Doug McGlaun, formerly of our town and the first manager of the Scurry County Coliseum, is now the manager of the 17 buildings which comprise the Will Rogers Center in Fort Worth.

McGlaun, who left Snyder to become assistant manager of the big Fort Worth complex, was promoted recently when B. Don Magness, the former Will Rogers Center director, was elevated to the position of City Director of Public Events.

City officials in Fort Worth said the change was made to coordinate activities better among the various facilities. In his new position, Magness has responsibility which extends over the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History, the Fort Worth Art Center, William Edrington Scott Theater, Casa Manana, North Side Coliseum, Lake Worth and the Will Rogers Center. McGlaun is now in direct command over the Will Rogers Center facilities.

Speaking of convention centers, coliseums, etc., Snyder alone accounted for more basketball fans at Levelland last Saturday night than any conventional gymnasium in this part of the country could have accommodated comfortably. The Snyder crowd at the SHS-Odessa Ector game in the Texan dome was estimated at anywhere from 1,900 to around 2,250. It amounted to over two-thirds of the total crowd.

Although such facilities are becoming more numerous cities that have them get the inside track when sites are being selected for the events such as basketball playoffs and tournaments.

Incidentally, Glenn Barron, manager of the Scurry County Coliseum, is extending an invitation for the Region V Junior College Courtnament to be held here next year. It is being unreeled at Lubbock this week. Interest in junior college athletics, especially basketball, is expected to increase here next season when Western Texas College will have a team competing for a conference title. And, who knows at this stage but what the Westerners will be in the Region V tournament next year?

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, March 2, the 62nd day of 1972. There are 304 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1836, Texas proclaimed independence from Mexico.

On this date:

In 1775, colonists in Providence, R.I., publicly burned 300 pounds of British documents and tea.

In 1776, American Marines fought their first battle, capturing a British fort in the Bahamas.

In 1861, Dakota was organized as a U.S. territory.

In 1899, Congress established Mt. Rainier National Park in Washington.

In 1945, during World War II, U.S. troops reached the Rhine River at a point opposite Dusseldorf, Germany.

In 1949, an American Superfort bomber landed at Fort Worth, Tex., after completing the first nonstop flight around the world.

Ten years ago: The United States said it would resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere in late April unless the Soviets agreed to an iron-clad treaty banning all tests.

Five years ago: Sen. Robert Kennedy proposed a suspension of American bombing of North Vietnam to open the way to peace talks.

One year ago: A U.S. agricultural specialist, Dr. Claude Fly, was released in Montevideo, Uruguay nearly six months after he had been kidnaped by guerrillas.

ON ANTITRUST SUITS SETTLEMENT

Kleindienst Denies Charges

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst swore today that at the time of a settlement of antitrust suits against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. he had no knowledge that a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate had made any offer to help finance next August's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general is pending before the Senate.

He was the first witness as the Senate Judiciary Committee opened hearings into charges relating to the antitrust case against IT&T that was settled out of court last July 31.

He also told the committee that he never talked to Mitchell, whose resignation became effective yesterday, about any aspect of the antitrust case.

Kleindienst, as he testified, was flanked on one side by Felix Rohatyn, a New York financier and an ITT director, and on the other side by federal Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

He testified to a series of meetings with Rohatyn beginning in April of last year and said that at Rohatyn's request he arranged for an economic presentation by ITT to McLaren of the consequences if the government required the company to divest itself of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Kleindienst said that subsequently Rohatyn complained to him about what he called McLaren's "hard, stringent, inflexible attitude" toward reaching a settlement, but Kleindienst said he refused to relate these conversations to McLaren.

He said he told Rohatyn that any settlement was a matter to be worked out between the officials of ITT and the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Kleindienst said he wished to declare categorically and specifically that until sometime in December 1971 he did not have any knowledge of reports that an ITT subsidiary had pledged to underwrite in part the cost of the GOP National Convention.

Kleindienst asked the committee to let him testify in reply to charges made by columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson, also scheduled as a witness, wrote in columns this week that a highly favorable settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co. was made last July after a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate pledged up to $400,000 to help defray costs of the GOP convention in San Diego next August.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said other witnesses called include U.S. Dist. Court Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago.

School Races Taking Shape Over County

There are 13 candidates for four county school board races in the election to be held April 1.

There are three vacancies on the county board. Terms of Cecil Boren, representing the county at large; Blake Walker, Precinct 1; and, Charlie Bley, Precinct 2, expire. Boren and Walker are seeking re-election, but Bley is not a candidate again. Seeking his place is Ray Fulford. Holdovers are Perry Echols and Marvin Hanson, Jr.

Terms of James Beaver and Bill Stansell expire on the Fluvanna Independent School District board. Beaver is seeking re-election, but Stansell is not a candidate. Other candidates are Ramon M. Fuentes and Royce Summers. The two getting the most votes will be elected. Holdovers are K.D. Ball, W.S. Bruner, Clinton Gregory, Jeff Martin and Gilbert Merritt.

Terms of Jimmy Beck and W.H. Coonrod on the Hermleigh Independent School District Board expire, and they are not seeking re-election. Candidates are Terry J. Nachlinger and Jim Bridges. Holdovers are T.C. Herrera, Jack D. Nachlinger, Donald Tate, Jimmy Roemisch and Doyle Wemken.

Three vacancies occur on the Ira Independent School District board. Terms of J.J. Hall, Buford Sterling and Billy Calley expire. Hall and Calley are seeking re-election, and they will be opposed by Leon Sterling, Weldon Wiggins and Donnie Dunn. Holdover members are Jake Autry, Tommy Clements, Manley Burrow and Harold Hester.

Court To Hear Election Suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed today to consider Secretary of State Bob Bullock's suit to force Comptroller Robert S. Calvert to pay out tax dollars to political parties for primary election expenses.

The high court set a 2 p.m. Monday hearing on the case.

By agreeing to consider the case, the court kept alive Gov. Preston Smith's and Bullock's hopes of avoiding a special session of the legislature before the May 6 primaries.

A decision not to take the case would have left the governor no choice but to call a special session to vote funds for the primaries.

The major issue for the court to decide will be whether Bullock can spend state funds without a specific appropriation from the legislature.

Bullock filed his suit with the high court Wednesday morning.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin quickly filed a brief saying the Texas Constitution did not permit one state official to sue another in their official capacities.

Martin issued Calvert a legal opinion last month saying Bullock could not spend state money for primary election expenses incurred by political parties unless the legislature approved.

That would require a special session before the primaries, something Smith has been anxious to avoid.

Martin represents Calvert in the Bullock suit. The secretary of state's lawyer is Clint Small Jr., law partner of Sen. Charles Herring of Austin.

Bullock contended in his brief that a specific legislative appropriation is not necessary for him to spend tax dollars on the primaries. He noted that his office's appropriation includes an item for "consumable supplies and materials" and operating expenses. This, he said, combined with his power as Texas' chief election officer, was sufficient legislative authority.

Bullock said that he "should not be powerless to meet the changed conditions not foreseen by the legislature."

One such condition was the federal court decision striking down Texas' filing fee requirement for candidates, the primary source of funds for the primaries.

Bullock said in a statement that Smith might feel compelled to submit other issues, including taxes, to a special session called to consider the filing fee issue.

Another MIG Said Downed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the probable destruction of a North Vietnamese MIG21 in a battle of supersonic jets along the Laotian border, another air strike inside North Vietnam and more heavy B52 raids in South Vietnam's central highlands.

Two Air Force fliers, Lt. Col. Joseph W. Kittinger, 42, of Orlando, Fla., and 1st Lt. Leigh A. Hodgdon, 27, of Reading, Pa., said they saw a missile they fired at one of two MIGs explode and their radar screen indicated a probable kill.

If confirmed by further evaluation of the radar tapes, it would be the third MIG21 reported shot down by U.S. fighters over North Vietnam and Laos since Jan. 19 and the 114th of the war.

Kittinger and Hodgdon were flying one of two F4 Phantoms escorting American bombers on raids against enemy positions in northern Laos. The U.S. Command said two MIG21s crossed the frontier and fired two missiles at Kittinger and Hodgdon but missed them. They fired back at one of the MIGs, and the second one apparently fled.

In another action stemming from U.S. air attacks in Laos, an F105 fighter escorting bombers fired a missile at a North Vietnamese air defense radar site 39 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. The results of the attack were not known, and there was no damage to U.S. aircraft, the command said.

It was the 68th such strike into North Vietnam reported by the U.S. Command this year.

U.S. B52 bombers flew 10 missions around Firebase 5 on the western side of the central highlands. It was the third day of heavy B52 attacks in the area.

More small, harassing ground attacks were reported in the central highlands, but there was no major fighting. And for the second successive day, the Communists shelled South Vietnamese positions at the eastern side of the demilitarized zone.

In Cambodia, enemy forces maintained heavy pressure on government troops in the Angkor area with ground attacks and shelling, the Cambodian command reported.

Fighting also erupted in other parts of the country, suggesting the enemy may be breaking out of a two-month fighting lull.

Gilly Gets Chair

WASHINGTON Pa. (AP) — Paul E. Gilly was sentenced to the electric chair today by the same jury that convicted him Wednesday of first-degree murder in the Yablonski slayings.

