Murray Endorses Joint War Chest For Strike Battle

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— CIO President Philip Murray lined up in John L. Lewis' labor unity parade Saturday and proposed that they set up a war chest with the AFL to fight strike battles of all unionized labor.

This was the day's top development in the big steel and coal strikes. Murray's United Steelworkers spread their free pension strike to some steel fabricators and made ready to hit aluminum next. More than a million already are idle in the double-header strikes with no peace in sight.

Murray said his steelworkers and "I am sure other equally minded affiliates" of the CIO stand prepared to join Lewis' United Mine Workers and the AFL "to pool their resources for the common defense and general welfare of the labor movement."

But his prepared statement did not mention specifically Lewis' proposal 24 hours earlier that his UMW and the AFL contribute $250,000 a week to the Steelworkers in an "uncompromising fight of all American labor."

Green Keeps Silent

Murray said his proposed war chest should aid the miners also because the UMW is engaged "in a mighty struggle with powerful employers in the coal industry to protect the security of the miners and to gain benefits necessary to their continued well being."

There was no immediate comment from AFL President William Green. An aide said Green will make no statement before Monday.

Murray's counter-proposal caught

Soviet Army Might Cited By Bradley

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley Saturday pictured a big Russian army as able to double and almost triple its combat divisions within months, senators said, as he urged passage of the arms-for-Europe appropriation.

Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was reported by Senate Appropriations committeemen to have told them that:

Russia has 175 combat divisions ready;

She could put 300 divisions into combat within 60 days; and

The Soviet could step up its military power to 502 divisions in a few months.

Secret Testimony

Bradley testified in secret to the committee on the $1,314,010,000 foreign arms appropriation bill which the House passed Friday by a voice vote. A billion is for the opening phase of re-arming European members of the Atlantic Pact as a bulwark against Communist aggression.

The remainder will be used for arms elsewhere—including Turkey, Greece, Iran, Korea and the Philippines. The China area may be included at the President's discretion.

The Senate was expected to lose little time in approving the appropriation.

Contributions Continue For Wanda Nazworth

Contributions still are coming in for little Wanda Ruth Nazworth, who has cancer.

Friday two contributions were received. One was for $5 from the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club of Midland. Another was for $10 by check from M. Emmons of Mid-Land Torpedo Company. He lives in Midland and has offices in Odessa.

Saturday, Butler Hurley of The Spot here gave a check for $2 for the little girl.

The exact amount of all contributions given to her as reported to The Reporter-Telegram is $966.53. Several contributions were mailed or taken to her personally and were not reported to the newspaper.

Young Hitchhiker Comes Home By Air

By TANNER LAINE

Mary Donna Nelson, a 12-year-old hitchhiker who made it from Seminole, Texas, to Glendale, Calif., came home Saturday by air.

She and her father, Guy Nelson, Seminole barber, arrived by plane in Midland at 6:15 p.m. from Los Angeles. With them was Buster, a dog Mary Donna picked up in Arizona and which accompanied her on to California.

"I feel just fine," the pretty 12-year-old school girl said. Her daddy was doing most of the talking, however. Mary Donna told him she rode a bus only once enroute to California, that out of Phoenix, Ariz.

The girl had been missing since Monday. She was found Friday afternoon wandering on the streets of a California city, with Buster.

She had been the object of extensive searches in West Texas, even by airplanes.

A reward had been offered at Seminole for information leading to her whereabouts.

Concerned About Buster

Mary Donna's greatest concern when she alighted from the airliner was for Buster. She bounded from the plane's passenger compartment and headed to the front of the plane—to get Buster. He was handed down to her from the baggage compartment. She took his leash and walked toward the airport terminal. She was smiling.

"How many rides did it take you," a reporter asked.

"Oh, about four or five," Mary Donna answered.

"I wasn't scared," she said.

The father said she told him she was going to California to see her uncle. She didn't quite make it because he lives in Santa Cruz.

The Associated Press reported the Blaze Causes Heavy Damage To Terminal Building At Airport

A blaze originating in a cafe in the Terminal Building at Midland Air Terminal early Saturday caused an estimated $10,000 damage before Terminal firemen brought it under control. The building houses three airline offices, the Midland Air Terminal superintendent's office, a cafe and lounge.

Midland Fire Chief Jim Walker said the interior of the cafe and the fixtures were damaged heavily and there was some water damage in the offices. The fire was confined to the cafe, he said.

The blaze broke out about 1:20 a.m., and firemen battled it more than an hour.

Fire Marshall Bill Klatt said there was no insurance on fixtures in the cafe.

Temporary Repairs Ordered

Stanley M. Erskine, mayor pro tem, said the building was insured and that an adjuster will be on the ground Monday to check damages. Erskine also is chairman of the Aeronautics Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

He said the city took steps immediately Saturday morning, making temporary repairs to assure continuation of airline flights without interruption.

Mayor William B. Neely was out of the city Saturday.

The attractive terminal building was erected by the City of Midland and was dedicated at an open house ceremony last year. The cafe and airlines occupied space in the structure under lease arrangements with the city.

The air terminal is one of the best and most complete in the Southwest.

Erskine said work on repairing and refinishing the damaged portions of the building will be started as soon as possible.

Infamous Mistress Of Buchenwald To Face German Court

MUNICH, GERMANY—(AP)—The U. S. Army issued orders Saturday for secrecy in the release to German authorities Monday of Ilse Koch, infamous mistress of the Buchenwald Concentration Camp.

Winding up a four-year sentence for war crimes against Allied nationals, she will be turned over to the Germans for trial on charges of abusing and killing German nationals.

Mrs. Koch is held at the U. S. Army's Landsberg Prison west of Munich, where the transfer is to occur.

Brig. Gen. Clayton Pierce, commander of Augsburg Military Post, which has jurisdiction over the transfer, directed that reporters and photographers be prohibited.

The 42-year-old widow of the former commander of Buchenwald faces five major charges in a German court, including the deliberate slaying of 24 German Jewish prisoners in 1941.

Chinese Reds Take Over Canton, Reach Hong Kong Borders

HONG KONG —(AP)— The Chinese Communists took over Canton completely Saturday night and reached the border of the British Colony of Hong Kong.

The refugee Nationalist government set up shop in Chungking, 600 miles northwest, vowing to fight to the end.

Communications with Canton, the recent provisional capital, remained severed.

Private and Communist reports said occupation was completed at 9 p. m.

Communist units occupied several points on Hong Kong's 14-mile mainland border. In the Village of Shataokok, on the border, the Reds took the Chinese half while the British continued to occupy the colony's half.

More than 30,000 British troops are on guard in a broad security belt inside the frontier. They are backed by tanks, artillery and naval and air cover.

Student Plunges To Death

AUSTIN —(AP)— Nineteen-year-old Edward Graydon Grounds of Dallas, sophomore University of Texas student, fell to his death from the observation level of the Administration Building's 27-story tower Saturday.

Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee said he probably would not return an inquest verdict until Monday.

"No one saw him fall, and no note was found," Blakeslee reported.

The fall was the second since the 307-foot tower's completion in 1936. The body landed on a fourth-story ledge outside the Latin American Collection Library.

The other fall was recorded June 11, 1945, when English Professor Alton Parker Thomason jumped from the twenty-fourth floor and fell in an inside courtyard.

Grounds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Grounds of Dallas.

Records in the university registrar's office showed Grounds was an arts and science student. He worked on the sports staff of the Daily Texan, student newspaper, last year. He reportedly had planned to major in journalism but switched to psychology.

West Texas Promised Perfect Fall Weather

By The Associated Press

Another day of perfect Fall weather was in the book for most of Texas Sunday.

Slightly higher temperatures were predicted for all of West Texas and the north and central portions of East Texas. Possible rain showers were sighted along the upper coast.

Saturday temperatures ranged mostly in the 70's with some South and Central Texas points reporting 80's. Brownsville and Laredo had 83's, Corpus Christi 82 and Austin 80. Early in the morning Dalhart had a low of 36 degrees and Lubbock had 39.

Mid-morning rain showers fell in the Houston and Beaumont areas.

Lucky Hawkins Assaults Cafe Cook, Escapes

DALHART—(AP)—Leonard (Lucky) Hawkins, sought on murder charges, made a brief appearance here Saturday and then fled on foot.

Hundreds of Texas Panhandle officers immediately pressed a search. Residents were warned not to leave cars unlocked and not to pick up hitchhikers.

Road blocks were set up.

The 34-year-old Hawkins hit Cafe Cook Jack Woodruff, 59, over the head with a pistol early Saturday, then fled.

Juanita Groves, 19, Dalhart girl who gave officers valuable clues in their investigation of the slaying of Alfred Clark, 23, of Boise City, Okla., said she was sitting in the cafe eating breakfast when Hawkins appeared in the doorway.

The girl said Hawkins held a pistol in his hand. She ran screaming to the rear of the cafe with Hawkins in pursuit. In the kitchen Hawkins tangled wtih Woodruff. Their scuffle let Miss Groves escape to protective custody of officers.

Authorities expressed belief Hawkins may have been seeking revenge against the girl for helping establish that Hawkins had returned to the Panhandle.

Car Identified

Clark was found shot to death and robbed Wednesday near Jerseyville, Ill. Officers said he was lured from his Clayton, N.M., job by a man who offered to split a set of World Series tickets with him. They left Clayton October 3 in Clark's car—the same car found outside the Dalhart cafe Saturday.

Last Friday Miss Groves said she and her date were accosted near here by a man driving a car which she identified as Clark's.

Sheriff J. A. McMurry and Highway Patrolman R. C. Johnson said Hawkins was wearing a blue, checked shirt and blue jeans when he appeared here Saturday. Hawkins stands about five feet, eight inches tall, and has brown curly hair streaked with gray.

A first degree murder warrant was sworn out last week against Hawkins.

Farm Bill Huddle Ends In Deadlock

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A Senate - House conference committee Saturday reversed a decision reached a few hours earlier to support basic farm crops at 90 per cent of parity whenever maximum planting and marketing controls are in effect.

The blowup came at a closed meeting late in the day. It threatened a new deadlock over the farm bill that might imperil adjournment plans for next week.

Both senators and representatives said the only agreement they now have is to meet again Monday morning and start a new attempt to patch up a farm price support measure.

Lucas, Anderson Switch

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee and his House colleagues, who earlier had forecast a final compromise at Saturday afternoon's session, said when they left:

"We may not be able to reach any agreement at all now."

Other conferees said a switch by Senate Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill) and Senator Anderson (D-NM) scuttled the compromise. Both had voted earlier in the day for support payments at 90 per cent of parity when maximum controls were applied.

Senator Ellender (D-La), one of the conferees, said there still was a chance for later agreement. But as of Saturday night, the senators and representatives weren't together on anything.

The scrapped agreement, reported back by a 11 to 3 vote, would have ordered supports at 90 per cent of parity for cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts whenever farmers submitted to the maximum cuts the law provides in planting, and also approved marketing quotas.

Terrell Man Shot To Death In Street; Assailant Charged

TERRELL —(AP)— A volley of shots killed Donald Williamson of Terrell Saturday as he stepped from a basement barber shop in the city's business section.

Oscar Truett Wilson, 29, who lives on his father's farm near Terrell, surrendered immediately to Constable A. A. Elliott. Williamson was a telephone company employe.

County Attorney Robert K. Ramsey lodged a formal charge of murder against Wilson. He said Wilson told him in a signed statement that the shooting "was due to some old trouble."

Jerome Wilson, father of the accused man, told the Terrell Tribune that Oscar Truett Wilson was released from the Waco Veterans hospital in August, 1947, after undergoing treatment for a mental condition.

New City Manager Slated To Assume Duties Here Monday

W. H. (Bill) Oswalt of Jacksonville, Texas, is expected to take over his new duties Monday as Midland's city manager, replacing H. A. Thomason whose resignation was effective October 1.

The new city manager was employed by the City Council at a meeting September 26. He attended the session and has visited Midland on one occasion since that time to meet with heads of city departments.

Oswalt's resignation as city manager of Jacksonville was effective Saturday and he is expected to arrive here this weekend. He is married and has one youngster.

He is a former assistant to the city manager of Dallas and has been in Jacksonville since June 1, 1947. His record there has been outstanding. Oswalt, according to Mayor William B. Neely, did not apply for the Midland position, but was selected by the council after a canvass of available city managers in Texas. He will be Midland's third city manager.

Registered Engineer

A registered professional engineer, Oswalt is a graduate of Texas A&M College and studied law at Southern Methodist University.

He served with the U. S. Army Engineers from 1942 to 1946, several years being spent overseas. He received wide experience in city administration and public works while serving as a commander of a Military Government detachment performing civil affairs and military government operations through France and Germany.

He is a member of the Baptist Church and also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and American Legion at Jacksonville. He is a Mason.

Paving, drainage, city hall remodeling, city finances, zoning and planning are among the major items awaiting the attention of the new city manager on his first day in office here.

Hungary Executes Rajk, Two Friends For Pro-Tito Plots

BUDAPEST —(AP)— Laszlo Rajk, once one of Hungary's top Communists, was hanged Saturday for treason—the fate he begged at his trial.

Rajk, who swept out Hungary's middle class Smallholders Party for the Communist revolution in 1947, had confessed to leading a Balkan-wide Yugoslav plot to assassinate the biggest Hungarian Communists and make himself premier.

Executed with him were two associates, Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, former director of the Hungarian Communist Party's cadre section, and Szoenyi's deputy, 32-year-old Andras Szalai.

The executions were carried out the day after the Council of People's Courts rejected appeals for clemency.

Two of the defendants in the Rajk trial, Lt. Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, former chief of the Hungarian army, and Bela Korondy, a former army major, are yet to hear their fate.

All the defendants were charged with treason, espionage for America, British and Yugoslav intelligence agents, and plotting to turn Hungary into a vassal state of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Communists Pledge Fight To Finish For Convicted Leaders

NEW YORK —(AP)— American Communists, their top leaders in jail and their party's future uncertain, sought grimly to rally Saturday from the most crushing blow in their 30-year history.

Despite new pressures shaping up against them in Washington, it looked as though they could patch together a "business as usual" operation for months if not years to come.

National Chairman William Z. Foster said the Communist Party "will carry the fight to the higher courts, to the broad masses of the people."

Foster meant a fight to upset Friday's conviction of 11 of his national board colleagues on charges of conspiring to teach overthrow of the U. S. government.

Delaying Actions

The verdict can be appealed to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and then to the Supreme Court.

These appeals, along with other delaying actions that could be taken from time to time, might easily last a year or more.

During that time the 11 convicted men, top figures in the party's "American Politburo," presumably would be free in bail—to carry on, if they chose, the same kind of activity that left them temporarily behind bars Saturday.

The 11 are locked up in the Federal House of Detention, awaiting sentence next Friday.

Navy Schedules Arctic Maneuvers

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Navy officials said Saturday the Second Task Fleet will go out on maneuvers in the North Atlantic next month.

The purpose of the operation will be to test cold weather equipment on planes, carriers and fighting ships and work out tactics for Arctic conditions.

Special emphasis is put on anti-Submarine operations. For this purpose, new type snorkel submarines usually are assigned to the attacking force to work against the anti-submarine detection and combat equipment ships of the task fleet.

Reds Refuse To Aid Search For Missing U. S. Cargo Vessel

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Russia has turned down a U. S. request for aid in finding a cargo ship which apparently was seized last month in Communist-run North Korea with two American officials aboard.

A note to the State Department from Acting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the request was a matter for the North Korean government — which the United States has refused to recognize.

The ship, the Kimball R. Smith, was on loan to the South Korean Republic which is recognized by the U. S. and the United Nations. It left Pusan, South Korea, September 20 with a cargo of salt for another South Korean port.

Later a North Korean radio station reported it had arrived at Chinnampo in North Korea.

The Americans aboard were Alfred T. Meschter, 27, Kinderhook, N. Y., and Albert Willis, Brooklyn, N. Y., officials of the Economic Cooperation Administration. They carried diplomatic passports.

More and more movies are being filmed on location to save the expense of studio sets.

Ninety per cent of Bogart's "In a Lonely Place" will be filmed in and around Hollywood and Los Angeles. A Malibu beach home figures in the plot. The company rented a Malibu cottage and Bogie and Lauren will make it do double duty by living in it while the film is in production.

It's all reminiscent of the screen's early days and the famous crack:

"A tree is a tree, a rock is a rock, shoot it in Griffith Park."

'Lake Erie' Sprang A Leak

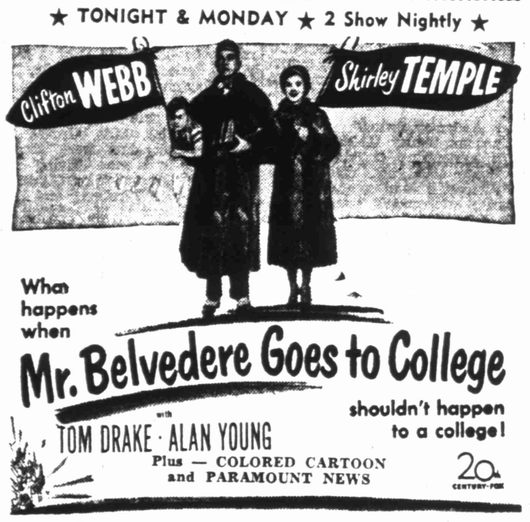

Senators got a jolt when the water from a huge painting of the Battle of Lake Erie began to trickle out of the picture and flow in the general direction of the Potomac. Explanation: The Senate roof was flooded to prevent fires while renovation workmen used blow torches. The water leaked through on the painting, inflicting considerable damage. The sailor at left appears to be debating the problem as workmen examine the damage.

Mrs. FDR Counters Charges By Poland On Labor Practices

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, U. S. delegate to the United Nations, Saturday countered Polish charges that immigrant laborers in Texas and elsewhere in this country are discriminated against.

She said in the UN Social Committee that the United States would let the facts speak for themselves.

The Polish delegate, Henryk Altman, had cited payment and working conditions of Mexican labor in Texas as an example, describing in detail what he called particularly bad features.

Replies For Mexico

Doctor Pedro de Alba, answering for Mexico, said there are satisfactory bilateral agreements between the United States and Mexico which safeguard immigrant workers.

He asserted that practices of discrimination were diminishing rapidly.

In Texas, the Good Neighbor Commission helps solve problems of Mexican laborers and make life for the immigrant workers better.

As to the accusations on the conditions of Mexician labor in the U. S., Mrs. Roosevelt said that perhaps the Polish delegate could "cross this subject from his trouble box" in view of the Mexican statement.

Murray—

most labor authorities flatfooted. It generally was believed that the long-standing Lewis-Murray feud would prevent anything but disagreement on the CIO leaders' part.

With basic steel plants closed since October 1 in a fight over free insurance and pensions, Union President Philip Murray put the same price up to the fabricating plants that use the raw metal. Result: more walkouts.

Aluminum Next

The soft coal industry slumbered into its fifth week of idleness with only the echoes of John L. Lewis' startling bid to aid the Steelworkers marring the crippling stillness.

Aluminum faced a stunning blow from Murray's Steelworkers. The union has slated Sunday midnight for a strike which would close nine Alcoa plants in nine states.

Strikes idled 480,000 basic steelworkers, 385,000 bituminous coal operators and at least 75,000 workers in closely allied industries.

The aluminum strike will add 16,000.

Fabricating industry sources say the strike may match the near 500,000 figure in basic steel.

At least 28 firms have signed new contracts which follow the pattern recommended by a presidential fact-finding board for the basic steel industry. They will escape the walkouts.

House Committee Split On Solution Of Navy-Air Row

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The violent Pentagon row over air war strategy divided the House Armed Services Committee Saturday night over the best way to deal with it.

Representative Van Zandt (R-Pa) predicted that the committee will back legislation to:

1. Reinstate the Navy's cancelled supercarrier.

2. Curb some of Secretary of Defense Johnson's powers over military purse strings.

A Naval Reserve officer, Van Zandt told a reporter he understands bills are being drafted.

Representative Norblad (R-Ore) said he is against legislation at this time. The carrier question, he said, is for the policy-making joint chiefs of staff to decide.

Former Big League Pitcher Jailed On Suspicion Of Murder

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A former major league ballplayer and another man were in jail Saturday on suspicion of clubbing a doctor to death and robbing him of $53.

In custody were Ralph R. Schwamb, 23, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns in 1948, and Ted Gardner, 27, unemployed carpenter of nearby Compton.

Detective Paul Phelps said Gardner has signed a confession in the fatal beating of Dr. Donald Buge, 44, Long Beach, Calif., physician, last Wednesday.

Gardner's wife, Joyce, said she accompanied the men, Phelps reported. Mrs. Gardner, 22, was released after questioning.

Gardner's confession said he and Schwamb met Dr. Buge in a burlesque house, adding that the physician asked for a ride, and they decided to rob him.

Gardner stated he stopped his car on a lonely roadway, and Schwamb began beating Dr. Buge, despite Mrs. Gardner's protests. Gardner said he joined in the slugging.

Dr. Buge's body was found later that night.

Schwamb, considered as a promising righthander, had a 1-1 record with the Browns in 1948. A club spokesman said he started the season with Little Rock, Ark., in the Southern Association.

Gun-Totin' Negro, 105, Just Wanted To Defend Himself

ABILENE —(AP)— Shucks, guntotin' never had seemed wrong to 105-year-old Wash Lytle.

He told the judge in city court he was just prepared to defend himself. The former slave, cowboy, trail driver, and old age pensioner aid he went downtown last Saturday "to watch the people" in the Blue Moon Cafe.

When he shook hands with a friend "kinda rough like" officers found his gun, an ancient .45. They told him to come down to city court this week.

"I have lived 105 years without having any trouble," the old negro said, "'ceptin' with the Indians."

Judge A. K. Doss likes a good story. He dismissed the charge and gave Wash a dollar.

AMA Protests At Investigation By Justice Department

CHICAGO —(AP)— The American Medical Association carried to Congress Saturday its counter-fight to a government anti-trust investigation.

In letters to each member of the Senate and House, the AMA protested what it called a campaign of political terrorism against opponents of compulsory health insurance. It asked for "protection from governmental abuses."

The AMA announced October 6 that the Department of Justice was investigating it and 15 state, county, or other affiliated medical societies for possible anti-trust violations. It termed the investigation a campaign to discredit American medicine.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath confirmed the investigation, saying there were complaints the AMA is trying to monopolize the field of voluntary prepaid health organizations.

girl was found in Los Angeles. But the father said it was Glendale. However, he told reporters, "I'm just about worried crazy over this."

The Associated Press reported she left Seminole Monday with $10 after a spat with her parents. The father did not confirm the spat. She last was seen Monday night when she went to bed. She was reportedly seen Thursday 11 miles west of Hobbs, N. M., hitchhiking with another young girl. She did not confirm this.

'Sometimes I Walked'

"Sometimes, I walked," she commented about the trip.

Mary Donna has a brother and a sister.

Airplanes from Lubbock searched for her last Wednesday.

"Her daddy is sure glad to find her," a Mr. Cox, who accompanied the father to California by plane Friday, said.

California officers notified Nelson the girl had been found Friday afternoon. He left Midland Friday night by plane for Los Angeles to get her.

Mary Donna and her father, Cox and yes, Buster, left by automobile from Midland Air Terminal for Seminole soon after the plane landed.

'It's A Long Way'

Mary Donna looks just like a bright, little girl, who could make it from Seminole, Texas, to California—alone. She looks just like any 12-year-old youngster and possesses twinkling bright eyes and a nice smile.

Perhaps that's how she got along so nicely.

But it's still a long way from Seminole to Los Angeles.

That's what the father said as we left them.

And we imagine daddy is going to have the last word.

Permian Basin Dentists Take Post-Graduate Course By Long-Distance Telephone

Dentists of Midland and other Permian Basin cities are participating in a post-graduate course of study, which is not news—but the new and unique method in which the dentists hear the lectures of nationally-prominent instructors is news—brand new news.

The Permian Basin dentists gather in Hotel Scharbauer here once a month to hear six speakers who at the same time are gathered in a room in a College of Dentistry building at the University of Illinois in Chicago. The present course will continue for six months.

It all happens by means of long-distance telephone and a leased wire direct from Chicago to Midland. A loud speaker is set up in the hotel's Crystal Ballroom and the dentists assembled here in Midland get the words right from their instructors' mouths. It is just that simple.

And at the same time, hundreds of other dentists throughout the nation are hearing the very same lectures in other central gathering points.

Society Sponsored

The gatherings here are sponsored by the Permian Basin Dental Society, with Dr. Leo C. Zee of Midland in charge of local arrangements.

The telephone discussions on Current Advances in Dentistry are presented by the Division of Post-Graduate Studies of the College of Dentistry, University of Illinois. The class-by-telephone plan has been in the experimental stage since 1947, and the nation-wide program was started last week.

The area dentists gathering here last week heard a round table discussion from Chicago on "Recent Developments in the Control of Dental Decay." Speakers were Dr. Robert G. Kesel, University of Illinois; Dr. Basil G. Bibby, University of Rochester; Dr. Leonard S. Fosdick, Northwestern University; Dr. Philip Jay, University of Michigan; Dr. John William Knutson, U. S. Public Health Service; and Dr. Harold B. Younger, Baylor University.

"Pain In Dentistry" will be the subject of next month's lectures.

Dentists Listed

Dentists enrolled for the course here include Drs. A. P. Shirey, K. T. Campbell, L. B. Pemberton, Zee, George E. Ulvestad, Jr., V. P. Neissl, R. L. Spencer and J. E. Gaines, all of Midland; Drs. D. G. Collins, R. O. Sandstrom, E. T. Blair, R. S. Rich, J. T. McKissick, C. W. McCollum, J. A. Beal, B. B. Strahan, J. T. Clark, B. G. Craig, Jack R. McMahon, all of Odessa; Drs. Peter G. Casten and C. T. McCarthy, Monahans.

Oil Progress Week

A snappy salute is extended to the far-flung petroleum industry and to all persons connected with that industry during the observance of Oil Progress Week, which opens Sunday and continues through next Saturday.

Oil Progress Week is a most important occasion to the nation, but particularly it is of immense interest and importance to Texas, the Permian Basin Empire and to Midland.

Few if any other industries have meant to our city, state and nation what the oil business has in rapid yet sound development during recent years. It has been remarkable and every citizen shares in the many and varied benefits which have come about as a result of petroleum industry developments.

"Petroleum Is Progress" surely is a phrase which rings loud and true, as does the statement, "Where there's progress there is petroleum."

Residents of Midland and of the Permian Basin Empire realize as much or more than citizens of other sections just what petroleum can and may mean in growth and development along all lines. Every West Texan has benefitted in one way or another as a result of oil progress and certainly these residents may be considered as being in the oil business.

Petroleum is the largest single contributor to the economy of our city, section and state, and to the support of our public institutions and government. The oil industry in turn deserves all the support we West Texans can give it.

Gov. Allan Shivers, in an official memorandum, said the progress of Texas has been in direct proportion to the development of the petroleum resources of Texas, the state's petroleum industry being an outgrowth of the search for oil which began 90 years ago. His statement to the effect that those 90 years have been the greatest in the progress of the United States surely is without question.

The governor designated the week of October 16-22 as "Texas Oil Progress Week" and directed the attention of citizens to a "study of the contribution and service the oil men who live among us make to our public, social, business and private life."

It is hoped that Texans will follow through on the governor's directive—giving some thought to the oil industry and to the problems which confront it on every hand. Then citizens not directly engaged in the oil business will be in better positions to be of assistance to the number one industry of the city and section when and if the occasion arises.

The petroleum industry has and is doing a remarkable job in many and varied ways and deserves congratulations and commendations during Oil Progress Week and other weeks of the year.

Drew Pearson says: Senators Taft and Pepper berate VA for discrimination against schools and veterans; Russell Long unlike his father, Huey, in many ways but has considerable ability and courage—"A liberal in Louisiana is just a moderate in Washington," he says.

WASHINGTON — There was a terrific protest from ex-GI's when the Veterans Administration tried to restrict the right of veterans to change their study courses under the GI Bill of Rights. But their protest was mild compared to the senatorial tongue-lashing given the VA behind the scenes.

Senators Taft of Ohio and Pepper of Florida—one a Republican, the other a Democrat—who usually lash each other, this time lashed out at the Veterans Administration.

Earlier, Taft and Pepper had rebuked the VA for trying to sneak through Congress a provision giving it life-or-death power over private schools. Eventually, the VA did get authority to stop tuition to "avocational or recreational" schools—but on the strict pledge it would not misuse its authority. Whereupon it promptly branded all private schools organized after June, 1944, as "avocational or recreational." Simultaneously veterans were required to "justify" any change in courses. In both cases, the burden of proof was up to the veterans.

When news of this ruling leaked out, VA officials were called on the carpet by the Senate Labor Committee, the doors were closed, and Taft and Pepper proceeded to take off the gloves.

Angrily, Taft accused the Veterans Administration of "plain arrogance."

"The Veterans Administration has set itself up as a censor over what kind of education a man ought to have," he stormed.

Then the Senator from Ohio brought up examples of schools and veterans which had been discriminated against, and charged that VA officials had violated their word.

"I have lost my faith in the Veterans Administration," Taft said. "You promised to use restraint in exercising the authority we gave you. The Veterans Administration's promises no longer mean anything to me."

"The laws are supposed to be written by Congress, but you are trying to rewrite them," added the senator from Ohio.

Senator Pepper's Acid

Speaking for the VA, Assistant Administrator H. V. Stirling came back with a tirade against private schools. But Taft cut him short.

"You people have a blind spot," he said. "You want to wreck 100 per cent of the private schools in order to catch the 2 per cent that are guilty of abuses."

Pepper supported Taft with the same biting language. When Assistant Administrator Stirling tried to smooth it over with some soft soap, Pepper purred: "Mr. Stirling, you coo like a dove but bite like an eagle."

The only senator who started to stick up for the Veterans Administration—Humphrey of Minnesota—changed his tune when he read the VA regulation.

"There is only one thing wrong with this regulation," he exploded. "There just isn't any damn common sense behind it."

Note—VA officials came back later, meekly changed their regulation.

Kingfish Jr.

When the 81st Congress convened 10 months ago, the chief spotlight played on the new senator from Louisiana, son of the most filibustering, rip-snorting, controversial man ever to sit in the Senate—Huey Long.

Everyone expected Russell Long, just 30 years old, to be a chip off the old block and to set the Senate on fire. Ten months have passed, and it is now possible to give a fair appraisal of the Kingfish Jr.

Whereas Huey was a one-man tornado who believed in the political doctrine of an eye-for-an-eye, Russell Long is a gentle breeze who prefers to turn the other cheek. This does not mean he lacks courage. He has plenty, together with considerable ability.

Nor does it mean that Russell is ashamed of his father. He is devoted to his father's memory and his father's crusade, believes fiercely that his dad wanted only to help the little people—though he sometimes trampled on individual rights to do so.

But the Kingfish's zealous heir was taken aback when he reached Washington.

"Why," he told this columnist, "it seems that a man who is a liberal in Louisiana is just a moderate here in Washington. I was regarded as a wild liberal down in Louisiana, but here I am just barely over the line."

"I'm Not Huey"

Senator Long fought for public housing, aid to education and a liberal labor law. He sided with the South on civil rights, but limited his "filibuster" to 57 minutes. He also has taken up the cause of the aged, the disabled and the needy, whom he feels have been neglected to the powerful pressure groups. Another of young Long's pet projects is school lunches for all school children. In Louisiana, he says, this brings more youngsters to school and gives them a healthier diet.

The baby of the Senate is sensitive about his youth and winces inwardly over the habit of Florida's Senator Holland of calling him "young boy." The grandfather of the Senate, Tennessee's aged Kenneth McKellar, also likes to boast that he was in Congress two years before Russell was born.

Just down the hall from Russell Long's seat in the Senate, the statue of his father, cast in bronze, stands in the hall of fame. Son Russell has the same broad, upturned nose; the same unruly, curly locks; the same chunky build. Those, who remember the Kingfish, also see in Russell the same mannerisms and detect the same soft, casual drawl.

But young Long is not trying to imitate his father.

"I'm not Huey Long, I'm Russell Long," says the senator from Louisiana.

Note: Politically speaking, Russell Long couldn't have campaigned for the Senate at a worse time. As executive counsel for his uncle, Gov. Earl Long, Russell had just helped double the sales tax to raise money for old-age pensions; boosted the beer tax to pay for a veterans' bonus; raised the gasoline tax to finance a new road program; and increased the cigarette tax to pay for a school-lunch program. The public had felt the tax drain, but had not seen the benefits of the new taxes. Yet Russell won just the same.

Merry-Go-Round

Southern coal operators hardly can believe it, but John L. Lewis actually admitted last week that he may have made some mistakes in administering the miners' welfare fund. "Just give us a chance and we'll show you that we can operate the fund efficiently," the mine boss pleaded . . . The heads of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans' groups—many of them hostile in the past—will bury the hatchet publicly at the Notre Dame-North Carolina football game November 12. The idea was inspired by live-wire Clyde Lewis, new commander of the VFW . . . Biggest mystery in Russia is what's become of Molotov. If Molotov has been purged, it's a bigger story than Russia's A-bomb, for it means that Stalin can't trust anyone any more . . . GOP Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, an ex-Marine, has offered to defend Captain Crommelin, who faces a Navy court-martial for leaking confidential correspondence. GOP Senator Mundt of South Dakota, although not a lawyer, has agreed to assist as consultant.

14 Men Held On Charges Involving 10 Teen-Age Girls

BELVIDERE, ILL.—(AP)—Fourteen men, ranging in ages from 34 to 17, have been seized by police on rape and morals charges involving a group of teen-age girls.

State's Attorney Alexander J. Strom said the men are charged with rape, assault with intent to rape, or taking indecent liberties with a minor. Police described the men as farm and factory workers and said most of them came to this Northern Illinois community of 8,000 from Tennessee and Missouri.

