Experts Start Minute Study Of Tax Plan

Twenty-Four Persons Are To Scrutinize Act In Effort To Perfect Huge System

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Twenty-four persons began today an analysis of the two-year-old social security law.

Their purpose was to recommend changes, if any seem advisable, to perfect the largest tax plan and the most sweeping insurance system yet projected by the American government.

Thirty-four million wage earners have a stake in these deliberations.

Hope For Security

They are the men and women who hold, or are soon to hold, social security numbers. They have reason to be hopeful that, because of taxes which they are paying for the purpose, they will not be penniless in old age or starving during periods of unemployment.

The study started today was not undertaken primarily for the settlement of any controversy.

To report that one group asserts the present law is dangerous on the one hand, or bunglingly ineffective on the other, while an opposing group champions the law as it stands, would be to exaggerate expressed differences of opinion.

Set-Up Is Criticized

Criticism by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the procedure and particularly of the prodigious reserve fund involved, led to creation of the advisory council by the senate finance committee and the social security board.

Vigorously deploring the present set-up, Vandenberg said:

"The wage-earners of the nation could have been spared the awful burden of pouring 50 billions of its resources into this fictitious (social security) fund."

He called the law itself a "typical example of the gross extent to which humane and lofty purposes are being often subverted by hasty, ill-digested shotgun legislation."

Believes In Objectives

The senator said that he voted for the social security act and that he believes in its objectives, but he added:

"I do not believe that we should decline cold-bloodedly to analyze its mathematics in behalf of betterment."

On the other hand, the law's own administrator, Chairman A. J. Altmeyer of the social security board, does not hold out for the law exactly as it is. He said:

"We must continuously re-evalu-

Wily Buck And Lordly Gobbler Must Dodge Thousands Of Gun Slugs As Texas Season Opens

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. — The wily buck and lordly gobler must dodge more bullets than ever before it appeared today as an army of nimrods looked forward to deer and turkey seasons a scant week and a half away—or face death to grace the Texas hunter's table.

Will J. Tucker, secretary to the game commission, said a 25 per cent increase in license sales to 100,000 indicated a record hunting prospect. Licenses are required only for county non-residents.

Few Leases Available

"Then there has been an almost complete sell-out of desirable hunting leases," he said, "though a few in good areas are still available."

Tucker said there were probably some 100,000 legal-sized bucks ready for the kill and summed up hunting conditions in favorite sections as follows:

Central — West Texas (the hill country): Recent rains improved ranges and a fine crop of deer was increasing rapidly in weight. Turkey, the same.

Some Good Hunting

Southwest Texas: Worst drouth since 1916 left range destitute but "there should be some good hunting."

Trans-Pecos: Conditions fair with middling good shooting in prospect.

Eastern Texas: Excellent in all respects.

Canadian river area: Much improved.

Season on the fowl opens Nov. 16 and closes Dec. 31 with bags limited to three gobblers. It is unlawful to shoot hens and there are heavy penalties for violations. Forty-six scattered counties of Texas' 254 have no open season. A hunter may have only three shells in his gun.

Seasons For Deer

Open season on bucks with one or more prongs on the antlers are: white tail deer, Nov. 16 to Dec. 31; black tail or mule deer, east of the Pecos river, identical dates, and west of the Pecos, Nov. 16 to 30. Bag limit is two bucks except on black tail west of the Pecos where only one is allowed. Fifty-five counties in various sections are closed and some others have special laws permitting the use of dogs in hunting or trailing deer.

Shooting will start at daybreak and continue until one-half hour after sundown.

Tucker warned huntsmen to:

Warning Is Given

Pin a piece of brilliant red cloth on your hat or cap so that no one can mistake you for a deer;

Be positive it's a legal buck or gobbler before firing;

Carry only definitely unloaded gun into camp or in your car;

Let your gun and yourself negotiate fences separately;

Beware of drinking anything stronger than strong coffee;

Be careful, be cautious, be safe!

The game secretary said deer and turkey hunters spent roughly $10,000,000 a season in Texas for leases which range as high as $150 a season, guns and ammunition, clothes and boots, automobile expenses and other items.

Defenders Are Driven Back By Japanese

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5. — Japanese troops, in a surprise attack, today drove Chinese defenders from four villages on the south bank of Soochow creek.

This action, the first decisive engagement in the Shanghai fighting since Chinese troops evacuated Chapei last week, enabled the Japanese to move 3,000 men across the creek on a line two miles west of Itubicon village.

Air Forces Hampered

eHavy rains greatly curtailed Japanese air bombardments.

Japanese forces opened the 13th week of Shanghai warfare today.

The Japanese push started along a one-mile front after 10 days of preparation and skirmishes which followed the Chinese retreat from the Chapei section north of the international settlement. Chinese faced the advancing Japanese from lines nearly a mile south of the creek.

During the night, Japanese were believed to have pushed southward. A prolonged artillery bombardment ushered in the drive.

Airdrome Is Objective

The Japanese objective apparently was the Hungjao airdrome.

Foreign military observers believed Japanese had ferried several big guns across Soochow creek. The Japanese batteries were thought to be dropping shells over the entire Hungjao suburban area, where a number of American and foreign residences are located, in a search for Chinese guns and troop concentrations.

A Japanese naval spokesman said Japanese had been ordered to respect foreign property in the Hungjao district unless the property was used by Chinese for military purposes.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5 (AP) — Anna Marie Hahn neared today the climax of her fight for life.

They were aloft in their 52-horse power ship yesterday morning at 6:40 o'clock.

Texas Drivers Required To Prove Skill

Trained Examiners Will Give Daily Tests After Nov. 15 To Those Seeking Licenses

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 5—Texas auto drivers applying for licenses after Nov. 15 will find skilled examiners asking about their health, habits, and ability.

On that date approximately 50 trained examiners of the driver's license bureau will start enforcing the new license law requiring physical and driving tests and designed to keep from the roads inept drivers blamed by many for increasing roadside death.

To Examine Vehicles

In addition, vehicles used by applicants must undergo examination for proper brakes, lights, horn and windshield wiper.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, public safety department director, said officers will be in every county seat at least once weekly, more frequently in others, and in some cities every day.

"The schedules are arranged so most examiners will cover more than 100 miles daily and while on the road they will function just as highway patrolmen," he said.

Have Maximum Strength

"This will give us a maximum patrol strength of 200 men, compared with a previous average of little more than 100 who were expected to police 22,000 miles of roadway."

Officials hope the license law qualifications, coupled with greater vigilance on thoroughfares, will cut sharply into the mounting toll of highway carnage, although the requirements touch only prospective drivers seeking their first license.

Permits already issued expire in 1939 and renewal will not involve tests unless ability to drive properly is doubtful.

Private licenses are free and commercial or chauffeur's permits cost $3.

Permits To Be Issued

Learner's permits, good for 30 to 90 days, will be issued inexperienced drivers seeking to qualify for a license.

The principal phases of an examination consist of tests of eyesight with special attention to color blindness, ability to read and comprehend traffic signs and signals and operate a vehicle under ordinary traffic conditions. Prospective chauffeurs are subject to more extensive tests.

Minimum age requirement for a private operator is 14 with signed consent of a judge or legal guardian. Otherwise it is 16. Chauffeurs must be 18 except for passenger buses whose drivers can not be less than 21.

Power To Revoke Permits

An administrative change coincident with enforcing the new law will be issuance of permits by the bureau instead of county tax collectors. Under the new statute the licensing bureau also has power to revoke permits for cause.

Daily tests will be given in El Paso, Pecos, Big Spring, Lubbock, Amarillo, Abilene, San Angelo, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Tyler, Houston and Beaumont.

MORTON, Nov. 5 (Special)—Jury in the trial of B. L. Dooley, 45, farmer charged with statutory rape on a 15-year old girl, was discharged without reaching a verdict by Judge Daniel A. Blair of Lubbock in 72nd district court here about 10 o'clock this morning.

Members of the jury reported their 6-6 deadlock had been unchanged since they began deliberations late Thursday.

Bond of $5,000 under which Dooley has been at liberty was continued in effect by Judge Blair.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks announced that if the case is retried he will ask that it be set for the April term of court here.

Assisting Burks in the prosecution of the case were Assistant District Attorney Victor H. Lindsey and Cochran County Attorney Lloyd Kennedy. Representing Dooley were Carl Rathiff of Levelland and Herbert Martin of Littlefield.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — The revolving door went round and round to the tune of swinging fists.

Landry testified he started to leave through a revolving door, but somebody trapped him and every time it swung round, somebody poked him one. He finally escaped, landed in court and was held in $50 bail.

Ear Of Auto Driver Is Quicker In Response To Warning Than Eye; Tests Being Conducted

(By The Associated Press)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 5. — The ear of an automobile driver is quicker than his eye in responding to a safety warning.

An auto horn, or a policeman's whistle, puts the driver's foot on the brake faster than the sight of a red light.

These findings in safe driving were announced today at Indiana university. They were the first tests to compare a driver's reaction time to sound and sight. They were made by Dr. Frank R. Elliott and Professor C. M. Louttit of the psychology department.

Seven hundred drivers were tested. Each one sat in the driver's seat, with one foot pressing the accelerator half way to the floor. The time required to lift his foot to the brake and press the pedal all the way down was taken.

The signal to put on the brake was either a red light directly in front, or an automobile horn. The signals were given with the car standing still. All groups, whether men or women, young or old, responded more quickly to the horn than to the light.

The average advantage of the ear over the eye was one-hundredth of a second. In individual cases, however, the fastest braking time for the red light was three-tenths of a second; the quickest for the horn a little more than two-fifths of a second.

Men were a little faster than women in responding to either light or horn.

Braking time decreased moderately with the age of the subject.

Persons with the higher mental ratings were quicker than any other class.

Shy Minnesota Farmer Wears Cornhusking Crown; Refuses To Be Ruffled By Opponents

MARSHALL, Mo., Nov. 5 (AP) A big, shy Minnesota farmer, 38-year-old Ray Hanson of Bingham Lake, wore the nation's cornhusking crown today because he refused to be ruffled by 19 impatient rivals as rain slashed across his face and mud sucked at his shoes.

Methodically, while others surged ahead, he cast off his long-standing sobriquet as "hard luck" husker by taking his time. He whipped the best huskers of nine other corn belt states, to take the $100 prize. He had been in 26 contests and four previous nationals without winning. Hanson didn't shuck as much corn as many others but he shucked it cleaner.

Nazis Hope To Obtain Truce In Conflict

Germany Makes No Secret Of Friendship To Japan While Also Being Friend To China

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 5 — Germany fully expected today to steal a march on the Brussels conference, which she declined to attend, and settle the Chinese - Japanese war herself.

Preliminary informal requests from both China and Japan for Chancellor Hitler to act as an umpire in their four-months-old conflict were regarded by Germany as so bona fide that Hitler, according to a source close to the chancellery, ordered diplomat Joachim Von Ribbentrop to return post haste from Rome to undertake preliminary negotiations.

Fortunes Might Turn

German sources admitted that the fortunes of war might so turn that plans for mediation would have to be postponed.

But they were fully convinced that if anyone could settle the far eastern difficulties as an impartial outsider it was Germany. While making no secret of her friendship for Japan, the reich at the same time has been careful to maintain good relations with China.

Moreover China is indebted to Germany because of the German military experts who have aided her and because Germany has renounced all claims to extraterritorialty for her nationals in China.

Ne Ax To Grind

Germany thus was regarded as having no ax to grind.

The informal Chinese-Japanese invitations to Hitler, tendered partly through Oskar Trautmann, German ambassador to China and partly through Japanese channels, were said by a trustworthy source to have reached Hitler Wednesday night.

"Nothing Doing" Is Attitude Of Japan To Berlin Plan

TOKYO, Nov. 5. (AP)—A Japanese foreign office source declared today that Japan was "unable to accept any mediation whatsoever" in her conflict with China.

He made the statement when asked to comment on reports from Berlin that Chancellor Adolf Hitler had been asked to act as mediator in the hostilities. Despite his assertion, it was learned that Japanese and German diplomats had conferred with each other.

"Japan does not recede from her original contention that peace is possible only through direct negotiations between Japan and China, and then only if China changes her attitude," the source said.

He added there has been "considerable discussion" in government circles regarding a formal Japanese declaration of war against China.

Pension Rolls Of Texas Are Facing Slash

Allred Claims If Banks Are Paid Reduction Must Be Made; He Opposes Move

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 5—Governor James V. Allred said today if a bank loan made last year to aid old age assistance was paid without provision of new revenue, pension rolls would have to be reduced and he was opposed to such reduction.

He further said it was general talk pressure for trimming the rolls and coming from the federal government and he favored a "showdown' to place the responsibility.

14 Not Enough

"I'm against further cutting," the governor said. "I'm not going to carry the ball for the federals any longer. I think 14 a month is not enough for a pension, especially in the winter months.

"I think it is wrong to hold out a lot of promises to old people who are going to be hurt. It seems the banks which loaned the state 1,626,000 have been pacified for the time being, but I know that if the loan is paid some folks are going to be cut off the rolls or the amount of pensions will have to be cut down. I don't see how they can do the job without it and I'm against it."

Payments Agreed On

The board of control announced yesterday it had agreed to pay the banks $100,000 a month for two months and then re-examine the situation with reference to future handling of the loan. Governor Allred recently called a session of the legislature to finance the loan and provide other assistance for social security but the session ended without action.

"The general talk is that pressure for reducing the rolls is coming from the federal government," the governor said. "If they want this, they ought to take the responsibility for that.

"I think some borderline cases ought to be put on the rolls instead of taken off."

CHAPTER I

The soap slid over the edge of the tub and across the bathroom floor, three feet beyond the reach of the tub's lovely occupant.

"Darn!" said Cilly. (Priscilla, to you. Miss Priscilla Pierce, of the late Bensonhurst Pierces).

She slithered down to the edge of the tub and reached again. With two strong fingers, she grasped the soap, only to have it slide another yard toward the door.

"Darn!" she said again. Then to herself: "If I have to get out of this tub, I'm out for good."

