Anti-American Demonstration By Iran Mobs

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Mobs shouting anti-American slogans stoned U. S. cars and homes today as riots continued in Iran's capital. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's supporters appeared to be gaining the upper hand in the demonstrations which have alternately assailed and defended the aged nationalist leader.

Crowds hurled rocks at American homes on Roosevelt Avenue, at the U. S. embassy's administrative counselor Laurence C. Frank, and at cars driven by Embassy Attache Warren Silver and by a secretary, Betty White. None of them was hurt.

OFFICES CLOSED

The crowd finally became so threatening that police dispersed it by shooting into the air and firing tear gas bursts.

At the anti - American outbreak, Point Four and consular offices in the city were closed and embassy personnel was ordered to keep off the streets.

Mossadegh, meanwhile, moved to re-establish his hold on the government's reins after the mob attack on his home Saturday which sent him dashing in pajamas for the traditional sanctuary of the parliament building.

The government arrested 70 army officers—65 retired and five on the active list—and accused them of inciting the demonstrators against the government.

Mossadegh also fired his army chief of staff, Gen. Mahmud Baharmast, accusing him of not acting promptly to check the anti-government rioters.

Scurry Wildcat Will Drill To Strawn Lime

Ralph A. and William G. Johnston, both of Houston, have set location for a Strawn wildcat in Scurry County four miles north of Snyder.

It is the No. 1 U. H. Wade, 467 feet from south and east lines of section 159-3-H&GN.

It will begin in the near future to drill to 7,800 feet to test the Strawn lime.

The project is to be a twin well to production from the Canyon reef on the Wade lease.

MITCHELL WILDCAT

Sun No. 1 McCabe, Southeast Mitchell wildcat, had squeezed cement to shut off water and reperforated in Pennsylvanian sand at 5,890-916 feet after drilling out the cement. It is now testing.

It opened the tool at 6:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a one-half inch bottom choke and quarter inch top choke. It had the 1,000 - foot water blanket in the pipe when it started testing. Gas surfaced in 45 minutes, and the water blanket started flowing out in 75 minutes.

After the tool was open an hour and 45 minutes, the flow was turned from the well to the tanks. In 11 hours, ending at 7 o'clock this morning, it had flowed 56 barrels of oil and no water. It is continuing to flow to test.

Flowing tubing pressure was 410, and casing pressure was zero. Gas-oil ratio was 2,00-1.

DRILLING REPORT

Texaco No. 2 Fuller, North Scurry wildcat, had treated the San Andres pay with 2,000 gallons of acid then re-installed the pump. It is now pumping load oil and acid water and will try to test.

Sunray No. 1 Mitchell, West Stonewall County wildcat, took a drillstem test at 5,210-275 feet with tool open one hour and recovered 15 feet slightly gas cut mud. It is now drilling at 5,312 feet in lime and shale.

In Scurry County, Louisiana Land No. 1 Howell is drilling at 6,140 feet in shale and sand, Blount No. 1 Cary is at 3,975 feet in dolomite, Southern Minerals No. 1 Juddleston is at 3,753 feet in lime, Humble No.1 Nachlinger is at 8,266 feet in lime and chert, and Texaco No. 3 Fuller is drilling at 7,40 feet in lime.

In Borden, Green No. 1 Wolf is mixing mud to regain lost circulation at 6,470 feet, and Superior No. 9-580 Jones is at 3,325 feet in lime.

In Dawson, Sun No. 1 Dean is trying to loosen and recover stuck drill pipe at 7,741 feet in lime and shale, Union No. 1 Goodson is at 8,311 feet in lime, Woodward No. 1 Mahaney is at 7,345 feet in shale and sand, and Vega & Universal No. 1 Fowler is drilling at 3,960 feet in anhydrite and gyp.

Navy Training Specialists To Deliver Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is developing a corps of atomic bombardiers—fliers and ordnance experts trained in the high-level and secret schools of nuclear weapon use.

Graduates of these courses already are at sea with the fleet or at naval air stations flying carrier-based aircraft presumably capable of delivering any current type of atomic bomb.

Pentagon officials today would confirm only that such a program exists, but published reports and previous brief comments by other officials make it possible to say that:

The Navy men receive their training in atomic warfare at the same joint armed forces schools used for Air Force crews. There include the New Mexico installations of the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project (AFSWP).

They use, as do Air Force crews, precise duplicates of atomic bombs complete in all details except the actual nuclear fission charge.

Navy men participate in the joint task forces which conduct the experimental atomic explosions at the Nevada and Eniwetok Proving Grounds.

Reports that components for the atomic bomb are carried aboard some of the larger carriers, published last year, have gone without official denial.

The Navy has at least one type of plane, operating from carriers, probably able to tote the same size A-bomb carried in the bays of the biggest land-based, long-range bombers.

The AJ1 Savage is the heaviest of the operational carrier-based planes, with a gross weight of more than 55,000 pounds and powered by two piston engines and a jet. Its range is given as "more than 2,000 miles."

Senator Describes Controls As Penicillin In Economic Plague

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), renewing his plea for standby wage-price-rent controls, said today such power would be "a little economic penicillin" against "economic plague—come a war, God forbid."

Capehart's statement was prepared as the curtain-raiser to hearings, scheduled by the Senate Banking Committee to last two weeks, on economic controls legislation. Some 60 witnesses are expected.

Leadoff witnesses for today's session were Charles Holman of the National Milk Producers Federation, C. W. Kitchen of the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, and a spokesman for the Dairy Industry Committee.

Before the Senate committee are numerous proposals for extending controls, which expire in the next few months, as well as legislation introduced by Capehart and 11 other committee members to authorize the President to revive controls in the event of war or economic emergency.

Capehart, chairman of the committee, said he was against economic controls in principle but felt standby powers were needed to prevent any "disastrous economic dislocation."

Nevertheless, he said in an interview he was not "stiff-necked" about details of his proposal. He expressed willingness to compromise with lawmakers, like Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio, who oppose any standby controls power.

As Capehart's proposal now stands, the President could freeze prices, wages and rents for 90 days in an emergency. During this 90-day period Congress could enact more permanent controls legislation.

Capehart said he would be willing to shorten the freeze period from 90 to 60 days or even extend it to 120. He maintained the two world wars showed most inflation came while Congress tried to "enact temporary controls under pressure."

Ambassador Is Questioned By Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles (Chip) Bohlen, nominated to be ambassador to Russia, faces questioning by senators today on the international trading that led to World War II agreements involving the U. S., Britain and Russia.

Bohlen, who served as Russian language interpreter for President Roosevelt at Yalta and President Truman at Potsdam, was called before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for testimony on his nomination.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to join him in denouncing Soviet perversion of these agreements and those reached at Tehran by which peoples have been enslaved behind the Iron Curtain.

Eisenhower has made it clear he doesn't want the agreements themselves repudiated—only the interpretation the Kremlin has put on them. But Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) and others say some of the once-secret agreements are bad in themselves. They don't want Congress to approve them, even by implication.

Ferguson said he will ask Bohlen about the circumstances surrounding the agreements, particularly those made at Yalta.

"I want to know what the Russian demands were that led to these agreements," Ferguson said.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, cautioned against calls by some Republicans for a tougher-talking resolution and by others for repudiation of the agreements. Going too far would risk Democratic support for the resolution, Sparkman said, adding:

"If we want to continue to fuss about Yalta and the agreements there, let's do it among ourselves. But let's not bring that into a resolution that is solely a propaganda weapon against Russia."

President Back On Job Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, refreshed after a week end of golf in Georgia, gave his legislative program top attention today.

The President scheduled his regular Monday morning conference with Republican congressional leaders and asked them to bring along two others who do not regularly attend.

They are Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb), who heads the Senate Interior Committee, and Rep. Chauncey Reed (R-Ill.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

The White House declined to say in advance why Butler and Reed were invited. However, the committees they head have jurisdiction over legislation to give the states title to oil-rich submerged coastal lands.