The jury of seven men and five women began deliberations on the penalty, Wednesday but recessed at 10:45 p.m.

Front Chills Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wild weather which accompanied a cold front's southward sweep through Texas subsided today and a sharp new chill routed the springlike warmth of the past few days.

As much as 1.58 inches of rain fell at the Beaumont-Port Arthur airport, where a mixture of gusty showers and thunderstorms made its last stand before trundling into Louisiana. Tornado watches for 27 East Texas counties posted because of the turbulence expired without word of damage.

Temperatures which climbed into the 80s and 90s over much of the state Wednesday afternoon tumbled 40 degrees or more in many places by this morning as stiff north winds reinforced the new onslaught by winter.

By dawn skies were clear in the Texas Panhandle and clouds were disappearing everywhere else behind the frontal system, which had spread over all but the state's southern tip.

The mercury dived to 13 degrees above zero at Perryton in the Texas Panhandle, a section where scattered snow fell in some areas during the night.

Readings elsewhere included Amarillo 17, Dalhart 19, Childress 21, Wichita Falls 22, Lubbock 23, Abilene 28.

Mutscher Case Opened By State

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The state opened its case today against Speaker Gus Mutscher with indications that F.C. "Sonny" Schulte, a Mutscher aide who made the same quick stock profits his boss did, would be the first witness.

Schulte, a shy-looking man with dark eyes and nut-brown skin, netted a reported $17,750 on a month and a half investment in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock in 1969.

He bought the stock with a $22,500 loan from the Sharpstown State Bank at Houston.

Both the bank and the insurance company were controlled by Houston promoter Frank Sharp.

Schulte testified before the same Travis (Austin) County Grand Jury that indicted Mutscher, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and another Mutscher aide, Rush McGinty, on charges they conspired to accept a bribe from Sharp. Schulte was not indicted.

All three defendants made big profits on NBL stock with loans from Sharp's bank.

They sold most of their stock two days after two banking bills supported by Sharp were rammed through the legislature.

Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith kept the identity of his first witness a closely-guarded secret to prevent the defense from working several hours in preparation for that witness.

A logical choice as an early, but not the first, witness was Sharp, who has been granted immunity from prosecution by a Houston federal judge in exchange for his testimony and for pleading guilty to minor banking law violations.

He was fined $5,000 and given a three-year probated sentence.

An eight-woman, four-man jury was selected moments before testimony began. Lawyers for each side struck 18 names from a jury panel of 48.

The huge panel was completed at 9:47 p.m. Wednesday after three days of interrogation of prospective jurors. Number 48 was Mildred Ates, a switchboard operator for the Abilene Reporter-News.

Mutscher Jury Named

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Here is the eight-woman, four man jury named today to hear the Gus Mutscher bribery-conspiracy trial: 1. George B. Burgoon, 29, an employe of a watch company. 2. Mrs. Ray Orsborn, 50, housewife. 3. Mrs. Darrell Haynes, 42, an employe of a watch company. 4. Mrs. W.H. Blackburn Jr., 42, housewife. 5. Beverly A. Farnsworth, 27, a schoolteacher. 6. Mrs. Eddie L. Cowley, 52, a bank clerk. 7. Mrs. Lillie A. Jones, 34, a telephone operator. 8. Frances A. Twilla, 47, a housewife. 9. Philip W. Seymore, 28, a Merkel, Tex., farmer. 10. Larry E. Yerger, 28, McMurry College freshman. 11. Chester W. Childees, 32, a Tye, Tex. service station owner-operator. 12. Elizabeth A. Nedela, 39, housewife.

Launch On Again Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency will try for the fourth time tonight to launch the Pioneer 10 spacecraft to explore the planet Jupiter.

As on previous attempts this week, strong high altitude winds forced a postponement Wedesday night, just five minutes before the planned liftoff time. The winds, more than 70 miles an hour 43,000 feet above the launch area, could rip the rocket apart.

The launch was rescheduled for 8:25 p.m. EST tonight. Weather officials predicted the winds, associated with the jet stream, again would be marginal.

P.C. HARBOUR

Harbour Is New Head Of CRMWD

BIG SPRING—P.C. (Codie) Harbour, Odessa, today was elected president of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which he has served as a director since its creation.

He succeeds Charles B. Perry, Odessa, who held the office from 1958 until his death Feb. 12. Harbour's choice was unanimous.

When the first board of CRMWD was organized in 1949, Harbour was one of the four original directors from Odessa, and thus he has been a part of the entire development and expansion of the district.

He has been chairman of the recreation committee since the beginning and has served on the personnel as well as the land committee, which has been involved in acquisition of thousands of acres for two lake basins as well as several hundred miles of pipeline right of way.

Harbour came to Odessa in 1937 from Breckenridge and has been identified closely with the remarkable development in that city. He is a past president of the Odessa Real Estate Board, a past president of the Odessa Country Club, and a former vice president of the Odessa Community Chest.

Currently he is on the board of directors of the First National Bank in Odessa, the National Bank of Odessa, and the First National Bank in Andrews. He is a former director of the First National Bank in Big Spring and of the Home Savings and Loan association in Odessa. He and Mrs. Harbour make their home at 1504 Graham Drive in Odessa.

Should invitations include children?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: When people make expensive weddings or Bar Mitzvahs, I can understand why they might not want small children. But when they invite friends who have children in their late teens (or even older), living at home, I think it's an insult to the parents and their children to exelude them.

I am a widow with a 20-year-old daughter and a 21-year-old son at home, and I will never again accept an invitation which does not include them. Why should I have to come alone? Do you agree with me?

BURNED UP IN BROOKLYN

DEAR BURNED: No. When one invites a single adult (widow, widower, divorcee, etc.) to a large affair, a thoughtful gesture would be to indicate that an escort (or partner) would be welcome. If the partner happens to be an adult offspring, fine. But grown children shouldn't be automatically invited just because they are still living at home. If they are wanted, they should receive separate invitations, but they shouldn't be "shleppalongs."

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend has dark wavy hair which he wears down to his shoulders. He's rather slight and has delicate features, so it's not surprising that he gets mistaken for a girl a lot. He doesn't like to be mistaken for a girl, so I suggested he cut his hair a little, but he doesn't want to. Anything else he can do?

DANNY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: He could grow a mustache.

DEAR ABBY: We have friends who have an only child, eight years old. He was born long after the parents had given up all hope of ever having a child. (I mention this only so you will know why they dote on him.) This boy has never known discipline, so he is spoiled rotten. He is exceptionally bright, so his parents hang on his every word and permit him to dominate every adult conversation.

Worse yet, this child is never left home! Even on New Year's Eve his parents dragged him to an adult party! This kid was allowed to stay up until the party ended at 2:30 a.m.!

Our problem: A club to which we belong is planning a charter flight to Europe this summer, and these friends have signed up WITH the boy included. This is not a family type trip, Abby. Nobody else is taking a child. We all agree that this kid is a pain in the neck. But who should tell the parents?

ANONYMOUS PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Why should anyone "tell" them? Now that it's become obvious that "the kid" goes everywhere with Mamma and Papa, those of you who do not care for the arrangement should absent yourselves from their company.

DEAR ABBY: Around October, we begin to receive personalized key chains, boxes of soap, assorted special occasion cards and a variety of other items we have not ordered. All of them are supposedly sold for the benefit of the handicapped or underprivileged, and it may be legitimate, but there is a limit to how far we can go in our giving.

Just before Christmas, we get boxes of Christmas cards. Some of them are quite lovely, but we prefer to select our own cards.

Abby, what is one expected to do with these things? I know we are not legally obligated to pay for anything we did not order, and don't think I should have to spend my time and money to rewrap and mail back these things.

I just can't throw them into the fireplace. My Scotch instincts rebel against such waste. And I surely cannot use them. I would feel guilty.

So what do you suggest?

MRS. J. P.

DEAR MRS. J. P.: Give them to needy people who can use them. Then send a postcard to the organizations that sent them to you, telling them how you have disposed of their merchandise, and requesting that your name be removed from their mailing list. (And if they send you more stuff, repeat the procedure.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Water On Moon Urine?

HOUSTON (AP) — A computer analysis performed by a Washington scientific firm indicates the discovery of water on the Moon announced last fall by Rice University scientists could have been a discharge of urine from the Apollo 14 spacecraft.

Last Oct. 15, Dr. John W. Freeman and Dr. H. Kent Hills announced at Rice that one of their instruments left on the moon had recorded "a sporadic intense burst of water vapor ions."

All previous observations had indicated the Moon to be a totally waterless body.

But the analysis by Bellcomm, Inc., suggested another theory.

Scientists considered that the Apollo mothership discharged waste water several times during the three-day period it was orbiting the moon.

They theorized these particles of water combined and then, a month or so later, after orbiting the moon at a decreasing altitude, collided with the lunar surface producing what Rice instruments recorded.

The computer analysis said the theory is mathematically possible.

Hills discounted the urine discharge theory.

US Combat Toll Up This Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that six Americans were killed in combat in Indochina last week, the highest toll in more than two months.

A check of daily battlefield communiques disclosed two more American combat dead during the week, but due to delays in the reporting system they probably will be carried on the weekly casualty summary next week.