Somewhere in the night a church clock struck. Cilly listened, counting the strokes. "Twelve o'clock," she murmured. "I'm going to bed."

She remembered that she had a full morning's work ahead of her the next day, if she was to finish that Harvey brief by noon. And she was never her best on Monday morning. Tomorrow would be no exception.

She jumped out of the tub, rescued the slippery soap and returned it to its cubicle above the tub. Then with a huge Turkish towel she rubbed her tall slim body until it glowed.

"If Amy Kerr had one iota of sense," she was thinking all the while, "she wouldn't have suggested another rubber of bridge at 11 o'clock. Nor would she be up on the roof now airing her blue

Truce Favored By President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 — President Roosevelt told a press conference today he had always favored re-union of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The president gave his comment in reply to the final question put, at his first press interview since returning to Washington after a 12-day stay at Hyde Park. His statement came a few hoors before peace committees of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. were to resume their sessions.

Taking No Active Part

Asked if the administration had been taking an active part in trying to get the warring labor factions together, he replied not that he knew of.

The labor conference, meanwhile, struck at the fundamental issue between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. toda yby agreeing to discuss which industries should have broad industrial unions.

A Hopeful Sign

Observers interested in ending the two-year dispute between these factions of organized labor calld the decision a hopeful sign. Negotiators for both sides indicated for the first time that there had been some actual progress.

The dispute has grown ever since John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. associates set out to organize single unions for such industries as steel, automobiles and rubber after the A. F. of L. insisted that highly skilled workers everywhere should join the union of their craft.

Shortcut To Happiness If You "Marry The Boss' Daughter" Not So Easy As It Sounds

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—Two Columbia university teachers college professors said today that if American adolescents read less "Horatio Alger and pulp magazine literature" they would be less dissatisfied with life.

This type of reading—and "cheap movies" too—said Merle Curtis and Goodwin Watson, creates in the youthful mind a false idea of success, a belief that it's easy to "marry the boss' daughter." Hence, youth attempts a disastrous shortcut to happiness.

The professors said some movies play havoc with adults.

"Many women, after seeing a screen hero, hate to go back to a prosaic husband; many husbands, after seeing a screen heroine, just can't see their prosaic wives."

Fill baked individual pie crusts or tart cases with sliced oranges. When it is time to serve the dessert, cover the oranges with a chilled, boiled custard which has been flavored with almond, lemon and vanilla extracts. Sprinkle the top with cocoanut.

HANDLE WITH CARE

Don't bang porcelain or enameled kitchen equipment against stoves, tables or sinks. It will chip or crack if it is roughly handled. Many of the more modern, attractive pieces require special care.

If kitchen knives are to be kept sharp they must be stored properly. Fit them into a grooved box. Knives become dull by rubbing against other articles.

American Beauty

Socially prominent Mrs. Morton L. Schwartz is the fresh, clear-eyed outdoors type. Tall, dark and stately, she has been an ardent sportswoman since debutante days, when she was Elinor L. Blake. Mrs. Schwartz wears simple clothes, as all well-dressed women do, affects an equally simple well-bred coiffure, applies street make-up with great restraint.

CHOCOLATE CAKE NOTE

If your chocolate cake has a reddish color it probably contains too much soda. Use just the quantity of soda called for in the recipe.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Not Something He Ate

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Peter Idell was eating dinner when he suddenly gasped, got red in the face. Hurried to a hospital, he was examined by physicians who found in his pharynx Idell's lower set of false teeth. Idell pocketed the teeth, returned home, finished his meal.

Loyal Fan

PITTSBURGH—The end of one baseball season is just the beginning of another for Albert Ploch, veteran street car motorman.

Although the Pirates won't open their 1938 season for nearly six months, Ploch sent in his check today for six front row seats for the first game.

For ten years, Vice President S. E. Waters said, Ploch has been the first fan to order tickets for Buccaneer openers.

Lot To Swallow

MARSHALL, Mo.—A farmer got revenge for gilded bricks and Brooklyn bridges sold his ancestors by city slickers. A traveling man here for the national cornhusking contest gaped as the agrarian told of a big silo, the one holding "mustard for the hot dog sandwiches."

Bystanders winked, but the city man mumbled:

"It's even a bigger thing than I thought."

He Furnishes The Ducks

ROSEBURG, Ore.—Of the 130 ducks which used to parade each morning under Mayor A. J. Young's window, only 30 remain. Hunters have made duck dinners of the others.

Young is thinking of buying an alarm clock.

The value of the world's annual fish catch is estimated at $800,000,000.

Is Able To Work Again Since He Began Gly-Cas

Rheumatism Crippled Him Until He Could Not Raise Hands To His Head; Stomach Trouble Added To His Distress; Gly-Cas Again Unfailing.

"I had given up all hope of getting well again, but a short trial of Gly-Cas soon changed that," said Mr. J. E. Ellsworth, 118 North 11th St., Brownsville, Texas. "For thirty years I had been in a miserable condition. Constipation had filled my system with poisons, my stomach was badly affected and everything I ate caused me to suffer great agony afterwards. Then rheumatism settled over my body crippling me until I could not raise my hands to my head and it was impossible for me to do my daily work. I could not sleep and lost weight and strength. But finally I learned of Gly-Cas and my health troubles were soon corrected.

"I would not have believed any medicine could give such amazing results," continued Mr. Ellsworth. "I am now enjoying the best health I have had in thirty years. I eat any food I wish, sleep good the entire night through, have gained in weight and my normal strength and energy has been restored. Even rheumatism pains have been eliminated, have full use of my arms, able to work every day and really feel fine. Every sufferer should know about Gly-Cas for it can be depended upon."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

French Aver Sit-Down Strike Is American Invention

PARIS, Nov. 5.(AP)—Far as France is concerned, the "sit-down" strike is an American invention.

Officials of the General Confederation of Labor told The Associated Press that the stay-in strike of Goodyear Tire's Akron plant in March, 1936, was probably the first practical application of the new occupational method.

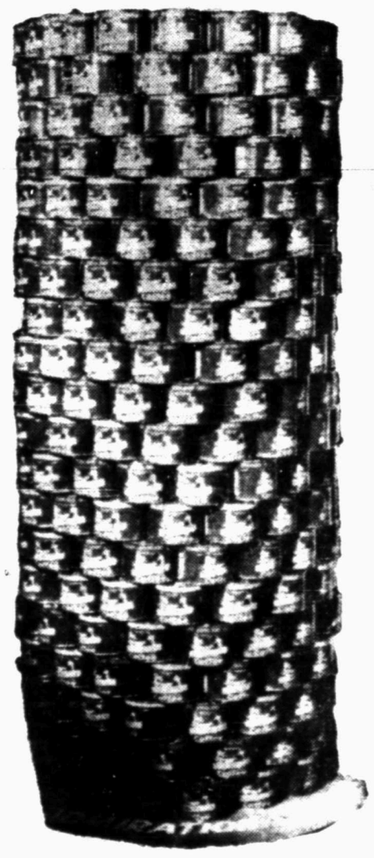

Inspired by the success of the Goodyear strike employes of three motor and airplane factories in the Paris district occupied their plants for four days until they got higher wages and paid vacations. They were the sit-down pioneers in France.

This was the signal for the epidemic of strikes that spread over France in the summer of 1936.

In order to produce one pound of honey, a bee would have to make 30,000 trips and gather nectar from 3,000,000 blossoms. Since worker bees only live about six weeks, no one of them ever makes more than one-tenth of a pound of honey in a lifetime.

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP) — An admission by a state department employe that he and co-workers aided his department head financially drew from the chairman of a house investigating committee today an opinion there was nothing wrong with the practice.

Rep. Ben F. Cathey of Quitman, chairman of a committee investigating possible departmental irregularities, told R. S. Calvert, statistician in the comptroller's department: "I see nothing wrong in the practice. In fact, it sinks into insignificance when compared with other practices."

Calvert had told the investigators he and others contributed voluntarily to "advertise" Comptroller George H. Sheppard when he stood for re-election last year.

Unaware Of Activity

He testified Sheppard was unaware of the employes' activity.

"I think we did right when we supported our boss," he said.

E. B. Barnes, former chief clerk of the treasury, gave similar testimony concerning employes of that department and committeemen said educational department workers made similar statements when questioned in an executive session.

The group which hoped to conclude witnesses tomorrow, also heard from Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald a defense of his policy of accepting offers of high royalty and comparatively small cash bonus on gulf coast mineral leases.

McDonald said he believed the larger payment out of possible oil production eventually would yield more for the state than high cash bonuses and small royalties.

Determination of what is the better policy, somewhat of a controversy, might be left to a land board to be created by the legislature, he said, but as long as he was controlled by the present law which gives him wide discretionary powers he would not shirk the responsibility.

Farm Session Set Saturday

Meeting of irrigation farmers to discuss organization of an irrigation district and to seek recognition at the approaching session of congress will be held at the courthouse here Saturday night, according to announcement Thursday night by Travis Tubbs, who will preside.

Delegations from Lamb, Hale and Floyd counties have been promised, to attend and talk organization. Floyd county has already had its organization meeting, Tubbs added.

"We, as irrigation farmers, want recognition as an irrigation district in the coming farm program," he said. Under irrigation it is possible to have greater production per acre than under dry land farming, he added. Tubbs operates a 200-acre farm west of Lubbock.

Emissary To Capitol Seen

"Our plan is, if we can arrange it, to send a man to Washington to help get recognition into the bill," Tubbs explained. "George Payne, who represents the farmers around El Paso, was here Thursday and talked about the work. He is to leave next week for Washington."

It is planned to group Southwestern states, particularly Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, and California into a group for irrigation purposes. There is a steadily growing irrigation section in these states.

Great Acreage Irrigated

In the neighborhood of 150,000 acres, possibly as much as 175,000 acres, on the South Plains, is under irrigation pumps. There has been a steady increase in acreage in the past six or eight years. First wells were drilled about 28 or 29 years ago.

Floyd county has the largest number of wells, about 300 in the Lockney area and 150 around Floydada. Hale county is second with 300 or more; Lubbock county has about 200 wells now and more coming in; Swisher county has about 175 wells. Other counties and the estimated number of wells include: Bailey, 75 to 100; Lamb, 45 or 50; Castro, 50 to 75; Hockley, 25 to 30; Crosby, 25; Lynn, 10 or 12; Terry, five; Cochran, three, and Garza several.

"We invite all irrigation farmers over this section to come and discuss the problems," Tubbs said. "County Agent C. C. Jobson will be with us and Don Turner, Lamb county agent, has said he would be present. We expect several other county agents."

Treasury Threatens To Peel Mural From Building Walls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The treasury threatened today to peel Rockwell Kent's Puerto Rican-Eskimo mural from a postoffice department wall and return it to the artist as "unsatisfactory."

Officials were angry over reports that Kent would sue if the treasury altered an inscription without first paying him the full $3,000 he asked for the picture.

"If he is going to be unpleasant, we may have to return the painting and get back the $1,950 we paid him on account," an official said.

The inscription, interpreted as an Eskimo appeal for a rebellion in Puerto Rico, has stirred criticism.

MINERS ON STRIKE

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 5. (AP) — More than 2,500 anthracite miners were on strike last night at five collieries of the Glen-Alden Coal company.

The men, members of the United Mine Workers of America, walked out after the company issued notices that it had repudiated the new state workmen's compensation act.

300 Artists Do Two Million Drawings To Put Walt Disney's Dwarfs On Hollywood Film

BY HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5. — "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is the first full-length hand drawn motion picture, but Walt Disney objects to calling it a "cartoon."

SNEEZY

"It's more than a cartoon," says Disney, whose staff of authors and artists soon will complete their four-year task of transferring Grimm's fairy tale to celluloid. "It is no more a cartoon than a painting by Whistler is a cartoon."

What can it be called? Frankly, Disney says he's stumped. Someone suggested the word "fable," but it isn't wholly descriptive. "Moving pictures," this writer's suggestion, is more apt, Disney admitted, but it still doesn't tell the story.

"Snow White" is being done in soft shades, not in the hard colors of Disney's Mickey Mouse and Silly Symphony one-reel pictures. Each scene is a studied composition in shading, in lights and shadows and, importantly, in story.

'Dopey' Was Trouble

Four years ago Disney started working on the feature. He first had it drawn in black and white, to get the story set. Few changes have been made from the original tale. The Dwarfs (who, I'll wager, will steal the show from the too lovely Snow White and her Prince Charming) have been given definite personalities and endowed with characteristics that Grimm neglected to give them.

"Dopey" gave the artists the most trouble. They had to make him a simple fellow (sort of Harpo Marxish) without making him moronic. "Doc" is the leader of the crew. "Grumpy" was easy and so was "Sleepy." "Sneezy," a subject of hay fever, always sneezes at the wrong time. "Bashful" is kind hearted and willing. "Happy" has a bright voice and a perpetual smile.

Grumpy
Artists found him easy to do.

In the original, the Queen who becomes a witch was forced to dance to death in red hot shoes, but Disney makes it a rule never to kill a character. Even Cock Robin didn't actually die and of course the Big Bad Wolf, who deserved a fate even worse than death, is still at large and perhaps at this moment sharpening his teeth for another screen appearance. The witch, in the Disney version, will disappear over a cliff, swept off with the wind and lightning, but you won't see her die.

Extravaganza Cost

In order to finish the film for Christmas release, 300 artists are putting the finishing touches on the pictures—250,000 of them. In all, Disney estimates, more than 2,000,000 drawings have been made. Once 500 artists were working on it. Some statistical-minded soul at the Disney plant estimated that if one man did all the work, working eight hours a day—and taking a well-deserved vacation of two weeks every year—it would take him 230 years to draw "Snow White."

Disney refuses to say what his feature has cost, but Hollywood hears that he already has $850,000 sunk in it and that by the time it is completed—color prints being as expensive as they are—"Snow White" will have set him back at least a million and a quarter dollars.

