Motorcade of twenty cars will leave Perryton at 6 o'clock this morning on an all day tour to the west of Perryton, for the purpose of advertising the birthday celebration to be held here on August 22-23.

Perryton Municipal band will accompany the good-will tour which will visit

WHEELER WINS FROM PERRYTON

VISITORS WIN SATURDAY AND SUNDAY BALL GAMES BY NARROW MARGIN OF SINGLE RUNS

Ed Watson and his ball team from Wheeler were here last Saturday and Sunday and the two games they played with the Perryton club were the closest and most interesting that we have had this season. Wheeler winning both games by the narrow margin of one run.

Saturday Game
The Saturday game resulted in a victory for the visitors by a score of 2-1. "Rusty" Smith started the game for the locals. He pitched shut out ball and but for errors by his team mates would have blanked the boys from Wheeler. Cliff relieved him at the beginning of the 8th inning, pitching air tight ball for the remainder of the game.

Score by innings:
1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9
Perryton 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1

Batteries: Wheeler—Morris and Clayton; Perryton—Smith, Cliff and Cox. Hits: off Morris, 5; off Smith, 4 in 7 innings; off Cliff, none in 2 innings. Struck out: by Morris, 4; by Smith, 7; by Cliff, 3. Two base hit: Drake of Perryton.

Sunday Game
The Sunday game was not nearly so good, both teams breaking into the error column. The game was exciting, first Wheeler in the lead, then Perryton. At the end of the eighth, the score was tied at 8-8. Wheeler drove one in in the ninth, making the game 9-8 in their favor. Edwards pitched a nice game but his support was very ragged.

Score by innings:
1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9
Wheeler 0 0 2 1 0 4 0 1 1 9
Perryton 0 0 1 5 0 0 0 2 0 8

Batteries: Wheeler, Cooper, Morris and Clayton; Perryton, Edwards and Cox. Hits: off Cooper, 7 in 6 innings; off Morris, 3 in 3 innings; off Edwards, 11. Struck out: by Cooper, 4; by Morris, 2; by Edwards, 11. Three base hit: Meade of Perryton; Clayton of Wheeler. Home runs: O. Burgess and Bartheles; Wheeler; Cox of Perryton.

These two teams will meet again in Perryton on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, August 21-22-23. During the past two years Perryton and Wheeler have played 7 games and the count now stands 4-3 in favor of Wheeler. Games between these two teams are always interesting and close. Wheeler always has a good team and they are real sportsmen.

Has Good Opening

New Drug Store Gives Away Fifteen Gallons of Ice Cream At Opening Saturday

Jesse L. Wright, manager of The Wright Drug Store, which had its opening Saturday, reports that the opening exceeded his expectations. All of the specials offered sold well. Mr. Wright reports, and his reputation in Perryton was indeed cordial. Fifteen gallons of ice cream were given away during the afternoon to visitors and customers at the new store, Mr. Wright says.

CLEAN UP PERRYTON FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Monday and Tuesday, August 22 and 23, Perryton will be host to thousands of visitors who will come here to join with the citizens of Perryton and Ochiltree County in observing the eighth anniversary of the founding of the town. Perryton should be "spick and span" for this occasion. Every property owner, every resident, and every business man should see that his premises are cleaned up, the weeds cut and everything possible done to make as good an appearance as possible.

City officials should see that all rubbish is collected and hauled off to the city dump grounds. The streets should be graded and put in the best possible shape. We are appealing to the civic pride of every citizen to see that the entire town is really cleaned up. Will you do your part?

SCOUTS GO TO CAMP TUESDAY

THREE DAY OUTING FOR BOY SCOUTS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK ON CREEK

All is in readiness for the three day Boy Scout camp to be held on Wolf Creek next week, starting Tuesday, August 16 and lasting until Thursday night, according to Leroy Hartman, deputy scout commissioner.

The camp site has been selected but its location will not be announced until the night before the boys leave. However, there will be a good swimming hole nearby, the officials in charge of the camp state, and instructions in swimming will be given.

E. L. Roberts, scout commissioner, and Mr. Hartman will go with the boys on the camping trip, and will be in charge of the instructions. Practically all of the scouts belonging to the two Perryton troupas have signified their intentions of attending the camp.

Large Hail Falls

Hail Stone Measuring 1 1/4 Inches Was Found By W. B. Lilly Sunday

What is thought to be the largest hail stone to fall in Ochiltree County was found by W. B. Lilly, following the storm, Sunday evening, the hail measuring 1 1/4 inches in circumference.

Several reports have been turned in of hail stones that were found measuring over 1 1/2 inches around.

Some damage was done to the tops of cars that were sitting out during the storm, but no other damage was reported. The storm seemed to have been confined to a small area around Perryton.

Hold Teachers Institute

Teachers May Attend Institute Here Instead of Going to Canyon Meeting

According to Judge J. M. Grigsby, teachers' institute will be held in Perryton this year, to save Ochiltree County teachers from making the trip to Canyon as has been necessary in former years. The institute will be conducted by Prof. W. B. Irvin, superintendent of schools, and will be held at the high school auditorium on Monday and Tuesday, September 4-5.

All teachers are required to attend institute every year and having such a meeting here will save them much unnecessary expense. Teachers from adjoining counties are invited to attend this two day gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Blodgett and Mrs. Ralph Blodgett of the southwest part of the county were trading here Wednesday.

CABLE BREAKS LETS MAN FALL

WORKMAN ON SCHOOL HURT IN THIRTY FOOT DROP WHEN CABLE ON HOIST SNAPS

F. B. Whatley, Roswell, N. M., was seriously injured last Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the cable on the hoist used in the constructing of the new high school building broke letting him fall from the top of the building, a distance of thirty feet.

Mr. Whatley had just stepped on the hoist to remove the load of concrete which had been lifted to the top of the building when the cable broke, letting the hoist drop. He was dazed for a moment from the effects of the fall but was soon conscious. An ambulance was called from the Wilson Funeral Home which rushed Whatley to medical aid.

Although the injuries are quite painful, no serious results are expected. A badly sprained and fractured ankle, two broken ribs, a sprained back, and small cuts and bruises were sustained by Whatley.

Mr. Whatley has a wife and two children with him in Perryton. It is thought that it will be some time before he is able to return to work, however, he expects to be out on crutches in a few days.

Neighbors Plant Crop

Put in Forty Acre Crop for Disabled Neighbor in Alfalfa Community

By Mrs. R. H. Moore
"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

The truth of those lines was well demonstrated last Tuesday morning, August 2, when there assembled at the home of Mrs. B. J. Jackson and her son, Charles, a number of neighbor men with their teams to plant the fields with cane to make feed for the Jackson cattle. And as if Providence was pleased at such an act of neighborly kindness, a good rain fell that night. The men worked faithfully and about forty acres were prepared and planted.

Charles Jackson was injured last January when the team he was driving ran away and dragged him for quite a distance. He has not been able to work since and has been under physicians care most of the time. Owing to the dry weather and the inability to secure a man to do the work, the Jackson family had no prospect for feed for the coming winter. At the suggestion of Mr. T. V. Ellzey, the neighbors did the work for them.

A bountiful dinner was served the workers by Mrs. B. J. Jackson, Miss Lilly and Mrs. Charles Jackson, assisted by Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Widmer.

The workers were T. V. Ellzey, Guy Widmer, George Jackson with team, Coy Merydith with team, Dave Wright with team, Wm. Rose with team, Clyde Stevenson with team for J. H. Callahan, Lem Cooley with team for R. H. Moore and Charlie Dutcher with team.

Accident Injures Three

Miss Stella Shotwell Is Seriously Hurt And In Hospital At Denver, Colo.

A telegram from Denver, Colo., last Friday evening, carried the information that Miss Stella Shotwell, Gray, Okla., and Mrs. M. South and Geo. Shell, Perryton, were injured in an automobile accident between Colorado Springs and Denver. Miss Shotwell was seriously hurt and has been placed in the general hospital at Denver.