Eight to 10 girls, from 15 to 13 years old, have been questioned by Strom and he said details which they gave him were "shocking, sordid and horrid."

The seizure of the men, Strom said, followed investigation by police and sheriff's officers of activities at an ice cream parlor between last July and October 12. The officers had seen the men picking up the girls at the parlor and taking them for rides in cars.

After arrest of the 14 men on Wednesday, five were held to the grand jury, three pleaded innocent and five have not been arraigned. The fourteenth man is being held in Detroit on a morals charge in connection with the case.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Blue Book On Capital Society Shows 1948 Was Scandal - Free

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Last year was one of the most scandal-free years in Washington's social history, it now is officially revealed.

Measure of this is the "Social List of Washington for 1950," just off the press. It's the final word on just who is considered eligible to cavort at the top of the capital's cocktail circuit. When it hits the street about this time each year there's a frantic rush for it to check just who's in and who's out.

As gossip fodder this year's edition is a disappointment. Only 600 names were dropped. This is the smallest number since the war. They all are accounted for legitimately. Most are military people who have been transferred out of town. Normal turnover of other officials, which is high in Washington, accounts for most of the rest.

Biggest name off the list is Perle Mesta, who left the city to become Minister to Luxembourg. Her leaving means a resumption of the race during the Winter season for title of the town's number one hostess. Mrs. Gwenn Cafritz, one of the best-dressed women in the city and wife of the most prosperous real estate man, has the inside track for that title and is running fast.

Mrs. Carolyn Hagner Shaw, publisher of the Social List and recognized social arbiter for the city reveals that Barkley almost ruined her Summer with his St. Louis romance. In fact, she held up sending the book to the printers almost a month, until the end of August, because of it.

In A Quandary

Probably the biggest social decision Mrs. Shaw had to make this year was whether or not to recognize Mrs. Max Truitt, Barkley's daughter, as his official hostess. This makes a lot of difference where Mrs. Truitt sits at formal dinners, a matter of great importance to her as well as to hostesses. However, if Barkley had gotten married, this would have changed the picture entirely.

At the last minute Mrs. Shaw ran out of patience and gave Mrs. Truitt the nod. As she puts it, "I just took a gamble that we would get off the press before the vice president could get married."

She has no explanation as to why so few names were dropped this year except to say that, "the town just seems to be stabilizing and staying out of trouble." She adds, "There were just no big divorces or scandals which took anybody out." She doesn't decide who will be in or out. That's up to a secret board of governors. Board membership is secret so members won't be hounded by social climbers.

It almost never fails that some big congressional investigation will cause somebody to be taken off the list. But even the big five-percenter probe this year only involved one person who was listed, Gen. Harry Vaughan, the President's military aide. And as Mrs. Shaw explains, "No matter what anybody says about him, as long as he's the President's aide, he stays in the book."

Autographs Don't Count

The most prominent figure in the probe, James V. Hunt, wasn't on the list last year. So he couldn't have been dropped this year if the board had wanted to. Mrs. Shaw insists that the number of autographed pictures of important people a man has on his office wall has nothing to do with his social standing in Washington.

More than 1,000 names were added to the list this year. Among them, the seven most interesting ones, according to Mrs. Shaw are: Georgia Neese Clark, new treasurer of the United States; Herman W. Steinkrous, new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Emil Gutt, chairman of the Monetary Fund; Eugene R. Black, president of the World Bank; Senator Foster Dulles, from New York; Rep. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., from New York; and Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, former U. S. ambassador to Poland.

In addition to the list of socially acceptable names, the book gives the word on points of etiquette. For instance, here is the correct procedure upon receiving an invitation from the White House:

"Invitations to luncheons or dinners must be answered immediately. Formerly, these acknowledgments were delivered by hand to the White House. Today, however, it is considered proper that they be placed in the mail on the same day as that upon which the invitation is received."

McKenney on Bridge

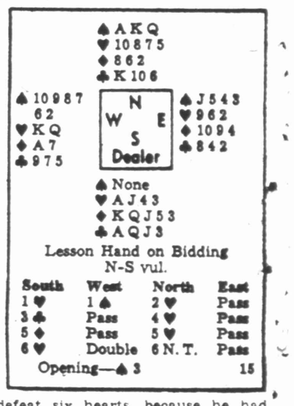

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

We all hear players say, "I never can win at bridge. I never hold any cards." Whenever I hear that remark, it brings back to memory a famous comment of the late F. Hal Sims. He said that the first lesson a beginner at contract should learn is to make good cards work for him and not wreck him.

In today's hand most of the North and South pairs in a tournament arrived at a slam contract. Some pairs played the hand at six diamonds. One pair played it at six clubs for some unknown reason. Both six diamonds and six clubs made.

At one table South got to six hearts, which West promptly doubled. That was where he made his big mistake. He knew he could defeat six hearts, because he had a heart trick and the ace of diamonds. He had bid spades, but he did not have the top of the spade suit. With the strong bidding on the part of North and South, he could expect to find the top spades in the opponents' hands. Why not be content when you can beat a slam contract in your own hand, and pass it?

In this particular case, when West doubled six hearts, North went to six no trump. It is true that if East had led a heart, the six no trump contract also would have been defeated. But East elected to lead his partner's suit. Declarer won the trick, knocked out the ace of diamonds, and claimed twelve tricks for his contract.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan has been unhappy because Tod cannot forget Lis Conover, who jilted him before his marriage. Even the arrival of twin sons fail to bring the Duncans together. One bright spot for Jenny is Tod's old friend Rick Morris, but Tod suspects Rick is in love with Jenny. Lis meanwhile has divorced Jim Courtney, with whom she eloped, and is setting her net for Tod again. She invites Tod to a cocktail party on the same day Jenny meets Rick on the street and invites him to her basement apartment for dinner. Tod comes home in a very unsteady.

XXIV

TOD had been drinking a lot. He was very gay and effusive, especially when he saw Rick. He kept saying, "I had to work late. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. And if Jenny doesn't like it, you can cheer her up."

Between the two of them they got him to bed, and as he drowsed off he was still muttering about Rick being the one to "love her and take care of her."

"I don't know what to say, Rick," Jenny whispered as they cleared off the table later.

Rick looked at her gravely. "You don't have to say anything."

"I don't think Tod's happy!" The words tumbled over one another in her eagerness to make excuses. "He doesn't care too much for his job, and we're in debt, his mother's sick, and—well, things keep piling up. But I'm sure everything will be straightened out."

"Of course, Jenny."

Jenny's eyes fell away from his. She twisted a paper napkin into a ball in her palm. "I'm especially ashamed of Tod for saying the things he did. He'll be ashamed too, tomorrow."

There was a queer look on Rick's face as he stared at her for an instant, as though he were about to say something.

He didn't speak, but Jenny knew all at once that Tod was right, and Nina had been right. Jenny herself had been incredibly stupid and blind. Rick was in love with her!

Tod wakened the next morning bewildered and contrite. She was pouring his coffee when he came out all shaved and ready to go to the office. "I hope I wasn't too obnoxious last night, Jenny."

"You weren't." She tried to smile.

"I remember saying something about—"

"Forget it," Jenny said. "All of it." She poured her own coffee and set the pot back on the stove.

"Party?" She dropped her spoon in the saucer. It made a loud clatter in the stillness.

He gulped his coffee down and then looked at her. "You'll probably find out sooner or later anyway, so I might as well tell you. I went to a cocktail party at the Conover Agency. It was a special shindig for a client. A big shot."

JENNY felt a little numb. Or maybe she hadn't wakened up enough yet to grasp what he was saying.

He stood up and reached for his hat, from the top of the icebox where someone had put it the night before. "We had quite a time. There were even reporters there and photographers. That's why I thought I might as well tell you. They might sort of play me up a little on account of my football career." He flushed as he gave her a quick goodby peck on the cheek.

"You mean you wouldn't have told me, except that I'd probably see the pictures and read about it in the paper?"

"Why of—of course I'd have told you." He turned his hat over in his hands. "Why should I try to hide anything. After all, Liz invited you too."

"Oh—Liz."

There was a long frigid pause.

"I knew you couldn't go on account of the kids, and—"

"Go on. You knew I didn't have the proper clothes either, that if I went you'd be ashamed of me."

"Jenny, for heaven's sake, don't be so dramatic. If I'd have thought you cared about going we could have got a sitter and managed a new dress."

She stood unmoving listening to the slam of the front door after him, and then his footsteps going up the stairs. One of the babies wakened and began to cry. She moved toward the sound automatically.

So Liz had asked Tod to the party, and he had gone, without telling her anything about it at all.

Tod phoned at 2 o'clock, his voice strained. "Jenny, I'm darned sorry about last night, and about the things I said this morning too. It's been on my mind all day." When she didn't say anything because she couldn't, he went on. "Jenny, are you there? Did you hear what I said?"

"Yes."

"And listen, I'll be home early, because I've got great news."

SHE was still apathetic after Tod had told her his "great news."

"But Jenny, you don't seem at all excited. Think what it will mean."

"I am thinking."

He took hold of her shoulders and gave her a little shake. "If you're worried about me getting mixed up with Liz, just because I'm going into the Conover firm, you're being silly. Why, this is the chance of a lifetime!"

"We'll look for a house to buy, a suburban, where the kids can have plenty of fresh air and sun. And we'll buy a car. Gosh, won't it be swell to have a car again! Gee whiz, Jenny, you know when Conover called me over there this afternoon and made me this proposition, the first thing I thought was, 'Now Jenny and I and the kids can really begin to live—like other people! No more basements and skimping. I can pay up that nursing home and get Ma back into a decent place.'"

West Texas Harvesting Bumper Cotton Crop In Spite Of Rains, Hails, Labor Scarcity

By The Associated Press

A bumper cotton crop is being harvested in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains.

Growers believe that if all of it is picked it will make history's biggest crop for the area.

Even hail, wind and rain in recent days—and the prospect of an early frost—do not discourage the West Texans.

They expect to harvest about 625,000 bales off 1,302,500 acres in 14 counties—compared with 375,000 bales off 920,350 acres in 1948.

But there are problems. They include:

1. Labor. Although the going wage is $1.75 a hundred pounds pulled in the field plus 25 cents for hauling and weighing, there is a great scarcity of labor.

2. The crop is late. Ginnings to date are far behind last year.

A survey by the Amarillo News-Globe indicates less than five per cent of the crop has been harvested. Producers, ginners and buyers are sticking to their estimate of September 1 that the yield will average nearly half a bale per acre.

Labor Shortage Acute

In several counties the average will be much higher. Swisher County growers, for instance, hope to gather 30,000 bales off 35,000 acres. Most of this land is irrigated.

Every county has a labor shortage. Generally the wage is $1.75 but the scale is on the upswing in Childress County. Farmers are paying $2 a hundred in the field there and $2.25 to the gin.

Plainview growers are holding the line at $1.75. They endorsed unanimously a resolution submitted by the Hale County Farm Bureau to pay no more. Many producers fear the labor problem never will be worked out this year and that the crop never can be gathered by hand.

Three mechanical pickers are at work in Hall County. Strippers also will go into action shortly. Cotton has been defoliated in scattered areas to speed opening of the bolls but most farmers are waiting for frost to do the job.

In the South Plains proper, farmers estimate that two to three times as many workers as are available could be used.

Early Freeze Feared

The Lubbock Avalanche Journal said much of the cotton still is maturing and that an early freeze could check the growth and reduce crop prospects by many thousand bales.

The normal first-freeze date is about November 10 but it has come as early as October 19.

South Plains ginnings last year were reduced by drought to 644,000 bales. The record is 959,000 bales in 1937.

An example of how late the crop is comes from Hale County, which is two to three weeks behind last year.

Neighboring counties reported similar conditions—labor shortage and a late crop. Estimates by counties include: Swisher 25,000 bales, Floyd 50,000, Lamb 170,000, Castro 12,000, and Deaf Smith 3,000.

Midland County already has ginned more cotton than in all of 1948. So far this year more than 4,255 bales have been ginned compared with 3,600 for the whole 1948 season. The Midland Reporter-Telegram estimated the county crop at 15,000 to 18,000 bales.

Stanton-Midland Farm Loan Group Has Annual Meet

STANTON — More than 250 persons, stockholders of the Stanton-Midland National Farm Loan Association, their families and friends, attended the association's annual meeting and barbecue Saturday afternoon in the American Legion Hall here.

Paul Jones of Stanton and T. Elmer Bissell, Sr., of Midland were reelected directors.

V. N. Johnson of Houston, vice president of the Federal Land Bank, was the principal speaker. He discussed Federal Land Bank operations and told of its relationship with farm loan associations.

Loans Increase

John F. Priddy of Stanton, association president presided at the business session. Oscar Lawson is the vice president.

A. W. Stanley, secretary-treasurer, reported association loans have increased by 245 per cent during the last year. Loans now total almost $900,000.

A number of distinguished visitors were introduced.

The Stanton-Midland association serves Martin, Midland, Upton, Ector, Andrews, Crane and Winkler Counties.

Foot-Mouth Disease Progress Reported

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The first round of inoculations of Mexican livestock against foot and mouth disease has been completed, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

Up to August 20, the department said, 13,071,533 head of cattle, sheep and goats had been inoculated. Work, the report said, is under way on the second and third rounds.

The next total eclipse of the sun, visible in New York, will come on October 26 in the year 2144.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Sam Preston, veteran Midland rancher, Friday estimated that some 25,000 head of lambs have been shipped out of Midland County within recent weeks, the bulk of them from 16 or 18 sheep ranches. Most of the deliveries have been made and few lambs remain on ranges in the county. Preston says this is not a record for lamb sales here.

The lambs averaged around 70 pounds, Preston believes. He said most of the lambs were contracted early at a price averaging around 20 cents.

Preston, by the way, is keeping about 550 head of lambs for restocking purposes. Joe Youngblood reportedly is keeping around 650 head.

"We are going into the Winter in excellent condition," Preston said. "Conditions are as good as I ever have seen them." He said he has more feed on his place south of Midland right now than the last four years put together.

The shipping of calves in the Midland area is in full swing and will continue the rest of this month. It is estimated that 5,000 head of quality Hereford calves have gone out within the last two weeks. Most of the shipments are to the Corn Belt.

With several weeks of heavy picking remaining, Midland County's 1949 cotton crop already has surpassed last year's in the number of bales ginned.

Reports from Midland's three gins Friday afternoon disclosed that 4,255 bales have been ginned, as compared to a total of approximately 3,600 in 1948.

No doubt farmers, who in the Spring were skeptical of any crop at all, owing to the heavy rains, winds and infestation of bollworms, would have scoffed at anybody's prediction that this many bales would have been ginned at this stage.

Ginners reported 2,660 bales at the end of the previous week, thus leaving 1,595 as the number of bales processed last week.

One of the biggest factors contributing to this year's big crop is the relentless fight staged by growers against the bollworm.

It is difficult to predict how much cotton yet is to be hauled into the gins this season since the picker situation and the weather both could have a big bearing on the matter.

Pickers were being paid from $1.75 to $2 per hundred last week, according to reports from most sections of the county.

The Texas Employment Commission office here said it could find jobs immediately for at least 1,000 pickers.

Billy Wyche was here during the week from his ranch 11 miles from Van Horn. He says he had good rains over his country during September and that range conditions are excellent throughout the Van Horn area.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyche moved from Midland to their Van Horn ranch last July.

McCamey fast is becoming a potential center for the Pecos County farming area lying some eight miles south of that city as the work on the farm road now is in high gear.

With the proposed road site bladed, work is underway on the caliche for the surface to assure an all-weather road into the area leading directly to the area from the city of McCamey.

Pecos County started work on the low water bridge across the Pecos River last week while the McCamey Chamber of Commerce placed posts at designated points along the right-of-way, made a contract with Pool Brothers for the erection of a fence, and purchased the necessary fencing.

Businessmen and individuals of McCamey and the farming area donated more than $3,000 for the materials needed by the Chamber of Commerce for its portion of the project.

Upton County had completed most of the work lying in Upton County, and the work in Crockett County is well underway.

Spokesmen expressed the belief the road will be open for travel within 30 days.

Mrs. C. E. Wray has been appointed Reeves County home demonstration agent to replace Mrs. Homer G. Taff. Mrs. Wray served in this capacity from 1943 to 1947, when she resigned because of a severe foot injury. She attended Wesley College in Greenville, Southern Methodist University, and was graduated from Texas Technological College with a BS in general home economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Wray have made their home in Pecos a number of years. He is a real estate dealer.

Sam Tanner, long-time Upton County rancher, was a Midland visitor one day last week. Sam used to headquarter at McCamey but has been living near Rankin the last several years. He also operates some ranch country "west of the Pecos." He says conditions generally are about as good as he ever has seen them.

Sam promoted and staged several rip-roaring rodeos at McCamey back in the boom days. Good shows, too.

Between 300 and 400 cowboys will compete in the rodeo at Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, January 27 through February 5, according to Verne Elliott, veteran rodeo producer.

Elliott, who lives on a ranch near Plattville, Colo., was in Fort Worth last week to make plans for the rodeo.

"All the top cowboys will take part in the Fort Worth show," said Elliott.

Elliott will bring to Fort Worth a great array of stock—great in numbers and in wildness: 140 bucking horses for the saddle and bareback contests, 80 Brahmans for the bull-riding and 100 Mexican steers for the bulldogging. He also will provide 100 calves for the roping event, 50 cattle for the cutting contest and 50 saddle horses for arena work and the grand entry.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says Winter range feed supplies in Texas are more plentiful than they have been for several years. Most ranchmen expect to go through the Winter without any supplemental feeding except cake. If needed, however, an abundant supply of hay, roughage, and grain is available. Timely early September rains in central and northern and northwestern counties and mid-month rains in coastal, southern, and Trans-Pecos counties have supplied moisture in all parts of the state. In the northwest and Trans-Pecos, grass was still green.

Twenty-one frozen food locker plants were established in Texas during the last year to bring the total number to 535, according to a report issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. Texas ranks sixth in the number of locker plants. Iowa leads the field with 859. Other leaders are Minnesota and Wisconsin, 675 each, Washington, 671, and Illinois, 595.

A total of 11,245 locker plants was reported in the U. S. as of July.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is helping the farmers of Texas to open up a whole new frontier of farming land, says B. F. Vance, chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee. Not only has ACP helped farmers of Texas to heal gullies and check erosion, but the conservation practices carried out under the program have increased the productivity of the land.

The whole movement to better methods has resulted in opening a vast frontier of production for the American people, Vance said.

"How much farther we can go, I am sure no one knows, but I am certain we have only started," he added.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announces stocks of 35,352,000 pounds of canned meat products purchased in Mexico under the foot-and-mouth disease eradication campaign are being offered for sale for export.

These products which consist of canned meat and gravy, meat food product, and liver spread were produced from disease-free animals in areas where the disease had not been reported and were packed under U. S. government supervision. This was a part of the cooperative Mexican-U. S. eradication campaign to relieve areas where normal markets had been disrupted as a result of control measures.

A Texas cotton crop of 5,500,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight—second only to the record 5,628,000 bale crop harvested in 1926—is forecast by the Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics based upon indications as of October 1. Only in four prior years has cotton production in Texas exceeded 5 million bales. In each of these years, acreage was substantially above that for harvest this year. The indicated yield per acre of 256 pounds compares with 176 pounds last year and the 10-year (1938-47) average of 170 pounds. This year's per acre yield promises to far exceed that in any other year during the present century.

Almost two-fifths of Texas' farm and ranch land has changed hands since 1940.

In one county, Nacogdoches, more than half of all farmland has changed ownership in the last eight years.

And for the last two years land prices for Texas as a whole have been at record high levels.

But there is evidence, according to a joint USDA-Texas A&M College System study released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station as Progress Report 1181, "Texas Farm and Ranch Land Prices, 1948," that the boom is slowing down.

Actually the average per acre land price fell one per cent in 1948, from $41.79 in 1947 to $41.36. The 1947 price level was the all-time high.

Hy-Lines, a new kind of chicken bred like hybrid corn, ran away with all top honors in the official Texas Egg Laying Test, according to results announced by Tarleton State College.

Hy-Line pens took six of the first 10 places, ranking first, second, third, fourth, sixth, and tenth.

The official report shows the high Hy-Line pen of 13 birds laid a total of 3,751 eggs, or an average of 288.5 eggs per hen in 51 weeks. Following closely was the second place pen with 3,745 eggs for an average of 288 eggs per bird.

Highest pen other than Hy-Lines was a pen of Rhode Island Reds which came in fifth with 3,521 eggs.

Lawson's Wildcat In Ector Flows Oil From Clear Fork

Edward C. Lawson of Tulsa, No. 1 Augusta Barrow, wildcat in Central-West Ector County, flowed between 20 barrels and 30 barrels of pipe line oil per hour during six hours of testing from open hole in the Clear Fork of the Permian at 5,540-87 feet, and is now preparing to complete and put on production as a new discovery.

The flow came after the pay horizon had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. The well swabbed at the estimated rate of five barrels of new oil per hour, natural—before the acid was injected.

Flows After Swabbing

After the acid had been pumped in operator pulled the swab three times and the well kicked off. It flowed acid residue for one hour and then started making pipe line oil.

The six hour flow was to the pits. Gravity of the petroleum is 39 degrees, plus. There is no formation water with the oil. There is sufficient gas to flow the oil. No pressures have been reported.

This new field opener is 14 miles northwest of Odessa and 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 44, block 44, TP survey, T-1-S.

It is three and one-half miles south of the Goldsmith 5,600 field, and four and one half miles east of Clear Fork production on the south side of the TXL field.

SE Terry Prospect Indicates Discovery From Pennsylvanian

Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, and others, Southeast Terry County wildcat, four miles east of the shallow Adair field has indicated possibilities of the discovery of commercial production of petroleum from a reef lime in the Pennsylvanian from the zone at 9,350-75 feet.

The Pennsylvanian reef was topped at 9,352 feet. Derrick floor elevation was 3,171 feet.

The tool was open two hours on the drillstem test at 9,350-75 feet. Gas showed at the surface in 18 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated. The gas continued to show for the remainder of the test.

Fluid Unloaded

Recovery, when all the drill pipe had been pulled was 970 feet of clean oil and 270 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water. The venture is to drill deeper. The fluid recovered on test was practically all unloaded while the pipe was being pulled.

The wildcat was originally started under a contract to go to 12,000 feet to explore into the Ellenburger.

Locatiaon is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block G-33, psl survey. It is 15 miles southeast of Brownfield.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation, Cities Service Oil Company and The Texas Company are interested in the venture along with Tide Water.

Strawn Strike In Scurry Flows Oil

Sunray Oil Corporation No. 1 Sentell, North-Central Scurry County discovery from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian, seven miles northeast of Snyder, and two miles east of the nearest producers from the Canyon reef on the southeast side of the North Snyder field, flowed 107 barrels of 40.8 gravity pipe line oil in 12 hours of testing from the open hole at 7,487-7,508 feet.

The flow was through a 15/64th inch tubing choke, and was natural. No formation water had been developed. Flowing to test and complete was continuing.

This development had its first pay in the Strawn at 7,382 feet. The section from there down to 7,487 feet is now back of the 5 1/2-inch casing. Operator apparently is trying to complete the well from the lower pay in the Strawn and leave the upper saturated section for later production.

This project found the Canyon reef low to the North Snyder producers and did not develop any production in that horizon.

It is located 467 feet from north and west lines of tract 2, Dallas Trust and Saving Bank sub-division of the Grimes Ranch in block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Wildcat Near Snyder Is Scheduled By Goff

Gene Goff of Midland, No. 1 Joe Rylander is to be a 7,000-foot rotary wildcat to test the Canyon reef lime in Central Scurry County, one mile northeast of Snyder.

No. 1 Rylander will be five miles southeast of Standard-Fryer Drilling Company No. 1 Wilkinson, recently completed discovery from the Canyon reef between the North Snyder and Kelly-Canyon fields. It will also be about the same distance northeast of Goff's No. 1 Ohlenbusch, recently completed one and one-half mile northeast extension for Canyon lime production in the Kelly field.

To Begin Now

The drillsite will be 330 feet from north and 1,665.5 feet from east lines of section 124, block 3, H&GN survey.

Goff's lease is a tract of 101.46 acres in the northeast quarter of the section.

The lease was originally taken by John Schattel of Snyder and Fred C. Ohlenbusch of Sweetwater, both pioneer landowners in Scurry County and was turned to Goff to drill. Schattel and Ohlenbusch have retained an over ride on the lease.

Drilling is to begin immediately.

North Pecos Venture Spotted By Neb-Tex

Neb-Tex Oil Company of Fort Stockton No. 1 Malicky is to be a 2,500-foot wildcat in North Pecos County to test into the upper Permian.

The project will be located 330 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 15, block 3, H&TC survey, and one mile west of Imperial.

Drilling is to begin immediately with cable tools.

Ellenburger Prospect To Try To Complete

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., and associates No. 1 Feldman, prospective Ellenburger discovery in Central-East Scurry County, is preparing to set 5 1/2-inch casing to make a production test of the section at 7,315-62 feet.

That zone made a recovery of 4,492 feet of 46 gravity oil and 150 feet of very heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud, during a one hour drillstem test.

No water was developed and gas of 320,000 cubic feet per day was shown.

The Ellenburger was topped at 7,310 feet on an elevation of 2,251 feet.

This possible new field opener, is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 63, block 3, H&TC survey. It failed to find any possibilities of oil or gas production in the Pennsylvanian horizon.

Lion Runs Casing To Test Scurry Wildcat

Lion Oil Company No. 1 Strom, Southwest Scurry County prospector one mile west of the Diamond-M field, was at total depth of 6,715 feet and was waiting on cement to set after setting 5 1/2-inch casing at that depth.

As soon as the cement cures operator will perforate, test and try to complete the project as a one mile west extension to the Diamond-M field. In a drillstem test at 6,680-705 feet, the prospect flowed oil at the estimated rate of 25 barrels of oil per hour, through a five-eighths inch bottom hole choke.

No. 1 Strom topped the Canyon reef at 6,686 feet on an elevation of 2,346 feet. That makes it about 100 feet low to the closest producers from that formation in the Diamond-M field, one mile to the east.

Location is 662 feet from south and 1,836 feet from west lines of section 98, block 97, H&TC survey.

Diamond-M Field Will Get New Canyon Test

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 McLaughlin is to be a 6,800-foot exploration to test the Canyon reef lime on the south side of the Diamond-M field in Southwest Scurry County.

No. 1 McLaughlin will be 660 feet from north and 2,230 feet from east lines of the northeast quarter of section 178, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

Drilling is slated to begin immediately. Rotary tools will be used.

Kelly Exploration Is Staked By Magnolia

Magnolia Petroleum Company has staked location and is to begin drilling soon at its No. 2 A. B. Eicke in the Kelly field of Central Scurry County.

The proposed drillsite will be 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 209, block 97, H&TC survey, and four miles west of Snyder.

Contracted depth of the venture is to 6,780 feet to test the Canyon reef, using rotary tools.

N-C Scurry Venture Making Further Hole

Progress Petroleum Company No. 1 E. S. Carden, North-Central Scurry County wildcat two miles north of the nearest drilling well on the north side of the North Snyder field and 12 miles north of Snyder, was continuing to drill deeper past 7,380 feet in lower Pennsylvanian lime.

Contracted depth of the prospector is to 7,500 feet, however there is a possibility that it may be carried down to explore the Ellenburger.

Some shows of oil and gas and salt water were made in the Canyon reef in two drillstem tests of that formation.

Location is 660 feet from east and 467 feet from south lines of section 503, block 97, H&TC survey.

Garza Wildcat Gets Top Of San Andres

R. S. Anderson of Midland, and others, No. 1 L. A. Nance, contracted 2,600-foot wildcat in Southeast Garza County two and one-half miles northwest of Justiceburg, was continuing to drill deeper past 2,435 feet in lime.

This prospector topped the San Andres at 2,055 feet on an elevation of 2,300 feet. Samples at 2,400-405 feet had slight shows of gas, however no indications of oil have been encountered so far.

The drillsite is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 42, block 6, H&GN survey, and one mile south of Post Development Company No. 1 Payne, failure drilled to 3,415 feet in 1921. That project had some shows in the San Andres.

It is also one and three-quarter miles northwest of P. W. Anderson and others No. 1-A Miller, dry hole plugged some time ago.

Winkler Prospector Still Swabs To Test

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 146-E Keystone, Northeast Winkler County wildcat 14 miles northeast of Kermit, and a northwest offset to the discovery of the Flying-W field, swabbed open hole between 10,264-10,375 feet and recovered 83 barrels of oil, seven barrels of water and two barrels of basic sediment in a 24-hour period.

Operator is still swabbing to test on open hole between 10,264-10,375 feet in the Silurian. The Flying W field produces from the Devonian.

This venture drilled to a total depth of 11,877 feet in the Ellenburger where it made salt water with slight shows of oil. Operator then plugged back to its present total depth of 10,375 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 24, block A-57, psl survey.

Outpost To Benedum Flows After Acid

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 J. M. Parrot and others, one-half mile north outpost to Pennsylvanian production in the Benedum field of East-Central Upton County, treated perforations at 11,410-479 feet in the Fusselman with 2,000 gallons of acid.

The well kicked off without swabbing and in eight hours flowing through 14/64th-inch choke made 23 barrels of oil with a gas-oil ratio of 9,470-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 2,675 pounds.

Operator is still flowing to test and try to complete the project as a producer from the Fusselman section of the Silurian.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block Y, EL&RR survey, and three miles northeast of Rankin.

No Shows In Test

Humble No. 1 Mrs. Z. Oswalt, four and one-half miles northwest of the Benedum area, took a drillstem test in an unidentified lime at 11,035-185 feet. The tester was open one hour. Recovery was 198 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or gas. It is now drilling ahead past 11,201 feet in lime.

The drillsite of this prospector is 660 feet from east and 2,640 feet from south lines of section 12, block B, CCDS&RGNG survey. It is to drill to the Ellenburger.

The same company's No. 1 Ralph Pembrook, 660 feet from north and 2,247 feet from east lines of block X, C. D. DeWitt survey and six miles north of the Benedum area, was taking a drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 12,630-660 feet in lime.

At the time this report was prepared no information was available as to the recovery from the test.

RNGC 1 Powell Is Making More Hole

Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1 Powell, possible Ellenburger discovery in Central-North Upton County, two miles southeast of the initial producer in the Pegasus-Ellenburger field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 44, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S, was making new hole below 13,101 feet.

It was to continue to 13,125 feet and then stop and test the section between 12,960 feet, the top of the Ellenburger, and 13,125 feet.

The venture swabbed on the open hole between 12,960 feet and 13,085 feet for several days, and failed to show any increase from the five barrels of oil per hour which had been developed in the zone between 12,960 feet and 13,019 feet.

Republic Natural No. 1 American Republics Corporation fee, three miles south of the Pegasus discovery, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6, block 40, TP survey, T-5-S, had penetrated below 9,128 feet in Permian shale and was boring deeper.

It is contracted to 13,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

Flankers To Pegasus Are To Drill Deeper

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-36 Glass, southeast flanker to the opener of the Pegasus field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 36, block 41, TP survey, T-4-S, is to drill the plug on 5 1/2-inch casing which had been cemented at 12,833 feet over total depth of 12,883 feet, and then drill 50 feet deeper.

When the new hole is made the section from 12,883 feet to 12,933 feet will be tested.

This project has already shown for good, flowing natural production from the Ellenburger, which was entered at 12,725 feet.

Magnolia No. 1-B TXL, one half mile south of the first Ellenburger producer in the Pegasus field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 31, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S, had cemented a string of 7 5/8th inch intermediate casing at 9,211 feet in lime and shale.

To Drill Plug

The plug will be drilled early in the week and the venture will drill ahead to around 13,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Both the above explorations or in the Upton County side of the Pegasus field.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-BB TXL, northwest outpost to the first oil well in the Pegasus field, and 664 feet from south and 660.5 feet from east lines of section 25, block 41, TP survey, T-4-S, and just inside the Midland County line, had progressed under 10,290 feet in Pennsylvanian lime. It was to continue to 10,335 feet and then stop and run a test.

Awards For Life-Saving Work Are Presented

In top picture, second from left, is R. L. Duncan of Penwell, switcher for Shell Oil Company, who received the National Safety Council's President's Medal at a ceremony in Odessa Friday night, for his part in reviving a man who had ceased breathing after being overcome by gas fumes. Left is C. M. Marsden also of Penwell, another Shell switcher, and right is O. B. Whiteside of Penwell, an employe of Gulf Oil Corporation, both of whom received assistance certificates for their work on the same case. B. L. Ryan of Midland, manager of Shell's Midland area, who presented the awards is third from the left. In the lower picture, M. A. Sherwood of Midland, left, area mechanical engineer for Shell, is presenting a safety contest certificate to C. R. Bickel of Odessa, right, manager of the company's Odessa production division, on behalf of the employes of that division for their winning a safety contest conducted during the first half of 1949, in the Midland area.

Shell's Duncan Of Penwell Awarded NSC President's Medal For Saving A Life

R. L. Duncan of Penwell, a switcher in the production department of Shell Oil Company, was presented the National Safety Council's President's Medal by B. L. Ryan, manager of the Midland area of the concern, at a ceremony in Odessa Friday night.

During the same program a safety award earned by the Odessa production division of the company for the first half of 1949, was presented to C. R. Bickel of Odessa, manager of the Odessa division by M. A. Sherwood, of Midland, area mechanical engineer, substituting for M. C. Brunner, area production manager, who was absent on account of illness.

Rig 27 Gets Award

Another award went to Shell's Rig No. 27, for winning safety contest during the first half of the current year, participated in by the various company drilling rigs operating in the Midland area.

