally.

(By The Associated Press)

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 1. — President Ismet Inonu of Turkey informed his national assembly today that Turkey would not enter the war now, but was studying the situation in the Mediterranean in collaboration with Great Britain, her ally.

The key to the decision seemed to observers to lie in the president's statement that Turkey's relations with Soviet Russia "are now taking a friendly turn" after "passing through a critical stage."

Would Fight Instantly

He reiterated, however, that Turkey would fight instantly if attacked and insisted: "We remain loyal to our friendships, obligations and ties of collaboration."

"Our neighbors, the Greeks, unfortunately have been called into the war and we, with our ally, Britain, are studying the situation," said Inonu. "Our country has decided to defend our independence, security and land. This is the greatest pride of our nation and no change has been made in our foreign policy. We have no external ambitions . . .

"We have decided to act for the interests of our nation without harming anyone else."

To Await Developments

"This was interpreted to mean that Turkey, acting probably with the counsel of Soviet Russia, had decided to await developments before going to war. These developments might be a direct attack on Turkey or entrance of Bulgaria into the Greek-Italian war on the side of the Axis.

"The war is spreading to a point where the whole world may be involved," Inonu said. "Several countries are under foreign occupation and it appears that this phase may last a long time. . . .

"The youth of the Turkish nation of today will make the future wonder at its heroism . . . in an age in which it is possible for only heroes to live. The Turkish nation advances toward the future and security."

FDR May Ask Congress For More Plants

Plane Production Will Be Stepped Up Under Plan

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—President Roosevelt said today that he may ask Congress soon to approve a new and enlarged program of airplane production for American defense.

He indicated at a press conference that the program would envisage construction of new plane manufacturing plants to help reach the goal of an American production capacity of 50,000 fighting planes annually.

Development Necessary

The program has not yet reached the draft stage, said Mr. Roosevelt, but it is obvious that some such development will be necessary. Present production facilities are overtaxed by American and British orders placed since last spring.

The president's discussion of the plane production problem followed disclosure yesterday that army officials are talking of requesting funds and authorizations for the purchase of 12,000 additional light and heavy bombers. The army and navy together already have 25,000 aircraft on order.

British Ask 12,000

The president revealed in Boston Wednesday night that the British also have asked permission to order 12,000 planes in addition to 14,000 previously ordered.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was perfectly obvious—"kindergarten stuff"—that if America is to provide 12,000 more planes for Great Britain, new plant facilities will have to be created.

He said, however, that the national defense advisory commission, has not yet acted on his request to give the new British order "sympathetic consideration."

Mr. Roosevelt did not specify how the new plane plants would be financed.

Program Is Studied

The whole program is being worked out by production experts, Mr. Roosevelt said. He added that Defense Production Chief William S. Knudsen is working on a scheme under which automobile manufacturers would accept subcontracts for fabrication of aircraft parts and the Weiss was sentenced by Federal District Judge Ben C. Dawkins yesterday after attorneys failed in their application for a new trial. Attorney Hugh M. Wilkinson said he would appeal to the U. S. Circuit court of appeals in New Orleans within the next five days.

Naples Raided By RAF Ships

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Axis bombing planes struck at London, Merseyside and other points in England and Scotland by daylight today as the air ministry announced a raid by RFA bombers on Naples, Italy.

Oil tanks and "other objectives" at Naples were attacked successfully last night, a communique said, adding that a direct hit was scored on a merchant ship off the German-occupied Norwegian coast.

Raiders Turned Back

London, after a comparatively quiet night, underwent two alarms before noon, but both were brief and British fighters in each case were reported to have turned back the attacking planes.

In a later raid several bombs were dropped on the capital's outskirts.

Meanwhile German long-range guns on the French coast shelled British shipping in the Dover strait and got a hot reply from Britain's big batteries.

The Nazi bombardment lasted about two hours, but most of their shells burst wide of the targets and

Slayer Again On The Loose

(By The Associated Press)

PARCHMAN, Miss., Nov. 1 — There will have to be some new verses to "The Kenny Wagner Song."

The bad man about whom they sing in the cotton fields and around the plantation cabins in Mississippi is out again, his trail lost.

Kinnie Wagner—the ballads call him "Kenny"—escaped from the Parchman Prison farm after 14 years of imprisonment.

Officers in Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee, states in which he has been charged with a total of five slayings, took up the alarm but declared today they had no clues.

Killed A Sheriff

Wagner, now 37, was a trusty serving a life term for the killing of Sheriff Murdock McIntosh who sought to arrest him in Greene county on Christmas Eve, 1924.

In November, 1924, he was arrested for larceny and jailed at Lucedale, but escaped within a few days after slugging a guard.

McIntosh led a posse that cornered Wagner in a shack near a saw-

Report Says Pursuit Plane Hit 520 MPH

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 1 (U.P.) — The Bell Aircorba pursuit plane has been flown 520 miles an hour, 100 miles an hour faster than the muzzle velocity of a .38 caliber bullet, according to Jack Knight, United Air lines official and one of the nation's pioneer airmen.

Knight told a luncheon club yesterday that he obtained his information from the test pilot who flew the Aircobra, built by the Bell Aircraft company of Buffalo, N. Y.

The test pilot said, according to Knight, that the Aircobra, a single motored monoplane, attained a speed of more than 750 miles an hour in a 30-degree power dive.

Two Sailors Survive 70-Day "Miracle Of Navigation"

(By The United Press)

NASSAU, The Bahamas, Nov. 1.—Two sailors, their bodies sun blackened, suffering from exposure and starvation, were in a Nassau hospital today after navigating 2,500 miles in 70 days in a 16-foot lifeboat.

Robert George Tapscott, 19, of Cardiff, Wales, and Wilbert Roy Widdicombe, 24, Newport, Wales, accomplished what veteran seamen were calling a "miracle of navigation."

Widdicombe, the stronger of the two, said that when their ship, the steamer Anglo Saxon, was sunk by a German raider 500 miles southwest of the Azores last Aug. 21, seven men put off in the lifeboat.

Two had been wounded when the German vessel machine-gunned the fleeing lifeboats, he said. They died. During the succeeding days, he and the five other men used up the emergency rations of food and water stowed in the boat. After that, two of the other men could not stand the hunger and thirst and jumped overboard. The fifth man was overcome by the intense heat, went berserk and cut

England's Cats, Dogs Taking Share Of German Air Raids

LONDON, Nov. 1—England's 45,000,000 domestic animals are getting—and taking—their share of the German air blitzkrieg along with the island's human inhabitants.

Dogs, cats and other pets which occupy a place of honor in homes from the poorest limehouse slums to Buckingham palace have generally accepted the bombing and cannonading with stoicism.

Theoretically pets are barred from public shelters, but there's no record yet of anyone complaining when a pet owner runs into a shelter with a cat or a dog tucked under his arm.

The family dog or cat usually goes to the household shelter with others in the family when air sirens start. Occasionally, however, the pet is left in a shuttered room.

In one instance a woman hurried to a shelter during a raid only to remember there that she had forgotten her two dogs. She dashed back to get them, but a bomb killed her on the doorstep. The dogs were safe in

Germans Say Occupied European Countries To Be Fed On Rations

Norway Struck Hardest Blow

BY JACK FLEISCHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 1—Well-informed German sources said today the peoples of countries occupied by Germany would be fed this winter although rationing would be enforced in varying degrees, depending upon available supplies and future production possibilities.

German administrators were confident that while French, Dutch, Belgians and others would complain, they would cooperate with the Germans in the matter of food production, regulation and preservation.

Trade Agreements Help

Chief shortages in all occupied countries are soap, oils, fats and food such as tea, coffee and cocoa. Germans do not, however, regard these as having serious effect on generl nourishment.

German sources said the most serious food shortage at the present exists in Norway. But officials said the small population of that country made them confident they could meet the basic needs. They said they relied on trade agreements among some occupied countries and with other continental nations to help, and would facilitate such agreements. The recent Russo-Danish trade pact providing Denmark with cattle fodder was cited as an example.

Harvests Satisfactory

One informed source said that in all of the occupied nations except Norway large war stocks of food had been found and that these would be drawn upon in case of need to help their populations. Officials, however, refrain from stating publicly that Germany will make herself responsible for this task.

Satisfactory harvests in Germany this year are said to be a favorable factor, making it more likely that seized stocks will not be requisitioned for German consumption. Steps have been taken to cut down on meat production in all the occupied countries in order to save on grain stocks. Agreements between countries like Holland and Belgium are expected to equalize food.

Rationing Strict

It was said that the food situation in former Poland had improved considerably and that no food problem is expected there this winter. "Some grain," it was said, has been sent to the area from Germany.

Strict rationing has been introduced by German administrators in all occupied countries, with the primary object of conserving supplies for a possible long pull, it was said.

While no serious shortage is expected this winter, the Germans are determined that the agricultural capacities of the occupied countries be exploited fully. France was cited as a country which could increase her production greatly. General plans for intense cultivation next summer are being mapped out in collaboration with the administrations of the occupied lands.

The general impression today is that Germany is preparing to meet a food situation built around the possibility that the war may be prolonged.

Scanlan's attorney told the jury that Miss Henie entered an oral agreement with the promoter in 1936 under which he was to receive that amount as her American manager.

Miss Henie's counsel denied that Scanlan had helped her obtain Hollywood contracts.

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them.)

IDALOU MAN WRITES

Dear Plainsman: Well, all this todo in defense of Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald in your column and Mr. Humphries' letter on the same subject. How coincidental! Just great minds running in the same channel. One could almost believe that timing had nothing to do with it. Why would Mr. Humphries be so interested in the farm problem, or has he only become interested since his presidential candidate picked up a recruit?

The people who plow through the sandstorms and bend their back in the broiling sun are the people to decide this question and Mr. Humphries is not in that class and apparently not Mr. McDonald.

Too bad, Mr. Humphries must ask the Plainsman to tell the people just which of the candidates of the major parties have the strongest chain to democratic principles. Too bad the poor man is unable to make his own decisions about voting.

He may need to be instructed but we whom you thought to so cleverly lead or mislead can make our own decisions. We may not appear to be inteiligent and we make no claim to know how to write, or even to read very well, but say, boys, we can smell and your clever little ruse stinks in our noses.

A. Mitchell,
Idalou.

(Dear Mr. Mitchell: Just as you were given a right to your expressions in the letter above, so was Mr. Humphries given a right to the expression of his opinion. As for my comments—which were written before receipt of Mr. Humphries' letter and which he knew nothing of—I sought to lead no one to vote for or against J. E. McDonald. Read my comments again and you'll see I was upholding the right of any American citizen to vote as he chooses. I still upheld that right as a cardinal principle of democracy. That right may smell badly to you. To me it is mighty important. Thanks for your letter. The Plainsman.)

AGAINST McDONALD

Dear Plainsman: I see in the paper you are going to support Mr. McDonald. I don't know very much about politics, but it just seems to me that McDonald is a traitor to his party, and I for one am going to scratch him and write in W. N. Corry. It looks as though this was a cut-and-dried proposition, as the Republicans did not put out a man for this office. Mr. McDonald was very nice to Mr. Willkie from the start of his restful vacation to Denver.

Really, I don't think Mr. Willkie would do any more for us than Hoover did. We all remember four and five cent cotton, four and five dollar maize, corn and hogs. We could not sell and the banks that went under in our own South Plains country was awful. If Willkie is elected I venture to say we will have soup lines in four years and I hope McDonald will be the first to call for a bowl of soup.

I hope every true Democrat scratches McDonald out and writes in W. N. Corry.

W. E. Watson,
Lubbock.

(Dear Mr. Watson: You go right ahead and vote for anybody you choose and you'll hear no kicks from me. What I am contending for is the right of the individual to vote for whomever he chooses—a right I exercise myself and therefore grant to everyone else. Cordially yours, The Plainsman.)

ARMY HOSTESSES

Dear Plainsman: There is some question and different opinions in regard to the hostesses the government is putting on at our government camps, as, for instance, at Brownwood. What is the purpose of this movement? Is there any question of the morality of this move? Do you think that it is the good of our soldier boys, or not? Do you think it will be worse for them? Do you approve of this movement and why?

Are these hostesses in our training camps good and worthy, or are they of questionable character?

Are these places intended to improve the morals of our soldier boys, or are they intended to drag them down to lower levels of morality?

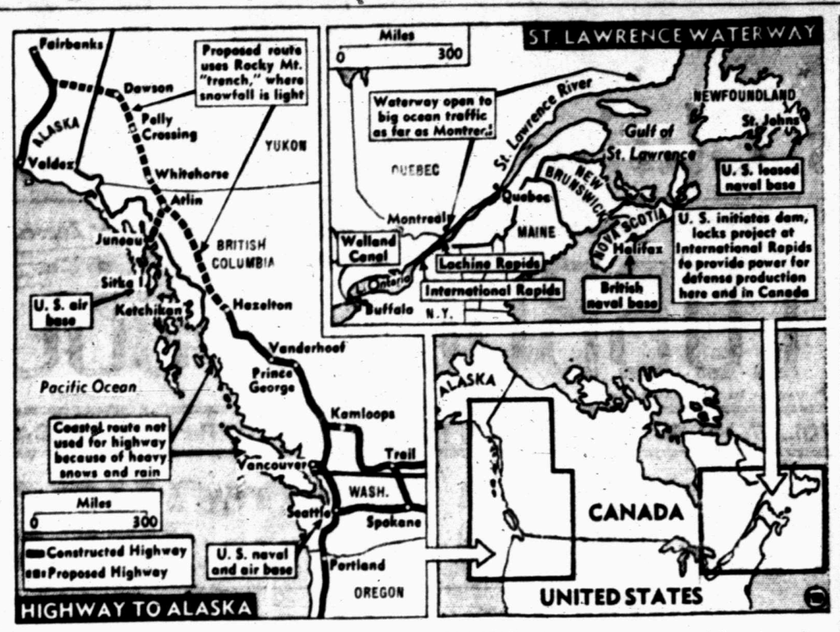

If you will answer the above questions and be very frank about answering them, I certainly will appreciate and assure you that it will do the people out in this part of the country a lot of good. There is a lot of different opinions about who these hostesses are and just what are they appointed and paid to do.