No details of the accident were given. The party of three were on a vacation trip to the mountains when the accident occurred. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Shotwell, left Saturday evening to be with their daughter.

Mrs. Faye Montgomery, Amarillo, visited friends in this city last week end.

SPECIAL EDITION TO BE OFF PRESS NEXT WEEK

Advertisers are urged to prepare their copy for the special celebration issue of The Herald this week if possible and have it in The Herald office not later than Saturday, to insure the publication being placed in the mails promptly on time.

An order for sixty half tones was placed last week by The Herald to be made from photographs made recently, to be used in the special edition, showing points of interest in Perryton.

Orders for 165 copies of the special edition have been received from individuals during the past week. Others having relatives and friends to whom they wish to send copies of this paper, should leave names and addresses at The Herald office. The papers will be wrapped and mailed by The Herald, a small charge being made to cover cost of handling.

12.4 INCH RAIN IN TWO MONTHS

FOUR RAINS DURING WEEK ADD 2.69 INCHES OF MOISTURE TO GROUND

Four rains received during the past week added 2.69 inches moisture to the already soaked fields and swelled the total rainfall for the past two months, since June 5, to 12.40 inches.

A half inch of rain fell in this district last Thursday night, followed by a fall of .58 inch Sunday afternoon and night, accompanied by some hail. The heaviest fall of the week was recorded Monday night, measuring 1.35 inches. The fall Tuesday night registered .26 of an inch.

The 12.40 inches of rain received during the past two months amounts to over half of the average annual rainfall, which is placed at approximately twenty-four inches. The total rainfall this year up to the present time amounts to 17.39 inches.

Trouble At Strickler

Telescoped Casing When It Drops After Underreaming; Tools Caught in Hole

Drillers on the Burton-Strickler test, sw. 4, Sec. 579, Block 43, encountered some trouble Friday when the casing dropped after underreaming and telescoped, catching the tools in the bottom of the hole. They were working at 4,120 feet.

An effort is being made to whip the line in two so that the casing may be removed. It is thought that new casing will have to be run before further progress can be made.

New Expression Teacher

Miss Elizabeth Card of Denver, to Teach in Perryton Public Schools This Year

Miss Elizabeth Card of Denver, Colorado, has been employed as teacher of Expression and Dramatic Art for the Perryton Public Schools during the 1927-28 session. Miss Card has had training in Colorado College, Colorado University, Baker University and Bryn Mawr College. She also holds the A. B. degree in addition to her regular dramatic training.

Miss Card will read during the opening program on Wednesday morning, September 7. Her charges for expression teaching will be $5.00 per month of 8 lessons. The management of the Perryton schools is very anxious to build this department up to the standard for a school of our size and they feel that Miss Card is the person who can do it.

R. J. Walker of the Blue Mound community was a Perryton visitor last Wednesday.

BALL GAMES, RACES, CARNIVAL, DANCES, SPEECHES ARE FEATURES

TWO DAY BIRTHDAY PARTY WILL BE FILLED WITH ENTERTAINMENT; PERRYTON INVITES ENTIRE PANHANDLE TO CELEBRATION

August 22-23, the celebration of Perryton's eighth birthday, are to be real red letter days on the calendar this year, according to M. R. Coffee, general manager, and the various committees in charge of the program.

Ball games between Wheeler and Perryton have been scheduled for both days, to be followed by horse

NEW COURSES HIGH SCHOOL

NEW BUILDING WILL PROVIDE FACILITIES FOR MANY NEW SUBJECTS IN HIGH SCHOOL

With the completion of the new high school building, there will be added several subjects to the course of study in the Perryton High School. Better facilities will also be provided for the teaching of the studies now included in the course.

One of the most important of the new courses is the Commercial department. This will include book-keeping, typewriting and shorthand. This course will be open to Juniors and Seniors, and if possible, to post-graduates of the school under the age of twenty-one. Typewriting and shorthand, however, may be open to Sophomores, if they have time for one or both of these subjects and there is room in the department.

Chemistry will be open to Seniors and to a few Juniors who have had one or more full courses of science. This should prove to be a popular and interesting course.

Splendid new electrically operated machines for manual training are being provided and real furniture and cabinet making will be possible. This course will be open to all high school boys.

The farm shop will be operated in connection with vocational agriculture. Auto mechanics will be a feature of this work. The boys in this department will have access to the manual training rooms and tools.

Bible is also to be taught as an optional subject. The pastors of the churches will volunteer their services and each is to teach two periods a week. No pupil will be required to take this course, but those who desire to study the Bible will be permitted to take the course from the pastor of their choice. No salary will be paid to these men. A one-quarter credit will be given to the pupils passing the course at the end of the year. This credit will be over and above the 16 required for graduation.

The course of study of the Perryton High School will be as rich as any found in North Texas schools and will offer some courses that should interest every boy and girl. The best way to learn to do a thing, is by actually taking part in such an activity. We learn more by "doing" than by "being told." This is, and should be, the objective of every school, that the pupils be provided with opportunity to find what they are best fitted for, and then to train them for such a task by allowing them to do the job as nearly like it is to be done, in after life, as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Jones came in Tuesday to look after property interests in this city and visit with their many friends. They are now located at Winfield, Kan. Mr. Jones was with the Empire Oil Co. when they drilled the test north-west of Perryton several years ago. Mrs. Jones was operator at the Santa Fe depot here for a number of years.

aces. Carnival attractions, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, riding devices and shows of all kinds will be furnished by the T. J. Tidwell Shows which have been booked for the occasion.

A big dance in the second story of the new Donley building will be conducted both evenings, music furnished by the "Black Aces," said to be the best dance orchestra in the Panhandle, from Amarillo. The floor in the new building will be put in good shape for the dance and will furnish 7,000 square feet of dancing space with no obstructions of any kind in the way of the dancers. The dances will be ably chaperoned by Perryton citizens.

Congressman Marvin Jones has signified his intentions of being present and will give an address during the morning program, according to W. B. LaMaster, Jack Allen and W. B. Irvin in charge of the public speaking program. Races for the children will also be held in the mornings.

Free ice water will be available at all times, and free camping space will be provided for parties wishing to camp.

SPEARMAN WINS COUNTY SEAT?

LACK TWENTY-THREE VOTES OF GETTING TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY LAST SATURDAY

The official vote in the Hansford County seat election Saturday was: Spearman, 657.

Hansford, 363.

The unofficial vote, as received from unofficial sources Saturday night, gave Spearman 845 votes and Hansford 350, which was a two-thirds majority. The official vote shows that Spearman lacks 23 votes of a two-thirds majority.

Spearman's failure to obtain a two-thirds majority further endangers that community's chances of getting the county seat. It provides an additional ground on which to contest the election in the case now pending in the state supreme court.

If Spearman had received a two-thirds majority, the only ground for contest would have been the validity of the new state law which provides that under certain circumstances, a county may have a second election within two years of the first. This law is involved in the case now pending before the supreme court.

Another law provides that in counties which in 1920 had between 1,300 and 1,400 population, the county seat may be moved by a majority vote. It is known that opponents of Spearman expect to contest the validity of this law. Had Spearman received a two-thirds majority, it would not matter whether this law was valid or not.

Hansford County residents outside of Spearman are planning to contest the removal with all their might, it was indicated in a letter from a number of them, published in the Monday issue of the Amarillo News.

R. D. Robinett, Dallas, district supervisor for the Southwestern Life Insurance Company, was in Perryton last Thursday and Friday. J. J. Menzell is the Perryton representative for this company.

log cabin. Patsy Jane greeted it with a triumphant chirrup. The journey had been a pleasant one. They had left behind the prosperous section of the state with its paved road, with the first day. Concrete had been replaced by gravel, which in turn yielded to dirt turnpikes.

These made way for sandy tracks which wiggled with apparent aimlessness through the jackpine country. Spring was appreciably more tardy as they penetrated northward. The nights were chill but the days were fine and sunshiny.

