UT Regent Post Filled

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally named Frank Erwin Jr. today a regent of the University of Texas. Erwin is secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

The Senate last month rejected W. St. John Garwood, a former Supreme Court justice, for the place.

Erwin must have Senate confirmation.

Connally named Rev. C. A. Holliday of Fort Worth to the State Board of Corrections, the first Negro named to the board.

"The problems of the prisons system is such that a member of his race can do a great deal of good for Texas," Connally asserted.

Reappointed to the board were J. M. Windham of Livingston and Jack Vaughn of Dallas.

Connally appointed Roy Furr, a Lubbock businessman, a Texas Tech regent, along with Herbert Allen of Houston, currently a governor of Rice University.

Reappointed to the Tech Board was Harold Hinn of Dallas.

Other appointments included:

Jack Kultgen of Waco to the Highway Commission.

Mrs. Jack Bowman of San Antonio and Mrs. John Hazlewood of Amarillo to the Texas Women's University board.

Rev. Martin Griffin of Waco, Joseph Scott Jr. of San Antonio and Dr. J. A. Chatman of Lubbock to the board of Texas Southern University.

Governor Wants No Cut In Fund For Education

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally said today he does not want to see 1964-65 spending for higher education in Texas cut below his recommendations.

The appropriations bill approved by the House last week calls for about $38 million less in general revenue spending for state colleges.

"I devoted considerable time to the higher education aspects of my budget and I think my recommendations are well founded and realistic," Connally said. "I would not like to see them cut below the level recommended."

Connally also said he would like to see a conference committee replace an appropriation for the Texas Maritime Agency eliminated by the House.

Connally repeated previous statements that he thought the main issues of the legislature could be settled in a 140-day regular session without a special session.

"We might even shave a few days off the regular session," he said.

In answering other questions on the panel, Connally said:

He "very definitely" will push his recommendations for $35 million in additional tax money for 1964-65. His plans for a $23.8 million revision of the state sales tax and a $11 million extension of the present franchise tax rate have been pending in a House subcommittee.

That an increase in state college tuition "may well be" a third source of new revenue—after sales tax revision and the franchise tax extension. He has made no definite recommendation on a tuition increase.

That he still considers a "workable" loan shark bill a prime legislative issue and believes one could be passed this session. He said the present loan regulation bill pending in the Senate would be acceptable to him if passed in its present form.

That Texas needs to finance and organize a move that would let high state officials speak for Texas at Washington hearings and other meetings important to the state. He said recent Texas opposition to the President's oil tax revision proposals and to foreign beef imports are two good examples of the need for such a movement.

Alcatraz Guard Towers Empty; Prison Shuts Down

ALCATRAZ, Calif. (AP)—The guard towers of Alcatraz were empty today for the first time in 29 years. There was no one to guard.

The last 27 of the 1,576 to serve time since 1934 on the 12½-acre island, as the nation's toughest convicts, were shipped ashore Thursday and sent by plane to other mainland prisons. Guards took them away, handcuffed and shackled.

Today the fourth and last warden of "The Rock," Olin C. Blackwell, turned with his staff of 130 to the job of shutting down the island after 113 years of operation as a federal fort, military and civilian prison.

By July 1, the former prison will be ready for possible turnover to the General Services Administration as surplus.

Maybe it will become a park for tourists; maybe an offshore restaurant and night club within sight of the famed Golden Gate. Nobody really knows now.

California's U.S. senators and representatives seek creation of a presidential commission to decide the island's future. San Francisco Mayor George Christopher wants tourists to be able to tour the buildings for a time. Then he proposes a fitting statue as large as the Statue of Liberty.

"The prison help is being relocated," said Fred T. Wilkinson, associate director of the Bureau of Prisons.

"A few are eligible to retire. Some want other jobs so they can stay in San Francisco. But many are going to other prisons. We expect some to wind up in the new maximum security prison we're opening a little later this year at Marion, Ill."

"I'm going to miss The Rock," Warden Blackwell said.

Flow Held Steady

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas Corporation Commission held the Kansas oil production allowable steady today for the second month at 305,000 barrels daily.

Famed Filipino Rebel Turns 94

MANILA (AP) — Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, who led Filipino insurrectionists against Spain and the United States, celebrated his 94th birthday today.

As in past years, U.S. and Philippine military bands serenaded the general and high officials came to pay their respects.

The celebration was held at Veterans Memorial Hospital. Aguinaldo suffered a heart attack last month.

Aguinaldo was 32 when he surrendered after five years of revolution, first against Spain and then the United States.

Stock Market Shows Fairly Steady Tone

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed a fairly steady tone in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Airlines were up as a group. Nonferrous metals were generally higher. Small gains and losses were intermingled in many groups.

For the second day running, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at noon, reading 256.5.

The economic background was reasonably bright. Retail sales and auto production were on the upgrade.

A jump of 50 points for Superior Oil of California put this high-priced issue at $1,288 a share. Rumors of corporate developments, including a stock split, accompanied its rise.

Sunray DX Oil was hit by profit-taking and sank 1⅞ to 32.

Airlines, said brokers, were helped by prospects of higher revenues in the warm months ahead. United Airlines gained more than a point, Eastern about a point, American Airlines and Pan American fractions.

Chrysler and Ford also added fractions. General Motors dipped slightly. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem were steady.

Gains of around a point were scored by AT&T, U.S. Smelting and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Amerada gained about 2 points. Getty Oil eased. Fractional gains were made by a number of other oils including Texaco, Standard of Indiana and Shell.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.09 to 676.66.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved irregularly higher.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to easy.

Weather Big Launch Problem

HOLLOMAN AFB, N.M. (AP)—Weather appeared to be the big problem for the Stargazer balloon launch today.

Weather forecasts indicate Saturday, which has been set as a tentative launch date, may be the last good day until Tuesday.

The balloon was first set to be launched Tuesday with Air Force Capt. Joe Kittinger and civilian astronomer William White manning the balloon.

The project is an Air Force endeavor to find at what altitude atmospheric distortion stops and the stars lose their twinkle, to see what part turbulence plays in the scintillation; and an experiment to determine how much infrared rays are soaked up in water vapors.

Fire Disrupts Phone Service

COLORADO CITY (SC) — An early morning fire at Loraine left that Mitchell County town without telephone service for about 16 hours Thursday. A building behind the unattended telephone exchange burned about 2:30 a.m. Thursday and the flames damaged telephone cables leading from the exchange. Service was resumed between 6 and 7 p.m. Thursday.

The exchange serves 510 patrons, according to a spokesman for Telephones, Inc. of Springtown, Texas, owner of the service. Bill Scarbar of Loraine, maintenance man for the system, said that only five of the 510 patrons had local telephone service following the fire, and out-of-town calls were impossible.

The burned building was owned by Mrs. Emma Hackfeld, according to Willie Hackfeld, her son. He said the building was empty except for four cotton trailers, which belonged to him. He estimated damage to the building and trailers at $4,300. Hackfeld said that he thought the building had caught from a grass fire in the alley behind the building.

Conflicting Estes Case Witnesses Confront

Defense To Claim Firms Knew There Was No Fraud

EL PASO (AP)—An out of court confrontation today left witnesses disputing each other at the Billie Sol Estes mail fraud trial.

Prosecutor Rufus McLean, with witness Hilbert Kreeger Jr. in tow, met another witness, Douglas Lewsader, in a courtroom corridor.

McLean said to Kreeger, "Don't say anything, but have you ever seen this man before?"

Kreeger shook his head to indicate he had never seen him.

Lewsader is a former pilot for Estes. A key point of Estes' defense is whether Kreeger ever met Estes and whether he knew the mortgages Kreeger's company bought were worthless.

Kreeger earlier testified under oath he had never seen Estes until the trial started.

Farther along the corridor, Kreeger came face to face with E. L. Hartman, also a former pilot for Estes. McLean asked Kreeger the same question, and this time Kreeger made no public response.

John Cofer, Estes' lawyer, asked Lewsader, "Do you know this man?" Lewsader replied, "Yes. That is Kreeger."

The defense is setting the stage for a claim that no fraud occurred because all parties to the mortgage deals knew no security — fertilizer and other tanks — existed.

Estes went bankrupt nearly a year ago after he was arrested and indicted on various charges. He is under state sentence of eight years in prison for swindling.

Kreeger is an executive of Walter E. Heller and Co. of Chicago. He testified two days ago that he never saw Estes before the trial, although his firm invested $7 million in the mortgages.

Lewsader, placed on the witness stand shortly after the corridor meeting, was asked by Cofer if he knows Kreeger.

"Yes. I told you, here comes Mr. Kreeger down the hall now," Lewsader replied.

Testifying first when court resumed, Hartman said of the Kreeger identification, "He is familiar to me, real familiar. But I can't say his name."

McLean, cross-examining, indicated Hartman earlier described Kreeger as weighing 200 pounds, and Hartman replied that he probably weighed between 180 and 200.

Hartman also said he had never been told by Estes that Estes was floating bogus mortgages or that he was using fake serial numbers on tanks. But he said he knew of these actions because he had heard talk about them. He did not pin down his source of information.

Hartman said he was a salesman for Estes. "I guess you would call it that. I was selling land for him in Reeves and Pecos counties." He said he did the selling to Oklahoma farmers.

This was a reference to Estes' sales of some of his farms to displaced farmers. He then had the farmers transfer their cotton allotments to their newly bought land, and then leased the land back from the farmers.

The government calls this an illegal maneuver and penalized Estes more than $500,000. The issue still is before farmers' committees on appeal.

Three former employes of Estes, called by the defense, told the jury that Kreeger came to Texas and conferred with their boss in May of 1960 or 1961. Kreeger himself said he made a Texas trip in the spring of 1961 but found no occasion to meet Estes.

Cofer demanded that Kreeger be returned so witnesses could recheck their identification. Government lawyers said Kreeger would appear.

Counsel said the others could see Kreeger in a room for prospective witnesses. It's up to one side or the other then to call for testimony on the dispute.

Searching questions seemed likely meanwhile for Hartman, now farming near the defendant's home town of Pecos.

Hartman, 46, testified Thursday that at least four finance companies and about 30 Pecos area farmers knew there never were any fertilizer tanks or other equipment mortgages in what the government brands as a scheme to defraud by mail, send across state lines securities obtained by fraud, plus conspiracy to make it work.

Court was recessed overnight with Hartman still under examination by the defense. McLean and his prosecution staff potted notes for possible questions when their turn arrived.

Estes' lawyers kept pounding away at a theme that farmers or others signing anhydrous ammonia (fertilizer) tank mortgages knew the equipment was fictitious, and finance companies buying the mortgages shared the secret.

Good Eating Size

Bills Ransberger, an amateur snake handler, shows the fangs of a rattler already on display at the Howard County rodeo grounds. He noted that a snake of this size, about 4-5 feet long, makes the tastiest steaks. The flat position of the mouth, he said, is the same as when a rattler strikes.

21 Brave Persons Enter Snake Derby

Twenty - one persons this morning picked up their hunting licenses and citations for bravery at the registration stand for the Rattlesnake Derby which begins Saturday.

Among the optional equipment available at the stand was a snake bite kit, in the event some of the hunters are more adept at getting bit than catching the rattlers.

At the Howard County rodeo grounds, where the rattlers will be kept until time to put them in the skillet, about 50 of the snakes ranging in size from a few inches to 4-5 feet are already on display. Admission fee for spectators at the two-day derby will be 50 cents for adults. Children under 12 get in free.

All persons interested in joining the hunt may secure a list of ranches where hunting will be allowed when they register at the Sands Motel.

Prizes will be awarded for the three top gross weights, longest rattler, smallest, and the snake with the most rattles. Rattlesnake steaks will be served at the rodeo grounds. Olin Graves will have charge of serving the exotic food. He will also give out information on how to kill, skin, clean and cook the meat.

Shelly Downs of Micopany, Fla. will be curator and snake handler for the roundup. One of the purposes of this Jaycee-sponsored event is to demonstrate how snakes should be handled and to disseminate information on what to do in the event a person is bitten by one of the poisonous reptiles.

Brown Removed From Council

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Employment Commissioner Ed Lyles has removed Texas AFL-CIO President Hank Brown from the Employes Advisory Council.

It was Lyles' first action since the Senate confirmed his appointment Wednesday, after months of opposition from the AFL-CIO and Brown.

George Vowel of McGregor will replace Brown, Lyles said.

Lyles said Thursday he has tried to cooperate with Brown "but it has been strictly a one-way street."

"This action has been taken in fairness to the Employment Commission, the Advisory Council and especially the workers in Texas," Lyles said.

"He insulted the Senate of Texas and in effect 'wrote off' the work of the commission for the next six years."

Lyles said Brown "did not attend the last meeting of the council in 1962 and then had the gall to tell the Senate that no meeting was called."

English Course Level Belittled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An educator says the intellectual level in most English courses "is far below that of other college courses —particularly science, mathematics and history."

Dr. Albert Kitzhaber, head of the curriculum study institute at the University of Oregon, told the conference on college composition and communication here Thursday that this is the way to improve college English courses:

1. Improve high school courses so college teachers won't have to teach grammar and other subcollege matters.

2. Widen the scope of freshman programs to take advantage of knowledge available in fields like language, logic, rhetoric and psychology.

Bank Figures Are Slightly Higher

Figures on the total resources of Howard County banks were slightly in error Thursday due to transposition of the figures for the Security State Bank.

The correct total resource figure for Security State is $6,878,421.28 and the aggregate for the four banks is $43,637,758.42. This is only $883,428.31 less than a year ago.

No Pits In Yoakum

AUSTIN (AP)—The Water Pollution Board told oil operators Thursday they will not be able to use salt water disposal pits in Yoakum County after Oct. 1.

The board's "no-pit" order followed two days of testimony on whether the salt water pits were polluting the county's only source of water, an underground reservoir.

Persons affected may show at an Aug. 22 meeting why they should not conform to the order.

LEANING TO RED CHINA?

Castro Has Contempt For Moscow Followers

PARIS (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba was reported today to hold a low opinion of Communist party leaders in satellite countries who slavishly follow the Moscow line. He was quoted as saying he had no intention of accepting Soviet Premier Khrushchev's edict on abstract art.

Castro's views were given in an interview with Claude Julien, correspondent of the newspaper Le Monde. The newspaper today published the second part of a two-part interview.

"What support did we get during the blockade last October when we were on the edge of a major conflict?" Castro was quoted as asking. "Where were any big mass demonstrations in our favor noticed? What did the revolutionaries of Europe and Latin America do?

"Only the Venezuelans reacted then. But the big parties which call themselves revolutionary did not budge. They are not revolutionaries, but bureaucrats. They are satellites.

"Each time Moscow takes a decision, whatever it is, the satellites applaud all over the world. Khrushchev withdraws his missiles from Cuba without consulting us and all the satellites cry 'Khrushchev has done well for the cause of peace.' And when Khrushchev, at a Moscow exhibition hall, criticizes abstract art, the satellites, here, ask me to forbid abstract painting.

"And I tell them that our enemies are capitalism and imperialism, and not abstract paintings."

In an interview published Thursday, the paper quoted Castro as saying:

"I cannot approve Khrushchev's promising President Kennedy to withdraw his missiles without the slightest reference to the indispensable agreement of the Cuban government. It is true that it was a matter of Soviet missiles which were beyond our direct control. But they were on Cuban soil and nothing should have been decided without consulting us."

Meredith In Fair Condition

DALLAS (AP)—A. A. Meredith, called by many the father of the Canadian River project, was in fair condition today, a Baylor Medical Center spokesman said.

Meredith underwent major surgery Monday.

Meredith was a leader in the program for a dam on the Canadian River with a complex of pipelines to carry water to a number of Panhandle and South Plains cities.

More Misery

PARIS (AP) — Four-hour gas and electricity cuts added to the woes of strike-weary Frenchmen today. Thousands of Parisians got up an hour or two early to get to work before subways and electric trains were halted from 8 a.m. to noon.

Road Work Is Approved

AUSTIN (AP) — The Highway Commission approved Thursday $2.9 million for development of U. S. 69 and U. S. 96 between Beaumont and Port Arthur into a freeway.

The commission authorized the Highway Department to buy right-of-way from Beaumont's south city limit to the intersection of Texas 73 in Port Arthur, including the right-of-way for an interchange with Loop 251, estimated to cost the state $735,000.

The department also got the go-ahead on construction of surfacing and shoulders from .4 mile north of Farm 365 north 2.4 miles, estimated to cost $750,000, and construction on Texas 347 south 3.65 miles, estimated to cost $1.4 million.

The total of the three projects will be financed in the next consolidated highway program with the understanding that succeeding programs will provide for construction to complete the interchange with Loop 251 south of Beaumont, the commission said.

The commission also authorized $2.6 million for work on U. S. 277 and U. S. 281 in Wichita County.

The 5.4-mile project will be from north of Sheppard Air Force Base to the Red River.

Also approved was construction work totaling $1,070,000 on U. S. 87 and U. S. 287 in Potter County.

Demonstrations Protest S. Korean Military Rule

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The largest antigovernment demonstrations in South Korea's 22 months of military rule erupted today in Seoul and two southern cities.

Confronted by his most serious challenge to date, strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park declared anew he will not waiver from his plan to extend military rule for another four years.

About 600 slogan-chanting demonstrators marched the streets of Seoul, demanding that the military junta keep its earlier promise to restore civilian government in August. Police seized scores of marchers.

Park banned political activity in this tense nation March 16 and proposed a referendum on his plan to continue military rule.

The military junta warned in a nationwide broadcast that the armed forces stand behind the government. In a show of force, a vehicle convoy of officers traveled from Park's residence to the defense ministry.

The demonstration in Seoul brought out many civilian political leaders. For the first time, members of the general public joined in.

Police broke up similar demonstrations in Pusan, the nation's second largest city, on the southern tip of the peninsula, and Kwang-Ju, a provincial capital 150 miles south of Seoul. Arrests were made.

In proposing an extension of military rule, Park said. "This country should not become a state solely for the tainted politicians." He pledged to "follow the will of the people expressed through a referendum."

But with political activity banned, the referendum promised to be an all-government show. The government controls the nationwide radio and information centers in villages and has placed severe restrictions on newspapers.

Weds Crown Prince

The Maharajkumar (Crown Prince) of Sikki, and his bride, New York socialite Hope Cooke, 22, are shown during their wedding ceremony in a Buddhist monastery chapel at Gangtok, Sikkim, in the Himalayas. The bridegroom is a 39-year-old widower with three children.

Brennan Narrates Gary Cooper Story

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Brennan, conservatively natty in a dark blue suit and regimental tie, drew some curious "Don't I know you from somewhere?" looks as he walked from the NBC studios in Rockefeller Center to a nearby restaurant.

But the 69-year-old actor was so far out of his country-farmer role of Grandpa Amos McCoy of television that public recognition was slow.

And he was glad, because he was fresh from narrating the final scenes of Tuesday night's NBC special "The Tall American —Gary Cooper," and still feeling emotional about the experience.

"I was afraid my emotion would run away with me," the three-time Oscar winner confessed. "I'm Irish, you know, and an actor, and I cry pretty easily."

He ordered a breakfast-type luncheon of bacon and eggs, and returned to the subject which was still uppermost in his mind: Gary Cooper, a friend for 27 years.

"I got to know Coop when he went out to Hollywood for pictures in 1925. We met one day while we were hanging around waiting for a scene, and I introduced myself and he mumbled his name—so low I asked him to repeat it. 'Frank Cooper,' he said. Those were the days when he was an extra and carried around a card that said, 'Frank Cooper, $10 a day—stunts extra.'"