Very sincerely yours,
Will Marr,
Ralls.

(Dear Mr. Marr: There has been much misinformation going the rounds about these army hostesses, caused, I think, because a "hostess" to a lot of people means a dance hall girl paid to dance with the customers, or a feminine bar-room worker whose duty it is to cajole customers in buying more drinks. The government's plans on army hostesses are based on service to and betterment for the men under arms. The hostesses will be carefully picked for their ability to entertain and be generally helpful to the soldiers. There is nothing immoral or degrading in the idea, at all and if high type women are chosen—and every effort will be made to keep any others out of the service—I think it will be a fine thing. With the right type of women on the job, the morals of the young men will never be hurt and in some cases, they will be improved. Cordially yours, The Plainsman.)

New Research Shows Brer Rabbit Syrup RICH in IRON

Gives children the flavor they love ...and extra iron they need

THE mellow-sweet flavor of freshly crushed sugar-cane juice is a treat all children adore. And when they enjoy that flavor daily in luscious Brer Rabbit Syrup, they also get the benefit of extra iron in their diet.

The full value of this delicious syrup for giving extra iron to children has only recently been learned through scientific tests. These tests prove:

1. Brer Rabbit Syrup contains a valuable amount of iron.
2. The iron in Brer Rabbit Syrup is almost 100% available for use by the body. It is more fully available than the iron in most other foods.
3. Brer Rabbit Syrup helps to supply the iron needed daily by both children and adults.

Remember, mother, that growing bodies require more iron than adults in proportion to their size. Make sure a food rich in iron that is fully available to the body is included in your child's daily diet. Just such a food is Brer Rabbit Syrup. Buy a can from your grocer today.

How to Add Iron to Children's Diets

Children love to get their iron from delicious Brer Rabbit Syrup—and you can give it to them in any form they enjoy . . .

As a spread—For pancakes, waffles, biscuits and other hot breads. Or on plain or buttered bread for between-meal snacks.

In milk—Brer Rabbit Milk Shake is a delicious drink! Just mix one or more tablespoons of Brer Rabbit Syrup with a glass of milk 3 times a day.

On cereal—In place of other sweetening.

For dessert—As a sauce for ice cream or in luscious gingerbread or cookies. All of Brer Rabbit's iron richness is retained in cooking.

New Mail Service Sought For Area

Efforts are being made by the railway mail service to substitute a satisfactory schedule to replace the service formerly handled by Santa Fe trains 94 and 95, which were taken off by the railroad under authority of the Railroad Commission of Texas, said Postmaster Amos Howard.

Harry K. Coale of Fort Worth, chief clerk of district 1, which includes territory west of Fort Worth, visited Lubbock this week, as well as other towns, to confer with postal officials on a new schedule. A temporary route between Lubbock and Amarillo, to serve seven other towns, would be set up.

Would Start Soon

Coale indicated the proposed route, either by bus or truck, would carry all classes of mail. It also would approximate the same hours as the two trains removed. No. 94 left Lubbock at 8:30 a. m., arriving in Amarillo at 11:30; No. 95 left Amarillo at 7:30 p. m. and arrived in Lubbock at 10:10 p. m. Towns served included, Abernathy, Hale Center, Plainview, Kress, Tulia, Happy and Canyon.

Every effort is being made to install the new service in the immediate future. Mail arriving here on No. 94 from the south, for these towns, is held over until 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Mail from the towns to points beyond Lubbock, arrive either on a schedule due early in the morning and held until afternoon, or a Santa Fe train due at 3:55 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hallowe'en Clown Is Killed In Long Fall

MILFORD, Del., Nov. 1. (AP)—A clown in a "thrill act" died today of injuries received when hurtled 120 feet from the top of a ladder during the dismantling of the act's equipment after a Hallowe'en celebration in plaza square last night.

Thrown from the ladder, Walter Caldrell, 35, of Raleigh, N. C., hit another member of the crew, George Craig, of Union City, N. J., standing on the ground below. Both were taken to a hospital. Caldrell died. Craig received a deep gash in the neck and also was injured internally.

Buy Furniture As You Buy Hats, Match Your Personality Says Decorator

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There's no mystery about interior decoration. Any woman can do a good job on any room in her house if she will just be herself—her bravest self.

These words of encouragement come from William Wright Crandall, prominent industrial designer and interior decoration authority, who has recently been appointed director of industrial design for the American School of Design.

"Before you decide on a new color scheme or buy a single accessory, write a memo to yourself, telling what kind of person you think you are, what kind of home best suits the needs of you and your family," Mr. Crandall explains.

"Be honest with yourself. If you are the homey type who likes comfort and leads an informal social life, say so. Don't strive for sophisticated effects which will make an entirely incongruous background for your personality.

SUIT DECORATION TO MODE OF LIVING

"Buy furniture or curtains as you buy hats—because they please you and your husband, bring out your own best features and, in general, suit your mode of life. You wouldn't buy only afternoon hats when your way of living calls for sports clothes. So why go for sports clothes. So why go in for a formal color scheme when you know very well that you live and entertain informally most of the time?"

Mr. Crandall lists reseda green, cobalt blue, tobacco brown and cedar as fine informal colors to consider. He puts chartreuse, turquoise, prune and fuchia into a formal category.

One of this interior designer's pet complaints is that altogether too many amateur decorators stop decorating too soon. Bare rooms, he thinks, are as unattractive as overcrowded, cluttered ones.

"When I see a room with walls practically bare, books concealed behind doors, magazines in a rack in the corner behind a chair and nothing on the largest table except a small ash tray and a humidor, I shudder. I know immediately that it was decorated by a woman who takes rules too literally, who probably never takes enough clothes on a trip simply because she read somewhere that it's smart to 'travel light.'

"So I repeat, get all the expert advice you can about colors, trends and so on, but don't let it restrict your own tastes and preferences to the point where your rooms have an unlived-in look."

Mr. Crandall concludes: "Be brave about colors. Dare to hang pictures that you like whether you have seen pictures of similar type on other walls or not.

"Don't consider only the legs on chairs or sofas when buying new ones. Look at a piece of furniture as a whole—not simply at the part nearest the floor. If it is comfortable and if you like its lines, get it—even though its legs aren't of the same period as the rest of your furniture.

"Put paper on your walls instead of always playing safe and having plain ones. Know that with the proper use of lamps you can decorate a wall with shadows. And do keep flowers in your vases whether you understand the so-called art of flower arrangements or not. There's entirely too much self-consciousness about flowers, about the use of color, and about the selection and hanging of pictures."

William Wright Crandall, famous industrial designer and creator of smart interiors, covered the walls of this charming room with dark red maple and used red and white wallpaper borders between the panels of wood. The rug is dark red; the sofa sage green; the chairs upholstered in red and green striped fabric. The printed linen curtains carry out the color scheme of the books on either side of the window. Lamps on the tables beside the sofa have dark red maple shades to match the walls.

Italian Press Claims Roosevelt Preparing To Bring U. S. Into War On Britain's Side

(By The United Press)

ROME, Nov. 1—Virginio Gayda, often a spokesman for Benito Mussolini, charged today in the Giornale D'Italia that President Roosevelt is preparing to bring the United States into the war on the side of Great Britain.

Gayda charged that U. S. intervention in the war might come at any time.

"Roosevelt has prepared for the United States to abandon its neutrality and directly intervene in the war at any moment," he said.

"Roosevelt's desire to intervene on the side of England becomes clearer every day." Gayda wrote. "On the basis of the accord concluded with Canada, the United States has become England's arsenal. The cession of 50 destroyers to Britain means that a large force is being employed against the Axis.

"It was said that these destroyers were not ready, but it has been proven that they were prepared for action before the cession accord was reached.

"United States arms and men are being sent to England every day. In England there exists the Eagle air squadron composed entirely of United States pilots.

"When Italy entered the war President Roosevelt increased his personal activity for United States intervention in the war against the Axis. Certain facts confirm that Roosevelt is following a war program of aid to England even at the cost of isolating other powers."

State Commander Of Legion To Be Here

Ed Reidel of San Angelo, state commander of the American Legion, will arrive in Lubbock in time tonight "to root for Texas Tech" when the Red Raiders play Miami university, according to a telegram this morning to A. C. Jackson.

Reidel explained that the time of his arrival is uncertain because of stops he is scheduled to make en route from San Angelo to Lubbock. Because of the uncertainty, no reception has been planned although a committee from Allen Bros. Legion post here will greet him, according to J. Louis Murfee, post commander.

The state commander will leave Saturday morning for Borger to attend the 18th district Legion meeting. Chas. Whitacre, commander of the 18th (Lubbock) district, and Jackson, who is state chairman of the Sons of the Legion committee, plan to accompany him.

Badgett Quads Will 'Grow Up' Just Like Other Girls; Are Nearing Second Birthday

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

GALVESTON, Nov. 1—The Badgett quadruplets—as coy a batch of girls as ever smashed a toy—are nearing their second birthday in perfect trim, despite the absence of any unusual precautions to safeguard their health.

The Badgetts—Joan, Joyce, Jeraldine and Jeanette—are being reared in simple fashion. That's the way Mrs. W. Ellis Badgett, 38-year-old mother of America's youngest quads, wants it.

"Those children are going to grow up just like any others," she says firmly.

Have No Nurse

The blonde girls, born Feb. 1, 1939, are housed in one light, airy room of the Badgetts' modest bungalow. Their four trundle beds take up most of the room's space.

There is no nurse, no governess for the children — Mrs. Badgett takes care of them herself.

"And that is a full-time job; trying to look after four wild little girls keeps me on the jump.

Get Into Fights

"They are rough; sometimes they get into fights. I can't let them have toys very much; they'll hit each other with them."

Joan is the heavyweight of the quartet and occasionally takes advantage of her bulk, bullying the others about. She tips the scales at 29 pounds; the others weigh in the neighborhood of 23.

Mother Badgett classifies the girls thusly:

Jeraldine learns quicker than the others.

Joan is timid (around visitors) and serious. She loves to look at the comic section of the newspapers, but often does so with a poker-face expression.

To Study Dancing

Jeanette is the "spit-fire." She "pushes 'em and pulls 'em around, starts lots of fights, and generally stirs up things."

Joyce is the sweetest.

The quads' physical and mental development has been so swift that Mrs. Badgett decided she would enter them in dancing school this winter.

"They are growing up. You know, they are aunts already," she laughs.

City To Build Home

The tots became aunts this summer when their 18-year-old half-sister, Mrs. J. L. Jones of Odessa, gave birth to a girl.

Mrs. Jones is Mrs. Badgett's daughter by a former marriage.

The city of Galveston, in an effort to repay the Badgetts for the publicity they have brought the island resort, is endeavoring to raise $10,000 for the purchase of a home for the quadruplets.

The process is slow, but in less than a year the Badgetts are expected to be in their new domicile.

No Public Appearance

Papa Badgett comes in from Bay City, where he is a farm tractor dealer, about twice a week. The tots, who "all look like him," create a bedlam of welcome.

In keeping with their policy of rearing the children quietly, the Badgetts have permitted no public appearances. Visitors are allowed to peer through the windows of the quadruplets' room, but that is all.

"The only time they get outside the yard," Mrs. Badgett says, "is when I take them for an automobile ride."

Did Attend Convention

"But I can't do that very often; they fight even in the car."

The sole time the quads have had any connection with a public affair was on the occasion of a "quadruplets convention." But the babes still were in the hospital and the general public had no opportunity to see them.

It was during that "convention" that Mrs. Badgett dropped the remark which has reached classical standing in Galveston.

Mrs. Badgett was semi-petrified by the thought of rearing four girls simultaneously and somewhat confused by the immense furore their birth had caused.

But after conversing with Mrs. Flake Keys, mother of the Oklahoma girl quadruplets, and Mrs. Marie Perricone, mother of the Beaumont boy quartet, Mrs. Badgett confided: "I feel so much better now. If they can do it, I can, too."

WARM WELCOME—Queen Elizabeth received a literally warm welcome when she recently visited one of London's new feeding centers, established for persons whose homes have been destroyed. Above Her Majesty warms her hands at the stove as she chats with Lord Woolton, Minister of Food.

Rites Are Held For George W. Cottrell

Last rites for George W. Cottrell, 72, of Levelland were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of a niece, Mrs. E. M. Aycock, in Levelland.

Plains Funeral home of Lubbock announced burial would be in Levelland cemetery.

Mr. Cottrell died of pneumonia at Aspermont Thursday morning.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Mary A. Cottrell of Levelland; a daughter, Mrs. Ellis Jackson of Big Spring; a brother, M. G. Cottrell of Lovington, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Green of Levelland and Mrs. A. McCaun of Aspermont.

The land occupied by the military academy at West Point originally belonged to the British crown.

Presidential Candidates In Final Drive To Gain Nation's Votes

Eleventh Hour Appeals Ready

(By The Associated Press)

Hectic and historic, the 1940 presidential campaign reached its intensive "all out" final stage today with both President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie opening their finish drives for the votes which will tell the story on Nov. 5.

In Washington, President Roosevelt donned his "old campaigner" hat for a tri-state sweep into New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The timetable called for a major speech at Brooklyn tonight (8 p. m. C.S.T.), another at Cleveland tomorrow night (8 p. m. C.S.T.), and a last talk to the voters from Hyde Park, N. Y. on election eve.

To Reply To Speech

Willkie, concentrating his finish "push" this week in two states which add up to 63 electoral votes, marked one section of New Jersey for his attention today and had a major address down for Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Aides announced that from "somewhere in New Jersey" he planned to reply tonight by radio (7:30 p. m. C.S.T.) to Mr. Roosevelt's Boston speech of Wednesday charging Republicans in Congress with obstructing both national defense program and efforts to benefit the farmer.

For Mr. Roosevelt, his departure from Washington today held unusual significance. If his present plans carry through and he is not recalled to his desk by some important turn in international affairs, the next time he sees the capital he will be either the victor or the vanquished in a third term fight.