The toll of six was two more than the average of four a week for this year. It was the highest weekly toll since Dec. 12-18, when seven Americans were reported killed in action.

The summary reported 56 U.S. troops wounded in action last week, nearly three times that of the previous week and the most since Dec. 5-11 when 56 also were wounded.

Nine U.S. servicemen died of nonhostile causes last week, the command said. This was the highest number in six weeks.

The South Vietnamese command said 360 of its troops were killed and 729 wounded, the highest tolls in three weeks. The command claimed 1,026 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, nearly double the 637 enemy dead claimed the week before.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,656 killed in action, 302,707 wounded, 10,086 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—140,227 killed in action, 304,407 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—797,489 killed.

Agents Seize Big Drug Haul

PARIS AP — The French Finance Ministry today said customs agents have seized 937 pounds of pure heroin aboard a ship at Marseille. The ministry said it was the biggest drug haul in history.

The announcement said the ship Caprice des Temps was boarded Feb. 29 and a search was started. The drug was found this morning.

Sources at the Finance Ministry said government agents became suspicious when Marcel Boucan, 57-year-old former captain of a ship known to have been engaged in cigarette smuggling, bought the Caprice des Temps, a 60-ton shrimp boat, although he had no experience in fishing.

They set a watch on the Caprice.

When she left Villefranche, on the French Riviera, Tuesday night, two customs speedboats overtook her and fired warning shots across her bow when she wouldn't stop.

Agents boarded the ship and took it to Marseille for the search.

The first search turned up nothing suspicious, but it was apparent the boat had undergone considerable repairs and changes. Examination was made of the empty spaces under the tanks for storing the fish catch and the concrete covers of the hold were given a close examination.

The drug was found in watertight sacks embedded in the cement.

Christie Sets Canoe Trip

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Joe Christie, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, says his campaign will switch to a canoe on April 8.

Christie told the Harris County Junior Bar Association he would sponsor a canoe trip down Harris County's Armand Bayou in an effort to preserve the scenic area as a state park.

"Here is a beautiful, natural area of wilderness within a few minutes drive of more than two million people," Christie said. "It should be preserved as a park that our children and their children can enjoy."

SWEET TOOTH FIREFIGHTER—Denver Fireman Gary Barncord chews on a sucker he said is his "dessert" as he sprays water onto a two-alarm blaze Tuesday night. Barncord was just finishing up his supper when the fire bell rang in his station. With firefighting gear on and his "dessert" in his raincoat pocket Barncord took off with 60 other Denver firemen to battle the fire in a building housing a company which manufactures motion-picture film reels and cans. The blaze was brought under control in an hour. There were no reports of any injuries. (AP Wirephoto)

Farm Loan Rate Lowered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has lowered its loan rate charged farmers for financing grain drying and storage equipment to 5.5 per cent a year from 6.0 per cent charged previously.

The loan program is handled by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservative Service to help farmers do a better job of handling and storing grain on their farms.

Senate Passes Education Bill

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $23-billion higher-education bill and sent it to a conference committee to determine how firmly Congress should legislate against busing of pupils.

The Senate version of the bill, which also authorizes $1.5 billion to help school districts desegregate, was approved on an 88-6 vote Wednesday. The Senate added comparatively mild restrictions on busing.

But the House, acting on the legislation last November, tied to it three stringent antibusing amendments.

Finding a common ground on busing will be one of the major questions, but not the only one, in the conference which is expected to begin in about two weeks.

There also are important differences on the formulas for aid to college students, for federal assistance to colleges and universities, and for paying out federal funds to assist school districts faced with desegregation problems.

The Senate dealt Wednesday with a last gasp effort to revive the tough antibusing rider sponsored by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., defeating it 48 to 47. This proposal first was tentatively adopted 43 to 40 last Friday, then rejected 50 to 47 Tuesday.

Hopes of the busing foes had been centered on the Griffin proposal which would eliminate the right of federal courts to issue busing orders in school-desegregation cases.

The tough provisions of the House-passed bill would:

—Prohibit use of any federal funds to support busing to achieve desegregation.

—Bar federal agencies from persuading school districts to use their own funds for this purpose.

—Stay, pending final appeals, all busing ordered by courts in desegregation cases.

The mild busing restrictions voted by the Senate were written to tie into the House provisions and cut back their effect.

In the higher-education part of the bill, which contains the bulk of the money authorized, the Senate version contains a brand new formula entitling all college students to $1,400 yearly grants, less family contributions, based on uniform federal standards.

The House measure would continue this type of aid in the usual way—loans, grants and work-study programs channeled through college financial-aid officers.

There also is a wide variation in the way the two versions would provide direct support for institutions of higher education.

The Senate bill would provide allowances based on the number of federally aided students enrolled. The House measure would key the assistance to full-time enrollment of the colleges and universities.

Smith Blames Legislators

AUSTIN, Tex. AP — Gov. Preston Smith says Texas senators and representatives should shoulder the full blame for passing two banking insurance bills that played a part in the stock fraud scandal.

"These bills were rushed through the legislature with insufficient time and with very very few dissenting votes," Smith said Wednesday night in a paid political telecast over 19 Texas stations.

"But when they came to the governor's office, they were subjected to a careful analysis ... And after careful consideration, it was my decision, and mine alone, not that of the legislature, but it was my decision that these bills should not become law. And so I vetoed these bills.

"And the only point that my signature appears in connection with this legislation is on this veto document."

Smith proudly displayed his veto message then flashed on the screen pictures of the controversial banking bills that were signed by Speaker Gus Mutscher, now on trial in Abilene on charges of bribery conspiracy in connection with the bills, and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith has acknowledged that he and former state Democratic chairman Dr. Elmer Baum made a quickie $125,000 profit off National Bankers Life Insurance stock with an unsecured loan from now defunct Sharpstown State Bank but he called it only "an investment" made by Baum.

Smith claimed in his speech that his veto of the banking bills "brought Frank Sharp's empire to its knees" after the legislature had passed the bills at Sharp's urging.

Smith's speech Wednesday ended speculation, at least temporarily, that he might call an immediate special session to deal with Texas' political filing fee system which has been declared unconstitutional by federal courts. Smith has said several times he would like to wait until June to call a special session to take care of the state's finances for 1972-73 and other matters. Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock contend that this year's primary elections can be financed with the new filing fee schedule plus appropriations from state funds. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has ruled that only the legislature can appropriate money for elections and current appropriations could not be used without specific legislative action.

Bullock appealed to the State Supreme court Wednesday and the court was expected to say today if it would hear arguments in the case.

NOMINATED — Clifford Fargason, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Fargason of Dunn, has received official notice that he has been designated as a competitive nominee to the U.S. Military Academy by U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen. He is a senior in Snyder High School.

Miss Nude Stops Traffic

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Suzanne Haines, Miss Nude Universe, strolled along downtown Park Avenue Wednesday afternoon. And even though she kept her clothes on, business and traffic came to a standstill.

Hundreds of spectators lined the sidewalks, pressed against office windows and strolled along behind as Miss Haines made her walk—billed as a protest of her indecent exposure arrest.

She was dressed, but not very well considering the 30 degree temperature and the strong wind.

Wearing white boots, and a colorful, though skimpy, tunic with a four-inch skirt Miss Haines, a San Fernardino, Calif., native, made what she called her "Wall Street Walk."

City detectives arrested her again late Wednesday night as she performed topless at a night spot.

Firemen Called

City Firemen answered two calls to grass fires yesterday.

They extinguished one at Ennis Creek at 7:30 a.m. and another one five miles north of town off the Old Lubbock Highway at 5 p.m.

Novel On Murders

THE ASSASSINS. By Elia Kazan. Stein & Day. $7.95.

Don't let the beginning of this book fool you. The quiet, near idyllic, atmosphere first revealed is deceptive and soon is shattered by an act of violence—a double murder. From that moment on the reader is gripped in a grim story that winds remorselessly to an equally violent end—another murder.

Sgt. Cesario Flores of the Air Force is outraged by the defection of his adored daughter from her home to a commune of drug-taking hippies. Flores shoots and kills the girl's hippy lover, as well as a black member of the clan. He is placed on trial but it is a virtual certainty he will get off since the temper of the community is virulently anti-hippy.

Michael Winter, the strange but yet charming leader of the commune, decides, when Flores does get off, to commit an act of symbolic protest—a gratuitous murder.

The most engrossing sections of this novel lie between the opening and closing murders. In them, Kazan, while drawing marvelously detailed characters, puts down what he has to say about the violence that simmers just below the surface in all men and how an incident can touch off the blood lust in even the most amiable of men.

Kazan, who has published two previous novels, also deals well with the lack of understanding—the refusal to understand, in fact, that which one finds repugnant—that can lead one man to kill another.

The author's ideas are thought-provoking and happily, as has happened in so many other novels of ideas, do not interfere with, get in the way of, or hold up the action.

