1:1

If you're one of those who goes through spring sneezing and wheezing, try taking at least a tablespoon of honey after every meal.

Or better yet, chew some honeycomb daily—if you can find some.

Remember Dr. D. C. Jarvis' book, Folk Medicine? It was a best seller in the late 1950s and early '60s. Dr. Jarvis, a general practitioner, made extensive studies of Vermont folk remedies and found that many of them were medically and scientifically valid—especially the liberal use of honey, honeycomb and apple cider vinegar, both as remedies and preventive medicine.

For ages, honey was the only pure sweetener available. Through the years it came to be replaced by more convenient refined sugars. But Dr. Jarvis maintains that we should never have given up the habit of keeping a pitcher of honey (preferably local, and the darker the better) on the table at all times. He advocates the use of honey as a sweetener or dessert at every meal.

Because it is made from pollens, honey is a natural anti-allergen (or "hay fever" remedy). Because it has already been digested by the bee, its nutrients go into the bloodstream almost immediately. Dr. Jarvis maintains that a chew of honeycomb often will open up the nasal breathing passages within minutes.

Honey also provides such needed minerals as iron, copper, manganese, silica, chlorine, calcium, potassium, sodium, phosphorus, aluminum and magnesium—in about the right quantity to keep the body in mineral balance if you use it regularly—and most of the vitamins which nutritionists consider necessary to health (especially Vitamin C).

In documented experiments, honey also has been found to relieve such maladies as colic in babies, bed-wetting, insomnia, coughing, muscle cramps, sinusitis and arthritis.

However, it isn't a "miracle cure"; it's simply a wholesome natural food that provides a lot of healthful benefits. Neither is it an "instant fix." If you start taking honey for allergy problems, you may not feel its maximum effects for a month or more. That's why it's important to make honey-dipping a daily habit.

SSC decision due Monday

A proposal on which some states have spent over $1 million has cost the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce less than $50,000, and is on the table in Austin—a plan to locate the nation's Superconducting Supercollider in an area just north-east of Dimmitt.

The area should know whether a month-long scramble to obtain the SSC was successful by Monday.

The proposal was taken to Austin before the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline after hurried work in the past month by the Amarillo group to show what is known as the "Happy Site" would be the best in Texas for the $4 billion, 53-mile-around tunnel that could open the secrets of the universe.

Up to $51 million has already been pledged, in cash or services, for the supercollider effort in the Panhandle, a project which could have an annual budget of $270 million and employ, during construction, up to 4,500 people, and have an on-going work force of over 2,000.

This week, the National Research Laboratories Commission will review 14 proposals, including one from Lubbock and another near Garden City in West Texas, as well as concerted efforts from Dallas, Austin, Brazos Valley, Kingsville, Paris, Victoria, Waco and Houston, to land Gov. Bill Clements' endorsement for the state's recommended site. NRLC is expected to recommend three sites by Monday to Clements, who will then choose one or two sites for consideration by the Dept. of Energy.

DOE is expected to receive, by August, proposals from over 40 states for the SSC. President Ronald Reagan will award the site on Jan. 19, 1989—his last full day in office.

The SSC could be in operation by 1993, and could open the secrets of the universe.

Scientists hope that by directing two, wire-thin clouds of protons into each other, they can create an explosion not unlike the explosion that could have started the universe about 4 billion years ago.

Researchers know, through experiments at facilities like Fermilab in Illinois and CERN in Switzerland, that when the proton clouds collide, they produce a short, fireworks-like burst of particles that are picked up by special detectors.

Physicists working at Fermilab, 20 times smaller than the SSC, have already discovered exotic particles like quarks—which form protons—and hadrons—the building blocks for electrons. Mathematicians have deduced there is another particle, known as the Higgs' particle. It is believed the Higgs acts as a "messenger" to deliver mass to create other, more stable particles like quarks and hadrons.

Scientists may find that Albert Einstein's "grand unified field theory" was right—or may be hot air. If the theory is proven correct, scientists will discover a "strong" force, which holds the atom together; a "weak" force, which causes the nucleus to self-destruct, creating radioactivity; and two common occurrences, electromagnetism and gravity.

The SSC would not be a short-lived, experimental venture. "It will take another 30 years to figure out what (the discoveries) mean and another 20 years to apply it," said Roy Weinstein, professor of high energy physics at the University of Houston.

Immigration reform meeting is Monday

Questions about the Immigration and Naturalization Service's readiness as up to 1 million illegal aliens in Texas and 4 million in the US apply for amnesty.

The amnesty for illegals is one of the provisions of a new law that will lead to stronger employer sanctions for employing illegal aliens.

A meeting to discuss the Immigration Reform and Control Act will be held Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Dimmitt City Hall. Sponsored by WIFE, the Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce and the Castro County Extension Service Program Building Committee, the meeting will feature Extension specialist Dr. Richard Edwards. Edwards will give an overview of the Act, discuss employer sanctions, and detail the legalization process for illegal aliens.

"This law will affect everyone, not just persons involved in agriculture," said County Agent Seth Ralston. "If you write a paycheck, this meeting will be of benefit to you."

In the Panhandle area, Catholic Family Services, based in Amarillo, is handling legalization paperwork for most aliens. Local aliens seeking help may contact their local Catholic church or CFS in Amarillo. Legalization is open to most aliens, from any country, who have been in the US illegally since on or before Jan. 1, 1982. Aliens must not have left the US for more than 45 at one time or more than 180 days in the past five years.

Still unsettled is what the final INS procedure will be for illegal aliens who have worked in agriculture. A special part of the law dealing with agricultural workers will not be ready until late this month.

Public comments on the agricultural provisions will be accepted through Monday at the US Dept. of Agriculture in Washington, and will center mostly on what makes a

The Superconducting Supercollider

The superconducting supercollider will send proton beams racing at each other in opposite directions from one injection area to the other—26 miles away. Supercharged by 10,000 magnets, the beams will eventually be charged with 20 trillion electron volts of energy—more than produced by the world's power plants at any one instant. When the beams collide, they will throw off quarks, leptons, and, perhaps, other elements unknown to man. The magnets will be cooled by liquid helium, but research in the past year has created a superconductive material which can be cooled by liquid nitrogen. The availability of helium is limited. Nitrogen is unlimited; it makes up most of the air we breathe.

Annual spring concert tonight

Dimmitt's annual spring band concert will be held tonight at seven o'clock in the Dimmitt High School Auditorium.

The concert will include selections by the fifth and sixth grade bands, the seventh and eighth grade bands, and the DHS band.

The seventh and eighth grade band received a first division rating in concert and an excellent rating in sightreading last weekend at the Greater Southwest Music Festival, while the DHS band received a "I" at the Sandy Lake Music Festival in Dallas.

A highlight of the concert will be the "Concerto with Band and Faculty," with DMS teachers Vicki Richards, Nancy Greer, Junior Ashmore, Jean Morris and Lori Lemons joining the DMS band.

The concert is open to the public, and there is no charge for admission.

The seventh and eighth grade bands were named the outstanding Class C (junior high) band at the Amarillo festival, while the DHS band visited Six Flags, Prestonwood Mall and a Dallas Symphony concert during their trip.

Happy Mother's Day!
Visit your mother on her day, or at least give her a call, she will appreciate it more than you know. Make it a special day for her!

Many out-of-town visitors were in town over the weekend for the bridal showers and the Lindsey-Holland wedding.

At the Hunter-McClung shower held at the home of June Sutton, I visited with Mrs. McClung, who is from Seymour. I have a cousin, Edith Bibb living there.

I visited with the Tulia visitors at the Robb-Harman shower held in the home of Carol Lantz. I visited with Mrs. Victor Harman, Mrs. Chester Exliff, Mrs. Foster of Happy and Audrey Mills (I don't remember her married name) from Hereford. Audrey and I attended school together in Tulia. And of course, Teresa Lantz was here from Lubbock for the shower and a visit with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Bowden, Clara Vick, Madge Robb and Helen Richardson represented the Castro County Historical Commission at the annual historic Preservation Conference in El Paso on April 23-25. The conference emphasized folk life and culture as an element of Texas' past. Castro County was one of the 27 counties in the state receiving a Distinguished Service Award.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burselson of Brownfield visited their daughter's family, the Tommy Kellars this weekend.