Barristers In Line For Shrine Honor; Big Doings Afoot

By MARGARET DEFENBAUGH

Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court, of Lubbock, and Foy Curry of Tulia, Swisher county attorney, have announced as candidates for the ring at the fall ceremonial at Khiva Shrine Temple, Amarillo, Nov. 22, members of the temple here said Thursday.

So large is the indicated attendance from Lubbock and vicinity, the announcement said further, that a special train is planned.

L. D. (Pup) Thomas and Bob Hester, who head the committee making preparations for the train, said that delegations from Littlefield and Hobbs likely will be here Nov. 21, will parade here, and then board the special the following morning. They will be joined at Plainview by a delegation of about 30.

Historical Engineer To Pilot

Thomas and Hester said that special accomodations will be provided on the train for women members of the party. At the throttle will be Engineer Joe Smith, who is credited with having driven the first railroad train into Lubbock 27 years ago.

Round trip fare the committee announced, will be $2.45 from Lubbock and $1.85 from Plainview.

Ring to be given to the most popular novice, as determined by the vote of Shriners, is on display at Lester's Jewelry store, 1010 Broadway.

Among novices named by Thomas as planning to be initiated into the Shrine were A. R. Allison, T. W. Moore, Dr. Ben B. Hutchinson, R. B. Bell, W. R. Wilhite, Bob Bowers, Durwood H. Bradley, John Broome, E. J. Parsons, W. E. Holder, L. V. Risinger and E. A. Tipton.

Quakers Find Low Cost Housing Project Answer To Cares; In Peaceful Valley

BY GILBERT LOVE
NEA Special Correspondent

REPUBLIC, Pa., Nov. 5 — Eight families are under roof here in a homesteading or rehabilitation project that isn't costing the taxpayer a cent.

It is a project of the American Friends' Service Committee, a Quaker group, for the benefit of mine families who face permanent loss of their livelihood through closing or mechanization of mines.

Eventually there will be 50 families with tiny farms and small, cheap, self-built houses. The Quakers are giving them a start by lending each family a maximum of $2,000 with which to buy an acre and a half of ground and the materials for a house and out-buildings.

The Quakers believe that while the government had a good idea in starting rehabilitation communities for men and women discarded by industry, it has gone about it too elaborately, and has lost sight of the real object—to show workers how to rehabilitate themselves.

Settlers Now In Shacks

The entire Quaker-sponsored community, with 50 small houses and farms, will cost only $153,000. Of this sum, $100,000 will be in loans to the homesteaders. The Quakers believe that at cost figures like this, the government or private philanthropists could finance thousands of such communities and help hundreds of thousands of people.

The Quaker project here was started in March. The eight families now here are living in board shacks that eventually will be their garages and chicken houses. The houses will be built later from stone quarried on the premises, and old brick recovered from some old torn down beehive coke ovens.

They will be four, five, or six rooms, depending on the needs of the families, and will have hot air furnaces, bathrooms, and electric lights. No family can spend more than $300 for outside labor required at certain stages of the construction. To keep within the $2000 loan limit, they must do most of the work themselves.

20 Years To Pay Loans

The loans will be repaid to the Quakers at about $10 a month over a period of 20 years. It is expected that most of the "settlers" will be able to get occasional work at the mines, develop handicraft products, or raise poultry or other cash crops, to provide cash income to pay off the debt.

Three members of the Quaker committee are supervising the project. Intent on holding down expenses, they are using an old brick farmhouse for headquarters and a general meeting hall.

One of the homesteaders eventually will run a store, another will operate a dairy barn, another a machine shop. The homesteaders will be encouraged to keep goats for milk for their own use. Some co-operative buying may be done, but David W. Day, manager of the project, has some doubt about co-operative marketing of the colony's produce. He thinks such "co-ops" have proved unpopular in most of the government rehabilitation communities.

Red Tape Eliminated

Day formerly was manager of a nearby government project, and found that many homesteaders chafed under burdensome restrictions and rules. So he is keeping the plans for the Quaker community as flexible as possible.

A continual stream of socially minded people from all over the world has been running through this community all summer, intent on seeing what is being accomplished. Most of them have lived for a while in the board shacks and gone out in the broiling sun to help out with whatever work was going on at the moment, building or farming. Work done by these visitors, who were intent only on helping a good cause, will be repaid, hour for hour, by the "settlers" in work on the community buildings or roads.

Day is hopeful that a new "design for living" may be worked out here, attaining the basic objective of the government's rehabilitation work at far less expense.

Completion Of Road Is Nearer Reality

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Completion of the long-disputed hug-the-coast highway through Kenedy county became more of a reality today.

The highway commission, planning improvements costing about $1,800,000 to be submitted to bids Nov. 23, included grading and drainage work on the coast road from the Willacy county line to Armstrong, a distance of 22.4 miles.

The U. S. bureau of public roads has approved construction of the road, highway 96, from Riviera south to Raymondville and Harlingen and other units will be submitted to bids later, officials said.

Other projects in the Nov. 23 letting, by counties, included:

Coryell—13.8 miles of grading and drainage structures, flexible base course and asphalt surface treatment on highway 7 from Gatesville to the McLennan county line.

Gregg—4.8 miles grading and drainage from Kilgore northwest on highway 135.

The hull of a modern 40-foot motor-boat contains more than 1,000,000 brass screws.

Back From Trip

Looking after a pet bird in the cage, Lady Yule, one of the wealthiest persons in England, is shown at the Southampton dock, returning from a trip to the continent. The yacht, "Nahlin," which the Duke of Windsor chartered when he cruised in Baltic waters as king, is hers.

BIG DOGS BITES HIGHER

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The only difference between a large and a small dog, say Indianapolis postmen, is that a large one bites higher. The average postman here is bitten at least once every six years by a vicious dog, records show.

The Cuban government is planning to construct model homes for farmers and laborers. The houses would be sold on a liberal installment plan basis.

Security Underwriters Face Prospect Of Huge Financing Program

Utilities Are To Need Cash

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 5.—The prospect security underwriters may be called upon to finance some $10,000,000,000 in public utility requirements in the next few years was put before the annual convention of the Investment Bankers association today.

The bankers who are seeking means of reopening the gates to new capital through issuance of securities, temporarily shut by the autumn slump in the stock and bond markets, heard an appeal for support of utility regulation by an administration spokesman and complaint that some of the government controls were unnecessarily drastic by a power company president.

Frank R. McNinch, former chairman of the federal power commission, said:

Appeal Is Sounded

"I appeal to you, whose advice is very often the determining factor in the investment of large sums of money by the people of this country, to give your active support to regulatory legislation and to give your constructive help and cooperation toward overcoming the defeatist attitude of some utility executives."

Alex Dow, president of the Detroit Edison Co., said he differed with McNinch more in degree than in direction, but turned his fire upon the public utility holding company act, saying:

"Why wipe out a whole class of structures honest and otherwise, to permit control, or possibly punishment of some offenders? I give it up."

Procedure Criticized

He also criticized the cost accounting procedures of the T V A yardstick as a "setup" which no member of the bankers' association would accept as a basis for a security offering.

McNinch recited detailed statistics to show the utility industry was prospering under government control.

Later in an interview, he estimated that on the basis of the present rate of gain in power consumption, the industry would require $7,500,000,000 in new capital expenditures for expansion in the next five years.

CHEESE WEIGHS TON

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Approximately 22,000 pounds of milk were used in making a 2,075-pound American cheese to be exhibited at the Wisconsin state fair.

After being shown here the cheese will be Wisconsin's feature display at the National Dairy Show in Columbus, O., next fall.

Films Of U. S. Are Opposed

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Hollywood's films were condemned in the house of commons last night during debate on a measure designed to develop the British motion picture industry by a system of quotas to run for 10 years.

The proposed measure would replace the present system due to expire next March.

Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, who moved a second reading of the bill, declared that any film portraying an exotic and eccentric minority as the national element weakened British defenses.

Are On Defense

"We are on our defense as westerners and as democrats," he said, "the decadence of the west is just as much the talk of the bazaars of the east as the decay of democracy is the stock leader (editorial) of newspapers of dictators."

"I do not want our defenses to be made in Hollywood."

Laborite Rev. R. Sorensen expressed a fear that the United States might annex Britain because of American films. He declared he was particularly pained at hearing the voice of Britannia "speaking the accent of Chicago, Oregon and Massachusetts."

Hollywood did find a defender in Vyvyan Adams. He told the house he liked the "opulence and audacity of the good American gangster thrillers."

Voluntary Fingerprinting Plan For School Children Started

TYLER, Nov. 5 (AP) — A voluntary fingerprinting program for the 6,500 school children here opened today, sponsored by the Tyler city safety commission and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Israel Smith, commission chairman, emphasized the difficulty of identifying many of the children killed in the New London school explosion, in urging the program.

Next Conflict Causes Fear

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 5.—A North African colonial empire in full ferment of rebellion just when France is engaged in a deadly European war—this is the nightmare that is haunting Frenchmen these days as the result of Moslem unrest in Tunis, Algeria and Morocco.

Such a rebellion, if it ever took place when France was engaged in a European war, would mean:

Results Are Told

1. Instead of being able to draw upon its Arab and Berber subjects for crack shock troops as it did in the World War, France would have to send crack French troops to subdue uprisings.

2. Instead of being able to draw upon its North African empire for wheat, wine, oil and other food supplies, it would have to rely upon its own home resources.

3. As a result of these two things, its effective fighting forces and capabilities in Europe would be vastly decreased.

All these things have come home to the governors of France during the last few months and have been accentuated by the unrest, due to the Spanish civil war.

Morocco Is Lion

There is an old North African saying: "Tunis is a woman, Algeria a man, but Morocco is a lion."

In the present instance it expresses the degrees of trouble France has had with its North African colonies. There was unrest in Tunis, but it was quickly put down. In Algeria the natives got out of hand and in some places this took an anti-Semitic twist, but here, too, the authorities got things fairly quiet again. It was a deep disappointment and surprise to them when more serious trouble broke out in Morocco, taking the form of bad riots in Meknes where the French troops were compelled to fire upon the threatening natives, killing and wounding quite a number.

Morocco had almost been France's Exhibit 'A' in the way of colonies or spheres of influence or protectorates held by the great powers. In the old days of the independent Sultans, Morocco had been the scene of many rebellions against the Sultanate. The central government's writ did not always run. Taxes were levied, but not paid by tribes in the outlying portions of the Moroccan empire.

Changed All That

The late Marshal Lyautey, as Governor General of France, changed all that. With a stern hand when an iron glove was needed, with a profound knowledge of the North African mind, with an unfailing tact where velvety manners were needed, he so pacified Morocco and brought it under French influence that all was safe during the World War. Not only, upon his advice, was it found possible to move the crack French regiments stationed in Morocco to the battlefields of France, but Moroccan levies proved their mettle and their loyalty to the French in every sharply contested struggle against the Germans.

The death of Lyautey removed this tower of French strength. Economic depression did its havoc when the natives found it harder to sell their wheat and wine, owing to hard times in France.

The Spanish war brought its poisoning influence. The Moroccans saw their brothers, just over the frontier in Spanish Morocco, being used as crack troops to conquer Spain for Franco. They began to doubt the warlike superiority of the European. On top of that was the work of German and Italian agents whose whole job was to stir up unrest in French Morocco. The more trouble they could create for France in Morocco, the less apt the French would be to checkmate Franco and his German and Italian allies in the Spanish civil war.

In addition to the credulous and ignorant Moroccan peasantry, these agents found a ready hearing on the part of the Moroccan intelligentsia. Just as young Hindus come to England, go to the universities, win degrees, and then go back to India, becoming dissatisfied because they cannot find jobs commensurate with their abilities, so it has been with Moroccans who have attended the great French universities. Just as the university-bred Hindus join the parties which advocate "India for the Indians," so the young Moroccans have been joining elements whose slogan on the quiet is "Morocco for the Moroccans."

The situation is one where the French administrators have to walk warily—and keep their powder dry. They are doing both. And they are now fairly confident that they are getting the situation in hand. But they don't like those Mussolini speeches in which, aping the one-time Kaiser Wilhelm, he proclaims himself protector of Islam.

Natives of the steppes of central and western Asia and the Kalahiri region of South Africa have not learned how to make pipes, so they indulge in "earth smoking." This practice consists of making a covered pit in the ground to serve as a pipe "bowl," thrusting a rodthrough the ground to make a vent or "stem" and then removing the rod. The smoker lies flat on the ground and applies his mouth to the resultant hole.

Governor Backs American Legion Drive

Gov. James V. Allred and Dr. W. J. Danforth, state commander of the American Legion, left to right above, have joined actively in the Armistice week membership enrollment, according to Harley D. Woods, chairman of the Lubbock drive. The picture was taken as the governor, an ex-service man, issued a proclamation calling upon World war veterans to enroll in the American Legion this week if they are not members already. First reports on the Lubbock enlistment are scheduled Saturday, Woods said.

Papa Dionne Goes Shopping For His Family Thursday

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Oliva Dionne, the quintuplets' papa, went Christmas shopping for them and his other children in New York Thursday.

This business of getting five of each thing is getting tiresome, he decided, so he bought them different toys, like this:

Yvonne—pink metal tea wagon;

Annette—red cleaning set including shovel, broom and mop;

Emilie—red-topped washing machine with a wringer;

Cecile—yellow and blue stove;

Marie—laundry set, with iron, ironing board and clothespins.

For his other children, he got toy sewing machines, houses, telephones and an aquarium with glass fish.

He bought a high-crowned red velour hat, suede gloves and a suede bag for Mrs. Dionne.

Theft Of Valuable Jewelry Is Reported To Memphis Cops

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5. (AP)—Detective Inspector Clegg Richards announced last night the theft of between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of jewelry, apparently the work of a man who grabbed a trunk containing the valuables from the grand central station baggage room and fled in a car.

Richards said the trunk contained samples belonging to David R. Cohen, Los Angeles, a representative of a New York jewelry firm, who came to Memphis from St. Louis early Thursday.

Secretary Wallace Declares Everyone Is Different Today Because Of Das Kapital

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace told a preview audience at the National Book Fair last night that "whether we like it or not, everyone in the world today is different because of 'Das Kapital'" (Karl Marx' work on socialism).