Cooper — rechristened Gary — struck the public's fancy in "The Winning of Barbara Worth." Over the years Brennan appeared in eight big pictures with him, and was always a close friend.

"He was a regular guy," said Brennan, "and he never changed. And he was always a relaxer for me. I miss him very much."

Brennan's career moved along briskly, too, as Cooper shot to the top as one of Hollywood's great stars. A native of Swampscott, Mass., Brennan abandoned an engineering career, moved to Hollywood in 1920 and got his first film role, a silent thriller called "Lorraine of the Lions." His first big movie break came in 1935, and he has been steadily employed as a capable character actor ever since.

Brennan and the lady he calls "my first and only wife" have a splendid life, on a 10-acre ranch about an hour's drive outside Los Angeles.

Last season, anxious to get a change of pace by accepting some film roles, Brennan wanted to cut down his appearances in CBS' "The Real McCoys" to a maximum of a dozen or so episodes.

Then, the girl who played a lead quit, and to keep the show strong, Brennan agreed to do a full season. So he spent his "vacation" acting in "How The West Was Won"—playing the heavy.

Right now, the probabilities are that CBS will abandon "The Real McCoys" in September and Brennan will have freedom to make movies and play with his 14 grandchildren.

"I agreed to keep working if the show went on for another season," Brennan commented. "But, you know, it gets to be kind of a chore, playing the same part year after year. There are other things."

Barry Comments

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says President Kennedy is offering "nothing but rhetoric" in the way of economic policies.

Goldwater spoke Thursday night at a Bond Club dinner.

JFK Slips Between Battlers Over TFX

WASHINGTON (AP)—With kind words for both sides, President Kennedy has stepped in between senators and defense officials battling over the TFX warplane probe.

In so many words Thursday he told the Pentagon to wait in a neutral corner for the investigation's outcome which he said would prove that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was right in awarding the big contract to General Dynamics Corp.

"I see nothing wrong with Congress looking at these matters," the President told his news conference. "My judgment is that the decision reached by Secretary McNamara was the right one, sound one, and any fair and objective hearing will bring that out."

And, he added later, "I assume that the McClellan committee, on which I once served, will render a fair judgment."

FAIR AND NICE

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., hailed Kennedy's words as fair and "nice."

"I would expect the President to say the secretary's judgment was right," he added in reply to a newsman's question.

The subcommittee is investigating whether influence was a factor in the Pentagon's award of the contract for the TFX—experimental tactical fighter—to General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Tex., over a lower rival bid by the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash.

The $24-million contract covers the start of work on the plane, an all-purpose fighter-bomber to be used by both Air Force and Navy. Eventually 1,700 of the planes will be built at an estimated cost of $6.5 billion.

After Kennedy's soothing words, Sen. Karl E. Mundt declared, "I hope and expect we will not be diverted by any more attacks from the Pentagon."

Kennedy's statement was oil on troubled waters, but only time would tell if he calmed them.

MORE STORMS

Before he spoke to newsmen these developments had added to the storm:

The Defense Department leaked to newsmen a memorandum protesting that the subcommittee's investigators had subjected Air Force employes to "oral abuse and pressure tactics" smacking of gestapo tactics.

Jerome Adlerman, subcommittee counsel, fired back that the charge was false and designed to harass one of his aides who, Adlerman said, had uncovered "enormous errors" in figures the Defense Department used to justify its award of the contract.

The Senate itself got into a boiling debate over the Air Force memorandum with McClellan rejecting its charges and caustically declaring he would call off the hearings if the Senate would pass a resolution ordering him to "cease and desist."

Hot words flew in the hearing room itself as the subcommittee received testimony first from Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric, then from McNamara himself.

DOCUMENTS

The secretary went into the hearing room armed with suitcases crammed with documents. He elaborated on a sworn statement he had submitted last week, was asked a few questions, and then released pending recall for lengthy questioning after the subcommittee has compiled the rest of its evidence. A transcript of his testimony was to be released, possibly after being censored, later in the day.

All the hearings on the TFX have been closed with transcripts of testimony made public after they have been stripped of any classified military information.

Aside from the rows, the investigation has centered on the question of why General Dynamics won the contract.

Testimony has been introduced that military boards had picked the Boeing proposals promising the cheaper and better plane but were overruled by the civilian secretaries.

SAVING MONEY

In his statement, McNamara said the General Dynamics plan would use more of the same components for both Air Force and Navy versions of the TFX, thus saving more money.

The Pentagon leaked the critical Air Force memorandum as Gilpatric was striving to calm subcommittee anger over an anonymous Pentagon spokesman's weekend statement to newsmen charging that Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and McClellan had maneuvered the department into an unfavorable posiiton in the hearings.

Gilpatric acknowledged he was one of the anonymous spokesmen who had talked to about 14 newsmen, but he denied making the statements reported by the newsmen. He insisted he has been unable to learn who had made them.

Word of the charges of abuse of witnesses reached senators in the hearing room, in the midst of Gilpatric's testimony.

THIS MEANS WAR

Mundt told the deputy secretary it was a "declaration of war" the subcommittee was prepared to meet. Gilpatric denied any connection with the incident. McNamara was reported to have testified later that he had not intended the memo to be leaked out.

Gilpatric testified he was not charging that any newsmen had misquoted him. He said they might have "misinterpreted or misconstrued" what he had told them.

Gilpatric himself raised the subject of the subcommittee's staff studies of relations between General Dynamics and Gilpatric's former law firm, Chavath, Swaine & Moore of New York.

The deputy secretary volunteered a statement picturing his conduct as having been carefully correct. He said he had performed legal work as a member of the firm for both Boeing and General Dynamics when not in government service, but never in connection with defense contracts. He said officials of both companies are among his friends, but this would not inflcence his official judgments in any way.

NO QUESTION

McClellan, in a stern lecture, said he personally had not questioned whether Gilpatric might have a conflict of interest.

"Whether you have any conflict I do not know," the senator said. "I am not at the moment trying to find out."

Weekend Revival Starts Tonight

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Youth Weekend Revival will be held at the First Baptist Church, beginning today, 8 p.m., and running through Sunday night, the Rev. D. D. Smith, pastor, has announced. Prayer service will begin at 7:30 each evening.

The Rev. Charles Carter, Abilene, will be the evangelist, and Judd Beck, Big Spring, will direct the music. Services will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights, and Sunday morning. A Youth Fellowship meeting will be held after each service.

Former Brazilian Chief Ends Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Former Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek flew to New York Thursday, ending a six-day official visit to Mexico during which he discussed the Alliance for Progress with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

During a news conference here, Kubitschek said the Alliance for Progress program was failing.

But he said President Lopez Mateos' economic program was succeeding, and that he hoped to return later to study it further.

The Brazilian said that the Mexican president's trip to France, Poland, Yugoslavia, Holland and West Germany could do much to improve friendship and understanding.

Abilene Man Due Promotion

AUSTIN (AP) — Bradley C. Miles of Abilene will step up April 1 to district attorney of the 42nd Judicial District, Gov. John Connally said Thursday.

Connally appointed him to fill the unexpired term of Nelson Quinn, who has resigned. Miles will serve until Dec. 31, 1964. He is now Taylor County attorney.

TAUGHT BY EXAMPLE

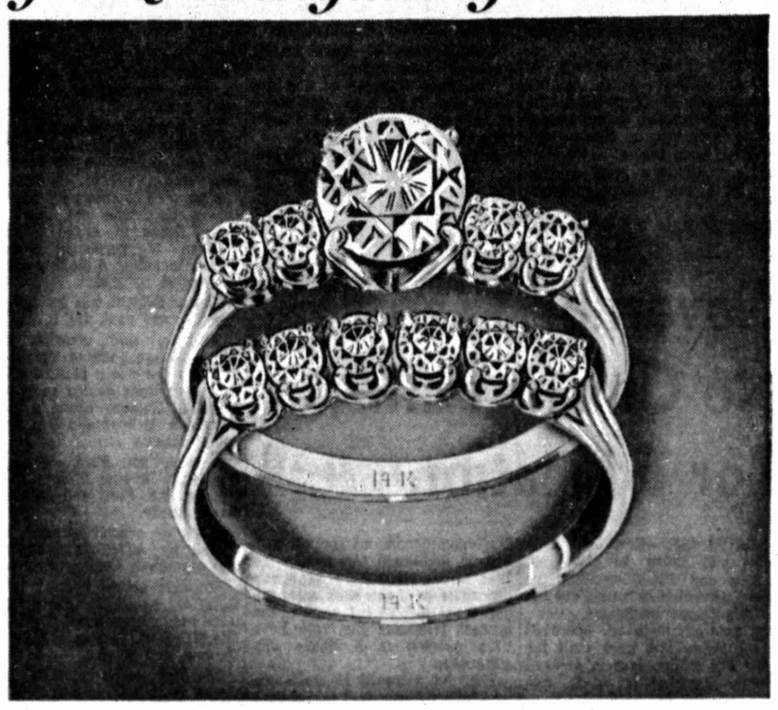

Not only by precept, but also by example, the Lord has taught us to love one another. Great is the love of God. It exceeds the love of mother. The Lord said, "Can a woman forget her suckling child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? Yes, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee" (Isa. 49: 15).

The Lord's love is marvelous. "For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die. But God commandeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:7, 8).

By His perfect example, the Lord has taught us to love. We love, because He first loved us. If we will live closer to Christ, our hearts will be more loving.

Ex-Austrian Leader Flinches At Memories

By TOM PENDERGAST

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—As former Austrian Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg looks back 25 years into history, his face flinches with the memories.

The man Hitler personally persecuted is now 66 and a professor of political science at St. Louis University. Despite seven years of imprisonment and torture by the Gestapo, he looks more like 50.

"Life has not been easy on me," he said in a rare interview. "I don't like to talk about it—with anyone. In fact, I am a fanatical believer in privacy."

Twenty-five years ago this month on March 11, 1938, Nazi Germany invaded his homeland, and Schuschnigg resigned in a famous national radio address, imploring: "God protect Austria!"

A month before, he had taken his fight to prevent Hitler's planned "anschluss"—political union of Germany and Austria — direct to the fuehrer.

"We met at Berchtesgaden and Hitler was adamant," Schuschnigg said. "He told me that either Austria would let him take over peacefully or he would take it by force. He was raving mad at my rejection."

When Hitler struck he ordered Schuschnigg held in "protective custody."

Schuschnigg doesn't like to think about those years, he said. But this week he went to the St. Louis library to read old newspapers from those tempestuous times.

"I even saw stories reporting my death," he said. "Most of the reporting concerning my imprisonment appeared to be 'leaked' by the Gestapo and was false. But almost all stories where reporters were present were accurate."

He said Nazi terror tactics practiced against him during what he called "seven years of hell" and those practiced by some Communist nations appear identical. "I think the Russians started it first during their revolution, and the Gestapo merely amplified it."

While imprisoned in Vienna he married, by proxy, the late Countess Vera Fugger von Babenhaussen. The Nazis later imprisoned her with Schuschnigg in Munich, where their daughter, Sissy, was born.

"I'll never forget when they transferred us to Dauchau," dreaded extermination camp for political prisoners and Jews, he said. "Just before American troops arrived a British prisoner showed me a typed and signed execution order for me and my family. But we were saved at the last minute."

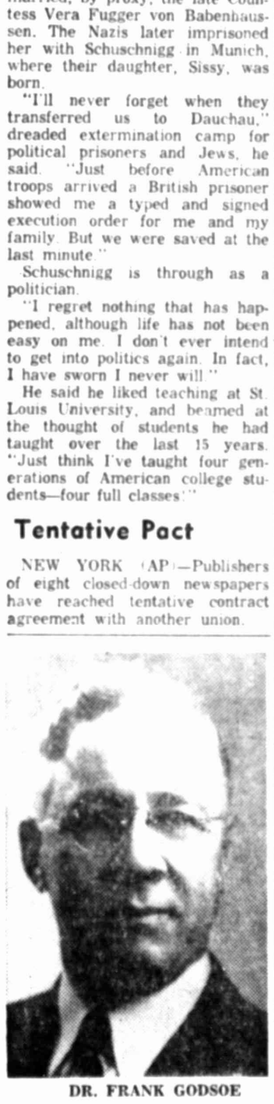

Schuschnigg is through as a politician.

"I regret nothing that has happened, although life has not been easy on me. I don't ever intend to get into politics again. In fact, I have sworn I never will."

He said he liked teaching at St. Louis University, and beamed at the thought of students he had taught over the last 15 years. "Just think I've taught four generations of American college students—four full classes."

Tentative Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers of eight closed-down newspapers have reached tentative contract agreement with another union.

DR. FRANK GODSOE

Lockhart Church Plans Revival

Dr. Frank A. Godsoe, of Oklahoma, will conduct a series of revival meetings at the Lockhart Baptist Church March 24-31. Rev. J. E. Whisenant, pastor, invited all interested persons to attend the services, which will be held nightly at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. Godsoe is a writer and educator, for many years on the staff of the Bible Baptist Seminary, Arlington, as dean and instructor of church history. He has written two books.

Randy Catton will be in charge of the music portion of the program, according to Rev. Whisenant.

A Tip Of The Cap

President and Mrs. Kennedy receive a tip of the cap from U.S. Air Force Brig. Gen. Clair L. Wood, commander of Andrews AFB, Md., where the presidential plane landed returning the President from Costa Rican conferences with the presidents of six Latin American nations. Secretary of State Dean Rusk follows on the plane ramp. Mrs. Kennedy drove from Washington to meet her husband and boarded a helicopter with him for the flight from Andrews to the White House.

Kennedy Says 3,000 Reds Leave Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the Soviets have withdrawn some 3,000 troops from Cuba in recent weeks—and he hopes this is only a starter.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that "we are waiting to see whether more will be withdrawn, as we would hope." But he said the scope of the withdrawal would not be fairly evident until the end of March.

When the Soviet Union promised last month to withdraw several thousand troops from Cuba by mid-March, the U.S. government estimated Soviet military and technical personnel in Cuba totaled about 17,000.

Kennedy opened the conference by reading a four-minute statement on this three days of talks this week at San Jose, Costa Rica, with the presidents of Panama, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua.

CONFIDENCE

Said the President, who flew back to Washington late Wednesday:

"I return from San Jose with increased confidence that we will continue to live in a hemisphere of independent, firm and faithful friends."

Noting that this was his third trip south of the border, Kennedy said that each one makes it clear that Latin Americans "by an overwhelming majority, are ready to work to sacrifice, to fight if necessary, to maintain their own freedom, and to build societies which serve the welfare of all their people."

In the domestic area, two topics were paramount.

Kennedy said, "We don't believe that there will be a recession this year," that economic indicators seem more encouraging. But, he said, later, if the economy falters and Congress wants to speed up his plan for a three-year tax cut of $10.2 billion, "I would accept that."

Under present conditions, he argued, the administration proposes a proper balance between lower taxes and higher spending on "what we regard as essential programs."

NOTHING TO IT

Also in the domestic field the President said there is nothing to reports that Postmaster General J. Edward Day will resign before 1964 election. And he expressed some hope that printers will agree "in the next few days" to settle their New York newspaper strike. Kennedy said any settlement should be followed by similar action in Cleveland, "because that city also needs its papers."

Discussing the San Jose conference, Kennedy noted that he and his fellow presidents agreed to do more to promote the economic development of Central America and Panama, and to impose new curbs on the importation of subversion from Cuba.

Kennedy was asked about reports the other presidents wanted to go farther than he in urging stronger measures against Cuba.

If so, Kennedy said, they made no such proposals to him. He expressed the belief that the other presidents did not think "further action, invasion or blockade at this time, would be fruitful."

Also on the subject of Cuba, Kennedy said he has not information to indicate that reported raids on Soviet positions in Cuba Kennedy said he has no informaby a refugee group called Alpha 66 were launched from the United States. Kennedy said, "We do not feel that these kinds of raids serve a useful purpose" and may do positive mischief by bringing on repressive measures in Cuba.

NO CONNECTION

"These men do not have a connection with the U.S. government," he said.

In discussing other facets of the international scene, Kennedy said:

He hopes to visit West Berlin when he travels to Italy and Germany this summer. He also said he has no plans for any new trip to Latin America this year.

The United States "ought to know by May whether we are going to be able to make some progress" in setting up a multination nuclear force in Western Europe.

The President sees "historic interest" but no international significance in the recent meeting between Pope John XXIII and Alexei Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Judges Officially Name Rolvaag

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Democrat Karl Rolvaag is the duly elected governor of Minnesota, three judges who supervised a recount of the more than million and a quarter ballots cast in the Nov. 6 election said in a formal order late Thursday.

Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen indicated he might have a statement today on whether the finding would be appealed to the Minnesota Supreme Court. The recount showed him loser to Rolvaag by 91 votes.

The judges ordered that, barring an appeal, a certificate to election be issued to Rolvaag on April 1, which would mean he could take office the next day.

That 10-day lag could be shortened should Andersen decide against an appeal and sign a court agreement to that effect.

If an appeal is made, at least another month would be required for the necessary briefs and arguments. This would carry the change in governors well beyond the April 22 adjournment target of the current legislature.

President Is Haunted By Nuclear Growth

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says he is "haunted by the feeling" that there may be 10 nuclear powers in the world by 1970, more than double the present number. By 1975, he fears, the total may be 15 or 20 nations with nuclear weapons.

The President gave these rough estimates of the potential spread of weapons in discussing at his news conference Thursday night the reason why he intends to keep working for an agreement with the Soviet Union to ban all nuclear weapon tests.

RISK INCREASED

He pictured a world of the not-to-distant future in which the risk of devastating warfare would be vastly increased because the ability to use mass destruction weapons will no longer be controlled by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain.

"I see the possibility in the 1970s," he said, "of the president of the United States having to face a world in which 15 or 20 or 25 nations may have these weapons. I regard that as the greatest possible danger and hazard."

Kennedy conceded that his hopes for a test ban agreement with the Soviet Union have been dimmed by recent developments. They were high last December and January after Premier Khrushchev, in the wake of the Cuban crisis, agreed to the principle of on-site inspections to enforce a test ban though he limited the number of such inspections in the Soviet Union to two or three.

The United States has reduced its demands progressively from 20 such inspections a couple of years ago to a present total of seven. Since Khrushchev's offer of two or three was put on a take it or leave it basis, the nuclear test talks which started so hopefully in January have once more fallen into a familiar deadlock.

STILL HOPE

But Kennedy said he would not give up hope, especially when the difference is between seven and three inspections, so far as this particular issue is concerned.

"We have come this far," he said, "and I think that we ought to stay at it."

The spread of nuclear weapons since they were invented during World War II has been relatively slow. The United States emerged from the war as the only real nuclear power though Britain and Canada had participated in weapons development. In the years immediately following the Soviet Union and Britain produced the weapons and more recently France has carried out a number of tests for the avowed purpose of creating its own nuclear force.

Many other countries have the capacity or the potential capacity for nuclear weapons. The one most frequently mentioned is Communist China, and U.S. officials have predicted that the Red Chinese might explode a nuclear device by the end of this year.

PUBLIC OPINION

There is overwhelming public opinion against nuclear weapons in many countries, Japan being the outstanding example. But what Kennedy and his advisers fear is that unless the arms race can be brought under control opinions and national policies in many countries will change because of security and prestige considerations.

Both are students at Howard Payne College in Brownwood.

Advanced Atlas Passes Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says an advance F model Atlas has passed a 4,000-mile research test.

The 65-foot-tall missile roared out over the Pacific to an undisclosed target area Thursday. The launch took only about a minute after the Atlas was elevated from its underground silo.

The delay was for a final electronic check.