Jeff Isaacs of Santa Fe, N.M., was home for a visit with his parents, Jake and Martha Isaacs and grandparents, C.A. and Oleada Hance. Jeff is general manager for Hagen Daz and is teaching at the Theatre Center for Contemporary Arts.

Dave and Sandra Honea, Lisa Casados and children, Christopher and Crystal and Shari Mason and daughter Ashley was here for the weekend recently for a visit with parents and grandparents, C.A. and Oleada Hance and Jake and Martha Isaacs and Jeff Isaacs.

Beth Welsh of Lubbock and Tonya DeVaney of Dallas were in Dimmitt over the weekend. Beth spent the night with her grandmother, Mary Lou Webb and Tonya stayed with Walt and Virginia Hansen. They attended the 8 a.m. surprise lingerie shower for Kim Lindsey at Kim's home. They attended the shower for Cheryl Robb and the wedding for Kim Lindsey and Billy Holland. These girls all graduated with the Dimmitt High School Class of 1976 and had a good time visiting. Beth and Tonya drove back to Lubbock where Tonya spent the night then took the plane home.

Another early morning breakfast! It is fun after I get my eyes open. "Awareness Week" sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce encouraging Dimmitt and Castro County residents to shop at home. Walt Hansen was the emcee. Reta Welch offered the prayer and everyone enjoyed a clever skit with Dorothy Hopson and George Sides. The good cooks at the First United Methodist Church were Ted and Don Sheffy, Bill Birdwell, Percy Parsons and Jim Cleavinger.

A "Think Dimmitt Game" was played by everyone and Becky Killingsworth won the prize.

Martha Jo Hyman and Jim Killingsworth gave some words to encourage the residents to trade at home.

Have you ever seen a bluebonnet?

The bluebonnets are in full bloom at the Castro County Museum. Come by to see them. They are beautiful.

The Museum Board members held their monthly business meeting Thursday night with Lon Woodburn presiding and Clara Vick reading the minutes and giving the financial report. Other members present were Madge

Robb, Helen Richardson, Mary Edna Hendrix, H.C. Nelson and Ralph Lambright.

Geneva Dennis brought her sister, Zoe Garvin from Clovis to the museum while she was in Dimmitt last week.

The Community Concert board members met in the home of Ed and Betty Freeman on Monday night to discuss plans for the next seasons concerts. Other members present were Woodrow and Alice Killingsworth, Robert Ryan, Bill Murphy, Polly Bell, Nell Newton, Beral Hance and Mary Edna Hendrix. Betty served a delicious strawberry dessert, tea, coffee and fruit punch.

Cleo Forson spent a few days with her brother, Otis Cowan in Lubbock last week.

Opha Burks was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club that met at the Senior Citizens Center for lunch and a day of bridge playing. Johnnie Vannoy won high score and Susie Reeves and Oleada Schumacher tied for second high score. Others playing were Ferne Dickey, Era Heckerson, Rosalee Hawkins, Sal DiCuffa, Emily Clingsmith, Neva Hickey, Polly Holland, Jo Gregory, Louise Mears, Helen Braafladt, Elizabeth Huckabay and Edith Graef.

Betty Renfro of Amarillo was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club that met at the Senior Citizens Center for a day of bridge and a delicious lunch of chicken strips, creamed potatoes, broccoli and rice casserole, pineapple salad and chocolate cake. Dorothy Elder won high score and Poha Burks won second high score. Others playing were Ruth Coleman, Anita Morris, Polly Holland, Gladiola Shipley and Cletha George. I had a good visit with Betty over the telephone.

Many students from this area were in Dimmitt on Saturday for the UIL meeting held at Dimmitt Middle School and Richardson Elementary School.

Belle McAfee of Eldorado, a former Dimmitt resident, visited her brother, Ernest and Ann Mayhew and several friends last week.

Richard Young led the singing at the Sunnyside Baptist Church last week so several Canterbury Villa residents went down on two nights. Sharron Leinen, Regina Steffens and Leola Harold took Rosamae Lance, Odie Moore, Becky Bridges, Dixie Bradley, Essie Taylor, Lucille Pfueffer and Jimmy Miller down on Tuesday and they enjoyed the services so much they went back on Friday night and stayed for the ice cream social following the evening services.

Doris Lust entertained her bridge club Thursday. She served cheesecake topped with strawberries and later pick-up foods of vegetables, dip and fruit. Playing with the group were Shirley Wise, Jo Eddy Riley, Dorothy Gilbreath, Ina Cleavinger, Carolyn Jones, Mildred Bradford and guests Earlene Myatt and Deanne Clark.

The Methodist Chancel Choir sang several numbers from their Easter Cantata at Canterbury Villa Wednesday night and then ate together at the El Sombrero before their regular practice at 8 p.m. Sunday, the choir sang at the 9:30 a.m. mass at the Immaculate Conception Church, again singing selections from the Easter cantata, "It Took a Miracle."

Tanya Devaney of Austin, formerly of Dimmitt, and Kerry Broderson and Karron Flynt Smith were some of the out-of-town guests at the wedding of Kim Lindsey and Billy Holland at the First United Methodist Church on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Robbie Lindsey and their family were also part of the wedding party. Rehearsal dinner was held at the Calico Teapot Friday evening.

Also there were Jimmy and Jill Mooring and Mary Rose and Jasey Boatwright, all of Amarillo. They enjoyed a delicious meal and had a good visit.

On the way home, Albert, Leeida and Randy stopped in Shallowater to visit Mike, Patty and Marissa Chester.

Mother's Golden Seed

One of our best-known regional poets was Mrs. H. M. Baggarly, Sr., of Tulia. Born in 1877, she moved to Swisher County in 1906 from Missouri, and she and her husband settled in Happy. Her poems were printed regularly in the Amarillo Daily News, and later in The Tulia Herald by her son, H. M. Baggarly, Jr., one of the most famous "country editors" in the nation. Mrs. Baggarly died in 1952, but her poems live on—just as did the inspiration of her own mother, about whom she writes in this verse, which is appropriate for Mother's Day:

*In the garden of my memory
That was planted long ago,
Songs and flowers alike were cherished
By the hand that loved to sow;
Though the hand is still that planted,
And the flowers faded—gone,
There's a richer fragrance lingers
As the years roll on and on.*

*Unbidden thoughts come stealing o'er me
Of your gentle words and songs;
How you guarded life's rough pathway,
Lest the little feet go wrong;
With eager ears we fain would listen
To the old songs' sweet refrain,
And today my heart is longing
Just to be a child again.*

*How the golden thread of memory
Binds you closer to my heart,
And today I pay homage
As the tears unbidden start;
How I miss your loving counsel—
Yet, the golden seed you sowed
Still is bearing precious fruitage,
Mother—in the afterglow.*

Social Security in Castro County

By TERRY J. CLEMENTS

Farmers who hire seasonal workers should be sure to report the wages for Social Security purposes. This assures that the workers own Social Security coverage along with their wages, which can mean benefits when they retire or should they become disabled or die.

Because farm work is often irregular, special rules cover the reporting of wages paid to farm workers. Farm wages are covered by Social Security if an employer pays the worker $150 in cash during the year or the employee works for the farmer on 20 or more days during a year and is paid on a time basis — by the hour, week, or month, regardless of the amount of pay.

In 1987, the worker receives one quarter of coverage for each $460 of covered earnings, up to a maximum of four quarters for the year.

The farmer should keep a record which shows each worker's name, Social Security number as it appears on the card, amount of cash wages paid, and the amount of taxes withheld from the worker's pay.

The farmer deducts the employee tax out of the pay of each covered worker. Wages are reported for each covered employee by completing Form W-2. The employee and employer portion of the Social Security tax is reported to the Internal Revenue Service on Form 943.

Sometimes a crew leader is considered the employer of the farm workers and would have the wage reporting responsibilities. This is generally true if the crew leader pays the workers or has the final right to control the workers on the job regardless of who pays them.

Farm workers who want to know more about Social Security benefits, how to apply for a Social Security card, or how to check whether all earnings have been reported should contact the Social Security office in Plainview at 1401-B W. Fifth or call 293-9623. Appointments can be arranged if desired.