F. W. David of Odessa, drilling foreman received that award from Sherwood.

Duncan was awarded the National Safety Council's President's Medal as a result of his having successfully applied the Schafer Prone Pressure Method of Resuscitation to O. L. Binnicker, at Shell's Connell lease in the Penwell field of Southwest Ector County, after Binnicker had been overcome by gas fumes and had ceased to breathe.

Overcome By Gas

The life-saving took place on January 5 of this year. Binnicker, a pusher for a tank repairing company had entered a tank which was being cleaned to rescue two of his fellow employes who had been overcome by the gas fumes.

Binnicker was also asphyxiated, and had stopped natural breathing when discovered by C. A. Cox, Shell head roustabout.

Cox summoned the assistance of Duncan and C. M. Marsden another Shell switcher at Penwell and O. B. Whiteside and Marion Gentry, also of Penwell, who were employed by Gulf Oil Corporation.

Binnicker and the other two victims were removed from the tank. All three had stopped breathing and efforts to revive the other two failed.

Breathing Revived

Binnicker started breathing while Duncan was administering artificial respiration. The President's Medal is given only to individuals who were administering the prone pressure method of artificial respiration at the time the victim resumes breathing.

The National Safety Council recognizes that others may have had an equal part in the successful application of the treatment, and as a result, certificates of assistance are issued to those other persons who helped with the revival of the asphyxiation victim.

Such certificates of meritorious service were given to Marsden and Whiteside at the Friday night ceremony.

Demonstration Given

Following the presentation of the awards, Duncan, Marsden and Whiteside gave a demonstration of the Schaefer method of resuscitation. The method was explained by Guy Creighton of Midland, safety representative for Shell in the Midland area.

Creighton also showed several moving picture films as the concluding feature of the program.

More than 300 persons, including Shell employes and their families in the Odessa production division, attended the affair and were served a dutch lunch prior to the presentation of the awards.

Kellet Is Selected By Kerr-McGee As Meyer's Successor

Louis B. Kellett is the new district geologist for Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., in West Texas. He succeeds Robert F. Meyer, who held the position since June 1947. The company maintains its district office for this region in Midland.

Meyer has resigned from the concern and will work as an independent consulting geologist, broker and trader. He will continue to make his home and headquarters in Midland.

He had been employed by Kerr-McGee five and one half years at the time of his resignation.

Kellett has been doing geological work for the company for about two years.

Terrell Palmer is a new man in the Midland organization of Kerr-McGee. He is to be landman and scout. He was transferred here from an assignment with the company in Oklahoma.

Applications Taken For Christmas Jobs

Persons interested in sales work during the Christmas season were advised Saturday to make application at the Texas Employment Commission office here by J. D. Bechtol, manager.

Bechtol said several firms already have placed orders for extra help during the Christmas buying season.

He added that the office at present could find jobs for stenographers and typists, in addition to many other types of workers.

The office can place more than 1,000 cotton pickers, the manager said.

Officials To Attend Galveston Meeting

Midland County Commissioners and County Judge Clifford C. Keith will attend the annual convention of the County Judges and Commissioners Association which opens Sunday in Galveston.

Midland County Commissioners are Sherwood O'Neal, John King, Warren Skaggs and W. M. Stewart.

The convention will end Wednesday. Gov Allan Shivers will address the group Tuesday night.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Nature, Engineers Join Efforts To Boost Span Of East Texas Oil Field

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON—(AP)—Engineers and nature have combined efforts to add years and years to the life of the vast East Texas oil field.

Last month, the field, one of the nation's most famous, celebrated its 19th birthday.

First estimates of oil reserves beneath the field's 130,000 acres approximately 1,000,000 barrels. More than 2,600,000,000 have been produced. Experts say there still are at least 2,000,000,000 more to come.

Texas Gov. Allan Shivers and Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the state's Railroad Commission, term the field's performance as one of the best examples ever accomplished in oil and gas conservation.

Basically, the conservation project involves control of the field's bottomhole pressure — pressure, which nature placed in the underground reservoir and which began forcing oil to the surface when underground oil pockets are tapped by wells.

The Railroad Commission, the Texas oil and gas regulatory body, keeps close watch on fluctuations in the field's pressure.

Allowables Vary

When the pressure rises, the commission permits more oil to be produced, if needed to meet market demand. When the pressure drops allowables are cut.

Thompson explains it this way: "It means less oil per well per day at the present, but more than double the total ultimate oil recovery."

Governor Shivers predicts that if the field continues to be carefully controlled grandchildren of young people living in East Texas today can have oil production on their properties.

Original reservoir pressure in the field was in excess of 1600 pounds per square inch. The wild boom days, when there were no state controls, saw the pressure drop to about 1000 pounds.

On January 1, 1943, the pressure was 1015.71 pounds. Last June, six and one half years later, it registered 1018.87. Close checks on production, plus other conservation practices, prevented further declines except of a momentary nature.

Lessons learned in Texas about reservoir performance and reservoir pressure waste prevention are being applied to other Texas fields.

Thompson says the results are the same—more oil from every pool in the long run.

Many Projects

"We are carrying on hundreds of similar pressure maintenance projects so that the flowing life of our oil fields may be lengthened and an ever increasing percentage of the oil in place may be recovered instead of being left in the sands and rocks never to be recovered," he explained.

Domestic oil production also is being aided by scientific programs directed at thousands of stripper wells—wells that no longer respond to normal production methods.

In years past, thousands of wells were abandoned when natural flow of oil ceased or when the wells failed to respond to pump pressure.

Scientific secondary recovery methods now are prolonging the life of such wells and leading to recovery of millions of barrels of oil that otherwise would have been lost.

The Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Independent Petroleum Association of American and the National Stripper Well Association have a joint committee studying such projects.

The committee reports that on Jan. 1, 1948, there were 427,000 producing wells in the nation, with 294,672 or approximately 69 per cent classified as strippers.

These stripper wells produced in 1947 a total of 279,659,199 barrels of oil or 14.9 per cent of total domestic production. The daily per well average was 2.6 barrels.

The joint committee report estimated that 7,937,323,000 barrels in reserves were believed to be underlying stripper well acreage.

It was further estimated that 546,725,000 barrels of these reserves can be produced by the application of secondary recovery methods.

It is the opinion of the committee at least 5,000,000,000 barrels of total stripper well reserves have not been included in the overall domestic petroleum reserve estimate of 24,000,000,000 barrels.

Wright Heads New Sinclair Producing Division In Midland

R. A. Wright is the new superintendent for the recently established West Texas-New Mexico producing division of Sinclair Oil & Gas Company.

Headquarters of the division are in Midland and Wright has already taken over his new duties. He came from Casper, Wyo., where he had been assistant division superintendent for the company in the Rocky Mountains.

The West Texas-New Mexico region has heretofore been a part of Sinclair's southern producing division, which has operated out of headquarters in Fort Worth.

Rose Promoted

It had been directed by C. S. Rose, who has been assistant division superintendent, working under H. J. Summy, who was superintendent of the old southern division.

Rose is being promoted to a division superintendency, and transferred to another location. Summy has resigned from Sinclair and will enter the oil business for himself.

Walter Crandall has been named assistant division production superintendent for Sinclair in the new West Texas-New Mexico division. He is now on the job on the new assignment.

In Casper Eight Years

Wright was stationed at Casper for eight and one half years before being assigned to the new job in Midland.

He will move his wife and three children to this city in a short time. The Wright children are Barbara Ann, 7; Berry, 5, and Cheryl, 3.

Under the new setup in the Sinclair production department a North Central and East Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana division has been created with headquarters in Fort Worth. Floyd Brett of Fort Worth, formerly an assistant division superintendent under Summy will head that division.

A Texas Gulf Coast division has been formed with Corpus Christi as headquarters. D. M. Engle will be division superintendent. He is returning to the United States from a two year assignment in South America. Before being sent to that job he was stationed in West Texas.

Drive To Get Jobs For Handicapped Workers Success

J. D. Bechtol, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office here, said Saturday that the National Employ the Physically Handicapped campaign waged here October 2-8 evidently is bearing fruit.

He pointed to the fact that the office has placed four disabled veterans since the drive ended and that other inquiries had been received by employers desiring to interview physically handicapped persons for various jobs.

The idea behind the campaign was to stress the fact that handicapped persons should have equal right with others to work and support a family.

Good Records

Reports show that physically handicapped persons, properly placed in positions, have work records equal to and sometimes surpassing persons without handicaps.

Assisting in the campaign were veterans organizations, the press, radio, and individuals.

Several members of the Midland High School speech classes appeared before civic clubs, speaking in behalf of the physically handicapped worker. These students were Jean Ferguson, Kiwanis; Virginia Breedlove, Lions; Johnny House, Optimists; Mary Jo Heji, Rotary, and Tommy Vannaman, JayCees.

Texas Crude Oil Production Shows Constant Increase

(Chart by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association)

More than 903,000,000 barrels of crude oil were produced in Texas in 1948, the all-time peak year of Texas' oil industry operation as indicated by this chart showing the history of Texas production since 1925.

Lawson's Ector Wildcat—

reported by unofficial sources to have been at 10,220 feet.

Casing To Be Set At Midland Exploration

York & Harper, Inc., No. 1-A TXL, Central Midland County prospector to 13,800 feet to test into the Ellenburger, had drilled to 11,042 feet in lime, and was slated to cement a string of 7-inch casing on bottom before drilling deeper. Up to now the project has not reported having logged any possibilities of production.

It is 12 1/2 miles south of the city of Midland and 660 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 25, block 39, TP survey, T-3-S.

General American Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Peck, slated 13,900-foot wildcat in Southwest Midland County, five miles northwest of the Pegasus field, and at the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 41, TP survey, T-4-S, had progressed below 8,090 feet in lime and shale and was "turning to the right."

Ted Weiner and associates No. 1 L. B. Floyd, east flanker to the discovery well for production from the Spraberry sand of the lower Permian, to open the Tex-Harvey field in East Midland County, 12 miles southeast of the city of Midland, had reached 7,070 feet in lime and shale, and was continuing to make hole.

It is due to encounter the Tex-Harvey pay horizon by the time it reaches 8,000 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 15, block 37, TP survey, T-3-S.

Texaco Has No Shows At Martin Operation

The Texas Company No. 1-X State, Central-West Martin County prospector 11 miles north of the Mabee pool, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17, block 7, University Lands survey, was drilling deeper past 4,472 feet in dolomite after recovering water in a zone thought to be the San Andres of the Permian.

A drillstem test was taken from 4,749-901 feet. The recovery was 4,100 feet of sulphur water and salt drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas.

Operator then tested the zone from 4,735-901 feet. The tool was open one hour and 30 minutes. There was a strong blow of air at the surface for the first hour and then it died. Recovery was 450 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or gas, and 4,100 feet of salt water.

The project is contracted to drill to 5,000 feet.

Andrews Prospector Recovers Salt Water

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Deep Rock Oil Corporation No. 1 A. L. Mayhew, and others, Southwest Andrews County wildcat four and one half miles northeast of the Dollarhide multiple pay field, took a drillstem test in the Ellenburger from 12,365-12,396 feet.

The tool was open three hours. There was a fair blow of air at the surface throughout the period. Recovery was the 570-foot water blanket, slightly cut with drilling mud, 570 feet of drilling mud, 3,690 feet of gas cut muddy salt water, and 990 feet of salty, sulphur water.

Operator is now circulating while waiting on orders.

Crockett Wildcat Is Abandoned By Moore

John I. Moore of Midland, No. 1-K Shannon, wildcat five miles east of Iraan and in Central-West Crockett County, has been plugged and abandoned after recovering only water in the Ellenburger. It drilled to a total depth of 6,822 feet.

A drillstem test from 6,315-6,822 feet showed 837 feet of drilling mud, 465 feet of sulphurous mud and 1,615 feet of muddy sulphur water.

There were no signs of production in any horizon it drilled through.

The venture topped the Ellenburger at 6,278 feet.

This failure is at the center of the west half of lot 11, league 4, Archer County School Lands survey, and one mile northwest of the shallow Olson field.

NW Borden Ventures Fail To Get Oil Show

Showings so far made at the four flankers to the discovery well of the Borden field in Northwest Borden County have been extremely disappointing.

One of the explorations has been plugged and abandoned after getting water in the horizon from which the discovery well was completed. Another of those projects has drilled into the producing horizon and has been barren up to now and is shut down for orders.

The other two are still drilling or testing. At this time neither of them have developed any signs of production from the deep pay which was opened several months ago by Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williams.

Sinclair No. 1 Rosa Pratt, 660 feet from east and 1,980 from the north lines of section 44, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey, has been plugged and abandoned as a failure. It drilled to total depth of 10,070 feet.

A drillstem test at 10,023-070 feet showed 3,800 feet of salt water in a one-hour and 50-minute drillstem test.

The company's No. 1 Turner, a direct east offset to Sinclair No. 1 Williams, is shutdown for orders after a drillstem test at 9,850-9,960 feet. Recovery of that test was the 540 foot water blanket and 160 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud, with no shows of oil or water.

Other Two Test

This project is 660 feet from north and west lines of the north half of section 46, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

Sinclair was coring deeper at its No. 1 W. H. Bryan, a north offset to the discovery. Operator cored it 9,992-99 feet and recovered seven feet of chert, which apparently had no shows of oil or gas.

A drillstem test at 9,947-992 feet showed the 1,380 feet water blanket and ten feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or formation water.

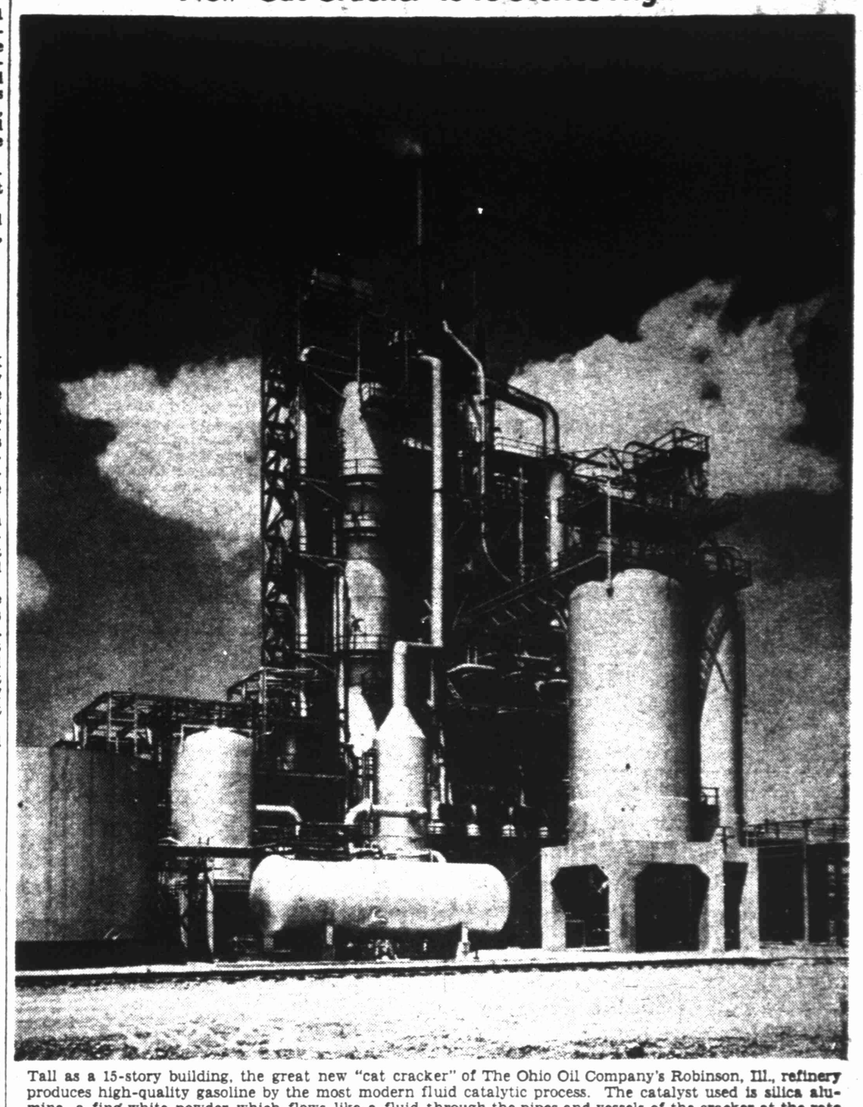

This exploration is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

Sinclair was coming out of the hole after a drillstem test at the fourth outpost, No. 1 Reynolds, located 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 33, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

Section tested was between 9,895 feet and the drilled out total depth of 9,993 feet. A 540-foot water blanket was used. There was a slight blow of air at the surface for ten minutes. Recovery from the one-hour test had not been reported at the time this report was prepared.

No. 1 Reynolds is one mile north and a half west of the discovery.

New 'Cat Cracker' Is 15 Stories High

Tall as a 15-story building, the great new "cat cracker" of The Ohio Oil Company's Robinson, Ill., refinery produces high-quality gasoline by the most modern fluid catalytic process. The catalyst used is silica alumina, a fine white powder which flows like a fluid through the pipes and vessels of the cracker at the rate of 17 tons per minute. Although this refinery is a great distance from the Permian Basin, it probably uses some crude oil from this region. The Ohio Oil Company is one of the important producers of petroleum in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Texas Petroleum Industry Adds Three Billion Dollars To Annual Income Of State

Texas is the source for more than one-fifth of all the energy utilized in the United States, and the Texas petroleum industry's production record has set the pattern of economic progress for the state.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports that petroleum production and refining account for more than $3,000,000,000 (billions) a year income for the Texas economy.

A national shift to petroleum as the source for half of all the energy used in the country for powering vehicles, fueling generating plants and heating homes has given Texas a strong market for its abundant oil and natural gas.

As production has spread across the state, bringing new wealth to landowners, causing towns to spring up on once-barren plains, the progress of the industry and the state is written in the graph which shows the annual flow of oil to be 903,000,000 barrels for 1948.

Is State's Largest Industry

Refining of this oil provides the state with its largest industry from the standpoint of capital investment and value added to product through manufacture, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports.

Demand for Texas crude oil fell off early in 1949 as a result of mild northern winters where the fuel oil market has been a large factor in petroleum sales, but as the industry began to add to its stocks in anticipation of expected heavier demands, production in Texas was picking up in the last quarter of the year.

The Railroad Commission, which is directed by the state's wise conservation laws to hold production to the market's demand, made successive cuts in allowables from December, 1948's all time high, but part of the cuts have been restored with production from new wells added to proration schedules and through two increases in allowables.

As of September 17, Texas wells were producing 1,983,350 barrels of crude oil per day. During December, 1948, Texas production averaged 2,552,800 barrels a day.

A recent survey by the Chicago Journal of Commerce reported that leading petroleum economists predicted that output of crude oil should move up during 1950, probably in excess of 5,000,000 barrels daily for the nation, compared to the total U. S. rate of 4,845,300 as of Sept. 17, 1949.

1948 Is Peak Year

During 1948, Texas crude oil production reached an all-time peak of 903,318,000 barrels, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This amounted to 44.8 per cent of the nation's production.

Since 1896, the date first commercial production was reported in the state, Texas has produced a total of 12,147,981,000 barrels. (32.7 per cent of U. S. total.)

1948 Texas production was 10.1 per cent greater than 1947.

1948 production came from 179 of the state's 254 counties. There are 40 Texas counties which to date have produced more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil each. Six counties hit the 100,000,000 mark during 1948. They are Wood, Andrews, Jackson, Jim Wells, Hockley, and Young.

Wood County, in East Texas, has had a phenominal growth; it first produced oil in the year 1941, but at the end of 1948 its cumulative total exceeded 121 millions barrels.

Employ Many Workers

Over 3,000 producing companies were involved in the state's 1948 crude production. Royalty owners probably number in the hundreds of thousands. To illustrate: one large purchasing company reports that each month it mails out over 60,000 checks to producers and royalty owners.

During 1948, Texas refineries processed 599,496,000 barrels of crude. This amounts to 66.4 per cent of total Texas production.

There are 89 refineries in Texas with capacity of 1,928,900 barrels of crude daily.

These refineries employ 45,000 Texas workers, who received $185,000,000 in wages and salaries during 1948.

Investment in the Texas refining industry is estimated to exceed a billion dollars.

Preliminary figures indicate that Texas royalty owners were paid about $354,000,000 by oil and gas operators during 1948. Add another $80,000,000 for lease rentals and bonuses, and the total paid to Texas landowners amounts to $434,000,000.

Stripling To Talk At Geological Society Luncheon Tuesday

Robert E. Stripling, Midland oil operator, will speak at the luncheon of the Midland Geological Society at noon Tuesday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Subject of his address will be, "Why Russia Has The Atomic Bomb."

Stripling has been a Midland resident since early this year.

Prior to coming here he served for ten years as chief investigator for the Un-American Activities Committee of the United States Congress.

In handling that assignment Stripling secured direct knowledge of many of the undercover activities in the United States of agents of foreign powers.

A short business session will be held during the meeting to elect a program chairman for the ensuing year.

L. E. Patterson, recently named president of the organization will preside at the Tuesday session.

The Tool Pusher

Texas Congressman Urges ECA To Go Slow On World Oil Expansion Program

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

WASHINGTON — Go slow on world oil expansion or you'll ruin the American industry!

So Rep. John E. Lyle (D-Texas) told the Economic Cooperation Administration last week. Imports of 1,250,000 to 1,600,000 barrels daily to this country in a few years are out of all reason, he said. A refining capacity increase overseas on the order of 2,000,000 barrels daily is too high.

Those are figures put out recently by the ECA, if plans go as Europe wants.

First Blow

In a letter to ECA head Paul G. Hoffman, the Corpus Christi congressman struck a first congressional blow against the big oil plans under study at ECA, which are costing the U. S. billions annually.

"The prospects of an additional half million to a million barrels daily of oil imports to this country would shock our entire economy, Lyle said.

"Texas has supported the ECA program, as it has all efforts for a strong and peaceful world, but it would be folly for us to sit idly by and have our entire economy seriously harmed."

Not only domestic oil men fear the ECA's plans. Major American companies see they may lead to a serious world surplus of petroleum, ruining the industry as they know it.

While Lyle expressed satisfaction that Hoffman means well, he explained:

"I sincerely hope that you will require the fullest investigations and findings on this vital subject before further plans are laid which might endanger the strength of our own country.

"Offhand, it seems foolish to spend American capital expanding the oil industry in Europe and elsewhere, except as a supplement to our own efficient production.

"The trend is too clear, but the details are so hazy that we are not able to anticipate the outcome." He asked ECA to clear up "the pattern of ECA and government in this field."

The plans submitted to ECA by the British and Dutch, he said, "are so disturbing that I cannot believe they are American plans. If not American, then whose plans are they, and are they to be seriously considered?"

The letter asked Hoffman's views.

In Texas, the petroleum industry employs a quarter million persons, he said. It spends 1.5 billion a year. About 6,500 new wells were drilled this year. Government, schools and business rely on this "great" industry.

The new oil import forecast from the State Department may be misleading unless read closely. For instance, the department said oil companies have firm plans to bring in at least 654,000 barrels daily this month. Then it said the figures represent only 90 per cent of total oil imports. The total, thus, would be 719,000 barrels daily.

Adding 10 per cent down the line, we come to these forecasts of crude and refined product imports (in thousands of barrels daily).

October 719
November 756
December 743
4th Quarter Average 741.
1950:
January 774
February 788
March 770
1st Quarter Average 776.
April 662
May 653
June 671
2nd Quarter Average 662.

While the figures went to Rep. Ed Gossett (D-Texas), head of a special committee of Texas Congressmen on oil imports, it actually was a reply to assertions by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Leland Olds has arranged to go to work with the National Security Resources Board. John Steelman, assistant to the president, arranged it. The pay is $50 a day and the title is consultant on power problems.

This raises a nice question. If Olds is too "radical" to work for the Federal Power Commission, why should he be permitted to work for the NSRB, chief agency in planning mobilization in event of a war? If he is not too "radical" to work for the NSRB, the Congress was wrong in ousting him from the commission. This is the kind of question which Congress and the Truman Administration, and all politics likes to avoid. It is an example of the thing that leads to the present condition in Washington, where expediency laughs at principle.

It is widely believed that the National Petroleum Council, a group of representative oil men serving as advisers to the Interior Department, now is facing its greatest crisis since it was created three years ago. It lies in the import problem. Chairman Walter Hallanan of the council privately warns members that if they cannot settle the import question, and other questions within the industry, anything can happen. The Harris Bill to create a powerful Petroleum Policy Council could pass. Other Congressional legislation could pass giving the government powers to handle situations such as this, and to go a good deal further.

"We must display statesmanship of a rare and high order," he tells fellow members of the NPC. The showdown comes October 26 at the council's quarterly meeting. Imports are the number one topic.

Completion Slated At Lea Discovery From Drinkard Pay

HOBBS, N. M.—Completion operations will be started shortly at a new discovery from the Drinkard zone of the lower Permian in Central-East Lea County, which has been made by C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, at his No. 1 Shell-Waldrip.

This prospector, located six miles southeast of Hobbs, flowed 206 barrels of oil in 18 hours from the zone at 7,070-90 feet, after that section had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

The flow was through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. Considerable gas was shown during the testing. The oil came through perforations in the 5 1/2-inch casing which had been cemented at 7,547 feet.

Operator was preparing to reacidize the 7,060-90 foot interval. After that has been done it was planned to take the official potential test and complete.

This project is 1,980 feet from west lines of section 6-20s-39e. It is near the west line of Gaines County, Texas, and is one and one-quarter miles east of Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-U State, a small Devonian discovery in section 2-20s-38e, completed several months ago.

Operator Plugs Back

The Norsworthy project drilled to total depth of 8,159 feet in Devonian dolomite. That formation made only water.

The hole was plugged back and is now bottomed at 7,099 feet.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Eaves, one location stepout from Devonian production in the Knowles field of East-Central Lea County, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 25-16s-38e, had reached 11,881 feet in dry lime, and was boring deeper. It is to drill to about 12,600 feet to explore into the Devonian.

In Northwest Lea County, and on the northeast side of the Bagley-Hightower multi-pay field, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1-B-1 State, located at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 2-12s-33e, had penetrated past 10,155 feet in lime in the Pennsylvanian, and was going ahead toward the Devonian.

Amerada Makes New Hole

Amerada No. 1-BTC State, another exploration on the outside of the proven area in the Bagley-Hightower field, and located at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 35-11s-33e, had reached 10,705 feet in lime and shale, and was boring deeper.

Amerada No. 1-BTD State, also in the Bagley-Hightower region, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2-12s-33e, was drilling ahead under 9,345 feet in shale and lime.

Amerada No. 1 Roach, one half mile south of the nearest completed oil well in the Bagley-Hightower field, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 26-12s-33e, had progressed past 7,715 feet in lime and shale, and was continuing to make hole.

Conoco Now Testing

Continental Oil Company No. 2-B-29 Warren, stepout from production from the McKee sand in the Warren field of Central-East Lea County, and at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 29-20s-38e, is running a drillstem test in the McKee formation at 9,176-9,242 feet.

No shows of oil, gas or water were developed in a test of the interval at 9,176-9,222 feet. The tool was open one hour and 15 minutes.

Recovery was 90 feet of drilling fluid.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, slated 13,000-foot wildcat in Central-South Eddy County, 15 miles south of Carlsbad, and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 31-25s-27e, had drilled below 12,215 feet in an unidentified shale, and was boring deeper.

University of Arizona football guard, Jim McGhee, is the school's heavyweight wrestling champion.

They Faced Each Other

(NEA Telephoto)

Two of the best fullbacks in the football business (collegiate, that is) faced each other Saturday at South Bend, Indiana, when Tulane's Eddie Urice, left, and Notre Dame's Emil Sitko went into action. The much-touted struggle was a complete rout for the Green Wave, however, the Irish winning 46-7.

Baylor Bears Clip Outclassed Raiders

LUBBOCK—(AP)—A magnificent Baylor eleven, playing wide awake football and sparked by the buggywhip arm of Quarterback Adrian Burk, smashed a fighting, but outclassed Texas Tech team 28-7 before 18,000 homecoming fans here Saturday afternoon.

The Bears fought off all but one scoring threat posed by the Raiders, who were afflicted with fumbleitis almost every time they reached scoring territory. The Raiders scored their lone tally on a 61-yard pass play from Quarterback Ernest Hawkins to End Jack Davis in the second quarter. After that t... Bears kept them well bottled up when it counted.

The Bears opened the scoring in the first period, when they reached pay dirt twice, rested the next two stanzas and chalked up another pair of touchdowns in the final canto.

Coach Bo Woodruff's Bears held the edge over the Raiders in every phase of the game. The winners had 20 first downs to 14 for Tech. They rolled up 207 yards rushing, net, to 142 for the Raiders. They completed 16 or 24 pass attempts for 181 yards, while the best Tech could do was six completions in 14 attempts for 134 yards.

Gets All Yardage

But it was the payoff pitching of Burk that kept Tech on the defensive most of the time. The great field general tossed all the passes Baylor completed and was responsible for all the yardage.

Baylor scored the first time it held the ball, going 48 yards in two plays. Mangum went for 12 yards on a pitchout from Burk and on the next play James Parker took a pitchout and went around right end, cut back and behind great blocking ambled 36 yards for the first touchdown. Henry Dickerson, an end, booted the first of his four successful conversions to bring his total for the year to 13 of 14 attempts.

Pass In End Zone

Late in the first quarter Baylor marched 59 yards on nine plays, climaxed by Burk's pass to James Parker in the end zone.

Tech broke into the scoring late in the second quarter to cut the Baylor lead to 14-7 when Quarterback Ernest Hawkins passed to End Jack Davis for a touchdown. Halfback Tim Hatch converted.

Neither team could score in the third period, but early in the fourth quarter, Baylor opened a march from its own 20-yard marker that ended in the third touchdown. The Bears covered the distance on eight plays with Burk passing successfully for three long gains and Blackwood romping 12 yards on a pitchout from Burk to cross the double stripe, automatic Dickerson again converted.

The failure to score apparently took the starch out of the Raiders and Baylor marched 76 yards on eight plays for its final counter. Burk again was the sparkplug, completing three passes, the last of which hit Ison on the two-yard stripe. Ison dragged a Tech tackler over the goal. Dickerson converted and the score stood at 28-7.

Notre Dame Pounds Tulane Green Wave Into Helpless Ripple

SOUTH BEND, IND. —(AP)— In just 10 blazing minutes, thunderous Notre Dame pounded Tulane's touted Green Wave into a helpless ripple Saturday. The stunning 46-7 victory made a debacle out of the "football game of the season."

If there was a hero for the furious Irish, who reached terrific inspirational heights in their seven-touchdown explosion, it was Halback Larry Coutre who scored the first three touchdowns of the game.

Notre Dame, for the first time this season, demonstrated its crunching potentialities for a fourth straight win.

In all, the Irish slashed through Tulane for four first period touchdowns, but it was the first three within the opening 10 minutes of play which completely whipped Tulane.

Notre Dame scored a touchdown each in the final three periods.

The lone Green Wave score came on a pass play covering 76 yards, from Bill Bonar to George Kinek in the third period.

Bulldogs Lose To Hosses

Pass Interceptions Pave Way For Sweetwater Win

By SHORTY SHELBURNE

The Sweetwater Mustangs, loaded with experienced lettermen and great offensive power, took advantage of four quick breaks in the second quarter and one in the third to outclass the Midland Bulldogs 34 to 0 in a non-conference game at Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Coach Tugboat Jones' Bulldogs were looking at the best balanced team they have faced this season but easily could have held the score much lower except for seven pass interceptions by the Mustangs.

Billy Hooper, the smoothest ball-handler and passer we have seen in ages, sparked the Sweetwater team to victory. He found his receivers with pin-point accuracy for long gains and used a maximum of deception to pick up yards on the ground.

It's no secret Coach Pat Gerald wanted to whip the Bulldogs just about as badly as he ever wanted to beat any team. He had his boys fired up for the tilt.

Well Defensed

It was easy to tell by the Mustang defense that Midland had been thoroughly scouted. The added weight and experience in the visitors' line payed them big dividends.

The Bulldogs, going hard from the opening whistle, missed a golden opportunity to score early in the first quarter. Dalton Byerley, ace Bulldog guard, recovered a fumble on the Sweetwater nine-yard line.

Two runnings plays netted only two yards with L. C. Thomas and Jack Burris carrying. Quarterback Reed Gilmore fittingly elected to pass.

Riley Cross, Mustang end, intercepted the forward on his own eight.

After a short march, the Bulldogs held and forced a punt. But they too were held and Gilmore booted out nicely on the Mustang nine.

Gilmore Intercepts

Gilmore intercepted a pass from the hand of Hooper on the next play and the Bulldogs went to work on the Sweetwater 25. Two passes fell incomplete as Burris chunked toward the end zone. On fourth down, Hooper intercepted an aerial on his 10 and was nailed by Jimmy Linebarger and Jimmy O'Neal.

Red Rushing ripped off 23 yards on a pitch out. Hooper went off tackle for 15. Linebarger broke through to nail Rushing for a loss.

Hooper took charge again and moved the ball to the one yard line as the quarter ended

Charles Curry hit the middle for the score. Leroy Thompson kicked the point.

Midland took the return kick and started play from their own 32 after a 20 yard return by Jack Burris. Three line plays netted only seven yards and Gilmore punted out on the Sweetwater 29.

Hooper To Cross

Hooper found the range on a first down pass to Riley Cross. The wingman scooted 47 yards before he was knocked out on the Midland eight. Curry sliced through tackle for the TD on the next play. Thompson converted.

On the first play from scrimmage following the kickoff, D. C. Andrews Mustang linebacker, intercepted a pass on the Midland 29.

Hooper tossed to Bob Gamel on the two and Van Baucum went over with a plunge, just like that. The conversion try failed.