The Forbes hundred and sixty acres were twelve miles east of the village of Long Portage. They had stopped in the woods town for provisions and other supplies. It boasted a railroad division headquarters, a sawmill, and little else.

The log house, much to Eddie's surprise and satisfaction, was found to be in fairly good condition. The roof was whole. Apparently, deerhunting had used the place the previous autumn as a camp. There was a rusty but serviceable stove which he did not recall as having been there previously, in the kitchen.

The kitchen was a lean-to adjoining the main building. The bigger structure was divided into a combination living-room and dining room, and a bedroom considerably smaller. The living-room had chairs and a table, of a sort, and there were bunks nailed to the log walls on two sides.

"Why, we can stay here tonight, Pat," he announced gleefully. "It won't be much of a job to clean up. Wonder if the pump's all right?"

A few strokes of the handle of the iron "pitcher" pump near the back door brought up an abundance of clear, cold water. "We're sitting pretty," he declared. "Let's have lunch. I'm crazy to tear in and make this place into something."

In mid-afternoon, as they were scrubbing and refurbishing happily, they had a visitor. He had walked to the cabin over the rolling jackpine wastes. "Good day to you," he began. "I saw the smoke from your chimney. My name is Isiah Sealman. My land adjoins part of your quarter-section on the west."

"How do you do?" greeted Eddie taking the proffered hand. "I am Edison Forbes. This is my wife."

Sealman. Somehow, the name fitted him admirably. Eddie thought. He was as sleek as a seal which has just emerged from the water. He had smooth brown hair, worn long, but kept in excellent order. He had a full though sloping forehead, and a large, high-bridged nose. The lower part of his face was covered by a beard several shades lighter than the hair. It was also sleek and well kept. The man was large, inclined to stoutness, and with an air of being above the rough frontier clothing which he wore.

"Here for a summer outing, I suppose?" persuaded Sealman, as he looked about with large, shrewd blue eyes.

"Here for good," returned Eddie smiling frankly. "I own this place, you know. We thought we'd give the north a trial."

Sealman shot him a quick glance. "I had heard that people named Forbes owned it," he said, slowly. "But I thought you'd abandoned it. The taxes—"

"By Jove, that's so!" interrupted Eddie, frowning thoughtfully. "I've neglected the taxes for some time. I must go downtown tomorrow and see about them."

"You intend to farm, Mr. Forbes?"

"To tell the truth, I don't know," returned Eddie. "We haven't had time to look around and decide. I don't suppose much of this land is good. I haven't any implements or tools."

Sealman nodded agreement. "The land isn't much good. It goes in streaks up here in the jackpine country. There's an occasional bit of good land and then a belt of white sand that won't raise ragweed. Yours, except along Portage, is mostly sand. It's all right to spend a vacation on, though it's pretty lonesome, even in summer. I'm afraid you'll be pulling up stakes again pretty soon."

Eddie had a good, sizable jaw he thrust it forward unconsciously as he answered: "Oh, no, we won't. We've decided to locate in the northern part of the state. We haven't seen much of our land, but we like what we've seen. I don't think it's lonesome here—"

He looked doubtfully at Patsy Jane. "Neither do I," she supplemented spiritedly. "I want to stay here. If the farm won't support us, my husband can find something to do, I'm sure. We don't need much."

OAKLAND NEW AMERICAN SIX

WEALTH OF ADVANCED ENGINEERING FEATURES OFFERED IN NEW MODELS LOWER PRICES

Entirely r/w in design—larger, more powerful, more roomy—with a wheelbase of 117 inches, new engine, new chassis, new Fisher bodies, new Duco colors and a host of advanced engineering features—the Oakland All-American Six is being presented throughout the nation this week.

This brilliant, flashing car of sleek greyhound lines is distinctly new—designed from the ground up by the skilled Oakland engineering staff for American standards of reliability, appearance, comfort and performance. Because the line is so thoroughly American in character, designed by American engineers, tested on General Motors' great American proving ground and built by American workmen using American precision methods, it has been called the "All-American Six."

Despite the larger size of the cars, the advanced engineering design and the more luxurious finish, they are offered at new low prices.

The size and low-slung appearance of these cars may be gleaned from the fact that they have an overall length of 175 inches between bumpers, a road clearance of 8 5/8 inches and a height of but 70 inches from the ground to the top of the roof. Although the entire car has been lowered, no head room has been sacrificed in the spacious interior.

The low lines of the car are emphasized by a high, narrow radiator, sweeping full crown fenders, lower running boards, oblong windows, a double row of beading, and especially by larger tires on smaller wheels. Artillery wheels of 19 inch diameter are combined with 29 by 5.50 inch balloon tires. The spokes of the wheels are of larger diameter than used heretofore.

Among the important, new mechanical features are a gasoline pump to supersede the long familiar vacuum tank—a new system of crankcase ventilation to reduce oil changes to a minimum and triple sealed oil protection by gasoline, air and oil filters.

A new and softer acting clutch, a new and smoother transmission, a four bearing crankshaft, a 13-plate battery and new oiling system are among the noted features of the car. Chrome plating, which is non-rusting, preserves the bright finish on the nickel plated radiator shell and rims of head and cowl lamps and on the door handles of the sport models.

The new engine has a displacement of 212 cubic inches and is of the six cylinder L-head type, cast in bloc with the crankcase and cylinder block integral. It has a 3 1/2 inch bore and 4 1/2 inch stroke and develops 60 brake horsepower at 2,800 r. p. m.

Sealman considered without speaking for a time. He spoke slowly: "Well, if that's the way you feel about it I might be able to use you, Forbes. I'm raising a good deal of alfalfa lately. They've taken to feeding sheep and cattle on these barrens. Most of my land's under cultivation. I need a hand—" he stopped. "I tell you. Come over after you've seen about your taxes and made up your mind fully whether you're going to stay."

Society

Bible Class Is Entertained

The Men's Bible Class of the Christian church was entertained with a banquet last Friday evening, given by the women's class, the result of a membership contest which has been running for the past two months.

Short talks were made by Martin T. Pope, pastor of the Christian church, B. B. Kent, and W. T. Fleeson.

Honoring Judge Slay

Jack O. Lusher was host at a dinner in honor of Judge W. F. Slay, Fort Worth, Texas, on last Sunday evening. Those present were Judge W. F. Slay and son, Bill Slay, W. B. LaMaster, R. P. Hurn, R. T. Shindler, Jack O. Lusher, H. W. Lusher, W. T. Fleeson, P. P. Rogers, C. W. Callaway and Van W. Stewart.

Birthday Surprise

Carl Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Carter, northwest of Perryton, was very pleasantly surprised last Friday evening when his brothers, V. C. Carter and family and J. O. Carter and family, Twichell, came in to eat supper and help him celebrate his sixteenth birthday. The evening was spent in visiting and music with Mrs. V. C. Carter at the piano. Little Miss Bernice Eugene Carter sang several songs. The guests left at a late hour, wishing Carl many more happy birthdays.

Home Ec Picnic

The Home Ec girls returned Friday evening from an outing trip to the Palo Duro canyons. They went out Wednesday with the intention of remaining the remainder of the week but the excessive rains caused them to come home earlier. Those making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barlow, Mrs. J. O. Wooten, Kathryn Shearer, Eva Glasgow, Dorothy McLarty, Bessie Littleton, Leah Holland, Mildred Wooten, Merle McLanahan, Louise Brillhart, Evelyn Fulton, Irene Sellers, Velma Glasgow, Beula Crum, LaFenn Wooten, Mattie Maud Guthrie, Kathryn Carpenter, Clara Jacobson, Lalo Belle Barbour, Anna Barlow, Marguerite Razor, Alice Roberts, Odleen Winfrey and Florence McLain.

Witt-Stotts
Miss Wilma Iola Witt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Witt, who live near this city, and Mr. Laverna Stotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orien Stotts of Perryton, sprung a surprise on their many friends on last Saturday afternoon, when they were quietly married by Rev. Martin T. Pope, minister of the Christian church. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Pope.

