J. E. Bristow Captured On Exploration For Oil In Rugged Country; Consul At Jaurez Asked To Aid

(By Associated Press)

EL PASO, March 18.—Ovie Bristow of San Angelo, tonight was preparing to come to El Paso to take a plane for Mazatlan, on the West Coast of Mexico, to secure the release of his father, J. E. Bristow, held by bandits for a 3,000 pesos ransom.

According to dispatches to William P. Blocker, American consul in Juarez, Mexico, the elder Bristow was captured by bandits while exploring for oil in the rugged country south of Tepic, Nayarit, Mexico. He was at Santa Maria Del Oro, Nayarit, at the time of his capture.

First In Months.

Bristow's capture is the first report of such occurrences to reach the border in several months. The region infested several months ago by religious fanatics, is considered the most hazardous of all Mexico.

Mexico City and Mazatlan authorities are understood to have dispatched soldiers to the vicinity of the capture in an effort to dispose of the bandits. This could not be confirmed, however.

SAN ANGELO, March 18. (AP) — J. E. Bristow, 60, San Angelo oil operator, is held by bandits in Mexico for $3,000 ransom, according to word received here today by his family, members of which were endeavoring to get in touch with the American consul at Juarez in an effort to obtain his release.

WICHITA FALLS, March 18. (AP) — Sam Kimberlin, Wichita Falls merchant, tonight wired his cousin, William Blocker, senior consul at Juarez, guaranteeing payment of the 3,000 pesos ransom demanded by Mexican bandits for the release of J. E. Bristow.

Engross Measure To Limit Cotton Acreage In Texas

Bill Will Be Brought Up For Final Passage Today Following Action Tuesday By Lower House

Passage Predicted

Would Limit Cotton Crop In State To 60 Per Cent Of Cultivated Area Not Proper Aid, Claimed

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 18.—The bill to place a legal limit of 60 per cent of the cultivated area on the cotton acreage of Texas was engrossed by the house today. The bill will be brought up for final passage tomorrow, and Rep. J. E. McDonald, its author, declared that he was confident that it would go through the senate before the session ends Thursday.

As engrossed the bill would become effective January, 1931; would make it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine ranging from $5 to $25 for every acre planted above the limit; would allow the tenants of a single landlord to offset their acreage one against the other, provided that the total did not go beyond the limit.

McDonald declared that Mississippi now had a bill similar to his measure before its legislature and that the remainder of the cotton producing states were anxious for Texas to take the lead in legislation of this sort in order that they might follow it.

Opponents argued the bill would not only deprive citizens of their property right to control, but that it set a dangerous precedent for other lines of industry, which they claimed could be regulated just as it was proposed to do for cotton farming if the bill was passed. They declared the bill unenforceable and that it was not the proper manner to aid the cotton farmer.

Major Is Accused Of Poisoning Wife Last June; Probe Started

DENVER, Colo., March 18.—Stripped of his army uniform, Major Charles A. Shepard, 59, of Fitzsimmons general hospital, Denver, was held incommunicado in jail today while the government authorities continued their investigation to link him with the alleged murder last June of his 37-year-old wife at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Major Shepard was accused of poisoning his wife, government officials said. Miss Grace Brandon, stenographer at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Texas, was said by local authorities to have divulged that Major Shepard proposed marriage to her prior to the death of his wife. She was questioned today. She was described as the unwilling receipient of the medical officer's attentions, and was said to have told authorities Major Shepard attempted to get a promise from her that she would marry him, if he obtained a divorce. She met Major Shepard at Brooks field in 1928.

In May, 1929, Mrs. Shepard became ill. Her husband was said to have given her medical treatment. When death occurred June 1, autopsy was performed. Results of the examination, reports show, were "suspicious," but inconclusive. The government investigation continued nine months.

As a climax to the inquiry, the investigators planned to simultaneously question Major Shepard here and Miss Brandon at San Antonio last night. This was the first open move on their part to indicate Major Shepard was under serious suspicion. His arrest resulted.

Charges Denied

Major Shepard emphatically denied the charges here. He was held in jail in default of $25,000 bond.

Fellow officers at Fitzsimmons general hospital, where Major Shepard was transferred after his wife's death, described him as a studious, dignified man and the announcement of his arrest caused considerable surprise. They said they would aid him in his attempt to raise his bond.

CONNECTIONS DENIED

SAN ANTONIO, March 18. (AP)—Denial that she had any connection with the arrest of Major Charles A. Shepard, medical corps officer at Fitzsimmons Veterans hospital at Denver, Colorado, was made by Miss Grace Brandon, stenographer at Brooks Field today.

"I knew nothing of this incident in his life," Miss Brandon said. "In fact, I knew very little of Major Shepard at all. While he was at Brooks Field he roomed at the same rooming house I did, as did several other Brooks Field officers but I had no acquaintance with him other than that."

She declared that she had heard nothing of the case until newspaper reports were shown to her this morning.

Measure Lacks Passage In House And Signature Of Governor Moody Before Money Is Available

Bill Vetoed Once

Five Million Approved For Eleemosynary Institutions And Summer Schools As Session Nears Close

THE STATE senate yesterday passed an appropriation of $200,000 for a library building at Texas Technological college, according to a message received last night by the Morning Avalanche from Senator Pink L. Parrish.

A $2,000,000 appropriation was the original bill presented before the legislature but it was pared to $150,000 and passed by both the house and senate. However, upon presentation to Governor Moody the bill was vetoed. With a raise of $50,000, again making the total $200,000, the appropriation will have to pass the house and again come before the governor for his signature.

W. T. Gaston, business manager of Texas Tech, is in Austin at this time in the interest of various appropriations being sought by the institution.

Five Million Approved

AUSTIN, March 18.—(AP)—The senate today passed a bill calling for the appropriation of approximately $5,000,000 for the summer schools and eleemosynary institutions, and for permanent buildings at several state schools.

An amendment appropriating funds for the construction of a home for the widows of Confederate veterans was adopted. It proposes the construction of a $75,000 home, a $50,000 hospital and $25,000 for erection of a home for employes.

Other amendments adopted were: $200,000 for a library at Texas Technological college; $93,800 for buildings at the College of Arts and Industries; $175,000 for library at Southwest Texas State Teachers

The Chicago bound train struck a crane shovel that extended over the tracks from a tractor parked beside the right-of-way. The force of the collision sent the Chicago bound train into the northbound local which was standing on the other track.

Two hundred and fifty delegates were in attendance at the all-day workers conference of the Lubbock Baptist association which was held at the Nineteenth Street Baptist church Tuesday. Other associations represented at the meet were the Staked Plains, the West Plains, Brownfield and Mitchell-Scurry, totaling over 100 out-of-town visitors.

The meeting convened at 10 o'clock with a devotional by Rev. J. H. Agee after which Rev. Stiles of Southland discussed "The Prayer Life of the New Testament Church." This was followed by a discussion of "Discipline in the New Testament Church," by Rev. Charlie Jones of Pleasant Valley. The sermon of the morning was delivered by Rev. J. P. Olive of Lorenzo.

Lunch was served at the church and in the afternoon an executive board meeting and woman's business meeting was held. Rev. R. C. Missing Lubbock Man Is Reported On Way To Dallas

Rumors Say R. L. Chambers Is Safe; Mystery Still Shrouds Whereabouts Of Local Resident

Mystery still shrouded the whereabouts last night of R. L. Chambers, 55, of 2001 26th street, who disappeared from his home Monday morning at 6 o'clock, though rumors had been received by officers that the man was safe and on his way to Dallas.

Mrs. Carmen Hilbert, of Waco, a sister to Mrs. Chambers, last night said that a man by the name of Jones had called at the home to talk with Mrs. Chambers, stating that he had seen the missing man and that he was safe and on his way to Dallas to search for work. She could give no particulars, where the meeting took place or who Jones is, but explained that Chambers had sent word by the man for his family "not to worry."

Refuses Interview.

Mrs. Chambers, who recently underwent an operation, was resting last night and relatives refused to have her disturbed for an interview.

Chambers had previously written an ominous message to a friend with instructions that the envelope be left unopened until he had killed himself. The letter, containing the information, was received by P. P. Johnson, of the Hurlwood community, 17 miles west of Lubbock, who at one time lived on a farm owned by Chambers at Post.

A search was instituted by officers yesterday morning and news of his disappearance broadcast over the South Plains.

Wife Worried.

Mrs. Chambers, in an interview early yesterday, stated that "my husband has been brooding lately over his health, I suppose. I cannot account for anything else that would cause him to leave as he has."

Rumor that he had gone to Dallas to search for work was regarded as queer by officers as his financial condition was considered adequate on basis of the fact that he sold his 203-acre farm near Ralls last November, moving shortly afterwards to Lubbock.

Chambers left home Monday in a Ford sedan, which was located later in the day near the Pinson Drug Store on Avenue Q.

Probe Started.

The letter to Johnson contained

Conditions Cited As Most Acute In Ten Years As Hearing On Labor Legislation Is Opened

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Unemployment conditions were pictured to the senate commerce committee today as it began hearings on labor legislation.

Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, author of the employment measures, opened the hearings by describing conditions in New York and throughout the country as most "serious" in spite of what you may hear to the contrary."

Dr. B. M. Squires, director of Illinois State Employment agencies, and a professor at the University of Chicago, asserted conditions in Chicago the last two months had been the "most acute in 10 years."

Organizers of an "unemployment conference" here, led by J. Eads Howe, so-called millionaire hobo, and a committee of nine, at the start of the hearing demanded an opportunity to testify.

Former Arkansas Governor Speaks Before Joint Session Of Lubbock Luncheon Clubs Tuesday Noon

In spite of its having been cartooned and caricatured for so many years, Arkansas will furnish the United States its next president, in the person of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, was the prediction made here Tuesday noon by Former Governor Charles H. Brough, of that state, in an address delivered at the Hilton Hotel.

Former Gov. Brough's address was given following invitation by the Lubbock Lions club. There were 250 men in attendance, members of the Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and A. B. C. clubs of this city.

"Senator Robinson," declared Brough, "is the only democrat in congress who enjoys the unlimited confidence of the Al Smith democrats and love of southern democrats."