Hits Third Term

For Willkie, the final drive betokened the approaching end of a strenuous campaign which already has taken him into 29 states and over 18,000 miles.

The United States, he told a Camden, N. J., audience last night, "is sick and tired of the type of government that treats our constitution like a scrap of paper" and regards the Supreme Court as an "obstruction."

He attacked his Democratic opponent on the third term question, asserting "our unwritten law against granting a third term to any president is not even mentioned by the third term candidate. He doesn't even attempt to justify his violation of it." He used the expression "one man government" to describe the administration.

Repeats War Threat

Willkie asserted today in a statement that President Roosevelt's foreign policies "are leading us straight to a war for which we are totally unready," and added that his domestic policies "are leading to complete collapse."

The statement took up primarily Mr. Roosevelt's disclosure at Boston Wednesday of what the Republican candidate termed "certain orders which the British government has placed with our manufacturers."

Says FDR Selfish

"And the tragic fact," he said, "is that, owing to the policy of neglect and delay over the past seven years, they must remain on order for many, many months to come."

The Republican candidate argued that the president "by inference and innuendo" tried to take credit for the plane orders to manufacturers who, he declared, had been neglected and "even abused" by the New Deal.

(In Boston Mr. Roosevelt disclosed he had asked the defense priorities board to give "most sympathetic consideration" to a British request to order 12,000 more planes for American manufacturers).

Dedicates Institute

"I was surprised by the use, in such a superficial manner," he said, "of an effort so vital to Britain and our own safety. I cannot understand the propriety of speaking in a political speech, as if from the White House, of making campaign material of the duties of the president of the United States."

Mr. Roosevelt was at his White House desk most of yesterday, but in an afternoon address at the dedication of the newly completed National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md., he asserted that "neither the American people nor their government intend to socialize medical practice any more than they plan to socialize industry."

Others Take Stump

Herbert Hoover spoke last night at Lincoln, Neb., charging Mr. Roosevelt with "sticking pins in tigers all over the world."

The former president told his listeners "you are far more likely to get into war with Franklin Roosevelt than with Wendell Willkie."

At New York, Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee described as "desperate" Willkie's assertion that if Mr. Roosevelt were re-elected, on the basis of his "past performances and promises" the country might expect war by next April.

Wallace said the Willkie charge was "another last minute scheme to snare votes by a party so desperate that it will stoop to anything to stave off defeat."

Wallace said that "Hitler wants a Republican victory this year".

HE COLLECTS ODORS—Indulging in a smelling spree are Dr. Ralph Bienfang, Oklahoma University professor, and his little daughter, Jane, at Norman, Okla. The professor has collected more than 286 rare odors which are valued at around $300 and has devised a method of "fixing" odors on cards which he files in a regular catalogue.

Pranksters Cause Minor Damage Here

Police this morning were still receiving complaints of Hallowe'en depredations, while store employes both down town and over the outer business districts, worked hard at washing windows and otherwise cleaning up after pranksters had soaped windows and did other minor damage.

Kenneth Harrison of 2814 Twenty-fifth street reported his bicycle, city license No. 165, had been taken from the front porch during the night. Dee Bradford, 2420 Sixteenth street, reported his bicycle license No. 54, also missing.

Tree Chopped Down

A resident late at night reported to police several trees which he had planted and cared for at considerable cost, had been chopped down. The complainant said the trees had cost him $2 each.

Numerous calls for police to stop pranksters were received before midnight. Among those locations reported were: Sixteenth street and Avenue S, 1900, 2000 and 2100 blocks on Sixteenth street, junior high school and on Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, 1900 block on Twenty-second street, 2400 block on Seventh street and 3000 block on Twentieth street. No charges were filed, although juveniles were picked up.

Car Is Stolen

One form of pranks was that of opening city fire hydrants. Seven fire plugs were reported opened, at Sixth street and Avenue S, Thirtieth street and Avenue W, Thirteenth street and Avenue X, Twenty-second street and Avenue T, 2400 block on Thirteenth street, 1600 block on Sixth street and Twenty-first street and Avenue S.

Herman Edgar, employed at the cotton brokerage office of B. B. Pirtle, reported theft of a 1931 Chevrolet coupe left parked in the rear of the location on Texas avenue.

Final Reminder On Taxes Is Offered

Final reminder that Saturday will be the last opportunity to pay state and county taxes so as to obtain a 3 per cent deduction was given this morning by H. B. Bryan, county assessor-collector.

The deduction drops to 2 per cent Monday, he explained. Tax payments have continued heavy this week, although totals are not yet available, he said. He added that his office will be open during the noon hour Saturday.

Report also was made this morning by V. R. Plummer, city assessor-collector, that payments of city taxes have continued briskly since receipts arrived and collections were started Wednesday afternoon. Payments Thursday totaled more than $2,000, he said.

APPEAL PLANNED

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—Jack Barrow, brother of the late Clyde and Buck Barrow, West Texas desperadoes, planned an appeal today from a 99-year sentence given him yesterday for the slaying of Otis Jenkins in a beer tavern brawl.

Suspect Faces Murder Count

Another "lead" apparently was at a dead end today in the investigation of the murder of Irvin Bownds, 38, when the Lorenzo State bank of which he was cashier was robbed last April 29, according to information given this morning by District Attorney Burton S. Burks and his assistant, Victor H. Lindsey.

The case, they said, seemingly is as far from solution as ever although formal complaints charging Floyd Pearson, 47, Crosby county farmer and brother of H. F. Pearson, president of the bank, with murder and robbery have been filed before Justice of the Peace J. R. Huckaby in Crosbyton.

Pearson immediately was released under the nominal bond of $1,000. The small amount of the bail was cited by officials as being evidence of the inclusive nature of the information which might be construed as linking Pearson with the case.

"However," said the district attorney and Tom Abel, Lubbock sheriff, "this is an example of the policy of following right to the end every lead which seems to hold the most remote possibility of a solution of this crime."

Also taking the lead in this and other investigations is Sheriff Jim Williams of Crosby county, who, with Abel, signed the murder complaint. Williams also signed the robbery complaint. Both were prepared by the district attorney.

The filing of the complaints, the officials said, will clear the way for an investigation by the next term of the grand jury of 72nd district court in Crosby county.

Nature of the information which led to the questioning of Pearson was not disclosed in detail by the officials. They said, however, that he was questioned at length with his own consent and with that of members of his family.

The body of Bownds was found in the bank about 10 minutes after he had been seen on the street during the noon hour. He had been beaten, presumably with the but of a pistol, his throat and wrists had been slashed, and $1,487 was missing. Investigating officers are of the opinion that Bownds recognized his assailant and was murdered to insure his silence.

Mention Of Lincoln Stops Negro Demos

BROOKFIELD, Mo., Nov. 1. (AP)—A visiting negro attorney completed a glowing eulogy of the Democratic party at a political rally in a negro school.

Then a local negro minister, the Rev. Clarkson, mounted the stand and said:

"Brothers, Abraham Lincoln was the best president we ever had."

The meeting adjourned.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Prisoners May Be Set Free

(By The Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 1 — Gradual release of 1,000,000 French prisoners by the Germans is provided in an "agreement in principle" reached with Nazi leaders by Vice Premier Pierre Laval of France, diplomatic sources said today.

This agreement, these sources asserted, is Laval's ace-in-the-hole with which he hopes to win at least temporary approval and support of the mass of French people for the Vichy government's program of collaboration with the Axis powers' "new order."

Release Indefinite

Diplomatic sources said there was no doubt Laval had obtained the release agreement during his recent Paris talks with German officials.

When he plans to play his ace card remains in doubt.

Almost every family in France has a son, brother, husband or close relative in the "vanished legion" of 1,500,000 or more prisoners now in internment camps in Germany or German-occupied parts of France. Announcement that two-thirds of these men soon would be back home certainly would bring joy to millions.

About 500,000 prisoners, diplomatic sources said, will be forced to stay in these camps until the end of the war against Britain.

Some still will be held because they sympathize with the "Free French" movement of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, it was said, and others because their homes are in zones along the English channel and northern Brittany now restricted to German military operations.

Italian Claims

ians were hammering at Greek positions in Pisoderia pass, at the northeast end of the Albanian frontier.

The Fascist columns, supported by heavy artillery and warplanes, apparently had as their first objective the Greek city of Phlorina, 30 miles distant, and thence to the key Aegean port of Salonika which might be used as the base for a drive to the Turkish Dardanelles.

Greek mountain gunners, posted in sniping stations blasted out of solid rock, were reported spraying the Italian troops with a murderous point-blank fire as they attempted to advance along narrow mountain roads.

Unconfirmed Greek reports circulated in Belgrade that British warplanes, accompanied by a few of Greece's tiny air force, had bombed Tirana, capital of the Italian "puppet state" of Albania, and other Albanian cities.

British Aid Evident

Other British aid to the little Balkan kingdom was evident however. The British fleet was said to have completed sowing a network of mines around Salonika and other Grecian harbors, and a steady stream of British supply ships and transports was reported steaming under convoy across the Mediterranean.

For the third successive day, the Italian high command issued only the tersest communique on the battle with Greece, giving the following 23-word description:

"Operations in Epirus (northwest Greece) are proceeding regularly. Our forces reached a crossroads at Kalibaki. Work of repairing interruptions caused by the retreating enemy continues."

This was about one-sixth of the high command's daily communique, with the rest devoted to North Africa and Naples.

Anxiety Is Stirred

Reports of increasing German military activity in Rumania stirred anxiety in Bulgaria that Adolf Hitler might be planning a thrust at eastern Greece from Rumanian bases despite expressions of confidence in Berlin that the Italian-Greek conflict would be "localized."

German troops would have to pass through Bulgaria to reach Greece from Rumania. The Bulgarian government discounted rumors such a move was likely "within 10 days."

Some light on Turkey's attitude—the big question mark on the Balkan picture—was expected to result during the day from an address by President Ismet Inonu before the opening session of the Turkish national assembly.

the British vessels continued on their courses, observers said.

British Guns Reply

Britain's guns slammed back hard at the Germans who laid a smoke-screen on part of the French coast.

The air ministry communique announcing the attack on Naples did not disclose the base of the British bombers. However, since it specified that they were on the bomber command, naval planes were ruled out.

Malta, 350 miles from Naples, is the nearest British base for land planes.

(British bombardments of the mainland previously had been confined to such northern industrial cities as Milan and Turin, carried out by bombers crossing the Alps from Britain.

(The Italian high command said "slight damage" was caused in the Naples suburbs of Bagnoli and Pomigliano D'Arco. The former is the site of some of Italy's largest steel plants and the latter of airplane factories, testing fields and laboratories. The Rome communique reported one person killed, five wounded.)

The air ministry said "no operations were carried out over western and central Germany because of bad weather.

There are seven tunnels in 100 miles of the new Pennsylvania Turnpike.

DON'T BASK UNDER THIS "SUN" LAMP—Even the most zealous seeker after indoor tan would soon flee from this new "sun" lamp. It's an experimental 10,000-watt mercury lamp one-fifth as bright as the sun, and the tremendous heat it radiates is demonstrated above by S. G. Hibben, of the Westinghouse Lamp Laboratories, Bloomfield, N. J. Although completely surrounded by a cooling jacket carrying water, infra-red radiations from the lamp fought through the water in a few seconds and ignited roll of wrapping paper he holds.

Stock Market

FINAL PRICES IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Stocks barked their shins on profit taking in today's market after an early upward sprint led by steels, utilities, rails and assorted industrial specialties.

Extreme gains running to a point or more for favorites were substantially cut or erased at the close as traders cashed in on the three-day upswing. Final prices were a shade irregular.

Dealings flattened out as prices wavered. The turnoverd, of around 1,300,000 shares however, was one of the largest since last June.

Many customers, brokers said, inclined to step aside as the week-end approached, although the majority still were bullish for business and a trifle more hopeful politically.

Among a number of new highs for 1940 posted in the morning bulge were those for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, Great Northern and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Resistant spots included General Motors, Consolidated Edison, North American, Public Service of N. J., American Water Works, Anaconda, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, Glenn Martin, Boeing and American Airlines.

Standard Oil of N. J. gave ground when directors declared an extra of 25 cents on the common in addition to the regular semi-annual 50-cent disbursement. The company paid a 50-cent extra in June.

Inclined to falter were Dupont, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, American Can, Philip Morris, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Sears Roebuck and U. S. Rubber.

Armored Car Serves As Queen's 'Taxi'

LONDON, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Queen Elizabeth rode in an armored car to keep an appointment with the king.

She was inspecting the car and suddenly had an idea that the king "would get a big surprise if I arrived in this to meet him." She was accommodated. On the way, she questioned the driver about the controls, looked through the "peepholes" and described the ride as surprisingly comfortable.

King George admitted his surprise.

CROSBYTON IS BUSY

CROSBYTON—Ginnings here for the season are three-fourths as large as last year, it was said by ginners in reporting 2,100 bales ginned this year compared to 2,800 the same date last year. More than 3,000 bales have been turned out by the three gins here and two other gins, at Wake and Broadway. Feed cutting is in progress.

Liquor Branded As Threat To Defense

KNOXVILLE, Iowa, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith said last night one of the longest steps the nation could make toward preparedness would be to "make liquor as inaccessible as possible."

"Not even a bartender would claim that liquor builds up the physical, moral and mental strength of a nation's manpower," she told the Iowa WCTU convention.

She said the WCTU would welcome military voting in any election in which temperance was an issue.

"As repeatedly stated this office has confined its activities to the collection of money for the national Democratic committee campaign fund and for the reelection of President Roosevelt, and since we do not believe in trying to conduct more than one campaign at a time, we are not in touch with the write-in campaign. However, it is my opinion that when McDonald broke faith with Texas Democrats, after they had nominated him for re-election, by announcing that he would vote for the Republican nominee for president, he by that act released Texas Democrats from any responsibility to see that he is re-elected, and loyal Texas Democrats are under no further obligation to vote for him in the general election."

mill, but the desperado escaped after sending a volley from two automatics into the officer's body. At his trial he claimed self-defense.

