Police Subdue Brooklyn Rioter

Mayor Fails To Quell Rioters

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro rioting and looting and police gunfire erupted again during the night despite a broadcast by Mayor Robert F. Wagner for peace and order.

Police shot and wounded three Negroes and arrested 122 in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn in the fifth straight night of disorders in the city.

Police said about 200 store windows were smashed during the night in the section, raising the total to nearly 500 in the city.

The trouble broke out in Harlem Saturday night after a white police lieutenant fatally shot a 15-year-old Negro boy last Thursday. The lieutenant said the youth was coming at him with a knife. The disorders have centered for the past two nights in the predominantly Negro Bedford - Stuyvesant district.

Wagner, who cut short a European trip, went on radio and television and said continued disorders could set back Negro and civil rights programs for half a century.

"Law and order are the Negro's best friend—make no mistake about that," he said. "The opposite of law and order is mob rule, and that is the way of the Ku Klux Klan and the night riders and the lynch mobs."

Some 150 Negro leaders in a rare display of unity among their various factions demanded the immediate ouster of Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Wagner, in his speech, expressed "complete confidence" in Murphy, a former beat patrolman who obtained a law degree before advancing to his $35,000 a year post.

In Washington, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, a Harlem Negro Democrat, said the violence represented "the built-in, continuing resentment of the black people of the black ghetto of New York" against police policies.

He said the violence could be "ended before the sun goes down" if Wagner would: set up a non-police board to review charges of police brutality; assign a Negro police captain to the troubled Harlem precinct; suspend Lt. James R. Gilligan, who shot the Negro youth; expand the jurisdiction of grand juries to include "misuse of police authority" and stop assigning rookie policemen to Harlem.

A grand jury is investigating the shooting by Gilligan.

Negro Harlem has a population of some 300,000.

Police headquarters gave these figures on the five days of disorders:

Harlem—1 dead, 118 injured (82 civilians, 36 policemen), 202 arrested and 117 property damage incidents.

Bedford-Stuyvesant—no dead, 16 injured (6 civilians, 10 policemen). 227 arrested, 371 property damage incidents.

POLICE CHARGE

In Manhattan, 500 white teenagers pelted Negro demonstrators outside police headquarters. A police charge broke up the mob.

Harlem, however, was quiet—even quieter than on a normal summer Wednesday night, police said.

There were no riot arrests. No police shots were fired. No streets were sealed off in the nation's largest Negro community, where violence had flared for four nights in a row following the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy by a white police lieutenant.

Seventy-six Negroes were arrested Wednesday night and early today in Brooklyn's predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section. Charges included felonious assault, looting from stores whose windows were smashed and disorderly conduct.

Many in the Brooklyn crowds headed for home or other shelter when rain started late in the night.

COMMUNISTS

Wagner later told newsmen that there is "some evidence" of Communist instigation of the racial rioting.

A jeering crowd of 500 white teenagers threw eggs, bottles, stones and tin cans at about 200 Negro pickets outside city police headquarters in Manhattan Wednesday night.

A half-dozen pickets—allied with the Congress of Racial Equality— were hit by eggs.

The white teenagers, who apparently were from the Italian-American neighborhood around police headquarters, shouted "Niggers go home" and "Communists must go."

Firecrackers popped at various spots in the neighborhood, adding to the tension.

Helmeted police, waving night sticks, charged the white teenagers. Other policemen escorted the Negro pickets to a subway station three blocks away.

Poor Bill Seeks South's Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders drove for Senate passage of President Johnson's $962.5-million antipoverty bill today after accepting a state's rights amendment they hoped would pick up support from Southern Democrats.

The bill has come under heavy attack from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee. He has called it a backward-looking hodgepodge with "the single objective of securing votes."

Goldwater was not on hand when the Senate opened debate on the bill Wednesday. The fight against it was led by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., who had joined Goldwater earlier in denouncing the measure in a minority report from the Labor Committee.

The extent, if any, to which Goldwater was going to mix in the debate was uncertain. He was to return to the Senate chamber today for the first time since his nomination and his GOP colleagues planned a round of welcoming speeches.

Under an agreement reached Wednesday to limit debate on the bill and its amendments, Democratic leaders expressed confidence the measure would be passed and sent to the House late in the day.

One move bolstering their hopes was the approval by voice vote of an amendment by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to prohibit the establishment of youth camps in any state without the consent of that state's governor.

A major feature of the legislation is authority to establish a job corps to provide education, work experience and vocational training for young people age 16 to 21, in conservation camps and residential centers.

An enrollment of 40,000 is planned for the first year with 100,000 the next.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, said he was willing with "some reluctance" to accept Smathers' amendment.

He also accepted an amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., designed to bar politics from the job corps program. McNamara said he was sure the intent of Prouty's amendment would have been carried out anyway.

Besides the job corps, the measure would provide work-study programs for young people, adult education and training among a variety of community action projects, federal grants and loans to help impoverished rural families, aid for migrant farmworkers and special loans for small business.

Vietnamese Parley Asked By De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle proposed today a four-power parley for the settlement of the Vietnamese conflict and the future status of the whole Indochinese Peninsula.

Speaking to his semi-annual news conference in Elysee Palace, the President said the big nations with a direct responsibility for the fate of Viet Nam should meet to settle the nation's difficulties.

He said these nations were the United States, Red China, the Soviet Union and France.

De Gaulle said they should agree on peace conditions for Viet Nam, then join in a massive reconstruction program for the states of former French Indochina, including Cambodia and Laos.

HAVE CHANGED

Before speaking about Indochina, President de Gaulle declared that "things have changed" and the United States no longer directly or indirectly runs the affairs of the Western world and that the grip of the Soviet Union on the Communist world is weakening.

Concerning Indochina, which France lost a decade ago, the President said a military solution in Viet Nam is impossible and that the big powers should guarantee peace in the area.

This implied a joint guarantee of neutrality for the two Viet Nams, Cambodia and Laos. It simply reiterated a policy De Gaulle first enunciated last August.

The president said that France only wants peace in the area, "and the sooner the better."

The president said the United States obviously could carry the war to North Viet Nam if it wished, but it would be difficult for Washington to assume responsibility for the danger of an enormous generalized conflict.

LESS WILLING

De Gaulle asserted that the South Vietnamese population seems less and less willing to support a cause which seems to them that of a foreign power, regardless of the people's opinion of communism.

De Gaulle noted that former President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam had placed himself "in Washington's orbit," only to see his policies become more unpopular. Finally, the United States began to mistrust Diem, De Gaulle said, and added that Diem had been overthrown and slain, and that still another coup d'etat erupted in Saigon later.

The president also declared that the post war era of U.S. dominance in the West has ended.

Parts Of County Get Badly Needed Rains

Showers of sharply varied intensity, accompanied in some instances by stiff winds and hail, brought badly needed moisture to some drouth stricken Howard County areas late Wednesday and left others as thirsty and parched as ever.

Hail, wind and hard rain struck a restricted area, near Lomax causing crop damage and according to Mrs. S. R. Parum, overturning a small barn and uprooting a few trees. Arthur Stallings said that he got as much as two inches on some of his land, but that between 40 and 50 acres of his cotton had been badly battered by small hail driven by a high wind. Other farmers who reported damage in the area were Wiley Williams and E. W. Lomax. Williams' crops were reported to have been the worst battered.

Indicative of how spotty the rains were, Elbow had only .10 inch and Lees on the Glasscock County-Howard County border, had only dust. No rain fell at either Forsan or Chalk. Moss Creek gauged only .10 and Coahoma reported just a trace.

Fern Cox, who lives southeast of town in the general area of Big Spring Country Club, had .60 inch and rains in town varied from sprinkles to as much as .59 inch at the U.S. Experiment Station. Over town as a whole, it is doubtful if the average fall was as much as a quarter inch.

Sand Springs got half an inch and L. J. Davidson, who lives in the Center Point community, had 1.10. He said he heard farms north and east of him got even more.

Fairview, north of town, had .70. There were reports of good rains all over the Luther Community with 1.80 inch reported on some farms.

At Ackerly, an inch was gauged in town but to the east a short distance, only half an inch was reported. At Knott, the rain was measured at .20 inch.

Vincent, in the extreme northeast corner of the county, had half an inch and the W. L. Wilson Ranch in Howard County reported only .10 inch fell. On the Wilson ranch in Borden County, .30 inch was gauged. Vealmoor reported .50 inch.

Leland Wallace Ranch, which is nine miles northeast of town, had .50 on part of its spread and .40 inch on the eastern portion.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that he had not had a chance to check all of the area, but that "any rain at this season is good and the bigger the rain, the more good it will do." He said that showers will help temporarily and that, if more rain comes, the situation will be much benefitted. Where the crops got as much as an inch or more, material help to the late cotton will result.

Here in town, gauges at Howard County Junior College showed .30; those in College Park .35, and in Kentwood .20.

On this same date in 1902, the total rain gauged in Big Spring was 4.38 inches, weather records show.

Third, Fourth Streets To Get A New Topping

Third and Fourth streets, from the eastern boundary to the western edge of the city, are to be given a new hot mix topping starting next week, Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the Texas State Highway Department, said Wednesday.

Austin-Worth Construction Co., Fort Worth, subcontracting the job from J. H. Strain of Tye, will move on the job within the next few days. Work will start on Third Street at Union Street and the first six-block segment will terminate at Benton. Moving eastward in six-block units, the contractor will push through the full 4.039 miles to the point where Third and Fourth streets merge with the new IS 20 bypass route.

The contract calls for the expenditure of $110,000 and will take five to six weeks to complete.

When Third Street has been finished, the contractor will reverse himself and proceed eastward in the same manner on Fourth Street.

Plans are for the workers to apply the topping to one half of the street in each six-block segment, which will permit the flow of traffic on the opposite side. When that strip has been completed, it will be opened to the traffic and the other half topped.

Smoot said that the project will be moved as rapidly as possible and everything done to prevent any tie-up of downtown traffic. Some problem with parallel parking on both Third and Fourth in the business section may develop, he said, but every effort will be made to keep the streets as useable at all times as possible.

The hot mix will come from the plant which has been set up at the Janes Sand and Gravel pits, near Moss Creek. The mix will be hauled 13 miles to the job.

This same contractor blacktopped the east leg of the IS 20 bypass. Work of topping that strip has been completed.

At a conference with the State Highway Department and the contractor Tuesday, Roger Bailey was announced as Austin-Worth job superintendent. Representatives of the city attended the meeting to discuss traffic problems which may ensue from the project.

Razed By Fire

UVALDE (AP)—Fire destroyed the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. here Wednesday and an official estimated the damage at $100,000.

Diplomatic, Trade Ban Seems Sure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Inter-American foreign ministers conference headed for a final showdown today with a majority reportedly already decided to vote for a diplomatic and trade quarantine on Cuba.

All six foreign ministers who addressed the conference Wednesday supported Venezuela's demand for a stiff penalty on the Fidel Castro regime for subversion in Venezuela.

Mexico and Chile are expected to oppose the mandatory break in relations, but they are given little chance to change the indicated position of most of the conferees.

COMPROMISE

Brazil continued efforts to find a compromise solution to avoid a split with Mexico and Chile while satisfying most other member nations.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked the conference Wednesday to impose sanctions on Cuba, and urged a warning to the Castro regime that "the full weight of the regional security system will be applied" if it persists in subversion.

Rusk also called on the Free World countries to "take appropriate steps in the field of trade with Cuba." The United States has had only partial success in its own efforts to persuade its allies to cut off their trade with Cuba.

In his speech, Rusk did not spell out the sanctions he proposed, but the foreign ministers have before them a resolution calling for all members of the Organization of American States to break diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba.

Venezuela Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren Borges, in presenting his country's case, said, "The destiny of our organization depends upon the decision adopted here."

ALL MEASURES

He called for the application of all measures under the Inter-American Treaty of Mutual Assistance "with the exception of the use of armed force."

Foreign Minister Daniel Oduber of Costa Rica told the conference, "Aggression by Cuba against Venezuela has been proven. We have now to decide if there is an inter-American law or if we are afraid to act."

Ecuador Foreign Minister Gonzalo Escudero said the conference "has the undeniable mission to sanction an aggressor which is violating the inter-American law and has become a danger to all the Latin-American countries."

Jorge Fidel Duron, foreign minister of Honduras, appealed for sanctions on Cuba. Otherwise, he said, "The inter-American community would prove to be of no use."

Space Glider Passes Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —While experts assessed the results of a sucessful space glider test, another launch team today prepared the Ranger 7 spacecraft for a shot at the moon on Monday.

A delta-winged Project Asset craft survived a fiery 12,000-mile an hour ballistic flight from Cape Kennedy Wednesday in a test of materials for maneuverable manned vehicles of the future.

After the scorching 25-minute dive through the atmosphere, Asset parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 1,650 miles southeast of here and was kept afloat by inflatable bags.

Four paradivers from the Air Rescue Service jumped into the sea and secured the craft for a recovery ship. Then they climbed into air-dropped life rafts and baby-sat with the payload for nearly 10 hours until the range vessel Coastal Sentry reached the scene.

The winged craft will be flown later this week to the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, for study by the engineers who developed it.

Federal Decision Backs First Civil Rights Test

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Owners of a restaurant and a motel are preparing to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the landmark decision by a three-judge federal court upholding constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

"I think justice will prevail and we will be given a favorable verdict by the Supreme Court," said Lester Maddox, proprietor of the Pickrick Restaurant.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., head of the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp., said he would abide by the order but would appeal immediately.

The men commented Wednesday shortly after the judges issued injunctions against their establishments in the first two court tests of the new law.

The effective date of the injunctions was delayed until Aug. 11 to allow time for appeals.

Rolleston filed suit against the government to block enforcement of the law within two hours after it was signed on July 2 by President Johnson.

Maddox was sued by three Negroes he chased from his restaurant at gunpoint on July 3. The Negroes later were joined by the Justice Department.

Both suits questioned the constitutionality of the public accommodations sections of the law.

Basic arguments in each case hinged on whether Congress had constitutional authority to enact the law. The court disposed of this issue before ruling on the law's application.