Fashion Starts At The Top

WARDROBE OF HATS—Susan Clark, former British model appearing in the film, "The Skin Game," has chosen a variety of hats to give her a new look. 1. The soft brim of this modified gaucho of beige felt by Frank Olive is an ideal accent for the longer flared skirts. 2. This crushable slouch brim hat is in soft gold by Betmar. 3. The romance of femininity abounds in this medium-crown rolled brim silhouette by Frank Olive, of rich velvet with a sweeping plume at the side. 4. The fashion badge of the new girl in fashion is the cuffed brim jersey pull-down headhugger, like this one by Merrymakers. 5. A must for every hat wardrobe is the fur hat, which can come, like this one, in inexpensive dyed rabbit by Merrymakers. 6. For a sleek, tailored look, there is new magic in the nostalgic cloche, this one of crushable felt by Betmar. Layout by Joe Damone.

Gelled Main Dish Is Economical

No one will ever dream you are economizing when you serve a creative dish called Zucchini Mold Provencal, developed with food-saving in mind.

This is a glamorous gelled main dish made with economical canned tuna and a bevy of beautiful, thrifty accompaniments in clear tomato gelatine. The key to blending these saving ingredients together is unflavored gelatine, an ally in economizing that smart cooks find to be a blessing. Because it has no flavor of its own, you can make really attractive main dishes, salads and desserts with natural ingredients, so the fresh natural flavors come through in all their own goodness.

In this imaginative Zucchini Mold Provencal the essence of the cooking in this French province is captured in the ingredients. fresh zucchini, available year 'round at modest prices; canned tomatoes, often on special at the store; onion, garlic, lemon and herbs.

Another fine economy recipe to inspire you to get in the mood to cook up a storm of recipes is Beet Horseradish Salad, a zingy relish salad made with very thrifty ingredients to add that touch of excitement needed in an economical meal.

ZUCCHINI MOLD PROVENCAL

1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) tomatoes
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
¼ cup minced onion
¼ clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon dried leaf oregano
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup shredded zucchini
1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna

Drain liquid from tomatoes into saucepan; sprinkle gelatine over liquid. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add onion, garlic, parsley, oregano and salt. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white. Cut tomatoes into small pieces; fold into gelatine mixture with zucchini and tuna. Turn into 6-cup mold. Chill several hours or overnight, until firm. YIELD: 6 servings.

BEET HORSERADISH SALAD

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1-3 cup cold water
1 can (1 pound) whole or sliced beets
1½ teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons minced onion
½ cup chopped celery

In small saucepan, sprinkle gelatine over water. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add beet liquid, salt, horseradish, vinegar and onion. Chop drained beets and reserve. Chill gelatine mixture until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in celery and chopped beets. Turn into 4-cup mold. Chill several hours or overnight, until firm. YIELD: 6 servings.

She 'Sees' With Her Fingers

By MARGARET BAMFORD
Kitchener-Waterloo Record

KITCHENER, Canada (AP) — Christine Breadner has woven and knitted hundreds of things, but she has never seen one of them with her eyes—only with her sensitive fingers.

Miss Breadner is blind and almost totally deaf as the result of a progressive disease she contracted as a child. She lives at Huronia Hall; a residence for the sightless.

She learned to knit and weave about 15 years ago, beginning with plain place mats and handbags made on a hand loom.

About 10 years ago she bought her own complex foot loom from money she had earned selling her handicrafts. Until then she had used a loom loaned by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

She threads the hettles at the front of the loom and passes the 224 threads through to the back of the loom for an assistant to thread the beater. Once the loom is threaded, she cranks it up herself to get the correct tension.

Some of her more complicated patterns involve using four or five colors, but once the pattern is started by sighted persons, she can complete it. She "sees" the pattern with her fingers.

"I prefer weaving to knitting because in weaving you can 'see' the mistakes with your fingers and can correct them."

Miss Breadner works four or five hours a day at her loom and then often works in the residence workshop, assembling candy dividers, reading in braille or typing letters.

Her weaving is sold at the residence craft shop and at their annual bazaar.

Widows Share Their Experiences

By MARY LU ZUBER
Houston Chronicle Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "If only I had someone to talk with, someone who understands," pleads a widow.

"It's so lonely," adds another.

"Doctors load you with tranquilizers and tell you you'll be all right. That doesn't help."

"You're a fifth wheel. Your friends are nice but. ... You're just alone."

These are widows talking, eagerly sharing experiences and problems, reaching out to help others and to be helped.

In only a few minutes of conversation, it's apparent one of their biggest troubles is loneliness. But these women are doing something about that loneliness and other problems widows face. They answered a call to be volunteers with Widowed Inc., a service organization which aims to help people adjust when they lose a mate.

Shirley Wolfer, executive director who lost her husband 16 months ago, started Widowed, Inc., in Houston after discovering the organization on a trip to Boston. A board of directors was formed and a call for volunteers brought out more than 50 persons at the organizational meeting.

Margaret Cox, Addie Goldman, Margaret Rosenthall and Mary K. Wintringham know the traumas of being widowed and they know one of the greatest needs is someone to talk with.

Listen to them:

"I have no family here, no one," says Mrs. Cox. "My husband and I were in the laundry business and we sold it before he died. I don't want to go back into that. Yet I don't have any experience in anything else."

"I'd never worked before. I had done volunteer work and some of the offices offered me jobs. I nearly fainted when I heard the salary. It was so little," says Mrs. Goldman. "Luckily I went into a good field, real estate."

"A widow often thinks she can live a lot more cheaply, but the cost of living without your husband doesn't drop in proportion to the loss of his income," says Mrs. Rosenthall.

Since finances are a big problem to many widows, one aim of Widowed, Inc. is to guide persons to the proper counseling in financial and legal matters.

"I lost some of my credit cards because I was honest and told the companies my husband had died. They sent me applications for a new card and when they saw I had no job, They didn't give me one," Mrs. Wolfer says.

"You're thrown out of society. You can't go out like you used to. You're a prisoner in your home. People tell you to take a trip. Well whom are you going with?" says Mrs. Goldman.

"Go with another widow," answers Mrs. Rosenthall.

"The real answer is that you have to change your lifestyle," says Mrs. Goldman.

"You're always doing everything the way you think he'd want you to do. I still do it, but you've got to realize it's you now, not him," Mrs. Rosenthall says.

Children can be life savers and heart breakers when a mate is lost, the women say.

"I don't know what I would have done without them. They carried on with their college just as their father had planned for them. They were so strong I felt I had to live up to them," Mrs. Goldman says.

"Children can also put you over the barrel," says Mrs. Wolfer. "They'll say 'Daddy promised me a motorcycle' and you have to explain that Daddy isn't there anymore and finances have changed. They have to adjust. But they can really hit you hard."

"You get to the point that you think you're going to blow your mind. We hope to keep people from bombing out," Mrs. Goldman says.

What Widowed, Inc., hopes to say by its actions is, "you're not alone in your feelings. Thousands of others are just like you."

Nixon Girls Invited To China

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A rock music band went to small claims court seeking $100 of a contract they claim a night club failed to pay them after the group was forced to play in a storeroom because they were too loud.

Members of the Gibralter Group said Wednesday they contracted with the nightclub last March to play six nights for $600. They said they played three nights in the club and one night in a storeroom with only a club official in attendance, then were fired with payment of $500.

Tony Cerkvenik, president of the Fifth National Banque, the night club, said he put the group in the store room because they were driving away customers.

Justice of the Peace John Murphy took the case under advisement.

Pusher's Sentence Protested

LONDON (AP) — Some of the British are up in arms because a Turkish court sentenced a 14-year-old British boy to six years and three months in jail for pushing 57 pounds of hashish. The boy, Timothy Davey, said he was trying to help support his mother and her five younger children.

Members of Parliament said Turkey was giving itself a medieval image and termed the sentence harsh, brutal and immoral. Newspaper editorials urged mercy.

Timothy also was fined the equivalent of $10,894 at the trial in Istanbul Wednesday. There were three young codefendants: Jean Claude Morisot, 20, and Patrice Buonotti, 20, both French, got 12½ years, and Friedrich Stohl, 17, Austrian, got eight years, four months.

The defense said it would appeal, and the Daily Mail reported that Turkish Foreign Minister Haluk Bayulken gave the British ambassador, Sir Roderick Sarell, a "sympathetic hearing" when he told him the case would have a serious impact on relations between Britain and Turkey.

One British newspaper sided with the Turks. "Feel sorry as you wish," wrote columnist Donald Seaman in the Daily Express, "but don't blame the Turks who know what drugs can do to whole families—never mind boys of 14—and are trying to stamp out their end of a huge, terrifying, growing menace operated by unscrupulous men and women all over the world."

Laborite member of Parliament Tom Driberg declared it was time "for the British government to do something."

"It may be interfering with another country's justice, but we cannot just stand by and see this happening to a British boy," he said.

"This sort of sentence is bound to give a bad image to Turkey as a country that is quite medieval," Paul Rose, another laborite legislatore asserted.

The Times of London commented: "When all has been said the concept of this boy embarking on his prison sentence is odious." Shutting him up in an adult prison is "incapable of doing him good and may do him much harm."

One report said the British foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, has started quiet diplomatic moves to have the sentence reduced. Timothy's sentence was half those of Morisot and Buonotti because he is a minor.

Building Practices Probed

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration will no longer approve contracts for a San Benito builder to build low income homes, a spokesman for the agency's state headquarters said Wednesday.