Unlike the currently operational Atlases, the advance F models can be fueled ahead of time and stored in armored pits. The aerlier models are stored on the surface. They have to be fueled after an alert, an operation that takes about 15 minutes.

Deposits May Have Set Record

By The Associated Press

Reports indicated Thursday that deposits in Texas banks may have set a record for the first quarter of 1963.

The reports were made in answer to demands for statements of conditions made by national and state banking authorities as of March 18.

Reports from several cities in an Associated Press survey show large gains.

Austin, for instance, showed a $53 million increase over the same period a year ago.

Waco's deposits were a record for any reporting period.

Wichita County deposits increased $21 million. Tarrant County deposits were up $56 million.

Deposits in the 66 state and national banks in Harris County increased $205 million. Deposits March 18 totaled $2,872,715,452, compared to $2,667,668,316 March 26, 1962.

The new total is $130 million below the record $3,003,458,379 set last Dec. 28.

R. P. Doherty, chairman of the National Bank of Commerce at Houston said the 12-month gain represents the unfailing growth record of Houston and Harris County.

A Fort Worth bank spokesman said, "Time deposits, such as savings, have been more attractive because of the increased rate of return." Banks some time ago increased time deposit interest rates from 4 per cent to 4.5.

The Fort Worth spokesman said the increase also reflected good business in Fort Worth and West Texas.

Another Fort Worth banker said an increase in loan totals is encouraging. This banker also said a new building boom in middle class to luxury apartment is aiding the economy.

A McAllen bank official said, "I think this (the nearly $3 million increase) is due to our generally diversified economy. We don't depend on the farmers as much as some banks do. We have a lot of tourists aid oil and gas money to help us out."

Another McAllen official said, "I think it is due to the federal growth of the Valley. We have a great number of new people moving into the Valley. Our diversified economy helps greatly."

Comparative figures of this March (listed first) and a year ago:

Wichita Falls $208,188,739 and $187,467,311.

Wichita County $223,629,281 and $202,485,916.

Tarrant County (Fort Worth) $877,456,907 and $821,608,239.

Austin $363,217,947 and $310,037,757.

Waco $151,721,000 and $142,585,000.

McAllen $33,890,376 and $30,930,608.

Edinburg $15,605,295 and $15,286,654.

Dallas $2,983,176,140 and $2,766,700,904 (one bank missing).

Amarillo $222,496,781 and $210,676,548.

Navarro County (Corsicana) $36,708,525 and $33,862,994.

Midland $157,304,558 and $143,925,609.

Corpus Christi $173,625,269 and $157,100,421.

Big Spring $39,706,669 and $41,175,974.

Case Of Missing Call Girl Stirs British Parliament

LONDON (AP)—War Minister John Profumo, 48, told the House of Commons today he had been friendly with a good-time girl whose disappearance has touched off a nationwide wave of gossip.

But he said he had not seen her in more than 14 months and knew nothing of her present whereabouts.

Labor members of Commons demanded Thursday night that the government deny—or open an inquiry into—rumors that a leading government minister was involved with Christine Keeler, 20, who twice has failed to appear as a witness in a shooting case.

One Laborite, Barbara Castle, said there were rumors highly placed persons were responsible for hiding Christine, whom she termed "the missing call girl."

"I understand my name has been connected with rumors about her disappearance," Profumo told Commons today.

"Any suggestion that I was in any way connected with or responsible for her absence at the trial at the Old Bailey is wholly and completely untrue."

The name of the minister had not been mentioned in the exchange between the Laborites and the Conservative government spokesman, Home Secretary Henry Brooke.

Profumo said he was prompted to make his statement today because of allegations that "people in high places might have been responsible for concealing information concerning the disappearance of a witness and the perversion of justice."

The minister said he last saw Miss Keeler in December 1961.

Watching from the gallery as Profumo made his statement was his wife, Valerie Hobson, a noted British stage and screen actress.

Profumo said he and his wife met Miss Keeler at a house party at Cliveden, home of Viscount Astor, son of American-born Lady Astor.

Among the others at Cliveden at the time, he said, were Dr. Stephen Ward, an osteopath.

"Between July and December 1961, I met Miss Keeler on about half a dozen occasions at Dr. Ward's flat," Profumo said.

"Miss Keeler and I were on friendly terms. There was no impropriety whatever of any kind in our acquaintanceship."

Christine's discarded Jamaican boy friend, John Edgecombe, 30, tried in January to shoot his way into the apartment she shared with a girl friend.

He was sentenced last Friday to seven years in jail for possessing a firearm with intent to endanger life. But Chrisfine failed to appear as a prosecution witness and a charge of shooting at her with intent to murder was dismissed. The court wants her to explain why she didn't appear at Edgecombe's trial.

U. S. Grants Licenses For Measles Vaccines

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ON THE WANE?: The government has granted licenses for general distribution of two forms of measles vaccine. One may be available in a day or so, just as the measles season gets in full swing.

"This is one of our most significant advances in recent years toward decreasing or eliminating one of our most serious childhood diseases," said U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry.

At a news conference Thursday, Terry predicted "a very sharp decrease" in the disease next season.

There have been more than 4 million cases of measles each year in the United States, with 400 deaths, and the disease has been an even greater killer in foreign countries, he said.

With widespread use of the vaccine, Terry said it was possible the disease could be virtually eradicated within two years.

Chas. Pfizer & Co. received a license to market the inactivated or "killed" virus vaccine. Merck, Sharp & Dohme was licensed to market "live" virus vaccine.

NET WORTH: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has estimated his financial worth at $1,278,200, mostly in common stocks and bonds.

The Pentagon announced that McNamara voluntarily gave the Senate Investigations subcommittee an up-to-date statement of his personal finances "because of newspaper reports that the committee's investigating staff is examining possible self-interest on the part of Pentagon officials in the award of the TFX (warplane) contract." There has been no suggestion in the hearings, however, that McNamara had a personal stake in the award of the potential $6.5 billion contract to General Dynamics Corp.

When McNamara joined the Cabinet in 1961, he gave up an annual salary and bonus totaling $500,000 as president of Ford Motor Co. for an annual salary of $25,000 as secretary of defense.

FOREIGN AID: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has urged a new approach to foreign aid and has described the Alliance for Progress in Latin America as close to disaster.

In a statement Thursday, chamber directors contended that assistance should place heavier stress on private enterprise and on foreign policy goals.

As for the Alliance for Progress, the chamber said:

"The machinery of the alliance is in serious disarray, and its manifest inability to quickly satisfy expectations aroused beyond attainable levels could prove disastrous unless strong corrective measures are adopted."

A presidential committee headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay has been investigating the foreign aid program and is due to make its report public late Saturday.

NEWS BRIEFS

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Titan 2 and Pershing have registered important test flight successes.

The 10-story-tall Titan 2, most powerful military rocket in the U.S. arsenal, hurled this nation's largest nose cone to a target more than 6,500 miles downrange Thursday. Several hours later, after dark, the slender, 34-foot Pershing scooted 300 miles on what, for it, was a long-range flight.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's bad enough when you have to spend an hour or two a day in freeway smog. What if you lived in the middle of a freeway all the time?

A scientific answer to the question is the aim of a study which the University of Southern California will begin next week.

Approximately a dozen rabbits and 100 smaller rodents have been selected to take up residence Monday in a small laboratory building between the inbound and outbound lanes of the Hollywood Freeway.

They will be the vanguard of a population expected to reach 1,000 by May 15, as animals on order are delivered.

Half the inhabitants of the "smog shack" will live in air conditioned cages. The other half will breathe freeway air.

From time to time both the control group and the be-smogged rodents will be examined to determine whether exhaust-polluted air causes cancer or impairs body functions.

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German government said today it disapproves of any of its citizens working as experts in the United Arab Republic on military rocket projects.

The government said in a statement that it has no sure proof that any West Germans are engaged in such work and could not stop them legally if they were.

The Israeli Parliament, concerned about the threat of a possible attack from its Arabic neighbors, appealed Wednesday night for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government to take action against German scientists helping to build up the military potential of Egypt.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The 66th American fatality in the South Viet Nam war since late 1961 was reported today.

He was a U.S. Army enlisted man who was killed Thursday in the crash of an Army transport helicopter in the mountainous Dalat area 160 miles northeast of Saigon.

The American pilot and copilot suffered broken arms, and two of five Vietnamese army passengers were injured seriously. The helicopter's American crew chief escaped unhurt.

The crash was attributed to mechanical failure. The helicopter was on a supply mission.

The names of the Americans were not announced.

Airport Almost City In Itself

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The world's busiest airport, Chicago's O'Hare International, is an immense jet age layout that has become almost a city in itself.

When President Kennedy attends dedication ceremonies Saturday, he will find a sprawling 7,200-acre installation that serves 13½ million passengers a year and handles nearly a flight a minute on the average. Located 21 miles northwest of downtown Chicago, the airport has parking facilities for 5,700 cars and can feed 1,500 persons at a time in its biggest restaurant.

It represents a $200-million investment.

Once a cornfield and part of a golf course, it was the site of a Douglas Aircraft Corp. plant in World War II. After the war, the facility was turned over to Chicago, and the factory and administration buildings were converted into terminal facilities.

Subsequently, funds from state, federal and revenue bond sources were used to expand the airport.

O'Hare has become an air crossroads of the world. Nonstop service is provided to many foreign cities. Seven foreign airlines and 14 domestic airlines use its facilities.

With more than 400,000 flights last year, O'Hare surpassed New York's Idlewild Airport traffic of 11,510,390 passengers and 290,133 flights.

The present development — two new terminal buildings and a $5-million glass-steel circular restaurant featuring a seven-continents dining room—was financed by $149 million worth of revenue bonds.

The terminal buildings, each 750 feet long and 110 feet wide, were built at a cost of $35 million. They are connected to six 800-feet concourses with 58 plane gates.

The arm-like concourses have highly mobile enclosed ramps called jetways which reach out to airliners and telescope away when not needed.

O'Hare was named for Edward H. (Butch) O'Hare, a World War II hero.

Named by President Roosevelt one of the greatest combat fliers in aviation history, O'Hare shot down five Japanese bombers and damaged a sixth in single-handed action over the Pacific, Feb. 20, 1942, saving his carrier. He received the Medal of Honor from President Roosevelt. O'Hare disappeared in night action over the Pacific Dec. 10, 1943.

O'Hare was the son of a Chicago race track operator, Edward J. O'Hare, who was shot in gangland style on a Chicago street in 1939.

Borden Show Set Saturday

GAIL—More than 100 animals will be entered in the annual Borden County Livestock Show here Saturday when 4-H and FFA members bring in their steers and hogs. Judging will begin at 8 a.m. and is expected to be over by noon. This will be followed by a lunch in the school cafeteria, served by mothers of club and chapter members.

Paul Gross, assistant county agent from Seminole, will judge hogs, and Lovell Kuykendall, assistant Howard County Agent, will judge the steers.

A limited number of animals will go on sale around 1 p.m. and prospective buyers are invited from all surrounding counties. All visitors will be welcomed.

Sid Long, vocational agriculture supervisor of the Borden County High School, and J. H. Holmes, county agent, will be in charge of show activities.

C-City Methodists Schedule Revival To Begin Sunday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The First Methodist Church will begin revival services Sunday, with Dr. Frank D. Charlton, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, Abilene, as evangelist.

The revival will close Friday, March 29th, according to Rev. Darris Egger, pastor of the church. Services will be held each day, at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The morning service will be at a fellowship breakfast in the educational building.

Wesley Boyd, Oklahoma City, will be in charge of music during the revival and Mrs. Boyd will be accompanist. On Saturday night, March 30th at 7:30, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will give a religious concert in the sanctuary of the church.

"The community is invited to attend the revival services and the concert," Rev. Egger said.

Nasser At Peace With Former Foes

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has made peace with Syrian Socialists who helped to sunder Syria's union with Egypt under the flag of the United Arab Republic, an influential paper indicated today.

Nasser and Premier Salah Bitar of Syria in a communique Thursday night agreed on the broad outlines of what appears to be a plan for a loose federation of Syria, Iraq and the U.A.R. Under a federal union, the U.A.R., Syria and Iraq must retain their full rights while sharing responsibility, the communique said.

Nasser's close friend, editor Mohammed Heikal, lifted some of the secrecy around the talks in an article in his paper Al Ahram. He wrote that, during the three-day talks, Nasser said the Syrian secession from the U.A.R. in 1961 was due in part to "inadequate popular organization" to support the merger.

Nasser expressed the view that the Syrian Ba'athists, a party advocating a nationalistic brand of Arab socialism, did not hold aloof from the secession movement "particularly in the early days." Bitar is a Ba'athist.

The Ba'athists had withdrawn from Nasser's Cabinet in 1959, and Bitar himself supported the secessionist regime in its early days. The Ba'athists were discontented because they were submerged in Nasser's Arab Socialist union.

"Now, however Ba'ath is the forefront of the Iraqi and Syrian revolutions, and represents the popular force that should be preserved and consolidated," Heikal wrote.

Youth Revival Set For This Weekend

GARDEN CITY (SC)—A Youth Revival is being held this weekend, with the First Baptist Church serving as the host.

The Rev. Charles Carter, Abilene, will be the speaker for the revival effort. Rev. Carter is a native of Big Spring and is in full-time evangelistic service.

Jap Princess Has Abortion

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Princess Michiko had an abortion today to protect her delicate health.

The Imperial Household Agency said the operation was successful and the princess, whose husband some day will be the emperor of Japan, was in generally good condition.

Crown Prince Akihito took orchids to the 28-year-old princess soon after the operation.

Michiko, a sports-loving commoner whose marriage four years ago thrilled the nation, expected her second baby in September or early October. Her first child, Prince Hiro, is now 3.

No official medical explanation has been given for the abortion. But a spokesman for the agency said before the operation it was believed Michiko's health had been impaired by a continuous round of official and social functions before pregnancy.

Abortions are permitted under Japan's 1949 eugenics law if the attending physician certifies that giving birth would be injurious to the mother's health, that the child would be deformed or that it would become an intolerable economic burden.

OIL REPORT

Trace Recovered On Devonian Test

Texas Crude Oil Company ran drillstem tests on a zone between 9,110-80 feet at No. 1-253 Knox, Devonian wildcat in Martin County, and recovered only a trace of oil along with 145 feet of water.

The operator tested with tool open two hours. Initial and final shutin pressures were 70 pounds. Flow pressures were 40-40 pounds. The project is bottomed at 9,180 feet in lime, sand and shale and operator is preparing to drill ahead.

Location is 6,310 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of league 253, Ward CSL survey.

DAILY DRILLING

HOWARD

Texaco No. 2-C Howard Fee is moving off rotary. The hole is bottomed at 3,300 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 560 feet from the east lines of section 43-30-1s, T&P survey, about 14 miles east of Big Spring.

MARTIN

Cities Service No. 1-B Nail, C NW SW, section 3-38-1s, T&P survey, is making hole below 11,847 feet in lime and chert.

MITCHELL

Anderson No. 1 Thornton, C SE SE, section 8-28, T&P survey, is drilling below 2,625 feet in dolomite.

COMPLETIONS

HOWARD

Standard Oil Company No. 6-5 W. L. Foster has been completed as a water-injection well in the Iatan-East Howard field. It is an old well workover. The hole was bottomed at 4,000 feet and plugged back to 3,071 feet. Elevation is 2,317 feet. Operator set 4½-inch casing at 3,464 feet. Location is in section 7-29, T&P survey.

MARTIN

Texaco No. 1-C F. D. Cave, C NE NW, section 18-34, T&P survey, flowed 189 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil, with five per cent water, on initial potential in the Ackerly (Dean) field. Production was through 20-64-inch choke from a pay topped at 8,526 feet with perforations at seven intervals between 8,526-627 feet. Elevation is 2,771 feet, total depth is 8,750 feet, it was plugged back to 5,680 feet, and 4½-inch casing is at 8,750 feet. Tubing pressure was 50 pounds, casing pressure is 150 pounds and the zone was acidized with 2,000 gallons.

MITCHELL

M. L. Melton No. 1 Cone, spotting 467 feet from the south and east lines of section 40-29-1n, T&P survey, pumped 83 barrels of 26.6-gravity oil, with 25 per cent water, on initial potential in the Iatan-East Howard field after being fraced with 40,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,217 feet, total depth is 3,400 feet, pay was picked at 2,525 feet, 4½-inch casing is at 3,400 feet and perforations are between 2,526-3,310 feet. The well is on a 282-acre lease about eight miles west of Westbrook.

Texaco No. 2-C Mitchell Fee, C SW SW NW, section 9-29-1s, T&P survey, pumped 60 barrels of 27.3-gravity oil, with 30 per cent water after being worked over in the Iatan-East Howard field. This old well was drilled to 3,300 feet, plugged back to 3,002 feet for a pay topped at 2,816 feet and 4½-inch casing set at 3,300 feet was perforated between 2,816-952 feet. It was acidized with 2,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,360 feet. The oiler spots eight miles southwest of Westbrook. It was an old Sawnie Robertson TXL project which had been bottomed at 2,670 feet.

Texaco No. 3-B Mitchell Fee, C SW SW SW, section 39-29, T&P survey, finaled for 20 barrels on pump in the Iatan-East Howard field. Gravity was 26.4 degrees, the gas-oil ratio was 350-1. It was acidized with 1,500 gallons, pay was picked at 2,866 feet and 3½-inch casing is at 3,400 feet. Perforations are at nine intervals between 2,866-3,235 feet. Elevation is 2,253 feet and the well was plugged back to 3,385 feet. Location is on a 40-acre lease about seven miles west of Westbrook.

Texaco No. 3-C Mitchell Fee pumped 109 barrels of 28.1-gravity oil, with 20 per cent water, on initial potential in the Iatan-East Howard field. Elevation is 2,365 feet total depth is 3,200 feet, it was plugged back to 3,164 feet, pay was topped at 2,656 feet, 3½-inch casing is at 3,200 feet, perforations are between 2,656-946 feet and the interval was acidized with 1,500 gallons. The project spots 650 feet from the south and 2,310 feet from the east lines of section 9-29-1s, T&P survey, on a 480-acre lease about eight miles southwest of Westbrook.

DOOMED TO DIE

Court Refuses Action In Ashley-Lima Plea

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals refused today to take any additional part in the appeal of doomed slayers Douglas Ashley and Carolyn Lima.

Presiding Judge W. A. Morrison denied an application for a writ of habeas corpus that would have delayed the March 30 execution while lawyers presented what they called new evidence.

Lawyers for the two said earlier they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Dist. Judge Sam Davis refused in Houston Thursday a plea to hear new evidence and turned down applications for writs of habeas corpus for the couple scheduled to die in the electric chair March 20.

The lawyers are Lloyd Lunsford and Clyde Woody.

Ashley, 20, a female impersonator, and the Lima woman, 20, were convicted last year for the 1961 torch murder of Fred Tones, a real estate man whose nude body was found in a drainage ditch. The two testified Tones was killed during a sex party in his office.

Donkeys Made The Most Points

Despite a complete lack of scoring to their credit, the donkeys definitely got in the most points Thursday evening during a donkey basketball game staged at the high school gymnasium.

"Most of us came out unscratched. That is, we don't have any broken bones. There are plenty of minor bruises and sore muscles around though," Joe Leach, manager of one of the teams, said.

The Y's Men's Club came out victor over the board of directors of the YMCA by a score of 20-16. The event was staged to raise funds for youth work at the Y. It netted $80, Leach said.

About 300 persons were on hand to see the lively little animals bear their riders around the court.