Lindsey and Holland exchange wedding vows Saturday afternoon

Kim Lindsey and William Stephen Holland recited their wedding vows Saturday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church at Dimmitt.

Rev. Vernon O'Kelly officiated at the formal, double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Linsey of Dimmitt and the late Robert Lindsey. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ouis Twitty of Fort Worth.

Boston ferns and fresh greenery complimented by a fresh bouquet of Dutch iris, hyptispermum, spider mums, gerberas and roses were placed on the altar. Brass candelabras completed the altar decor. Pink bridal bows marked the pews.

Deanne Clark of Dimmitt was organist and Terri Loudder of Dimmitt sang "I Love You Just the Way You Are."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Robert Lindsey, Jr., of Plainview.

She chose a traditional gown of imported Swiss organza with three-dimensional embroidered flowers on the bodice and skirt. The cap sleeves accented the neckline with illusion netting. A delicate organza overlay of blush pink gave a soft color to the gown. The full skirt swept into a court train. She wore a long cascading bridal veil of illusion attached to a floral wreath with small pink roses.

For something old, the bride wore her mother's engagement ring and carried a handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother placed in her bridal bouquet. For something borrowed, she wore a pair of pearl earrings belonging to her friend Kathryn Birdwell. A traditional blue garter was chosen for something blue to complete the bridal attire.

Maid of honor was Karon Flynt Smith of Hobbs, N.M., friend of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Tanya DeVaney of Austin and Monica Short of Arlington, friends of the bride.

Junior bridesmaid was Monica Lindsey of Borger, niece of the bride.

The attendants wore gowns of soft pink and green floral cotton in t-length design. They featured ruffled sleeves and were designed in a French country theme. They carried arm bouquets of bridal pink roses enhanced with greenery and gypsophilia.

Gordon Van Amburgh of Dallas, friend of the groom, was best man.

Swift Lindley and Bart Van Amburgh, both friends of the groom from Fort Worth, were groomsmen.

Heather Jeter of Dimmitt, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Ring bearer was Van Jeter of Dimmitt, nephew of the bride.

Angela and Mark Lindsey of Plainview, the bride's niece and nephew, were candlelighters.

Guests were registered by Kelly Bagley of Pampa, and were ushered to their seats by Kent Lindsey of Dimmitt and Jeff Lindsey of Dallas, the bride's brothers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall at the First United Methodist Church in Dimmitt.

Kathy Carthel of Friona and Kerry Morrison of Lubbock served guests from the bride's table and Linsae Graham of Lubbock presided at the groom's table. Kelly Bagley assisted with the reception with other friends in the houseparty.

For her traveling attire, the bride chose a white three-piece cotton ensemble featuring Southwest appliques complimented with an earth tone straw hat with rhinestones.

After a wedding trip to St. John's Virgin Islands, the newlyweds will make their new home in Fort Worth.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Dimmitt High School and attended West Texas State University in Canyon and Angelo State University in San Angelo. She is employed with Rauscher, Pierce, Refsnes, Inc., in Dallas.

The groom graduated from Paschall High School in Fort Worth in 1979 and received a degree in business from Texas Tech University in Lubbock in 1983. He is employed with E.F. Hutton Co., in Fort Worth.

Guests were greeted by the honoree, her mother, Jean Robb; Harman's mother, Mrs. Wyatt Harman; and Mrs. Lantz.

Clara Vick registered the guests.

A yellow floral arrangement and crystal candle holders decorated the serving table which was presided over by Connie Gilbreath, Debbie Underwood, Tammy Robb, Kylene Black and Natalie Bright.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Victor Harman, Mrs. Phyla Harman, Mrs. Levon Harman, Mary Elliff, Shirley Armontrout, Sherrie McCaslin, Amanda Harman, all of Tulsa; Mrs. Wyatt Harman of Amarillo; Mrs. Glen Reed, Kylene Black and Heather, and Mrs. Wade Mills, all of Hart; and Mrs. Audrey Rusher of Hereford.

Pledges sought for bike-a-thon

Riders for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon scheduled May 17, are asking Dimmitt citizens to pledge a contribution for each mile they ride.

The ride starts at the Dimmitt High School track May 17 at 1 p.m. and will continue through 5 p.m. If you haven't been asked to sponsor a rider, but are interested please call 674-2421 and a rider will contact you.

Each rider gets a lap card at registration, and every time riders pass the checkpoint, it is initialed. At the end of the ride, the card is signed to show that the rider earned what the sponsor pledged. Riders return to sponsors to collect the pledge.

Riders can still get registration or sponsor forms at Harman's Department Store, Richardson Elementary School and Dimmitt Middle School.

"Every mile our bikers go earns money bringing us closer to a cure for cancer. The life-saving study of childhood cancer at St. Jude has become critical to children all over the world," said Carolyn Harman, local chairman for the bike-a-thon.

Each dollar pledged to the bike-a-thon goes to benefit the many patients and their expenses at the hospital.

The break-down of where your bike-a-thon dollars go follows:

*One day's hospitalization, bed and nursing service alone, $188.

*One day's hospitalization with all services, $612.

*One out-patient visit with all services, $136.

*One day of chemotherapy given intravenously to leukemia or solid tumor patients, $415.

*A surgical suite including anesthesia for a major operation, $1,400.

*A bone marrow transplant for one acute lymphocytic leukemia patient, $35,000 to $50,000.

*Nutritional care for one child for one week, $35.

*An artificial limb for a child with cancer whose leg or arm had to be amputated, $1,000.

*An artificial eye for a child with retina blastoma, $350.

"Let's show we care. Help this cause," Harman said. "Your generous pledge encourages riders. After the event, help them get the money to us quickly."

A unique and personal way to say you care

Holiday honors mothers for dedication to families

All around the country, mothers of all ages will be honored Sunday for their dedication to families, work schedules and responsibilities too numerous to mention.

ENS. PERRY BROCKMAN graduated from the Naval Officers' Candidate School at Newport, R.I. on April 3 and received his commission as an ensign in the US Navy. He is now attending the Naval Nuclear Power School at Orlando, Fla.

Americans have celebrated Mother's Day for 79 years. It is a time when you have a chance to tell all the mothers in your life the facts about the love and respect you feel for them.

Anna Reeves Jarvis created the idea of honoring mothers, grandmothers and mothers-in-law while she was bereaved by the loss of her own mother, and in a few years, the idea took off.

It became a West Virginia state holiday in 1910 and by 1913, Mother's Day was named a national holiday by a joint congressional resolution.

Jarvis' idea was simple — just honor mother for her role in the family: caretaker, disciplinarian, teacher, and confidante.

Jarvis, born in West Virginia, had moved to Philadelphia with her family after her mother died there in 1905. While mourning her mother's death, Jarvis came up with the idea to honor her mother, and all American mothers, with a day of their own. She mentioned the idea to some friends on the anniversary of her mother's death in 1907 and, after an enthusiastic response, she took it to Philadelphia civic leaders and groups for support and development.

The first Mother's Day was observed in Grafton, W.V. in the homeland of the Jarvis family. It was marked by a simple sermon, preached from the pulpit of a small country church. The spot is honored as a symbol of the birthplace of the modern Mother's Day.

President Woodrow Wilson signed the first Mother's Day Proclamation in 1914, setting aside the second Sunday of May to be observed as Mother's Day.

When Jarvis began the idea of honoring mothers, she didn't think of greeting cards, gifts or gloral tributes. She just wanted mothers to be remembered with a letter, or a bunch of wildflowers or an extra visit on Mother's Day.

Americans, however, have a way of their own with celebrations. Letters have grown into a tidal wave of greeting cards and wildflowers have grown into expensive floral arrangements and gifts.

The idea of Mother's Day has come a long way from a little church in West Virginia to a holiday that has captured the imagination and acceptance around the world.

Fed cattle numbers rise

Almost 390,000 head of cattle were fed in Castro County in 1986, according to the Fed Cattle Survey released Thursday by Southwestern Public Service Co.

That is an increase of 9,000 over 1985 figures. In the "magic triangle" of Castro, Deaf Smith and Parmer counties, 1.67 million head were slaughtered, up from 1.649 million in 1985. Castro County was third behind Deaf Smith (791,092 head) and Parmer (494,257 head) counties in the survey area.