"Without 'Das Kapital,'" he said, "there would have been neither the communist nor the fascist experiments. More than any other book of the 19th century, all of us today are living under the shadow of 'Das Kapital'. . . .

Refuse To Lead Them

"Most of the young people of the next generation are not going to read the 'Origin Of Species' or the 'Wealth Of Nations' or 'Das Kapital' or any of the other powerful books of the past if they can possibly avoid it.

"But many of them will read the powerful books of the future. The stage is now being set for some of the most powerful books which the world has yet seen. . . .

"The books which played their part in producing modern capitalism, fascism and communism do not have in them sufficient food for the human soul. . . .

Coordination Sought

"Modern science and technology . . . tell the need of integrating, synthesizing and coordinating knowledge on a higher plane. . . . The truly significant books of the immediate future in both the economic and scientific fields will deal with coordination and synthesis. Efforts will be made to coordinate science with economics, government and philosophy. . . ."

Wallace departed from his prepared speech to remark that it gave him "great pleasure" to be on the platform with Mayor F. H. LaGuardia who was reelected Tuesday.

The Book Fair, sponsored by the New York Times and 70 publishers, will open today and last through Nov. 21.

Air Supremacy Is Nazi Goal

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 5—Still determined to be first in civilian aircraft as well as immensely powerful in the air in a military way, the Germans are pushing steadily ahead with their reconstructed Zeppelin LZ 130 as well as with a giant plane, the JU 90, so big that the Germans simply call it "Der Grosse Dessauer"—"The Big Dessauer"—because it is being constructed at the Junker works in Dessau.

The LZ 130 was very far on the road to completion when the destruction by explosion and fire of the Hindenburg in New Jersey some time ago led the Germans to pause. It had been disastrously proved that airships lifted by hydrogen gas were far too dangerous. But soon the word came to Friedrichshafen to go full speed ahead. The reason was that the American government announced that for the first time in history it would permit the sale of helium gas to foreign countries, provided it was used strictly for civilian aircraft.

Aftermath Of Disaster

As Germany is the only foreign country engaged in building big airships, Germany was naturally the country which benefitted. But the use of helium rather than hydrogen necessitated immediate and important changes in the LZ 130. Helium is so much heavier than hydrogen that it was necessary to lighten the ship when loaded by 17 tons. The framework and fittings of the ship had already been made of the lightest material possible consistent with strength and safety. So the builders had to sacrifice the pay load the ship could carry in the shape of passengers, mails and freight.

Altered Kitchen Lighter

It had been planned to carry 72 passengers in the LZ 130. This sum has now been cut to 40, the passengers being accommodated in 20 two-bed cabins. The main dining room and lounges for passengers are built now in the shape of a horseshoe. The bend of the horseshoe is the dining saloon. The sides are the lounges, equipped with big windows from which the guests can have an unobstructed view as they sail along. Near this is a smoking room for the guests. The electric machinery has now been placed more forward in the ship. The kitchen was originally to have used electricity for heating food. To save weight, the cooking will now be done through a clever use of the hot exhaust gases from the Diesel motor engines.

As the ship will carry fewer passengers than originally planned and as helium costs a good deal more than hydrogen, the fares will have to be raised accordingly. Another item of cost is the transport of the helium. It will have to be shipped by rail from Amarillo, Tex., to Houston, where a number of small ships will have to take their precious load to Germany. It is now expected that the LZ 130 will be ready for its test flights next spring.

Reich's Biggest Transport

The Big Dessauer airplane is the largest ever constructed in Germany for passenger service by the Lufthansa. It has a wing span of 115 feet, is 82 feet long and 21.50 feet high. Its weight loaded will be 20 tons. It has four engines of from 800 to 1100 horsepower each and its top speed is 250 miles per hour. Its ceiling is 21,000 feet.

In the fore part of the ship, back of the compartment in which the control officers are housed, is a kitchen. Then comes accommodations for passengers. The exact number has not yet been fixed. The space for passengers will be divided into cabins containing four passengers each, the cabins being bigger than those on the well known D-Zug trains of Germany. There will be an arrangement for air-conditioning and also a reading lamp for each passenger. In the rear, there will be two big wash rooms, and storage for the valises and freight.

Poppy Sales To Be Staged Saturday

Aid to ex-service men and their families who were in desperate need has been made possible through Poppy day sales of the past according to report Thursday of Mrs. P. W. Wood.

Mrs. Wood is poppy chairman of the women's auxiliary to Allen Bros. post of the American Legion. The auxiliary will conduct the sales on Lubbock streets Saturday.

One of the most pathetic cases, she related, was that of a mother and several children stranded without food and virtually without clothing at a tourist camp. The husband and father was in Abilene, unable to send for his family. The auxiliary supplied food and clothing and paid bus fares for the group to Abilene. One of the family was a baby less than a month old who had been without food nearly an entire day.

On another occasion, the poppy fund enabled the auxiliary to contribute to the burial cost of the son of a needy veteran. The pastor of the church attended by the family was attempting to raise the money when the auxiliary heard of the case. Money also was provided to buy several days' supply of food for the family.

Again two days before last Christmas, auxiliary members were called to a tourist camp to find six people huddled in one small room heated only by a two-burner hot plate and in danger of ejection from that shelter. They were entirely without food. Through the auxiliary's aid, Mrs. Wood said, rent for a week was paid, arrangements for food were made and transporation to a CCC camp was provided for an older boy.

Other cases concerned a veteran who was given clothing in which to make the trip to a government hospital where he became a patient, and of a child in danger of contracting tuberculosis for whom specialists made tests at the expense of the auxiliary.

Restoring And Saving Of Old Flags Is Woman's Hobby

BROOKLYN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Restoring the tattered shreds of old flags that have gone through many battles and crumbled with age is a hobby with Mrs. Katherine Richards. She uses a process her mother invented and patented 35 years ago.

Mrs. Richards is house dean of Brooklyn navy yard, and the wife of the commander.

At present she is working at her studio on a collection of old flags dating from 1756.

Two Youths Are Being Held In Jail In Slaying Of Elderly Woman

Burned Bodies Are Located

EMINENCE, Mo., Nov. 5. (AP)—Held in jail at West Plains for safekeeping, Douglas Shedd, 25-year-old WPA worker of Eminence, was charged today with first degree murder in the slaying of two elderly sisters.

The warrant alleged Shedd killed Miss Lillian Gregory, 67, and her sister, Miss Bertha Gregory, 54. Their charred bodies were found yesterday after their farm home was destroyed by fire.

Another Also Charged

A second warrant accused Lyman Tripp, 22, also of Eminence, with aiding and abetting in the crime. He, too, was held in the West Plains jail.

The two men are to be arraigned before a woman justice of the peace here today.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Rayfield said Tripp told him he drove Shedd to the Gregory home, five miles northwest of here, Tuesday night in the belief Shedd wanted "to see someone on business." The officer quoted Tripp as saying he remained in the automobile while Shedd got out with a shotgun and went into the house.

House Lighted Up

Tripp continued, the officer said, that he heard a shot, "then the house lighted up. I don't know whether it was on fire or not," and Shedd returned to the waiting car.

The young lumberjack was quoted by Rayfield as saying Shedd told him he shot one of the women, clubbed the other with the shotgun and then set fire to the house.

Shedd denied complicity in the slaying.

Highly Welcome Stimulus Is Given To Steel Industry

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—An inquiry for 75,000 tons of heavy steel rail put out by the Southern Pacific Co. was today hailed in steel circles as a highly welcome stimulus to one of the most depressed branches of the steel industry.

With the order will go a call for fittings and accessories and the business is expected to involve more than $3,000,000.

Compared with the run of rail orders placed this year, the Southern Pacific contract would stand out as a major piece of railroad maintenance work.

There have been few important orders for railroad steel of any kind since the carriers began seriously to feel the pinch of falling revenues and rising expenses. For steel rails the year's business has been unusually light with total orders of 100,000 tons to the end of October against 1,396,000 tons for the entire year 1936.

Lincoln-Zephyr Is Pioneering In New Styling

A fresh approach in the development of the modern streamline design is offered in the new 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 cylinder motor cars. The sedan with four doors is pictured above. The "tear drop" front end suggests the highly streamlined front of a racing plane. The "air stream" treatment is carried out smartly in the long sweep of the hood, the rakish tilt of the windshield, the graceful body contours and the new massive fenders and lamps. Among the new engineering features are an increased wheelbase length, now 125 inches, and the use of hypoid drive in the rear axle. The 110 horsepower V-type 12-cylinder engine operates more quietly, yields a smoother flow of power and functions with maximum economy.

New Cars To Be Seen Here

New model of Lincoln-Zephyr series — longer, sleeker and displaying new impressions of modern motor car styling, will go on display Saturday in rooms of Lubbock Auto company, 820 Texas avenue, according to announcement of officials of the concern today.

With their announcement, they extend an invitation to the general public to visit them.

The new series of Lincoln-Zephyr was described as including two racy new convertibles — a sedan and a coupe, as well as a sedan with four doors, a coupe-sedan with two doors, a three-passenger coupe and a town-limousine. A wide range of choice in colors in a new baked enamel finish is available, the announcement said.

On display here Saturday will be the sedan, with other models to be added in the very near future.

From front to rear bumper, the styling of the new cars was described as modern and well-groomed, displaying a fresh approach in the development of the streamlined design created only two years ago when the Lincoln-Zephyr first was presented to the public as the Lincoln Motor company's entry in the medium price field. The new styling, officials of the company said, permits substantially amplified body roominess.

One outstanding feature is the "tear-drop" front end reminiscent of highly streamlined racing airplanes which blends with the balance of the design. The conventional radiator grille has been subordinated and the front is closed except for two openings near the bottom through which air is admitted to the engine compartment.

Luxurious new fittings, wide and deeply cushioned seats and a general air of roominess characterize the new interiors. The driver compartments likewise have been enlarged.

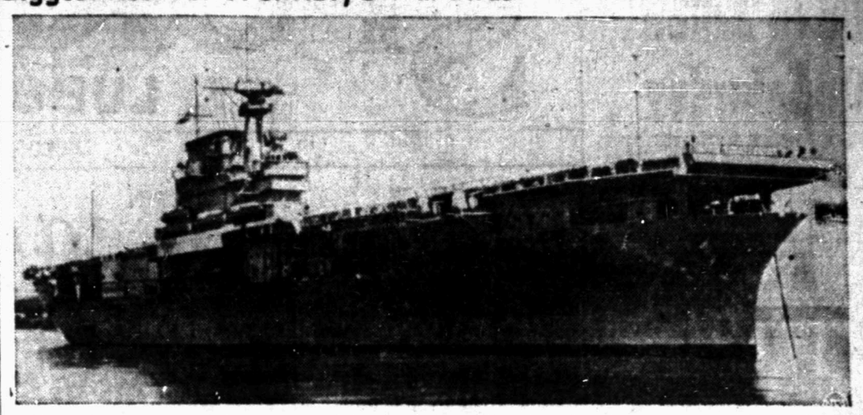

A new instrument panel, including a closed grille to house radio and car heater installations is flanked on either side by a glove compartment. The Lincoln clear vision ventilating system is continued, insuring an adequate supply of fresh air at all times without draft. Exceptionally large luggage compartments are provided in all types.

Wheelbase Increased

Among the important improvements in the chassis is the increased wheelbase, now 125 inches, which is three inches longer. This lengthens the springbase to 136 inches.

Two other features help to give the driver almost effortless control. One is the steering system with exceptionally high leverage of especial value while parking. The other is the highly effective braking system which requires only slight pressure to check speed quickly.

Biggest Nest For U. S. Navy's War Birds

Addition of nearly 150 fighting seaplanes to the U. S. Navy air forces has been made possible by the acceptance for service of the new Aircraft Carrier Yorktown, seen at anchor in Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, Va. The flagship of Rear Admiral Charles A. Blakeley, the Yorktown cost $20,000,000, has decks 109 feet wide and more than 800 feet long, and is biggest aircraft carrier.

Texas Turkey Market Open

GONZALES, Nov. 5 (AP) — The regal turkey gobbler moved toward the nation's Thanksgiving tables today as the market opened over most of Texas.

A crop slightly under the 2,250,000 production of last year was in prospect. Prices hit 15 cents at Gonzales and 14 cents at Brownwood.

Heaviest marketing was not expected until Saturday or the first part of next week.

High Quality Seen

Although reports of high quality were frequent, a packing plant manager at Cuero, which calls itself "the turkey capital," said birds in that section were not ready for market.

"Birds must be continued on feed if they are to reach No. 1 grade," said W. E. Cannon. He would not hazard a guess on the opening price at Cuero but said many buyers believed it would not be more than 13 cents.

Approximately 1,000 birds, however, have been sold here this week at 15 cents. Last year the market opened at below 12 cents and farmers refused to sell their birds until a better price was offered.

Cannon estimated the state's output would not be more than two or three per cent lighter than that of last year.

Radio Comedian Is Being Held On Atrocious Assault Count

Police said three women were seriously injured when their car and Cook's collided Oct. 16.

ANNOUNCING THE 1938

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12

The modern "twelve" at medium price

IN THE ANNUAL, fashionable parade of model after model, improvements, changes, refinements are to be observed on every hand. But how seldom the whole car departs from traditional ways.

The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12 during 1936 and 1937 did — and still does. The car for 1938 does even more. Truly it can be said: It breaks with tradition again!

Graceful streamlines that gave the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR a distinction of its own in two years previous are even more pronounced this year. If the bold front of this new car reminds you of the nose of some great air-liner, it is made that way for the same basic reason. Principles of functional design, rather than mere style, dictate the car's modern form. Thus the low and horizontal radiator grille, aside from its beauty, increases cooling efficiency.

This new car breaks with the usual, too, in its modern power-plant. The V-type 12-cylinder engine, used and approved by more than 45,000 enthusiastic LINCOLN-ZEPHYR owners during 1936 and 1937, has been refined to give an even smoother performance. And new-type valve lifters, with oil cushions, bring even quieter operation. . . . Developing 110 horsepower, the engine gives 14 to 18 miles to the gallon — twelve thrifty cylinders!