Midland, never giving up, tried to move via air again following the return kick. It ended in disaster for the Bulldogs when Andrews intercepted and went 22 yards to paydirt. John Woodard booted the point.

Sweetwater led 27 to 0 at the half.

Midland received to open the third quarter but the Sweetwater defense was too much. Gilmore was forced to punt. He did it the smart way, however, quick kicking on third down and getting it over the safety man's head. The ball was downed on the Sweetwater 13.

Curry Goes

Curry picked up 18 yards on an end sweep to move the ball out. But two passes fell incomplete and a completion picked up only four yards. Hooper punted to the Midland 30 but the play was nullified by a 15-yard penalty against Midland.

The penalty moved the ball out to the Sweetwater 47. Hooper fired a 30-yard pass to Gamel on the Midland 23. He hit Cross on the 12. Baucum took a handoff and went over from there. Woodard kicked the point.

Both coaches inserted reserves in the lineup frequently during the fourth period. They did little more than battle back and forth, neither team threatening seriously.

Gilmore Great

The outstanding accomplishment for Midland was the fine punting of Reed Gilmore. He averaged 41 yards on nine boots. His defensive play in the secondary was great.

Robert Burks and Jimmy O'Neal played fine defensive ball in the secondary.

Bob Evans and Jimmy Linebarger looked good on the ends along with Dwane Bush, Harrie Smith and Graham Mackey.

Jackie Mobley made hash of the Sweetwater blockers time after time.

Dalton Byerley literally wore out the linemen opposing him. Al Baze also worked hard in the middle of the line.

Too much speed and experience with which Sweetwater was blessed made the difference.

Houston Cougars Nip West Texas State

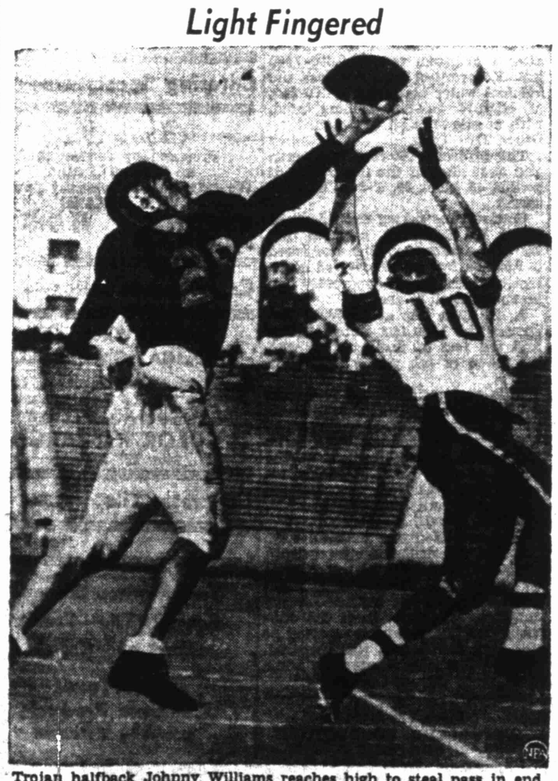

HOUSTON—(AP)— Two quick first period scores were enough for the University of Houston to defeat West Texas State 14 to 13 Saturday but the highly favored Cougars had a close call.

Houston made only one serious threat the last three periods, and had to stop West Texas inside the two-yard-line twice in the second half. A West Texas fourth period field goal attempt was wide.

Quarterback Alan Neveux kicked both of Houston's extra points. Junior Melton missed his try on the Buffaloes' first tally.

Only 12 members of the 1949 Brooklyn Dodgers were with the club when it faced the Yankees in 1947 World Series.

Light Fingered

Trojan halfback Johnny Williams reaches high to steal pass in end zone thrown by Ohio State's Vic Janowicz in fourth quarter, and intended for Halfback Ray Hamilton. Southern California played the Buckeyes to a 13-13 deadlock in Los Angeles Coliseum.

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELBURNE

The Midland 'C' Bulldogs put more than just a win in their credit column when they swamped the Brownfield C team here Thursday afternoon.

It was the first defeat Brownfield has been handed and was the first time its speedy offense had been stopped.

Jack Tabor, one of the brightest line prospects in sight, led the Midland defense. He charged a little harder and got more tackles.

—SS—

The game also produced the most unusual play we ever have witnessed in a football game.

It was no less than a passer completing a pass to himself and running it for a touchdown.

Robert Keisling tossed a jump pass over the line of scrimmage. He immediately found it back in his hands, batted there by an opposing lineman.

Keisling didn't wait to be told what to do. He cut for the sideline and raced 55 yards to a touchdown.

—SS—

We dare say the Midland Bulldogs are the only high school football team in West Texas which does not get a drink of water at any time during a game.

Not even at the half do the Bulldogs visit the water fountain. So long have they followed this practice, they don't even think of water until after the game.

Coach Tugboat Jones allows each player a Coke during the half to give him a quick shot of energy.

—SS—

The National Boxing Association rated Pat Valentino no better than fifth among the challengers for the heavyweight title before his bout with Ezzard Charles in San Francisco's Cow Palace Friday night.

The fight reminds us of the one Joe Louis had with some guy named Jack Roper soon after the Brown Bomber took over the title.

Could either of them have found a better setup anywhere?

—SS—

While we are comparing things, this comes to mind.

For the first time in history the board of directors of the Philadelphia Athletics has gone against the will of Connie Mack. The 86-year-old field marshal of the A's did not see eye to eye with the directors on the firing of Coaches Al Simmons and Earl Brucker.

Does that mean Mack is on the way out via the method used to oust another aged but capable sports figure, A. A. Stagg.

Stagg was eased out at the College of Pacific through the pointed suggestion he take over an inactive roll as athletic director. He moved out lock, stock and overcoat.

If the same thing comes to Connie Mack, we wouldn't be surprised to see him take a similar action.

Crane Romps Over Alpine By 40-13

CRANE — The Golden Cranes picked the Alpine Buckeyes to pieces here Friday night in a 40 to 13 rout. It was a non-conference game.

Crane took the opening kickoff and drove straight down the field for a touchdown. John Clark made the score.

Stacey passed to Pemister later in the first period for the second counter.

In the second quarter Richard Lightfoot broke away 40 yards for a Crane touchdown. He scored again later in the second frame on a pass from Stacey.

Clark Presley kicked three first-half extra points.

Bobby Higdon scored on a one-yard advance early in the third quarter and Hickey went over for the final Crane TD.

Alpine scored all its 13 points in the fourth quarter.

Charles Kayoes Pat Valentino To Retain Heavyweight Crown

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Lean, trim Ezzard Charles still is the National Boxing Association's heavyweight champion. Pat Valentino of San Francisco is the beaten challenger.

The Cincinnati negro, a swift footed, sharp punching 182-pounder, knocked out mop-haired Valentino in 35 seconds of the eighth round of their scheduled 15-rounder Friday night at the San Francisco Cow Palace. Valentino weighed 188 1/2.

The first heavyweight championship battle held in this area in forty years, it was a slamban, fight that had the record crowd of 19,590 fans cheering wildly at times.

Charles crushed Valentino's title hopes with a smashing right to the jaw. The challenger, who had exchanged blow for blow in furious rallies, went down with a thud. He tried to stagger to his feet but fell back again as Referee Jack Downey finished the ten count.

It was Charles' second successful defense since he beat Joe Walcott to win NBA recognition as successor to Joe Louis last June. The titleholder stopped Gus Lesnevich in August.

Army Overpowers Harvard 54 To 14

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(AP)— Continuing its drive to the nation's highest football peak, mighty Army, with its supposedly ailing Gil Stephenson scoring four times, overwhelmed an out-manned but hard fighting Harvard team 54-14 Saturday at the stadium.

The Cadets' terrific power shocked the 48,000 crowd that viewed the most humiliating defensive stand Harvard has made during its long history. The previous highest score against it was Yale's 48-0 victory back in 1884.

The Cadets scored three times in both the first and second sessions, were blanked in the third and then, with a breath-taking demonstration of the attack that toppled mighty Michigan last week, added two more touchdowns in the finale.

Jim Cain accounted for two of the eight Army touchdowns and the others were made by Vic Pollard and Elmer Stout. The latter's was the most spectacular play of the game, a 76-yard dash with an intercepted pass.

Oklahoma Sooners Crush Kansas 48-26

NORMAN, OKLA.—(AP)— A relentless ground-gaining attack swept Oklahoma over Kansas 48-26 Saturday for the Sooners' fourteenth straight victory.

George (Junior) Thomas, Oklahoma's smashing right half, scored four of Oklahoma's seven touchdowns.

The victory wasn't as decisive as pre-game predictions of a duplication of last year's 60-7 triumph over Kansas.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 3 team, scored twice in the first quarter and picked up at least one touchdown in each of the other three.

Stanton Buffaloes Maul Bronte 21 To 0

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes put the business to a tough Bronte eleven 21 to 0 here Friday night in a District 8-B game.

R. S. Higgins, Leroy Gibson and Gerald Koonce scored for the Buffs.

Stanton led in all statistics and soundly out-played the Steers all the way.

Twenty new Maytag washers have been installed in the new, modern and spacious plant. Plenty of clean, filtered, soft water and the highest quality soaps will be featured.

Jennings said persons who visit the new washateria will be pleased with the many conveniences and delighted with "this new, quick and more thrifty way of changing your wash day into play day." Assistants will be on hand to carry bundles to and from cars.

A new building houses the new business establishment.

Paving Hearing Is Scheduled Tuesday

A public hearing on Midland's Group B paving program is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the City Hall.

A list of the 150 blocks included in the project and costs of the street paving was published last week by the city, along with an official notice of the hearing.

The cost of the Group B paving is the same as in Group A, which now is nearing completion. The two groups are the initial projects in Midland's proposed 500-block paving program.

A contract for the Group B paving has been awarded to Brown and Root, Inc., Houston. The firm also is doing the Group A work.

SMU-RICE FRESHMEN BATTLE TO 0-0 TIE

DALLAS —(AP)— The freshman teams of Rice and Southern Methodist University battled to a scoreless tie here Friday.

The SMU team reached Rice's 25-yard line or deeper six times and the Owlets threatened twice.

Kermit Is Held To Tie By Andrews

ANDREWS — The Andrews Mustangs came from behind late in the fourth quarter here Friday night to tie the Kermit Yellowjackets 12 to 12 in the feature game of the week in District 5-A. The two teams are battling for first place.

The tilt was even in every respect. Down to the statistics there wasn't enough difference to squabble about.

Kermit opened the scoring with a touchdown in the second period. Quarterback Jim Horry passed 25 yards to End Jack Smith who went all the way from the Andrews 45 for the counter.

On the return kickoff, Andrews' Halfback Jack Smith gathered the ball in on his own 10 and evaded all tacklers to score on a brilliant 90-yard return. The try for point failed and the half ended with the score tied at 6-6.

Kermit Scores Again

After holding for downs on its one-yard line late in the third period, Kermit took over and marched 99 yards to a score early in the fourth. Rick Spinks broke away for 22 yards to cross the goal line. The try for point was blocked.

In the closing minutes of the game, Andrews staged a determined drive to within scoring range. Kermit held for three downs on the one but Don Floyd circled end for the six-pointer on fourth down. A pass for the extra point went incomplete.

Both teams had 12 first downs. Kermit had 182 yards rushing to 161 for Andrews. Yardage by passes was 65 to 58 with Andrews holding the edge.

TCU Frogs Batter Texas A&M 28-6

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Texas Christian concentrated its scoring punch into two periods Saturday to whip Texas A&M 28-6.

Two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and two more in the third enabled the Horned Frogs to win their first home game since they beat the Aggies here in 1947.

Big John Morton powered an eight-play, 58-yard march for the Frogs' first touchdown and Dan Wilde, moments later, returned Yale Lary's punt 61 yards for another.

Lindy Berry, the Frogs' potent passer, took to the air in the third period to connect with Jack Archer and Wilde on touchdown passes that more than offset one scored by the Aggies' Glenn Lippman in the second quarter.

Homer Ludiker booted four extra points to boost TCU's winning margin. Bob Shaeffer missed A&M's attempted conversion.

The Aggies were willing, but not able, to cope with the tough Texas Christian line. Only the mistake of this forward wall—being offside—kept the score from being at least one touchdown higher. The penalty rubbed out a Berry-to-George Boal payoff pass in the second period.

Pass Intercepted

Max Eubanks intercepted Don Nicholas' pass on the third play of the game and before an estimated crowd of 30,000 the Frogs were off.

Morton accounted for 56 of the 58 yards in this drive, including the last few inches.

After A&M lost ground trying to gain, Lary kicked to Wilde. Behind beautiful blocking, he scampered 61 yards down the left sidelines to the end zone.

A&M got one of those scores back in the second, when it drove 69 yards with Lippman climaxing the march with a three-yard line plunge.

Then, in the third, Berry opened up. He completed four consecutive passes for 58 yards, the last going to Archer for 15 yards and a touchdown.

Later this quarter, he completed three of four attempts for another tally, the payoff in a six play series going 20 yards to Wilde.

San Angelo Beats Cisco Lobos 70 To 7

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Bobcats ran wild here Friday night in whipping the Cisco Lobos 70 to 7 in a non-conference grid tilt.

The Pups struck early. Bill Dillard ran seven yards for a TD. He tabbed another on a four-yard canter in the third stanza.

Stu Chancellor galloped seven yards for the second touchdown in the second quarter.

Chancellor hit Brownlow Parmelly with a 10-yard pass in the early fourth quarter and the end sprinted on 15 more yards for the marker. Also in the fourth, Chancellor plopped one complete to Gary Roberson for a TD.

Harlan Scott tabbed a safety for Midland.

Dillard ran over two extra points and Chancellor one.

Trinity Tigers End 18-Game Win Streak For Sul Ross Lobos

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)— One of the best small college records in the state—18 games without defeat—came to an end here Saturday afternoon before a thin crowd of about 3,000.

Trinity knocked Sul Ross from the unbeaten ranks with a smashing 20 to 14 triumph. It should have been worse. The Tigers frittered away two more scoring opportunities and had one TD called back.

The Uncle Bill James-coached Tigers sped away to a 7-0 lead when Gerald Levermann passed 32 yards to Ike Meador. Ralph Curtis converted. Sul Ross tied it up in the second when Ted Schown bulled over from the two. Charles Boyles kicked the equalizer.

Before the half, Trinity scored again on Levermann's flicker handoff to Herb Falkenberg. Falkenberg roared over from the 11. Curtis again converted.

On the first play of the third period, the Lobos—unbeaten since Oct. 30, 1947—sent J. M. Harrell over from two feet out.

Boyles' kick bounced through for 14-14. Moments later on the 27, Leverman pitched to Jack Chambliss on the six. Chambliss steamed over. Curtis' try was blocked.

Monahans Lobos Top Denver City 18-0

DENVER CITY—The Monahans Lobos dominated play all the way here Friday night as they bounced the Denver City Mustangs 18 to 0 in a conference game.

Leonard Perryman scored two touchdowns for the Lobos, crossing the double stripe in the second and fourth quarters.

Carl Chumney galloped 90 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter.

Earl (Red) Blaik, now in his ninth season as Army football coach, has held the post longer than any of his 22 predecessors.

It would be hard to call anything taken from this Arizona stream by Dorothy Jewell, 19, of Phoenix a poor fish. Who wouldn't want to be caught?

Steers Rally To Beat Hogs 27-14

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—(AP)—Favored Texas, shocked by two early Arkansas touchdowns, rode back on the throwing arm of Paul Campbell to snare a 27-14 Southwest Conference victory here Saturday.

A crowd of about 30,000 which sat out the offensive thriller in War Memorial Stadium watched the inspired Razorbacks of Arkansas capitalize on breaks to grab a 14-0 lead in the first 17 minutes.

But it was Campbell and Texas from then on.

Campbell not only pitched two touchdown passes, but it was his six straight completions in the second quarter which snapped the Longhorns out of their early lethargy and opened up the Razorback defense so that the Texas running attack would click, too.

Campbell connected on 14 of 23 tosses for 257 yards.

Logue Produces

Don Logue, sophomore quarterback, produced both Arkansas touchdowns, sneaking through right guard four yards for the first near the end of the opening period and passing six yards to End Pat Summerall for the other in the second quarter.

Arkansas suffered a tough blow when it lost its powerhouse Fullback Leon (Muscles) Campbell through an injury while still leading in the third quarter.

Texas outrushed Arkansas by one yard, 150 to 149, but just wouldn't have been in the game without Paul Campbell's throwing and the ever-present ability of his receivers to get into the clear.

The Texas quarterback threaded a bullet toss down the middle 19 yards to Paul Williams for the visitors' first touchdown.

Porker Pass Taken

Trailing 7-14 going into the third quarter, the Texans rushed 32 yards to another score after intercepting an Arkansas pass. Byron Townsend went the final two yards, but Randall Clay's kick was blocked and the Razorbacks still led by a point.

After a minute of the final quarter, Campbell passed 25 yards to End Ben Proctor, who ran 20 more yards untouched. Six minutes later, Texas intercepted another Arkansas toss and was on its way again. Lewis Levine drove five yards for the score.

Clay booted Texas' three extra points. He also was the Longhorns' leading ball carrier, netting 84 yards on 13 tries.

California Springs Last Minute Upset To Torpedo Trojans

BERKELEY, CALIF.—(AP)—With a thrilling 102-yard touchdown run in the final quarter, California's Bears came from behind to chalk up a 16 to 10 upset victory over the Southern California Trojans Saturday in their crucial Coast Conference football game.

Left Halfback Frank Brunk, just off the injured list, caught a Trojan kickoff behind his own goal. He started back down the middle, picked up fine interference and raced through the whole Trojan team for the winning tally.

Jim Cullom added his second conversion and California had posted what turned out to be the winning marker.

Safety For Clincher

With only seconds to play, California clinched the game with a safety for two more points. Southern California's quarterback, Wilbur Robertson, was trapped behind the goal.

California, outcharging the big Trojan team, had scored a second period touchdown and maintained its lead until early in the last quarter.

Then a 61-yard march put the Trojans into a 7-7 tie.

Frank Gifford became a temporary hero shortly after, when he booted the oval through for a 13-yard field goal. It put Southern California into a 10-7 lead with four minutes to go.

Rice Owls Smash SMU Mustangs In Last-Half Splurge

DALLAS —(AP)— Southern Methodist's Southwestern Conference football empire crashed Saturday night before the power of the Rice Owls 41-27.

The team that had won two Southwest Conference championships in a row and lost only one game in two and a half seasons took a terrific beating from a Rice team, sparked by Passer Tobin Rote and driving, twisting runs of Bobby Lantrip and Gordon Wyatt.

Rice roared back from a 6-14 half-time deficit to all but run SMU out of the Cotton Bowl, where 72,000 fans — the largest crowd ever to see a southwest conference game—watched the awesome power of the men in blue.

Not since 1945 had any team scored as many as 41 points on Southern Methodist. The great Randolph Field team of that time turned the trick. It was the most points ever made on SMU in a conference game.

Doak Walker Injured

Rice did it with All-America Doak Walker sidelined most of the last half. Walker was injured in a pile-up on the sidelines, being knocked into a wheel chair in which a war veteran was watching the game. Rice was penalized 15 yards for roughness. Walker played little afterward and never did carry the ball again.

Southern Methodist entered the game rated tenth nationally and Rice, which had lost to Louisiana State, was the underdog. SMU was a seven and one-half-point favorite.

But while Walker played his usual All-America game while in there, Rice had the better team and deserved to win.

Rote completed 10 passes out of 21 thrown for 162 yards while his mates whammed the line and ran the ends for 164. Southern Methodist had 163 on the ground and 226 in the air.

'B' Bulldogs Defeated

LUBBOCK — An outclassed Midland 'B' Bulldog eleven took a 59 to 12 drubbing from the Lubbock 'B' team here Saturday night.

Midland struck in the second period on a 15-yard pass from Harold Hensley to Leo Hatfield to climax a 60-yard drive.

Dan Black went over from the one after a 45-yard drive in the fourth quarter. Both conversion trys failed.

Black, Hensley, Jimmy Adams and Robert Melton played fine ball in the backfield.

Air Forces Test New DDT Spray Bomb

Developed recently by the Air Forces Aero-Medical Laboratory and demonstrated to officials of the Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Md., is a new technique for spraying infested areas with DDT solution. Attached beneath the wings of an L-13 liaison plane are small bomb-shaped tanks carrying 25 gallons of insecticide. Tiny holes in the blades of wind-driven propellers release the fluid in spray form over a 150-foot-wide swath. The simple external mounting of the aerial bombs permits quick conversion of the plane to the other uses. During recent demonstrations the L-13, flying 80 miles per hour at 25 feet altitude, sprayed a swath of land 150 feet wide and eight miles long in six minutes. Spray tanks were then dismounted in five minutes.

Sales Opportunity

A well-known Brewery whose product is now sold and favorably accepted in Midland is seeking the services of a man between the ages of 25 and 40. The man we are looking for is possibly employed at present; but, for good reasons, he wishes to make a change that offers an excellent opportunity with a substantial salary and bonus arrangement. He possibly has been selling a packaged product to retail dealers; and, while actual beer experience might be desirable, it is not necessarily essential. He can present an outstanding sales performance, and we ask that you give us your qualification and tell us in your letter that you are the man we are seeking. Enclose recent snapshot. On Wedding Trip

Mrs. William Hoyle McCright, Jr.

Peel-McCright Vows Spoken In Lubbock

An evening marriage was solemnized Saturday for Modell Peel and William Hoyle McCright, Jr., both of Midland, in the home of her mother, Mrs. Pauline Peel, in Lubbock. After a wedding trip the couple will return to a home here.

The Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Lubbock, officiated for the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, T. A. Peel of Lubbock.

Her sister, Nell Peel, was her maid of honor, and Jay Edwards of Midland was the best man. Wedding music, before and during the ceremony, was by Nona Martin of Lubbock, pianist.

Gold And White Flowers

The bride wore a grey wool suit with navy accessories and a corsage of white flowers, and was hatless. Her attendant was dressed in blue taffeta with pink flowers in a corsage. Gold and white chrysanthemums with greenery decorated the home for the ceremony and the reception that followed.

Mrs. C. E. Killian, sister of the bride, and Mrs. T. A. Peel served the wedding cake and punch at the informal reception. The couple left on a trip to New Mexico and Colorado, Mrs. McCright wearing the suit in which she was married.

They will reside at 204 West New York Street after the trip. Both have been employed here, she with John J. Redfern, Jr., and he with The First National Bank. The bride attended Lubbock High School and Draughan's Business College, and the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCright of Rotan, was graduated from Rotan High School. He had several months of service in the United States Navy.

Style Show Given At Luncheon For Golf Association

A style show by French Heels club models was the program for the Ladies Golf Association luncheon Friday in the Midland Country Club. Mrs. Arch Clevenger and Mrs. Bert Goodman were hostesses to the group.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used for the centerpiece of the center table and pyracantha and Autumn leaves were used down the sides of this table and on the other tables.

Mrs. M. R. Hayes presided in the absence of Mrs. A. Knickerbocker, president, and announced there will be no meeting Friday but that October 28 will be progressive bridge day with Mrs. Tex Carleton and Mrs. Mike Brumbelow as hostesses.

Clothes modeled were from Grammer-Murphey and models were Mrs. Bob Conkling, Mrs. Evans Dunn, Mrs. Vergyl Ryan, Mrs. John Ed Cooper, Mrs. Paul Jordan, Mary Jo Morrison and Jo Winders.

District Art Award Won By Modern Club

Announcement of a district award won by the Modern Study Club for work of the 1948-49 season was received by Mrs. F. R. Schenck, president, in a letter Friday from Mrs. Walter Scott Douglas of San Angelo, chairman of the Penny Art Fund of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The award was made to "the one club in the Eighth District having done the most to promote interest in art," and the club will receive an oil painting which will be presented during the annual TFWC convention in Austin November 16-18.

Such an award in each TFWC district every year is one of the purposes of the Penny Art Fund. Basis of the prize is a report of the club's activities in the field of art, made by answering a questionnaire. Mrs. Harrie A. Smith was art chairman in the Modern Study Club last year and is serving again this year.

Study And Exhibits

Mrs. Schenck has not planned to attend the state convention, but hopes that a member of the club may be present to receive the painting when the awards are made. She was not informed of the subject of the painting, nor the name of the artist.

Programs on art and displays of art were included in the club course last season, and it also sponsored an antique and hobby show open to the public. Members presented one program on American art, with display of a copy of a print or painting required in answer to roll call. A guest, Mrs. Robert L. Clarke, spoke on another date with the subject, "What to Look for in a Picture," illustrating her talk with pictures from an exhibit of oils and pastels by members of the Palette Club.

Another program included a talk on American pottery with a showing of ancient and modern pottery. The club also displayed at one meeting a group of serigraphs from a national collection, brought to Midland by the American Association of University Women. Observance of American Art Week and contribution to the Penny Art Fund completed its art activities.

Presbyterian Women Of District Meet In Midland Church

Talks on missions and other phases of the church program were heard by 73 women from Presbyterian Churches of District Two, El Paso Presbytery, who met in the First Presbyterian Church of Midland Friday. Big Spring was selected as the place for the annual conference next Fall.

A contribution of $25 to the Presbyterial scholarship fund was voted. This fund aids young women to be trained for Christian service. A nominating committee for next year's officers was appointed with Mrs. B. A. Healy of Odessa as chairman, Mrs. W. P. Knight of Midland and Mrs. E. J. Brooks of Big Spring as members.

The Rev. Andrew Allison, a missionary recently returned after many years of service in China, was the luncheon speaker. "Missions at the Grass Roots" was the subject of the morning address by Mrs. Brooks, in keeping with the conference theme, "Strengthening the Grass Roots."

Other Speakers

Mrs. R. L. Foulks, former Midland resident who is now field represen-

PASTOR TO ADDRESS WMS

The Rev. J. F. Dolan, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist Church in Odessa, will speak on missionary work at a meeting of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary Society at 3:15 p.m. Monday in the Recreational Building of the church. A business meeting also will be held and all members are urged to attend.

Woman's Club To Hear Talk

Presenting a past president of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs as speaker, the Midland Business and Professional Women's Club will be hostess for the October meeting of the Midland Woman's Club at a luncheon Saturday.

Marguerite Anderson of Abilene will give the address. Her subject will be the theme of National Business Woman's Week, which is just closing, "Boost Your Town — It Boosts You." Miss Anderson is the librarian at Abilene Christian College, and is serving the state B&PW Federation this year as chairman of the screening committee.

The luncheon will begin at 1 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel. Dick Looby is chairman of the club committee on public affairs, which is in charge of prepartions, with Frances Carter, Frances Ford and Sue Simms as other members. Miss Looby will introduce the speaker.

All members of the Midland Woman's Club, including those enrolled in affiliated clubs as well as individual members, are invited to the luncheon. Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, president, will be in charge of business.

Originally planned for October 15, during Business Women's Week, the meeting was postponed a week so Miss Anderson could appear as the speaker.

B&PW Club To Entertain At Teachers' Tea

Faculty members of the Midland Public Schools will be honor guests at an annual tea given by the Business and Professional Women's Club Sunday afternoon as the final event of National Business Women's Week observance.

The tea, from 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday, will be in the home of Cordelia and Fannie Bess Taylor, 405 North A Street. Acting as hostesses will be members of the education and vocation committee, Una Elliott, Kitti Davenport, Ima Harris, Vera Storey and Madeline Abbott.

Tea In Byrne Home Honors Parish Women

A wood fire and a table in Autumn colors were used for decorations when the Mother's Club of St. Ann's Church entertained women of the parish Friday afternoon at a tea in the home of Mrs. George Byrne, 1607 West Holloway Street.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth and the centerpiece was a bouquet of yellow carnations in a silver bowl. Two three-branch candelabra holding yellow candles stood on either side of the centerpiece.

The silver tea service was at one end of the table and a crystal punch bowl filled with deep red punch at the other. Other table appointments were silver and crystal. Bowls of chrysanthemums were used in other parts of the house, and corsages of pryacantha and chrysanthemums were worn by members of the house party.

House Party Members

Mrs. Byrne and Mrs. Louis Chase were in the receiving line and Mrs. Ralph Geisler was at the guest book. Mrs. J. J. O'Neill and Mrs. Dan Lillis served the coffee and Mrs. Hugh Munn and Mrs. Vester Collins the punch.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Joe Cannon, Mrs. Tom Eddleman, Mrs. Fred Burleson, Mrs. James Price, Mrs. Pat Manna, Mrs. Dale Trumbley, Mrs. Ralph Chambers, Mrs. Joe Brodigan, Mrs. Mike Brumbelow and Mrs. T. R. Wright, who was in charge of the tea.

This was the yearly social of the club, which has as one of its goals for the year some sort of social for the entire parish.

All amateur gardeners of Midland, whether or not they are members of a garden club, are invited by the city's six garden clubs to plan entries for the annual Fall Flower Show of November 2.

Men as well as women are urged to enter choice specimen blooms in the cultural competition, or to enter arrangements. There will be a separate show division for junior gardeners.

County-Grown Flowers

Flowers entered in the cultural classes must have been grown by the exhibitor, but flowers for arrangements may be borrowed, although they must have been grown in Midland County.

Schedule sheets giving the rules and entry classifications have been prepared, and prospective entrants may obtain copies from the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Ribbons will be awarded to individual winners, and there will be two sweepstakes prizes, one in the cultural division and the other in the arrangement division.

In addition to the entries by individuals, each of the garden clubs in Midland will enter a Thanksgiving dinner table arrangement in another division of the show. Awards will be made in this division.

Final plans for staging the show and carrying out its theme are to be made when the staging committee, headed by Mrs. Charles Sherwood, meets this week. Time of the called meeting is to be announced by the chairman.

All the garden clubs of the city are cooperating in the annual show. They are the Midland, Yucca, Tejas, Perennial, Pyracantha and Senisa Garden Clubs, and the Little Diggers, junior club.

The group will meet for luncheon at 1 p.m. in the church and the book review will begin about 2:15 p.m. All persons interested in the review are invited to hear it.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hall are in Midland for a short visit with his parents before returning to Del Rio.

Home Wedding Read For Midland Couple

Sylvia King Malone and Bill Green, both of Midland, were married Saturday evening in the bride's home, 700 South Loraine Street. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. King and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Green of Marlowe, Okla.

The Rev. Lennol Hester, pastor of the Asbury Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony before a mantel covered with an arrangement of white asters and gladiolus. Floor candalabra stood on either side of the mantel with white asters tied with satin bows at the base of each candle holder.

Marion Richardson sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "Always" (Berlin). She was accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. John A. Richardson, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. George Miles of Odessa, the bride's sister, was matron of honor and Miles was best man. Sue King, also a sister of the bride, and Dolores Foreman lighted the candles.

Coffee-Tan Dress

The bride wore a street-length dress of coffee-tan crepe with long sleeves, a v-neck and a fitted bodice shirred down either side. A gathered skirt fell from the pointed waist and was covered with an over-skirt of coffee-colored lace which was hiplength in the back and extended to a point at the hem in front. She carried a white prayer book topped with white rosebuds tied with lovers' knots of white satin ribbon which fell in streamers from the book. Her accessories were dark brown and she wore a small feather hat.

Mrs. Miles wore a dark aqua crepe dress with three-quarter length sleeves, a high neck and a full skirt. Her accessories were also brown and her corsage was yellow asters.

Mrs. King, the bride's mother, wore a grey crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters.

Reception Held

A reception was held after the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and the appointments were silver and crystal. The cake was two-tiered and was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. It also had small cupids around each tier. The table centerpiece was of white asters and feverfew.

The bride and bridegroom, her parents, and the matron of honor and best man stood in the receiving line. Others in the house party were Madeline Dixon and Mrs. Ivan Scherr of Midland. They wore white aster corsages.

After a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home at 909 North Loraine Street. Mrs. Green is a graduate of Midland High School and is employed by Sinclair Oil and Gas Company. Green was graduated from Marlowe High School and the University of Oklahoma at Norman. He has lived in Midland a year and is an accountant for The Western Company.

Dinner Will Start Civic Music Drive

Workers who will enroll members in the Midland Civic Music Association this week will be entertained at a kickoff dinner in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel Monday night before they start the annual campaign Tuesday morning.

The dinner, starting at 7 p.m., will be for all division chairmen, captains and workers. They will receive instructions and material for the campaign.

Richard Hughston, president of the association, will be toastmaster. Speakers will be Joe Koegler, Mrs. J. E. Beakey, Mrs. Albert Kelley and Don E. Hopkins, Jr. The invocation will be by the Rev. Clyde Lindsley, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Beakey and Mrs. Kelley are organization chairmen for the membership campaign, and Hopkins represents the Civic Concert Service.

More Members Allowed

Officers of the association expect all available memberships to be sold during the week, which is the one time of the year they may be obtained. The Civic Music Association had its first season in Midland last year, and memberships were sold out the second day.

However, the number of members is much larger this year, as the new Midland High School Auditorium is to be used for the concerts and it will seat 1,800 persons. Last season the list was limited to the seating capacity of the old auditorium.

A membership entitles the holder to attend all the concerts booked for the season. The program is arranged after memberships are sold. No single admissions are available to any concert.

Workers Are Listed

Mrs. Beakey and Mrs. Kelley have announced the complete list of workers as follows: Frank Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Michener, Clyde Parmelly, Richard Slight, Jere Bass, Mary Jo McReynolds, Mrs. Delbert Downing, Dorothy

Secretary Is Nuisance Says Business Man

By EDWARD S. KITCH
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—H. P. Edgar is the nom de plume of a Chicago business man. He used the pseudonym because he expressed his personal opinions about office secretaries in rather tart terms.

A few of his comments, penned under the title of "Goodby, Miss Jones" for a commercial magazine, are:

"Some 40 years ago I was elevated to the dignity of a private office . . . and a private secretary. Until recently I have shared a common belief of many business men that stenographers are necessary. But I have made a great discovery. Secretaries are not only unnecessary, they are an outright nuisance.