For the 30-county area surveyed by the utility, over 5.253 million head were fed in the 30-county area last year, a 3.5% increase over 1985 and just under the record of 5.259 million fed during 1984.

"This is the third year in a row that the number of cattle fed has exceeded five million," said Seth Thomason, SPS manager of agricultural and industrial power. "That's a good indication that the cattle feeding business is here to stay."

Total one-time capacity of the feedlots, in 25 Texas Panhandle counties, three counties in Oklahoma and two counties in New Mexico, was 2.594 million head in 1986, down from the 2.619 million head in 1985.

A reported 5.071 million cattle were slaughtered at packing plants in the SPS-surveyed area last year, 293,039 more than were slaughtered in 1985. There are 15 packing plants in the area with an annual slaughter capability of 5.5 million head.

Cotton growers enroll acreage

Over 92,000 acres of Castro County's 96,000 "effective base" cotton acreage has been enrolled in the 1987 acreage reduction program, according to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock.

"Effective base" is a new term in this year's program, and is used to indicate net acreage eligible for annual program participation, as opposed to the total base of 101,422, which includes acreage entered into the 10-year Conservation Reserve Program.

Producers signing into the program agree to plant no more than 75% of their effective base in return for program benefits. If producers plant the maximum allowable, planted acreage on all participating farms would come to just over 69,000. Current law, however, permits producers to plant as little as 50% of permitted acreage and still qualify for 92% of deficiency payments. How many producers will go the 50-92 route and the percentage level of their plantings, though, is anyone's guess.

Combust poll shows ag is biggest problem

A majority of residents in the 19th Congressional District feel that agriculture problems are the biggest problems facing the district, according to the results of a questionnaire released last week by Lubbock Rep. Larry Combust.

About 6,300 responses were received by Combust's Washington, D.C. office in response to the congressman's 1987 questionnaire. 34% of the responses said agriculture was the worst problem in the district, and 47% said agriculture could best be revived if the government got out of the agriculture business.

Responses also included:

■ 40% felt the budget deficit was the country's most serious economic threat;

■ 43% are less optimistic about the future of West Texas than they were one year ago;

■ 75% are opposed to locating a high-level nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County;

■ 93% support a constitutional amendment designating English as the official language of the US;

■ 86% favor raising speed limits on highways to 65 MPH;

■ 79% feel cutting government spending is the best way to reduce the federal deficit.

Combust said that while the results are "not scientific, the survey results adequately reflect the views of the people of West Texas. An overwhelming majority of the people who responded share my view that cutting federal spending, rather than raising taxes, is the best method to reduce the federal deficit."

Why shop at home?

Who benefits from people staying at home and shopping in Dimmitt?

Everyone. There are no exceptions. This week, you are being asked to buy nothing out of town. Don't go to Hereford to buy your groceries. Don't go to Plainview to buy your lumber. Don't go to Lubbock to buy your clothes. Don't go to Amarillo to buy your new television.

Instead, buy it here. When you do make your purchases locally, you set up one of the most tremendous cycles ever discovered by any economist. It's called prosperity.

Every dollar spent locally is, in turn, spent six more times before it's used up. Your $1, including the time you spend it, becomes $7 in the local economy. It's magic.

If you count the sales tax that is added to most of those dollars, it creates even more magic, because the City of Dimmitt gets a penny from your dollar. If all 5,019 persons in Dimmitt spend $1 a day here, it becomes $50.19 for city services. Every dollar that is spent out-of-town means a penny that has to be made up for somewhere else—higher taxes or higher water, gas and sewage bills.

When you spend your dollar in Dimmitt, it goes to buy goods or services. Your dollar is then divided up by the merchant: He has to pay for his merchandise, pay his employees, and pay himself. Those persons, if they in turn buy their needs in Dimmitt, benefit another merchant, and he pays his employees and himself . . . Well, the picture should be clear.

The merchant, if he's doing his job and people are buying their needs at home, can also reinvest some of his profits into improving his store or buy more and better merchandise, so residents can buy even more of their needs in Dimmitt.

Another plus for buying at home: If you've noticed, for the past year, in practically every issue of the News, you have seen little reminders that say "Shop at Home. The job you save may be your own." If we patronize each other, then our dollars actually come back into our pockets. If we go out-of-town to buy our goods, those dollars have no chance of coming back to us. They are lost from the Dimmitt economy. Fewer dollars in Dimmitt translates, easily, into fewer jobs. The fewer jobs available means the lesser chance of finding, or keeping, a job.

It's tempting to buy things—something, everything—in Lubbock or Amarillo or Dallas. Excuses for buying items out of town include more selection, cheaper, or just fun to shop. The goal this week of the Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce's Merchants Committee is to make it more fun to shop, and to include more selection. Of course, the more you buy, the cheaper it gets for the merchants to buy their merchandise.

What kind of magic could we make if everyone bought all of their needs this week in Dimmitt? Let's find out. If you can't find something you need, let your local merchants know. If you have a problem with something in a store, let them know. Let's not shop out of town this week—let's buy it all here.

Let's find out just how much magic we could make if we kept our money at home.

Foster parenting alternative

More and more childless couples are searching, often fruitlessly, for children to adopt.

The demand is so high, in fact, that couples often wait for years before finally getting to adopt a child through traditional adoption agencies, pay thousands of dollars through private channels for a child, or use surrogate parenthood, which, to say the least, was tainted in the recent Mary Beth Whitehead/Baby M case, which is now in the appeal process.

Lost in this search for children to love, provide and care for is foster care.

Foster care, often times, is only a temporary situation. In most cases, the ultimate goal is to reunite children with their biological parents once things are settled down in the family unit. Sometimes, it is very temporary. Sometimes, it is for several months. Sometimes, it can be forever.

Foster parenting is unique. It involves the foster parents, caseworkers, and community agencies, all attempting to provide for the best possible care and living arrangements. Not only does it provide the everyday care of the children, but also psychological carressing—often, these children have been through a traumatic experience, the least of which is leaving the home they have known since birth.

While there are necessary checks to make sure the child is not going into a "bad" environment, limitations are not strict on who can be a foster parent. Some are single adults or single parents, some have natural children of their own in the home.

Foster parents must be able to meet the child's financial needs, and are paid $8 a day for children nine and under and $9 daily for children ten and older to help meet their needs.

Most of the children in care also qualify for Medicaid.

There is always a need for more foster parents, and anyone who would like to learn more about the foster parent program may contact Phyllis Coleman, at the Plainview office of the Texas Dept. of Human Resources, at 293-5193.

Letter: cheerleader's view

Dear Editor,

I wish to set the record straight about being a cheerleader.

I was a cheerleader in 1981-82 when the rule was changed that any girl on the varsity basketball team could not be a cheerleader. It is a fair rule. Usually, the girls basketball team does not play at the same place as the boys basketball team. If the girls play basketball who is going to cheer for them and how are they going to be at the boys game to cheer?

I can see the point about being in FFA and being gone. Maybe they should put that in the rule, too. The girls are there for the teams and to give school spirit to everyone. If the cheerleaders are off playing basketball in some other place then why are they cheerleaders if not to lead cheers for the team and crowd. If they want to be basketball players, fine, but it's not fair if they are cheerleaders and not doing what they were elected to do.

Letter: Why no square dancers?

Dear Editor,

What is wrong with square dancing?

I would like everyone's opinion. It is next to impossible to generate any interest in square dancing in Dimmitt. Why?

Plainview has two thriving clubs. Floydada, Tulia, Hereford and Muleshoe all have good-sized clubs. There are more clubs than I can list in Amarillo and Lubbock. These are just to name a few.

Square dance clubs are active members of the community. They host benefit dances for community causes like the "Jaws" dance for the fire department's "Jaws of Life" fund. We have participated in the Harvest Days follies and the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train festivities. We have hosted street dances for Harvest Days and exhibitions at various community activities. We have an exhibition dance for entertainment the second Monday of each month at Canterbury Villa.

As a caller, I see thriving square dance clubs all over the Panhandle and the state of Texas—everywhere but Dimmitt.