The basic construction of this car is a definite break with tradition. In closed types, body and frame are not two separate units, but one unit, a steel framework, all members welded together. To this rigid framework, steel top, sides and flooring are welded. You ride surrounded by steel — and view road and landscape through wide windshield and windows of safety glass.

The new LINCOLN-ZEPHYR is bigger inside, bigger outside. The wheelbase is lengthened to 125 inches. Great comfort results from the placing of car weight and passenger weight toward the middle. Prove this on your favorite back road!

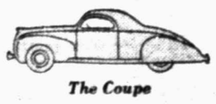

This year, a new Convertible Sedan and a new Convertible Coupe bring to six the number of LINCOLN-ZEPHYR body types from which you may choose.

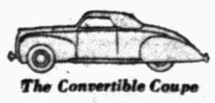

This modern "twelve" is still the only car of its kind at any price! Lincoln Motor Company, builders of Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 motor cars.

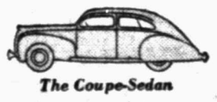

Prices begin at $1295 delivered at Detroit factory. State and Federal taxes extra. The Sedan illustrated is $1395 delivered at Detroit factory, white side-wall tires included.

Baylor Is To Open Up With Pass Magic Against Texas Longhorns

Old Rivals To Be In Action On Saturday

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 5 — Runaway Baylor puts Bullet Bill Patterson to work tomorrow loosing aerial shafts against the weakest anti-aircraft unit in the Southwest conference, the University of Texas.

Only rainy weather, and it was a possibility, could serve as an equalizer between unbeaten Baylor and a Texas team that is as deeply mired in the league dungeon as Baylor is out in front.

Use All Their Magic

Dependent mainly on passes Patterson slings to his prize ends, Sam Boyd and Frank Huessner, Baylor faces a Texas team that has permitted six foes to complete .486 per cent of their passes for a total of 562 yards. Baylor, leading the pass-minded league with a completion average of .455 per cent for 720 yards, eyed that weakness and prepared to bring on all their aerial magic to bag their seventh straight win.

To stop the thrusts of Hugh Wolfe, bulky fullback, and other touted Longhorn grounded gainers, Baylor had its regular line intact—the line that has permitted enemy backfields to gain an average of only 37 yards per game on the ground. The last three foes, Centenary, Texas Aggies and T. C. U., didn't cross the Baylor goal stripe.

Have Another Ace Card

If rain should interfere, Baylor still had an ace card in Patterson's league-leading kicking average, a flat 41 yards for six games. However, the Texans had "Beefus" Bryan, somewhat of a punter himself, to offer on that score.

Another Baylor victory would put them in full command of the conference race, with four wins and not a loss or tie to blot their record.

Still able, however, to cling to a mathematical vision of at least a first-place tie is Arkansas, playing its last league game at Houston against a Rice institute eleven that may have a word or two to say itself about who will get the conference mug.

Tops For Thrills

Three wins, a loss and a tie are on the Arkansas record and the Porker-Owl skirmish should be tops in thrills for the day. Coach Jimmy Kitts, whose instituters about-faced after a weak start and took Texas and previously unbeaten Auburn, prepared to fight Arkansas' aerials with an ailing team, however. Three of his trusty ends were out with injuries but Ernie Lain, the 212-pound soph who missed the first three games that Rice dropped, was ready for another afternoon of passing pitching.

If was Lain's passing and vicious blocking for his running mates that sparked them to comeback wins the past two weeks.

Aggies Slightly Favored

Down at College Station, the Texas Aggies, without a victory in three weeks, were slightly favored over a Southern Methodist team that came to life last week and whipped Texas, 13-2. The Methodists had their worries, for no less than six ball carriers were ailing and Coach Matty Bell decided to use John Stidger, John Harlow, Bob Belville and Dan Patterson as his new combination.

Sophomores will desert bench duty and "come to life" when Texas Christian invades Shreveport for a Centenary date. Backfielders Earl Clark, Jimmy Pratt, Woodrow Duckworth and other first year varsity players will be given a chance by Coach Leo Meyer to show what's in store for next year's Christian team.

Scoreless Draw Is Registered By Cowhands And Brownfield

Coach Walker Nichols' Cowhands played brilliantly yesterday afternoon to stave off a last minute passing attack of Brownfield, one of the favorites in District 5B, and gain a scoreless draw.

A last quarter passing attack put the Cubs deep in the Cowhands' territory, but the final gun saved a possible score. Fullback Fore was hitting his ends and backs with regularity as the game ended, Brownfield having driven from their own 40-yard line to the Cowhand 25, chiefly on aerials.

Chief reason for the locals' standoff of the highly favored Cubs was southpaw booting of Walter Daniel, halfback. Each time the Cowhands got in a hole, Daniel came through with a long punt to gain consistently in exchanges.

Defensively, Capt. Billie Phillips, Pat Farris, Leonard Tate, Earl (Whimpy) Jones, James Merriman, and Charles Hawes were outstanding. Howard Martin carried the brunt of the local offensive attack, which failed to go far against the big Brownfield eleven.

Fore was outstanding star for the invaders.

Class B Teams Will Be Busy; Flomot Is Facing Big Task

Hardest pressed team among the leaders in either District 4 or 5 this afternoon probably will be Flomot.

Riding to the top last week by defeating Floydada, previously unscratched, the Longhorns went into a virtual tie with the Whirlwinds of Spur.

Littlefield and Lamesa should come through with wins in District 5.

Today's schedules:

DISTRICT 5

Olton at Lamesa.
Tahoka at Littlefield, night.

DISTRICT 4

Matador at Flomot.
Paducah at Floydada.
Estelline at Turkey.
Silverton at Lockney.

Lubbock Teams See Action Today

Brisk Workout Held By Tech Last Night

(Special To The Journal)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Loyola of the South and Texas Tech of the South Plains of Texas put a stop tonight to rumors that one or the other will win in their second meeting here.

Both teams appeared in good condition for the battle, except for Gordon Murdock of Loyola, who was laid up in the Louisiana State game last week. The Red Raiders went through a brisk workout last night in the Wolves' den after arriving too late to practice in the afternoon.

The game tonight looms as a fullback battle between a pair of Calhouns. Charles Calhoun, sophomore, has paced the Raider running attack all season. Clay Calhoun is a plunging fullback of the old school.

Another aspect of similarity pits two exponents of the Notre Dame attack in this contest. Larry "Moon" Mullins, Wolf head boss got his football training first hand under Knute Rockne, and believes it most potent offensive mode. Coach Peter Willis Cawthon is also a disciple of the hand-swinging shift, therefore his big red team employs that system.

The Raiders are here to avenge a 13 to 0 setback handed them last year by the Southerners. Apparently relieved of a two-year jinx in "away" games, Tech last week won its first road game since 1935 in beating Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater. Barely had the Texans arrived home from that game before they entrained for a leisurely swing through the South with the Mississippi delta as their destination.

Odds-on favorites to make good their revengeful intentions Tech will be after its fourth straight.

Lubbock Cowboys And Plainview Juniors Play 0-0 Deadlock

Fighting valiantly the Lubbock Cowboys played on even terms with Plainview Junior high yesterday afternoon at Tech field. The game ended in a 0-0 deadlock.

Spotting Plainview ten pounds to the man, the Cowboys drove to the opposition's one-yard line in the second half after Bearden had outkicked Brow on an exchange of punts. Bearden and Glaze drove to the goal line but the locals relinquished the ball on downs there. Most of the game was played in midfield.

Brow, Cadena and Phillips were stalwarts of Plainview's attack, while Bearden and Glaze were outstanding for Lubbock. Andrews, Sowden, Harris, Storrs and Moore paced the defense. Moore was starting his first game.

Smith, Jones And Brown Boys Still Control The Gridiron

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — Headlines sometimes indicate the Popovichs and Babartskys have taken over the gridirons, but the Browns, Smiths and Joneses still are in the majority.

A survey of the dozen major teams, representing every section, disclosed that one-third of the first team players are of English or Irish ancestry. A quarter of them have Teutonic forefachers.

There's not a single Anglo-American on Jimmy Crowley's starting eleven at Fordham, while Pittsburgh and Marquette have only two.

Irish And Pitt Offer Top In Grid Program

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 — Squadrons of All-America candidates and a handful of unbeaten elevens are in the van as 1937 football opens the November offensive tomorrow with firing that will be long, loud and lusty.

One of the season's dream games, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh at South Bend, will be the scene of the biggest concentration of artillery.

Setup Is Perfect

The setup is perfect. A lumbering, savage Pitt eleven with all kinds of technical advantages stacks up against an Irish team that is nothing much on form and a group of eleven hellions when the chips are down and the time is short.

This is the last game of a brilliant series. A win for the Irish would give them two of the season's most spectacular exploits, victories on successive Saturdays over Minnesota and Pitt. But with that Irish spirit flaming you never can tell.

The Big Ten can't offer much opposition although it has its share of notable engagements. Chastened Minnesota meets Iowa. Northwestern plays Illinois and Michigan and Chicago and Ohio State and Indiana also clash. Nebraska and Kansas and Oklahoma and Iowa State feature the Big Six program.

Purdue Meets Fordham

Purdue, a perennial stalwart of the Western conference, invades New York for a tussle with unbeaten Fordham. It is a key game for the Rams. Once past the dangerous Boilermakers they can ring out the old "Rose Hill to Rose Bowl" slogan.

Ivy games and intersectional rivalries make up the remainder of the eastern schedule. Dartmouth invades Princeton and Yale entertains Brown. Columbia plays Navy at Baltimore and Army guns for its second major triumph against Harvard at Cambridge in the ivy category.

Michigan State stalks Temple at Philadelphia in a top offering, and Duquesne and Carnegie Tech meet for the empty honor of runner-up for Pittsburgh's city title. Colgate-Holy Cross, Manhattan-Detroit, Villanova-Marquette, and Lafayette-Rutgers are other prominent eastern pairings.

Southern Features

Alabama, a southern leader with a leaning toward the Rose Bowl engages a Tulane team that has been good and bad by turns. The Green Wave had better be good Saturday. The L. S. U. and Mississippi State game is another notable southern feature. Other appealing southern battles are Florida-Georgia, Auburn-Tennessee, Vanderbilt-Sewanee, Georgia Tech-Clemson, Loyola-Texas Tech, Centenary-T. C. U., and Duke-Wake Forest.

Unbeaten, untied Baylor faces Texas in the Southwest with the Texas A. and M.-S. M. U. and Rice-Arkansas contests fighting for the fans' attention.

California should be tested severely by Washington in the coast's best clash. U. S. C. and Stanford present another impressive coast duel. Washington, State-Oregon, Santa Clara-San Jose and Montana-Gonzaga also are matched in the far west.

Both "pimento" and "pimiento" are names derived from the Spanish word for pepper.

Attendance At Plainview Is To Be Large

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 5. — Lubbock's downtrodden Westerners come here tonight to play the Bulldogs in a District 1 contest.

Advance reservations indicate a record crowd and a sellout of all available seats before game time, officials said. A large delegation of Lubbock fans is expected to attend.

Both teams will be after their first conference victory. Plainview dropped a decision to Amarillo, and Borger and Pampa have licked the Westerners. If there be such, the locals, providing they have full strength in the game, are favorites. Coach Vernon Hilliard has the heaviest team in District 1.

Coach Hilliard announced his team was in good shape for the fray, except for Crosland, punting and passing wizard, who is on the injured list. Coach Weldon Chapman said all members of his team were ready. The Westerners were to arrive in Plainview about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Two changes were indicated by Coach Chapman in his probable starting lineup. Leete Jackson, barrel-chested back, will be injected into the fray at blocking back in place of Bill Sessums. Jackson has seen little service this season, but Lubbock coaches expect his blocking prowess would stimulate Westerner offence.

Winter To Start

Ernest Winter, towering end, probably will get the call at a terminal post opposite Jack Coursey. Winter will take over the position usually occupied by Melvin Billings or Joe Bob Foster. Both latter no doubt will play in the game.

At guards, Jerry Nash and Lloyd "Gotch" Sanders will be holding down their regular spots. Capt. Babe Ritchie and Herb Leaverton, part-time center, are slated at tackles, while L. D. Venable will start at center.

Other backfield positions will go to Jumbo Webster, Harold Parsons, and Rusty Johnston. Parsons will bark signals.

Two Games Are On Tap Tonight In Frenship's Tournament

WOLFFORTH, Nov. 5 (Special) —Two games are on tap tonight in Frenship High school's invitation girls basketball tourney at the local gymnasium.

Winners of first round matches will vie to determine finalists for Saturday night. Frenship plays Cooper and Wilson faces Meadow.

Cooper swept into the second round last night by defeating New Deal, 24 to 8. Shallowater beat Frenship B team, 38 to 13 in a consolation game. Finals, third-fourth playoff, and consolation finals will be played Saturday night.

FORMER CHAMP DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Jack McAuliffe, 71, native of Ireland who retired in 1896 as the undefeated lightweight boxing champion of the world after holding the title 12 years, died yesterday after a long illness.

The first successful parachute drop from a balloon was made on Oct. 22, 1797, by Jacques Garnerin. When relieved from his weight, the balloon burst and the parachute descended at a great rate of speed, but he made a safe landing.

Here's Answer To Problem Of Where Grid Talent Is Found In Southwest Conference

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—If you've been wondering where all that Southwest conference grid talent comes from, mebbe this will help: Twelve thousand schoolboys play in the Texas Interscholastic football league annually . . . Those who should know say Joe Louis' next fight (against Max Schmeling in June) will be his last—win, lose or draw . . . The barbers are threatening to picket Joe Jacobs, the fight manager, if he doesn't soon get a hair cut . . . Stanford's basketball team will average six feet three this winter . . . Texas Christian, one of the best passing football outfits in the country, has played in the mud nine times in the last two years.