The administration is pressing for enactment of that measure. The Senate committee expects to wind up its hearings within the next few days, and the bill it is expected to approve has been tabbed for early floor action.

BABY SITTING

There's nothing to cheer about—the home team is behind—so 10-months-old Kathy Schember takes time out at the basketball tournament in Albert Lea., Minn., for a snack. Her "sitter", Phyllis Hanson, a yell leader for Ellendale, Minn., High School, endures great pain, however, as her team fights a losing battle. Ellendale lost to Emmons, 64-50. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Schember, Ellendale.

Brownell Opposes Government Quitclaim Of Tideland Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty.-Gen. Brownell told the Senate today he believes the states should get the mineral resources in submerged coastal areas but that he would not give them quitclaim title to the territory.

Brownell went before the Senate Interior Committee which is considering bills aimed at giving the coastal states title to the coastal regions, often miscalled tidelands.

The tidelands issue figured prominently in last year's presidential campagn. President Eisenhower supported the claim by some states that title to the lands should be vested in the states. Adlai Stevenson his Democratic opponent, held that the U. S. government owns paramount rights in the region.

Brownell said his view was aimed at "minimizing if not eliminating altogether the constitutional point raised by the witnesses before this committee."

And he said:

"I do not thereby intend to cast any doubt upon the constitutionality of the so-called quitclaim statute."

By quitclaim, Brownell meant action by Congress which would have the effect of the federal government abandoning—or quitting claim to title to the submerged regions.

Former President Truman twice vetoed such legislation.

Brownell told the committee:

"My recommendation would mean, in legal terms, that instead of granting to the states a blanket quitclaim title to the submerged lands within their historic boundaries, the federal government would grant to the states only such authority as required for the states to administer and develop the natural resources."

The attorney general told the committee he was advancing his suggestion "merely to draw your attention to a method of minimizing if not eliminating altogether the constitutional point raised by the witnesses before this committee."

Red Assault Is Driven Back

SEOUL (AP)—Allied infantrymen—battling at times inside their own bunkers—last night smashed a 750-man Chinese Communist assault against the main U. N. line on the Western Korean Front.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported the Reds were routed in a 3½-hour close-quarter fight. American, French and Thai infantrymen joined in the battle and were supported by British Commonwealth artillery.

The Chinese penetrated United Nations defenses at one point on a 5,500-yard front near Little Gibraltar Hill west of Yonchon and partly overran an American platoon, but the Americans stood their ground and kicked the Reds out.

The Eighth Army reported nearly 200 Chinese were killed or wounded.

It was the heaviest Communist attack in more than a month.

Rain and wet snow fell on the battlefront today after the Reds retreated to their own lines. It turned the scene of Sunday night's battle into a veritable quagmire and made it difficult to communicate with front lines.

Norther Stands In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A mild norther moved into the Texas Panhandle and the Red River Valley Monday, and light rains fell ahead of the cold front.

The weather bureau said the front became stationary after shouldering into the state but probably would get in motion again by nightfall.

It followed a day of warm temperatures and blustery winds that scooped up dust in West Texas Sunday. Dalls had a high of 79 Sunday. Dallas had a high of 79 for the warmest March 1 since 1913. Alice was the hottest place in the state with 91 degrees.

Temperatures dropped just below freezing in the Panhandle Monday. Dalhart had the overnight low, 30 degrese.

Second Month Of Below Average Rain For '53

Rainfall of .04 of an inch was recorded Saturday by Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer.

The added moisture brings the total for February to .48 of an inch and to .63 for the year. According to official rainfall records moisture recorded last month is below the .76 of an inch average. It is, however, a decided increase over last year's .18 of an inch.

A high temperature of 67 degrees Sunday followed the moisture Saturday. The thermometer showed a low of 37 degrees last night and hadn't changed by 7:30 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Strayhorn, said.

Floyd Hill Is Still At Large

FORT WORTH (AP) — Alcatraz parole violator Floyd Hill still dodged officers today, but nine small fry crooks who broke out of the Tarrant County Jail with him Feb. 18 were back in their cells.

The last two, except for Hill, were caught Saturday.

Arkansas Trooper Clarence Montgomery said Michael Kenneth Davis, 20, and Glen Cleveland Crawford, 22, both of Fort Worth, were arrested at Malvern, Ark.

Montgomery said a 17-year-old Fort Worth girl, Margaret Jane Vaughn, was with the men. The three were jailed in the Hot Spring County jail at Malvern.

Officers arrested the men after they identified license plates on a car the men were driving.

Hill, 41, charged in a $248,000 robbery of two exiled Cubans at a swank hotel here, and the other men slugged three officers and fled the Tarrant County jail.

One man was recaptured shortly after the break as he walked along a Fort Worth street.

Shaky Government In Japan About To Topple In Minor Issue Fight

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida threatened today to dissolve the Diet (parliament) after the House agreed to consider a motion of censure against his pro-American administration.

A spokesman for his dominant Liberal Party, Eiaku Sato, said Yoshida might be forced to invoke a law asking Emperor Hirohito to dissolve the elective body. The emperor cannot deny the request.

The House threatened to overthrow Yoshida's shaky government earlier today by sending to a censure committee a motion to reprimand the 74-year-old prime minister for calling a rival a "stupid idiot."

Yoshida's deputy, Taketora Ogata, told newsmen "the passage of the motion on the committee illustrates the unstable political situation. But its passage will not make Yoshida resign."

Yoshida tonight dismissed Agriculture Minister Kozen Hirokawa on grounds he had been unco-operative. Hirokawa is a leader of one of the factions threatening to split the Libertal Party. He led a group of 30 dissident Liberals who boycotted this morning's vote on censure and thus assured its being sent to committee.

However, Yoshida waited until after the Diet had passed the budget bill in a night session before he fired Hirokawa.

Opposition spokesmen protested against the threat to dissolve the Diet. They said the national elections were held only last October and that they were "extremely expensive" for both the government and candidates.

Yoshida dissolved the Diet last August as the climax of a feud with Ichiro Hatoyama, speaker of the House.

Yoshida called an emergency meeting of the cabinet today to study the situation.

If the Diet committee recommended a severe censure and Yoshida lost the ensuing vote in the House, he almost certainly would be forced to resign. Today's vote went against him 191 to 162.

The situation appeared to be coming to a head over a relatively minor issue.

Yoshida was asked Saturday—during a Diet committee meeting on Jaoan's budget—to outline his own views on the international situation as it affects Jaoan.

The questioner, Eiichir Nishimura, phrased the request in a heckling, sarcastic manner and Yoshida blurted out "bakayaro" (stupid idiot). The Prime Minister apologized almost immediately, however.

But the touchy House jumped on the issue, forcing today's vote.

The result was a face-losing defeat for the man who charted Japan's course through the end of the Allied occupation and into its present independence.

Gas Tax Proponents Taking Advantage Of Money Troubles

AUSTIN (AP)—Backers of a natural gas tax today jumped on Jews of a possible state deficit as more reason than ever for their tax.

But a bunch of other legislators took a wary "watch and wait" attitude.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert last Friday predicted a possible 7 million dollar state deficit by August because of declining oil production.

"The people of Texas ought to know just what the situation is," said Rep. George Hinson of Mineola. "If we maintain our present budget and then add all that I think is 'must' legislation for the next two ears, we'll have to raise 45 million dollars."

FOUR WAYS

Hinson said he considered such things as a school teachers' raise, tubereulosis hospital and a new prison building "must" legislation.

"We have four ways to raise the money," he said in an interview. "We can raise the property tax, we can levy an income tax, we can levy a general sales tax or we can tax our natural resources such as natural gas. I strongly favor a fair tax on our natural gas pipelines such as our governor recommended in his message to this legislature.