One of the ballads about the bandit, widely sung in Mississippi, relates:

"It was down in Mississippi where I murdered my first man,

"When the sheriff there at Leaksville for justice took his stand."

Wagner fled to Tennessee. Patrolman John Smith of Kingsport and Deputy Sheriff Hubert Webb of Sullivan county were slain when they investigated a disturbance. Wagner was charged with the killings.

Then goes the ballad:

"Then I went from Mississippi to the state of Tennessee,

"Two men went down before me ere they took my liberty."

Tried, convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted, Wagner won a new trial and then escaped from jail in Knoxville.

Kills Others

Months later he surrendered to Mrs. Lillie Barbery, woman sheriff of Texarkana, Ark., telling her he had shot three men in a drinking bout near the town. The sheriff investigated and found William and Samuel Carper dead and their brother, Robert, wounded seriously.

The ballad continues:

"Then I wandered through the country, but I never could find rest,

"I went to Texarkana, away out in the West,

"Again I started drinking and again I pulled my gun,

"And within a single moment the deadly work was done,

"The sheriff was a woman, but she got the drop on me,

"I quit the game and surrendered, gave up my liberty."

Arkansas surrendered Wagner to trial in Mississippi and in 1926 he was convicted of slaying McIntosh.

Liberty reported heavy damage at the fair and rodeo grounds where carnival and fair tents, small buildings and decorations were strewn over a wide area.

plane factories would serve as assembly points. It is entirely possible and logical that such a system might be devised, Mr. Roosevelt said.

There are no exact figures on present airplane production, although it is believed to be behind what defense officials had planned for at this time. About a month ago administration officials estimated production at about 900 planes a month.

A recent United Press survey for the defense program revealed that production in early September was at the rate of about 10,000 planes annually, or about 830 a month. It was expected then that production would be stepped up to 13,000 to 14,000 a year by Jan. 1941, and to 26,000 a year by mid-1941.

Honor To Be Paid Heroes

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1—Who is the nation's "hero of heroes?"

The Carnegie hero fund commission three times each year awards medals to those who have risked or given their lives for others, but it declines to single out any one act as the most heroic. That, the commission says, is "a matter of opinion."

This body, holding a meeting here today to make further selections, has granted 3,155 awards in the past 36 years.

Here's just one amazing example of human courage from the files:

Two Inches From Death

It was at Highlands, N. C., May 14, 1911. R. Augustus Baty, 26, fell from the summit of Whiteside mountain, rolling 150 feet down an almost vertical cliff and lodging against a small bush only two inches from the brink of a 2,000-foot precipice. There he lay, injured and unconscious, one arm and one leg dangling over the top of the precipice — a matter of two inches from eternity.

Charles N. Wright, 38, a merchant, started down the cliff to the rescue, his only handholds and footholds ridges and hollows not more than an inch deep in the stone cliff.

Both Nearly Fell

A single misstep would have sent him plummeting to the rocks some 2,000 feet below.

His wife, above, screamed. It startled Wright and nearly caused him to lose his grip — and nerve.

Another man started to descend but changed his mind.

Long minutes later Wright reached Baty, and by holding to a bush near the base of the cliff, lifted him up. Once the delirious Baty all but plunged himself and rescuer over the precipice.

By dint of tremendous effort Wright hauled the helpless man to safety. The spectacular rescue took two and one-half hours. Baty recovered.

For his feat Wright received a gold medal and $2,000. Only 18 other gold medals have been awarded by the Carnegie commission. There have been 553 silver awards and 2,583 of bronze.

The commission has been doing this since 1904, when a $5,000,000 fund was set up for that purpose by Andrew Carnegie, the Scottish-born steelmaker who felt that mankind applauds deeds of sacrifice but forgets to care for those who perform them.

his throat, Widdicombe said.

With only himself and Tapscott left, the sailor said they caught what rainwater they could. They lived on seaweed and were lucky enough to catch one flying fish and a gar fish after sailing for 35 days. When they landed on Eleuthera island, southeast of here, they had had no water for eight days.

A farmer on Eleuthera island found them crawling along the beach toward the shade of the trees. Authorities were notified and they were flown here for treatment.

Widdicombe said his normal weight was 180 pounds. He now weighs 100.

Raiders Shooting For Revenge Against Hurricane At Tech Stadium Tonight

Crimsons Seek Fifth Straight; Both Teams Offensive-Minded; Game Starts At 8:30 O'Clock

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, still undefeated this year and still mindful of a 19 to 0 walloping they took from the Hurricane last year, take the field tonight against Miami university with a double purpose.

Not necessarily in the order listed, that double purpose may be briefly stated as, 1. To stay on the undefeated roll; 2. To gain a measure of revenge for the aforementioned walloping.

The event—Football, between University of Miami and Texas Tech.

The time and place—8:30 o'clock tonight, at Texas Tech Stadium.

The special occasion—"Band day" at Texas Tech.

The team coaches—For University of Miami, Jack "Spike" Harding, of Pittsburgh, head coach; Hart Morris, of Pittsburgh, line coach; for Texas Tech, P. W. "Petey" Cawthon, Southwestern, head coach, and R. T. "Dutchy" Smith, Austin college, line coach.

The officials—Referee, Joe Dobbs (Texas); umpire, Doc Moon (Nebraska); head linesman, Leo "Butter" Allred (Austin college); field judge, Bud Price (Austin college).

The probable starting lineups:

U. OF MIAMI				TEXAS TECH
No.	Player	Wt.	Pos.	Wt.	Player
11	Kratulis	180	LE	175	Duncan 76
20	Kearns	220	LT	211	Shanks 80
25	Broker	177	LG	184	Allbright 29
33	Carifeo	178	C	223	Nabors 78
23	Borek	171	RG	196	McCurry 85
21	Wunder	202	RT	213	Ledbetter 57
15	Gorman	170	RE	183	Scott 84
39	Kurucza	193	QB	178	Bain 39
48	Steiner	172	LH	189	Storrs 81
41	Tobin	185	RH	162	Hill 34
40	Coates	169	FB	189	Dvoracek 54

Only a few of the above-named players started in the game a year ago when the Red Raiders invaded the Orange Bowl to play the University of Miami gridders, but those few, along with the reserves who saw service in the game, have passed on the word that "those boys are pretty tough." That goes for both sides, of course.

The teams are in fairly good shape for the game. Both squads worked out at Tech Stadium last night in final preparation for tonight's intersectional contest, and man for man, pound for pound, there wasn't much difference between them.

The teams have a lot in common.

Couple Of Kids

The schools themselves are two of the youngest in the country, Texas Tech, starting in 1925, being only one year older than University of Miami. Tech's football record shows somewhat of an edge, over the period of years, but records mean nothing from year to year.

Each team has a lot of juniors, seniors and sophomores, but neither has many holdover starters from last year. Both squads lost a lot of starters, a lot of first class players. Both teams have replaced their lost ones with fiery footballers who have been carrying on quite well so far in the campaign, and who are willing to do some more carrying on when they clash tonight.

The odds favor Texas Tech slightly, the rating systems agree, and the wagering, what there is of it, gives the Red Raiders an edge. The well known Florida "bookies," for instance, are giving 7 to 5 on Texas Tech, according to word brought along by the Miami scouts and cribes.

Don't Mean A Thing

But the odds and the ratings don't mean a thing in a game like this. Victorious in their last starts, each team is more or less confident of giving the other a run for the money today.

Texas Tech won its fourth straight game of the season last Saturday at Milwaukee, defeating Marquette university, 20 to 13. At the same time, the Miami Hurricanes were defeating Elon university, 31 to 0, for its third victory.

The Hurricanes, boasting a powerful offense featured by the triple-threater Bill Steiner, who operates from left halfback position, and Russell Coates, fullback who starts in place of the advertised Terry Fox, are in a good position to blow the tops off the Red Raiders, who have put away some of their most formidable opponents but who are in a spot to be blown over by an unassuming Hurricane from the Florida keys.

Coach Jack Harding brought a potent outfit to Lubbock yesterday and sent them through a final workout at Tech field last night. The kicking, passing and running of several big Miami players sent a chill up the spines of two or three hundred students and townspeople who gathered on the sidelines. Kicking of John Douglas, big halfback who was out last year because of an injury and who is coming back strong, thrilled the crowd. Bill Steiner, who does a lot of kicking along with a lot of passing and running, also caught the fancy of railbirds.

Just Come And See

As for the rest of the Miami stars, see your program of the listings above, and don't pass up tonight's game, which may be one of the best, from an offensive standpoint, of the season.

The Hurricanes have defeated Stetson university, 19-0; Tampa university, 27-0 and Elon university, 31-8, while losing only to the powerful Catholic university of Washington, 18-20, the Catholics winning with two field goals.

Tech, striking back hard after being held to a tie by the Oklahoma Aggies first time out, have won four games in a row. They turned in a great account last Saturday against Marquette, whipping the Hilltoppers down in the first half and winning, going away, in the second half.

The Raiders have a score to settle with the Miamis tonight, and chances are they'll settle it in a way that will please the spectators.

Overlin Risks Title With Steve Belloise

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—It took Ken Overlin, an ex-sailor from Virginia, 13 years of battling all over the world to ascend to the middleweight throne recognized by New York and he hasn't any intention of exiting in his first title defense.

Nobody thinks he will be in any great danger when he bumps into 21-year-old Steve Belloise of New York in a 15-round championship bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Odds of 5 to 8 favored Overlin.

Little Rascals Win Again; Slate Busy

(By The Associated Press)

Masonic Home's mighty mites and Jeff Davis' Panthers kept their goal lines uncrossed last night as they won conference games in the Texas schoolboy football race.

Members of the select circle of 15 teams without defeat or tie, the Masons won over Fort Worth Tech 27-0 in the Fort Worth district and Jeff Davis downed Lamar, 13-0 in the Houston district.

Both are strong favorites to win their sector titles. Davis is undisputed leader. Masonic Home is tied for the lead with Arlington Heights, which plays Riverside (Fort Worth) tonight.

Two other games scheduled last night were postponed.

Tyler's tilt with Jacksonville, originally set for tonight, was moved from last night to tomorrow night due to inclement weather.

The Jeff Davis-San Antonio Tech game in the San Antonio district, scheduled for last night, will be played tomorrow night.

Thirty seven contests will be played today and tonight over the state, with five more tomorrow.

Class A Games Are Important

Class A football on the South Plains hits a high point today and tonight, with two games that have an important bearing on district tilts listed among the eight to be played.

The first is at Levelland, where Coach Bill Stevens' Loboes engage Slaton's Tigers. A defeat for Levelland will mean elimination from the District 5 south half race; a licking from Slaton will almost, but not quiet, oust the Tigers from the championship quest.

The other is at Post, where Brownfield's Cubs do battle with Post already eliminated. The Cubs are currently undefeated and tied with Slaton for the league lead.

The complete slate for Districts 4 and 5:

Slaton at Levelland.
Brownfield at Post.
Littlefield at Sudan.
Lockney at Floydada.
Spur at Crosbyton.
Paducah at Ralls.
Tatum, N. M., at Morton.
Southland at O'Donnell.

The District 5 race shapes up like this: If both Brownfield and Slaton win today, the south half title will be decided Armistice Day when Slaton meets the Cubs in Brownfield. If either wins and the other loses, then the winner must defeat the loser on Armistice or the race will end in a two- or three-way tie. If both lose, then the standings will be scrambled into a three-way tie between the two and Levelland.

Other Games Mean Little

Other games today mean little in deciding titles. Olton, already conceded the north half 5-A title, rests, as does Matador, leader in 4-A. Paducah and Floydada, each only a half-step behind Matador, play conference opponents regarded as easy marks, the Dragons meeting the Ralls Jackrabbits in Ralls while the Whirlwind plays Lockney's Longhorns in Floydada.

The Littlefield-Sudan game should put the clincher on Olton's title. Sudan is still unbeaten in conference play, but has played only Muleshoe and Morton, the weaker teams of the district. Littlefield can eliminate Hornet hopes of ousting Olton by spilling them today.

Matador was originally scheduled to play Silverton this week, but through agreement of school officials, the game was played by the Matador 'B' team.

Two non-conference games are scheduled. Morton, having already completed the conference slate, entertains Tatum, N. M., and O'Donnell plays host to Class B Southland.

Class B games scheduled include: Farwell at Spring Lake, Meadow at Ropes and Andrews at Stanton.

Lubbock High Invades Harvester Park Saturday

Season Starts Saturday On Waterfowl

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 1 — Texas' open season on migratory waterfowl, longest in several years, will open at sunrise Saturday.

Last year the season lasted 45 days under federal regulations. This year the regulations have been liberalized to provide an open season on ducks, geese, coots and jacksnipe extending from November 2 to December 31, both dates inclusive.

Regulations Listed

Daily shooting hours for waterfowl and coot hunters will be from sunrise until 4 p. m. Jacksnipe may be taken from sunrise to sunset.

The daily bag limit on geese reduced last year from five to four, has this year been lowered to three. The bag limit on ducks remains at 10 a day.

As in previous years the number of waterfowl that may be possessed at any time is limited to two days bag, but a new rule this year makes it possible to possess the legal limit for 20 days after the close of the season instead of 10 days.

Bag Limits Set

Special protection, as formerly, is afforded canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads, and ruddy ducks by limiting to three the number of any one of these species that may be included in the daily bag and providing further that not more than three of this entire group in the aggregate may be taken, in a day. The possession limit on these birds also is double the daily bag limit.

The bag limit on coots is 25 a day and on jacksnipes 15 a day, and as formerly the possession limits for these species may not at any time exceed the daily bag limit.

Cowboys Annex 14th Straight Triumph

Lubbock's Junior High Cowboys ran their victory string to 14 straight yesterday afternoon on Chapman field by lacing the Sweetwater Juniors, 7 to 6. The scoring was concentrated in the last half, with the visitors counting first and Lubbock coming back in the last five minutes to win the tilt by the margin on one extra point.