The decisions were handed down by Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and District Judges Lewis R. Morgan and Frank A. Hooper.

They said that motels and restaurants offering to serve interstate travelers can be brought under interstate commerce regulations as the act directs, and therefore cannot discriminate against Negroes.

"It is clear that the definition includes the Pickrick," the court held. "This is the limit of the case. Congress had the power to go this far."

All three judges concurred in both injunctions.

In a special concurring opinion, Hooper said it appeared that the Pickrick came within the law since it offered to serve interstate travelers by virtue of its location and a sign on a major route.

However, Hooper added: "The majority opinion rules in effect that segregation in this particular restaurant affects commerce because of the fact that a substantial portion of the food which it serves has moved in commerce."

In the motel decision, the court held there was no need to justify the outlawing of discrimination on the ground that the business is actually in the stream of commerce.

Water Usage Shows Decline

The late - afternoon rains Wednesday contributed to a drop in water usage in Big Spring of some one million gallons under the total for Tuesday.

The city received 10,062,000 gallons from the Colorado River Municipal Water District Wednesday, after a 11,994,000 gallon usage Tuesday.

The city treatment plant pumped 7,128,000 gallons received from normal sources, in addition to 588,000 gallons pumped from the Glasscock County wells. The wells were not put into use today, but may again be called on next week, according to CRMWD officials.

Odessa received 20,191,000 gallons from the district Wednesday and Snyder 4,199,000 gallons.

Vandals Cause House Damage

Vandals have caused several hundred dollars damage to a vacant house in the 2300 block of Brent within the past few days, according to police.

Melvin Daratt, police patrolman who investigated the complaint, said the latest damage, which probably occurred over the weekend, was burning a rug in the house. Daratt said vandals also knocked holes in the inside walls and broke mirrors. A sliding glass door at the rear of the house was shattered with pellett guns.

The damage was reported by E. C. Smith Construction Co., builders of the house. The house is incomplete, but was to have been ready to show about the first of August.

Whoever caused the damage forced a lock on the back door for entry, Daratt said.

In other police activity, someone forced entry through a back door into Zora's Cafe, 1100 Lamesa Highway, Wednesday night, and removed 11 cases of beer and an undetermined amount of money, according to police. They said the money was taken from a cigarette machine.

City Still Looks For Engineer

Several applications have been received in past months for the position of city engineer, which has been unfilled since May of last year.

No action has been taken to fill the post, according to City Manager Larry Crow, other than consideration given to applications in respect to qualifications.

Crow said the city basically needs a registered professional engineer or an engineer who can become registered, as well as a man having a background in construction or municipal engineering work.

"While we consider it desirable to complete the staff, we are not under any immediate need to fill the post," Crow said.

The position has a salary of $7,800 per year. It became vacant when the former director of public works, Bruce Dunn, resigned last year and Ernest Lillard, then city engineer, was promoted to director.

Crow Speaks To Downtown Lions

One of the greatest problems of municipal government is that of business, Larry Crow, city manager, told the Downtown Lions Wednesday at the Settles.

It is now to offer increased services at little or no increase in costs. In a growing situation, more people and more demands for service make some increases inevitable, said the manager. However, job analysis, more efficient methods, more modern equipment all have helped the city here hold the line remarkably well.

In this respect, he noted that the job analysis of the recent job-pay survey report was in reality more important in the long run than the suggested pay scales. He cited one example of how a change in operating procedure had pointed to a potential $10,000 per annum saving.

Death Toll Climbs To 18 In Malay-Chinese Rioting

SINGAPORE (AP)—Chinese and Malays poured into the streets of Singapore for more racial battles today, pushing the official death toll to 18 since communal rioting began Tuesday night.

Hospitals reported 65 more injured were brought in after four hours of serious clashes, most of them during a morning break in the curfew to allow people to buy food.

Conflicting official reports of the total number of injured in the battling ranged from 192 to more than 300.

Police, riot units and troops had hauled in 1,038 persons on curfew violation charges and another 195 were charged with unlawful assembly or rioting.

A federal police spokesman in Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, said although the situation continued serious in Singapore, the rioting had not spread to other parts of Malaysia.

Chinese who had set up their own vigilante force in one village area on the outskirts grabbed a Malay cyclist and beat him senseless.

Three miles from the center of the city a group of Malays beat up a Chinese youth, while another group of Malays tried to loot a Chinese goldsmith's shop. Club-wielding police scattered the Malays.

More than 6,000 police and troops are patrolling the island.

The rioting began Tuesday night during a procession by 25,000 Malays marching in honor of the Prophet Mohammed's birthday. The Chinese outnumber the Malays more than 5-to-1 in Singapore, but the Malays dominate the government of Malaysia, of which Singapore is a member.

Two international airlines canceled their flights to Singapore. Security precautions at the airport were tightened to prevent any incident to persons using carriers still flying.

Pan American World Airways stopped a flight from the U.S. West Coast at Saigon. A Japan Airlines plane from Jakarta overflew Singapore en route to Bangkok.

Schiol children got a break. The Education Department announced that schools will close immediately for the one-month summer vacation, a week ahead of schedule.

Three Mishaps Are Reported

Police investigated three motor vehicle accidents Wednesday including one involving a motorist who fled the scene of a mishap.

Police said an unidentified motorist departed after being involved in a collision with the parked car of Wendal Parks, 1757 Purdue, at the Holiday Inn parking lot about 10:40 p.m. Wednesday. Damage to Parks' car was estimated at $150.

The car of Liandro Valencia, 306 NW 11th, slipped from its handbrake at Northwest Fourth and Gregg about 1:30 p.m. Police said the vehicle collided with a utility pole. Damage to the car was estimated at $225.

The third mishap occurred at Fourteenth and Gregg about 1 p.m. Involved were William Lacy, Hart, and Ruby Brooks, Vincent Route, Coahoma. Damage to the Lacy car was estimated at $225, and damage to the other vehicle was set at $10.

Webb Trainer Scores Another Milestone Here

The 250,000th flying hour by supersonic T-38 trainers assigned to Air Training Command was recorded this morning during a flight of one of the trainers from Webb Air Force Base.

The T-38 Talons, first supersonic aircraft ever used by the Air Force in basic flying training, were introduced to student pilots early in 1962. Webb AFB was the first ATC undergraduate pilot training base to receive the Talons.

At the dual controls of the 850 m.p.h. T-38 when the 250,000th flying hour was attained were Maj. Gen. Neil D. Van Sickle, ATC's Deputy Chief of Staff for Flying Training, and 2nd Lt. James L. Jamerson, student pilot of Class 65-A of the 3561st Student Squadron, Webb AFB. Lt. Jamerson, a graduate of the Air Force Academy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Jamerson, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Flying safety record of the T-38's recently was credited by ATC in stepping up its program to equip undergraduate pilot training bases with the supersonic trainers a year ahead of schedule.

Original planning had scheduled use of the T-38's at each of ATC's eight UPT bases by mid-1966. This will be accomplished by mid-1965.

UPT bases now using the T-38's in basic flying training are Webb and Reese AFB's in Texas; Williams AFB, Ariz.; Vance AFB, Okla., and Moody AFB, Ga.

Laughlin and Laredo AFB's in Texas will be the next UPT bases to phase the T-38's into their student pilot flying training programs and ATC's Craig AFB, Ala., is scheduled to have the supersonic trainers by mid-1965.

ATC also uses the T-38's at Randolph AFB, in pilot instructor and instrument pilot instructor training.

More than 400 Talons now are assigned to ATC with 640 scheduled to be assigned by mid-1965.

Col. A. F. Taute, Webb's Wing Commander, greeted Maj. Gen. Van Sickle upon his arrival at Webb Air Force Base this morning, and then escorted the general to a short pre-flight briefing.

Large Portion For Education

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas devotes a larger share of its resources to support of public education than most states to accommodate recent enrollment increases, tax analysts believe.

The committee for state and local tax policy said in a report on public school finance and tax policy in Texas that postwar increases in school enrollment have been substantially greater for Texas than for the nation as a whole.

Despite the bigger enrollment, per pupil expenditures for current operating expenses increased the same as per pupil expenditures in other states, the committee said.

On actual dollar basis, the per pupil expenditure in Texas is less than the average state's, due in part to more efficient school districts in Texas.

The increasing enrollments also affect the state's position in national ranking by teaching salaries because of the greater number of new teachers employed to accommodate new students. Texas is 3.3 per cent below the national average teaching salary.

More than half of the teachers have not yet received the full benefit of the 1961 salary increase. Most districts had by last year increased the salary paid to a beginning teacher by $810 or more over the amount paid prior to the Hale - Aikin program, but these districts employed only 44 per cent of all Texas teachers.

Teachers' salaries increased on the average only about $700 as a result of the 1961 Hale-Aikin legislation. School districts which were already paying above the state minimum were not required by the law to raise salaries by the $810 by which the basic salary was increased.

Ruby's Attorneys In Verbal Battle

DALLAS (AP)— Jack Ruby's frequently changing defense team was in a state of confusion again today.

Sol Dann, a Detroit lawyer representing the Ruby family, said he had fired chief defense counsel Clayton Fowler and assistant Joe Tonahill. The attorneys insisted, in separate statements, they were still retained.

Dann, meanwhile, flew here to confer with two remaining Texans defending Ruby who threatened to quit if Fowler were released.

Fowler Wednesday night showed reporters a note Ruby had scrawled in his jail cell, stating he wanted Fowler "as my attorney and to handle all of my legal matters pertinent to my case."

AGREEMENT

Tonahill, the 6-foot 4-inch lawyer from Jasper, Tex., said Jack Ruby had hired him and only Ruby could fire him. He said he signed an agreement with Ruby in December to represent him "all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court, and I'm pleased to do that . . . even if I have to do so as a friend of the appellate courts."

Mrs. Eva Grant, Jack's sister, Wednesday blasted "inefficiency" in the defense efforts since the family fired Melvin Belli soon after Ruby's conviction for killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused presidential assassin.

She also asked Sheriff Bill Decker to prevent Tonahill from visiting Ruby in jail.

LIE DETECTOR

The friction between the Texas lawyers and Dann apparently was climaxed last weekend with the administering of a lie detector test to Ruby, at his request.

Tonahill said "I think what stirred up Mr. Dann is that the Warren Commission took the test and he wasn't present to be interviewed. . . He seems to think publicity is very important . . . but he's very foolish in that regard." He also called Dann "an irresponsible interloper" and said he "has no jurisdiction in this appeal."

Dann met with Phil Burleson and Emmett Colvin, who have worked on Ruby's appeal of his death sentence under Fowler's direction and who threatened to quit if Fowler were fired.

Burleson said they had proposed certain requirements of the Ruby family and expected an answer today.

DAMAGING

In a statement, Burleson and Colvin said "The lack of continuity has, in our opinion, been damaging to Jack Ruby and we will proceed only if our efforts are beneficial to Jack Ruby. Otherwise, we will not be a party to a misguided appellant attempt."

In the seven months since Ruby shot Oswald, five men have served as chief defense lawyers. First was Tom Howard, who faded from the picture when Belli, the San Francisco tort expert, took charge of the trial.

Belli held the spotlight during the month-long trial, then was replaced after the guilty verdict against Ruby by Percy Foreman of Houston and, later, Hubert W. Smith of Austin. Fowler took over several weeks ago.

Luci Joins Symphony, Cliburn At Music Camp

INTERLOCHEN, Mich. (AP) —Luci Baines Johnson, the President's 17-year-old daughter, will share a stage here tonight with the National Music Camp symphony orchestra and a fellow Texan, pianist Van Cliburn.

Cliburn will conduct the 150-member youth symphony orchestra and Miss Johnson will do the narration in Sergei Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" symphonic fairy tale.

Luci was fitted late Wednesday for the traditional dark blue uniform of this north woods music and culture center.

She'll wear it at a morning rehearsal, again at a matinee for camp faculty, staff and students and finally at tonight's public performance.

Miss Johnson, accompanied by three Secret Service men and her press secretary, arrived at Interlochen shortly after noon Tuesday. She is staying at a student center and attending various classes at the camp.

After three rehearsals, Waldie Anderson, orchestra manager who is coaching Luci and giving her the cues for her narration, reported:

"Tuesday she seemed to be nervous, but Wednesday she was beginning to have fun with it. She is very eager to do it right."

Luci's appearance reportedly was Cliburn's idea. The pianist met President Johnson when he was still a senator.

Summer School Winds Up Friday

Summer vacation starts at noon Friday for 311 students now attending summer school in Big Spring. The students were enrolled in 422 student-course subjects. One hundred and 20 others completed the summer band school in June; 102 took behind-the-wheel driver education course, and 90 more were involved in vocational courses including homemaking and vocational agriculture.

The summer school program was directed by High School Principal John Smith, and 12 teachers taught the regular academic course. Ten others were involved in band, vocational and driver education.

Enrollment in each of the regular, remedial and enrichment courses showed: English 111; mathematics 55; history and government 117; typing 14, elementary reading 30; English for pre-school Spanish-speaking students 95. One hundred and 11 were enrolled in more than one course, Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, assistant superintendent, said. High school students could earn one-half credit per course with a maximum of one credit for the summer.

Examinations will be held Thursday and Friday mornings, Ainsworth said.

Several other students will be enrolled in the August band program.

Teachers handling the summer school program were: Pre-school English, Mrs. Mamie Dodds, Mrs. Agnes Mitchell, and Mrs. Arthur Rueckart; Elementary Reading, Tommye Jackson and Miss Eulalia Mitchell; English, Mrs. Lila Brewster and Jerry Kelley; Math, Hollis Lloyd and Paul Sweatt; History and Government, Mrs. James Smith, Morris Molpus and Bernard Rains (also teaching typing). Mrs. Janice Harris, librarian was also on duty.

Teaching band were Doug Wiehe and R. L. McKiski with John Lawson, student assistant; Driver Training, William Hallmark, C. W. Tanner and Dan Bustamente; Vocational Agriculture, Truett Vines and Ed Seay; Homemaking, Sue Scheiblich, Janice Spaeth and Donnila White.

