Police, sheriff clear up burglaries, recover loot

Break-ins at seven places

A rash of burglaries under investigation here since June 3 were cleared late Monday night and early Tuesday morning through the combined efforts of the Post Police Department and Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman.

The officers recovered items taken in seven burglaries which Police Chief Jim B. Trulove said have occurred on a regular basis since the June 2 burglary of White Auto Store at 207 East Main.

Items ranging from small hand tools to rifles and one shotgun were recovered in the closing efforts of the investigation. Two of the seven burglaries had not been reported, even though they were cleared, according to the officers.

Two juvenile males were questioned in the company of their parents late Monday night and Tuesday morning. One other juvenile male who lives in Lubbock is being sought as an accomplice in one of the burglaries.

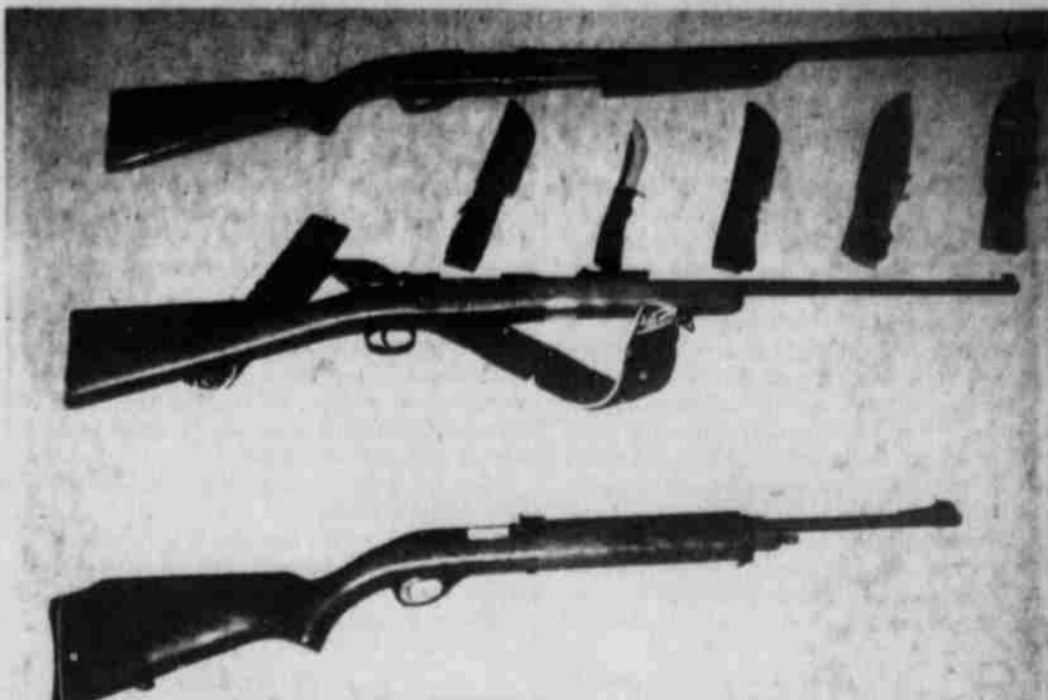

The case is expected to be turned over immediately to local juvenile authorities, officers said.

Most of the recovered items were found during a thorough search of rough terrain near a stock tank southwest of the city limits. The remainder of the items were recovered where they had been hidden near one of the burglarized places.

Participating in the investigation besides the police chief and county sheriff was Jim Howard, also of the city police department.

The two law enforcement agencies have investigated the burglaries as a joint unit to try to "stop the activity before it really got out of hand or before someone was hurt," the police chief said.

At this time, the monetary value of the recovered property has not been determined, officers said. Still missing from the burglaries is approximately $110 in cash.

Born Lola Neely in Hopkins County, she was married to A. P. Hedrick on Dec. 24, 1911. Following Mr. Hedrick's death on Jan. 25, 1973, Mrs. Hedrick moved into town from their farm home on Route 3. They had lived in Garza County since 1924.

Services for a former Post resident, Lloyd Alvin Hancock, 66 of Midland, were held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church here, with the Rev. A. C. Hardin of Eastland, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Glenn Reece.

Hancock died Friday in Midland. He had been in ill health several years.

He was a resident of Post from 1927 until the early 1940's, moving to Oklahoma for a few years before moving to Midland in 1944. He was born and reared in Erath County and was employed at Hancock Second Hand Store in Midland until his retirement two years ago.

Survivors include a son, Kenneth of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Anita Johnson of Richardson; two brothers, Clarence N. and Clan W., both of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. Leta Davies and Mrs. Ollie Stevens, both of Post; and four grandchildren.

Mayor Giles C. McCrary told The Dispatch that the city council has reduced the property assessment rate from 35 per cent to 30 per cent across the board for 1974 and that this will mean small city tax savings for everybody.

He said the action would not leave taxable valuations on all classes of property other than

SPAG approves US-84 widening in Post

The board of directors of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) Tuesday approved the Texas Highway Department's plan to widen US-84 through Post and resurface it down Broadway, according to Giles McCrary, president of the SPAG board.

Tentative plans call for the letting of bids on the project in the late summer or fall of 1975.

Even at that, due largely to a big increase in total taxable valuation of oil properties, the city by keeping the same tax rate — $1.25 — will enjoy an 11 per cent increase in total tax revenue this year, receiving some $98,000 in property taxes, according to Mayor McCrary.

The council action was agreed upon with the mayor discussing the problem with the various councilmen prior to last Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the city's board of equalization composed of Lewis Herron, Dick Tanner and Sexton Huntley.

TO ADDRESS CONVENTION

County Judge Giles W. Dalby was scheduled to stop in Austin today for a check at the Constitutional Convention before continuing on to Beaumont where Friday he will address the convention of the South Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association on Constitution Convention action affecting the counties.

4th barbecue free

The barbecued chicken meal at the annual Fourth of July celebration will be free after all, directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce decided this week after reconsidering their decision made last Thursday at a directors' meeting to charge $1 a plate for the barbecue.

The decision not to charge for the barbecue came after Chamber President Jack Alexander contacted directors by telephone Monday.

The barbecue, one of the highlights of the Chamber-sponsored holiday celebration, will be at 5:30 p. m.

Water emergency ends as lake pumps go on again

The 11-day-old White River water emergency ended at 4 p. m. Friday when the water district starting using its own pumps again to obtain lake water for the filtration plant, Al O'Brien, manager of the water district, told The Dispatch yesterday.

The other three member cities of the district — Crosbyton, Ralls and Spur — which got along with standby well water for the 11 days — were back on White River water by sundown Friday night.

Water sales to oil companies using the water for flooding purposes in Garza County were immediately resumed over the weekend.

The emergency developed when an 11-foot rise in the White River Lake caused by upstream downpours "turned over" the lake and clogged the big intake pipe to the filtration plant with silt and sediment.

Four divers were flown in and finally a dredge pump was brought in by truck from Houston to clean out the pipe.

During the emergency, Post was supplied with White River water, obviously a little worse for the lake turning over, via borrowed state highway department pumps and at the start via the use of fire truck pumps and hoses from the four member towns.

A lake employe told The Dispatch that right after the lake "turned over" that the raw lake water being taken into the filtration plant for cleaning measured 6,000 units of turbidity whereas now the lake has "settled down" again the raw water measures only 12 units.

Derailment near Snyder cleared up

Wreckage from 19 railroad cars that derailed at 2:15 p. m. Friday at Dermott, 10 miles northwest of Snyder, was cleared away by 5 p. m. the next day, according to a Santa Fe Railway official.

