REGISTRATION IN GAS RATION PLAN STARTED

Factual Data Needed in Three-Day Sign-Up at County Schools for December 1 Prorating

Pre-requisite to county and nation wide gasoline rationing December 1 got underway today (Thursday), when owners of passenger automobiles began to register at county school houses for gasoline restrictions.

The county-wide registration of passenger automobiles will be conducted today (Thursday), Friday and Saturday at school houses of Scurry County—identical dates for registering elsewhere in the nation.

Representatives of Snyder and other Scurry County school districts obtained OPA registration forms Wednesday afternoon for the triple-day sign-up.

Giles Bowers, general chairman of the county war price and ration board, states the OPA registration blanks will be simple to fill out. Motorists must give clear-cut, accurate statements when registering either of the three days for their basic A ration books.

All applications for supplementary gasoline supplies should be filed with the county war price and ration board after this week-end.

Here's some summarized advice for owners of gasoline propelled vehicles that will be of interest to all Scurry County people:

All farmers who fill our applications for gasoline to operate tractors and other farm engines, should file their applications after Saturday with the county ration board.

Operators of trucks and other commercial vehicles who went through the Office of Defense Transportation to get Certificates of War Necessity must bring their certificates and application for transport mileage to the county ration board after Saturday.

C. of C. Membership Drive Adding New Names to Roster

"Kick-off" breakfast Tuesday morning, 7:30 o'clock, at the Manhattan Hotel, provided the opening signal for the annual membership drive of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce, which gained sharp momentum Tuesday and Wednesday.

Chamber of Commerce officials reported Wednesday that a number of new members are being added to the civic organization's rolls, and that considerable enthusiasm is being shown in the CC as a community, city and county builder.

Chamber of Commerce officials state the organization has reached its first objective in helping sponsor the county-wide scrap metals salvage drive in October, by cooperating 100 per cent in sales of war bonds and stamps, and in boosting projects which will promote the welfare and development of Snyder and Scurry County.

Official Ginnings for County Still Top 1941

The report showed that 14,177 bales of cotton were ginned in Scurry County prior to November 1, 1941.

Cotton ginnings in Scurry and nearby counties prior to November 1 for the two years follow:

Defense Council Chairman Makes Statement About County Scrap Drive and Handling of Metal Piles

Due to the fact there has been considerable confusion, misunderstanding and grumbling on the part of unthinking Scurry County folks about the handling of scrap metals, A. B. (Boss) Baze, chairman of the Scurry County Defense Council, issues the following statement to clear the entire situation:

"The one and only object in collecting scrap metals in Scurry County October 22 was to furnish materials for our steel mills to make guns, tanks, airplanes, ships and other munitions of war.

"Without the scrap metals, scrap rubber and other materials, it would be impossible to win this war against the most ruthless gang of cut-throats and blood crazy gangsters the world has ever known. One old cultivator or tub that was donated might spell the difference between victory and defeat in a decisive battle.

"Now here are the facts in the case. The federal government has asked the defense council in each county to gather this scrap and they directed that it be handled through local scrap dealers. They directed that these scrap dealers be given a fair wage or profit for handling the scrap, for that is the only way it can be handled. This scrap must be sorted, graded and separated into various classifications. It must be cut in proper length and loaded on cars in lots, according to classification.

"No individual or group of business men has the equipment to do this work even though they would gladly give their time. The federal government needs this scrap now and it must be classified and graded and properly loaded. For that reason only the scrap gathered in this county was turned over to the local scrap dealers to handle.

"It was the order of our government that it be so handled and I, as chairman of the defense council in this county, have no patience with any man or woman who deliberately goes around aching about the little profit these dealers get out of it when time saved by this method may mean the saving of thousands of lives of the greatest group of boys in the world—our boys. Even if the time saved by proper handling and classification means the saving of one life, it is worth more than all the scrap in the world, yes all the money in the world. You will agree with me, especially if that boy lost because of the delay is your boy.

"I am writing this in a spirit of kindness but at the same time I have no apology to make to any so-called American who, after thinking this thing through and realizing that we are following instructions of our government set up to get the materials moving at the earliest possible moment, who still insists in bowing down to the murderers of Axis powers and playing into their hands by eternal griping and grumbling. Let us all get together, quit grumbling and win this war for our boys, for our children and our children's children—yes, for America and her way of life.

"When we stay at home and grumble and ache and complain about the method any of this work is done, we are doing exactly the thing Hitler, Hiro Hito and Mussolini want us to do. In other words, we are just as guilty as they are because our hindrance to the war effort helps them to kill just that many more precious boys who would otherwise come home to you fathers and mothers of Scurry County," Baze concludes.

Zone Meeting of Lions Set Tonight At Snyder Hotel

Lions and their ladies of the Snyder, Lamesa and Post clubs will assemble this (Thursday) evening, 8:00 o'clock, at the Manhattan Hotel for a quarterly zone meeting that will assume the form of a banquet.

Lyle Deffebach, president of the host Snyder club, states Pat Bullock, 24th District senator, will act as master of ceremonies.

The zone meeting will replace the canceled Tuesday club meeting of the local club for this week.

Program for the zone meeting and ladies' night that will be staged in conjunction, follows: "America," group singing; invocation, Rev. I. A. Smith, Snyder Methodist pastor; group sing song, directed by E. O. Wedgeworth; violin solo, Mrs. Marjory Noel; O'Henry's "Ransom of the Red Chief," Mrs. Charles Manning; vocal solo, "White Christmas," Jettie D. Elkins; and the entertainment feature of the evening, showing of the recent county-wide scrap metals salvage drive in technicolor by Dr. T. M. Howie, who took the motion pictures of the campaign.

Principal address of the evening will be given by Hon. George Thompson of Sweetwater, who is well known in this trade area as an after-dinner speaker. Group singing of "God Bless America" will conclude the zone meet festivities.

$16,929 More in Soil Checks Arrives Here

Receipt of $16,929.78 in 1942 soil conservation checks being mailed Scurry County producers was acknowledged Wednesday by the county Agricultural Adjustment Administration office.

The batch of 1942 soil conservation payments mailed Wednesday and today (Thursday) to county farmers represents 100 checks, the county AAA office reports.

Payments mailed out this week from the state AAA office, plus the $15,923.24 previously sent farmers, make a grand total of $32,853.02 received so far by Scurry County in federal payments.

Attaches at the county Triple A office point out that 1942 soil conservation checks will be mailed directly to farmers, and will not go through the county AAA office.

Legion Membership Drive Nets 93 Signers

Recent membership campaign sponsored by the Will Layne American Legion Post No. 181 netted a total of 93 memberships, compared with a quota of 95 members, Simon Best, chairman of the Legion's recruiting committee, announces.

Legion post officials wish to express their thanks to Best for his efforts in recruiting new members, and promise those signed that the Legion will bend every effort to be of service, and will cooperate 100 per cent with the government in movements necessary to win the war.

Community Salvage Party for Plainview

Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent, announces a community-wide salvage party will be staged Tuesday evening, December 15, at Plainview School, to which all women of the community will be invited.

Women of the Plainview community will be asked to bring to the party all discarded pairs of silk and nylon hosiery, used tin cans and waste fats.

Flag at C. of C.

The United States flag will fly each day in front of the Chamber of Commerce building, thanks to Mrs. Inez Brown.

Mrs. Brown presented the Chamber of Commerce this week with a five by nine-foot wool American flag, which was presented to her for heroic action of her husband in World War 1.

Wool flags are exceptionally scarce now, and the Chamber of Commerce wishes to express publicly thanks to Mrs. Brown for her contribution.