Coach Mule Davis' junior wranglers marched 70 yards to the Pony 10 in the second period, but the drive was halted by a strong Sweetwater defense.

Getting started in the third quarter, the Ponies worked and passed down within the Cowboys' 1-yard line, but lost the ball on downs as the Lubbock team proved just as stubborn. The Cowboy punt was short, and the Sweetwater lads' determination was rewarded when R. L. Nash went over for the first score of the game. The try for extra point failed.

Belt To Jones

After an exchange of punts late in the fourth with about five minutes to go, Pete Belt passed to Frank Jones, right end, who sprinted for touchdown. Darwin Morgan, a tackle, place-kicked the winning extra point for the Davis-Lonic Liston eleven.

Lubbock held firmly during the remaining minutes of play, with R. W. Mater and William Whitley shining in the line and Marty Perry doing great work in the backfield.

Probably the outstanding player for Sweetwater was Gene Pate, a guard who made more than half of the Ponies' tackles.

Cowhands Take 19-6 Game From Tahoka

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, Nov. 1—Lubbock's Cowhands, led by their driving fullback, Jack Pipes, bounded out from under a six-point first-half deficit to whip Tahoka's Bulldogs, 19 to 6, here Thursday night.

Tahoka opened the scoring with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Rusty Waldrep to Earl Adams, and led at the half, 6 to 0.

Early in the third quarter, Pipes broke loose for 55 yards and the tying touchdown. A few minutes later, he untied it with a 45-yard scoring jaunt. Then he added another with two minutes to play. Wayne Odom kicked the point after the second score.

Tahoka's Sonny Roberts, a sophomore backfield man, suffered a broken arm during the game and will be out for the rest of the season.

TRAINER MAKES BOND

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Saul (Sonney) Greenberg, racehorse trainer, was at liberty today under $3,000 bail following his surrender to charges of conspiring with six others in a scheme to "fix" races at several California tracks.

Bernard Mooney, San Francisco bookmaker indicted with Greenberg and five unnamed persons, announced through an attorney in San Francisco that he would surrender "between now and Monday."

Westerners In Favored Role Over Pampa

Lubbock Westerners, 15 games ahead of a defeat and—their supporters hope—eight games short of a second state championship, tomorrow will play their second conference game of the 1940 season, engaging Pampa's Harvesters at Pampa.

Because they are the state champions, because they have scored 144 points and allowed only 13 this season and because Pampa has won only one game in the current campaign, the Westerners are favorites to win a 16th consecutive game, their fifth of 1940 and their second District One league triumph.

Coaches Warn Boys

Of course, the Westerners and Amarillo are generally conceded to have the District One championship all sewed up between them, with only the formality of deciding who is to have it remaining. But that doesn't alter the fact that the Amarillo game won't mean a thing unless the Westerners whip Pampa.

Which is what Coaches Goober Keyes and Walker Nichols have been trying to pound into the heads of the Westerners this week. The mentors haven't been sparing their boys this week merely because on paper the Harvesters look easy.

Harvesters Work On Passing

In the meantime Coach Odus Mitchell has been shoving his boys through severe daily workouts, concentrating largely on passing. The Harvesters are fully aware that each of the two touchdowns scored against Lubbock this season came through the air and are ready to throw an airkreig at the Westerners. They have a thrower who can implement an aerial attack capably in Grover Heiskell, co-captain and quarterback.

The season records show that Pampa has scored 35 points and allowed 60 in winning one game, tying one and losing four. Lubbock has built a six-game winning streak to add to their nine victories in a row in 1939 by scoring 144 points and holding the opposition to 13.

Band To Go

Several hundred fans will follow the Lubbocks to Pampa by special train and automobile. The Westerner band will go, along with the high school student body almost en masse.

The train will leave the Santa Fe depot at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and arrive in Pampa at 11:45 o'clock. On the return trip it will depart from Pampa at 7 o'clock and pull into Lubbock at 10:45 o'clock.

The other District One teams play Friday night games. Amarillo journeying to Borger while Plainview stays at home for a non-conference contest with Big Spring.

The season records:

Pts	Lubbock	Opp Pts
13	Odessa	6
14	North Side	0
13	Big Spring	0
13	Vernon	7
40	Hobbs	0
51	Borger	0

Pts	Pampa	Opp Pts
0	Childress	12
7	Vernon	13
9	Olney	12
6	El Paso Bowie	0
13	El Paso High	13

Buffs Playing Tech Frosh Here Today

As a preview to tonight's Texas Tech-Miami football game, the Tech freshmen were to play the West Texas State Teachers freshmen in Tech Stadium at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The contest is the first home game of the 1940 season for the Picadors.

Coach Berl Huffman's boys have already won two games and lost one this season, all of them having been played away from home. Their latest victory was a 21-7 triumph over the New Mexico university freshmen last Saturday, a victory earned through a fine fourth-quarter rally.

Backs Are Versatile

The Freshmen will present a versatile backfield, fronted by a stout, hard-charging line. Coach Leo Cooper of the Buff freshmen, who have been none too successful, has made several shifts in his starting lineup this week in preparing to cope with the Picadors.

Probable starters for Tech are Jim Driggers of Santa Rosa, N. M., and Wayne Rowden of Brownfield, ends; Earl Williams of Childress and Leroy Meley of Dallas, tackles; Billy York of Spur and Joe Merrell of Frenship, guards; Garland Head of Clovis, N. M., center; Howard Alford of Lubbock, quarterback; Bob Baker of Dallas and Roy Williams of Abernathy, halfback; Jack Everett of Texarkana, fullback.

The Canyon starters will be Steinknoeing and Emmer, ends; Love and Teague, tackles; McGowan and Winters, guards; Allen, center; Ramphley, quarterback; Biller and Kelly, halfbacks; and McMann, fullback.

Take It From A Floridan!

By Collier Parris

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Guest columnist today is Everett Clay, sports editor of the Miami Herald, one of the leading newspapers of the South, who is here with the University of Miami football team which meets Texas Tech tonight. Mr. Clay's writings and opinions are strictly his own, and are not to be taken as a part of the policy or opinions of this department — except when they correspond to policy or opinion. If, for instance, he suggests that Texas Tech might win from his Miami team tonight, then he coincides with this department's attitude. But it ought to be a good football game. As for the rest, take it away Mr. Clay, and thanks for being our guest columnist today).

BY EVERETT CLAY

Sports Editor, Miami Herald

It isn't often that I have the opportunity of batting for such a capable sports editor and columnist as your friend and my friend, Collier Parris.

This all started in a harmless sort of a way at Gus' over Western T-bones and French fries.

"I have to get back to the office and knock out a column," moaned Collier, emerging momentarily from the steak for a breath of fresh air.

"Don't let it worry you. I'll write it for you." I volunteered, little realizing he would accept.

But he did, and so here I am.

"What shall I write about?" I inquired.

"Anything you want to write about. A prediction about the ball game. Some little incident of the trip. Anything."

Well, I'm not going to do any predicting about the ball game. You can't travel three days and nights with a ball club, durned near across the country, as I have done, without its cause becoming your cause. I know that Texas Tech figures 6 to 9 points better than my Hurricanes on paper, but I still think Miami will win one and it'll be the most ripsnorting game you or I or anybody else has seen in a long time. Both teams are strictly offensive clubs. Your Red Raiders have averaged 23 points their last four games. Miami, likewise, has a 23-point average—almost a 24-point average—for four games, although I must admit that Stetson, Tampa, Catholic and Elon don't compare with Texas Tech's opposition, Loyola, Montana, Brigham Young and Marquette. Indeed, this has all the earmarks of one of those 29-28 or 25-24 ball games that sports writers dream of covering.

But to get away from predictions and back to what I started to tell you about—one of the most interesting things to me is the contrast between the two coaches, Spike Harding of the University of Miami and your Pete Cawthon.

Sports writers have called Cawthon a showman, an exhibitionist, a screwball. They tell tall tales about Pete. Harding, on the other hand, is primarily a psychologist. Next to my good friend, Major Bob Neyland of the University of Tennessee, I think Spike the finest football psychologist in the South, and I would like to relate a little incident in support of my belief.

This past Monday it rained cats and doggies in Miami, and for a while it appeared that the Hurricanes wouldn't be able to get in their first and last extensive workout before boarding train for Lubbock. The water was a foot deep in spots on the practice field when Harding and his crew arrived in heavy downpour.

Harding, first on the field, picked out the deepest water on the field, turned loose with a spectacular swan dive. Glasses, wrist watch, clothes and all, he landed plunk in the water. Then he stood up, clapped his hands and said, "Let's go to work, boys."

And the Hurricanes dug in their cleats for one of the hardest practice sessions of the season.

A couple of things more before I wind this up. The other night at Montgomery, Ala., the peaceful citizenry thought Orson and his men of Mars were on the loose again when the Miamians climbed off the train in full football uniform and came clattering through the union station.

The sight of shoulder pads bulging from orange jersies and the white helmets left the natives saucer-eyed and open-mouthed.

"Can't be Hallowe'en," observed one awed bystander, "That ain't till Thursday night."

What the citizens of Montgomery didn't know was that because the train was three hours late in arriving, Harding had ordered his Hurricanes to dress in the baggage car.

Well, that's all except for one question. I believe every word of what I have been told about the number of cows in Texas, but what about those red-headed Ann Sheridans?

P. S. Don't mail this to my missus.

Mustangs Play Lamesa Squad

(Special To The Journal)

LAMESA, Nov. 1 — Sweetwater High school's Mustangs, champions in District 3AA play last year, will come here tonight for a conference clash with Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes.

Since the Mustangs defeated the strong Abilene gridsters last week 25 to 6, it appears that Coach Lawrence Priddy's boys are tops in the conference, although Big Spring leads.

Coach Ted McCollum says his boys are badly shot with injuries sustained from the San Angelo game last week in which the Tornadoes were victors 14-6. McCollum lacks the necessary reserve strength to replace fully boys who may be out of the game with Sweetwater. In conference play the Tornadoes have lost two games and won one, while the Mustangs have won one and lost one.

Sweetwater school authorities have ordered 500 reserved seat tickets. Word is that both the band and pep squad will accompany the team and fans to Lamesa. A parade of the downtown district is being planned for Friday afternoon.

White In Limelight

Co-Captain Gus White of the Tornadoes caught attention throughout the conference last week when he scored both Tornado touchdowns against the San Angelo gridsters. White, who before had played a line position, was switched to the backfield in that game and came through with top honors.

Notre Dame, 'Bama And Clemson Also Selected To Win

BY HERB BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — Another chapter in the weekly football guessing contest (and may it be happier than last week's):

Northwestern-Minnesota: As close to a standoff as can be imagined. Both unbeaten, both untied, both potent. Blanketed by a deep fog. Minnesota.

Army-Notre Dame: Think of a number. Notre Dame.

Texas A. and M.-Arkansas: The Razorbacks are coming along fast. Spot for an upset but stringing along with the Aggies.

Stanford, Clemson

U. C. L. A.-Stanford: UCLA has lost five ball games, yet nobody has scored more than one touchdown on the Bruins. There's a strong urge to take a chance on them until you glance at Stanford's record. Stanford.

Tulane-Clemson: This is where everybody discovers just how good Clemson may be. Timidly, Clemson.

Duke-Georgia Tech: Possible fireworks but taking Duke.

Cornell-Columbia: Cornell's due for a let-down. No possible selection, however, but Cornell.

Navy Over Penn

Fordham-North Carolina: No surprise either way. Out of the hat, Fordham.

Penn-Navy: With Reagon a doubtful quantity, this corner's nod goes to Navy.

Ohio State-Indiana: The Buckeyes have the greater man-power and that might prove decisive. Ohio State.

Tennessee-Louisiana State: Can't look beyond Tennessee.

Kentucky-Alabama: Taking Alabama, but not too happily.

Georgia-Auburn: The loss of Rufus Deal will hurt Auburn and Georgia seems to be making excellent progress. Still, Auburn.

Vanderbilt-Mississippi: Hapes, Hovious and Mississippi.

Dukes Over Marquette

Texas-Southern Methodist: Jack Crain apparently is not fully recovered, influencing this ballot for S. M. U.

Texas Christian-Baylor: Baylor.

California-Oregon State: Let the coin decide . . . Oregon State.

Boston College-Manhattan: Adds up to Boston College no matter how you figure it.

Duquesne-Marquette: Taking Duquesne.

Harvard-Princeton: Doubt that Harvard can stop Dave Allerdice's passes. Princeton.

Holy Cross-Colgate: Colgate rates the nod.

Nod To Nebraska

Penn State-South Carolina: The Gamecocks were terrors against Duquesne and Clemson but Penn State is the choice.

Syracuse-Georgetown: Definitely a risk for the Hoyas' long undefeated string but the selection still must be Georgetown.

Yale-Brown: Close enough, Brown.

Iowa-Purdue: Ditto this one, Purdue.

Wisconsin-Illinois: And still another, Wisconsin.

Michigan State-Kansas State: Taking Michigan State.

Oklahoma-Nebraska: Might be close but Nebraska gets this vote.

Missouri-New York University: Looks safe for Missouri.

Villanova-Kansas: Looks like Villanova.

Likes Wake Forest

Detroit-Tulsa: A threat to the Titans' unbeaten record but we'll still take Detroit.

West Virginia-Washington and Lee: Quick, Watson, the coin. West Virginia.

North Carolina State-Furman: Taking State.

George Washington-Wake Forest: Out of the fish-bowl, Wake Forest.

Also: Temple over Bucknell; Dartmouth over Sewanee; William and Mary over Virginia Military; Virginia over Virginia Tech; Washington State over Idaho; Oregon over Montana; Colorado over Utah; Brigham Young over Utah State; Lafayette over Washington and Jefferson; Santa Clara over San Francisco.

Favorites Are 'On Spot' In SWC Tussles

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—Two stunning football teams, only a week removed from a face-to-face challenge that could be the nation's game of the day, have immediate business coming up tomorrow that may wreck everything.