U. S. Hwy. 84, which was closed for several miles along the railway following the derailment, was reopened to traffic shortly before 6 p. m. Friday.

Traffic was detoured two miles either side of the derailment Friday afternoon and night and most of Saturday while fire fighters battled a blaze caused when seven of the cars exploded. The cars were filled with a highly explosive chemical, cyclohexane, a petroleum-based chemical with characteristics similar to gasoline.

Witnesses to the derailment said there were three distinct explosions before fire poured out of the cars.

The 36-car train was on a Denver-to-Houston run when the accident occurred. There were no injuries.

Presbyterians to set goals

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church will conduct a Congregational Evaluation and Goal-Setting Event from 4 to 8 p. m. Sunday as the first major step in the process of selecting a new pastor to replace the Rev. George L. Miller who will leave the local church pastorate July 7.

Two representatives of the Palo Duro Union Presbytery will be on hand to help with the goal-setting session, which will include the evening meal.

A special congregational meeting has been called to meet following the morning church service Sunday, June 30, at which time a report on the church's goals will be made by a committee headed by Bob Arhelger and a committee elected to seek a new pastor.

Arhelger urges every Presbyterian to attend the goal setting session beginning at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Dryland cotton crop is 'losing out' to drought

For the first time in 21 years, Garza County is on the verge of losing its entire dryland cotton crop due to drought conditions which are now stretching into the second year.

Not since 1953 when only 12,000 bales were harvested almost entirely off irrigated land has the county been in such dire shape moisture wise.

It's virtually as bad for the ranchers too with the lack of moisture meaning short grass and a growing water shortage, which together with depressed market conditions, make the current economic outlook glum on the ranches as well as the farms.

A few stockmen are reported already starting to "haul water" for thirsty stock.

County Agent Syd Conner was in Levelland attending a 4-H workshop yesterday when this story was written, but other farm observers agreed that there are lots of acres of dryland cotton in the county not yet planted because of the lack of moisture and a lot more that has been planted that "won't make any cotton" for the same reason.

Architect due in Garza look

Architect for the Texas Central Commission is expected to stop in Post Thursday to give his opinion on the value of the boarded up Hotel and its possible restoration, fully or partially.

The architect, together with several well versed in all phases of federal funding for historic buildings, will stop here en route to Lubbock for a conference on historic preservation and restoration which opens Friday.

The visit was requested by Gwen Boren, chairman of Garza County Historical Society Committee.

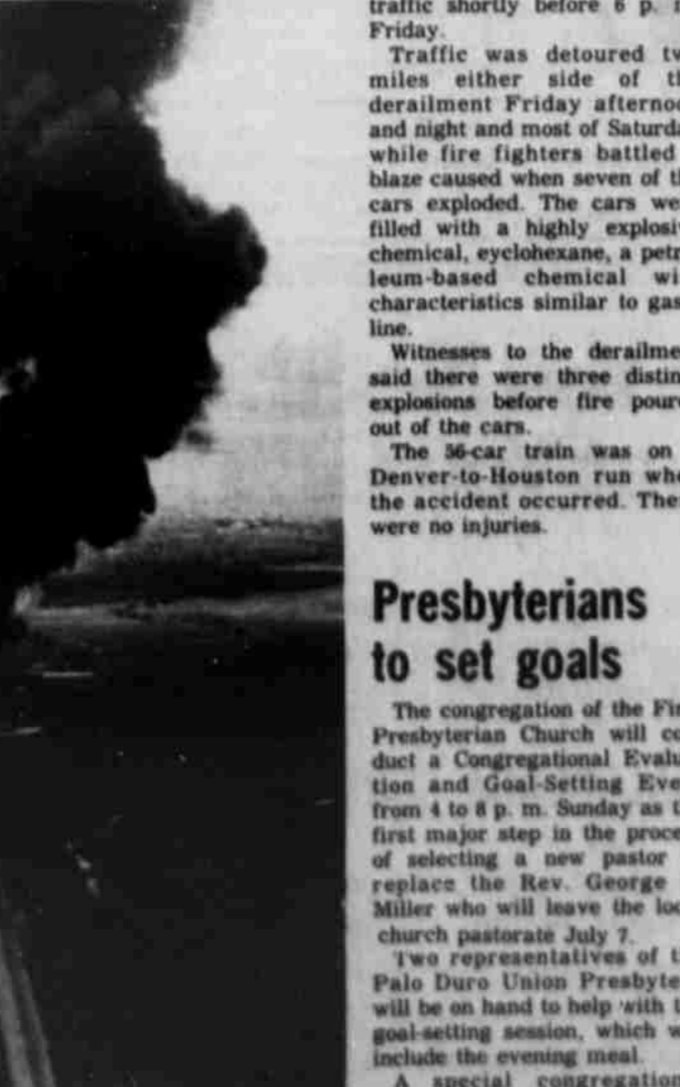

Visitors will confer with Boren, David Newby, chairman of a five-man committee named to recommend the hotel, and possible members of the committee.

The committee, which originally was scheduled to meet here last Monday, postponed its second session until this conference to see what possibilities might be available.

City dog bounty still in effect

The "dog bounty" is still in effect. Giles McCrary called attention to frequent strays being received by the city.

A bounty of $2 will be paid for a dog weighing under 20 pounds and a $6 bounty for a dog weighing over 20 pounds. The police department and the city will be asked to make arrangements for the pickup of the strays.

How does this grab you?

Congress "is on the verge" of the next major piece of social welfare legislation — a national health insurance bill. And frankly, it scares us to death to think the government is going to wade right in sometime before the 1976 presidential election.

We have only to look at the development of the United States social security system, now considered by a lot of experts to be "bankrupt", to get "the shakes" about Uncle Sam stumbling into health care insurance and making a political football out of that, too.

When social security was begun in 1937, it started on a one per cent payroll tax. Today each employe has five and one-half per cent taken out of his or her pay check for social security up to a maximum of slightly over $1,000 per year and his or her employer has to match this.

But this $2,000 "deducted" for that one employe in 1974 isn't handled like private insurance, put into a reserve fund, put to work earning interest, and earmarked for that individual. It is all spent the same year it comes in to pay the retirement benefits of persons who in their working days did not put as much in as they are now benefitting.

Do you realize a young man entering the labor market today before he retires will have at least $45,000 "deducted" from his pay checks over the years at current rates — and probably a whole lot more as the politicians boost the social security taxes to keep the fund solvent. Paying in this kind of money over 45 years he could command an excellent private retirement plan and if he died somewhere before he reached retirement his family could benefit by what he had "saved."

But under social security, the benefits are not nearly as great. The young, growing family is protected until the children are 21. But if this young man after working 45 years would die on his 65th birthday, he would pass on to heirs nothing but a small burial benefit, as we understand the law.

Experts will tell you that the national social security insurance program offered by a private company would be branded a fraud, the benefits are so meager.

Thousands of firms now offer major medical and hospital coverage and pay the entire cost themselves. We even have such a program right here at The Dispatch.

We hesitate to think what the cost of coverage might grow to be under government health insurance. One of the bills before Congress proposes a four per cent payroll tax. If that grew at the same rate as social security the payroll tax in 38 years would total 22 per cent.

How does that grab you? The politicians long ago destroyed the effectiveness of the social security system by spending the program's reserve fund thus leaving no funds with which the program could possibly grow with the economy.

Can we trust medical insurance to this same group of politicians?

The choice as we can see it is to expand medical insurance through the operations of private companies and keep it out of the politicians' grasp. — JC

We will miss George Miller

When the Presbyterians lose their preacher, the Rev. George L. Miller, about July 7, Post will lose a real community "doer". In his eight years here, Mr. Miller devoted a large portion of his time to community projects. It was no accident he was named "Man of the Year." He earned the honor.