Your square dance club brings people from all over the Panhandle to Dimmitt when we host special dances. Right now, our club, the Castro County Kurlie Q's, is in danger of folding. We are down to one square, provided everyone comes. At the first Kurlie Q's graduation dance in 1975, we graduated 44 students—five squares.

Square dancing is good, clean fun and fellowship for everyone, and is good exercise. Square dancing is done to all kinds of music—"new" country, "old" country, country "rock," Fifties, classics and other music types.

We are always looking for youth activities. Square dancing is great for teenagers. There are teen clubs all over the US.

Between tips, we do Texas two-step, waltzes, polkas, schottisches and mixers. It is a good, clean atmosphere for our youth to learn to dance, socialize and meet other youth from around the state.

This, by the way, is not the same square dancing that is taught in our elementary schools in music.

I would like to have your comments about square dancing. Call me at 647-3255 or write me at at 1110 W. Bedford in Dimmitt.

Thank you,
Cindy Reynolds
President, Kurlie Q's

All aboard for Aggie Mae

Would you buy a "Farmer Mac" or an "Aggie Mae?" Especially from someone who is sick, but not quite ready for an obituary?

Farmer Macs and Aggie Maes could be coming soon to a broker near you, as part of a plan to re-infuse capital into the Farm Credit System. FCS is in good shape, overall, in Texas, but is in critical condition in some parts of the country. FCS lost $1.91 billion in 1986, but that was down from a $2.69 billion loss in 1985.

FCS is also losing borrowers. Total outstanding loans on Dec. 31, 1986 were $54.8 billion, down by more than $12 billion at year's end, 1985. About $12 billion of that total is in the "high-risk" or "non-accrual" category, meaning FCS is getting nothing on those loans.

Aggie Maes and Farmer Macs would operate like the popular Ginnie Maes and Freddie Macs. Those, at time, sell better than hotcakes. Lest you think know one would buy an Aggie mae, consider that 75% of FCS loans are good loans.

The best part of the Aggie Mae idea—it would prevent the raping of healthy associations, like our local Production Credit Association and Federal Land Bank, while giving a shot in the arm to less-fortunate associations.

Babbling Brooks

By John Brooks

There once was a large, 20-mule team that hauled supplies in and borax out of Death Valley.

For about six years, the team was headed up by a man called Dick who did some pretty good things—and some pretty dumb things. Dick improved relations with another 20-mule team that thought their way of doing things was best and was trying to convince the world their point was right—usually by force.

Dick opened up relations with another company that hadn't had any relations with anyone in about 30 years, making things right with the world with a simple game of ping-pong.

However, Dick later had some problems—something about 18 pounds worth of borax missing—and he was gone.

A guy named Jerry came in and took over the team, and decided not to prosecute Dick for his wrong-doing. Jerry didn't last long, however, because he used many of Dick's management ideas and maintained a similar philosophy. Jerry also had a bad golf game. The company's stockholders decided they needed a change at the top.

They brought in a guy named Peanut. His only previous experience had been with a very small mule team. Peanut had some problems, though—his management style wasn't right. Compounding problems, some of his burros were kidnapped by a competitor, and they kept the burros for over a year. After several bungled attempts to get the burros back, the stockholders had stomached enough.

So, the stockholders brought in Ronnie, who came in with some new ideas about how the mule team in Death Valley should be run.

A little backtracking here. The 20-mule team had always been around but had never done a whole lot. Along about 1929, though, disaster struck.

Most of the work was being done by smaller mule teams, but they couldn't handle the situation when the price of borax fell from $20 a pound to $2 a pound overnight. The company floundered for about three years before the stockholders brought in Frankie to run the show.

Frankie ran the mule team longer than anyone else, and got the 20-mule team involved. The 20-mule team picked up the largest part of the burden, with Frankie feeling that the 20-mule team, working together, could do more work than the single mules could on their own.

Frankie got things clicking for the company. He was followed by several managers after serving as burromaster for over 12 years, people like Harry, D.D., Fitz and Lyn. The 20-mule team continued to carry more and more of the burden all along.

As the 20-mule team did more, some of the smaller teams stayed strong, some maintained an even stream, and some became weaker. Some became so weak the 20-mule team had to bail them out. But, from the time of Frank through the time of Peanut, the 20-mule team picked up more and more of the burden.

Then, suddenly, Ronnie said no more. In a grand stroke, Ronnie said that the smaller teams should again carry their part of the load. Ronnie said the 20-mule team wouldn't be carrying as much borax through Death Valley, and they sure wouldn't carry in as many supplies.

Ronnie said the 20-mule team would no longer provide the employees with health care—something started by Lyn. Ronnie said his burros wouldn't provide the people with as much assistance when they were poor, money when they were losing money farming, just wouldn't be involved as much anymore.

Some of the smaller mule teams were ready. Some of the the teams said he's right—we need to do more of these things ourselves. We can manage our small mule team better ourselves than Ronnie can up there with that 20-mule team.

Course, they had to charge the stockholders a little more for being ready to provide for them when they were poor; to give their children a good, thorough education, not just an old piece of paper that says you know the basics, now you're on your own.

And then there was a mule driver named Bill.

Bill had managed a small team once before, but the stockholders had voted him out. Bill did some politicking, told the stockholders what they wanted to hear, and they put him back in charge.

However, the price of borax in Bill's area was falling again, and he was looking at a loss. Bill decided things had to change. No care for the poor in his mule team. An adequate, not great, education was fine for Bill's team. The old, retired mule team workers weren't going to get any more help from Bill's team.

The mule team workers' kids having trouble? So what, Bill said. Some of the workers have health problems they can't handle? Tough noogies, Bill said.

People got mad. People moved to other mule teams, teams where they could give their children the best education possible, and pay the educators a decent salary. Teams where children with problems got the assistance they needed. Teams where the older, retired persons received adequate care.

People had once been proud to have been part of the mule team that was now Bill's. They would brag, like no others in all of Death Valley, that they were born and raised to work on that mule team.

The pride was still there, but more and more, people became disenchanted with the way Bill was doing things. They began to move to other mule teams. Bill's empire began to deteriorate.

Bill had a dream the other night. He dreamt that everyone, everything was gone. Only Bill and his burro remained. A lieutenant, also named Bill, sidled up to him.

The lieutenant told Bill he had an easy solution. He could continue to improve the education of the children. He could continue to care for the underprivileged, the sick, the aged. He could cut some of the waste that's inherent in any business, but cutting the waste wouldn't be enough.

All Bill had to do, the lieutenant said, was get off his burro and raise the price of borax.

Eleven qualify for state meet

Nazareth will be defending its Class A boys' and girls' doubles titles, and Hart's Tammy Menchaca will be going back to Austin in search of another state 3,200-meter championship after winning state berths last weekend at regional meets in Levelland and Big Spring.

Also earning state berths were Nazareth's Linda Birkenfeld (3,200) and Rachel Huseman (400); Menchaca's long-distance teammate Lupe Mijares, who, like Menchaca, qualified in both the 1,600 and 3,200; Larry Brown, second in the 1-2A long jump with a leap of 21-7; and Hart's Martin and Andy Castillo, who finished third at state last year.

Kenny Kern and Todd Hill, defending state Class A boys' doubles champions, won the Region I-A title Friday at Levelland, as did Traci Hill and Stephanie Brockman. Last year, Hill teamed with Mona Heiman Schulte to win the state girls' Class A crown. The Nazareth girls' duo of Sheila Acker and Missy Brockman won third place with a 2-6, 7-5, 6-4 win over Delilah Alvarez-Lisa Dutchover of Balmorhea.

Hill and Brockman disposed of the Balmorhea duo in the semifinals, 6-2, 6-2, while Acker and Brockman fell to Angela Matthews and Shayla Criswell of Anton, 6-3, 6-0. In the finals, Hill-Brockman easily disposed of the Anton team, 6-2, 6-0, to earn the top regional seed.

Hill and Kern had trouble in their semifinal match with Steven Brooks and Hector Herrera of Tornillo before winning 6-4, 6-0, then dumped Jack Britten and Brent Thompson of Groom in the finals, 6-3, 6-3.

At Big Spring, the Castillo brothers defeated Urban-Beeson of Spearman in the first round, 6-2, 6-2, and Mayes and Hill of Albany, 6-1, 6-2, to reach Saturday's semifinals.