Impressive, undefeated Texas A. and M. and Southern Methodist, billed for an encore to their famed 1939 battle on Nov. 9 at Dallas, risk their necks and the glamor of their meeting against dangerous Arkansas and Texas, respectively.

Taking No Chances

Pressed by Baylor last weekend, the Aggies, winners of 16 straight games, worked into nightfall throughout the week readying for the invasion of Arkansas at College Station. No sane football team ever takes Arkansas lightly.

The Methodists had time to breathe the past two weeks during an idle period, and they needed it with 12 injuries on the roster. Now, Coach Matty Bell has his bunch taped up and ready, with the exception of Halfback Bill Thomas, out for the season.

Passing Still Potent

Rated the country's best defensive team against rushing, the Aggies, who have permitted only 127 yards by ground in five games, also rate as one of the sector's top offensive units. A total of 1420 wards has been ground out by the red machine—and almost half of them came from Marion Pugh's wizardy. The unsung quarterback has accounted for 669 yards by running and passing.

Strangely, the Arkansas passing game, its deadliest weapon for many years is the worst in the conference, statistically speaking. Their per-

Anti-German Feeling Mounts In France As Threat To 'New Order'

England Gains More Respect

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

I have reached unimpeachable information that there is in France a growing anti-German unrest, accompanied by actual under-cover sabotage—a condition which casts still further light on Herr Hitler's anxiety to bring that country into the Nazi fold and secure the cooperation of the general public.

One suspects that the Fuehrer is beginning to find much truth in the old Chinese adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

Same Elsewhere

The Nazi chief has plowed a large portion of Europe under with his mighty war-machine without much opposition. He probably will plow more under.

But in every instance where he has occupied a country by force he has found that while he could break physical resistance he couldn't destroy the spirit of the nation as a whole. The situation in France is symptomatic of that existing in other parts of occupied Europe — a potential danger of vast proportions.

This can only be kept in hand by armed over-lordship, and that will be increasingly true as the conquered countries recover from the shock of assault.

Feeling Changing

I understand there has been a remarkable undercurrent change of sentiment in France in recent weeks. The country was utterly smashed by its military defeat, and at that time there was much bitterness against the British (a flame fed eagerly by the Germans) because of a rather widespread feeling that the French had been "let down" by their ally.

That feeling has undergone much change, although there still is an anti-British party which may be said to be represented by Vice Premier Laval who has proclaimed that he believes Democracy is dead in all countries and is working overtime to swing France into the Nazi camp.

U. S. Support Helps

However, there has been a widespread shift of sentiment in favor of England. This has been due mainly to determined and successful British resistance. Germany's failure to launch the much-advertised invasion of England, and the material support the United States has been affording Britain.

I don't wish to give the impression revolt is imminent in France. The country is too utterly defeated for that. However, the power of resistance presumably will grow, and already there is much sabotage reported in Nazi bases.

This situation in France is only one of many.

Embittered passive, and often active, resistance on a considerable scale is meeting the German occupations. It has been particularly marked in shattered Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and Norway.

One needs look only at the number of refugee governments in London to realize that there is an undying resistance.

IDAHO SPUDS GET SHUNNED

MERRILL, Ore. (U.P.)—With a surplus of Idaho potatoes on its hands, the Farm Securities administration sent 30 sacks to Federal agricultural workers at Camp Merrill, near here. Camp Merrill is in the center of the Oregon potato district and the men are digging potatoes. The Idaho potatoes were not too heartily welcomed.

Cheer Up Raider Rooters—
Techsans Favored To Measure Hurricane By One Touchdown

Take heart, Texas Tech football fans!

Dr. E. E. Litkenhous, whose predictions on Texas Tech games have been remarkable accurate all season even when he has missed other games badly, says the Red Raiders will whip Miami by a touchdown, and maybe an extra point, too.

The current power rating for Tech is 75.6, that for Miami is 68.1.

Otherwise, the doctor likes Northwestern over Minnesota, Texas Christian over Baylor, Southern Methodist over Texas, Duquesne over Marquette . . . and on down the line.

Probable winners are set in blackface type. Last week's percentage on predictions —247 winners in 298 games for an average of 82.8. Year's figures 1,395 winners in 1,612 games for 82.3. All-time average for the system, which has been used for 10 years — 85.37.

centage of completions is only .330, but the joker lies in the fact that they have done well with the ones they have completed—593 yards, to be exact.

Last weekend Arkansas pulled one of its typical stunts and beat highly favored Ole Miss, 21-20.

Bell Not Overconfident

But there's no other choice than the Aggies here.

Some of the punch left the Texas-SMU meeting when Rice sneaked in its haymaker to Texas' chin last weekend, but the Methodists weren't fooled. Coach Bell scouted the Texans, and came away remarking that Jack Crain missed "by just about six inches," getting away on a couple of runs that could have made it a more interesting afternoon.

Frogs On Spot

Crain, not up to physical par against Rice, is sound again. But Texas was pinning quite a bit of hope on Fullback Pete Layden, who ran and passed beautifully against the Owls.

The hunch is a tie, with SMU by a field goal in wet going.

Texas Christian and Baylor, both defeated in confernce play, meet at Fort Worth. The Christians are putting up everything on this game, including injured Kyle Gillespie, and it may be their turn to beat a Baylor team weakened by the Aggie effort last week. Jim Witt is hurt, and that hurts Baylor.

Rice doesn't plan a tea party against Texas A. and I. in a night game at Houston. It's serious business, but the Owls won't let anyone sneak up on their blind side the way they are going.

Bill Watson Snares Lion On Bear Hunt

With a man-eating mountain lion and a 150-pound buck deer as spoils of war, Bill Watson, agent for Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma bus lines here, returned yesterday from a ten-day bear hunting trip in Arizona.

Mr. Watson was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Watson. They were after bears. They had a bunch of dogs, and they treed a lion. One shot, just above the left eye, brought the lion tumbling down. He measured longer than a man, weighed something like 160 pounds, and will make a nice rug for the Watson household.

The four-point buck was secondary, but he made a nice picture on one front fender of the Watson car the lion on the other.

More Names Added To List In Draft

Members of draft board No. 2 announced Thursday that seven more names have been added to its list of registrants.

They were as follows: Ronald Elbie McClain, Lubbock; Perry Hamer Bowser, 3010 Avenue C; James Roy Heald, 2411 Ninth street; Ferrel Dee Shepherd, Lorenzo route 1; Reuben Benjamin Smith, Lorenzo star route; Donald Crawford Smith, Lorenzo, and James Williams Roberts, Lubbock route 4.

The additions increased the No. 2 board's total to 4,462 young men. Numbers assigned Thursday will be affected by the national selective service lottery of Tuesday just as those assigned before the lottery, Pounds said.

All-Americans In City Today

There'll be a new kind of game—at least new to most Lubbock fans—out at the Texas Tech freshman football field Saturday afternoon when a picked team of Texas Tech players collide with a touring "All-American" team.

Name of the game is field hockey, and it's a very popular sport among the girls out at Texas Tech. It will be presented, at no cost to fans, by the women's physical education department, and it starts at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

It's Fast Enough

Mrs. Berl Huffman is coach of the Tech hockey team, and she advises that spectators "haven't seen anything yet" until they see a fast game of field hockey. "It's fast and interesting, requires physical ability, presence of mind and quick thinking."

Coach Huffman has announced a list of players, out of a squad of 35 or more coeds who have gone in for the game, who will wear the "scarlet tunics" and take a hand in the game. Those on the "first squad" list are Georgene McCauley, Lanell Shirey, Julia Wilbanks, Frances Speer, Mozelle Hill, Elwanda Allen, Jerrinne Wharton, Louise Smith, Dorothy MacDonald, Nancy Binford, Elsie Mae Ward, Naomi Johnson, Barbara Binford, Gail Etter, Anita Clark, and they go by such positions as left wing, center halfback, right halfback, left halfback, right fullback, left fullback, center forward, right forward, goal keeper, etc.

To Stimulate Interest

Object of the tour by the visiting team is to stimulate interest in hockey in colleges and high schools of the 12 different states the team is visiting. It is the first time such a team has played in Texas, and it makes only two stops in the state.

Saturday morning from 8 to 10 o'clock, members of the visiting team will coach Tech girls in the technique and practice of the game. These demonstrations will also be free to the public.

WILL SHIP HEADS

SEAGRAVES—Grain harvesting is started in this part of Gaines county and buyers here say a good shipment of heads can be expected. The crop is turning out well. Corn harvesting has not started.

BARS PRO ATHLETES—Henceforth French sport will be strictly amateur, under decree issued by Jean Borotra, above, former international tennis star who is now "sports dictator" of the Vichy regime. Foreign pros will be banned, but native ones may become "amateurs" if they have jobs outside of athletics.

Leadership Course To Start Monday

Details of arrangements for the opening session in Junior High school Monday night of a Boy Scout cubs' leadership training course were completed at a meeting in the home of Dr. C. C. Schmidt, council cub commissioner, 2206 Eighteenth street, Thursday night.

Leaders for the seven cub packs in Lubbock were selected. They are: pack 1, Dr. Alan L. Strout; pack 3, Paul Laverty; pack 4, Francis Parker; pack 5, Monroe U. May; pack 10, Paul Hardwick; pack 11, L. A. Coward; and pack 27, P. T. Calloway. K. T. Miller was appointed to give handicraft instruction at the courses. Morale officers selected were Rev. W. Jack Lewis and Syrian Marbut.

Second course of the series will be held Thursday, it was said. Others will be Tuesday, Oct. 12; Thursday, Oct. 14; Monday, Oct. 18; and Monday, Oct. 25. Officials predicted that 50 to 75 persons will attend each meeting.

Insured Fire Loss Of $600 Reported

Insured fire loss of $600 during October in Lubbock was reported Thursday night by Guy Casey, city fire marshal.

The total, however, was a sharp decrease from figures of the corresponding two years past. In October, 1939, insured fire loss was $4,116.83 and for the same month two years ago $1,506.99.

The fire last week at 612 Fifteenth street in a building housing a barber shop and apartment tenants, was the first in nearly two months in which insured fire loss was incurred. There was none in September and the last previous was on the night of Aug. 31.

Total for the first 10 months of 1940 is $13,000, approximately $2,000 less than the corresponding figure a year ago. November and December, however, present more fire hazards than any other months, Casey pointed out.

He urged cooperating of Lubbock residents in guarding against fires during the next two months. Fires, he said, are especially numerous during the Christmas season, when hazards require constant attention.

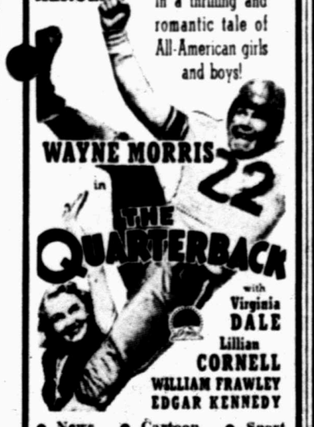

Scott Cops 10-Round Nod Over Ritchie

EL PASO, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — Buddy Scott, the Dallas heavyweight, last night punched his way to an easy 10-round decision over Babe Ritchie, of El Paso, in the feature match on the boxing card at Liberty hall.

Putting up a defense that kept Ritchie's lethal punches away from vital sectors, Scott showered opportune blows into the Babe's midsection and face. The judges gave Scott six rounds, Ritchie one and called three even.

Scott weighed in at 184; Ritchie at 202.

Freight traffic on North China railways in the last fiscal year was 50 per cent greater than in the preceding 12 months.

Huge Air Port Between Fort Worth, Dallas Talked

Military Field Is Envisioned

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—A "second Randolph Field," mid-way between Dallas and Fort Worth, was a step nearer reality today.

L. C. Elliott, regional manager of the Civil Aeronautics administration, was preparing to submit the expressed desire of both cities for such a military airport to federal officials.

Elliott yesterday in a meeting here heard Fort Worth and Dallas officials declare their willingness to cooperate with the federal government in the establishment of a "national defense airport" at a point half-way between the two cities. Both, however, specified that the field should be limited to military activities only, and were emphatic in their opposition to any project which would move commercial airlines away from their respective airports.

Both Would Cooperate

Mayor pro-tem Ben Cabell of Dallas said that "we believe the people of our city would not only be willing to cooperate with Fort Worth and the national government in laying out a military field, but that they would be enthusiastic about it.

"What we would like to do is help develop a second Randolph Field (famous army training field at San Antonio), which would be used by the government long after the present crisis has passed."

Cost Near $2,000,000

Dallas City Manager James W. Aston, speaking for both cities, asked Elliott to have surveys made to determine where the field should be located, obtain estimates on land costs, and find out just how much aid the federal government desires from each city.

Elliott said he would submit a report on the meeting immediately to the joint Navy-Army-CAA board, set up to allocate some $40,000,000 for national defense airports.

It was estimated that the envisaged Fort Worth-Dallas military air field would cost about $2,000,000.

New Treatment For Cancer Said Found

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1 (AP)—A new method in the treatment of cancer, employing "neutron" rays as a possible substitute for X-rays, radium, or surgical treatment, was described today by two scientists of the University of California.

Dr. Robert S. Stone and Dr. John C. Larkin said the rays, produced in the university's great cyclotron, or "atom smasher," had so far produced "encouraging" early effects in 75 patients with cancers which have resisted other methods of treatment or which do not appear to be suitable for X-rays or surgical treatment.

Treated Directly

In a report to a conference on applied nucleus physics at Massachusetts Insitute of Technology, they said that experiments with animals had indicated the method might be substituted to advantage for X-rays and radium, but they emphasized that proof or disproof of this theory with respect to human subjects would require trials over a long period of time.

"The new rays," they said, "consist of tiny 'neutrons,' uncharged particles of matter, which the cyclotron speeds up with the energy of many millions of volts."

Patients are treated directly with the rays for periods of ten minutes daily in the laboratory which houses the giant machine.

Many farmers in Paraguay face want.