Fluvanna Flyer Downed in Flight On Huge Bomber

Second Lieutenant J. C. Landrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Landrum of the Fluvanna community, has been missing in action since November 8, Mr. and Mrs. Landrum were informed Monday.

J. C., the first Fluvanna community youth to be reported missing since the war began, was a bombardier of a flying fortress crew, and had been, with his crew members, making raids on France.

The Landrum boy finished Fluvanna High School in 1936, and attended Texas Tech College, Lubbock, three and one-half years.

Word that the Fluvanna community young man was missing in action was announced by the commanding general of the Western European area.

J. C. received his wings last June at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and had been stationed "somewhere in England" the past two months.

Word that J. C. has been placed among the "missing in action" constituted one of the quickest communications yet received by any family in this trade area from foreign duty.

Snyder Stores to Be Hose Salvage Depots

Estella Rabel, county chairman of used hosiery collections for the War Production Board, reported Tuesday that all Snyder dry goods firms have been designated collection depots for used silk and nylon stockings.

Miss Rebel asks that Snyder and Scurry County women donate used washed hosiery containing silk or nylon. Mixtures of nylon, silk, rayon and cotton will be acceptable, and WPB officials hope contributions will be made immediate. The silk and nylon are needed, urgently, for making powder bags to carry explosive charges for big caliber guns.

Old Thanksgiving to Be Observed in City

Following traditional custom of former years, virtually all Snyder business firms and stores will be closed next Thursday, November 26, in observance of the traditional American Thanksgiving Day.

President Roosevelt decreed early in 1942 that America go back to observance of the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving, after last year's earlier date failed to prove popular.

Employees of Snyder business firms are planning on a "final" visit with relatives and friends in various parts of this trade area before gasoline rationing goes into effect December 1.

Fire Does $10,000 Damage to Baled Cotton in Storage

Fire loss of $10,000 was marked up last Thursday afternoon, when fire of undetermined origin damaged 181 bales of cotton northwest of the Snyder cotton warehouse. The fire broke out at 2:30 o'clock near the west end of bales of cottons rowed west to east. Fanned by a strong southwest wind, the flames spread through cotton bales in only a few seconds.

Members of Snyder's volunteer fire department who answered the call battled the cotton fire well into the night. Spots of fire were still evident in the damaged bales as late as Saturday.

R. L. Terry, public weigher, who gave the estimate on the loss, says the burned cotton was insured, and adjustment is expected to be made in the near future.

The fire constituted the first cotton fire for Scurry County this year, and one of the most disastrous in a number of years.

S. L. Terry Named County AAA Head For 1943 Season

Naming of the Scurry County AAA committee for 1943 was announced Wednesday at the county convention of Scurry County community representatives. The convention was held in the office of Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent.

S. L. Terry of the Ennis Creek community was named chairman of the county AAA committee for the ensuing year, J. J. Henry of the Hermleigh community vice chairman, and J. B. Adams of Union, member.

C. A. Wade of the Ennis Creek community was named first alternate, and R. B. Woody of Pleasant Hill second alternate.

Personnel of the county's 1943 AAA committee, and Johnnie M. Ammons, county AAA administrative officer, will attend a district Triple A meeting in Big Spring Friday, at which time details of the 1943 government program will be discussed.

Autry Renamed Fire Chief for 16th Year

N. W. Autry, who has served 15 years as chief of Snyder's volunteer fire department, was unanimously renamed last Thursday evening to head the fireman's organization for the 16th year.

Doc Bynum was named assistant fire chief and the following officers were named for the ensuing year: C. M. Boren, president; Roy J. Porter, vice president, Fred Jones, secretary, and Rev. Hubert C. Travis, renamed chaplain.

Members of the department gave Autry a vote of thanks and confidence for his steady devotion to the department, through the years, and to welfare of fire department membership. Victor Baze was elevated from an auxiliaryman to a substitute fireman.

School Bids Opened By Hermleigh Board

Members of the Hermleigh School Board met Wednesday evening at Hermleigh School to review bids for Hermleigh's new school plant, according to A. C. Bishop Jr., school superintendent.

Results of Wednesday evening's school board meeting were not available as The Times went to press this (Thursday) morning.

Here Are Steps For Car Owner in Rationing Plan

As an average Scurry County automobile owner, wouldn't you like to know the three essential things which must be done today (Thursday), Friday and Saturday when you register for gasoline rationing?

For your information, W. H. Cauble, speaking for Scurry County's war price and ration board, lists the things which must be done when registering for gasoline rationing as follows:

Each automobile owner must sign his own OPA registration blank. This must be done, whether the car owner is in the armed services, or is a civilian. Wives cannot sign the registration forms for their husbands.

Each automobile owner must have his license registration certificate with him when he registers. This is an absolute "must." Certificates of title, showing automobile ownership, will not be accepted by registrars. In other words, each car registered must be shown to be in "current" operation, and must have a "current" license receipt to show for same.

When he registers for gasoline rationing, each automobile owner must list the serial numbers of all five tires (including a spare) for his vehicle, or if the serial numbers are gone must list the name of the tires and size.

Motorists who comply with the above listed three essentials can help school district registrars with the county and nation-wide sign-up for gasoline rationing. Every minute saved in registering an automobile owner will speed up registration work in general, and will be warmly appreciated by the county's gasoline rationing board, the county war price and ration office, and by the school teachers who will conduct the registration.

Bond and Stamp Sales Are $31,649 Short of Quota

Scurry County bond and stamp sales for 1942, to date, through Tuesday noon, stood at the $339,950.21 mark, members of the Scurry County war bond and stamp sales committee report.

Total sales so far this year leave the county $31,649.79 short of its assessed $371,600 goal set by the government.

Personnel of the county war bond and stamp sales committee express the opinion that bond and stamp sales will pick up sharply between now and Christmas.

Farmers are winding up their 1942 cotton crop, and will have some extra money for buying bonds and stamps, and a number of ranchers are shipping cattle and sheep to market.

Bond sale representatives say a little more "push" in bond and stamp buying wil push Scurry County over the hill on its 1942 quota. What do you say, Mr. and Mrs. Scurry County? Can we make that bond and stamp sale quota by December 15? It'd be worth your best efforts to see that the job is done, bond and stamp sale committeemen point out.

Hobbs FFA Group Buys Fine Jersey Bull

Cleveland Littlepage, Hobbs High School vocational agriculture instructor, reports that the Hobbs Future Farmers of America chapter purchased this week a registered Jersey bull, Poppy You'll Do Laddie, 440058, from W. T. Berry Jr. of Fort Worth for a nice consideration.

The Hobbs chapter already has several registered Jersey calves sired by the bull, and to date have bred 20 Jersey cows to the animal.

Through the Hobbs Future Farmers of America chapter, a movement has been inaugurated to make the Western Fisher County community a Jersey center. Farmers of the community are rapidly falling in line for the plan, and are supporting FFA boys in obtaining registered animals.

Waste Fats Urgently Needed for Victory

Snyder and Scurry County women were reminded this week by the Office of Civilian Defense that the government is urgently in need of all waste household fats.

Housewives, when they accumulate one pound or more of waste fats, should take the greases to any grocery store in the county, where collection depots have been established. The stores will pay housewives for each pound of greases.

Due to the fact thousands of American soldiers are opening a second front in Europe, all waste fats obtainable will be needed to make explosives and help insure an Allied victory.

