Ozona Track Team Sweeps To Title In District Meet

Four District Records Fall; Lions Win 3rd Straight Title

By Ernie Boyd

Four district records fell last Saturday afternoon in the district 8-A track meet as the Ozona Lions swamped all opposition to win their third straight track title.

The Lions of Coach Chick Womack's track squad won eight of the day's fourteen first places, five second places, and a bevy of thirds, fourth and fifths, to run away with the meet before the distance events were ever run.

Phillip Carnes was the day's high point man with 40 points picked up on four first places. Carnes won both the high and low hurdles, the discus and the high jump. In spite of his fine performance he was closely followed by team mate Carl Montgomery who won second places in the discus, the shot both hurdles and ran on the first place 440 relay team to run up 37 points.

Records fell in the 440 relay, the 440 run, the miles and the mile relay. Ozona's sprint quartet set the first mark in the finals by topping its own 1960 mark of .45 flat with a 44.9 in winning first place in that event.

Eldorado's fine Jim Runge had really broken the first record when he ran the 440 in a record 51.7 in the pre-lims to break the record set by Preston Love of Sonora in 1957. The Eldorado flyer was not through with the 440 mark, however, and came back in the finals to run a sizzling 50.7 just .4 off the state record in class A. Runge ran more or less by himself in both races with the second place winner finishing far back.

The third meet record fell in the mile when Fernando Gomez broke his 1960 mark with a 4.50 this year. Sonora lost its star 440 man but did not miss him too much this week as they ran a fine 3:33.6 breaking the record set by Eldorado in 1958 of 3:34.8.

Ozona got first place contributions from Jim Doran in the 100

Jeep Stuck, Boys Walk In From Fishing Trip As Search Under Way

Parents and friends of Wayne Albers and Richard Sikes, high school boys, spent some anxious hours Sunday night and Monday while a mammoth hunt was in progress throughout Sunday night and Monday morning for the two boys when they failed to return from a fishing trip.

The two boys had gone in a Jeep to the Ted White ranch to fish. When they failed to return after dark, Larry Albers, father of Wayne, and Wayne W. West, his grandfather, and L. T. T. Sikes, father of Richard, spent the night searching the river on the Ted White place and roads between there and the Albers ranch.

While airplanes, cars, Jeep and horseback searchers combed the area, the two boys walked in to ranch headquarters about noon Monday, footsore and weary but unharmed. They had stuck the Jeep in sand on the river and had spent the night, comfortable in a couple of blankets, At day light they started their walk toward home. They walked 16 miles to the highway where a motorist picked them up and carried them to the West ranch.

Education Of Public Stressed In Annual April Cancer Drive

The three - word imperative, "Guard Your Family," will again be the theme for the American Cancer Society Crusade which will be under way during the month of April.

For the third successive year, the family theme will be used in conjunction with the life - saving phrase, "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check," it was announced by Mrs. H. B. Tandy, Crusade chairman.

"The combined slogan sums up the cancer problem and what to do about it", said Mrs. Tandy, in discussing plans for the Society's 1961 educational and fund-raising Crusade. "Two of three families here and in the country at large will eventually be struck by cancer. Regular health checkups are their best protection against the disease, and checks ore the means to support the scientists who are searching for a cancer cure or preventive."

Pointing out that 85,000 Americans die needlessly of cancer each year because they went to their doctors too late, Mrs. Tandy said the Society gives top priority in its April Crusade to its educational effort to prevent the tragic loss of life. "The free literature distributed by volunteers in their house-to-house calls," she said, "is designed to stimulate regular health checksups among all adults or early detection of cancer, when most cancers are radily curable."

PERFECTS LAB GADGET

James G. Conaway, medical technologist with the Crockett County Hospital, has perfected an inexpensive apparatus to eliminate the "spill factor" in use of a commercial immersion oil in high magnification microscopy. A simple gadget attched to the microscope allows the operator to dispense the immersion oil (used to concentrate light rays in high magnification) by a slight pressure on a rubber tube while peering through the eyepiece, the gadget eliminating the clutter of additional equipment and the danger of spilling of the immersion oil. The apparatus will be described in a forthcoming issue of the Medical Technologists Journal.

Where will you find a handsomer hardtop than this Impala Sport Sedan!

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevrolet is doing*—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. The clean-etched looks of the new Body by Fisher, for example. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there's where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

AND JUST ONE JET-SMOOTH RIDE WILL SHOW YOU WHY!

No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevrolets have more of what it takes to please people!

JET-SMOOTH RIDE CHEVROLET

WHAT YOU DO NOW COUNTS

Lately, there have been a few minor thefts in O. H. S. These have been small incidents, but these small things balance to a large sum. What you do now can affect your future lives so greatly.

This holds true not only in school When you go into a store to buy an article, you see no one around. Isn't it tempting to just casually slip the article into your pocket? Is this being honest with anyone—especially yourself? How can anyone feel justified and have an easy conscience after doing a deed such as this. Let Temptation knock not twice on your door. Turn him away!

Those not going to regional, but still place in competition were Art Kyle in Number sense and Tommy Fields in slide rule. Both students placed third.

In Journalism Becky Cullins and Jayne Cole will go to regional. There was no district meet in Journalism so they will have no competition until the regional meet.