Are Nuisances

". . . I have discovered that (1) secretaries drive you, (2) distract you, (3) baby you, (4) cramp your style, and (5) take charge. I have found furthermore, that secretaries keep people out and let people in—the wrong people; that they lose things, misunderstand you, get things wrong; that they make appointments for you that you wish they hadn't . . . they create maddening detail, and in no time have a vested interest in the office and in you. I repeat; they are a nuisance.

"The chief trouble with secretaries is that most of them are women. True, some of them are decorative, but are we in business for art and fancy work or for cash?

And note this, women are sinister. They want you to take them out to dinner, and if you are not on constant guard they marry you. They despise the idea of a man running his life. They want to oversee your diet, your etiquette, your address list and, worst of all, they pry. Back to the good old days, when we kept them out of the office.

". . . My indictment is by no means concluded. Secretaries are noisy; they talk. Secretaries are nosy; they pry. They are vain; they primp. They want curtains on windows instead of memoranda to yourself. They want carpets instead of spittoons on the floor. They are confirmed clock watchers, gum chewers, umbrage takers. They are always telephoning, or playing kittenish, and all too often they are right and you are wrong."

Edgar supports his remarks with quotes from literary observers like this one by Sir Oliver Twinkle. In "No Widows for Mine," he said: "People wouldn't be half so busy if they weren't so busy about nothing. A bureaucrat and a secretary are principally concerned in making work for the rest of us."

A footnote by the editor of "Commerce Magazine" explains: "Mr. Edgar's warning against matrimonial-minded secretaries is voiced against a background of experience; he married his!"

Social Situations

SITUATION: You disagree with a statement made in a social conversation.

WRONG WAY: Say: "You're wrong" or "Where did you get that idea?"

RIGHT WAY: Prove your point with facts or a logical argument—but do it politely.

Nice Approach Gets Service

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"Because she had such a nice approach, I dug away for 20 minutes in the stock room to find those gold kid sandals for her."

I overheard one shoe salesman make this remark to another.

Since the customer of this shoe department was still around, I moved closer to her to see if I could find out what her "nice approach" was.

One clue was evident when she took her package and thanked the salesman with a friendliness so warm that it cast a glow over them both. She knew that he had taken trouble to satisfy her particular demand for a kind of merchandise which was not too available, and she expressed her gratitude.

Got In Elevator

I found another clue to her "nice approach" when this woman and I waited to enter a crowded elevator. She hesitated before entering—even backed back instead of lunging forward as most of the women who waited did—and said to the elevator starter with a captivating smile: "If you're too crowded, I'll wait for the next car."

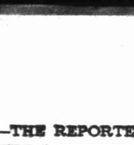

Her "nice approach" won her a spot in that car. The hard-boiled elevator man, who evidently was as impressed by it as the shoe salesman, made room for her by yelling at the other passengers to step back in the car.

These two clues to this woman's "nice approach" were the only ones I sleuthed down. But no more were needed to convince me that friendliness and charm like hers pays off. If her nice approach won her a hard-to-find pair of shoes and a spot in a crowded elevator, just think what else it wins for her!

When you are preparing liver and bacon, fry the bacon first and drain it on brown paper or a paper towel or napkin. Then when the liver has been put in the pan and the slices have been turned once, put the bacon on top of the slices so it will keep hot as the liver finishes cooking.

French Eating Is Broadening

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

PARIS—Travel in France this year is broadening. Literally.

There's plenty of food, and the old French skillet skills have not been lost. Consequently, one finds oneself—that means me—eating in quantity and richness one wouldn't dream of at home.

For instance, there's a little item called creme fraiche, which as would be suspected translates as "fresh cream." It is not fresh cream, however, but just a tiny bit soured. It is a rare and special treat. Raspberries are delicious in Paris this season, and my favorite dessert is a dish of same, covered with this snowy white and thick stuff.

Sauces Are Tasty

A friend with a weekend farm in Normandy brought be a gift of creme. Previously he had told me of the best bakery shop in Paris, where I'd purchased delicious, airy brioche, a special kind of French bread. Then I'd found some homemade apricot preserve. The result was a Norman specialty—brioche, covered with apricot, topped with creme. And this for an American who never eats sweets at home.

Then there are the sauces, delicate and tasty. At lunch at the famous Coq Hardy just outside Paris, I added to my avoirdupois with a langouiste newburg. Langouiste is a member of the lobster family but preferred to lobster by the French.

It has a more delicate flavor, they say. But the newburg part of the dish was the triumph, delicately flavored with a whisper of cheese, sauce of the right consistency and beautifully blended.

Adventure Ahead

Or, still another day, the duck cooked with orange juice and orange slices at the Berlioz, a fairly new restaurant not far from the Arch of Triumph. And I'll never forget their frog legs, rich in garlic and well worth being a social menace for the pleasure of eating.

There's still adventure in eating ahead, too. Before leaving I'm going to have chicken "in mourning," a Lyonnaise specialty. (The area in the vicinity of Lyon, gourmets report, is the land of the world's best cooking, native province of Brillat-Savarin.) The trick in this dish is the introduction of sliced truffles under the skin of the fowl, which sends the flavor throughout — and darkens the skin.

Talk Is About Food

There's a major preoccupation with food in this country, and everyone takes a two-hour-for-luncheon period. Conversations may swing around economic problems, whether there will be another war, and so on. But after a little while, someone starts talking about good food or tossing out little bits of cooking information. The other night there was a good half-hour conversation on the exact advantages of cooking lobsters, langouiste and crabs in fresh sea water, as opposed to salted fresh water. The consensus, 100 per cent in fact, was that sea water had special properties which brought out shell fish flavors, where fresh water drained away these flavors.

No matter how much fun, the business of being even a part-time gastronome in this post-war Paris is an expensive business.

It's probably more expensive to eat fancy meals here than it is in the best restaurants in New York City—but not many of us go in for $5 luncheons at home. But we do here, and then are a little appalled at prices.

Tweed Casuals In Happy Union

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Wedded this Fall in a happy union of tweed are coats and dresses made for each other.

The new importance of casual clothes for daytime wear — worn until 5 o'clock when the little black frock comes on the scene — is underscribed his Fall by the fur-trimmed coat of tweed and its matching dress.

The tweed coat which takes fur often shows its preference for beaver. Beaver's silvery pile is tied scarf-style around the neckline of one full-length coat and on another is massed pockets as big as a mailman's pouch.

Worn Loose Or Belted

The beaver-pocket coat of heather tweed may be worn loose or belted with a brown snake-skin belt. Eisenberg, its designer, ensembles it with a dress of matching tweed. The dress is simply tailored with unpressed skirt pleats, a round "jewelry neckline" and push-up sleeves.

The coat with the beaver scarf is made of rust-colored tweed; it is fitted and buttoned up with 'knots" of antiqued gold. Eisenberg, the matchmaker, also teams this one with a classically tailored dress.

Likes U. S. Ways—

After Three Years, Bride From Italy Is Midland Enthusiast

By SUE COLEMAN

Friendly people who say "Hello" even when they don't know you, and supermarkets where you reach into the shelves and help yourself to all sorts of merchandise, are two of the features of life in Midland which Mrs. Malcolm Brenneman still likes best now that she has been here nearly three years from her native Italy.

Those were things that impressed her when she first came to the United States, able to speak very little English, in January of 1947. She made the trip, which required 21 days, to marry the American soldier whom she had met two years earlier in Florence, her home city.

The Brennemans were married in Alpine and came here to live. They reside at 606 West Illinois Street and now have a 19-month old daughter, dark-eyed Brenda.

English Without Study

Mrs. Brenneman speaks English well now, although she has not studied it—just learned by listening and practicing. There still is a definite Italian accent in her speech, and sometimes she stops for a minute in search of a particular word, but she has mastered the language well enough that she was able to accept the invitation of a Parent-Teacher Association here last Spring to tell its members about home life in her native country.

She is an enthusiastic Midlander, declaring that she would be happy to spend the remainder of her life here—with visits to her family in Italy, of course. Her parents and two sisters still live in Florence and she wants to go back for a visit as soon as Brenda is old enough to make the long trip without being too tired.

In the meantime, she sends snapshots of the baby to her parents, and the Brennemans take many motion pictures of Brenda so her grandparents overseas may see her in various stages of growth. And Mrs. Brenneman plans for her daughter to learn to speak both Italian and English, so she may avoid the experience of a friend who returned for a visit to Italy with her child who spoke only English, to the great disappointment of her parents who could speak only their own language.

Learning History

Mrs. Brenneman admits that she deliberately passed up an opportunity to learn English when she was in school, enrolling for the language course and then transferring to a class in French when she decided that English was the more difficult.

"Then I did not dream that I might one day live where it was spoken," she adds. She says that it is not the grammar which is troublesome so much as the pronounciation, and cites words which are spelled the same and mean the same in Italian and English, but are pronounced very differently.

She has gained a new language without study, but now she is studying so she may meet the requirements for United State citizenship. She finds American history interesting, and is delighted that she can now ask her husband questions about it that he cannot answer. But she reflects that she has forgotten the answers to some questions in Italian history which she knew during her school days.

Not Too Different

Housekeeping in Midland offered few difficulties to the bride from Italy. She found methods not much different from those she was accustomed to, but she does appreciate the numerous electric appliances in this country.

Marketing was not easy for her until she learned more English, but it was the supermarkets that really amazed her.

"In Italy you shop for one kind of thing at each store," she explains. "Meat comes from one shop, vegetables from another, bread from another. And you tell the merchant what you want, he gets it for you and you pay for that thing."

When she accompanied a friend on her first shopping trip in this country, she noticed with surprise and delight that the shopper simply took what she wanted from the shelves and put it in her basket.

"I thought she didn't pay for anything," Mrs. Brenneman laughs, "and I thought, this country is wonderful!" She still enjoys the stores with all sorts of merchandise under one roof, although she has learned that the buyer does pay.

Saw War's Hardships

The great variety of canned foods in this country was another thing to which she had not been accustomed, but she misses the heaps of fresh fruits and vegetables which are found in Italian markets. She prefers to buy fresh vegetables and prepare them herself, when she can get them, rather than to follow the American housewife's method of buying them canned.

Food is a subject which interests Mrs. Brenneman; she learned to appreciate it during the war when it was scarce in her city. She had lived in the historic and beautiful city of Florence since she was 11 years of age, and attended schools there.

She cordially disliked the Germans who were stationed there during the war and was pleased when the Americans and English came. Some cities near Florence had been occupied by the advancing allies in a matter of hours, and the inhabitants of Florence expected the same swift withdrawal of the Germans.

However, they chose to make a stand there, and the Arno River, which divides the city north and south, was the line between the two armies for 15 days. Mrs. Brenneman's family lived on the north side of the river, so they were in the German-held section.

Meets Italian Natives

They were not permitted to buy any food, even where there was any to buy, she says, and when the food in their home was gone they lived by going into the country and getting what they could. They welcomed the end to hunger that came with the American and English, and also the friendliness shown by the soldiers in contrast to the indifferent arrogance of the Germans.

Since she has been in West Texas Mrs. Brenneman has met several other Italian natives with whom she could talk about her homeland. A young woman she had known in Florence, who also is married to an ex-GI, lives in Lubbock, near enough for occasional visits.

She enjoys meeting these compatriots and talking with travelers returned from Italy, but she is becoming more and more an American. In fact, she says that when she recently met a girl who had been in this country less than a year and could not yet speak English, she found it difficult to carry on a conversation wholly in Italian.

And she is looking forward just now to the time she will appear in a court at Pecos next Spring to take the first step toward American citizenship.

Texas' Capitol was built without the outlay of one cent in cash.

Book Stall's Tenth Anniversary Marks Decade Of Growth

The Book Stall will celebrate its tenth birthday Monday, looking back over a decade of rapid growth. When Erma Mancill bought the business ten years ago, it was merely a shelf of books located on the mezzanine floor of the Scharbauer Hotel.

It moved to larger quarters in the First National Building, then in June of 1947 to its present location, 111 North Colorado Street. The stock of books has been doubled several times; greeting cards and stationery were added to the stock as soon as there was room for them, and a line of gifts started last year has expanded into a large department. A lending library is operated in the shop, which also offers a gift wrapping service.

Mrs. Mancill came to Midland at the suggestion of friends who knew she was interested in a small business and knew also that The Book Stall was for sale.

Club Activities

She grew up in Wichita Falls, but had lived in Dallas two years before she came to Midland. She resides at 1804 West Missouri Street, is a member of the Altrusa Club and the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Without previous business experience, Mrs. Mancill found operation of the shop an interesting if often difficult job. She has become well acquainted with some of the customers and enjoys helping them with their selections, and is pleased when a former resident of Midland returns or writes back for books or other merchandise.

The stock of books, one of the largest in West Texas, brings frequent orders from out of the city, many from men who were stationed at the Midland Army Air Field during World War II. There is an especially large collection of juvenile books, games and puzzles.

Employes of the shop are often amused at the shoppers' interpretation of titles of books, but Mrs. Mancill believes the freest translation of a title came in a letter from a woman who wanted a then-popular mystery novel, "The Wedding Guest Sat on a Stone." She asked for "The Bridegroom Sat on a Rock."

Many Varied Questions

In addition to inquiries for books of all sorts, the shop is accustomed to questions on practically every subject. Apparently with the idea that persons who work among books should know all the answers, persons telephone the shop to ask about points of etiquet, sports records, home decorating problems and even, in a recent case, "Where can I get a job?"

Mrs. Mancill has noticed that shoppers always enjoy browsing in the stockroom as well as in the salesroom of the shop, and she has had shelves and counters rebuilt lately to make the rear room of the shop more convenient for customers who fail to find what they want in the salesroom.

Employes on the sales staff are Rosemary Van Hoozer, Jane McMillian and Jody Sobbato. Raymond Shaw is stock man.

Midlander's Brother Featured In Article

Harley Hays of Midland is proud of his brother, L. N. Hays of Dallas.

The Hays brother of Dallas recently was the subject of a feature story and picture in the Dallas News on occasion of his retirement as manager of the Juliette Flower Home in Dallas.

The article in part read: Hays is called an ideal parent. He is the Dallas schools best customer since more than a hundred of his children attend city schools.

"Hays first became a parent of the home (Juliette Fowler) twenty-six years ago. He was an elder in the Oak Cliff Christian Church then and a Sunday school teacher. There was vacancy on the board of directors and Hays was asked to take it. In 1938, he became secretary-treasurer of the home. In 1941, all other business forgotten, Hays added the job of home general manager."

Harley Hays of Midland lives at 809 North Loraine Street.

Fords, Mercurys To Get Automatic Transmissions

DETROIT—(AP)—Automatic transmissions will be available for Ford and Mercury automobiles some time next Summer.

The new device, developed jointly by Borg-Warner Corporation and the Ford Motor Company, is a three-speed torque converter type. A company announcement said it will be priced at "probably not over $150."

Ford already has General Motors' Hydra-Matic transmission on its Lincoln models. Ford officials said there was no present plan of replacing the Hydra-Matic with the new transmission.

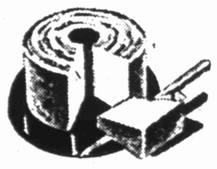

Harold T. Youngren, Ford Motor Company engineering vice president, said development work on the new Mercury - Ford transmission has been under way about four years.

The device combines a three-speed gear box with a hydraulic torque converter. This is arranged so that the engine transmits power in all gear ranges.

The transmission selector, located on the steering column, has four positions to cover all driving conditions, plus a fifth position for engaging a parking brake.

Forty-Niners Plan Hallowe'en Party

A Hallowe'en jamboree to entertain members and guests was planned for October 27 at a meeting Thursday night of the Forty-Niners Square Dance Club. Mr. and Mrs. Bub Brewer were hosts at the Midland Officers Club and Jay Johnson was guest instructor and caller for the dances.

The party was planned in a business meeting with Mrs. Rex Galloup, vice president, in charge. It was announced that members for an exhibition square dance will be elected at the next business session.

Beauty Beats Morning Paper

This bride's beauty plan triumphs over the morning newspaper for her husband's attention at breakfast. She steals an extra minute to tie a ribbon in her hair after slipping into her prettiest negligee and outlines her lips carefully with color before sitting down to pour the coffee.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The way for a bride to triumph over her breakfast table rival—the morning paper—is to look her loveliest.

No husband retreats behind a newspaper when there is the vision of a smiling, pretty wife in front of him looking as well groomed as she knows how to be.

Her breakfast-plan for beauty should allowed enough time to take a quick shower, to dress her hair simply—and maybe to steal an extra minute for tying on a ribbon—to deluster her shiny face with powder, swipe on some lipstick, and slip into a pretty negligee or housecoat.

Of the make-up hazards to avoid, one famed beautician warns brides, as well as other wives who want to avoid irritating their husbands, is surplus rouge on lips. Outline lips carefully so that rosy rings won't be transferred to linen napkins and coffee cups, light rouging followed by careful lipstick-blotting is advised.

Heavy perfume worn to the breakfast table is not a good idea, either. A brides' morning perfume should be light and airy. It may even be advisable to omit perfume until later in the day and depend for fragrance upon the delicate scent that lingers from her luxury soap and bath powder.

The Elementary leader's Manual will be taught by Jean Godfrey of the First Baptist Church and Mrs. Cecil Scrivner will teach the children's course.

Missing Costume For Minstrel Sought By Community Theater

An end man's costume, used in the minstrel show of the Community Theater production, "Runnin' Higher," last year and borrowed later, has not been returned to the theater's costume racks and is needed now for this year's show, "Up and Atom," Mrs. Lee Flood, costumes chairman, said Saturday.

She asked that whoever has the green coat return it promptly so it will not be necessary to have another one made.

Costumes from the Community Theater shows, except for ordinary clothing supplied by the actors from their own wardrobes, are kept from year to year, sometimes used again as they are and sometimes remodeled for a new production.

Garments needed are those which cannot ordinarily be given to welfare organizations or sold rummage sales, Mrs. Flood says—such things as trimmed hats, men's straw hats and derbies, formal dresses and wraps. She added that the theater always welcomes contributions of such garments for its stock.

Bread And Butter Letter Necessary

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Good manners require that a house-guest write a thank-you note to her hostess not more than a day or two after she returns home from her visit.

Don't sit at your desk racking your brains for an inspiration to guide your pen. A short sentence or two expressing your appreciation, a mention of the very good time you had, will do for an opener.

The thank-you note might include mention of pictures taken on the weekend which you are having developed or any other tid-bit of information that will interest your hostess. Such a note should be coneluded with personal regards sent to your hostess' family.

On Note Paper

"Thank-you" notes usually look best when they are hand-written on small notepaper that merely folds in half to fit inside a personal-size envelope. If you're a career girl who habitually uses a typewriter, it can also be used for writing a thank-you note.

Not necessary, but nice is the gesture of sending a small but appropriate little gift along with a note. It won't necessarily be the amount of money splurged on the gift that will put is across with your hostess. The thoughtfulness which a gift expresses plus its enticing wrappings can more than make up in personal appeal what the gift lacks in cost.

Try to choose a particularly appropriate gift: Letter paper with the host and hostess' name imprinted, trick gadgets for outdoor cooking, gardening aids or some other small present relevant to special hobbies are apt to please the recipients. What's more it may keep the welcome mat spread out for you.

Movie starlet Joan Barton who writes a gracious "thank-you" note to her week-end hostess observes the social etiquette required of a house guest.

Newest Inventions For Child Safety Help Mother Guard Against Accidents In Home

This girl's lollypop has a stick of pliable plastic designed to keep tender gums from accidents.

This new crib safety-strap is a diaperlike device that tethers baby by means of cotton straps which, secured to the crib-mattress, allow freedom for rolling and kicking.

By MARJORIE SCILKEN
NEA Staff Writer

If the newest crop of inventions that guard an infant from bedtime to playtime indicate a trend, baby's future will be safer from home accidents.

A new inexpensive baby-minder, for example, guards baby in his crib when mother's eyes must be diverted from her bouncing offspring.

The new crib safety-strap for keeping His Nibs safely tethered is a plastic-lined diaper-like device fastened at one spot to long, heavy cotton straps. These in turn are anchored to the crib mattress by cotton taping.

Secured by his strapped-down diaper, which is anchored by two safety pins, the bounciest baby is allowed plenty of roll and kick room, either on his back or on his stomach.

Nor is his safety-strapped diaper device limited to use in a crib. It may be anchored to a car seat, a plane seat or a hotel bed.

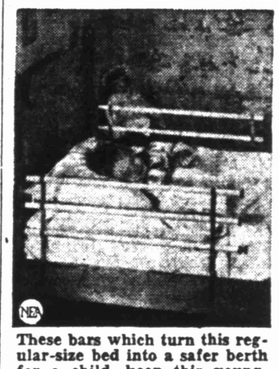

Bed Rails

To safeguard older brother or sister from unexpected tumbles from a bigger bed, pairs of triple-barred safety guards also have been designed. These go on either side of any regulation bed to convert it to a safer berth for slumbers.

Covered by either pink or blue plastic and bracketed together by chrome metal supports, such guards clamp onto the wooden rails on either side of the bed near the headboard. About 30 inches long, the bars form a guard rail that is 12 inches above the sides of the bed.

Socket Shield

An inexpensive new socket shield, designed to eliminate the hazards that threaten children who fiddle

These bars which turn this regular-size bed into a safer berth for a child, keep this youngster from falling off the bed.

with theatrical plugs, can be installed even by a mom with no knack for mechanics.

The electric cord runs through an opening in one end, while the rest of the shield completely covers the sockets. An adult can press the shield on or snap it off, but a baby or small child cannot dislocate it.

A safety idea that's good news for kids as well as parents, who worry for fear tender young gums may be speared by a lollypop stick, is a holder of flexible plastic. Actually this stick is a flat pliable strip of plastic. Tasteless, non-toxic and ultra safe, the sucker stick won't pull out of the candy pop till the last bite and is soft enough to flex under pressure to prevent jamming against a youngster's gums.

'Pieces For Peace' Are Being Packed By Church Women

Working individually or in church groups, members of the Midland Council of Church Women are preparing packages to be sent to Europe in a Church World Service program related to the observance of World Community Day.

This year the gifts will be "Pieces for Peace," packages of material suitable for making garments or for patching. Garments in good condition are not excluded from the project, but the aim is to collect 60 per cent new materials. Each package, the material folded to fit on a 15x24 inch piece of light cardboard, is wrapped in a yard and a half of blue denim which may be used for patching overalls.

World Community Day falls on November 4, but the Midland Council of Church Women will observe it on the nearest regular meeting date, October 31, when the gift packages will be dedicated.

Women in some of the member churches are preparing their packages as a group activity; the Woman's Council of the First Christian Church spent its meeting time Monday in that task. Others are working individually and will take the packages to the council meeting on October 31.

The council makes a collection of gifts yearly on World Community Day, to send overseas as a gesture of friendship. Last year the gifts were kits for children in displaced persons camps.

Plenty Of Money

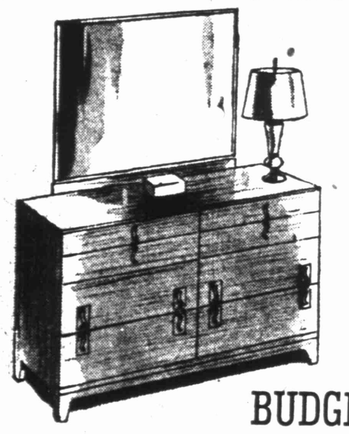

The money supply of the United States stood at $171,600,000,000 at the beginning of 1949—or roughly $1,150 per person. The chart above, based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board, shows how the money supply rose slightly in 1948, after dipping from the all-time peak of $177,300,000,000 in February, 1946. Most of the money is in demand deposit—or ordinary checking accounts. Time deposits include individual savings accounts and business deposits which may not be withdrawn without advance notice. Currency outside banks includes all paper money and coins not held by the U. S. Treasury or banks. All figures on chart are in billions of dollars.

Head and Shoulders Above the Crowd

hats and accessories By Epsie Kinard

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—The pulling power of a hat is helped considerably this Fall by matching cape, stole, umbrella, muff or handbag.

The most spectacular accessory, however, is a white mink neckpiece that unwinds from a hat. Example is the John-Frederics' turban (above, second from the right), shown as a turban of white mutation mink with bejeweled nose and paws. When the fur is removed for neckwear, the girl's head is still nicely hatted with a black jersey cap.

For proof that the pulling power of a pale beaver hat is increased by an accessorized plaid wool stole, see the Mr. John-designed matchmates (second from the left). The maribou hatband of African violet is repeated by the plaid of the handsome woolen stole.

The hat-and-umbrella matchmates of John-Frederics' design (far right), introduce teddy-bear fabric, which makes news this Fall. The four-streamered cloche of gold-colored teddy-bear fabric is matched to an umbrella sheathe of matching "fur."

The pale beige helmet (far left), is ensembled with a wool cape of matching color. When the cape reverses to its bold plaid side of beige and brown, it is still color-keyed to its companion hat.

Alathean Class To Give Dolls In Its Christmas Project

Dolls for girls in the Buckner Orphans Home, orphanage supported by the Baptist Church, will be given by members of the First Baptist Alathean Class as a Christmas project, the group decided at a meeting Friday morning.

This gift of dolls is a custom in the class each Christmas.

The Friday meeting was a coffee in Mrs. Anton Theis' home. Mrs. Tom C. Bobo and Mrs. A. W. Wyatt were hostesses with Mrs. Theis. They greeted guests, who were asked to register and then were served coffee in the dining room. Mrs. Jack Nobles, class president, poured.

Gold was the dominant color in the Autumn flowers arranged on the table and in rooms. Marigold, lilies and button mums were used in bouquets.

A farewell gift to Mrs. Jack Jones, who is moving soon to Houston to make her home, was a friendship book from the class. Mrs. Grace Wallace presented it after a prayer by Mrs. J. M. White and a devotional talk on "The Beatitudes" by Mrs. Dovie Stephens. Mrs. Jones gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. J. F. Garber was a guest, and other members present were Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Bob Hill, Mrs. Harriett Rice, Mrs. Marvin C. Ulmer, Mrs. Clyde Cowden, Mrs. Clint Dunagan, Mrs. Ann Little and Mrs. Zeb Wilkins.

Orangutan Appetite Enormous And Varied

BROOKFIELD, ILL. — (AP) — A two-year-old orangutan at the Brookfield Zoo recently survived a night of freedom to eat all she wanted.

Tia, the ape, sat on a long director's table eating a banana when Director Robert Bean entered the room the next morning. It, as well as his office, was a mess. Ink spotted a rug. Paper littered the floor and drawers were pulled from a desk. The icebox was raided.

Her menu had consisted of five bananas, a half dozen chocolate bars and several apples. She topped it off with a double helping of cleansing powder. She even downed a powerful emetic administered by Bean. Tia didn't even burp.

Sweater Girls Pick Novelties

Ribbing makes fashion news on all wool sweaters this season. This soft choker-banded pullover in pale blue has a dramatic ribbed waistband. A completely ribbed knit-blouse (center) fits snugly from waist to decollete neckline.

The classic cardigan gets haute couture treatment with color. This pure cashmere set (above) combines bittersweet for cardigan, blue for pullover. Sleeve, cuffs, neckline and waist of both sweaters are ribbed.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — Sweaters are in for a lot of ribbing this Fall.

Ribbing in the vocabulary of the knitwear designers is, however, a serious word. It means better fit and snappier styling for sweaters, pullovers and cardigans.

New Fall styles are good examples of what ribbing has done to up a sweater's prestige to make it a more formidable rival of the high-fashion blouse.

One navy blue sweater of Carolyn Schnurer's design is ribbed from snug waistband to boat-shaped neckline. More proof that this sweater has bolted from the ranks of stodgy knitwear design are a pair of sleeves of crocheted lace.

One of the "favorite sweater fashions for 1949" named as the result of a fashion poll, has ribbing trim at cuffs, waistband and choker neckline. A feather-soft pullover of porcelain blue, this style typifies the jewel-like colors which sweaters are also flashing for Fall.

Cashmere pullovers and cardigans not only come in for their share of ribbing at cuffs, neckline and waistbands but make exotic color matches for their so-called "sets." One, for example, combines a pullover of Mediterranean blue with a contrasting cardigan of bittersweet.

New Automobile Tire Has Springs

LONDON —(AP)— A British firm has developed a non-skid tire with steel coil springs in place of the usual tread. The springs are embedded in the tire during the vulcanizing process.

The company (Tyresoles, Ltd.) calls the invention "Wyresoles." Sir Patrick Hamilton, its chairman, said engineers agreed that for safe driving on wet roads the film of water under the tire must be shattered and dispursed quickly. The company claims the springs do this efficiently.

Italian Collection Of Coins Homeless

ROME —(AP)— The Italian Ministry of Education has inherited one of the world's most valuable collection of coins, but says it cannot find a home for it. It is the 120,000-piece collection of the late King Victor Emmanuel III, who left it behind when he abdicated in 1944. He began collecting coins when he was a boy, and became a leading authority on numismatics.

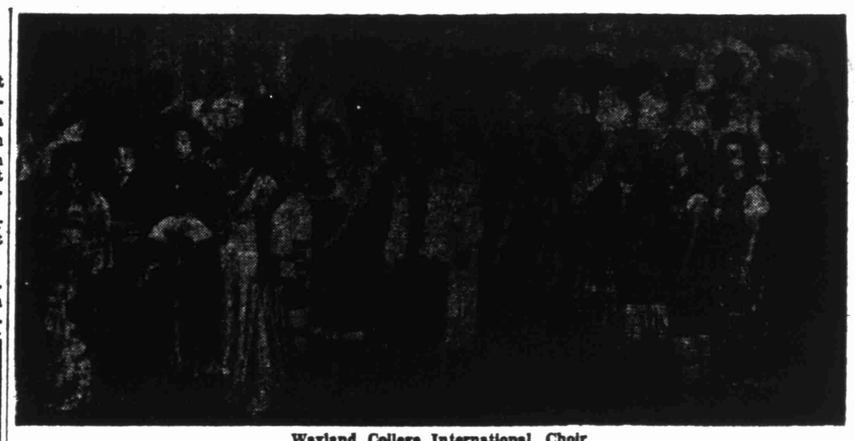

Right now it is closed up in 28 steel cabinets and 12 cases in the cellars of the Quirinale, former royal palace and home of the Popes which now is occupied by the president of Italy.

Austin College Film Will Be Shown In Presbyterian Church

A motion picture film depicting life on the campus of Austin College in Sherman will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor announced. The picture is in sound and was produced by a Hollywood film company.

A Midland student, Fred McMurry, who was enrolled last year at Austin College, has the lead role in the film. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Y. D. McMurry of Midland.

Mrs. R. L. Foulks, field representative of the Sherman school and a former resident of Midland, will show the film. She arrived here several days ago and is visiting friends during her stay here.

The showing of the motion picture will supplant the regular Sunday evening worship service.

Old Documents Tell Tales Of Life In Early-Day America

By FRANCES HAGAMAN

Pre-Revolution land grants from King George of England, receipts for taxes which were paid in pounds and shillings, and deeds to lands sold by the Independent State of North Carolina are among the papers and documents which have been in the family of Mrs. C. S. Britt since their origin.

Mrs. Britt's great-great-grandfather, Adam Todd, came before the American Revolution from Scotland to Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, where her family has since lived. All of the documents in the collection have come from some member of the family. Until she received them they were kept in the family home near Charlotte.

One of the oldest papers in the group is a land grant to her great-great-uncle John Todd, from King George of England in the year 1769. The deed carries the King's seal and was registered in Wilmington, N. C.

Several tax receipts are included in the documents. The oldest ones are handwritten but those after 1815 are printed. One very old one shows that the taxes were paid with pecks of wheat, and many of them have the amounts reckoned in pounds and shillings.

Bills Of Sale

Bills of sale for land, when it was being purchased for the second or some successive time, include not only the present owner's name, but the name of the original grantee and the intermediate owners. They also use creeks, large or unusual trees, and other owners' land as boundary marks and list all land and mineral rights, both above and below the surface of the land, in minute detail.

Interesting not only as old papers, the documents give a picture of life in early America and can be used to make most effective contrasts between today's America and that of yesterday. A grocery bill, dated November 28, 1971, shows clearly business methods of that time. The bill is as follows:

Mr. Joseph Todd
in acc't with Robert Adam

To Cash	L3
1 pnt. Rum 1/6 1/2 gal Rum 15	16.6
15 bush salt 105 5 bush salt at 35	L7
10 1/2 B Steel 17/6 15 3/4" Iron 11/10	1. 9.4
22" B Steel 35/8 1 1/2 sugar 11/2	2.6 .10
To Dennis Crawford for inspection of flour	1 .10
	14.14.6
Brought
26 bush flaxseed at 8 shillings	10.8
7 barrels flour	2.10
7 bags	1.16.6
	14.14.6

It is interesting to note that the amount bought and the value of the things brought cancel exactly, leaving the transaction on a barter basis with no money at all exchanged.

Civil War Letter

A letter written by Green Van-Buren Todd, Mrs. Britt's grandfather, on June 24, 1862, to his wife, Esther, from a Confederate camp near Richmond, Va., is also part of the collection. Todd says he "thinks that the war will be over in a few weeks because the Union forces have been camped across the river from his unit for a week and haven't fired a shot even though the Southerners have fired at them." He stated he thought "they are afraid and won't show any fight."

But, although Todd felt that he would be home soon, his son, Newton Davis Todd, was born several months later and the father was killed in the Battle Around Richmond before he ever saw his son. Esther died two days after the child. Mrs. Britt's father, was born and he was reared by his grandfather, Samuel Harvey Todd, who was partially blind, and two elderly aunts.