Dick Cassiano, understudy to Marshall Goldberg at Pitt, got straight "A's" in his studies last year . . . And who said tackles are dumb . . . Take the four big fellows on the St. Norbert college squad at West De Pere, Wis.: Norb Cooner is editor-in-chief of the campus year book; Ted Kafka is an instructor in biology; Harry Neuman is the star pupil in the chemical lab and Tom Keanneally sings a mean tenor in the glee club.

New Orleans is getting ready to show the football coaches a real time when they meet there in December . . . Pro football has taken Washington by storm. . . . Sammy Baugh is the Joe DiMaggio of the capital . . . One of the hottest football games of the year is on tap when Rice and Texas Christian collide November 20. . . . It's been almost 15 years since Rice won, but watch out this time . . . Arkansas, with three regulars, is the biggest single contributor to the success of the New York pro grid Giants.

HOW TO PASS
Sammy Baugh, the Washington Redskins' star passer, shows the arm-over-head motion that sends the ball straight to a receiver.

HOW NOT TO
Baugh shows a way to lose control of the ball: By bringing the arm in a sweeping, sideways motion that results in wild passes.

HOW TO STIFF-ARM
Don Irwin, Washington, carries the ball on the outside and uses the would-be tackler's head as a pivot for side stepping.

HOW NOT TO
Max Krause, Washington, the tackler, gets the advantage as Irwin has the ball on the inside and is easily thrown off balance.

HOW TO CARRY THE BALL
Cliff Battles, Washington, holds the ball firmly at one end, the other end resting in the crook of the arm, close to the armpit.

HOW TO FUMBLE
Battles probably will drop the ball if he finds it necessary to sidestep a tackler or if a tackler gets hold of him.

Plans For Homecoming Will Be Drafted At Meeting Tonight

Lubbock county chapter of the Texas Technological college Alumni and Ex-Students association will further plans for Homecoming to be observed Armistice day at a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the engineering auditorium.

Bill Collins, county chairman, will preside for the business session at which committees for a chuck wagon dinner, a dance and reception will be appointed.

In addition, motion pictures will be shown of the recent Tech-Arizona football game.

The meeting is open to all graduates and former students of the institution.

RUN OVER; HE SURVIVES

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—George Paessler was run over by a train and lived.

Caught on a railroad bridge with no time to escape, Paessler lay between the rails. The locomotive and 14 cars passed over him. Paessler suffered only an arm injury.

Using a bow and arrow, Maurice Thompson, famous archer of several decades ago, broke 46 small glass balls out of 50. They were thrown into the air at a distance of 12 yards.

And It's No Pick-Nic

By Collier Parris

Seasons have changed since last we went in to strike out as a pinch-hitter for the "boss" on this corner, but since he boarded the same Santa Fe Pullman as the Red Raiders Tuesday night he figgered mebbe we could fill up a little space by utilizing this collum. Here goes, and to cap it off we are going to give you the same "expoit" pickings of winners for Saturday's games, if we don't fumble.

Fred Russell, Nashville sports scribe, passes on some information likely to interest grid fans hereabouts by describing the "hidden ball" play used by Vanderbilt to upset Louisiana State a fortnight ago. We quote:

"Did little Jimmy Huggins call a number, as he usually does?

"No.

"He said only two words—'Henry Frnka.'

"That was the label of the bewildering trick maneuver that saw Greer Ricketson, a tackle, speed an even fifty yards while a stunned Bengal eleven, on the other side of the field, watched open-mouthed."

Frnka, you will remember, coached at Lubbock High school through the 1931 football season, then moved on to Greenville to put out championship teams. Three times before he realized the ambition to see his team take the state schoolboy title, other of his elevens, here and at Greenville, were eliminated by penetrations and first downs in tie games in playoffs.

At Greenville, Frnka used the "hidden ball" trick to win ball games, so when he went to Vandy with Ray Morrison, it got mixed up in his baggage and was not used until the Tigers were victimized. It meant a precious lot to the Commodores that day, even a 7 to 6 victory. Not to be bothered by numbers the Vandies merely used the coach's name to introduce the play in their huddle.

Felix McKnight, Associated Press correspondent, says John Crudgington of Amarillo won't let the discussion of the play drop. He (Crudgington) dates it back to 1913 when the Amarillo Military academy team used it to beat Clarendon college.

Jumping the gun by six days to get around to Tech's Armistice Day joust with Duquesne is nothing new on street corners so should be countenanced by youse good fans in this corner. Actually no stronger team will cross Red river than the Dukes. Ranked second in national polls last year the Pennsylvanians come here with a team which has bowed only to Pittsburgh this year. The Panthers won 6 to 0 and undefeated thus far were tied by Fordham in their annual scoreless spectacle.

Dispenser of pasteboards for choice, and not-so-choice seats at Tech stadium, Hugh (Bo) Williams tickets are being ordered fast enough to keep him busy for once this year. Crunching and jingling sound of two pieces of folding money plus two-bits is music in ears of the graduate manager of athletics. Tickets are that much per throw. Bo requests that out-of-town customers specify his department in requesting ducats, as letters are often delayed by going to other departments at the school if not properly addressed.

Tech doesn't rate any monstrous chance of knocking off the Dukes, rilly, but as Auntie Cora once said, anything can happen in a football game. Especially surprises are no longer surprises as far as the Raiders are concerned. Come set!

Time has come those upsets of the dope. The Woozie was nowhere to be found when this was written late last night — about the office it was rumored that he, she or it (whatever it, she or he is called) followed Jawn Colyer Parris(h) to N'Orleans for the week. So it is merely a guess this time which is quite a letdown after the Woozie has been on the job.

Leastwise here they are, and don't laugh at the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh pick, it's a conviction:

(Winners are listed first.)

Rice-Arkansas.
Baylor-Texas.

Zeal Of 75-Year-Old Woman Is Keeping Church Work Alive

ZAREPATH, N. J., Nov. 5.—Serene in green pastures, beside the still waters of an old canal here, Bishop Alma White, the world's only woman bishop, has established what is probably the sole Matriarchy of the present day. It's a pleasant place — and she uses it to train religious storm-troops.

She calls her movement the Pillar of Fire. She defines it as old-fashioned Methodism. "Not Methodists, as you find them today," she hastens to tell you. She organized her cohorts for the battle-line when modernists began to reject the old-fashioned Gospel. While thrones have toppled, banks closed, and nations gone to war, she has continued to preach about "a topless Heaven and a bottomless Hell, uttermost salvation or everlasting damnation."

Has Dynamic Energy

Therefore, Bishop White, now 75 but still blest with the dynamic energy of a dozen ordinary people, has built up a religious organization that astonishes the world. With a preaching itinerancy that would push the Apostle Paul's straight off the New Testament map she travels 45,000 miles a year (partly by planes), buying property, raising money, and urging people to conform to the ways of the Lord. She preaches 21 sermons a week. Five is her Sunday average. She also edits eight Pillar of Fire Journals.

She has traveled a distance of more than three million miles in her preaching, been to Egypt and the Orient twice, crossed the ocean 56 times, written 35 books and 150 hymns — the books all have been published and 100 of the hymns are in church songbooks — built and maintained 49 churches, three colleges and two radio stations, and founded her village (and matriarchy) of Zarepath.

She gets up at five o'clock every morning, usually taking part in the daily broadcast over her station WAWZ.

Sees Bible Prophecy Fulfilled

Bishop White, a kindly, imposing-looking old lady who parts her snow white hair in the middle, attributes her energy to faith in God and courage of her convictions.

"We are coming to the end of the Gentle age," she says. "Everything which Biblical prophecy foretells is coming to pass. All over the world moral standards are being broken down. Sex magazines are filling the news stands, crime is increasing, false religions have broken out, wars are inevitable, and the churches have departed from their old standards.

"In the Pillar of Fire we keep close to the teachings of the Bible. We do not smoke, drink, dance or play cards. Those who would come to live in our community must measure up to high spiritual qualifications which prove their sincerity. We want no one who is looking for an easy living. We accept only the physical able, too. There is work to do and the infirm could not help us. A progressive spirit is necessary, also."

There are 1025 acres in the village and community of Zarepath. Here 250 people live in a model community. When you pass the "No Trespassing" signs along the road, you enter a separate world from the one along the highway. The unconventional sect has community buildings where ministers, deaconesses, evangelists and missionaries live when not on the Pillar of Fire frontier. Some of the residents own and live on their own farms. Others do the community work. Zarepath has its own printing presses, where all books and all periodicals except those published on Pillar of Fire presses in Denver or England are taken care of. It maintains its own shoe-repairing shop, store, postoffice, radio station, and plant where it generates its electricity. Its people erect all its buildings, too.

The people are vegetarians but a steak or lamb chop is permitted when a doctor prescribes it. They eat at a community table, abundantly supplied from their own land.

The Alma White college and its preparatory High school are part of the community. Cosmetics are forbidden. The girls wear uniforms of long brown skirts and tan middies, small boys are gay in blue shirts with yellow ties, adult men appear in black shirts, and adult women adhere to straight dresses of black or navy, worn with small white collars.

Up and down across the country, Bishop White goes, visiting the more than 50 American Pillar of Fire branches, and overseeing all property purchases and building plans. She believes that God is her strength and through Him she can do all things. To prove it, she learned to drive an automobile at 50, to swim at 55, and to paint in oils at 70.

One Of Eleven Children

Bishop White was one of a family of 11 children born on a Kentucky farm. When she was 17 Alma White began to teach. Two years at the Millersburg Female Seminary in Kentucky followed. At 20 she went to Montana to teach. More college followed and in 1887 she married Kent White, a young Methodist minister, of Denver.

"I wanted to preach," she reminisces, "but the church where my husband was the minister objected so I began to organize missionary societies."

That was the way it started. One church followed another, the colleges and radio stations and communities developed. In 1906, while speaking in New York, she went over to a farm beyond Bound Brook, N. J., to see a girl who wished to enter the Belleview College in Denver.

The girl's mother had a mortgaged farm — the one with the green acres and slow canal. Bishop White bought it, named it Zarepath, and transferred her headquarters to the East.

Official Verdict Of Suicide Is Returned In Cato Death

POST, Nov. 5. (Special)—W. F. Cato, former sheriff, came to his death by his own hand, according to the verdict returned late Thursday by Justice of the Peace M. L. Morris. Cato was found shot through the heart at his home here early Tuesday.

Final inquiry required only a short while and was of routine nature, Judge Morris said. The investigation had been deferred because Mrs. Cato had been under the care of a physician.

Funeral services for Cato were held Wednesday afternoon.

THROUGHOUT tomorrow between 15 and 20 members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Allen Brothers post of the American legion will be busy on the streets in their annual "Poppy Day."

The committee in charge asked The Plainsman to bring out a few facts in connection with the poppy sales so that the public would have a little better idea of what it is all about.

With a sale of approximately 2,700 of the poppies here last year, the auxiliary this year has purchased 3,000. They will be sold from a dime each "on up", depending upon the generosity of the individual purchaser.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans right in Texas—at Legion, near Kerrville, to be exact. Thus the veterans are enabled to make a little extra money and the sponsoring auxiliary, also makes some.

Money raised in Lubbock through poppy sales is spent right in Lubbock county on destitute veterans and their families, and the committee tells The Plainsman one would be surprised to know just how much need there is for that work. Upon one occasion part of the poppy fund money was used to pay for a funeral and if it had not been for the fund some disabled veteran would have been given a paupers burial.

Remember all these things tomorrow when you are approached by legion auxiliary ladies in the annual poppy sale.

It is a good work and worthy of the public's support.

A LUBBOCK football fan remarked to The Plainsman yesterday that he wouldn't be surprised if the Westerners lost to Plainview tonight. I can't understand it," he went on. "When we have a big town here and a big enrollment in our high school, but we're never better than second best and frequently—such as this year—we're not even that good."

That particular football fan just hasn't been keeping his eyes open. If he had he would know all the answers.

One reason Lubbock rarely defeats Amarillo for instance, is because in Amarillo football is the tail which wags the school system dog.

Everything is predicated on football up there.

Another handicap facing Lubbock High is that in Amarillo, Pampa and Plainview the high school teams are THE teams. In Lubbock, Texas, Tech gets most all the play, especially in the matter of financial assistance so essential to winning football these days.

PERSONALLY, The Plainsman has never been in favor of subsidizing football teams, whether they be high school or college elevens, but he realizes as well as anyone that without subsidization now a coach can't get to first base.

Therefore, every community has to choose between winning football, the expenditure of a lot of dough and the very decided possibility that a lot of home boys will be forced off the team by imported athletes.

While Lubbock High rarely has a really great football team, The Plainsman can't remember ever having been ashamed of our representation on the gridiron. And this much is certain—we're not likely to have a great high school team here until as much time, thought and money is spent on it on the part of fans as is the case in other communities.

That's all there is to that.

SOMEONE has said that Henry Ford is wrong about everything except automobiles, but be that as it may, his commentary upon present and promised conditions seems to The Plainsman to be right interesting.

"We have just come to the end of an era of waste and inefficiency and a new era is coming in," Mr. Ford says. "That new era, with comfort and happiness for all, will not be brought in by politics or finance. It is machines which will clean up the present situation and bring in a better order. Machines and transportation.

"It is nonsense to call the machine a Frankenstein monster which is crushing its creator. The machines are not driving men out of work. Quite the contrary. Our experience for 30 years is that every time we reduced the number of men on a given job, and thus lowered costs, we had to hire even more men on account of increased business. Besides, we view this thing too narrowly.

"Every efficient business creates many outside businesses. Look at the oil, rubber, garage, gasoline, road building and a hundred other lines of business that grew out of the automobile. Employment and income have constantly increased. What we need just now is as much improvement in our economic sense as we have made in our mechanical sense.

"Machines must be built by other machines, and it takes men to build them and other highly paid men to design them. And as the machine age is perfected and extended, more and more men will have to work to provide the innumerable comforts which the machine age will make possible to everybody.