We cannot "sort out" George's community projects as to his own priorities but he gave such a great deal of time and effort to the development of the Post Public Library, we would guess that would be No. 1.

For several years, he was the volunteer librarian, training and overseeing a staff of volunteers who operated the library. More recently he has served as a library trustee. He not only gave book reviews — he was an eager and knowledgeable reader — but he has authored a library column for The Dispatch as another means of developing community interest.

Probably the second biggest community contribution by George was his leadership in the development of the Garza County Community Action program.

He served as president through its formative years, secured city and county cooperation and funds to build the Lorenzo Alexander Community Center, and helped initiate many of today's beneficial programs for the poor.

There are many other projects on George's work list and we will not try to list them all.

A few of the others include serving as a member of a citizens advisory committee to the county judge on juvenile problems; United Fund work; promotion of harmony and cooperation among local churches; counseling all people who came to him with their problems; and the enjoyable contribution of his rich and well-trained baritone singing voice at many local functions, including participation in a mixed quartet which sang often.

George Miller has given so much and has given it so generously to his hometown of Post.

Of course we all will miss him in so many ways. But we are pleased, too, that before him is a greater opportunity to serve a larger calling in the campus ministry counseling young people. — JC

FCA, challenge to youth

Considering the program's objectives, the Post High School Athletic Department is fortunate in having had a Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) organization the last three or four years, and even more fortunate in that it also has an adult chapter of the FCA.

The FCA exists to confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of the nation, with the challenge and adventure of following Christ and serving him through the fellowship of the Church and their vocations.

It is not an assembly of saints but a fellowship through which ordinary people help each other become better persons and better examples of what God can do with a yielded life.

It is interdenominational, interracial and embraces both Protestants and Catholics. It is a non-profit, inclusive organization financed by tax-free gifts from individuals, foundations, churches, business and industry and other interested groups.

The FCA program extends nationwide and is operational year-round.

The heart of the FCA is the host of individuals who comprise the Huddle-Fellowship-Chapter program. This program is a group of athletes meeting to talk about their concerns, doubts, fears, feelings and faith. Around the common bond of sports, teammates share fellowship and their commitment to Jesus Christ.

The program emphasizes Bible study, prayer and discussion. From this base the groups are encouraged to reach out into the mainstream of our nation to positively influence society.

Is it any wonder that the FCA is recognized as one of the most effective movements for the presentation of the Gospel to the young people of the nation? — CD

Remember When . . .

10 Years Ago 15 Years Ago

I DON'T KNOW if it's good news or not, but a newspaper article says the prohibition against Americans owning gold — imposed 41 years ago during the great depression — may be lifted by the end of the year.

If the prohibition is lifted, U. S. citizens would be free to buy gold at whatever price it is being sold for on the open market — recently about $160 an ounce.

AMERICANS NOW may own gold coins and gold jewelry, but not gold in bullion form. Gold also may be used for industrial purposes, such as electronics and dental work.

All this is leading up to what I want to say about a newspaper Publisher Jim Cornish brought back from Colorado with him a few weeks ago when he went up there to attend the graduation of his daughter Susan.

THE PAPER JIM brought back is a small one — only four pages — and the name of it is the Weekly Register-Call, published in Central City, Colo. Having been published since July 1862, it is Colorado's second oldest continuously published newspaper.

The most interesting thing I found in the paper was its 30, 60 and 90 years ago column, especially the 90 years ago section which had much to say about gold, the mining of which was at one time the leading industry of that area. Here are a few items that appeared in the 90 years ago section of the column:

"The westerly portion of the Queen of the West Mine was turning out mill ore averaging 10 ounces gold to the cord."

"The Rocky Mountain Bank shipped $4,000 in gold bullion to the Denver mint on Tuesday."

"The banking house of J. Mellor & Co. shipped miscellaneous gold returns to Denver, amounting to $4,200."

"A gold retort weighing 237.79 ozs. was left at the First National Bank Tuesday, the result of a week's run on ore from the California mine, on Quartz Hill."

"The Saratoga Gold Mining Co. had resumed sinking the main shaft, which was to be continued for 400 feet, making the shaft 800 feet deep at that point."

ALSO, IN ITS 60 years ago section, the newspaper column was 30 years nearer the atomic age with this report:

"The Bezan Mine continues to show a nice streak of uranium ore as the mine is being developed, and the indications are that this rare mineral will form an independent body, outside of the gold and silver values which the mine carries. In the 225-foot level west of the shaft the streak of mineral shows an average width of two and one-half inches, and many tests made indicate it to carry from one-half to 20.37 per cent uranium oxide, while the electroscope shows very strong radio activity."

Wonder if there's still gold — and uranium — in "them thar hills."

JIM ALSO suggested that I read the "Police News" in the paper. I did, and found the reporting to be sprightly and to the point. Here are a couple of

Medicare premium rates to increase on July 1

Monthly premiums on the medical insurance part of Medicare will go up starting July 1. The basic premium rate will go from $6.30 to $6.70 a month, according to the Social Security district manager.

The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is funded by individual premiums and federal general revenues. The protection is offered automatically to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security benefits, and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months of more.

The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of medical insurance program adjustment of the monthly premium rate to cover estimated medical expenses of Medicare patients.

The 40-cent increase is related to a rise in the cost of medical services and comes to a 50-cent increase in the medical insurance basic monthly premium rate in 1974.

In 1973 the Medical Insurance Program paid $2.1 billion in benefits.

People 65 and over who are eligible for social security benefits can get medical insurance by paying the monthly premiums.

OFF TO AUSTRALIA — Former Post residents Junior Gray and his wife, Carolyn, look at a globe and decide its a long distance between Graham, Tex., and Sydney, Australia. Gray leaves June 25 for "down under" to judge a quarterhorse show.

Gray to leave for show in Australia

Junior Gray, well-known Graham, Tex., horse trainer, will leave Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport June 25 for Sydney, Australia, where he will serve as judge for a fair in that city.

Gray, a former Post resident, will judge the quarterhorse division. Later, he will hold a 3-day cutting horse clinic for people wanting this kind of instruction.

Cutting horse is a fairly new sport in Australia, according to Gray and he reports the United States has been shipping trained horses to Australia for the last five years.

Gray was preceded to Australia by the cutting horse Shu-Fly-Shu, formerly owned by Jack Burgess of Graham and trained by Junior Gray. The horse has been in that country for the last three years.

Gray will be judging the quarterhorse division June 27. This is the largest show in Australia.

Gray will be away from his home stables at Graham from June 25 through July 10. The Grahamite will fly to Los Angeles and take a direct flight to New Zealand. He will change planes for the flight to Sydney.

Gray, a native of Post, moved to Graham five years ago and now maintains training stables at the former Chas. E. Hipp barn which he purchased in 1971 with Wayne Wainscott, farrier.

Gray became known in Australia through the horse Shu-Fly-Shu. He met Ken Crowley, a Sydney newspaper man, who did some feature stories on the Texan after watching him train horses.

Gray's wife, Carolyn, assists with work at the training stables along with daughter, Caren, 12, and Cammie, 3, the water trough girl.

Garza youth are attending 4-H confab

LEVELLAND — Nearly 150 young leaders from 4-H clubs in 20 South Plains counties, including Garza, are participating in a district leadership lab this week that began Tuesday and ends Thursday.

A team of 12 older teens are conducting sessions throughout the lab. They arrived on the South Plains College campus Sunday to map plans and develop discussion topics. Representing Garza County on this team are Debbie Craddock and Tony Conner.