SAC VARIETY SHOW ENTERTAINS ASSEMBLY

The San Angelo College jazz band, soloist, acrobat, follies, and other select stunts came to entertain the O. H. S. student body last Wednesday.

The Wednesday assembly was meant to entertain, but many of our male seniors were probably thinking very seriously about attending SAC after the follies were over.

The assembly had a wide variety of entertainment which was seemingly enjoyed by most.

This type of assembly is designed to encourage high school students' interest in whatever school is providing the entertainment.

Notes From The County Agent's Office

By Pete W. Jacoby

The pecan nut casebearer is the major insect pest attacking pecans in Texas. Casebearers can be successfully controlled if insecticides are applied in the proper manner and at the correct time, according to Extension Service Entomologists. For a proper control program, timing of the spray application with good coverage and use of adequate spray equipment, are most important.

Insecticides must be applied at about the time the eggs are hatching or before the young worms have entered the nuts. Proper coverage is essential in order to deposit an insecticide residue on the nut cluster and on the stem a few inches below the cluster. Good equipment is essential to force a sufficient volume of spray through the foliage, directly on the twigs and nut clusters in all areas of the trees. Inadequate coverage, more than any other factor, is responsible for poor control of the pecan nut casebearer. Since the insect feeds over a small area, the insecticide must be uniformly distributed.

In carrying out a successful casebearer control program, it is important to know and understand the life history. Casebearers overwinter as small worms inside tiny silken cacoons called hibernavula which are usulally attached to a bud. In the spring, the larvae emerge from their hibernacula, feed for a short time on the buds and then tunnel in the developing shoots until they reach maturity. Pupation usually occurs in these burrows in the shoots and the moths emerge in late April and May. The presence of wilted shoots which have been tunneled out is a good indication that control measures will be required for the next generation of larvae in the nuts. About 9 days are required for development of the pupal stage.

Two or three days after the adults emerge, females deposit eggs on the tips of the nuts. The bluish-white eggs are deposited singly. In a few hours, small red spots appear in the egg. These spots increase in size until the egg is pinkish to reddish. The worms which hatch from these eggs are know as first generation casebearer larvae. The period of egg laying usually coincides with the completion of pollination at which time the tips of the tiny nuts turn brown. This is the period when the control program should be started. The exact time of egg laying will vary from one season to the next. Also, the time of egg laying may vary from one location to the next during the same year even though the locations are only a few miles apart. Consequently, the most effective means for determining the best time to spray is by checking and observing the developmental stage of the casebearer.

Casebearer eggs hatch in 4t o 5 days. When the small forms hatch, most of them leave the tips of the nuts and migrate to the buds below the nut cluster to feed. After two or three days' feeding, the worms leave the buds and enter the base of the nut. From the time the eggs are deposited, about 6-8 days pass before the nuts are attached. Depending upon enviromental conditions, 4-5 days are required for the eggs to hatch and the young worms feed on the buds for 2-3 days. One larvae of the first generation frequently destroys an entire nut cluster. The length of the larvae period is about 25 days. To obtain good control, insecticides should be applied during the interval when eggs are hatching or when the young worms are feeding on the buds.

Ordinarily, only one application of spray is required to control the casebearer. If heavy rains occur shortly after treatment, benefit may result from another application. Generally, growers tend to spray too early and much of the effectiveness o fthe insecticides is lost before the insect appear. If several days are required to spray large orchards, it may be neccessary to start the operation before the optism time. Therefore, if possible, select one of the recommended insecticides which has a long residual effect. When the larvae reach maturity they pupate in the hollowed out nuts and emerge as moths.. The female moths deposit eggs of the second generation which appear about 6 weeks after the first generation eggs are laid. At this time the nuts are nearly half grown and the eggs are usually deposited in grooves near the tip and base of the nuts or on buds below the nut clusters. The eggs hatch in about 5 days and the larvae feed in the leaf axis below the nuts for a short time. Then the larvae migrate to the nut cluster, enter at the base of a nut and hollow out the inside. Less injury is produced by this generation because the nuts are larger and each larvae requires only one or two nuts to complete its development. To control second generation casebearers an application of insecticides may be necessary if trees in the vicinity were not sprayed to control first generation larvae or if poor control of the first generation was obtained.

A third generation usually follows but the shells of the nuts have become hard and only a few of them are penetrated by the larvae. A number of third generation larvae construct hibernacula while the reminder pupate and appear as adults, emerging during August, September and October. These adults deposit eggs which hatch into fourth generation larvae. If nuts are available, their shucks constitute the principal food of the larvae of this generation until they prepare for winter. In the absence of nuts, the larvae feed on buds and leaf stems. Overwintering cacoons or hibernacula are constructed by the very small larvae by the middle of November.

BUSINESS ADJUSTMENT SALE!

Introducing Our New Manager

We are proud to introduce to Ozona our new manager, Mr. J. Gual.

Mr. Gual comes from Dallas where he was merchandise superintendent for one of the biggest mail order firms in the nation for more than thirty years. He is thoroughly familiar with department store merchandising and we feel sure will make this store one in which all Ozonans can take pride. He has had merchandising experience in Mexico City and in Havana, Cuba, and during World War II served in the Office of Price Administration. He is a member of the Baptist Church, a Mason and Shriner.