A Devotional For The Day

Without were fightings, within were fears. Nevertheless God, that comforteth those that are cast down, comforted us by the coming of Titus. (II Corinthians 7:5-6.)

PRAYER: Father in heaven, we thank Thee that Thou art always with us. Help us to trust in Thy presence under all circumstances, and to abide in the peace which is beyond all human understanding. For Jesus' sake and in His name we pray. Amen.

Strengthen Law Enforcement

The possibility of continuing courses at Howard County Junior College to train individuals in law enforcement work was broached. Tentative plans, all subject to approval at different levels and by the college board, call for establishment of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement. Enrollment would be open to members of sheriff's and police departments in the area.

Instruction would be in charge of Wallace Beazley, coordinator of police training for Texas A&M University's extension system. Others assisting as instructors would be from the ranks of the Texas Department of Public Safety, FBI, the Treasury Department, etc. Classroom space and dormitory rooms (during summer months) would be supplied by the college.

This fits into a pattern of expanded vocational training at the college, a system of instruction that upgrades the skills of individuals in various professions.

Law enforcement — the quality of law enforcement that today's complex society demands—cannot be the product of hit-or-miss absorption. There is a whale of a lot more to being an officer than putting on a uniform, badge and sidearm. This proposed course helps expose trainees to a minimum of 160 hours of basic instruction, plus many side courses in such things as first aid. No one could emerge from the successful completion of the course without being a better officer. Some would be washed out in the process, and this would be better for them and others than to find after months in some department that this was not their calling. We hope that this plan materializes and flourishes.

Tire Makers Set Minimum Standards

The Rubber Manufacturers Association has finally persuaded tire makers to adopt minimum standards of performance for passenger car tires. Reform in this field is long overdue.

The situation had become incomprehensible and impossible for the average tire buyer. He became lost in a sea of claims such as "first line," "original equipment," "de luxe," "super tread" and the like. None of these gave him any real hint as to the basic performance he could expect from the tire. In the end, he found dependence only on the reputation of the tire maker or the dealer from whom he bought his tires.

Seventeen firms which produce passenger car tires have agreed to these minimum standards of safety for all tires:

1. A tire shall show no evidence of tread chunking or separation after being run 100 miles at 50 miles an hour, followed by a half-hour at 75, a half-hour at 80 and a half-hour at 85.

2. The tire shall show no broken cords or no evidence of ply cord or bead separation after being run for 1,700 miles at test overloads ranging from 20 to 40 per cent.

3. Minimum breaking points will be tested by forcing a cylindrical steel plunger into the tread of a mounted, inflated tire.

These three standards emphasize safety. All tire buyers may then be assured that there is a minimum standard safety factor present.

The rubber industry has thus protected its own position.

What One 'Poll' Reveals

WASHINGTON — Anybody with pencil and pad can take an opinion poll, but there are better ways to finger the public pulse. Barry Goldwater's two best-selling books on domestic and foreign policy long ago testified with indisputable accuracy to his nationwide popularity, and told us louder than words that he had an appeal which was translatable into July delegates and November votes.

VICTOR LASKY'S bumptious and irreverent biography, "JFK: The Man and The Myth," declared through public acceptance that the New Frontier was widely regarded as a cynical fraud. Since then, William White's worshipful and bloodless puff-piece, "Lyndon Johnson: The Professional," has proved to be a bookstall turkey, leaving LBJ a better man than his cronies can prove to the hard-nosed discerning Homo Americanus.

FOR THE PAST two years, I have been inserting a do-it-yourself thermometer into scattered samplings of public opinion by making a stock-speech titled "The Equivocal Men." Since I never seek speaking opportunities, seldom accept anything but travel expenses, am a stage-fright case and not much in demand, the only reason for acceptance must be in the ideas that were put forward and not in their stylish presentation. Anyhow, in a dozen offerings to assorted groups across the continent, without mentioning Senator Goldwater's name in the text, I found people leaping eagerly to the same ideas which scored for him in San Francisco. Call it a makeshift, private poll, but it proves to me that these following notions have been at work a long while for Goldwater's conservative and nationalistic crusade, and will work for him in the national election.

PRINCIPALLY, as expressed in the GOP platform, there is the idea that America has been sabotaged at home and abroad, not by traitors and conspirators but by equivocators. They do not hate their country, but do not love her enough to matter. They do not betray, but they desert under fire. They slither and straddle.

What we're talking about here is a league of frightened men, whereas Goldwater is a fearless man toward facts as well as ideas.

THE FEARSOME facts that knock the knees of the equivocators are the Negro revolt, the poverty which is with us amid general prosperity, the Communist enmity, the Allies' apathy and the chitter-chatter about a "nuclear holocaust." In every instance, the equivocators go into chicken-hearted spasms of accommodating the aggressive facts, whereas Goldwater gives these same facts his jut-jawed treatment. He is not against Negroes, but will not vote for appeasement-legislation.

THE FEARSOME ideas are that this country is a "republic," though democratically conceived, and that nations must still fight just wars in self-interest. Nor could this country ever buy "peace" at the price of sovereignty.

The ideas that terrify the equivocal man, exhilarate Goldwater, and (unless my polls are all wrong) speak like poetry to "real" Americans.

Billy Graham

In your sermons don't you think you should emphasize the social gospel? P. B.

I lay a great deal of emphasis on the social applications of the Gospel. Our Lord told His disciples that they were the salt of the earth, the light of the world. For a Christian to ignore the social problems around him is a tragedy. But, it is my conviction that men must be won to Christ as personal Saviour before He can become the Lord of their lives. I believe that man must come into what has been called a vital vertical relationship with God before he can live with a proper horizontal relationship with his fellow man. In other words, as a Christian minister, my first responsibility is to win men to Christ, then and only then can and will they live as Christians in the world.

In our immediately past generation there were those who largely took the Christian message to be one of social ethics and reform. Men have now learned again that there must be a spiritual dynamic and this comes solely through the work of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of men, enabling them to believe in and accept Christ. Christ called this the new birth. There have been Christians who have neglected their social responsibilities but let us remember that almost all great social reforms have come through the application of Christian principles. Also, most of our institutions for relief of suffering had their origin in the church, as did many of our institutions of learning.

Business Needed

RENO (AP) — The Reno Better Business Bureau is looking for better business.

The bureau said it might have to go out of business unless it found more businessmen willing to pay their dues.

Donald Cralle said the bureau had enlisted 260 members in its 18 months but needed at least 500 to be in good financial shape.

Nikita Not So Rash After U.S. Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev doesn't seem to like American politicians, at least while they're running for office. Once they're elected, though, he gets along all right with them, sometimes.

His attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater this week wasn't the first time he butted into American politics. He did the same in 1960 when he said the presidential candidates—John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon—looked equally undesirable.

"THEY ARE a pair of boots," he said, meaning it was hard to tell them apart.

In Warsaw the Soviet Premier accused Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, of trying to "enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

He likened last week's Republican convention which nominated Goldwater to a Nazi party rally.

In 1960 Khrushchev called Kennedy and Nixon "lackeys of monopoly capital," trying to outdo each other in their anti-communism.

AT THAT TIME he insisted he was impartial in his distaste for both men, didn't favor one over the other, but admitted he knew less about Kennedy than about Nixon, who had debated him in a Moscow kitchen.

After Kennedy became president, Khrushchev had his ups and downs with him, the ups when Kennedy didn't try to demolish the Berlin wall and the downs when Kennedy made him take his missiles out of Cuba.

After that, they seemed to get along fine, or as fine as could be expected, and even installed a "hot line" between the White House and the Kremlin so they could talk to each other in a hurry if there was an incident, accidental or otherwise, which might cause a nuclear war.

WHEN KENNEDY was assasinated last November, the Russian, in a note of regret to Mrs. Kennedy, said the president's death was a "hard blow to all people who cherish the cause of peace and Soviet-American cooperation."

Since neither Kennedy nor Nixon was in the White House before the 1960 election, Khrushchev may have felt free to talk about them—and for the same reason about Goldwater now—than he would about President Johnson who is in the White House and will be running for election.

Johnson and Khrushchev have had some dealings, apparently pleasant so far. They exchanged New Year's greetings. Khrushchev later said he thought Johnson a reasonable man who seemed to share Kennedy's view that a nuclear war "makes no sense."

KHRUSHCHEV got along well with President Dwight D. Eisenhower, for a time. They had a summit meeting and Khrushchev even visited him at Camp David. But then an American U2 plane was shot down over the Soviet Union and they didn't get along well at all.

If Khrushchev had been born here he might have cut quite a figure in American politics. He's an international handshaker and even the way he criticizes his opponents has an American whiff.

Geraldine's Struggling Days

NEW YORK (AP)—When she first came to Manhattan, Geraldine Page worked as a hat-check girl.

She sold Christmas cards in a book store. She modeled negligees. She got a job in a thread factory, and as she wrapped the packages of thread she read Shakespeare.

Today Jerry Page is rated by many in the theater as one of the nation's most gifted actresses. But she likes to recall those early struggling years.

"I GOT $5 a week on hat checking jobs," she recalled. "They also expected you to steal 10 cents from every quarter you got—but not if they were looking.

"That made it all rather complicated, and I couldn't keep my arithmetic straight."

She quit her $21-a-week job in the thread factory for a part in an off-Broadway show for which she got $10 a week. Since then her name has brightened many marquees.

AT PRESENT Miss Page is starring in a revival of Anton Chekhov's "The Three Sisters."

"So far I've played about 450 roles in my career," she said, "and I'd like to play at least that many more.

"Acting is so much fun. You get so wrapped up in the problems of the character you're playing that you forget your own.

"Acting is also a joy because you never get through with it. You can never say, 'Well, at last I know it all.' In acting you never reach the bottom of the cup, particularly if you have the good fortune to play a variety of roles. There's always something more to learn."

JERRY IS married to actor Rip Torn, and they have a 5-month-old daughter, Angelica. On matinee days — which happens to be the maid's day off—Jerry brings the baby to the theater dressing room.

She feels her own greatest character defects are laziness and timidity.

"I have a tendency not to fight things through. I sometimes chicken out before I ought to."

Anticoagulants Help In Some Heart Cases

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain thinning of the blood? I have a heart condition (angina and coronary attacks). The doctor takes blood from my arm and analyzes it, but I don't understand what this is for.—K. C.

Certain heart conditions are a result of clogging of the arteries of the heart. (The same thing applies to some forms of strokes, and to other conditions.)

However, when certain arteries have become narrower than they formerly were, it is important to take steps to be sure that these restricted places are not shut off completely.

As you know, if you cut or scratch your finger, it bleeds for a bit, and then stops. Why does it stop? Because your blood has an innate ability to close such small (or perhaps large) wounds. The blood forms a "clot." A material in the blood called "prothrombin" has a great deal to do with this.

For wounds, we normally want the clot to form rapidly, of course.

But with certain people having conditions like yours, we prefer that the clotting be slower; better that a cut bleeds a little bit longer, rather than that a blood vessel becomes clogged, in case the clotting happens to occur at that point.

So we give an "anticoagulant" a drug which keeps the blood from clotting so rapidly. At the same time, we do not want to give so much that it interferes with the rapid healing of such small wounds (cuts, scratches or even bruises beneath the skin) as you may encounter.

In order to achieve a safe balance (slow enough clotting inside the blood vessels, yet still rapid enough if you have some small wound) we want to know exactly how rapidly your blood will clot.

We do this by taking a sample of blood and performing what we call a "prothrombin time test," to see how rapidly your blood will clot when compared to that of a person who has not had the medication.

A certain amount of the "thinning" drug (Coumadin being one of them) may be too much for one person, too little for another.

Taking periodic tests is the way to be sure. Depending on the result of the tests, we then can increase or decrease the amount of the medication.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain a fat tumor. What makes it different from others? Can it become malignant? A friend of mine has had one for 18 years. —P. L.

A "tumor" means an overgrowth of cells — more grow at a certain place than are supposed to. This is possible in almost any part of the body, although some places are less likely to have tumors than others.

Thus a fatty tumor is one that grows in the fat cells. There can also be skin tumors, bone tumors, tumors in muscle areas. The growth (or tumor) will be of whatever type of tissue it is in.

When a tumor is malignant, that is, cancerous, it keeps on growing and finally begins to spread to other tissue. An ordinary, or benign, tumor does not do this.

Fatty tumors (or lipomas) do NOT tend to become malignant. They are usually left alone unless they are unsightly, or are large enough or so located as to be painful or a nuisance.

Good Idea—For All Of Us

All but lost among the recommendations concerning higher education in Texas was a matter of "sabbaticals." Among the benefits offered college professors in other states are such things, in one case giving the prof every seventh year of his tenure free to do as he pleases—study, take a trip, or just plain loaf.

ALTHOUGH I THINK the recommendation deserves the strongest and stoutest support, it should not be limited to the professors. I say let's extend it to the plumbers, garbage collectors, shoe salesmen—even the auto mechanics. There is no reason to limit such a boon to the textbook skippers.

If higher education is in such dire straits, which might be cured by a year's vacation—and I don't doubt it for a minute—then what about the rest of the professions? Doubtless they face the same problems, but don't have the best press agents.

THE PROFS have to undergo long training to prepare for their jobs. This is true, but so do the others. Consider for a minute the training, patience and struggle necessary while lying on your back in a narrow space under a house, to make a rusty pipe fit a rusty fitting. Not only does this take a great deal of experience and know-how, but the plumber must fight off the denizens of dark, damp places, such as spiders, scorpions and probably an occasional snake.

And, the auto mechanic must undergo a re-training period every year. As the auto manufacturers vary their models and equipment, the mechanic must adjust his skills to meet any problem, including the used car owner who is determined that his 20-year-old bus will run as good as new.

A MASTER of psychology is the shoe salesmen, who can tell at a glance which customer is determined to wear one size too small, no matter how bad it hurts, and the customer who merely wants to try on everthing in the house before buying a pair at the store down the street. And he gives them all a gracious smile.