In the semifinals, they bested Roden-Sperry of Memphis, 7-5, 6-3, but were defeated in the finals to Duncan-Hoel of Gruver, 6-1, 6-1.

Falling in Friday action were Risha Ammons, who defeated Spearman's Vernon, 6-0, 6-2, before falling to Helmers of Eldorado, 7-6, 3-6, 6-4; the Robbie Sarabia-Cynthia George doubles team, which defeated the Blackwell sisters of Stanton 5-7, 6-3, 6-3 in the first round but fell to Poehls-Belew of Winters, 6-4, 6-4 in the quarterfinals; Cody Myrick, who won his first match, 6-1, 6-1 over Spencer of Marfa before falling, 6-4, 6-0 to Green of Anson; Blair Brown, who fell to Jeffreys of Coleman, 6-3, 6-4 in the first round; and the Daniel Lacy-Ware Brown boys tandem, which lost to Hurst-Lange of Wall in the first round, 6-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Friday, Linda Birkenfeld took a four-second win in the 3,200 at the Region I-A track meet in Levelland to earn a place in next week's state meet, with a winning time of 12:34.69. Saturday, she was joined by Rachel Huseman, who won the 400 meters in 59.61, winning by over a second.

At the Region I-2A meet in Big Spring, Menchaca and Mijares went one-two in both distance events. Menchaca won the 3,200 meters in 11:51.92, while Mijares was second in 12:02.67.

In the 1,600 meters, Menchaca finished in 5:33.21, while Mijares was second in 5:40.55.

At the I-3A regional meet in Odessa, Dimmitt's Milton Carrasco set a new mark with his 53-0 effort in the shot put, but finished third.

Cara Odom finished fifth in the 400 meters, while Sydelle McDonald (200) and James Alexander (high jump) did not place.

"perishable" crop and what is not perishable. US Rep. Larry Combest has called the proposed regulations "unfair, unworkable and unacceptable."

"These regulations will be devastating for producers and agricultural communities. It has the potential to drastically alter farming in West Texas."

Combest is upset because only aliens who have worked with "perishable" crops will be legalized. USDA has revised the definition of a perishable crop to exclude cotton, livestock, poultry, dairy products, soybeans, sugar cane and hay. According to Combest, perishable crops will include Christmas trees, fruits, vegetables, cut flowers, herbs, spices, sugar beets and tobacco.

"It makes absolutely no sense for USDA to say that a Christmas tree is more perishable than a cotton crop," Combest said. "(USDA's) definition of perishable crops must be redefined or we are headed for some critical times in agriculture."

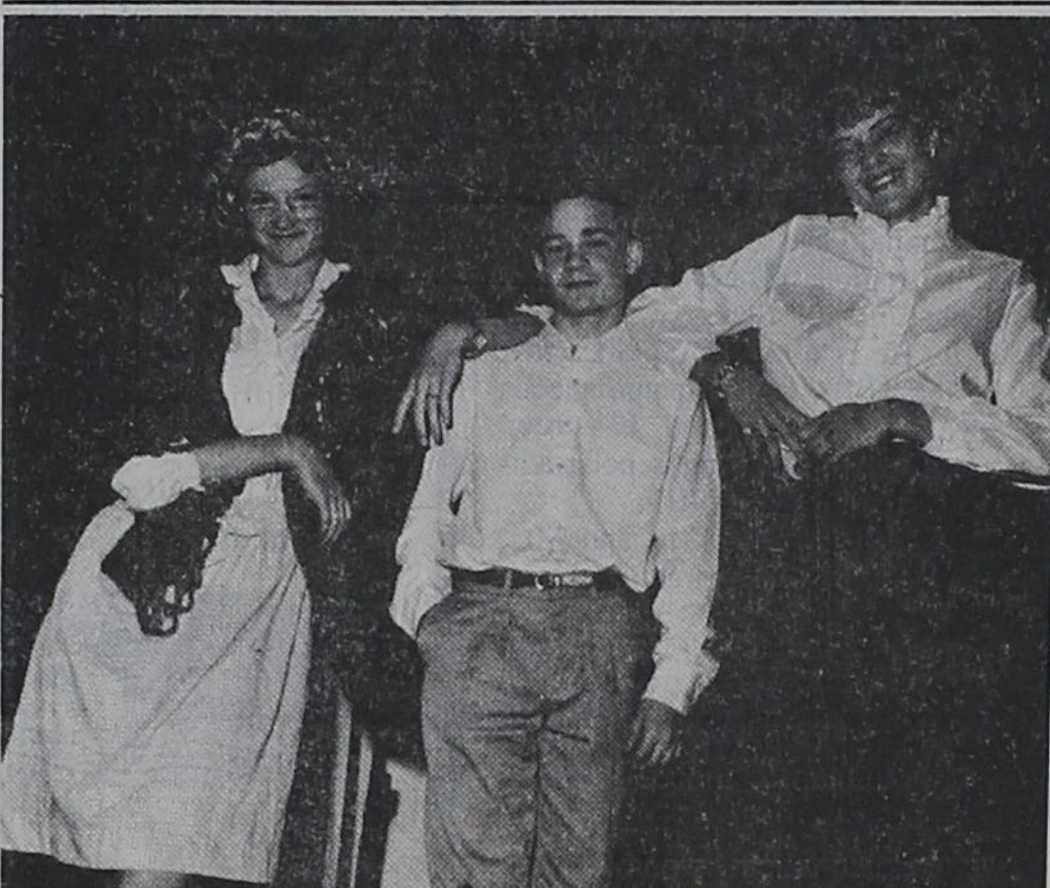

If the definitions remain unchanged, employers would not be able to legalize seasonal workers for the non-perishable crops. They would be forced to use domestic workers — which usually means higher wages. Historically, agricultural employers have been able to pay illegal aliens lower wages.

Edwards, an Extension Service economist, earlier said most agricultural workers should be able to attain legal status. First, the workers can obtain temporary resident status, and, after two years, could become permanent residents if they can show they have worked 90 or more man-days in producing and harvesting perishable agricultural commodities during the year beginning May 1, 1985.

At Monday's meeting, Edwards will spell out new rules for employees and employers, who could be fined up to $10,000 per violation and must maintain adequate records even though no illegal aliens are employed.

DIMMITT MIDDLE SCHOOL students Leigh Hyman, John Wall and Michelle Smith helped guide the one-act play "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do" to a district championship last week in district competition in Friona. Hyman was named to the all-star cast, while Wall was named Best Actor and Smith was tabbed Best Actress. The students were directed by Vicki Richards and Jaquetta Glass.

Third grade concert Monday

Richardson Elementary School's third graders will present at patriotic music program Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Dimmitt High School auditorium.

The students, under the instruction of Avie Lewis, will present an hour-long program. From 7:10 to 7:30 p.m., several piano students will be providing prelude music. There is no charge for admission, and everyone is invited to attend.

"Home, Sweet Home" may not be so sweet after all. According to National Wildlife magazine, studies have found that the air inside homes may be more dangerous to human health than the air outside homes. In fact, the number of people claiming to be victims of "building sickness" has tripled in the US since the early 1970s. Some of the indoor pollutants include formaldehyde, radon and tobacco smoke.

One of the highlights of the revival this week was the Homecoming Friday night. Noah Spencer gave his testimony. He and Ruth of Lubbock were among the thirteen former members who were present for the services. Most of them stayed for the homemade ice cream and cookies and the fellowship following the services. Beck Bridges, a former member from Dimmitt, and eight others from Canterbury Villa, were in the services. They were Sharon Leinen and Regina Miller (who made the trip possible), Leota Herrell (another employee), Rosa Mae Lance, Dixie Bradley (former resident of the community), Effie Taylor, Odie Moore, Jimmy Miller and Lucille Pfueffer.

They were also visitors on Tuesday night except for Pfueffer. Other former members were John and Evelyn Bridges of Earth; Tom and Ruth Parson and their adopted and foster children, Nancy and Albert; Dora and a friend, Rickey Richardson of Friona; Gertie Waggoner and her granddaughter, Jana Waggoner, whose parents are former members; Ann Cox and friends Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phillips, all of Dimmitt; and Sharon Sadler, Louise Bradley, Justin and Sharon, all of Sunnyside. Other visitors in the service who were not former members included Ernest Green and Trey Alair of Springlake and Mrs. Richard Young of Dimmitt.