The speaker stated that he realized that the democrats could never hope to elect a president, except the republicans be divided, inferring that such would be the case during the next election. In his review of famous southerners he said that President Woodrow Wilson was the greatest teacher America has

Chain of Evidence Broken in Slaying

FORT WORTH, March 18. (AP)—The chain of circumstantial evidence that put J. Roy Raines, barber, in toils of the law with the charge that he murdered Mrs. Pearl Voss, 30, whose body, with the head beaten in with a hammer, was found in a pasture Sunday morning, broke at several links today.

After chemical analysis showed that pecans had made the "blood stains" on the hammer found at Raines' home and that the "blood stains" on his hat were not blood, a woman freind of Mrs. Voss told county officers that she saw her Saturday morning. Raines was arrested after a restaurant waiter had told of his being with Mrs. Voss Friday night. It had been assumed that she was slain that night.

A hair found on the "stained" hammer did not come from the head of the dead woman, analysis showed, and a piece of cloth found in the barber's automobile did not come from clothing worn by Mrs. Voss at the time she was killed.

Sheppard Accepts Comptroller Post

Sweetwater Man Expresses Appreciation To Governor Moody For Appointment To State Office

SWEETWATER, March 18. (AP)—George H. Sheppard today wired Governor Moody his acceptance of the position of state comptroller immediately after he was notified of his appointment.

In 1918 he was called to Austin to work out a system when the state turned over to the tax collectors of each county the collecting of automobile license fees.

Frank Nicholson To Lecture Here

Famed Explorer To Be Here Thursday Night To Tell Experiences Of Carlsbad Caverns Exploration

Frank Ernest Nicholson, New York explorer, who has spent more than three weeks in the underground recesses of the Carlsbad Caverns, will lecture in Lubbock Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium, according to an announcement last night.

The lecturer is to be presented under auspices of the Parent-Teacher association of Lubbock and will deal with the many interesting features of Mr. Nicholson's recent exploration trip through the bowels of the earth.

Mr. Nicholson, it is understood, is en route to his home in New York preparatory to organizing another party to film in motion pictures the country known as Four Corners. This film will have as actors native Indians of that territory, according to the explorer, who also has been a picture director.

Several interesting discoveries have been made by the New York party in the past weeks and these will compose the gist of Mr. Nicholson's lecture here. The party is composed of photographers, mineralogists, scientists and others, organized for the purpose of exploring that portion of the Carlsbad Caverns which have never been visited by civilized man.

Winners of Two Beauty Contests in War to Represent U.S. in Pageant

(By Associated Press)

HAVANA, March 18.—Two of the participants in the recent beauty contest at Miami, Fla., today found themselves at war over who will represent the United States in the International Beauty Pageant at Rio Janeiro next September.

In one camp was Miss Janet Eastment, 20-year-old blonde from Fort Worth, Tex., who was chosen as "America's Sweetheart" at Miami; in the other Miss Beatrice Lee, 17-year-old blonde from Salt Lake City, who was "Miss Utah," at Miami.

Information was that the trip to Rio was one of the prizes accruing to the winner of the Miami title. However, Gaston Andrade, manager of the Latin-American division of the Miami show, said he had full authority to select whomsoever he chooses to represent the United States and his selection is "Miss Utah."

So the battle rages, with the Rio prize at stake. "Miss Utah" said she was "most certainly going," and "America's Sweetheart" asserted she was "looking forward with pleasure to the trip to South America."

"I don't want to engage myself in anything to detract from the dignity I feel must be mine in wearing this ribbon," Miss Eastment said, as she fingered her official emblem. "But, on the other hand, I am certainly going to uphold the American tradition of fighting for what is right. I won this honor legitimately, and no one else is going to deprive me of it. I'll see you in Rio."

Wintry Scenes Return to West, North Texas Tuesday; Snow Falls in City

(By Associated Press)

AFTER several days of balmy weather, wintry scenes were returned to sections of West and North Texas Tuesday by a strong wind that brought flurires of snow in the Panhandle and rain in other areas.

Scattering snow flakes fell at Borger and Lubbock while rains were reported over a wide area of West Texas and sections of North Texas.

Snow Falls Here

Though temperatures in the city remained above freezing, light snow and some rain fell over Lubbock and the South Plains Tuesday, insufficient, however, to register any great benefit.

Lowest drop of the thermometer recorded yesterday was 37 degrees while an average was maintained throughout the major portion of the day at 40 degrees.

The hardest fall of snow occurred about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, although it lasted for only a short while and was not heavy enough to cover the ground.

Slight moisture was recorded on routes east, south, west and north of the city, according to reports at the union bus terminal. Roads have not been hampered by weather conditions, drivers state.

His wife and their two daughters Mrs. James Pryor, of Amarillo, and Mrs. Frank Jones, of this city, together with the three sons, are at Mr. Johnson's bedside.

FRAZER MEETING TONIGHT

Turning the light of Truth on false and misleading statements in recent cigarette advertising

WHAT ANOTHER MANUFACTURER of cigarettes chooses to say about his product is not our affair. Even when he sees fit to misrepresent his product and leave false impressions concerning it, that still is his business—not ours.

But—when, in his advertising, he goes beyond his own product and makes false statements or leaves misleading impressions about other cigarettes—then it is time that the truth be told.

Some time ago a manufacturer of cigarettes used the following statements in his advertising:

> "The extra secret heating process removes from (————) harmful irritants, corrosive acrids, which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way, and which cause throat irritation and coughing."
> "No matter how much or how little you pay for cigarettes you have a choice of only two general classes, and not more than two. In one class you have the billions of cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way and in the other class you have (————), the toasted cigarette, a product of modern science, a cigarette from which harmful irritants have been removed by that extra secret process described by the phrase 'It's Toasted'."

WHEN THESE STATEMENTS were first made, we assumed that they were a casual phase of that manufacturer's advertising and did not represent a deliberate and calculated policy. After making a few such statements, he abandoned this particular form of advertising. However, other statements used in his advertising came to the attention of the Federal Trade Commission on a question of their truthfulness.

As a result of the action of the Federal Trade Commission he was ordered to stop his admitted practice of using in his advertising false testimonials of non-smokers to the effect that they kept slender by smoking his brand of cigarettes, and was further ordered to stop using other fake testimonials and the specious argument that all can keep slender by smoking that brand of cigarettes. He then began to use again the form of statement quoted above or variations of it.

IF ANY MANUFACTURER chooses to say that the tobaccos he uses contain "harmful irritants, corrosive acrids, that are injurious to the throat," and then to claim that these things are removed by the heat-treating process, that is his own affair. But when he tries to create the impression that it is general practice to use in cigarettes such rank tobaccos as he describes, we object to the attempted reflection on the industry.

We have never used in our blend those rank tobaccos which can be properly described as containing "harmful irritants, corrosive acrids," nor do we believe that they are used by some of the other manufacturers.

If that manufacturer wishes to advertise heat treatment, calling it toasting or what-not, that is his right. But when, in so doing, he tries to create the impression that he is the only maker of cigarettes who treats tobaccos with heat, the truth again needs to be told.

The publication of a fake testimonial is no greater perversion of the truth than to imply that the heat treatment of tobaccos is an exclusive process with any single manufacturer.

THE FACT is that the use of heat treatment in the manufacture of tobacco is about the most commonplace and universally practiced method in the industry. It has long been standard practice.

We use heat treatment in its most modern and scientific application, both in the preparation and in the manufacture of those mild, fragrant, ripe tobaccos that carry their natural goodness into CAMELS.

The first CAMEL Cigarette we ever made was manufactured under the heat-treating process. Every one of the billions of CAMELS produced since has been manufactured under heat treatment. We rely upon heat to the limits of its possibilities to make our good tobaccos better. It cannot make inferior tobaccos good.

WHETHER OR NOT a manufacturer, to have something to talk to the public about, attaches a contrivance to his heat-treating machines to catch, condense and bottle the vapors that come from them can have no more effect toward improving the tobacco than your catching and bottling the vapors that come from your teapot would have toward improving the tea in the pot.

Our own brand, CAMEL, continues to grow, but we are, nevertheless, unwilling to let these far-reaching false statements or impressions regarding the cigarette industry go uncorrected.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SUICIDE TREE:

This famous oak tree stands in the City Park, New Orleans, La. Under its branches 16 people have committed suicide. New Orleans has no graveyard because the dampness of the ground prohibits burial below the surface. All inhumation in New Orleans is done in vaults and mausoleums.

DON FELIX D'AZARA WAITED TWENTY YEARS:

After the peace of Ildefonso, the Spanish and Portuguese Governments agreed to send a personal representation to the Paraguay-Brazilian border to settle their boundary dispute on the spot. Don Felix D'Azara was the delegate of the Spanish Government who was dispatched to South America with such haste that he could take no luggage with him. The Portuguese delegates for Brazil never arrived, and Don Felix waited 20 years in vain for them.

Having nothing to do in the meantime he devoted his time to a thorough study of the local fauna. He is considered an authority on mammals.

Clashes On Bible Heard in Debate

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—Clashes over the Bible and the essays of Brigham Young, founder of the Mormon church, pierced the calm of the senate tariff debate today during a speech by Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico, in favor of repeal of the customs ban on foreign literature regarded as immoral.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, interrupted Cutting to ask Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, high official in the Mormon church and advocate of continuation of the customs censorship, whether any of Brigham Young's essays would be barred under the present law.

Smoot replied heatedly that if these essays came within the scope of the intent of the law they should be prohibited from entry.

Farmers Urged To Plant Pure Sudan Seed By Dealers

Claim South Plains Grows Practically All Sudan Seed For Entire Nation; Complaints Are Cited

Farmers are being urged not to lose sight of the fact that it is important to plant more sudan and cane by local grain dealers, though a great deal of attention is being given to the planting of better cotton seed.

It has been pointed out that the South Plains of Texas at this time is producing practically all the sudan seed that is being planted over the entire nation, and this section due to natural advantages, will continue to furnish this market, as long as good seed is marketed from here. There have been some complaints during the last year or two, of sudan seed from this section being mixed with Johnson grass seed, S. E. Cone, local grain dealer states, and this condition has a serious reaction upon the market value of South Plains sudan seed.

Emphasize Pure Seed.

The importance of planting sudan seed on land that is free from Johnson grass has been emphasized by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural experiment station.

"Practically all of our letters of inquiry regarding sudan seed specify that it be free from Johnson grass," Mr. Jones said when asked about the matter. "Farmers who wish to raise sudan for the seed, should be sure that their planting seed is free of Johnson grass or other impurities and that it should be planted on land that is free from Johnson grass."