And so it goes through a whole host of modern day work. Each, in his field, can do things with relative ease that others find it all but impossible to accomplish. If you doubt it, try fixing the next broken pipe you have, or change the spark plugs in your car with a pair of pliers, or convince your wife that she is buying shoes about one size too small.

A SEVENTH YEAR sabbatical is a marvelous idea. But what might be good for the professors, would undoubtedly work out well for the rest of us. For each in his chosen field is an expert—so-called—and subject to similar trials and need of respite.

As Mister Dooley Might Have Seen It

(Finley Peter Dunne, bless his gifted bones, went chuckling off to his reward in 19 and 36. Still and all, the following communication came sailing over the transom recently, and it couldn't sound more authentic if Mr. Dooley himself had dispatched it from whatever vat of grain neutral spirits he is preserved in.)

"POLYTIKS ain't bean bag," said Mr. Dooley. " 'Tis a man's game; an' women, childhern, an' pro-hybitionists'd do well to keep out iv it."

"Raypublicans, too," said Mr. Hennessey. " 'Tis too tough for them."

"No, Hinnissey," said Mr. Dooley, "don't misprehend the news from San Francisco. 'Tis a fine art the Raypublicans make of polytiks. 'Tis a policy of planned confusion so you Dimmycrats don't get onto their game."

"ALL THEY talk about," said Mr. Hennessey, "is the Main Stream. To hear Eisenhower talk about it ye'd think him the Father of Wathers."

"Ravpublicans have wather on the brain," said Mr. Dooley.

"Wathers!" said Hennessey. "Whativer this Main Stream may be, this Barry th' Goldwather don't want no mixed bathin' in it. He thinks th' colored folks should have a seprit but equal Main Stream iv their own."

"HE'S AFTER provin'," said Mr. Dooley, "his skin may be white but his heart's jist as black as th' nixt man's."

"Nixon's th' wather boy," said Mr. Hennessey. "Buckits iv wather on both shoulders, spoutin' from both sides iv his mouth."

"He's having his sivinth crisis," said Mr. Dooley. "He's entitled to it as th' hint-titular leader iv his party. He's provin' he's not iv th' gineration which regar-r-ds honesty as th' bist policy, but sure, he does regard it as a policy."

"I CAN MAKE no sinse," said Mr. Hennessey, "iv th' fellow from th' corryspondence school, Scranton it 'tis. One day he's happy t' be Goldbug's Vice-Prisidint, th' rext day he says Goldbug's a man iv no courage an' less principle, an' th' nixt day he apologizes f'r sayin' that. Besides, Hinnery Cabin Lodge is home now, an' 'tis him th' people wanted."

"Th' people always back th' wrong man, f'r th' Raypublicans. 'Tis th' pros who decide, Hinnissey, an' Hinnery Cabin Lodge is a hissin' an' a byword to thim. Th' pros want Barry t' turn th' wather back on at Guantanamo."

"WATHER AG'IN!" said Hennessey. I'll have a rye. 'Tis th' pros I don't understand. 'Twas Taft they wanted bad enough t' steal it, and Hinnery Lodge beat thim as th' gin'ril's manager. Who let thim in th' back door when Hinnery Cabin Lodge drove thim out th' front?"

" 'Twas th' gin'ril," said Mr. Dooley. "He's a remarkable tinder-hear-rted man, is th' gin'ril. He wanted thim right in th' Main Stream, over their heads with him. He didn't want t' lose their valvuble trainin' an' exper-rience, Hinnissey. Th' art iv successful losin' is not easily come by. Years iv practice it takes an' th' best iv these pros have been practicing since 1932. They don't wan t' change their luck this late in th' game."

'Protest' Vote Important

WASHINGTON — Who is going to win the election? This writer has been asked that question in numerous letters and during conversations with many friends in the political world. What follows here, however, is an explanation of why any forecast today can hardly be backed up by any tangible evidence. All that can be done at this time is to analyze some of the trends currently noticeable on which the outcome probably will be based.

Oddly enough, "good times" alone are not sufficient to re-elect a President when there are issues of an emotional nature building up. The more demonstrations or disturbances that occur, especially in the Northern cities—such as the one which broke out over the weekend in the Harlem section of New York City—the more likely it is that the protest vote will rise to unprecedented proportions.

IF THE NEGROES really want President Johnson elected, they would be wise to declare a moratorium on all demonstrations, at least until after the election. For the tide of resentment is growing, and is reflected in letters and comments which members of Congress have been receiving. Some of the complaints, in condensed form, run like this:

1. "I don't want my child to be sent in a bus to a school three miles away when we live only a few blocks from a public school."

2. "If any of the workers in our factory are laid off, I want my seniority rights. I don't want the management trying to figure out ways to get more Negroes into jobs for which they are not fitted."

3. "I HAVE SAVED my money and bought a house, and I don't want to see its value go down because people in my neighborhood are being forced by the government to sell to people they don't like."

4. "I am annoyed by all these demonstrations. When they happen in the South they are blamed on 'racist' or hate groups, but when they happen in the North they are called 'freedom of speech,' and sometimes 'civil disobedience' itself is even praised by preachers. Whichever way you look at it, it is disorder that leads to violence."

5. "I'M SICK AND tired of reading about these American boys being killed in Viet Nam. My boy is of draft age, and I don't want him to go to war to save Viet Nam."

6. "I think we have been too soft with Castro in Cuba, and sooner or later we will get into a war because we haven't stood up to Castro as we should have."

7. "Why do we have so much crime? It isn't safe to go out on the streets at night. Why spend all that money trying to go to the moon when we ought to have more police to protect our citizens so that we can again go to the corner drug store at night and get back safely?

THE VOTERS are inclined to blame the incumbent administration or party for all their troubles—both in the federal government and the states.

The Johnson administration thus far, however, appears to have had a big advantage on the publicity side. This is because Mr. Johnson has had almost eight months in which to create a favorable impression by speeches and press conferences. Meanwhile, some of the Republicans have foolishly served as his auxiliaries. They have been fighting among themselves.

THE "CROSS-OVER" vote from the Democratic party holds the key to the election. Not only conservatives but also persons who have become embittered by the "civil rights" demonstrations could swell the Republican vote and offset the relatively small segment of dissenters referred to as "liberals."

In a nutshell, Senator Goldwater has a good chance to be elected if the protest vote should prove to be substantial. It could prove substantial enough, at least, to prevent a landslide for President Johnson. All the trends today indicate a close contest.

Koufax Awes Colts, 1-0, For 15th Win

By The Associated Press

Sandy Koufax Wednesday night tossed a four-hit, 12-strikeout job that beat Houston 1-0 and ended the Los Angeles Dodgers losing streak at four games.

Koufax now has won 11 games in a row since he last lost on May 27, boosting his record to 15-4 while his sixth shutout lowered his earned run average to a remarkable 1.78.

Just as remarkable was the feat of Philadelphia's light-hitting Bobby Wine, a .205 swinger who slammed his second homer in two nights, a bases-empty shot off Warren Spahn that triggered the National League leading Phillies to a 4-1 victory over Milwaukee.

Hitting honors for the day, however, went to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski and Willie Stargell. Mazeroski drove in five runs and Stargell hit for the cycle with a single, double, triple and homer as the Pirates lashed 18 hits and crushed St. Louis 13-2.

Elsewhere, the second-place San Francisco Giants remained one game off the pace by belting the Chicago Cubs 7-3 but the third-place Cincinnati Reds fell 4½ games back by losing their fifth straight to the New York Mets, 4-3 in 10 innings.

Koufax, who struck out 10 or more batters in a game for the 58th time in his career, had to be at his best against Houston's Ken Johnson, who allowed only seven hits before he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The lone Dodger run came across in the third when Derrell Griffith and Ron Fairly smacked doubles.

Wine, who hit a homer Tuesday night before singling home the decisive run, got the job done again for the Phillies by breaking a 1-1 tie with his homer in the seventh inning. The Braves only run came on a homer by Spahn off Ray Culp, 8-5.

Mazeroski batted in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first, doubled home two runs in the seventh and hit a two-run homer in the ninth. Stargell contributed three runs batted in with his 4-for-4 performance while Jerry Lynch came up with the same run production on a homer and single.

Bob Veale got the victory, his 11th against six losses. The loser was Roger Craig, 5-5.

Home runs by Hal Lanier and Orlando Cepeda did most of the damage for the Giants. Lanier hit a three-run shot in the fifth and Cepeda connected with one on in the sixth — both homers opposite field hits off Larry Jackson, 12-8.

Billy Pierce checked the Cubs on two hits in four innings of relief work, picking up his second victory without a loss.

Sandy Tosses 11th Straight

Pitcher Sandy Koufax is congratulated by teammate Jim Gilliam (left) as Koufax and catcher Doug Camilli leave the playing field Tuesday night in Los Angeles after Koufax had pitched the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over the Houston Colts. It was the 15th victory of the year for the Dodger hurler and his 11th straight win. Koufax, who gave up only four hits, garnered his sixth shutout of the season. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Hebert Talks Of Influence By Big Names

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — It's only a matter of opinion from an authority, but Jay Hebert, the PGA Tournament Committee chairman, credits the tremendous interest in golf and the large galleries these days to Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Hebert, the 1960 PGA champion, says that "Palmer and Nicklaus have done more for golf in the past 10 years than anyone."

There probably are some other reasons, but not to Hebert.

Relaxing in the locker room at the Wethersfield Country Club, latest stop on the major league play-for-pay tour, Hebert insists:

"It used to be that you could win a tournament with two good rounds. But Palmer and Nicklaus, more than anyone else, changed this. The winner of a tournament now has to shoot four good rounds."

Palmer and Nicklaus are passing up the $50,000 four-day Insurance City Open that started today at nearby Wethersfield.

But two other members of golf's newest aristocracy are competing — National Open champion Ken Venturi and National PGA champion Bobby Nichols along with Sam Snead and Billy Casper, last year's ICO winner.

In Wednesday's pro-amateur tourney, Jim Ferree and Rex Baxter Jr. shared first place with five-under-par 66s. Snead was second with 67 and seven pros tied for third place—Fred Hawkins, Terry Dill, Don Fairfield, Al Balding, George Archer, Larry Mowry and Al Besselink, all with 68s.

Warning Is Issued, Hornung Works Out

By The Associated Press

Paul Hornung is back with the Green Bay Packers and that means trouble for the Chicago Bears, the National Football League champions.

Hornung, star halfback who led the Packers to the 1962 NFL title then was suspended a year for betting on league games, worked out with the Packers Wednesday for the first time since his suspension in April, 1963.

He appeared in top physical condition, brightening Green Bay hopes of regaining the NFL crown from the Bears. The first time he carried the ball in a controlled scrimmage he burst through the defensive line.

The Bears, preparing for their game with the College All-Stars Aug. 7 in Chicago that officially kicks off the season, put in a 45-minute scrimmage at their camp.

The San Diego Chargers, champions of the American League, held their first pre-season drills and coach Sid Gilliman said they were the best in his 19 years as a mentor.

Other developments on the pro football front as the training tempo picked up included:

Detroit Lions—Halfback Dick LeBeau and fullback Nick Pietrosante signed contracts.

New York Giants—Cut halfbacks John Rollins and Bob Dunn.

Los Angeles Rams—Jon Arnett, recently switched from halfback to end, twisted his right knee in practice and will be out for several days.

Kansas City Chiefs — Announced Jerry Mays, defensive lineman, had decided to end his retirement.

Houston Oilers—Cut rookies Al Hilderbrand, Charles Talbert and Dee White.

Buffalo Bills—Filed claim for Paul MacGuire who was put on waivers by San Diego.

Baltimore Colts—Defense beat the Offense 16-0 in a scrimmage in which the defense was credited with two points each time they stopped the offense short of a first down.

New York Jets—Rookie guard Dave Herman of Michigan State was named to start Friday's rookie game with Boston Patriots at Lynn, Mass.

San Francisco 49ers—Coach Jack Christiansen praised the hard running rookies backs Ollie Ross and Dave Kopay.

Oakland Raiders—Star end Art Powell still is missing from camp. Doug Brown of Fresno State signed contract as free agent.

Pro-Am Will Have Talent

ODESSA (AP) — The PGA champion, the national lefthanded champion and eight members of the PGA tour will play in the $15,000 Odessa Pro-Amateur next week.

When Bobby Nichols, the former Texas A&M player, won the national PGA Sunday it really "made" the Odessa tournament. Nichols already was an entry.

Nichols, Billy Maxwell, Don January, Dutch Harrison, Don Massengale, Doug Sanders, Bo Wininger and Jimmy Demaret are tour regulars who will compete here.

A recent entry also is Dick Metz, once a star of the tour and who finished second in the National Open in 1938. Metz now lives at Commerce, Okla.

The national lefthanded champion is Thorne Woods of Asheboro, N.C. He will team with the national amateur lefthanded titlist, Stuart Chancellor of Midland.

Seventy teams have been invited and accepted. Thirty more will be determined in qualifying next Monday. The 72-hole tournament starts July 30.

Angels Move Up To Fourth

By The Associated Press

Which major league team has the best record since June 15?

It's the Los Angeles Angels, who moved into sole possession of fourth place in the AL Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The Angels, one of the zaniest collections of major leaguers since St. Louis' Gas House Gang, were lodged in ninth place June 15 with a poor record of 24-37. Since then, they have won 26 and lost 11, a lofty percentage of .703.

For their latest victory, though, they needed the aid of a couple of pitches from knuckle ball artist Hoyt Wilhelm. The Angels trailed 2-1 entering the ninth inning.

Jim Fregosi singled with one out, trotted to second when Wilhelm hit Willie Smith with a pitch and scored the tying run on a single by Bob Rodgers. One out later, with Lou Clinton at bat, Wilhelm uncorked a pitch that got away from catcher J. C. Martin for a passed ball, and Smith scampered home with the winning run.

In other AL games, New York defeated Washington 6-3, Cleveland knocked off Baltimore 7-4, Kansas City trimmed Minnesota 6-4 and Detroit outlasted Boston 8-6.