The bride is a very accomplished young lady and is very popular in the younger set of this community. She has attended Perryton High School and was a Junior last year. She has lived in this county all of her life. Her parents are among our most prosperous and respected citizens. The groom has lived in this city for about a year coming here with his parents from near Liberal, Kansas. He is engaged in the farming business.

They will make their home in this city. Their many friends wish them a long, happy and prosperous married life.

Surprise Party

On Sunday, July 31, a number of neighbors, relatives and friends, with well filled baskets, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hayden, Boyd, Oklahoma. The occasion was a surprise on the family and a house warming. The bountiful dinner was spread picnic style outside in the shade and if one could judge from the plentifulness of said eats one would imagine that old man hard times never visited in that community. The afternoon was spent in hiking and kodaking by the young folks, and by visiting and recalling old times by the older ones.

Those present besides the family were: Miss Fern Basket, Bakersfield, California; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ratslaff and sons; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Watkins and family; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Warns and family; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winter Davis and family; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pyle and family; Mr. and Mrs. Newfield and family; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Prater and daughters; Mr. and Mrs. Doc Gordon and son; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gabler and family; Mr. and Mrs. Huling and family; Mrs. R. C. Nichols and children of Perryton, Texas; Wm. Sword and son of Westfork, Arkansas; Mrs. Fred Whittet and daughter, Liberal, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. I. H.

SPECIAL MUSIC SUNDAY NIGHT

MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS AT METHODIST CHURCH: SERMON BY HUCKABEE

Arrangements have been completed for the appearance at the Methodist church on next Sunday evening of the Perryton Municipal orchestra in a special musical program. The orchestra will be assisted by a large chorus made up of the best singers from the choirs of the Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches. The orchestra and chorus will be under the direction of Geo. L. Hyde, director of the municipal orchestra.

These programs will be rendered at all the churches, the first being at the Methodist, commencing at 8:30 next Sunday evening, as follows:

1. Orchestra — "When Loves Shines In" (Sacred medley overture) by Kirkpatrick.
2. Orchestra and Chorus — "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Al Hayes.
3. Scripture Reading and Prayer.
4. Chorus with Orchestra — "All Hail Immanuel."
5. Offering — Orchestra — "Till We Wear a White Flower for You."
6. Awakening Chorus with Orchestra.
7. Announcements.
8. Sermon by Pastor J. S. Huckabee.
9. Doxology — Chorus and Orchestra.
10. Benediction.
11. Orchestra — "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and God Be With You "Till We Meet Again."

Watch for program for Sunday evening, August 14, in next week's paper.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

"The Mysterious Ways of God" is the subject of the sermon to be preached at the Plainview School, 5 miles north of Perryton, on Sunday afternoon, August 7th. This sermon is based on the words of Joseph as found in Gen. 50:20. "Ye thought evil against me; but God meant it unto good, to bring to pass, as it is this day, to save much people alive."

Our service begins at 3:30 o'clock. Come and bring your friends along. Everybody is welcome.

AUGUST 14, 1927

1 Sam. 2:3-4; 5:1-3; 6:1-15

Book of Samuel records the close of the period of the judges, by which the people were educated for the coming of the Messiah.

It was seen that as he was led by step, he had come to the place where he was to be crowned. He had learned to walk in the way of the Lord in the way of the King.

At the moment he was most needed, the greatest man of that age came into headship over all Israel. Are we ready to walk with God, experience the trials of the wilderness, and even jealous plots against us, in order that we might come into the place of service in God's own time and way?

In no other way may we hope to have God's blessing upon us. The first essential was the restoration of the Ark of the covenant to a fitting place. The Philistines had taken it upon the defeat of Israel, but had dropped it like a hot cake when God began to visit them with disasters. In comparative neglect it had since remained at Kirjathearim, several miles from Jerusalem.

To Jerusalem, which was henceforth to become the royal as well as the holy city, the ark must be brought (2 Sam. 6). With elaborate ceremonies David planned to make this move in order to reinvigorate upon the long forgotten people the solemnity and need of their appointed religious observances. The ark was the symbol of God's presence, as Christ is now to believers the realization of it.

Many another nation has had to learn through bitter experience that it is the recognition of God and regard to religious duty which alone can give value to other reforms, and vitality and permanence to all national institutions.

Was it not to be expected that the devil would be on the job to cause some slip-up in so important a proceeding? Too much haste in the proceedings caused them to fail to notice the simple ordinances of God concerning the bearing of the ark. It was to be carried on the shoulders of the Levites, and not to be touched in any other way (Num. 4:1-15).

Times had changed; why not transport it in a cart? A new cart was made, and hitched to it was a team of oxen, driven by Abinadab's sons. Perhaps the drivers had become a bit too familiar with the ark to give it the reverence which was its due. With banners flying and brass bands playing (2 Sam. 6:5), the parade was proceeding to Jerusalem. Someone got a bit careless, for the ark was about to be jiggled off the cart when Uzzah, one of the sons, grabbed hold of it to steady it. He fell dead instantly (v. 7).

To begin with, they had disregarded the Word of God, and like many a modern church, introduced heathen methods into the doing of God's work. Furthermore, they had lost the reverence due to God in losing all sense of His presence in symbol and ordinance. The wonder of God's grace is that more religious triflers are not struck dead in our days. There can be no doubt that God used the incident to invest Himself and the institutions of worship with a higher sacredness in the minds of the Israelites.

David, true to human nature, was both afraid and displeased that God had made the great occasion a failure. For three months he left the ark in Obed-Edom's house. With all his spiritual training, he dropped to lower ground, as many supposedly devout people have sometimes done, and indulged in hard feelings against God (vs. 9-11).

A few weeks' reflection, however, brought David to his senses. It became known that signal blessings had come upon the whole family of the man who had received and reverently watched over the ark (v. 12). What faith Obed-Edom must have had to take into his house that dreadful ark which David himself feared to harbor! There was one man who would bid God welcome. God will not fail such a man. Never was a man the loser for having the Ark of God in his house.

David came to his senses. We knew he would. A true Christian will not long remain peeved, but will, like David, frankly admit his error and repair it as quickly as possible. And so with a retinue of priests, and the gathering of all Israel, the ark was reverently brought from Obed-Edom's house to the city of David, with great gladness. With one heart and voice, the people rendered praise to the Lord.

The outstanding lesson is that God's Word and work cannot be safely tampered with. We cannot handle the Ark of God as though it were a bag of feed, and hope that God will advance our cause. No speed can be made on Philistine carts. Every household and every church may share a kindred blessing with that bestowed on the family of Obed-Edom, if they will properly regard the authority of His Word and worship him in the way appointed. We are not left to our own choices in such matters.

PITH AND POINT
The only way to walk with the Lord is to talk with the Lord (2:1). We will see farther ahead when we go ahead as far as we see (2:1-2).

GOLDEN TEXT ILLUSTRATION
We shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple (Psa. 65:4). A lady was once speaking in a gathering of friends, of the pleasures of attending the theatre. There was the pleasure of thinking of the scenes to be acted before going. There was the pleasure of witnessing them when there. There was the pleasure of remembering them after they were over. An old man who heard the remarks said: "There is one pleasure you've forgotten." "What is that?" inquired the lady. "The satisfaction of thinking of the theatre when you come to die." How much greater are the pleasures of God's people in going to His house! They have all of the pleasures stated above, and the pleasures of happy reflections in the dying day.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Ochiltree County—Greeting:
You are Herby Comanded to summon J. E. Perry by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 84th Judicial District, but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 84th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Ochiltree County, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Perryton, on the 3rd Monday in October A. D. 1927, the same being the 17th day of October A. D. 1927, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 18th day of July A. D. 1927 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 5, wherein Mavis Perry is Plaintiff, and J. E. Perry is Defendant, and said petition alleging

The plaintiff is and has been a resident of Ochiltree county, for a period of twelve months next preceding the filing of said petition; that the residence of the defendant is unknown; that on or about the 11th day of May A. D. 1927 plaintiff and defendant were legally married to each other in the town of Lipscomb, Texas; that the defendant's name was not J. E. Perry at the time of said marriage but his real name was Lester Caruthers; but as inducement to plaintiff to enter into marital relations with the defendant he represented to her that he had had his name changed by a decree of the proper courts from Lester Caruthers to J. E. Perry and the plaintiff relying on such representations entered into marital relations with said defendant.