Criticism May Be Made.

"If the practice of planting sudan grass on land that is infested with Johnson grass is continued," Cone says, "growers of this section will fail to find a market for their product due to unfavorable criticism that will be incurred by the farmers in other sections who have been troubled with Johnson grass started from the planting of this seed."

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

I promised to write a series of rhythmic exercises which are planned to bring you poise by developing perfect physical co-ordination with a corresponding sense of mental harmony. But before I launch into a description of these exercises let me try to explain the meaning of rhythm in movement.

Most people have a definite sense of rhythm, and in some people this sense is very keenly developed. These are the people who sway so naturally where music is heard, and even find a harmony of sound in vibrations that occur to other people as just plain noise.

If you are among these sensitive, rhythmic souls, you will find the exercises I am about to give you a joy and delight, and you will benefit by them the more because of it.

But, if you are a little less sure of your own sense of rhythm in movement, think what rhythm in other things means to you. Have you ever seen a field of tall grass or grain bowed by the wind? You know how it ripples and sways with a certain evenness of motion. There's rhythm in this—and there's rhythm in the rolling in of ocean waves upon a beach. If you've ever watched them curl and break into foam you must have felt the surging rhythm of their beat—over and over and over.

Your own rhythmic movements should carry something of the same ease and harmony. They must be done to music. No other way is so certain to secure a gentle, flowing movement in place of sharp, jerky ones.

I may seem to contradict myself when I tell you that the very first exercise is not a gentle, flowing one. It is crisp, brisk, vigorous. But this first exercise is to teach you to make your muscles work. When you have taught your body that you are its master, you can learn to do the easy, graceful ones.

Stand up very straight, pressing your shoulders back and keeping your head erect, chin tucked in. Your feet are pointing straight before you. On the first beat of the music, clasp your hands together and bring them to the center of your chest, turning your elbows outward. Be forceful in these movements. (As you say, put "pep" into them.) There are four beats to this exercise. On beat 2, 3 and 4 make short staccato movements, bringing your clenched hands, elbows bent and pointing downward, as close to your shoulders as you can manage, until your shoulder blades protest. Do it hard, four time, at first. Later you can do it 20 times without discomfort.

Do all your movements on the beat of the music. If you fall out "of step" wait for the beat to start again.

President Hoover Seeking Probe Of Patronage Report

Chief Executive Requests Department Of Justice To Investigate Charges Of Corruption In South

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—President Hoover has asked the department of justice to consider the report of the senate committee on federal patronage in the South, which had condemned conditions there and requested an investigation.

"As a matter of fact," President Hoover said, "the report refers to incidents, men and conditions which have already been cleaned up by the action I took on the 26th of March last."

Practices Stopped.

A system has been established under instructions to the various departments of the government, Mr. Hoover continued, by which "these reprehensible practices have been absolutely stopped, and the system of purchase and sale of appointments, so far as it existed, has been ended."

All federal officials known to have engaged in such practices Mr. Hoover added, have either resigned or been removed.

Charges Probed.

The president said the department of justice already had taken under investigation charges, pertaining to other than patronage matters, that the committee had made against two federal officials.

About the time of Mr. Hoover's announcement at the White House, the patronage question was raised again in the senate by Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, who condemned the chief executive and Postmaster General Brown for the appointment of postmasters in South Carolina.

Deliveries To American Cotton Co-Op To Be Largest Ever Received, Claims C. O. Moser, Vice President Of Group

Smallpox Likely To Delay March

ANAND, BOMBAY, PRESIDENCY, India, March 18. (AP)—A case of smallpox was discovered today in Mahatma Gandhi's group of volunteer marchers in the civil disobedience campaign. The dreaded disease had already broken out at Gandhi's "Ashram," or college of devotees near Ahmadabad, before the marchers set out last week.

Gandhi, observing his weekly day of silence, ordered that the stricken volunteer be kept here until he recovered, and that under no circumstances should he be allowed to return to Ahmadabad. There were 22 cases reported in the "Ashram" on the eve of Gandhi's departure.

Gandhi and all his volunteers have been suffering from the intense heat of the Indian sun during their march, and there have been reports from British sources that they might be obliged to give up their journey at Jalapur, which starts again tomorrow.

ASKS LOWER FARES

PARIS, Mar. 17 (AP)—Mme. Camille du Gast, president of Society for Gast, president of the Society for the Protection of Animals, has asked the ministry of public works to compel railroads to lower the fares for dogs. A ride which costs man 15 cents costs 43 cents for the friend of man.

The suspects denied any knowledge of the girls' whereabouts.

Big Year Is Predicted By Dallas Official Of National Association; To Be Here This Month

According to a bulletin received yesterday by N. H. Payne, field representative of the Texas Farm Bureau, from C. O. Moser, of Dallas, vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, it now seems certain that the deliveries to the association comprising the national body will this year be the largest ever received.

The Texas association received 146,321 bales March 8, 1930, as compared with 113,194 for March 9, 1929.

19,611 Members Signed.

Texas has a total of 19,611 members signed under the new contract of the association.

"This year's deliveries is an indication of the spirit of the cotton growers in availing themselves of the cooperation of the Federal Farm Board," wrote Mr. Moser. "We would sound a note of caution, however, regarding the possibility of deliveries by old members and the encouragement of new members to deliver cotton which was not grown by them.

Protection Is Purpose.

"The purpose of the 16-cent loan is that it is exclusively for the protection of members for the cotton which they themselves have grown and any infraction on this spirit is an imposition on the Federal Farm Board and a violation of the policy of the cotton cooperatives and in conflict with the purpose of encouraging non-members to join the association.

"The field man who would knowingly receive deliveries which were not grown by the members is helping to defeat the purpose which the Cotton Cooperatives and the Federal Farm Board had in mind in continuing the 16 per cent loan, and such a practice is certain to discourage in future years policies which are designed to make membership in the cotton cooperatives particularly beneficial and attractive.

"Let us utilize this leverage in obtaining desirable members but let none of us be a party to the pollution of the fine spirit evidenced by the Federal Farm Board towards the cooperatives."

Mr. Moser is expected to appear in Lubbock near the end of this month for the purpose of considering the proposal for making Lubbock a concentration point for marketing of cotton in this area. Exact date of his appearance here has not been ascertained, R. E. Overstreet, state director of the association, announced yesterday.

Lifting The Veil Of Time

A brief summary of Lubbock news of five years ago today, taken from the files of the Morning Avalanche.

MARCH 19, 1925—

Two hundred people attended the Merchants-Farmers luncheon held at the schoolhouse in the McCarty community by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

The W. T. Gregory orphanage, located on the corner of 20th street and Avenue P, was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday morning.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are seeking to establish a uniform tree-line in Lubbock which they believe would lend to the appearance of all trees in the city.

The wholesale "liar" contest, composed of dubs of golfing, turned out with Herbert Stubbs telling the biggest "whooper" on the first round.

The McCarty community, five miles east of Lamesa, has voted $25,000 in bonds for the erection of a modern brick school building.

The "More Feed" campaign was explained more fully to the boys of the junior department of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Wednesday by County Agent D. F. Eaton.

The home of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, was furnished this week.

Edgar Inmon was in charge of the program of the regular luncheon of the Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday.

Amarillo will send a special train to Mineral Wells for the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and will make a fight for the convention to be held in that city next year.

Arrangements are being made to start construction work on the new Methodist church at Monroe next week.

Prospects for a railroad for Dimmitt and Castro county look brighter at the present than they have for the past 15 years.

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP) — H. L. Darwin of Paris, former state senator, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor subject to the democratic primaries.

Mystery of Strange Life of Manby Lifted by Secret Service Discovery

TAOS, N. M., March 18. (AP)—The mysterious cloud surrounding the strange life and death of Arthur R. Manby was partly lifted today following the charge that Manby was a leader in the subrosa "United States Secret Service Society," an alleged scheme for extortion and intimidation.

Manby's decapitated body was found in his home here last July 3. After a jury decided that the man died from natural causes and that his dog, found in the room, had chewed the head from the body, a further investigation by state and federal officers was started.

The latest development was announcement by Herbert Cheetham, deputy sheriff of Taos and a former federal agent. Cheetham said a spell of fear which has closed the lips of certain persons in Taos has been broken, and the society has been revealed as nothing more than a confidence game.

PATROLMEN HERE

Highway Officials Probe Traffic Conditions

Two state highway patrolmen were visitors in Lubbock yesterday making an investigation of traffic conditions over highways of the South Plains.

Lt. Fred Hickman, of Whichita Falls, and S. F. Brougher, of Amarillo, both spent the entire day in the city.

Fifty owners of commercially used vehicles were warned Monday by Patrolmen over the South Plains region when it was found they were using passenger license plates on their machines.

Nearly $10,000,000 "conscience money" was received in British income tax last year from taxpayers who have confessed to frauds against the inland revenue.

Pitching Likely To Prove Worry For Bold Pirates

Manager Jewel Ens Hopeful But Not Overconfident; "More Breaks And Fewer Injuries," Only Request

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18. (AP) —The Pittsburgh Pirates will gamble for the 1930 National league pennant with a "punch at the plate." In the lineup are more potential .300 hitters than usually grace the payrolls of a major circuit club.

The infield appears a "big stick one." Gussie Suhr, recruit ifrst baseman obtained from the San Francisco Seals, who bats from the left side, hit 51 home runs last season and if he clouts half that many this year, Manager Jewel Ens will be satisfied.

Club Boasts Power

George Grantham, who will hold down second base, last season pounded in 90 runs. Captain Harold "Pie" Traynor's ability at the plate needs no describing. Dick Bartell, shortstop, lightest hitter among the regular infielders, demonstrated his batting eye has sharpened in the off-season. The famous Waners, Paul and Lloyd, will hold down right and center field, with Adam Comorsky in the left field outpost again. Paul Waner, league leading swatsmith in 1927, is due for a big year, according to Ens. Lloyd, just recovering from an appendicitis operation, is underweight, but expected to be in shape for the opening.

Pitching problems may pop up for the Pirates. There is reason to believe the absence of Burleigh Grimes, right handed ace, is causing concern. Grimes is holding out for a two year contract, contrary to the management's policy.

Bulky Hurling Staff

Aside from Grimes, Pittsburgh has a bulky hurling staff led by Ray Kremer and Jess Petty, seasoned campaigners, and Larry French, Harry Meine, Steve Swetonic, Ervin Brame and "Lil" Stoner.