Others attending from Garza County are Kelly Chaffin, Christie Conner, Connie Pearcey, Billy Alexander, Steve White and Dennis McDonald.

The youths, supervised by 4-H adult leaders, are performing a variety of activities ranging from group learning and discussion sessions to game tournaments and special morning and evening ceremonies. Emphasis is on a human relations approach to problem solving, according to Ed Garnett, area 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Best way to point out computer goof

COLLEGE STATION — Get results from computer-calculated bills.

"If you receive an incorrect bill, shred it," Lillian Cochran, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, advised.

"Place the shredded bill — along with a note of explanation — in an envelope, and mail it to the company. This requires personal attention — whereas just a hand-written note might be ignored.

"The main point is to mutilate the bill in such a way that the computer is forced to take action," she said.

Newby makes honor roll at university

NORMAN, Okla. — Steve Newby, a 1974 graduate of the University of Oklahoma, was one of 6,341 students who achieved 3.0 or better grade point averages for the 1974 spring semester.

Of the total, more than 1,100 students had straight A (4.0) averages.

In addition to the 3.0 minimum grade point average, a student must be enrolled in a minimum of 12 credit hours and must not have a "failing" or "unsatisfactory" mark in any course.

Driver education gets assistance

NEW YORK — Driver education, one of the more costlier subjects taught in our schools today, is heavily assisted by private business. In 1973, approximately $138 million worth of cars were loaned to schools by local dealers.

Many classroom materials are also provided. For example, Uniroyal Tire Corp. sponsors an entire programmed course, while General Motors Corp. distributes instructive films.

MISSIONARY — Kenneth Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rogers of Post, will speak and show slides of his mission work in South Africa at the Church of the Nazarene here at 7 o'clock Sunday night. Rogers, his wife, Wanda, and their three children are back in this country from South Africa. He plans to retire from missionary work soon.

Six Months Intensive Studies in Advance Technology of Insurance

Tom Power

Class meetings taught by the Regional Occupational Center at Lubbock were held three hours nightly to meet the educational requirements of the Texas State Board of Insurance in compliance with the provisions of the Texas Insurance Code.

Probably at no time in recent history has the need for insurance been so great. As incomes increase and wealth is accumulated, individuals and businesses are exposed to more frequent and larger losses.

Rapid advancing technology and the demand by society to place more responsibility on its agents in dealing with risk, risk property and liability losses.

The Texas Insurance Community, Legislature, and Insurance Board recently recognized the need for improved educational program for general agents in risk, risk management and insurance.

Insurance takes the form of a contract. However, the contract is meaningless without people; especially the agent. It is the agent who breathes life into the insurance agreement and gives it meaning because he examines the consumers needs and applies the solution.

To the majority of insurance consumers the agent is the personification of the insurance contract. Power stated his career as an agent for the many years to come necessitated this six months advance training for knowledge and confidence cause the Tom Power Agency clients to place more and more trust in the Tom Power Insurance activities.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Early detection is one of the best weapons in the hands of medical personnel for combating short-term or possible long-term illness.

For this reason, screening services play a vital role in State Health Department services. Screening turns up diseases in persons who are unaware of any difficulty, as well as reassuring those in good health. One of the biggest screening efforts both in Texas and the nation now is for hypertension — or high blood pressure — which can produce severe problems. Another sinister disease which can be found by screening is diabetes. The Health Department's Chronic Disease Division provides diabetes screening services to local health departments, various regional offices and special projects where adequate nursing services can provide follow-up services on suspected cases.

Diabetes was the fifth leading cause of death in Texas in 1972 and second cause of blindness. Therefore, the value of screening can be clearly shown, since early detection plays an important role in the future of diabetes victims.

Screening services are channeled to those at high risk of getting the disease. Experience has shown those at high risk to be close blood relatives of diabetes victims, those persons more than 45 years of age, the obese and the parents of a nine-pound-plus baby when the parents reach age 45.

In diabetes screening, a blood sample is taken and deposited in a vial which contains a preservative to protect the blood sugar. The sample then is sent to a Health Department laboratory for analysis. If blood sugar exceeds a certain level, the individual is re-checked with a follow-up examination.

Screening services are provided for other diseases by other divisions of the State Health Department. Among these are the PKU program for newborn; dental and medical screening through the Title XIX programs for children on the Welfare Department's Aid to Families of Dependent Children roles; hearing, sight and dental screening in the school system; screening of females for cancer; tuberculosis testing; and screening for venereal disease. Screening goes hand in hand with prevention.

It is difficult to measure the effects of preventive medicine, and this difficulty adds to the lack of understanding in expanding its role.

Preventive services may be classed as primary — averting the occurrence of the disease; secondary — prevention controlling progression of a disease from its early stage to a more severe stage; and tertiary — prevention which involves rehabilitation, as in the case of a stroke victim.

Providers of preventive medical services include such major groups as doctors, dentists, veterinarians and other professionals.

One of the easiest preventive services to recognize is in the field of immunization. A look at the State Health Department's morbidity reports emphasizes the drop in such diseases as diphtheria, measles, rubella, polio, pertussis — diseases which in the past came to be expected as natural risks. Last year, for the first time, not a single case of paralytic polio was reported in Texas. Compulsory immunization of school children, plus emphasis on pre-schoolers, helped produce this record.

There has been another change in the health field in the direction of prevention. This is in the field of epidemiology. To the layman, an epidemiologist can best be described as a disease detective. Major concerns of epidemiology are discovery of factors essential to or contributing to disease occurrence, and developments of methods for disease prevention.

Historically, epidemiology had its birth in relation to the study of the great epidemic diseases such as cholera, plague, smallpox, yellow fever and typhus. Until the 20th century, these epidemic diseases were the most important threat to human life and health.

The so-called new epidemiology has extended the concept of public health control to encompass all causes of illness, disability and death. The Health Department's Divisions of Occupational Safety and Occupational Health and Radiation Control are, in a large sense, practicing preventive medicine by finding and eliminating circumstances which affect the health of workers in Texas.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN — What do most people complain about to our Consumer Protection Division? Car repair problems.

Other attorneys general say that's the case in other states as well. And reports from the White House Office of Consumer Affairs bear this out. Car repair complaints to that agency have outnumbered by about four to one any other category of consumer problem.

Americans spend an incredible $25 to $30 billion a year on auto repairs and maintenance, according to Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs.

Much of this is for faulty repair work or for repairs that were not even made, she claims.

JUDITH VANDE BERG

Engagement announced

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Judith Ann VanDe Berg and Jerry Dale Rowland, formerly of Post.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Germaine VanDe Berg of Route 5 and Jack Rowland of Fort Worth and the late Mrs. Lavern Burdett.

A graduate of Oakfield High School, the bride-elect is employed as a cost clerk. Rowland, a graduate of Wagon Core High School, Philippine Islands, is a fire protection specialist in the U. S. Air Force, stationed in Thailand.

Although most repair shops provide honest service for every dollar they charge, the few who don't can give the industry a black eye. That's why reputable repairmen are eager to alert consumers to certain questionable tactics.

While individual grievances vary widely, they say certain unethical practices seem to turn more frequently than others nation-wide. These include:

—Selling customers unneeded repair work or parts;

—Charging customers for repairs that were never performed;

—Quoting customers a low price for repairs, when actual charges turn out to be substantially higher;

—Making unauthorized repairs and requiring customers to pay for them before releasing their cars;

—Not allowing customers to view work being done on their cars and not showing replaced parts upon request.