The White Sox grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning on run-scoring doubles by Don Buford and Pete Ward. But Fred Newman settled down and at one stretch retired 17 straight Chicago batters. Joel Horlen allowed the Angels only three hits before leaving for Wilhelm in the eighth.

The Yankees managed only four hits against the Senators, but all came in the fifth inning when they erupted for five runs, the last three on Joe Pepitone's bases-loaded triple. Mickey Mantle batted in the first two runs with a double.

The victory kept the Yankees in first place, only the second time this season they've held that spot two straight days.

Pitcher Dick Donovan rapped a two-run single that snapped a 3-3 tie and shot the Indians past the Orioles.

North Is Favored In All-Star Game

FORT WORTH (AP) — If height is all the advantage in basketball, the North should walk in with the victory Aug. 5 in the all-star game of the Texas coaching school.

Fabian Lemley of McAdoo, who will coach the North, has a squad of 12 averaging almost 6 feet 3 inches. There are four 6-5 or better and six 6-3 or over.

On the other hand the South has only four that soar 6-4 or better, and the tallest man on the squad is 6-5½ Mickey McCarty of Pasadena.

All-State Mike Lockner of Graham is the big man of the North. He towers 6-8.

Farrar Stockton of Dallas Woodrow Wilson and Derrith Welch of McLean stand 6-6 and Joe Dobbs of Lubbock is 6-5.

Coach Foster Martin of Houston Jeff Davis, who is handling the South, has Tom Molina of San Diego as his second tallest, and Molina is only 6-5. Molina has operated a good bit on the outside but likely will have to do his work in the all-star classic under the boards.

In addition to McCarty and Molina, Martin has two rugged 6-4 rebounders in Wayne Fults of West Sabine and Jim Nelson of San Antonio Jefferson, but both will be giving at least two inches to their counterparts on the North squad.

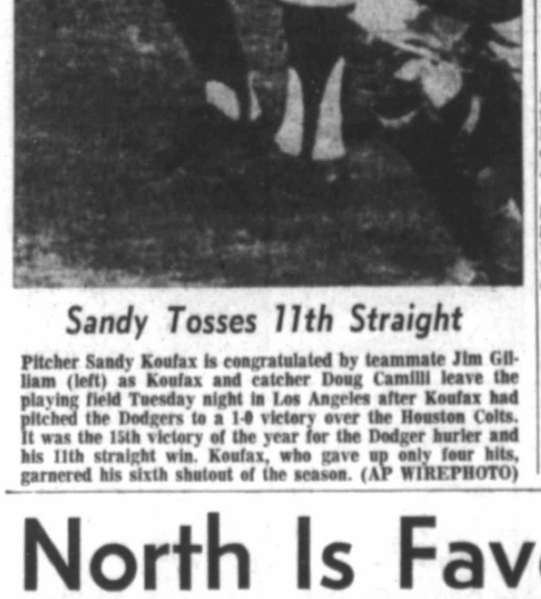
It is quite likely that Martin will attempt to offset the North's height advantage with a fast break and pressing defense. Key cogs in the South offense are expected to be 5-11 Rey Calderon of Jeff Davis, a fine playmaker, and South San Antonio's all-state Larry Black.

Martin also has an all-state guard in 6-3 Larry Miller of San Antonio Lee but may use him at forward. Ace playmaker Travis Bickhan of Deweyville also is on hand.

The South has scoring potential galore featuring all-state Jimmy Dale Lenox of Clear Creek; Bob Ellison of Tarkington, who has a 24-point average, and Fults, a 22-pointer.

But it could go for naught unless a skillful fast break can be arranged to offset the awesome height of the North.

The South won 81-71 at Houston last year but it was only the second time this squad had won in nine years. The North thinks it would be a mistake to let that happen again so soon.



Local Mermaid Shines

Linda Cathey, competing for the local YMCA Aquatic Club, has rapidly developed into one of West Texas' finest young competitors. Swimming in the 11-12 year-old age group at the first annual Big Spring Invitational Swimming Meet Saturday, she walloped the competition and took the high-point trophy for girls of her age (which she holds). Steady improvement should make her even better in the future. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

Complex Finished For 1964 Games

TOKYO (AP)—The Komazawa Sports Park—Tokyo's newest sports complex where several Olympic events will be held—was completed Thursday.

PAT WASHBURN'S

The Roundtable

The earliest mention of golf occurs in a prohibiting law passed by the Scottish Parliament in 1457. But you might have guessed it—in February, 1962, the Russian newspaper Izvestia claimed the game was of 15th-century Danish origin. The earliest international match was on Leith Links in 1657 between JAMES, DUKE OF YORK and JOHN PATERSON representing Scotland and two English peers. The Scots took a handy victory. The earliest reference in England to "goffe" was in 1658. Gutta percha balls succeeded feather balls in 1848 and were in turn improved into rubber-cored balls in 1899 by Haskell of the United States. Steel shafts were authorized in 1929 . . .

Surveys have often been made of what clubs the pros stuff into those luxurious golf bags they show up with at all the tourneys, but little has ever been said about what the contestants carried in those hidden equipment compartments. After the recent Memphis Open, winner MIKE SOUCHAK'S bag yielded an umbrella, rain suit, one sweater, two golf gloves, one visor, band aids, sun lotion, muscle relaxing pills, chewing gum, candy, a tool to scrape spikes and a dozen golf balls. From pro BOB GOALBY'S bag came the same assortment plus aspirin, a knife, extra spikes, spike wrench, snake bite kit and a rule book.

And some people talk about women's handbags! . . .

Pro SAM SNEAD and amateur ROBERT T. JONES JR., have been runnerup the most times in the United States Open Tournament. Each came in second four times . . . Holes-in-one don't come easy for anyone. Take the pros for example. Only five aces had been recorded this spring on the PGA tour through the U.S. Open . . . An over-par total score has not won an open golf tournament since 1963's USGA's National Open at Brookline, Mass . . . The U.S. Open was televised nationally for the first time in 1954, when it was played at Westwood Country Club in St. Louis. ED FURGOL WAS THE WINNER. The event also marked the first time an Open course was roped off from tee to green . . .

DEANE BEMAN, the amateur favorite in this year's Open, failed to make the 36-hole cutoff even though Washington's Congressional Course is his home club. And this was after he had authored a newspaper series which ran under the heading: "How I Play the Open Course." After losing out at the cut, he said: "I guess I should have written, 'How You Should Play the Open Course,' instead."

* * * *

JACK NICKLAUS is regarded as the game's most consistent long hitter. Recently he won the 1964 professional driving title with a 320-yard blast . . . An innovation to help spectators view action on the greens was inaugurated at this year's Open. The top one inch of the cups were painted white for better visibility . . . The highest altitude at which golf has supposingly been played is in Tibet's 16,000-plus climate. There is no golf course there, though . . . The lowest golf course in the world was that of the Sodom and Gomorrah Golfing Society at Kallia, on the northeastern shores of the Dead Sea, 1,250 feet below sea level. The course vanished in 1948, though, when the club house burned down . . .

View To Death

This view along side of the center span of San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge attracts thousands of tourists each year but it has also attracted at least 265 persons to leap from it since it was opened in 1937. Wednesday a soldier, Drake E. Rogers Jr., 20, of Petaluma, Calif., became the 265th known suicide from the bridge. Among the many reasons given for the span's attraction to persons bent on suicide is that of a California highway patrol officer assigned to the bridge. He thinks it is popular "because of its convenience, notoriety and glamour." (AP WIREPHOTO)

Auto Pioneer Recalls Globe-Girdling Race

RENO, Nev. (AP) — George Schuster doesn't drive any more because, at 91, his eyes aren't so sharp. But Schuster grinned and gripped the wheel firmly as he steered the old Thomas Flyer on a little spin down a back road near Reno recently.

"It runs perfect," Schuster beamed later. "It still will go 55 miles an hour."

The four-cylinder, 60-horsepower auto was built in 1907 and was driven, coaxed, pulled and pushed virtually around the world by Schuster and his E. R. Thomas Auto Co. teammates in 1908.

The Flyer, with 35-year-old Schuster at the helm, rolled into Paris July 30 that year after a punishing 13,000-mile trip to win the New York-Paris auto race sponsored by the New York Times and the Paris Matin.

Schuster chuckles as he recalls shoveling through snowdrifts across the United States, hitchhiking a steamer ride to Alaska and back, chugging past amazed Japanese and searching for a new transmission somewhere in Russia.

Schuster was a test driver for the Thomas company of Buffalo, N.Y., in 1908 when he chanced to chat with Montague Roberts, a Thomas official in New York City.

"He asked me if I would go on the New York-Paris car with him as mechanic."

They left New York City on Feb. 12.

Roberts left the Thomas in Cheyenne, Wyo., to meet racing commitments in the East. Linn Mathewson, the Thomas dealer in Denver, Colo., took the wheel. Schuster became driver and team captain in San Francisco. He's the only survivor of the team.

The designated route was by steamship to Valdez, Alaska, for an ice crossing of the Bering Strait to Siberia. That's why the race started in winter. But the route was changed to a sea crossing to Japan.

Schuster and his crew of two drove through Japan, crossed to Vladivostok, and headed out across Russia May 22.

The transmission finally gave out in Russia. Schuster tracked down one sent to him the other way around the world from Buffalo.

The German Protos auto piloted by Lt. Hans Koeppen, only one of the other five cars which started, pulled into Paris five days ahead of Schuster. The Thomas was declared the winner on the basis of elapsed time.

The battered old auto looked as if it was only a step away from the junkyard, Schuster says, until Bill Harrah, Reno auto collector, bought the Flyer last summer.

Schuster came to Reno. Patchwork repairs Schuster made on the trip had been replaced and reinforced, apparently at the Thomas factory before the car was used as the pathfinder for a New York-Seattle race.

Southeast New Rustling Area

ATLANTA (AP)—Cattle rustling, banished from the West by modernization, is dying a hard death from the same cause in the new livestock empire of the Southeast.

Rustling was an on-the-spot hanging offense in the old West of the pony-riding cowboy. Even with this harsh punishment, it lingered until motor vehicles and better methods brought new efficiency both to herd management and law enforcement.

Rustling was quick to gain toeholds in the Southeast with the emergence of the beef industry. It is still entrenched in some but, unless time turns backward, its days are numbered.

Better methods of identifying cows hurt the rustler's trade. Brands and tattoos on animals readily identify their owners and complicate their illegal disposal. These time - honored devices are proving superior to the newer use of metal tags in the ear since the latter may be removed easily.

Just as in the West, however, better herd supervision and tighter law enforcement are the ruling measures in rustler control.

Rustling still is big business in Florida and Alabama, but it likely will remain so only until the law gets around to matching and countering the modern techniques of the rustlers.

Cattle thievery is almost nonexistent in most of the rest of the Southeast.

More than $500,000 worth of beef has been stolen each year in Florida since the late 1950s. In 1963, 624 reports of stolen livestock were investigated in Alabama.

"More cows are stolen in Alabama today than in Texas," said Claude Hammac, livestock investigator for Alabama.

Hammac blames part of the rustling on inadequate state laws, failure to follow rules on the books and laxness by cattlemen in keeping tabs on their livestock.

More Money For Consumer In '64

NEW YORK (AP) — More money in the hands of more people—even if on a quick in-and-out trip—is how the majority now sees the rest of this year.

Consumers are counting on it—witness their present spending and borrowing rates and their confident plans for the near future, all based on belief there will be more jobs, higher incomes, less tax erosion, more of a helping hand from government in now backward sectors of the economy.

Business is counting on it—witness its rush of new orders, rising production schedules, larger payrolls, plans for expanding activities and plants.

Government is counting on it—witness its revised estimates of more revenues from lower rates on larger corporate earnings and personal incomes.

Even the economists, often a dour lot, are counting on it—citing the momentum of an upswing that so far has revised the old laws of economic gravity, and the absence of excesses and weaknesses that have tolled the knell in past cycles.

Records set in the first half of the year have fed this confidence. Still rising at midyear are industrial output, personal incomes, profits, dividends, stock prices, retail sales, employment.

Predictions for the fall are for continued economic growth. Almost the only reservations concern its rate. Will business activity expand at the fast pace of the first half of the year or at a slightly more sedate one?

Auto makers, having set a first half record, now predict output and sales will top the previous high of 1955.

Steelmen talk of 1964 being a 118-million-ton year, against the record 117 million of 1955.

The total national output of goods and services, estimated to have been at an annual rate of $620 billion in the second quarter, is believed by some to be moving toward a $645-billion pace in the fourth quarter, against $600.1 billion at the end of 1963.

All of this has been done without inflation.

So the horizon looks more than usually bright for the rest of the year. But this doesn't mean there aren't some clouds. There always are.

At midyear the clouds are:

1. The growing numbers of untrained youths and of older workers with skills made obsolete by automation who don't fit into tomorrow's economy as projected today;

2. The possibility, however faint just now, that business and consumers will toss aside caution and go on a spree of expansion and spending that could trigger a boom—and then a bust;

3. Stirrings in industrial prices that might widen into general increases if the moderating influence of surpluses of production capacity and available labor should be used up;

4. Labor negotiations just ahead that might raise production costs enough to start another whirl on the wage - price spiral.

Red Chinese Forced To Revamp Asian Strategy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Communist China appears to be reworking its strategy in Asia.

Peking is cut off from insurance of Soviet military protection. It is denned economic cooperation by most of the Communist bloc. Now it seems to be getting ready for a retreat to prepared diplomatic positions.

It would be no surprise if Red China sought talks with the United States looking toward at least temporary removal of the fuse from the Asian bomb.

Straws in the wind hint that a careful, gradual Red Chinese about-face is coming, despite all the recent talk from Peking about dangers of war in the Laos and Viet Nam situations.

If victory for communism in Laos and Viet Nam had looked easy, if there had been a definite vacuum to be occupied, the Red Chinese could have been expected to act aggressively.

But it was another matter when the Chinese found their toughness countered with American toughness, when President Johnson warned that the United States was willing to risk war to protect Southeast Asia.