The quartet of Fowler boys are: Floyd, who was inducted this week; Private Milton Fowler, U. S, Army, at Camp Mott, California; Corporal Travis Fowler, U. S. Army, at Fort Brown, Brownsville, and Private Milan Fowler, who is attached to the U. S. Army Flying School at Lubbock.

The Fowlers have another son, Dick, who with his wife and two children reside at Tascosa. Their only daughter Bertha Fowler, is employed at the Cave Beauty Shop in Snyder.

Four other county families who each have four sons in military service are: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Knight, Hud community; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. King, Dunn; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Sneed, Fluvanna, and Rev. and Mrs. R. V. Tatom of Snyder.

Assembly of God to Begin Meet Nov. 21

An Assembly of God meeting is slated to begin in Snyder November 22, states Rev. D. B. Chaney, local pastor. The meeting is to be held by Rev. James Bailey of Ainsworth, Nebraska, with services at 7:30 each evening.

Special singing and music is arranged for the meeting, which will be conducted at 1809 Avenue S. The public is extended a cordial invitation.

Ginnings Pass 18,000 Bale Mark in County

Scurry County cotton ginnings for the 1942 season, to date, continue to climb slowly, but steadily. Total of 18,074 bales were reported through Wednesday noon.

A number of county farmers are still needing cotton pickers, and some report exceptionally good bolling for this time of the season.

Baptist Pastor

Rev. Roy Shahan, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Littlefield, for the past four and one-half years, Wednesday evening accepted the pastorate of Snyder's First Baptist Church for the ensuing year. Rev. Shahan replaces Rev. Vernon F. Shaw, who has accepted pastorate of the Memorial Baptist Church, Temple.

Plenty of Gas to Be Given Harvest Hands in County

Migratory harvest hands now in Scurry County can get all the gasoline they want to get home on, when cotton and feed crops are gathered.

So announced Scurry County's war price and ration board Wednesday, after a noticeable trend developed among cotton pickers and others to head for South Texas and the Rio Grande before "gas water" rationing goes into effect.

Giles Bowers, general chairman of the county's war price and ration board, states ample supplies of gasoline, as verified by the Office of Price Administration, will be available—even if gasoine rationing has gone into effect—to cotton pickers who have cars and trucks, and live some distance from this county.

During the past few days, a number of Mexican cotton pickers have left Scurry County cotton fields because they feared gasoline rationing would leave them stranded here. Such will not be the case, and farmers are asked to convey this information to their harvest hands.

Incidentally, a number of Scurry County people are making trades with Mexicans to remain with them for another year's crop. This will be necessary, it is declared, to relieve the acute farm labor shortage.

Decrease of Cotton Estimate Causes No Advance in Prices

"The decrease of 489,000 bales in the recent government crop estimate failed to cause any rise last week in the cotton market," the weekly cotton review issued by the agricultural marketing administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, reported Monday.

"Cotton price Friday in Dallas of 19.18 cents per pound, in fact, was 13 points lower than that of a week ago. Mill demand is slightly below that of last week, and according to reports mills have bought heavily and their storage facilities are strained.

"The crop reporting board's forecast of 13,329,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight was based on an estimated acreage for harvest of 23,273,000 acres — and an indicated yield of 274.9 pounds per acre.

"Shippers' demand remains firm for bright strict low middling fifteen-sixteenth inch staple, but offerings of this quality are very limited," the report concludes.

12-Year-Old Youth Leaves Rural Home

C. T. Simmons of Route 2 would certainly appreciate any information leading to the whereabouts of a run-away boy, 12-year-old James Wellington Bryan Simmons, who left Snyder Monday evening, 8:00 o'clock.

James Wellington has a coarse voice, is four feet and 11 inches tall, and weighs 95 pounds. He was wearing a summer straw work hat, gray shirt and khaki trousers when last seen here. Mr. Simmons will welcome any word as to the boy's location.

MONDAY FIRE BURNS PLANT TO ASH HEAPS

City's Principal Source of Payroll Consumed by Flames Despite Work of City Firemen

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Fuller Cotton Oil Company mill, located in Southeast Snyder, late Monday afternoon and marked up a loss of from $300,000 to $400,000.

Flames started Monday afternoon, 5:05 o'clock, in a seed house at the southeast portion of the mill, and swept by a southwest wind spread rapidly over most of the entire plant.

The fire loss was the greatest marked up in this immediate trade zone, and defied efforts of Snyder's volunteer fire department to conquer the roaring inferno of cottonseed, cottonseed cake and meal.

Only the lint and hull house, located on the northwest corner of the mill site, escaped the devastating fire.

A representative of the Sweetwater fire department arrived Monday evening, but he and Snyder firemen were handicapped in fighting the fire by having to string 1,500 feet of hose. The nearest fire plug was located four blocks northwest of the mill. The mill was just outside Snyder's city limits.

A. D. Erwin, president of Snyder National Bank and secretary-treasurer of the cotton oil company, was out of town on a deer hunt when the fire occurred. Harvey Shuler, bookkeeper, gave the estimate on the loss.

Insurance adjustors arrived Tuesday, and expressed the belief that a salvage crew could save several hundred tons of cottonseed. Members of the crew were busy Wednesday, despite the fact seed and cake still were burning.

Entire cottonseed shed of the oil mill was destroyed, as were the main office, press rooms, boiler room and the cottonseed crushing and cake making departments.

Fuller Cotton Oil mill was built in 1907, and had provided Snyder, through the years, with its biggest year-round payroll. From 60 to 70 men were employed at the institution. Products from the Snyder mill had a wide market.

It is understood Marshall Fuller of Fort Worth, president of a Fort Worth bank, Pie Fuller and A. D. Erwin are owners of the mill.

The group of large oil tanks which hold the finished cottonseed oil were considerably heated in the blaze, but did not explode.

Snyder firemen who answered the call Monday afternoon were released Monday night, 11:00 o'clock, by N. W. Autry, fire chief.

All furniture and records in the firm's main office building were saved, according to company officials.

Collection of $15,607.72 in state advalorem taxes for the past month was reported, and common school district collections amounted to $7,206.69.

Total of 324 poll taxes were issued during the month just past.

VA and Home Ec Teachers at Hobbs School Trade Jobs

An entirely new type of teaching experience is being tried out at Hobbs School, in Western Fisher County, where Cleveland Littlepage, vocational agriculture instructor, and Edith Ross, Hobbs home economics teacher, have traded places for a two-week period.

The Hobbs girls, under Littlepage's direction, are studying breeds of dairy cattle, testing milk and cream and poultry. Miss Ross is endeavoring to teach the boys a little etiquette, and admits it's a good sized job.

The girls, supervised by Littlepage, are making discoveries right along in testing milk and cream. They are learning to figure butter-fat content, and to determine which cows in a dairy herd are "star boarders."

RATIONING TO FIT NEEDS OF ALL SECTIONS

Leon Henderson Tells People of Oil-Producing Southwest That Plan Will Be Equitable

Leon Henderson, chief of the Office of Price Administration, this week promised people of Scurry and nearby counties that gasoline rationing would go into effect December 1, and declared that the petroleum industry of the Southwest must share the nation's conservation task.

At the same time, Henderson told Scurry County and oil operators that gasoline rationing would be tailored to fit sectional needs.

Here are Henderson's main points on the forthcoming rationing program:

"The rationing may result in a 4,000-mile average in some states," he said, "while other states may possibly average more than 5,000 miles a year per vehicle."

But, he insisted, "an applicant isn't going to get additional mileage rations because he lives in Dallas, or San Francisco, or New York. He is going to get it only because he needs to drive to the shipyard, or munitions plant and the basic book won't five him enough mileage.