Associated Press Does Months Of Work In Few Hours To Canvass National Elections

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — The story of how 65,000 men will tally some 50,000,000 votes on election day and let the United States know the identity of its next president is told by J. D. Ratcliff in Collier's Magazine, out tomorrow.

It is the story of how The Associated Press covers America's greatest news story and does in one frenzied, sleepless night the gigantic task of counting the nation's votes — a task that otherwise would take weeks and even months.

AP Can't Wait

"George Washington didn't know (he had won) until two months after election," writes Ratcliff, "and Rutherford B. Hayes wasn't sure until two days before his inauguration, on March 4, 1877.

"The official machinery can grind slowly, but AP can't. It must be fast — and sure. Besides telling us who is the next president, and the make-up of the new Congress, it handles 48 separate state stories that night."

Planned Far In Advance

The article points out that the cooperative news service "has to collect votes from islands off the Carolina coast, from Alaska, the backwoods counties of Arkansas (where it once had to charter a locomotive to bring in the returns), and from Cook county, Illinois, where there are two million votes to be counted."

Ratcliff tells of the months of preliminary work necessary to set up the machinery to handle the election story, saying "plans can be laid months in advance and if the planning job is good enough, everything goes smoothly."

System Described

The article deals with how individual correspondents collect the vote from every precinct in their county, lining up a man in each precinct weeks before election with orders to hustle in their reports.

When five precincts are complete, the correspondent reports to state headquarters, and follows this first report half an hour later with whatever else has come in. He thereafter makes telephone reports at hourly intervals until his county is complete.

This, Ratcliff writes, is done in every state, and the results put on the AP wires serving whatever section of the country is interested in each state's vote. If of national interest, the results go on the AP's main trunk wire system — a 285,000-mile web.

Place Wires Anywhere

"Within ten minutes of the time a pivotal state reports some significant shift in the vote," the article says, "a story of the change is in the offices of the 1,400 member newspapers; and on the air through an agreement with the broadcasting companies.

"Even the men most directly concerned — Messrs. Roosevelt and Willkie — will get the word through the same medium. AP will string wires to any place the candidates designate."

Commenting on the accuracy of the AP count, Ratcliff says that "two recent checks in New Jersey showed it to be 99.6 and 99.8 per cent accurate, respectively.

"It will take a million wired words to tell the complete story. . . . It will be a frenzied, sleepless night for the 65,000 men who do the job. They will end up red-eyed, deafened by the din, and soaked with coffee (the New York bureau drank 40 gallons last election). But by breakfast time the job will be more than 90 per cent finished. By then they can tell us whether we have been wearing the right buttons."

Increase Noted In Food Stamp Plan

Increase of 25 per cent in participation in the federal food stamp plan during October, the second month of operation in Lubbock county, was reported Thursday by W. H. McKelvy, stamp issuing officer. He said that 776 families now use the stamps as compared with 590 in September.

A total of $21,270 in the stamps has been issued by the office since it opened Sept. 3. Orange stamps, with which purchasers may buy any kind of food, had sold for a total of $12,173. In addition the office has issued a total of $9,097 in blue stamps which may be used for purchase of surplus commodities.

To Sell At Slaton

McKelvy announced that the stamps would be sold in Slaton on Nov. 7 and Nov. 20.

A total of 128 groceries in the county is participating in the food stamp plan and stamps will be accepted by them.

Surplus commodities which may be purchased with blue stamps during November were announced by McKelvy as follows; butter, flour, raisens, rice, dried beans, onions, pork lard, pork, corn meal, hominy grits, prunes, fresh oranges, fresh pears, fresh apples, grapefruit, eggs, cabbage, and Irish potatoes.

More Expected

Eligible to participate in the plan are relief clients who are certified by the City-County Welfare association, old age assistance recipients, PSA grant cases, WPA clients and those awaiting assignments on WPA and general relief clients. Families without employment may consult the welfare agency to determine what they can purchase and $2 per person will be supplemented for thos who cannot work.

A total of 2,890 persons was benefitted by the food stamp plan in October in the 766 families, McKelvy said. He said officials expected 75 per cent participation from the 1,722 families eligible for the stamps when the plan has been in operation for several months.

Pranksters Active In City Last Night

Lubbock cleaned up this morning after a typical Hallowe'en observance Thursday night.

Hallowe'en in general was not observed happily by many of Lubbock's householders, as evidenced by frequent complaints received by the police department. Pranks in many instances were costly.

Downtown, however, merrymaking brought out an unusually large week-night street crowd. Store windows which had not been treated with glycerin were soaped, a din was constant from clappers and horns, and not infrequently did a harmless "boo" greet passersby from behind a hideous mask.

Police were informed of rock and tomato throwing that would do justice to the current presidential election campaigning. House windows, car windows, service station light globes and, in fact, everything made of glass, suffered.

Damage in most instances was negligible but the police blotter showed sufficient such minor infractions to total many dollars when divided among the many offended. None had been jailed at midnight in connection with Hallowe'en revelry.

FREE FROM LIABILITY

OLYMPIA, Wash. (U.P.)—The state supreme court has reversed a legal precedent of long standing and now holds a school district can not be held liable for injuries to school children in "non-contractural" activities on the football field, playground or manual training shop.

LUCKY BREAK — Lady luck was an unseen but welcome rider on this truck when it smashed into a telegraph pole in Pittsburgh. Lower part of pole sheared off and hurled into air, crashed through top of truck, as did the upper part. Two of the three passengers were hurt, but no one was killed.

Thompson Is Named To Head Sophomores

Joe L. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thopmson, 1512 Avenue Q, was elected president of the sophomore class of Senior High school Thursday morning in the auditorium. Douglas "Primo" McCurry was elected secretary. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. McCurry, 2317 Fourth street.

Other candidates for the offices of president and secretary were: Willella Nelson for president and Jean Goodloe for secretary. Vice presidents of the class elected three weeks ago are: Ezelle Wallace, Roy Moore, Ross Brock, Hubert Bechtol, Jean Chappelle, Willella Nelson, Norma Kelly, and Norma Croxton.

Mrs. Ed Terrell is head sponsor of the sophomores. Ross Brock was campaign manager for Thompson and Hubert Bechtol for McCurry. Campaign managers for the unsuccessful candidates were: Joan Hale and Virginia Bondurant.

Church Conference Set For Saturday

A fourth quarterly conference will be held Saturday in Wilson Methodist church, according to Rev. G. W. McLain, pastor.

Service will begin at 11 a. m. with a sermon by the Dr. O. P. Clark, district superintendent. Following a covered dish luncheon to be served by the women at noon, Dr. Clark will preside at the conference.

Representatives from Dixie, Union, Wilson, and New Home churches will be present. Reports covering the entire year will be made by the various chuurches. Officers will be elected and plans made for the next year's work.

Farm Agents Are To Move Offices

The building at 1320 Avenue Q was leased by the county commissioners court at a special meeting Thursday afternoon as offices for the county farm and home demonstration agents.

The building, formerly occupied by Mack's Food store, is being remodeled for suitable use by the agents, who are required to relinquish offices in the federal building. Clyde F. Elkins is owner.

C. C. Jobson is county agent and has had as his assistant Monroe U. May. May, however, has been appointed county agent in Castro county effective today. Miss Clara Pratt is home demonstration agent and Miss Mona Keeter is assistant.

Short-Term Lease

Both offices will be moved to the new building immediately, according to terms of the lease.

Expansion of the United States army recruiting station in the federal building necessitated removal of the county offices, which were established there when the federal building was completed.

The county obtained only a short term lease, it was announced by officials.

Presiding at the meeting was County Judge J. J. Dillard. All commissioners and Louie P. Moore, deputy county clerk and acting secretary of commissioners court were present.

Dr. Irvin To Attend Session In Dallas

Meeting of the Texas congress of Parents and Teachers will be attended in Dallas next week by Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent, who plans to leave today.

In Austin Dr. Irvin will attend a meeting of the advisory committee of the Interscholastic League. From Austin he will go to Fort Worth to attend a pre-convention meeting of the state P-T. A. and then be present for the convention. Dr. Irvin is a member of the state board of managers and is rural service chairman.

With him to the P-T. A. convention Dr. Irvin will take a special rural service display of posters which have been made by Senior High school students, directed by Mrs. Bruce Bryan, coordinator of arts and crafts. The nine posters which are all under one heading, "Community Services Available Through the Rural School," tell of ways rural schools might utilize an extra room. The ways portrayed in the posters include a lunch room, a community library, an art and music room, a visual education room, a school shop, a reception room for visitors, a recreation and club room, a story hour and play room, and a school museum.

Students who made the posters are: Patty Miller, Betty Jane Morton, Uvon Skipper, Dorothy Sue Wolaver, Ruth Merriman, Mary Jane Eger, Robert Rodgers, Thomas Hassell, Devise Cummings, Stuart Alley, Florine Pattillo, and Katherine Cummings.

Mexico City will have juvenile grand opera, boys and girls from all parts of Mexico taking the leading roles.

Man Who Put "Ski" In English Language Made First Pair To Beat Wolf At Door

Sergeant Sells 'Em War But No Trip

WINSLOW, Ariz., Nov. 1 (UP) — An old story concerning military enlistment efforts directed toward the Apache Indians during the first World war has been revived.

In 1917 the Arizona Indians heard a voluble army recruiting sergeant describe the war and overseas journey to Europe. It was an eloquent plea.

Afterward the Indians consulted among themselves. The Apache tribal leaders ultimately issued this statement:

"We will fight, but you bring [illegible] but they had been made by Norwegians living here and on their own use. No one ever had tried to make them popular with Americans and no one at camps had a ski factory.

Strand said his distribution problems were many. Most storekeepers call skis the Norwegian snowshoes and the demand was small.

Fire Destroyed Plant In 1918

Ski should be pronounced she but they sound a lot more like the continental personal pronoun, Strand said. So I made it sound like it looked, simply ski.

I am positive I'm the man who put ski in the English language."

The business grew slowly. In 1918 disaster struck. Two fires within six months destroyed his stock and equipment.

In 1921 New Richmond skiwear he arranged new uniforms. Around a dozen pairs kept on hand. He answered and later bought the building. It is now three times original size and the peak year [illegible]

Personal Definition

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 1—Dr. Sam Derrick of the University of South Carolina, by way of enlarging vocabularies of his students, defined the word "pedestrian" for them.

"A pedestrian," he said, "is a man who has a wife, a daughter and one car." (Dr. Derrick has a wife, a daughter and one car.)

Army Life "Softer"

FORT F. E. WARREN, Wyo. Nov. 1. (AP)—The army sleeps in comforters after today. They're modeled after the soft, cotton type Grandma used to make and will supplement the two all-wool olive-drab blankets that have been scratching Uncle Sam's soldiers for nobody knows how long.

Truant Particular

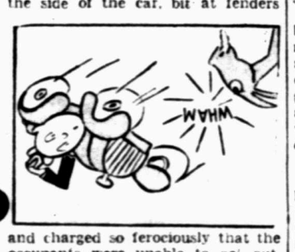

KINSTON, N. C., Nov. 1. (AP) — Truant Officer A. H. Gerrans, accosting a 13-year-old who should have been in school, offered to transport the young lady to the seat of learning in his car.

"What—in that thing?" she asked.

Gerrans figured she could walk.

This Got His Goat

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Nov. 1 (AP) —A rabid goat attacked Bonner Hutto's automobile. It reared up on the side of the car, bit at fenders and charged so ferociously that the occupants were unable to get out. Hutto asserted the goat apparently had been bitten by a fox since a number of cases of rabies among foxes have been discovered in this area.

Who Laughs Last?

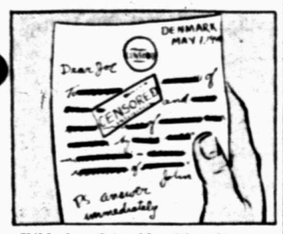

DRESREN, Me., Nov. 1. (AP)—Percy Kiersted, a logger, laughed when he saw a cow walk up to his car, stick her muzzle into his open tool kit and rummage around. But it wasn't so funny when Kiersted discovered that the cow had chewed up a wallet containing both his registration certificate and operator's license.

Double Surprise!

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 1 (AP) —Colvin Leonard said he was so astounded that he merely stared without speaking when a stranger walked up and asserted, "You're the biggest liar I ever saw." Then the fellow, flustered and obviously embarrassed, stammered apologetically, "—I thought you were somebody else."

Just A Reminder---

PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 1. (AP)—Six months ago relatives in Denmark mailed a letter to Joe

Kiblosky of Pueblo. First it was censored by the Germans. Later the British blue-penciled it. Sure, you guessed it. There was hardly anything left to read.

Changes Said To Be Minor

By OLIVER H. KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Informed officials say that Germany's war industry was patterned on the industrial mobilization plan worked out over a period of years by American army officers and engineers.

The War Department has believed for sometime the German plan was a duplicate of the American program, but their suspicions were not borne out until a confidential report was received recently.

The confidential report, detailing steps taken by Germany to adjust her peacetime industrial production to wartime needs, found the only changes made were in phrasing.

Where the American plan is studded with such phrases as "this course of action seems indicated"; "manufacturers are urged to do this"; and "it appears procedure along this line is desirable," German chieftains struck these phrases from the plans, making the outline of procedure mandatory.

American Plan Made Public

There was no secret about the workings of the American plan. Beside throwing the doors open to Germany in the late '20s when several German economists and engineers visited this country to study our proposed system, copies of the plan are obtainable for 15 cents.

This plan, being put into operation by the United States now, has been in operation in Germany for four or five years.

In the American plan, provision was made to reserve a large part of the productive capacity for civilian needs, but, according to the report, Germany deleted that section entirely and built its industry on the basis of a giant industrial "commodity bank" from which the armed forces alone could draw.

An economic general staff, paralleling the military general staff, adapted the plans to German economy, crowding out civilian requirements and basing their course of action only on immediate needs to achieve victory, the informant said.

Using the American plan to go by, Germany approached the war munitions problem in exactly the same way as the United States. Procurement planning units were organized throughout the Army, Navy and Air Force, and planning bureaus were established at all industrial centers.