Lillian Carson spent Wednesday night in Hart with her mother, Mrs. A.L. Aven.

Gale and Verna Sadler left Wednesday morning for Virginia through Missouri where they will visit with her relatives and drive on to Richmond, Va., to enjoy the scenery before beginning their seven-week orientation in Rockville, Va.

Lance King celebrated his eighth birthday with his family and grandparents, Billie and Emma Jean King Wednesday afternoon, and after school Thursday with his friends, Jonathan Bridges, Jake Conners and T.J. Sanders of Sunnyside and Kevin Daniels, Russell Verden and Ty Moudy of Earth.

The youth of the church and community and visitors had a pizza supper at the church Saturday night with hosts Steve Branson of Springlake presenting his illusion act. Alice Young of Dimmitt, daughter of the song leader, gave her testimony.

B.A. Woodall of Daingerfield, father of Judy Damron, left Monday after visiting with Clyde and Judy Damron, Justin and Tracy.

Justin Damron participated in the UIL Storytelling contest in Dimmitt Saturday for the Dimmitt third graders. He won fifth place.

Kaye King had her final test at Wayland Baptist University Thursday and is home for the summer.

Judy Waggoner went to Farwell Saturday and brought her mother, Mrs. Grady Herrington back with her for awhile.

Terri Loudder sang at the wedding of Kim Lindsey and Billy Holland of Fort Worth Saturday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church in Dimmitt. Hazel Waggoner also attended the ceremony.

The revival services ended Sunday with a fellowship meal following the morning services. Richard Young was in his own church Sunday, so Gerald Elkins led the song services. Rev. Glen Smith drove from Sundown each night for the services. His grandchildren Trey Alair of Springlake and Jonathan Bridges went home with him Friday night and spent the weekend with Mrs. Smith. Erin and Robin traveled back and forth with him each night and Sunday morning. Clifford and Catherine Pierce from Littlefield and Karen Alair of Springlake visited the Sunday morning services and stayed for the covered dish lunch.

Rev. Bentley and Kathy Gwyn, Christi and Holly went to Sundown Sunday night since services here were dismissed. Rev. Gwyn preached the evening message at Sundown. Erin, Robin and Jonathan rode home with them following

Acker wins NMSC scholarship

Russell J. Acker of Nazareth has received a scholarship from the National Merit Scholarship Corp. to attend Texas A&M University.

Acker, who plans to major in accounting, has served as an officer in the National Honor Society, Student Council, Senior Class, and FFA. He is a two-time participant in the UIL state extemporaneous speaking contest, and has been named an outstanding scholar-athlete all four years at NHS.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Acker of Nazareth.

A light snack: According to Ranger Rick magazine, female fireflies of the Photuris species can imitate the flashing signals of other kinds of female fireflies. When tricked males come to mate, Photuris females devour them.

Nazareth

By Uirgh Gerber, 945-2669

The annual May crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary was held Sunday morning before mass in Holy Family Church. Michelle Schulte, daughter of David and Mary Ann Schulte and president of the Nazareth Catholic Youth Organization, had the honor of crowning Mary.

Her attendants were Mandy Hoelting, Jamie and Tiffany Schmucker, Marcus Brockman and Robbie Schmucker. It was a beautiful ceremony.

Monsignor Stanley Crocchiola is here for a few days visiting friends before he goes to New Jersey for a months vacation with his family.

Cyril and Mitzie Brockman and Margaret Maas of Dallas flew to Rhode Island recently to attend Perry Brockman's graduation from the Naval Officers' Candidate School. They flew into Providence, R.I., on April 2 where they were met by Perry. They then rented a car and drove to Newport, where the Naval Education Center is located. They attended the Colors and Awards Ceremony that afternoon and a reception and ball at the Officer's Club in the evening. The graduation ceremony was held Friday morning during which Perry was one of 90 candidates to receive commission as Ensign in the US Navy.

All of the ceremonies were very impressive. Rear Admiral Roberta Hazzard, commanding officer of the Great Lakes Naval Training Base was the graduation speaker.

Cyril, Mitzie, Perry and Margaret spent a couple days sightseeing. They visited the Naval War College Museum at Newport and drove to Graton, Conn., to visit the submarine base and museum. They toured the Nantilas, our first nuclear powered submarine and also the USS Corpus Christi, a new, fast attack sub. It was very interesting.

They enjoyed seeing homes with the New England style architecture. The "Breakers", one of many turn-of-the-century mansions, was incredible.

After a few weeks off, Perry will begin six months of schooling at the Navy Nuclear Power School at Orlando, Fla.

Bryan Huseman will be moving to Idalou where he has accepted the position of head coach of the girls' varsity basketball teams.

Tony and Angela Acker attended the 50th anniversary of the Catholic Daughters Court, St. Monica 1262, in Olfen Sunday. This court was started by Rev. Gregory Brockman in 1937. National and State Officers attending were Loretta Knebel, past National Regent from El Campo; Rowena Johnston, National Director and past State Regent of Weimar; Margaret Cutbirth, State Regent from Crosby and Acker, State Secretary.

Pierce Brockman and Pat Maas were united in marriage April 25 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Richardson with Rev. Gus Melito, officiating. A reception followed in the Richardson Civic Center. Attending from Nazareth were Alma Conrad, Cyril and Mitzie Brockman, Steve Albracht and Joe Kleman. Pierce is a 1985 graduate of Texas Tech University School of Engineering. Pat graduated in 1985 from Iowa State. Both are employed as computer scientists for Electrospace Incorporated in Richardson. After a trip to Paris, France, the couple will reside in Richardson.

Congratulations to Ronnie and Regina Hoelting who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening beginning with a mass in Holy Family Church with Rev. Brendan Sherry, officiating. Mitzie Brockman attended a 30-year nursing class reunion in Dallas over the weekend. A barbecue and slumber party was held at the home of Ruby Mae Annen Hubbard on Saturday evening. On Sunday afternoon, she enjoyed a homecoming celebration at St. Paul's Medical Center which honored the 50 year graduates of St. Paul's School of Nursing. 19 of the 29 graduates of the class of 1957 attended the reunion. One classmate is deceased. An award was given to one from Florida for traveling the longest distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rohr of Apache Junction, Ariz., visited with Albert Gerber recently. They were on their way to Bell Plains, Kan., to visit their families who live on the family farms.