"Or because he is a doctor who needs more mileage on his professional calls.

"Or because he is a farmer who needs more mileage to deliver his produce to market."

Texas must join other areas in gasoline rationing because the rubber motorists save is the rubber on which Allied armies ride to attack, Henderson said.

"It's the choice between an offensive and victory, or driving as usual," he said. "That is why, here in Texas, in the middle of the greatest gasoline producing area in the world, people aren't going to be able to drive as much and as far as they like."

Our rubber, he said, is attacking up and down the coast of Africa, carrying some of the finest fighting men in the world on their job of opening a second front.

"On the success of the mileage rationing program hangs part of our plan for winning this war in a reasonable length of time," he said.

He pleads with people of this trade area to recognize gasoline rationing as a plan for insuring transportation rather than a 'Rube Goldberg' contraption guaranteed to make people miserable."

Highway Workers Turn Firemen to Save City Home

Quick action Monday afternoon by two State Highway Department employees, A. R. Clardy and Howard Riggs, saved the four-room frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy McCowen of Southeast Snyder, while attention of firemen and civilians was attracted to the Fuller Cotton Oil Company fire.

Clardy and Riggs had completed their day's work Monday on Highway 101, between Snyder and Dunn, and had started to town when they noticed black smoke rolling up from the oil mill. When they left Highway 15, in the east edge of Snyder, and turned south to reach the oil mill fire, they noticed the roof of the McCowen home, in the northeast of the mill, on fire.

Both the highway department workers made for the McCowen structure, and went to work putting out the roof fire. Their immediate response saved the home, although a large, gaping hole was burned in the roof.

Three Fires in Two Weeks in Area Take Big Property Loss

The fire demon has been on the loose in Scurry County the past two weeks, and has caused three major fires in the county—plus destruction of a home by fire Monday morning of this week.

First destructive fire occurred last Monday midnight at Fluvanna School, where a $2,500 fire destroyed the school's government work shop and vocational agriculture building.

Last Thursday afternoon, fire of undetermined origin damaged 181 bales of cotton northwest of the Snyder cotton warehouse, and resulted in a $10,000 loss.

Monday afternoon of this week, a $400,000 fire loss was marked up when the Fuller Cotton Oil Company mill was detroyed by fire of unknown beginning.

Early Monday morning, the four-room frame residence of the Gene Parkers, three miles west of Dunn, was burned to the ground from fire of undetermined origin.

NEW DIP PLAN FOR CATTLE IS GRUB KILLER

Demonstration at Cottonwood Flat Ranch Proves Effectiveness of Rotenone Solution

Demonstrating the value of rotenone solution in ridding cattle of lice, both short and long nosed, and of cattle grubs, Turner Forrest, manager of the J. S. Criswell Ranch in the Cottonwood Flat community, last Tuesday dipped 650 head of cattle.

Demonstration of dipping cattle with a formula of 100 pounds wettable sulphur, 10 pounds of five per cent cube or derris root, rotenone content, to 1,000 gallons of water, was witnessed by a number of people at the ranch.

Forrest dipped 400 head of his own cattle, and 250 head for F. J. Helms, well known rancher of the community.

Edward S. Hyman, county agricultural agent who attended the demonstration, states the demonstration was a marked success from all angles. J. S. Criswell, owner of the ranch, says he has used a rotenone dip on his Baylor County ranch the past two years, and has virtually killed out all cattle heel flies, which are the "parents" of cattle grubs, and also has deloused all animals so dipped.

During the current war-time emergency, Hyman points out, dipping cattle to rid them of lice and cattle grubs is not only patriotic, but saves an average loss of 10 per cent to owners.

Cattle grubs, which burrow into the backs of cattle, puncture the hide, and first of all cause a loss in market value of the hide. In the second place, meat found near grubs has to be condemned and disposed of—in compliance with food laws—and causes a direct loss to the purchaser of infected animals.

"Demonstration given by Turner Forrest," Hyman states, "points the way to greater livestock profits for Scurry County ranchers, and should result in a wider use of the recommended control agent, rotenone. We should be concerned with saving every pound of meat possible, and of saving every cattle hide—the U.S. Army needs the resultant leather badly."

Ranchers who utilize a dip of the formula given in the beginning of this story will not only benefit financially when marketing their cattle, Hyman declares, but will have healthier, more glossy stock while feeding out for sale.

Ranchers who prefer may purchase rotenone now with the sulphur already mixed.

Demonstration Club Notes

Estella Kabel, County Agent

The Plainview Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ida Huffstutler and her daughter, Lillian.

Plans were made for a salvage party, which will be staged at the Plainview School December 15—a salvage party to which women of the community will be invited and urged to bring old hose, used tin cans and waste fats.

Balanced diets were discussed, and the county home demonstration agent cleaned two articles, showing those present how they might home launder clothes—if necessary.

Members reported work done this week, which consisted of a good supply of fruits and vegetables canned. Mrs. J. A. Farmer reported having dried 80 pounds of peas, which included those shipped to an orphans' home by the Presbyterian women.

Seasonal plate of hot chocolate, pimiento cheese sandwiches and raw cranberry salad were served by the hostess. Those present were: Mmes. J. A. Interest of Area in Hog Raising Shown By Sale of Feeders

That Scurry County hog raisers are steadily improving their hog pens, feeding pens and otherwise planning for increased pork production is evidenced by the fact Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company has sold more than 50 self feeders during the past several months, according to Edward S. Hyman, county agricultural agent.

Each self feeder will accommodate from 10 to 12 head of hogs, and is made according to specifications set out by the county agent's office. Each self feeder is noted by marking with a characteristic "V" for victory. Those who buy the self feeders pay only for labor and actual cost of materials.

Hyman declares Higginbotham-Bartlett is doing a community service in getting the feeders placed on Scurry County farms. Clean, sanitary living quarters and the best in feeding equipment will be necessary for producers to reach their pledged goals in hog production, it is pointed out.

Would-Be Enlistees Urged to Get Draft Board Statement

Scurry County Selective Service registrants desiring to enlist in the navy, marine corps or coast guard were advised Tuesday by J. Watt Page, state selective service director, that they first must obtain a statement from their local draft board.

The statement, obtained from the registrant's local board, must certify that the registrant is "not now classified in 2-A, 2-B, or 3-B, nor entitled to such classification by reason of being a necessary man engaged in dairy, livestock or poultry farm production."

Heretofore, for instance, registrants enlisting in the U. S. Navy did not need a release from a local board to do so if he was classified as 1-A, or was an officer candidate or aviation cadet. Now, those enlisting in the navy need not obtain a release from their local board, but must furnish the navy with a statement of classification, which allows the navy to accept such men up to the time of actual induction.

Ration Blanks for Farm Tractor Gas Received in City

Johnnie M. Ammons, Scurry County AAA administrative officer, announced Wednesday receipt of OPA ration blanks for farm tractors. These blanks will be used by county farmers in applying for all gasoline requirements for farm tractors. Ammons extends farmers of the county who may need help in filling out the blanks to contact the county Agricultural Adjustment Administration for assistance.

Forms received by the AAA office will not only apply to farm tractors, but to all purposes other than operation of a registered or commercial motor vehicle.

Farmers who have gasoline powered engines of any type will need to fill out the ration blanks, and in cases of either farm tractors or gasoline engines, application must be made for gas requirements.

Attaches of the county Triple A office point out the need of farmers, before filling out farm tractor registration blanks, of estimating their gasoline requirements for the next three months.