Newton Davis Todd learned his arithmetic from a copy book that had belonged to his father and that Mrs. Britt has in the collection. The types of problems included in it seem strange and look much more complicated than the simple problems children study today—terribly complicated for a small boy. They include such things as barter, loss and gain, interest, decimals, rule of three and the double and triple rule of three.

Loyalty Oath

Also of historical importance is the loyalty oath which Samuel Todd had to sign after the end of the Civil War. Its text is as follows: "I, S. H. Todd, of Mecklenburg County, State of North Carolina, do solemnly swear or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Union of States thereunder; and that I will, in like manner, abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have been made during the existing rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves. So help me God."

Issued February 20, 1863, by the Congress of the Confederate States of America, the war loan in the collection is reminiscent of today's War Bonds or the Liberty Bonds of the First World War.

Probably the most humorous document in the group is a receipt for four stray horses that had wandered onto Samuel Todd's land. Mecklenburg County, like all other counties many years ago, had no fences separating the farms and had, therefore, stray laws to protect owners whose cattle wandered from home. If the owner did not claim the stock within a certain period of time, they could be kept by the finder but he had to pay the county for them.

The letter to Samuel Todd states that the horses which have strayed to his land are valued at $35 apiece, totaling $150, and that they have "been dutifully entered in the county stray book" until their further disposition.

These are samples of the documents in Mrs. Britt's collection which, when read and studied, give a clear picture of the life of our forefathers.

The hand-loomed look distinguishes the woolens of these suits. A small boy's cardigan jacket and easy gored skirt (left) are fashioned of a light-weight worsted. A black velvet jabot sets off the suit of pepper and salt mixture (right) which features a cutaway jacket posed above a slim skirt.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — One of the highest compliments you can pay a woolen suit is to say that its fabric looks homespun or handloomed.

Such a look suggests the outstanding because of the high premium which hand-looming commands.

Thanks however to today's machine methods of duplicating the hand-crafted finish of woolens, suits of modest prices for dressy or casual wear step out this Fall looking for all the world like the fabulous fashions which cost a small fortune to buy.

Best example of this casual styling which goes into make-believe homespun is an olive green worsted suit of Dorothy Cox's design. The jacket, styled like a small boy's, buttons loosely over a pale lavender blouse with a necktie collar. The skirt, gored for easy fullness, is belted at the waistband with leather which is striped with pigskin.

Swinging over to the dressier side of the picture is a Hannah Troy-designed woolen suit of salt-and-pepper gray which also looks hand-loomed. The cutaway packet with button-back pocket tabs and black velvet ascot tie tops a new pencil-slim skirt.

Midlanders Attend Brownwood Meeting

BROWNWOOD—Drs. J. Dow and Velma Scott, Midland chiropractors, attended the 34th annual convention of the Texas State Chiropractic Association which ended here Saturday.

A record crowd of 500 persons registered for the convention, the largest in the association's history. A desire of Texas chiropractors to learn first-hand the details of the new chiropractor licensing and basic science laws attributed as the reason for the extra large attendance this year.

All local units are cooperating with the council and conducting drives in their schools.

Protein Supplement Is Found In Vitamin

NEW YORK —(AP)— Maybe humans who eat a lot of meat, eggs and milk should be sure that they also get enough vitamin B-6. This vitamin, pyridoxin, is found in vegetable fats, whole grain cereals, legumes and yeast.

Rats which didn't get enough B-6 while eating a lot of proteins developed a scaly skin trouble, and didn't live as long as those eating foods with only a little protein, Edward C. De Renzo and L. R. Cerecedo of Fordham University reported to the American Chemical Society. If these results apply to humans, then people who eat a lot of protein should also get enough B-6 to maintain a normal health, they said.

Hollywood Stars Have Halo Hair Cut

This hairdo shown front and back is a Hollywood favorite. Actress Ruth Roman wears it parted at center with curls brushed up from a flat crown like a halo.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Thinking of a new Fall hairdo? Here's one which Hollywood dotes upon. It's a short cut, parted center front or at one side. Curly ends are brushed up and make a halo around a flat-fitting crown. The halo of curls deepens to make a slight V toward the back of the neck.

The reason Perc Westmore, its creator, likes this screen hair-do—latest to wear it is Ruth Roman, seen in "Barricade" — is that it's "100 per cent flattering." Moreover, says Westmore, this hair-do is a cinch to manage. It adds all of the softness needed under the brim of a hat, especially of a beanie, beret or other small hat that's going to hug tight to the head this Winter.

Our New Cafeteria—

For Food To Eat— It Can't Be Beat

By CYNTHIA PARKER

As the 11:50 a.m. lunch bell rang last Monday, students began pouring into the new MHS cafeteria to see what it was like.

The cafeteria, located directly behind the auditorium, is decorated in white stucco and tile wainscoating. Having five large double windows on the north side and two in the glass-enclosed serving room, the cafeteria is well ventilated and lighted. Although its seating capacity is less than 200 at a time now, in case the need arises, room has been left so that more tables and chairs may be set up. Each day the cafeteria is thoroughly cleaned.

To questions asked her about the cafeteria, Mrs. Edith Wilson, head supervisor of the city cafeterias, replied that our high school cafeteria wasn't quite like the others in town.

Going on to explain this, Mrs. Wilson stated that the MHS cafeteria had an electric dishwasher, sterilizing all dishes at 180 degrees, an electric mixer, a deep freeze which will later be used for ice cream and a large steam oven used to cook vegetables and meat.

Special Features Listed

Special features about the cafeteria are the walk-in cold storage room in which cured meats, milk, and vegetables are kept from spoiling; a steam table on which pans of meats and vegetables are kept warm; a large pantry in which all canned foods are stored and special tables for the different cooks to work.

After the arrival of a large bake oven, which will cook between 36 and 48 pies at a time, students will be served pastry along with their meals.

In preparation for opening day, the cafeteria workers including Mrs. Bertie Howell, Mrs. Johnnie Johnston, Miss Nannie Abbot, Mrs. Doris Floyd, Mrs. Pearl Hines and Mrs. Wilson, spent all day Saturday and Sunday unpacking groceries and cleaning the cafeteria.

"After we have time to get all the groceries, dishes and utensils unpacked," Mrs. Wilson remarked, "we will be able to serve meals with more and different choices of food."

Rules Listed

Naturally everyone wants to be courteous and yet everyone wants to be first in the lunch line, especially a long lunch line.

In case anyone hasn't heard about them yet, there are a few rules to be obeyed.

By following the arcade, students will enter the cafeteria at the west entrance directly behind the auditorium.

Each student is asked to enter the cafeteria quietly and orderly and to get in line quickly. Pushing and shoving only adds delay and adds to the confusion.

The following fourth period classes having lunch at 11:50 a.m. are requested to use the extreme right door (by the band hall) entrance to the cafeteria: Miss Moore's fourth period English class; Mr. Blackwell's fourth period history class; Mr. Gill's fourth period driving class; Miss Parmelly's fourth period clothing class.

The following fourth period classes having lunch at 12:10 p.m. will enter the right door, the other fourth period classes, the left door. The order is: Mrs. Parr's fourth period English class; Miss Miley's fourth period history class; Mr. Akins' fourth period math class and Mr. Hoffman's fourth period band class.

When each student finishes eating, he is asked to remove all paper, straws, and milk bottle caps from his tray and to place his tray in the rack by the North door.

To avoid further confusion tangling up of the lunch lines, students will use the North door to leave the cafeteria.

Students bringing their lunches to school are asked to eat them in the cafeteria—not the school rooms. Although they bring their lunches, they still may buy their milk at school for a dime.

Department Of Speech Is Larger

Miss Verna Harris, speech teacher at MHS, has announced that this year the speech department has the largest enrollment in its history, with 95 students enrolled in public speaking, dramatics and debate.

The speech room is located in the new wing of the building and is equipped with a small stage for use in class.

The public speaking classes have the largest enrollment with 62 students. They have spent the first six weeks learning the fundamentals of conversation. They also have made speeches to the class.

In dramatics, where 22 students are registered, the would-be-actors have spent their time learning to faint, practicing facial expressions, and interpreting scenes from famous plays. They started work on four one-act plays, which are: "Call Me Mac," "High Reckoning," "Undertow" and "Andante."

Practice Debates

The debate class, smallest of the three, with only 11 students, has learned the basic fundamentals of debate and has had a number of practice debates. Students are making plans to enter the ACC and Baylor speech tournaments.

In the Spring, the debate class will be entering into Interscholastic League competition. Miss Harris stated: "We plan to enter the state meet in several speaking events."

Future Homemakers Elect Officers

Officers of the Midland chapter, Future Homemakers of America, recently were elected. They include: Betty O'Neal, president; Marian Axe, vice president; Barbara King, secretary-treasurer; Francis Tredaway, reporter; Mary Lee Brown, Lavone Clark, La Wanda Huckaby and Mary Gunter, sergeants-at-arms. Sponsors are Mrs. Massey and Miss Parmelly.

The social committee members under the supervision of La Wanda Huckaby already have made plans for various activities throughout the year. The program chairman and her assistants now are busily gathering material for the FHA yearbook.

Purposes Listed

The purposes of this organization are to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of homemaking, to emphasize the importance of worthy home and community life, to work for good home and family life for all, to promote international good will and to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life.

Miss Harris has started rehearsals on the Junior Class play which this year is to be a comedy, "Meet Me in St. Louis."

The story revolves around a St. Louis family named Smith. Smith wants to move to New York because of his business. But Rose and Esther, two of his daughters, stop this by getting him fired. The date of the performance has not been set, but Miss Harris hopes to present it by mid-November.

"Jo"

Jo made her first appearance on the scene May 28, 1934 in San Angelo with the full name of Ada Jo Underwood. Since moving to Midland on June 19, 1949, this name has been shortened to Jo (which suits her).

Her first school year was spent in San Angelo and her school time from second grade through the eighth in Chula Vista, Calif. From there, Jo went to Oakdale, Calif., where she enjoyed her freshman and sophomore years. Midland is her "latest resting place" and she likes it best because, "the people are friendlier."

No Geometry, Please

Coaches Mashburn and Gill, tennis, football, spaghetti and meatballs, study hall and working in the office, make life more pleasant for Jo. If you are conceited you would be on the same list as geometry, which means you wouldn't appeal to her at all.

Jo's hobby is ceramics, which her mother teaches. She says these make wonderful Christmas gifts and look nice in her room. If you have on the color green you may get a second look from Jo because that is her favorite hue.

She has one sister, Tommie Jean, who is in John M. Cowden Junior High, and one cousin, Johnnie Morelan, MHS graduate of 1947.

Jo Underwood is no kin to Zoe Underwood in spite of the following similiarities:

JO

Name: Jo Underwood.
Hair: Blonde.
Eyes: Green.
Birth: May 20.
Home state: California.

ZOE

Name: Zoe Underwood.
Hair: Blonde.
Eyes: Green.
Birth: May 24.
Home state: California.

New Science Labs And New Teachers

By CHALK MURRAY

The science department of Midland High School has its face lifted. With the opening of the 1949-50 school year it acquired three new rooms and three new teachers. Two of the teachers are new to Midland.

Although the appearance of this department has changed, the same subjects still are taught. These are physics, chemistry, biology and general science.

Mr. Bohn teaches physics, chemistry and general science. Biology is taught by Mr. Bizilo. And Mr. Gill teaches general science.

Rooms Described

The science rooms have many modern fixtures which aid the instructors to better teach the students. The physics and chemistry lecture room and laboratory are combined. This room is equipped with laboratory work benches, each having four swivel chairs, a common sink, and four gas jets. The teacher's desk also has a sink and gas jet. One whole wall is shelved on which there are jars filled with chemicals. At the back of the room is a panel which controls the direct and alternating electric currents going to each desk. This will be used by the physics class during the second semester when they study electricity and magnesim.

The biology room has work benches for four persons. The benches have gas jets. It also has one wall of shelf space. Next to the teacher's desk is an aquarium, which at present has goldfish and a catfish in it.

The general science room has desks which seat two. There also is an aquarium in this room.

Are You An Empty Wagon?

(An Editorial)

Do you throw tantrums? Do you exercise your tongue excessively? Can you count all your friends on one hand? Then think!

Perhaps these past tests have shown you to be a brain. But are you wise in tact and horse sense?

How about using your grey matter FIRST, then speak and act.

Confucius says: "An empty wagon makes the most noise."

Murphey's Mutterings

By MAGGIE MURPHEY

Question of the Roving Reporter this week was: "What would you do, if you were running MHS?"

Many students would make drastic changes. But here are some of the more practical (?) ideas:

"Fella" Patteson: "Have teachers wait in line at the cafeteria."

Daisy Merritt: "Abolish six weeks tests."

Jeannine Liddell: "Let students into the football games for free."

Sarah Harrison: "Have all men teachers."

Glenn Baker: "Give teachers witch caps, stress no homework and encourage hookey playing."

Ronnie Estel: "I would have coke and candy machines put in the halls."

Doris Ann Mason: "I would take the school building, turn it wrong side out, drop the students for a four-months vacation."

Sharon Norton: "I'd have the freshmen initiate the seniors for a week."

Peggy Caffey: "Have nine months vacation and three months school."

Desk Soda Fountains

Patsy Yeager: "I would put soda fountains in all desks and have a person come by to rooms every hour bringing candy and sandwiches."

Louis Griffith: "Have a longer lunch hour."

Claudine Hammer: "Have everyone have two lockers—one upstairs and one down."

Jim TenEyck: "Fire all teachers."

Bill Morningstar: "I would let boys of MHS play hookey one hundred times a year, before getting into trouble."

W. T. Hall: "I would have new type pencil sharpeners. The old type requires manual labor. I would have a push button type of sharpener. A light would go on, when the pencil was sharp enough."

Kenneth Wright: "I would appoint a dog catcher to keep dogs out of class."

Sue Johnson: "Have one six weeks test a day instead of three per day."

Miss Boyd: "Have 15-minute periods."

Teach The Teachers

Jim Chauncey: "If I were running MHS, I believe that I would go off in some dark corner and blow out my brains."

Dow Scott: "I would have the kids teach the teachers."

Jo Ann Stephens: "Let the drill squad go to all football games."

Dois Thompson: "Have three school days per week."

Gloria Anguish: "Cut out all home work."

Martha Scharbauer: "Have all freshmen stay out of the halls between classes, so upperclassmen could get by without being knocked down."

Tucker Johnson: "Have only one class a day."

Now They Match By Brick Blend

Since school began in September, the students of Midland High School have been looking at the top of the main building and wishing that it would be completed. Now the wish is coming true.

Workmen have been re-bricking the top of MHS so that it looks the same as the rest of the school structures.

The brick used in the newly-built parts of the school didn't match those of the older building. So in order to make Midland High an attractive school, similar bricks have taken the place of the old ones.

A persec is an astronomical unit of measure nineteen billion miles long.

Love's Lane

By BILLIE LOVE

With an air of hushed expectancy, MHS students held their breaths as they waited for the nominations of the 1949-50 Catoico Queen. Otherwise, Midland High continued along its way in much the same pattern.

Joyce Howell, The Traveling Teenager

For most MHS students long distance traveling is over for the year. This did not apply to Joyce Howell who has just returned to school after a two weeks' absence. Her trip was made in order to attend an Episcopal Church convention held in San Francisco.

Joyce was chosen to represent North Texas for the Youth of the church. Among the 250 delegates at the convention were representatives of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone and Mexico. The boy from Mexico could speak no English, so Joyce tried out her Spanish on him. As she says, "My Spanish is terrible so the boy from Panama had to translate for me."

In her four days in San Francisco, Joyce took in many sights among which were Chinatown, the spiraling Lambard Street with its seven turns, Fisherman's Wharf and the famous cable cars. The rest of her two weeks' absence was spent in travel and Joyce saw the Painted Desert, Grand Canyon and the Mojave Desert.

Although she had fun in San Francisco Joyce says she is very glad to be back in Midland, because: "Be it ever so humble there's no place like home."

Mr. MHS Goes To Washington—

Confusion Reigns In Civics As Students Hold Congress

By CYNTHIA PARKER

"Mr. President."

"The speaker recognizes the senator from Texas."

"Does Senator Chauncey of Tennessee yield?"

Senator Chauncey yielded his position a speaker for the ninety-ninth time.

The fourth period civics class of Miss Weaver's currently-held Congress, like a few of the real ones, succeeded in getting nothing done. Senators Hazlip of Texas, Kemp of Missouri and Dunagan of Michigan tried to pass a "Mental Institutions Bill," but in doing so, came up against the filibustering of Senators Scott of Texas and Tabor of Massachusetts.

President of the Senate, Kenneth Wright, called the Senate to order. The only order that came was that of a senator to Pages Alan Olson and Bill Crites. Both pages were kept extremely busy during the period running back and forth to the library and taking notes to the different senators.

The argument went on—"Should we have new and more experienced mental institution officials or should we keep the ones we have?"

States Rights Flares

Reading from the text that such a bill would not come under the jurisdiction of the states—therefore going against states rights, Senator Tabor filibustered and after competing against the loud talking of the other senators, yielded her position to Senator Scott, who presented articles written by psychiatrists furthering his reasons for not adopting the bill.

At this point, Senator Dunagan questioned Senator Scott, "Have you been in a mental institution?"

Finally after much debate a motion to adjourn was passed.

The bill which had caused so much debate was dead, since the Senate had not passed it by a majority vote.

The Merry Mortician

By DENZIL ANN KEMP

While looking through the marble slabs this week, I uncovered some interesting facts about MHS way back when.

For instance: did you know that Jim Watson was Bulldog editor in 1942?

And are you aware of the fact that on Sept. 17, 1943, the featured student of the week was "Bitsy" Vertrees?

So much for ancient history. This time last year wasn't exactly dull.

Among the missing persons were Dephane Tabor, who was at Sul Ross in Alpine visiting her big sister and Eddie Juan Darnell, who was attending the State Fair at Dallas.

Recovering From Injuries

Mrs. Parr was visiting her mother who was ill. Sue Johnson was welcomed ho e from Dallas, where she had been recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Shirley Bunt was elected editor of t 48-49 Bulldog and, I might add, she proved to be one of the best.

The FFA boys were enjoying fame from their trip to Dallas, where they won high honors in the State Fair.

Sarah Lew Link was getting her share of excitement. She was elected president of the Student Council, was nominated for Catoico Queen and was elected exchange editor of the Bulldog.

This all proves that life in MHS has been, and will be, an interesting experience.

Has Better Than Average 'B' Team

By DAN DICKINSON

In spite of its record, MHS has a better than average "B" team this year.

The "B" team is coached by Red Rutledge. The team had lost three games and won one up until last Saturday. One of their losses was to Big Lake's varsity and Big Lake is no pushover in its district. The "B" team's win came over the Brownfield "B" to the tune of 31-6.

Some of the bigger "B" squad boys should see a lot of action on the varsity next year. David Laverty, 169, Guy Vanderpool, 195 and Fred Underwood, 182, are big and good looking tackles. Another fine tackle prospect is Don Frazier, 180. Glen Baker and Al Scoggins look good at guard. Bill Gray seems to be the standout center of the "B" team. The backs and ends all look good. Some of the better looking ends are Buddy Johnson, Leo Hatfield, W. H. Black and James Weatherred. Harold Hensley, Dan Black, Robert Melton, Bill Grissett, Bill Spence, and Jack Ivey alternate in the backfield. Hensley is the passer.

Room Mothers Hold Meeting, Coffee

By TINA WILLIAMS

The Room Mothers of the senior high school P-TA met recently in the home of Mrs. Roy Minear to formulate plans for the approaching membership drive.

It was a called meeting. A coffee was held in connection. Mrs. Roy Minear outlined plans and ideas. Charles Mathews, principal of MHS, spoke. Mrs. O. L. Stalcup, P-TA president, poured coffee and Mrs. A. N. Griffith presided at the guest book.

The table was attractively dressed with a hand-drawn linen table cloth from Mexico City. An antique coffee service with an old-fashioned spoon holder was used. The centerpiece was three large gold mums with purple initials P-TA in them. Greenery was banked.

The next regular meeting of the P-TA (senior high) will be October 25 in the high school cafeteria.

Accurate Timing Assured By New Typing Room Clock

Midland High not only is a school of new ideas, but also it is one of modern conveniences. Adding to its list of fire alarms, hall clocks, an ultra modern gym and cafeteria, MHS had a Stop Clock installed in the typing room.

By means of this clock, a typing test may be timed accurately. Up to now an alarm clock has been used.

The clock, which was placed on the front wall of the typing room, has two hands—a red one denoting minutes and revolving once each minute and a large yellow one revolving each second. Miss Reeves typing teacher, starts and stops the clock by pushing a time set control attached to the clock by a long cord.

Few schools have a clock such as this, so MHS students should be very proud.

Freshman Is County Fair Art Winner

First prize in the art contest at the Midland County Fair recently was awarded to James J. Johnson, freshman in Midland High School.

James entered a self portrait which was the prize-winning piece of art. This picture was painted in water colors.

The contestants competing against James all were adults. There was one other self portrait entered in the contest.

In the Art Festival last year, he entered another self portrait and a picture of some poppies which brought him second and third prizes.

James became interested in this art contest through the Palette Club which he joined about four months ago. This is a Midland art club sponsored by a group of citizens who have art as a hobby.

Big, Red, Shiny 'Victory Apples'

At a pep rally held in the new gym last Friday morning, Mrs. Monroe announced that for each victory Midland gains, the team will be awarded 'Victory Apples.'

These are "big, red shiny, delicious apples" but have been renamed "Victory Apples" for their wonderful purpose. The apples are to give the boys a "taste of victory."

Cub Club Holds Second Meeting

Monday afternoon the Cub Club met for the second meeting of its career in MHS. The Cub Club is for the reporters from all home room clubs and classes.

At the meeting Monday, members discussed headlines, sub-headlines, leads and the pyramid essentials to the class. The members are expected to write their own stories and turn them in to the journalism class or a member of the club.

Two Down With One Yet To Go

October 17 will see the opening of the new gym, Mr. Mathews, principal, says. On Wednesday the school will have it's first assembly of the year in the gym. To celebrate the opening, the music and dramatic departments will cooperate in giving the program.

The opening of the gym leaves only the new auditorium to complete the million - dollar - high - school of Midland.

Future Homemakers Take Booth Prize

The Future Homemakers of America in MHS took a prize of $5 as well as many honors with its booth at the annual Midland County Fair October 7 and 8.

The FHA girls competed with many other booths for educational purposes with their theme the characteristics of the American home. The phases under this theme were adequate housing, self-development and democratic security.

The booth was in the City-County Auditorium and was decorated with red and white colored paper. The Future Homemakers of America banner was placed across the booth. Mrs. Massey's group was responsible for the maintenance of the booth Friday while Miss Parmelly's girls were in charge Saturday.

EVER LOOK BEHIND AN AD?

I AM an ad. I'm one of hundreds in this paper. And I'd like to take you by the hand and show you what's behind these ads.

Obviously their job is to sell goods or services. That's why you look at these ads or listen to radio advertising. You're looking for something that you want to buy.

But advertising affects you and your family far more deeply. Buying and selling goods and services is what, in the last analysis, creates all the jobs, all the pay checks in America. And ads that you read and hear are the fastest, most powerful, most economical way yet devised of selling.

More and better advertising means more sales. More sales mean more jobs and better jobs.

Less advertising means less sales, less business activity.

So whenever you see or hear advertising, be thankful for it. Be glad that people like to hear and read it. For advertising, by selling more goods to more people, makes your job—everybody's job—more secure.

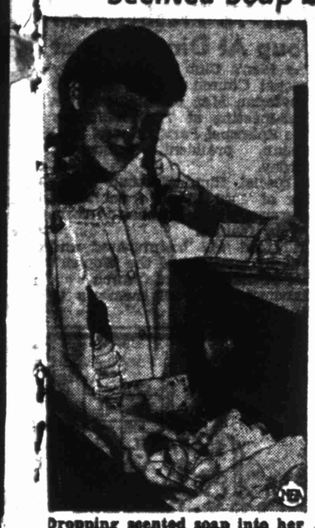

OTHER WAYS ADVERTISING HELPS YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

1 Brings you better goods for less money.
2 Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3 Gears consumer demand to production, to create prosperity.

Scented Soap Does Double Duty

Dropping scented soap into her lingerie drawer is this girl's trick of making her perfumed luxury do double duty.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Why let your scented soap waste its sweetness in a wrapper? Before it gets around to working up a lather, soap can be used to scent a whole drawerful of lingerie.

A cake or two unwrapped and dropped into bureau drawers containing lingerie, blouses or handkerchiefs will diffuse its fragrance over these personal effects.

Don't cancel out the delicate fragrance that pervades your personal finery by using a bath soap with a clashing scent. If you'll match the scent of your bath soap to the scent of your toilet soap, the two will unit to create a more lasting aura of fragrance.

Scented soap left unwrapped in the same fashion in the linen closet among towels and sheets will leave a light fragrance on these everyday necessities. Anybody goes to bed with a keener sense of luxury when bed clothes are delicately scented.

A young housewife might try the same trick of scenting her husband's personal effects with soaps freighted with pine, balsam or other perfume scents which men like.

U. S. Funds Assisting Oberammergau To Revive 300-Year-Old Passion Play

Oberammergau's Georg Johann Lang relaxes from footlight duties by working on religious wood carvings.

OBERAMMERGAU, GERMANY—(NEA)—This tiny Bavarian village's 300-year-old Passion Play, which has not been presented since 1934, will be given in 1950, with the help of American authorities.

A $300,000 loan to finance the play will go toward repairing the Play House and repairing and constructing other buildings, such as guest houses. Some will be spent on the roads and water supply of the village, both in need of expansion.

Since the war, refugees have boosted Oberammergau's population from 3000 to about 5200. So the Passion Play will draw on a much larger pool for its talent. All the actors are villagers, who are chosen for their roles by a committee made up of the village priest, burgomaster, village council and members selected by popular vote.

Oberammergau's Passion Play, the most famous of the surviving medieval miracle plays, dates from 1633. The village in the shadow of Kofel Mountains was stricken with the Black Plague. When the plague had run its course, the villagers gratefully vowed to present the play every 10 years.

Re-Enacts Events

The production, which re-enacts the events of Christ's last few days on earth, was first given in 1634. In 1680, it was switched to the decimal years, and has been given every 10 years since then, with three exceptions because of the Franco-Prussian and the two World Wars.

All the villagers, young and old, try out for parts. Throughout this Fall, members of the selection committee will listen to them read the parts, then choose the actors who will portray the Christus, the Twelve Disciples, Mary, the Mother of Jesus, Mary Magdalene and the other roles.

This year, the expectation is that many new faces will be seen in the cast, inasmuch as 16 years have elapsed since the last presentation.

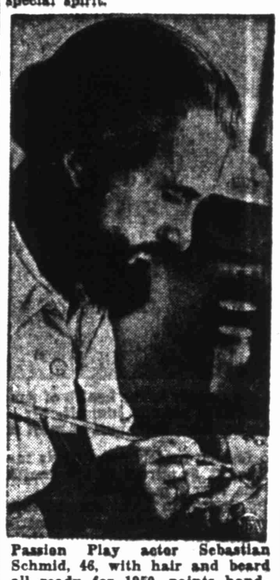

The play will be presented, according to custom, every Sunday beginning with the first Sunday in May. A few extra performances are given each week. The performances, consisting of 18 acts and a number of tabelaux, last all day, with time out for lunch. They start at eight in the morning.

Counting the 50-piece orchestra and chorus of about 45, more than 700 villagers participate. And the play, a world-renowned tourist attraction, was witnessed by more than 300,000 persons during each season before the war. The Play House seats 6000.

Although the details of the Passion Play have not, of course, changed, minor revisions in the script are made every decade. The music has not been altered, however, since its composition by an Oberammergau schoolteacher, Rocus Dedler, in 1814.

While the needed repairs on the Play House and physical plant are proceeding with the American funds, the industrious Bavarians are making ready for the tourist invasion. They expect that there will be accommodations, in the village proper, for 3000 play-goers.

They explain that they like to see the visitors living in the midst of the village and close to the players, because that way they will have a better opportunity of absorbing something of the play's special spirit.

Passion Play acter Sebastian Schmid, 46, with hair and beard all ready for 1950, paints hand-carved figurines.

Scout Executive

Joe Niedermayer, formerly of Midland, Saturday assumed his new duties as a field executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America. He will reside in Pecos and will serve Reeves, Ward, Winkler and Loving Counties. He succeeds Rex Palmer who transferred to Denton. A graduate of the National Training School for Career Scouters, Niedermayer was Scout executive here in 1944-45. Mrs. Niedermayer is the former Wynona Hiatt of Midland.

Changes In Cadet Eligibility Listed

The U. S. Air Force has made two major changes in eligibility requirements for cadet and navigator training, it was announced Saturday by Sgt. Shelby Wheelus, in charge of the Midland Recruiting Station.

Applicants for aviation cadet programs now must have a minimum of two years college education to be accepted, including 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours at an accredited college. In addition, married applicants no longer will be accepted for cadet training.

Age requirements will remain the same, permitting acceptance of cadets who are 20 to 26 1/2 years of age.

Care in packing away summer clothes now will keep your dresses and play clothes in perfect condition for next summer. Stains and soil, easy to remove now, may "set" if left to age on clothing through the winter. Wash or dry clean all soiled clothes before storing. Hang in a closet where clothes will be protected from dust, rust, moisture, mice and insects and also from wrinkling and crushing. Remove pins and metal ornaments. Sturdy wooden or plastic hangers are recommended in preference to metal ones.

Artists Will Teach Two-Week School

An intensive period of teaching is planned by Arthur W. Hall and Norma Bassett Hall of Santa Fe, who will be brought to Midland by the Palette Club and Art Center for two weeks of instruction, starting October 24. They will teach watercolor and oil painting techniques, silk-screen and linoleum block printing.

Classes will be conducted in the Palette Club Studio, 604 North Colorado Street. Registration is scheduled next Sunday. Information may be obtained at the studio, telephone No. 3333.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have lived in Santa Fe the last five years, but they make frequent sketching trips in various parts of America and have returned lately from two weeks in the Navajo country west of Santa Fe.

Varied Talents

Hall is a successful artist with the brush, but his experiments with copper and acid have established him as one of the principal figures in contemporary American etching. He is a member of the Society of American Etchers, the Chicago Society of Etchers, the California Society of Printmakers, the Prairie Print Makers and the Southern States Art League.

He was born in Texas in 1889. While he was studying in the Art Institute at Chicago he met Norma Bassett, and after their marriage they traveled and worked in the Pacific Northwest and then abroad, where Mrs. Hall studied with Noel Brooks, expert English block-cutter.

Hall has received numerous awards including the prize for the best group of American prints at the International Exhibition in Los Angeles in 1927, and the Kansas City Art Institute bronze medal for etching in 1932. His work is exhibited in the library of Congress, the Chicago Art Institute and the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris.

Even Baby Is Fashion News

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

While the fashion world is seething with news of the latest Paris silhouette for Mama, Baby has been making news of his own, stylewise.

It's no longer correct for the well-dressed nursery set to wear the same old design in diapers. As all up-to-date baby sitters know, the three-cornered style went out a couple of decades ago, and the oblong fold has been the thing since then.

Now come a whole flock of innovations, shown at a recent convention of the National Baby Institute, with the hourglass diaper the last word in fashion for small fry. This "smooth look" garment is a softy made of a knitted brushed yarn and cut in hourglass shape, which eliminates unnecessary bulk and adjusts to fit babies of different ages.

New also is the pin-free diaper, which uses snaps instead of safety pins and has an ingenious snap tab for fastening it to the shirt.

Waterproof baby pants also are turning up in models worthy of a streamlined age. One of the most efficient is a style called the "boater," which consists of a plastic diaper with comfortable waistband and a four-inch fold on each side. The regular diaper is folded in eight thicknesses and fitted inside the plastic cover, to provide ultimate protection—then the whole thing is snapped on baby.

Then there's a new creeper for fashionable babies which has a plastic film interlining built into the pants. After baby's diaper is adjusted the waterproof creepers are put on over it, and baby is socially acceptable despite accidents.

As soon as meat is brought home from market it should be taken out of its wrappings and kept lightly covered with waxed paper or aluminum foil in the refrigerator. Use liver and hamburger the same day as you buy it.

Model Figures Aren't For Average Girl

Imitating the lithe, snake-hipped look is a danger to the health of American women, warns fashion photographer George Hurrell. A comfortable 190 pounds himself, Mr. Hurrell poses these high-fashion models (above) whose thin figures, he believes, fall short of most men's feminine ideal.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The ideal American woman is roundly curved and bouncy with health.

Any girl who sacrifices those attributes to look like the flat-chested, snake-hipped fashion models whose figures influence this country's styles, gets a sharp rap from George Hurrell, who has seen plenty of them.

Warns this famed photographer before whose camera the nation's top fashion models pass: Their influence is dangerous to the health of the female population.

By trying to look like "clothes horse" models, Hurrell says American girls not only are ruining their own health but that of future generations, too.

"In their attempt to keep their figures down to model measurements," he says, "our girls go on starvation diets, submit to rigid corseting, even avoid having children."

Insisting that no woman can keep a fashion figure without starving herself, the celebrated photographer, who himself boasts a well-rounded 190 pounds, cites the fashion models with whom he works as typical examples.

Some of the glamor gals I photograph are so thin they're unhealthy. They don't eat. They're high strung and nervous like race horses.

"When beautiful girls come to New York from other sections of the country," he continues, "they're healthy. But when the fashion business makes models of them, they have to train down, down, down. They have to be 'shadows' in order to wear high-fashion clothes and pose for high-style photographs."

Warning that "shadows" are not the American male's idea of beauty, Hurrell reminds girls that they'd be smarter to take on some substance.

"The way things are going," he protests, "a guy who wants to look at the female form must go to a burlesque show or museum, unless he has some dusty old girly-girly pictures which he can thumb through."