J. Lynn Futch, state director of Farmers Home Administration, said the ban on contracts to Bobbie Rankin of Custom Design Homes took effect last Monday.

An investigation is underway by the inspector general's office of the U.S. Agriculture Department into building practices in the construction of low income housing at Port Isabel.

The investigation was triggered after KGBT-TV, Harlingen, presented a 30-minute news program entitled "Home Sweet Home."

The program included claims from home owners concerning shoddy construction and statements from contractors who claimed the San Benito office of the FHA showed favoritism to Rankin's firm.

Rankin first tried, but failed to stop the show from being aired. Cameron County deputies were unable to serve a restraining order on the station before the program was telecast.

A $2.4 million libel suit was filed against the station by Rankin. He later dropped the suit after meeting with state officials of the FHA at Temple.

Futch said Wednesday that Rankin will be allowed to complete those homes already under construction, but said no new ones will be started under FHA approval.

Big Track Meet Slated Saturday

The annual Canyon Reef Relays will begin at 9:45 a.m. Saturday with prelims in most events, and the finals get underway at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Bill Hartsfield, coach of the host Tigers, said he expected one of the closest relays ever to be held here with plenty of competition on both divisions.

Division I or Class AAAA entries include Big Spring, Lubbock Monterey, Midland Lee, Lubbock High, Midland High, San Angelo, Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper. Division II or Class AAA entries are Andrews, Brownfield Brownwood, Lamesa, Dumas, Lubbock Estacado, Lake View, Seminole, Sweetwater, Levelland, Colorado City and Snyder.

Morning events include prelims in the 440 yard relay, 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, 440 yard dash, and 220 yard dash with finals in the AAAA division in the long jump, pole vault, and shot put and finals in the AAA division in the discus and high jump.

The afternoon schedule includes the high jump, discus, long jump, pole vault, shot put, 440 yard relay, 880 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, sprint medley relay, 440 yard dash, 220 yard dash, two mile relay, 100 yard dash, 330 yard hurdles, 880 yard relay, mile run and mile relay.

In all races, AAAA entries will run first, then AAA.

Bubba Seeks Fifth Golden Gloves Title

FORT WORTH (AP) — James "Bubba" Busceme, a rapid firing 20-year-old lightweight from Beaumont, will bid for a record-tying fifth title in the 36th annual State Golden Gloves Tournament tonight.

Busceme also has won two national championships plus a national AAU title and recently boxed in Europe and Russia on a tour with U.S. amateurs.

Only two other fighters have won five state titles—heavyweight Tom Adams of Abilene and lightweight Morris Corona, who represented Beaumont. Adams won his last title in 1951 and Corona campaigned here from 1939 to 1944.

Busceme will be one of four 1971 state winners defending their titles. Dallas flyweight James Martinez also went on to a national championship last year.

The other three are Fort Worth middleweight Paul Stephens, Temple light-welterweight Billy Miller and El Paso featherweight Junior Vincencio.

Another 1971 champion, Houston's Johnny Boudreaux, has moved up one division into the heavyweights, where he will bid for the vacated title of threetime winner Nick Wells of Fort Worth. Wells isn't competing because of Air Force duty.

Other top names in the 115-man field are welterweight Pat Ozuna of Wichita Falls, who won the 1969 lightweight title, and light-heavy Sam Hatton of Fort Worth, who won that division in 1970 and lost in the finals to Boudreaux last year.

Cities entering teams are Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, Odessa, Temple, Tyler and Wichita Falls. Houston and Fort Worth tied for the team title last year.

The tournament will continue Friday and Saturday nights and the finals will be held Monday night.

9 Teams Accept NCAA Berths

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Marquette, the team Coach Al McGuire says he has "something extra to try to prove," heads the list of the nine at-large basketball teams that accepted invitations Wednesday to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's university division playoffs.

The fifth-ranked Warriors celebrated their selection Wednesday night by downing Tulane, 73-60. It was the 23rd victory in 24 starts for the Milwaukee-based team.

Rounding out the nine of 25 starting spots to be filled by at-large clubs are South Carolina, the nation's No. 8 team with a 20-4 record; No. 9 Marshall, 23-2; No. 10 Florida State, 23-4; No. 11 Southwest Louisiana, 22-3; No. 13 Houston, 19-6; No. 15 Hawaii, 24-2; Providence, 17-5, and Villanova, 18-6.

Marquette had been rated second and was considered a strong title threat not long ago. But then the Warriors' star center, 6-11 junior Jim Chones, suddenly signed a professional contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

McGuire, however, is not about to discount the Warriors' chances.

"I feel as good or better about this one than the last one," he said of his team. "There's something extra to try to prove here. I think the ball players will pick up the slack.

"It'll be interesting to be underdogs for a change."

In pairings announced Wednesday by the NCAA, only three of the at-large entries know their opponents for the first round beginning March 11. Regional championships follow March 16-18, and the finals unfold in Los Angeles March 23-25.

Southwestern Louisiana and Marshall square off in the Midwest regional at New Mexico State, Las Cruces. Hawaii meets Big Sky Conference champ Weber State in the West regional at Idaho State, Pocatello.

The scramble for first-round positions remains wide open, but the regionals now appear to shape up this way:

East—Middle Atlantic Conference champion vs. South Carolina, at William and Mary; Southern Conference champ vs. Villanova, at Princeton; Ivy League champ vs. Providence, at St. John's.

Mideast—Mid-America Conference winner vs. Marquette, at Tennessee; Ohio Valley Conference champ vs. Florida State, at Tennessee.

Midwest—Southwestern Louisiana vs. Marshall; Southwest Conference champion vs. Houston, at New Mexico.

West—Weber State vs. Hawaii; California State-Long Beach vs. Brigham Young, at Idaho State.

Atuomatically qualifying for regional championship tournaments are the titlists of seven more conferences—Atlantic Coast, Big Eight, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Pacific Eight, Southeast and West Coast.

NIT Chooses Five Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — The last time—and first time—that Jacksonville played a basketball game in Madison Square Garden, it set the collegiate record for single-game scoring by a team.

The next time the Dolphins invade the Garden, they'll be shooting for bigger game in a series of games—the championship in their debut at the National Invitational Tournament.

The Redmen of St. John's, N.Y., already own two records in the NIT—the most appearances, 20, and most titles, four.

Jacksonville, St. John's, Fordham, Syracuse and Niagara were named Wednesday by Ben Carnevale, president of the NIT Selection Committee, the first five entries to be chosen in the 16-team, March 17-25 event.

At least 19 other teams are still in the running for the remaining 11 berths. Most of them will be decided by the final standings of several collegiate conferences—but those winners won't be the ones at the NIT.

The top teams will be en route to the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships. The runnersup, along with a number of independents such as New Mexico, Oral Roberts and Duquesne, will be the ones to receive NIT bids.

Jacksonville, which bombed St. Peter's, N.J., 151-113 in that record-wrecking Garden debut, is 17-6 with one game remaining; St. John's is 17-8 with one to go; Fordham is 16-8 with two to play; Syracuse has a 19-5 mark with two left, and Niagara, 18-6, has one more game on the schedule.

Eau Claire Has Slim Poll Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eau Claire retained its lead in The Associated Press' college division basketball poll released today—but just barely.

Eau Claire, 21-1, received six first-place votes and a total of 230 points to keep the top spot in rankings by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

But No. 2 Tennessee State, which was 47 points back of the leader last week, surged to within six points of the top spot with three first place votes and 224 points. The Tigers won both their games last week to boost their season mark to 17-1.

Far back in third place in this week's poll, the next-to-last of the season, was Louisiana Tech with 142 points and one first place vote. The next three teams all climbed one notch from last week—Eastern Michigan to No. 4, Alabama State No. 5 and Stephen F. Austin No. 6.

Cheyney State, fourth in last week's rankings, lost one of its three games through Saturday and dropped down to the seventh spot. Akron, which had been No. 8, dropped one of two starts and slipped out of the Top Ten.

The No. 8 spot went to Western Washington and No. 9 to Evansville, each up one place from last week. Kentucky State climbed into the final spot in the Top Ten.

The Top Ten teams in The Associated Press college division basketball poll with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through games of Sat. Feb. 26 and total points on a basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16-14-12-10-9-8, etc.:

1.	Eau Claire (6)	21-1	230
2.	Tenn. St. (3)	17-1	224
3.	La. Tech (1)	21-3	142
4.	East. Mich. (1)	21-4	132
5.	Ala. St.	22-2	130
6.	S.F. Austin	23-2	109
7.	Cheyney St.	21-3	108
8.	West. Wash.	22-2	103
9.	Evansville	20-5	82
10.	Ky. St.	19-5	58

Jazz Trumpeter Undergoes Surgery

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Al Hirt, the New Orleans jazz trumpeter, has undergone abdominal surgery at the Medical College of Virginia.

A hospital spokesman said the 50-year-old Hirt's condition Wednesday was satisfactory.

Hirt entered the hospital last week for tests.

Tigers Host Seminole Here Friday

The Snyder Tigers open the 1972 baseball season at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the Towle Park diamond with the Seminole Indians providing the opposition.