Plaintiff lived with defendant until on or about May 21st 1927, when defendant left plaintiff. Plaintiff learned of the misrepresentation since defendant left her; plaintiff further alleges that had she known the facts she would not have entered into marital relations with defendant; plaintiff prays defendant be cited as required by law and upon hearing she have judgment annulling the marriage of the parties hereto; that her maiden name be restored to her and such other and further relief as she may be entitled to, etc.

The petition is signed "Mavis Perry (Nee Boren)", and sworn to before J. M. Bull, a notary public of Ochiltree county, Texas, the 16th day of July 1927.

Herein Fail Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Perryton, Texas, this 20th day of July A. D. 1927.

Announcement OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE Retail Merchants Association

Affiliated With The State and National Association

—Object of this association is to furnish credit protection to all its members and to promote operation for the purpose of creating a business-like and fair system of and for handling of credits, and to eliminate existing trade evils which are detrimental to the merchants and to the buying public.

—To co-operate with other local associations throughout the State whose objects are the betterment of the retail business and promotion of a better understanding between the merchant and his customers.

—To promote a fair and honorable competition between its members, encourage the strict enforcement of all laws and ordinances regulating retail trade, further honest advertising and clean business methods.

—To furnish credit rating on individuals for mutual protection of its members and to keep in operation a reliable credit rating system in charge of a salaried secretary.

This organization has been created in the interest of fair and honorable business dealing in this community. People with honest intentions need not fear its operations since the character of these will only be enhanced in effect. On the other hand, bad traders and those with dishonest intentions to encroach on the good will and liberality of merchants and professional men are to be known as a protection to the merchants. Every worth-while trading center has found it necessary to organize these protective associations. Perryton is now responding to the need. It is sincerely believed that an accompanying effect of the association will be to encourage thrift, industry and more prompt business methods and for these reasons it will prove a splendid public benefit. It should also minimize merchants losses and thus tend to economy.

The RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION has other beneficial features which it will strive to carry out. The "dry," "hot," "cold," or habitual check writer will come under the espionage of the organization and be made responsive to the terms of the stringent Texas bogus check laws. Also its permanent advertising committee will endeavor to protect the community from the pest of fraudulent advertising solicitors and sellers of cheap unwarranted goods.

Do you owe past due accounts? Do you owe notes that have not been renewed? Are you in any manner obligated so that you should have an understanding with a business or professional man who has trusted you?

If so, come in now and make some kind of satisfactory settlement. Pay the accounts up if you can or else pay a part. At least renew your honest notes. There is not any disposition to be hard with any who display honest efforts and earnest intentions.

SHEETS URGES
SMUT TREATING

COUNTY AGENT SAYS SMUT
WILL DAMAGE WHEAT
UNLESS SEED IS TREATED

According to County Agent G. R. Sheets, the climatic conditions and weather this season are especially favorable for the germination of smut spores and unless the seed is treated, Ochiltree County wheat will suffer a heavy loss. The 1927-28 crop is marketed, according to J. H. Wood, manager of the Perryton Wheat Exchange, the wheat was approximately two cents per bushel less than last year. There was some wheat that received a fair average. The two cent dockage was considered a fair average. The cost of treating for smut is small in comparison with the damage that may be done. The wheat is approximately five cents per bushel, but if the farmers would treat their own seed, the cost would be more than half of this, or about two and one-half cents per acre.

Mr. Sheets states, "The annual loss in the United States due to the reduced yield resulting from infection is estimated at 25,000,000 bushels. To these losses must be added the loss due to dockage of the seed, the cost of treating for smut, and the decrease in return from investments in land because of low production or failure of the crop."

The various methods of treating grain may be classified as wet and dry methods. The wet method consists of dipping seeds and grain in a solution of copper carbonate, formaldehyde solution, and hot water treatment. The dry method consists of dusting seeds and grain with various dusts as sulphate, copper carbonate, etc.

The advantages in using dusts are—they are inexpensive; they do not materially effect the germination of the seed; they can be applied at any time prior to planting; and fourth, the application requires but little labor.

Copper carbonate has thus far been the most satisfactory. Two four bracing tablespoonsful (four ounces) are added to a bushel of grain, and the mixture is shaken in a sack, or better, treated for a few minutes in a drum. The seed may then be returned to the bin to be sown at a later time. As copper carbonate is poisonous, great care should be taken so as not to mix seed with other grain for sale for market. The addition of so much dust does not injure germination of the grain but adds to the expense.

The origin of the smut fungus is brown or black spore, so small they are often unnoticed, even present on the surface of the seed in sufficient numbers to cause considerable smut in the field. Under suitable conditions of moisture and temperature the spore germinates in the soil, produces a short tubular plant that a group of slender spores at the tip. The spores borne in this terminal cluster, either develop directly into the young seedling wheat or else they give off still another set of threads from which the infection threads are produced. The infection threads must find wheat seedlings in the proper stage of development in order to gain entrance otherwise these infection threads will die. Therefore the parasite has two chances of producing infection.

"From present indications, the moisture conditions, in this section, will not only be favorable for the germination of wheat but will be exceptionally favorable for the germination and development of the smut spores, therefore, it is advisable for every wheat grower to treat seed wheat by some method."

FAIRVIEW ITEMS

We received a fine rain on the 28th and another on the 1st, so that at last we have a good season in the ground, although it was almost too late for us to make a good crop.

Mrs. C. C. Ragsdale left last Monday for the Rio Grande valley in hopes that the change will be beneficial to her health.

Lonnie Anderson and family moved last Saturday to the old Snider farm where they will make their home for the next year.

J. D. Williams and family were guests in the Henry Tedder home last Sunday.

W. L. Bowen and family, Jim Bond and family and W. L. Collins and family attended the picnic at Range last Sunday.

Harry Barlow and Miss Edna Williams left last Tuesday for Dalhart, Texas, where they were united in marriage. They expect to spend their honeymoon in California.

Roy McLain and Brother Deo are on their way back to Beaver County.

FULTON ITEMS

Mrs. Casdorf visited Mrs. M. Kerns last Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. J. Watson's mother from Dewey County, Okla., is visiting her.

Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding have sold their interests here and moved to Liberal, Kansas. Mrs. Spaulding was formerly Mrs. R. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson and sons, Dewey and Elmer, visited at the home of their son, Jeff Watson, Sunday.

Forty Attend Show

Large Percentage of Members Turn
In Report Books and Attend
Free Show

According to County Agent G. R. Sheets, forty-four of the fifty members of the pig and poultry clubs in the county turned in their report books and received free passes to the matinee held at the American Theatre last Saturday afternoon. About forty of the members were present at the show.

Special music by the Perryton orchestra was played as a prelude to the presentation of the picture, "The Savage," which was greatly enjoyed by the boys and girls present. The show was presented by Managers M. R. Coffey and Carl Ellis in conjunction with the Perryton Chamber of Commerce which organization paid part of the expenses. Mr. Sheets wishes to express his thanks to the parties making the entertainment possible for the club members.

WEEK OF COMEDY AND DRAMA AT AMERICAN

Starting Friday and Saturday with the picturization of Harry Langdon's latest, "Long Pants," the American is featuring a week of comedy and drama. Langdon himself says of his newest release, "It is a tragedy of laughs."

Something distinctly different in westerns is promised in "The Valley of Hell," a romantic drama laid in the southwest of the 1890-70 period which will be shown on Monday and Tuesday. Francis McDonald, boss of the Big Horn Ranch Riders, is the star in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production.

Next Friday and Saturday will be comedy nights again when Charlie Murray and George Sidney with Vera Gordon, Jack Mulhall and Jobyna Balston will play the leading parts in "Sweet Daddies." But there will be no tragedy in this comedy. Sweet romance will take its place, and you will laugh and love through the entire program.