All well experienced, three youngsters, Leon Chagnon, Ralph Erickson and Glenn Spencer, will be carried until the season is at least well under way. Petty and French are the left handed regulars while Erickson also flings from the port side.

The first string catching job is still one to be decided. Until Al Bool was purchased last winter from Baltimore of the International league, Ralston Hemsley appeared to be the favorite. In the meantime, Charley Hargreaves, one of the club's oldsters, has shown a return to form during the training season so the backstop situation may not be cleared up until the Pirate get on the ground for their opener.

Ens Hopeful

Ens, starting his first full season as pilot, is hopeful, but not overconfident. "All we want is a few breaks," he says, "and fewer injuries, and the Pirates will be up there."

Stangel Predicts New Plains Loop

Tech Athletic Chairman Believes At Least Four Schools Will Join Proposed Conference

W. L. Stangel, head of the Texas Tech athletic council and chairman of a committee named to formulate plans for the new athletic conference for West Texas and New Mexico institutions of higher education, predicted here Tuesday that the proposed Staked Plains conference will be perfected Saturday when six prospective members meet at Sweetwater to draw up a constitution and complete set of by-laws for the loop.

"I see no reason why at least a four-club conference cannot start operation at the beginning of the 1930 school year," Stangel said, "and there is a strong possibility that six schools will join the circuit. With Texas Tech and Simmons University taking the lead, formation of the conference appears an almost certainty."

To Present By-Laws

Stangel will present a set of constitution and by-laws at the session at Sweetwater but insists that other prospective member school representatives will be given an opportunity to propose their ideas for the operation of the conference.

The meeting is set to begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. It is planned to complete all details by mid-afternoon. Prof. W. A. Jackson, head of Tech government department, and M. T. Warlick, business manager of athletics, will accompany Stangel.

Following are the institutions recently invited to send representatives to the confab: West Texas State Teachers College of Canyon; Simmons University of Abilene; Texas School of Mines at El Paso; New Mexico University, of Albuquerque and the New Mexico A. & M., of Las Cruces.

Law Laid Down On "Swooning Swans"

New York Commission Turns Loose Murderous Barrage On Evil Of Foul And Foul Fighters

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP) — The New York State Athletic commission turned loose a murderous body barrage today on the evil of fouls and foul fighters.

Stirred to bitterness by the epidemic of low blows, both real and imaginary, that have tainted recent important matches here, the commissioners set up a new punative code for the treatment of "swooning swans" and decided to battle for new state legislation on the subject if the present reliefs proved inadequate.

Beginning today every puncher who loses here on a foul will be automatically suspended for two months for his first offense, four months for the second and six for his third. A fourth offender will receive capital punishment analagous to the famous Baumes Law for New York criminals—a life sentence.

Furthermore gladiators who foul will be paid in the future only for the completed rounds before the disqualification. For the time being the remainder of their purses will be turned over to the promoters of the match.

Biting Wind And Soggy Track Hold Down Meet Marks

Westerners Score 76 Points To 71 For Tiger Rookies; Otis Cannon Takes Individual Scoring Honors

Running abainst a cold north wind on a soggy track, Lubbock High school's reserve trackmen nosed out the rookies of Coach Paul Wright's Slaton squad Tuesday afternoon by the slender margin of 76 to 71.

The abrupt drop in temperature as well as the slow condition of the track worked a decided handicap on the competing track candidates, many of whom were entered in their first meet. The result that the marks recorded in both track and field events were far below standard.

Meet Brings Results

In spite of the adverse conditions, the practice meet brought out a number of promising tracksters on both squads, which, incidently, was the purpose of the event.

Running of R. C. Douglas, Westerner first-year candidate, in the dashes; the showing of Carroll McCasland, Lubbock grid lineman, in the 880-yard run and the individual performance of Otis Cannon, of Slaton, were the outstanding features of the afternoon's activities.

The brunette member of the Slaton brother act carried off scoring honors for the meet, registering 21 points for the Tiger reserves. First place in the 120-yard low hurdles and javelin throw; second in the 220-yard low hurdles, discus throw and pole vault and third in the 100-yard dash tells the story of his point winning feat.

Douglas Looks Good

Douglas broke the tape in both the 100 and 220. It was his first appearance in senior high school competition. A sophomore at Lubbock high, R. C. comes to Lowrey's squad from the junior high school ranks. The Westerner mentor was highly pleased with his showing and he had plenty of right to be pleased. Douglas has the earmarks of a natural sprinter and may prove the answer to the problem of filling the shoes of Yancey Price.

Carroll McCasland and Demp Cannon staged a "horse race" in the half mile. The former set the pace up until the last 220 yard stretch when his Slaton rival came up on his heels. When the pair reached the straight-away, they were side by side, but McCasland's reserve strength sent him ahead at the finish.

The results by events:

120-yard high hurdles—O. Cannon, Slaton, first; Mahle, Slaton second; Raney, Lubbock, third; Boozer, Lubbock, fourth. Time 19.5.

100-yard dash—Douglas, Lubbock, first; Pace, Lubbock, second; O. Cannon, Slaton, third; Climer, Slaton, fourth. Time 11.2.

880-yard run—McCasland, Lubbock, first; D. Cannon, Slaton, second; Pottert, Slaton, third; Covington, Slaton, fourth. Time 2:23.

220-yard low hurdles—Murray, Lubbock, first; O. Cannon, Slaton, second; Watson, Lubbock, third; Mahle, Slaton, fourth. Time 30 seconds flat.

440-yard dash — Bunn, Slaton, first; Armes, Slaton, second; Morgan, Lubbock, third; Kessel, Slaton, fourth. Time 59 seconds.

220-yard dash—Douglas, Lubbock, first; Pace, Lubbock, second; Murray, Lubbock, Third; Bogan, Lubbock, fourth. Time 26.5.

Mile run—Mercer, Slaton, first; Regan, Lubbock, second; McColhum, Slaton, third; Pressley, Lubbock, fourth. Time 5:23.

One mile relay—Won by Lubbock (Lee, Douglas, McCaslin and Watson). Time 3:58. Slaton team composed of Bunn, Armes, O. Cannon and Johnson.

Shot put—Brastfield, Slaton, first; Benton, Slaton, second; Fouts, Slaton, third; Lane, Lubbock, fourth. Distance 39 feet 1 1-2 inches.

Discus — McCasland, Lubbock, first; O. Cannon, Slaton, second; Benton, Slaton, third; Armes, Slaton, fourth. Distance 91 feet 4 inches.

Javelin—O. Cannon, Slaton, first; Benton, Slaton, second; Alford, Slaton, third; Watson, Lubbock, fourth. Distance 135 feet 2 inches.

Broad jump — Bogan, Lubbock, first; Blagg, Lubbock, second; Pace, Lubbock, third; D. Cannon, Slaton, fourth. Distance 17 feet.

Pole vault—Tipton, Lubbock, first, O. Cannon, Slaton, second; Blagg, Lubbock, third; Snyder, Lubbock, fourth. Height 8 feet.

Halt To Downward Trend In Average Crude Production

Increase Of Nearly 50,000 Barrels Registered For Week Ending March 15th —Grand Total Boosted

TULSA, Okla., March 18. (AP) — Bringing to an abrupt halt a downward trend that brought a decrease of 146,890 barrels in the daily average estimated production of light and heavy crude during the weeks ending March 8 and 15, an increase of 45,099 barrels was registered during the week ending March 15, to bring the grand total for the country to 2,584,407 barrels.

This increase, as shown by the current report of the Oil and Gas Journal, was registered chiefly in the Oklahoma area where 47,700 barrels were added due to increases of 22,110 and 27,150 in the Oklahoma City and Seminole areas respectively. Small decreases were registered in other state fields.

Light oil production in the Mid-Continent area gained 59,591 barrels; heavy oil, less than 1,000. The West Texas area climbed 3,000 barrels. Gulf Coast and Southwest Texas heavy crude areas halted precipitous upward trends registered over the past six weeks to drop slightly below the mark for the preceding week.

Rock Mountain area gained 4,000 barrels, and California lost 17,200 in light and 3,500 in heavy oil. Decreases in the Pacific coast field group were general. The grand total for the week ending March 8 was 2,538,308. The light oil increase for the past week was 52,726. Heavy oil dropped 7,227 barrels.

Kansas production was 116,210 compared with 113,540 for the week ending March 8.

Local Authorities Take Over Nanking

Government Offices And All Administrative Bureaus In Peiping Taken Under Orders Of General

PEIPING, China, March 18. (AP)—All Nanking government offices and administrative bureaus in Peiping, former capital of China, were taken over today by the local authorities who said they were acting under orders of Yen Hsi-Shan, so called "model governor" of Shansi province.

The action implied a very definite widening of the breach between the administration of President Chiang Kai-Shek at Nanking, in central and south China, and the Shansi Kuominchun generals, headed by Yen.

In Complete Control

The northern group is now in complete control of the situation here.

The offices taken over by the municipal authorities included the telephone and telegraph administrations, the Peiping-Hankow railway administration, the vernacular North China Daily News, the nationalist organ here, and the former home of Wellington Koo, which Chiang Kai-Shek has reserved as official residence. Peiping district offices of the Kuomintang also were taken over.

The authorities, accompanied by soldiers of Yen Hsi-Shan, went about in groups and accomplished their mission quietly. It was said they met no resistance. Many nationalist leaders realized this move might come at any moment and some already had vacated their posts, while others had left the city.

Iso-Thermic Tubes

. . . the automatic self-starting device for fast freezing of ice and desserts . . .

Now you can freeze ice cubes and delicious desserts faster than ever before. All new Kelvinators have special Iso-Thermic compartment (indicated by arrow)—the world's fastest freezing automatic device.

Iso-Thermic Tubes for Automatic Fast Freezing

Here is a feature that will appeal to every user of electric refrigeration—a special Kelvinator compartment that gives extra-fast freezing, automatically. Note the spiral coil of Iso-Thermic Tubes, indicated by arrows. This is, in effect, a Cold Plate, in which intense cold is concentrated. Ice cubes and desserts are frozen in half the usual time. Yet food compartments are not affected. A feature exclusive to Kelvinator and standard equipment on all 1930 Kelvinator models.