—Advertising special low prices on repairs, then urging customers who respond to purchase more expensive repairs and services (a tactic known as "bait and switch"); and —Advertising "sale" prices that actually are standard prices.

In some instances, manufacturers have complained that a few of their authorized dealerships have prepared false repair orders, added unperformed service or repair charges to repair orders, submitted fictitious warranty repair orders for payment, and falsely claimed that warranted repair work had been repeatedly performed on the same vehicle.

Recently, Dallas became the first city in the state to set up guidelines for car repair shops and require them to be licensed under a revised city consumer affairs ordinance. Many of those guidelines coincide with the following safeguards recommended by attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division:

1. Avoid unnecessary repair work by keeping your car properly maintained and serviced.

2. If the need for major repairs arises, get estimates in writing from at least three repairmen. Make sure the estimates cover the maximum charge, cost of actual work to be done, and when the repairs are to be completed.

3. If more work is necessary and the cost will exceed the estimate, make sure the repairman will notify you and get your approval before proceeding.

4. When you have a major repair, ask for an itemized list of parts and repair costs. Then, if you should have the same difficulty just a short time later, the shop would be unlikely to charge you again for the same work or parts.

5. If you receive unsatisfactory service at a factory-authorized dealership, write to the manufacturer.

If you have a question about car repair problems, consult the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

"And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land." Jonah 2:10

That must have been some experience! Three days and three nights in the belly of a fish. A long, long time for any man. A long time for a man running away from God. It would have been easy for God to let nature take its course for Jonah to have been digested in that fish... but God had other plans for that man so God spoke to the fish and Jonah found himself free again but free for a purpose.

When the Lord spoke the word, the fish went into action, and Jonah found himself once again on dry land—none the worse for the experience but I suspect a great deal wiser. But why? What was God's reason for taking a man running away and giving him a second chance? The answer is of course that God still had work for Jonah. Jonah still had a mission in this world. His special work in God's plan wasn't yet completed.

Isn't that true of most of us here in Post? We run from God. We run in all kinds of different ways and yet God in His love never gives up on us. God speaks and we find ourselves on dry land again. For each of us God has assigned a lifetime of work. Work that will take our entire life span to complete. As long as we live and breathe there are things for each of us to do for Him. It can also be said in this way: Nobody lives too long or too short a time.

It is for us, then, to keep our hearts and ears attuned to God's Word so that when He speaks we will be ready to hear His Word and Do His Work. As Americans, as Texans, As people of Post and yes as Christians we are free but we are free for a purpose.

Potluck by Rosemary Chapman

Attention, tennis fans! Since the city won't do it and the school won't do it, Shirley Storie has taken on the job of getting lights for two of our courts. Shirley's first money-raising project will be a bingo game at the park on the fourth of July.

Last year the bingo game was staged for Post Library. It was a big money winner ($406) as well as a fun thing for the large crowd that came. So, if you enjoy bingo and or tennis, start saving your quarters now. We'll have those new lights in no time!

Speaking of tennis, it's about time for our second annual Garza County Tennis Tournament. Be sure and read the article about that over on today's sports page and start practicing now.

Zoe Kirkpatrick, one of the directors of the tournament, and I were trying to remember who won the tournaments last year so we could seed the players. We were pretty hazy about it so I looked it up when I got home.

If you're interested in knowing who to beat, our defending champions are: Junior girl's singles — Lorry Chapman (Kim Hester, consolation); Junior boy's singles — Chris Wyatt (Randell Wyatt, consolation); Junior girl's doubles — Lorry Chapman and Christy Davis (Becky Heaton and Sandy Bullard, consolation); Junior boy's doubles — Randell Wyatt and Kyle Duren (Chris Wyatt and Wayne Bell, consolation); Mark Kirkpatrick and Kent Kirkpatrick, consolation.

In the adult division, Pat Thompson won the women's singles championship. Zoe Kirkpatrick was runner-up and Edith Capps won consolation. Joe Giddens won the men's singles championship. Bill Hudman was the runner-up and Bob Stice was the consolation winner.

Pat Thompson and Rosemary Chapman were the women's doubles winner with Zoe Kirkpatrick and Nancy Macy second and Kim Hester and Sylvia Smith consolation winners. Syd Wyatt and Earl Chapman won the men's doubles with Jimmy Bird and Arnold Sanderson coming in second and Bill Hudman and Rusty Conner the consolation winners.

In mixed doubles, Emily and Syd Wyatt captured first place. Lorry Chapman and Bill Hudman were the runners-up and Jack and Zoe Kirkpatrick were consolation champions.

Hmm. None of those people sound very invincible to me — go get 'em!

Did you know that in 1874 Mary Outerbridge became the first American tennis champ? At the time, men shunned the game, claiming it was for sissies. Actually it was because Mary had defeated all comers. And losing to a woman — well — to the men, it just wasn't cricket.

Did you know that the original tennis ball was made of actual human hair, wrapped in leather? As a result, an overhead smash was really a hair-raising stroke and tempers flared when close calls were decided by a whisker.

Did you know that recruiting male entrants in the original mixed doubles tournament in Philadelphia in 1892 was difficult until they learned that games often ended in "love" matches? Imagine their chagrin when they found that "love" came from the French "l'oeuf", meaning "egg". The yoke was on the men. The scoring was confined to the matches.

I didn't know any of these things either until I read them in an Usher's Green Stripe Whiskey advertisement that Charlie Didway sent me. He didn't give me any of the whiskey.

MRS. DENNIS K. MAY (Patti Nelson)

Patti Nelson wed May 19

Mr. and Mrs. May are both serving as voice processing specialists and will be stationed in Turkey until June 1975.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

A Hearing Commission of the Texas Water Quality Board will hold a public hearing beginning at 10:00 a. m. — July 15, 1974
 Council Chamber
 City Hall
 555 Walnut
 Abilene, Texas

In order to consider evidence relative to the Waste Load Evaluations for the following segments:

Segment No. 1232 — Clear Fork Brazos River
 Segment No. 1236 — Lake Fort Phantom Hill
 Segment No. 1239 — White River — Salt Fork Brazos River confluence to White River dam
 Segment No. 1240 — White River Lake
 Segment No. 1241 — Double Mountain Fork Brazos River — Salt Fork Brazos River confluence to North Fork Double Mountain Fork Brazos River confluence Segment No. 1413 — Lake J. B. Thomas (Colorado River Basin)

The evaluations have been made pursuant to Title 40, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 130, Sections 130.24, 130.25, and 130.26, and the State of Texas Continuing Planning Process which requires a waste load allocation for those segments classified as water quality limiting. Segments classified as water quality segments are defined as those segments in which the measured instream quality does not meet the Texas Water Quality Standards.

The purpose of the Waste Load Evaluation is to define waste treatment levels that will result in the stream segment meeting applicable stream standards. The general approach followed is: (a) described the stream segment, (b) define the water quality problem, (c) calculate the segment assimilative capacity, (d) define the localized assimilative capacity by mathematical modeling, and (e) establish acceptable waste discharges and schedules of implementation.

Copies of the evaluations are available upon request. Persons having questions or desiring to make comments in regard to this matter may contact Mr. Jerry Mullican, Administrative Operations Division, Texas Water Quality Board, P. O. Box 13246, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711; telephone (512) 475-3454. This hearing may be continued if necessary.

24,000 farmers are to receive questionnaires

In early July, over 24,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire from Charles Caudill, agricultural statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin. Information from this survey will be used to determine harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the state of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas, and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketing and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture. The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that state totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas most basic industry — agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

LETTERS To the Editor

THANKS DISPATCH

Dear Editor:
Your response to the Texas Easter Seal Society has helped make possible direct treatments and services needed by the handicapped of Texas. Our less fortunate citizens owe you a debt of gratitude. On their behalf, as president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas, I would like to say "thank you" for your help.