The two teams also tangle in a doubleheader in Seminole beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Speedy Moffett of the Tigers said probable starters, according to batting order, are Tommy Washington ss, Marvin McClanahan 3b, Butch Buchanan cf, David Thompson lf, Albert Hernandez rf, James Hood 2b, Scotty Sullivan 1b, Louis Loyd c, and Tim Holder p.

"I don't know anything about Seminole," said Coach Moffett. Moffett said he would start either Jackie Murray or Larry Braziel on the mound in Saturday's game. The other hurler will work the second game.

"We'll also have several changes in the lineup for the doubleheader," he said.

Goodrich, LA Nip Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The man who once wasn't wanted now has the Los Angeles Lakers wanting for nothing.

Gail Goodrich, once dismissed in the expansion draft, has been one of the National Basketball Association's standout guards since coming back to the team in a trade two seasons ago.

And Wednesday night, the dynamic, little player was a star again with a field goal at the four-second mark to give Los Angeles a 109-108 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

Goodrich's heroics came shortly after Wilt Chamberlain missed three straight free throws with the Bucks ahead 108-107.

The third toss rimmed the basket, Happy Hairston snared the rebound and fed Goodrich, who delivered the winning goal from 15 feet out.

In the night's other NBA games, it was: Boston 115, Cleveland 105; Seattle 116, Detroit 102; Baltimore 95, Phoenix 90; Philadelphia 108, Buffalo 99 and Houston 108, Cincinnati 96.

Los Angeles had to wipe out a five-point Milwaukee lead in the last 95 seconds.

The Lakers fell behind 108-103 on a shot by Oscar Robertson. Jerry West, who led the winners with 28 points, pulled the Lakers within three on a field goal.

Then Milwaukee's Lucius Allen missed two free throws and Hairston connected to narrow the deficit to 108-107.

John Havlicek led a third-period explosion with 15 points to help Boston win its fourth straight game. The Celtics, who led 53-47 at halftime, scored 39 points in the period and pulled away to an easy victory.

Spencer Haywood and player-coach Len Wilkens teamed to give streaking Seattle its 11th victory in 12 games, lifting the SuperSonics into second place in the Pacific Division. Wilkens wound up with 28 points and Haywood, 27.

Archie Clark scored 14 of his 20 points in the second half as Baltimore rallied to defeat Phoenix. The Bullets were down 56-44 at halftime.

Bob Rule's 20 points led Philadelphia's balanced scoring attack. The center was one of seven 76ers in double figures.

Houston got 26-point performances from Elvin Hayes and Stu Lantz. The Rockets outrebounded the smaller Royals, 65-45.

Little Dribblers 1972 Season Begins Tonight

The Snyder Little Dribblers begin their basketball season tonight. All games will be played in the Boys' Club gym. Owls Sign More Out-Of-Staters

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University has increased to 41 the number of high school football players signed to letters of intent with the university.

The latest signees are three out-of-state prospects signed Wednesday. They were Mike McGuire, a 6-5, 210-pound tight end from Malabar High School of Mansfield, Ohio; Bob Simpson, a 6-4, 238-pound defensive tackle, and Art Burns, a 6-2, 218-pound linebacker, both from Arapahoe High School of Littleton, Colo.

Duke's 1972 football team will have 22 lettermen, including 11 starters from the 1971 team that posted a 6-5 record.

Orioles Have Eight Holdouts

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Okay, let's go all you infielders and outfielders—all two of us," joked shortstop Mark Belanger as the Baltimore Orioles held what was supposed to be their first full-squad workout at Miami Wednesday.

Belanger was joking about the paucity of players in the training camp of the American League champion Orioles, who held their first workout without six regulars, a minor league star and a 20-game winning pitcher.

Frank Cashen Baltimore's new general manager, said it would take about $500,000 to bring those eight players—Boog Powell, Dave Johnson, Brooks Robinson, Paul Blair, Don Buford, Merv Rettenmund, Bobby Grich and Mike Cuellar—into the fold.

He spent a large chunk of that half-million, about $110,000, to sign Robinson Tuesday, but the veteran third baseman was not in camp for the opening workout. The seven others remain unsigned.

Why so many holdouts at Baltimore? Some factors are the presence of agents to help players in their negotiations, the departure of Frank Robinson and his $130,000 salary and the presence of Cashen, in his first negotiation season since taking over from Harry Dalton as general manager.

Winning the American League pennant the past three seasons has had its effect, too.

In the National League, one team with a major holdout problem is the St. Louis Cardinals. Seven players are missing, including pitchers Jerry Reuss and Santiago Guzman, outfielder Matty Alou, catcher Ted Simmons and third baseman Joe Torren the National League's Most Valuable Player last season.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Expos were still without two of their top veterans, pitcher Carl Morton and outfielder Rusty Staub. Morton was in camp in West Palm Beach, Staub was out of camp in Houston—but both were unsigned.

Willie Montanez, runnerup for National League rookie-of-the-year honors last season, was still unsigned by the Philadelphia Phillies. He says he's going to bring an agent to camp to help negotiate with general manager John Quinn.

On the other hand, outfielder Rick Reichardt signed with the Chicago White Sox, outfielder Bernie Carbo came to terms with Cincinnati and Atlanta signed third baseman Darrell Evans and outfielder Dusty Baker.

Concepts Vary On 'Central Market System'

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Just what is the meaning of "the central market system" for securities trading, as stated in a recent Securities and Exchange Commission report on restructuring the market place?

Does it mean that some of the best known institutions in America, such as the New York Stock Exchange, the Midwest Exchange and the Pacific Exchange should cease to exist?

Some people, including an SEC commissioner, think it does. If this is to be so, that report, "On the future structure of the securities markets," is a more striking document than is appreciated.

Or does it mean a loose federation of autonomous exchanges sharing a national market that will permit investors to benefit from broader, more open trading that will be clearly reported on one all—inclusive tape?

The latter seems to be closer to the interpretation of the institutions, including the NYSE. In fact, they already have been meeting in Washington toward that end, although a participant states that the meetings so far are "not very productive."

Nevertheless, James J. Needham, an SEC commissioner, sees the market restructuring as leading almost inevitably to a situation in which:

"All existing exchange organizations would be combined into a stock corporation. The shares of the new corporation would be issued to all members of exchanges prorata based on the respective values of their seats.

"Simultaneously, the existing exchange organizations would transfer their net assets and operational and self-regulatory responsibilities to the new corporation. ..."

And what then? " ... and go out of existence."

Needham expressed these personal views a year ago before the American Management Association's conference on "financial imperatives for the '70s."

Asked if he still believes that way, the commissioner said he not only did but would repeat his views in another speech this week.

Exchange staffs, he said don't appear to be appreciating the full significance of the coming restructuring. "They have to stop thinking like members of the American or New York Stock Exchange. That's past."

Ex-Aggies Are Generous Givers

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University former students have almost $600,000 during 1971 to aid student scholarships, faculty and academic departments.

The Association of Former Students Office reported its annual fund drive for 1971 resulted in $1.1 million from more than 20,000 former students.

Per capita giving was $52, the report showed.

Men Taking Home Ec Courses

WACO, Tex. (AP) — While some liberated women shun the kitchen and a domestic life style, six male students at Baylor University recently have developed such domestic tendencies as entering the Baylor Home Economics Annex with a copy of "Food for the Family" in one hand and a white apron in the other.

These apparently misplaced students are not male chauvinists in disguise or marriage-minded males browsing through the home economics department for a likely dishwasher or housekeeper.

The men are apartment dwellers, who, in order to acquire some basic culinary skills, enrolled in Family Meal Management 160, a cooking course for students not majoring in home economics.

Mrs. A. Launa Morrow, assistant home economics profssor at Baylor, teaches two classes of family meal management each week. One class meets for lecture on Mondays and Wednesdays, and actually prepares foods in the department kitchen on Fridays. The other class meets for lecture on Tuesday afternoons and cooks on Thursdays. About 34 students are enrolled in the two classes.

"Some of the men say they enroll in the course 'just for survival' because they have to cook in their apartments," Mrs. Morrow said.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENGLISH WIGS

QUESTION: Do some English still wear white wigs?

ANSWER: Hair styles have changed through the years from long hair to short hair styles for both men and women. Sometimes, in order to enhance the appearance of the long hair style, wigs were used. Egyptian mummies have been found with wigs, and the Greeks and Romans favored them. In the 1700s, the French set the fashion of wearing powdered white wigs. Nobles, ministers, judges, doctors, professional men and ladies of the court wore them. In Colonial America, powdered wigs were popular. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and others wore them.

The English lawyers and judges started wearing white wigs in the time of Queen Anne, who reigned in the 17th century. The English hold to this tradition for court procedure today. The English have always cherished an association with the past. The ceremonies connected with English royalty date to early times, also the procedures in the House of Commons and House of Lords originated in the Middle Ages.

ERA Gets Contract

Austin, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has announced that Economics Research Associates, a consulting firm with offices in Arlington, has been awarded a $65,000 contract to analyze present and future demand for air cargo transportation in Texas.

This phase of work will be part of the Texas Airport Systems Plan.

The consultants will provide estimates of present air cargo movements in the state and assess the impact of air cargo technology as it may affect present freight distribution patterns for commodities produced and consumed in Texas.