FOR 15 years, Kelvinator engineers have striven to make electric refrigeration more trouble-free, more automatic, more complete in the service it renders to users.

The results of this policy are evident in a first inspection of the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators now available in a wide range of self-contained models.

Iso-Thermic Tubes, for example, are found only in the new Kelvinators. Built around a special freezing tray, this new device automatically starts freezing operations when a tray of water or dessert is placed within. Ice cubes and frozen desserts are prepared in record time. There is nothing to watch or regulate.

But Kelvinator design carefully keeps this extreme cold in its right place. A separate temperature—scientifically correct for proper preservation of foods—is automatically maintained in the food compartments. Thus, food cannot be spoiled through freezing or too high a temperature.

With all their improvements in fully automatic operation and in far finer cabinet designs, the new Kelvinators are most moderately priced. See them today and learn how easily you may enjoy this modern refrigeration service now through Kelvinator's attractive ReDuCo monthly budget plan.

SHORT-VISIONED COMMUNISTS

THE majority of citizens of this country of ours are sane and sensible, happy and contented. For that reason the baleful influence of Communism is not likely to permeate our governmental structure and America's own particular civilization. And because of Communism's own principles, brought forcefully home in the news of the day, neither is it apt to flourish over any appreciable portion of the world.

The Heaven-nurtured barrier, which at present stands between the average world citizen and Communism, is of course that which has been erected as a result of the bitter battle Russian Communists are waging against all forms of religion. If leaders of the movement could see further than their own greasy noses they would realize that the surest way to promote distrust and enmity is to attack any religion, sect or creed. That attack, as The Morning Avalanche sees it, unmistakably brands Communism as unstable, untrustworthy and altogether distasteful.

The average human being logically looks to a higher being for guidance, solace and worship.

He sees, upon every hand, the work of man as compared to the work of God and perceives the futility of the former, the randeur of the latter. Any group or organization failing to recognize the difference becomes, to the most of us, hateful and suspicious—something to be despised and avoided as a corruption.

Every man is benefitted through allegiance to some form of religion, whether it be Christian, Mohammedan, Buddist or Semite. Without its various forms of Diety-worship the world, of course, would be a much sorrier place in which to exist. Communists, in failing to realize the fact are weakening their own cause, practically prohibiting its spread and causing its principles to be subject to avoidance.

All of which, as your newspaper views it, is a fortunate thing.

IT'S IN THE CONSTITUTION

"The idea that the republic was created for the benefit of the individual is a mockery that must be eradicated at the first dawn of undertaking."

That is not the amazing utterance of some red, red Bolsheviki nor of a communist agitator. They are the words of President Hoover spoken in his address to the Boy Scouts of America and their leaders.

What the president intended by those words has not been explained, for none would accuse him of communistic beliefs and tendencies. The whole career of the man stamps him as an individualist.

If the republic was not created for the benefit of the individual, then for whom was it created? For the Republican party? For the jobholders? For Big business?

Has the president forgotten that clause of the Declaration of Independence which reads:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are . . . endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men."

Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness are individual rights, and cannot be anything but individual rights.

The republic was created for the individual, for the millions of individuals within its borders. Moreover, the government belongs to every individual citizen.

RAISING A RED GHOST

It is a rather formidable committee that has organized to aid Police Commissioner Whalen of New York in his attack on "the red menace," and it is apparently indorsed by the City Chamber of Commerce. The counter-attack against communism intends harsh measures, including the deportation of all alien agitators and the deprival of known communists of their jobs with capitalistic employers.

In this program there is possibly more logic than sound sense. Part of it is already in good hands, since the United States government is constantly busy in returning rebellious aliens to their own countries and can do so with unquestioned authority when an agitator becomes a public nuisance. The drive on the communists' jobs is a potentially dangerous weapon, to those who use it. It suggests a sort of terrorism which will not particularly appeal to the American sense of fair play and will sometimes result in rank injustice. It proposes that an employer shall inquire into his workers' private opinions as well as into their fitness for the work to be done. It offers an oportunity for one man to attack another's job with scandal and suspicion. And it leaves quite undetermined what shade of pink is to be considered dangerous to American industry and the peace of business.

OLD JOE GRUNDY NOW REALIZES INFLUENCE OF SENATORIAL TOGA

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Old Joe Grundy of Pennsylvania has discovered that a man in a senatorial toga is more influential than he imagined.

Old Joe always recognized the utility of a staff of stuffed togas—working for him. Until recently, however, he evidently felt that the right place for a real politician was in the background, pulling strings for the stuffed togas to dance to.

When he allowed Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania, to appoint him, personally, last December, to serve for a congressional session as a toga's stuffing, it was not because he had any ambitions of that sort.

It was because one of Pennsylvania's togas had become unstuffed and had to be padded out somehow; and no ready-made stuffing that suited old Joe being available on short notice, he simply had to step into the garment temporarily (as he thought then) to keep it occupied.

Undoubtedly the experience humiliated old Joe at first, and yet it taught him a couple of lessons.

Firstly, it taught him that no stuffed toga can perform as effectively as a toga with an able, resolute, hard-boiled human being inside it. Secondly, it taught him that a human being, even of the admirable Rotarian type aforesaid, can get away with certain desirable stunts, in a toga, that the same individual, clad in a sack suit, is apt to fail at.

So old Joe has decided to hang onto his toga—politics permitting.

For instance, nobody paid any attention to a speech old Joe made some time before last inauguration day, expressing strong skepticism concerning Mr. Hoover's political acumen. He did it in a sack suit; hence without a particle of eclat.

Then, in due course, as Senator Grundy, old Joe donned his toga.

Immediately all the newspapers dug up this very identical speech and plastered it all over their front pages.

As Senator Grundy (in a toga), old Joe created a first-class sensation by broadcasting the recent story that President Hoover never did like the high tariff bill which the Republican house of representatives passed last spring, but is delighted with the fashion in which the anti-G. O. P. senate has torn the measure to pieces.

The same thing would have been little heeded, coming from him in a sack suit, as plain Joseph R. Grundy.

Old Joe, who needs no X-ray machine to see through a grindstone, is quick to appreciate that the toga is what adds to his utterances' publicity value.

It is true that, in his pre-toga period, Senator Grundy could have disseminated his ideas through one of his stuffed togas, but it would not have had the same weight—because a stuffed toga speaks with nothing like the authority of a sure-enough senator, and Senator Grundy is genuine if ever a senator was, despite the fact that he is only an appointed one.

Elected, he will enjoy still more prestige, to be sure. Old Joe perceives it. Accordingly, next November he proposes to get himself elected.

Usually, what a man can have and does not want, he has difficulty in getting when he does want it.

It is the case with old Joe Grundy.

He could have been senator several times, before actual experience sold him on the proposition that a toga is worth having. Now that he is sold, he is going to have opposition.

MENTAL DISTURBANCE IS USUALLY BACK OF INABILITY TO SLEEP

Editor's Note: This is the last of three articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein, America's outstanding medical authority, on the subject of sleep.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In a recent consideration of insomnia, Dr. Joseph Collins classifies three classes of poor sleepers.

Some have trouble getting to sleep. If they are allowed to sleep late into the morning they do not seem to suffer from their troubles, but since most people have to get up at a certain hour in the morning in order to work, such people not infrequently seem to show the effects of lack of sleep.

Sooner or later this type of person begins to dread his inability to fall asleep and that tends to make the matters worse. Such failure to fall asleep easily depends on mental conditions, including excitement, fear, anxiety, overwork, and the use of chemical stimulants, such as caffein in tea or coffee. Many people begin to think about their troubles as soon as they get to bed and naturally find trouble in falling asleep.

A quarrel before going to sleep, anxiety as to the illness of some member of the family or as to one's own physical condition or excitement attending some public effort may be the reason for inability to fall asleep easily.

Another type of poor sleeper has no difficulty falling asleep when first going to bed, but wakes up after a few hours and is then unable to fall asleep again or else completes the night with periods of sleep of about one-half to one hour each.

This type of person, according to Doctor Collins, invariably has some form of indigestion or constipation which gives him internal disturbances. He may be addicted to alcohol; he may have hardening of the arteries. When he awakens in the middle of the night he begins to go over in his mind all of the troubles in his past; the old troubles arouse the old emotions and sleep disappears.

The third variety of bad sleeper apparently puts in the required number of hours but awakens tired and exhausted as though he had not slept at all. Refreshing sleep must come with freedom from care. When the person awakens to find that his mind is troubled with exactly the same difficulties that he had when he went to bed, the sleep is not likely to help him greatly.

As is obvious from these discussions, the most important step in freedom from insomnia is control of the mental point of view. It is important to see that the body is in good physical condition and that the brain is not overstimulated by hcemical stimulants.

The cultivation of the proper point of view toward anxiety, worry or grief is of the utmost importance. These mental difficulties are reflected in the appetite, the failure to eat and the difficulties of digestion.

Those whose minds are in proper condition do not have difficulties with sleep even after drinking a cup of coffee just before going to bed. Sleep is a habit which can be improved by training

NEA FICTION FEATURE

AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

THE CRIME: Doris Matthews, lady's maid, murdered Friday night in summerhouse by blow with heavy perfume flask; body rock-weighted, dumped into lake on estate of millionaire Berkeleys.

DETECTIVES: Bonnie Dundee, guest at time of crime and discoverer of body; Captain Strawn of the Homicide Squad.

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSEHOLD: Mrs. George BERKELEY, social climber; George Berkeley, opposed to his daughter CLORINDA'S engagement to SEYMOUR CROSBY, New York society widower and a close friend of Mrs. Berkeley's social secretary, MRS. LETTIA LAMBERT; CLORINDA Berkeley, engaged to Crosby; GIGI Berkeley; DICK Berkeley, drunk Friday night, and so infatuated with Doris that he had forced her to agree to meet him later, although she was engaged to EUGENE ARNOLD, chauffeur; WICKETT, butler, formerly in employ of both Mrs. Lambert and Crosby.

While detectives scour the estate for Dick Berkeley, missing from his room all night, Dundee reconstructs crime, which he believes was impromptu, and committed by a member of the household, because of the perfume flask used as a weapon. Strawn announces his intention of searching for garments smelling of the perfume, but Dundee tells him that every person in the drawing room Friday night had been splashed with it by Gigi—including the butler.