"The machine age is barely started now. In the real machine age which is to come, the dirt and ugliness and confusion and noise and disregard of human rights which are all about us today will be done away with. This is only the ox-cart stage of the machine age. Tomorrow's men will laugh at today's successes.

"We haven't even scratched the surface. There are so many wants, so many desires which are not being met, or which are not being efficiently met."

That sounds to us like a pretty broad view of a great world problem.

At least it is thought-provoking.

dress! Airing her dress, my grandmother. She's never been so fussy before. What made her want to go up on the roof at 12 o'clock?"

Cilly grabbed her pajamas from the hook on the bathroom door and jumped into them unceremoniously. Amy might at least have realized that it was nerve-wracking to have the door unlocked when one was taking a bath. But tonight Amy was certainly inconsiderate.

"I won't be a minute, Cilly. . . . I'm just going up on the roof to air this blue dress so that I can wear it tomorrow. It smells like a gasoline station now. . . ." Leave the door open, that's a dear."

Well, it certainly was a long minute. More like 20.

Cilly went into the bedroom they shared together and sat down at the frilled dressing table. This was the moment of the daily hair-brushing—100 strokes. It wasn't all accident that Cilly's dull auburn hair shone so richly.

Seven, eight, nine, ten . . .

Just a minute, to air this blue dress. Tommyrot! Cilly was thoroughly annoyed at Amy Kerr tonight. And not a little annoyed at herself for being such a jealous fool. It wasn't as if Amy was a different person by nature. She wasn't. She was a peach. In the two months they had shared the apartment Cilly and Amy had grown as close as sisters.

Cilly had been doubtful at first about taking a strange girl in to share her home, but she had never regretted doubling up with Amy Kerr. And with expenses just about cut in half, they were already planning a trip to the West Indies that winter. That is, if nothing happened in the meantime.

Seven, eight, nine, forty . . .

If nothing happened in the meantime. Actually, Cilly was thinking, "If Jim doesn't insist on getting married before then." He'd been on the point of it a dozen times. Cilly knew, but something always held him back.

"Oh, Cilly, darling!"—it was Jim who had christened her "Cilly" in place of the prim and pure "Priscilla" for her great-grandmother—"Oh, Cilly, if I could only run off with you right this very day . . . you do love me, don't you, darling? You will wait for me, no matter what happens?"

Wait for him! Hadn't she waited 27 years for someone exactly like Jim Kerrigan? If she waited another thousand years would she ever find anyone else so utterly dear, so thoughtful, so tender?

Seven, eight, nine, forty . . .

He'd never said exactly just what held him back, but Cilly understood. It was his new job. He had only been in New York a little over six months; he had to make good before he could ask a girl to marry him. She could well afford to be patient.

Seven, eight, nine, sixty . . .

Or could she?

* * *

For the first time since she had known Jim, she felt a little twinge of uncertainty. These past few months it had been just Jim and she—just the two of them together. Dancing at the French Casino. Swimming at Jones Beach. Looping the loop at Coney Island. Cooking hot dogs over a campfire at Hillside Park. Holding hands at the Paramount. Stealing a kiss downstairs in the vestibule . . . just two people in all New York. Cilly Pierce and Jim Kerrigan.

Until tonight.

Until this very evening when she had suggested to Amy that they invite their respective beaus in for a quiet Sunday evening. "So we can all get to know each other better," she had said to Amy. "Four people can have so much more fun together than just two."

Well, they certainly got to know each other better. Jim and Amy, at any rate. You'd have thought they'd known each other all their lives. The way Amy's eyes lighted up when she introduced them . . . the where've-you-been-all-my-life look that Jim gave Amy . . .

Seven, eight, nine, eighty . . .

It was just too bad she couldn't have gone for Amy's date in the same spirit. Harry Hutchins. A loud-mouthed, conceited fool. The sort who can always tell the other fellow how to play bridge. A wise guy.

Cilly marveled that a girl like Amy could have stood his company for one evening. Amy was highly attractive—a girl with charm and poise and good breeding. Surely she could see through the bluff that was Harry Hutchins.

But apparently she didn't. To all appearances, she was completely gone on him. Why, if two days passed without her hearing from him, she'd call him at his hotel. It made Cilly mad.

Once she remarked about it to Amy, not that she had any right to comment. But Amy was such a good-hearted soul; she'd never realize when someone was giving her a raw deal.

"Let him chase you," Cilly had said. "There's more zest to a man when you keep him guessing."

But Amy had just shrugged. "Don't worry about me, Cilly," she replied. "You don't understand this affair between Harry and me."

No, Cilly didn't understand it. But she understood Harry Hutchins. Only too well. He was the answer to every maiden's prayer—at least he thought so. And poor Amy was just another girl who had fallen prey to his deadly charm.

Cilly knew that Harry had other interests. In greener fields. It was no secret that Harry Hutchins was making a heavy play for Gloria Harmon, whose father had left her a string of chain stores. The Brooklyn rotogravure sections printed photographs of them together—at the races, at the smartest supper clubs in Manhattan, at the Harmon estate on Long Island. Even tonight, he had boasted of spending the previous week-end "down at Harmony Hall."

But all this went over poor Amy's head. Either she had not a bit of jealously in her makeup, or she had a forlorn hope that in time she could win her precious Harry back.

Seven, eight, nine, one hundred . . .

Cilly put the brush down. Perhaps that was it. Perhaps Amy had been so especially sweet to Jim this evening just to make Harry jealous. Cilly couldn't blame her for that.

However, that didn't explain this going up on the roof. And spending half an hour up there.

It wasn't pleasant up on the roof at midnight, not unless the moon rode high in a cloudless sky. Tonight it was cloudy, and there was no moon. It would be terrifying all alone up there!

A WORTHWHILE FEDERAL PROJECT

Highly deserving of consideration by the WPA authorities is the plea for a $174,401 allotment made by Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama for the purpose of preserving the state papers of Jefferson Davis and the Southern Confederacy.

Montgomery, Ala., was once the capital of the confederacy. Under Governor Graves' plan, the state of Alabama would add some $177,000 to the projected WPA allotment to build an archives building in which the papers could be preserved. At present, many of the Confederacy's papers are kept in Montgomery along with Alabama's documents.

From many standpoints, the money asked by Governor Graves would be money well spent. The papers of Mr. Davis and the Confederacy are of tremendous historical value—value which increases as we get farther away from the tragic conflict. Providing a permanent library for them should be at least partly an obligation of the federal government.

More And Better Babies Are Being Raised In Germany

BAD WILDBAD, Germany, Nov. 5. (AP)—Nazi obstetricians and maternity nurses, bound by oath to perform their offices "in the nazi spirit," are contributing materially to the raising of more and better German babies, minister of interior Wilhelm Frick told public health officers here.

Frick said the number of births in the Reich had risen from 993,126 in 1032 to 1,261,273 in 1935, and approximately 1,290,000 in 1936.

This, he said, was satisfactory as far as it went, but it still remained necessary to fight the "one-child" or "two-children" system, and insist on families of at least three or four.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

Paul Harrison's guest columnist today is Mr. Leigh, the eminent Warner Bros. scenarist best known for the pictures "Congress Dances," "First Lady" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade." Mr. Leigh is also the playwright who did the English version of "Wonder Bar." Sometimes he writes songs.

BY ROWLAND LEIGH

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5—Two or three times I have been asked to write a column for someone, and each time I have answered "yes"—and each time promptly regretted it. One says "yes" so automatically in Hollywood. Also it is flattering, added to which one always harbors a sneaking feeling that one can do a columnist's job far better than he can.

"Taste," one says—"that's where they all fall down. Why shouldn't a gossip column be witty, informative, topical, and, at the same time, gracious?"

Mr. Leigh

The reason is deplorably obvious. The public has been trained to take greater interest in the domestic quarrels and petty scandals of their favorite public characters than in their virtues and the qualities that have made them famous.

Let the columnist announce that Miss Lily LeFleur, the singing sensation in Technicolor, has been happily married for six consecutive years to one consecutive husband, and the air is heavy with stifled yawns. But let him announce that the same popular favorite contemplates divorcing her own husband, or annexing someone else's; let him hint that she drinks, beats her adopted child, and is generally fiendish (temperamental is the adjective most in use to describe these ill-mannered tantrums) and the public is all agog.

Pleasant Facts

That is the way of the world today—a world in which there are so many genuine disasters that the public relishes the petty, unreal ones of the film world. And yet it is possible—not day after day, perhaps, but just occasionally—to tell pleasant and not uninteresting facts about well-known actors and actresses.

For example, starting at the very top: Greta Garbo loves society—a limited society, admittedly—because she is genuinely shy. But the fact remains that there is no one gayer, more intelligent or more endowed with unaffected social graces than Miss Garbo.

I saw her one evening—one of the very few times when I was lucky enough to meet her—listening entranced while Cole Porter played some of his own songs, surprising everyone by prompting him accurately when he forgot one of his own lyrics, indulging in subtle, yet keen banter with her host, George Cukor, and talking with Mary Garden, who was the Garbo of her day. Toward Miss Garden she showed with charm and diffidence the respect due to that great person.

Not A Prima Donna

Then, contrary to popular opinion, Katharine Hepburn is not temperamental (see definition of the word above).

Ask any director with whom she has worked; ask the prop men, the hairdressers, anyone in the studio where she works. They adore her. If she makes mistakes, which now and then she does, they are mistakes of bravery; she doesn't know the meaning of the expression "to play safe."

And watch carefully when you see her latest film "Stage Door." See how unselfishly—in theatrical terms—she "feeds" Ginger Rogers during the entire first half of the picture. Believe me, for one film star to do that for another requires bravery and generosity.

Claudette Colbert has not suffered from misrepresentation because her whole character being untrammeled by complicated complexes, it would be impossible to distort her sweetness, straightforwardness, and intelligence.

But there are many others to whom both voices and virtues have been wrongly attributed. I could, in fact, fill at least two more columns with examples—but I won't, unless someone pays me vast sums of money to do so. Which they won't, so there we are!

JUST ONE MORE MILE

NEW YORK (AP)—S. Walter, an automobile dealer in Flushing, L. I., sold a car to a man. Suddenly the customer refused to sign the bill of sale. When asked what was wrong, he told Walter the mileage gauge showed 13 miles. If he wanted to sell the car, Walter would have to drive the machine around the block until another mile was registered. Walter did as instructed and the customer, perfectly contented, signed up.

FDR Sees Hand Of Enemy In Business Slump And Stock Market Decline, Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—This is another of those screwy periods in New Deal history when pundits solemnly ask each other and their readers whether Roosevelt is going "to go to the right or to the left."

When this question is raised, all veteran observers who are capable of learning by experience automatically lean back and predict with a yawn that subsequent wiggling of the administration will veer toward the port rather than the starboard side.

Hits Wall Street Foes

Nevertheless, the degree of pressure from the so-called right probably is heavier to the square inch than at any previous time. It reached unprecedented strength just before the President's Federal Reserve dedication speech. But Roosevelt ignored desperate conservative pleas to give business various reassurances.

Dutcher

Lately the Federal Reserve board's reduction of stock market margin requirements from 55 to 40 per cent has been widely interpreted as an administration concession to Wall Street. It was. But the only reason for it was the fact that Roosevelt and Chairman Eccles were especially anxious to impose a new 50 per cent margin requirement on short sales and made the reduction just to make it appear that they were doing more than kicking Wall Street in the face. Net effect was a sock at Roosevelt's real or fancied foes in Wall Street.

Roosevelt intimates who have seen him lately agree on two points:

First, his well-known gaiety, buoyancy, optimism, and confidence are as conspicuous as ever.

Second, the President believes that at least one cause of the stock market decline, if not of the business decline itself, was a deliberately engineered plan by certain groups intent on discrediting the administration.

Some of his more conservative informants admit that this alarms them.

Blames Business

It must be remembered that New Deal theory, however vague it may be on some particulars, is in general aimed at keeping the capitalistic system functioning on all six, if that be possible. The President, you may be sure, believes that practically all business troubles are brought upon itself by business.

He is convinced that rebellion by industry against New Deal laws, plus a certain amount of deliberate sabotage, has been a factor in the current slump. If big business men had not preferred to defy the National Labor Relations act, he believes, industry would not have stocked up inventories at high prices last spring. If business men were not so greedy in their demand for profit, he feels they would have refrained from raising prices to what he considers an almost disastrous extent.

The New Deal idea is that business men should be content with small unit profits and make their money out of volume. Meanwhile, Doctor Roosevelt figures that his job is to keep business from wounding itself and committing mayhem on the general welfare—and that if one of his remedies doesn't work, another will.

Double-Barreled Hatred

Coupled with this attitude is the fact that the "hate Roosevelt" attitude of most business men has stirred up an increasing irritation in F. D. R. He's a "good hater" himself. It may or may not be true on the country, but the man who felt four years ago that he could depend on 90 per cent of business to co-operate with his program now feels that he can depend on about 10 per cent and that the rest of business is so selfish as to require federal mastery.

The state of the President's mind continues to be a most important factor in the current situation.

IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

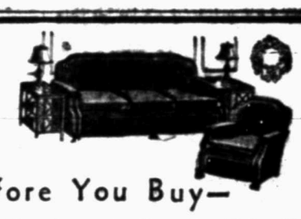

It sounds impossible, but a football game was won after it was officially ended. It wasn't one of those cases of a touchdown pass being in the air as the gun went off, but another pass, by the loser, after the final shot was fired.