In applying for gasoline for use in farm tractors, gasoline engines or other gas powered motors, farmers will need to give the correct horsepower of each engine gasoline is needed to operate.

Any of the county's 1,500 farmers who wish help in filling out gasoline ration applications for either B or C ration cards are extended an invitation to enlist the help of the county Triple A office.

What's worse:—35 miles an hour or 00 miles an hour?

DON'T flunk an easy one!...The prize at stake is your car!

...Today's sensible top speed of 35 is a cinch for your engine, compared to unlubricated cold starting—way down at 00 miles an hour!

People in dead earnest to battle wear from the very start are having their engines OIL-PLATED, simply by changing to Conoco Nth motor oil. This oil's added synthetic—with apparent "magnetic attraction"—closely bonds lubricant to inner engine parts. That's OIL-PLATING. It resembles any protective plating in not all "going elsewhere" while the car stands cold.

OIL-PLATING doesn't all quickly drain off to the crankcase. Oil down there is still trying to "get a move on" as the engine starts, while OIL-PLATING is already fastened clear up to the topmost piston rings. It's there ahead of rampant wear in starting cold. It's there the rest of the time, too. And so the strong liquid-type film of Conoco Nth is sliding between OIL-PLATED surfaces. Not much look-in for wartime wear. Grandson of Snyder Woman Tells Of Experiences on American Sub

E. M. Jeans, grandson of Mrs. Zack Taylor, 2711 Avenue T, was this week revealed as one of the crew members on the submarine, U.S.S. Growler, which recently sank two destroyers in Alaskan waters, the Navy Department announces.

Jeans, who was put through Snyder Schools by Mrs. Taylor, is well known to Scurry County folks, and has been in the U. S. Navy for some time. Until last July 4, it was axiomatic that submarines keep clear of destroyers, but that was before Jeans and other crew members of the U.S.S. Growler happened upon a group of Japanese destroyers.

Story of the Growler's sinkings came from the commander of submarines in the North Pacific, and indicates the Nipponese destroyers were sunk near Kiska—where so much fighting between the Allies and the Japs occurred in early July.

On July 4, the Navy story goes, the commander of the Growler thought over the difficulties of entering the bay at Kiska harbor, and despite ordinary restrictions maneuvered the craft through the harbor to a point where three new Jap destroyers, 1700 tons each, were riding at anchor.

Within 1,000 yards, the skipper carefully trimmed his position and fired. Jolt of the torpedo's launching ran through the ship and the crew that were now in a deadly fight. A second shock, and only the skipper at the periscope saw geysers of water rise where the fury of TNT ripped the second Jap destroyer in two.

By the time Jap destroyer No. 2 began to sink, men of the third recovered from amazement, and torpedoes from the Jap vessel began to fly back at the tormentor. A moment later, the sub's third torpedo connected with the remaining destroyer, and the fight was over.

As the Growler pulled away from the Jap wreckage, the skipper saw through the periscope that two Jap destroyers were sunk and the third was a wreck, burning fiercely and belching hot white smoke that merged with the enveloping mist which blanketed the harbor.

The story about the Growler, and Jeans as a crew member, is more remarkable when it is considered very few stories of submarine attacks are released in war-time—until many months after encounters.

Littlefield Preacher Accepts Pastorate of First Baptist Church

Rev. Roy Shahan, Littlefield Baptist minister, accepted Wednesday evening pastorate of Snyder's First Baptist Church for the ensuing year, church officials announce.

Rev. Shahan, who met Wednesday evening with church officials, returned today (Thursday) to Littlefield, and will be here, with his family, the first Sunday in December. Rev. Shahan has pastored the Littlefield church the past four and one-half years.

The new pastor replaces Rev. Vernon F. Shaw, resigned, who has accepted the ministry of the Memorial Baptist Church Temple.

Rev. Shahan has four children—one married daughter, one daughter in Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, and two sons who will enter Snyder Schools.

$1,000 Worth of Old Metal Sold To Date

Office of Civilian Defense officials reported Wednesday that approximately $1,000 worth of scrap metals have now gone over the scales, and the proceeds will be given to the American Red Cross.

Representatives of Wells and Bruton Wrecking Yards are busy sorting, grading and loading the scrap metals collected October 22, and piled around the courthouse lawn. Several spots of grass are coming to light, and the next two weeks will witness a major dent in the metal heap, OCD officials say.

T. J. Teter Makes Statement About Race for House

To the Voters of the 118th Representative District:

I hereby announce my candidacy for representative from this district, to fill the place left by election of the Hon. Pat Bullock as senator.

Having made the race for this same office two years ago and having received a large vote, I feel that most of the voters know me and my ambition to represent this district in the House of Representatives. I have had this ambition since a boy. I am now 24 years of age, received my BA degree from Tech in 1942 and have been teaching history and ... and directing the band in the high school at Crosbyton.

I was born in Garza County and grew up in Scurry County, where my parents and grandparents have lived for almost 50 years. I want to be able to render service to my district, including the whole six counties of the district, and being unable to go into military service, I am asking that I may be permitted to serve as your representative. I have tried to especially qualify myself for this place, and I will render the very best service possible if honored with this position. I will work hard and do everything possible to help the war effort and to take care of the business of our district and of the state.

Due to war conditions, of course it will be impossible for me to make a detailed campaign over the district, and I ask my friends and the people all over the district to help me with my campaign. I assure you that every assistance and good word spoken will be greatly appreciated. I will make all the campaign possible and see as many voters as I can.

Sincerely,
(pol. adv.) T. J. TETER.

Gene Parker Home Near Dunn Burned

Fire of undetermined origin which broke out Monday morning, 1:00 o'clock, burned the four-room frame residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Parker, three miles west of Dunn, to the ground.

The early morning blaze gained headway so quickly no household belongings or furniture were saved. The structure belonged to Frank Brownfield, former Scurry County sheriff, who now resides at Idalou.

J. E. Lewis of the Dunn community took a number of donations Tuesday from Snyder business firms for Mr. and Mrs. Parker, and other neighbors conducted collection of clothing, food and household necessities.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker wish to express warm appreciation to the Snyder business firms, friends and neighbors who contributed money or goods in their hour of need.

Ouotas on Machinery To Be Revealed Soon

W. M. Hairston, chairman of the Scurry County U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board, announced Tuesday that quotas on some types of farm machinery and equipment will be announced for this area in the next few days.

Plows, harrows and planting machinery and other types of equipment needed during the winter and spring will be covered in the first quotas, the war board chairman declares.

Establishment of quotas for Scurry and other counties of the state will make it possible, Hairston points out, to determine just what farmers can do about getting enough needed machinery to farm with during 1943.

Dip Those Cattle

Now that every head of cattle means cash money "on the barrel head," Mr. Scurry County Rancher, how about employing the best of solutions when dipping your cattle to delouse them and rid them of cattle grubs?

Edward S. Hyman, county agricultural agent, urges county livestock men to utilize a dip of Rotenone as demonstrated on the J. S. Criswell Ranch last week. A full account of the demonstration will be found in this issue of The Times.

Big Crowd Slated to Attend Annual Tilt With Roscoe Friday

Snyder sports fans by the dozens have indicated they will be in Roscoe Friday evening for the rival football game between the Snyder Tigers and the Roscoe Plowboys—final game of the 1942 season for the Tigers.

Friday evening's tilt between Snyder and Roscoe will decide no district title, but the game will be colored by the fact it will be something of a "grudge" affair between the two football squads.

Members of the Tiger squad will throw everything they have into this final game, for they will remember the game here last year when the Plowboys upset them.