Hendrix To Judge Piano Auditions

Jack Hendrix, head of the Howard County Junior College music department, will go to SMU Saturday to judge the piano concerto auditions of eleventh and twelfth grade high school students. This will be his second year as judge. He will also go to Lubbock, April 26-27, for the ninth consecutive year, to judge the Junior Piano Festival, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Categories for this year's SMU auditions will be piano, violin, viola and violincello. First place winner will appear, with the SMU Symphony Orchestra, on the annual concert program in May. If the winner is a high school senior, an $800 scholarship for a year's tuition will be awarded, or $400-half-year scholarship for a junior.

Burglars Rob Brownfield Store

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP) — Burglars took $12,000 Thursday night in diamonds, narcotics and cash from the Primm Drug Store.

Some $10,850 in unmounted diamonds was among the loot. A $1,395 wedding ring also was taken. The narcotics were valued at $200.

Terry County Sheriff James Fulford said the thugs "knew what they were getting."

Enters Missile Site, Is Fined

ALBANY, Tex. (AP)—An Oklahoma man was jailed for more than five hours Thursday after he entered the Albany missile site and scuffled with guards.

He was identified as Robert Wilkinson, 30, of Nowata.

He was charged with disturbing the peace, fined $1 and costs and escorted out of town.

Shackelford County Sheriff Jack Moberley said Wilkinson told them he was trying to get a job.

Thigpen Attends Insurance Parley

T. A. Thigpen, representative of the Amicable Life Insurance Company in Big Spring, recently attended a three day professional agent development conference at the Amicable home office in Waco.

The conference was designed especially for the career agents of the company who were qualified to exchange ideas on advanced life insurance subjects. Business insurance, taxation, estate planning and health insurance were among the subjects covered.

Health Service Records Flu-Pneumonia Deaths

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The largest excess number of pneumonia-influenza deaths in any week since the first appearance in 1957 of Asian flu in this country was reported today by the U.S. Public Health service.

The Communicable Disease Center said reports from 108 cities for the week ending March 16 showed a total of 1,118 deaths from pneumonia and influenza.

This figure is 585 above the normal expectancy for the period, the report said. During 1957-58, the greatest number of excess deaths was 542 for the week ending Nov. 9, 1957.

A total of 37 states and the District of Columbia now have reported flu outbreaks while Asian flu has been confirmed in 25 states and the District of Columbia.

Excess deaths were the number above the normal expectancy or average for a specific period. In the case of pneumonia-influenza, the normal figure varies between 500 and 600 a week, a health official said.

The spokesman said 2,640 excess deaths due to pneumonia-influenza have been reported since early January, compared with 3,813 for the corresponding period in 1960.

However, during the current epidemic, excess deaths began to increase later in the season than in 1960 and are still at high levels, he said.

Chamber Delegates To Visit Dallas

Dr. Carl Marcum, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will head a group of representatives from the wholesale distribution committee on a trip to Dallas Tuesday.

The group will tour wholesale facilities recently opened there and will discuss the wholesale business with developers who have helped draw that industry to Dallas. This is a followup on work currently being done to attract the wholesale industry to Big Spring, Kenneth Pace, assistant manager of the Chamber, said.

Marvin Springer, planning consultant for the city, will assist with the tour. John Stemmons, Dallas, and other developers will be guests at a luncheon. The group leaves Tuesday by plane.

Minor Accidents Reported Thursday

Four minor accidents were investigated in Big Spring Thursday following several days of almost accident - free reports. There were no injuries.

Locations of collisions, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: Victory and Sycamore, Ruth Connally, 611 Circle Drive, and Walter Stroup, 1605 Sycamore; 2300 Main, Gilbert White, 310 Austin, and Hugh Eldridge, 407 NW 7th; 1500 Block Gregg, A. B. Brown, Ackerly, and Leo Franklin Hernandes; Third and Benton, Fred Emuel Osborn, Crane, and Earl Raymond Brown, Reedley, Calif.

Vietnamese GIs Prefer Numbers

By PETER ARNETT

DUC MY, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's elite fighting units prefer safety in numbers even though they are being thoroughly trained in guerrilla warfare.

Large, costly operations involving thousands of troops and massive air and artillery support continue to dominate military thinking here.

Virtually all of them, including the recent Plain of Reeds extravaganza, have been failures in terms of men, planning and intelligence.

Invariably, Communist guerrillas scuttle out of the way as their bamboo telegraph signals the launching of one of these massive government assaults.

Last year, the word was passed down to Viet Nam's top training camps to use guerrilla warfare to execute the exhaustive techniques of stalking guerrillas and cornering them deep in their own territory.

Here in the biggest of these camps, Duc My in central Viet Nam, thousands of hours of gruelling training are going into producing Ranger troops that measure up with the best in the business. Eighty-nine Ranger companies are operating in Viet Nam.

American advisers feel that the specialized talents of these elite units are being dissipated.

"These men get 594 hours of arduous training that builds them into superbeings, with endurance, fast reactions and animal cunning," one U.S. officer said.

The ideal operational force for the Viet Nam war is a squad of 12 men, or at the most a platoon of 36 men, these officers believe. But in all the operations launched by Rangers in Viet Nam, the smallest group that ever went out was at company strength, nearly 100 men.

"We can't get them to move at less strength than this," an officer said. "This ruins the element of surprise, and nullifies much of what we are teaching about the techniques of survival."

Advisers here have no doubts about the ability of the Rangers they are training.

"I'd be confident to walk the length of Viet Nam with a dozen of these guys behind me," says one adviser.

Gather For HD Luncheon

Mrs. Ross Callahan, from left, past chairman in the Texas Home Demonstration Association; Mrs. Neil Norred, HD Council chairman; Mrs. D. S. Phillips of Coahoma, member of the HD Council's educational committee, and Mrs. Frank Wilson, county THDA chairman, arrived early to arrange last-minute details for the luncheon.

Speaker Commends HD Members On Program

Commending the 84 Home Demonstration women present, Tolford Durham began his talk and book review presented Thursday for the annual spring HD luncheon at the Cosden Country Club.

Durham, introduced by the HD agent, Mrs. Delaine Crawford, is chief of social work services at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Also he is a teacher of psychology and sociology at the Howard County Junior College.

The speaker based his talk on "The Recovery of Family Life" by Trueblood and Trueblood, a book which, he said, reflects sentiments he has held to for many years. "Problems mentioned in this book, are those encountered many times by the social worker," he said.

PROBLEMS POSED

In pointing out these problems, the authors compared family life in the United States as to that in the Communist Union. Durham stated "Here we are doing by neglect what the Communists are doing by plan. The Communists are destroying the family as a profitable and sociable unit. They fear the cultured independence of a family."

This condition exists in this country, according to the authors, because of many reasons. Twenty per cent of the population moves annually, thus they have no feeling of belonging; there are no ties. The ease in securing a divorce is another indication; sexual immorality; the loss of the meaning of family tradition; and homes adjunct to community organizations.

Other distorted values include building homes which are not lived in; employment of women—one out of every five mothers of school children is employed; and men performing two jobs to "keep up with the Joneses."

Mrs. Frank Wilson and her family life committee, were in charge of the luncheon and program. Those serving on the committee are Mrs. D. S. Phillips, Mrs. M. A. Cockrell, Mrs. A. J. McCall and Mrs. James Fryar.

SPRING MOTIF

Tables featured centerpieces made of brimmed, natural straw hats filled with mixed, multi-colored bouquets.

Mrs. Wilson, county THDA chairman, presented the THDA pin to the past chairman, Mrs. Ross Callahan. Also, Mrs. James Moore received a past president's pin from Mrs. James Fryar, president of the Lomax HD Club.

Mrs. Norred welcomed and introduced the guests, who were Judge Lee Porter, Rufus Stallings and Ray Nichols, county commissioners, Mrs. H. D. Crow of Modesta, Calif., Mrs. Lloyd Brannon and Mrs. Lowell Baird of Big Spring, Mrs. Hezzie Read, Mrs. Charles Read, Mrs. Donald Lay and Mrs. Ray Echols, all of Coahoma, and Mrs. Durham. The invocation was given by Judge Porter.

Polishing Silver Is Simplified

Ladies, they tell us the silver tarnish war is finally won. No longer, we're told, must we bag it, sack it, rub it, scrub it, hide it to be able to use our silver every day without fear of the inexorable march of tarnish formation and the inevitable fortnightly chore of polishing.

All of this news comes in the form of a new silver polish just reaching the market which claims to prevent tarnish from forming from periods ranging from six months up to as long as a year, depending upon your silver's environment in your home. This is accomplished, according to a report, without the use of artificial spray coatings, with no harmful effects upon your prized silver or silverplate or on the food you might serve with it, and—from the worksaving standpoint—it happens when you clean your silver. No special operation is needed.

The new product is Hagerty Tarnish Preventive, developed by the makers of Hagerty Silver Foam, which first introduced the simplified, wash-and-rinse method of polishing silver to our kitchens. The new product is a similar, emulsion-type polish which is applied with water and a wet cloth, requires little rubbing and rinses clean (along with tarnish) from silver and hands.

Best of all, the manufacturer says that a protective bond is formed with the silver which locks out tarnish for months. Under ideal conditions, they say, silver will remain tarnish free for up to a year. In average use, you can expect to have to dust your displayed silver occasionally to renew the lustre while tarnish stays absent from four to nine months.

It's a little different story, however, with flatware and serving dishes used and washed rather frequently. The tarnish preventing effects of the Hagerty polish can be expected to last through six or seven washings in strong detergent, the report says, after which a re-application should be made.

Myriad Of Roses Sets Scene For Formal Tea

A myrid of roses, interspersed with carnations, stock, gladioli, snapdragons and tulips, shaded from cerise into delicate pink hues, enhancing the ballroom scene at the Big Spring Country Club Thursday afternoon. The occasion was a tea given by Mrs. Granville T. Hall, who received in a lovely beige-toned gown.

The tea table, appointed with gleaming silver service and punch bowl, was predominantly pink, and spread with a rose-toned cloth. The ornate center arrangement appeared as a majestic tree of roses, carnations and snapdragons. The flowers and colors were repeated in various floor and table bouquets.

Many were the fashions of spring, worn by guests. Members of the house party were attired in formal tea gowns and were pinned with pink corsages. Particularly noted was Mrs. Joe Moss in stark-white pique styled with pleated skirt having margin bands of yellow. A coquettish complement was her yellow-banded hat of white. Mrs. Jack Cook also chose white, accented with black accessories. Another white ensemble was that worn by Miss Linda Milam, whose accessories were black.

Mrs. Adolph Swartz and Mrs. E. L. Powell, arriving together, also joined the chic parade of classic white. Mrs. Wilson Banks attended wearing a black and white, full-skirted print dress and a black, rose-trimmed Spanish sailor.

Mrs. Earnest Brindley in blue, with a crown of blue flowers for her head, and her sister, Mrs. H. D. Cowden, in toast tones, were noted in conversation with Mrs. J. B. Apple, whose beige-toned dress was jacketed with green piped with beige. Mrs. Morris Patterson was in a delightful shade of blue with matching blue, flowered hat. The blue was combined with a touch of green for her shoes and bag.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. R. W. Baker, Mrs. V. J. Belda, Mrs. E. H. Boullion, Mrs. Charles Buckner, Mrs. Arch Carson, Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. Marion Edwards, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. Horace Garrett, Mrs. T. J. Good, Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Mrs. W. W. Inkman and Mrs. H. G. Keaton.

Also, Mrs. Lorin McDowell II, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. Harry Middleton, Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. George Peacock, Mrs. Shine Philips, Mrs. Joe Pickle, Mrs. Shelby Read, Mrs. Roy Reeder, Mrs. Ike Robb, and Mrs. E. V. Spence.

Others in the party were Mrs. Merle Stewart, Mrs. H. C. Stipp, Mrs. Robert Stripling, Mrs. Carl Strom, Mrs. Edward Swift, Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., Mrs. Roy Townsend, Mrs. G. H. Wood and Dr. Louise A. Worthy.

Privileges Of Garden Club Work Explained

Advantages and privileges of garden club work were pointed out by Mrs. J. D. Dillard in her talk to the 4 o'clock Garden Club Wednesday. The program was presented during a luncheon in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club. The invocation was said by Mrs. Bill Tubb.

Mrs. Dillard, a member of the Tajos Garden Club in Midland, is the state project and president's book chairman, and past governor of district 1. She explained aspects of garden club work, membership, rules, etc. Mrs. Glen Leopard presided, and introduced the speaker.

Ten members attended, and guests were Mrs. Pete Tomlinson, Mrs. J. C. Kelly, Mrs. Boyce Hale and Mrs. William H. Rosser.

The next meeting is slated for April 10 in the home of Mrs. J. R. Sullivan.

Hallmark Of Poverty Is The Rage

Penury is popular as long as it extends no further than the clothes you wear. Patches, the hallmark of poverty, are all the rage. Sewn together in a million pieces, they are worn as hostess skirts—which is enough to keep people from asking for second helpings.

They've been popular on the elbows of women's sweaters and blouses, and on the knees of blue jeans. Now sun smocks made from mattress ticking, have four or five bright patches, which also double as pockets, scattered from shoulder to hem.

Children's wear designer Bill Beaton would have little girls wearing matching bloomers with ruffled garters all the way down to the knees.

Gold Star Mothers Visit With The Ill

American Gold Star Mothers, numbering six, were guests in the home of Mrs. F. H. Talbot Thursday. Calls were made to three members who are hospitalized, and the group approved a plan for having memorial services at the Veteran's Administration Hospital.

Also, the members planned for the president, Mrs. Jerome Lusk, to attend the state convention to be held in Dallas April 25.

After the closing prayer, the next meeting was announced for April 18 in the home of Mrs. Harry Lees, 611 E. 16th St.

Women Shrewd At House Buying

TORONTO (AP)—Women are far more practical than men when it comes to buying a house, says Mrs. Shirley Brunke, chairman of the women's division of the Toronto Real Estate Board.

The everyday little things that influence a woman's choice of a home are such things as a door directly from the garage into the house for bringing in groceries, an entrance through which service people can go into the basement without passing through other parts of the house and, especially if she has children, a main floor washroom.

The kitchen is one of the most important factors in a woman's choice of a home, says Mrs. Brunke. "If a woman likes two houses that are about the same price, she will probably choose the one with the nicer kitchen."

"When you walk into some houses, you don't feel anything. When you walk into others, you feel as though you would like to get to know the people that live there or did live there. Women notice this difference right away."

Pair Takes Places In Duplicate

Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Ayra McGann placed in the duplicate play, a national charity event, Wednesday night in Midland. They placed first in their section and third over all.

Five couples from Big Spring participated in the annual game.

They were Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. E. L. Powell, Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Bill Emerson, Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. Ray McMahen and Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. G. H. Wood.

Winners Named In Duplicate

Nine tables were in play for the Thursday evening session of duplicate at John Lees Service Center.

North-south winners were Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, first; Mrs. Myrtle Lee and Mrs. J. H. Parks, second; and Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. E. G. Patton, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., first; Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. R. P. Nicholson, second; and Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. Ayra McGann third.

Announcement was made that the next session will be conducted at the Officers Club.

Tempting— The Prices Of Beef Cuts

By The Associated Press

Housewives will be tempted to celebrate the advent of spring with a beef feast, once they see the price tags at supermarkets this weekend.

In almost all areas, wide variety of beef cuts are offered at lower prices than a week ago.

Heavy winter marketings are the reason.

In the New York area, one national chain offers sirloin steak at 69 cents a pound the lowest price it has posted since 1961.

Chicago meat counters reflect local marketings, which have dropped wholesale prices nine straight weeks. And on the West Coast, prices are generally 2 to 3 cents a pound lower than a year ago.

Pork prices are also down in many stores. Pork loins are selling at a several-year low at some Chicago shops. Tenderloins, chops, bacon and ham are other pork attractions.

Tomatoes have slipped sharply in price in Southeastern and some other markets. The same shops offer radishes at season lows and green beans at bargain prices.

Other items showing up regionally at the best prices in weeks include asparagus, spinach, artichokes and rhubarb.

Among fruits, strawberries are appearing in some Southern stores and avocadoes are lower in price. Apples, bananas and grapefruit are other features.

FHA Girls Model Original Designs At Forsan Show

Future Homemakers of America members made and modeled the dresses shown Thursday evening at the Forsan Study Club style show held at the school. The narration was by Mrs. H. K. Elrod.

Models paraded against a pale green backdrop decorated with bolts of material, scissors and patterns. Throughout the room were placed mannequins and fashions with matching accessories.

A highlight of the show was the Easter parade staged by children of pre-school age.

On the ecru lace covered refreshment table, a "party girl" formed the centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Approximately 85 guests were served.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ronnie Gandy and Mrs. J. C. Ferguson The club will meet next on April 4.

Baptist Class At Social Meeting

Mrs. Jack Darden was hostess to the Reaper's Class of the First Baptist Church in Coahoma Tuesday evening for an evening of fellowship. Mrs. Ernest Reichter gave the devotion.

After an exchange of gifts, Bible games were directed by Mrs. Jim Hodnett who voiced the closing prayer. Eight members were served refreshments.

A dinner is scheduled by the class for April 16 in the educational building of the church.

INFANT BAPTISM?

Does the New Testament teach the baptism of infants? A recent pamphlet, "The Protestant Idea of Baptism," offers the household conversions of the Bible as probable proof that the early church practiced such. Let us consider the cases refered to. (1) Acts 16:25-34 — the jailor's house. Paul commanded these to "believe." He preached unto "all that were in his house." And the whole house "rejoiced, believing in God." Would Paul preach to infants, commanding them to believe in Jesus? (2) I. Cor. 1:16 — Stephanas' household. This family is mentioned only 3 times in the New Testament, and we know little about it. Yet, we do know there were no infants in the house of Stephanas because all were able to "set themselves to minister unto the saints." (I Cor. 16:15). (3) Acts 16:14-15 — Lydia's household. To establish that there were infants in this household one would have to assume that (a) Lydia was married (b) she had children and (c) they were still in the infant stage of life. None of these can be shown from the Bible! Apparently this was the best the writer could do to prove infant baptism from the New Testament. Yet every argument fails completely.

DAVID TARBET

Paul said we are "not to go beyond the things which are written." I. Cor. 4:6. Inasmuch as infant baptism cannot be found in the New Testament we conclude that such is without God's approval.

First Church of God Revival

Evangelist, Charles Ludwig of Tucson, Ariz., will begin a series of meetings at the First Church of God Monday, continuing through March 24. The meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. daily.

Evangelist Ludwig is the author of 30 books and over a thousand articles, short stories and serials. His books, which range from biographies, juveniles, adult novels to books of sermons, have appeared in four languages.

We will open his series of meetings by preaching on "The Man God Uses." The public is invited to attend all services.

ON FAMILY FINANCES

Mrs. Crawford Speaker At Midway School P-TA

"The average family owes over one - fifth of the wage-earner's take-home pay" said Mrs. Delaine Crawford Thursday evening to the Midway Parent Teachers Association at the school.

Mrs. Crawford, Howard County HD Agent, talked on family finances and plans for better management of funds.

Preceding the talk, a musical program was presented by fourth grade students of Mrs. Mel Ivey.

A nominating committee report was given by Mrs. Harvey Paul, and members voted to continue sponsoring the Boy Scout troop from Midway school.

The district P-TA conference was announced for March 30 in Lamesa. Midway delegates will have expenses paid by the P-TA.

Classroom Easter parties will be held April 11 at the school. The room count award went to Mrs. H. N. Smith's second grade class.

Refreshments were served to approximately 35 adults. The next meeting will be on April 25.

Dinner Date Re-Set At GIA Meeting

The Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held a business meeting Wednesday morning in Carpenter's Hall, with 11 members present.