"The greater share of our natural gas is being transported to other states and nations. It is being stored underground in some states for future use. Only about 30 per cent of any tax we levy on natural gas lines will be paid by users in Texas for about 70 per cent is being piped out before it is used."

MODEST TRUST IS KEPT IN FAMILY

COVENTRY, R I. (AP)—Back in the 1830's, Richard Waterman, a prosperous farmer, feared that some day there might not be enough people living in his rural community to support a church.

His will left $500 in trust to "pay a minister to preach two Sundays a month."

In the 116 years since, his modest $500 has grown to "a little over $100,000."

Now the fund supplies a minister every Sunday. And the pastor who serves the church today is the Rev. Byron O. Waterman, great-great-grandson of the man who established the trust.

Gen. Taylor Sees Victory

SEOUL (AP)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor expressed belief today the Communists will "sooner or later" tire of the Korean War and that the Allies "will win no matter how long it takes."

He declared that a major offensive by Chinese Nationalists against the Red China mainland would ease the pressure on his Eighth Army forces in Korea.

However, Nationalist authorities on Formosa have said such an offensive could not be launched without U. S. or Allied naval and air support.

Taylor, in his first interview since taking command of the Eighth Army 2½ weeks ago, said he is confident his forces could withstand any Communist offensive in Korea. He added that his troops are in the strongest entrenched positions of any army since World War I.

Police Plan To Crash Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — House probers looking into an alleged pact to give New York City police immunity from FBI investigation shifted their operations to the capital today amid signs they might have some uninvited witnesses.

Heads of five police "line" organizations in the metropolis started for the capital yesterday to ask that they be heard on what one termed a Communist plot to accuse New York police of brutality.

Without them, a House judiciary subcommittee which has been investigating the Justice Department had four witnesses lined up for a public hearing today.

Accidents Get 19 In State

By The Associated Press

Street and highway mishaps caused almost half of the violent deaths in Texas during the week end.

Of 19 reported deaths, eight occurred in traffic accidents, four in shootings, two in a plane crash, one by fire. Four were killed by miscellaneous forms of violence.

The latest reports:

Earl Benjamin Smith, 34, and his wife Martha, 26, of Houston were killed in a two-car collision near Dayton Sunday night. The couple's six year old daughter, Jackie, and Jack Bishop, driver of the other car, were injured.

Holder Lee Lunsford, 27, was killed and his wife badly injured early Sunday when a truck trailer came loose and smashed into the car he was driving near Seymour.

Miss Elsie Isabel Bingham, 21, Eden, died in a Brady hospital Saturday night of a bullet wound received in her home. Poncho County authorities were investigating.

Hospital Bill To Governor; Unemployment Act Is Debated

AUSTIN (AP)—The 53d legislature's first big money bill, $3,250,000 for new state tuberculosis hospitals, was sent to the governor's desk today by final Senate action.

It concurred in a House amendment to the measure providing hospitals at Harlingen and San Antonio, and more space at Kerrville. They will care for 900 tuberculosis patients who must move out of the Weaver H. Baker hospital at Mission July 1.

The House plunged into debate on a bill to deny unemployment benefits to workers caught in a stoppage caused by shortage of materials stemming from a strike somewhere else against the same corporation.

This complicated measure was by Rep. H. A. (Salty) Hull of Fort Worth.

Hull told the House his bill grew out of a Ford Motor Co. situation where one small strike paralyzed the whole industry.

"Ford pays its unemployment compensation tax. Having to pay its laid off workers put it in a position of financing a strike against itself," Hull told the House.

A resolution calling for revision of all the laws relating to juvenile delinquency and child care was introduced in the house by Rep. Pearce Johnson of Austin. It went to the State Affairs Committee.

Hull's bill was at the top of the calendar as the House went back into session. Both houses adjourned at noon until tomorrow.

It grew out of a ruling which gave Ford workers in Dallas unemployment pay when they had to quit work because members of the same union struck at another Ford plant and cut off the flow of materials.

Over in the Senate, a proposed constitutional amendment to allow the state to back local water conservation projects was ready for floor action. But there was no definite word when it would be brought up.

The main bulk of the legislative work continued in committees.

The optometry bill that stirred up the House last week before it was passed was up before the Senate affairs committee today at 2 p.m.

The bill to repeal the drivers financial responsibility law was up before the House state affairs committee tonight.

Rep. A. D. Downer, Center, said he had a big number of witnesses coming to the House constitutional amendments committee this afternoon to back his proposal to extend state aid to the physically handicapped.

He estimated that the aid would cost the state a million dollars a year. The federal government would pay two-thirds of it. No person could receive more than $55 a month.

Downer said it would help the adults too handicapped to support themselves and not old enough to receive old age benefits.

WINNERS BY DEFAULT

Outraged when men of Reading (England) University invited three French girls to add beauty and grace to their annual carnival, these Reading co-eds carried their protest to 10 Downing Street. Costumes were selected to add emphasis to the protest. They didn't see Prime Minister Churchill, but they won their point. The French girls cancelled their visit. Now Reading co-eds are supplying the glamor for the carnival, proceeds of which go to flood victims and children's charities. And the men are happy because their co-eds looked so pretty when they were angry.

Two Russians Shot Disregarding Sentry

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—A Burmese army sentry shot and severly wounded two Russian embassy staff members early today when they ignored his halt order at an army protected area.

The Russians were Constantin M. Anikine, 36, embassy first secretary, and a Dr. Barpizo, 33.

Police said they drove in an embassy automobile into the military area on the east side of the capital well after midnight. The sentry ordered them to stop three times. Then he fired a burst from an automatic gun.

Anikine was shot in the abdomen. Barbizo suffered multiple wounds on his face, neck and right arm and was reported in serious condition.

A stocky Russian embassy official stood guard in the corridor to their ward at the hospital. He refused to let reporters speak to the injured men and declined to answer questions himself.

Burmese foreign officials said no official word had been received yet from the Russians. The Burmese authorities were unable to give further details.

At the Russian embassy, Second Secretary Nicolai Statskevih answered all inquiries with, "no comment."

CLOTH ALREADY WOVEN

Gown Of Century Is Being Prepared For Coronation

By The Associated Press

LONDON — The garment which is being called the gown of the century — the coronation robe of Queen Elizabeth II — is coming along nicely.

The fabric has been woven, and persons who have been permitted to touch a corner of the 22 yards of incredible light, purple silk velvet material say it seems to be alive, subtly responsive to the finger which caresses it.

Actually there are 44 yards of material, 21 inches wide, for this is a robe with an understudy. Should any disaster befall a master robe, in the cutting embroidery, or fitting, there will be a robe No. 2 for the queen on the momentous day, next June 2.

The weaving alone required more than three months, and chiefly, responsible, were two middleaged women with fantastically skillful fingers and sharp eyes. In charge were Mrs. Lily Lee, who wove the coronation robe of the present queen mother in 1936, and Miss Helen Calver. The work was done at the Warner Silk Mills at Braintree on looms which, basically, are simple frames to hold delicate threads. Precision machines play little part in making a coronation robe. It's a handmade job. Even the worms which made the silk on a mulberry bush in Kenia were specially selected.

To each square inch of the coronation velvet there are 16,000 upstanding ends of pile, every one of them cut by hand. The idea was, of course, to have these ends of pile the same length so that the finished fabric might have a face of utmost evenness. Once in full swing of production the weavers turned out coronation velvet at the rate of half a yard a day, and every day the pain-staking process meant hundreds of little snips with the daintiest scissors.

Now getting under way at the Royal School of Needlework in London is the equally exacting task with gold embroidery, and another set of skillful women will be at it for at least three months. The design will be something traditional, a selection of emblems associated with British royalty.

And when it's all finished the queen, in all probability, will wear the purple robe only once. Moreover, it will be one of three robes she will wear on coronation day.