GO TO WAR

It is doubtful that many in Washington believed Mao Tze-tung's regime wanted to go to war with the United States over Indochinese real estate, or that Mao really wanted to provoke a military confrontation with Americans, particularly with no guarantee of automatic Soviet support.

If there is no easy victory in Laos and South Viet Nam, then perhaps Red China, faced with enormous internal problems and anxious to build the economy, might go for the sort of neutralization the French are talking about, though they likely would balk at neutralizing Communist North Viet Nam.

President Charles de Gaulle seems to have been trying to advise the United States that maintenance of the situation as it is today in Indochina is not worth going to war for — but that it would be worth going to war to maintain a neutralist solution that holds back Red expansion.

The Soviets seem to sniff something new from Peking, and Moscow sounds angrier than ever at Red China. Possibly the Russians worry that Peking might be off and running diplomatically all by itself, stealing the Kremlin's thunder and slamming the Asian door in the Russian face.

DANGEROUS

The Soviet press tells Peking it is playing a "dangerous political game" which violates "proleterian internationalism." The Kremlin interprets that phrase to mean that Moscow calls all the Communist shots.

Part of this dangerous game was, by Chinese admission, a go at "brinksmanship." While all this was going on, there were hints from Peking that it was willing to talk, even with the United States.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi, a man reputed to detest all foreigners, including Russians, told a Japanese reporter that China was ready to improve relations with any nation, and "the United States is no exception."

Chen called the question of Formosa, held by the Nationalist Chinese, the key issue in U.S.-Chinese relations, but added that "the Chinese government repeatedly has expressed its willingness to settle the Sino-U.S. dispute." The basis, of course, would be U.S. withdrawal of military protection from Chiang Kai-shek's regime on Formosa.

TWO CHINAS

Red China, said Chen, never would accept the theory, of "two Chinas." The Nationalists don't accept it, either. At the same time, Chen said Peking could be patient about getting into the United Nations, and he guardedly forecast a change in the U.S. attitude which some day might lead to recognition of Peking's claims.

Americans no longer seem shocked — as they would have been a few years ago—by talk of negotiating with Red China. Some are saying that such talks, if they had no other virtue, might postpone a showdown for years and provide a period of grace in which to await world developments.

The U.S. election campaign this year can becloud the American foreign policy picture. But the elections will be over in November. Meanwhile, there may be some thinking that the bull should be taken by the horns, so that at least one political reality that is impending will not have the look of disaster for American policy.

First Night Winners

Charlotte Seeking Laurels

Charlotte Anders, Miss Big Spring, joined a group of six other West Texas beauties in Fort Worth Wednesday for the annual Miss Texas Pageant. The pageant opened with preliminaries in Will Rogers Coliseum.

Miss Anders, a native of Dallas, is a student at Howard County Junior College. She was named Miss Big Spring in the Jaycee-sponsored contest last spring. She boarded a Trans-Texas Airlines flight to Dallas last week to prepare for her appearance in Fort Worth his weekend.

Other West Texas beauties in Fort Worth are Camilla Kothmann, Mason, Miss West Texas; Janice Kinnard, Miss Abilene; Lesley Morris, Miss Lamesa; Sheri Faulkner, Miss Levelland; and Kay Daniel, Miss Pecos.

The winner will be crowned Saturday night before a statewide television audience. She will carry the Miss Texas banner into the Miss America competition at Atlantic City.

The contestants from all over Texas are divided into three groups for evening gown, swim suit and talent judging. Each will compete in a different category through Friday night. The top 10 in each category will enter the final round Saturday.

Jeanne Amacker, Beaumont, a University of Texas student, is the current Miss Texas.

Slaying Trial Nearing End

BLOUNTVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Lawyers were set for closing arguments today in the second trial of William C. Stubbs, accused in the 1954 slaying of a Texas woman — a case about which he claims to remember nothing.

Dist. Atty. Gen. John Wooten said the state would demand the death penalty.

Stubbs testified Wednesday he recalled seeing Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holm of Karnes City, Tex., at a roadside park near Rogersville, Tenn.

He produced a gun and forced the couple to give him a ride, Stubbs said, adding that he put the pistol on the car seat and they talked in friendly fashion.

Stubbs said something struck his head and he thinks Holm attacked h i m. "Everything seemed to be awfully still," he related, and he heard a loud noise a moment before he "went out the door of the car."

Holm, now living in Sweden, testified at Sutbbs' trial a decade ago that he saw Stubbs glance into the rear view mirror. In testimony read from a transcript of the first trial, Holm said Stubbs started shooting and they scuffled before Holm leaped from the car.

'Temporary Supermen' Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy biological scientists are seriously dreaming of some day making men "temporarily superhuman" in strength and muscular control by giving them chemicals, it was disclosed today.

They also are speculating about eventual development of:

—"Skin farms": these would be vast supplies of human skin, grown from individual skin cells in special chambers, and kept in readiness for use in mass disasters.

—"Instant acclimatization": the ability to make a fighting man adjust to the terrific heat of a desert in minutes or hours rather than in days or weeks by giving him special drugs.

LONG-RANGE

These are concededly long-range ideas, whose realization could come only from breakthroughs on tough research problems still under intensive study. They were outlined in a special issue of "Naval Research Reviews," a publication of the Office of Naval Research.

In one report, Dr. Robert K. Jennings, head of ONR's biochemistry branch, described basic research to explain the chemistry of muscle action.

Among the possible benefits if this research is successful, he said:

"We may be able to deal more effectively with (muscle and nerve) poisons an enemy might employ against us; we may be able to treat diseases which incapacitate men today; and we may even learn how to create men who are temporarily superhuman in their strength and muscular control to deal with emergencies without being harmed."

OUTSIDE BODY

Jennings also told of pioneering studies on the cultivation or growth of animal and human cells outside the body.

"Such cultures develop characteristics which are not exactly like the cells and tissues found in the body. When enough has been learned about the factors which control the growth and differentiation of, let us say, skin cells, it may be possible to have 'skin farms' to which the physician can turn for replacement parts when large numbers of casualties are brought to him after natural or man-made holocausts."

Dr. Leonard M. Libber, chief of ONR's physiology branch, outlined the theoretical concept of drug-induced "instant acclimatization" for men suddenly transported by aircraft from a temperate climate into the seething heat of a desert.

THERMOSTAT

In the quest for such a breakthrough, he said, scientists at the Naval Medical Research Institute, Bethesda, Md., are doing basic research on the hypothalamus—the body's ingenious thermostat—to determine how this brain organ transmits information to the nervous and chemical messengers of the body.

ONR is supporting related investigations of techniques whereby various drugs and injected directly into the area of the hypothalamus.

Opening lead: King of ♣

The declarer in today's hand overlooked a simple safety play which would have placed his four spade contract safely beyond reach of the unkind fates.

West opened the king of clubs and South ruffed with the five of spades. A trump was led and the king was played from dummy. East was in with the ace, and another club forced declarer to ruff again. A diamond to the jack put North in to lead a spade. East followed with the six, and South after a momentary hesitation played the queen. This cost him the hand, for he could not avoid losing two heart tricks as well as two spades.

There was no way for declarer to know that the trumps were divided three-one; nevertheless, the proper play by South on the second round of spades is to finesse the 10 in his hand. For, by so doing, he can assure his contract. If the finesse succeeds, the gain is obvious but, if West wins with the jack of spades, it is the last trump held by the opposition.

There is no damaging return that West is in position to make and, when South regains the lead, he can discard three of North's hearts on the top diamond honors. A heart is led to the king and ace, and declarer can now cash the queen and ruff his remaining heart with the dummy's four of spades.

VA Praised For Relations

John Polly, Information Service representative of the Veterans Administration for the southwest area, paid a surprise visit to the local VA Hospital Wednesday and had nothing but praise for its public relations.

"As far as community relations, this is an all-around cracker-jack hospital," he said. "In the three states that I cover which comprise 20 hospitals and regional offices, this is only one of four that at this time has an outstanding rating, the highest rating given by the Veterans Administration."

Polly, who works out of Dallas, has been with the VA since he left the armed services in 1946.

WINDOM, Minn. (AP)—Cowboy Carl Swanson is about a third of the way in his attempt to ride his Hereford bull, Randy, from border to border.

Swanson says he is promoting the use of beef. His arrival in Windom Wednesday marked completion of about 500 miles of beef-on-the-hoof travel.

MOUNTED POLICE DISPERSE BROOKLYN NEGRO MOB
Horses ridden on streets, sidewalks after another night's rioting

Tourist, Average New Yorker Unshaken By Negroes' Rioting

NEW YORK (AP)—At Times Square, a red-faced peddler hawked his wares from the curb, smiling and joking with the throngs on the sidewalk.

Five miles to the north, in Harlem, tension mounted as the sun went down and Negroes wondered whether the night would bring more riots, gunfire, looting and violence.

The city's Negro communities were in the throes of one of the worst racial disorders in decades. Broadway seemed to go on without noticing.

"Don't kid yourself," the peddler said. "The ones that live here are a little scared. They just laugh and smile on the outside. But if they have to travel near the bad areas at night, they're scared inside."

Shriner Irving W. Larrick, of Decatur, Ill., stood in a long line waiting to see the Radio City Music Hall show. He is attending the 90th annual convention of the Shriners of North America.

TROUBLE SPOTS

"We heard about the riots before we came here," he said. "But, just like I said to all my friends back home, if you stay out of the trouble spots you won't even know there's a riot going on."

Thousands of Shriners, attired in their brilliant raiment, strolled around the Times Square area. Their pranks and appearance created a carnival atmosphere.

A Shriner calliope from Cleveland, Ohio, blared forth with "Hello, Dolly" in front of the Hotel Americana. Some couples did the twist on busy Seventh Avenue.

Farther along, a Shriner steel band from Puerto Rico played calypso music as hundreds listened.

The crowds of laughing, joking Shriners and amused onlookers in mid-Manhattan provided a startling contrast to the violence in the Negro sections.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Wednesday night the city's tourist trade has been damaged. He appealed to people planning to visit the city and the World's Fair not to cancel their plans, assuring them they would be safe.

JAZZ CENTER

Miss Jerry Siner was greeting customers at the Metropole, a Manhattan jazz center.

"We don't see any evidence of tension in here," she said. "We have plenty of Negro customers here tonight. They come because they love music."

Matt Bruno, an employe of a Manhattan sightseeing firm that operates buses, said he saw no evidence of fright among his customers.

"We've been running buses in the daytime through parts of Harlem and I haven't noticed any drop in business," he said. "Now at night is a different thing."

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Novotny, of Youngstown, Ohio said they were enjoying their city vacation despite the racial unrest.

"Just like any other city, say Cleveland—if you go where the trouble is you can get in trouble," he said. "We haven't had anything but a pleasant time and I never once thought of canceling the trip."

SHOESHINE BOX

Johnny Jeffries, 12, a Negro shoeshine boy who lives in a riot-troubled section of Brooklyn, plied his trade on the sidewalk near Times Square.

"I went home to Brooklyn last night about midnight and I heard some shooting and banging," he said. "I won't get home until late tonight again. Business these days is too good to pass up."

Brigadier Jackson W. Martin conducted an evening service at the Salvation Army's corps headquarters in the Times Square area.

He devoted part of his address to a plea for God's help to end the racial strife in Harlem and Brooklyn.

"That's what I believe in, prayer," he said.

Newsman Views Looting By Youths

EDITOR'S NOTE — Looters roaming the Negro section of Brooklyn are among the most conspicuous element in the racial disorders in New York City now. An AP newsman, a Negro, gives an eyewitness report.

By AUSTIN SCOTT

NEW YORK (AP)—I saw a gang of about 25 young Negroes loot a Brooklyn liquor store Wednesday night as New York City's racial violence continued.

It was late in the evening after most of the excitement in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section was over. It was raining.

The police had thinned out. Many store windows were broken.

One youth leaped through the broken window to pass out bottles. I stood with the rest of the gang, who gathered around the window so nobody could see from the street what was going on.

It took maybe three minutes for them to run away with the liquor. No policeman showed.

All evening there was scattered vandalism along a 12-block stretch of Brooklyn's Broadway, a street of small shops.

It had a decidedly different mood from the violence in Harlem, the dense Negro section in Manhattan.

In Brooklyn, people on the streets said the violence scared them or that they didn't think it made sense.

In Harlem, I heard them scream obscenities at police and chant, "Kill them, kill them." There was none of that in Brooklyn.

At first, the Brooklyn crowds were mostly youngsters in their early teens. They taunted police, but didn't seem bent on making serious trouble.

They gathered in small groups on street corners, yelled or chanted in unison, or marched up the street. When police converged they scattered, howling with laughter.

As the evening wore on, older groups of adults in their mid-20s replaced the kids. They smashed windows, overturned trash cans and dropped bottles and light bulbs from the platforms of the elevated train route that runs along Broadway.

Many of the adults seemed more curious than violent. They flocked to the sound of smashing glass before police arrived.

Police fired dozens of shots from time to time to dispense them. They drove police cars up onto the sidewalks to chase the people away.

From the smashed shop windows, looters ran off with an assortment of merchandise. Burglar alarms were ringing up and down the street.

Many restaurant and bar owners closed early in the evening.

"I got caught in the trouble the other night," said one, a Negro. "I'm getting out of here and going home."

Pet Owners Enthuse Over Poodle Virtues

By MARY COCHRAN

John Steinbeck extolled the virtues of his poodle in the best selling novel, "Travels With Charley." He is no more enthusiastic in ownership of this breed than many local people who are owned by poodles.

This breed is the offspring of the Irish Water Spaniel and the Curly Coated Retriever. Experts differ on his original home with some crediting Russia and others Germany. All agree that he was a hunting dog, and that the original clipping of his fur from the ribs to the stern was to make it easier for the dog to swim when retrieving game.

Local people interviewed praised the poodle for many virtues and said the trait of loyalty was the predominate characteristic. Bo Bowen shares her home with Andre, Michelle and Antoinette, two miniatures and a toy breed, and finds them delightful companions. They serve as watchdogs, and with their keen sense of hearing keep her informed of anyone approaching the house.