Othe major elements of the study are to provide forecasts of air cargo demand, relating them to aircraft operations in the state, and to formulate support policy for the promotion of air cargo service for Texas.

The study is expected to be completed in June 1972.

Remarks Doc's Wife Tires Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that every doctor's wife gets tired of hearing:

"I hate to call you at home, but would you mind waking up your husband and ask him what to do about my husband's hiccups? They're keeping me awake."

"Is that a new mink coat you're wearing?"

"Oh, you lucky woman. I certainly envy you. I think your husband is the most adorable man on earth."

'Does your husband tell you everything about his patients? I hope not in my case."

"What's Dr. Uptight's bedside manner like when it's his own bedside?"

"Helene, you knew what a doctor's wife's life would be like when you married me. After all, you were a nurse for four years."

"Helene, why are you so insanely jealous of my female patients? I don't even know the color of that woman's eyes. The only thing about her that interests me is her left kidney, and I'm getting pretty bored with that."

"I hate to botner you at home, but my son just swallowed his top."

"Would your husband be annoyed if I tried to reach him at the country club? He seems to spend more time there than at his office."

"With so much flu around I guess you and Vernon will be able to afford a winter as well as a summer vacation this year."

"So you're the little girl who married Dr. Vernon Uptight. I always wondered what he'd fall for."

"Dearie, your husband keeps telling me there's nothing wrong with my bladder, but I think he's just trying to bolster my ego or something. Could you ask him what's really wrong with my bladder, and let me know confidentially?"

"Your husband is only an internist. Mine's a surgeon. They're much harder to live with."

"Woman to woman, could you ask your husband whether my husband made any remarks about me when he talked to your husband this morning?"

"Don't you worry a little bit about the possibility of him bringing home some kind of strange disease sometime?"

"I hate to call you at home, but my husband and I had a small quarrel, and now his nose is bleeding and—"

Nixon, Chou Discusses Peace Prospects, POWs

Editor's Note: The author of the following report is chief AP White House correspondent and accompanied President Nixon on his China trip.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon talked to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai while in Peking last week about Vietnam peace prospects and possible freedom for American prisoners of war, an administration source says.

The source chatted with reporters Wednesday only on condition that he not be named. But the Boston Globe, which did not attend the briefing, identified the official as Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief national security adviser.

The official was asked if Nixon and other Americans had sought the good offices of the Chinese in helping resolve Vietnam problems, including the POW question.

He replied that the Americans stated their point of view. Asked if the Chinese said nothing on the topics, the source declined to discuss the subject further.

The source suggested there will be a public announcement within two or three weeks about Chinese-American agreement on a third country where they will establish continuing diplomatic contact far short of formal state relations.

The third country, he emphasized will not be Poland, where American and Chinese representatives have met periodically for a number of years. There has been speculation that Canada would be the prime choice.

Actually, the official said, there is little of overwhelming significance that is likely to be accomplished immediately.

However, he emphasized, Americans expect the third-country contact point to be very active, particularly as an avenue for carrying out people-to-people exchanges in science, technology, culture, sports, and journalism which both Nixon and Chou promised to facilitate in their Sunday communique issued in Shanghai.

The third-country channel also is expected to be used to promote trade between the two nations.

The communique said the United States and China will keep in close touch through various channels. These will include occasionally sending senior U.S. representatives to Peking "for concrete consultations to further the normalization of relations between the two countries."

This was described by the official as an option for the conduct of serious business. He suggested that from time to time there may be points when further progress in breaking down 21-year-old barriers can only be accomplished by direct talks with Chou and other Peking officials.

The official, reflecting administration worry that a significant segment of the voting public might be less than enthusiastic about the Nixon-Chou Shanghai declaration, said that if Sino-American relations should take a turn for the worse—perhaps through death in the aging top leadership ranks in Peking—Nixon would have given up nothing.

The administration is particularly sensitive to domestic reaction relating to the future of Taiwan.

The official noted that in the communique on the current stronghold of the National Chinese, the mainlanders did not include their traditional denunciation of the U.S. treaty commitment to Taiwan.

In view of that, he said, Nixon and his associates, felt no need to reaffirm the longstanding commitment in the joint statement.

He pictured the Americans as being eager to state their views in positive rather than negative ways, knowing the communique would be published widely throughout the mainland, and anxious to avoid buttressing the Communist government's cold-war picture of the United States as a belligerant capitalist power.

The informant said Chou and his associates were taking domestic political risks of their own by abruptly welcoming Nixon. He said that in the past they had pictured the President as the devil incarnate but, were prepared to join with him in a declaration of peaceful coexistence.

He said the turnabout produced a significant emotional upheaval in China.

The Chinese, the source said, were particularly anxious for the coexistence statement, ranking it second only to the divergent American and Chinese declarations of attitudes toward Taiwan.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Are tax rates any lower for single people this year?

A — Yes. The lower tax rates for single persons are reflected in the tax tables and tax rate schedules in the instructions for your 1971 Federal income tax return.

Q — I know that the proceeds of a life insurance policy received upon death generally are not taxable, but what about the lump sum I receive when I cash in my policy? Is that also tax exempt?

A — If you surrender your life insurance policy for a lump sum, you must include in income only that portion of the proceeds of the policy in excess of what you paid for it.

Q — I have two jobs. Can I deduct transportation expenses between one place of work and the other?

A — If you work at two places in a day, whether or not for the same employer, you may deduct the expense of getting from one place to the other. However, if for some personal reason you do not go directly from one location to the other, you may deduct only the amount it would have cost you to go directly from one location to the second. Transportation expenses incurred in going to and from a part-time Saturday job are commuting expenses and nondeductible.

Q — My son earned over $2,000 from a summer job last year but banked most of it. Do I count the earnings he saved as support furnished by my son when figuring out whether I can claim him as a dependent?

A — Income not spent by your son does not have to be counted towards his support. However, if your son spends part of his 1971 savings this year on support items, that amount counts toward support for 1972.

Q — If I pay someone to fill out my tax return, is he responsible for any mistakes?

A — If you are not going to prepare your own return, you are still responsible for the accuracy of every item entered on your return. Therefore, you should exercise the utmost care in choosing as a preparer one who is both knowledgeable in tax matters and scrupulous in preparing a complete and accurate return.

Q — Are there any penalties for a tax preparer who sells information from a person's Federal income tax return?

A) Yes. The Revenue Act of 1971 made it a misdemeanor for any person engaged in the business of preparing tax returns, or providing services in connection with such a business or for any person who receives compensation for filling out a return to disclose Federal tax return information or use it for any purpose other than to assist in preparing the return. Violations may be punished with a $1,000 fine or a year in prison or both.

Q — What are the most common mistakes that might delay a tax refund?

A — Some of the most common errors that may delay a refund include: failure to use the label that came with your tax return package; failure to attach all Forms W-2 and other required statements and schedules; incorrect or missing social security numbers; mathematical errors; using the wrong tax table, line or column; and missing signatures.

Home Ownership Gives Many Tax Deductions

(Editors: Following is the fourth in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1971 tax returns.)

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — At no time is the joy of home ownership greater than when you sit down to fill out your federal income tax return.

It may be a mortgaged castle, but it is a gold mine of tax deductions, enabling the homeowner to join the happy club of Americans who can itemize their deductions.

Those who rent their place to live can't begin to match the deductions in interest and taxes, primarily. Rent isn't deductible. The interest paid on monthly mortgage payments is. Usually, just by claims on a residence, a taxpayer can beat the standard deduction.

Real estate taxes and some other state and local taxes are deductible.

For the new homeowner just beginning to pay on his mortgage, the advantage is greater because the interest paid in the early years is much higher. It is one compensation for being stuck with high mortgage interest.

If you bought a house in 1971 and were forced, as part of the sale, to pay "points," the one-time charge a seller usually pays, it is deductible as interest as long as it is not payment for specific services a lender performs for your account.

Condominium apartment owners may deduct the interest they paid on the mortgage debt of the project that is allocable to their share of the property.

In addition to interest and taxes, there are dozens of other deductible items related to your home that can help shave taxable income.

For example, many owners can claim deductions for casualty and theft losses. If your residence was damaged by fire or a burglar took jewelry from your home, you can claim a deduction for casualty or theft. But they're only deductible to the extent they exceed $100 after subtracting insurance payments, if any. That $100 figure must be applied to each such event involving loss. You cannot bunch a group of small losses together and treat them as one. If a hurricane or tornado did heavy damage to your home, it would be a good idea to order appropriate IRS publications to read up on the amounts you can claim.

If you are required, as a condition of your employment, to use your home as a place of business, you may deduct a reasonable percentage of home maintainance costs such as heat, light, cleaning and decorating bills, as well as depreciation. The IRS, however, watches such deductions closely. Key to the interpretation is using the home "as a condition of your employment."

Home repairs normally aren't deductible, unless you have to use your home for business or rental purposes. But there are times when fixing up the house can be an advantage for income tax purposes.

If you decided to move last year and hired someone to paint your house or fix it up to get a better price, you may be able to adjust the sales price of your home. These expenses may be subtracted from the sales price to get the "adjusted sales price."

The adjusted sales price is then compared with the purchase price of your new home to find out how much gain may be postponed and not taxed currently.