Standard Is Artificial

What's Mr. Hurrell's answer to this problem? He believes that girls would be happier, and look better, if they would let themselves go past the lettuce leaf and the slice of pineapple. Furthermore, he thinks that all women should take action against an artificial standard of female beauty.

Cheering women into action, this spear-head of the revolt says: "The girls were able to get the votes, I don't see why they can't get together, assert their freedom and become real women: not imitations of a few undernourished models."

Television Proves Tough For Actor

NEW YORK —(AP)— Acting for television is the thespian's toughest assignment yet, say those who have tried such other mediums as stage, screen and radio.

Television is the most difficult, they explain, because an actor must learn a complete script, go through a performance without a stop, and, if he makes a mistake, must work his way out the best he can.

In the movies, only a few lines need be learned at a time as scenes generally are taken section by section. On the stage, the actor learns his part once and then keeps doing it over and over. And on the radio, all he needs do is to read the script with the proper vocal embellishments.

The school will be set up in cooperation with information and education authorities of the armed services. It will be known as the University of Maryland-European Command College of Special and Continuation Studies.

Midland Is Growing, And Plenty, Postmaster Uses Figures Of Postal Receipts To Prove It

By BERRY APPLING

Midland has grown fast in the last ten years and N. G. Oates, Midland postmaster, can prove it —that is, if there is anything to his theory that the size and welfare of a city can be determined through its post office receipts.

"The rapid growth of Midland and the surrounding trade area is reflected by a comparison of the postal receipts," he says. Figures released through his office certainly show there has been an increase in receipts and by looking around the city Midlanders can see there has been other elements of growth.

Postal receipts in 1928 totaled $35,543. Ten years later in 1938 the figure had increased 97.2 per cent to $70,121. A period of rapid growth took place in the next ten years according to the evidence indicated by postal receipts. An increase of 210.8 per cent brought the figure to $217,987 in 1948.

And the growing pains aren't over yet, Oates declares. Postal receipts for the July, August and September quarter of 1949 showed a total of $58,489, an increase of 15.4 per cent over the same period in 1948 which showed recipts of $50,683.

In determining the size of increase in sale of money orders and postal notes during the present time over that of 10 years ago, Oates counted the receipts turned in October 3, 1949 at 341 and compared the figure with the number sold October 3, 1939 which was 53. This is an increase of 543.4 per cent.

In August and September of 1944 only 355,912 cancellations were made and in the same period of this year there were 711,622 stamp cancellations made, an increase of 99 per cent.

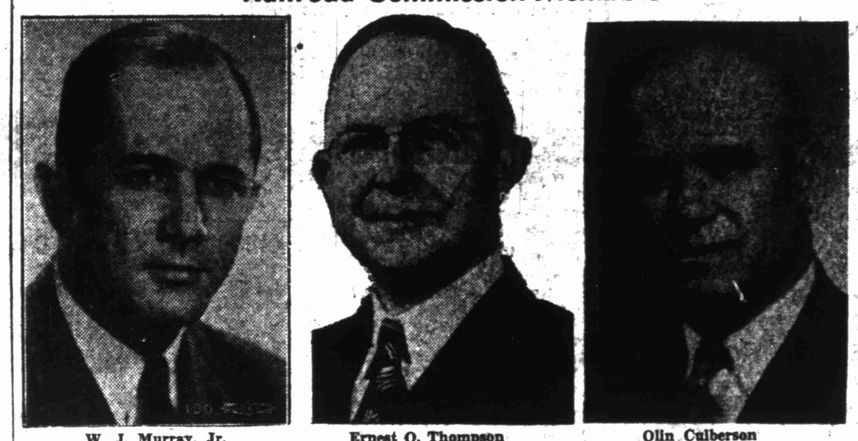

It is evident to the casual eye, Midland has grown during the last ten years but the continued increase of postal receipts month-by-month seems to indicate that the growth is sustained.

When it will slow down, Oates doesn't know but he firmly believes that as long as the receipts keep climbing the city's population and wealth both are increasing.

Texas Railroad Commission Regulates Production Of Oil

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN —(AP)— Throughout Texas' mighty petroleum empire, oil flows or stops at the beckoning of three men.

They compose the state's important regulatory railroad commission —policemen, judge, jury, advisor and boss over every ounce of Texas' "flowing gold" and those who make it flow. Sometimes their decisions wind up in courts.

Young, oil-experienced William J. (Bill) Murray, Jr., heads the elective body as chairman. Ernest O. Thompson and Olin Culberson, both of who also have served as chairman, complete the membership.

Oil is only one of the big businesses they oversee. By statute, they have control as well over operation in Texas of railroads, gas production and gas utilities, liquefied petroleum gas, the motor bus and the trucking businesses.

The body is administrative, legislative in a sense, and quasi-judicial. It administers the laws passed by the legislature. It makes the rules and regulations empowered to it by the legislature. It holds public hearings and decides questions of fact and law related to any of its duties.

For the mammoth job assigned to it, the commission has divided itself into four operating divisions staffed by scores of technical and clerical assistants:

1. The main office and rate division administers laws relating to railroads in Texas; determines fares, rates, and charges for all common carriers except pipelines; holds hearings ranging in scope from individual wells to statewide permissive crude oil production; acts with the Interstate Commerce Commission in joint hearing involving Southwestern rates; and keeps the fiscal records for all division of the commission.

Oil Gas Division

2. The oil and gas diviison administers the laws relating to conservation and prevention of physical waste of crude oil and gas, and the laws relating to pipelines as common carriers, and maintains statistical and accounting records.

3. The gas utilities division administers the laws relating to the operation of gas utilities and the liquefied petroleum gas industry, collects specified taxes and fees, and maintains statistical and accounting records.

4. The motor transportation division administers laws relating to the transporting of passengers and freight for hire on the state highways, collects specified fees and taxes, and also maintains statistical and accounting records.

Besides its Austin headquarters, the commission maintains district offices at Abilene, Corpus Christi, Houston, Kilgore, Midland, Mount Pleasant, Palestine, Pampa, San Antonio and Wichita Falls.

Only since 1917 has the commission been under legislative mandate to administer the state's oil and gas conservation laws. Before that, the commission from its creation in 1891 had been primarily concerned only with regulation of railroads.

The oil industry itself pays the expenses for its regulation by the commission. A tax of 3/16ths of one

Suggestions Offered To Midland Business Concerns To Reduce Losses By Bad Checks

Suggestions for Midland business houses to follow to reduce the number of bogus checks were offered Saturday by District Attorney Martelle McDonald and Joseph Mims, county attorney.

The suggestions were made in view of the large number of bogus check cases which have crowded court dockets and as a precaution against merchants having to take losses on worthless checks.

McDonald and Mims pointed out that in many instances the persons who accept worthless checks refuse to press charges after the culprit is filed upon and apprehended.

The failure to press charges after the amount of the check has been recovered still means that the county has been to some expense and officials have gone to considerable trouble in tracking down the suspect.

Rules Listed

These five simple rules were offered to insure against acceptance of hot checks:

"1. Be sure that the date, amount, name of bank, signature and address are correct.

"2. Refuse a post-dated check, and don't agree to hold a check to some future date. In both cases, you're being told there's no money in the bank. There can be no criminal prosecution.

"3. Require identification.

"4. Be extra cautious about checks drawn on out-of-county banks. Criminal prosecution is difficult because necessary out - of - county witnesses are hard to obtain.

"5. Beware of endorsed checks. The endorser of a worthless check cannot be criminally prosecuted unless he conspired with the original giver, and that always is hard to prove."

The officials pointed out that most persons don't recognize the difference between a worthless check which will put a person in jail and one which won't. They stressed this important point "because a criminal ought to be punished." Also, chances of collecting are better if you can prosecute when you desire.

The swindler can be put in jail, but the non-swindler can't.

For a swindle, the person must represent falsely that he has money in the bank, or obtain money, groceries, gasoline or something of value at the time the worthless check is given.

McDonald and Mims pointed out that in most cases a charge account paid by a hot check is not a swindle, as neither is rent paid by a hot check at the end of the month, in most instances. But to be a swindle, in the vast majority of cases, the hot check must be given at the time the groceries, gasoline, money or something of value change hands.

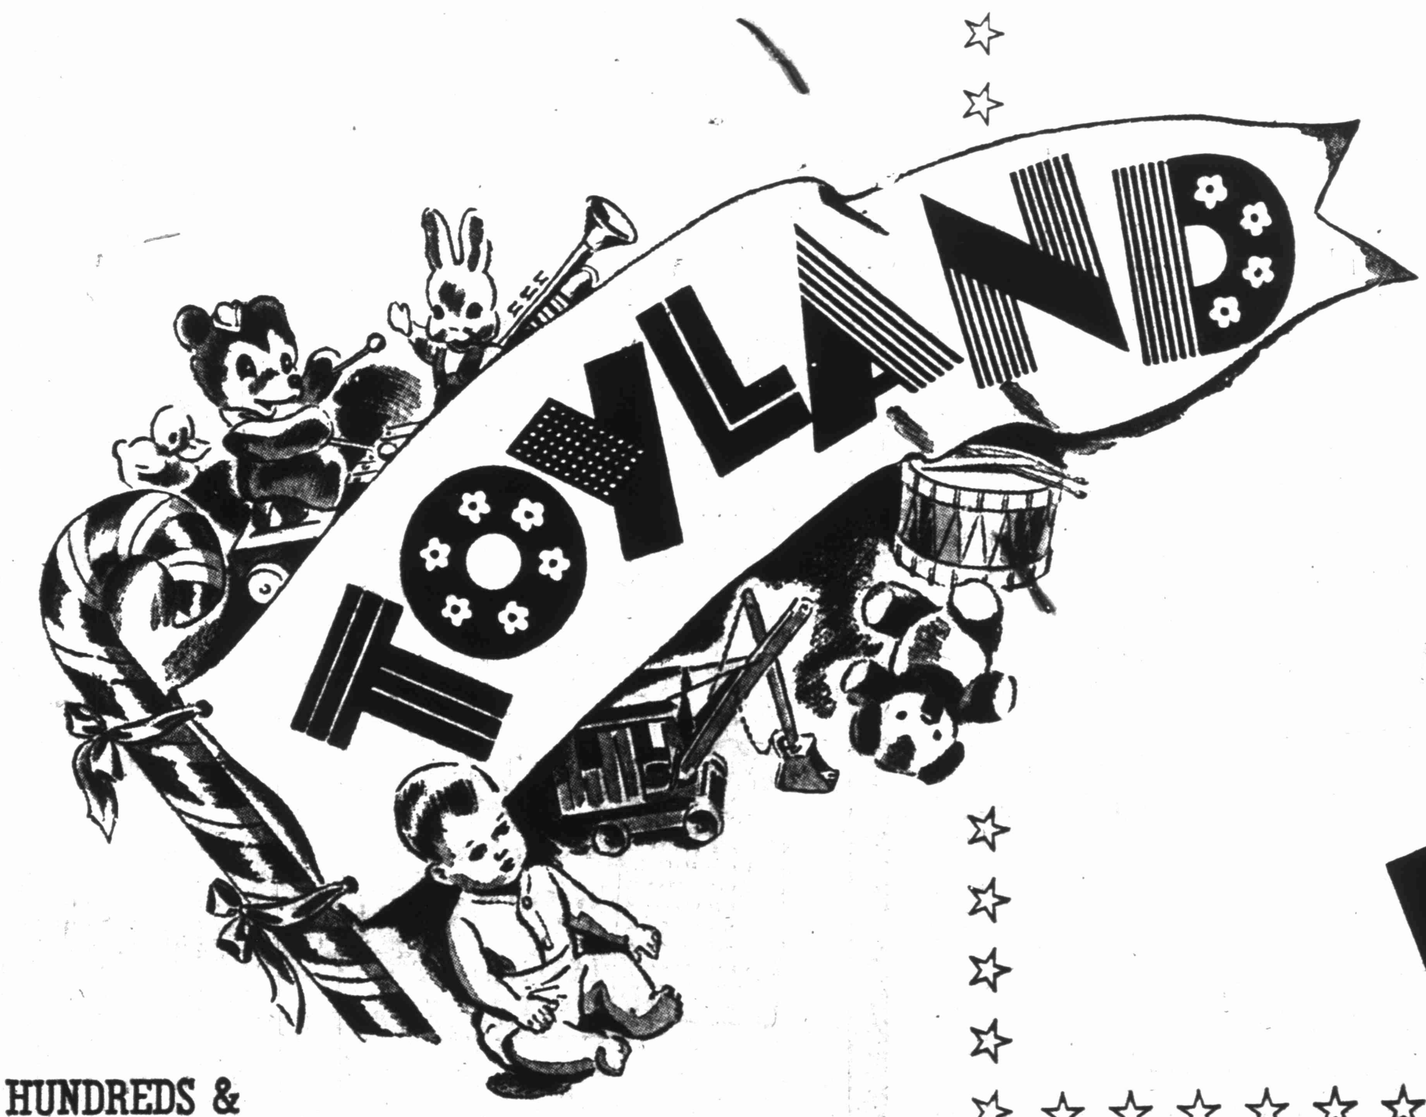

"Then you have been swindled, and can prosecute," they added.

Welfare Program's Advances Are Hailed

INDUSTRY, N. Y. — Governor Dewey hailed improvements at the New York State Agricultural and Industrial School here as a great advance in the state's social welfare program.

Nearing the end of an intensive campaign for United States Senator John Foster Dulles, the Governor marked the 100th anniversary of this school. It was founded in 1849 as the Western House of Refuge, a home for maladjusted and delinquent boys. Members of the State Board of Social Welfare joined Robert T. Lansdale, State Commissioner of Social Welfare, in the observance.

Landmark Society Inspects Project

WETHERSFIELD, CONN. — The project begun here this last Summer to salvage one of the state's few remaining seventeenth century houses was shown recently to about 1,000 members of the Antiquarian and Landmarks Society of Connecticut as a restoration in the making.

Although still far from completion, the old Buttolph-Williams house had been recovered sufficiently to show its early character and some of its unusual features. The oldest house in Wethersfield, it was the focal point of a tour of 12 of the town's fine old buildings.

The society, which own four colonial houses in Connecticut and maintains them as museums, planned the tour and the opportunity of viewing a restoration in progress to coincide with its annual meeting.

The Buttolph-Williams house was built about 1680 by David Buttolph and in the early eighteenth century was in the possession of the family of the Rev. Elisha Williams, president of Yale College from 1726 to 1739.

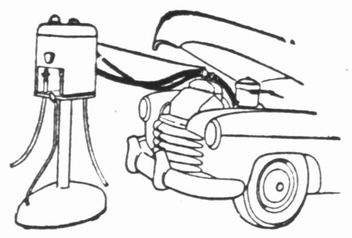

It is not what is now known as a "typical Connecticut house," a term that is applied to the many examples of architecture of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries still standing. In its day, however, it was probably typical, one of many in existence that were designed from memories of the English scene.

Texas has more than 120 varieties of fresh water fish and over 110 salt water species.

Carelessness Can Set The House On Fire

AP Newsfeatures

The National Fire Protection Associates reports that fire is attacking our homes at the rate of 700 a day.

Most fires, they claim, are attributed to the violation of seven easy-to-remember safety rules. Here are steps they suggest to eliminate the hazard:

1. Never smoke in bed. Keep ash trays handy. Don't discard lighted cigarettes and matches. Keep matches in metal containers out of reach of small children.

Throw Out Papers

2. Don't use or store flammable cleaning fluids or other explosive liquids in the home. Use carbon tetrachloryde or some other fire-safe cleaning fluids.

3. Old magazines and newspapers stored in closets, basements, and attics are good tinder for a spark. Throw them out, along with broken and discarded furniture. Keep oily rags in covered metal containers.

4. Have an electrician check the wiring to make sure it is adequate to operate all electrical appliances safely. Protect the circuits with the right fuse. Disconnect appliances when you have finished using them. Never attempt to operate if defective. See to it that frayed cords are replaced.

5. Flammable, curled roofing is a large, attractive target for a chimney spark of air-borne fire brand. Asphalt shingles, or other fire-resistant material cost no more, and often fire insurance rates are lower.

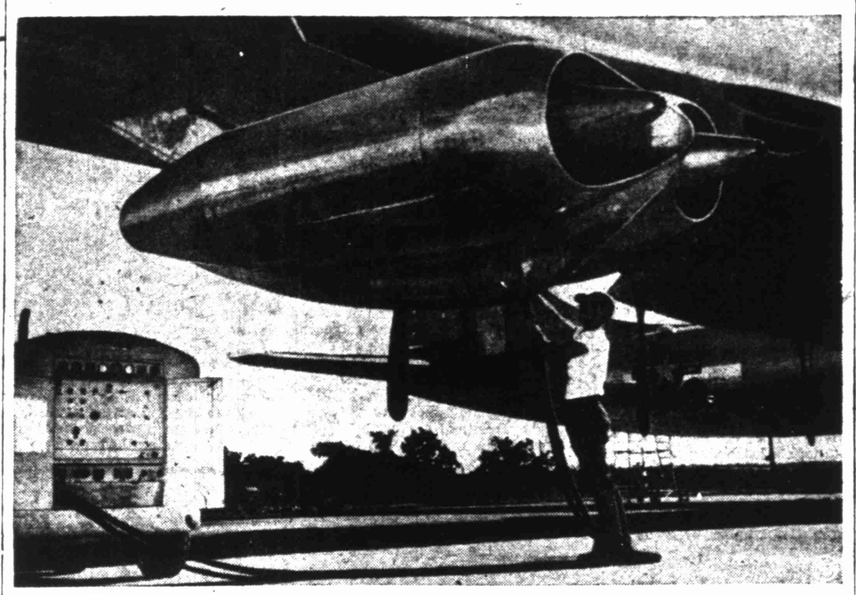

6. Have your heating system checked to see that it is operating properly. Replace defective or worn parts. Have the furnace cleaned yearly. Enclose the furnace in fire-resistant walls, and have exposed beams covered with some fire-resistant material.

7. Have the chimney inspected and make sure it is solidly built, properly supported and lined. Clean once a year.

If housewives will take these steps now, the NFPA says, the number of home fires will be cut 90 per cent almost overnight.

Commercially manufactured ice originated in Texas.

More Power For The B-36

While the Navy and Air Force argue over the prowess of the B-36 bomber, engineers continue their efforts to improve the six-motored giant. This is a closeup view of two of four J-47 jet engines installed on a B-36D now undergoing flight tests at Fort Worth. The "pods" are mounted in pairs beneath each outer wing panel—the four jet engines adding more than 20,000 pounds of "thrust" to the 21,000 horsepower developed by the plane's six conventional engines.

You Dress Yourself For Winter; How About Your 'Faithful Automobile'?

By BERRY APPLING

Few indeed are the persons who fail to make a regular changeover from Summer clothing to those of Fall and Winter—yet many forget that their automobile also must make this seasonal change in order to fulfill the performance expected of it.

Long before the first cool days of Fall arrive, both men and women are planning what type of Winter attire in which they intend to array themselves to combat blasts of the cold season. To look their best as well as to do the best work, humanity properly conditions itself to meet this yearly change—yet it is so easy to forget the welfare of a $2,500 piece of machinery that is called on for both business and pleasure.

Midland clothing stores fulfill the needs of the citys' residents in their Winter clothes and Midland service stations and garages are just as able and capable of attending the needs of the "family friend," the automobile.

The garages and service stations are ready and waiting to commit the car to the expert hands of trained men who will condition it for the coming Winter months.

Rigors Of Winter

It is given a motor tune-up that will withstand the rigors of cold weather driving. The ignition and other electrical parts are checked to insure the owner of not having to undergo the unpleasantness of getting into the car on a cold morning and finding it impossible to start because of faulty wiring.

A change of oil from Summer weight to an oil more suited to the demands of Winter's cold, will add long miles of usefulness to the car. An internal motor cleaner will clean out bits of slush and carbon acquired during the Summer months and the adding of anti-freeze will insure driving safety in below zero weather.

During the check-up, the wheels will be balanced and lined, battery checked and heaters will be connected and adjusted to distribute an even flow of heat to the car's passengers.

Remember this Winter, dress yourself but also dress your car. It will serve you well if it has the proper care given by Midland garages and service stations.

Exemption Granted Ships Operating Under Cuban Flag

HAVANA, CUBA—(AP)—Cuba, long desirous of creating a national merchant marine, recently granted a six-year tax emption to any company that would operate vessels under the Cuban flag.

This tax exemption, obtainable by any enterprise that initiates maritime service, preferably between Cuban and foreign ports, includes real estate transfer taxes, customs duties on importation or nationalization of boats, tax on exportation of money to purchase boats and their equipment, tax on interest of loans required to finance such purchases, tax on capital and shares, tax on profits and on gross income now in effect.

To obtain such exemptions, the companies must be organized under Cuban law, have not less than 51 per cent Cuban capital, a majority of Cuban citizens on the board of directors and must put into operation under the Cuban flag one or more vessels of not less than 2,000 tons, with a first-class rating according to maritime classification. A two-year period for presentation of requests for exemption under this decree is granted.

The world's largest gas field lies under five counties in the Texas Panhandle.

'Sport Of Kings' Ruled Out As Topic For NLRB Study

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board has ruled out "the sport of kings" as a subject for its consideration.

A trial examiner of the board ruled that horse racing had too "remote and indirect" effect on interstate commerce to merit the board's attention in a labor dispute between track employes and the owners of Santa Anita Park and Hollywood Park, both in California.

As a result, the examiner, Frederick B. Parkes, recommended that the NLRB decline to take jurisdiction over labor disputes in the horse-racing business.

The dispute arose from charges that the locals of three AFL unions and the Los Angeles and Hollywood Park Turf Club managements violated the Taft-Hartley Act by entering into closed-shop agreements.

Railroad Commission—

cent per barrel is levied on all crude petroleum produced within the state for the "oil and gas enforcement fund" which is paid into the state treasury. The operating expenses of the oil and gas division (and other agencies) are appropriated by the legislature to be paid from this fund.

Excess Revenue

All excess balances in the "oil and gas enforcement fund" finally revert to the state's general revenue fund.

Well over half the million-dollar-a- year cost of operating the Railroad Commission comes in the oil and gas division.

Commissioners are elected for six-year-terms, one at each general election every two years so that terms overlap. Their annual salaries were raised to $10,000 each by the last legislature.

Murray's term, which he inherited first by appointment by the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester when Jester left the commission for the governor's office and later by election, ends in January, 1951. Culberson's term runs to January, 1953 and Thompson's lasts until January, 1955.

Murray, 34, who came to the commission from a background of oil and gas fields, was born at Coleman; educated in Cisco public schools, Hardin-Simmons University and the University of Texas; and taugh University of Texas courses in petroleum engineering before he left in 1937 with both a bachelor's and master's degree in petroleum engineering.

He had worked in the fields as a tool dresser, a geologist and lease superintendent, did consulting work, served as chief enforcement engineer for the commission's oil and gas division, and worked as federal conservation engineer over six states before he came to the Railroad Commission as a member.

Like To Fish

Off duty, Murray and wife, Jo, like to fish both fresh and salt waters. They have three children, all girls.

Culberson came to the commission as a member in 1940 after six years service as chief of the commission's gas and utilities division.

A native Texan, he was reared in Hill County and educated at Culberson's Select School at Hillsboro.

He is former Hill County clerk and county judge, a former secretary of the County Judges Association and for 25 years has been secretary of the Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Still affectionally called "judge", Commissioner Culberson always has an anecdote and a chuckle for anyone with time to listen.

Few Texans" careers have been more colorful than Thompson's

Born at Alvord 57 years ago, the red-haired Irishman quickly proved himself a dynamo of energy and business. Starting with a boyhood paper-selling job at Amarillo, he turned one profitable venture into another until he was owner of an automobile business employing four persons by the time he finished high school.

Law Degree

He got his law degree from the University of Texas and then served in World War I where he won the rank and title of "colonel" that has stuck with him 'til even now when his actual rank is lieutenant general as commanding officer of the Texas National Guard.

Thompson came to the Railroad Commission by appointment to succeed Gov. Pat M. Neff in 1932 and has been elected continuously ever since. He has gained international recognition as a petroleum authority and was once the late President Roosevelt's personal representative to the World Petroleum Congress.

Columbia's Alumni Hear Eisenhower

NEW YORK—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Columbia University's president, told 2,500 university alumni and their families that "nothing can defeat Columbia." He spoke briefly at a picnic luncheon on the baseball diamond of the university's Baker's Field that was a highlight of the second annual Fall homecoming of alumni.

The general reminded his audience that the Allies during the war had overcome military circumstances that the experts called impossible. The point of the wartime experience for Columbia, he said, was that the university could do the same in realizing its goals.

Navy, Air Force Will Try Black-Eyed Peas On Menu After Texans' Insistence

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater thinks there's no better eating than black-eyed peas, so he's been trying to persuade the armed forces to serve them.

As a result of his efforts the Navy is going to test the dish the latter part of October and early November in the general mess of a supply corps school at Bayenne, N. J.

And the Air Force has arranged to serve them during October at Randolph Field, San Antonio, to determine their "acceptability in airman field ration messes."

Army authorities replied that black-eyed peas were served whenever a demand arose for them, but that they were not stocked for regular use.

Beckworth inquired particularly about their use at Army centers in Southern and Southwestern states, where black-eyed peas are liked and eaten by the civilian population more than in any other part of the country. The reply was that they did not appear on the regular menus, although a check "indicated that occasionally" they were served.

Around The Capital

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, headed by Texas A&M graduate Del Rentzel, reports that Texas is second only to California in the number of civil aircraft.

On July 1 there were 7,027 civil planes in Texas. California had 10,452. Both states showed decreases from a year earlier, when the respective figures were 8,148 and 10,639.

The total number of civil planes throughout the country on July 1 was 92,618. Of these 86,212 were single-engine craft, 4,521 twin-engine, 20 three-engine, 533 four engine, one eight-engine, and the remainder gliders and lighter-than-air craft.

Behind Texas, in the order named, were Illinois, New York and Michigan.

All except 20 Texas counties showed a registration of one or more civil aircraft. The leading counties, with the number of such planes as of July 1:

Dallas, 943; Harris (Houston), 578; Tarrant (Fort Worth), 428; Bexar (San Antonio), 423; Cameron, 217; El Paso, 125; Travis, 125; Jefferson, 120; Lubbock, 112; Potter, 106; McLennan, 96; Galveston, 91; Gregg, 86; Hale, 86; San Patricio, 75, and Tom Green, 64.

Delivers Invocation

Dr. C. E. Matthews of Fort Worth, secretary of evangelism of the Southern Baptist Convention's Home Mission Board recently delivered the opening prayer in the House of Representatives at the invitation of Rep. Wingate Lucas of Fort Worth and Grapevine.

Excerpts from his prayer:

"We recognize the fact that we not only stand in the presence of an august assembly of people but that we are in the Holy presence of the One who spoke the worlds into existence, who holds the destiny of Nations in his hand and who shall some day judge all men without regard to race or color.

x x x

"In these testing times, help that the decisions on the part of leaders of all Nations that affect the peace of the world be made in the fear of God and for the welfare of humanity the world over."

Aide On Crutches

In his offices in the Pentagon you'll find Texas' John Mayfield hobbling about with a crutch these days. The son of former Sen. Earle B. Mayfield, Sr., of Tyler, broke a bone in one foot when he fell while hanging a picture. He is Defense Secretary Johnson's chief personnel executive.

Sidelights of the hearing on tideland legislation before a Senate Interior Subcommittee:

Texas Attorney General Price Daniel, arguing Texas' special claims to submerged lands by virtue of terms under which it entered the union, quoted a speech of President Truman.

In Austin in 1948 Truman said: "Texas is in a class by itself."

Senator Downey (D-Calif.) interrupted to ask?

"Now, Mr. Daniel, in all fairness do you think a candidate ought to be bound by a statement he makes in a campaign?"

When the laughter subsided, Daniel replied: "Yes, when it's in our favor."

Actually, Downey is one of the strongest supporters of legislation to give states unquestioned title to the off-shore lands.

A letter to the editor, published in the Washington Post, was signed by "Pettus Hemphill, ex-officio ambassador of the Republic of Texas."

In it the writer defended Texas' claims to its tidelands.

"When Texas joined the United States a hundred-plus years ago," he said, "it was by joint resolutions of the Congresses of both nations; not by treaty, and we (Texas) reserved to ourselves all the ocean within a 'cannon shot' of the shore.

"That distance has never been defined exactly, but we now claim that it should be limited only by the range of the V-2 rocket gun, and increased as the trajectory of that gun increases."

It's Hard To Grow Grass On Concrete

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Are you sleeping your hair away?

Well, if you're getting bald, the chances are—says Angelo Mantello—that the way you sleep has a lot to do with it.

Mantello is a middle-aged barber from Wilson, Conn., who spent four decades listening to customers grouse about their hair falling out. And after 40 years of pondering, he's come up with what he thinks is the cause of baldness.

"Such factors as heredity, nervousness and diet have no direct bearing on it," he said. "Baldness results from improper sleeping position.

"Sleeping on the side and burying the forehead into the pillow causes baldness at the temples. Sleep on the back causes the the crown of the head to become bald."

Sleep Standing Up

What's a thinning-haired man to do then—sleep standing up like a horse?

"Not necessary," said Mantello. "Just correct your sleeping habits. Get a smaller pillow that won't wrap around your ears—a pillow you won't push up against the end of the bed with the crown of your head.

"And don't sleep with your head on your arms. Wherever your hand or your arm or your pillow hits, you have no hair—in time."

Mantello looked critically at my own forehead, which has receded almost to the rear neck cuff.

"There is absolutely no reason for anybody to get bald," he said sternly.

"It's so simple. People try to make hair grow like spaghetti or macaroni—by pressure. But you can't make hair grow that way any more than you can grass.

Take Money And Hair

"Hair treatments that apply heat and massage are double robbery—they take away your money and they take away your hair. They make the hair fall out before it is ripe, or ready to shed. It's like shaking a fruit tree. If you shake the tree hard enough, even the green fruit falls off."

"If an improper sleeping position is the cause of baldness, why aren't more women bald?" I asked. "They use pillows."

"Well since women started cutting their hair shorter, more of it does fall out," he said. "But one reason they don't get as bald as men is that they wear their hair longer, and that helps keep the scalp moist."

And how do you cure baldness?

"If you don't get bald," said Mantello, tossing his black hair, "you don't need a cure. It's always harder to raise grass on a lawn after you put concrete over it."

In addition to his duties as assistant to the president, Dr. Beazley will serve as field representative for the school. He will make personal visits to Baptist churches in the West Texas area. He also will interview prospective students for the university.

Prior to his appointment, Dr. Beazley served as an associate professor of religious education and speech. He will retain his teaching duties, Richardson added.

Winter Weather Calls For Check Of Cooling System

DEARBORN, MICH.—A thorough check of the cooling system prior to adding antifreeze is a major step in preparing your car for Winter driving, according to I. L. Pierce, national service manager of Ford Division, Ford Motor Company.

"Thousands of motorists lose their antifreeze every year through boiling away or leakage simply because they failed to take this precaution at the start of the season," Pierce explained.

"Not only should the hose lines and connections be thoroughly checked for leaks, but the radiator and the entire cooling system should be flushed out removing the sludge and dirty water, which prevents free circulation."

"Starting assurance" for your car despite freezing weather can be gained if the motorist also observes these few additional precautions:

1. Keep the batterly fully charged and charging. See that the generator regulator is working properly.
2. At the approach of cold, weather, the crankcase should be drained, flushed and refilled with the correct grade of oil for the coldest weather you expect during the Winter.
3. See if the engine needs a tuneup to insure quick starting.
4. If the manufacturer recommends it, change to Winter grease in transmission and differential.
5. Have brakes checked for Winter driving and be sure that tires are not worn so dangerously smooth they will make driving on icy roads doubly hazardous.

Regan Addresses Pecos Lions Club

PECOS—Discussing the Tidelands question, oil imports, economy in government and other matters of general interest, Congressman Ken Regan of Midland, formerly of Pecos, was the guest speaker at the Lions Club meeting here Wednesday noon.

The congressman returned to his home in Midland from Washington last week.

Regan congratulated Pecos and Reeves County upon their rapid growth and development as a result of increased activities in oil and farming.

He was introduced by County Judge Richard C. Slack.

Street Paving Is In Demand At Pecos

PECOS—Demand for more paving has become so great here that members of the city council have been forced to add 14 blocks to a 50-block program which is to start the latter part of October.

Members of the City Council have voted to issue warrants in an amount not to exceed $50,000 with which to pay the city's cost of such paving.

New Help For Cotton Pickers

This new semi-mechanical cotton picker, being demonstrated at West Memphis, Ark., can gather in 3,200 pounds of cotton a day. With the aid of eight compressed air suction tubes, the operators draw the cotton from the boll. The cotton is then deposited in the wagon behind the tractor and taken directly to the gin. Since the pickers do not have to drag a heavy bag of cotton behind them, the new machine greatly speeds the picking process.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Defense Secretary Johnson no politician; Makes on-spot decisions — not always tactful about them; Profound senators deflated by negro messenger.

WASHINGTON—In view of the B-36 probe, a lot of people are asking questions about Secretary of Defense Louie Johnson—what kind of man he is, how does he operate, what makes him tick.

A thumbnail answer is that Johnson fancies himself a great politician, but is one of the world's worst. He considers himself a smoothie when it comes to personal relations, although actually he's a bungler. It was Johnson who neglected his personal relations with Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee, while the admirals were buttering him up.

But, as secretary of Defense, Johnson has one quality absolutely essential to running the armed services of the United States. He can make decisions. He isn't always tactful about them, but when the brass hats have finished talking to Johnson they at least know where they stand.

Prior to Johnson's assumption of office, the joint chiefs of staff never came to decisions. Now they do.