SMART BREED

"They have the highest IQ of any canine group," she said, "and thrive on love and affection." They can be expertly trained but she prefers them as pets with individual self-evolved personalities.

She is enthusiastic over their ability to be friends with other breeds of dogs and their particular characteristic of making fine companions for children.

Mrs. Truett Vines has two apricot poodles, mother and daughter. She received the older dog three years ago as a Christmas gift and has found she prefers their breed to collies, shepherds or terriers, all of which she has previously owned.

Mrs. B. B. Badger has just recently joined the ranks of poodle owners and is having fun with her six-month-old cinnamon colored "Cindy." She, too, has had other breeds, and finds her new puppy a lovable pet and easy to train.

GROOMING STYLES

Grooming and clipping styles vary with the individual owners. "The Modern Dog Encyclopedia" by Henry P. Davis says there are two main styles for clipping these dogs. The Continental fashion is styled with the hind quarters bare and rosettes on the hips and hocks, while the English Saddle style has the hips covered with a short blanket of hair.

When poodles were taken to France several centuries ago as hunting dogs, the women became entranced with the breed and began the more ornate styles of clipping. Due to their ability to be trained, the dogs soon became popular circus actors. In paintings dating back as far as 1490 there are poodles showing the clipped styles.

Mrs. Hank McDaniel has seven tiny toy whites and chooses the clipping styles best suited to the individual dog. She finds that like a woman with a hairdo, some fashions seem to fit the individual better than others. She used the variation Royal Dutch clip on some of her dogs where hair is left on the hind legs resembling pant-legs.

Her dogs live out of doors the year round even in the coldest weather, though they do have heated quarters to sleep in.

Capt. Marion L. Meads began poodle-ownership a year ago and terms her dog a "wonderful breed" that has learned rapidly. She is planning some obedience training so the pet can be entered in dog shows.

ODOR FREE

One reason these dogs make such excellent house pets is due to the fact that they do not have dog odor and, despite their heavy coat of hair, do not shed. Several owners profess that they allow their dogs on the bed because they are so clean. Another pleasing aspect is that these dogs are very easy to house break.

In a local pet shop that grooms poodles the owner has a list of 162 registered poodle owners in the community. This breed leads in popularity in the American Kennel Club registration by a large margin over other types.

The colors vary as does the cost. One may purchase a pure bred poodle for $50 or $500. The animals that have become AKC champions through registered shows may be valued as high as $10,000.

The original hunting dogs were quite large, ranging in height from 16 to 26 inches. These have been bred down and now the standard is 15 inches and up, the miniature is from 10 to 15 inches and the toy is not over 10 inches tall.

Toy and miniature breeds are most popular throughout the United States as they are well adapted to home life in apartments and small homes.

Puppy Love

Pam Vines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vines, 1011 Bluebonnet, is learning the pleasures of poodle-ownership and the problems of puppydom. Her six-week-old pet has already gained a permanent place in the family's affections.

No-Segregation Activity Memo Reaffirmed At Federal Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's instruction that no federal official or serviceman should participate in a meeting of a segregated organization was intended as a statement of firm policy, without loopholes.

But those whose job it is to see the admonishment is observed say that interpretations are required on some points.

Indeed, the directive itself notes that exceptions may be granted in particular cases "if the objectives of the federal civil rights program would be better served thereby."

FOLLOWS PHRASING

Although the policy applies to all federal agencies, its impact is greatest on the Defense Department for the reason that the military has far more men deployed in far more communities than any other agency.

A Pentagon memorandum of July 7 over the signature of Deputy Defense Sec. Cyrus Vance, follows closely the phrasing of the original White House memorandum.

It says care must be exercised that in accepting speaking engagements or participating in meetings, military and civilian officials should observe the policy. They should not participate in or speak before audiences "where any racial group is segregated or excluded." When requests for speakers or participation are received, inquiry should be made as to the practices of the group before acceptance is given. If the group offers to change its policy for the meeting, "obviously the department should cooperate in such efforts."

But this left the question: What if an officer or civilian on a base near a community is a regular member of a civic organization or a church group?

INFORMAL ADVICE

The Pentagon apparently has not disseminated any formal document to answer questions which have arisen, but informal advice has been passed along. As given to a reporter, the answer was:

The policy applies to persons who attend in the status of an official of the United States government; it does not apply to their activity as a regular member of any local group. But if an officer, at the invitation of a civic club or other local organization, goes to a meeting to make an official speech, perhaps on the subject of the future of the base, the memorandum does apply.

What about groups within churches?

SEGREGATION

The answer runs like this:

There certainly is no objections to speaking to a group in a church. But if the group is limited to white persons this is segregation and official participation is banned.

A spokesman commented that in determining whether a civic or religious organization is segregated, consideration should be given to the possibility that the group does not exclude persons for racial reasons but that Negroes just do not desire to attend. This may be because of personal choice or because of the simple fact that there may be few or no Negroes in a community.

Guerrillas Again Blast Vietnamese In Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong forces carried out another of their one-a-day ambushes against government units Wednesday night.

The attack occurred about 25 miles northwest of Saigon near the Ranger camp at Trung Lap.

Under recoilless cannon, the guerrillas destroyed an armored personnel carrier and inflicted 20 casualties, including 6 killed, U.S. spokesmen said.

The government forces also lost a number of weapons.

Trung Lap is a Ranger training camp near the edge of Communist-controlled "D Zone," a few miles from a Viet Cong training camp. The area is largely covered by jungle in which the Viet Cong has built a huge network of tunnels and fortifications.

For the past week, the Viet Cong has hit a large government unit somewhere in South Viet Nam every day, often resulting in heavy government casualties.

Meanwhile, giant U.S. Air Force C-130 Hercules transports began returning 400 Vietnamese troops from the Mekong River Delta to Hue, 40 miles south of the frontier of Communist North Viet Nam.

The aerial troop movement presumably was intended to strengthen government defenses against a possible Communist attack. Viet Cong guerrillas have been increasingly active in the northernmost part of South Viet Nam.

The troops going north had been shifted to the delta five months ago, and Premier Nguyen Khanh said then they could be spared because that sector was relatively well under control.

Communist China's New China News Agency reported today that North Viet Nam had sent six letters to the international commission on Indochina alleging U.S. and South Vietnamese military "intrusion" of the demilitarized zone that separates North and South Viet Nam.

It's Curtains For Arthur Murray Chain

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Murray is stepping out of the dance studio business he started in the 1930s when he taught residents of Minneapolis to circle and say "oi" to the tune of the Lambeth Walk.

He said Wednesday that two franchises have purchased control of the cross-country chain, Arthur Murray Inc., for about $1 million. The new owners said they would retain Murray's name, though he said he wishes they wouldn't. Mrs. Murray will continue as an advisor.

Murray, 69, who had been president, said he plans to produce dramatic television shows, drawing upon experience he gained producing "The Arthur Murray Show" that featured his wife, Kathryn.

Murray started as a dance teacher in 1913. He was an assistant to Vernon Castle in New York and later was part of a dance-at-night, teach - during-the-day team.

"In 1936 or 1937," he said, "the Statler Hotel in Minneapolis wanted someone to teach guests the new dance craze, the Lambeth Walk. I started doing that and it caused such interest that I started others in other hotels."

The Lambeth Walk died out, but the bunny hop and other new dances kept the chain growing.

By 1948, there were some 500 franchised Murray studios across the country, grossing $40-$50 million. Murray said he sold out his ownership interests then for about $2 million. He has remained in a role of diminishing activity since.

The purchase, completed last week but not disclosed until today, was by Harry Evans of Houston, Tex., who owns 17 franchised studios, and James R. Banta of Fort Lauderdale, who owns about 21.

Family Of Four Slain

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — A young salesman, described by neighbors as highly depressed, strangled his British-born wife and two young daughters Wednesday and hanged himself, police said.

"He never discussed any of his problems, but he has been despondent since he moved here three months ago," said Jane Tingler Wertz, sister of Frazier Leon Tingler.

The bodies of Tingler, 28; his wife, Jill, 25; and their two daughters Dana, 6, and Penny Lee, 4, were found by their landlord and a plumber who went to the home to repair a sink drain.

The bodies of the wife and children were lying face down in the same bedroom. Tingler's body was hanging by an electric cord from the bedroom door.

Mrs. Tingler's mother, Mrs. J. R. Johnston, sailed Wednesday from New York City to return to her home in Surrey, England, after a six-weeks visit with the Tinglers.

Tingler, a native of Roanoke, had stayed in England after being discharged from the U.S. Air Force there. He and his family came to the United States about a year ago.

DEAR ABBY

A Matter Of Manners

DEAR ABBY: Our son spent a year at the State University and now he thinks he is ready to educate his parents. This is what happened. He met a very high-class girl, and before she would introduce him to her family she gave him some lessons in table manners. This girl and her parents are motoring through our town this summer and they plan to stop here to meet us. Our son offered to give his mother and me a few pointers in table manners like this girl gave him. I told him over my dead body. What is your opinion of: (A) a girl who would give a young man lessons on how to eat? (B) a young man who would suggest giving his parents the same lessons?

KNOWS HOW TO EAT

DEAR KNOWS: (A) Apparently the girl thought your son needed the lessons, and she liked him well enough to teach him. I admire her. (B) Your son is well-motivated in offering to teach you. If you don't care to learn, that's your business. But don't get sore about it. The girl's parents probably know that table manners aren't everything—as you do.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I don't drive a car, never have, and all my friends know it so, naturally, I must depend on others for rides. Whenever there is a club meeting, church doings, or something my friends know I want to attend, why must I call THEM and beg a ride? Don't you think they should call ME and offer a ride? It seems, around here, if you don't ask you don't go.

NOT PUSHY

DEAR NOT PUSHY: Most people are too preoccupied with their own business to guess who needs a ride. And unless you ask, they have no way of knowing. Don't be so sensitive. If you need a ride, call whomever you think is going and ask for a lift. If you are pleasant, prompt and appreciative, and do not take them out of their way, I am sure you will be welcome.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A couple who lived in our neighborhood recently split up. When the wife left she took everything that wasn't nailed down, including all the linen, kitchen utensils, appliances, you name it. Last week one of the neighbors called and invited us to a shower for the husband! She said she thought it would be nice if we all got together and helped to put him back into housekeeping. Abby, have you ever heard of giving a MAN a shower because his wife left and took everything?

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: No. What this country needs is a good all-purpose umbrella to protect us against showers.

Trunk Rattle Rattles Woman

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A woman looked out her window Wednesday and saw a man apparently stuffing another man into the trunk of a car. She called police.

Soon Michael Lambert, a mechanic, was explaining to them how he put a fellow mechanic into the trunk and drove him around the block to check a rattle in the trunk.

Much Of World Joining In U. S. Election Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharp debate over U.S. foreign policy which is developing in this year's presidential election campaign seems likely to excite more reaction in foreign countries than any American political dispute since the end of World War II.

Much of the European press has already expressed bitter criticism of the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater, assailing him as the leader of those who would change fundamental U.S. positions in world affairs.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev raised the operation to the summit level this week by denouncing both the Republican nominee and the platform on which he is running.

INTERFERENCE

This kind of action by a foreign official is traditionally classified in diplomacy as interference in the internal affairs of the United States, and the diplomat who tried it would quickly find himself in serious trouble.

In 1888 British Ambassador Lionel Sackville-West was sent home for taking sides in the contest between Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison, and his fate is well remembered in the Washington diplomatic corps to this day.

But the rules that silence ambassadors do not operate for presidents and premiers, speaking from distant capitals.

Khrushchev told a Polish audience that the candidate put forward by the Republican party "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

He also asserted that the Republican platform, which he denounced as warlike, had been adopted "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist gatherings in Nuernberg."

The big question raised among U.S. foreign policy officials who are always concerned with the aim of Khrushchev's maneuvers, is what he hopes to accomplish by an attack at this time.

AGAINST NIXON

Khrushchev has interfered in U.S. presidential politics before.

In 1960 he spoke out against Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon. At that time Khrushchev had broken off friendly personal relations with President Dwight D. Eisenhower over the U2 plane incident, and he expressed his antagonism toward Nixon by identifying him with Eisenhower.

Diplomats here believe the present campaign debate on foreign policy probably will be more far reaching and involve more fundamental issues than any in the past 20 years.

Where the Communist problem is concerned, for example, the Johnson administration has been following a policy of trying to treat different Communist countries differently according to their willingness to make practical agreements with the United States. In the Kennedy-Johnson administration the outstanding example of this policy is the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed with the Soviet Union last summer.

Reopening Top Balcony At Capitol Eyed

AUSTIN (AP)—Re-admitting tourists to the top balcony ringing the inside of the Capitol dome is no easy matter, the State Board of Control contends.

All Capitol traffic has been stopped at the fourth floor for at least 10 years, but the board has considered allowing visitors to look down on the colorful rotunda floor from the fifth floor balcony, the highest in the rotunda.

In a 1965-67 budget heard Wednesday by officials of the legislative and governor's budget officers, the board said the proposal brings up these problems:

1. There's nothing to stop objects dropped from the balcony, which is several hundred feet above the crowded rotunda floor. So, $4,000 will be needed to install a grill to catch dropped objects.
2. The fourth-to-fifth floor enclosed stairway is long and hot and $3,000 will be needed for a ventillation system in the stairwell areas "to keep people from dropping out from exhaustion while climbing."
3. The long trip up the stairs will make visitors thirsty. So, $2,000 will be needed to run a water line and drain to the fifth floor and install a fountain.
4. The fifth floor is a long way from help. So, $350 will be needed for a first aid kit.
5. The stairway walls will attract slogan-writers. So, $2,500 will be needed annually to keep the area repainted.
6. Some visitors might not be satisfied with the breath-taking view from the balcony. So, $1,100 will be needed for "an enclosure of one area open between the fourth and fifth landings to keep people from climbing around on metal structures and coverings."

Including $1,500 for stairstep safety treads, the total bill for the biennium will be $16,950, part of a total 1965-67 board budget estimate of $5.5 million.