WILLIAMS-BARLOW

Miss Edna Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams, Gray, Okla., and Harry Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barlow, were married last Tuesday, August 2, at Dalhart.

A shower for the bride and bridegroom was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Barlow in Perryton. A number of the young people of Perryton gave the newly married couple a charivari, later in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow will make their home in Perryton. Mr. Barlow is putting out a wheat crop this fall, but intends to live in town.

The many friends of Grandma Elizabeth Cutler will be pleased to hear that she is some better. Mrs. Cutler has been seriously ill at her home in his city for the past few weeks.

ALFALFA ITEMS

Fred Pearn and Mr. Hibbs, Perryton, were visitors in the Moore home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark, parents of Mrs. T. V. Ellzey, and two sisters of
Mrs. Ellzey's, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs.
Ruths and their children who have been visiting here for two weeks, left last Tuesday for their homes in Oklahoma.

On last Tuesday, ten of the neighbors men, most of them with their teams, gathered at the home of Mrs. B. J. Jackson and prepared and planted about forty acres of ground in cane to make feed for the cattle of Mrs. Jackson and her son,
Charles. Mrs. Freeman and Mrs.
Widmer helped the women of the family prepare dinner for the men who worked.

J. H. Callham sold a bunch of yearlings last week to Studer's at Canadian.

Mr. Winfrey, May, Oklahoma, visited last week in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Branham.

A good rain fell Tuesday night which will be of great benefit to growing crops. It was not enough, however to put sufficient moisture in the soil.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jackson were in Oklahoma City, several days last week to consult a specialist.

R. H. Moore Jr., visited Lowell
Rose in the Gilaloo community last Sunday.

Mrs. Mattie Branham and son,
Fred, went to May, Okla., Sunday returning Monday. They went to take Mrs. Branham's father home.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver King visited in the McLanahan home Sunday.

Sam Handley and Ed Paulk have been working some recently on the bridge across Short Array.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stone and children, Higgins, were week end guests in the Mrs. B. J. Jackson home.

On last Sunday, Mrs. B. J. Jackson, Miss Lillie Jackson, and Mr.
and Mrs. Chas. Jackson entertained a number of friends. Ice cream was served in the afternoon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George
Jackson and family, Mr. and Mrs.
Arthur Greer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Cooley and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wright, O. E. Brook, Mr.
and Mrs. Tom Stone and family,
Mr. and Mrs. Ross Purcell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Freeman and family, Dee Eubank, Mr. and Mrs. Shouse and family and Cecil Purcell.

Mrs. G. C. Widmer and little daughter left Saturday for a visit to Mrs. Widmer's old home in Mississippi.

4-Door Sedan (Not a Coach)

Few New Cars Have Received a Welcome so Emphatic and Sincere

As Dodge Brothers expected, this brilliant new Four has instantly won a vast and enthusiastic following—is already a spectacular national hit.

Within two days after the first public showing orders were received for $3,250,000 worth of the new Sedans.

Mile-a-minute performance at this unheard-of price is one striking reason—and here are a few of the others:
From 0 to 25 miles an hour through gears in less than 7 seconds!

Longest springbase of any car under $1000!

25 miles per gallon of gas at 25 miles per hour.

19-foot turning radius!

Chic, smart, up-to-the-minute body lines—fashionable pastel colors!

Plenty of seat-room, leg-room, head-room—a big, luxurious interior, richly upholstered!

Built to last long and re-sell high.

And the lowest priced sedan in Dodge Brothers history.

See it—drive it—and you'll deliberate no longer.

THE AVERAGE FARMER
KNOW YOURSELF, ADD 10
AN EXPENSIVE SPANKING
O. H. KAHN, WISE FATHER

How would you like to be the average American farmer? His farm is 315 acres. His investment $16,308. His average net return for 1926 was $1,133.

He could make more than that driving a street car, getting regular sleep, not worrying about weather, lame horses, sick cows, rust on wheat, bugs on potatoes, blight in the orchards, etc.

The puzzling question is why is a farmer?

More important to millions of Americans, cotton has gone to a new high price for this year, three times on three consecutive days.

When cotton, not long ago, sold at half today's price, this writer said to Mr. Clarence Dillon, ingenious New York financier: "Buy yourself plenty of cotton and you will make a great deal of money."

Dr. Sherman, of Columbia University, shows that man's "vital years" can be increased by the right diet. Efficiency can begin earlier and last longer if men eat enough of the right things. Chemistry applied to diet will soon add ten years to the working period of human life.

Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson, whose conversion of sinners proves her inspired, fights as well as she converts. Her former choir leader, Mr. Nichols, says: "Confess what really happened when you were supposed to be kidnapped." Mrs. Almee Semple replies: "I told the truth, walked in the light, and you are only looking for advertising, which you need." There is nothing like courage to take you through. Mrs. Almee has it.

In Washington, Mrs. Fader spanked her three-year-old son, Bruce, because he would climb the White House iron fence. During the spanking her $3,000 diamond bracelet flew off and was lost. Bruce saw the bracelet in the air but, busy with his spanking, he said nothing. Whipping children causes greater loss than that of any bracelet, when it destroys the child's affection and respect for parents.

Another American, Lieutenant C. C. Champion, Jr., of the Navy, sets another flying mark. He is believed to have broken the world's altitude record.

He fought a temperature of 90 degrees below zero and his plane caught fire. An ambulance rushed to meet him, found him grinning instead of dead as expected.

Our atmosphere is 500 miles high, or deep, so thin that the top that a feather would not float in it.

How high up will men go? Will they be astronomers looking through thinner air at the universe outside of us?

Lieutenant Champion's estimated altitude of 47,000 feet is questioned. He says he will go up again and higher.

Mr. Chamberlin, Atlantic flier, will try something new in commercial shipping-aviation. In a little sport model biplane he will fly from the deck of the steamship Leviathan, showing how passenger and mail transportation can be speeded up by flying from big ships as they near port.

Soon flying machines will cross the ocean more safely than boats do now and in one-fourth of the time. Then a combination steamship and plane will seem strange, but it is a useful transition now.

A wise father lets his son do what he wants, within reason, for what a boy wants to do is usually what he can do best.

One of his boys liked music and wanted to lead a jazz band. Mr. Kahn said: "Go ahead and lead it." He knew the jazz band fit would not last long.

Now, young Mr. Kahn, nineteen years old, has taken to flying, is his own pilot, and skillful. That does not make his father and mother sleep more soundly, probably, but Mr. Kahn says: "Go ahead and fly."

If more Americans with money would let their boys fly—as thousands of normal American boys would like to fly—this country would soon lead the world in aviation.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN

In every great city, small hamlet or town,

As we travel this old sphere up and down,

We find at least one man—in large towns more,

Who of good things to say has an inhausable store.

Yes, he looks over faults and short comings of all,

And says something good or nothing at all;

To slander and gossip he turns a deaf ear,

And only good things he seems to hear;

Yes, he irons out the wrinkles as only he can,

Do you know of whom I speak—

He's the newspaper man.

He boosts every business we have in our town

Good reports he writes up and bad ones turns down;

When folks move or get married, or buy a new liver,

When baby has colic or dad a bad liver,

When ma entertains or son wrecks the car,

Or daughter gives a party for friends near and far,

He includes the whole family in his write-up plan;

How could we get along without "Our" newspaper man?

We may not like his politics, editorials or jokes,

The brand of car he drives or the stogies he smokes;

We may get in arrears with subscription and ads

And when he sends his bill we may get awfully mad;

He seems not to mind, still he boosts, never knocks,

For patience he has got old Job skinned a block.

Yes, he holds up our town the best that he can

So God bless the heart of Our newspaper man!

—W. D. Christopher.