German Plants Confiscated

However, when the time came to put these plans into effect, German manufacturers found their plants and equipment belonged to the government and that they had no voice in how it was to be used, the informant added.

Briefly, the American industrial mobilization plan was to make arrangements for effective use of material resources in war. Plans evolved must consider the problems of the Army, Navy, civilians, and industry, and must receive the approval of the President and of congress.

F. L. Maranville explains for a fair client some of the equipment in his tattooing shop.

More Men "Taking Up" Arms Means More Arms To Tattoo

(Associated Press Feature Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1—Defense and conscription promise a boom for one of the oldest of arts—tattooing.

Already F. L. Maranville, who has set up shop near fast-growing Camp Ord, reports business is improving.

Young army recruits reinforce their patriotism by having Old Glory or the American Eagle imprinted on their skins for life. Sometimes more tender sentiments rule, and they decide to go to battle—if battle comes — bearing an ornamental tribute to "Mother" or "Sweetheart."

This is all very cheering to Maranville, who takes pride in his profession and regrets that in recent years so many Americans have managed to get along with their skins plain and unadorned.

"The social security law helped some," he relates. "People had their numbers tattooed, and you'll admit that is a very safe and dependable way to keep them."

Tattooing has not changed essentially in centuries except for the invention of the electric needle, which works up and down, pushing ink beneath the skin. A practitioner like Maranville carries stencils of hundreds of designs. If you have some original idea of your own he'll draw it up to order.

Maranville's own back is covered by one of the favorite and most pretentious religious designs, "Rock of Ages."

Maranville finds most men get their first design on an arm, while women clients usually start with a leg.

ANTELOPE HUNTERS TO VIE

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (U.P.)—Wyoming and Colorado teams of "one-shot" antelope hunters have accepted the challenge of Texas nimrods to join in the "battle-of-states" hunt next year at Lander, Wyo. This year Colorado won three antelopes to one—in the contest in which each gunman was allowed only one shot with which to bag his game during the daylong hunt.

Humor Is Provided By Texas Negroes

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (U.P.) Texas negroes provided much of the humor on Oct. 16, registration day for military service.

At Anson, in West Texas, a colored preacher about 60 years old appeared at the registration station early in the morning. He was told he was over-age.

"Well, suh," he said, "I'll go home and git my boy to sign up."

Roy Washington of Fort Worth tried to register early in the day on Oct. 16 at Palestine, Tex. He was told to go to Dallas. En route, Washington was in an automobile accident and failed to reach Dallas before the registration booths closed.

He came home to Fort Worth, and visited several local boards before he found the proper one to accept his late registration.

"I figger I walked 50 miles to sign up," said Washington.

Another Anson registrant was asked by the registrar when his card was filled out:

"Now, where do you want your body shipped?"

The darky took a deep breath, and replied:

"To heaven, boss. That's where my soul will be!"

NEW ALIMONY PLEA SUCCEEDS

SAN FRANCISCO, (U.P.) — Felix Cerutti told Municipal Judge Meikle the reason he had not paid his divorced wife $25 a month for the support of their child was that when they separated he gave her his delicatessen store and figured if she could not feed the child out of a whole delicatessen store, why —. The judge reduced the support allowance to $20 monthly.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That thief on Broadway says virtues are becoming only when worn on the outside.

Adolf Hitler says his bing-ruphers never smokes, never drinks, never swears, or well, in short, they say he has none of the vices usually found in ordinary males.

That doesn't surprise The Plainsman a bit. We've always been wary of the man who has no apparent vice, and the more one of them proclaims his virtues, the closer we keep our hand to our pocketbook!

DRIVING back from Oklahoma the other day, The Plainsman followed Highway 66 from Oklahoma City to Shidler and as he cut between the city of Lawton and Fort Sill he was astonished at what he saw.

He wasn't surprised by the fact that Fort Sill is teeming with men and that clusters of army tents are to be seen on every hand holding the overflow unable to get into barracks. But he was surprised at the presence of a brand new colony of civilians living just across the highway from the military reservation three miles removed from downtown Lawton.

Along the highway in a bunch like bananas are scores of brand new houses, small but attractive. Some looks very 30 days old. Some are not yet completed and as we went by the section was swarming with activity.

Activity at Fort Sill has brought that swarm of civilians to the outskirts of Lawton and for all we know there may be many, many more to come.

Rigid quiz Brownwood where the Texas National Guard will train, thinks to bounding toe. The old town has come to life, according to reports reaching Lubbock.

Those who consigned Brownwood to the place where all dead towns go were a little previous with their obituaries. Brownwood is humming as established business men and newcomers in all lines are preparing to get a "cut" of the gold which will be tossed there by the guardsmen.

Old timers of the town also report that Mineral Wells, long more noted as a health resort than a good business town, has also perked up like nobody's business with everyone getting ready to meet guest and "take the trainees who will do their "squads right" to the Palo Pinto county spa.

Ah, but defense is wonderful, especially when it makes the cash registers ring.

We see by the papers where young King Michael of Rumania will reign supreme over that country. Setting as monarch of his country under dictator rule.

That indicates the king business is not pretty good, especially since all he has to do is to earn the dough to eat. Yes, sir, by the Nazis.

Maybe it's true that Al Smith-Raskobism can't be wrung out from the body of things democratic, but Smith must be.

Even Lew Wallace Ambassador to Paris getting ready to leave the city he says is a "dream city" of the world. Lew, we suppose, has to believe that, being an ambassador to the country.

Wonder if Lew, confidently that he had caught the back seat efficacy of the Nazi rule on the country's haters, is relinquish chair to the caught.

Yes, the men that walked in the night, and were caught, by the Nazis, and the first night they were free, and the first night's big civil delights from the bars.

Thanks be, I was a good sport and nice to believe it.

YESTERDAY: Sue Mary keeps a date with Nick, hoping to find out more of the facts behind the strike. Nick talks glibly for a while, then, as Sue Mary questions him, becomes evasive. He asks about the office, Vera. She is going to a gambling place with Clark. Nick suggests they go, too.

NICK AND VERA GET A TRAP

CHAPTER XIX

The bird cage was crowded and noisy. Sue Mary had been afraid she would be conspicuous since she wasn't wearing a formal, but about her people moved wearing all types gave the kill to the first man. He still had his own tag anchor, and he figured the strange circumstance merely gave him more hunting fun.

There's a freak deer hunting story for you.

Has anyone another to match it?

Whether an insincere person should be condemned for his insincerity depends upon what kind of a person he would be if he were sincere.

That Man on Avenue Q says sometimes he wonders where his next erudition is coming from.

If a quick peace were to follow the elections, what in the world would people find as sub jects for conversation?

WE USED to think that flag pole and tree sitting stunts "knock knocks," "quickies," "Virginia Reel" and airplane flight endurance tests would drive us plumb nuts, but they all came before it got to be against the rules of propriety to talk about anything else but the European war and whether Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Willkie ought to be elected.

But after 17 months of war talk and 17 weeks of politics, The Plainsman for one would welcome almost any other subject, even little Annie Rooney stories.

If the presidential campaign were to last another two weeks Mr. Willkie would run out of mistakes and take his descent as would run out of eggs and vegetables and Mr. Roosevelt would run out of defenses to inspect, especially those located in shuttered spaces.

But that wouldn't be the worst of it.

Most of the rest of us would run out of sanity — and as all and sundry can recognize in the ranking of an eye there's not too much sanity around as it is.

THE young sailor strolled home after work, galloped into the kitchen, grabbed his bride and did a war dance.

When he was around the middle of the floor, the newly-wed stopped.

"What in the world's the matter with you?" the newly-wed stopped out.

"I've finally got a good raise a good paying raise," he panted. "I'm happy as a jaybird and full of a mad who has a bankroll. I'm going to buy you a fur coat, a diamond bracelet, a new car, a—"

Breaking in, she said: "I have enough dough."

"Then I'm going to buy you a new apartment, a grand piano, a—"

"Why, honey, I'm perfectly satisfied with these two rooms," she protested.

"Then I'm going to buy you a fur coat, a diamond bracelet, a new car, a—"

"I have enough dough," she said.

"Then I'm going to buy you guards. Union and plant officials declared negotiating procedure could stand any investigating, and insisted satisfactory progress was being made. But a picket line appeared and the company indicated there might be a shut-down until peace could be restored.

Gull Plane officials made a statement that their schedule would be severely upset if materials didn't come through from the Smithson factory, and the papers pointed out that Gull Plane output was a vital factor in the new national defense program.

Sue Mary had a date with Joe that evening. "Well, it looks as though we're in for it," he told her grimly. "We all want to work. We all take our jobs seriously. We know the union won't let the company take advantage of these war-time emergencies, and we know we're working for the good of the country. Yet a certain bunch of half-wits are causing trouble enough to force the factory to close down.

"I was talking to some of the boys this noon, and none of us knows exactly why this business has started. And I took a look at that picket line. Some of the guys in it I swear I never saw before: long-haired guys, professional pickets. And by the way —I thought I saw that guy Nick in the neighborhood."

"Nick—" Sue Mary's voice broke. "Nick—why should he be there? And I don't think you would be able to recognize him anyway. You only saw him once."

"That's right—once when I took you home, he was leaving with that Natalie person. But I got a look at him, and I'm sure this was the same guy.

"I wouldn't be surprised anyway. He's the kind that starts trouble like this. A super-American working for the under-privileged."

You can lead a man to Coffee BUT YOU CAN'T MAKE HIM DRINK!

THREE OUT OF FOUR COFFEES ARE LOWLAND GROWN
YES, BUT FOLGER'S IS DIFFERENT!

Vigorous Flavor

BECAUSE IT'S MOUNTAIN GROWN!

Unlike probably three out of four coffees which are lowland grown, Folger's flavor comes from tropical mountains of Central America where brilliant sun, dense rainfall, and rich volcanic soil produce a miracle in coffee flavor. This vigorous flavor is yours to enjoy whether you use the Regular Grind or the DripGrind. So however you make coffee, be sure you get Folger's and get the vigorous flavor advantage of this mountain grown coffee.

Europeans Are Told To Dress For Air Raids

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Shades of King Arthur!

Men and women in warring countries should adopt a 1940 version of the armor worn when knighthood was in flower, says Stephen Grancsay, curator of arms and armor at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

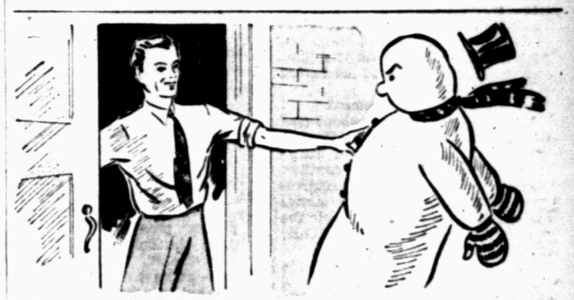

Grancsay says a suitable outfit could be manufactured in mass production for less than $100. He contends many serious wounds could be prevented if people were given such protection from shrapnel fragments, falling debris and spent bullets.

To objectors who argue that armor-clad civilians wouldn't have sufficient mobility, Grancsay retorts they'd have more than they now have hiding in air raid shelters.

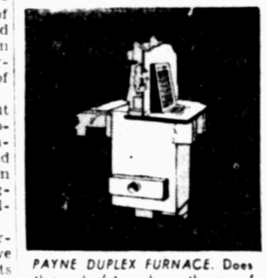

Few mammals, except for shrews, rats, mice and bats are native to the Philippine Islands.

Selection Of 13 "Baby Stars Of 1940" Is Just Another Publicity Gag; Contest Was Staged Only To Plug Name Of Director

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1—In the same whoopee-parlor where a fixed jury of playboys once gave the title of Oomph Girl to Ann Sheridan, who was the sole entrant in the "contest," a committee of motion picture directors met the other night and selected 13 "Baby Stars of 1940."

The two occasions were alike in that both were press agent-inspired and that neither brought out a reasonable representative amount of competition. The Baby Star contest was devised wholly to plug the name of Director Raoul Walsh, committee chairman, who posed with the beaming cuties.

It was a pleasant chore and I have no wish to criticize Mr. Walsh or his associate judges for their part in one of this season's brighter bits of hokum. But I am disappointed by the way some of my fellow correspondents seized this stunt and proceeded to embellish it beyond even the wildest dreams or schemes of Mr. Walsh's publicity man.

They've been saying these girls are Wampas Baby Stars and are the film colony's best bets for real stardom. Such statements aren't fair to the kids themselves, some of whom probably are sitting at home right now waiting for calls from Louis B. Mayer and Darryl Zanuck. In qualifications, nominations and selections of this group, there is no similarity to the members of Wampas, which was a large and powerful organization in its day, but which has been stone dead since 1934.

Only One Requirement

Let me tell you a little about how this recent contest was conducted. Most of the studios refused publicity blank to allow their young contract players to participate. Executives knew there was a hidden motive somewhere in it, and, assured the competition had been fixed and their entrants couldn't win.

That attitude on the part of the studios is reasonably explained by about 98 per cent of the actresses whom any neutral would nominate for a best-bets-for-stardom list.

There was only one requirement for entrance and that was membership in the Screen Actors Guild. Hattie McDaniel would have been eligible. Any one woman will just do actually—shower up. But of all the thousands who might have taken part, only 30 sent applications. On the night of the auditions, 12 of these had dates, so 43 appeared to do a one-minute performance of their own choosing.

Planted Stooge Stopped Strip Tease

They could sing dance or recite. Most of them recited, and for considerably more than a minute. The judges ignored during a succession of dramatic monologues from the Bette Davis character. When pert Peggy Diggins rose and announced she had just got in town and hadn't prepared anything the judges were so relieved that they made her a Baby Star pro tem.

A former promotional model was badly but wisely accepted because he was—what else?—a stripper. Having raised a storm, this lad flung off his shirt and started to take off his trousers. Then he showed us a business-like union suit underneath. And the contest was over.

But I'm not complaining. Because I'm not supposed to. I'm a reporter. And I'm supposed to report. That's what I'm doing. Period.