After coroner removes body from summerhouse, Strawn and Dundee inform Berkeley household that it is murder, not suicide, and go up to question Mrs. Berkeley, still in bed. When told Dick is missing, Mrs. Berkeley hysterically accuses Arnold of murdering both Doris and Dick because of jealousy; says Arnold threatened to kill them both on Friday if they "double-crossed" him. Mrs. Berkeley's revelations are interrupted by the sudden appearance of Dick Berkeley himself.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

"Where did you come from?" Captain Strawn demanded. "I suppose you're Dick Berkeley?"

"In person, though I admit I don't feel quite all here. Terrible head, in fact," and the young man in the doorway to Mrs. Berkeley's bedroom bowed ironically. He was dressed in tennis flannels and a blue coat; he had just shaved, and his reddish-brown hair gleamed wetly.

"As to where I came from, dear old sleuth—if you must know, I came from my room, descended to the front hall on my way to snatch a cup of much-needed coffee, ran into old Wickett, who looked at me as if he'd seen a ghost; also collided with a covey of rare birds who said they were detectives. One of them said I was most urgently wanted up here—and here I am!"

"Well!" Strawn ejaculated, and was guilty of scratching his iron-gray head like any comic sleuth of fiction. He glanced at Dundee helplessly, then recovered sufficiently to bellow: "And how did you get in your room, I'd like to know, without any of the men seeing you? Where did you spend the night?"

"One question at a time, Sherlock," Dick Berkeley protested; then laying a hand to his brow: "And would you mind speaking more softly? You're hurting my head—and Mother's, too, I see." Ignoring his mother's "My darling boy! You're safe!", he answered Strawn's first question with apparent good humor: "You didn't happen to have one of your flatfeet stationed on the little stairs that lead to the top of the tower? Otherwise I should probably have bumped into him, as I was none too steady on my pins then. But a cold shower and about a pint of ice water turned the trick nicely, thank you. Ice water on tap in all the bathrooms; every comfort of a first-class hotel, and we can now include house detectives, I see, Abbie," he added to his mother.

"Are you telling me you spent the night in the top room of the tower?" Strawn demanded sourly.

"Right you are, Sherlock!"

"And what were you doing there? . . . My name's Captain Strawn, by the way."

"And a devilish curious fellow you are, too, Captain, if you don't mind my saying so," Dick said cheerfully. "As a matter of fact, I was sleeping there—sleeping, that is, after about 12 o'clock, I should say."

"And why did you go there to sleep?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, Captain Strawn, I didn't go up there with the intention of sleeping," Dick answered, his cheerfulness suddenly giving way to angry annoyance. "Why I went there is strictly my own affair. I happened to fall asleep, as I said, and did not wake up till about 20 minutes ago."

"You see?" Abbie Berkeley cried with hysterical joy. "The poor boy doesn't know a thing about it! Kiss me, George darling! I'm so happy!"

"I'm asking you—and I warn you to give me a straight answer with no nonsense; did you go to the tower room to meet Doris Matthews?" Strawn asked sternly.

Dick Berkeley's weakly handsome young face flushed scarlet beneath the fine sprinkling of reddish freckles. Furiously he turned upon Dundee: "So you've been telling tales, have you? And I thought you were a friend of mine!"

"Mr. Dundee's a detective, too, Dick!" Mrs. Berkeley sobbed. "Oh, my poor boy! You don't know—"

"A detective!" Dick echoed blankly. Then his face, which had turned very pale, twisted into a grin. "I say, that's a great sell for me, isn't it? I invite a friend here for the week-end and he turns into a detective to spy on me. . . Or, say, was it Crosby you had your eye on, and I just happened to tumble into your net?"

Strawn saved Dundee the embarrassment of replying. "I'm waiting for an answer, Berkeley. Did you go to the tower room to meet Doris Matthews?"

Dick glanced first at his father, then at his mother before answering. Then he flung up his head defiantly. "I did! And Mother knows why I wanted to see her so badly last night. I wanted to ask her to marry me!"

"Oh, Oh! Mrs. Berkeley moaned, covering her face with her hands, but the father stared at the son as if he were looking upon a lunatic stranger.

"And did she consent to marry you?" Strawn pursued relentlessly.

"No! She—she didn't come," Dick admitted. "Say, Dundee, what the devil are you writing there? Am I being 'grilled,' as the papers put it?"

Dundee glanced at Strawn, and the chief of the homicide squad nooded grimly. "Dick, I'm taking

'House Gag Rules' Get Denouncement

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—Representative Howard, 70-year-old Nebraska democrat, today denounced what he termed "the gag rules of the house" and "absolute control by the triune will of three."

He proclaimed the United States senate the only national forum preserving the power of free speech, and announced that in Washington was a man far more powerful than the president of the United States—"Our princely colleague, the gentleman from New York, Mr. Snell, chairman of the gag rules committee of this house." He did not name the other two persons concerned in what he called "the rule of three."

down what you say because this is an investigation into a — murder!"

The young man's body sagged as if he had been hit in the stomach. "Murder?"

"Doris Matthews' body was found in the lake this morning," Dundee explained quietly. "She had been either stunned or killed in the summerhouse and her body rolled down the steps into the water."

It was nearly five minutes before the questioning could continue, for Dick Berkeley turned so sick that Dundee had to abandon his notepaper and lead the boy to the bathroom. At last seated on the orchid-enamel bench before the low basin, set in a big orchid-colored porcelain dressing table, Dick spoke to his friend:

"Ever been in love, Dundee? . . . And lose her? God, I'm sick! And I can't believe it yet. . Not lovely little Doris—"

When he was better Dundee helped him back into the bedroom, where his mother was holding out her arms. But Dick ignored them and slumped into one of the pale-green satin boudoir chairs. Dundee took his own chair again and very quietly began the unpleasant task of dragging the boy's story from him.

With the questions deleted, and without the numerous interruptions which marked the telling of it, Dick Berkeley's story, in the form to which Dundee later reduced it, follows:

"I have been in love with Doris Matthews ever since the day I met her, which was Saturday, Aug. 10, the day Mother and Clorinda, accompanied by Wickett, Doris and Mrs Lambert, came home from New York. They had been abroad for a year—Mother and Clorinda, I mean. I think Doris liked me a lot, too, at first, though she never said so. She was always talking about 'knowing her place,' and all that rot.

"But as soon as Mother hired Eugene Arnold as a chauffeur I knew I didn't have much chance. Since he was a sort of servant, too, Doris felt all right about going with him, and it wasn't a week before they were spending most of their time off together. I saw her as much as I could, but she never would go anywhere with me or even take a walk about the grounds at night. And I was getting crazier about her every day. At first, I admit, I didn't think about marrying her, but when she and Arnold got engaged last Sunday night and told the family Monday, I went off my head, I guess. I knew then I'd marry her in a minute if she'd have me, but she wouldn't give me a chance to talk to her.

"Yesterday just before lunch I saw her go into Mother's room and followed her. I—I was telling her how much I loved her, and—and I guess I tried to kiss her, when Mother and Arnold came in from a shopping trip. Arnold saw me trying to kiss her, and he went wild. He—he said he'd kill us both if Doris was double-crossing him with me. Mother heard the row from her sitting room and came in. I was afraid she'd fire Doris, as well as Arnold.

"Anyway, Mother got rid of both of them and tried to make me promise not to have anything more to do with Doris. As if Doris herself would let me! I told her I was crazy about Doris, that I was going to ask her to marry me the first chance I got. She had a fit, of course, and swore she'd discharge Doris as soon as 'Lord' Crosby's visit was over. I told her if she did I'd walk out of the house myself.

"Well, you know the rest, Dundee. I got pretty tight at dinner and afterwards, and when Mother lit into Gigi I got so fed up I bolted. Doris was in the back hall, alone for the moment. The radio was playing, and I made her dance with me, and tried to get her to say she'd meet me in the tower room after the family was in bed. Told her I had something important to ask her. You heard her say she'd meet me. I didn't know whether she meant it or not, but I wasn't taking any chances of missing her in case she did. So I went upstairs before the party broke up, smoked awhile and drank the whisky I'd sneaked from the sideboard after dinner. It was about five to 11 when I went up to the tower room. I listened at the stairhead and heard the Smiths saying good-night, so I beat it up quick, so as not to be seen. Doris had admitted she didn't have to wait up for Mother, and I thought she could get to the tower room, too, without anyone's being the wiser.

"Well, she didn't come. I smoked six or eight cigarets and read an old detective story magazine I'd left up there years ago—the tower room was my favorite hiding-out place when I was a kid—and then about midnight I must have fallen asleep, just as I said. It was nearly nine when I woke, and I beat it downstairs to my room, had a shower, shaved and dressed. You know the rest. . . . No, I didn't look out of the tower windows toward the lake, and I didn't hear a thing. It's pretty hard to hear anything up there."

When he had finished Captain Strawn beckoned to Dundee. "We'll check up on that tower room right now, Dundee. Then, Mrs Berkeley, I'll come back to your story. In the meantime, I'll give orders to the butler to serve breakfast downstairs and to have a tray sent up to you. . Yes, ma'am!" he added emphatically, as Mrs. Berkeley began to swell with indignation, "I'm running this house now—till Doris Matthews murder is cleared up!"

Wichita Resident Recommends It

Indigestion Gone! Has A Fine Appetite Since Taking Orgatone, Feels Splendid

"I am certainly glad to say a good word for Orgatone (Orgotane)," said Mr. J. L. Towell, retired business man, who was formerly in the real estate and oil business, who resides at 1500 Burnett.

"I am enjoying better health than I have in years, since I have taken two bottles of Orgatone (Orgotane)," he continued.

"For about the last 10 or 20 years I have suffered dreadfully from stomach and nervous indigestion. I've had several pains in my right side. I had no appetite at all and I would bloat up and gas formed on my stomach after eating. Gas crowded my heart and caused me to have smothering spells and I thought I had heart trouble. My nerves were so badly upset and for months and months I couldn't get any rest and would not go to sleep until about 3:00 o'clock in the morning."

"When I saw Orgatone (Orgotane) advertised, I began taking it. I have not finished my first bottle when I noticed I was getting better. My appetite is simply enormous and I eat anything I want without being troubled afterward. I never have a headache and the gas that used to crowd my heart has gone. I know now that it wasn't heart trouble. My nerves are in good condition and I sleep fine every night. In fact, my whole system has been relieved and Orgatone (Orgotane) has done wonders for me and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Lubbock at Bowen's Drug Store. Adv.