Defense Meetings

The joint chiefs of staff consist of Admiral Louis Denfield, chief of naval operations; Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, chief of staff for Air, and Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff for the Army. The three secretaries—Symington for Air, Francis Matthews for the Navy and Gordon Grey for the Army—sit with Johnson and the joint chiefs every Tuesday.

When they leave the conference table there is nearly always either a definite decision on policy or a command to get more information in order to make the decision. In the latter case, Johnson always will set a date when the information must be on his desk. Sometimes—if told the information will take six months to collect—he replies: "Make it three."

In addition to the Tuesday meetings of the joint chiefs of staff, Johnson meets on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays with the joint chiefs and his own staff. This consists of Undersecretary Steve Early, the assistant secretaries for Defense, the joint chiefs and the research and development branch.

Johnson goes the rounds of the services, calls on the Army, Navy and Air Force; and, if any conflicts develop, they are decided on the spot. The secretary of Defense listens carefully to both sides, then says:

"We'll do it this way, gentlemen."

Admiral Halsey in Reverse

In making his decisions, Johnson shows a tremendous knowledge of the three services. Part of this was gained when he was assistant secretary of the Army in the Roosevelt administration, but part obviously was gained from a great deal of personal study.

Johnson's decisions in favor of economy are now what have gotten him in so much trouble with the Navy, which had found a more sympathetic listener in James Forrestal, its former boss. However, Forrestal, harassed, tired, and anxious to please, frequently postponed making decisions in his latter years.

This may have been what promoted Admiral "Bull" Halsey to testify at the secret hearings of the Richardson Board of Unification:

"I am probably one of the lone naval officers in favor of a single department (of National Defense). In other words, I believe in unity. I want a department headed up by someone who could tell them (the brass hats) to do this, do that."

However, when Admiral Halsey got a secretary of Defense who told the brass hats to do this, do that, he squawked to high heaven.

Senator 'Olsen And Johnson'

A negro messenger took the wind out of three senators who were expounding the other day over an NBC television broadcast.

The negro dropped in just as Senators Ed Johnson of Colorado, Bill Knowland of California and Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa were exchanging some profound ideas.

Cocking an intent ear the negro picked up Senator Johnson's name, then solemnly commented:

"I've heard this Olsen and Johnson show before.'

Homespun, easygoing Garrett Lee Withers is probably the most unaffected man in the U. S. Senate. The Kentucky Democrat takes his job, but not himself, seriously. If it's more comfortable to work in his office without a tie—off comes the tie.

The same applies to his shoes—if he isn't talking to visitors.

Withers was sitting thus comfortably dressed when the Senate bell rang, announcing a quorum call. Quickly, the senator pulled on his shoes, but forgot his tie. And with his neck thus unadorned he pushed onto the floor of the dignified Senate.

Finally, Senate Special Officer Bill Brennan, who also hails from the blue grass country, beckoned Withers into an anteroom.

"Senator, do you know that you aren't wearing a tie?" he asked.

"My goodness!" exclaimed Withers, feeling his neck. "You're right. What am I going to do?"

Brennan solved the "crisis" by slipping off his own necktie, a snappy, multitoned job, and looped it on the senator, who then answered his name on the quorum roll call.

Merry-Go-Round

If the steel strike ended tonight, the nation would still lose more than 8,000,000 tons production—equal to one-third of all the steel Russia produces in a single year . . Dictator Peron of Argentina has proclaimed himself the great friend of labor, but last week he issued secret instructions that Argentine judges should decide on labor disputes in favor of management . . . Admiral Leland Lovett, ace public-relations officer for the Navy, has been picked by Commander Clyde Lewis of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to handle VFW public relations . . . The State Department is losing one of its best young executives, Assistant Secretary Ernest Gross. He now will assist Senator Warern Austin as deputy ambassador to the United Nations . . . The State Department has been smart in picking a man who served 12 years as secretary of the House Appropriations Committee to handle its relations with Congress. He is newly appointed Assistant Secretary Jack McFall.

Dateless Teen Must Toot Her Own Horn

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

There's a certain stage in a girl's life when the liveliest interest she has is centered on getting dates.

Daydreams to the contrary, there's no short-cut to popularity. There are, however, certain steps to help the process along a little when dates just don't seem to come.

First of all, a girl must be seen in order to be appreciated. If you rush home right after school and dream your dreams in the back yard, no boy will ever know if you're attractive and clever and are fun to take out on a date.

Work At Outside Things

Extra-curricular activities, whether that means struggling with scenery for the dramatic club, lending a helping hand with the school newspaper or just volunteering to help decorate the gym for a dance, will give you the opportunity to meet boys in a casual way.

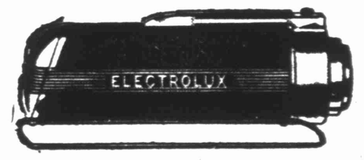

A blind date is another acceptable way to meet young men. If a girl friend is popular, and she dates the kind of young men with whom you'd like to go, let her arrange a date for you. You have a fifty-fifty chance of stumbling on the nice boy you hope to meet.

If you have some particular young man in mind for a date, you can give a party and create your chance. Halloween and Thanksgiving offer wonderful excuses for party-giving. Have your girl friends chip in with money, chores and ideas. Plan games that will start the crowd off having fun before they know it. From there on getting to know that special boy should be easy.

The threes play an important part in Canasta and today I want to clear up in question and answer form some points concerning these important cards.

Question: I have one or more red treys in my hand. I put them on the table and I draw a card from the stock pile to replace them but I forget to draw a card for myself. After I discard can I still draw from the stock pile?

Answer: No, you can't. However, if before the next player plays, he noticed that you did not draw he can force you to take the top card of the stock pile, but you can't change any of your melds or discards. The rules state the act of discarding ends a player's turn even though he should have failed to draw a card.

Question: If I put a red trey down and then meld three tens would that meet the requirements of a minimum meld?

Answer: No, it would not. The 100 points for a red trey is a bonus you receive provided you make a legal minimum meld. Therefore, if you put down three tens, (while it is true you have melded 30 and the red trey now will score an additional 100 points for you), you have not met the requirements of a minimum meld.

Question: If I pick up a red trey in the discard pile and meld it immediately do I get to draw another card from the stock pile?

Answer: No, you do not. However, you place it on the table and it counts just the same as if you had drawn it from the stock pile. Of course, the only way you can get a red trey in the discard pile is when the dealer turns it up originally, and you later pick up the pack.

Question: Can I use a red trey to freeze the pack, if I prefer to do so, rather than meld it on the table?

Answer: No, you cannot. They must be put on the table immediately. If you forget to put them down and are caught with them, when the other side goes out, they will cost you a penalty of 500 points each.

Question: If I am caught with a black trey in my hand does it count against me?

Answer: Yes, it counts five points against you. In other words you treat it the same as any other "nickel" card.

Question: If there is only one card in the discard pile, and it is a black trey, and I have two black treys in my hand, can I pick this black trey up if it will put me out?

Answer: No, you cannot. You can never pick up a black trey, deuce or joker in the discard pile even though you have matching cards in your hand. As a matter of fact you must automatically draw from the stock pile.

Question: Can I at any time meld the black treys?

Answer: Yes, you can meld three or four black treys, if they will put you out. You can meld two or three or more black treys with a wild card, as long as you go out.

Question: If I go out with a concealed hand can I use the black treys not only to go out with, but also to help me make my minimum meld requirement?

Answer: In order to go out with a concealed hand you need a Canasta. If you have a Canasta in your hand you can meld your black treys. However, you can never have a Canasta of black treys. In other words, you could not put down four black treys and three wild cards and call it a Canasta. One other point to remember is when you go down concealed, you must have a Canasta but you do not have to meet the requirements of an initial meld.

Orphan Dog Learns To Like Taxicabs

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—(AP)—Bones, an orphan dog, is a regular non-paying customer of cab drivers here.

Bones was adopted by 24 cabbies a year ago when he didn't know where his next can of dog food was coming from. He liked his owners, but didn't like their cabs. The black and tan hound broke his front leg six months ago.

Since then he discovered a cab is mighty handy transportation. If a driver starts to pass him by, Bones takes after him. When the cab stops he climbs in.

Insulation Works Winter And Summer

By BOB SCHARFF
Written For NEA Service

Insulating your attic will do a lot to give your home an even temperature both Summer and Winter. The attic is the most vulnerable spot in your house and insulation there gives the highest comfort return for every dollar spent.

Insulation generally comes in three forms: in blankets or continuous rolls contained in waterproof paper; "batts" 16 in. wide and 24 in. or 48 in. long, similarly covered, and in bags as a loose-fill. For ceiling or roof insulation, four inches of insulation is considered the standard thickness.

Installation is simple and requires no skill. If there is no floor in the attic, the blanket or batts are laid down between the ceiling joists and rest without nailing. The moisture proof paper side must go face down against the room ceiling to prevent condensation of moisture.

When using loose-fill insulation, lay moisture proof building paper between the joists in the floor and then pour insulation to a depth of four inches between the joists. Be sure that every corner and crevice is filled.

Roof Insulation

For roof insulation, the batts or blankets are tacked or stapled between the rafters by means of strips of paper which are provided along each edge for that purpose. The insulation should be located toward the bottom edge of the rafters to insure an air space between it and the underside of the roof. It's important that the insulation fit snugly between joists or rafters and that no open spaces or holes occur between batts anywhere in the area covered.

Should you want to build an extra room in your attic and insulate at the same time, you can do both jobs with rigid insulating boards.

The space above an insulated ceiling should be ventilated to the outside air in order to allow the escape of any water vapor which may be present.

Chairs And Sofas Go Versatile For Today's Furnishing

Seating pieces have become much more versatile for home-makers in reecnt years.

The growing popularity of sectional chairs and sofas is one of the big reasons home owners now can find more selectivity. This has been particularly true in the West where ideas have not been fixed by tradition and designers have tended to create up-to-date furniture to fit contemporary housing improvements.

Sectional seating pieces and other innovations may be seen in all shapes and sizes to fit any desired room requirement in Midland Furniture stores. Stores here now are showing the very latest in home furnishing fashions for Fall and Winter.

The contemporary trend is toward sectionals with or without arms, or with just a right or a left arm, which seat either one, two or three persons, and form either a curved or straight line. These basic pieces make it possible for a homemaker to select sectional seating units that fit a corner, fill in a straight section along a wall, form a horseshoe shape, or that can be rearranged to allow the sections to stand individually.

Undoubtedly, the most important seating material occurrence since the war has been the acceptance of foam rubber for cushioning. This phenomenon has taken place as the result of greater demand and standardization leading to reduced prices. The use of rubber marks the first time in the 100-year-old history of the spring cushioning industry that an outsider has invaded the field.

Television Aided By Color Mirrors

NEW YORK—(AP)—One of the latest devices to be used in color television research is a dichroic mirror. It has the ability of passing one color while reflecting another.

Thus, it can be employed where it is desired to have the image of one picture tube come directly through while at the same time reflecting images of one or more other tubes. By this method one color can be impressed on the other optically to provide a complete color image in a direct viewing receiver.

Midlander Asks Another- Is Your Home Ready For Winter? Time Is Essence

Said one Midlander to another the other day: "Is your home ready for Winter?"

The questioned Midlander got to thinking just how ready his home might be for Winter.

So he got to checking around. He found the possibilities for getting his home ready for Winter—unlimited.

Now he remembered that roof leaked a little bit last Winter on the southeast corner. Better get it repaired right away or better still, get a new roof. The materials and the skilled workmen to do the work are right here in Midland.

The satisfied home owner reasons that insulation will make his home much the warmer during the Winter. And insulation will save on fuel, too. Midland has the firms to do this insulation work—specialists, by gosh. And so, he is wise who insulates in getting ready for Winter in the home.

Weather-stripping sure can keep out that cold wind. The home owner has only to think back how the wind whistled at his place last Winter, to order weather-stripping before the full blast of this one.

How's the heating system of your home, by the way? Better get it ready and time is the essence. The foolish home owner is one who gets caught without his heating system functioning properly. And almost freezes to death while it is being fixed after cold weather already has arrived. Don't jeopardize your family—protect them—and get that heating system ready for Winter.

Paint Protects Your Home

A good, protective paint job will shield your home against the ravages of Winter.

And if you don't already have your home, build it now and enjoy those nice long evenings at home by the fire. You can. Midland businesses have the materials you need. The contractors able to build it for you are ready. Yes and Midland stores have the furniture, appliances and other things you will need to go in it.

Those repairs you have put off all Summer could be done before Winter. That is, provided you get at them now. Get the materials from Midland stores that you need. And get going.

Perhaps you want to install a new heating system for this Winter. If so, Midland firms can help you.

Are all your home appliances working perfectly? Better check and see and if new ones are needed. Get them in Midland stores.

Repair, remodel, or build new—whatever your home needs are to get ready for Winter. You can buy it in Midland. You can get the service you need here and now.

New Siding On Home Pays For Itself In Maintenance Savings

Does it pay in dollars and cents to put new siding on an old house? The answer to that question is "yes!", according to an article published recently in American Roofing and Siding Contractor. The writer estimated that the average residential re-siding job, using asbestos cement siding, will pay for itself in ten years. Moreover, it will continue to pay at least 19 per cent on the investment for the life of the house.

The return on the siding investment, the writer reports, is paid off in the form of savings in maintenance costs. Asbestos siding requires neither initial painting nor subsequent painting for preservation. It makes the wall construction tighter and thereby saves fuel. The total of these savings over a period of ten years, the article asserted, would more than cover the cost of the re-siding job.

The monetary return, of course, is in addition to the satisfaction derived by the home owner from the improved appearance of his property.

Asbestos siding is manufactured in two types, one with the exposed surface textured in wood grain or tapered line designs and the other having a smooth surface. Both types may be obtained with either straight or wavy lines at the exposed edges.

In the repair and modernization field, asbestos siding has long been a popular material. It can be nailed right over existing shingles or clapboards to bring structural soundness and rejuvenated appearance to worn, drab houses.

Ready-Built Custom-Built Home Is Up To Individual

Erecting one's own home or buying it ready - built each has advantages and disadvantages, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

In the custom - built home, a wider choice of location is permitted. A vacant plot can be utilized in a well-established neighborhood with fine trees, good transportation and convenience to schools, churches and shopping. In many ready-built new developments, these amenities may be years in the future.

Greater satisfaction comes from planning a home to fit one's family needs, hobbies and special interests, and it permits self-expression since the owner-planned home can be entirely distinctive without the made-in-a-mold appearance. Rooms can be arranged as the family wants, and there is always the assurance that material and equipment in the custom-built house is exactly as specified. Wall space and floor areas can be planned to fit specific furniture.

Ready-Built Advantages

The cost of a mass-produced dwelling is 15 per cent to 30 per cent less than custom-building of an identical house. The buyer knows what he is getting before closing the deal, as he can inspect the finished product. In custom-building, a layman often finds the house is entirely different on completion than he expected, due to his unfamiliarity with sketches and blueprints.

A ready-built home usually is a complete package, including landscaping, utility connections and mechanical equipment. Anxiety over the countless details that must be worked out by owner, architect and contractor is avoided. Then there is always the possibility that the home will go beyond one's means due to what seem to be minor changes during construciton.

Caulk House To Keep Out Chilling Winter Breezes

By BOB SCHARFF
Written For NEA Service

Most home-owners never have heard of caulking except possibly in connection with boats. Caulking a house makes it weatherproof, just as it makes a ship waterproof.

When a house shrinks or warps, cracks open up around frames. This not only allows cold air to enter the house, but water may find its way inside, too, and cause considerable damage to wallpaper, plaster and woodwork. Such cracks should be sealed with caulking compound. Fall is the best time for the job, because the shrinkage is the greatest.

All joints around basement window must be caulked to prevent rust.

Wherever window frames and doorways are set in the outside walls, or there is any break in the surface, the joints or cracks between the frames and wall should be filled with a caulking compound. No amount of putty will replace caulking compound because both paint and putty dry, and when they dry they become brittle. Elasticity is very important for this application.

Caulking Gun

Caulking compound can be applied with a caulking gun, which may be purchased or rented at your local hardware, lumber or paint store, or with a putty knife. The gun is preferable because it is equipped with various-sized nozzles so you can force the compound into the various sized cracks. Be sure to use the proper grade of compound—gun grade for use with the gun, or the heavier putty grade with a putty knife.

All dust or loose particles should be brushed or blown out of the cracks, so that the compound adheres to the two solid sides of the crack. The compound should be applied so that it fills the crack flush with the surrounding surface. There is nothing gained by having a deep bead or mound of material on the surface of the crack, and it gives a poor appearance to the job.

Captured German Science Aids U. S.

ATLANTIC CITY — (AP) — The United States is just beginning to reap the benefits from the huge amount of scientific information captured from the Germans after World War II," says Col. Harry A. Kuhn, U. S. A. (retired) president of the Armed Forces Chemical Association.

"The government so far has released more than 100,000 reports with data on synthetic fuels, jet missiles, chemical warfare agents and other subjects, but it will take years to evaluate all the information," he told the American Chemical Society.

Some of the more important German developments were the Fischer-Tropsch process for making synthetic oil from coal; the manufacture of high concentration hydrogen peroxide; production of white carbon black; the fire-fighting fuel chlorobromomethane; a synthetic substitue for mica, and new insecticides.

Fisherman Modest Even During Rescue

WILMINGTON, CALIF. —(AP)— James Hardin, lobster boat fisherman, is particular about getting his clothes wet. But withal he is a modest man.

So when the engine of his lobster boat broke down and the anchor dragged toward the rocky shore, Hardin swam for help.

He disrobed and towed his clothes in a tub behind him. Then he put them back on before he called the coast guard.

Sky Signs Worthless For Farms

AP Newsfeatures

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — The heavens provide no crystal balls for farmers.

Despite this fact, throughout the world men who plow the earth—like men who plow the seas—have sought to chart their courses by signs in the sky.

Farmers down the centuries have gazed at the heavens and wondered These mortals in due time have come to bestow upon the stars, the moon and the sun great powers over the planting and harvesting of crops.

Ignorant of the nature of things, they have cloaked these heavenly bodies and the signs of the Zodiac with mysterious and awesome qualities which in truth do not exist.

The folly of this practice is shown up clearly by scientific fact.

One of the nation's best authorities on this clouded issue is Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the magnificent new $3,000,000 Planetarium here at the University of North Carolina. An outstanding sky specialist, Dr. Marshall has been described as the best planetarium man in America and is producer of a weekly television show considered tops in its field.

No Crystal Balls

"Although the heavens provide no crystal balls for farmers," declared the genial sky gazer, "the whole business did begin in legitimate fashion."

Dr. Marshall explained that several thousand years ago there were no calendars, and even a few hundred years ago they largely were useless because most people couldn't read.

"Primitive peoples seeking a measure for passing time latched on to the moon," he said. "They had soon discovered that this sky lantern went through about 12 complete phases between planting seasons."

The moon thereupon became the calendar for the ancients—not because it influenced crops but because it marked the planting seasons.

Ignorant of this innocent origin, however, farmers in succeeding centuries endowed the moon with powers unfounded by fact. Many for example, allege that the moon has great magnetic qualities. For this reason, they plant leaf crops such as cabbage in the light of the moon so that the moon will pull up the leaves. Conversely, root crops are planted during the dark of the moon so the roots won't be pulled up.

More Than Moon

"In truth," Dr. Marshall said, "a farmer walking through his fields has more pulling effect on his crops than does the moon. Besides the moon is up there in the sky even during the dark of the moon. You just can't see it, that's all."

Weatherstrip Will Beat Winter Draft

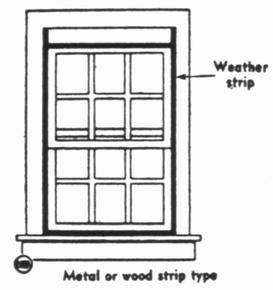

By BOB SCHARFF
Written For NEA Service

When windows rattle and doors shake in heavy winds, you can be sure that a job of weatherstripping is needed.

Weatherstrip can be had in a great variety of designs and materials. The very best and most expensive is the metal interlocking type which provides a double seal against the escape of heat or the admission of cold drafts. This type must be set into the wood, a fairly simple job with a routing plane but difficult without one.

The type more often installed in home already built is composed of a metal or wood strip, in the shape of a narrow molding, with a rubber or felt edge, quite flexible but firm.

To apply this type of strip, close the window. Measure the upper sash and cut the weatherstrip to the proper length. Place it against the window frame so that the rubber or felt edge touches the sash tightly along its entire length. Then tack it into place with small brads. When both sides are done, repeat the performance on the lower sash.

At top of the upper sash and the bottom of the lower sash, the strip is tacked to the sash and not to the frame. To make a neater job, mitre or bevel off the upper and lower stripping which is fastened to the sash so that it will fit snugly against the vertical pieces.

Door Strips

To weatherstrip a door, apply the strip all around the door frame when the door is tightly closed. On the bottom, lay a piece of the strip on the doorsill on the outside and lay another piece along the bottom of the door on the inside, so that it also touches the sill when the door is shut.

Weatherstrips for metal frame casement windows are made to snap into the grooves around the edges of the sashes, being held in position by their springiness. Felt also can be used on metal casements and is held in place with thick shellac or liquid solder.

Never paint weatherstripping because it will harden when the paint dries.

Attached Garage Calls For Safety Measures

Most convenient location for the garage is attached to the house with direct access to the living quarters, although this can be a dangerous location unless protected against explosion and fire.

Most building codes require that the wall between a house and attached garage be of fire-resistant construction. This is usually provided at low cost by filling the hollow space between the walls with mineral wool insulation which cannot burn and which has been given a fire-retarding rating of one to 1 1/2 hours by the National Bureau of Standards.

A self - closing tight - fitting metal - clad door is another essential. Unless the connecting door is kept closed there is aways the danger that gasoline fumes will enter the living quarters and ignite on reaching a pilot light. A tight door and well - ventilated garage will minimize this hazard.

Fall Is Excellent Time To Refresh Home With Paint

By BOB SCHARFF
Written For NEA Service

Fall is the latest time of year you can refresh your home with paint. If you are willing to work and use good materials, you can turn out a creditable job yourself.

If the walls of the house are high, use scaffolding. Take care that ladders and scaffolding are in good condiiton, and firmly anchored or braced to avoid possible accidents. Hang paint container from the ladder with a stiff wire hook. This is not only a safety precaution, but permits the use of either hand for brushing.

Before painting, inspect the surface of wall and trim. With a broad knife, wire brush or sand paper, remove rust, blisters and dirt, and repair all rotted spots. Never underestimate the importance of a smooth clean surface that is in good repair.

After preparing the surface, go to a reputable dealer and let him advise you about the best type of paint for your particular home. He will also tell you how many coats to apply and how much you need.

Best Method

Start painting at the upper left hand corner of one wall. The upper surfaces should be painted first so that dropping paint and the movement of ladders will not mar the freshly painted surfaces. Trim paint goes on after the body coat.

Smooth, even back and forth strokes will cover best and the paint should be well brushed into the wood. And don't fill the paint pots. Skilled painter have found that a bucket one-half to two-thirds full is the most convenient to handle on ladders and scaffolding.

Allow 48 to 72 hours between coats ot prevent cracking or "alligatoring." Shrubbery should be tied back from touching the freshly painted surface and shouldn't be released until the paint is dry. Drop cloths spread over flower beds, however, can be removed as soon as the adjacent section of the house is painted.

Bud Moth Is Leading Enemy Of Orchards

BERKELEY, CALIF.—(AP)—Public Enemy No. 1 around California prune orchards is getting to be the eye-spotted bud moth. Dr. Harold F. Madsen of the University of California has been keeping tabs on this bug that has been sabotaging half the crop in some orchards.

Madsen says that in the larval stage it ties a leaf to a prune, then crawls under and feeds in the shade. The fruit exudes sap which cements the leaf to it and makes it a cull.

The moth long has fed on New England and Canadian apples. Madsen says it emigrated to California only ten years ago and has tried apricots and peaches, which it doesn't like, pears which it will tolerate, and apples, cherries and prunes, which it likes best. He found DDT worked best against it.

Jute Competitor Is Believed Found By Cuban Experts

HAVANA, CUBA —(AP)— A 325-pound sack of sugar fell 12 feet to the floor. The workman who had released it examined the sack, found it unharmed, and grinned broadly.

"I may be changing the history of the world," he said.

He was experimenting with a sack made of a fiber called kenaf, which Cubans hope will be a competitor of jute. India and Pakistan produce about 98 per cent of the world's jute—a product used in tremendous quantities particularly in the United States, England and Latin America.

The United States alone buys about 165,000,000 pounds of jute fiber a year as a basic material in making rugs, matting, sacks and many other products. It is used to bale the South's cotton, to wrap cotton textiles, and in mining, automobile, metals, electrical goods and other industries.

Latin America uses 300,000,000 jute sacks a year. Cuba needs nearly 40,000,000 sacks a year for its sugar industry. England is a heavy consumer also.

Cuba sees the growth and manufacture of kenaf products as a new crop, as a new industry, and as a source of money in world markets. Brazil, Peru, El Salvador, the Dominican Republic and Haiti are among other countries with an eye on developments.

To protect the life of the President and to suppress counterfeiters are the two statutory duties of the U. S. Secret Service.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Silly Business

Sammy Ringtail and Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boys, were sitting on opposite sides of the Elephant Path, trying to find a something to quarrel about. I don't know why they were being so silly, unless maybe because they were having a silly day, the kind that everyone has sometimes.

There were times like that when Sammy and Mugwump just couldn't play happy together at all. The only thing that would make them happy was a fuss, but how are you going to fuss, if you can't find something to fuss about? It can't be done.

"An elephant is bigger than a lion," said Mugwump, thinking maybe Sammy would say it wasn't, hoping that way to start a quarrel about which was the biggest.

But Sammy shook his head from side to side. "I know that an elephant is bigger than a lion," said he. "Everybody knows it. You'll have to think of something else to start a quarrel."

Mugwump put his chin in his hands and thought and thought. Sammy put his chin in his hands and thought and thought, trying to think of something to quarrel about. Those boys so wanted to think of something that would start a fuss, you see.

"I know!" Mugwump cried at last. "A lion is bigger than a tiger, and do you want to say it isn't?"

Sammy didn't know. He wanted to think about it first, and so he did think, and think, and think. Was a lion bigger than a tiger?

Would it do to start a quarrel with saying the tiger was bigger? Sammy decided it wouldn't do. He shook his head once more. Ah me.

Unhappy day for both the boys, it seemed, because they couldn't find something to quarrel about. But the both of them got to thinking some more, and they thought and thought as hard as they could until they did find something to quarrel about.

I've forgotten now just what it was. It really doesn't matter, I am sure, for it was really nothing important. It was nothing important at all, and so they were silly to quarrel about it. But everything about a quarrel is silly, and the day it happens is silly too. A quarrel is silly business.

Happy day, and a happy day indeed to all the folks at your house. (Copyright 1949, General Features Corp.)

Note whether your raincoat is labeled water repellent or waterproof. Water repellent means that yarns and threads receive special treatment which repels moisture. Under ordinary circumstances water will not penetrate. After long wear and exposure, however, moisture will enter between the threads. A waterproof coat is usually entirely coated with a proofing mixture which may have to be renewed also, in time.

Hands Across The Border

At Herrnburg, Germany—border line between English and Soviet Zones—an old German lady is helped over the crossing point by German police from both sides. The special crossing point was opened by the Russians as part of their "Peace Day" celebration. Many Germans took the opportunity to visit relatives.

Californians Lead British Tourists

LONDON —(AP)— California sent more tourists to Britain during the 1949 season than any other state in the union, the Travel Association says.

Of Americans who came here, 16 per cent were from California; 10 per cent from New York; 7 per cent from Massachusetts, 6 per cent from Illinois and 6 per cent from Pennsylvania.

The association said 61 per cent of the American visitors were women, 9 per cent children.

Fire Drills Held In Schools Are Success

Fire drills were conducted in Midland schools last Friday and were highly successful.

Fire Marshall Bill Klatt, Supt. Frank Monroe, Fire Captain E. D. Fitzgerald and Fireman John Bourke were in the inspection party. Drills were timed by Bourke.

The Latin American School, with about 100 students, cleared the building in the short time of 33 seconds.

North Elementary students were the most orderly group and were out of their building in one minute, nine seconds. About 600 are enrolled there.

High school students were clear of the building in one minute, 47 seconds. The time was considered a big improvement over last year. The school has 750 students.

Junior High students, totaling more than 900, moved out in two minutes, nine seconds. Considering they had to come down from three floors, it was a commendable time, the inspection party said.

The drills were conducted as a feature of Fire Prevention Week.

Get Ready For Winter—
Midland Furniture Stores Display Latest Home Fashions

Midland furniture dealers, offering better and more complete stocks of furniture than at any time since the war, now are inviting Midland and area residents to get their homes "in order" for the Winter.

They invite citizens of the vast Permian Basin Empire to visit stores here to see the new, modern and charming home furnishings which are available in ample supply.

The dealers and their sales personnel are anxious to consult with householders as to their furniture needs during the "Get Ready for Winter" observance or at any time convenient to the shopper.

Home furnishings have undergone radical changes during the last few years and most persons are awed at the contemporary furnishings and arrangements.

Architecturally, the American dining room has undergone the most radical change of all rooms during the present generation, furniture men say.

Living Habits

Our mothers and grandmothers generally were familiar with plenty of floor space, including an ample dining room which could hold ten people quite comfortably, and more if necessary. The furnishings invariably called for an extension dining table with matching chairs, a buffet, and a china, usually of 18th Century or Early American design.

Living habits and the high cost of building homes have had a great influence in causing the passing of the dining room as we knew it earlier in the century.

Just how the demise of the conventional early-century dining area has affected the design, size and number of pieces of furniture may be seen in Midland furniture stores during their "Get Ready for Winter" observance.

Today's more informal manner of living and the emphasis on less work has made the dining alcove or kitchen nook the locale of most meals in the average American home. Consequently, when the dining room area became less used, the immediate question was why not convert that space into something that adds up to more utility. That is exactly what happened—the combination living-dining room coming into popularity, particularly so since the war when a square foot of floor space became relatively expensive.

All this meant special study by the furniture designer to be sure that the furnishings for the modern dining room were as up to date as the living habits of the occupant.

Smaller Areas

Smaller dining areas called for smaller scaled dining groups, a necessity that logically led to the junior ensemble. These often are extension type tables, however, so that additional persons can be seated at the table.

The comeback of the drop-leaf table is another furnishing factor influenced by the small dining areas being provided today. The most popular seems to be that type that, when both leaves are dropped, has sufficient room for two to eat at both ends without having to open the leaves, therefore serving a couple without causing any extra effort.

Another trend in dining tables is to make them lower in height so, in keeping with the idea of making the dining area more versatile, the table can be used for games, study and other diversions.

Which is just another aspect of the American trend to make homes and furnishings more informal and liveable.

TEEN ALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP newsfeatures

It just won't do for you to waste time developing muscles, boys. According to recent reports of Hollywood's Gregory Peck fan club, the caveman type doesn't always get the gal.

As a matter of fact, the girls suggest that for best results you might try acting just a bit shy. That's the Gregory Peck formula, they say. Much better than the Bogart, Widmark cave-man tactics. Women, they say, don't like to be shoved around after all.

Says one Peck fan:

"The big strong guy looks the heroine straight in the eye. But Peck doesn't. He is such a shy guy, he evades her. Instead his eyes study the girl's forehead, cheeks, chin, neck and lips."

This, say the gals, is much more romantic than the "You'll do as I say" look of the tough guy.

Untypical Girl

Peck attributes his competence as a celluloid Casanova solely to his dramatic training. He admits that he is shy, but never to the point where making love to a cinema cutie has amounted to a real task.

More news from Hollywood is that Joan Evans probably is the most untypical teen-ager in America. When the 15-year-old movie star was asked, "What's new in the teen-age world?", she replied, "I don't know. I don't know any teen-agers."

Pity that, and to boot . . .

She doesn't know any slang, doesn't subscribe to any teen-age magazines, doesn't wear blue jeans, doesn't like butch hair cuts, and would rather talk to older people than those her own age.

Joan thinks that's because she's always been around older people and says she "never had a close girl friend because we moved around so much I never had a chance." Says Joan:

"I really don't think teen-agers are as different from adults as some people seem to think. They exaggerate the slang they use and the fads they have. Teen-agers really are pretty normal people."

Defends Teen-Agers

Debbie Reynolds, who is making her movie debut as June Haver's sister in "Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," rises to the defense of teen-agers whenever the subject of juvenile delinquency comes up. The 17-year-old former Burbank, Calif., high school girl says:

"I don't think teen-agers are any worse than adults. Just pick up a newspaper. You'll find headlines about young people involved in hot-car racing, destruction of school property, and other crimes. But the same paper is filled with headlines about the antics of adults."

But, cautions Debbie—"Don't get me wrong. I'm not defending those who break the law or get out of line. The point is that there are no more wrong guys and girls in the teen-age group than there are in the adult group. Teen-agers just seem to get more publicity."

And, here's the lowdown on jitterbugging from 13-year-old Judy Glick, a student at Culver Junior High, Culver City, Calif. Says Judy:

Jitterbugging Going Out

"Jitterbugging is on its way out. Most of the boys and girls today prefer slow dreamy dance music."

Judy says that Friday is the big night for teen-agers, when they can go to the movies and a dance without worrying about school. Lots of kids "go steady," which Judy thinks is bad because it keeps girls from finding out about other fellows. As a matter of fact boys rate number one as the subject most discussed by teen-agers when they get together. Clothes run a close second.

Girls in certain clubs at Judy's school wear identical clothes on some designated day. One, for instance, has its members wear pencil slim brown skirts with red sweaters on Wednesdays.

(Thanks to Gloria Yarbrough of Los Angeles for telling us about California's teen-agers.)