If precedent is followed the queen will keep the purple robe for a short time, to admire after excitements of the coronation. Then, it is presumed, the robe will go to the London museum, there to be exhibited with the coronation robes of the queen's parents and grandparents.

In recent times coronation robes have been cherished by the nation, although some that figured glamorously in earlier coronations came to inglorious ends. Most of the coronation vestments of King George I were sold at auction in 1831, fetching 55 pounds, which in those days would have been about $275. George I was an unpopular king disliked by his brother and successor, William IV.

There are records that earlier kings gave coronation robes to actors in need of costumes. Nothing like that conceivable could happen to this year's coronation robe.

When the queen emerges from Buckingham palace to drive to the ceremony at Westminister Abbey she will be wearing the crimson parliamentary robe. It will be a smart, new one, but a duplicate of the attire she wears when she opens parliament. The crimson robe will be retained for the first phase of the coronation ceremony, the recognition, which is a formal presentation of the queen to her people by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Then the queen will retire to remove the crimson robe, beneath which will be a low-necked white gown. The neck line will be low enough so the archbishop, with the queen under a canopy, may perform without difficulty the mystic ceremony of anointing — a touching with oil on the breast, arms and forehead.

Next the queen will slip into the second robe of the day, the golden Supertunica. In this glittering garment she will be seen only by the spectators in the Abbey, and while wearing it she will receive the crown of St. Edward from the archbishop.

Then, finally, she will change into the gown of the century, the purple and gold robe which is being made with such painstaking care.

Hitchcock Has Formula For Movie Success

By The Associated Press

The most delicate-looking girls, who scream at the approach of a mouse and faint at sight of blood, have a mania for murder—on the screen.

Practically everybody loves murder, says Alfred Hitchcock, the celebrated director and master of suspense.

The Falstaffian Hitchcock settled his bulk comfortably in an easy chair in his New York hotel suite and explained:

"The one subject of most fascination to the general public appears to be murder. Reading a detective thriller or seeing the more gruesome aspects of crime on the stage or screen gives them the same satisfaction as riding on a roller coaster. They feel so good when it is all over.

"It's the same psychology that makes people run across the street in front of speeding cars, and invariably start giggling when they reach the opposite curb in safety."

Hitchcock has just completed work on his latest thriller, "I Confess," a shocker in which a priest is accused of murder, and refuses to clear himself, although one of his parishioners has confessed to him that he committed the murder, wearing a priest's cassock as a disguise. The sanctity of the confessional is more important to the priest than saving his own life.

Most of the picture was filmed in Quebec, using real courtroom backgrounds and several real-life characters from the vicinity.

Hitchcock has built a fabulously successful career on his theory that there is a strong streak of the macabre in the gentlest of human beings. He says:

"It's the reason people are fascinated by sensational trials and by newspaper pictures of men in handcuffs. They get a vicarious thrill out of such things. Always there's that little smug feeling 'It isn't happening to me.' "

Joan Crawford Says Monroe Has Gone Too Far With Sex

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford today aimed this curt message at Marilyn Monroe: Stop believing your publicity.

The curvaceous blonde has been the subject of a hot controversy during the past fortnight. Women's clubs have protested about the nature of her publicity and the advertising photos for her pictures. When I addressed the Women's Club of Hollywood a week ago, the members were eager to know what the producers were doing to curb Miss Monroe.

Adding fuel to the fire were reports that her latest picture, the first with which she could demonstrate her box-office pull, was doing disappointing business. Then there was her much-publicized appearance at the Photoplay awards dinner.

Miss Monroe showed up in a zipperless metallic gown into which she had to be sewn. When she stepped up to get her award as the outstanding new personality on the screen, she put on a hip-swinging display that brought the house down.

"It was like a burlesque show," said the horrified Miss Crawford, who was present at the affair. "The audience yelled and shouted, and Jerry Lewis got up on the table and whistled. But those of us in the industry just shuddered.

"Certainly her picture isn't doing business, and I'll tell you why. Sex plays a tremendously important part in every person's life. People are interested with it, intrigued with it. But they don't like to see it flaunted in their faces.

"Kids don't like her. Sex plays a growingly important part in their lives, too, and they don't like to see it exploited.

"And don't forget the women. They're the ones who pick out the movie entertainment for the family. They won't pick anything that won't be suitable for their husbands and children."

The durable Miss Crawford, who has lasted longer than any film star in history, said the Monroe buildup was clever and well planned. It was the work of master exploiters, she remarked, but it got out of hand.

"The publicity has gone too far," she said. "And apparently Miss Monroe is making the mistake of believing her publicity. Someone should make her see the light. She should be told that the public likes provocative feminine personalities; but it also likes to know that underneath it all the actresses are ladies."

Discussing other glamor buildups, she remarked that Jane Russell had managed herself well. "Howard Hughes tried to make her out a sexy dish at first," she said, "but Jane managed to keep her feet on the ground."

Then there was Jean Harlow, who was first painted as a platinum blonde vamp. When that novelty wore off, she turned redhead and became a successful commedienne. Apparently, 20th Fox has the same thing in mind for Monroe. Although she wants to be a dramatic actress, the studio is grooming her for comedies like "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Miss Crawford, who is up for her second Oscar with "Sudden Fear," added: "I think she'd better become a comedienne—or some thing."

I think Miss Monroe also believes it's time for a change. Her performance at last week's Redbook dinner was far different from the Photoplay event. Again chosen as the outstanding young personality, she showed up in a conservative (for her) black cocktail dress.

When Martin and Lewis urged her to come up to the microphone, she declined until three of her advisers urged her to do so. Then she walked quietly up and expressed her thanks in a small, frightened voice.

Can mascara stains be removed at home from non-washable fabric? E. R.

Sponge the stain with cleaning fluid or use cleaning powder. Then make a solution of 1 cupful of denatured alcohol and 2 cups of water. Test the solution on a hidden section of the garment to be sure it will not affect the color. Sponge the stains with the solution, then cool water.

• • •

Could you give me a recipe for Hollandaise Sauce? M.

Use the following ingredients: ½ cup butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons hot water, 2-3 teaspoon prepared mustard, salt and pepper to taste.

Put half the butter in upper part of double boiler. Add egg yolks and lemon juice. Place over hot water (not boiling) and stir constantly until the butter is melted. Add the remaining butter and continue stirring, preferable with a wire whisk, until this butter is also melted. Add the hot water and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat and season with salt, pepper and mustard.

Tony Baker Priest

Woman Who Holds U.S. Moneybags

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Shortly the paper in your billfold will be signed "Ivy Baker Priest." She is the new treasurer of the United States.

A slim, five - foot - five, with serious brown eyes and a shy smile, she combs her greying hair simply and likes tailored clothes. She comes from Bountiful, Utah.

In her new job she must oversee all the funds that come into Washington and all the funds that go out. She will have a highly trained technical staff to help her.

Mrs. Priest holds one of the top jobs assigned to women by President Eisenhower. She started work for the Republican party when she was a mite of 10. She is now 47.

Her mother trained little Ivy to tend babies and run errands on voting days — for Republican voters of course. When Mrs. Priest was a freshman in the University of Utah her miner father took sick. She was the oldest of seven, so she left school to take a telephone operator's job and become the family bread - winner.

She held many jobs. She worked in stores. She modeled. She taught night school in American history and citizenship.

In 1935 she married Roy F. Priest, who is now a wholesale furniture dealer. They have two daughters, Pat and Nancy, 16 and 11, and a son, Young Roy, 10.

Somehow, all through the years, Mrs. Priest has found time to work with Republican committees. She has been president of the Utah Young Republicans and from 1936 to 1940 was Western regional director.

Her packed off - hours spread far beyond just political interests. She has worked with the Utah Safety Council, the Utah Women's Legislature Council, the Red Cross, the General Feleration of Women's Club.