We are enclosing an advance copy of our 1973 Easter Seal Annual Report. This report is a graphic representation of the very important work that your newspaper has done to generate needed public support on behalf of our physically disabled. We are especially pleased to report to you that, again in 1973, more than every dollar received in the Easter Seal Appeal went for services — such as occupational, physical, speech therapy, orthopedic equipment such as wheelchairs, braces and crutches — to physically disabled Texans. You will note in the annual report that we received, in 1973, $1,409,163 from the Easter Seal Appeal. We spent, for services to Texans, $1,410,902 which is over $1,700 more than we received.

Your continued cooperation will assure that this program continues and grows and that even more needed services will be available for disabled Texans. Thank you again for your splendid support and cooperation.

Cordially,
Thomas N. Jenness, Jr
President

EXPRESSES CONCERN

Dear Editor:
This is my home town. I have lived here almost all my life. I am concerned with the world and the condition it is in, but more than this I am concerned with the way people are living. I was lost in sin once. In May of 1966 I found a better way to live. I asked the Lord to forgive me of my sins; he did. My marriage was falling apart; he mended it. I asked for happiness, and he has given that to me, and peace of mind, something worth living for. When I was living the other life and going to different places than where I go now, I expected to see about anything happen. But I don't go there anymore. I still go to restaurants, but there is one I won't

Mrs. Autrey's funeral held

Mrs. C. N. Chandler, Mrs. Bobby Josey and Linda Josey attended funeral services for Mrs. Mae Autrey, mother of Mrs. Chandler, at the Liberty Baptist Church in Hawkins, Tex., Monday, June 10.

Mrs. Autrey, 85, died June 8 in a Gladewater hospital following a lengthy illness.

Survivors include one son, Ray Autrey of Hawkins, and four daughters, Mrs. Faye Hendon of Fort Worth, Mrs. Estelle Dawkins of Amarillo, Mrs. Ollene Carpenter of Fort Worth and Mrs. Chandler of Post.

And anyone who streaks is either drunk, doped up, or not in their right mind.

We send missionaries to foreign lands, but I believe we need workers for the Lord right here in the city of Post. I pray that the Crusade will really be a success for the Lord and we'll have a better place to live. I answered the call to the ministry and I want to work for him all I can.

TB in Texas still menace

COLLEGE STATION — People think tuberculosis is conquered — but in Texas the first five months of 1974 show all forms of tuberculosis increased nearly 45 per cent over a similar period last year, according to one authority.

She's Dr. Barbara Sears, health education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

"This figure could be drastically lowered if Texans would take advantage of the tuberculosis control services offered by the State Health Department," the specialist noted.

For free TB testing, persons should visit their county health department, the county health officer, or the regional health office.

If they can't find the testing locations, they should contact the county judge, Dr. Sears added.
Texas' tuberculosis control services program has three aims: (1) detect cases of tuberculosis infection, active or non-symptomatic; (2) treat persons with active disease; and (3) prevent spread of the disease, the specialist explained.

LUCKY MISTAKE

No injuries in six May rural car accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Garza County during the month of May, according to Sgt. H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.
These accidents resulted in none killed and none injured.
The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1974 shows a total of 17 accidents resulting in no persons killed and three persons injured.
The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for May shows a total of 406 accidents resulting in 24 persons killed and 218 persons injured as compared to May, 1973, with 550 accidents resulting in 21 persons killed and 318 persons injured. This was 144 less accidents, four more killed, and 100 less injured in 1974 at the same period of time.
The 24 traffic deaths for the month of May, 1974, occurred in the following counties: five in Floyd, four each in Gray and Lubbock, two each in Cottle, Donley and Parker, and one each in Palo Pinto, Hardeman, Potter, Bailey and Randall counties.

2nd Post Tennis Tournament is set for July 8 start

Four courts available for this year's play

The second annual Garza County Tennis Tournament is scheduled for a July 8 start with play in the junior division, according to Rosemary and Earl Chapman, tournament sponsors.

Play in the adult division will get under way July 15, and in the mixed doubles tournament on July 22.

Registration deadlines are Thursday, July 4, for the junior division, July 12 for the adult division and July 19 for the mixed doubles play.

Pat Thompson is director of the junior tournament, which will have two divisions this year — eighth grade or lower and high school. Play will be in both boys and girls singles and doubles, with medals given for first and second places and consolation in all divisions.

Pat Thompson will be at the courts to register entries for the junior tournament from 8 a. m. until noon Monday through Thursday, July 4.

Zoe Kirkpatrick and Edith Capps are directors of the adult tournament, in which trophies will be awarded for first and second place in women's singles and doubles and men's singles and doubles. There is an entry fee of $2 for each singles entry and $2 ($1 apiece) for each doubles entry. Players wishing to register are asked to call Mrs. Kirkpatrick at 3100 or Mrs. Capps at 3047 not later than July 12.

The mixed doubles tournament will be under the direction of Rosemary Chapman and Nancy Macy. There will be trophies for first and second places and consolation winners, with a "Poor Sportsmanship" trophy also to be given, if called for, the directors said. The entry fee for mixed doubles is $2 per couple and registration can be made by calling Mrs. Chapman at 2984 or Mrs. Macy at 3418 not later than July 19.

Dates for the finals in all divisions will be announced later.

Juniors are eligible to play in the adult tournament as well as their own and can also enter mixed doubles events.

Any young people who would like to be ball boys or girls for the tournament are asked to contact any of the above directors.

The two new tennis courts provide for four courts on which to play this year instead of only two, as was the case in the 1973 tournament.

Duren's grand slam homer decides Indian-Cub battle

Kyle Duren's grand slam home run in the bottom of the fifth inning enabled the Indians to come from behind and beat the Cubs, 11 to 10, Tuesday night in Babe Ruth League play at David Nichols Park.

The Cubs led 7-0 at the end of two innings over the second place Indians, but the latter scored nine runs in the fifth to pull the game out.

Duren started on the mound for the Indians, but was relieved in the top of the third by Ricky Sanchez, who received credit for the win. Billy Smith, who had relieved Mike Waldrip in the bottom of the fifth, was the losing pitcher. The Cubs outhit the Indians, 8 to 5.

In the night's first game, Southland led the Braves, 5-3, at the end of four and appeared to be on the way to their first league victory, but the Braves went ahead with three runs in the fifth and six more in the sixth for a 12-5 win.

Mark Williams, who relieved starter Pete Morales in the top of the third, was the winning pitcher, while Southland's Frankie Valdez was charged with the loss.

John Chaffin, with a double and a single, got two of Southland's three hits, with the other one a double by Paul Eckert. The Braves collected eight hits, with Mark Williams and Morales getting two each.

With Kyle Duren pitching a no-hit, no-run game, the Indians whammed the Braves, 9 to 0, in Saturday's first game, and the league-leading White Sox rolled over Southland, 15 to 3, in the second game.

Duren fanned 11 Brave batters and walked five in pitching the no-hitter. The nearest the Braves came to scoring was in the second frame when Jeff Williams reached third base after becoming a base runner on an infield error.

Jimmy Odom, the Braves' starting pitcher, and Dan Sawyers, who relieved him, gave up just six hits, all singles, but errors and walks helped the Indians score their nine runs.

Jeff Hall was the winning pitcher in the White Sox win, with Mark Shedd and Raymie Holly also hurling for the Sox. Southland's only hit was a single by catcher John Chaffin. The White Sox got only five

There will be five divisions each for boys and girls, Tannehill said. The divisions are: Bantam, nine years and under; midget, 10 and 11; junior, 12 and 13; intermediate, 14 and 15, and senior, 16 and 17.