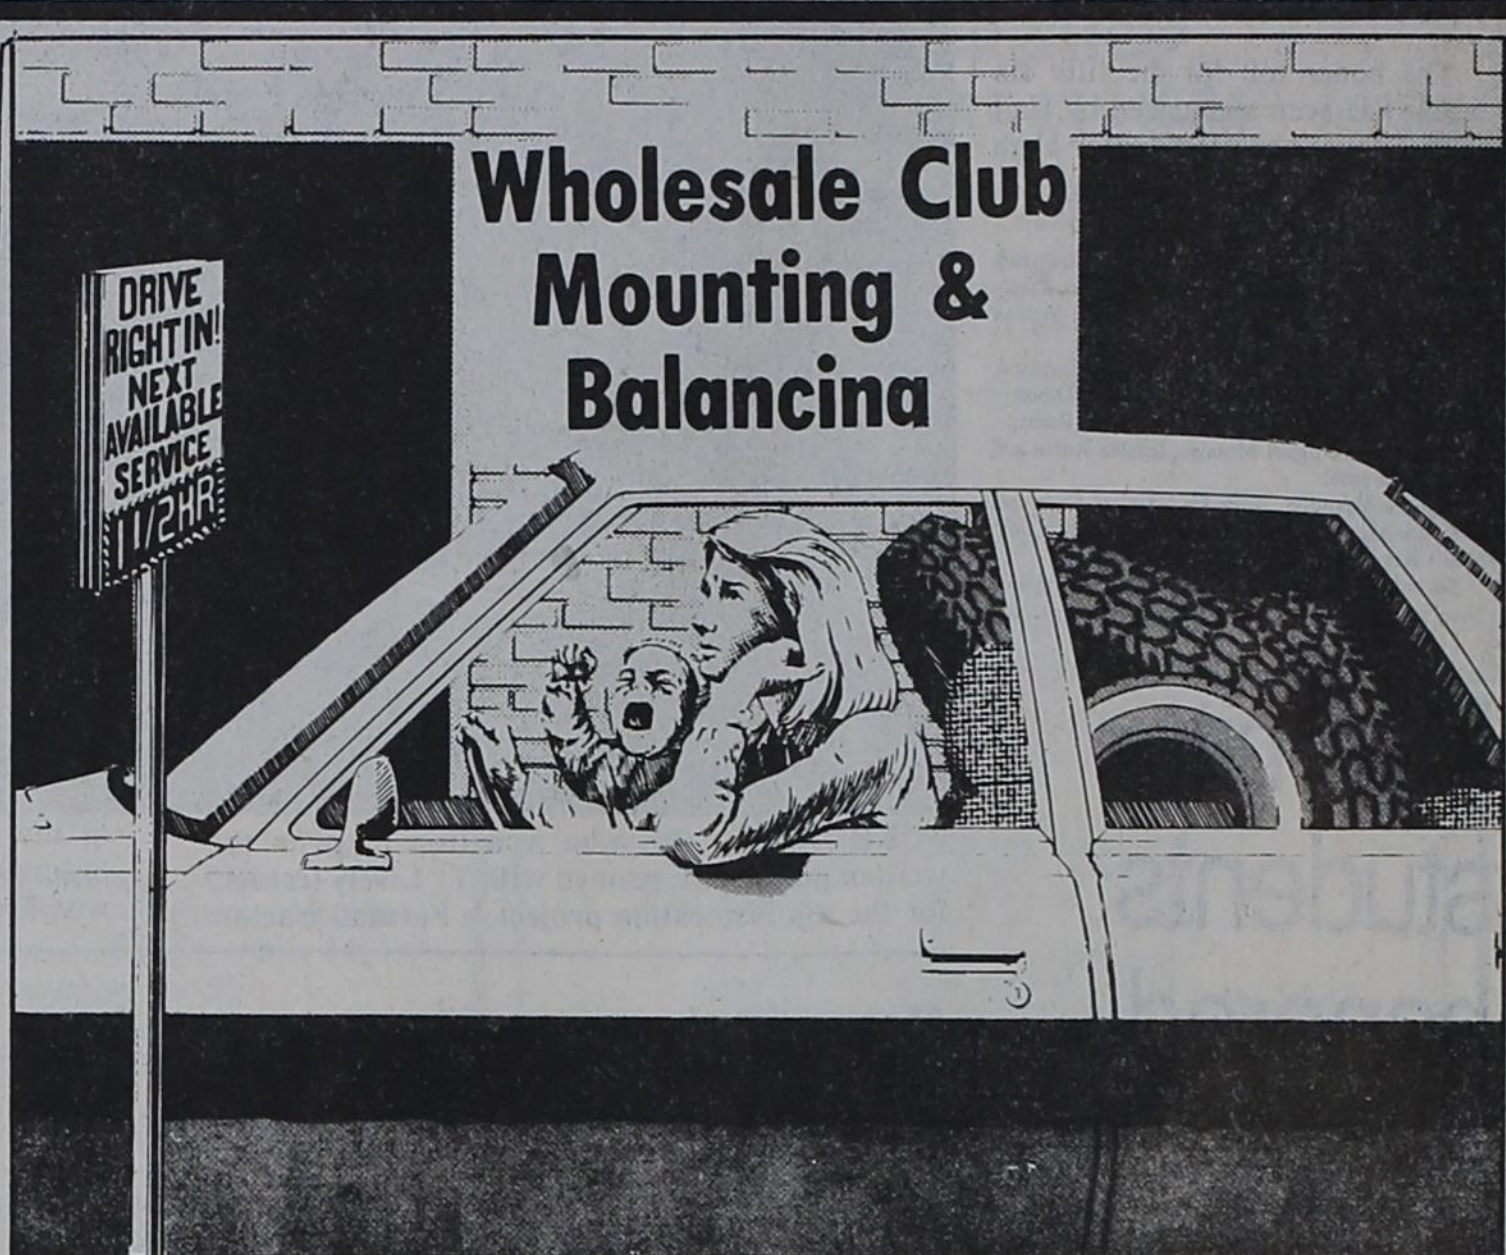

Congratulations to the regional tennis winners Todd Hill and Kenny Kern, 1st in boys doubles; Traci Hill and Stephanie Brockman, 1st in girls doubles and Sheila Acker and Missy Brockman, 3rd in girls doubles.

Together We Can

"My husband said it was a good ideal . . ."

If you're thinking of buying tires from a "wholesale club," you should compare our prices first. We offer comparable prices, plus immediate service.

Did you know that if you have problems with your wholesale club tire purchase, you have to take it up with the tire manufacturer? We handle all warranty service on our COMPLETE tire line—passenger, truck and farm.

Does the wholesale club pay local taxes and support our community and school functions? No, they don't. But we do.

If you buy strictly for price at a wholesale club, don't forget to add the expense of mounting and balancing, travel time, and waiting for your appointment. What is your time worth?

The yellow bellied sea snake is the only reptile in the world that spends its whole life in water, according to Ranger Rick magazine. These sea snakes are so suited to water that if they wash up on shore, they can't even crawl.

Gas prices could rise

In recent months, Texans have been confronted with rising gasoline prices, partially due to the recent nickel hike in the state's motor fuels tax. And there's more bad news—increased federal excise taxes on gasoline could loom in the future.

Motor fuel is one of the most heavily taxed commodities in the nation, according to the Texas Oil Marketers Association, and those taxes continue to grow. Effective Jan. 1, the state gasoline tax jumped from 10 cents to 15 cents per gallon, a move designed to aid Texas' crippled budget. That means the state motor fuels tax has tripled in less than five years.

Today, Texans pay the 15-cent state excise tax and a 9.1-cent federal excise tax, for a total of 24.1 cents tax per gallon.

Officials of TOMA predict that federal excise taxes will also rise this year. TOMA President Lynton Allred of Hereford said that federal taxes could increase up to 10 cents per gallon in the spring, making the federal total 19.1 cents per gallon, for a total excise tax of 34.1 cents. In other words, more than 33% of the price of a gallon of gasoline priced at $1 per gallon would go to taxes.

TOMA is the largest state petroleum marketing and convenience store organization in the country, representing more than 700 businesses that own, supply or operate more than 10,000 branded and unbranded service stations and convenience stores in Texas and the Southwest. These firms supply petroleum products to two-thirds of the state's retail motor fuel outlets.

The Dimmitt plant qualified for the safety award based on working 491,198 man-hours without a lost-time, on-the-job injury.

The Dimmitt plant has won first and second place safety awards for the past several years.

More about

Thanks to work by one of Weinstein's colleagues, the SSC could be even cheaper to build, but could lead to some delays.

Dr. Paul Chu has discovered a new superconductive material that would be cooled by liquid nitrogen at about -240 degrees Fahrenheit. The material used in the SSC's magnets are cooled by more expensive liquid helium at about -260 degrees. The new material conducts electricity with no losses due to resistance.

Spray requests require renewal

The annual requests by neighbors, school and hospital officials to be notified by farm operators before aerial pesticide sprayings expired Dec. 31, according to Angela Lamb, Texas Dept. of Agriculture District Supervisor.

Eligible residents who want to be notified of aerial pesticide applications during 1987 must file a request in writing with the farm operator, Lamb said. Requests can be made for 1987 regardless of whether such a request has been filed before.

The prior notification provisions of the health and safety standards adopted by TDA in 1985 are "the cornerstone of TDA's efforts to ensure that people can take whatever steps they feel necessary to protect themselves and their families during nearby pesticide applications," said Ellen Widess, director of TDA's Agricultural and Environmental Sciences Program.

mail to the farm operator, but we also know that's not always possible. Still it would give the person making the request a written record that can be used to verify that the farm operator received their request," Lamb said. "It's also a good idea to send a copy of the request to TDA's Amarillo district office at 5501 West I-40, Suite C, Amarillo, 79106."

More information is available from the TDA district office at 806/358-7285 or by calling toll-free to Austin, 1-800-TDA-REGS.