President Mrs. C. L. Kirkland announced that the anniversary dinner has been rescheduled for April 17. All GIA and B of LE members are invited to attend the affair, which will be held at 12 o'clock noon in the Carpenter's Hall.

Spring Flowers Motif At Philathean Dinner

Redbud blossoms were arranged with sprays of plum, peach and apricot blossoms along the U-shaped dinner table, where members of Philathea Sunday school class, First Methodist Church, were seated Thursday evening. Held in Fellowship Hall, the dinner was followed by the monthly program of business.

The Rev. Joe Leatherwood gave the invocation. After hymns were sung, Mrs. Jakie Bishop offered prayer. Mrs. Merle Stewart gave the devotion, "Food for Thought," a composite of non-related but applicable scripture and quotes.

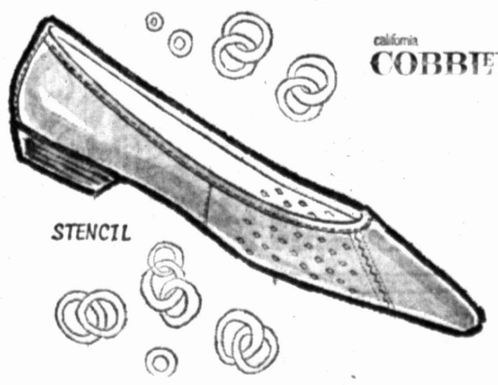

During the business period, Mrs. Cass Hill gave the treasurer's report, after which members agreed to postpone decisive plans for the annual birthday and Easter dinner.

Mrs. A. J. Cain's group was reminded of a Saturday morning date to serve cake and coffee to patients at the VA Hospital.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Clyde Denton's group.

THREE NEW CHAMPIONS CROWNED

Davey Moore Near Death Following Title Bout

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former champion Davey Moore was in a coma suffering from "a serious head injury" and his chances of living are poor, a hospital physician said early today after the former champion lost his title to Sugar Ramos in one of three title fights here Thursday night.

Dr. Philip Vogel reported the former featherweight champion was in a deep coma.

"His chances are extremely poor," Dr. Vogel said. He added that Moore had suffered general injury to the mid-brain area and said that Moore's fate probably will be known within the next 12 hours.

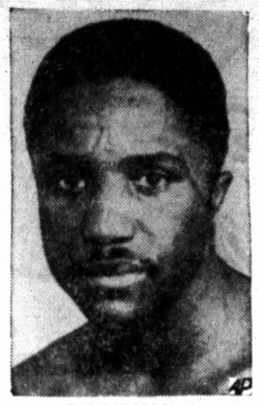

No brain operation was contemplated.

All three boxing titles up for grabs had new owners today after a pair of spectacular knockouts and a controversial decision in the ballyhooed triple championships fight extravaganza.

A crowd of 26,142 watched as Ramos won the featherweight title in the middle bout by kayoing Moore—who was taken by ambulance to a hospital about an hour after the fight. He was unconscious and X-rays were taken.

In the opener at Dodger Stadium, Luis Rodriguez took the welterweight championship away from Emile Griffith on a decision—unanimous but subject to argument. In the windup, Roberto Cruz wound up and knocked out Battling Torres in the first round and won the vacant junior welterweight title.

The doctor described Moore's injury as a contusion, more serious than a brain concussion.

DAVEY MOORE

Boxing officials, including Moore's manager, Willie Ketchum, who had asked the bout be stopped, kept vigil at White Memorial Hospital.

Ramos, who lost the early rounds, smashed Moore down in the 10th round and had him draped over a rope and helpless as the round ended.

In his dressing room, the dethroned 126-pound king said "I'd like to fight him again," then, some time after, was taken by ambulance to the White Memorial Hospital. The 29-year-old Moore was rolled out of his dressing room on a table.

Ramos, who fled from Cuba and now makes Mexico City his home, remained undefeated, winning his 41st fight. The two boxers each weighed 125¼ pounds for their blistering battle.

Griffith, ironically, was involved in a fatal title fight almost exactly one year ago. He regained the welterweight crown last March 24 at New York's Madison Square Garden by stopping Benny (Kid) Paret, who died of brain injuries suffered in the bout 10 days later.

Rodriguez, an ex-Cuban who now calls Miami, Fla., home, boxed his way to the unanimous verdict over the harder-hitting Griffith.

"I can't understand it," Griffith moaned. "He didn't hurt me once and I hurt him several times. Rodriguez wouldn't stay in there and fight. He kept running."

The new 147-pound champion who weighed 146 to 145½ for Griffith, explained, "I planned to keep moving around and use the left jab and hit him in the stomach. The plan worked perfectly. Griffith never hurt me any time."

Referee Tommy Hart scored the bout 9-5, Judge Lee Grossman 8-5 and Judge John Thomas 8-6 all for Rodriguez. The Associated Press scored 8-4 for Griffith.

Cruz, a 21-year-old, was an underdog like Ramos, with odds of 2½-1 against him. But hardly had the crowd settled down after hearing the national anthem of Mexico and the fight was over.

The Filipino said he knocked Torres down first with a right and then twice more with left hooks. The final one came whistling under perfect execution and Torres went flat on the canvas taking a full 10 count. Cruz weighed 138¼ to 140, the junior welter limit, for Torres.

Cincy Opposes Oregon State

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Cincinnati meets Oregon State and Chicago Loyola plays racehorse with Duke's Blue Devils tonight as basketball's big three and an upstart that could steal it all reach the showdown stage in the national collegiate championships.

Cincinnati, top-ranked nationally and seeking a record third straight NCAA championship, plays tough but unranked Oregon State in the windup of the doubleheader that opens with second-ranked Duke against third-ranked Loyola.

The winners will play for the championship Saturday night.

Sellout record crowds of 19,153 will stream both nights into massive Freedom Hall on the Kentucky State Fairgrounds, where the Bearcats of Ed Jucker took their second championship a year ago with a 71-59 pasting of Jerry Lucas and the top-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes.

The current Bearcats, although they've won 25 of 26 games and led The Associated Press poll from start to finish, aren't rated quite as strong as the clubs that spilled Ohio State and the great Lucas last year and in the 1961 final at Kansas City.

But as Oregon State's Slats Gill says:

"You don't pick against a champion, especially when four of its five starters are back. They have the talent, Ed Jucker always has them well prepared, and they have the benefit of having played in the championship game before."

"We came down here to win our third straight championship," says Jucker. "We're concerned about Mel Counts, their 7-foot center, and about Terry Baker, whose great leadership is worth 10 to 15 points on the court. But we're ready, mentally and physically. We have no excuses or alibis."

Duke is on the hottest streak of the semifinalists, having won its last 20 games for a 26-2 record. The Blue Devils came to town full of confidence after the great play of Jeff Mullins in the Eastern Regional at College Park, Md., last weekend. With All-America Art Heyman off in his shooting, Mullins took charge, scored 49 points in two games and was named the regional's most valuable player.

Duke's one-two punch of Heyman and Mullins will go against a Loyola team that rolled to the highest offensive average among the major colleges, 92.6 points a game, in winning 27 games and losing two. All five Loyola starters average in double figures, led by All-America Jerry Harness and 6-7 Les Hunter.

San Angelo Nears 2-4A Links Lead

ODESSA — San Angelo, the pre-season favorite, moved within two strokes of a tie for the lead in District 2-AAAA golf competition by scoring a four-man 18-hole aggregate of 325 at the Sunset Country Club course here Thursday.

Odessa High still leads with a total score of 1268, compared to San Angelo's 1270, but the Bobcats are in an excellent position to grab the title because they play the final of five rounds of competition on their home course Saturday, April 6.

Odessa had to settle for a 333 Thursday. San Angelo beat out Odessa Permain and Midland Lee by five strokes. Abilene Cooper was fourth, with a 332, then came Odessa, with a 333. Midland High posted a 339, good for sixth place while Big Spring finished seventh, with 346; and Abilene High eighth, with 360.

High winds caused the scores of all players to skyrocket. However, San Angelo's Jerry Ramirez captured medalist honors with a 75, which is only three strokes over par.

Jody Thompson of Big Spring toured the course as an individual and settled for an 86.

Cecil Salazar of San Angelo, the medalist for the season going into Thursday's play, settled for a 79 and retained his lead. He now has a 299 for 72 holes.

Only the two top teams qualify for the Regional meet, which will be held in Odessa April 19.

The scores:

SAN ANGELO (325)—John Pipken 85, Cecil Salazar 79, Jerry Ramirez 75, Eddie Coronado 86. Total 1270.
MIDLAND LEE (339)—James Key 88, Dick Kelly 79, Bob Fuller 86, Dick Taylor 83. Total 1286.
ODESSA PERMIAN (330)—Johnny Brinker 79, Buddy Cook 81, Roy Vance 86, John Autry 84. Tot l 1290.
ABILENE COOPER (332) — Richard Cozby 80, David Sivley 84, Mike Ramsey 87, Wylie Wroten 81. Total 1291.
ODESSA HIGH (333)—Clark Wise 88, Lans Hays 83, Tommy Waggoner 81, Lin Loretie 81. Total 1268.
MIDLAND HIGH (339)—Larry Holmes 79, Steven Russell 87, Steve Smith 86, Mike Cannon 87. Total 1281.
BIG SPRING (346)—Neil Robinson 85, Norman Patterson 83, Butch Bradford 85, David McCullar 93. Total 1305.
ABILENE HIGH (360)—Evaristo Martinez 89, Jim Dawley 92, Mike McClure 90, Steven Fanning 90. Total 1361.

Phoenix Declared Out Of Tourney

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—The National Junior College Basketball Tournament scrambled today to clear up the tangle caused by disqualification of the Phoenix, Ariz., team.

At least one, and perhaps two, extra games were scheduled.

Phoenix had beaten Wadley, Ala., and Wilmington, N.C., in the first two rounds. So Wadley and Wilmington were matched today to determine which should replace Phoenix.

If Wilmington wins, another extra game will be played tonight between Wadley and Burlington, Iowa, since Wilmington has defeated Burlington in the losers' bracket of the double elimination tournament.

The winner of the Wadley-Wilmington game will meet Moberly, Mo., in tonight's semifinals of the winners' bracket. Independence, Kan., and Casper, Wyo., will play the other semifinals test.

Tourney officials ousted Phoenix Thursday after learning that Richard Ervin, top scorer for Phoenix, was ineligible because he played for Wenatchee Valley, Wash. Junior College in 1960. The 6-foot Ervin graduated from high school in Louisville, Ky.

Hobart Bolerjack, secretary of the National Junior College Athletic Association, said:

"Ervin admitted he had falsified both his entrance application and eligibility sheet when he enrolled at Phoenix last September and that he had played at Wenatchee.

"He knew he would have to attend school at Phoenix for a year before he would be eligible to play."

Independence let a 20-point lead melt away in the second half before defeating Chipola of Marianna, Fla., 93-83 Thursday night.

Casper defeated Hibbing, Minn., 77-64 with a balanced attack that rolled up a 17-point advantage in the second half after a close first period.

In the losers' bracket, Muskegon, Mich., eliminated Tishomingo, Okla., 58-57; Wilmington beat Burlington 59-55; Amarillo, Tex., ousted New York City Community College 78-73, and Wilson of Chicago eliminated South Texas of Houston 85-81.

Second Round Games On Tap In Y Tourney

Finalists in the E. C. Smith-YMCA Basketball tournament will be determined tonight.

The championship goes on the line with an 8:30 p.m. contest in the HCJC Gymnasium Saturday.

Waddell Blanks Insurance of Odessa, the defending champion, challenges Abilene Athletic Supply at 8 o'clock this evening.

E. C. Smith Construction opposes Big Spring Concrete at 9:15 p.m.

Odessa flogged Lamesa Y of Big Spring in its opening game, 85-77. Abilene sidelined Austin Humble, 69-64. E. C. Smith's downed White's Stores, Inc., 94-72. Big Spring Concrete raced past Lamesa Otpimist Club, 87-60.

Consolation finals are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. today. Lamesa attained the last round in consolations by turning back White's last night, 68-62, after building up a 27-18 lead at half time.

Les Sherrod and Jerry Swatling each scored 18 points for White's.

The Lamesa team plays Austin Humble in the consolation finals. The game looms as a toss-up.

WHITE'S (62)—Sherrod 8-2-18; Collyer 5-2-12; Gandy 1-0-2, Swatling 8-2-18; Blake 6-0-12; Acri 0-0-0. Totals 28-6-62.
LAMESA (68)—Reusch 9-2-20; Hale 9-5-23; Chapman 8-1-17; Hitt 2-1-5; Powell 0-1-1. Totals 28-10-68.
Half time score—Lamesa 27 White's 18.

Refs Blasted By Hannum

CINCINNATI (AP)—"We'll certainly dish it out Saturday night," declared Syracuse Coach Alex Hannum after the Cincinnati Royals had crushed his Nats 133-115 Thursday night and evened the best-of-5 Eastern Division semifinal National Basketball Association playoffs at 1-1.

Hannum referred to the third game of the series which will be played at Syracuse Saturday night.

Cincinnati's triumph was enlivened by a free-for-all late in the first half and Hannum asserted that the officials, Sid Borgia and Willie Smith, let the Royals do as they pleased, but blew the whistle at his Nats.

"We'll have to fight fire with fire," Hannum said. "We didn't come down here prepared for a game like this. But we'll certainly dish it out Saturday if we have to play that way to win."

The Royals denied Hannum's charges about the fight that started when Tom Hawkins and Al Bianchi grappled over a rebound under the Syracuse basket and fell to the floor.

Both benches emptied when the two went down, and a lot of punches were thrown. Observers said few, if any, were landed.

Local Lass Runs In National Meet

Janice Rinehart of Big Spring is one of four members of the Texas Track Club who will compete in the National Indoor Track and Field championships at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday.

Miss Rinehart will run the 50-yard and 220-yard dashes.

Other girls who will make the trip from this state include Paula Walter, Eola, also entered in the 50; Sue Schexnayder of Port Arthur, entered in the 50 and 100; and Mary Rose of Lubbock, who will run the 70-yard hurdles.

The four are coached by Margaret Ellis of Abilene.

Andrews Nudges Bobcats, 2-1

ANDREWS—Andrews nosed out the San Angelo Bobcats, 2-1, in a baseball exhibition here Thursday.

The Mustangs pushed across an unearned run in the eighth inning to gain the decision.

The defeat left San Angelo with a 4-3 record.

San Angelo	000	000	10—1	3	2

Queens Trounce ACC, 15-6, 15-7

HCJC's Jayhawk Queens added another team to their list of volleyball victims when they defeated ACC, 15-6, 15-7, here Thursday night.

The Queens now boast a 7 - 5 won-lost record. The locals are undefeated in collegiate competition.

The HCJC team returns to action here Monday night, at which time it opposes Odessa College.

Association Golf Tourney Begins

Play gets under way in the Big Spring Golf association's individual medal play-type tournament at the Muny course Saturday and continues through Sunday.

Members of the association can play either day. They will compete by flights according to their handicaps — whether they boast handicaps of ten strokes and under or 11 and over.

Entry fee is $2 and the field will be shooting for merchandise awards.

Paul Harney Leading By Stroke In Doral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Paul Harney took a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the $50,000 Doran Open golf tournament. Whether he holds it may depend on how the wind blows.

Harney, 33, just back from Worcester, Mass., where his fourth child was born, fired a 4-under-par 68 Thursday. He played most of his round after a sudden abatement of 25-mile-an-hour winds which buffeted the course earlier in the day.

Thus Harney escaped the tricky gusts which plagued such players as Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, the 1-2 money winners of the year, during the morning.

The 7,028-yard Doral Country Club course "played very tough in the wind," Player said after he finished his early round with Palmer and Gene Littler.

Player posted a 71 and, under the playing conditions, said he would "take four 71s. That would win this tournament." Palmer also had a 71. Littler led the threesome by dropping a 60-foot putt on the 18th green for a 70.

Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper, No. 3 and 4 money winners, had to settle for 73s. Casper won the Doral's $9,000 top prize with a great last-round comeback in 1962.

Glenn Stuart, 28, came in a stroke behind Harney. Stuart, who has been out of the money in four tournaments this year, blasted a 69. It was the third time in three weeks that he has threatened to take a major share of the purse, but he faltered in the third round at both Pensacola and St. Petersburg.

Rod Funseth, Littler, Ted Kroll, Al Geiberger, Joe Carr and Bruce Crampton tied for third at 70.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The burden of proof in that Saturday Evening Post article, "The Story of A Football Fix," as I see it, lies with accuser George Burnett and the magazine, but Burnett makes an excellent case with his revelations.

Despite the vote of confidence for the Southeastern Conference by league commissioner Bernie Moore, the august old league has been wounded and wounded badly by the article.

There are those in the Southwest Conference who rejoiced when Bear Bryant, one of the accused parties, departed Texas A&M for the coaching job at Alabama — and not especially because he fielded hard-to-beat ball clubs. And there are influential men on the Cotton Bowl board committed to the proposition of keeping Bryant's teams out of the Dallas classic, no matter how successful his teams might be.

Incidentally, Burnett — who now resides in Atlanta, Ga. — was born in San Antonio and played high school football there.

An abundance of collusion exists in football, in high school as well as collegiate and pro circles.

Some maligned coaches send films and scouting reports of their games to other mentors in order to prepare teams tutored by parties of the second part against elevens coached by third parties. The third parties invariably are not sympathetic to the common cause.

That is an accepted practice, though. It may not be carried on in the cause of good sportsmanship but it is universally accepted as a way of life within the profession.

The Burnett article is an entirely different kettle of fish, however, and has already set off detonations within the fine old game of football from which it may not soon recover.

The magazine in which the article appeared has been in serious financial trouble for a long time. A decade ago, its publishers wouldn't have thought of going out on a limb in such a manner. But desperate times often call for desperate measures and the periodical's executives, no doubt, reasoned that it needed to deal in sensationalism, no matter what the consequence might be.

* * * *

An area school is in the doghouse with other schools in its vicinity due to the manner in which its basketball team carried on during the season.

The squad's demeanor, both during and after games, bordered on juvenile delinquency. The team reportedly did considerable damage to several visiting locker rooms and one school reportedly sent a bill for damages exceeding $200 to the accused school after a visit to its gym.

The uncomplimentary deportment on the part of the school's athletes is carrying over into other sports, too, apparently with the knowledge of the coaches.

The boys' enthusiasm had best be curbed, or the school is going to have difficulty booking opponents in any sport.

* * * *

Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, says he wishes friends of HCJC would quit taunting him about the decision of the Western Conference to keep the Jayhawks on the sidelines in Regional basketball competition this year.

Milburn reminds he did not point an accusing finger at HCJC. Fact is, he adds, he didn't even know the eligibility rule which tripped up the Jayhawks existed.

HCJC rooters, however, have bombarded Milburn — who, in reality, is a very personable and honorable individual — with letters suggesting that he was the hatchet man in the case.

Milburn got most of his information in the matter from me in the beginning and merely reported it, as any reporter would be expected to do.

HC Competes In Levelland Track Carnival Saturday

A dual track and field meet between ACC's Wildkittens and HCJC here Thursday was cancelled at the request of L. L. (Red) Lewis, coach of the Jayhawks.

HCJC's team is far below par physically. The Hawks are scheduled to compete in a four-way meet in Levelland Saturday and will have only three runners available.

Such boys as Milton Marrow, Tommy Wise, Bruce Teagarden, Don Carter and Kenneth Windham are still favoring ailments.