Coach Tannehill said he is taking applications now for local competitors in the meet. Boys and girls who wish to enter may call him at 2178 or 3164.

Tiger rally shades determined Dodgers

Two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning enabled the Tigers to come from one run behind and edge the Dodgers, 7 to 6, Tuesday night in one of the best Little League games of the season thus far.

Trailing 6-5 going into the bottom of the fifth, Steve Curb reached base on an error, but was cut down at second, with Chris Hall reaching first on the fielder's choice. Brad Greer's triple scored Hall, and Mark Greer singled after Ramon Raymundo had struck out, to score Brad Greer with the winning run.

The Tigers got three runs in the bottom of the first, but the Dodgers went ahead with a run in the second and three in the third, two of them coming on a home run over the centerfield fence by Hiram Martinez. The Dodgers scored two more in the fourth to move ahead, 6-3, but the Tigers made it closer in the bottom of the inning with two runs, one a lead-off homer by Mark Greer.

The Tigers got nine hits, with Reuben Storie, Brad Greer and Mark Greer coming up with two apiece. The Dodgers collected eight hits, with Barry Morris, Jerry Smith, Hiram Martinez and Charlie Hall getting two each. Jackie Castleberry was the winning pitcher and Charlie Hall the loser.

The Red Sox' 28-6 victory over the Yankees was cut short after four innings because of the 15-run lead rule. Paul Valdez was the winning pitcher and Scott Lewis the loser. Gary Lamb and Dickie Odom got two hits apiece for the Yankees, while catcher Steve Redman led the Red Sox with three hits in four trips.

The streaking Deers, winners of their last five games, shut out the Red Sox, 14 to 0, Monday night with Mark Holly twirling a two-hitter.

The only hits off the Deer pitcher were a third inning double by Wade Giddens and a sixth inning single by Danny Martinez.

The winners got only four hits off Red Sox starter Ascencion Fuentes, who was relieved by Giddens in the top of the sixth. A total of 13 bases on balls were issued by the Red Sox pitchers, however, and Ronnie Greathouse helped things along for the Deers with a solo homer in the second inning. The only other Deer hits were a double by Joe Reyna and singles by Timmie Greathouse and Mark Holly.

Each team turned in a double play.

The second place Cardinals edged a game nearer the league-leading Tigers Saturday night with an 8-3 win over the leaders behind the four-hit pitching of Danny Gunn, Mark Greer, who gave up seven hits, was the losing hurler.

The Tigers scored their three runs in the first inning on singles by Reuben Storie, Chris Hall and Mark Greer and a fielder's choice. The only other hit given up by Gunn was a sixth inning single by Storie.

The Cards got two runs in the bottom of the first on an error, a triple by Gunn and a single by Lance Dunn. They went ahead of the Tigers with four runs in the third then scored two more on catcher Bryan Taylor's two-run homer in the fifth.

In the night's second game, the Deers beat the Dodgers, 10 to 7, with 12 hits off Dodger starter Charlie Hall and Dana Joe Reyna got three singles in three trips to lead the Deer hitters, while Charlie Hall got two singles in four at-bats for the losers.

Friday night, the Dodgers overwhelmed the Yankees, 24 to 5, and the Cards ran away with the Red Sox, 21 to 5, both games being cut short by the 15-run lead rule.

The only hits off Ronnie Hall in the Dodger win over the Yanks were a triple and a single by Gary Baker and a single by Gary Lamb, the losing pitcher. Ronnie Hall, with a three-bagger that drove in three runs, and Hiram Martinez, with three hits in five trips, led the Dodgers at the plate.

Kevin Craig and Bryan Taylor combined to pitch a five-hitter in the Cards' win over the Red Sox. The losing pitcher was Kelly Mason, who went the route.

Kelly Mason got two of the losers' five hits, one of the double. Of the 13 hits called by the Cardinals, Bryan Taylor and Lance Dunn got two apiece.

The front-running Yankees gained a full game on second place Cardinals Thursday night when they swamped the hard-luck Deers, 25 to 1, after the Cards lost to the Deers, 11 to 1.

The Yankees' only run starter Chris Hall in the inning game came in the when catcher Gary Baker led and scored on the baseman Benny Kenne double.

The Tigers raked Yankee pitchers — Scott Le Benny Kennedy and Dan Odom — for 14 hits, with Jackie Castleberry getting two and Steve Curb rapping off singles in four trips to the plate. Brad Greer relieved Storie and Chris Hall to pitch the final inning for the Tigers.

After scoring a run in first inning, the Deers ran the five runs across the plate each of the third and fifth innings for their 11-3 victory. The Cards, who scored on the third and two in the fifth.

Deer pitcher Ronnie Greathouse kept nine Cardinals well scattered and received good fielding support, including one double play. Lance Dunn who gave up only seven was the losing pitcher.

maturing, cold-tolerant is a producer's dream may become fact in a few years, according to a scientist. If so, the experiment could lead to an increase of $18 to $24 in lost revenue from late-harvested cotton, and improved fiber quality and cotton yield for textile and processing mills.

Jack Gipson, cotton biologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, said that his work since 1963 has shown that fiber and seed quality are generally associated with temperatures which retard the rate of cotton boll development. As temperature drops 70 degrees Fahrenheit, metabolic functions of the plant begin to gradually slow down, ceasing almost completely at about 40 degrees. Temperatures encountered in the High Plains in October and November, Gipson noted, account for most of the slow-down in boll development. Minimum temperatures are about 57 degrees in October, and 46 degrees in November, though it is not unusual for the mercury to drop to 41 in September and to a frigid 34 in October. July and August minimum temperatures fall in the mid-range.

The detrimental effects of low temperature on fiber quality are of particular concern to High Plains growers," Gipson noted. In Garza County production an average of 60 per cent of the annual crop fell in the 10-year period from 1963 and 1972. This is that of an annual two-bale crop, some 1,300,000 bales would be penalized to degree for low micronaire. Based on a common price of $15 to $20 per bale, economic loss of High Plains revenue is staggering. These are conservative estimates.

Production records and other data," the researcher "impelled us to look for ways to deal with low temperatures."

In previous research with L. I. Ray, TAES cotton biologist, Gipson knew that certain varieties were better adapted to more tolerant to low temperatures than others. This is that genetic potential did to deal with low temperatures.

On this premise as the basis, the two researchers began in 1972 to select early maturing strains for testing. All lines were developed at Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Experiment Center north of Lubbock where the two TAES plants are based. The plants are being subjected to temperature stress from emergence to killing frost and selected for earliness and cold tolerance.

The plants are grown in small chambers and are covered each with field growth chambers mounted on wheels and supported by heaters and humidifiers to enable the researchers to maintain desired temperature levels.

Gipson explained that only low temperatures are considered because in general, high temperatures are the lowest temperatures usual during the day. Day temperatures usual during the day are adequate. In their study the 1974 crop year, seven stress in 1972, the seed increased in 1973, and are now being put through another cycle of low temperature stress to determine the extent, if any, of increased cold tolerance. Each year the strains that fail to show promise are deleted and replaced by other strains with potential cold tolerance.

The study is being supported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with funds being made available through Cotton Incorporated.

"We are extremely pleased with the progress achieved in the first two sessions," Gipson remarked, "especially with micronaire values of two of the experimental strains produced under low temperature stress."

"We are on the right track. It is just a matter of time until we will have a cotton plant that is considerably more tolerant to cold weather than anything we are currently growing on the High Plains."