She lead the movement to set up a minimum wage for Utah's working women.

YANKEES' BIG FOUR COMPLETE

With the signing of Vic Raschi and Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' big four pitchers were in uniform at the World Champions' spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Left to right, they are: Raschi, Allie Reynolds, Ford and Ed Lopat. Reynolds and Lopat agreed to terms earlier.

Still Few Holdouts As Teams Work Out In Spring Training

By RIP WATSON
Associated Press Staff

Some baseball teams you never heard of, the last of the winter crop of holdouts and the ever present pennant predictions were in the news today as the 16 major league baseball clubs got down to some serious spring training for the coming season.

With only a few days to test the unseasoned rookies and work on the veterans' waistlines, most of the managers put their players through strenuous drills yesterday. They are mindful of the fact the so-called Grapefruit League games get under way this Saturday.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cincinnati Reds wasted no time informing his players he wants them to "win 'em all."

"If the guys don't hustle to try and win the exhibition games down here, how can you expect them to do it when the regular season opens," the blunt-spoken manager commented.

And Charlie Grimm, another veteran manager, lined up what figures to be his Boston Braves' regular infield of Joe Adcock, Jack Dittmer, Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews for an infield drill.

The Sniders, Thomsons and Johnsons won the only "major league" games played yesterday.

You never heard of those teams? The Sniders are named for Duke, the Brooklyn outfielder who hit a home run to give his namesakes a 2-1 victory over the Roy Campanellas in an intracamp game. John Podres, Brooklyn's 1952 spring sensation, turned up again with a fine three-inning performance.

A two-run homer by catcher Sal Yvars provided the winning runs for the Bobby Thomsons, who edged the Whitey Lockmans, 7-6, in a New York Giants' intrasquad game.

Billy Johnson, St. Louis Cardinal third baseman, guided his team to a 4-1 victory over the Red Schoendienst.

An optimistic visitor to the Cardinal camp was former owner Fred Saigh, who made the trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., to say so long to his old players before turning the franchise over to the new owners.

"I will be greatly surprised if the Cardinals do not win the pennant easy," he commented. "Eddie Stanky was a good manager last year and he will be better this year."

Saigh will start serving a prison sentence in May for income tax irregularities.

Most prominent of the holdouts was Ralph Kiner, home run slugger of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who finds himself involved in a long distance argument with Branch Rickey, the club's general manager.

About the only thing that Kiner, at his Palm Springs, Calif., home, and Rickey, in the Pirates' Havana training camp, agree on is that Ralph surely is a holdout.

Kiner said he sent a letter accepting terms Rickey offered Feb. 13, but Rickey said he had not yet received the letter. The general manager also came up with a three-point program covering the situation:

1. He recognizes no agreement with Kiner.
2. There are no deals pending to trade Kiner.
3. New contract negotiations must start from the beginning.

Less vocal were the Cleveland Indians' holdouts, pitcher Early Wynn and outfielder Larry Doby. The Indians, in fact, haven't heard from the pair in some time.

Doom Seen For Mich. State

LANSING, Mich., (AP)—"Michigan State is doomed to be tossed out of the Big Ten within a year."

That flat prediction was published today by George S. Alderton, veteran sports editor of the Alansing State Journal and confidant MSC athletic officials.

Said Alderton:

"Those who recognize the bed rock reasons for Michigan State's year of probationary membership, which began last Monday, are about prepared for eventual suspension.

"That is, unless there is a chance of direction in a fast-moving tide.

"The conference will follow its handbook of rules in suspending Michigan State. Members will be ordered not to play Michigan State, and that will amount to dismissal. As matters stand now, that is the pattern for scuttling the Spartans."

The big ten slapped the one-year probation on Michigan State for allegedly permitting an outside group, the Spartan Foundation, to give MSC athletes financial assistance without channelling it through college sources.

Five Tied In Houston Open To Play Extra Day There Today

HOUSTON (AP)—Two former national champions and three young stars met here today in a rare five-way playoff to decide the winner of the largest first prize on golf's winter tour.

A thrill-packed half hour on the eighteenth green yesterday left five players tied at 283 for the $4,000 top prize in the $20,000 Houston Open. This was five under par for 72 holes on the 7150-yard Memorial Park course.

Cary Middlecoff, the magnificant scrambler from Memphis, added the final touches when he missed a 3-foot putt that would have given him the championship.

The other four already had shared the thrills witnessed by a gallery estimated at from 12,000 to 14,000.

Teeing off in this afternoon's fivesome with Middlecoff, the 1949 National Open champion, were Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, the 1947 PGA title holder, and three newcomers—Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y., Bill Nary, Los Angeles, and Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas.

The 1953 winter tour money winnings of the youngsters: Nary, $405; Stewart, $307.50; Mayfield, $215.

Today, in addition to the $4,000, the five were shooting for $2,200, $1,700, $1,200 and $1,100.

Middlecoff began the final 18 holes at 211, one stroke ahead of Nary and Mayfield, and two in front of Stewart and Ferrier.

Mayfield and Ferrier played subpar on the final front nine and were deadlocked at 246, one stroke ahead of Nary and Middlecoff, as the final nine began. Stewart trailed at 249.

With only the 378 yard, par 4 eighteenth hole remaining, Mayfield, Ferrier and Middlecoff were in a tie, one stroke ahead of Nary and two ahead of Stewart.

The Mayfield - Ferrier - Stewart threesome came first. Ferrier took three putts, the second from 3 feet out, and settled for a 5. Mayfield also took a 5 when he chopped to within 6 feet and then saw his first putt hang on the lip of the cup.

Stewart got a one-under 3 on a 6-foot putt.

Middlecoff then needed only a par. Nary applied pressure, however, by taking a 4 after his first putt was inches short.

The Memphis dentist had overshot on 2 and a 50 foot chip was straight but 3 feet short. The crowd roared when the downhill putt rolled to the right side of the cup and stopped.

Middlecoff finished at par 72, Nary and Mayfield at 71, and Ferrier and Stewart at 70.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia and Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y. received $950 each for a sixth place tie at 284. Jack Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., and Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J. won $750 in a tie at 286.

Rizzuto Signed Up At No Increase This Year

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla. (AP)—Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop of the New York Yankees, signed his 1953 contract today for a reported $40,000, the same amount he received last year when he helped the Bombers to their fourth straight pennant.

Seton Hall Dumped By Dayton 71-65

NEW YORK (AP)—Only one position remained open in each of the the major postseason basketball tournaments today but the big news was the Dayton Flyers, who'll not be in either one.

The Flyers, who went to the finals of the National Invitation Tournament and lost to Illinois in the first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tourney last year, toppled Seton Hall from the unbeaten ranks, 71-65, at Dayton last night.

Seton Hall, the nation's No. 1 ranked team and seeded first in the NIT, had racked up 27 victories before running into a Dayton five that had lost 13 of its 27 starts this season.

Meantime, the lineup for the NCAA championship test was far from settled even though only one team is needed to complete the 22-team bracket.

The statement may sound a little contradictory but this is the situation:

Fourteen of the 22 teams will be conference champions. Eight of the conference titles still are in doubt and at least one of them, the Southern, will not be decided until Saturday, when the annual tournament ends at Raleigh, N. C.

The other eight spots are filled by teams selected at large. There is only one of these positions open and that is expected to be filled by Santa Clara today.

The National Invitation Tournament, which opens in Madison Square Garden Saturday, plans to announce the final selection for the 12-team bracket and a pairings at a luncheon today. The odds were that No. 12 would be either Brigham Young or Wyoming, depending on which finishes second in the Skyline Conference. The winner is committed to compete in the NCAA.