Other teams in the Levelland meet will be New Mexico Military Institute, which now becomes the favorite to finish first; Odessa and South Plains.

All regular events will be run in the Levelland show, which is an invitational meet.

Among the boys who will be active for HCJC are Tommy Yarbro, Terry Williams, Gary Walker, Mike Hill, Ronnie Overby and Larry Mauldin.

The Saturday cinder show begins at 10 a.m. and will be continued through the afternoon.

Black Sox Hero Ill In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Dickie Kerr, 69, the hero of the "Black Sox" scandal, is ill with cancer.

His wife said doctors' reports on tests at Memorial Hospital revealed the illness.

He was hospitalized for 12 days but was taken home Thursday.

Kerr gained lasting fame as the honest hero of the 1919 "Black Sox" scandal, pitching and winning two games for the Chicago White Sox against the Cincinnati Reds in that World Series.

Kerr has been a Houston resident for the past 20 years. He has been out of baseball for several years and has been working for a Houston electrical firm.

DEAR ABBY

It's An Equal Task

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three sons, and I've heard many other mothers say, "You are lucky you have boys. You don't have to worry the way mothers of daughters do!" Abby, this burns me up. They think if a girl gets in trouble it's her funeral, and boys don't create any problems no matter what they do. What can I say to let them know they are dead wrong? MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR MOTHER: People who make such thoughtless remarks should be told that when a girl "gets in trouble" the parents of the boy who is responsible are just as heartsick as the girl's parents. And, furthermore, since the males are supposedly the natural aggressors, the job of rearing decent and disciplined boys is certainly equal to that of raising well-behaved girls.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you asking you to put me in touch with a man signed FLORIDA, who was looking for a wife. He sounded just right for me and I know we could have made a wonderful match. I was terribly disappointed when you wrote back saying that as a matter of policy you did not put people in touch with each other through your column. Why do you have such a policy when you could get so many nice people together?

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You would be more disappointed if I were to abandon my policy and get one "nice" person (you!) together with one who was not so nice. I can't investigate everyone who writes to me. So rather than pair a lamb with a wolf, I stick to my policy.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is right for parents to permit two children under 10 years of age to watch the dog give birth to a litter of puppies? I just got a phone call that my daughter-in-law thought it was allright, and my son approved it. I would like to know what you think of letting children watch this procedure.

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: I know of no better way for young people to learn about the beginning of life, which is a subject baffling to youngsters—and not easy for oldsters to explain.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Cheers for BOTHERED, and her comment on "My, you look nice TODAY." The next most uncomplimentary compliment when I'm all dressed up is, "Is that NEW?"

Religious Play Slated Sunday

"Christ in the Concrete City," a religious drama, will be presented at St. Mary's Episcopal Church Sunday at 10:15 a.m. The play, written by P. W. Turner and first performed by the New Pilgrim Players in Hinckley Parch Church, Great Britain, in March, 1953, has six in the cast.

"Drama has played a significant part in the life of the church," Rev. Gayland Pool pointed out. "Currently, there is a revival of religious drama."

He explained that the current play is not to be associated with often seen productions using shepherd's robes and angel's wings. The production presents the story of Jesus from three points of view: the story of what happened, its significance to mankind, and modern applications of religious concepts.

The cast includes Mrs. J. H. Burnett, Linda Milam, Dr. Milton W. Talbot, Dick Lindsley, Bill Crooker and Rev. Max Maguire. Directors are Rev. Pool and Mrs. Robert Hartzog.

Hefty Housewife Loses 10 Pounds

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Mary Ferguson, the housewife who vowed she'd lose 50 of her 244 pounds in two weeks, is now 10 pounds lighter—and says she has lost two inches from her hips, three and one-half inches from her bust.

Her waist, alas, hasn't changed yet.

Mrs. Ferguson, 36, who chose a hotel room for fasting in private, is sticking to a diet of coffee, tea and boullion. She eats no solids.

Banks Voted A Tax Break

AUSTIN (AP)—House members voted Thursday to give state banks a tax break then quit for the weekend.

The House passed to the Senate a measure saying state banks do not have to pay the franchise tax. Federal banks already do not have to pay the tax.

Rep. Paul Haring of Goliad suggested unsuccessfully to the House that the tax, which he estimated at $1 million a year, be retained and that federal banks be taxed the same as state banks. He said other states tax national banks.

Earlier, the House debated the touchy question of how much area cities should be allowed to grow each year. They tentatively approved a municipal annexation measure by Rep. Henry Gover of Houston setting annexation limits from ½ to 5 miles for cities, depending on population. A final vote will come next week in the House.

The annexation bill provides cities with the authority to oversee certain aspects of subdivision development, including streets and drainage. It also provides a 7-year tax-free exemption for industrial areas, with the cities authorized to extend this another 7 years.

Trackless Train, Springless Spring

Presumably railroad tracks lay under snow in the foreground as Boston-bound commuters boarded the first train of the day at Norwood, Mass., on the first day of spring. Commuters stepped in each other's footprints in the six-inch snowfall. The train is the New Haven local between Blackstone and Boston.

Killer Goes To Chair With A Wisecrack And A Smile

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) — Five-time killer Frederick C. Wood was executed in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair Thursday night after anticipating death with a wisecrack and a smile.

To the end, Wood repudiated the efforts of persons he termed "do gooders" to gain him a reprieve. A derelict who had spent 30 of his 51 years in prison, Wood said he had no wish for further life behind bars.

Instead, he pleaded for an opportunity to "ride the lightning" of the electric chair.

Wood arrived for his "ride" at 10:01 p.m. four minutes later he had come to the end of the journey.

As he entered the death house of the prison 35 miles north of New York City Wood looked around and cracked to the witnesses:

"I have a speech to make on an educational project. You will see the effect of electricity on Wood. Enjoy yourself."

Then, laughing, Wood walked to the electric chair with a cigarette dangling from his mouth, brushed the chair off with his hand and calmly told the assemblage:

"I'll be with you in a moment. Wait'll I get through with my cigarette."

He tossed the cigarette to the floor and sat down as guards strapped him into the death chair. He was still smiling when the traditional black hood was lowered over his face.

Lawyers and New York Civil Liberties Committee spokesmen who did not even know Wood fought to the last to save him, contending he was insane. Hours before the execution, three associate U.S. Supreme Court justices turned the appeal down, and Chief Justice Earl Warren refused to intercede.

Psychiatrists had pronounced Wood legally sane during his prosecution, but attorney Norman Dorsen contended in a last-ditch appeal that there was enough evidence of insanity in Wood's history to indicate he was insane.

Dorsen, a New York University associate professor of law, filed a petition in Washington asking Supreme Court Justice John Harlan to stay Wood's execution to permit a sanity hearing. Harlan turned it down without comment.

Dorsen appeared for the New York Civil Liberties Committee as a voluntary counsel for Wood, who disowned him as he had previous lawyers who interested themselves in the case.

In a letter from Sing Sing's death row, Wood had declared:

"I have had three stays of execution thus far, one automatic (beyond my control) and two effected by well-intentioned lawyers, as 'do gooders.'

"I want no more. I really want to ride the lightning. I do not welcome any intrusion into this stinking case of mine."

Wood was condemned for beating to death John Rescigo, 62, and Frederick Sess, 78, during a 1960 wine drinking party in New York City. Less than five weeks earlier, he had been paroled from a 17-year prison term levied for the 1942 fatal beating of an Elmira, N.Y. man.

After his arrest for the 1960 slayings, Wood confessed two slayings of which the authorities had not known—of a 16-year-old girl friend in 1926 and of an Elmira woman in 1933.

For his last meal, Wood ordered three fried eggs with bacon, stewed tomatoes, vanilla ice cream and tea.

Wood made no secret of his lust for death—the death of others as well as his own.

"I'd use anything I could get my hands on just so long as I could kill," he said.

On Dec. 7, 1961, just before a judge passed the mandatory death sentence, Wood startled the courtroom by smirking and declaring:

"I was wondering if the judge could prescribe shock treatment for me."

Food Poisoning Suspected In Mercedes Deaths

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — Autopsies were ordered to determine the exact cause of death of two persons whom a peace justice said died of food poisoning Thursday.

Eva Becerra Cavazos, 23, and her brother, John Salvador Becerra, 12, died after eating homemade cookies at the Becerra home. Five other persons present became ill and were hospitalized after eating the cookies.

Justice of the Peace Enrique Salinas blamed food poisoning.

1,100 Believed Dead; Volcano Stops Erupting

DENPASAR, Bali (AP) — The deluge of lava from sacred Agung volcano was reported to have stopped today after five days of eruption. The governor of Bali said at least 1,100 islanders have perished.

"We have 75,000 homeless people to feed at this point, and we need help from everybody," said Gov. Anak Agung Sutedja.

He said another 200,000 may have lost their livelihood. Thousands of acres of once-fertile riceland lay beneath tons of lava and ash that have blanketed Bali's northeast coast.

An estimated 100,000 Balinese were fleeing the stricken area. Riding and afoot, they carried what possessions they could as they tried to get away from the 10,308-foot volcano which erupted briefly in February after years of virtual quiet, then went into violent action Sunday.

Reports from the disaster area said a heavy column of smoke still billowed from the crater.

A civil defense spokesman in Jakarta said earlier that more violent eruptions were feared, and authorities were trying to clear about 250,000 persons from a radius of 20 miles around the volcano.

A mushroom-shaped cloud of smoke could be seen from aircraft flying into Denpasar, but no ash was visible in this capital, about 70 miles southwest of Gunung (Mount) Agung.

Many foreign tourists were on the island, but all were believed safe. Most of them are staying in Denpasar.

Agung awoke with a roar last month. Its first eruption killed 17 people.

Last Sunday it came back with a second explosion, pushing lava down its slopes and burying hundreds of people under a deadly umbrella of searing ash. The governor said most people were killed by the ash cloud. He said the temperature of the ash was 230 degrees.

People who survived the holocaust at 7 a.m. Sunday said it became as dark as night for two minutes, and the ash choked almost everything.

The governor said hundreds were roasted alive in three villages just south of the mountain as they knelt in prayer.

Travelers returning from the area in Bali's northeast reported survivors said many priests and their disciples refused to leave their villages despite the danger.

Steady Daters Given Warning

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Rev. James A. Carey, who has outlawed steady dating at St. Michael's Roman Catholic High School, warned Thursday that 30 students faced expulsion if they didn't heed his ban by Monday.

After he made this announcement at a school assembly, Father Carey said, most of the 30 came to him voluntarily and said they'd abide by the order.

Father Carey put his ban against steady dating into effect March 1, warning students they would be expelled if they did not break off with their "steadies."

He told the assembly he has received more than 2,000 letters, some from as far away as Iraq and Iran, commending his action. Unfavorable letters number about 20, he said.

Chemical Expansion Highlights World-Wide Operations

In 1962, W. R. Grace & Co. continued to set new records, with net income increasing 16% and sales and revenues up 7%. Grace chemical sales exceeded $300 million. Operating earnings of the Chemical Group accounted for almost 70% of the Company total.

During the year, three new facilities were completed in the United States and four overseas, including Grace's first manufacturing plants in Spain and Japan. The Company's food activities were expanded in Europe with the purchase of a majority interest in C. J. Van Houten & Zoon, N.V., manufacturers of cocoa and chocolate products, and in Latin America with the obtaining of an interest in Hucke Hermanos S.A.C., well-known Chilean cooky and biscuit company.

The Grace Annual Report describes further progress in Libyan oil operations where 12 additional producing wells were drilled in the Raguba field, increasing the total to 24. Oil is now flowing from Raguba to the port of Marsa el Brega.

Results of Grace Line Inc. were substantially better in 1962, and Grace National Bank earnings also increased.

A Devotional For The Day

Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. (Ephesians 4:32.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, may the Holy Spirit bring to our remembrance that we are sinners saved by grace through faith. Grant us the desire and power to "live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world." In Jesus' name. Amen.

Problem Of Small Tracts

Millions of dollars have undoubtedly been wasted in Texas drilling on small acreage tracts. There is strong evidence, too, that the wells on fractional acres often draw much more than their fair share of oil or gas from a reservoir shared with adjoining property owners.

On this basis there is justification for legislation to relieve the situation, at least to the extent of assuring that each well producing from a common reserve be given no more nor no less than a fair share of the total estimated production from that reservoir. But House Bill 510, the so-called "pooling bill," seems to go farther than necessary in its approach to an otherwise desirable goal.

One of the key, disputed sections of HB510 would permit the Texas Railroad Commission, upon application from an interested owner, to establish a drilling block after attempts to secure voluntary pooling had failed. After the drilling block had been defined and designated, all land owners would be required to join it, unless they elected to share in the cost and the risk of drilling the well. This compulsory feature has stirred up considerable opposition and may defeat the whole proposal.

A much simpler approach would be to allocate to each well drilled its fair share of production from a common reservoir. Thus an offset to a 40-acre block drilled on a 1-acre tract would be entitled to only one-fortieth the daily production of the 40-acre block producing from the same reservoir.

This would be basically equitable to the mineral holders. One of the big headaches, however, may be in properly and accurately defining the reservoir, and in fairly recognizing the productivity of the periphery in comparison to the center.

Runoff Elections

San Antonio Rep. Glenn Kothmann's bill to require runoffs in special elections for state senator or representative may be no matter of grave urgency. But it is sound in principle, and it is a corrective measure logical to include in this session's extensive revision of the Texas Election Code.

Runoffs already are required in special elections to fill vacancies in the Texas delegation in the U. S. Senate and House. That reform resulted from the spectacle of free-for-all "sudden death" special elections attracting a horde of candidates—including a number of crackpots and publicity-seekers whom a runoff would discourage—and resulting in a minority choice.

Runoffs in special elections do cause extra expense. But it seems to us that the dignity of public office and the principle of majority rule in legislative representation are worth that added cost.

Some minority groups in Texas may complain that the Kothmann bill would rob them of opportunities to elect a candidate. But such a complaint has no merit. A candidate who cannot win a majority vote, either over the whole field in the initial election or in a runoff, has no business being put in office and handed an incumbent's advantage in the subsequent regular election.

A similar bill by Kothmann died in the previous session, presumably because it would have affected special elections then in process. His pending bill, however, would not do that; its passage would have no bearing on the imminent special legislative election in Nueces County. And we can see no persuasive reason why it should not pass.

Defense Contracts And Politics

WASHINGTON — The noisy quarrel, which is essentially between two giant contractors and their Congressional backers, over the TFX plane contract points up the ever-growing entanglement of huge defense spending with the politics of who gets what.

THE SENATE subcommittee investigating the $6.5 billion contract has taken after Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara on the ground that he gave the contract to General Dynamics even though Boeing entered a lower bid. McNamara's answer is that economies to be achieved through developing a single plane for both the Air Force and the Navy determined the award. A resolute man, he shows no signs of reversing his decision.

THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT has responded by saying, in effect, that you can hardly expect an unbiased finding when Senators with a direct stake in the outcome sit on the investigating committee. The accusing finger is pointed at Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), for whom the Boeing plant in Seattle and its payroll must be a major consideration.

But it is possible that Jackson, with his wide and continuing interest in national security, would welcome a way out of the pressures that inevitably bear down on a Senator with important defense industry in his state. If he can deliver for a particular industry back home he may at the same time be doing a disservice to the nation and to the taxpayer in terms of cost and efficiency.

THAT IS WHY the Senate, instead of indulging in the quarrel currently going on, would do well to give serious consideration to the proposals of Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.). Case put in bills the other day calling for complete public disclosure of all communications whether written or oral and from members of Congress and anyone in the executive branch seeking to influence the awarding of a contract. He would also require full and prompt disclosure of the basis on which a negotiated contract is granted.

OF THE $60 BILLION a year in defense and space contracts an estimated 65 per cent are negotiated without competitive bidding. This is a wide open invitation to pull and push. While by most accounts McNamara has done a remarkable job of standing up to these pressures, it is too great a burden to put on one man.

Case, in introducing his proposals, cited examples of the "I can do more for you" theme that is more and more resorted to. He quoted speeches by President Kennedy in last year's election in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, claiming a marked increase in government contracts for those states under his Administration, with the President urging election of Democratic governors to continue this collaboration.

THE DEFENSE Department has fallen into the habit of allowing Senators and Representatives to announce important defense contracts in their states and districts. That tends to create the impression they are responsible for obtaining this prize. In most instances the impression is false but there is rivalry for the local headlines that come out of such an announcement.

Senator Case has a third proposal. That is to establish a joint Senate-House committee to review defense and space contracts, with special attention to negotiated contracts. It would be made up of a Democrat and a Republican each named from the Senate and House Armed Services Committees, Senate and House Appropriations Committees, Senate and House Government Operations and Senate and House Space Committees.

IT WOULD BEAR a family resemblance to the committee on the conduct of the war which Harry S. Truman so ably directed in World War II. As chairman of that committee Truman, scrutinizing without fear or favor vast expenditures and complicated operations, made his nation a' reputation. How many billions of dollars he saved the country it is impossible to compute.

That any of the Case proposals will be adopted seems unlikely even though five other Senators have joined in sponsoring the bills. The Joint Committee on Contracts cuts across too many privileges and perquisites which present committee chairmen cling to.

WITH EACH succeeding election, so long as defense budgets run at $55 or $60 billion, the game of contract promise and grab will become more deeply entrenched in the political system. As this system prevails any meaningful disarmament is bound to become more difficult. Each member of Congress will have a stake in keeping the home plant going. This has already been demonstrated in areas where aircraft contracts have been cut back as missiles have begun to dominate.

In his farewell address President Eisenhower spoke solemn words of warning about the growing influence of what he called the military-industrial complex. Today it might better be called the military-industrial-political complex.

A Cool News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—It snowed in the Washington area in the morning. Then it was cool all day. President Kennedy let it stay that way.

For two years Kennedy, like President Eisenhower before him, has been using a kind of verbal fire extinguisher to keep the heat down.

This doesn't make for lively news conferences but it helps the President avoid fights.

At his news conference Thursday night Kennedy didn't irritate anyone except perhaps Fidel Castro.

MUCH OF the conference was based on hope, a word that ran all through it.

Kennedy said he hoped more Russians would leave Cuba; that he could visit Berlin, when he visits West Germany; that the New York newspaper strike will end soon, and that a NATO nuclear force can be established in Europe.

The President declined an excellent chance to get embroiled with his old friends in Congress when asked how he felt about the Senate investigation of the TFX fighter plane contract.

This contract, with the approval of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, went to the General Dynamics Corp. instead of the low bidder, Boeing Co. in Seattle Wash. About $6.5 billion are involved.

McNamara was asked how come by a committee headed by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark. McNamara said it saved the government money. This didn't satisfy the committee. It went on digging.

McNamara said this was undermining morale in the Pentagon. And Thursday Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., not only agreed with him but backed him.

KENNEDY was completely nonincendiary. He said he thought McNamara was a fine secretary and had done the right thing. He also said the investigation was not only all right but would find McNamara was, too.

In Korea the military rulers, to the displeasure of Koreans who want elections and civilian rule, indicated a desire to stay in charge another four years.

This is a sore subject, particularly since Koreans remember the United States supported the dictatorship of President Syngman Rhee before he was tossed out.

Kennedy was asked his views on the situation now. He said conditions there now are "in flux" and he doubted "anything I would say on it would be helpful, at least this week."

The Genie In The Can

NEW YORK (AP)—The genie doesn't come out of a lamp any more—he comes out of a can.

And today's housewife can command the performance of more magic than Aladdin ever dreamed of, as long as her trigger finger holds out.

In the present pushbutton era, the best homemaker on the block isn't the one who has the shiniest floor or the biggest array of preserves. She's the one who has the largest collection of spray cans and the sturdiest thumb.