Due to the fact the Tiger coach, Frank Weaver, has resigned and entered the U. S. Navy, starting line-up for Snyder was not available late Wednesday.

Vivian Chenault of Haskell and Frances Chenault of Abilene were week-end guests of their mother, Mrs. P. C. Chenault. Vivian is a teacher in the grade school at Haskell, and Frances is employed with Johnson Motor Lines in Abilene.

Chief N. W. Autry was named to act as master of ceremonies for the annual feed. The event this year will attract firemen, their wives, city officials, ministers of Snyder and their wives, and auxiliary firemen.

Personnel of the two committees to arrange details of the banquet have been named as follows: Program—Rev. Hubert C. Travis, chaplain of the Midwest Firemen's Association and of the Snyder department, Doc Bynum and E. J. Bradbury; arrangements—Melvin Newton, Lem Rushing and Buddy Martin.

SIGHT IS PRICELESS!

Eyesight, once it is lost, may never be regained. So you people who are helping win the war by working hard . . . work in comfort . . . minus eye strain and other eye discomforts. At the first sign of trouble, come in for an eye examination . . . it takes only a short time and means so much!

● Shorter days and more evenings spent at home are bound to mean more use of eyes . . . more risk of eyestrain.

So while your family is reading . . . playing games . . . sewing for war needs, remember to guard their eyes from strain with simple steps like these below.

How to help your eyes and avoid wasting light

Clean bulbs and bowls often!

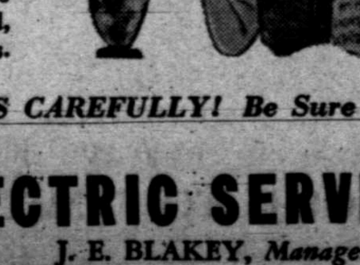

Dust and dirt steal more light than you think. Wipe bulbs and reflectors with a damp cloth and you'll get as much as 25 to 30% more light.

Make full use of light you have!

By arranging furniture and lamps carefully, you can often make one lamp serve two or more people effectively. But be sure it isn't too far away from either! A difference of 12 inches can reduce the light you get by as much as 50%.

Use shades with white linings!

Dark lamp shades or shades turned yellow inside rob your eyes of light . . . may cut down light as much as 50%. Clean or brush shades regularly; if they're too bad, replace with fresh ones.

BUY LAMP BULBS CAREFULLY! Be Sure They're the Right Size

Clean Clothes Last Longer!

Dirt Embedded in Fabrics Is Your Most Destructive Enemy—Guard Against It!

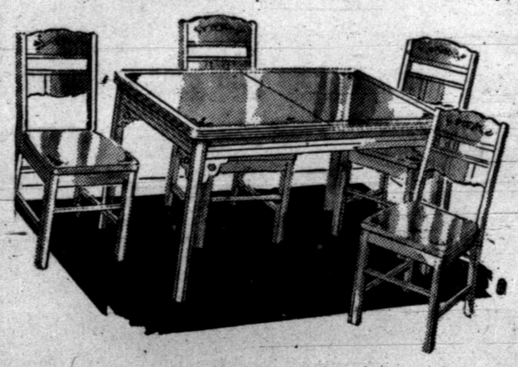

"DIRT" doesn't always show. Oftentimes it's perspiration and fine dust that's ground into fabric. That's when you have to look out. And the only way to take precautionary measures is to have clothes cleaned frequently. "DIRT" wears down into the threads and makes the fabrics weak. This is important to know. In our thorough cleaning processes we use crystal clear solvents; no chemicals can harm the garment or dull the color. Try us this week!

Major Community Loss

The Times joins Snyder businesses and the people of Scurry County in regretting the loss Monday afternoon, by fire, of the Fuller Cotton Oil Company mill in Southeast Snyder. The oil mill constituted Snyder's biggest year-round payroll, and its loss means a community and county-wide blow that will be sharply felt during this crucial time in county history.

The oil mill, built in 1907, had well become a Snyder institution, and products from the mill found a wide market. Its loss may be irreplaceable for a long time, but it can be aptly said that the mill, through the years, has been "bread and butter" for from 60 to 70 Scurry County families—not to mention the thousands of dollars paid out each fall for cottonseed from county farms.

Let's Buy Now

Figures gathered by the Scurry County war bond and defense stamp committee reveal that the county lacks only $31,649.79 in reaching its quota for 1942. This fact should make us all resolve, now, to buy those extra war bonds we've been planning, and put the campaign over the top well before the year's end.

If you have already bought a war bond this week, why not decide to buy another one this week-end? If you haven't bought a war bond this week, why not decide to buy another one this week-end? If you haven't bought a war bond this week, why not buy two and keep the ball rolling?

We can't let Uncle Sam down on war bond and stamp purchases now, because all the boys in military service, fighting our battles for us, depend on war bond and stamp sales to keep them in ammunition and supplies. Let's buy those extra war bonds now, Mr. and Mrs. Scurry County!

Editorial of the Week

OUR FIRST GLOBAL WAR

For the first time in its history, this country is fighting a war on all the continents and all the oceans. American troops and/or equipment are now engaged in every battlefront from Russia to Africa. And the numbers so engaged will increase vastly and swiftly in the future. It has taken us a long time to move from the defensive to the offensive stage in our war strategy, but we are gradually getting there.

This is the first real "global war" history has ever known. By comparison, the wars of the past were localized operations. The master plan laid down by Hitler at the beginning should now be clear to everyone. First, it was necessary for him to conquer all of Europe, and to make it as invulnerable to invasion as possible. Second, it was necessary for him to obtain the vast oil and grain resources of Russia, and to eliminate the Russian army as a first-rate fighting force. Third, his ally, Japan, was to take command and dominate in the Pacific. Fourth, his armies, working in concert with those of Japan, were to take over the Middle East and India. The United States would then, in effect, be an island surrounded by unfriendly waters and cut off from all relations with the balance of the world. Then, at his leisure, Hitler could set about the job of finally defeating us.

Here at home, the domestic situation is clearing. The problems of supply and production are being handled better. Some effort is being made to deal effectively with the crucial manpower situation. The drafting of the 18 and 19-year-olds will give the military forces about 1,500,000 first-class soldiers. There's plenty of confusion, plenty of waste motion still, but it is gradually lessening.

Our latent power is beginning to be felt—and felt on the six continents. Now it remains to be seen how swiftly we can increase that power, and put it to work—The Hockley County Herald.

Shop lifting has more than doubled during the past 90 days in larger department stores of the country, and in an alarming number of self service grocery establishments in almost every town of any size. . . . The filchers, in grocery stores, for instance, slip smaller articles into sacks of legitimately purchased vegetables and the like. . . . Merchants say the situation is resulting from higher prices for nearly all food necessities, and the high cost of living is coming into the picture as the true villian. . . . Despite recently invoked price ceilings, the cost of living continues on the ascending scale, and there seems to be very little either consumer or retailer can do about the matter.

Army goals, despite all the releases one may read about them, are far from being set definitely, even though Secretary of War Henry Stimson announced a few days ago that the army was shooting at 7,500,000 men under arms by the end of 1943. . . . Talks are going on behind the scenes in the nation's capitol between military and civilian agencies to determine just how many men should be used in the war and how many should be kept on the home front, producing the arms and supplies necessary for us to mark up final victory.

If any speak ill of thee, fly home to thy own conscience and examine thine heart. If thou art guilty, it is a just correction; if not guilty, it is a fair instruction.—George Herbert.

Draw the curtain of night upon injuries; shut them up in the tower of oblivion and let them be as though they never had been.—Francis Bacon.