Clubs On Picnic

Members of Pig and Poultry Clubs Picnic on Wolf Creek With Their Friends

The members of the pig and poultry clubs in Ochiltree County, spent all day Wednesday, picnicking on Wolf Creek, at Horse Shoe Bend. Each club member was allowed to bring an invited guest, preferably some boy or girl interested in club work.

G. R. Sheets, county agent, and W. T. Fleeson, secretary-manager of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce, were in charge of the frolic. The Chamber of Commerce served refreshments at the picnic.

Leroy Hartman was in charge of the games. Swimming and wading in the creek was enjoyed by many of those present.

Miss Dorothy Locke came in Sunday from Abilene for a few days visit in the home of Miss Lorene Coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Davis and family and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pennington and family returned home Friday from Weatherford and other Oklahoma points where they have been visiting with relatives and friends. Mr. Davis and Mr. Pennington made the harvest in that section, their families joining them about two weeks ago.

Ice cream, cake and lemonade served on the Methodist church lawn, Friday evening, August 12.

KNOW TEXAS

Texas is free from interruptions in fuel supplies to an extent that no other state enjoys. This is due to its fuel oil, natural gas and lignite that requires little mining.

Texas produces more agricultural values every year than any other state.

Texas stands high in its value of mineral production, being prominent in petroleum and sulphur.

The Texas cotton crop is almost enough to supply the entire continent.

R. V. Sears, Sacramento valley, California, arrived in Perryton the first of the week, to take charge of the repair work for W. H. Dunlavy, in the jewelry store located in the Perryton Drug Company's building.

Mr. Sears is an experienced watch maker and was watch inspector for four railroads before coming to Perryton. He is an expert workman and is promising satisfaction on all repair work. Mr. Dunlavy will devote all of his time to the drug store, being compelled to give up the jewelry repair work because of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chase and family visited relatives at Beaver, Oklahoma, the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garrison and Ray Spout, Shattuck, were here this week. Mr. Stout is an experienced piano tuner.

Don't forget the ice cream social, Friday evening, August 12, on the Methodist church lawn.

Miss Edna Risley, Beaver, Okla., is visiting with Misses Etta Meese and Mabel Phebus of the Perryton Telephone Exchange.

Come and patronize the boys and girls, Friday evening, August 12. They will have ice cream, cake and lemonade for you.

J. O. Wooten, C. B. Barber, J. M. North and P. M. Berry, Waka, have just returned from a two weeks trip to the lower Rio Grande valley where Mr. Wooten and Mr. Barber set out another forty acres of citrus trees. Mr. North and Mr. Berry spent their time sight seeing and visiting the various towns in that vicinity.

Nadine South, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd South, was painfully injured last week when she got a fine piece of steel in her eye, which cut its way into the eyeball.

TWO SIGNIFICANT PANHANDLE MEETINGS

About a score of years ago, the Baptists began to hold special meetings in the interest of the young people. First and oldest of these assemblies is Palacios on Palacios Bay where a large tabernacle and other buildings have been erected and at which place an annual meeting is held. Other assemblies have sprung up until now there are ten or twelve in Texas alone.

One of the youngest of these assemblies, if the Panhandle assembly which has a permanent meeting place at Cota Canyon, twelve miles from Happy, Texas. This canyon is a part of a lateral canyon of the famous Palo Duro and its natural scenery is very picturesque. A large tabernacle has been erected and dam built across the creek to provide a place for swimming and fishing. A number of other buildings have been added for the convenience and comfort of the people who attend this assembly.

The next annual session of the Panhandle assembly will be held this month from August 15 to 21. A fine group of speakers and teachers has been secured. This promises to be one of the best if not the best session of the assembly thus far.

A New Car Built for American Use and Sold at an American Price

Open American roads—congested American streets—towering American hills—trails deep with American sand.

Oakland engineers had them all in mind when they designed the new All-American Six—when they gave it hurricane power and never-failing reliability—when they made it a car for the world to admire.

New bodies by Fisher—fashionably smart—longer, lower and reflecting the best American traditions of motor car beauty.

In the new chassis—new length and strength from a longer, deeper frame—new comfort and high-speed roadability from a longer wheelbase (117") and a lower center of gravity.

And the engine—the largest used in any car of Oakland's price! 212 cubic inches displacement—a 78½-lb. crankshaft—bridge truss crankcase construction for rigidity.

The Leading Characters

EDISON FORBES, a young resident of Scottdale with an inherent craving for liquor, is held for the death of a woman who has been killed by a bootlegging truck. Circumstantial evidence points to Forbes and rather than tell the truth of the episode, which would clear him but cast another friend in a bad light, he stands trial and is sentenced to a long term in prison. The governor of the state, an old friend of Eddie's father, believes him innocent and pardons him shortly after his arrival at the jail. Back in Scottdale he and SCOTTS LIBBEY, a worthless character, who has smashed his machine into another car, killing its lone occupant, a woman, Forbes' companion and Libbey quit the scene hurriedly, leaving the former alone to face a constable who reasons that Eddie, with the scent of whiskey about him, must be connected in some way with the accident. Accordingly, Forbes is arrested.

PATSY JANE, Eddie's pretty wife, agrees that public sentiment runs too high against him. Accordingly they migrate up north to some land that has been in the family for years. Settled in their log cabin

ISAIAH SEALMAN, a neighbor, pays the Forbes a visit and intimates that there are some back taxes for the young couple to pay. Sealman offers to give Eddie a job after he does down to Long Portage, a nearby town, and learns about the taxes.

CHAPTER VII Bad News

Eddie looked after him with wrinkled brows when Sealman struck off to the northwest. "Wonder what he means about taxes, Pat?" he mused. "They can't be so much can they—Who'd have the nerve to tax this stuff?" He pointed out to the rolling acres that flowed by their door from nearly every direction. It was innocent of vegetation except sparse, laggard sweetfern and bracken just peeping through the thin, old stalks, stunted, scattered jack pine; and the occasional jagged shell of a lone pine of some size, blackened by repeated fires.

"I don't know, Eddie. Let's drive downtown tomorrow and find out."

They slept soundly that night. The bedroom contained an iron bedstead, stout and serviceable. Equipped with their camping bedroll, it served admirably. After breakfast they went out for a survey of the quarter section.

It was an oblong, the longer dimensions from north to south. It had once been fenced. But many of the posts were missing now, and the barbed wire, rusty and snarled, lay on the ground or trailed forlornly. The land sloped from the north and west. It was bisected by a brisk stream, Portage Creek, which curled over stones, a novelty in the jack pine country, where there is very little rock foundation. Willows grew thickly along the stream and there was an occasional strong young hardwood.

The banks of the stream were very steep and precipitous, capable of holding no more water than flowed between them, even in freshet time. Not far from the southwest corner of the property was a curious mound. It rose abruptly from the plain to a height of perhaps eighty feet. It was as large as a city block at the top, a rough oval in shape.

The sides and top were clothed in a mat of thick, luxuriant old grass through which the new spears were shooting. It was interspersed with stout trees and bushes. "That's a queer thing," commented Eddie, when they had stopped to survey it. "Wonder what it is—Indian burying ground? There were lots of redskins around here in the old days."

"Would the Indians heap earth up so high?" queried Patsy Jane. "It might be relic of the Mound Builders."

They followed a path which was fed by many branches, and which completely surrounded the mound. On the south side of the great heap of earth was a bare space, like a scar. The exposed earth was varicolored. There were streaks of yellowish-brown, of chalky white, and dark purple. These were accompanied and bisected by thinner, semi-transparent veins of a quartz-like substance that sparkled dully in the sunlight. He stepped closer and sniffed. "Smell anything,

Pat?"

Her little nose was wrinkled perplexedly. "Yes; that earth smells—smells sour."

"That's it," he nodded. "Sour makes you think of the way salt would smell."

There was a trail following the easiest grade which surmounted the knoll. "Bet it was made by deer," said Eddie. "Gee, you get a fine view up here!"