Anything I can do, spray can do better—and not only around the house. A few well-aimed gushes of various mists and I can become a model of elegance, from the top of my fiber-board hair to the tip of my spray-polished shoes.

And if those shiny shoes are too tight, I needn't suffer an instant. They haven't produced a spray yet to shrink my feet, but there is a new chemical that will stretch the shoes.

Even my stockings in those well-fitting shoes have been assured of longer life after the application of a thin film that prevents a run.

There's a special spray to clean my jewelry, another to dry my nail polish in a hurry and the pleats in my skirts are there to stay, having been coaxed into permanent place with spray.

My dress is spotless—I whooshed that stain away. I'm not worried about rain, because I'm also waterproof, courtesy of a spray can.

My husband shares the benefits of modern science too. He used to spray his face with shaving foam, but now he points a different can in a different direction and annoints the head of his electric razor, to lubricate the cutting blades.

His plants grow like Jack's beanstalk when he applies a bit of stimulating spray in strategic places around the garden. Of course he has always painted only under pressure, but now the paints he uses are under pressure too.

As for the housework—I just whistle and spray my cares away. The frost in my freezer magically dissolves; the spots on my carpet disappear; dull, tarnished surfaces take on new luster; furniture glows and porcelain glistens, all with the aid of sprays.

Just in case there's something they forgot to put in a can, there's also a plastic container with fingertip trigger for any liquid not already loaded with propellant.

But now I'll have to pray as I spray—that I don't get confused and spurt the shaving cream on the fruit cocktail, the whipped cream on the woodwork and the hairspray on the windows.

Elderly Folk Need Sympathy And Understanding

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 90-year-old mother, blind and partially deaf, is living with my husband and me and our 17-year-old daughter. My patience is running out with her, as she plays the radio loud, and I mean LOUD.

If I turn it down, she turns it up. I am on a 24-hour duty because she sleeps only about three hours and rambles on and off the rest of the time. She refuses to stay upstairs for breakfast. She is in the living room in an easy chair from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and only leaves to go upstairs to the bathroom, or for nothing, every hour. My daughter likes to have friends after school or in the evenings, and we have only a small house.—MRS. H.C.

Old people, poor things, can be difficult. We must be patient, and also clever in dealing with them.

Your mother's world has shrunk to the size of your house. She can't see and can't hear very well. It's natural for her to prowl as much as her old limbs will permit.

Let her — within limits of the rights of the rest of you. Your daughter is entitled to entertain her friends. Grandma will have to be told so. And you, obviously, would like her to stay upstairs more in the morning when you're trying to get housework done. She will have to be told that.

But on the other hand, perhaps some benefits can be arranged. Can you put an easy chair upstairs, so she won't miss having a soft place for her weary bones? And a radio there, too?

As to the loud radio, it isn't prohibitive in cost to get a set equipped with headphones. Your mother can then turn up the volume to suit her diminished hearing without blasting the rest of you out of the house.

Can't you make a compromise on the breakfast issue? It wouldn't be surprising if she insists on coming downstairs for breakfast just for the companionship of eating with the rest of you. If she then would agree to go back upstairs for the rest of the morning—and listen to a radio there as loud as she chooses — it would give you some time to get things done.

These problems can be harder on the nerves than is realized by people who haven't experienced them. The only answers I know are patience, ingenuity, and a little kind firmness.

Try to understand what she wants; see that she also understands that the rest of the family deserves consideration, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the meaning of the word syndrome?—MRS. F. L.

Syndrome comes from Greek roots meaning "to run together," hence a group of symptoms which, together, identify a certain condition.

There are many kinds of syndromes — "Stokes-Adams syndrome," "shoulder-hand syndrome," and scores of others in which the name (often that of a physician who first described it) may give no clue at all to its meaning.

Dear Dr. Molner: What should a woman do to prevent aging, when her face is her living?—MRS. A.N.

Plenty of sleep, proper diet, a clear conscience and moderate, regular exercise are the only things I know to minimize the wrinkles of getting older. Aside from that, plastic surgery (or "face-lifting") has been very useful to women who, in good and vigorous health, sometimes have had to do a little fibbing about their real age to keep a job. It would be better if the world judged us by what we can do, instead of by guessing at our age, but I have yet been unable, despite my most sincere efforts, to make the world adopt this more sensible view.

Around The Rim

Recruiting And Guidance

Professional and business people get as much as students out of Career Day, if not more. This was evident at Howard County Junior College this week.

It was evident also that something is amiss.

The trouble seemed to be between the working man's concept of education as a tool and the educator's view of it as an end in itself. There was agreement on principle, but variation in approach.

THE PANEL on which I served went through its proper motions, threw open the floor for questions by students, and received an innocent silence. The educators tried to spirit up the discussion by tossing in their own questions, a general bull session followed, and the students looked on with interest. Afterthought makes it evident that young and inexperienced students would not be likely to have very many questions upon subjects which at their age are over their heads.

Panelists generally followed the natural inclination of the professional to stress what comes after college, while admitting the value of learning the basics during youth instead of starting ignorant at the very bottom and learning on the job.

THE TEACHERS tended to follow their own natural inclinations in putting the main premium on education, which led to some misinterpretation of the professional view. They did have a germ of truth in the concept of the value of knowledge for the sake of knowledge.

But like all good-hearted bull sessions, there was much crossing over of partisan lines as views were exchanged, until at the last one could not tell the panelists from the teachers, except by remembering where each was supposed to be sitting. One point never was at issue—the psychological value of a campus atmosphere.

AFTERWARDS, the adults were edified, but the students apparently had learned little more than this: that one should get as much education as early as possible; that one should then plunge furiously into the savagely competitive business of making a living and getting ahead. It was a valuable lesson, but did little to help the students decide on a career.

And that brings out the hard truth that most high school students do not yet know what they want to do, many are not mature enough to judge, and it often takes a good two years of college to find one's path to a career.

Two years that could be spent in obtaining a broad liberal arts education, which never hurt anybody, usually helps widen horizons for narrow specialists, and most of the courses of which are necessary in earning a degree, anyway.

TWO ADDITIONAL years are enough in many cases for concentrating on major subjects, and if not, four-year college terms are yearly becoming insufficient.

Career days at HCJC, just as at other colleges and universities, are aimed primarily at recruiting next year's freshman enrollment, and the present set-up which brings in experts in various fields to induce youngsters into their careers amounts to little more than a recruiting gimmick, aside from the intrinsic value.

Junior colleges particularly might better further their aims by shifting the emphasis from a career day to a program designed to impress visiting high school students with the tremendous advantages of two years in the liberal arts while making up their minds on a career.

Quit Smoking, Beat Your Wife

"Live and let live" is a stout motto for domestic tranquility, or so it seems to me.

So over the years I have managed, by chewing my tongue to shreds, not to nag my husband about the inconscionable number of cigarettes he smokes (show me the woman who doesn't think her husband smokes too much!).

AFTER ALL, he's as old as I am, I keep telling myself, and he's smarter. Also, he can read. And if he can't add two and two, who am I to turn master adding machine?

My only weapon through the years, and it has been about as effective as a toy popgun, is clippings from newspapers and magazines describing scientific evidence of the connection between cigarettes and lung cancer. These I put on his desk, without comment on my part. Whether he reads the barrage, deponent knoweth not.

WELL, TURNABOUT is fair play. Yesterday I found a clipping on my desk, a dispatch out of Toronto quoting Dr. James Key, associate professor of surgery at the University of Toronto. In an address before the 1963 Canadian Health Forum the surgeon made some highly original observations on ways and means of staving off heart trouble and peripheral blocked arteries, together with equally unique recommendations for health and happiness in this vale of tears.

DR. KEY told the forum that the four S's are the key to the health problem, to wit: Smoking, Scotch, Sex and Salads. The doctor is unalterably against the first and a strong advocate of the latter trio. "Plenty of salads, plenty of Scotch and plenty of sex, but no smoking," the doctor recommended.

"I can take salads or leave them alone" was one message written on the margin of the clipping. But heavily underlined was Dr. Key's advice about the confirmed smoker of indefinite years.

"BUT IF A MAN has smoked all his life and is over 50, I don't recommend that he stop," Dr. Key told the health forum. "It (stopping) may give him a guilt complex and put him in the hands of a psychiatrist. Or he'll beat his wife to death."

That last sentence was heavily underscored. And in the margin opposite was written: "Aren't you the lucky girl!"

IF THE DOCTOR is on the right track about the results of reformation in the middle-aged smoker, I am lucky, indeed. It had never occurred to me before, as it probably has never crossed the minds of millions of wives, that a man might substitute wife-beating for tobacco.

Wife-beaters have consistently fared hard in and out of American courts. It has always been frowned upon as socially inadmissible even among the lower orders. But if word gets around that wife-beating in the older citizen is only a substitute or sublimated reaction to renunciation of the cigarette habit, my sex may have to be combat ready at all times.

INSTEAD OF SAVING the cigarette addict, Dr. Key may have imperilled the wife whose middle-aged husband swears off tobacco. Oscar Wilde said that a "cigarette is the perfect type of perfect pleasure. It is exquisite and it leaves one unsatisfied. What more can one want?"

To make a punching bag of his wife, is the apparent answer to that question, if she interferes with that perfect pleasure and if Dr. Key is on the right track. Certainly I shall hesitate, in the future, even to put anti-cigarette reading material on my husband's desk. I don't want to have to turn into the Artful Dodger.

AS FOR DR. KEY'S other S's, the hypothesis is surely interesting but still a matter of individual decision. However, one last question: Is there any hope for those of us who can't abide Scotch?

'Managing' The News

WASHINGTON — Much of the discussion lately about "managed news" is an exercise in semantics. The word "managed" can be variously interpreted as a proper as well as an improper use of information that is given to the public.

Every administration, just like every private business, has a right to put its best foot forward—to write its own statements and declarations in such words and phrases as will make the most favorable impression on the people. For years every administration has had specialists in its various departments to handle press relations.

NOBODY WOULD object to "managed news" if it merely means the issuance of statements and reports by the government which "point with pride" to an administration's achievements or extol the virtues of policies it hopes to fulfill.

What is objectionable is something that can be referred to unequivocally as deception or untruth. President Eisenhower was blamed by Democratic partisans for having told the truth about the U-2 incident in 1960.

GOVERNMENTS do not need to publish everything they know. The real question is whether, when they talk to the public, they are revealing all of the truth or none of the truth. The American people are accustomed to political exaggerations and also to the obvious propaganda in official statements. This type of publicity may not be relished, but the majority of the people accept it as a custom in political government.

What is considered reprehensible, however, is an attempt by any administration deliberately to deceive the American people. Sometimes this is done not by any misstatement but by careful manipulation of the news in such a way as to produce an impression that really is not true.

THE WHOLE controversy about "managed news" arose in connection with the crisis over the military build-up in Cuba last autumn. For reasons of its own, the administration did not wish to make public what it knew. This is understandable. But when high officials of the administration assemble and talk to a group of 500 editors, reporters and broadcasters from 40 states in a "background briefing," the newsmen naturally believe they are being given the whole truth. Such a "briefing" took place here on October 15.

UNDER THE RULES of these conferences, nobody is quoted directly. A high official of the government did, however, assure the press that the Soviet equipment in Cuba was totally defensive in character and that the threat in Cuba was not a military threat to the hemisphere but one of subversion. The newsmen were also told that invasion and blockade should be considered as one and had been ruled out, because ships couldn't be stopped under the threat of force without getting into a war—and a big one. The whole tenor of these remarks left the reporters with the feeling that the United States intended to take no action beyond stepping up surveillance and trying to influence international traffic involving Cuba.

YET, WITHIN a few days, a mobilization was ordered, and it has since been disclosed that as early as October 16 the administration had confirmed its suspicions about the presence of "offensive" missiles in Cuba. The President didn't go on television to announce this until October 22.

Meantime, many of the news stories and magazine articles written as a result of these "briefing" conferences with the press gave the public a totally misleading impression. What the public read was that no action was being contemplated beyond economic pressure and that no measures would be taken to rid Cuba of Soviet armament.

All this turned out in a few days not to be true. Many excuses have been heard ever since.

THE NET EFFECT was nevertheless to permit those who attended the "briefing" sessions to tell the American people things which were not true concerning the government's intentions.

Angola Missionary To Visit Kentwood Congregation

A Methodist missionary to Angola, who was deported in 1961 by the Portuguese government, will speak at the Kentwood Methodist Church Friday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m.

REV. EDWIN LEMASTER

The Rev. Edwin LeMaster, 39, of Lexington, Ky., was deported after being accused of "activities subversive to the government." Although no proof of the charges were ever made, he and three other missionaries were imprisoned in Lisbon for 90 days before their deportation. Efforts to get the Portuguese to make public charges are being made by the Methodist Board of Missions in New York.

Rev. LeMaster has been a high school director and religious education teacher in the interior of Angola. Commissioned in 1952, his first assignment was at Quessua in the north central part of the country, where he became director of the William Taylor Institute, a boys' elementary school and a co-educational secondary and teacher-training school.

He was also appointed co-director of religious education of the Angola Methodist Conference, sharing responsibilities with an African pastor.

Married and the father of one son, David Edwin, 6, and one daughter, Katherine Jean, 8, Rev. LeMaster, a native of Rush, Ky., spent most of his early life in that state and attended Asbury College and Asbury Theological Seminary in 1947. He was a pastor in the Kentucky Methodist Conference about three years and returned to school in 1950 to do graduate work.

He received a master of arts degree from Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., in 1951 and spent a year studying in Portugal before going to Angola.

Spanning The Globe

These Big Springers are going as missionary participants in the Japan New Life movemeat spanning the next six weeks. Mary Frances Malone, left, and her father, Dr. P. W. Malone, showing how the outreach will span the globe, left Wednesday for Tokyo. Others are the Rev. Robert F. Polk, standing, First Baptist pastor; Joe Dunn, Baptist Temple; Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Reeder, First Baptist. Not shown is Rayford Dunagan, East Fourth Baptist, who was in Odessa conferring with Dr. John Rasco, who will be the pastor for the evangelistic team on which he will serve.

Seven Big Springers To Participate In Movement

Yesterday or today—either may be correct — two of seven Big Springers who will participate in an extraordinary missionary enterprise arrived in the Orient.

Dr. P. W. Malone and his daughter, Mary Frances Malone, left here Wednesday morning, boarded a plane in Dallas and an hour later by the clock (three hours in actual time) put down in San Francisco. That same evening they boarded another plane and crossed the international dateline to wake up in the Philippines the next (Friday) morning. Coming back they will pick up that lost day.

FIVE OTHERS

Within the next month, five others will follow them on similar schedules. Four distinct waves of workers are going.

All of them are bent on one thing—putting themselves at the disposal of Japanese Baptist pastors and missionaries for service in the Japan New Life Movement.

Also planning to go are the Rev. Robert F. Polk, First Baptist minister and the Malone's pastor; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeder, a lay team from the First Baptist; Joe Dunn, who is being sent by the Baptist Temple as a lay worker; and Rayford Dunagan, a lay worker from East Fourth Baptist Church.

Rev. Polk will be evangelist at the Sengawa Baptist Mission of the Mitaka Baptist Church in Tokyo. He will leave April 8, on a Monday and will return three weeks later, missing only two Sundays from his pulpit. His work in Tokyo will be with Missionary Curtis Askew, his interpreter, and with Layman Dorsey Mackey, Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Malone, Abilene. He will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Gaylan Bradford, former First Baptist members named first associate missionaries by the Southern Baptists to manage a dormitory.

REEDERS

Mr. and Mrs. Reeder will depart Dallas April 7, going to Shimoitozu Kokura, Japan, about 1,000 miles southwest of Tokyo and on Kyushu. M. F. Moorhead is pastor of the host church; Dr. T. D. Wyatt, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Albuquerque, will be the preacher, and Michizo Kometani, principal of the Baptist junior high of 700 enrollment, will interpret.

Baptist Temple last Sunday took an offering which drew such response that the congregation is sending Dunn April 15. He has not received his specific assignment.

Dunagan is scheduled to be in Japan from April 22-May 6, and he will be working with Dr. and Mrs. John Rasco, First Baptist in Odessa. He has been conferring with the Rascos on plans for the work at Shinzaiya, Himeji, which, like the Reeders' station, is below Hiroshima.

NEXT WEEK

Dr. Malone and Mary Frances will be working next week with the Billy Graham team. The following week they will be at Shimura Baptist Church working with the pastor, the Rev. Snoja Okamura, who will be their interpreter. Dr. Malone has been invited to address a meeting of Christian physicians, and to speak at a Baptist hospital. He hopes for an appointment to present a volume of the new amplified New Testament to R. Azuma, governor (mayor) of Tokyo, a Japanese Christian. Members of the Japanese host church asked Mary Frances to bring her harp, but she's hoping to do the next best thing—rent one when they arrive in Tokyo.

"This is a Japanese movement," explained Rev. Polk, "and we are going as helpers at their request. We are going for one purpose, to help where they want us to in telling what Christ has done for us."

NO SIGHT-SEEING

Between 700 and 1,000 ministers and laymen, many at their own expense, and the others at expense of their churches, are going from Texas in response to the invitation. There is no sight-seeing on their agenda, simply their missionary purpose. The New Life Movement has spread beyond Japan and will touch Hong Kong, Formosa, the Philippines and Hawaiian Islands.

Jesus Answers His Critics

A DAY OF INTERROGATION IN WHICH CHRIST REVEALS THE TWO GREATEST PRINCIPLES THAT SHOULD CONTROL MEN

Scripture—Mark 12:13-44.

By N. SPEER JONES

THIS WEEK'S lesson is a continuation of the events which took place on Tuesday of Holy Week. It includes three more questions by interrogators sent to trap Him, a question which Christ asks them in return, His condemnation of these supposedly high and mighty beings, and His offsetting commendation of a humble woman who is truly following God's way.

The reason for these interrogations of Jesus was, as we have seen, the jealousy-driven desire on the part of the Jewish authorities to rid themselves of Christ without incurring the wrath of the multitude, which at this time showed itself favorable to Him. They reasoned that if they could discredit Him with the multitude, they would be able to do away with Him.

For the first question they sent a group of Pharisees and Herodians. The Herodians were Jews who were loyal to the Roman government of Herod. Thus it was natural that their question should concern some Roman rulings—in this case, the tribute, or poll tax, owed to the government which afforded them certain privileges, but which was hated by the Jews because it recognized a ruler other than one of themselves.

So potent was the people's feeling that after Christ's time, Judas of Galilee was able to lead a rebellion against Rome around the rallying cry that it was unlawful to pay tribute to Caesar. So if Christ answered in the affirmative, He would lose the people's sympathy; if He answered in the negative, the authorities had easy pretext to arrest Him.

Christ's answer made it clear that He separated temporal from spiritual authority; He implied, too, that these people, who used the Roman money and accepted Roman privileges, owed a fiscal payment to Rome. Here we see Christ's emphasis on the necessity of temporal government along with obedience to God's spiritual rule.

The next question is asked by the Sadducees, and this fact in itself marks their question with insincerity; the Sadducees did not believe in a resurrection of any sort, so why should they be concerned about marriage in a future life?

The third question is asked by a scribe, and it naturally concerns the laws, the chief concern of the scribes, who argue interminably about them. For instance, at Christ's time they held that there were exactly 613 precepts, comprising 248 "commands" and 365 "prohibitions." They were so preoccupied with these petty considerations that they failed to realize the importance of God's first commandment, as declared in the Decalogue.

GOLDEN TEXT

"For I have not spoken on My own authority; the Father Who sent Me has Himself given Me commandment what to say and what to speak."—John 12:49.