It is not so much being exempt from faults, as the having overcome them, that is an advantage to us.—Alexander Pope.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

Editor's Note—Expressions or opinions contained in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the opinions or policies of The Times. Current Comment is merely carried as a feature column.

Two months ago you would have declared the idea fantastic, but it appears likely now that such a common dairy product as butter—the solidified ambrosia of the churn dash—will be rationed by January 1, if not sooner. . . . The Office of Price Administration is not hopeful about the outlook for butter, and strong hints are being scattered right and left that butter rationing is on its way. . . . If you don't think it matters so much which side your bread is buttered on, you doubtless will after the staple article of food becomes a war casualty.

Proposed rationing of butter brings forcibly to mind the fact that many different kinds of foods and food products will be rationed before the war is over, in addition to restrictions on coffee purchases. . . . Remember a few years back, when South American coffee growers burned thousands of tons of choice coffee beans in futile attempts to bolster the market price for the essential beans of the American household? . . . The picture, now, is entirely reversed, with coffee not only commanding firm price levels but exceptionally hard to transport from South America to the United States because of the acute ship shortage. . . . Talk is going the rounds in Washington that the administration will shortly name a food czar, a man who will be in charge of controlling all foods and staple groceries, and one who will be expected to wade into the delicate problem of keeping the federal food stamp plan for reliefers on the active list.

☆

Draft deferments on grounds of dependency, as hinted in this column several weeks ago, are definitely on the way out. . . . Able bodied younger men, regardless of wives and dependent children, will be in uniform before spring rolls around, national Selective Service representatives declare privately. . . . Occupational deferments already are being shaken out of the younger age groups, and the process is due to accelerate. . . . From all available accounts, there are right now about 12,000,000 able bodied men in the United States between 17 and 30 years of age.

☆

The United States Army and Navy are going to be forced, in the next few weeks, to disgorge excessive inventories of scarce materials, as well as private industry. . . . A new organization set up at WPB direction, for instance, the Materials Redistribution Corporation, is already cutting through a lot of red tape, and expects to get tougher as needs arise. . . . The MRC has, as a goal, gathering supplies of partly fabricated materials and placing them where they'll do the most good. . . . This new division, for example, is getting the stage set to requisition 44,000,000 pounds of copper which industrial plants of the nation have failed to turn in.

☆

In event there were such a thing as an "E" pennant for agriculture, Texas farmers would get one for their record production of farm crops this year, according to B. F. Vance, chairman of the state U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board. . . . The report for Texas indicated all major crops, except cotton, oats and pecans, would exceed 1930-1939 averages, while new price records are being set for rice, peanuts and tame hay. . . . Record supplies of farm crops over the state are rolling to market and warehouse, despite labor and machinery shortages, and next year is conceded to be the "crucial" period with farmers in every sector of the Lone Star State—with much new machinery available and labor too short to worry about getting enough hands. . . . When agriculture becomes threatened, then our whole economic setup is involved, and farm leaders see already that some new and "teethy" provisions will have to be made to insure adequate crop production in 1943.

☆

Very little has been said about the matter, but the huge piles of scrap paper which patriotic citizens so laboriously collected to meet an expected paper shortage have scarcely been touched. . . . Paper mills of the country haven't accepted much paper, yet, for reprocessing, because pulp producers hate to see scrap substituted for their product. . . . Thousands of tons of scrap paper and cardboard are lying dormant in approved warehouses, and in some instances the fire hazard has been so great piles of scrap paper have been burned to get it out of the way. . . . Pulp mills of the nation estimate they can keep supplies rolling to the mills for another 12-month period, if current supplies of labor stay "frozen" and new manpower regulations do not upset the apple cart.

The Roosevelt administration sustained some severe set-backs in the November 3 general election, with a considerable number of Republicans getting into public office, but such a reversal of voters' policies is not expected to seriously hamper the U. S. war effort. . . . Even though the Republicans are coming into their own in the political realm, those who made the political grade have pledged 100 per cent cooperation with Roosevelt until the war is over, which will insure, observers believe, a united home front. . . . As the dark figure of shortages looms more acutely over the American horizon, people of all faiths and creeds will become more closely united, for if we do not win this all-out war against aggression we will have no faiths, or creeds, of our own to keep fostering. . . . Victory, at all costs, comes first in the American way of life, and politics, at the moment, should be entirely secondary.

Commercial Buyers Of Coffee Sign Soon

Operators of cafes and hotels in Snyder and Scurry County are reminded by the Scurry County war price and ration board that they must register at the county ration board between Monday, November 23, and Wednesday, November 25, for coffee rationing.

Sale of coffee, as a number of people realize, will be "frozen" Sunday, November 22, and remain frozen until November 28—the date nation-wide coffee rationing goes into effect.

Zone Lions Meet Declared One of Best Held Locally

Speaking on "A Young Man's View of the Lions Club," Hon. George Thompson of the Sweetwater Lions Club, declared last Thursday evening, at a quarterly zone meeting of Snyder and Lamesa Clubs in the Manhattan Hotel, that "the club gives a group of men opportunity to do things for others which individuals alone cannot do." Thompson was principal speaker for the meeting, which probably will be the final such gathering for the war's duration.

Pat Bullock, 24th District senator, was toastmaster for the banquet. Lions of the Snyder and Lamesa clubs had their ladies for the ladies' night program held in conjunction.

Invocation for the program was given by Rev. I. A. Smith, Snyder Methodist pastor. Following a dinner course of baked chicken and dressing, English peas, creamed potatoes, pie, coffee, salad and cranberries, E. O. Wedgeworth directed the audience sing-song.

Mrs. Marjory Noel, accompanied by Rose Marie Clawson, gave a violin solo, and Mrs. Charles Manning gave O'Henry's "Ransom of the Red Chief."

Jettie D. Elkins offered "White Christmas" as a vocal solo, and Dr. T. M. Howle presented a technicolor motion picture he made of Snyder's recent scrap metals drive. Margaret Dell Prim furnished dinner music.

J. R. Ernest of the visiting Lamesa club introduced members. Card name introduction was used. Lyle Deffebach, president of the Snyder Lions Club, states the zone assembly was one of the most successful yet held in Snyder—despite transportation difficulties.

Mrs. O. P. Harris spent the weekend with her husband at Carlsbad, New Mexico. Harris is in defense work in the New Mexico city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blum are visiting Blum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blum of Taylor.

Three County Boys Enroll for Training In Signaling Corps

Mrs. Mary Jordan Dies After Fifty Years in County

Angel of death called Saturday morning, shortly after midnight, at the family residence three miles southwest of Dunn, and claimed the life of Mrs. Mary W. Jordan, 81, Scurry County resident for the past 51 years.

Mrs. Jordan was born March 12, 1861, at Mayfield, Kentucky, and came to Texas as a young woman. She had been prominent in community and church affairs until failing strength forced her to remain at home. She had been in failing health the past nine months.

Final rites for Mrs. Jordan were conducted Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Dunn Baptist Church. Rev. W. A. Strickland, former Dunn Baptist pastor who now lives at Colorado City, officiated.

Pallbearers were Richard McFarland, Nat Billingsley, Diddie Smith, Fred Cotton, Thomas Echols and Francis Johnston. Mrs. Ethyl Huddleston, Mrs. Louise Thompson, Paralee Gobbert and Jesse Don Thompson were in charge of floral offerings.

Surviving are four sons. Hub and Ivy Jordan of Seagraves, John of Ira and G. W. Jordan of Aspermont; three daughters, Mrs. Giles Bowers of Snyder, Mrs. Ruth Casey of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Susie Gobbert of Ralls; 36 grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren.