The NCAA field was swelled by four over the week end. Indiana qualified by crushing Illinois, 91-79, and winning the Big Ten title. Miami of Ohio broke a possible deadlock with Toledo and Cincinnati by whipping Western Michigan, 74-63 to qualify as the Mid-American Conference representative.

And little Lebanon Valley from Annville, Pa., was named to represent the sprawling Middle Atlantic Conference. The Eastern bracket then was completed yesterday by the selection of Holy Cross (17-5) as the best of the New England schools.

The NIT filled two of its brackets by the selection of St. Louis and Georgetown. St. Louis' acceptance, however, was with the provisions the Billikens do not win the Missouri Valley title. They have only an outside chance against the Oklahoma Aggies. Georgetown moved into the tournament picture by beating NCAA-bound Fordham, 74-63, for a 13-6 record.

When the week-end maneuvering was complete the lineups for the two tournaments were:

NIT — Once-beaten Seton Hall, winner of 27 straight games until defeated by Dayton; La Salle, last year's winner and loser of only two games, both to De Paul; Western Kentucky; Manhattan; Duquesne; St. John's of Brooklyn; Niagara; Louisville; Tulsa; St. Louis; and Georgetown.

NCAA—Holy Cross, Lebanon Valley, Indiana, De Paul, Notre Dame, Eastern Kentucky, Navy, Seattle, Idaho State, Louisiana State, Fordham, Oklahoma City and Miami of Ohio.

Indians Work On Shortstop

By GAYLE TALBOT

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The most urgent and important job of coaching being done in any baseball camp this spring has been allotted to Tony Cuccinello of the Cleveland Indians staff. The American League pennant could well ride on the little coach's success or failure.

All Tony has been asked to do between now and the season's start is to teach Ray Boone how to play shortstop properly and in so doing provide the game's greatest pitching staff with the sort of support it needs to beat out the Yankees instead of finishing second.

Tony has thrown himself into the task with much energy and enthusiasm and believes he will succeed, though he concedes it is quite a challenge to teach some of the simplest fundamentals of fielding to an established big leaguer who is starting his fifth full season with the Indians.

"The strange thing is," he said, 'that it has taken this long to discover the reason the boy has been erratic on ground balls and has failed to improve in starting the double play. We would have won the pennant the past two years with just a little better shortstopping.

'What we know now is that Boone has a strange little habit of fluttering his hands just before a ground ball reaches him, and at the same time lifting his head a trifle. The result has been that too many balls either have gone under his glove or have been bobbled just enough for us to miss an important double play.

"My job is to make him get his hands right down on the ground and keep them there, and at the same time get his head down as low as he can, looking right at the ball. Even if the ball takes a bad hop, I'm telling him, it's better to get hit on top of the head than in the face.

'I never saw a player work harder. I'm knocking balls at him until I'm worn out, and then he's staying out there for an hour or two some days working on it with other players. I believe he's going to master it, and if he does our biggest problem is over."

Although George Strickland did a fine job of shortstopping for the Indians in their thrilling stretch drive after the Yanks last autumn, manager Al Lopez would like to see Boone come back and take over the post on a regular basis because he potentially is a far better hitter than Strickland. Three seasons ago he hit for a .301 average, but the past two years has been as dismal at the plate as in the field.

Mrs. Betty Anderson and daughter, Betty Jim, of New York have been guests of Mrs. Anderson's grandmother, Mrs. Betty Whatley of Fluvanna. They plan to join her mother, Mrs. W. J. Holzapfel and Colonel Holzapfel in Japan.

Kiner Says He Is Holding Out

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirates' home run king, acknowledges he's a 1953 holdout.

And a little simple arithmetic indicates he and general manager Branch Rickey are about $9,000 apart in their dickering for the slugger's services.

As his teammates reported yesterday for spring training at Havana, Cuba, Kiner said he had airmailed an offer to Rickey a week ago to join them.

It was an acceptance, Ralph said, of terms offered by Rickey in a conference at a Hollywood hotel Feb. 13.

The reported sum involved was $76,500—a cut from Kiner's reported $90,000 salary last year when his batting average slipped to .244.

Yesterday in Havana, Rickey said he hadn't received Kiner's letter of acceptance—and that new salary talks would have to start on the basis of a 25 per cent salary slash. That figures out to $67,500.

Kiner responded: "Under those terms I'm going to have to be a holdout."

He said he accepted the Feb. 13 "substantial" cut because Rickey allowed him to report two weeks late for training. This would enable him and his wife, tennis star Nancy Chaffee, to operate their gift shop here that much longer at the height of the tourist season in this desert resort.

"He made an offer to me which I accepted," Kiner said. "Now if he's going to back down and ask me to take a 25 per cent cut we're going to have a little trouble getting together."

A&M 58-48. Texas stayed in the running with a 77-65 decision over Baylor.

Southern Methodist made Arkansas' season dismal by lacing the Razorbacks 79-74 in their final game.

Gene Schwinger of Rice appears to have the season scoring championship sewed up. His 407 points is 45 better than Henry Ohlen of Texas Christian, the runner-up. The lead in scoring, however, is much in doubt. John Starkey of Baylor has 224 in first place but Schwinger has 223 and Ohlen 207.

City League Games Tonight

National Guard and Chuck Wagon, the two teams who took wins in the first games of the city cage league, will meet tonight in a rugged battle at 8:30 o'clock.

The two squads are evenly matched and may play a game that is close all the way.

Opening tonight's play at 7 o'clock will be C & S Sporting Goods and Wade Pipkin Motors, the loser of the first games.

National Guard, which downed C & S 66-47 last week, is led by Robert Minton and Charlie White, both top scorers.

Leading the Chuck Wagon five, which defeated Wade Pipkin Motors 66-46 last week, will be Ned Underwood, Joe Cargile, Jack Dillon, and Jack Medford.

C & S is paced by Bobby Shipley and Bill Boyd, while Paul Munden and Eddie Hight lead the Pipkin squad.

Tonight's games will be the second of six nights of play before the league teams go into a double-elimination tourney to decide the championship. Chuck Wagon is defending champion.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Chuck Wagon	1-0
National Guard	1-0
Wade Pipkin Motors	0-1
C & S Sporting Goods	0-1

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference, the Ivy League, two Eastern independents and one Pacific Northwest independent are represented on the 1953 Associated Press Collegiate All-America basketball team.

Named to the first team by a vote of 201 sportswirters and broadcasters were:

Walter Dukes, 6-11, star of Seton Hall's top ranked team.

Little Johnny O'Brien, 5-9, scoring sensation of Seattle University.

Bob "Hooks" Houbregs, 6-7, who led the University of Washington to the title in the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Tom Gola, 6-6, sophomore of La Salle's defending NIT champions termed by his coach, Ken Loeffler, "The most natural basketball player I've ever seen."

Ernie Beck, 6-4, whiz of the University of Pennsylvania who has kept the Red and Blue in the thick of the fight for the Ivy League championship.

Dukes, who displayed tremendous improvement on the court this season compared to a year ago, led in the voting by a big majority.

Three-way Tie In Conference

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference basketball campaign will be jammed into one night and there are several ways it can come out.

Rice, Texas and Texas Christian are locked in a tie for first place with 8-3 records and the final two games of the season tomorrow night will produce a deadlock for the championship or a clear-cut titlist.

Rice plays Southern Methodist at Dallas needing a victory to clinch at least a tie for the pennant. Texas and Texas Christian battle at Fort Worth and the winner will tie Rice for the championship if Rice beats SMU. But should Rice lose to SMU, the Texas-TCU victor would be champion.

It's one of the wildest campaigns of them all and of the three teams left in the fight for the title, only Rice was expected to be a contender before the season opened. Down in sixth place and likely to tie Texas A&M for the cellar is Southern Methodist. Arkansas is a bare fifth. Those teams had been expected to figure strongly in the championship.