Christ, in answering, does not go back to the Decalogue, however, but to Deuteronomy 6:4,5 —the so-called "Shema," a passage so important that it is recited every day by an Orthodox Jew. For the second commandment, Christ goes to Leviticus 19:18. It is plain from his answer that the scribe has been won over to Christ.

Christ's question to His interrogators implies His dual Divine-human nature. The Jewish authorities failed to recognize Christ as the Messiah because he did not assume complete temporal authority, restoring the physical kingdom of David.

Christ then accuses the authorities of three great sins—ambition, cruelty (as regarding helpless widows) and insincerity in their religion.

He praises the poor widow for the chief virtue which the mighty authorities lack; her religious sincerity governed her whole life.

"POURING AND SPRINKLING"

"Baptism" is from the Greek "Baptizo," means burial, or immersion. "Sprinkling" is from the Greek "Rantizo." It means to rain, or sprinkle. Christ taught baptism — He taught "Baptizo" but He did not teach "Rantizo," hence He did not teach sprinkling. Christians follow Christ; "Christian" is a name but a name with a meaning.

A Roman Catholic pope named Stephen II in 753 AD said, "Pouring or sprinkling is only admitted in cases of necessity." (In cases of sickness.) Dean Stanley of Episcopaleanism said in 1880, "The universal practice of the church for 13 centuries was immersion." I might add that it is still the practice of the "Bible," hence of the "Bible people," hence of the "Bible church." Phillip Schaff in 1885 said, "Baptism is to immerse in water." There is not a Greek lexicon on earth that defines baptism to mean sprinkle. I do not refer to our ordinary dictionaries; these are not the standard for such terms, since they give only the ordinary common usage of a word.

Sprinkling as a substitute for Bible baptism is illusive, hollow and sinful. It was for similar sins of presumption that Cain's offering was rejected and that Nadab and Abihu were slain and that caused the death of Uzzah. God hates presumption; sprinkling is a presumptuous substitute for God's command to be "buried with him by baptism" — Rom. 6:1-6.

Bidault Faces A Bleak Future: Political Oblivion

By RICHARD O'REGAN
An AP News Analysis

STEINEBACH, Germany (AP) —Georges Bidault gives the impression of a tragic, hunted exile with little prospect except political oblivion.

He is wanted by the French government and unwanted by his unwilling protectors in Germany. Bidault faces three choices within a few days. None of them gives him much hope of regaining the stature he once had as a distinguished French leader.

He can remain in Germany and give up political activity against his former friend and present enemy, Charles de Gaulle. If he stays, he will have to abandon in fact—even if not in name—the leadership he claims to have over the movement to overthrow De Gaulle.

He can allow himself to be deported from Germany. In this case, he may, like certain members of the terrorist French Seret Army, find himself wandering from country to country, seeking a refuge where he might operate in the open against his adversary.

Or he can decide to try to escape German police, flee Germany, and resume his clandestine wanderings about Europe. He would have to enter another country illegally and would be hunted by French secret agents.

Bidault says he leads the Council of National Resistance, an organization regarded as the political arm of the secret army which has tried to assassinate De Gaulle.

"I am the boss of the CNR, you understand the word—the boss! The boss!" he shouted almost incoherently a few days ago, as if his word was doubted.

He is charged in France with being a member of a clandestine organization which has been ordered dissolved because it is plotting against the security of the state. This is not a capital offense. He has not been accused of trying to kill De Gaulle, a crime punishable by death.

Bidault has been under German police guard since he was discovered 12 days ago living with two German journalists in a hilltop villa in this Bavarian village.

Police cars patrol the area. Two uniformed police patrol the villa's grounds with submachine guns. There are plainclothesmen in the house, one outside the tiny, dusty room in the attic where Bidault sleeps on a cot and where his black homburg sits atop a pile of old newspapers.

He has had no rendezvous with anybody not allowed by the police.

Secret army men were in this area before Bidault was discovered. One—Col. Antoine Argound —was kidnaped in Munich and handed over to the De Gaulle government by unknown persons a few days earlier.

If there still are CNR or secret army men in Bavaria, they apparently have had no direct contact with Bidault since he was found.

Correspondents who have seen Bidault here get the impression that he may have become only a figurehead in the organizations.

He is a slightly built intellectual with bright eyes. His face has a greenish-yellowish pallor, his hair is white and he walks slowly. He sleeps late and appears to be conserving his energy.

Bidault is a former premier and a former foreign minister of France. He headed the wartime resistance against the Nazis while De Gaulle was out of the country. As such, he still has appeal to numerous Frenchmen.

But active leadership of the CNR may have passed elsewhere —perhaps to Jacques Soustelle, another former minister in De Gaulle's government, who is reported hiding in Portugal. Soustelle is a younger, more energetic man.

The Bavarian government says a final decision on Bidault will come this weekend or early next week.

He may be expelled if he refuses to curb his political activity—something he declares he never will do. But where can he go openly? No country has indicated it will allow him to continue to plot against De Gaulle.

If he is permitted to stay in Bavaria, he may have to move to a residence chosen by the police, report to them regularly and refrain from political activity. Other exiles in Bavaria — Russians, Ukrainians, Poles, Hungarians, etc.—are allowed to be politically active. But they are not opponents of a state friendly to Germany.

It is entirely possible the Bavarians would turn a blind eye if Bidault tried to escape Germany. They would be rid of an embarrassment.

But Bidault says he is terrified of French secret agents. If he tries to escape Germany illegally, they may be hot on his trail. While he is under the protection of German police, French agents undoubtedly will do nothing for fear of causing difficulties between Germany and France.

WELL, A TRACE HELPS A LITTLE

Spring earned an "E" for effort Thursday night. It tried hard to produce a rain and managed to squeeze out a few scattered droplets on two occasions. The first was in the late afternoon; the second attempt in midevening.

Officially, the U. S. Experiment Station rated the precipitation as a "trace."

March has been anything but wet. A trace of rain on March 8 and the alleged trace last night constitute the grand total of moisture scored so far this month.

Cost Of Wives Going Up In Kenya District

Inflation has struck the native villages deep in the African Kenya district, according to the Rev. Charles Ludwig, who spent 10 years of his life in the area.

"It used to be," Ludwig told the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday, "a man could buy a strong, healthy wife for five cows, four goats and $6 in cash. Now, I hear, the price has jumped to as much as 14 cows for a good quality wife.

"And if a husband is paying for his wife on the installment plan, it is urgent these days that he not permit his payments to her parents to lag. If he does, the woman will walk out on him and go back to her mamma."

The speaker, in Big Spring to conduct a revival service at the First Church of God, was introduced by the Rev. Ward Jackson, pastor of the church. He is the author of 30 books and his newest, "Mamma Was a Missionary," is now in the hands of the publishers.

He spoke on life and habits of the Kenya natives in his brief address to the Kiwanians. He moved to Kenya when a boy of 9. He left at the age of 19. His mother, a missionary, continued in the mission service in the territory until her death a few years ago.

His experiences include sermons preached to the Mau Maus and other sermons to the Arabs and to the Jews in Jerusalem. His books have been translated into four languages.

Musical portion of Thursday's program was by Bob Hines, Glen Faison and the Rev. Robert Polk, of First Baptist Church. Dr. Edward H. Shamburger, who is currently conducting a revival at the First Baptist Church, also attended.

Announcement was made by Soc Walker, club president, that the club had benefited about $900 from sponsorship here of three performances last weekend of the Miller-Kelly Circus.

Luther Loudamy, new resident, was inducted as a club member.

Move Required In Some Rural Mail Boxes

Patrons of the Big Spring Post Office who live on rural and star routes will soon be required to set their mail boxes on the right side of the roads or highways passing their residences.

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said that a department edict specifying that rural boxes be located on the right hand side of the road (which is to say the right hand side as it applies to the route carrier on his travels) was issued last year.

Now, he said, the department is stepping up its demand for compliance with the regulation. He pointed out the requirement is in the interest of safety. Where a mail man has to swing his vehicle across the highway poses a traffic hazard.

"Several route carriers have been killed in accidents resulting from this practice," Boatler said he had been informed, "and others have been injured."

He asked that patrons cooperate to the fullest.

Demos Vote Condemnation Of Secrecy

Howard County Democratic club has voted a strongly worded condemnation of the recent Senate action pertaining to secret sessions, it was announced by Roscoe Cone, president.

A unanimous vote was accorded the resolution at a recent meeting of the club. The action followed the State Senate's action in expelling a Senate member from a meeting of secret nature for revealing what was done in such a session. The resolution termed the action "high handed" and criticized Lt. Gov. Preston Smith for banning debate on the Senate floor on matters related to rules changes.

The resolution cited the grave dangers inherent in such proceedings and the disregard of the people's right to know what their senators do and how each voted on important measures.

"If freedom and democracy are to be preserved," the resolution said, "its principles certainly must be adhered to by the highest legislative body in the state."

The club held a short business session at which Mrs. A. G. Goodson was elected chairman of the women's division of the club and Mrs. Tom Farquhar, vice chairman.

Frank Sabbato, secretary, spoke on "Why A Democrat?"—reciting the history of the party and its accomplishments.

The Young Democratic Division will be in charge of the April 8 meeting of the club.

Funeral Held For James Fryar

Funeral was held at 2 p.m. today for James Harvey Fryar, former Big Spring resident, who died in an automobile accident Wednesday evening about seven miles south of Stanton.

Mr. Fryar was operator of the Fryar Implement Co., Stanton, and had lived in Martin County since September, 1961. Prior to that he had lived in Howard County since 1951 and was a farmer and land owner.

Officiating at the funeral was the Rev. Ellis Todd, pastor of the Stanton Methodist Church. Burial was in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were John Taylor, Bill Lemons, Sam Anderson, Lewis Carlile, E. P. Driver, Adolph Swartz, Clyde Angel, John A. Coffey, Dr. W. A. Hunt, O. B. Bryan, Phill Berry, James Jones, Dr. Frank Dillon, Charlie Staggs, Rex Baggett, Edmond Tom and Elmo Wasson.

Traffic Signal Is Back To Work

The traffic control light, on the southeast corner of the Gregg-Marcy intersection, was back in operation bout 3 p.m. Thursday, after being knocked down by an automobile early Wednesday night.

City Electrician Roy Rogan said some welding of the head, base, and control box, was necessary to put the light in service, but that some parts would have to be replaced for permanency.

"We had to replace some parts and had them on hand, but others must be ordered. The cost for parts and materials ran to $146 and labor to $20," Rogan said.

Robert Carter Is Club President

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Robert Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter, has been elected president of the Spanish Club at Texas Tech.

Robert is a language major and is completing his junior year at Tech. While grades are only one factor in the selection of a president of the club, no one with less than a 2.0 grade average can be considered.

The Spanish Club is the largest of the language clubs at Tech and has something like 500 members.

Less Demand Lowers Income

Lighter water use during the abnormally cool January and February is reflected in lower revenues to the Colorado River Municipal Water District for the first two months of the year. However, water demands have taken a spurt during the past two weeks and the March report should take up some of the slack.

Total revenues during February were $151,279, well below the $174,904.79 for February of 1962. The major portion of the drop, however, was in revenues from oilfield repressuring units, some of whom have changed their billing and some their policy on early year consumption.

The member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder paid $113,-191.31, together with rural users, during February, as compared with $108,205 a year ago. However, the oil company returns amounted to $36,558.82 as against $64,532.18 a year ago. Recreational revenues in February amounted to $1,343.70 as against $2,166 the same month a year ago.

Total operating expense for February was $53,244. For the year, the operating expense has amounted to $111,862.19, whereas the revenue has aggregated $346,-286. This left $234,424 for transfer to the net revenue fund to meet principal and interest requirements.

Three Burglary Cases Filed

Three charges of burglary have been filed against five defendants this week it was announced by the district attorney's office today.

Charges of burglarizing the Jalisco Cafe have been filed against Richard N. Juarez. The cafe is operated by Trinidad Torres. Bond was set in Juarez' case at $2,000, which he had not posted at noon.

Robert C. Florez and James C. Florez have been charged in the burglary of Zora's Cafe. Bonds in their case have been set at $2,000. Neither has posted bail.

Charges of burglary of the Forsan Cafe have been filed against Charles Newcomb and Pat Carriker.

All of the cases are in the court of Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

Oilfield Operators Check On Availability Of Water

Operators in two oilfields have made inquiries of the Colorado River Municipal Water District regarding the availability of water for waterflooding projects.

Several of those in the Snyder field of eastern Howard County as well as in the Iatan-East Howard pool have indicated the possibility of developing projects in those areas.

The CRMWD will have some surplus capacity in a line it is building to serve Sun Oil Company's waterflooding project in northern Coke County, and the line will be in proximity to the Snyder and the Iatan-East Howard fields. If any agreement were reached, it would be subject to the prior demands of Sun Oil, E. V. Spence, general manager of CRMWD, pointed out. However, he indicated that the district likely would be in a position to serve the two fields.

Meantime, rapid progress has been reported on the district's pipeline project to serve Sun Oil from Lake J. B. Thomas. Deals have been closed with all land owners for right of way for the pipeline. The contractor has installed H frames on all fence crossings so that there will be no fence damage when time comes to start laying pipe. The pipe manufacturers are supposed to begin producing pipe for the job within a week.

Sun is losing no time on its distribution lines. J. W. Holder of Snyder is contractor on this job, and pipe is on the site ready to be laid in the North Jameson field of Coke County. Foundations also have been laid for the filtration plant at the terminal point. Bids are being asked by the CRMWD for pumps to be located at Lake Thomas.

20,000 Jobless

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Gov. Raul Madero of Coahuila has told the government that at least 20,000 men are jobless in La Laguna, a once-rich farming area rapidly turning into a dust bowl.

Women Are Jailed, Fined Under Peddler Ordinance

By TOM JAY GOSS II

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Two door-to-door magazine saleswomen were released from the Mitchell County Jail Wednesday after serving three days and paying $188 in fines, following the first arrest for a violation of Colorado City's new anti-peddler ordinance.

The two, Frankie Eldora Dunaway, 18, Altatchee, Ala. and Darlene May Fick, 19, Hazelwood, Mo., were arrested about 7:50 p.m. Monday and charged with "soliciting without a permit." According to police chief Leon Yeager, the two were members of a party of magazine salesmen working out of Snyder, and were picked up following a call from a homeowner stating that they were attempting to sell magazines in the area of 17th and Elm Streets.

The two appeared before City Judge J. Lee Jones Tuesday morning and fines were set at $100 each. They were freed Wednesday after payment of the fines, less credit for time served in jail.

The ordinance, in effect since Feb. 25, provides that "any solicitor of orders for merchandise" must be invited on the premises by the homeowner, and must have a city permit to sell door-to-door, before peddling his wares. The city issues the permit after payment of $5 for 10 days or less or $25 for an annual permit.

Intended principally as a control for out-of-town peddlers, the ordinance applies with equal force to local salesmen, as City Attorney John Worrell made clear to the City Council prior to its passage.

Two persons have been issued permits, according to City Manager Ford Merritt: T. J. Tinner, Big Spring, representing the Household Sales Company, and Lola B. Jackson, Westbrook, who sells a battery additive. A Waco firm has made application, but the permit has not yet been issued, Merritt said. All three paid $25 for annual permits. No local person or firm has applied for a permit, Merritt added.

So far, the measure has drawn little fire. Businessmen, generally speaking, seem to feel the ordinance a sound one; and many homeowners have said that door-to-door peddling is overdone.

Those hurt by the measure are those whose annual profit is small enough that the $25 fee will prove excessive such as produce peddlers and organizations using door-to-door sales as a fund raising device. At least one school group cancelled a magazine sales project Thursday following report of the arrests.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To: ROSEMARIS A. MARYEA, Defendant (s), Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff (s) Petition at or before ten o'clock a.m. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 6th day of May 1963, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Big Spring, Texas.

Said Plaintiff (s) Petition was filed in said court, on the 4th day of October A.D. 1962. In this cause numbered 13,965 on the docket of said court, and styled, GARY C. MARYEA, Plaintiff (s), vs. ROSEMARIS A. MARYEA Defendant (s).

Clouds Cover Much Of State

By The Associated Press

Clouds formed over Central Texas Friday and light rain fell in parts of South Texas and along the Gulf Coast.

A wide area of the mid-section of the state was cloud-covered, but the extreme east and west parts had clear skies.

Light rain fell at Laredo early in the day and more was expected along the coast. Temperatures were to be mild, with afternoon readings in the 70s and 80s.

Extended forecasts issued Friday called for temperatures to average 2 to 6 degrees above normal in all of the state. Little or no precipitation was forecast.

A warming spell is expected to continue until the middle of next week, when a slight cooling trend is seen.

ON THE SHELF

BONAPARTE IN EGYPT. By J. Christopher Herold. Harper and Row. $6.95.

By The Associated Press

Herold's wit, skill and eye for color and drama make this account of Napoleon's famed Egyptian venture as entertaining as the best of the historical fiction of the day.

Scholastic history texts emphasize the futility of the expedition—the destruction of the French fleet by the English and the loss of more than half of Napoleon's 50,000 men in the plague-ridden, hostile land of the Nile—and Herold does not neglect this side of the story.

Yet he captures the grandeur and sees the merit of the costly three-year attempt to make French subjects of the Egyptians and to open the East to French exploitation and domination.

Those who did come back "had memories to last them for a lifetime," Herold writes. "They could tell of incredible privations, of men trampling each other to death for a few drops of water, of battles fought in distant places against Manelukes, Arabs, Turks, Englishmen and embattled peasants, of fabulous booty, of massacres and rape, of strange lands and sights—the Pyramids, Thebes, the Cataracts of the Nile, the holy places of Palestine . . . of courage and endurance, of greed and selfishness, of discouragement and despair."

One of the things that makes the book more than worthy of the label "popular history" is Herold's refreshingly irreverent view of many of the principals: For example, his respect for Napoleon's abilities doesn't keep him from describing the pigtail-wearing Bonaparte as having "the face of an eagle and the hairdo of a spaniel" or from noting Napoleon's habit of comparing himself with such people as Caesar and Alexander the Great.

The book is, understandably, almost as much a biography of Bonaparte as an account of the Egyptian campaigns, and while it is not as detailed as many works on Napoleon, it is more readable than most.

It also gives fascinating accounts of the scientific side of the expedition — the exploration of the mammoth ruins of Karnak and Luxor, the study of the Rosetta stone and the scholarly delving into Islam and Arabic.

Paper Praises San Jose Meeting

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The newspaper Excelsior said editorially Thursday that the Central American presidential meeting killed Fidel Castro's illusion that Central America would be a pushover for communism.

Excelsior termed the Declaration of Central America, signed in San Jose, precise and corresponding to the hopes of Latin America.

It said that President John F. Kennedy apparently has adopted a new policy toward Cuba—one that is defensive but dynamic.

Commenting that major progress had been made in the economic field, Excelsior said that the aims would be futile unless peace is assured through blocking Castro's subversive threats.

Candy Barr May Gain A Parole

AUSTIN (AP) — Stripper Candy Barr moved a big step closer towards freedom Thursday when the Pardons Board sent a favorable parole report to Gov. John Connally.

Candy still needs to pass a prison investigation into her plans for residence and employment if Connally signs a parole.

When her case review began Jan. 3, Candy had credit for 4 years, 11 months and 12 days on her 15-year-sentence for possession of marijuana.

Candy is the wife of Jack Sakhian, Hollywood beautician.

The strip - teaser earned up to $2,000 a week in Las Vegas, New Orleans and Los Angeles night clubs.