SERVE SESAME SEED ROLLS WITH LAMB SALAD
Cantaloupe half-shells are high in vitamins and low in calories

Hot Summer Day Demands Cool Cup Of Melon Meat

Nothing tastes better on a dusty summer day than a freshly sliced melon, seeds scooped out and the generous cavity filled with bite sized chunks of fresh fruit. Nothing, that is, except perhaps a filling of cottage cheese or fruit salad.

Melons are still a bargain in Texas markets and are often the only thing that will revive a wilted appetite. When the day is uncomfortably warm, fill one to the brim with whatever you like best and dip into cooling nourishment.

Lamb Salad In Half-Shells

2 cantaloupes
2 cups cold roast lamb, cut into slivers
½ cup sliced celery
2 tbsps. thinly-sliced green onion
2 tbsps. slivered green pepper
¼ cup coarsely-chopped cashew nuts
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 tbsps. chutney
¼ cup mayonnaise

Cut a ½-inch ring from the middle of each cantaloupe. Remove seeds and rind from rings and dice melon to make about 1 cup. Remove seeds from half-shells. To the diced melon add lamb, celery, onion, green pepper and nuts. Sprinkle with garlic salt and toss to mix thoroughly. Chop chutney and add to mayonnaise. Mix carefully with salad. Spoon into cantaloupe half-shellls. Serve as a main-course salad. Makes 4 servings.

Cantaloupe Calico

3 cantaloupes
Salt
1 jar (5 oz.) dried beef
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup flour
1 tbsp. chicken stock base
2 cups milk
½ to ¾ tsp. rosemary
1 cup tiny red tomatoes

Cut cantaloupes into halves; scoop out seeds. Sprinkle fruit with salt. Blanch beef in hot water; drain and chop. Melt butter in a saucepan; add green pepper and saute until tender-crisp. Stir in flour and stock base and heat until bubbly; add milk and cook and stir until thickened. Stir in beef and rosemary; heat through. Cut tomatoes into halves and fold into cream mixture. Spoon into cantaloupe half-shells. Garnish with parsley if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Cantaloupe Cream Pie

½ large, ripe cantaloupe
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
3 eggs, separated
½ cup milk or cream
9-inch baked pie shell
6 tbsps. sugar for meringue

Peel melon and remove seeds. Cut meat into cubes and cook, covered, in top of double boiler, over boiling water, for about an hour, until melon is tender. Mash or puree fruit, and add lemon juice. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add slightly beaten egg yolks and milk. Add cornstarch mixture to mashed cantaloupe and stir until smooth.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Cool and spoon into baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until meringue piles well. Spread over the pie filling, from the edges inward. Brown in the oven for about 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve when cool. Makes one 9-inch pie, six servings.

Cantaloupe Waldorf Salad

2 cups diced cantaloupe
1 cup diced apples
1 cup diced pared peaches
1 cup diced celery
1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
2 tbsps. French dressing
½ cup coarsely broken pecans
Lettuce and mayonnaise

Mix together the cantaloupe, apples, peaches, celery, lemon juice and French dressing; cover; refrigerate and allow to marinate for 10 to 15 minutes. Drain off excess dressing. Add pecans and mix lightly. Serve on lettuce; top with mayonnaise. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mrs. C. J. Chapman Keeps 'Bankers Hours' At Home

By JO BRIGHT

The Carleton J. Chapmans are just the type of family that a banking institution would be proud to include in the overall picture of its corporate image. Naturally, he is a vice president of the State National Bank.

Mrs. Chapman is a dark-eyed brunette, reserved but friendly, and her husband is soft-spoken and direct, with a conservative air. There are three handsome, well-mannered children, Carla, 16, Steve, 12, and Myrna, 8.

The Chapman home at 2907 Goliad in Highland South is of buff-pink brick and in the front flowerbeds, petunias and Bells of Ireland fight the every-afternoon battle with a blistering sun. They edge a long porch where, on cooler days, the family can view the city from their vantage point near the base of South Mountain.

Inside, there are four bedrooms, formal living room and a spacious den partitioned from the kitchen by a breakfast bar. Here are the comfortable chairs, a fireplace and of course, a color TV in one corner. This is the hub of the household and in the kitchen, Mrs. Chapman prepares regular meals and snacks for the leisure hours with help from Carla and Myrna.

FAMILY HUB

"The room next to the kitchen is just that 'extra' room people always want," said Mrs. Chapman. "You know, the room where things collect that there seems to be no other place for." And there are always things collecting in the home. Chapman has a collection of old kerosene lamps which are placed over the fireplace. It started over his sentimental attachment for a lamp that he once studied by. When he discovered that his wife had just such a lamp in her possession, too, he began looking for others to keep. Incidentally, the marble fireplace ledge was originally a part of the first bank in Big Spring.

Chapman and the children collect coins, too, as a natural outgrowth of his association with banking. Mrs. Chapman puts more effort into her leisure hours. She enjoys "making something from nothing." It began when she was a den mother and needed things to keep the youngsters feeling creative. She gleaned ideas from other Scout leaders, magazines, and experimented with ideas of her own.

"I like to redo furniture but lately there has been so little time for that sort of thing that I content myself with refinishing picture frames," she said. She has several now that have been in the family for many years which she will stain or gild.

PREPARES AHEAD

Mealtime for the Chapmans is most irregular.

"I try to be prepared for the days that Carleton calls to say he will be home in five minutes—with a friend," she remarked. "Often he is unable to come home so we have a light lunch but I use the freezer to keep things ready that could be served in a hurry if he brings business acquaintances home or if unexpected company drops in."

She said that her husband and the girls like meats and sweets but that Steve will trade the desserts for something starchy. Her Banana Nut Cake recipe is one that she uses often to serve with coffee after games.

"I am able to try new recipes more often now," she continued. "When the children were small, they resented anything that they were unfamiliar with but they don't mind trying new foods now."

Myrna was wearing a red and white checked dress which Carla made this summer as part of her Future Homemakers of America sewing project. She has made at least five other garments since school vacation began. Petite and pretty, Carla participated in both the Junior Miss Big Spring and Miss Cotton contests.

Myrna is active in Girl Scouts and will begin piano lessons next month. She is learning to crochet from her grandmother, Mrs. N. B. Hoover, who lives just down the street.

Steve, also a Scout, is active in Little League baseball and takes turns with the other children in caring for the family pet, a whippet chihuahua named "Pixie."

Mrs. Chapman is of German descent and the Mix Bread she shares today is a recipe that was handed down from her grandmother, the late Mrs. R. C. Roberts.

Handy Helpers

Mrs. C. J. Chapman is glad to have Carla help type recipes to share with Herald readers. At left, Myrna helps check ingredients while Steve catches up on his reading.

QUICK WHITE CAKE
(for strawberry cake)

2 cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
3½ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup shortening
⅛ tsp. almond flavoring
4 egg whites
4 boxes frozen strawberries
1 pt. whipping cream

Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into large bowl of electric mixer. Add shortening, 2-3 cup of milk and flavoring. Beat 2 minutes with electric beater on medium speed. Add unbeaten egg whites and remainder of milk; beat 2 minutes. Pour into 2 8-inch pans which have been greased and floured.

Place in 375 degree oven. Bake 25 minutes. When cake is cooled, cover one layer with fruit then cream. Place second layer on top and use remainder of fruit then cover cake with the remainder of cream. Place in refrigerator to chill. This cake is nice to make the day before using.

DINNER-IN-A-SKILLET

½ lb. ground beef or ham
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1½ tbsps. finely chopped onions
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. dry mustard
Few grains of pepper
2 tbsps. flour
¼ cup cooking oil
1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed soup, tomato or cream of mushroom
⅔ cup milk
1½ cups cooked, or 1 lb. canned mixed vegetables
½ tsp. salt

Combine first eight ingredients. Shape into 12 small meat balls. Roll in flour. Heat oil in skillet over medium heat about 3 minutes. Fry meat balls about 10 minutes. When brown, arrange around sides and pour condensed soup and milk, which have been mixed together, in center of skillet. Add drained vegetables and salt. Cover and simmer about 10 minutes. Makes about 4 servings.

CHILI SAUCE

1 gal. (or 6¼ lbs.) ripe tomatoes (peel and core before measuring)
2-3 cup chopped white onions
2½ cups white sugar
1 tsp. nutmeg, grated
¾ tsp. tabasco sauce
½ tsp. curry powder
2 bell peppers
2 cups vinegar
2 small pods pepper (green)
5 tsps. salt
2 tsps. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. mustard

Put tomatoes and onions through food chopper or chop with knife. Add all other ingredients and boil 2 hours or until thick, stirring frequently to prevent burning. As soon as sauce is of desired consistency, pour into sterilized jars and seal at once. If desired, ¾ teaspoon of red pepper may be used instead of tabasco sauce.

MIX BREAD

½ cup of corn meal
3 tbsps. flour
1 tbsp. salt
2½ cups water
2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. shortening
2 yeast cakes or 2 pkgs. dry yeast
1½ cups water (very warm for dry yeast)
About 8 cups of flour

Combine corn meal, 3 tablespoons flour, salt, and 2½ cups water and cook for about 10 minutes. Let cool. Add sugar, shortening, and yeast (which has been dissolved in water). Add flour and mix well. Let rise in bowl until doubled in size. Beat well, then put in pans and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake at 350 degrees about 50 minutes. Rub tops of loaves with butter as soon as they are removed from oven. Yields 3 loaves.

CHICKEN OR TURKEY DRESSING AND STUFFING
(5 lbs. and larger)

For a 3 to 5 lb. chicken or turkey, use half of recipe:

1 recipe baking powder biscuits or sour milk biscuits
1 recipe corn bread
½ cup onions
10 boiled eggs

Crumble biscuits and corn bread in large mixing bowl or pan. Season to taste with salt, pepper, and sage if desired. Add finely chopped onion and boiled eggs and raw eggs. Slice margarine and add to mixture or drop into bouillon. Pour bouillon into mixing bowl or pan and stir well. If you like a more moist dressing, add more water to bouillon or the mixture itself. Chopped parsley and celery may be added if a more savory dressing is desired. For roast duck add 2 tablespoons current jelly. Bake in roasting pan approximately 2 hours at 250 degrees.

GRAVY

1 cup bouillon and enough dressing mixture for required thickness.

Friendship Forest

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A "friendship forest" of 2,500 pine trees will be planted July 25 by American Scouts, with U.S. Embassy and the Mexican government cooperating. The trees will be planted outside Mexico City on the Toluca highway.

Applicants Nixed At Many Colleges

CHICAGO (AP)—Many colleges and universities are slamming their doors on thousands of applicants because of a lack of space.

But a survey by The Associated Press showed today there still is room in many other institutions of higher education, especially in less populated states.

The survey indicated the school rush isn't as heavy as it seems. In some instances prospective students are playing sort of an academic parlay—applying, say, to three different colleges in the hope of getting into one of them.

A high school graduate seeking admission to the University of Massachusetts or to one of the 10 state colleges in the Bay State came up against odds of almost 5-1.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The university received 12,000 applications for 2,600 openings in the freshman class entering in September. The state colleges, primarily for teacher training, admitted 3,700 of 18,000 applicants.

Georgia Tech has closed its registration books. The University of Georgia did likewise May 4, the earliest cutoff date in its history. Emory University took similar action March 10.

Villanova University, for the first time, had to put a lid on applications for the freshman class.

The University of Rhode Island and Rhode Island College had to cease consideration of new applications in the spring.

Providence (R.I.) College rejected more than 1,000 requests for admission.

APPLICATIONS

"In all divisions of Rutgers (New Brunswick, Newark, Camden) by Feb. 12 we had received 14,000 applications from fully qualified students," a spokesman said, "and yet have room for only 3,555 in the next freshman class. The men's colleges in New Brunswick cut off applications Feb. 15."

The University of Illinois has announced it may have to turn away 2,600 would-be students at its Urbana and Chicago campuses.

Darmouth is rejecting applicants by the platoon.

HOUSING

In some schools, such as the University of Missouri, enrollment will be limited by a shortage of housing. In others, lack of adequate classroom facilities is a big factor.

But the biggest factor is that children born early in the postwar baby boom now are knocking on college gates.

The State University of New York, comprising 58 units scattered across the state has had to turn away students in recent years. It pointed out that it receives applications from young folks who apply simultaneously to several schools.

Police Chief Hurt

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico City Judiciary Chief of Police Fernando Romero, injured when a bus struck his car Monday, is still in critical condition, hospital aides said.

Refinery's Air Pollution Claimed

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Health officials claim the nearby Azcapotzalco Refinery, operated by the government, is a constant source of air pollution which is harming the health of thousands.

Mauricio Gomez Mayorga and a technical group of the health ministry said gases emitted by the Pemex unit are gradually ruining the health of nearby residents.

Mexico City smog is becoming more serious annually, and the refinery is contributing to the situation, it was reported.

Shrine Welfare

NEW YORK (AP) — The Shriners will spend $23 million for child welfare next year, its new imperial potentate said Wednesday. Of the amount, $10 million will be spent for construction of institutes to treat burns in Galveston, Tex., Cincinnati and Boston and a new hospital in Honolulu.

Chief Writes For Magazine

An article by Big Spring Police Chief E. J. Banks appears in the July issue of Texas Town & City, a publication of the Texas Municipal League.

The story is entitled "Clear, Detailed Police Manual Fosters Efficiency and Morale." Banks points out that morale of the department is high because each police officer knows exactly what is expected of him and what his duties are. The chief also outlined the operation of the department, pointing out that the local department has a high esprit de corps.

There are 48 employes in the police department, including 24 patrolmen, four radio dispatchers, three captains, one lieutenant, five sergeants, three detectives, a warrant officer and an identification officer. Others on the force include the assistant chief, animal warden, secretaries, records clerks and meter patrolwomen. Vehicles assigned to the department include 11 cars, two motorcycles and one pickup.

Texarkana's Chief Resigns

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Police Chief Jack O'Brien resigned Wednesday, effective Sept. 10. He gave no reason. City Manager Gene Gatlin praised O'Brien for building "an outstanding police department here."

O'Brien was police chief at Longview and Bellaire before coming here in January 1961.