Before fixing-up expenses can be considered repairs they must be made within 90 days before the sales contract is signed, must be paid within 30 days after the sale, be nondeductible and not be improvements.

Although most sellers get more for their homes than they paid, this doesn't always mean you have to pay taxes on the profit. The test is whether you buy another home that costs at least as much as you sold your old home for within a year before or after the sale.

Volunteer Army Will Cost More

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is heading for an all-volunteer military force with the fewest men in nearly a quarter century and a cost at least $12 billion higher than before the Vietnam war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says no one can guarantee that higher pay and other new incentives "will suffice to satisfy the need for manpower, without resort to the draft."

But while there are uncertainties, Defense planners aim at ending the draft by mid-1973 and relying on volunteers from then on.

En route to this goal, Laird announced Wednesday he hopes to cut the draft to 50,000 men this year, lowest since 1949 when 9,781 were inducted.

At the same time, Laird said he may need to ask for congressional authority to draft men into the National Guard and reserves as a last resort. But he will propose a number of incentives to avoid this.

The number of men in uniform will level off at 2,358,000 by the mid-1973 date, under President Nixon's new defense budget.

An analysis of Nixon's budget shows the cost of major military "people" items will total about $27 billion in fiscal 1973. Back in fiscal 1965, the annual bill for pay and allowances, medical care, housing etc., came to about $15 billion for a force of 2,655,000 men.

Thus, just before the United States plunged deeply into the Vietnam ground war, it cost about $12 billion less to pay the "people costs" of a military establishment with nearly 300,000 men more than planned for post-Vietnam.

Some of that increased cost is attributable to inflation and salary boosts that would have been voted anyway. But much of the rise is directly traceable to the Nixon administration's drive for an all-volunteer force.

According to administration theory, the government can attract enough volunteers to military service if:

—Pay is brought more in line with civilian scales;

—The quality of service life is improved by eliminating irritants and expanding fringe benefits, and —The country will accord uniformed men respect.

But many senior military officers contend the draft is indispensable, if only to spur young men into volunteering.

INVESTIGATORS SAY

Tanks Exploded On C. A. Fogg

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A series of cargo tanks aboard the tanker V. A. Fogg exploded like "a string of firecrackers" with blasts strong enough to blow out both sides of the vessel and send it plunging downward in the Gulf of Mexico it was stated Wednesday.

A source familiar with the evidence to be presented at a Coast Guard hearing here said it will show that a chain reaction of explosions almost instantly robbed the Fogg of buoyancy and dropped it underwater within seconds.

Thirty-nine men lost their lives aboard the Fogg Feb. 1 when it sank without a cry for help about 50 miles offshore.

An official at the hearing, who asked not to be named, said the outboard tanks of the ship blew up first and collapsed the center tanks.

"The force of the explosion was such that it curled one-inch steel plates around one of the lifeboats," he said.

Evidence on the force, location and destructiveness of the explosions is expected to be presented during the five to seven days of testimony still scheduled in the detailed hearing.

Wednesday's session began with a replay of film taken of the wrecked tanker by a television cameraman and diver, Rick Armstrong of Channel 13 in Houston.

The film showed buckled seams, gaping holes and large pipes twisted like spaghetti.

In a tape-recorded presentation, Armstrong said one-inch thick steel plates were "ripped a part like they were pieces of paper." After seeing the destruction, he said, he could understand why there were no survivors.

The only witness Wednesday was Coast Guard Capt. H. M. Willis of New Orleans, who commanded an 11-day search and rescue effort which failed to find the sunken ship.

Willis said the search used airplanes, helicopters and surface vessels which combed thousands of miles of the Gulf without locating the Fogg.

Finally, on Feb. 13, a private vessel hired by owners of the Fogg located the ship using a side-scanning radar device.

Divers swam down to the ship next day and positively identified it as the Fogg.

The Fogg sank in 90 feet of water and only about two feet of its radar mast are visible above water.

The tanker was en route to Houston from Freeport, Tex., when it disappeared. It had delivered a load of benzene, a highly combustible chemical, to a dock in Freeport Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

The Fogg was scheduled to clean its tanks of residuals from the chemical during the short cruise to Houston. The explosion is thought to have occurred while the cleaning operation was in progress.

Queen Questions 'Heads'

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II looked at the row of shrunken heads tied to the ceiling and asked her host:

"Does any of this still go on?"

It does not, he assured her.

The heads were on exhibit at the Sarawak Museum, the queen's second stop on her six-hour visit to the Malaysian Borneo State that the white rajahs used to rule.

Princess Anne took a closer look, and her father, Prince Philip, seemed fascinated.

The Brooke family of white rajahs suppressed headhunting among the Ibans and other tribes before World War II, but now and then a Japanese head was taken during the wartime occupation.

With parts of Sarawak still plagued by Communist guerrillas, security for the queen's visit was unobtrusive but firm. She rode in a Daimler imported for the occasion, and that was good news for Chief Minister Abdul Rahman Yakub. It now becomes his official car.

The royal family's visit started in a drizzling rain which turned into a pouring monsoon as soon as the queen started shaking hands during the welcoming ceremony in the center of Kuching.

A black umbrella and a larger ceremonial blue one were raised over the queen, and there was no curtailment of the program. "It doesn't really matter being a little wet, I think," she said as he bent over one little Malay girl. The child's mother grinned in agreement although they had been standing an hour in the rain.

Man Passes Out $100 Bills

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — An elderly man from Stockton, Calif., passed out several $100 bills to bystanders in a bus station, police said Wednesday.

A girl said she received $400.

Police delayed the bus, questioned the unidentified man and quoted him as saying:

"I have plenty ... and I don't need it any longer."

Ballard Denies Killing

ALPINE, Tex. (AP) — Witmer Jean Ballard denied Wednesday that he shot and killed Glasscock County rancher Stephen Currie, 71, during a robbery at the victim's home.

"I ain't never been on the Currie property," the 46-year-old defendant testified as he took the stand in his own defense.

Ballard told the jury he was at home in Odessa on Dec. 2, 1970, when Currie was slain.

The defense called special prosecutor Gil Jones of Big Spring to the stand and elicited the statement from him that he had made a loan of $200 to a prosecution witness.

Jones testified he loaned the sum to Henry Mounce of Odessa because Mounce feared for his life and wanted to leave Odessa. Jones told the jury he received a promissory note for the cash.

Summations were slated today, and the case was expected to reach the jury in the afternoon.

PAU Officials Before Grand Jury

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — More Pan American University officials were expected to appear today before the Hidalgo County grand jury.

No explanation has been made of what the grand jury is investigating. Three top officials of the university, five coeds and Edinburg Police Chief A. C. Gonzalez testified Wednesday.

Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis was with the grand jury most of the day Wednesday.

Those appearing Wednesday included university president Dr. Ralph Schilling, Dean of Women Mrs. Bonnie Powers and Dean of Men Lino Garcia, the five female students and Chief Gonzalez.

A university spokesman would not comment on Dr. Schilling's appearance before the grand jury.

The grand jury recessed for the day after Garcia appeared.

Off-Stage Edith Bunker Refuses To Be Stifled

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edith Bunker, America's No. 1 dingbat and browbeaten wife. Jean Stapleton, liberated woman. That unlikely pair meets and merges every week on "All in the Family."

Edith is blind to the world outside her living room, where she is an accessible target for Archie's male ego and chauvinism.

But Miss Stapleton, outside of her role as Edith, will not be stifled.

"I go along with women's liberation," she said. "I could never live that limited an existence. People should have a lot more resources than that.

"I think Archie's behavior and bigotry are terrible, but it needs to be brought out. Perhaps some family guilty of this behavior will see it and realize what's happening.

"I've heard criticism that children go out and repeat the ethnic slurs they hear on the show. I've seen no indication of that in my own children. They just laugh at Archie.

"I think when children repeat slurs it's because they heard parents or teachers use them."

Miss Stapleton's children are Pam, 12, and John 11.

Edith, by means of the top-rated CBS comedy, has turned Miss Stapleton into a celebrity and an Emmy-winning actress. It is doubtful that Edith would comprehend this or that she could understand a lifestyle where the stage is preferred to the kitchen.

Nevertheless, Miss Stapleton feels she could be friends with Edith, if there were such a person. In fact, she confesses, she knows many people with traces of Edith. She said, "There are a lot of dingbats in this world."

The theater is an integral part of Miss Stapleton's life. She has a long background in stock and on Broadway, where she appeared in such productions as "Juno," "Funny Girl" and "Come Back, Little Sheba." It was through the theater that she met and was courted by her husband, William H. "Bill" Putch.

Putch—it rhymes with Dutch—is producer-director of the Totem Pole Playhouse near Chambersburg, Pa., where the Putches and their two children will return in mid-March. Miss Stapleton will appear in three plays this summer.

Actually, there is little resemblance between Miss Stapleton and the weary, dowdy Edith Bunker, whose dresses are bought by a CBS costumer at a thrift shop. Past the sunny side of 40, Miss Stapleton is attractive, blue-eyed, has reddish-brown hair, and was fashionably attired in a burgundy jacket, a salt-and-pepper tweed maxiskirt, and a white turtleneck blouse during an interview.