In a desperate effort to break a tie, St. Louis University opened a passing attack against Davis-Elkins in the closing minutes of the game. One of the passes was in the air as the gun sounded. It was incomplete, but the referee ruled interference by Davis-Elkins, giving St. Louis another play, after penalty. Another pass! A Davis-Elkins player intercepted and ran for the touchdown that won the game after the game was over.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Steady cable, covering and small trade buying induced opening advances of 5 to 8 points in the cotton market here today.
Selling was light and trading limited. A few hedging orders were executed at the start but these were absorbed promptly. Weather conditions continued favorable in the belt but failed to affect the price trend.
Dec. opened at 7.81, Jan. 7.78, March 7.86, May 7.88, July 7.94 and Oct. 8.02.
Scattered selling appeared and towards the end of the first half hour active positions had reacted 2 to 4 points from the initial highs.
Strength in sterling and in outside markets attracted increased demand later in the morning and prices recovered to levels 5 to 10 points net higher by midday.
The trade was said to be a good buyer and some was now covering on shorts in advance of the bureau report Monday. Towards the middle hour Dec. traded at 7.82, Jan. at 7.77, March at 7.86, May 7.90, July 7.97 and Oct. at 8.05.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, up 5 to 7 points on higher Liverpool and strong stock exchange. Dec. 7.69, Jan. 7.70, March 7.77, May 7.81, July 7.84, Oct. 7.98.
There was a fairly active demand from commission houses, foreign sources and the trade, but the initial advance attracted a fair volume of Southern selling and offered offerings for far eastern account.
Partial reactions were recovered shortly after the first half hour, however, on covering promoted by the strength in the stock markets and the strength of gold shipments from London to New York.
March, which had eased from 7.77 to 7.72, was back in the early high at the end of the first hour, when the last known net gain was 5 to 8 points.
The cotton market continued although price changes in the near positions were about in line with other deliveries.
Another private crop indication appeared, pointing to production of 17,619,000 bales, or 1,014,000 bales above the same estimate a month ago. Ten estimates on private reports to Nov. 1 ranged from 12,843,000 bales to 13,175,000.
Trade buying orders helped the tone of the market and there was enough trade and scattered buying to absorb moderate hedging and Dec. liquidation. Trading became quiet toward midday but prices held steady within a point or two of the best thus far.
March was selling at 7.78 and the list was 6 to 9 points net higher.

Gang Buster Is On Job Early

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—With a keen sense of dramatic timing, Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey today produced a first degree murder indictment against Morris Goldis, 27, who was released for lack of evidence three years ago in a racket killing.

The indictment, kept secret three weeks, was handed up to Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora less than 24 hours after Charles A. Schneider announced his resignation as assistant state attorney general.

Schneider, who today renewed threats of a libel suit against Dewey, was named in one of the prosecutor's recent campaign speeches as the "well connected lawyer" and Tammany district leader who defended Goldis when he first was arrested. Dewey was elected district attorney Tuesday.

Sharp Words Uttered

Schneider replied it was his duty as a lawyer to defend Goldis and today he said:

"I would rather be Charley Schneider, maligned, stigmatized, libeled and tossed about than be Mr. Dewey going to bed with this on his mind—if he has a conscience."

He repeated Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., had not asked for his resignation but he had tendered it out of a feeling the state's chief law officer should not be "sullied" by "false" statements made about a member of his staff.

Dewey, who will take office Jan. 1 as the first non-Tammany district attorney in more than two decades, said the indictment against Goldis, charging him with the murder on Sept. 13, 1934, of William Snyder, a local union chief, was voted by the grand jury three weeks ago. It was withheld for reasons of political propriety until after the campaign, he said.

Goldis has been held as a material witness for the last three months. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

Protoplasm Theory Shot; Scientists Debunk Concept

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—One of the main concepts of science, the "living protoplasm" which for nearly 100 years has been thought the source of life, was declared to have no real existence today.

Instead, a group of America's foremost scientists showed, "protoplasm" is made of numerous commonplace particles, visible by up to date methods. Not one of these particles is alive.

One mechanism of death, of which the public hasn't heard, has been found in study of these particles. The new viewpoints were given at a symposium on biophysics held at the University of Pennsylvania under joint auspices of the American Institute of Physics and the Eldridge Reeves Johnson Foundation for medical physics.

Origin Found In Greek

"Protoplasm" is the sticky, usually whitish substance of which living parts seem to be made. It was so named in 1840 from the Greek, protos, first, and plasma, a thing formed, and means "the first creation."

Dr. F. Newton Harvey, of Princeton university, told how under the microscope, the whirling centrifuge and fine testing methods, "protoplasm" has literally fallen apart. It is made of cells, bits of fat, granules of colored matter, proteins threads, hollow bubbles, "nuclei" salts and a complex of other things.

"No one of these substances," he said, "can be considered as 'living' except insofar as it is indispensable for the continuance of life."

On this view, he added, even the salts are indispensable to life.

Tension Causes Cohesion

One of the newer mysteries is how these particles get together in "cells" without having a "bag" or covering to hold them together.

Dr. Harvey said only a "surface tension of its exterior keeps the living cell together."

The mechanism of death was found in this peculiar surface by Dr. M. H. Jacobs of the University of Pennsylvania.

He explained every instant "food" and oxygen is passing through these mysterious cell walls. But the process, called "diffusion," he said is a paradox.

"In the last analysis," he explained, "diffusion is diametrically opposed to all that is most characteristic of life. By nature diffusion processes are essentially destructive."

They appear at their maximum after death. Yet in life they serve to maintain what Dr. Jacobs said is the "incredibly improbable" arrangement of the particles forming a living cell. Tracing this "improbable" organization is one of the new problems of scientists trying to learn how life begins.

Old-Time Rodeos Were Not So Bad As Modern Writers Try To Picture Them, Man Says

PECOS, Nov. 5. (AP)—"Uncle Henry" Slack, pioneer Pecos resident and believed to be the only surviving participant in the original world's rodeo here in 1883, is "fed up" on stories of the "rough and rowdy" event of 54 years ago.

He said the first rodeo was a "polite affair" and was handled in an orderly manner as it had been carefully planned. The first rodeo held July 4, 1883, he said, was comparable to any of today's programs as far as "manners and politeness" are concerned.

"Uncle Henry" was given the lifetime honor of heading the opening parade of the Pecos rodeo. Mr. and Mrs. Slack recently observed their 48th wedding anniversary.

Illinois is the third most populous state in the union.

Colorado Minister, Former Performer In Chautauqua, Mixes Sleight Of Hand With Sermons; Keeps His Audience Awake

(By The Associated Press)

COLORADO, Nov. 5. — Spicing sermons with magic may not be orthodox but it is an effective way to keep the congregation awake, says Rev. A. L. Haley, former chautauqua "magician" and now pastor of the Colorado First Christian church. He finds his former sleight of hand profession an invaluable aid in his preaching.

"In my religious work I merely use it to illustrate Biblical truths," he says.

Illustrated His Songs

The Colorado pastor when a youth travelled a chautauqua circuit in "off-times" from evangelistic work. He quit working in a basket factory at Butler, Ind., in his early twenties to become a singer for revival meetings. Ability to illustrate his songs with chalk drawings made him a popular revival entertainer.

Haley never attended a theological school, never took a singing lesson and never received instruction in magic. He learned the rudiments of painting from his father, acquired his theological knowledge by reading the Bible, his technique of preaching from listening to sermons, his magic from books and practice, and his singing from the birds in his father's garden.

Composes Own Songs

The words and music of many songs Haley sings and illustrates are his own composition. His work as a singer and evangelist was primarily among children.

When his young parishioners complain they cannot comprehend his discourse, Haley illustrates by magic. When they tell him they do not understand how he manipulates his illustration he explains that his act was merely a sleight of hand performance. "If you cannot grasp a simple natural act do not attempt to comprehend the mysteries of godliness. They are a matter of faith, not knowledge," he explains.

Has Favorite Illustration

His favorite illustration to boys about keeping bad company is to thread three balls on a string, each end held by a boy. A knot which the boys are unable to loosen is tied around the middle ball representing the boy associating in bad company. "He is bound in sin and by his own power cannot break away from the influence of his sinful companions. One day he goes to church, accepts Christ, and behold how easily the power of his Saviour rescues him from the clutches of sin." Haley interprets as he places his hand over the tied ball and quickly takes it off the string, the others remaining on the cord.

With the exception of chautauqua work, two seasons social director of the Denver YMCA and World war YMCA entertainer at Camp Funston, Haley has spent his time in religious work. While engaged in children's work in California, Louis Ackers, an Abilene oil man, persuaded him to become the junior pastor of the First Christian church at Abilene. Ackers contributed $2,000 annually toward Haley's salary while he preached to the children of Abilene for eight years. Then for one year Haley was chaplain of the state epileptic hospital at Abilene. He came to Colorado in March, 1936, from Santa Anna, where he had been pastor six months.

Sister Awarded Green Estate

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Settlement of a long court battle over the $40,000,000 to $60,000,000 estate of the late Col. Edward H. R. Green was announced tonight by Surrogate Harry E. Owens of Essex county. The surrogate awarded the bulk of the estate to Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, a sister, who he said in turn agreed to pay $500,000 to Colonel Green's widow, Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green.

Surrogate Owen rejected the widow's contention that a prenuptial agreement waiving her rights to a dower interest in Colonel Green's fortune was procured through fraud.

Ordered To Probate

He ordered the colonel's will, naming his sister principal legatee, admitted to probate.

"I am glad to announce," he said, "That Mrs. Wilks has consented to the payment by the estate of $500,000 to Mrs. Green and that papers have been executed which acknowledge Mrs. Wilks' right to her brother's estate and which terminate this litigation and the possibility of any further litigation between Mrs. Green and Mrs. Wilks in respect to the decendent's estate."

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — The shocking mystery of the electrically charged fence had been solved today.

The police are pretty glad its over, they confided. It was burning them up.

The fence adjoins a school and the pupils had been complaining for a month of jolts handed out by the fence. The last victim was 10-year-old Sanford Fontenon of Dequincy, La., who touched the wire fence and cluing, screaming, until passersby pulled him off.

Two cops assigned to investigate, touched the wire fence and jumped back.

They canvassed the neighborhood but could find nobody who knew anything about the electric current in the fence.

Then they went back to the fence every day for a week touched it and jumped back.

A radio repairman went to fix a broken radio in the neighborhood. He found a ground wire had been attached innocently to the fence strands. A short in the receiver had sent a 110 volt charge through the wire.

The ampherage had not been stepped up by the short and the current was harmless.

World's Market Bid Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Leaders in the powerful house committee on agriculture said today they would favor a new loan-subsidy program to "recapture the world market" for American farm products.

It is intended, they said, that future loans on commodities be made at figures equivalent to the world prices of the commodities. The difference between that and a domestic price level would be made up in subsidies paid to farmers from processing taxes, plus benefits for "conserving soil."

In the past, loans have been made higher than world prices. But the legislators opposed future programs of this kind, saying when the government lends more money on a product than it would bring in world markets, exports are discouraged because the farmer tends to take the loan and store his product as security.

Corn Loan Case In Point

The newly authorized corn loan of 44 to 50 cents a bushel was cited as an example of keeping loans in line with "going prices."

"Had the loan been 60 cents as proposed by some farm interests," said Representative Coffee (D-Neb), "we might have insured a domestic price level but we would have cut off all chance of export.

Chairman Jones (D-Texas) said a desirable course would be an effort to secure fair prices in the domestic market and at the same time permit farmers to produce all that can be absorbed both in this country and abroad.

"Any adjustment or control program," he asserted, "should be shaped so foreign markets can be gradually regained."

Colorful Event Set Saturday

present the formations Saturday morning. They will outline the state of Texas, the University of Texas Longhorn, and will spell Texas in formations. It was pointed out time would now allow changing formations after the school of instruction conducted the first three days of this week at the University of Texas. The school there was conducted for directors of the eastern and southern half of the state.

The three guest conductors here are H. E. Nutt, director, member of the faculty and secretary of the Vandercook School of Music in Chicago; Gadbois, director of the North High school at Minneapolis; and Jones, director of bands and orchestras at the Littlerock High school.

Demonstration Held

This morning's program was opened with a demonstration on "Beginning Drum and Tympani Students", directer by Nutt in substitution for John Endicott of the Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene who was not here.

Russell Shrader, director in the Sweetwater public schools, in an address on "Efficient Organization and Discipline" pointed out that "breaking batons is a poor method of discipline". Worst punishment is to take students out of the band. Organization which requires a great amount of bookkeeping should be avoided, he said.

Gadbois presented a demonstration on "Beginning String Instrument Players". Four girls from Miss Beulah Dunn's orchestra were members of the demonstration group.

Among points brought out in his demonstration were that a great many minor instructions should not be made to confuse the student, a band should not be expected to progress swiftly first of the year, the band should be required to keep attempting until it understands the selection instead of dismissed and expected to remember all instructions later.

Taken On Tour Of City

The demonstration band members were taken on a tour of the city at 11 o'clock. The Tech band was in charge.

"String Ensembles" was the subject of an address by Glenn Truax, Shamrock director; "Efficient Library Systems", by Jones and Nutt; "Brass Ensembles", by Oscar Wise, Amarillo director; and "Woodwind Ensembles", H. A. Anderson, Lubbock director and chairman of local arrangements for the school.

Stony Sends Regrets And His Shirt Tail To Drive Victors

C. I. (Stony) Wall sent regrets, and his shirt tail, to the luncheon of the American Business club at the Hilton hotel at noon today as the annual Boy Scout sustaining club membership campaign was brought to an official close.

Wall explained, according to J. A. Fortenberry, general chairman of the membership roundup, that he was called from Lubbock on a business trip this morning which could not be postponed.

Sanford Is Recipient

Recipient of the shirt-tail was Marion Sanford, a guest at the luncheon, who was "foreman" of the winning team in the membership roundup. Wall was foreman of the losers. Terms of the contest provided that the winner of the roundup should clip the shirt-tail of the loser.

Eight straw bosses who were Wall's lieutenants in the drive inscribed their signatures on the cloth which is to be framed at the expense of the losing team. Fortenberry announced. It then will be presented to Sanford.

Last Minute Victory

Sanford's victory, according to Scout Executive Earl M. McClure, was due to the last minute report by Dr. C. C. Schmidt, one of the straw bosses on the winning team. Deadline for reports was set at 6 p. m. Thursday, and at 5:55 p. m., Wall's team led by 15 points—each point representing a dollar. Before the deadline, however, Schmidt reported with $60, to give Sanford the victory.

McClure also announced that the Lubbock drive more than attained its objective of $3,000 for support of the Scout movement during the next year.