Rice whipped Texas 61-56 last week to bring about the three-way jam at the top. Texas Christian nosed Arkansas 65-63 and Texas

Schoolboys In Playoffs This Week In Austin

By The Associated Press

Three defending state champions — Poly (Fort Worth), Bowie and Big Sandy—head a field of 24 teams moving to Austin this week for the Texas Interscholastic League basketball tournament.

Poly, which won the Class AAAA title last winter, is a top favorite to repeat. Bowie, which took the Class AA crown, is a very strong choice to do it again. Big Sandy occupies the same position in Class B. There are no defending champions in Class AAA and Class A.

Pairings for the five-way tournaments were made today in Austin. The big cage show opens Thursday and runs through Saturday.

Poly has Pampa, Austin and Austin (Houston) to contend with in the state tournament. Pampa, unbeaten in 25 games, looms as the toughest obstacle. But Austin has a 24-3 record and Austin (Houston) 26-5.

The field is wide open in Class AAA in which Vernon, Paris, South Park (Beaumont) and Edison (San Antonio) will contest for the title. South Park, with a 29-9 mark, boasts probably the top individual player. He is Jerry Nallett, who has scored 721 points this season. Edison, which won in a district that had Alamo Heights, the 1952 champion, has a 22-4 record.

Bowie is considered probably the No. 1 team in the state, all classes considered. Bowie, swinging along with 6-foot-9 Temple Tucker, has rolled to 32 straight victories and is the only team in the state to hold a decision over brilliant Polk. Dumas, San Marcos and Alvin are the other three teams in the Class AA tournament.

Denver City, White Oak, Troup and Deer Park, all newcomers to the tournament, make up the field in Class A.

Bachelor Bill By Burton Just Joke, He Jests

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. Mar. 2 (AP)—It started out as a gag and harried State Rep. Jim Bruton wants everyone to know he was just kidding.

Bruton introduced a bill in the Arkansas House to slap a $750 annual tax on bachelors in the state. The bill defined a bachelor as any male, 21 or over, who was single or not living with his spouse.

The 39-year-old freshman legislator, a happily married man with two sons, suddenly found himself besieged with a deluge of mail, telegrams, phone calls and harsh knocks on his hotel room door.

A group of unmarried Little Rock girls quickly formed the APASBBHAUW—short for the Association for the Prevention of Alarming and Stampeding Bachelors Beyond the Hopes of Arkansas' Unmarried Women—and in radio interviews and newspaper columns vigorously protested passage of the bill.

They were not alone. Constituents and fellow House members Newspaper editors wrote stinging editorials.

Some bachelors threatened to leave the state for positions elsewhere. This further worried the APASBBHAUM and others, not official members, who felt the same.

Letters and telegram from all over the United States reached Bruton's rapidly filling desk at the rate of 50 to 75 a day.

Hastily, Bruton declared the bill was "all a joke." As the furor mounted, he withdrew the measure and pleaded, "Let's drop the whole thing." He didn't even give the committee on the conservation of natural resources a chance to consider the bill.

A bachelor member of the House, who declined use of his name, confessed the whole thing was designed as a joke on him.

"They were all kidding me, back in the rear rows of the House, about some marriage bill we were considering and telling me how much harder it was going to be for me to persuade some girl to take me on for life.

"Then somebody thought up the bachelors' tax bill and the first thing I knew they were telling me how much it was going to cost me to stay single another year. After that things went so fast I didn't think any of us knew what was happening."

It is estimated that the average disposable personal income for each person in the United States in 1951 was $1,451, but that this income was only $782 in dollars of the 1935-39 value.

STAFF OF GORDON'S DRIVE - IN

Experience Behind Cafe Man Who Now Operates Gordon's

Snyder's largest drive-in restaurant, Gordon's Drive-In, on the Big Spring highway in South Snyder, is now owned and operated by a man who has had 20 years practical experience in the field of preparing and serving good foods.

He is F. C. Rhoads, who purchased the drive-in Jan. 1.

Before moving to their present address at 3200 Fortieth Street in Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads and their seven year old son, Jeff, lived in Big Spring where he owns the American Drive-In restaurant there.

Rhoads began his career as a restauranteur much more humbly than his present position in the field, however.

"I have done some of almost everything there is to do around a cafe from washing dishes to acting as chef," he said.

Rhoads' first restaurant experience was in Missouri, then he moved to Oklahoma, Kansas, and finally to Texas so that he has had a good opportunity to study the eating habits of persons all over this part of the nation.

"I have found that what everyone wants more than anything else when they go to a restaurant is just good plain food, served quickly because about 90 per cent of cafe customers are hungry when they get to the cafe, and they become impatient if the food is not served quickly," he said.

To serve quickly up to 50 customers on the inside and many more than that on the outside in cars is a problem which Rhoads has solved by hiring fast efficient persons all along the chain from the kitchen to the curb. During peak business hours he has six girl car hops waiting on outside customers, four waitresses on the inside, and six or seven persons in the kitchen preparing food.

Another problem for any eating establishment is purchasing good meats.

"We have solved that problem by purchasing our meats in small quantities each day rather than in large orders so that we can inspect the meats more closely before buying them, and so that we are always sure to have good fresh meat on hand," he said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads work at the drive-in. He manages it, and she keeps the books.

Apparently food preparing is something that runs in the Rhoads family because their son Jeff, seven years old, can already fry his own bacon and eggs for his breakfast.

2 Firms Here Checking Area

Two industrial concerns have shown interest in locating plants near Snyder during the past two weeks, according to Leon Huff, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Huff said that one firm, which builds concrete tile and other construction supplies, had representatives here from Chicago last week to investiagte the possibilities of placing a plant here.

The firm would use chiefly gravel and sand from Scurry County.

The other business, a brick-building firm, had representatives here to take clay samples in the county for chemical analysis. Its headquarters is in Holly Springs, Miss.

Huff said the Chamber's industrial committee, which is working with the two firms, will help the two to find locations if they decide to place plants here.

Guilty Plea Saturday

Gus Melton Bogan, 66, Snyder, pleaded guilty in county court Saturday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was assessed a fine of $75 plus court cost of $23.50.

Two Convicted Of Drunk Driving Are Released From Jail

Two men have been released from the county jail because of paying the balance due on fines assessed on drunken driving charges. Both were credited for jail time served in lieu of part of the amounts assessed.

Morris Lee Smith, 31, Merkel, assessed $100 plus court cost of $23.50, was released after payment of $18.50 after serving 35 days in jail and receiving credit for $105 of the assessment at the rate of $3 for each day in jail.

Jessie Clarence Leverton, 56, of Dallas, paid $36 and was given credit for $87 for 29 days in jail. His fine was also $123.50, including court cost.

SACROC Men To Be Here On Wednesday

Members of the Chamber of Commerce executive committee will hold a luncheon meeting at the Village Wednesday with John F. Conley of Magnolia Petroleum Corp., chairman of the segment operators committee of the Scurry Area Canyon Reef Operators Committee.

Herbert Feather, chamber president, said the chamber will offer its assistance to the unit groups in their establishing offices in Snyder to operate the units in the Kelley - Snyder and Diamond M fields.

More Than 2,000 Cars And Trucks Registered

Motor vehicles registered with 1953 license plates since Feb. 1 totaled 2,090 by noon today, according to the tax assessor-collector's office. This is less than one-sixth the estimated number of vehicles to be registered here.

Passenger cars registered totaled 1,450, commercial trucks were 175, farm trucks were 225, and 100 other vehicles such as motorcycles, motor scooters, trailers, house trailers, etc., were registered.

Deadline for registering without penalty is March 31. The office received from the state 13,945 sets of plates for the estimated number of vehicles in the county.

Judgement In Suit Is Given

Judgment has been rendered in the civil district court oil land suit of H. R. Bright and others vs. J. S. Abercrombie and others, tried here in December.