Cotton Higher; Mart At High Pitch

Prices Irregular As Trade Buying Reveals Strength

General Trend Is Upward In Spite Of Reactions Under Realizing; Close Steady At Advances

NEW ORLEANS, March 18. (AP)—Cotton prices moved irregularly higher today when trade buying with near positions showing about twice as much strength as more distant months. Although the market reacted at times under realizing, the general trend was upward and prices reached the highest of the day in final trading when May sold at 15.30, the option closed at 15.28 for a net gain of 43 points. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 26 to 43 points.

Liverpool cables were favorable and resulted in an opening advance here of 5 to 7 points. The market continued to advance after the start until by the end of the first hour active positions showed gains of 16 to 22 points.

Towards noon there was a further rally. May traded up to 15.15, and July 15.25, or 24 to 30 points above the previous close, while October remained around 15, or 16 points net up.

Cotton Mart Shows Continued Nervousness

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—Cotton showed continued nervousness today with further covering by trade or speculative shorts in the near months sending the price of May contracts up to 15.59 in the late trading or 43 points above yesterday's closing quotation and more than $7.50 per bale above the low level of last week. That delivery closed at 15.55 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 34 to 50 points on the old crop months, while the old October contract was 26 points higher and other deliveries showed net gains of about 11 to 23 points.

Corn Leads Grain Upward in Prices

CHICAGO, March 18. (AP)—Corn led all grain upward in price today, and finished at virtually the top level reached. Announcement of 3,245,000 bushels decrease of the world's wheat available supply tended to strengthen wheat values, as did expectance of a cold wave Friday.

Closing quotations both on corn and wheat were firm, with corn 3-4 @1 5-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's latest figures. Wheat finished 1-8@5-8c up, oats 1-8@7-8c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Rural offerings of corn today were small and arrivals in Chicago amounted to but 63 cars against 142 cars a week ago. Six vessel cargoes of corn were reported as having been chartered to leave Chicago at the opening of navigation. The oats market followed corn rather than wheat.

The total was expected to reach approximately $5,000,000.

Prison Measure Up To Moody

AUSTIN, March 18. —(AP)—The troublesome penitentiary reformation legislation had been boiled down to a bill authorizing the expenditure of $575,000 in renovating existing properties today, and was up to Governor Moody for action.

There was much speculation as to whether the governor would approve the compromise bill, the chief executive having argued that to spend any great amount of money on patching existing properties would be in the nature of sending "good money after bad."

Warning Given

Members of the conference committee working on a compromise had received unofficial warning that if the bill proposed an appropriation in excess of $400,000, Governor Moody would likely veto it.

The waning session, which expires by constiutional limitation Thursday, still has before it the matters of a sulphur tax and passing appropriations to meet emergency needs of the state schools, penitentiary system, eleemosynary institutions and departments.

The prison bill directs the expenditure of $150,000 on the walls at Huntsville; $300,000 on the farms; an additional $100,000 for Gores farm, where women prisoners are kept and Wynne farm, where tubercular convicts are quartered and $25,000 for a system of inter-prison highways.

Pipe Line Bill Made Into Law

AUSTIN, March 18. —(AP)—With the notation that it "may not work any good," but that he had not been shown "where it will work any harm," Governor Moody today filed with the secretary of state without his signature the bill to enlarge powers of the railroad commission in regulating pipe lines and crude oil storage facilities.

The bill will become effective 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

It would make public utilities of pipe lines and storage tanks and subject them to rules governing common carrier and common purchasers.

"I cannot foretell the results of this bill," he said in a notation he made on it, in which he reviewed the present crude oil "situation," adding: "It was intended to prevent a monopoly and to improve present distressing conditions. Some independent oil operators have opposed it, but the overwhelming majority of oil men not connected with any major company are strong in their support of this measure. I feel that in a large measure monopolies and trusts are responsible for the losses our state is now sustaining in what is being produced from its oil resources. I am opposed to these tendencies."

Cattle Receipts Light to Moderate Around Eleven Mart Circuit Tuesday

KANSAS CITY, March 18. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.) Cattle receipts around the eleven market circuit were light to moderate the curtailment not sufficient to off-set a slow demand for dressed beef. Killing classes unevenly steady to 25c lower. Quality plain light yearlings in Chicago cashed up to 14.50; while at Omaha 13.65 was scored on light weight steers and 13.60 on choice 1388 lb. weights. Stockers and feeders steady to easier. Aggregate receipts estimated at 31,200, a decrease of 4,000 from last Tuesday and 9,000 short of a year ago.

Shippers filled their orders for lighter weight hogs at steady to 25c lower than Monday. Butchers scaled above 250 lbs. steady to slightly higher. Extreme top of 10.75 paid at Chicago. Total offerings around 60,900 against 75,883 a week ago and 113,686 the corresponding day last year.

Fat lamb trade slow at steady to 25c lower rates. Chicago realized 10.90 on choice light weight fed wooled lambs and secured 9.75 for choice 78 lb. shorn arrivals. Supply 67,700 a decrease of 2,500 from a week ago, but 31,500 heavier than a year ago.

NEGROES ARRESTED

Blacks Charged In Attack And Shooting

HOUSTON, March 18. (AP)—Tom Buckner and Robert Johnson, negroes, were arrested today and charged with vagrancy, carrying a pistol, robbery with firearms and criminal assault in connection with the holdup of Ramiro Rodizy of Galveston and an attack upon Mrs. Rodizy. Johnson was named on the assault charge.

Rodizy told officers he and Mrs. Rodizy were returning from Dallas, en route to Galveston today and that on the Cedar Bayou road, near Goosecreek, the negroes asked permission to ride.

Unfamiliar with the roads, he said, he took them in, thinking they might direct him. Suddenly one of the negroes drew a revolver and forced Rodizy from the machine.

The husband ran to the nearest telephone and summoned officers. Mrs. Rodizy was found later in the automobile with torn clothing. She said one of the negroes had criminally assaulted her.

TWO PERMITS ISSUED

Two permits were issued yesterday from the city hall to bring Lubbock's building valuations for the month to $49,125; for 19 permits.

The permits were issued as follows: $2,000, to O. R. Davis for addition to residence at 1923 Main street; $200, to Apolino Chaboz for erection of a box residence on Avenue J, B. F. Wright, contractor.

Valuations for the year now total $304,035, for 72 permits.

Charles Brough

over produced.

"A mystic tie binds Arkansas and Texas together," Mr. Brough declared. "Arkansas was carved out of Missouri and Texas. Moses Austin, father of Stephen F. Austin, founder of the Texas republic, built the first house in Little Rock. The immortal Sam Houston lived for two years in Arkansas."

South Praised

Speaking upon the subject, "The Glory of The Old South and The Greatness of The New," the former governor cited numerous facts to prove that this nation's foundation of education, manufacture, industry and commerce came from the Old South prior to the war between the states. "So strong was the south, industrially, at the start of the Civil war," he said, "that President Lincoln said, 'Take away from us the south, and where shall we get our revenue?' The south measures up in literature, with such immortal names as Edgar Allen Poe and Sidney Lanier. The Old South was the home of chaste, elegant and pure diction. It led in establishment of colleges and universities, and in patronage of such institutions.

"You and I," he continued, "can thank God today that the old South, with its glories and traditions is dead. A south of union and freedom, a living, moving, breathing Southland is ours today." And he spoke then of the great strides forward made throughout the south during the past few years, citing its unlimited resources yet to be developed.

Says West Texas Slighted

Ex.-Gov. Brough declared that West Texas has not received a square deal from the state nor the national governments, urging every West Texan to be on guard to fight for best interests of this section.

"There is very little to this farm relief proposition," he declared. "All this paternalism will not cure the ills of the farmer." He said relief can come only through giving the farmer a greater percentage of the spread between production costs and sale price of farm products. Industrializing agriculture, cutting down production costs, he said, are steps whereby relief will come. Great help will come through cooperative marketing, which is the only way the government can possibly aid agriculture.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, introduced Mr. Brough, the meeting being presided over by Dr. S. S. McKay, president of the Lions club.

Prior to the introduction of the speaker, Judge Robert H. Bean, Lion tree-planting committee member, announced that ground is being prepared in Lions park for planting of 200 trees which the club is to set out. On Friday, immediately after lunch, he stated, members of the club were to go to the park for the purpose of planting the trees.

Missing Man

instructions relative to disposition of property and insurance. When he appeared before the police court yesterday, Johnson related that he was instructed by Chambers not to open the envelope until the latter was found dead. Desk Sergeant J. T. Inmon immediately opened the message and started an investigation.

Chambers is described as being a diminutive and ill-stricken man, weighing only 115 pounds. He, according to the wife, has sunken jaws, accentuated by removal of false teeth, and brown hair, slightly tinged with gray. He was wearing a blue suit when he left home.

Dr. D. D. Cross, who attended him about one week ago, stated that Chambers had been ill mainly of stomach disorders for the past two weeks. He described his condition as not serious and informed the family at that time that the man would be well within a short time.

PROBE WRECK ATTEMPT

TEMPLE, March 18. (AP)—Officials of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad today were investigating an attempt made Sunday night to wreck a southbound passenger train near Little River. Logs, highway signs, and other obstructions placed on the track caused block signals to react and the train stopped while its crew cleared the obstacles from the track.

The London disarmament conference seems to be an attempt of each nation to get as many cruisers as it possibly can with the consent of the other nations.

Speculation Hits Active Mark When Money Rates Drop

Turn For Better In Employment Conditions Reported By Department Of Commerce Tuesday

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—Speculation was whipped up to a high pitch of enthusiasm on the stock market today by fresh declines in money rates and the department of commerce's report showing a turn for the better in employment conditions. Total sales aggregated 4,247,950 shares.

Save in a few bull favorites and high priced specialties, gains were moderate, largely amounting to a point or two, and the movement was checked at times by heavy profit taking.

The day's industrial news continued of a rather cheerless nature. Steel operations this week have sagged further. Reports of new automobile registrations indicate that February showed a gain over January, and came within 2 per cent of the previous February. Preliminary estimates of crude oil production for last week were less pleasing, showing a substantial upturn.

Cattlemen Having Big Time At San Angelo Meet

SAN ANGELO, March 18. (AP) — The resolutions committee of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association met behind closed doors today but made no announcement as to its conclusions on the cooperative marketing plan referred to it last night by the executive committee. Its report is due tomorrow following the address of Gov. Dan Moody, who arrived late today.