Bare spots were visible on the top of the knoll. The sod had been scraped away, and the subsurface was crystalline and white as snow. He broke off some of the crystals with his heel and tasted it cautiously. It was salt. "Sure," he said; "this is a deerlick. The deer love salt, just like cattle. They'll travel miles to get it. Ought to be some hunting up here in the season, though of course it's pretty close to the house."

They looked for miles over undulating stretches of wilderness. It was as though they were standing in the bottom of a great cup, for on every horizon, soft hills rose, green when not too far away, purple with added distance. The stream with its thicker vegetation, was a slender green slash which ran into the picture from the far north and disappeared in the south. Patsy Jane sighed with satisfaction. "It's wonderful up here, Eddie," she breathed. "So still, so peaceful, so unspoiled. Let's stay forever."

He put his arm about her. "All right," he agreed. "Only we can't live on green grass and scenery. I'll have to find something to do you know, to help out the trout we catch."

"Oh, you will," returned his wife, optimistically. "Why, Mr. Sealman has offered you a job already."

"Uh-huh," he grunted. "And I may take it. Though I'm not crazy about Sealman. He's sort of—well what you might call slick, Pat."

They resumed their inspection. They found that the road from Long Portage flanked the south line of Sealman's place, cut through their own property near the center, and crossed the creek not far from their front door. The high banks were notched at this point so the road might descend to the water level. There was no bridge. "Must be other settlers beyond," surmised Eddie. "Lake Huron isn't a great many miles over there to the east."

Another road came down from the north close to the water's edge, joining the main east and west highway at the crossing of the stream. "Looks as though there was some travel on that, too," he continued. "We seem to have a corner on the main trails. This one must go north till it hits the lake. Remember on the map how Huron cuts in sharply just above us?"

The drive to the village was swift and pleasant. There were few grades. The sands which later in the summer would be powdery and hard to negotiate, was firm and damp, brown. It made an ideal roadbed. The flivver skimmed about the myriad curves at a smart pace.

Portage country had recently invested in a combined courthouse, jail and office-building. It was an ambitious two-story building of red brick. The population was sparse, and one office housed three departments—clerk, treasurer and register of deeds. Peter Wimple held all titles and transacted all the business. He was a fat man who, in anticipation of summer had already donned a black alpaca coat.

"The Forbes' quarter-section?" he echoed to Eddie's question. "Oh yes; that's over east here, near Sealman's." He waddled to a large canvas-jacketed book and made some figures, which he checked in a slimmer volume of red leather.

"Your property's had a couple tax-plasters put on it," he announced. "Certificates are held by Marcus Brower, of Chicago. Year of grace pretty near up. Want to pay now?"

"No," answered Eddie apologetically. "How much time have I?" "Oh, about five months—until the first of September. Then if you don't pay up he takes title."

"How much do I owe, altogether?" "The fat man figured. "Eight hundred and ninety-seven dollars and ninety-three cents. That's everything that's overdue, and the penalties he can collect. They're heavy."

There was a moment of stunned silence. "This Mr. Brower," ventured Eddie. "Who is he and what's his idea of bidding it in?" "Well, he's a rich man. I think he wants to get a big block of stuff back there as a reserve for fish and game. I'm his agent for this county. You can pay me the back-taxes when you get the money."

CHAPTER VIII The Old Curse

A soberness which was almost gloom encompassed the little car as they drove homeward. They had gone several miles before Eddie broke the silence. "Eight hundred dollars, Pat. That's a lot of money."

"I know it," agreed Patsy Jane, gravely. "We've got about sixty," he went on, with a rueful smile. "This car is worth mighty little. All our belongings wouldn't bring much."

"The land itself, Eddie. Couldn't we sell part of it and pay off the taxes?"

He shook his head. "It's a dozen miles from town and the railroad. If it were worth much for farming purposes, which it isn't. There are some jackpines which would produce railroad ties and fenceposts, only they'd bankrupt you, getting them to market. Some sportsman might like it well enough to buy it as a summer home, or for the deer season. But he wouldn't give you a great deal for the whole thing, the house included."

"Oh, dear!" mourned Patsy Jane. "I don't want to sell the whole thing. I want it, I want it! I'm just crazy to live here!"

"So am I, Pat. Well, maybe we can make the rifle. I'll get a job and we'll pinch and squeeze. That won't be very pleasant."

"I don't care," returned Pat, sturdily. "This place is worth sacrificing for."

A fine, insistent rain was falling next morning when they awoke and there was a chill in the air which seemed to penetrate the marrow. The jackpine wilderness looked particularly desolate and forbidding, as though it were sufficient unto itself in its inhospitability, and resented the human beings who attempted to live within it.

Eddie had dragged several blackened logs into the woodshed the previous day, and after breakfast he attacked them with axe and bucksaw, until the pile of billets of stove-length grew to respectable proportions.

Patsy Jane sang lightheartedly within the house as she arranged and rearranged the scant furniture, and swept and scrubbed. But a reaction had set in with her husband. He felt depressed and shivery. He was homesick for Scottsdale, Scottdale the ungoverned, the narrow and unkind, which had convicted him even before the jury had. From a distance of some hundreds of miles the little town had taken on endearing and desirable qualities. He wanted to go back where he could see familiar faces, even though they were turned from him, cold with disapproval.

He worked doggedly away, hoping that the mood would pass, while the rain drummed monotonously away on the leaky roof of the log woodshed. It was apologetic noon when he heard the exhaust of a heavily-laden vehicle on the north and south road; and later, voices.

When the voices persisted he went out to investigate. A big truck from the north had attempted to make the turn out of the sunken road into the Long Prairie highway. But there was muck instead of sand for a footing near the creek and muck squashed treacherously under moisture. One of the rear wheels had sunk to the hub.

The two burly, hard faced men in short, waterproofed coats; the tarpaulined truck, the bulge at the hip of each of the truck attendants—all these were easily-read signs. This was a booze-truck. Apparently the main line of entrance from Canada ran past his very door.

"Want some help?" he asked, with a smile. They looked up suspiciously, but his friendliness disarmed them, and they accepted briefly his proffer. He welcomed the break in the day's monotony. They cut a stout sapling for a lever; rolled a fire-blackened stub beneath the sunken hub for a fulcrum; and paved the truck's path way to firm ground with bits of wood. Within a few minutes the truck, barking with deep exhausts, rolled out of the bog.

Once on a safe footing the driver brought the vehicle to a halt. The guard, who had been working with Eddie, went forward. After a little low-toned conversation with his companion, he thrust his hand under the seat and brought forth a bottle of liquor.

"Much obliged, kid," he said, gruffly. "Have a little drink on us. And say: Just forget you saw us. Hey?"

Eddie stood looking at the bottle in his hand. His first impulse was to smash it on a nearby rock. He raised his arm, in fact, to do so. Then he temporized. Of course, he wasn't going to drink any of it. Though a nip on a bleak and dreary day like this would help. But he'd hide it. Maybe someone else would need a drink pretty badly, sometime.

His thoughts were not very clear, except that he would keep the liquor for the present. He went upstream a short distance, looking for a niche in which to hide it. He found a narrow opening under a rock which jutted out from the bank of the stream. He thrust in his arm; the hole went back for a considerable distance. He pushed the bottle into it as far as he could reach, and went home to dinner.

The devil of restlessness and homesickness was not exorcised by the tempting meal which Patsy Jane had prepared. The warm kitchen fire and the crackling pine knots and splinters in the fireplace could not banish the clammy dew which the rain drumming on the windowpanes seemed to distill in his heart.

"Guess I'll run over and see man," he said, when the dusk been washed and put away, to go along, Pat?"

She looked out at the pelting and shook her head. "I'll be riotous afternoon with those azzines we bought yesterday told him.

Waterproofed and hooded stepped out the back door through the fields toward man's. It was not unpleasant sand was drinking up the it fell. The brown surface firm and springy. Exercise off the chill.

Sealman's double log house pretentious. His barn, not large, sheltered considerable. There were implements of long shed, open along the which adjoined the barn, from his own line fence Eddie seen that the soil was clay and heavier, because of nature compared favorably with of the rich agricultural southern Michigan.