Odom Funeral Home handled arrangements, with burial in Dunn Cemetery.

Sign-Up for Second Year of Production Set for December

Sign-up of all Scurry County farmers in their second year of wartime production will get underway in the latter part of December, the Scurry County U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board reported Tuesday.

Critical bottlenecks, such as labor, equipment and transportation are cited as reasons why goals will be more difficult to reach in 1943 than this year—when agricultural production hit an all-time high.

The county's war board personnel declares that the demand for food is increasing daily, not only for boys in the armed forces, but also for lend-lease requirements. To date, only two production goals, those for winter vegetables and hogs, have been announced for the 1943 program.

State production goals are expected to be announced in the near future, and allocated to counties and individual farms immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Largent and Mr. and Mrs. Royce Elland and daughter, Cherry Lynn, all of Merkel, were here last Saturday to visit relatives. The party was en route to the Hardin-Simmons-Texas Tech football game at Lubbock.

List of Questions, Answers Explain Gas Ration Plan

Here are some questions and answers, furnished by the Office of Price Administration, that will be interesting to every automobile owner of the county, who must register November 19, 20 and 21 for gasoline rationing.

Q.—Why is the new plan for rationing gasoline and tires called a mileage rationing program?

A.—Because the object is to save rubber by reducing car mileage to the 5,000 miles a year average recommended by the Baruch committee.

Q.—Does this mean every car owner gets to drive 5,000 miles a year?

A.—Absolutely not. Owners of registered passenger automobiles, with few exceptions, are entitled to a basic ration book which provides fo 2,800 miles per year. Each owner will get more mileage only if he shows occupational need for it.

Q.—What is preferred mileage?

A.—It is mileage above 470 miles per month. Only drivers in the preferred, or most essential, class can get preferred mileage approval.

Q.—When and where can I get an application form for the basic ration?

These blanks may be picked up at service stations, garages and other conveniently located places.

Every automobile owner must register his car November 19 or 20 at a county school house for his basic ration book. After a motorist gets his basic A Book, he holds it until gasoline rationing goes into effect December 1. While at the school house, ask for a supplemental application blank, if you think you will need more gasoline than the basic book will provide for occupational purposes.

City Marshal Urges Cow Owners to See Animals Are Staked

It's time, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder Resident, to make sure all cows allowed to graze along barrow pits of streets are properly staked.

So admonishes Simon Best, city marshal, who reports a number of complaints have been received the past few days from residents who report cows improperly staked along barrows pits on streets where heavy traffic is daily occurrence.

"If you must stake your cow near streets or alleys," Best cautions, "make sure the stake chain will not allow the animal enough play to cross streets, or get out far enough in streets to impede traffic.

"A number of cow owners could save a probable fine by running a wire along a barrow pit, placing a ring around the wire and staking a cow to the ring. The animal could move back and forth, but if the wire were adequately secure, could not get out in city streets."

Best feels sure Snyder residents will cooperate in keeping cows properly staked, and off of city streets and alleys.

Hermleigh Couple Hurt in Auto Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gleastine of the Hermleigh community sustained severe injuries Friday, west of Anson, when their car was struck by a truck. The Gleastines were rushed to a Rotan hospital, where they remained until Sunday afternoon.

The Gleastine car was badly damaged in the collision, which was said by witnesses to have been unavoidable. No charges were filed against the trucker, whose name was not available this week for publication.

New Low Point In Weather Set Monday Morning

New low in temperature for the fall was marked up Monday morning, when Old Man Mercury went down to the 26 degree above zero mark—six degrees below freezing.

Monday morning's temperature level followed a cold wave that hit Scurry County Saturday. The mercury tumbled to 28 degrees Sunday morning with a stiff norther on the weather menu until Sunday afternoon.

A considerable amount of ice was in evidence Sunday morning, and a number of Snyder and Scurry County people reported ice a quarter-inch thick Monday morning on water troughs and buckets.

Indication that a killing freeze hit the county over the week-end was indicated Monday morning by blackened vegetation and fall vegetable gardens that "wilted down."

Weather observers believe the week-end cold wave, with resultant clearing of the air, will cut down the number of influenza cases, and serve as a check on head and chest colds.

Christmas Seal Sale Begun in County by Texas TB Sponsors

Annual Christmas seal sale time in Snyder and Scurry County is here again, with the distinctive seals scattered well over the county this week by the host sponsor, the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

People in all walks of life are urgently requested to purchase as many Christmas seals this year as possible. Every seal sold will help in winning the state-wide battle against tuberculosis.

Snyder study clubs and civic organizations ask the public to cooperate in the Christmas seal drive, which is the 36th annual event sponsored by the TBA. Seals may be bought from virtually any Snyder business firm.

Last year, Christmas seals purchased by Texans helped finance 1,534 chest clinics at which 7,676 new patients and 13,837 old patients were examined. The TBA asks that seals be bought early and used freely on all Yuletide packages.

T. A. Duke Child Dies Wednesday Morning

15,000 Bales of 1942 Cotton Go in Yard

R. L. Terry, operator of Snyder's bonded cotton warehouse, reported Wednesday that approximately 15,000 bales of cotton, for the 1942 season, have been handled to date through the yard.

Cotton for the 1942 season handled by Terry includes both government loan cotton and that handled straight through the usual yard channels. Terry and his helpers have been working long hours the past few weeks to keep yard work, cotton sampling and grading up to the minute.

John Blum, who has been attending McMurry College, Abilene, for the past several weeks, returned to Snyder last week. Blum will be here until December 1, when he will leave to begin his secondary training in the army reserve.

Another Fire Wrecks $1,000 Loss to Cotton

Loss of $1,000 was marked up Sunday afternoon, 3:0 o'clock, just south of Snyder Bonded Warehouse, when fire of undetermined origin scorched 40 bales of cotton.

Prompt action by members of Snyder's volunteer fire department kept the fire localized, and from spreading to a general cotton yard conflagration.

R. L. Terry, operator of the warehouse, states only eight of the 40 bales damaged were "loan" cotton bales.

Sunday afternoon's fire was the second at the cotton yard this year. A recent fire, which damaged 181 bales of cotton, rung up a $10,000 fire loss—which was covered by insurance.

To our way of thinking, the oft-taken New Year's resolution to do Christmas shopping early doesn't seem to stand up under the test. We base our conclusion on the fact that of all the people who take this firm resolve, only a few of the heartier ones actually keep their promise. The remainder wait until somewhere around December 23, repeating over and over those familiar lines—"I'll never wait until the last minute again—next year, I'm going to do my Christmas shopping early."

We realize some of you may have forgotten your fervent vow of a year ago, that's why we're reminding you again to DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY! It's the sure way of getting what you want—of getting merchandise that is clean and fresh. And you will save money, too, because prices are still low. Shop at Bryant-Link's today—and save yourself from last minute shopping disappointments.

During our long history as one of West Texas' leading stores, Bryant-Link has always managed to present complete stocks of merchandise for its customers. We are proud of the fact that folks have come to us year after year without disappointments when gift buying time came around.

Even now, with abnormal merchandising conditions existing the country over, we can in most instances offer our patrons good selections of desirable goods.

While some lines have been curtailed considerably by the war situation—we are not grumbling and know our customers will not grumble at conditions. We all want to win the war—and want to make sacrifices to do that very job.

So if you fail to find just exactly the material you wanted, in the precise shade you had visioned, please understand that we are doing the best we can under the circumstances to please you. Thanks.