When the trial was completed here before a jury in late December, the presiding judge, A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater, announced he would defer judicial determination until after another hearing Jan. 15 in Sweetwater without jury. The jury in the December hearing here decided some of the issues, but the judge said there were some issues involving questions of law that he would determine later.

Judge Mauzey ruled last Wednesday that both law and facts in the case favored the plaintiffs, Bright, Scurry County, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Glenn, and Charles Lockhart. Defendants were Abercrombie and several royalty owners. The suit concerned title to 6.87 acres of tract 21, section 40, Kirkland & Fields survey, near the underpass of the Lubbock highway approximately five miles north of there.

The court's decision was announced during the week end by Ross Hemphill of the firm of Park & Hemphill, attorneys for the Glenns. Also representing Glenns was Ralph Shank of Dallas.

Henry D. Aiken and Manson Harris, Dallas attorneys, represented the county. Defense attorneys were Stubbenman, McRae & Sealy of Midland, aided by the Snyder firm of Sentell, Rosser & Willbern in representing Abercrombie; W. J. Knight of Houston for the royalty owners; Mosse Hartman, Midland, for M. B. Estes; and Wayland Holt of Snyder for Guy Stoker and Henry J. Brice.

Permits Low For February

Building permits for February were only about one-sixth of what they were for the previous month, records of the city engineering department show.

Nine permits were issued for constructions to cost a total of $48,788 last month compared to 45 permits for $288,850 in January.

However permits for this year are $100,603 ahead of the same period for last year. Permits for January 1952 were $178,350 and for February 1952 were $58,685.

Permits last month were:

Roy E. Davis, residence, lot No. 1, Block No. 5, Noble Heights, $6,000.

J. W. Browning, residence, 1505 Avenue S, $1,000.

T. C. Goss, residence, 2908 Thirty-seventh Street, $20,000.

R. F. Howard, business building, 210 Twenty-eighth Street, $2,500.

A. G. McDowell, car port and breezeway, 2912 Avenue L, $800.

T. M. Blay, garage, 2606 Avenue G, $488.

Gerald Smith, residence, 3305 Avenue A, $6,000.

L. M. Richmon, residence, 2008 Avenue L, $2,000.

A. F. Weaver, residence, 3204 Hill Avenue, $10,000.

The Louisiana purchase during the administration of Thomas Jefferson as President of the United States almost doubled the area of the nation.

Compensation Case In Court

A jury was selected this morning in the civil district court compensation suit of C. B. Hightower vs. American General Insurance Co.

The plaintiff alleges he was injured on April 28, 1952 while employed by the W. O. Pelphrey Co. of Fort Worth, contractor on projects in Scurry County, and that he was covered by an insurance policy held by the Pelphrey firm.

The defense petition denies the plaintiff was employed by the Pelphrey firm "in the sense of being an employe," according to the defense attorney, Orville Smith of the Crenshaw, Dupree & Milam law firm of Lubbock. The defense denies the plaintiff was a Pelphrey employe but states that he was an independent contractor, fulfilling a contract let him under Pelphrey's projects.

The plaintiff, represented by [illegible] Boone and James Rosser of Snyder, is seeking compensation for total and permanent injury, the maximum allowed by law for such being $25 a week for 401 weeks.

Jurors are C. D. Burrow, Earl Donaldson, Floyd Chandler, Grady Moore, George Wright, Harold Kruse, Dee Myers, Olin Johnson, Carl Keller, Travis House, Charlie Jones, and Joe Eike.

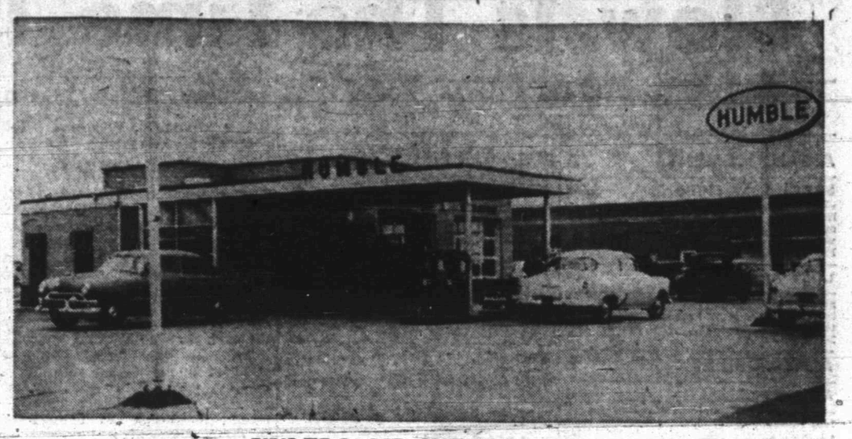

Israeli Red Is Found Dead

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Police searching the home of a former driver for the American Embassy reportedly turned up a Czech Communist party membership card and a number of incriminating papers.

Reliable informants said yesterday the search was made after the driver, Yoseph Kapetsky, 32, fell three stories to his death at his apartment house. He was under police investigation at the time. Earlier, he had been fired as a suspected spy by the American Embassy.

Kapetsky, a reserve officer in the Czech Army, reportedly had among his papers lists of Jews from Czechoslovakia who now live in Israel. He also had notes on Israeli left-wing labor leader Morderchai Oren, who was arrested more than a year ago on a trip to Prague.

Oren later appeared as a witness against former Czech Communist boss Rudolf Slansky and other top former officials in the recent mass purge trial in Czechoslovakia.

UNI-FLO OIL INTRODUCED

A new Humble product, Uni-Flo oil is being introduced at the Colley Humble Service Station, 2411 Twenty-fifth Street, above. Troy Colley, owner, says the new oil has already found many users here, because it is recommended for new and newly overhauled car engines. (Lee Watson photograph).

New Owner And New Product Is Added At Humble Station Here

Both a new owner of the Humble Service Station at 2411 Twenty-fifth Street, and a new Humble product are being introduced in Snyder.

The station's new owner is Troy Colley, who moved to his present location from another Humble Service Station at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue Q.

The new product is Humble Uni-Flo, a high detergent and high viscosity lubrication oil for new or newly overhauled car engines.

Manufactured in only one weight, labeled from five to 20 weight, the oil keeps carbon out of engines and is recommended to reduce wear of all engine parts as much as 40 per cent. Colley says the new oil also causes less wear on the car battery because it keeps the motor clean and easy to start.

"Uni-Flo was introduced at the Cotton Bowl football game Jan. 1, this year, and has already proved to be a big seller all over the nation. It is especially good for all cars which have hydraulically operated valves, because the oil keeps all the valve ports and mechanism absolutely clean so the valves operate freely," Colley said.

Colley employes seven persons at his station to give quick and complete service on a 24-hour basis.

Before noon Saturday the station had washed and greased 10 cars, which Colley said was not an unusual Saturday morning.

The station offers free pick up and delivery service on wash and grease jobs so that persons working down town or anywhere in Snyder may have their car completely serviced without losing time from their jobs. The station also offers road service for cars that are stalled or out of gasoline.

Colley's Humble Station is something of a jack of all trades in the automobile service line. They have a full line of Atlas tires, tubes, batteries, battery cables, oil filters, auto polishes, fan belts, replacement elements for sealed beam light, and almost any other small essential which may need replacing unexpectedly during hours when garages are closed, Colley stated.

About 60 per cent of the business handled at Colley's station is done on credit cards, which is a courtesy extended to customers of almost all major oil companies. Colley said his station honors 14 different courtesy cards.

To speed operation of servicing cars where courtesy cards are used, Colley has the newly introduced Humble - matic machine which stamps all vital information on the statement except amounts and the customer's signature, which can be quickly added.

Colley says the Humble-matic usually saves each courtesy card customer about five minutes which would otherwise be spent filling out the statement.

Small diamonds are sometimes found in meteorites.