Buescher State Park is three miles north of Smithville, Tex.

Final action is yet to come on '74 tax values

The Garza County Commissioners Court has had two meetings since last week but due to a lack of full attendance was unable to take final action on the 1974 county tax evaluations.

The subject was in controversy last week. County Judge Giles W. Dalby told The Dispatch Wednesday that no county taxpayers will get a tax boost this year unless they have improved their properties resulting in a higher taxable valuation.

Rites held for former Postite

Last rites for Mrs. Agnes Speake Herd, a former long-time resident of Post, who died June 11 in Scottsdale, Ariz., were conducted at 10 a. m. last Friday in St. Mary of the Assumption Catholic Church in Fort Worth, with burial in Rose Hill Cemetery there.

Mrs. Herd was the widow of the late George Herd, an early-day Post banker. They were married while she was employed at the First National Bank here.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Mary H. Bouliane of Navasota, Tex., and Mrs. Virginia H. Warren of Phoenix, Ariz.; one brother, R. D. Speake of Bowie, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Teeters of Parker, Ariz., and Mrs. Mabel Ethridge of Lake Charles, La.; and five grandchildren.

Losses said heavy on 'bum' checks

LOS ANGELES — Losses from bad checks are between $500 million and $1 billion annually, according to Lee Ault III, president of Telecredit, Inc., a Los Angeles-based loss prevention and recovery service.

Ault claims that more than 3,200 potential bad check writers were prevented from practicing their deceit thanks to Telecredit's on-line check verification system — a computerized information program keyed to driver's license numbers.

He said the choice before the county commissioners court is whether to grant a 21 per cent across-the-board taxable valuation, or whether to grant this only to oil properties and leave all other classes at 25 per cent.

"If we leave all other classes at 25 per cent," Judge Dalby explained, "we will be equalizing between oil and other classes of property, whereas if we go across the board we will be granting everybody a slight decrease but not making an effort at equalization."

The court had a special meeting Friday and their regular bimonthly meeting Monday. Commissioner Ben Sanchez was absent due to a death in his family.

Judge Dalby said the law requires all the commissioners to be present for action on the tax roll and the setting of the tax rate.

He also is "researching" a 1966 amendment to the Texas constitution pertaining to reduced tax valuations for land declared by the owner to be for agricultural use.

Rotary to hear of soil survey

Dan Blackstock, soil scientist with the Soil Conservation Service, will present a talk on the Garza County soil survey at the Post Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, June 25.

Blackstock, from Lubbock, reports the county survey is complete, but has not been published yet. The Garza Soil and Water Conservation District has copies of the survey for individuals and units of government needing soils information before publication of the survey.

In his talk to Rotarians, Blackstock will explain the many uses and the information that can be found in a soil survey. He will point out its value to units of government, construction firms and the average citizen.

will have all storage full and shut down the pipeline pumps by 2 a. m.

In the 24 hours, Post consumed a total of 2,970,000 gallons of water — probably an all-time record.

This includes water for Postex use and oil waterfloods, but up to the big emergency they had been pumping only about 2,300,000 gallons daily.

All of which means that Tuesday thirsty Post laws got an extra 650,000 gallons of water poured on them over their "normal summer day watering amounts."

Al reported no real complaints during the emergency from any of the four towns, the other three of which were on well water.

We told him here in Post the folks were so glad to have a full White River Lake in view of all other weather conditions that we hadn't even heard any of the local soreheads sounding off.

COWGIRL — Kelly Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mitchell, will represent Post as a cowgirl sponsor at the 44th annual Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford on July 2, 3 and 4. Kelly will be a freshman in Post High School this coming term. — (Staff Photo)

Cotton —

12,000 or less irrigated cotton acres in the county.

The term "or less" is used because farmers with irrigated land may not have sufficient well water to raise a cotton crop on all their acres without some help from rainfall.

A rush is expected to develop within days at the county's ASCS office as cotton farmers line up to apply for preventive planting disaster payments, which are expected to be made in mid-July.

According to Jim McGehee, county executive director of the ASCS office, farmers are eligible for 12.7 cents on the established cotton yield for their farms for the amount of their farm allotments.

While this dropped from about 15 cents last year, a 10 per cent increase in cotton allotments would just about give the farmer the same disaster payment this year as last.

Many farmers are waiting until just before the July 1 deadline for the preventive planting payments before deciding whether or not to blow up what little cotton they have in the ground.

Cotton in the ground after July 1 entitles the farmer to a failed acreage disaster payment of the same amount providing his entire crop is a failure. This is checked though and the difference on what he makes and his established yield is paid as a failed acreage disaster payment.

Last year, Garza farmers harvested the biggest and most valuable cotton crop in the county's history. It just goes to show, as any farmer will tell you, that everything depends upon if and how much it rains.

Police will make 'vacation checks'

Police Chief Jim B. Trulove said today the police department would like to extend to the citizens of Post its policy of checking businesses and residences for vacationers, since this is the vacation time of the year.

"If you are going to be out of town for a few days or for an extended period of time, please call the police department," Trulove said. "Let us know your address and name and where we can contact you in case of an emergency. We will routinely check your residence as often as possible while you are gone."

"If your business is left unattended while you are away, we will do the same thing with that," the police chief continued.

He said this service is offered to citizens in addition to the department's regular and routine patrol procedures.

"There have been several reported attempts of vandalism on homes during the past few weeks of residents who were away on vacation," Trulove said. "We hope that this additional service will curtail these attempts as much as possible."

Post student attending drama workshop at UT

AUSTIN — Forty-five high school students, including Kent Kirkpatrick of Post, are being put through the paces of theater work in the University of Texas drama department.

Kent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick, will be a Post High School senior next year.

As participants in a 25-day High School Theater Workshop, the students are:

—Studying acting, directing, theater history, dramatic literature, lighting, the speaking voice, stagecraft, make-up and dance.

—Wielding hammers, saws, needles, scissors, brushes, pliers, rulers and T-squares.

Their introduction to total theater will culminate July 5-6 with public presentations of three productions:

—"The Cave Cat," an original one-act play by Ford Ainsworth, former theater director at Schriener College, Kerrville, who will join the Round Rock school system in the fall. This year the play won the first Texas Educational Theater Association playwriting award. Guest director will be Jerry Worsham, drama director at Snyder High School.

—Scenes from Arthur Miller's "The Crucible," with guest director Janis Layne Powell, acting instructor at the Neighborhood Playhouse School of Theater, New York City. She is a UT drama ex-student.

—Four stories from Paul Sills' "Story Theater," imaginative improvisations based on familiar children's tales. Directing will be UT Assistant Prof. Dorothy Dodd.

The plays will be given July 5 at 8 p. m. and July 6 at 1 p. m. in the Laboratory Theater. All are open to the public. Workshop participants will form the acting companies and production crews for the plays.

requires filtering these units down to five or less for drinking purposes.

The cost of divers and equipment to clean the filtration plant's in-take pipe was quite expensive, not to mention the lost water sales to the oil companies.

Mayor Giles McCrary said Post residents should not get concerned about low water pressure this week. He says it is simply because everybody is trying to water thirsty lawns at once and the city's water system wasn't built for such a volume.

Southland bond case appealed

The "Southland school fight" isn't over yet.

The clerk of the Garza County District Court here has received notice that the district court's decision in the combined suits ruling the $500,000 Southland school bonds legal has been appealed to the Texas Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo.

The appeal was filed by Tom J. Griffith, Lubbock attorney representing J. Martin Basinger and others who originally sued to have the courts declare the bonds for a new Southland school null and void.