On dance hall floors of three hotels tonight cattlemen attending the fifty-fourth annual convention of the association were besieged by lobbies of five cities seeking selection as 1931 convention city, Corpus Christi, Galveston, Mineral Wells, San Antonio and El Paso were plying inducements as the convention turned aside from its business session.

James C. Stone, vice-chairman of the Federal Farm Board, replaced Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, on the program and will speak tomorrow morning.

STICKS WITH THEORY

Edward L. Doheny Weeps On Witness Stand Tuesday

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—Through two hours of sharp cross examination, Edward L. Doheny maintained today that the $100,000 he advanced Albert B. Fall in 1921 was a loan and not a bribe to the cabinet officer to induce him to award Doheny's company a lease to the Elk Hills naval oil reserve.

The 73-year-old oil man opened the way, however, for the government to get before the jury for the first time the statement that civil courts returned the leases to the government on the ground of fraud and that he himself refused to testify in those suits because to do so might incriminate him.

Doheny wept when he testified concerning his son who was killed by his secretary a year ago.

Franchise Tax Is Proposed in Bill

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP)—The bill to revise the method of levying a franchise tax was in conference today, after the house had refused to concur in senate amendments.

Originally, the bill was designed to base franchise taxes on gross assets instead of on authorized capital as at present. The senate amended it to exclude public utilities and fix their tax on net assets. Public utilities would pay 75 cents per $1,000 on net assets up to $1,000,000 and 35 cents per $1,000 on assets in excess of $1,000,000. Other corporations would be taxed 60 cents per $1,000 for the first $1,000,000 and 30 cents per $1,000 in excess of that amount. The bill was proposed to remedy certain constitutional defects in the present statute, and its sponsors said unless it were enacted the state stood to lose $1,500,000 annual revenue.

Happy Hunting Grounds Claim Toribio Aragon, Last Brave Of Sobaipuris In Arizona; Aged Squaw Only Survivor

(By Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., March 18.—Happy hunting grounds have claimed Toribio Aragon, last brave of the tribe of Sobaipuri Indians.

He died Wednesday, 85 years old, and last night he was buried in the historic old Indian cemetery near the mission here which his ancestors built during the Spanish conquest.

Encarnacian Aragon, his aged squaw, lives on as the only surviving member of the tribe.

For years, the band, once a power in Indian councils, dwindled until only Aragon and his wife remained. They shunned the modern civilization which replaced their beloved life of old.

When Padre King, believed to have been the first white man to traverse the desert lands of Arizona, came into the Santa Cruz valley here, he found the Sobaipuri Indians. Under guidance of the Padres, the tribe built a mission nine miles south of Tucson, which still stands known as the "father of Missions" in Arizona.

No dissension was shown at the invitation for negroes to be represented at the next conference.

Authorize Line To Sewage Plant

Better Disposal System Is Aim Of City Commission In Session Tuesday; Two Ordinances Passed

A supplemental line from the present sewage disposal plant to the city's farm, designed to care for better sewage disposal, was authorized by the city commission at a meeting of that body last night at the city hall.

The line will be put in by the city without contract and will be a 14-inch one to parallel a 10-inch line already in use. A new pump and pump house also will be constructed.

The two ordinances closing Avenue H and opening Texas avenue temporarily at the Santa Fe tracks was passed at its second and final reading. The opening on Texas avenue has been authorized to facilitate traffic from the north during construction of the Avenue H underpass. It is estimated that two weeks will be required for the passage to be erected and in operation. At that time the Avenue H crossing will be closed.

The stock zone ordinance also wass passed for its second and final reading and is expected to go into effect about April 15.

War Risks Faced Claims Berenger

Former Ambassador Reports World Conditions Tuesday To French Parliament For Committee

PARIS, March 18. (AP)—Warning that the world of today faces the same risk of war as preceding epochs was issued today by Senator Henry Berenger, former ambassador to Washington, in a report to the French parliament.

The report was submitted in behalf of the finance committee on the budget of the ministry of foreign affairs and reviewed the external politics of France, which M. Berenger insisted had ceased to be a European continental nation and had become intercontinental.

After affirming that all countries were forming international political systems, M. Berenger made a critical analysis of the League of Nation, the Young plan, the World Court, the project for a United States of Europe and the London naval conference.

He concluded that if intercontinental politics sought the consolidation of peace, it was not necessarily a synonym of peace and that the crisis was found in the fact that democracies, while wishing peace, feared war, and that, though wishing to disarm, they remained armed.

Spirits of Departed Indian Warriors Thought Invoked in Slaying of Woman

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 18. (AP)—Authorities today had evidence that spirits of departed Indian warriors had been invoked to aid in the slaying of Mrs. Henry Marchand, wife of a Buffalo artist.

An old squaw, who accompanied a searching party to the Indian burying ground at the Cattaragus reservation, said Nancy Bowen besought the aid of the warriors' spirits in her plot against the artist's wife, who was beaten to death with a hammer in her home two weeks ago. Nancy is a squaw who wits Lila Jimerson, a younger woman of the reservation now is in jail awaiting trial on a charge of murder. The trial starts Thursday.

Food, Whiskey Found

In the graves of warriors, were found food and whiskey for the journey the spirits would have to make to do the "white witch" to death; also, effigies of Mrs. Marchand to guide them in the form of small dolls.

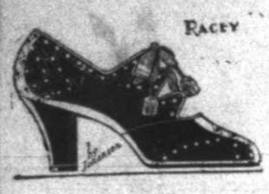

One of these dolls had been cut from the page of a letter sent to Lila by Marchand in which the letter referred to his "real love." This missive was penned last May while Marchand was on a trip to Bermuda. Lila contends this letter is proof her love for the white man was not unrequitted. She maintains, however, that she had nothing to do with the plot against the life of Mrs. Marchand; she does admit however, that she translated to Mrs. Bowen messages which came over the ouija board and these messages were to the effect that Mrs. Marchand must be killed at once or old Nancy would be hexed.

Mickey Was Just a Dog But He Died to Save His Little Master

Jackie Boehring and his dog, Mickey, pictured above, were such good pals that Mickey gave his life in attempting to save his little master from danger.

BY NEA SERVICE

SARATOSA, Fla., March 18.—Mickey was just a wire-haired something-or-other with extremely doubtful antecedents. But to his master and comrade in adventure, 8-year-old Jackie Goehring, Mickey was a thoroughbred pal.

The little black and white dog followed Jackie to school, dozed under his desk, barked at his heels during recess games and lent him furious vocal support in schoolboy scrapes. Mickey was a good fighter, too. He was afraid of snakes but would tackle any dog twice his size.

They were taking a short cut home the other day, the boy and the dog, and wandered into an area of waste land. Jackie was ahead, picking his way through the scrub palmetto, when he heard an ominous whirring. Less than a yard away was a diamond-back rattler, ready to strike.

The boy froze with fear, unable to move or cry out. The dog that was afraid of snakes crouched at his heels. It was death for one of them, for aid was far away. But as the snake struck, Mickey lunged — to take the rattler's venom under his own right ear.

When Jack Goehring is an old man he will tell his grandchildren about that intense drama in the scrub palmetto, and the wild flight homeward with the dying dog in his arms. And probably he'll tell them, even as he sobbed to his mother when he finally laid down the rigid little body:

"Well, Mickey was my pal. I'd a done the same for him."

Study of Parrot's Fever Halted as Eleven Public Health Employes Ill

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Affliction of 11 public health service employees with psittacosis has necessitated temporary abandonment of the laboratory where efforts were being made to discover the cause of the strange malady contracted from parrots.

Surgeon General Cumming said today that 10 of the 11 afflicted were regularly employed at the hygenic laboratory.

Research Conducted

Dr. Ludvik Hekton of the University of Chicago, one of the last to be stricken, was conducting research work there. While seriously ill, the surgeon general said Dr. Hekton was improved.

Dr. Cumming said health authorities still were baffled as to the method of communication of the disease, since some of those now sick were never in contact with the dead parrots being experimented with.

"At least three of the doctors now ill," he asserted, "were never within 30 feet of the psittacosis laboratory.

Fumigate Laboratory

"Perhaps the parrot fever germs were carried by dust or perhaps by insects. The entire laboratory, from cellar to chimney, has been fumigated and sprayed with bichloride of mercury."

The surgeon general added that the extreme communicableness of the disease was definitely established, and that most of the research activities of the laboratory had been moved to other buildings.

"I am now forty-five years old, and am the mother of eight children. I have taken Cardui since I was married and have gotten good benefit from it.

"About two years ago, I felt rundown and weak. My health was not what it should have been, so I took three bottles of Cardui, and it helped me a lot. I was able to do all my work and raise a garden."

Salacious Books Center Of Debate

Imported Volumes Condemned By Senator Smoot During Tariff Argument As Obscene

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—A pile of imported books, some in fine and costly bindings, others in flimsy paper covers, all condemned by Senator Smoot of Utah as salacious and abscene, was the center today of the senate's daily tariff wrangle.

The question at issue was whether the provisions of existing law giving custom officials discretionary power to prevent the importation of such volumes as they consider immoral are to be continued under the tariff bill now in process of formulation.

Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico, denouncing the present situation as censorship, was the leader of a vigorous campaign for the revocation of the authority now given the customs officials. He had succeeded in rescinding this power when the tariff bill was before the senate in committee of the whole, and today sought to keep the senate from reversing its previous action.

Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, in charge of the tariff bill, was the leader of the opposing camp.

Tax Collections Show Big Decline

Treasury Statement Shows Income Taxes $5,000,000 Behind Total Of Year Ago; Expect Others

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—The treasury statement issued today as of March 15 showed income tax collections were running a scant $5,000,000 behind the total on that day a year ago.

This, however, could be taken only as an indicator, and a none too accurate one at that, for the bulk of the payments of last Saturday have yet to be reported.

Treasury officials know that millions of dollars were taken in at various offices throughout the country. These as yet had not been officially recorded here and until received the treasury statement shows only a small fraction of the money actually in hand.

The statement for March 15, issued this morning, showed the total collections in the treasury on that date amounted to $67,507,96- against more than $72,500,000 a year ago. Treasury officials, however, already have before them a much larger total obtained by the telegraphic poll. This they have declined to make public. Secretary Mellon has said it was lower than last year's, but not substantially so.
